

Lea Wildcat To Potential

Apco Oil Corp., Odessa, was preparing to calculate absolute, open flow potential at No. 1 Sun-State, Lea County wildcat, 12 miles northwest of Tatum, after taking four-point tests in the Devonian.

Through perforations at 11,883-12,052 feet, which had been acidized with 4,000 gallons, it flowed the following gauges, time not reported: on a 4-64-inch choke, 1.835 million cubic feet; on an 8-64-inch choke, 936,100 cubic feet; on a 14-64-inch choke, 1,835 million cubic feet; and on an 18-64-inch choke, 2,288 million cubic feet per day.

It flowed an unreported amount of 60-gravity distillate. Location is 1,900 feet from north and west lines of section 23-11s-34e, two miles south of the depleted one-well Sand Springs (Devonian) field.

Terry Wildcat Returns Crude On Swab Test

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 46 Mallett Land & Cattle Co., Northwest Terry County scheduled wildcat, 20 miles northwest of Brownfield, swabbed 124 barrels of fluid in 8 1/2 hours, cut 99 to 100 per cent oil, after the first hour, from the San Andres.

Recovery was through perforations at 7,902-7,914 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Operator set a retrievable bridge plug at 7,890 feet.

Drilled to 8,200 feet, it was plugged back to 7,950 feet, and has 5-inch casing set at 8,199 feet.

The project is four miles southwest of the Abo opener, producing at 7,862 feet, and one mile southwest of San Andres production at 4,950 feet, in the Slaughter field.

It spots 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 1, block D-14, C&M survey.

Wildcat Trio Staked In Coke

Tri-Star Petroleum Corp., Dallas, has staked sites for three wildcats in Coke County.

No. 1 Elizabeth Mae Glenn, a 5,350-foot test, spots 467 feet from most easterly east and most easterly south lines of A. J. Kiser survey 58, abstract 1894, three miles east of Bronte.

It is 3/4 mile north of the one-well Bronte, East (Gardner) oil field, opened in 1974 by Triton Oil & Gas Corp.'s No. 1 C. N. Webb Jr., which pumped 13 barrels of 36-gravity oil and 50 barrels of water on potential test, through perforations at 5,120-5,144 feet.

Second Test The firm's No. 1 Edna Butner, also slated to 5,350 feet, spots 467 feet from south and east lines of W. T. Richards survey 1, five miles northeast of Bronte.

It is five miles north of the Bronte, East opener.

Third Project No. 1-A Allar-Norton, scheduled to 5,598 feet, spots 1,980 feet from south and west lines of L. N. Taylor survey 4, abstract 796, five miles northeast of Bronte.

State Death Penalty Upheld

Phnom Penh Government Asking For Cease-Fire

By The Associated Press The Phnom Penh government has asked for an immediate cease-fire in its five-year war with the Khmer Rouge insurgents and offered to give up its authority, the International Committee of the Red Cross announced today in Geneva.

The offer came as Phnom Penh's airport fell after a day of fighting and the Communist rebels began shelling the center of the capital.

A Red Cross spokesman said a message from Cambodia's leader, Gen. Sak Suktakhan, was sent by telegram to Prince Norodom Sihanouk in Peking.

Sihanouk, ousted from power in Cambodia in 1970, is titular leader of the insurgents.

The spokesman said it contained "a request for an immediate cease-fire and a proposal for the transfer of government powers."

Field reports in Cambodia said a massive insurgent force seized the civilian control tower at Pochentong airport four miles west of the capital in the early afternoon and by sundown had grabbed the airstrip, the rest of the airport and the military base.

In South Vietnam, government forces pulled out of the provincial capital of Phan Rang after tank-led attacks by three North Vietnamese divisions. The Ministry of Defense said government units were ordered to form a new defense line south of Phan Rang, which was one of two remaining government coastal enclaves.

Field reports in South Vietnam also said government troops were forced into their first retreat in the crucial battle for Xuan Loc but continued to hold the ruins of the isolated provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon.

The Khmer Rouge insurgents moved their 105mm artillery to the southern outskirts of Phnom Penh and began shelling the central part of the city. Ten people were reported killed and 30 wounded by the howitzer shells.

The territory held by the Cambodian government was steadily shrinking. Clouds of black smoke hung over the city, and the International Red Cross declared the leading hotel a security zone for non-combatants and the sick and wounded.

Hard fighting was reported at the southern edge of Chba Ampeou, across the U.N. Bridge to the western outskirts of Phnom Penh. Government forces closed the bridge to keep out infiltrators.

Government positions in various parts of the northern, southern and southwest sectors were reported holding despite heavy attacks.

Radio reports in Bangkok, Thailand, said the Khmer Rouge have taken over the east bank of the Mekong River across from Phnom Penh, a bridge across the Bassac River on the southern edge of the city and were within a mile of the northern edge.

Another battle was reported at Ben Tranh, in the Mekong Delta 35 miles south of Saigon. The government said two of its A37 jets were shot down and three men were lost, while casualties in the ground fighting were 26 Viet Cong and two government soldiers killed and 18 government men wounded.

Officials in Washington said the number of Americans in South Vietnam would be cut to about 1,000 in the next two weeks so those remaining could be evacuated quickly.

Asst. Special Prosecutor Frank Tuerkheimer told the jury, "The testimony of Mr. (Jake) Jacobsen should be believed by you."

"The defense in this case is not a credible defense," Tuerkheimer declared.

On Tuesday, Connally conceded that some of his testimony conflicts with earlier statements he has made.

Connally was the final witness in his own defense, denying that he took two alleged $5,000 payoffs from a milk producer's co-op for helping persuade the Nixon administration to raise milk prices in 1971.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart gave each side a maximum of two hours and 15 minutes to present their closing arguments to the jury today. He said his own instructions would take another hour.

Assistant Special Prosecutor Frank M. Tuerkheimer spent more than two hours Tuesday attacking Connally's denials. He forced him to admit a number of contradictions between the story he first told to investigators and the story he told the jury.

—On Nov. 14, 1973 Connally denied to a grand jury that he had spoken more than once in the preceding three or four weeks to Jake Jacobsen, the dairy co-op lawyer who is now his chief accuser. Connally now concedes there were two meetings in that time. Connally said he gave a wrong answer before because he misunderstood the question.

—The following April, Connally told the grand jury about the meeting he had omitted mentioning before. But he said it was in the afternoon, and now he says it must have been in the morning. Connally said he simply was mistaken.

—Another time Connally said he had no way to fix the exact date of a meeting with Jacobsen which he now says took place June 25, 1971.

The court said that under the U.S. Supreme Court's decision striking down the previous death penalty law, several tests were laid down for determining the validity of a capital punishment law.

"Do they provide effective guidance to the jury? Do they adequately limit a discretion of the jury? Do they guard against the arbitrary and standardless imposition of the death penalty?"

"We hold that they do," the appeals court said of the Texas law.

Appeals Considered The U.S. Supreme Court is now considering appeals from other states in which similar death penalty statutes are under attack. Jurek's case was the first to reach Texas' court of last resort.

The Texas law allows imposition of the death penalty for murder committed in the course of a kidnaping, burglary, robbery, forcible rape or for arson, murder for hire, murder during an escape from jail or prison or the killing of a peace officer or fireman. Death is mandatory if the jury finds the slaying was deliberate, without provocation and that the killer probably would commit future violent acts if allowed to live.

Cuero Case Cited

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the death penalty law passed by the 1973 legislature after the state's old capital punishment act had been struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court made its decision in an appeal by Jerry Lane Jurek, who was assessed the death penalty by a Cuero jury in the slaying of a policeman's 10-year old daughter.

Too Much Freedom? Lawyers for Jurek had contended that the new death penalty law, which was strictly limited to certain aggravated forms of murder, still left juries too much freedom in deciding whether to send a defendant to the electric chair.

But the court found that the new death-penalty law adheres to both the U.S. Constitution and to the latest U.S. Supreme Court's decision on the death penalty.

The decision was rendered on a 3-2 vote, with Judges Truman Roberts and Wendell Odom both saying they would favor striking down the death penalty law.

Bell Wins Wiretapping Appeal

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. won its appeal today of a lower court order prohibiting it from wiretapping plaintiffs in a $29.2 million lawsuit against the utility.

The 4th Texas Court of Civil Appeals here reversed and dissolved an order by District Court Judge Peter Michael Curry which banned any wiretapping by Bell and prohibited the company from destroying records pertinent to the case.

Custody Bell executive James H. Ashley and the family of the late T. O. Gravitt, former head of Bell's Texas operations, filed the late last year claiming an unwarranted company investigation led to Ashley's dismissal and Gravitt's suicide.

Chief Appeals Justice Charles W. Barrow cited in a three-page opinion technical deficiencies in Curry's order.

In granting the order Judge Curry had stipulated that his decision did not mean that Bell had engaged or was engaging in wiretapping or document destruction.

Curry issued the order after a hearing in which plaintiffs' lawyer Pat Maloney brought witnesses trying to show that Bell may have tapped various telephones and in past cases had destroyed documents relevant to those actions.

The appeals court said Curry's order was not specific enough.

Curry has set trial in the case for May 12, however, Bell lawyers said they have filed a motion for continuance. No hearing date has been set on that motion.

Ashley and the Gravitts have alleged in their suit that Bell engaged in "corporate rapaciousities," including illegal political activities, deceitful rate-setting practices and financial irregularities.

Meanwhile, Bell filed a cross action suit this week seeking to recover from Ashley and Gravitt's widow monies and properties that Bell says were fraudulently obtained.

More than a dozen federal and state investigations have been spawned by the suit, including inquiries by several out of state utility regulatory commissions.

Those probes included the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, two federal grand juries, a consumer committee of the Texas Legislature and a Texas attorney general's suit to block a $45 million intrastate rate increase sought by Bell.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators made history today, casting the final legislative vote on a proposed new Texas constitution.

They submitted it with their blessing to the people, who will vote Nov. 4 whether to accept the complete revision of the 1876 constitution.

It climaxed a smooth passage through the legislature, which salvaged the basic document after 181 legislator-delegates to the 1974 Constitutional Convention failed by three votes to agree on a proposal.

Paris Oil Talks Break Up In Deadlock

PARIS (AP) — The proposal for a conference to regulate the international oil traffic collapsed today after the meeting to make preparations for the parley broke up in deadlock.

After nine days of exhausting negotiations, the 10 delegations representing oil exporters, industrialized nations and developing nations that import oil went home without setting a date for new talks.

Throughout the negotiations, the two sides never budged from the opposing positions which caused the deadlock. Led by Algeria, the nations of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries demanded that the proposed world energy conference take up all raw materials sold by the underdeveloped nations to the industrial nations and not just oil. The industrial nations insisted that oil be the chief business of the future conference, with only secondary and peripheral discussion of other raw materials.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran had warned that the price of oil would rise again if an energy conference was not held. But a glut of oil on the international market is exerting downward pressure on prices.

The head of the U.S. delegation to the Paris talks, Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Enders, commented that market forces, not a conference, will determine the price of oil.

Enders said the U.S. government will reflect on how to get a dialogue going again but without any particular urgency.

The meeting was the first time that the exporters and consumers had sat down at the same table in a body since the energy crisis began with the Arab oil embargo during the 1973 Arab-Israeli war.

The breakdown of the talks was a sharp diplomatic setback for France, which called the meeting to begin the process of dialogue and end the atmosphere of confrontation.

The president of the meeting, Louis de Guiringaud, said France would take a new initiative only if asked to do so.

The industrialized nations were represented by the United States, Japan and the European

Arguments Begin In Connally Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecutor in the John Connally bribery trial said today the former Treasury secretary should be convicted because his chief accuser has been corroborated "on virtually every conceivable point" where corroboration is possible.

Parents Maintain Vigil Over Daughter For Half Lifetime

By ART ARTHUR Copley News Service TARPON SPRINGS, Fla. — A quick glance at Elaine Esposito in her bedroom here would indicate little out of the ordinary. She seems a young girl, asleep.

Elaine, however, is far from ordinary. She is asleep, true enough. But she has been for 34 years.

Now 40, Elaine entered a coma in 1941 and, according to the Guinness Book of World Records, has been in one longer than any person on record.

"It borders on a medical miracle," said Dr. John F. Mullan, head of neurosurgery and director of the Brain Research Institute at the University of Chicago.

"It's a tribute to the extraordinary devotion and good care she's had."

Car Sales In Early April Failed To Signal Hoped For Spring Upturn

DETROIT (AP) — Car sales in early April failed to signal the spring upturn which auto executives hoped would put the industry back on its feet.

And Chrysler Corp. revealed it had an operating loss of $170 million in the last quarter of 1974, more than double the net losses it reported earlier.

Reports from the four major auto companies Tuesday showed domestic car sales during April 1-10 fell 29 per cent from a year ago to their lowest level for the period in 14 years.

Chrysler had a sales drop of 37 per cent from a year ago, GM sales were down 34 per cent, American Motors sales were off 22 per cent and Ford Motor Co. sales fell 14 per cent.

In other auto developments Tuesday:

—The federal government reported that the nation's industrial output last month registered its smallest drop since October, largely due to an increase in auto assemblies during March.

—An Associated Press survey revealed that the Argentine operations of America's Big Three auto companies lost nearly $70 million in 1974. A major steel strike threatens further losses.

—West Germany's Volkswagen announced plans to cut its work force by 25,000.

—Italy's Fiat reached agreement with unions to close most of its auto plants for four days next month to help reduce a large backlog of unsold cars.

—British Leyland Motor Corp. said it has asked the government for a new loan to tide it over until publication of a secret government study on its annual meeting Tuesday, credit reduced net losses to $73.5 million, still the largest disclosed it lost $179 million before taxes in the fourth quarter.

Chrysler, confronted by a group of angry shareholders at last year. A $96.5 million tax year history.

Chrysler's operating loss for the year was $137 million, but the tax credit limited the previously reported net loss to $52 million, also a record for the No. 3 auto maker.

Chairman Lynn Townsend said the first-quarter before-tax loss would be "somewhat improved" over the fourth-quarter operating results, "and we look for continued improvement through the year."

The company also promised shareholders a new lineup of subcompact cars and a major corporate restructuring to make the firm profitable again.

But angry shareholders, whose first-quarter dividend was omitted for the first time in 40 years, demanded a reshuffling of upper management and shouted criticism of the firm's policies.

Chrysler's operating loss for the year was $137 million, but the tax credit limited the previously reported net loss to $52 million, also a record for the No. 3 auto maker.

