Arithmetic Series To Start

Would you be satisfied if you bought a bag of candy for 31 cents, you gave the clerk 51 cents, and you got back 10 cents change? Probably not. But some children who are lacking in basic math skills might. And there are an increasing number of youngsters today who are having trouble with basic skills in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division.

With that in mind, The Reporter-Telegram in Monday's edition will begin a series of "real life" arithmetic activities for children. Along with it will be information for parents on how to help their youngsters improve basic math skills—and also improve their attitudes about math.

The activity series will include a fresh approach to drill—one that is lively, enthusiastic and often humorous. It was developed by Science Research Associates, Inc., of Chicago, publishers of the new SRA Mathematics Learning System now being introduced to educators across the country. The system is being used to some degree in Midland public schools.

The approach is based on the idea that all children should succeed in mathematics—and can succeed—if adults recognize that some of the greatest learning opportunities are found in a child's everyday life.

That's why activities offered in the series are informal and relaxed and center around things children know best. This "relaxed" method of learning math has been found effective in field tests with more than 20,000 children of all ability levels.

New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special)—An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive "while eating almost as much as you want."

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Loss up to a Pound a Day
Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, lobster, chicken, fish, some sauces, gravies, bacon, eggs, and still lose weight.

Diet Now Available
To get a copy of this highly successful diet and grapefruit pills, send $5 for 10 day supply (or $8 for 20 day supply or $10 for 30 day supply) cash, check, or Money Order to: CITRUS FARMS LTD, Dept. A60, 4040 E. McDowell St., Phoenix, Arizona 85008.

Head Of Episcopal Church Faces Trial

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SUNDAY, MAY 4, 1975-3A

J. TERRY CARPENTER, DDS.

ANNOUNCES

THE REMOVAL OF HIS OFFICES TO 208 N. O St., Midland, Tex.

OFFICE HOURS BY APPOINTMENT

683-6203

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Episcopal church faces the possibility of being tried on charges of violating church law as the result of an ecclesiastical court's ruling.

The situation is unparalleled in the two centuries of the American denomination's history.

A special church court, trying a local priest on charges of disobedience, declared Friday that Presiding Bishop John M. Allin was guilty of contempt for refusing to appear as a witness.

The court said he had spurned its subpoena and thus was in violation of canonical law. His explanations were "deemed insufficient to excuse him," the court said.

The bishop had been summoned to testify in the church trial of the Rev. William A. Wendt, accused of disobeying his bishop by allowing one of 11 irregularly ordained women to lead a communion service in his church.

In adjudging Bishop Allin in contempt, the diocesan court has no authority to impose penalties, but its action raised the possibility of formal charges and trial of the church's chief spiritual guide.

"It's an absolutely unprecedented circumstance," said the Rev. Charles Perry, executive officer of the church's Washington diocese.

Bishop Allin, a mild-mannered Mississippian who became head of the church last year, could not be reached immediately for comment.

A spokesman at the church's New York headquarters said the bishop was fulfilling prior engagements in Phoenix, Ariz., and St. Louis, Mo., and had decided to "make no comment on the trial."

Church canons make it the duty of any member to heed the summons of an ecclesiastical court to give evidence. A member of the five-member court here, lawyer Janet

McCa, said of its contempt citation: "No man, and for that matter, no woman, is above the law."

The finding was transmitted to the church's House of Bishops and House of Deputies, the two branches of its bicameral legislature.

The defense had succeeded in obtaining the court subpoena for Bishop Allin's testimony because one of the key issues in the case is whether the 11 women were validly ordained. Two weeks after the ordinations last July, the bishop had summoned the church's House of Bishops, which ruled the ordinations invalid. An issue in Father Wendt's trial was whether the House of Bishops had the authority to make such a ruling.

The court's dramatic, unanimous action came at the closing session of the three-day trial. A verdict in the case was not expected for about two weeks.

Father Wendt, 55, testified he gave "conscience the highest authority" in his action and that it had come only after much consultation, scripture reading and prayer to "hear the voice of Jesus."

He said he had not disobeyed a direct order, but only "a request" of Bishop William F. Creighton not to allow the Rev. Alison Cheek of Annandale, Va., to celebrate communion last Nov. 10.

If found guilty, Father Wendt's penalty could range from a mere reprimand to removal from the priesthood. Those same penalties would apply if Bishop Allin were charged, tried, and convicted of violating church canon.

Arthritis Board Plans Garage Sale

A community wide garage sale and flea market have been planned as a money making project for May 17 and 18 by the Midland County Arthritis Board.

The sale will be held on the Gibson Discount Center parking lot, with an estimated 75 spaces to be available for rental by individuals, civic clubs, dealers, artists and religious organizations to display their wares.

Proceeds from the booth rental will go to the Arthritis Foundation for use in research and education.

Plans for the event also include truckload sales for such goods as bean bags and lawn and camping equipment.

Registration for booth rental will be May 11 to 17 at Gibson's customer service desk.

Tournament Players Suspicious Lot

"Why are tournament bridge players such a suspicious lot?" a reader asks. "Why would they say an opponent is doing something wrong when they don't have a shred of proof? This sort of thing doesn't happen in rubber bridge — the kind we play at home or at the club."

If a rubber bridge player makes his opponents suspicious, you don't invite him back to your home or your club. You don't have that sort of social control in a tournament.

Four Witnesses

In the recent world championship, four witnesses saw Gianfranco Facchini press Sergio Zucchelli's toes with his feet during the bidding of some 60 or 40 hands. The North American team still had to play against this pair because the World Bridge Federation merely reprimanded the guilty pair instead of throwing them out.

Today's hand indicates why a tournament bridge player may be suspicious before he has a shred of proof.

