Desana Completes Andrews Stepout

The Desana Corp., Midland, has completed No. 2 Fasken as the second producer and 1/2-mile northwest extension to the Serio (Grayburg) field of Andrews County.

The 24-hour pumping potential was for nine barrels of 38-gravity oil, producing through perforations at 4,628-4,774 feet, which had been acidized with 5,500 gallons.

Total depth is 4,868 feet, and 4 1/2-inch casing is seated at 4,848 feet.

It is 1,900 feet from northeast and 600 feet from southeast lines of section 24, block 40, T-2-N, T&P survey, 15 miles southeast of Andrews.

The field was re-opened in December, 1974, with completion of the firm's No. 1 Fasken, to produce 88 barrels of 32.4-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 4,603-4,755 feet.

Forest Project Rates Gas Flow

Forest Oil Corp. No. 1 Dolly Varden, Ward County test, prospective fourth Fusselman well and second Ellenburger producer and 1/2-mile southeast extension to both pays in the Vermejo field of Loving County, flowed gas at the rate of 9.8 million cubic feet per day, plus 665 barrels of load water daily from the Fusselman.

Flow was through a unreported choke and perforations at 18,789-18,924 feet, which had been fractured with 15,000 gallons.

Production was assured earlier from the Ellenburger, with the flowing of gas at the rate of 3.8 million cubic feet, plus 500 barrels of load water daily, for five hours, through perforations at 21,295-21,385 feet, which had been fractured with 35,000 gallons.

Heavy mud had been pumped in to kill the flow after communications between the Fusselman and Ellenburger zones were encountered.

Testing continued in the Fusselman zone.

It is 6,900 feet from northeast and 1,100 feet from southeast lines of section 69, block 33, H&TC survey, five miles southeast of Mentone.

REJECTION OF MORE WAR AID PREDICTED Troop Use Plan May Get OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders predict rejection of President Ford's more than doubled request for $722 million in military aid for South Vietnam but indicate likely approval of limited authority for U.S. troops to evacuate endangered Americans and Vietnamese.

Even before Ford spoke to an unusually grim and silent joint session of Congress and the nation Thursday night, key lawmakers were saying there was virtually no chance that additional arms would be voted for South Vietnam.

"The Congress will never vote for military aid," declared House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts.

"Further military assistance would only prolong or merely postpone an ultimate Communist victory," said Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Appropriations Committee and until recently a strong supporter of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Ford coupled his request for the additional military aid, more than double the $300 million for arms and ammunition he has been unsuccessfully seeking for South Vietnam since January, with an appeal for a $250 million initial installment for food, medical supplies and other humanitarian aid for the hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese refugees.

In contrast, he made no renewal of his $222 million aid request for neighboring Cambodia, declaring "it may be too late" already to prevent the fall of that embattled country to Communist insurgents.

He called on Congress to act by the end of next week to clarify restrictions on the use of U.S. troops in Indochina so the American lives "by ensuring their evacuation, should this become necessary," and to help pull out up to 200,000 friendly Vietnamese.

"I hope that this authority will never be used, but if it is needed there will be no time for congressional debate," Ford said.

When he reached the portion of his "State of the World" speech in which he appealed for the extra Vietnam aid troops can be used to protect American lives "by ensuring their evacuation, should this become necessary," and to help pull out up to 200,000 friendly Vietnamese.

"The sums I had requested before the major North Vietnamese offensive and the sudden South Vietnamese retreat are obviously inadequate," Ford said. "Half-hearted action would be worse than none. We see the State of the World."

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese troops withstood a third day of assaults against a provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon today and battled attacks on two district capitals to the south, the Saigon command reported.

The command said the North Vietnamese who began attacking Xuan Loc, the capital of Long Khanh province, on Wednesday hit the eastern and southeastern edge of the city today.

The Viet Cong claimed the Communist-led forces had gained complete control of the market place, the provincial headquarters, an engineering base and the eastern part of the airfield. But the Saigon command claimed the invaders had been driven out.

Hard Fighting

To the southwest, 20 to 30 miles from Saigon near the main road to the rice fields of the Mekong Delta, hard fighting was reported in and around Thu Thua and Ben Thanh, both district capitals.

More than 50 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops were killed in the fighting near Ben Thanh, the Saigon command said. It said there were no government casualties.

Street Battles

Associated Press newsman Huynh Cong Ut reported close-quarter fighting inside Thu Thua. He said policemen with loudspeakers called on Viet Cong sappers to surrender as street fighting broke out. Instead, the sappers inside houses fired back and both sides hurled hand grenades. Saigon troops later put bodies of young Viet Cong sappers on display in the center of town.

The battles in Long Khanh and Long An provinces are the first major fighting in the Saigon region in the Communists' five-week-old offensive that has cost the South Vietnamese government three-fourths of the country. But foreign observers said they still could not decide whether the attacks were the immediate prelude to an offensive against Saigon.

900 Reds Claimed Dead

The Saigon command claims that more than 900 Communist troops were killed in the first two days of the battle for Xuan Loc and reported 18 South Vietnamese killed and 110 wounded. It said four prisoners and 254 weapons were captured and 10 T54 medium tanks destroyed.

In Cambodia, government troops, planes and artillery halted a 200-man rebel force that battled to within two miles of the Phnom Penh airport. The military command claimed 700 Khmer Rouge were killed in the aerial and artillery bombardment northwest of the capital.

The Cambodian army was trying to organize a counter-attack to push the Khmer Rouge out of mortar range of the airport, Phnom Penh's last supply line.

Midland Area Residents Favor Humanitarian Aid

Midland area residents surveyed this morning were evenly divided on President Ford's request for $722 million in military aid for South Vietnam.

However, 15 of the 20 persons surveyed said they supported Ford's proposal for $250 million in humanitarian and economic aid.

W. C. Montgomery of Midland said he supports Ford's request "since we have so much already invested, I hate to see the U.S. give up now."

Another Midlander who asked not to be identified said, "I am against the U.S. sending any type of aid because the South Vietnamese haven't been trying to help themselves, so why should we help them?"

Tom Gregory of Odessa said he supports the President's request. He added that he believes federal employees should relinquish as much as 30 per cent of their income to clear the national deficit. Chris Hubert of Big Spring agreed.

Another Midlander who asked not to be identified said, "I hate to see the South Vietnamese left with nothing. I don't think $1 billion is too high a price to pay."

Those contacted who favored the $250 million humanitarian appropriation said they thought it should be used to get the approximately 6,000 U.S. citizens remaining in Vietnam out of the country and rescue those Vietnamese who worked with Americans.

All of those contacted opposed sending U.S. troops back into Vietnam.

Deadlock May Extend Paris Oil Meeting

PARIS (AP) — The international meeting making preparations for a world oil and energy conference this summer may continue beyond today because of a deadlock over the demand that the conference deal with all raw materials the underdeveloped countries sell to the industrial nations.

The preparatory meeting opened Monday and was to have ended today. But after a marathon session Thursday night failed to resolve the deadlock, a spokesman announced, "The meeting decided that the group will continue its work as long as this is useful, without a time limit."

The head of the European Common Market delegation, Eamonn Gallagher of Ireland, told newsmen that a compromise could be reached if the Arab oil countries were more flexible.

"We were invited to Paris to talk about energy," he said. "Other countries understood that they were invited to talk about raw materials."

"Now we cannot accept the idea of talking about raw materials when they are already being discussed in other international forums."

The industrialized nations proposed the energy conference in the hope that they could work out long-term arrangements with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to ensure future supplies of oil at stable prices and in the quantities they want. They would like to arrange some stable system for the investment of much of the oil countries' huge surplus revenues in the industrial countries.

Led by Algeria, the four oil countries and three other underdeveloped nations at the preparatory meeting are demanding that the summer conference also take up all raw materials exported by the Third World and technological and other development aid they want from the industrial world.

The meeting is attended by the United States, Japan and the European Economic Community for the industrialized nations.

American Dies In Cambodian Air Crash

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A rocket-damaged cargo plane crashed and burned shortly after takeoff today from besieged Phnom Penh airport, killing the American civilian pilot, airline sources said. He was the first American killed in Cambodia in four years.