Chairman Lynn Townsend said the first-quarter before-tax loss would be "somewhat improved" over the fourth-quarter operating results, "and we look for continued improvement through the year."

The company also promised shareholders a new lineup of subcompact cars and a major corporate restructuring to make the firm profitable again.

But angry shareholders, whose first-quarter dividend was omitted for the first time in 40 years, demanded a reshuffling of upper management and shouted criticism of the firm's policies.

Butz Decides He Will Keep Job Possibly Through '76 Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has decided to remain on the job at the request of President Ford, possibly through the 1976 presidential election, according to sources in Congress and the administration.

According to the sources, Ford asked Butz earlier this month to remain in the Cabinet indefinitely. For more than a year there have been rumors that Butz soon would leave the post, he has held since a 51-44 Senate confirmation vote Dec. 2, 1971.

Butz was said to have indicated to associates before Ford's request that he was seriously thinking of leaving his $60,000-a-year Cabinet office in late June. He will be 66 on July 3.

An aide said Tuesday that Butz now plans to remain as long as Ford wants him. The aide said that "pressure was put on him by the White House to stay a little longer" but he did not indicate how long that might be.

Another source, however, said Ford's request for Butz to remain could be withdrawn abruptly if farm belt Republicans feel the outspoken secretary is a political liability to them.

Butz has been adamant in seeking less government control of agriculture and more reliance on free markets instead of federal subsidies for farmers. This has not gone over well with many farmers who have seen their prices decline and costs continue to rise.

Oil, Gas Fundamentals Course Opens Monday

Dr. Jack G. Elam, petroleum consultant, will present the first lecture of the Permian Basin Graduate Center's Oil and Gas Fundamentals course.

His lecture will be from 7 to 10 p.m. in the PBGC classroom in the basement of Gihls Tower East, 119 N. Colorado St.

The course is designed for office managers, secretaries, production clerks and other office personnel, a graduate center official said.

It also is designed as an informative basic course on different aspects of the oil business from prospect to pipeline, including procedures necessary in an oil office. Sessions will cover oil and gas and mineral leases, delay rentals and division orders; drilling procedures, production operations, production reports, Railroad Commission, comp-railroad and FEA-90 reports, and oil and gas accounting and office procedures, Dr. Elam said.

McCamey Plans Big For 50th Birthday

By JAN WILLIAMS
Staff Writer

McCAMEY — McCamey residents packed the high school auditorium here Tuesday night for a preview of the town's Golden Anniversary celebration, June 20-28.

The audience, which included representatives from local organizations participating in the 50th birthday celebration, ranged from toddlers to old-timers and all exerted an equal amount of exuberance.

Tuesday night represented the official kickoff of the birthday celebration and featured the organization of the "Celebration Belles" and the "Brothers of the Brush."

Women in the community were asked to join the Belles by dressing in costumes appropriate to the Old West era during the birthday celebration. Costumes are available from the Celebration Headquarters on Crane Highway in McCamey.

Men were asked to join in the Brothers of the Brush by refraining from shaving until the end of the celebration.

"Fashions of Yesteryear," a preview of what will be seen on the streets of McCamey during the birthday celebration was also presented Tuesday night.

"Operation Pride," a project to remodel store fronts on Main Street in McCamey to fit in with the Old West theme, is also a part of the celebration.

"Everything is coming along beautifully," Ann Compton said. "We hope to have Operation Pride completed by June 1."

McCamey has also been entered in the Governor's Beautification program and has been accepted in the 2,500 to 5,000 population bracket. McCamey has a population of 2,600.

To promote the event, participants in the celebration will visit surrounding areas, including Midland, in antique cars and will be dressed in celebration costumes on May 24, June 6, 13 and 20. The will also promenade through the streets of McCamey on May 30, June 6, 13 and 20.

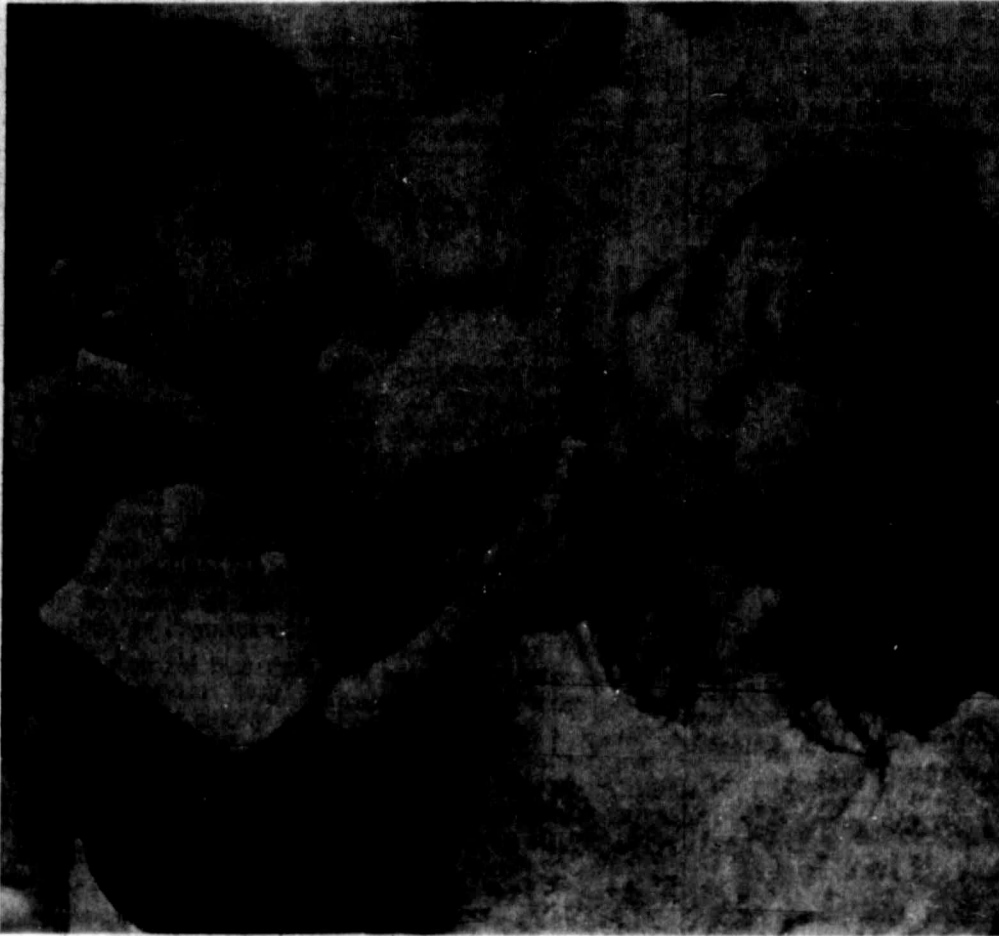

Mrs. Compton added that a special invitation to attend the celebration is being issued to old timers who used to be residents of McCamey.

The present list of events for the birthday celebration includes a rocking chair marathon June 20, coronation day; a parade and the Golden Anniversary Ball June 21; religious heritage day June 22; merchants' promotion day June 23; ladies day and golden anniversary tasting spree June 24; pioneer heritage day June 25; agriculture and industry day June 26; youth day June 27; and June 28—McCamey's 50th birthday—the cutting of the huge birthday cake, a noon barbecue, an afternoon burial of a time capsule, entertainment, a fiddlers contest and an historical presentation.

SWIMMING, ANYONE? — Sheri Stephens models the swimsuit of the past at the kickoff of McCamey's Golden Anniversary Celebration.

CELEBRATIONS ARE FUN — Preparing for McCamey's Golden Anniversary celebration are Wesley Seilhart and Joy Partney. Wesley and Joy modeled the costumes they will wear for the celebration at the kickoff for the event Tuesday night.

Welfare Fraud Cases Going To Court Thursday

Fourteen Midlanders accused of using fraud to get on or stay on welfare payment rolls are to answer summons at 10 a.m. Thursday in the justice of the peace courts of Robert Pine and John Biggs.

Charges against the accused, including 13 women, grew out of investigations made by the Texas Department of Public Welfare's investigation division.

Auto Theft Case Going To Trial

The auto theft case against Marshall Bennett Davis, 42, of Midland is to go to trial in 142nd District Court at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Davis is charged in the theft of an auto Jan. 15, 1974. The trial follows that of Edgar Johnson, 60, charged with the attempted murder of Johnny West, 50. Closing arguments in that case were to be made this afternoon.

Motorcycle-Auto Mishap Hurts One

Terry Lynn Gammage, 21, 3222 Sycamore St., was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital Tuesday after being injured in a motorcycle-automobile accident. Police said Gammage was injured when the motorcycle he was driving and a car driven by Randall Wade Madry, 17, 4508 Monty Drive, collided about 7:45 p.m. at the intersection of Franklin and Truman streets.

Pit Sense Organ

The hole or "pit" on the head of a rattlesnake, copperhead, or other pit viper is actually a complex sense organ that detects differences in temperature.

Midlander's Mother Dies; Services Set

FORT STOCKTON—Mrs. Cruz Valenzuela of Fort Stockton, mother of Mrs. Jesuita Nunez of Midland, died Monday in Midland after a short illness. She was 94. Services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church with interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery under the direction of Fort Stockton Funeral Home. Survivors include four sons, two other daughters and 18 grandchildren.

Sheppard Death Ruled 'Justifiable Homicide'

The Midland County Grand Jury returned 25 indictments Tuesday afternoon and recommended a "justifiable homicide" ruling in the death of Stanley Wayne Sheppard. The death occurred April 11 of Stanley Wayne Sheppard.

Justice of the Peace Robert Beggs was answering a disturbance call when Sheppard reportedly lunged at him. Witnesses reported Sheppard had been dragging a young woman around in the street and had been holding the knife to her throat. The attending surgeon, Dr. Henrie Mast, signed a death certificate which noted that Sheppard was "shot by police officer in self-defense."

In addition to its recommendation in the Sheppard case, the grand jury considered 32 cases, returned 25 true bills of indictment, two no bills and passed on five cases.

Most Of Texas Blessed By Warm Spring Weather

Most of Texas was warming today and clouds were scarce. A small area of light rain developed after daybreak in the far west part of the state from near Fort Davis to the Mexican border, and low clouds over the South Central Texas Hill Country. Skies were clear elsewhere except for occasional patches of high clouds. Early morning temperatures ranged from 45 degrees at Dalt in the Panhandle up to 70 at El Paso in far West Texas. Tuesday's top marks were as high as 90 at Wink and Galveston was the coolest spot with a maximum of 68. The Associated Press reported.

Continued partly cloudy skies and springtime temperatures are in store for Midland residents today and Thursday as the mercury reaches the middle to upper 80s both days. Tuesday's maximum was 86, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal. The overnight low was 55, and tonight's minimum is expected to fall in the lower 50s.

Travelers checks stolen in Kenya (AP) — Police here have expressed concern over the rising incidence of theft of travelers checks. Tourists are now being warned to safeguard their checks, and to be on the lookout for "con" men operating in the city, out to trap gullible visitors. Police said last year alone more than $100,000 in checks was stolen in Kenya. There had also been losses in other currencies. Travelers checks stolen in Kenya had been cashed in South America, for example, within 24 hours, a police spokesman said.

CAPITAL CAPSULES— Snelson Voting Bill Advanced

Austin Bureau
The Travis County clerk told a legislative committee that electronic voting is no longer in its infancy and a new law governing the procedure is needed.

The Senate State Affairs Committee agreed and sent to the floor a bill (SB 950) by Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland to bring the punch card voting rules up to date and to "eliminate blind spots in the present law."

Travis County Clerk Doris Shropshire testified for the bill along with Randall County Clerk Leroy Hutton.

"Changes needed to be made to give us the full potential of the system," Mrs. Shropshire said. "Give us the opportunity to use it to its full advantage."

Mrs. Shropshire allayed fears expressed by Sen. Betty Andujar of Fort Worth that punch card voting could violate the integrity of the ballot box.

She also pointed out that some county clerks are already doing what the changes in the law would make legal.

The committee also approved HB 784 sponsored by Snelson and Rep. Susan Gurley McBe of Del Rio to permit the commissioners courts in counties of less than 100,000 population to create voting precincts of 50 or more voters and in counties of less than 50,000 to have voting boxes with less than 50 voters. The legislation was needed because of sparsely populated areas of West Texas, Snelson said.

Andrews S&L Hearing Set

Austin Bureau
The Savings and Loan Department has set a hearing for 9 a.m. May 15 on the application of Andrews Savings and Loan Association, Andrews, for a branch office in Denver City.

The hearing will be held in the department's offices, 1010 Lavaca, Austin. If a written protest to the application is received by May 5, the hearing will be held only to set a future date for hearing testimony and receiving evidence from all parties.

If no protest is received, the hearing may be dispensed with by Savings and Loan Commissioner W. Sale Lewis.

House Gets Academic Bill

Austin Bureau
Austin Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland has passed a bill to permit Texas to participate in an "academic common market." The bill (SB 791) was sent to the House by voice vote.

Snelson said it would permit graduate level students to attend colleges and universities in other states at the local resident tuition rates in exchange for the same treatment of out-of-state students in Texas.

He said the measure was needed because Texas should not become an educational "island unto ourselves." The State Coordinating Board would be authorized to make the arrangements for the reciprocal programs.

Battle Continues Inside Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — League, Mahmoud Riad, who youths with submachine guns hurried to Beirut from Cairo. battled from rooftops and behind street barricades today announced that the Phalangists and bombs blasted stores and had delivered to the government homes as other groups joined two members of the party the war between Lebanon's private army who were acerbic Phalangist party and Palestinian guerrillas.

The unofficial death toll from four days of violence in Beirut rose to more than 100. The fighting continued despite announcement of an agreement mediated by the secretary-general of the Arab League.

"The handing over of those responsible for the bloody massacre carried out by the Phalangist party against innocent Palestinian citizens will help calm the situation and check the crisis which could only serve the Zionist and imperialist enemy," said W.A.F.A., the Palestinian news agency. But explosions and the firing of submachine guns continued through the morning as several other leftist and rightist groups were reported joining in. Many of the casualties were bystanders.

Absentee Voting For Run-Off Quickly Hits 106

Absentee voting in the April 26 school trustee run-off election reached 106 at 11:30 a.m. today, the second day of absentee balloting. Persons who will be out of the city on the regular election day may vote through 5 p.m. Tuesday for candidates vying for Position 3 on the Midland Independent School District board of trustees.

Johnny R. Warren and Jerry Pitts still are seeking election to the post after the April 5 vote failed to give either a simple majority. Two other contenders, Steve Scott and Peggy Redmond, were eliminated in the vote. Absentee voting is at the district's central office, 702 N. St.