Some 500 bridge fans saw the hand flashed on a screen at the Southampton Princess Hotel in Bermuda, where they watched Giorgio Belladonna and Benito Garozzo of Italy bid and play against Michel Lebel and Christian Mari of France during the first round of play.

The hand had been played about an hour earlier by Zucchelli and Facchini against Jean Michel Boulenger and Henri Svarc, and observers who knew what to look for could see their bidding and opening lead, shown here in the diagram today.

Jacoby Transfer

North bid a weak diamond suit and South bid a three-card heart suit because Svarc and Boulenger use the Jacoby transfer bid in response to an opening bid of one notrump. The responder bids the suit under his true suit — in this case, diamonds rather than hearts. Such a bid forces the notrump to bid his partner's real suit.

The idea is to make the notrump play the hand instead of becoming the dummy. Since the notrump usually has kings and ace-queen combinations, it is often an advantage to have the opening lead come up to his hand instead of through it.

An additional advantage is that the responder gets the chance to make a second bid. In this case, when South bids two hearts North can invite game by bidding three hearts.

(If North had a terrible hand with length in hearts but nothing else of value, he would pass two hearts instead of bidding on.)

Opening Lead

This convention is useful to tournament players, but a rubber bridge player would jump from one notrump to four hearts with the North hand, saving wear and tear on the brain cells.

It's the opening lead that caught the attention of experts at the world championship. Why had Zucchelli led the ten of spades? The normal expert lead is the queen of clubs.

As the cards lie, the spade lead is far more effective. It causes declarer to lose a spade trick. When the queen of clubs was led at the second table of the match, declarer took both high clubs to discard dummy's singleton spade, and that declarer didn't have to lose a spade trick.

In the actual hand, the difference was slight. At both tables the defense promptly led two rounds of trumps. This limited declarer to one diamond ruff in dummy, but one ruff was enough when the diamonds broke evenly. If the diamonds had broken 4-2, the opening spade lead would have defeated the contract, but the normal club lead would have allowed declarer to make his game.

Options Many

The experts at the world championship didn't get suspicious because somebody made an illogical opening lead. Honest taxpayers who play tournament bridge make five or six illogical opening leads every night of the week and twice on Sunday. The difference is that the taxpayers get poor from these leads.

Nor did the experts get suspicious because somebody made a lucky opening lead. As every expert knows, an opponent sometimes closes his eye and fishes out the only lead that will defeat a contract.

Humans Err

The expert does get suspicious when the lucky but illogical opening lead is exactly what the leader's partner would ask for if he had a way of asking. One hand proves nothing, of course, but if several such hands occur the expert has reason to suspect that he is being cheated even if he hasn't any idea of how the opponents are doing it.

Unless your opponents are supermen, they should make a fair number of errors. If they don't make those errors, look for wings sprouting out of their shoulders — or perhaps some hanky-panky under the table.

"EVERY HOME HAS ITS PERSONALITY"

Every individual person has his own personality. So does every family. And, so does every home!

Thus, before acquiring a house that will become its home, a family should explore the "personality" of the house to see if it blends with that of the family.

For example is the house staid, conservative and traditional; or, is it contemporary and rather unstructured. Does it lend itself to lots of group activity or is it high on areas of privacy?

With a little ingenuity and a fair amount of hard work, a family can mold virtually any house to more or less blend its personality with the people living in it.

But it's a lot easier if they match right off the bat. The Bunnie Kent girls make this their specialty.

Some serious talk about West Texas gas

W. P. Lee Watson, Pioneer president

Living in the middle of an area known for its abundant gas deposits, it's hard to imagine West Texans threatened by a shortage of natural gas. However, there is the possibility that governmental regulations could create a shortage here. If we are not vigilant, we could see much of our gas supply allocated to other areas. Or we could see price controls make it impractical for producers to drill additional wells in this area. What can the average citizen do to prevent that from happening? I would suggest that he be aware of the problem and support Pioneer's efforts to maintain our gas reserves.

THEY WALKED OR PEDALED OR RODE — About 300 bikers, hikers and riders participated in Saturday's Bike-Hike-Ride for the Retarded. Participants received a total of $14,000 in pledges from Midlanders. This topples Midland's $9,600 total last year that led all cities in the nation. Prizes to participants will be awarded May 24. The annual event is sponsored by the Midland Association for Retarded Citizens and the Teens Aid the Retarded chapter in the city.

Big Spring Beauty Named District Lions Queen

Cherry Ingram, an 18-year old brunette beauty representing the Big Spring Evening Lions Club, Friday night was selected from a field of 37 charming young ladies from over West Texas as the 1975-76 Queen of District 2-A1, Lions International, in the district contest held in the Alamo Junior High School Auditorium here.

Cathie Rayle of Midkiff, representing the Reagan County Lions Club, was first runner-up, and Carla Rawlings, representing the Evening Lions Club of Sweetwater, second runner-up.

The contest, directed by Duke Jimerson of Midland, was the opening-day highlight of the annual convention of Lions District 2-A1 held here this weekend.

An international theme was followed at the contest, with the various countries involved in Lionism being presented by Midland Boy Scouts as the contestants were introduced. Lion Ronnie Lewis of Midland was master of ceremonies.

A humorous dialogue featuring Jimerson and a Midland youngster, David Slaughter, was the intermission entertainment. Music for the occasion was presented by a combo unit from the Midland Downtown Lions Club's internationally known "Big Name" Band.

The crown was placed on the head of the new district queen by Lorelei Beck of San Angelo, the 1974-75 queen, who now is attending Texas Christian University at Fort Worth.

Queen Cherry is a senior student at Big Spring High School, where she is a member of the National Honor Society and president of the Shortland Club. She is interested in poetry, law and medicine. Her favorite sports are tennis, horseback riding and track. Her hobby is modeling.