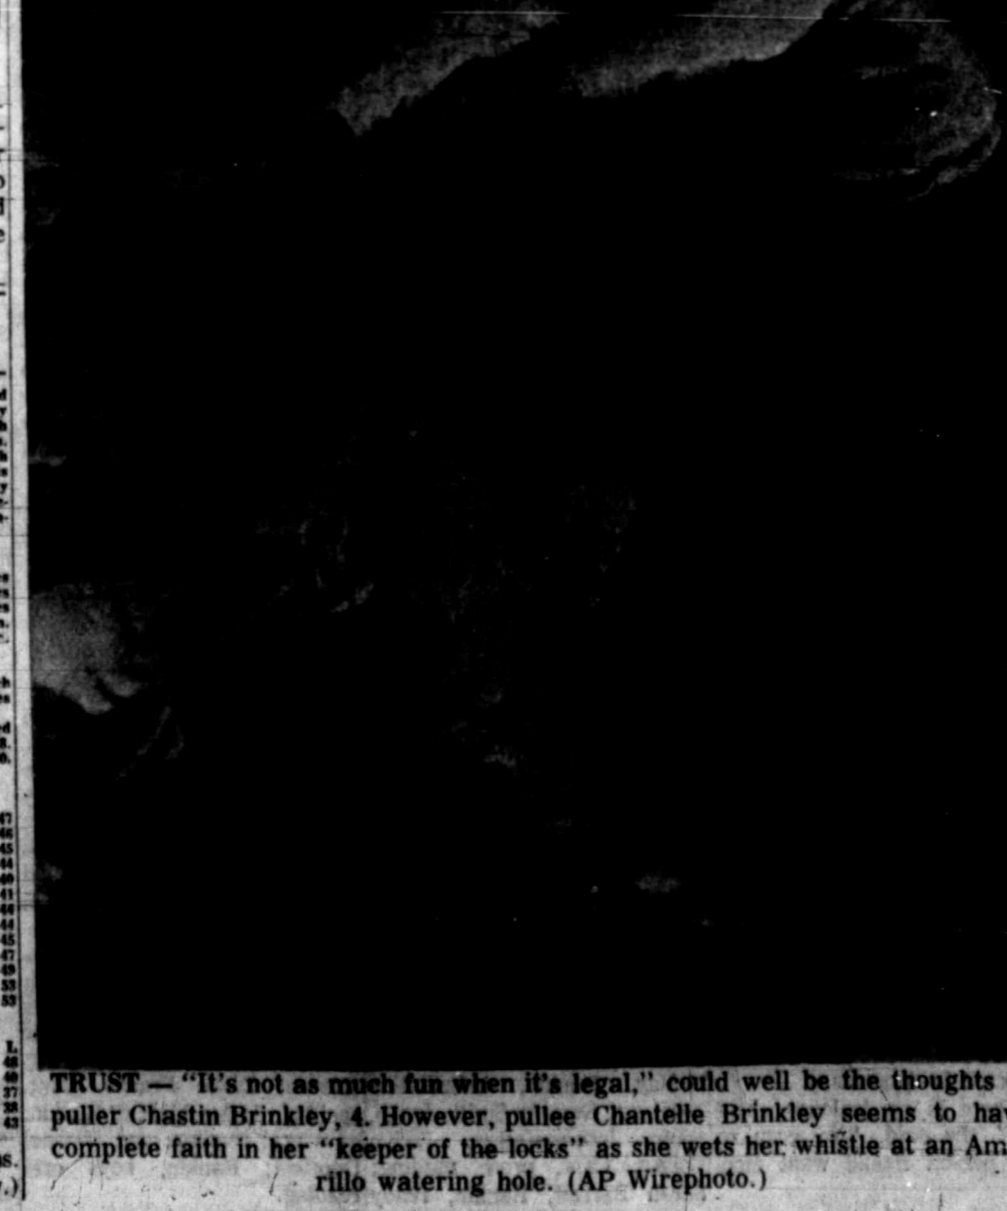

The sources said two Nationalist Chinese crewmen also were killed and a Cambodian crewman was seriously injured. Identities were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The sources said the plane, a DC3, was slightly damaged in the hope that they could work out long-term arrangements with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to ensure future supplies of oil at stable prices and in the quantities they want. They would like to arrange some stable system for the investment of much of the oil countries' huge surplus revenues in the industrial countries.

Ford's Aid Request Faces Trouble

In all, the President was applauded only 12 times through the hour-long speech, most of it from Republicans. Half of the bursts came near the end when he appealed for a continued strong defense and warned against destruction of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Initial congressional reaction produced virtually unanimous agreement that Ford should have authority to use U.S. troops to evacuate the 6,000 remaining Americans in South Vietnam. Some members of Congress said they thought the President had that already.

There was less certainty, however, about the possible use of the troops to evacuate what Ford referred to as "those Vietnamese to whom we have a special obligation and whose lives may be endangered should the worst come to pass."

Judy Joseph's Happy Sharing Husband With 11 Other Wives

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Judy Joseph says she has found real happiness sharing her husband with 11 other women. "My parents don't believe me I've been home to Montana to visit them, and it's harder every time," she said Thursday.

She described her life in remote southern Utah, living in a house trailer with several other women, as "an adventure around every corner." Carmen Joseph, another of Joseph's wives, says some of the marriages have been formalized and are registered with appropriate agencies, but others have not.

Utah law prohibits both polygamy and cohabitation. Authorities haven't charged them with violating either law, the family said. Their attempts to homestead on federal land have resulted in a court battle involving the Joseph clan and 13 other families. The homesteaders, most of whom aren't polygamous, say they want to combat food shortages and inflation by living off the land.

However, Ford firmly maintained his earlier stance that more U.S. military aid for South Vietnam was a necessity. That led Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., a long-time war critic, to say, "I'm appalled that a man could continue on such a bankrupt policy."

Death Takes Two Former National Party Leaders

Judy, a pretty 21-year-old blonde, adds, "You have to give up possessiveness, selfishness, jealousy and learn to love more when you become a polygamous wife." She said she comes from a big family, and lived with five other girls at the University of Montana, where she had a perfect grade average. Three of her roommates now say they are Joseph's wives.

Though Ford's speech was intended as a worldwide foreign policy review, it omitted mention of a number of trouble spots, including Portugal, scene of rising Communist strength, and Cuba.

Connally Asks Acquittal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally asked the judge in his bribery trial today to acquit Connally on the grounds the government's main witness is a paid informer and a perjurer.

Connally $10,000 for help in getting a 1971 milk price support increase. He has served as an informer paid by the government for information — not in money, in the more valuable coin of whitewashes of his other crimes," Williams said.

Former dairy industry lawyer Jacobson testified he gave Connally two illegal $5,000 payoffs in 1971 for Connally's efforts in persuading the Nixon administration to raise milk prices. He swears he and Connally later tried to cover up the crime in 1973.

But Jacobson has admitted that in the past he committed perjury, and that in pleading guilty to bribing Connally he got the government to reduce charges against him.

Portugal's Political Parties Sign Over Power To Military

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's major political parties formally abandoned any hope for a prompt return to civilian control today when they signed a draft constitution yielding essential powers to the military.

The six parties signed a pact committing them to adopt a new constitution that makes military authority supreme in Portugal for the foreseeable future.

Under strong pressure from the armed forces, which drafted the document, the parties trooped to Belem Palace, the president's official residence, for the ceremony which was conducted under the eyes of senior military officers.

Among the onlookers were members of the recently created Revolutionary Military Council which will exercise key political powers from war making to economic policy in a stated objective of installing "Portuguese socialism."

The draft constitution was signed exactly two weeks before an election for a constitutional assembly. Delegates chosen next April 25 from a dozen parties were to have formed a sovereign body to chart the nation's future. The army was not willing to allow freedom of choice.

Six parties — most from the extreme left — refused to sign. Their electoral prospects were never very great.

First to sign the draft was the center Social Democratic party followed by the Popular Socialist Front, the powerful Socialist party, the moderate Popular Democrats, the Communists and their satellite group, the Portuguese Democratic Movement.

Ministers Want Indictments Against Hemphill County Sheriff Carried Out

CANADIAN (AP) — A department has been the only group of ministers from several denominations says it has asked that Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill take measures to make sure that "indictments against Hemphill County Sheriff Elton Corley are carried out."

The request from eight ministers in this Panhandle town was sent to Hill Thursday, said the Rev. Barton Morse of the Christian Church.

It was the latest development in a brewing controversy involving Sheriff Corley, whose department has been the only police force in town since January 1973 when the police department was consolidated with the sheriff's office.

Corley was indicted last September by a county grand jury on a misdemeanor count of public drunkenness. A spokesman for the county attorney's office said no action has been taken in the case. Hemphill is a dry county.

Corley also faces a civil suit filed by a former dispatcher, Mrs. Beverly Todd. She charged in her suit that the sheriff was "intoxicated" in 13 specific times and places between May 6, 1973, and July 5, 1974.

According to the suit, Mrs. Todd is asking Corley's removal from office. The suit will be heard in 31st district court here next Sept. 6.

Corley was not available for comment Thursday. He took a short leave of absence Monday and was reported to be in Louisiana.

The department now has only two deputies. Deputy David Risley resigned Saturday and deputy Lee Peyton quit Monday night.

The Rev. Mr. Morse said the ministers feel that "Corley is not doing the job he took an oath to uphold. It's hard for us to talk about law and order when we don't have any."

Morse said other ministers who signed the request submitted to Hill are the Rev. Dinzel Leonard of the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Vernon Cline of the Central Baptist Church, the Rev. Dennis Jordan of the Assembly of God Church, the Rev. Raymond Duncan of the Church of Christ, the Rev. James Holman of the Methodist Church and the Rev. Smiley Johnson of the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Vernon Cline Church.

California Stiltman Really Walking Tall

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — It's a tall act to follow in your father's 12-foot-high footsteps, says Dave DeGarro.

DeGarro, like his father, makes a living by striding about on seven-foot stilts at fairs, shopping-center openings and auto shows.

He was at the National Orange Show here recently and spoke of the woes of a stiltman.

"I was followed all over the first day by a group of eight or nine boys who kept poking at the stilts," he recalled. "I finally had to chase them off, but it got kind of risky for a couple of minutes."

"It's also very tiring ... I'll be exhausted by the time I get home tonight. But I have a ball."

At the Orange Show he waved to kids and dropped greetings: "How's the weather down there?"

"This is the first fair I've worked in quite a while," said DeGarro, unstrapping his stilts while seated atop a ladder.

"My father was here last year, and he wanted to come back but he had another engagement in Florida. So I'm filling in."

DeGarro has been a stiltman for 15 years.

It was the elder DeGarro who taught Dave the delicate profession when he was a boy. He grew into the job.

"I just went up about a foot at a time as I learned to keep my balance," he said.

On a job DeGarro goes "out for an hour and then rests for an hour. That way I'm working about four hours a day."

"The stilts weigh about 12 pounds each, plus these jeans weigh almost 20 pounds. With all that weight I have to walk with a swinging motion," the ever-smiling stiltman explains.

"But remember I also have to lift. You have to be on a good solid surface or you've got all sorts of problems. Plus with this wind the job is about twice as hard."

As he roved the sprawling fairgrounds, DeGarro wore specially designed 34 by 84-inch jeans.

At the Orange Show DeGarro occasionally took time out to bend over and shake hands with bewildered children.

Dear Abby Her Home Getting More Like Prison

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 years getting more like a prison every day and my husband is 31. We've been married for 10 years and have three really nice sons. My husband doesn't think I need to leave the house. He doesn't even let me go to church table woman, but my home is because he doesn't care to go.