CRANE—Darrell Keltner of Crane died Tuesday in an Odessa hospital after a short illness. He was 65. Services will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in First Baptist Church with interment in Crane Garden of Memories, directed by Sheppard Funeral Home.

He was born Aug. 3, 1909, at Elm, Okla., and married Fern Boyd Aug. 3, 1934, at Crosbyton. He was owner of Keltner's pharmacy, was former mayor of Crane and a 46-year resident of the city. Survivors include the widow, one daughter, Mrs. Kay Miller of San Salvador; and three brothers, Carl Keltner of Scottsdale, Ariz., Clyde Keltner of Seagrave and James Keltner of Oklahoma City.

Oil Talks—

Common Market. The oil exporters present were Algeria, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Venezuela and Brazil. India and Zaire represented the other developing nations. The developing nations declared that their goal was equality with the industrialized nations. To achieve this, they demanded that the proposed conference prepare "a new world economic order." Algerian delegate Ait Chhail warned that the industrialized nations "will never be able to stage an energy conference with the Third World" unless they give in on the raw materials issue.

Congress Considers $200 Million To Get Americans Out Of Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — With most Americans in the process of leaving South Vietnam, Congress is considering a $200 million fund to assist in the withdrawal and to provide humanitarian aid for the Vietnamese. The $200 million figure was

UIL Band Contest Continues At Lee

Bands and orchestras from 16 West Texas high schools Tuesday began a University Interscholastic League meet which saw the second group from Lee High, the host school, take a 1 rating in concert and a II in sight reading.

Tuesday's competition featured orchestras, second group bands in District 5's 3A and 4A classifications and Class 2A bands.

Ratings for concert and sight reading, respectively, are:

CLASS 4A ORCHESTRAS — Odessa, II and I; Permian, II and I.
CLASS 2A—McCamey, III and III; Alpine, II and I; Van Horn, I and I; Crane, II and II; Colorado City, II and II; Coahoma, II and II; Socorro, III and III; Reagan County, V and II.

CLASS 3A SECOND GROUPS—Fort Stockton, I and III; Monahans, I and II; Pecos, II and II; Ector, III and V.
CLASS 4A SECOND GROUPS—Lee, I and II; Permian, I and I; Odessa, I and II; Big Spring, III and I.

Odessa Resident Dies In Truck Train Crash

ODESSA—An Odessa man, Raymond O. Gonzalez, 56, 1332 Wilson St., was killed Tuesday afternoon when the truck he was driving was hit by a train. Gonzalez was killed, police said, when he was hit by a Texas Pacific Railway Co. train about 5:40 p.m. as he crossed the railroad tracks at their intersection with Kelly Street. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Jan Brooks. The car and train came to rest, police said, about 1,650 feet from the point of impact. Gonzalez' body was thrown from the car and found about 775 feet east of the intersection, they said.

agreed upon tentatively Tuesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Final decision was deferred until late today amid an indication that the panel wanted a final assurance that Americans were indeed leaving Vietnam.

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Tuesday there were 3,850 Americans there. Last week, the total was more than 6,000. Officials say privately the total will be cut to about 1,000 within two weeks so they can be evacuated quickly in any emergency.

Schlesinger said Americans are "trickling out" of Saigon, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the U.S. Embassy there has been instructed to reduce the number of Americans in the country to an essential minimum.

The $200 million fund is separate from President Ford's request last week for $250 million in humanitarian assistance for South Vietnam and $72 million in military aid. Those requests were supported separately before Senate and House panels.

Midlander's Father Dies; Rites Today

PAMPA—Virgil S. Adams, father of Mrs. Ronnie Lewis of Midland, died Monday in a Pampa hospital. He was 69.

Mrs. S. L. Davis Elected Beta Eta Chapter President

Mrs. O. D. Martin presided at the business meeting of Beta Eta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held recently in the home of Mrs. Clarence Grant. Mrs. Charles Campanella was co-hostess.

Mrs. Frank Felts, chairman of the philanthropic committee, presented the year-end report of the chapter's philanthropic activities. During 1974-75, the members donated 405 1/2 hours of their time to the several projects sponsored by Beta Eta. In addition, goods valued at $470 have been given, and the chapter also has donated $1,402 in cash or special purchases to Leisure Lodge Nursing Home, Park Place, St. Jude's Bike Ride, Christmas in April project, ESA state disaster fund, ESA love fund, Birth Defect Centers in Texas and the annual valentine party for special education students in Midland. Members have also been active in local drives such as Multiple Sclerosis Society, Cancer Fund, Heart Fund, March of Dimes, Heart Drive and Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Members voted to nominate Park Place as the District 8 philanthropic project for 1975-76. This nomination will take place Friday at the district meeting to be held at Andrews, which will be attended by several chapter members. Election of district officers will be conducted and Mrs. Felts will be installed as district president. Serving with her as coordinator will be Mrs. Reggie Medley. Mrs. Marshall Blount will serve as corresponding secretary. Chapter representatives will cast ballots for budget and bylaws approval.

Mrs. Campanella, nominating committee chairman, presented the slate of officers for 1975-76. They include Mrs. S. L. Davis, president; Mrs. Dan Cotten, vice president; Mrs. Grant, recording secretary; Mrs. Jerry Doughty, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Robert Connor, treasurer. Appointive officers will be announced by the new president at her installation May 7 in the home of Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Grant presented the program entitled "Beauty of Dress," pointing out the importance of dress in reflecting our inner feelings as well as our outward appearance.

Dear Abby 'Plenty Of Nothing' Should Take Initiative

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: If you could see my home, car and clothes closet, you would probably think I was the luckiest woman in Boston. Well, I'm not. But I could be the most frustrated. I sometimes want affection so much I could just curl up and die.

My husband is a very successful businessman. I know he loves me, but he's not the demonstrative type. He shows our dog a lot of affection, though. Abby, you don't know how frustrating it is for me to sit there and watch my husband with the dog on his lap. He cuddles him and scratches his neck. That pup gets more loving than I do!

I just hate to be the one to always make the first move. Why are men so dumb? When we go to bed at night and he wraps those big, strong arms around me, I'm so happy, I hate to fall asleep. He's so good and dear and sweet and I'm so INSENSITIVE . . . and I'm so frustrated. What should I do? Sign me,

"PLENTY OF NOTHING IN BOSTON"

DEAR PLENTY: Don't sit around waiting for your hormones to dry up. MAKE your husband notice you. You may have to shove the dog off his lap, but you can make it up to him (the dog) come "BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK."

And what's wrong with making the first move? It's better than no moves at all. Be aggressively affectionate. Some men LIKE to be pursued. Try it, and if nothing happens, you haven't lost anything.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know of any organization or medical school that might be interested in buying a person's body?

I have always wanted to donate my body to science since I don't relish the thought of being buried. But with times being so bad right now, I'd like to sell my body to a medical school that would pay me in advance. The money would come in very handy now.

By the way, I sure do enjoy your column! I can't get over some of those kooks who write to you.

DEAR READER: I know of no organization or medical school that pays for bodies. People leave their bodies as a "gift" to a medical school.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Chapter Holds Business Meet

The Psi Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the home of Mrs. Bill Harris, 1611 W. Pine St., for an "Oscar" business session and salad supper.

Mrs. Gay Lane presided. Guests were Mrs. Jamie Sawyer, Mrs. Mike Winkler and Mrs. Ronnie Rogers.

Saturday members met at the Museum of the Southwest for a picture-taking session. "Stairway to Happiness" was the theme.

An "After Tax" party was held Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Terry. David Dennis was high money winner and Lee Acker was low money winner of games played.

Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Larry DuBar, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Lyons Lockhart Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Gil Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Acker.

Kitchen Shower Fetes Bride-Elect

Tracy Grigsby, bride-elect of Eddy Morgan, was honored recently with a kitchen gadget shower in the home of Mrs. Dan Hasley, 3613 Stanolind St. The co-hostess was Mrs. Hasley's daughter, Kim.

An imported linen cloth over yellow covered the serving table, which was centered with yellow and white daisies. Debbie Grigsby, sister of the honoree, served.

Guests included Miss Grigsby's grandmother, Mrs. Lois Grigsby.

Parents of the engaged couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Grigsby and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan.

Jeannie Spangler Shower Honoree

AUSTIN—Jeannie Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Spangler of 2402 Humble St., Midland, and bride-elect of Justin Kesler of Tullia, was honored recently with a miscellaneous shower in the party room of Mi A Migo Apartments here.

Hostesses were Michele Barr, Kathy Brasch, Mary Helen Robe McFarlane and Liz Roberts.

The honoree's chosen colors of aqua and green were used in decorations. Miss Spangler was presented with a serving bowl in her chosen pottery.

Miss Spangler and Kesler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Kesler of Tullia, will be married May 31 at Austin.

HOROSCOPE

(April 17)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when planetary reversals could cause a disruption in plans. Nevertheless, carry forward as cheerfully as possible. Progress toward success could be delayed. Use more self-control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The situation at home could be difficult, but use tact and all works out fine. Remove conditions that cause disharmony.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Much care in motion must be exercised today if you are to avoid an accident. Make sure to safeguard your personal property.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Stay within your budget today even though you may be pressured into doing otherwise or you could regret it later. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You may think others are not treating you properly and you may want to withdraw. But this is not the case. Keep cool.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Some anxiety could keep you from operating in a constructive way if you permit. Be sure to handle obligations efficiently.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some friends are not in a particularly good mood in the morning but later they give you the support you need. Be patient.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Instead of worrying about a career matter, do something constructive about it. Be more firm in your business dealings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take care you don't make radical changes today or you will regret it later on. A business expert can give you good advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Meet your obligations honorably. Be more trusting of male and be happier. Make the evening a particularly happy one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) An associate may seem annoyed but it is only because they have problems of their own. Stand up one who talks too much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle obligations ahead of you and show

'Old Mother Hubbard's' Cupboards Bare No More

By BORKER and HUNTSINGER
Copley News Service

Cupboard, closet and all kinds of storage space seems hard to come by nowadays. Apparently there are few people who can ever boast they have lots and lots of extra drawer space.

So finding a place to put things seems a perpetual problem for almost everyone. Folks often call others who never throw anything away a "pack rat." The expression refers to a small rodent noted for saving everything it can carry back to its nest.

Perhaps, too, you have heard the joke about the individual who kept a full shoe box which had a label reading, "Saved string: too short to use."

Even though you might not be that string saver, chances are you have collected more belongings than there is space to keep. But chances are also excellent you can find extra, empty shoe boxes. Either for shoes or other belongings, these containers can easily be converted into racked stacks which provide useful, convenient and attractive storage.

The first thing to do is cut a hole in one end of such a box. Measure about one inch from the top and cut out the remaining part along the sides and bottom.

For the next step, use clear household plastic or any piece of similar material.

The bags used for fruits and vegetables in grocery stores are excellent. Sheets, shirts and other department store merchandise also come packaged in strong plastic which is serviceable.

Stretched firmly and taped to the sides of the box, this plastic will form a clear window. Now, cover all the rest of the box in a decorative manner. Use contact, wallpaper, construction or white butcher paper, as desired. If the paper itself is not patterned, use paint, crayons or felt pen to create a bright but simple design that pleases you. Be sure to decorate the box lid in the same manner.

Several such decorated boxes can serve several purposes.

First of all, unsightly clutter is no longer a problem. Instead, half a dozen such boxes, all the same size, can be arranged in a corner to look like a miniature dresser.

Whether used to store shoes or other objects, the window will allow one to see the contents immediately.

GM Has Whale Of A Problem

DETROIT (AP) — A 1971 law protecting sperm whales has led to transmission problems for at least 5,500 General Motors car owners.

The result is a $2.2 million repair bill for GM, the auto giant said Tuesday.

The problem arose when the whales were put on the endangered species list. That forced GM to find a substitute for the whale oil used in GM's rust-resistant automatic transmission fluid.

The new fluid, first used in 1973 models, proved not to be rustproof.

GM says the potential problem could affect 3.3 million of the cars built during the 1973 and 1974 model years, and 1975 models built before last November, when the transmission fluid was changed.

Problems Reported
So far, 5,500 of those car owners have reported transmission problems traced to rust problems.

GM said Tuesday it would pay for repairs, estimated at $400 a car, even if the normal 12-month, 12,000-mile warranty has expired.

John C. Bates, GM service director, said the new formula fluid was tested for 8.9 million miles before it was used in mass production, and no problems were found.

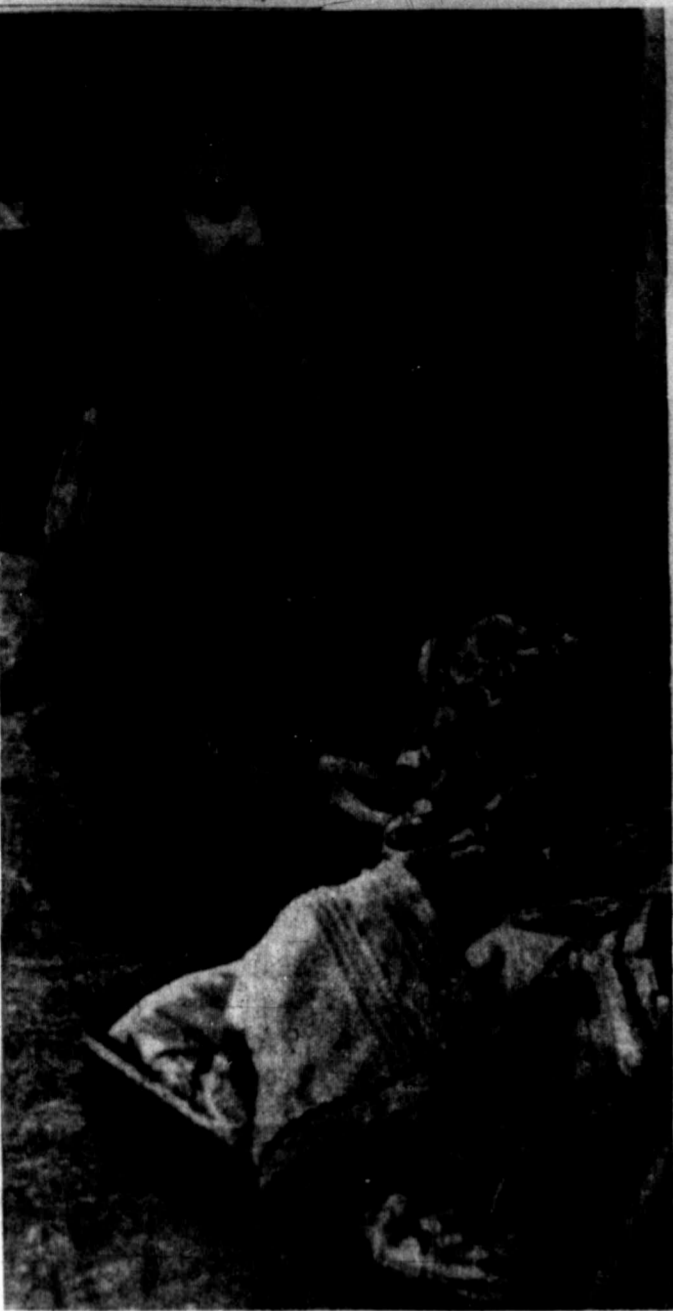

Last summer, however, reports of problems started to come in from some Pontiac owners. By fall, owners of Chevrolets, Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs also reported transmission troubles.