Cathie Rayle attends high school at Big Lake. She is a cheerleader, twirler, plays tennis and is active in FHA. She likes to swim, read and cook.

Carla Rawlings is an 18-year old senior student at Sweetwater High School. She is a member of the Student Council and was the school's Sophomore Class Favorite. She runs track and likes to ski.

The district selection qualifies Queen Cherry for competition in the state contest.

Other Queen contestants and the clubs they represented are: Sheila Cummins, Silver; Glenda McConnell, Midland Morning; Janie Gatica, San Angelo Southside; Sherry Banks, San Angelo Northwest; Stacy Dickerson, Greenwood; Pam Wimpee, East San Angelo; Janna Jones, San Angelo Westside; Cindy Story, Early of Brownwood and Connie Tucker, Sand Springs; Debbie Mathier, Junction; Belenda Bebe, Ozona; Robbie Morrison, Winters; Laura Polmar, Midland Evening; Fredelyn Walters, Brownwood; Margie Ballard, Colorado City Noon; Linda Aguilar, Midland Eastside.

Paige Little, Big Spring; Sheila Alexander, Sonora; Debbie Hildreth, Grady; Vicki Jean LeVrier, San Angelo Downtown; Judy Thompson, Brady; Jennifer Laurie, San Angelo Sundown; Patty Goodlett, Colorado City Evening; Melody Pyburn, Sweetwater Downtown;

Linda Ewan, Midland Southside; Sandra Harris, Santa Anna; Lisa Horwood, Sterling City; Pamela Williams, Midland Tall City; Lisa Henderson, Ballinger; Michele Hickey, Midland Downtown; Sherry Smith, Stanton; Renee Peiser, San Angelo North; Carolyn Havlak, Rowena, and Pam Schoolcraft, Midland Westside.

Cattlemen's Delegation To Visit Midland Tuesday

The American National Cattlemen's Association (ANCA) will conduct an intensive three-day Industry Action Tour in Texas Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Tour stops will include Amarillo, Lubbock, Midland, San Angelo and Abilene on Tuesday, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Houston on Wednesday and Wichita Falls and Fort Worth on Thursday.

Led by ANCA President Gordon Van Vleck, the delegation of cattlemen will examine the industry's problems in a series of 10 meetings.

Accompanying Van Vleck will be Hilmar Moore of Richmond, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, and Rob Brown of Throckmorton, immediate past president of the American Simental Association.

The delegation will be guests of a luncheon at the High Sky Restaurant at Midland Air Terminal at 11 a. m. Tuesday. Charles A. Bird of Midland is coordinator for the Midland area.

Van Vleck will discuss all issues of importance to Texas cattlemen with emphasis on current legislation under consideration by Congress.

The meeting will be open for discussion by Midland area ranchers, Bird said.

College Honors Three Midlanders

SAN MARCOS — Three Midland students are among the 180 students who received awards during Southwest Texas State University's recent awards ceremony for the School of Science.

Honored were Deborah Allen of 2601 Harvard St., a senior, academic excellence in biology; Elizabeth Peacock of 3310 Stewart St., a senior, scholarship in biology, and Charles Underminer of 2503 Camarie St., a junior, scholarship in chemistry.

Midland Student At SWSU Wins Journalism Honors

SAN MARCOS — David Birdwell, the son of Mrs. Martha Jo Birdwell of 3214 W. Shandon St. in Midland, is editor of Southwest Texas State University's award-winning newspaper.

The publication took sweepstakes in the overall newspaper contest in spring competition of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association.

A Lee High School graduate, he also won in individual contests a third prize in news story and a second in editorials.

Midland Man, 74, Robbed Of $150

A 74-year-old Midland man told police he was accosted at his home late Friday by a man who held a knife to his abdomen and demanded he hand over his wallet.

The victim, Salvadore Reynoza, told police he gave the man his wallet containing approximately $150. He said the man then fled from his home at 2307 E. Front St.

Reynoza told investigators he had been lying on a bed asleep when the man entered the unlocked home. He was unable to give police a good description of the holdup man.

Soil Stewardship Week begins here today, according to Oswald Raggett, chairman of the Midland Soil and Water Conservation District.

This year's theme, "Test of Strength," emphasizes "how the many changes now occurring in the nation test our strength and affect our continuing responsibility to be good stewards of the land," Raggett said.

This is the 21st consecutive year for the national observance which stresses man's need to protect and conserve soil, water and other natural resources.

The Midland conservation district will sponsor a prayer breakfast for area pastors at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Roadway Inn here.

The Black Experience: A black American scientist reported to the 17th annual Science Writers Seminar in San Diego, Calif., on basic research that could provide "new insights into cancer detection and treatment. The experimental work described by Dr. Charles J. Nabors of the University of Utah College of Medicine, has to do with the metabolism noticed in a substance called cortisol, before the development of laboratory measurements found in beagle dogs.

Cortisol is a hormone, which in humans, is produced by the adrenal glands. Among other functions, it is one of the regulators of normal cell growth. In cancer, cells keep growing wildly, according to the report.

The 41-year old scientist is an assistant professor of anatomy. Nabors said his laboratory induced bone cancers cortisol was being changed more rapidly in the skin of the irradiated animals before their cancers developed. The relation of the abnormal changes of this substance to cancer also was indicated, he said, by a speedup in its metabolism in leukemia and breast cancer patients.

Future work, Nabors said, will seek more information about pre-cancerous conditions and their susceptibility to drug treatment. Interviewed later, Nabors attributed the scarcity of black American medical research scientists to inadequate preparatory scientific training at the high school and college level, factors inherent in the black community and the patient care orientation of the majority of Black American physicians. It was his opinion, however, that more black American scientists eventually will enter the various fields of medical research.