I can't belong to any clubs or organizations because my husband thinks a woman's place is in the home, and no place else. He wouldn't even let me join the PTA, and our two oldest boys are so ashamed because their teachers have never even met me.

We don't socialize with anybody because my husband says we don't need friends. The only time I get out of the house is when we go marketing together once a week. He handles all the money.

We get into quarrels every time I say I want to go somewhere. Both our families are far away. When I ask him to please sit down and talk things over, he says there is nothing to talk about. If I talk back to him, I end up with a busted mouth, a black eye and bruises.

I mentioned divorce once and he beat me up so bad I could hardly get out of bed for two days. Abby, I can't take the boys and leave because I don't drive and I don't have $5 if my own. What should I do?

TRAPPED
DEAR TRAPPED: A woman who takes repeated beatings from her husband needs counseling, and badly. The Family Service Agency (listed in your phone book) offers this confidential, excellent help. And don't worry about not having any money. Their fee is based on your ability to pay. If you have no money, there is no charge.

Also, there are laws stating that a man is responsible for the support of his wife and children — no matter what he may say about it. I urge you to get the help you need at once. Good luck and God bless.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO GENEROUS" I don't know what your definition of "generosity" is, but those who give of themselves are not constantly trying to prove their "love" by giving "things."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Naked Bulb Covering
Here's a great and simple idea for covering a naked ceiling light bulb. Acquire a rounded-wicker basket, spray it with a shiny clear acrylic, then secure it over the bulb and attach it to the ceiling with large carpet tacks.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Heloise's Secret For Canned Green Beans

Dear Darlings:
Please stop, look and listen if you eat green beans from a can.
I buy 'em.
I eat 'em.
I serve 'em.
But... I never tell anyone they are canned! They never have known and let me tell you why:
After I open the can I pour ALL the juice into the sink I then leave the beans in the can and hold them under the cold water faucet until rinsed exceptionally well. That means flood 'em, dolls!
Put them into your pan and add some salt FIRST and then cover with water. When the water hits the salt you have put on top of the beans, it melts the salt. If you have any leftover bacon grease, for heaven's sake, do add a teaspoon or so. It's great.
For those whose religion does not approve of this, add at least one swab of butter or oleo. (A swab is at least two heaping tablespoons!) Then reboil a few minutes, and don't forget the pepper... that's the real answer.
Also, you can add bouillon - chicken, beef or vegetable flavors. I use one cube for each two cups of water.
Now here is the real secret to makin' them taste like fresh grown beans:
Always add a pinch of table sugar to any liquid in which you cook 'em! And a pinch means that you take two of your fingers, reach into the sugar bowl and pick up as much as you can between your two fingers and dash it into whatever liquid you are using for whatever you are cooking.

This method is also used for canned carrots. I have been buying them lately as I find they are cheaper than cooking my own when an emergency arises. But here's another secret:
I never serve them sliced, like they came out of the can! I chop them up with a serving spoon so my neighbors will think they are real.

How's that for cheating?
Heloise
Dear Heloise:
Can you (or some good reader) help me please, to straddle this "high" hurdle.
In hot weather, is there an easier way to pull up or lower my girdle?
A Sweaty-Hefty Reader

Russia Program Subject Of Club

Mrs. Erma Underwood presented a program on "Russia in Words and Pictures." for a guest day meeting on international affairs held Tuesday by the Twentieth Century Study Club at the Midland Woman's Club.
Mrs. Underwood illustrated her narrative of Russian travels with her own photographs. Her pictures included many cathedrals with the familiar onion domes and triple crosses, and accents to the elegant wood carvings and wood inlay for which the Russians are known.
One particular cathedral is the famous "Cathedral of Saint Basil" in Moscow known as the one called "The Divine Beggar." The city of Leningrad, Mrs. Underwood pointed out, is a city of canals and bridges, since its chief architect was from Venice, and all of the buildings are of a soft pastel color.
In Moscow, she noted, the people have money to spend on such items as rent, transportation, vending machines, as their education, medical, burial expenses are all free. Only clothing is very high.
Refreshments were served from a table using a spring flower theme. Hostesses to the hospitality hour were Mrs. H. S. Collings and Mrs. A. C. Tanksley.
Mrs. Robert Noah, president, welcomed the guests, who were Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. Norman Walker and Mrs. Fred Poe. Mrs. Clark Ester led the club collect. Mrs. Joseph Mims introduced the speaker in the absence of Mrs. Richard Story, international affairs chairman.
Special prizes were won by Mrs. Underwood and Mrs. Charles Hairston.

We gals in the office got a chuckle out of your letter but in the same mail came the following letter that might be of help to you. Read on...
Dear Heloise:
Please share this tip with my fat friends!
An all-in-one full foundation girdle is usually much more comfortable, once you get it on.
And here's the trick to getting it on: first put on the panties or "shield," then put on nylon long-legged pajama pants. Pull the girdle easily (!) up over the legs and your tummy, and your bottom.
Then fold the girdle up a little and pull off the pajama pants, bring the old girdle back into position, top and bottom, and be much more comfortable while you plan your next diet!
Just don't let how much better you feel and look keep you from losing "our" extra weight!
A Friend

AAUW Group Holds Meeting

The Les Toque Blanches Group of the American Association of University Women, Midland Branch, met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Robert D. Anson, 2503 Culpeper St. Co-hostesses were Mrs. James McClaine, Mrs. Lewis Raymer and Mrs. Cary Geron.
Mrs. Bill Johnson, chairman, introduced Mrs. Jack Hart as a guest, and a short business session followed.
The program was given on the "Complete Avocado," with Mrs. Geron giving the history, types, storing procedures and other helpful hints. Mrs. Anson had avocado plants in various stages to demonstrate how to care for them and plant them. She said "Patience is the most important asset." She had a complimentary seed for each member which she had rooted and started in her greenhouse.
The hostesses highlighted the program by serving avocado soup, avocado butter on pumpernickel bread, avocado dip and avocado pie.
The next meeting of the group will be May 1 in the home of Mrs. Richard Prigmore and will be a salad luncheon.

Saturday Clinic Has Openings

The Central YMCA announces there still are vacancies for the Saturday session of the Health and Beauty Clinic to be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Activities Building of the First Baptist Church.
Fees for the session may be paid at the door Saturday.
Toni Beck of Neiman-Marcus Greenhouse will be the instructor. Those attending are requested to wear comfortable exercise clothing, preferably leotards and tights.

Ideal Canvas
A wall makes an ideal "canvas" for special decorating projects. One idea is creating giant polka-dots with a one or two inch piece of cork. To carry out the project, take a cork, a can of bright latex enamel and a scrap of wood to serve as the paint palette. Pour a little paint onto the wood, dip the cork into it, then press firmly on the wall to create a neat polka-dot. Repeat the pattern.

Model Becomes Actress

By LEE SCHREIBER

NEW YORK (AP) — Anny Duperey was once one of France's most successful models, but she says seeing her face on dozens of magazine covers only depressed her.
"I always wanted to be an actress," she explained, during an interview at a Manhattan restaurant. "Being a leading cover girl did not bring me any closer to that goal."
"I felt I was drowning," she recalled, speaking mostly through an interpreter despite her passable command of English. "Because I modeled to earn a living, people were beginning to lump me together with all the other models who wanted to act. So I stopped and started again at the beginning with singing and dancing lessons."

phone especially, the noises in the city, the horns and sirens. "I would very much like to work in America. They are very professional here."

George Bush, New 'Old China Hand,' Likes The Food

Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles on George Bush, U.S. ambassador to China, and his experiences in his new post.

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

Can a Texan accustomed to hot chili and thick steaks find happiness in the midst of the world's greatest Chinese cooking?

Apparently so. The newest "old China hand," Ambassador George Bush, says that living in the Chinese capital is a rare experience.

"You asked me about eating in Peking," Bush wrote in reply to a letter which I sent to him recently.

Experience 'Unique'

"Eating in the great and varied Peking restaurants is a unique experience but let me tell you how it works in our USLO (U.S. Liaison Office) residence here in Peking.

"I don't want you to think we've gone formal on you, so, first, I'll tell you we normally prepare our own breakfasts and dinners. Breakfast consists of a great fresh Chinese yogurt plus coffee and maybe hot Chinese oatmeal or cold cereal from the United States."

Eggs in China are good, said Bush, and so is the milk which is delivered fresh daily.

"At dinner our able cook, Mr. Sun, normally leaves us a Thermos of homemade soup which we supplement with cheese and crackers and maybe a dessert — a light 'pickup' meal."

Bush described the soups that are served at dinner and that accompany every lunch as "spectacular."

Soups Vary

He said they range from the subtlety of a fungus soup or swallow nest's soup to the more robust fish or vegetable gumbos.

"Our one big meal a day at home is lunch. Mr. Sun Chien-K'ang and Mr. Chang Teh-lung prepare the lunch on our massive (5x7-foot) gas stove. The meals are prepared with the four basic senses in mind—smell, taste, appearance, and sound.

"Hors d'oeuvres the first course in the larger meals, are prepared to resemble landscapes or a bird. The cabbage leaves have faces made of carrots or the poached quail eggs will have a delicate spray of flowers made from vegetables."

Kansas Man Gives Plane To Roloff

MCPHERSON, Kan. (AP) — Evangelist Lester Roloff, who operates a home for wayward boys and girls in Corpus Christi, Tex., has been given a $5,000 airplane by a Kansas man.

"I offered the plane as a gift because I believe in what he (Roloff) is doing," said Charles Colyn. "He had a need, and I had an airplane."

Roloff has a home located in a lighthouse on the Gulf of Mexico and it can be reached only by air or water.

Colyn learned of Roloff's work through the evangelist's radio program. He learned recently from one of Roloff's co-workers that Roloff needed an airplane, so he gave him his own Piper Tripaer.

"Christianity is more than in your mouth," Colyn said. "You have to live it."