Oil Leaks
The problem was identified as corrosion of the solder on the fittings of the automatic transmission oil cooler, located inside the radiator. The corrosion allowed transmission oil to leak into the cooling system, and antifreeze to leak into the transmission.

In an attempt to solve the problem, GM's Harrison Radiator Division in Rochester, N.Y., began adding more silver to the solder in transmission coolers last November.

GM also is testing a new transmission fluid which it hopes to begin using by this summer.

The other auto companies say they have not encountered similar transmission problems. They also stopped using whale oil several years ago, but use transmission fluids and manufacturing methods different from GM's.

Soviet Navy Maneuvers May Develop Into Biggest In Peacetime History

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian navy is engaged in worldwide maneuvers that may develop into the biggest in peacetime history, Pentagon sources report.

Some 200 Soviet ships have been deployed so far, about the same as in the last such major maneuvers five years ago. Sources said the number is increasing.

All elements of the Soviet navy, including surface warships, submarines and the Russian naval air arm, are said to be involved. Russian merchant ships also are taking part.

Sources said there are indications the Indian Ocean, increasingly important because oil tanker routes pass through those waters, will be a main focus of the Soviet naval exercises.

Other major Russian naval activity has been observed in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean, the Norwegian sea and the Pacific, sources said.

The 1970 exercise, which the Russians called Okean, lasted about three weeks and demonstrated to U.S. naval strategists that the Soviets had achieved an ability to extend their naval reach into all the seas.

Until the early 1960s, the Soviet navy concentrated chiefly on defending home waters and coasts. A limited Soviet naval reach, which showed up in the U.S.-Russian confrontation over missiles in Cuba, was corrected in the next decade as the Russian fleet underwent major modernization.

Since the 1970 maneuvers, the Russians have sent to sea several new classes of warships, including the Kara class cruiser which the U.S. Navy calls the most heavily armed surface combatant in the world.

Man's Mutilated Body Discovered

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Wichita County sheriff's deputies continued their efforts today to identify a man whose badly-beaten sexually-mutilated body was found between here and Burkburnett Tuesday.

The body was found stuffed beneath a wooden bridge about noon Tuesday by oilfield workers.

An autopsy indicated the man had been stabbed several times and his head crushed from repeated blows about the right ear, and his body sexually mutilated.

TEXAS ELECTIONS ROUNDUP—

Woman Elected Mayor Of San Antonio

By The Associated Press
San Antonio voters chose Lila Cockrell as the first woman mayor of a major Texas city in a runoff election Tuesday, an insurance man captured the mayor's seat in El Paso and Dallas voters selected an independent in a runoff for a city council seat.

Although Mayor-elect Cockrell said her candidacy was not inspired by women's liberation, she added "I'm quite sure a number of women are quite thrilled a woman has been elected mayor of a major American city.

"Naturally as a woman, I am quite thrilled. It does mean another new area has been opened up for the service of a woman."

Mrs. Cockrell, a veteran of San Antonio politics and a candidate backed by the Good Government League, defeated her distributor John Montrey in a runoff for place number nine, the mayor's office. The vote was 55,630 to 47,287.

El Paso Alderman Don Henderson and his running mate on the Greater El Paso ticket scored a victory over a slate headed by Woodrow Bean, former county judge and a member of the state board of education.

Henderson formerly headed the parks and recreation department as a member of the council under the administration of former Mayor Fred Hervey, who did not seek re-election.

Henderson polled 26,673 votes, or 53 per cent, to Bean's 23,594.

Running mates elected with Henderson are Ariene Quenson, Richard A. Najera and Dr. J.B. Jones. Councilman E. H. Baeza ran unopposed in the regular April 1 election.

In Grand Prairie, Davis Hopkins defeated Russ Goddard to fill new place 5 city council seat.

In Grand Prairie, Davis Hopkins defeated Russ Goddard to fill new place 5 city council seat.

Ford May Still Veto Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A R-Kan. farm bill raising 1975 target prices and dairy price supports still faces a possible presidential veto although the version approved by a House-Senate conference committee was the less expensive of two proposals.

Aides to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said the measure approved by the conferees remains unacceptable and that Butz would recommend a veto.

Ford's legislative aides passed the word last week that Butz's cost estimates had convinced the President to veto whatever bill emerged from the conference committee. But then Republican conferees met Monday with Ford and found him willing to reserve decision but worried about the costs.

"The only chance we have is to stay pretty close to the House bill," Sen. Robert Dole, Administration estimates are double these predictions.

The bill would set 1975 crop target prices at 45 cents a pound for cotton, $2.25 a bushel for corn and $3.10 a bushel for wheat. The government says farmers for the difference between the target price and the market price when the market price is lower.

Cotton is already near its present target of 38 cents in some places. The bill's supporters say grain farmers, being urged to produce at full capacity, need assurance that the lower prices of the anticipated bumper crops will not bankrupt them.

Staff experts said increases in dairy price supports of seven cents per 100 pounds would mean an increase of half a cent per gallon in the retail price of milk. Cheese would go up 0.6 cent a pound and butter 0.7 cent a pound, they said.

Confederate Air Force Could Come To Aid Of The Union

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

It is possible that a red-faced Union military machine may be forced to call on the Confederacy for help if anti-Confederate Department partisans cut the budget.

After all, 62 warplanes in perfect working condition are not to be scorned even if the aircraft are more than 30 years old.

We are referring to the Confederate Air Force and its Ghost Squadron based at Harlingen, Tex., with wings dispersed over the United States.

Robert S. Weber, a retired Navy man from Lancaster, Pa., is general manager of the Confederate Air Force and heads a General Staff of nine persons.

The true commander is Col. Jethro E. Culpepper, a mysterious figure who never has been seen.

The name itself and the ghostly character of Col. Culpepper is the tipoff that these fliers has a lot of fun along with their serious objectives.

The more than 1,000 members all hold the rank of colonel.

Weber explains that the air force began rather modestly in the 1950s.

What happened was that some former military fliers, mostly crop dusters in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, put their nickels and dimes together and bought a surplus P51 Mustang simply for the fun of flying one of the finest-handling aircraft ever built.

The P51 cost $1,500. You'd be lucky to find one now at $100,000.

Shortly thereafter, they acquired a Navy F8F. Interest grew and the plane owners discovered a distressing fact: The famous warplanes of World War II were going to the smelter and no military service was preserving any for history.

Purchases were stepped up, and soon the men had nine WWII aircraft and held their first air show. The reception was great, said Weber, and the thing snowballed.

Somewhere along the line, the government stopped selling surplus airplanes to individuals.

An official pronouncement from the air force quoted Col. Culpepper as saying the men rebelled at the government destroying all these historic airplanes.

A step beyond rebelling was the naming of the loosely-knit outfit the Confederate Air Force.

Col. Weber disagrees somewhat with his mythical commander, which in other services might get him court-martialed. He says the members rebelled at the ending of government sales of the planes.

The CAF now has 40 types of planes, mostly American, and three hangars turned into museums, containing all sorts of World War II artifacts.

The museum and ghost squadron cannot charge entry fees, depending on donations from visitors and sometimes major gifts from one or more of the colonels.

The museum and plane area are open daily 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The CAF gets no state or federal help and cost to the members is heavy. They must pay taxes, buy fuel, pay for licensing and maintenance and pay landing fees just like any individual or corporation.

The big event this year will be the Oct. 9-12 air show. For the first time there will be experimental aircraft. Ever hear of drag racing airplanes? They'll be there, as will be formation flying teams and parachute thrillers.

The museum has working planes from England and Germany, but strangely has no true Zero, the famous Japanese plane. It has some U.S. planes modified to appear like Zeros in the film, "Tora, Tora, Tora."

A Japanese dropped by the other day. He was so fascinated he spent the day, shooting roll after roll of film, donated $50 and applied for membership.

The colonels are a happy-go-lucky crowd. This is evidenced by a memo from Col. Throckmorton T. Beauregard, probably a cousin of Col. Jethro E. Culpepper.

A part of his orders for a 1967 flight to a Dayton, Ohio, air show:

"If you become surrounded by lostness, land at nearest airport. DO NOT ASK WHERE YOU ARE. Ask direction to nearest men's room. Display confidence—smile at everyone. Read your location on front of hangar and proceed to Dayton.

Col. Beauregard was afraid the fliers would get into the wrong plane. His orders: "Ask the nearest small boy what type aircraft this is—just to make sure."

Upon entering the plane, "Check stick and throttle positions. If the stick is in your left hand and the throttle is in your right hand, you are in the cockpit backwards. Don't panic. Smile at the crew chief, wave to the bystanders and slowly rotate your body 180 degrees."

Final instructions: "After leaving the ground, pull the nose up smartly, close your eyes and count 10. If contact with the ground has not occurred by that time, continue the mission as briefed. Note: you may open your eyes for the remainder of the flight if you wish. However, this is optional."

Today In History

By the Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 16, the 106th day of 1975. There are 259 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: In 1917, Communist leader Vladimir Lenin returned to Russia after years of exile to assume leadership of the Russian revolutionary movement.

On this date — In 1521, Martin Luther arrived at Worms, Germany, after being summoned to appear before the Diet to justify his attacks on the Catholic Church.

In 1789, George Washington left Mount Vernon for his inauguration as the first president of the United States.

In 1862, Napoleon III declared war against the Mexican leader, Juarez.

In 1906, the Pacific cable was completed between the United States and China.

In 1947, more than 500 persons died in fires and explosions at Texas City, Tex., after a French freighter loaded with nitrate blew up.

In 1967, in South Vietnam, a U.S. bombing mistake cost the lives of 14 at a village housing defectors from the Communist side.

Ten years ago: Congressional sources disclosed that the Johnson administration had decided to build a small atomic submarine to carry out the first extensive exploration of ocean bottoms.

Five years ago: Seventy-two persons were killed in an Alpine avalanche that plunged down on a children's sanatorium at Sallanches, France.

One year ago: The Pentagon told a Senate committee it had found $266 million extra for military aid to South Vietnam for the year — funds that defense officials said they did not know they had.

Today's birthdays: Charlie Chaplin is 86. Composer and conductor Henry Mancini is 61.

Thought for today: The best way to get rid of your duties is to discharge them — John Ruskin, English writer, 1819-1900.

West opens the bidding with one club, and North doubles for a takeout. East naturally passes, and South counts 5 points in spades, 2 in diamonds and 3 for the singleton in hearts. Since a jump response shows 9 to 11 points, South can afford to jump to two spades.

Doublers Raise
North counts 14 points for high cards and 1 point for the doubleton. The total of 15 points is 2 points more than a minimum, so North can afford to accept the invitation.

To put it another way, North adds his own 15 points to the points shown by the jump. The combined total is 24 to 26 points for game, so North moves one step in the direction of game. He raises to three spades.

If North had 16 points instead of only 15, he would jump to four spades. If South had only 9 points instead of 10, he might pass three spades. As it is, he goes on to four.

The game is a bit skimpy, but South has no problem. He can draw three rounds of trumps, ruff a club and give up on trick to the ace of diamonds. The opponents get only two clubs and one diamond.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner doubles the opening bid of one club, and the next player passes. You hold: S-10 4 3 H-7 6 4 3 D-8 7 3 C-A 10 6. What do you say?

Midland Man's Sentence Upheld

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN—The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today that David Clifton Wade of Midland must serve a 50-year sentence for robbery by assault. Wade was convicted for the May 29, 1973, robbery of the Texas Finance Co. He was later arrested on another offense and was subsequently identified by Flora Flores, the cashier at the finance company, as the man who robbed her at gunpoint. Wade contended that his identification was made in a "tainted lineup," but the appeals court rejected the contention and upheld his sentence.

Two Shot To Death

DENISON (AP) — Officers reported Glendell Maurice Holt, 40, and his daughter Jacqueline, 13, were shot and killed Tuesday at their rural home south of here in Grayson County. They held a man for questioning.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard Conte, the smooth, handsome actor who often played gang-bosses or jaded heroes in such films as "Ocean's Eleven" and "The Godfather," died Tuesday.

Members of Midland junior music clubs affiliated with the Texas Federation of Music Clubs participated in two special events last weekend.

On Saturday, the students participated in a music festival here, performing before visiting judges who assigned ratings ranging from good to superior based on such points as accuracy, rhythm, phrasing, dynamics, technique, memory, attitude and approach. Judges were Jack Hendrix and Ronald Bennett, both of Odessa, and Harlan Thornton of Big Spring. In the non-competitive festival, piano and voice students participating numbered 141. Seventy-seven superior ratings were assigned. One student, Susan Beck, received her seventh successive superior rating while another, Kimberly Culvahouse, received the rating for the sixth year. Superiors were given to Darci Daehling, Marla Francis, Lanie Robb and John Heard. Three-year superiors went to Nica Foreman, Lori Westbrook, Holly Joseph, Carole Scott, Suzanne Midkiff, Mary Jane Davis, Anne Bechner and Cecilia Midkiff, who received the rating for both piano and voice. The festival was under direction of Mrs. Hans Roweck, chairman of District 12 of the junior clubs of TFMC.

On Sunday, the annual

District 12 conference of the TFMC junior clubs was held at Odessa College. Host clubs were the Nocturne, Allegro, Camerata and Chopin clubs of Odessa.

Computer Has Voice

TOLEDO (AP) — A direct line, and is the newest part of our on-going program to promote the need for energy conservation among architects, engineers, building owners and the general public.

When the call is made, the caller will be greeted by the computer's simulated human voice. The voice then asks various questions dealing with the installation's size, location, fuel system, type of roof and insulation. The caller "answers" these questions by pushing predetermined digits on a touch-tone dialing panel.