United Negro Fund Report: An all-time high of $11.9 million was raised in the 1974 annual campaign conducted by the United Negro College Fund. It surpassed the 1973 total by almost $1.5 million. American businesses contributed $4.4 million to the drive, also a record amount. About 3,500 corporations contributed. Largest corporate donors included General Motors, IBM, Bell System, Sears Roebuck Foundation, Ford Motor Co., Olin Corp., Charitable Trust, U.S. Steel, Exxon Foundation, Texaco Inc., International Telephone and Telegraph, Burlington Industries, and Xerox Corp. Largest donor was from a black organization, The Links, $132,000.

"Wonderful West Texas" is a slogan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and after a recent scenic tour of some sections of this vast territory, we are convinced that only half of the story has been told in the slogan. There are rolling plains and gentle mountains and of course sloping valleys. We started at Clovis and then to Farwell, Bovina then over to Dimmitt, Nazareth, Tulia, then U.S. 86 to Silverton, Quitaque on to Turkey, where we took in the festivities of Bob Wills Day. Then on to Childress, before heading to the north country of Memphis, Wellington, Clarendon, then touching I40 and then 70 into Pampa. Then to White Deer, where we spent the night at a lovely little motel (no blacks live there), and a wonderful rest and hospitality. Then the next a.m. to Panhandle and a short stop in Amarillo to chat with some bellringers, and on to Canyon and a two-hour visit with West Texas State and town friends. We then headed home by way of Plainview (having coffee with some bellringers at the Holiday Inn), Lubbock, Brownfield, Seminole and on to Hobbs, N.M.

In our brief chats with white and black leaders in many of these places, there is faith and much hope that the best years yet are ahead. More later.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —
By CHARLES W. GREEN
Midland County Agent

Midland County irrigated cotton producers are faced with the decision of whether to plant land already prewatered and losing moisture daily or to wait, hoping weather conditions will stabilize, better favoring early emergence and early growth. Cool weather retards germination and growth of young cotton plants and although there have been a number of warm days and mild nights, recurring cool fronts continue to hold soil temperatures down. The majority of the cropland in the county is dryland and rain must come in proper amounts before planting can be considered on this acreage.

How many plants to put on an acre and how far apart to put them are vital questions for today's profit-squeezed cotton growers. Defining optimum stand is difficult, since production conditions and environmental factors may alter the stand needed for optimum production efficiency.

In the Texas High Plains, research has shown that the optimum stand is thicker with late-planted cotton than it is with early-planted cotton. Spacing requirements have been shown to vary among varieties also.

Additionally, stand density may need to be varied to suit soil type or moisture availability.

Stand has two components. These are plant density, or the number of plants per acre; and spatial arrangement, which refers to the distance between plants.

Lack of uniformity may result in skips which may reduce yield, even though there is an adequate number of plants per acre. Data from spacing research indicates that adverse competitive affects results when the spacing between plants in the row falls below 3 inches. The main effect of too close spacing is to move the position of the first boll higher up the plant, delaying maturity and likely reducing yield. The high population needed for today's mechanized production system is partly related to uniformity.

When cotton was hand-thinned to rather precise patterns, the population could be quite low and still have no skips; whereas, with modern production methods the population has to be higher to avoid skips.

The major component of profit is yield, and stand can have a large effect on yield. Fortunately, cotton is adapted to a relatively wide range of populations.

Research in the Texas High Plains shows that yields of irrigated cotton does not vary greatly with stands of 20,000 to 35,000 plants if uniformity is good. Between this range of 1 1/2 to slightly more than 4 plants per foot of row, yields will be within 5 per cent of the maximum.

The next question is: How much seed do I plant to get this type of stand? It is hard to come up with a definitive answer. Seed size varies among varieties and other factors that may reduce final stand such as rain, hail, wind, insects, birds, tillage, etc. have to be taken into account.

Good, high quality (good germination and vigor) seed that is clean and a variety that is adapted to the area is a must. Planting in a well-prepared seedbed at a depth of 1 to 2 inches and firming the soil around the seed to make sure of good contact between soil and seed is also very important. Depending on the variables, Midland County producers who plant between 20 and 25 pounds of acid delinted seed per acre, generally should achieve a stand within the limits described above.

Everyone who tills a plot of land on which any kind of cultivated crops or plants are grown will have bugs, sooner or later. This means if you grow shrubs, flowers, trees, vegetables and grass sometime you will have insect problems. If you are at a loss as to how to identify, and manage insects in your own bit of environment, you will find information and help at the garden and ornamental insects seminar to be held at the Lancaster Garden Center 2-4 p.m. Thursday.

Charles Neeb, area extension entomologist from Fort Stockton, and I will be present to present information and counsel with interested persons. The program will cover cultural and biological control of insects, as well as chemical.

Tall City's 'Seniors'

One of the basic rights of senior citizens, as established in a White House conference on Aging, is the right to be useful.

This is a most important, far-reaching right... and if there is any doubt in your mind as to the ability of senior citizens to be useful, forget it.

If you could have observed senior citizens in action at the recent "Christmas in April" event here (senior citizens helping senior citizens), you would have been convinced once and for all as to the vast potential of energy available for community projects through senior citizens who have the time and the inclination to serve.

And the beautiful part about the whole business is the fact that many senior citizens are a ready, willing and anxious to tackle most any project which will benefit others. They actually are offering themselves as a community resource. It is a human resource which should be utilized.

What brings all this to mind at this particular time? Well, May has been designated nationwide as "Senior Citizens Month," and what better time to give serious thought to the overall welfare of senior citizens. Many of them, of course, are not physically able to perform as do others, but the interest is just as great, and they, too, have the right to be useful within the limits of their capabilities.

Midlanders have responded generously in meeting some of the problems and needs of senior citizens. A Senior Activity Center is operating full-blast, with excellent, far-reaching, life-prolonging results. A "Meal On Wheels" program has been established and is proving to be most helpful. A telephone reassurance project also is in use.