Bryner's Second Adopted Vietnam Orphan Arrives

BOSTON (AP) — Actor Yul Bryner bounced his newly adopted Vietnamese daughter on his knee and said, "We are extraordinarily lucky."

The 6-month-old infant, named Melody, arrived in Boston on Wednesday after surviving the crash of an A5A Galaxy transport plane near Saigon last week.

White Bryner held Melody, his other adopted Vietnamese daughter, 1½-year-old Mia, sat on his lap and smiled.

Bryner is in Boston starring in the musical, "Odyssey," which is on a pre-Broadway tour.

Bush said that in the more than four months in which he and his family have been in China eating several courses with each meal they have seldom seen the same dishes twice. "The thing that impresses me, in addition to the taste of the food and the variety, is the care that goes into the preparation. It is true in our own house, and it is true in every kitchen in Peking.

"Listen," wrote Bush, "to who by now must have forgotten all the rights on the chicken a la king circuit, said he is continually amazed at the artistry of his cooks, Sun and Chang. On Christmas Day they prepared a Western-style turkey with all the trimmings, including a "spectacular" dessert called Peking Dust.

Returning to Peking from his last visit to the United States, Bush brought with him a panda bear mold which he had purchased at a Washington, D.C., department store. "I gave it to Mr. Sun not knowing whether this type of mold was ever used in cooking over here," he wrote.

"A few days later a panda cake appeared. The panda was covered with brown and white fur made with cream. His coat looked almost real. His eyes were two-colored; he was sitting inside a snow-covered fence near a tiny panda house with creamy snow on its roof."

"But it was like biting into a work of art — a painting developed by years of study — a bite of the very cultural strength of this amazing land."

One can only wonder if Bush's diplomatic cables back to the State Department are as mouth watering as his letters to personal friends.

Worst Flooding In 50 Years Threatening Areas In Alabama, Florida

By The Associated Press
Heavy rains diminished across the Southeast today after more than two days of intermittent downpours, but some of the worst flooding in nearly 50 years threatened parts of Alabama and Florida.

fell on southeastern Alabama areas above the Florida Panhandle through Wednesday and Thursday before the storm began moving out. Alabama National Guardsmen were dispatched to aid evacuations of low lying areas.

The greatest flooding since 1929 was expected on the Choctawhatchee River in Alabama around Geneva. The most serious flooding since 1929 was forecast on the Yellow River, which also flows out of Alabama through the Florida Panhandle.

The Choctawhatchee climbed above the 23-foot flood stage at Geneva Thursday night and headed for a predicted crest of 40 feet today. At least 40 families were evacuated to the town's community center late Thursday.

Rucker helped local personnel adding sandbags to levees in the Geneva vicinity. To the west, the Army Corps of Engineers opened enough of Bonnet Carre Spillway above New Orleans to keep the Mississippi River crest below 18 feet in the city. Engineers said a crest of 19 feet predicted by late next week would have sent the swollen river lapping at sandbags atop New Orleans levees.

Texas Called Gateway For Drug Abuse

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans do not realize that their state has become the gateway for drug abuse in the U.S. and Canada, the director of a San Antonio-based drug rehabilitation program says.

"A very conservative cost guess in 10 major Texas cities amounts to $289.06 million a year," Brosnan said. The committee is considering a bill by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, to authorize the Department of Community Affairs (DCA) to establish a drug treatment program through public and private facilities.

states and U.S. territories in the amount of money in drug rehabilitation programs," Kennard said. "Texas should and could spend more than the $100,000 it is now spending." Jim McDonough, director of community relations in the Travis County Adult Probation Department, said the average addict in Austin uses $85 worth of heroin a day. He said the addict must steal almost $400 daily to support his habit.

treatment facilities operated by the DCA. The Legislative Budget Board estimated the cost of the proposed program to be $1,385,861 in 1976. The board said the cost would rise to over $9 million beginning in 1978. A lack of a quorum prevented the committee from voting on the measure.

Man Ends Standoff

BOSSIER CITY, La. (AP) — A Texas man ended a two-day drive holding a hitchhiker at gunpoint when he broke into a house Thursday, refusing to emerge and threatening to kill himself, police said.

Jack Baylor of the DCA said the state can deal with the drug addict through a treatment program or face a continued drain of hundreds of millions of dollars each year. Baylor told the committee that without a drug treatment program the addicts will continue to draw large sums of money from the state's economy to support their habit.

Former state Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth said the addict should be treated as a sick person and not a criminal. He said once an addict is arrested the state has no program to treat him other than as a criminal. "Texas ranks 53rd out of 53

Bossier City police identified the man as James McGuric, 23, whose home town was not known. City Police Maj. J. N. Thorn said no local charges had been filed Thursday afternoon but that McGuric was possibly wanted by authorities in Houston.

McGuric allegedly picked up a hitchhiker in Nacogdoches, Tex., Wednesday, drove to Monroe, La., then Alexandria, La., and then to Bossier City, where the hitchhiker escaped and ran to a fire station and called police, Thorn said. The hitchhiker, identified as James McAllister, 29, of Livingston, Tex., was not hurt. McGuric was spotted driving an automobile through a residential area in Bossier City and officers gave chase, Thorn said. "He abandoned the automobile, got on foot, tried to break into a couple of houses," Thorn said.

One resident shot at the man with a shotgun, police said. Later he broke into a house, ran off Mrs. Earl Reuter and hid in a closet, police said. Asst. Police Chief Billy McHaffey and Police Chaplain John Rasmussen entered the house and talked to the man. "During the ordeal, a number of times, the assistant chief told me that he (McGuric) pulled the gun and played with it, put it to his head," Thorn, chief of detectives, said. "I saw him through a window. He had it to his chin."

Two Armed Men Hold Up Pharmacy, Take Cash, Drugs

Two armed men robbed King's Pharmacy at 310 North N Street Thursday afternoon and got away with $85 in cash and approximately 50 pill bottles containing class 2 and class 4 drugs. Employees at the pharmacy told police the men entered the store at approximately 5 p.m. and demanded, "hand over the hard stuff."

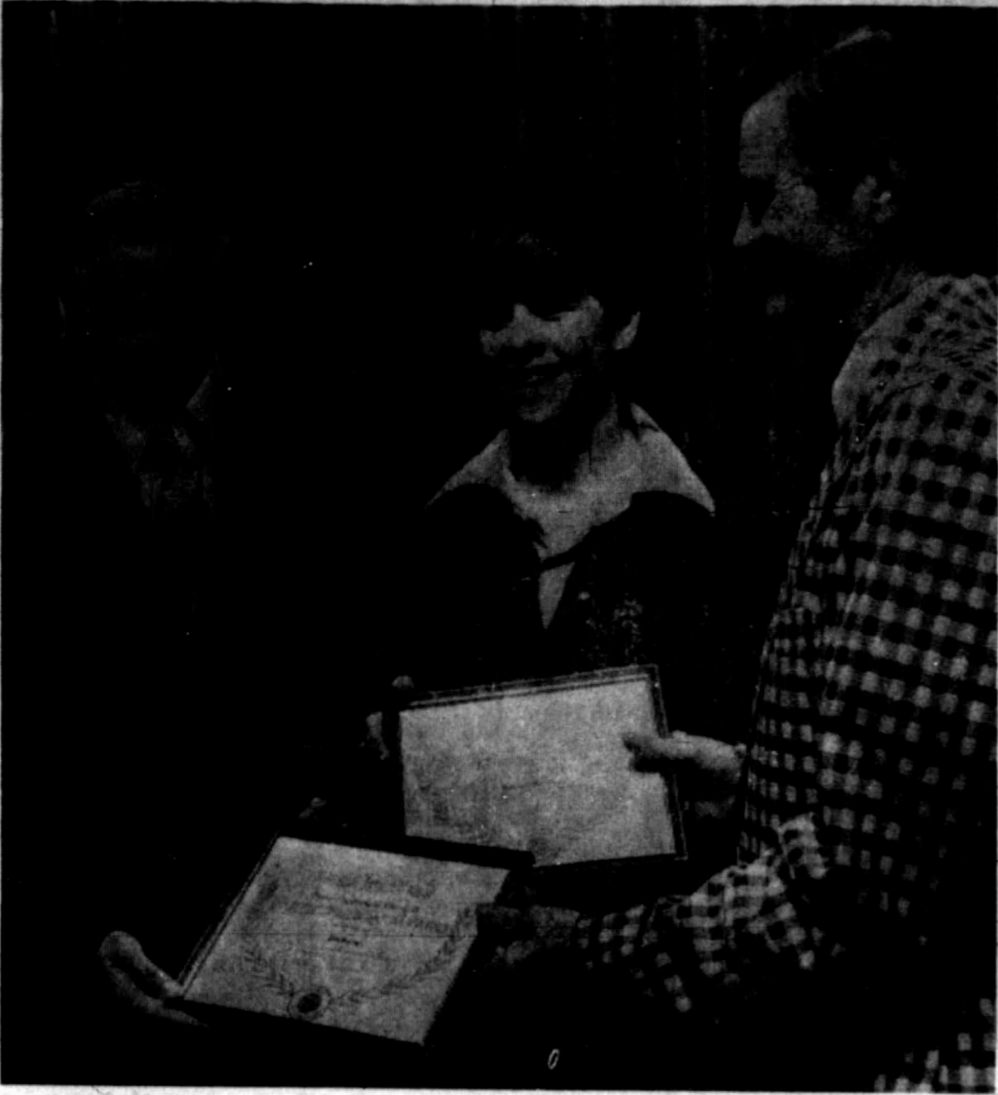

The men were described as being in their middle to late 20s — one brandishing a blue steel pistol while the other carried a chrome revolver.

Employees said the men forced them to put the pill bottles and money in a white paper sack and then held them at bay with the pistols as the holdup men made their get away.

Police said the men were described by employees of the pharmacy as tall with one wearing dark sunglasses, a brown suit coat and having dark hair and complexion. The other man was described as having long brown hair and wearing a tan shirt and brown pants.