Keyboard students who are members of several TFMC junior clubs in Midland performed on the district program, including those of the Sibelius Club, sponsored by Mrs. William Maitland; the Chopin Club sponsored by Mrs. Roweck; Grand Staff Club, sponsored by Mrs. Benton Howell who serves as junior music club counselor for the district.

Mrs. Walter Acreman, District 12 president of the TFMC, gave the address of welcome at the conference. Special speaker at the meeting was Ronald Bennett, Odessa piano and voice teacher.

Odessa's junior music clubs will have their TFMC festival this weekend, with four Midland music teachers to serve as judges. They are Mrs. Roweck, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Maitland and Mrs. H. D. Williams.

Conte died at UCLA Medical Center where he was admitted April 3 after suffering a heart attack. Cause of death was another heart attack, a hospital spokesman said.

Conte's Italian good looks and soothing voice made him a serviceable performer in films for more than 30 years. He began by playing war heroes in "Purple Heart Diary" and "A Walk in the Sun," costarring with Susan Hayward, Gene Tierney and other luminaries.

In his later years Conte made a good living portraying well-dressed hoodlums. After his role as Mafia chieftain Barzini in "The Godfather," he went to Italy and appeared in several films that tried to exploit the Mafia craze.

Conte was born of Italian parents in Jersey City, N.J., and his first work was helping in his father's barber shop. After graduation from high school, he drifted through jobs as a Wall Street messenger, truck driver and dance band pianist.

He began acting by chance, having to perform in a musical show as part of his work at a Connecticut resort. Leaders of the Group Theater of New York saw him perform and offered a scholarship at the Neighborhood Playhouse. He made his Broadway debut in "My Heart's in the Highlands" by William Saroyan. His stage career was interrupted by army service in World War II.

Conte returned to star in "The Family." The play was a failure, but his performance was good enough to attract a contract offer from 20th Century-Fox.

Hospital Employee Held In Kidnaping

HOUSTON (AP) — An electronics technician at M. D. Anderson Hospital was held in the Harris County jail today on a charge of aggravated kidnaping of Linda Rose Weingarten, 22, daughter of the president of Weingarten's supermarkets.

The accused man is Elliot S. Wheeler, who police say abducted Miss Weingarten, a Rice University instructor and student, about 3 p.m. Monday from a Rice University parking lot.

Miss Weingarten, daughter of Bernard Weingarten, told police Tuesday she was taken to a vacant house in the 7000 block of Selma here. She said her abductor informed her he was going to kill her and then commit suicide.

Officers said the young woman told them she talked the man out of his plan and they later went out to eat.

The man released her about 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Rice University parking lot where he abducted her, police said.

Miss Weingarten said she drove to her parents' house and they phoned police.

MISSISSIPPI CIRCUIT JUDGE MAKES REQUEST— Grand Jury Asked To Investigate Flood Control

By MARY GANZ
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — When floodwaters gurgle, the Army Engineers answer. They move in to advise states how to protect citizens, to tell people when to move and when to worry.

This year, hundreds of families in the lower Mississippi Valley have fled from the river spring overflow. As they wait out their third straight spring of high water, a Mississippi judge has asked a grand jury to investigate whether flood control makes flooding worse.

"The Corps of Engineers, because of channelization and the clearing out of natural streams and doing away with their natural courses, has thrown all this water into that part of the state," said Circuit Judge Francis S. Bowling of Jackson, River Basin.

Ecologists are saying that Corps river dredging and levee building mess up the natural order of things for nothing.

"The evidence on hand is that the projects don't necessarily control floods and there's serious question they may be increasing flood damage," said John Hammond, vice president of the Louisiana Ecology Center.

The argument goes like this: When Army Engineers dredge a Mississippi River tributary to make the stream more navigable, they remove the natural bends and curves that slow the water's movement into the big river.

Then, to help contain all that extra water, the Corps builds levees that keep the river from spreading out into its natural floodplain.

By the time the flood reaches the Mississippi Delta, it can no longer be contained. It has to go somewhere, so it backs up into smaller rivers, like the Yazoo.

Many of the levees that line the Yazoo and other tributaries are privately constructed and can't hold up. Thousands of acres of productive farmland are flooded and hundreds of families are forced to leave their homes.

Floods are acts of God, the Corps answers. If there have been three straight years of flooding in the Mississippi Delta, that's because there have been three straight years of above-average rainfall.

If flood damages, expected to total $155 million this year, are increasing faster than inflation, said Corps spokesman Bruce Sossaman, that's because 23 years of minimal flooding since 1950 encouraged people to move into flood-prone areas.

"They plant a crop, they build a shack, then they start living there in the summers. Hey, this land is cheap. The reason it's cheap is because 20 years ago it was under water, but they forget about that and pretty soon they decide to build a home and live there. Then five years later you get a rainy cycle, and they get flooded."

Environmentalists say the Corps is guilty of encouraging people to move into the floodplains. "One of the functions of the Corps has been not only flood control but land enhancement," Hammond said.

"By leveeing off a floodplain and digging up the channel so water doesn't spill over they make that land extremely valuable for developers."

In turn, land development increases the flooding. As trees are cleared, roads paved and crops planted, rain and snow run off the land and into the river system more quickly, he said.

The Corps rejects the suggestion that its flood projects make flooding worse in the South. Damages from Mississippi River and backwater flooding totaled $15 billion in 1973, one of the worst years ever. Without the projects, says the Corps, the figure would have been 15 times that.

Robert Kaufman of the Mississippi River Commission in Vicksburg agreed that dredging speeds the water flow. But he noted that the Corps builds reservoirs along its channeled rivers to catch the extra flow.

Eastside Lions Slate Taco Sale

The Eastside Lions Club will sponsor a Taco Sale April 26 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Dellwood Plaza Shopping Center mall.

A large portion of the proceeds will go towards helping the crippled children at Kerrville, a camp run by the Lions Association, and to help purchase eyeglasses for needy children in the Midland school district.

Bishop Opens Giveaway Shop

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop Edward Ellis has opened a shop which gives away goods to people in need. Help is not restricted to Catholics and no payment is asked for. In its first week the shop helped nearly 200 families.

The shop is run by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, which makes appeals for goods, mostly furniture, clothing and crockery. The society first raised $1,200 for a year's rent of the premises and then another $1,680 for a pickup truck to collect goods.

Part of the proceeds will also go toward two scholarships to be presented to Midland and Lee High School students and to the coronation queen of the Eastside Lions Club to be chosen in May from Midland or Lee High School.

Three thousand persons are expected to attend the taco sale, which will be the first such event sponsored by the Eastside Lions. The goal set by the Lions for the sale is $3,000.

Chairman for the event is Rudy Carrasco, publicity chairman is Ross Reyes, donation chairman is Ruben Vargas, Ticket for the taco sale are available from any Eastside Lions Club member or at the mall the day of the event.

Guitar Displaces Piano

CHICAGO (AP) — Fifty years ago a famous ad showed a gentleman seated at a piano surrounded by doubters. The ad read: "They laughed when I sat down at the piano, but when I began to play..." The ad was for the U.S. School of Music, a division of LaSalle Extension University. Since then over a quarter of a million correspondence students have taken the course.

Today the ad might read, "They laughed when I picked up a guitar..." because the guitar course is what most students now want. "I guess we're still reflecting society," said school director John Murphy. "Fifty years ago the piano was the instrument of the times. Now it's the guitar."

COUNCILMAN
THE CITY OF MIDLAND, TEXAS
April 13, 1975

JIM KENT
2508 North Big Spring

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS AND VOTERS OF MIDLAND, TEXAS:

Dear Friends:

After considerable self-deliberation and soul-searching, I have found it necessary to submit to our Mayor on April 12, 1975, my resignation from Place Two of the Midland City Council effective May 1, 1975.

This decision is necessitated by recent business and personal considerations since my reelection that most likely would preclude for the foreseeable near future my ability to give the kind of dedication and commitment that this distinguished elected office deserves... and which I pray I have given it until now. I would hope that the office will always remain one of an honorary nature and one which will always encourage the finest of our dedicated citizens to seek election in the interest of fair representation for our residents. With respect to future challenges that will confront our city, I would hope that we never lose sight of the simple and basic truth... that there are two sides to every issue, question and decision.

To those who supported my candidacy in two elections, please accept this means of conveying my deepest heart-felt appreciation for your past support. My commitment to service in behalf of our wonderful city remains undampened by this decision and my respect and support for those, who continue to serve our outstanding community, is hereby reasserted.

With kindest regards and thanks for your past confidence, I remain

Sincerely yours,

'An Unholy Mess'

"Washington is an unholy mess," Rush Moody, a former Midland attorney, said in discussing the federal government in an address delivered last weekend at the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at El Paso.

"It is a mess, not in the sense of corruption or venality," Moody said, "but in the sense of a growing inability to serve its constituency. The federal government—and I speak here of both the executive bureaucracy and the congressional bureaucracy—is perilously close to losing touch with the country it purports to govern."

Moody, who left Midland in 1971 to accept a five-year term as a member of the Federal Power Commission, resigned his commission post the first of last month, citing the lack of congressional action to solve the nation's energy problems as his reason for resigning, now is serving in Washington as special counsel for energy affairs to Gov. Dolph Briscoe and the State of Texas. His experiences in Washington qualify him to speak on "Washington and the Federal Government."

"I am an optimist," he said. "I believe there is infinitely more that is right about the United States than there is wrong about this country. But I also believe that when something is wrong it should be faced head on and corrected."

He said that to understand federal government, one should consider six basic descriptive facts:

- 1. "The federal government is isolated from economic reality. In Washington, there is only one industry—that of government, and government is not run like a business is run. . . .
2. "The federal government perceives itself to be the center of the known universe. As a consequence, Washington truly believes that it knows what is best for you. Washington no longer listens and responds, it directs and requires.
3. "The federal government is an enormous self-perpetuating structure over which no one has real control. . . .
4. "It is an article of faith with many in Washington, particularly among career civil servants, politicians and the press that 'business' has grown so large, so self-serving and so impersonal that it has become the duty of government to protect helpless 'individuals' from mistreatment by 'business' . . .

5. "Increasing numbers of the government corps of career employees believe with fervor that business inherently is bad and that good is only achievable by government either regulating or supplanting business. . . .

6. "The career civil servant and the career congressional staffer gauge success by the amount of the increase in their budget, and the number of people working under them."

He said he suspects that this mess just grew because too few cared too little.

What can we do about it? Well, Moody suggested a comprehensive plan, which we hope to touch on later. Basically, however, he recommends: (1) Become a student of politics and government; (2) become involved in the political process, and (3) become active in public communication.

A major concept which "must be reaffirmed in the American consciousness is the notion that the American market place is infinitely preferable to government regulations," he said.

"If you have a good representative in Congress, keep him," Moody advised. "If he is not representing you, register your lack of confidence in the only forum that really matters: the voting booth."

INSIDE REPORT—

Zarb Is Making His Mark On Capitol Hill

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — In consecutive breakfast meetings Tuesday morning at the White House and on Capitol Hill, Federal Energy administrator Frank Zarb won a bloodless victory in a battle of wits with hardboiled Western Republican Senators which reinforces his stature as a rising force in a fading administration.

At 7:20 a.m., Zarb breakfasted in the west wing of the White House with Sen. James McClure of Idaho. A half hour later, they drove up Pennsylvania Avenue to join Sens. Paul Fannin of Arizona, Clifford Hansen of Wyoming and Dewey Bartlett of Oklahoma in the Senate dining room. The upshot: all four quietly dropped their lethal opposition to Eric R. Zausner as a Zarb deputy at the Federal Energy Administration (FEA). For months, President Ford has been sitting on the proposed nomination to see how the wind would blow.

The resolution of a seemingly routine dispute is in fact a matter of importance. First, controversy over Zausner had lingered so long that he had come to symbolize fierce discontent with the Ford White House by Western conservatives. Second, Mr. Ford and his aides had characteristically washed their hands of Zausner, leaving his fate with Zarb.

Thus, winning agreement for Zausner is a formidable accomplishment by Zarb which confirms him, far more than his three predecessors, as energy czar in fact as well as headline fancy. Though less publicized and televised than John Love, William Simon or John Sawhill,

Evans

Novak

Zarb — a 40-year-old New York investment banker with little governmental and no political experience — has exceeded them in quietly making his mark on Capitol Hill. As such, he is a Ford administration rarity.

Soon after succeeding Sawhill last December, Zarb decided on 30-year-old computer expert Zausner as one of his two deputies. But Zausner at FEA has taken stands ruggedly independent of big oil. Thus, the muscular oil lobby immediately plotted a campaign to block his nomination.

The oil lobbyists quickly won allies among Senators offended by Zausner's brash manner. Soon, however, the issue became a symbolic stand for conservative Westerners demanding something from a President they view as indifferent to their wishes. Zarb, insisting he needed Zausner, refused to give up.

With controversy heating, the White House reacted in a way that may explain Mr. Ford's worsening political difficulties. The President neither jettisoned Zausner nor tried to salvage him. While White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld declined to lobby the Hill for Zausner, Zarb was given free rein to do what he could. That boiled down to this remarkable presidential position: If you can talk the Senators into going along, Frank, I'll back you up.

Zarb sought help from Interior Secretary Rogers Morton, still in nominal overall charge of energy policy, and Treasury Secretary William Simon, who keeps a finger in the energy pie. Nothing doing. The Interior and Treasury Departments were not interested.

Swimming alone, Zarb found the current rough. Zausner was given up for dead by just about everybody — except Zarb. He kept plugging away in meetings with Senators, climaxed by Tuesday morning's back-to-back breakfasts.

Zarb told the Senators that they would deal personally with his newly appointed other deputy, the popular John Hill, who has been energy chief at the Office of Management and Budget. Zausner would be confined to FEA's inner sanctum where, said Zarb, his computer-expertise is desperately needed. Fifthly, Zarb diplomatically lectured the Senators about seeming to be a cat's paw for the oil lobby's campaign against Zausner.

Grudging agreement was thus obtained. But the oil lobby has not admitted defeat. It hopes liberal Eastern Senators, anti-Zausner because he supports higher oil import levies, will still oppose him. The lobby also hopes to block clearance by the Republican state chairman of New Jersey, Zausner's home state.

However, the toughest hurdle was cleared Tuesday morning. An underlying reason may be the nomination of conservative Western Republican, former Gov. Stanley Hathaway of Wyoming, to replace Morton at Interior. That placated the Western Senators and also gave them a hard fight ahead — winning Hathaway's contested confirmation battle — for which they will need all their resources. But that alone could not have saved Zausner had it not been for Zarb.