As a result of this concern, as expressed by the community, more and more senior citizens are becoming involved in community affairs — and doing great jobs. Through their professional, church and social groups, they are making

INSIDE REPORT

Israeli Journalist Attacks Ford Head-On

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A head-on attack against President Ford by one of Israel's most respected journalists here has pushed White House political temperatures closer to the boiling point and hardened this tentative conclusion: Israel's battle to outflank Gerald Ford in his own country is getting rougher.

One immediate Ford response: a unique effort to reach agreement with congressional leaders on how much Israel's request for $2.6 billion in new military and economic aid should be cut. The President's hope is to gain a consensus before he sends the Israel-aid package to Congress, thus checking Israel's pressure campaign on Congress to raise the ante.

The anti-Ford critique appeared on April 23 in Israel's most respected daily newspaper, Ha'aretz, under the byline of its top American reporter, Dan Margalit.

"A cold man who is developing a grudge against Israel is now sitting in the White House," Margalit wrote. "In no way does he now resemble the Gerald Ford who, as a member of the House from Michigan, signed petitions for arms for Israel and spoke at meetings of the Jewish lobby."

That Margalit should attack President Ford is scarcely remarkable in a country which enjoys notable freedom of expression. What is significant is that high officials in the Ford administration are convinced that his criticism closely themselves available for most any community need. This is what really counts.

Other rights of senior citizens include: "The right to obtain employment, based on merit; the right to freedom from want in old age; the right to a fair share of the community's recreational, educational, and medical resources; the right to obtain decent housing suited to needs of later years; the right to moral and financial support of one's family so far as is consistent with the best interest of the family; the right to live independently, as one chooses; the right to live and die in dignity, and the right of access to all knowledge as available on how to improve the later years of life."

The aging, which includes all of us, also have certain obligations, one of the most fundamental of which is "The obligation of each citizen to prepare himself to become and resolve to remain active, alert, capable, self-supporting, and useful so long as health and circumstances permit, and to plan for ultimate retirement."

Meanwhile, a snappy salute and all best wishes always are directed to all those who are of sufficient age to be classified as senior citizens—if they so desire.

THE MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JACK ANDERSON With Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon's private presidential preference, according to friends who have talked politics with him at San Clemente, is Big John Connally.

This doesn't mean the former President would endorse Connally for the Republican nomination in 1976. On the contrary, Nixon more likely would support the man he put in the White House, Gerald Ford.

At private political bull sessions, Nixon has praised both Ford and Connally. But it is Connally whom the ex-President singles out as best qualified to run the nation.

Nixon is pleased over Connally's acquittal in a bribery case and apparently feels this frees the former Treasury secretary to run for president.

But the acquittal was a bit less than complete exoneration. Jury foreman Dennis O'Toole was quoted as saying after the trial: "our verdict meant not that we had found necessarily that John Connally was innocent, but rather not guilty based on the case presented to us."

The fact that Nixon is discussing current events with old friends is itself newsworthy. It means the former President has snapped out of his deep melancholy.

Meaning Of Word 'Reform' Discussed

WASHINGTON (KFS) — Hats off to Prof. James O. Wilson for his recent pithy commentary on how the word "reform" has degenerated into a progressive cliché.

For example, inquiry into the people and policies who cost us so much in Southeast Asia is labeled as "divisive recrimination." Only the Wall Street Journal has had the courage to editorially argue that this is an attempt to stigmatize "serious issues, not demagogic ones," and that the "warnings are intended to foreclose debate on issues the warners feel they will lose." Just so.

Ironically, many of the people who call for "reconciliation" rather than "recrimination" are the brothers, heirs and sons of the New Dealers who spent the better part of the years from 1932 to 1952 churning up bitter divisions in recrimination against Herbert Hoover, Wall Street and "economic royalists."

The explanation, more or less, is that the liberals of 1932 were outsiders, trying to incite and then consolidate popular revolt against the existing elite. Forty years later, the new Liberal Establishment is itself under fire for doing to America's world role what the Hoover administration did to Roaring Twenties prosperity.

Turnabout is fair play, and Daniel

Kevin P. Phillips

P. Moynihan was correct early in April when he attributed the retreat of American power in part to a "failure of nerve" on the part of the liberal foreign policy establishment.

Back in June 1971, Newsweek published a very informative photograph entitled "A Council of War in Honolulu, 1966." Sitting around the table plotting America's expanding war in Vietnam were the following certified establishmentarians: Secretary of State Dean Rusk, former president of the Rockefeller Foundation, now a university professor; Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, former president of the Ford Motor Co., now president of the World Bank; Presidential Assistant McGeorge Bundy, former Harvard dean, now president of the Ford Foundation; and sitting under the photo of a guided missile was Mr. New Priorities himself, John Gardner, then secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, now chairman of Common Cause.

These are the people who planned the war, built it up and then turned their backs when their liberal constituency soured.

The Italian sociologist, Vilfredo Pareto, has argued that history is "a circulation of elites" and thus "a graveyard of aristocracies." If depressions have been one focus of elite failure, wars have been another. Writing about the American Revolution, Winston Churchill said it "shattered the complacency of 18th Century England... men began to study the root causes of the disaster, and the word 'reform' was in the air."

There is also a fifth, less likely possibility that the Sirica experts were wrong and that the buzzing gap was caused by the famous Uver 5000 recorder itself.

The four suspects have protested their innocence, and none has implicated anyone else. The prosecutors simply don't have enough evidence, therefore, to make a case. If the culprit should turn out to be Nixon himself, he couldn't be prosecuted anyway because of President Ford's pardon.