Police had made no arrests in the case by late morning today.

Pentagon Official Says Power Allows U.S. To Talk Softly

DALLAS (AP) — America is able to talk softly with Russia and China because it carries a big stick, says Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements, but he adds that "guilt" over Vietnam and reduced military expenditures could imperil this nation.

"Sometimes I think that we haven't really made the connection in our own minds between our military power and the benefits we enjoy as a result. In our strength, we enjoy the fortunate position of being able to set our own course in the world," Clements told the Dallas Council of World Affairs Thursday.

Clements said "we may be watching the tragic decline of allies that we steadfastly supported for nearly 20 years" but he refused to discuss the possibility of American troops being returned to Southeast Asia.

"... It is time to put Vietnam and our Southeast Asian involvement into perspective. I sincerely hope the American people do not fear themselves apart all over again trying to relieve that agony in a vain attempt to find a blame that does not exist. We don't have time for that. The world does not stop while we search our souls. Other pressing events demand our time now. I refer, of course, to the turbulent and dangerous situation in the Middle East," he said.

Clements said many of this country's foreign policies are propped up by military muscle. "Ours is not a peaceful world, whatever our hopes and aspirations may be," he said.

He said the Soviet Union is leaping forward in military development and for that reason the arms race will not end.

"The rate at which we build up our own strategic arsenal will depend on the Soviets, for if they exercise restraint, we will also. The Soviets are outspending us by about 60 percent," a rate which could see them ahead in nuclear capability by the 1980s, Clements added.

Clements said the horror of nuclear war should not lull people into thinking there never could be one simply because of its horror.

"At one time or another, it has been variously asserted that the advent of the machine gun, lighter-than-air craft, the submarine and the bomber made warfare so destructive that it could never occur again. The world has adopted these once-unthinkable weapons and gone on to new ones," he said.

Trustees Suspend Four Schoolboys In Marathon Meet

SAGINAW, Tex. (AP) — A Marathon 12-hour meeting of the Eagle Mountain-Saginaw school board that began Wednesday night and lasted until 7 a.m. Thursday, resulted in the suspension of four Boswell High School students.

School officials said the four youths were suspended for a fight that occurred at Boswell High School about the end of March. Three of the boys contested the expulsion.

The boys were originally suspended for a few days but after the hearing Wednesday night, the board suspended them for the remainder of the school year, Burt Weems, Boswell principal said.

Strong Trumps Need Protection

If you hang around for the next ten thousand years you'll find out that little drops of water will wear away even the hardest rocks. The same sort of thing can happen to your trump suit, except that the process is quicker.

East won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned a diamond. South ruffed, never dreaming that his trump suit would suffer.

Declarer led the ace of trumps and continued with a trump to dummy's jack, discovering the bad trump break. He next led the ten of spades from dummy for a finesse.

West won with the king of spades and boldly returned the queen of diamonds, forcing South to ruff again. Now South had only one trump in his hand and one trump in dummy, while East had two trumps.

Clears Trumps
Sooner or later South had to lead a club, and East took the ace of clubs and returned a heart. This left East with the only remaining trump, which eventually took the setting trick.

South should discard a spade at the second trick, allowing West to win with the queen of diamonds. Declarer can later discard two more spades on dummy's jack and ten of diamonds, thus avoiding the loss of a spade trick in exchange for the diamond trick he has given up.

No matter what West returns, South can draw trumps and get back to dummy with a club to take his spade discards on the good diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K 8 5 4 2 H-5 D-Q 9 6 4 2 C-6 5. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid one spade. You have only 5 points in high cards, but the hand is worth a response because of the strong distribution.

Cape Town Safeguarding Bibles

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Cape Town, on the southern tip of Africa, expects to escape the holocaust should a major nuclear war ever break out.

That is why it is one of only five cities in the world which safeguard a collection of all existing translations of the Bible.

The Bible is now available in 1,526 languages spoken by 97 per cent of the world's population.

In the 1960s, when the threat of nuclear war seemed greatest, the question arose: What would happen if an area of the world was blotted out by a nuclear Armageddon or some natural disaster causing the total destruction of the Bible in any particular language or group of languages?

The United Bible Societies, a federation of independent Bible societies throughout the world, decided in 1967 to select a number of centers at which master copies of the Bible would be stored for safekeeping.

In case of a world disaster, copies in any particular language could be reprinted from these master copies.

So master collections were stockpiled in Stuttgart, Germany; London, England; Newroom behind locked doors and Cape Town.

The Cape Town collection is housed in a fireproof strong-Bibles, carefully bound and gilded, some with brass clasps.

Many are obviously Bibles but hundreds in foreign languages mystify visitors.

There are, for example, Bibles with such labels as Dawan Bila, Ujsovetseg, Nelautajut, Aglangit and Gotena Epe Agaa whose names alone give no indications of their content or origin.

The Rev. J. R. Minaar, assistant general secretary for communication and research, says the five collections are invaluable.

Each translation, he says, may represent a lifetime of work and research.

Making a translation for a nomadic people, for example, may entail living with the nomads, learning their language and customs so that the translation is meaningful to them, he said.

"It is not sufficient just to translate the Bible word for word," he said. "In one instance Christ asked whether a man would give his son a snake to eat — yet among some people of North Africa snakes are eaten so that the direct translation would distort the meaning of this passage."

Factly continued: "My work gets known only by word of mouth. For instance, there is a goodhearted woman in town who sends me business. In church when she sees someone with a frayed, worn Bible she tells her to take it to me."

Factly said that he has seen so many books in his time that "there is only one thing I don't do with them and that's read them."

Growing Need Seen For Returning Wed Ex-Priests To Duty

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — A need for them exists. Colleagues in the Roman Catholic priesthood want them back. Most of the laity apparently would accept their services. And a growing corps of married ex-priests stand ready to return to ministerial duties.

"We see ourselves as a corps of highly qualified volunteer reserves," a group of the ex-priests says. "We hope ... that members of our reserve corps will be called to active duty, part or full time, individually or severally."

The offer comes from a recently formed group called Corps of Reserve Priests United for Service, or CORPUS for short, set up in Chicago, to gather enlistments of former, mostly married priests available for return to duty.

It estimates there now are about 7,000 married priests in the country. As the group began efforts to gain recognition of their qualifications for restoration to priestly service, about 300 of 900 contacted so far have indicated readiness to re-enter it.

"We believe that most of the members of the faith community regret our absence from the roles we once had, many bishops and many of our brother priests could use our help and would welcome our assistance ... in ministries not presently open to us," they say.

Meanwhile, representatives of most of their former coworkers still in the priesthood, the National Federation of Priests' Councils, urged that a "recertification process" be developed to restore married priests to "full, active priestly ministry."

Roman Catholic leaders lately have cited a sharpening shortage of priests, with U.S. seminary enrollments down by about 50 per cent, and with the total of active priests declining by 4,000 in the last decade as a result of deaths and resignations exceeding new ordinations.

Also, a recent survey by the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago found that a heavy majority of American Roman Catholics, 79 per cent of them, favor allowing married priests.

Although a married priest is "laicized" under current Church practice, thereby being deprived of the authorization to exercise his priestly functions, he technically remains a "priest forever" according to the Catholic ordination rite.

CORPUS, the American group of married ex-priests offering to serve, suggested they could be put back on duty as "extraordinary ministers of Holy Communion," perhaps in Sunday preaching, at retreats, in visiting and blessing the sick, as emergency or substitute chaplains, as part-time pastoral associates or other duties.

Bookbinder Believes People Thinking More Of God Now

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — Ed Factly, who pursues the ancient art of bookbinding by wheel press and hand, says people are thinking more of God in these days of uncertainty, judging from the growing number of old, worn Bibles he repairs.

"Most of what's left of my business is restoring family Bibles, those treasured not only for their content but also for certifications of births and deaths written in them maybe 100 years ago," says 72-year-old, white-bearded Factly, a hand bookbinder since he was 13.

Factly said one of his most interesting jobs was restoring a Bible dating back to Civil War times.

"It had been picked up on a battlefield and imprints of horses' hooves were on it," he said. "It was a cutting and pasting job with restoration of the leather covers and took me about four solid days to complete. Once a fellow brought in a huge Bible that was falling apart. To save money, he wanted me to do the best I could by using adhesive tape. I told him to take it somewhere else. If a book is really battered, a charge from $50 to $65 to repair it."

WITH EMPHASIS — President Ford delivers his State of the World address Thursday night on Capitol Hill before a joint session of Congress. Ford asked for almost $1 billion in emergency and economic aid for South Vietnam and for clear authority to use U.S. military forces to evacuate Americans and endangered South Vietnamese. (AP Wirephoto.)

Ford's Aid Request May Be Cover For Need To Arrange Evacuation

By KENNETH J. FREED
An AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The immediate and overwhelmingly negative congressional reaction to President Ford's $722-million, arms-aid request for Vietnam raises serious questions about his real goals.

Ford made the arms pitch to Congress Thursday night knowing full well both the legislators and the majority of the American people would reject it.

But he also knew that Congress might accept a separate plan in his "State of the World" address to evacuate Americans in South Vietnam by using U.S. troops.

There were signs that Ford was using the aid request — more than double his original proposal — as a cover for the more immediate need of arranging the evacuation.

For instance, the $722 million was arrived at in a curious way, reflecting a lack of certainty that the amount would accomplish anything.

As the administration officials explained, the original $300-million request had become absurd in the face of a changed military situation.

And once it was decided to ask for more aid, the only other recommendation Ford had was the $722-million figure proposed by Army Chief of Staff Frederick C. Weyand upon his return from Vietnam.

The officials said that only time will tell if it is adequate, adding that not every military assessment in the past about Vietnam has been correct.

Why, then, did Ford make what is a quixotic effort at best?

The possibilities include: —Ford and Secretary of State

Henry A. Kissinger know Vietnam cannot be saved and want to make sure Congress takes the blame by proposing so high a figure it was bound to lose.