"Frank spent a lot of blue chips on this one," Sen. McClure told us. But how did he get those blue chips? By taking principled stands on energy policy, by refusing to swallow cosmetic schemes that would fail to conserve energy and by being courteous and attentive to Capitol Hill. Fitting into that pattern is Zarb's refusal to abandon a trusted, valuable aide merely because he was under attack by a powerful lobby, which might be an object lesson for the White House.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — History will not likely forget Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, the tragic first lady of the 1960s and jet set queen of the 1970s, who is certainly one of the world's most fascinating women.

To learn more about the woman behind the beauty and grace, we have broken through the aura of aloofness and remoteness she has created about herself. We have spoken to intimates who previously had been silent. We have had access to some of her personal papers.

Jacqueline Onassis' favorite insignia is the dollar sign. She has exquisite but expensive tastes.

Both of her late husbands, John F. Kennedy and Aristotle S. Onassis, were millionaires who could afford to indulge the lovely Jackie. But according to intimates, both complained bitterly about her extravagance.

Ari complained to intimates that he got one $5,000 bill for messenger service and another $6,000 bill for the care and feeding of Jackie's pets. Speaking for Jackie, aide Nancy Tuckerman called these bills "unrealistic." But she was unwilling to discuss Jackie's finances with us.

Jackie also hired the celebrated decorator, Billy Baldwin, to rearrange the furnishings aboard the yacht Christina and their house on the Greek island of Skorpios. Baldwin took one look inside the yacht and pronounced it "the epitome of vulgarity and bad taste."

But Onassis, according to his associates, was a fastidious man who didn't like someone changing things around. He wouldn't permit Baldwin to touch the yacht but agreed to let him redecorate the Skorpios house.

$121,461.61 in expenses. She was spending, in other words, more than the President's $100,000 salary.

When Jackie married Aristotle Onassis, she drew a $30,000 monthly allowance and was permitted to charge purchases at fashionable stores. She quickly began running up shopping bills that were startling even by the shipping tycoon's expensive standards.

Three Ideas For Tax Reform Suggested

WASHINGTON (KFS) — A thought for income tax time. Of late, the President and others have been warning us of the appalling growth of the public sector. Federal, state and local government outlays, now almost 40 per cent of the Gross National Product, soon may rise to 50 per cent. One way or another, our taxes must rise with it. Federal income taxes may be cut, but Social Security levies and state taxes continue to go up.

Alas, critical political rhetoric is cheap — cheaper even than the shrinking dollars with which we pay our April tax bills. But in the event that our national leaders care to backstop routine oratory with actual legislation to stop the endlessly rising tax escalator, here are three suggestions:

First, limit the proportion of national (or state) income that can be taken by government in taxes. In other words, if we really are threatened by a trend that threatens to channel 50 per cent of our Gross National Product or National Income through official hands, then why not adopt legal limitations? Most important, we might prohibit the federal government from levying (except in war) taxes in excess of 30 per cent of the GNP. Next, states could be barred from taking in taxes more than, say, eight per cent of their individual "State Products." Each state would be allowed to set its own level. Municipalities would also set limitations. As a result, the various jurisdictions would face a reality they do not face today—ceilings beyond which they cannot levy, dispense and fritter away.

Back in 1973, then-Gov. Ronald Reagan tried to put such a limitation into the California State Constitution, but his proposal — called Proposition 1 — received only 45 per cent support in a voter referendum. In part, Proposition 1 ran afoul of arguments that the state tax limitations would only have shifted the local government services burden to local property taxes. But the idea may still work with better coordination and division of burdens between jurisdictions.

Secondly, we ought to borrow the Canadian federal government's system of indexed income taxation. When inflation pushes Canadian family earnings up, their tax obligation is adjusted to reflect real, not inflated income. As a result, Canadian officials do not have the same slapdash attitude towards inflation. They do not get higher revenues from it. In the United States, of course, inflation carries no tax adjustment but pushes families into higher brackets. Mounting federal revenues are an American bureaucrat's delight.

A third idea: Oblige the Internal Revenue Service to provide each taxpayer with a detailed two- or three-page breakdown of where his or her money is going. Back in 1968, Sen. Hubert Humphrey suggested that a simple booklet be sent out with each tax form indicating what proportion of every tax dollar goes for national defense, police services, government administration, education programs, and the like. However, this idea turned out to be a hot potato. Humphrey desisted after administrators in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare told him that if the public learned how much of its money was being spent for welfare and kindred programs, the outcry would "set social progress back 50 years."

"Social progress" by their standards, perhaps. I am inclined to think that true reform lies in establishing fiscally and programatically responsible governments in which people can have faith. California tv commentator Lowell Ponte has carried democratization a step further by proposing that when Americans pay their taxes, they be given full budget information and then be allowed to vote on federal spending priorities. While this idea is a bit far-fetched, it is cheering merely to think of the panic its initiation would trigger in the grey-green bureaucratic rabbit warrens of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Member Of Soviet Politburo Falls

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander N. Shelepin, former head of the Soviet secret police and the youngest member of the ruling Politburo, has been "relieved" of his post at his own request, Moscow radio said today. A trip he made to Britain last month was troubled by demonstrations.

Moscow radio was reporting on a plenary meeting of the Communist party Central Committee.

The announcement said "the plenum has relieved comrade Shelepin of his duties as a member of the Politburo at his own request."

The plenum also decided that the 25th congress of the Soviet Communist party will be held Feb. 24, 1976.

Shelepin was also head of the vast Soviet trade union movement.

Early this month, as the 56-year-old Shelepin visited London at the invitation of British labor leaders, more than 1,000 Jews and Ukrainian emigres bombarded his motorcade with bricks, milk cartons, bottles, umbrellas and a bag of matzoh balls. Demonstrators hounded him throughout London, chanting: "Shelepin, murderer!" and "Shelepin — We want you dead."

The trip was to have lasted three days, but the sponsoring Trades Union Congress suddenly announced Shelepin would leave 24 hours earlier than scheduled. No explanation was given.

No reasons for Shelepin's fall from the Politburo were given.

Portugal Nationalizes More Industries

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist military government today announced the nationalization of more basic industries, a sweeping land reform program, a price freeze on basic foods and a work program to combat unemployment.

The government said the steel, electricity, petroleum and transport industries would be taken over, and it promised more nationalization to bring most basic industries under government control.

It said owners of irrigated farm property will be limited to 125 acres, and the government will also take over the very large unirrigated estates in the southern part of the country.

The nationalization measures were promised in a government economic plan published in February. Banks and insurance companies were not included in the original blueprint, but the government took them over last month after an abortive attempt at a military uprising which it blamed on conservatives.

As in the nationalization of the banks and insurance companies, foreign companies were largely unaffected.

The government said there had been a "critical re-evaluation" of policies for on-shore and off-shore oil prospecting, now conducted by foreign companies. It said the government would "fully honor all its current agreement with foreign companies, although without excluding the eventual revision of those contracts which could be affected by an agreement by both parties."

MIDLAND, ONTARIO, ROTARIANS VISIT TALL CITY — Eleven members of the Rotary Club of Midland, Ontario, Canada, presented the program at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Midland, Tex., Rotary Club. # Midland, Ontario, Rotarians Present Program At Club Meeting In Tall City

Bearing special greetings and gifts from their city and club, 11 members of the Rotary Club of Midland, Ontario, Canada, visited and presented the program at the meeting of the Midland West Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the Rowdeway Inn.

The visitors, headed by Gerry Van Klink, president, came here for the specific purpose of visiting Midland, Tex. Rotarians as a goodwill, international relations gesture. They flew from their home city to Dallas on commercial airlines last Sunday. The rest of the trip to Midland was made in rented automobiles, with a Sunday night stop at Abilene. They spent Monday afternoon and most of Tuesday seeing the sights of Midland and vicinity.

A reception was held in their honor Tuesday night. They departed Midland by plane this morning en route back to their home city.

A number of members of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club also attended the Tuesday luncheon, at which President Jimmie Rhoads of the host club presided.

City Manager James W. Brown welcomed the visitors to Midland, Tex., on behalf of Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., who is out of the city. Words of welcome also were extended by President John Young of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club. Clare Armstrong of the visiting group, served as master of ceremonies for the program.

Van Klink presented a paper weight-pencil set and club banner to Rhoads. Young also received similar gifts, presented by Don Sherk.

Rod Ferguson read a letter written and sent by Mayor Harold Boyd of Midland, Ont., to Angelo.

Forbes MacKenzie and Bill Clark also had parts on the program, and Guy Johnstone cited interesting information on Midland, Ont., and reviewed the economic factors and business life of that city. He said the population of Midland, Ont., is approximately 11,000, with 35,000 persons residing in a 15-mile radius. Secondary manufacturing is the city's leading industry, with agriculture and tourism following in that order. The industry payroll is $35 million a year, he said.

Canadian toques were presented to several Midland Rotarians by Paul Chadeux.

Van Klink explained that the visit here was strictly goodwill and that visits to other Midlands in the United States hopefully will be made in future years. He invited Texas Rotarians to visit Midland, Ont., in Canada's Wonderland, en route to the Rotary International convention at Quebec this summer.

A slide presentation concluded the program.

Government Attorney To Seek Quick Trial On Fate Of Beef Grading Standards

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A government attorney says he intends to seek a trial as soon as possible to determine the fate of new beef grading standards proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Stephen Meuhberg, assistant U.S. district attorney, made the comment Tuesday night after a three-judge panel from the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals upheld a temporary injunction preventing the department from implementing the new standards.

The appeals judges sent the case back to U.S. District Court Judge Robert V. Denney for trial within 45 days. They rejected a government request to stay Denney's injunction, issued last Friday at the request of the Independent Meat Packers Association of Omaha.

The standards had been scheduled to go into effect Monday of this week.

Appeals judges making the decision were Donald P. Lay of Omaha, Roy L. Stephenson of Des Moines, Iowa, and Myron H. Bright of Fargo, N.D.

Lay said the judges were not deciding the merits of the case.

The Midland Board of Adjustment approved four construction variance requests Tuesday, two for garages, one for a carport and one front yard setback to erect a residence.

William J. Henry was given approval to erect a double car garage in the rear yard at 708 Harmony St.

Donald Combs was given approval to erect a carport in the rear yard at 1304 W. Kentucky St.

A. J. Homola was given approval to erect a double car garage in the rear yard at 1100 S. Main St.

Florence Larsh was given approval to erect a home in variance with front yard setback requirements at 815 W. Neely St.

Woman Raped In Church Office

A Midland woman was raped here Tuesday afternoon after a young man entered the church offices where she was working and inquired about becoming a member of the church.

The 24-year-old woman told police a man entered the church offices of a northwest Midland church about 1:15 p.m.

He asked questions about joining the church, she said, and after they had talked a few minutes, she said, he grabbed her and pulled her into a small room where he attacked her.

Industrial Arts Competition Set

Industrial arts students from Midland and Lee high schools and Edison Freshman School Saturday will compete in the 20th annual Industrial Arts Field Day at Abilene Christian College.

Midland High, site of the most industrial arts training, has won the sweepstakes award the past six years and this year plans to enter more than 200 student projects in metal, drafting, electronics, crafts and woodworking.

Many students also will participate in tests administered on the ACC campus.

Reagan Schools Hope To Expand Special Services

BIG LAKE—Reagan County Independent School District's new special services department has announced it will seek program expansion for the 1975-76 school year to serve students from kindergarten through twelfth grade.

The district's special services program was begun this year following a year-long study of academic programs to find the needs of upgrading and updating the curriculum.

The special services program for youngsters with learning problems was implemented last fall with learning lab experiences for grades kindergarten through eighth grade.

Gary Everett is the program's coordinator and diagnostician. He is assisted by three teachers and one teacher aide.

Forgotten Anniversary

America passed a milestone anniversary last month. But hardly anybody noticed.

On March 18, 1974, the Arabs lifted their oil embargo against the United States, and loosened their six-month stranglehold on America's lifestyle. Not since Colonial days had this country been so much at the mercy of foreign powers.

When the embargo ended, Americans resolved, "never again." Great resolutions were heard in the land, and clarion calls like Project Independence were nurtured by mighty hyperbole.

Now, more than a year has gone by. Frankly, very little has been accomplished to reduce America's dependence on costly, insecure foreign oil.

In terms of good news and bad, the box score would look like this:

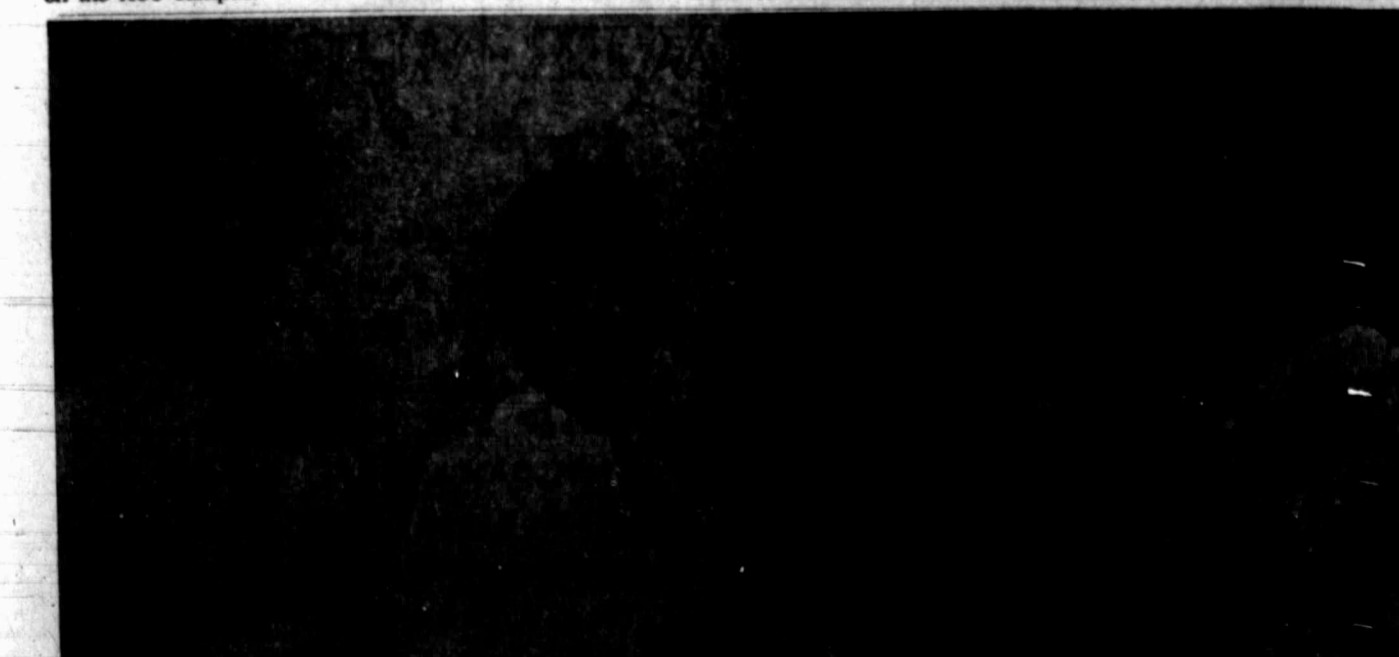

First, the good news—

- Congress and the Administration are at least talking—although wrangling might be a better word—about America's long-term energy needs. So are an assortment of foundations and study groups. Eventually, a consensus might emerge.
- The weather cooperated. The winter was mild. Even though the natural gas shortage got worse, America muddled through without any massive industrial shutdowns due to a lack of gas.
- Most people now recognize the importance of drilling offshore, in the Outer Continental Shelf, for a secure supply of domestic oil. The Supreme Court has clarified that the federal government, not the states, owns the Shelf.