The fact that Nixon is discussing current events with old friends is itself newsworthy. It means the former President has snapped out of his deep melancholy.

Our sources say he still has a hollow, haunted look. He hasn't regained his lost weight, and there are circles under his eyes. But his mental outlook, they say, is healthy.

He is contrite about his Watergate mistakes and concerned about what the American people think of him, according to friends. He desperately hopes he can regain enough stature so that he will be permitted "to make a contribution to the country." It isn't public office but an advisory role that he would like, say his friends.

Because of his experience in foreign affairs, he believes he could offer some useful suggestions on foreign policy. He has reminded visitors that he and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger "made a good team." They reduced tensions in the world and at least prolonged the peace in the Middle East, Nixon contends.

He is dismayed over the collapse of the anti-Communist governments in Cambodia and South Vietnam. He suggests that the failure of Congress to back up the Saigon regime with military aid precipitated the crises.

Footnote: The former President takes a long walk every day but doesn't venture far from his lonely exile in San Clemente. He doesn't want to risk ugly public confrontations, according to friends. He occupies his time working on his memoirs. He is most worried about raising enough income to maintain his life style. He can't bring himself, however, to accept lucrative TV offers. The highest is a $500,000 offer to appear with interviewer David Frost.

One such plot, described by sources with access to the secret reports, was in the works against Soviet master spy Kim Philby, who held a high job in British intelligence and was once Britain's liaison with the CIA and FBI.

In 1963, the CIA was 100 per cent certain that Philby was a Russian spy. Fed up with British dilly-dallying, the CIA decided to murder him in Beirut. But as the CIA "torpedoes" closed in, the elusive Philby skipped off to the Soviets.

Footnote: As early as Jan. 8, 1971, we reported the details of six CIA assassination attempts against Cuba's Fidel Castro. Our story has now been confirmed.

Analysts Believe Auto Industry Should Be Cured By '76

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's struggling auto industry, trying to recover after unprecedented first-quarter losses, continues to step up production in the steadfast belief that sales will pick up this spring.

However, some industry analysts fear that the seasonal rebound auto executives have been predicting for two months may prove instead to be a bad bounce.

When automakers report their April sales figures Monday, the analysts say deliveries may be shown down not only from energy crisis-depressed levels of a year ago but from the poor levels of March 1975 as well.

Although April sales traditionally are up 4 per cent over the previous month, analysts predict volumes will be down 1 or 2 per cent from March this year.

Domestic car sales in April were estimated at 515,000, down 1.5 per cent from March. Imports were expected to show a 15 per cent gain in sales over a year ago, although foreign deliveries estimated at 130,000 would be off 10 per cent from March. The April estimate would give imports better than 30 per cent of the total U.S. market for a fourth consecutive month. Imports accounted for a record 21 per cent of the market.

If manufacturers carry out scheduled 9 per cent production increases while sales remain depressed, analysts say the firms may again wind up with burgeoning inventories.

But for the remainder of 1975, analysts' forecasts are as optimistic as those of auto industry executives. The analysts predict that sales eventually will show strong improvements and the companies will make money again beginning with the current quarter, although Chrysler is expected to remain in the red.

"The auto industry is like a sick patient recovering from radical surgery," said Arvid Jouppi, an analyst in Detroit. "The layoffs, plant shutdowns and inventory adjustments were the companies' bad medicine. They took it and they're getting better. The industry should be cured by 1976."

Building Permits Total Hits Low Ebb In Midland Last Week

Building permits issued by the city inspection department reached a low ebb last week with only 988,395 showing up on construction applications. It was the lowest construction total so far this year, but brought the yearly total to a healthy $7.9 million. Applications for three new homes highlighted the week ending the year's fourth month. Those permits went to Cord Land and Development Corp. for two $30,000 homes to be located at 711 and 713 Pine St., and a $30,000 permit to Tom Canton Homes for a new home at 2200 Northrup St.

Citizens Savings Promotes Alvey

T. L. "Larry" Alvey has been named vice president and controller of Citizens Savings & Loan Association.

Alvey, who joined Citizens April 1, was elected vice president at the regular monthly board of directors meeting of the association.

Alvey's duties with Citizens will include supervision of operations and the on-line computer system.

Alvey brings five years experience with savings & loan institutions in Carlsbad, N.M., and Odessa, where he served as vice president of Odessa Savings & Loan. Prior to that time, he was associated with BTA Oil Producers and Amoco Oil Co.

A native of Morganfield, Ky., Alvey received his associate degree in accounting from Valley State College in North Hollywood, Calif. He served three years in the U.S. Army.

Currently, Alvey serves as president of the West Texas chapter of the Financial Officers Society and has been active in chamber of commerce work as well as the Rotary and Lions clubs.

Texas Construction Leveling Off

DALLAS (AP) — A long-awaited leveling-off period is beginning in the Texas construction industry and will last at least until the latter part of the year, Texas Contractor magazine reports in its May 6 issue.

In April 1974 a new monthly record of $258.6 million in contracts was awarded, while in April 1975 awards dropped to $95.4 million, the lowest April figure since 1966, the magazine said.

The April letting, held late in the month and not included in the "April contract award total," was expected to be approximately $65 million, followed by a $47 million May letting and a $73 million June letting.

Highway officials said these three months of larger lettings would put Texas road building back at the 1974 pace.

Included in the April total of $95.4 million was the March highway letting of $16.9 million. The magazine said the March letting was an indication of how President Ford's release of $2.6 billion impounded federal funds meant to the Texas building industry.

The largest award for April was $3.9 million to Beckman Construction Co. of Fort Worth to build a new sewage treatment plant in San Angelo.

Other large April jobs included $3.2 million to Ricks Construction Co. of Austin for a printing and press building on the Austin campus of University of Texas and $3.09 million to C. H. Leavell & Co., Dallas, for the Southwest Division Offices of Safeco Insurance Co. of America of Seattle, Wash., on a Richardson site.