—The $722-million request was made in the same way labor unions make inflated wage demands in order to draw a counteroffer closer to their realistic goals.

—An effort was needed to make the Saigon government think there is a chance for aid in order to prevent South Vietnamese from turning on the remaining Americans in bloody reprisals for giving up.

The answers given by administration officials vary from outright rejection to silence.

As to the suggestion that Ford is maneuvering Congress into taking the blame for Vietnam's fall, the officials almost pleaded that they are not interested in placing blame.

They are equally firm in saying that while the $722 million may or may not be an adequate figure, it is clear that any substantially lower figure would not suffice.

The administration's actual goal/appears to be reflected in its silence over the possibility that Ford wants to keep Saigon thinking there is a chance for aid in order to buy time to evacuate Americans and, possibly, some South Vietnamese friends.

If Ford really thought there was a chance at a large aid figure, he would not have raised the extremely touchy issue of reintroducing American troops into South Vietnam.

The conclusion, then, is that Ford wants to keep open the possibility of increased aid until the safety of the 6,000 Americans still in Vietnam is assured.

'Rousing Lines' In Speech Draw Mostly Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speechwriters call them "ap- plause lines," those stirring phrases that are sure to get a rousing response.

They didn't work for President Ford Thursday night. "The American people can be proud," he said. Silence. "We must act together and decisively." Silence.

"Let us put an end to self-inflicted wounds. Let us remember that our national unity is a most priceless asset." Silence.

The President had come to Congress with a devastatingly gloomy picture of the state of the world. He chided and challenged. He was blunt. He demanded action and set a deadline.

Veteran observers could recall few speeches that had been received so coldly. A President before both houses assembled, greeted at the beginning and end with applause and interrupted only 12 times in between.

"The American people know that our strength, our authority and our leadership have helped prevent a third world war for more than a generation," Ford said. "We will not shrink from this duty in the decade ahead."

Silence. Ford had been quoted in advance as saying this would be the most serious speech of perhaps his entire presidency. In January, presenting the message that the State of the Union is not good, Ford had predicted he would get little cheer and that he expected none.

He didn't need to say it Thursday. Before him, as he peered through the bright glare of television lights, Ford could see empty seats in the great House chamber. Only half the senators and congressmen had showed up. Staff members filled some of the seats. Show people call that "papering the house."

Once there was a single, but audible, boo from a young man in a congressman's seat — apparently a staff member. Another time there was a hiss, again from only one person.

The long speech, lasting exactly an hour, took its toll of the President. His voice dropped to a whisper, almost pleading, as he said the final words:

"The spirit of America is good and the heart of America is strong. Let us be proud of what we have done and confident of what we can yet do. And may God ever guide us to do what is right."

Then, to applause, Ford made his way quickly out of the chamber.

Here Are Highlights Of Ford's Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the highlights of President Ford's foreign policy address to Congress:

VIETNAM AID: Ford asked for $722 million of emergency military assistance and an initial appropriation of $250 million for economic and humanitarian aid for South Vietnam. Referring to his earlier request for $300 million, never acted on by Congress, Ford said, "The sums I had requested before the major North Vietnamese offensive and the sudden South Vietnamese retreat are obviously inadequate. Half-hearted action would be worse than none. We must act together and decisively."

MILITARY CURBS: The President asked Congress to amend by the end of next week a law prohibiting the use of American military forces in Southeast Asia. He sought authority to use uniformed Americans, if necessary, "for the limited purposes of protecting American lives by ensuring their evacuation." He also said he would want to help evacuate many Vietnamese whose lives would be threatened if North Vietnam and the Viet Cong take over the South.

CAMBODIA: Ford reminded Congress of his January request for $222 million of aid for Cambodia and added, "I regret to say that as of this evening, it may be too late."

ATLANTIC ALLIANCE: Declaring that "our relations with western Europe have never

We have agreed in principle to reconvene the Geneva conference. We are prepared as well to explore other forums."

CHINA: "With the People's Republic of China," he said, "we are firmly fixed on our course set forth" by former President Richard M. Nixon and Chinese officials. Ford said during his own planned trip to China later this year he will "accelerate the improvement in our relations."

Indochina Struggle Takes Huge Toll

WASHINGTON (AP) — If approved in total or in part by Congress, the $972 million in emergency military and humanitarian aid for South Vietnam sought by President Ford would join more than $141 billion the United States already has spent on behalf of the Southeast Asian nation since 1961.

And the Indochina struggle has had a huge human toll as well: more than 46,000 Americans and 241,000 South Vietnamese died in combat, and the Pentagon estimates over 1 million Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have also been killed.