Now, the bad—

- America is still importing about six million barrels of oil a day, or almost 40 percent of our requirements.
- Congressional emphasis so far, in its energy discussions, has been almost exclusively on cutting demand. Measures to boost domestic supply largely have been neglected.
- There still isn't a single oil or gas well in the U.S. Atlantic, and the Interior Department's timetable for an Atlantic lease sale was delayed pending the Supreme Court ruling. Furthermore, Congress seems intent on mandating further delays, by extending the powers of the governors. And through schemes calling for exploration by the federal government before bids are requested from industry. There are even proposals to create a federal oil and gas company to work the choice offshore areas (when it gets around to them).
- In the face of the worsening natural gas shortage, Congress persists in retaining price controls on this fuel. It is considering tighter controls, even though present regulations have all but destroyed economic incentive to invest in gas exploration.
- Speaking of disincentive, Congress hacked away at the oil industry's ability to attract the massive amounts of capital it needs by increasing its tax burden. Just when profits were declining.

If you think the bad news outweighs the good, you're right. Isn't it time to remember the lesson of the boycott? And take a few sensible actions for a change.

Laos Taking War Developments In Calm Stride

By KENNETH L. WHITING
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The coalition of leftists, neutralists and rightists that governs Laos seems to be taking in calm stride all that is going on in the rest of Indochina.

"Laos will stand firmly and strictly in a neutrality policy regardless of whatever changes or circumstances," the neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, said recently as the Communists tightened the noose around Phnom Penh in Cambodia and took over much of South Vietnam.

The only sign of stress is an unfinished debate about whether Laos should continue to recognize the governments in Phnom Penh and Saigon. Laos decided earlier to maintain diplomatic links with whoever is in charge of the capitals of Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The Communist Pathet Lao members of the coalition want immediate recognition of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government in South Vietnam and the Royal Government of National Union of Cambodia, headed by exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Western diplomats here say Laos is bound to be affected by Communist successes in Cambodia and South Vietnam. Some say they expect the Pathet Lao to be sufficiently emboldened to speed up their efforts to take over Laos.

The Pathet Lao claim control of two-thirds of the kingdom's 91,429 square miles, slightly larger than Idaho, and one-third of its estimated 3.2 million people.

The Provisional National Union Government formed on April 6, 1974, is regarded as a success by Laotian standards if only because it has lasted a year. Two earlier attempts at coalition in 1967 and 1962 failed within months, and fighting resumed.

The economy of landlocked Laos depends on handouts from foreign governments. The country earned about $15 million in foreign exchange last year and needed $40 million to pay for its imports. Donations from the United States, Australia, Japan, Thailand, Britain and France helped make up the difference.

Reunification of the country is moving slowly, one diplomat said. Neither side seems particularly anxious for elections.

Some view the future as bleak. Without providing statistics, the U.S. and Australian embassies report a sharp increase in applications to emigrate. Chinese businessmen, Philippine nationals working here and other foreigners are well as citizens of Laos are among those looking elsewhere.

Americans Immune To Gold Fever

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans still seem immune to gold fever.

In the 3½ months since bullion ownership became legal last Dec. 31, gold prices at both the retail level and on contracts for future delivery at major commodity exchanges have plunged about 18 per cent — from $200 an ounce on New Year's to around $164 an ounce Tuesday.

In the last two trading sessions, all four major exchanges where gold futures are traded have seen sharp price drops in unusually heavy volume. The recent strength in the dollar and U.S. stock market and signs inflation is easing have contributed to the drop from the initial lack of gold enthusiasm, according to Chicago gold trader Larry Blum.

And gold analyst James E. Sinclair of the Wall Street firm of Vilas & Hickey says the recent ban on gold coin sales in Britain, and a misapprehension among traders that the French government would support gold prices above $170 an ounce — the level it revalued its gold stocks last January — also pushed gold prices lower. But even with lower gold prices, a spot check of American banks and brokers shows only a slight pickup in buying interest in some cities, and even a waning of interest in others.

"Basically, gold sales started slow and have gotten slower," says Bob Rensenen of San Francisco's Crocker National Bank, whose retail price has gone from $200 an ounce in January to $177.63. "Now we're getting maybe six or seven transactions statewide a day."

In New York, a Republic National Bank spokesman says, "Demand for gold hasn't been anywhere near what we expected." But he adds that "coin demand has been very nice."

A spokesman for Bache & Co., one of several brokerage houses retailing gold nationwide, says, "Yes, sales have gone down since January."

Sinclair says Americans might be lured to gold if and when the price per ounce reaches the low $150's. And while other experts were unsure whether sales will eventually pick up, almost all forecast further gold price drops.

ICC To Continue Hearings On Proposed Railroad Merger

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission will continue hearing testimony today on Missouri Pacific Railroad Co.'s plans to merge with the Texas and Pacific and Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroads into Missouri Pacific.

Missouri Pacific, known as MoPac, already owns 96.7 per cent of Texas and Pacific's outstanding stock and 78.3 per cent of Chicago & Eastern Illinois stock.

The merger has been approved by stockholders of all three railroads and now must be approved by the ICC.

In a statement presented to the ICC in hearings Tuesday, J. H. Lloyd, president of all three railroads, asked that the railroads be relieved of Texas statutes which he said would make operation of the proposed unified railroad "unduly burdensome, inefficient and inconsistent with the public interest and the advancement of the national transportation policy."

Lloyd said Texas law requires all railroads operating in the state to maintain general offices in Texas, along with necessary officers and agents.

He said imposition of the law could cause the railroad to be faced with the prospect of moving its entire base of operations and general offices from St. Louis to Texas.

Such a move, he said, would require the relocation or replacement of hundreds of employees now located in St. Louis.

Lloyd also said other Texas laws require that claims for damages be settled or adjusted in Texas and that all repair work on equipment operated in Texas be performed in Texas.

He said such requirements would be "wastefully expensive."

Lloyd specifically asked for relief from the "Palestine Agreement," which requires that a certain percentage of office and shop employees be employed at Palestine, Tex.

"This obligation on its face requires applicants to station several hundred employees at Palestine, Tex. despite the fact that they could be used more efficiently at other locations as the need for transportation service dictates," Lloyd said.

He added that MoPac's freight claims department had been located in Palestine since 1955 because of the agreement and that movement of the department to St. Louis "would result in substantial annual savings."

Lloyd said the purpose of the merger was to improve efficiency and service by consolidating the various departments of the railroads, but that such improvement would be possible only if the railroads were relieved of the Texas statutes.

Palestine Mayor Harry L. Brown and City Atty. John Davis were at the ICC hearing Tuesday to cross-examine and question witnesses. A MoPac spokesman said presentation of written and oral statements by witnesses probably would continue for several days.

MoPac operates in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Texas. Texas and Pacific operates in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico and Chicago & Eastern Illinois operates in Illinois and Missouri.

Showers Sprinkle Scattered Areas

By The Associated Press
Showers sprinkled scattered areas from the northern Rockies to the Mississippi Valley today and snow dusted upper elevations of Montana and Wyoming.

Light rain also fell into the Middle Atlantic states, but skies cleared over the Southeast after more than a week of intermittent thunderstorms and heavy rains.

The lull in rains and the opening of the Bonnet Carré Spillway above New Orleans caused the Mississippi River level to drop faster than expected. Army Engineers planned to confer today on how soon to begin closing the spillway.

Workers started opening the 350 gates of the spillway Monday in order to divert high waters in the Mississippi around New Orleans. However, the rapid drop in the river level brought an order Tuesday night to suspend the operation.

Cloudy skies dominated the northern half of the country while fair weather favored the southern half. Temperatures, though above freezing in most Northern areas, remained below normal for mid April.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 26 at Butte, Mont., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Some other reports: Anchorage 37 light rain, Atlanta 43 clear, Boston 42 cloudy, Buffalo 35 clear, Chicago 45 partly cloudy, Cincinnati 31 clear, Cleveland 33 clear, Dallas 64 clear, Denver 42 clear, Detroit 35 clear, Honolulu 72 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 34 clear, Kansas City 52 clear, Los Angeles 54 partly cloudy, Miami 71 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 35 clear, Nashville 40 clear, Philadelphia 42 light rain, Phoenix 63 clear, Pittsburgh 36 partly cloudy, St. Louis 51 cloudy, San Francisco 44 partly cloudy.

Medical School Hearing Likely Tonight

AUSTIN (AP) — A controversial bill seeking to set up one medical school with campuses in both the Rio Grande Valley and Fort Worth is expected to come before the House Higher Education Committee tonight.

The committee voted Tuesday night to take a one-day delay in hearing the measure that combines the efforts of Valley legislators and Texas Woman's University to establish medical schools.

Earlier Tuesday Valley legislators said the bill would be presented to the committee by Rep. Billy Hall, D-Laredo.

Rep. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, a backer of the TWU medical school, told the committee he wanted some time to work with Hall on the bill that had come out of subcommittee.

The committee chairman, Rep. Fred Head, D-Troup, said he thought the subcommittee would be the best place for such work, but the vote to postpone consideration prevented him from returning the bill to subcommittee.

Previously there were bills in the committee for separate schools in the Valley and in Fort Worth.

The new bill says although each campus would have separate teaching facilities, both would be under TWU regents and under one dean.

There would be an initial class of 30 medical students in the Valley and 50 at Fort Worth under the proposal.

NL ROUNDUP—

Braves Rout Houston, 6-1

By The Associated Press
Hank Aaron is gone from Atlanta but some of his magic remains in the red-hot bats of Darrell Evans and Dusty Baker.

walked Joe Morgan on a 3-2 pitch with one out in the first inning but Morgan was erased when Bench grounded into a double play. Sutton then faced the minimum number of batters and had retired 18 in a row when Bench homered on the first pitch. The ball landed in the left field stands about 200 feet fair. Sutton then retired Baker after he and Evans drove in three runs apiece in the Braves' 6-1 triumph over the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

The Atlanta attendance of 12,774 on a clear, windy evening with temperatures in the 50s was the lowest opening-game turnout since the Braves moved South in 1966. The previous low was 20,128 in 1968. A year ago a record throng of 53,775 was on hand to see Aaron hit his 715th home run and pass Babe Ruth.

Dodgers 3, Reds 1
Don Sutton held Cincinnati hitless for 6 2/3 innings before Bench's first home run of the season forced him to settle for the fourth one-hitter of his career.

Padres 2, Giants 1
Randy Jones allowed two hits in seven innings and Bobby Tolan and Willie McCovey delivered run-scoring singles as San Diego rallied in the eighth.

Stevens Hurls Two-Hitter—Lee Rips San Angelo To Open 2nd Round

SAN ANGELO—Midland Lee took advantage of seven San Angelo errors and a superb two-hitter by Bobby Stevens to bomb the Bobcats, 8-2, in a District 5-4A baseball game.

Lee took a 1-0 lead in the first inning off Rudy Izzard and was never headed after that. Stevens was safe on an error after two were out, raced to third on a wild pitch and scored when Javier Torres was finally tagged out on a rundown between first and second.

The Rebels added two runs in the third on an error, a bunt single by Laughlin and a two-run single by Stevens for a 3-0 lead.

In the fifth, Alan Neal and Robbie Porter singled and Greg Howard bunted down the third base line with Izzard throwing the ball away to make it 4-0. Another run scored when Izzard uncorked a wild pitch to make it 5-0.

The Bobcats finally scored in the bottom of the fourth on an error, a sacrifice by Rick Covert and a groundout by Izzard.

Lee scored three runs in the sixth to ice the game. Howard struck out swinging, but reached first when the ball got away from Mike Houston. Another error by Izzard along with Laughlin's single made it 6-1.

Fast-paced fun makes a habit of hanging around Sunland Park, and this weekend is a good example.

Highlight of the weekend is Sunday's 5 1/2-furlong running of the $4,000-added THUNDERBIRD HANDICAP for 3-year-olds and up. Make your plans now to be on hand for this great Thoroughbred battle.

Canucks Win 2-1

By The Associated Press
Patterns are beginning to emerge as the Stanley Cup quarter-finals progress. There is a winning pattern for the Buffalo Sabres, Philadelphia Flyers, and Pittsburgh Penguins.

Penguins 3, Islanders 1
Smith was super in the Islanders goal, especially in the first period, when he repelled 21 shots. But Lowell MacDonald beat him twice later as the Penguins recorded their 12th consecutive home triumph.

Flyers 3, Maple Leafs 0
Defenseman Andre Dupont got some pre-game advice from Coach Fred Shero and scored the winning goal in Parent's third career Stanley Cup shut-out. Dupont got a game misconduct penalty for head-butting in a fight Sunday night, and Shero wasn't overly pleased with that.

Sabres 3, Black Hawks 1
Rick Dudley scored twice and rookie Danny Gare had the other as the Sabres rode a three-goal first period to victory for the second time. They scored three in the first period of Sunday's 4-1 triumph.

Canucks 2, Montreal 1
Vancouver won its first game since the start of the playoffs. The first period—none. Penalties—Lever, Van, 1:11; Mahovich, M, 4:44; Dailey, Van, 4:19; Avery, M, 4:19; O'Shaughnessy, Van, 11:21; Avery, M, 14:30.