Tandy Reports Record Sales, Earnings Levels

FORT WORTH — Tandy Corp., parent company of the nationwide Radio Shack electronics store chain, set new record levels in sales, net income and earnings for the company for the nine-month period ended March 31.

Sales climbed 25 per cent and net income rose 32 per cent on continuing operations compared to the same period last year. Earnings per share were up 55 per cent.

For the nine months ending March 31, Tandy reported sales of $538,790,205, from continuing operations. Income before taxes was $54,701,108 and net income was $27,153,675 compared with income before taxes of $40,488,544 and net income of $14,973,363 on sales of $432,846,273 last year. Net earnings per average common share were $2.98 with 9,108,350 shares outstanding, compared to earnings of $1.40 on 10,662,375 shares a year ago.

Aquila Assets Purchased By Pair

The assets of Aquila Inc., an aviation sales and service firm located at Midland Air Terminal, have been purchased by Calvin White, a Midland County resident, and Raymond Hodge of Midland.

White and Hodge, who previously owned 50 per cent of Aquila, are now sole owners.

White, president of the company, made the announcement and stated the effective date of the agreement was April 1. Hodge is vice president and secretary of the company, while Mrs. Mattie P. Morett is treasurer.

The general aviation facility was purchased from Mrs. Virginia Rachal of Midland and Norman Hoffman of Dallas, both of whom were former vice presidents and co-owners. No details of the purchase agreement were disclosed.

Pizza Hut's Earnings Up

WICHITA, Kan. — Pizza Hut Inc. has announced that sales for the fiscal year ending March 31 totaled $167,516,000, up 41 per cent from a year ago.

Expected net income for the year is $10,024,000, up 39 per cent from a year ago. Earnings were $2.18 per share on 4,615,787 shares; this is a 37 per cent increase over the $1.59 a share a year ago.

Drug Problem Comes Home Hard To Washington Rabbi

By MARGOT HORNBLOWER
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — When Rabbi Stanley Rabinowitz learned that his daughter, Sharon, had been arrested for selling $700 worth of heroin to an undercover agent, his first words to her were: "How could you do this to us?"

Sharon replied, "How could I do this to me?"

"She taught me something," the 54-year-old religious leader said Friday, hours after Sharon was sentenced to U.S. District Court here to three years on probation.

"Once we got over being concerned about our own image, then we could stop feeling sorry for ourselves and we could reach out to help her," the rabbi told a reporter.

Sharon had pleaded guilty to possession of heroin with intent to distribute, a charge that carries a maximum penalty of 15 years. She told Judge George L. Hart Jr. Friday that she was "terribly sorry" about what she had done and would continue in a drug treatment program.

The rabbi, who heads the prestigious Adas Israel Congregation in Northwest Washington, said his first feeling after his daughter's arrest was of "shame." He said he wanted to withdraw and not see anybody.

Friday, in his book-lined study, he agreed to talk to a reporter because, he said, "Our experience may be instructive to others."

"Drug addiction is an epidemic of frightening proportions," he said. "It reaches into all recesses of society." He said he never realized how widespread the problem was until, after Sharon's arrest, he began to receive letters from parents of addicts.

Sharon Rabinowitz, 26, moved to Washington from Minneapolis in 1960 when her father came to lead the Conservative congregation. She graduated from Leslie College in Cambridge, Mass.

"For the past four years, she has taught sixth grade at Petworth Elementary School in Washington."

Rabinowitz said Sharon "had a heavy workload. She would stay up all night during exam season." He said she took amphetamines to stay awake and sleeping pills to get some rest.

"You get yourself to the point of balancing off with pills to cope with life, and before you know it, you can't function without them," he noted.

He said she became addicted to amphetamines shortly after college, and turned to heroin within the last two years. She sold it not for profit, he said, but to maintain her expensive habit.

Before her arrest, she sought the help of a private physician and attended a methadone clinic. "She was trying desperately to rid herself of her habit. She had two conflicting goals: To keep it from us and from interfering with her work, and to satisfy her need. She was grateful she was caught because of the strain."

Rabinowitz said he had no idea until the day she was arrested, that his daughter had any problems. "She was busy with her work . . . We had a warm, normal relationship." At least once a week, he said, Sharon would visit her parents at their home.

Her arrest hit him like "a hammer blow," he said. "It was like finding out somebody had died. Perhaps worse, because there are rituals of catharsis with death — but there are no rituals of catharsis for a horrible discovery like this. "Disbelief gives way to anger. A terrible fury overwhelms you. You're so terribly alone and helpless . . . You think you know how to raise children. We had a religious home. We were not permissive — we had rules. But we tried to take our children's independent into consideration."

Rabinowitz said the experience "is going to make me a heck of a lot more compassionate."

"None of us is God. You do the best you can and you hope for the best."

Ford Will Meet Israeli Prime Minister Rabin In June In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will hold his summit meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin here in mid-June, according to qualified U.S. sources.

The visit, which follows Ford's rendezvous with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Salzburg, Austria, June 1-2, is designed to smooth the way for a successful Geneva peace conference on the Middle East.

U.S. officials cautioned, however, that no final decision has been reached on how to proceed with Arab-Israeli negotiations beyond Ford's separate sessions with Sadat and Rabin.

Contrary to most reports, an interagency task force headed by Undersecretary of State Joseph J. Sisco is not expected to complete its assessment of Middle East policy and Israel's request for $2.5-billion in military and economic aid for at least a month.

When he called at the White House last month, Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Alon proposed that Ford meet with Rabin.

Acrylics, Plants Courses Planned

Courses in acrylics, house plants and "bathrooms extraordinaire" will begin this week under sponsorship of Midland College's Department of Community Services.