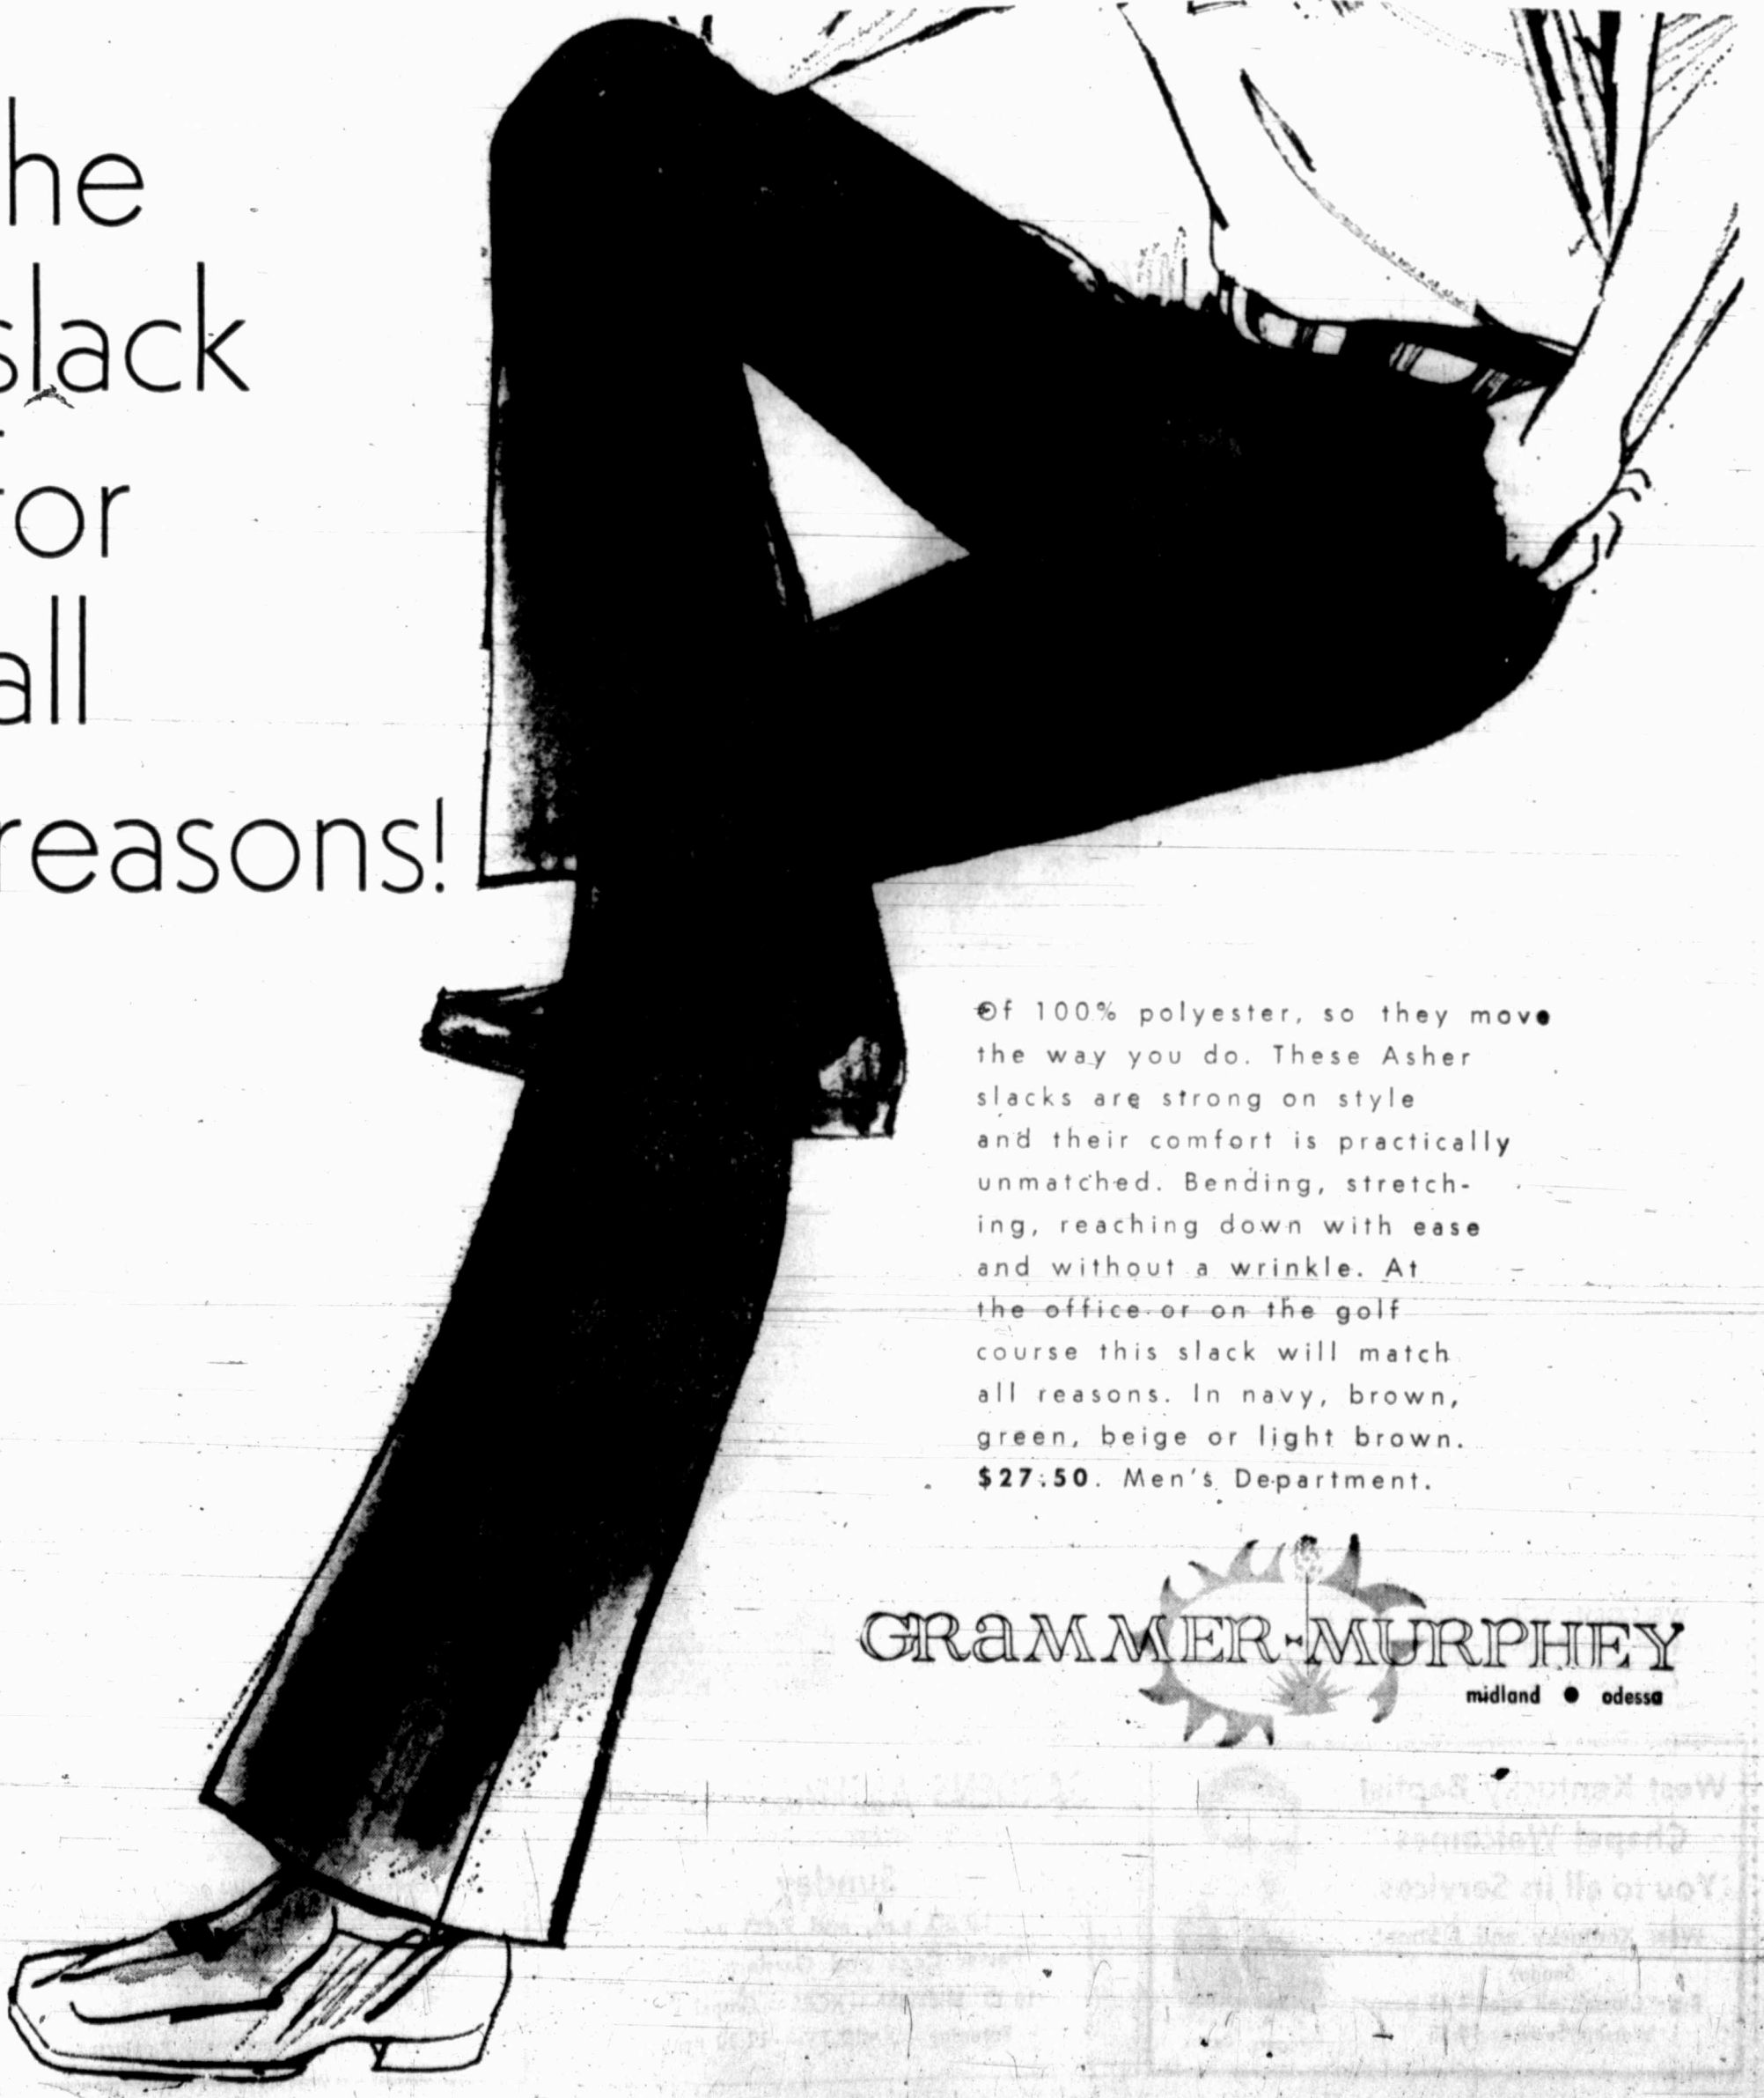

U.S. officials estimate that the South Vietnamese army and still has more than $2 billion worth of U.S.-supplied military equipment after losing about $1 billion in supplies during its recent retreat.

During the current fiscal year ending June 30, some $700 million in U.S. military aid was appropriated for South Vietnam.

The largest American spending by far occurred between 1967 and 1970, the peak years of U.S. involvement in the conflict and a period when American forces in Vietnam reached a total of 550,000. During those years, direct spending for the war was successively $22.2 billion, $26.3 billion, $26.5 billion and $18.5 billion.

Reds Rally Twice To Rub Out LA

By The Associated Press. The Cincinnati Reds picked up where the Los Angeles Dodgers left off.

The Dodgers were National League baseball champions last year and they're still the defending champions. But the Reds have made the first three jumps in a checkers game that is expected to end only when there is one king left.

"We might have drained a little morale out of them," said reliever Clay Carroll after he nailed down the Reds' eighth victory Thursday night. It was the third straight one-run victory for the Reds over the Dodgers.

The Dodgers won the NL West last year by four games, beating Cincinnati 12 out of 18 times along the way. The Reds didn't play Thursday night like they were impressed with that performance, rebounding from deficits of 5-0 and 6-5.

With one out in the eighth, Los Angeles reliever Charlie Hough, who lost opening day to the Reds, hit Pete Rose with a pitch. Then, just to prove it was an accident, he did it again, hitting the next batter Joe Morgan.

Legalized Gambling Knocked

BOSTON (AP) — Legalized sports wagering never could compete with its illicit counterpart unless income tax laws are changed to exempt winnings, the National Gambling Commission has been told.

Charles Rogovin, a private consultant on the problems of organized crime and former head of the federal government's Law Enforcement Administration, told the commission Thursday he favored legalization of all gambling, including betting on sports such as baseball, basketball and football.

Rogovin said, however, "The government cannot compete with illegal gambling on the tax issue alone." He told the commission, which ends three days of hearings in Boston today, that state governments would have to delay gaining new revenues until its illegal competitors are knocked out of business, which could only happen if they offered equal services.

"Today, wagers can be made upon any sporting contest so long as the illegal operators have definitive odds available," he said. "The government would have to offer the same range of services." "While government operations would not be expensive, I do not doubt that it can compete with illegal enterprise in terms of offering equal or higher rates or returns to bettors; especially since that portion of illegal operators' overhead which currently must be expended for the corruption of law enforcement would not be a necessary cost to government."

San Francisco Giants 2, Padres 0, 10 innings. Bobby Murcer made his first game in the National League memorable with a run-scoring double that gave pitcher Jim Barr and the Giants their extra-inning triumph over the Padres.

Murcer, the former New York Yankee star, tagged reliever Rich Folkers for a double and raced home on Gary Matthews' double. Chris Speier then sacrificed and Matthews came home on Steve Ontiveros' ground out.

Lee Elder Smothers 'Pressure'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The pressure inside the man had to be intense, but it never showed. "The first round is behind me," said Lee Elder, the cool 40-year-old pro from Washington, D.C., after a history-making first appearance in the prestigious Masters golf tournament by a black man.

"Now I'm just looking forward to playing the second round. Maybe I can score a little better."

While 16 players were breaking par on the rain-soaked Augusta National layout, Elder fashioned a creditable 74, saying, "That's super for me."

He was greeted by polite applause from a huge gallery that surrounded the first tee when he broke the color barrier here with a perfect 250-yard drive down the middle of the first fairway.