Islanders 1, Penguins 3
Lambert, Avery, 12:38. 2. Vancouver, O'Shaughnessy, 15:08. 3. Pittsburgh, Pennington, 15:08. 4. Pittsburgh, Pennington, 15:08. 5. Pittsburgh, Pennington, 15:08.

Maple Leafs 0, Flyers 3
Flyers' defense was solid in the first period. Penalties—Lever, Van, 1:11; Mahovich, M, 4:44; Dailey, Van, 4:19; Avery, M, 4:19; O'Shaughnessy, Van, 11:21; Avery, M, 14:30.

Blackwell knocked in another run on an infield single and the other run scored when Torres grounded out to the pitcher.

San Angelo got a run on an error in the seventh inning to make the final score 8-2.

Lee plays Odessa in a makeup game at 4 p.m. Thursday at Fly Field in Odessa. San Angelo is now 1-1 in loop play and tries OHS in Odessa Saturday.

Spirits Spook Nets, 108-107

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP)—No one is going to take the Spirits of St. Louis lightly anymore, least of all the New York Nets.

The spirited Spirits, playing with confidence and determination, shocked the Nets with a 108-107 victory Tuesday night, eliminating New York's defending champions from the American Basketball Association playoffs.

The triumph was the Spirits' fourth in a row—their longest streak of the season—and gave them the best-of-seven Eastern Division semifinal series, 4-1. The miraculous and unexpected comeback by the Spirits, a group of very promising, vastly-improved rookies and discarded veterans, was more remarkable in view of the fact that St. Louis had lost all 11 regular season games to the Nets, plus the playoff opener.

It thrust the Spirits into the Eastern Division final against Kentucky, the regular season division champions and a winner over Memphis in the other East semifinal series. The best-of-seven St. Louis-Kentucky series will open Monday night in Kentucky.

Indiana leads San Antonio 3-2 in their Western Division series and the winner will meet Denver, which eliminated Lihai earlier in the week.

"There was a stigma put on our guys early in the season as a 'happy-go-lucky bunch,'" Coach Bob MacKinnon said of the St. Louis team, which joined the league only this season. "Sure, there were things happening on our club, but I

Midland Cubs Blanked 3-0 By El Paso

By TED BATTLES
The Midland Cubs could have used some of the runs and hits the Midland Softball Assn. All-Stars collected in beating Eddie Feigner, The King, and his Court, 6-4, earlier in the evening.

SPORTS

The Cubs hit the ball on the nose, but always right at someone. Moore was nicked for a run in the fifth when Gil Flores, a thorn in Midland's side throughout the series, singled, stole second, went to third on Dan Beerbower's infield single to short and scored on Dave Machemer's bat handle single to right.

In the seventh, Paul Dade, Kreept and Ray Rayos hit 7-for-13 in the series, bounced a single up the middle, was forced at second on Flores' bouncer to Moore, but then doubled into the left-center alley and Beerbower doubled down the left field line for his third hit. Both doubles produced runs, Feigner's wide repertoire of pitches and deliveries was the highlight of the exhibition.

baseball Larry Rush with a hot smash, his second of three hits, to open the inning. Bill Bright flew out to left, Aaron Randall grounded to first and, after Cliff Hall walked to load the bases, Mike Sember went down swinging.

CUB BRIEFS—The Cubs head for San Antonio for a six-game series before returning home next Tuesday against Shreveport.... Ed Connally, Fred Kreept and Ray Rayos hit 7-for-13 in the series, bounced a single up the middle, was forced at second on Flores' bouncer to Moore, but then doubled into the left-center alley and Beerbower doubled down the left field line for his third hit. Both doubles produced runs, Feigner's wide repertoire of pitches and deliveries was the highlight of the exhibition.

However, the Cubs were found wanting when needing the key hit with men on base. Tuesday was no exception, although the luck of Diablo fielders was being in the right place at the right time. The best scoring opportunity came in the fourth. Al Montreuil walked to lead off. Joe Wallis handcuffed first

Steers Edge Pack, 6-5

BY TERRY WILLIAMSON
The baseball frustrations of the Midland High Bulldogs continued at the Memorial Stadium diamond Tuesday afternoon as the Big Spring Steers rallied for two runs in the seventh inning to take a narrow 6-5 District 5-4A victory.

The loss was a brutal blow for the Pack since it was the second half opener, and Midland High dropped to 10-14 for the year. Big Spring, on the other hand, raised their season mark to 9-10 and maintained their hopes of a second half championship with a 2-0 mark.

Midland led most of the way in this one after a four-run uprising in the first inning, but saw it all go down the drain in the seventh when Dick Battle doubled to right and scored on a single by Kent Newsom. Ray Don Box delivered the telling blow, a sharp single to right which plated Box with the winning run.

Big Spring took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a single by Barry Canning, a double by Pat Carroll and a single by Battle along with a Pack error.

The Dogs came right back with four runs in the bottom of the frame. Karl Brosig who reached on his first of two doubles scored on an error by Big Spring third baseman Tracey Thompson and Raymond Philips delivered a single to center that got past centerfielder Canning and three runs scored.

A double by Lawrence Byrd and a single by Battle cut the margin to 4-3 in the third, but Midland High scored what looked like an insurance run in the fifth when Jake Wells doubled home Terrell Littlejohn who had reached on an error.

Canning doubled and Carroll singled in the sixth to close within one, and then took it all in the seventh with the two-run rally.

Midland made the most of five hits in the contest, but the Steers lashed out with a 14-hit attack, including six doubles.

Littlejohn went the route for the Pack on the mound, and struck out 10 Steers. Big Spring, however, had runners on base in every inning.

Carroll picked up the win with two innings of shutout relief, despite a threat by the Pack in the seventh to tie it. Brosig doubled with one out, but Carroll got Littlejohn on strikes and Wells on a fly to right to end the game.

Midland High will host Periman Thursday at 4 p.m. in a makeup game of Saturday's ramaout.

It was enough to make Oakland forget about Catfish Hunter—and enough to make A's Manager Alvin Dark forget... period.

When Hunter escaped from his contract, and ultimately escaped from Oakland to take up residence with the Yankees in New York, a lot of people predicted the gap left in the A's pitching corps by the departure of the Cy Young Award winner would be a damaging blow.

It might have been if Mike Nogriss hadn't surfaced in spring training, winning a spot on the A's roster, earning a berth in the starting rotation—and taking over Hunter's old No. 27.

In his major league debut last Thursday, Norris three-hit Chicago and won 9-0. And on Tuesday night, he twirled seven innings of one-hit ball in Kansas City before Dark, figuring his young hurler was getting arm-weary, called for veteran reliever Paul Lindblad in the eighth to protect the A's 3-1 lead.

Red Sox 5, Yankees 3

The Yanks built up a 3-0 lead against Bill Lee, but it evaporated in the Red Sox' four-run fourth. A walk and singles by Bernie Carbo and Bob Montgomery produced one run, Doug Griffin's single loaded the bases, a sacrifice fly by Fred Lynn made it 3-2, Griffin stole second and Dwight Evans singled for two more runs. Carbo doubled and scored Boston's final run on Rick Burleson's single when Hunter departed in the eighth.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The New York Nets' Julius Erving was named the American Basketball Association's player of the year Tuesday by the Sporting News, a weekly publication.

Trailing Erving in a vote among ABA players was the Indiana Pacers' George McGinnis, who joined the New York player as a repeat selection to the ABA all-star team.

Others chosen for the all-ABA quintet were center Artis Gilmore of Kentucky and guards Ron Boone of Utah and Mack Calvin of Denver. It was Gilmore's fourth consecutive selection.

PORTALES, N.M. (AP)—The acting president at Eastern New Mexico University, Dr. Gail Shannon, announced Tuesday that B.B. Lees, who has been a member of the ENMU physical education department for 19 years, will replace Dr. Dewey Langston as the school's director of athletics July 1.

Shannon said Langston was being relieved of his duties "in the best interests of the university." Langston has been director since 1971 and a member of the ENMU faculty for 24 years. He will be reassigned as a professor in physical education.

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—A French skier, Martine Podarsky, was rescued alive by police with an avalanche dog Tuesday after being buried for four hours in deep snow.

Miss Podarsky and a friend, Michel Affanassief, were caught in the avalanche while skiing down from the Valleé Blanche above this Alpine resort. Affanassief was only partly buried and freed himself to give the alarm.

Miss Podarsky was exhausted but otherwise suffered only bruises.

The Reds received left-hand pitcher Mac Scarce from New York and immediately optioned him to the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association, Cincinnati's Class AAA farm team.

Driessen, who played third base last year, is expected to be used also at first and in the outfield. He suffered a broken wrist while playing winter ball.

SEATTLE (AP)—Dick Mansperger, 42, of the Dallas Cowboys organization, has been named director of player personnel for the new Seattle National Football League franchise, it was announced Tuesday.

Blaylock Wants End To LPGA Legal Mess

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jane Blaylock wishes the Ladies Professional Golf Association would put an end to the long legal hassle that began when it suspended her nearly three years ago.

The LPGA would like to see it finished, too, but says it has no plans to drop the issue.

Miss Blaylock, who comes into Thursday's $200,000 Dinah Shore Winners Circle tournament as the leading ladies money winner this year, has won every round in court.

"If I were going to a golf pro for three years and still couldn't beat 100, I'd try something else," she said.

"Everything that has come up, all sorts of issues, orders, appeals, I've won every one. So I'm batting 1,000 and they're batting zero.

"I would like to see it over with," she said. "It would be better for everyone.

LPGA Executive Director Bud Erickson said, "Obviously our attorneys didn't feel there was an opportunity to reverse the decision, we wouldn't appeal."

He noted the lengthy process and said, "Nothing ever moves fast in the courts. We'd like to have it over with, but you have to go at the pace the courts set."

It all started when the LPGA suspended Miss Blaylock in 1972 for allegedly in a tournament improving the lie of her ball—i.e., moving the ball. She went to court and in Atlanta U.S. District Court Judge Charles Moye ruled she could continue playing.

Last August, a jury awarded her $4,500, the amount she could have won if she had captured the only tournament she missed under the suspension.

Last month, Judge Moye tripled that amount and ruled the LPGA must pay Miss Blaylock's legal fees, which have totaled $98,303.

LPGA attorney John Howard said the ruling would be appealed.

"In my mind it has been going on for so long but all the pressure and anxiety were relieved last August when the jury made the award and I won the suit," said Miss Blaylock.

"I would like the entire thing wiped off the slate, but they keep appealing."

LITTLE LEAGUE OPENS — Stoney Feeney, general manager of the Midland Cubs, tosses out the first pitch of the season to Mark Martin of Tower League Monday.

SPORTS SCRATCHPAD—

Evert Retires From Racing?

Basketball
Larry Brown, who led Denver to last place to the best record in pro basketball, has been named ABA Coach of the Year with 28½ votes from a possible 30.

Eddie Donovan has been named general manager of the New York Knicks, confirming reports which had been circulating since he resigned from a similar post with the Buffalo Braves last month.

The Texas Longhorns have signed the No. 1 sub on Houston Kashmere's Class AAAA basketball championship team. Carl Belcher, 6-8, averaged 14 points and 15 rebounds during Kashmere's undefeated, 46-game season.

The city of Buffalo has a $100,000 "bet" that the Braves and Sabres will win at least the quarterfinal rounds of their respective playoff tournaments. To show the confidence, the city already has spent the $100,000 it expects to "win". They are hoping the rental income will balance this year's municipal budget.

Racing
Chris Evert has been retired for breeding. That's Chris Evert the champion 3-year-old filly, who won $679,475 in the 1974 horse racing season.

Baseball
The New York Mets traded relief pitcher Mac Scarce to the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday for left-handed relief specialist Tom Hall. Hall will stick with the Mets while Scarce will join the Reds' farm club in Indianapolis.

Football
Unless University of Oklahoma season ticket holders contribute substantially to various new donor programs, they may have to join a lottery for tickets to the Oklahoma-Texas football game at Dallas. The plan for a possible lottery was made public after some season ticket holders protested when they discovered they would receive no more than two tickets to the Oct. 11 Texas game, and had no guarantee of those.

The New York Post reports that Joe Namath has been offered a three-year package worth $2 million to play in the World Football League. The WFL would like to have Namath play with the Chicago franchise, but reportedly they are nowhere close to signing Namath.

Walter Byers has apparently issued such a warning in a memorandum to members of the NCAA Council.

Lee Wins Feature At Speed Bowl

ODESSA—James Lee of Odessa won the feature race over the weekend at the Odessa Speedbowl in the modified stock car division while Paul Allred of Midland won the feature race in the stock division.

In the trophy dash in the stock division, Dean Anthony won first while Dwight Bryant of Midland won the first heat.

Second heat winner was Lee while Jim Crane of Midland, took consolation honors.

In the semi-main event in the modified division, Lee was first with Bryant second.

Time trials begin Friday at Odessa Speedbowl.

San Francisco Residents Try To Save Prep Athletics

By TOM CARTER
Copley News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — Under a tight budget squeeze as many big cities are, the Board of Education killed high school athletics here in February. It saved $200,000.

"The only recourse the board has is to cut out every program that is not mandated by law," the board's lawyer LeRoy Cannon explained amid tumultuous booing in a jammed meeting room. "Athletic programs are good, but they aren't mandatory."

Almost immediately sports fans began frantic fund-raising. And at the present clip the total may exceed $400,000 before March is over.

—Rock impresario Bill Graham staged an all-day benefit extravaganza in Kezar Stadium featuring several top rock stars, plus sports luminaries such as Willie Mays and Jesse Owens.

He conservatively estimates $250,000 will be turned over to the board to save athletics.

—Donations from department stores, associations and private citizens — just four weeks after the vote — totaled $100,000.

—Discount restaurant and entertainment books are being printed, compliments of several corporate donations, and will sell for $3 each. A sellout would raise $60,000.

It has been reported that other cities such as Phoenix, Seattle and St. Louis are heading toward similar school athletic crises.

But just as it appears to be happening in San Francisco, when it came down to the pinch in Philadelphia four years ago, public sentiment and donations saved the program. And across the bay in Oakland in 1967, citizens raised $90,000 to save athletics. Only now, however, is the city getting back to a full-fledged program.

A factor motivating generosity in these tough times is the belief that kids on the playing field are not on the streets or in the courts.

At tough Mission High School basketball coach Ernie McNeely sees mostly youngsters from poverty areas.

"The only thing that keeps them in class is basketball, track, or some other sport," McNeely said.

Still, Armen Terzian, director of physical education and athletics for the school district, is "pessimistic," he said in an interview.