Elder, playing with veteran Gene Littler, stirred some additional interest on the 55-year-old hole when he sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie putt, later saying, "It looked like I might be off to the races."

But he quickly fell back, missing a four-foot putt on the fourth green and then failing on a three-footer for par at nine, making the turn at an over 37. Elder missed an eight-footer for another bogey on the par 5 15th, pulled his tee shot on the par 3 16th and settled for another bogey before sinking a 12-foot birdie putt at 17.

"I'm Satisfied"

"Considering the position I was in, and that I bogeyed two par five holes, I'd have to say, really, that I'm satisfied with a round of 74," said Elder, who qualified for this event 51 weeks ago by winning the Monsanto Open at Pensacola, Fla. in a playoff.

There were no incidents surrounding Elder's appearance. "The gallery was fantastic," he said. "They applauded on every hole when I went up on the green."

Elder said an entourage of well-wishers around him this week appeared to be more nervous about the day than he was. "I've been trying to keep them from being nervous all week," he said. "Some wanted to come out here at 7 this morning, three hours early for me. I think they've all settled down now."

INSIDE REPORT

Strauss, UAW Gain Big Win Over Left Wing

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss sealed an important victory over the party's left wing by quietly procuring undercover help from one of the left's most prestigious figures: Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers (UAW).

On the day before Democratic state chairmen elected a head of their organization, Strauss persuaded Woodcock to halt UAW support for Alabama state chairman Robert Vance.

Woodcock's assist reflects Strauss's success in broadening his political base after being elected national chairman in December 1972 by moderate-to-conservative Democrats.

Woodcock's underlings have been another matter, however. William Dodd, UAW national political action director, and other functionaries of the big union were collaborating with left-of-center unionists to reelect Vance.

That not only guaranteed Fowler's election, but undermined attempts to forge the left-of-center unions into a monolithic opposition against Strauss.

On March 19, Strauss telephoned Woodcock in Detroit. He informed the UAW chief that his lieutenants "are messin' in my affairs."

Strauss reminded Woodcock that they had worked closely together to compromise intra-party disputes and promote liberal legislation.

Woodcock replied: All this was news to him. He was leaving Detroit in one hour, he told Strauss, but he could make good use of that hour.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — A sworn deposition describes two unsuccessful assassination attempts against the late Haitian strongman, Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, in the late 1960s.

The deposition, given by Dr. Robert Pritchard to the special commission headed by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, alleges that the CIA first plotted to poison Duvalier in 1966.

When this failed, according to the deposition, the CIA tried to bomb the presidential palace in 1968. A lone B-25 bomber allegedly made two runs over the palace, dropping bombs and leaflets.

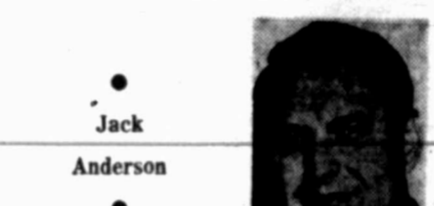

Dr. Pritchard is a prominent American concert pianist, who had become a confidant of the Haitian dictator. But in 1966, Dr. Pritchard defied an order from Papa Doc and gave a forbidden public concert in Haiti.

This caused the pianist to fall from favor, which the CIA allegedly sought to exploit. As Dr. Pritchard has related it to the Rockefeller commission, the CIA first tried to recruit him to spy on Papa Doc and his palace advisers.

Subsequently, a CIA-paid agent posing as a photographer approached Dr. Pritchard about slipping a deadly poison into the dictator's food, the deposition alleges. The pianist relates that he saw the lethal poison immediately paralyze a small, mouse-like creature, which the agent carried in a cage.

Dr. Pritchard states that he not only refused to cooperate with the agent but reported the plot to a U.S. political officer in Haiti. According to Dr. Pritchard's testimony, the officer responded: "Wouldn't anything be better than this situation?"

The pianist said he told Papa Doc about the assassination plot and that the dictator was aware of the scheming against his life. Dr. Pritchard also tried again to notify the State

Jack Anderson

Department of what the CIA was doing, according to the deposition.

Nevertheless, the CIA approached him again and tried unsuccessfully to bring pressure on him to work against Papa Doc. Dr. Pritchard alleges that in May, 1968, he learned about the bombing attack upon the presidential palace. He was told by Arthur Bonhomme, then the Haitian ambassador to Washington, that the attack had been carried out by the CIA.

Footnote: In early 1971, we described six CIA assassination attempts against Cuban dictator Fidel Castro. We reported names and details. The first attempt, interestingly, was a plot to slip poison pellets in Castro's food.

THIEF'S DEBACLE: In an earlier report, we cited secret military cables, which placed much of the blame for the South Vietnamese military debacle upon President Nguyen Van Thieu.

He issued conflicting orders which confused his commanders, according to one cable. He kept changing his mind, for example, whether or order a defense of Da Nang and Hue. In the end, these cities were lost without a battle.

A subsequent cable reports that the U.S. Army chief, Gen. Frederick Weyand, now on a fact-finding mission in South Vietnam, had appointments last week to see Thieu. The South Vietnamese president canceled the meetings literally at the last minute.

Apparently, Thieu didn't have the answers to Weyand's questions and didn't consumed much closed-door discussion time during the recent national meeting in Chicago of Democratic liberals. The consensus seemed to be that the only way to get rid of him soon was through indictment on technical charges arising from an illegal political contribution by Ashland Oil Co. covering two years — 1970 and 1971 — a prospect viewed as remote by Strauss and his aides.

WASHINGTON — By turning back the calendar to 1968 and recalling the Communist Tet offensive in February of that year, the prospects for a new round of terror in South Vietnam can be visualized.

The South Vietnamese government's recent decision to walk away from several northern and western provinces can be debated on military and political grounds. For the civilians that must remain behind, there is the certainty of massive cold-blooded killing by Hanoi to eliminate anti-Communists.

The ancient capital city of Hue, cultural heart of a once-unified Vietnam, evokes memories of streets lined with red-blossomed tamarind trees, schoolgirls with long hair and flowing dai dresses riding bicycles to school, and cargo barges and floating hotels jamming the waterways leading to the Perfume River.

Now Hue has been left to the enemy, along with the city of Quang Tri, both capitals of provinces in which thousands of American and Vietnamese lives were expended.

What lies ahead following a Communist occupation will not be pretty.

Early in 1969, a South Vietnamese farmer walking through the sand dune hills outside of Hue stumbled across a strand of wire. Angry he tugged at the wire, which flew out of the sand with a skull and forearm wrapped in its other end. This discovery was one more in a series of "finds" that provided vivid footnotes to the 24-day Communist occupation and bloodbath at Hue the year before.

The grim details of the massacre of Hue were related by Douglas Pike, the United States' top expert on the Viet Cong and on Hanoi's operations in Indochina, in a 1,250-page monograph called "The Viet Cong Strategy of Terror." Pike served for eight years in South Vietnam with the U.S. Information Agency.

The massacre at Hue, eight-year Indochina veteran Pike wrote, was a prelude to what can be expected "if the Communists prevail."

Pike's dramatic conclusion is that as many as three million South Vietnamese "enemies to the revolution" may be slaughtered in a "night of the long knives."

Pike's documentation confirms that the slaughter of civilians at Hue during Tet was a calculated elimination of anti-Communists and that the killing was done, not in the heat of battle, but by 105 local Communist assassination squads.

As Communists take over more territory in South Vietnam, Pike predicted, "Communist justice will be meted out to the tyrants and Lackeys. Personal revenge will be a small-wheel-turning within the larger wheel of party retribution."

"But little of this will be known abroad. The Communists in Vietnam will create a silence when it happens. "The world will call it peace."

Can you quote it? By LAVINA ROSS FOWLER

1. We are all persons of three dimensions: spiritual, mental and physical. Heredity and environmental conditions help to mold our characteristic traits and form us into groups. It has been said, "birds of a feather flock together," but like all rules there are exceptions. Name two boys: one a prince, the other a shepherd whose friendship was proverbial. 1 Samuel or 1 Kings 18:1

2. Name two prophets, each name beginning with the letter "E" who were friends. 1 K. 18 and 19 (King James) 3 Kings 18 and 19 (D.)

3. Who was called "the friend of God"? James 2:23

4. How to have friends. Proverbs 18:24

Husband Of First Lady's Secretary Dies Of Gunshot Wound In Temple

WASHINGTON (AP) — James W. Howe, the husband of First Lady Betty Ford's personal secretary, died Thursday night of a gunshot wound. Police said it was a suicide.

The Washington Post said in its Friday edition Mrs. Howe is under investigation by the White House in connection with reports she and her husband visited the Dominican Republic last week as guests of Tongson Park, a Korean businessman known for hosting lavish Washington parties.

A White House spokesman declined to comment on the Post story.

Howe, whose wife, Nancy, has been Mrs. Ford's personal secretary since 1973, died at George Washington University Medical Center several hours after he was taken there with a gunshot wound in the left temple, a hospital spokesman said.

Howe, 52, was a retired Army officer and a professor of modern languages at Trenton State College in New Jersey.

The Post said in its story that the Howes and their 21-year-old daughter, Lisa Courtney, stayed in a villa in the Dominican resort of La Romana.

It quoted Howe as saying their hotel bill was paid by Tandy Meams Dickinson, who serves as hostess at Park's Washington parties, and that Howe later repaid her.

The Post said it is a violation of the federal code of ethics and conflict of interest laws for government employees to "solicit or accept, directly or indirectly any gift, gratuity, favor, entertainment, loan or any other thing of monetary value" from certain categories of persons or corporations.

There also are special conflict of interest standards that have been drawn up for White House employees.

Howe had been free on the $5,000 appearance bond since November 1973 when Walker and Martin signed the surety bond guaranteeing Ward's appearance in 142nd District Court.

A capias for his arrest was issued here when Ward failed to show up for trial.

Clark said the defendant was arrested by the Harris County sheriff's department.

Ward is being held without bond in the county jail here.