All three classes will meet at Lee High School.

"Bathrooms extraordinaire" will meet two Tuesdays 7 to 9 p.m. in room 444. Cost is $4. Course emphasis will be on making outdated or dull bathrooms attractive without major expense.

The acrylics class will be in session four Tuesdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in room 227 for a fee of $10.

Instruction in the selection, culture and care of house plants will be included in the course which begins Thursday and continues three weeks. Students will learn how to light, feed, water, pot and multiply plants, and also will be given instruction in terrariums and hanging baskets.

The class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 458. Cost is $6.

Persons desiring to pre-register may dial the college, 684-7851, extension 216.

Genealogical Unit To Meet Thursday

Annual reports will be given at Thursday's meeting of the Midland Genealogical Society, scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. A discussion of library resources also will be included in the meeting.

Besides seeing Sadat in Salzburg, the President will stop in Spain and Italy and meet with Pope Paul VI on what was called "humanitarian issues of mutual interest," the White House announced Friday.

Coordinator — Robert O. Lynch of Midland has been named local chairman of Texas Christian University's "Tandy Challenge of 1975," a fund-raising project of the institution's alumni.

Man In Odessa Faces Drug Charge

ODESSA — Kenneth Crozier Jr., 24, was arrested here early Saturday and later charged with possession of cocaine after being stopped on a traffic violation.

Crozier was released from Ector County Jail early Saturday after posting $10,000 bond on the possession charge, set by Justice of the Peace Jan Brooks.

Police said the man had a small vial containing a substance believed to be cocaine in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Fire In Odessa Destroys Trailer

ODESSA — Firemen extinguished a fire that destroyed a trailer home occupied by Carroll Goff at 1511 E. Second St. early Saturday.

Firemen said the trailer was totally engulfed in flames on arrival of units at 2:08 a.m. Cause of the fire is believed to have been an overheated pan on a cooking stove, firemen said.

ANGELS CRACK TEXAS, 4-2—

Ranger Skein Ends

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Mickey Rivers' two-run single highlighted five consecutive California hits in a four-run fifth-inning Saturday night and the Angels defeated the Texas Rangers 4-2.

Nolan Ryan, 5-1, beat the Rangers with relief help from Dick Lange, snapping a six-game Texas winning streak in the process.

The Rangers touched Ryan for a run in the fourth after two out. Jeff Burroughs and Mike Hargrove walked and Roy Howell singled home Burroughs.

Chicago Cubs Snare Error-Plagued Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rick Monday's infield single snapped a 3-2 tie in the seventh inning and led the Chicago Cubs to a 7-3 victory over the error-plagued St. Louis Cardinal Saturday night.

Kessinger scored on the hit and Cardenal also came home on the play when St. Louis shortstop Ted Martinez threw wild past first after fielding Monday's grounder.

Ryan, who had missed a turn because of a sore tendon in his arm, was his usual fastballing self, striking out nine. A bat night crowd of 37,825 fans—third largest in Ranger history—watched the game.

The National League East-leading Cubs scored their winning runs in the inning after two were out with the aid of two Cardinal miscues.

The Cubs added two insurance runs in the ninth on George Mitterwald's bases-loaded single.

Steiger Turned Down $100 A Month With Major Bid

STERLING HEIGHTS, Mich. (AP)—Harry "Heinie" Steiger believed $100 a month just wasn't enough money for a good lefthanded pitcher, so he never signed with the Detroit Tigers.

Steiger said Navin, who was president of the Tigers from 1907 to 1935, gave the Jackson team $1,000 for him.

"Heinie had them standing on their heads, inning after inning," the story by Malcolm Bingay said.

Instead, the skinny southpaw was shuffled off to Springfield, Ill., a farm club of the New York Giants.

What ever happened to that money after Steiger didn't sign?

"I never miss 'em on the skip school and throw batting practice for the Tigers. 'I didn't have much speed because I was a rack of bones. Some of the players I pitched to were Ty Cobb, Sam Crawford, Claude Rossman, Matty McIntyre and Davy Jones."

He spent 14 years in professional baseball, never making it to the major leagues.

His son Jim said Steiger ran away from home in 1904 when he was 16 and went to play ball in Port Huron, Mich.

"I think they're going to win the pennant," Steiger predicted. "They're hustling. They've got a good ballclub."

Reds Subdue Braves, 6-1

CINCINNATI (AP)—Gary Nolan, battling back from shoulder surgery, stopped Atlanta on five hits for his first major league triumph since October 1972 and the Cincinnati Reds downed the Braves 6-1 Saturday night.

Nolan, a right-hander who will be 27 later this month, walked four and struck out six.

The victory was Midland High's first state golf championship for the girls. Midland High also won the District 5-4A crown and regional titles on their way to the state title.

The Braves managed their only run off Nolan in the sixth on Dusty Baker's single and a triple by Mike Lum, a drive to right field which Foster slipped as he started after.

Midland Lee's Liz Norton won medalist honors in the state race with an 82-83-185.

"We're all very pleased to announce this," said Mary Baird, Midland High girls golf coach. "They did a super job."

However, in the bottom of the sixth Foster hit his fourth home run of the season following a single by Cesar Geronimo. The Reds got their final run in the seventh on a single by Johnny Bench, a sacrifice and a single by Tony Perez, who collected his 20th RBI.

Midland High won the Girls State AAAA Golf Championship here at the Jimmy Clay Municipal Golf Course Saturday with a team score of 771.

The victory was Midland High's first state golf championship for the girls. Midland High also won the District 5-4A crown and regional titles on their way to the state title.

The Reds jumped on Roric Harrison, 1-1, for three runs in the fifth inning. George Foster doubled, took third on a single by Nolan and scored the first run on a single by Pete Rose, who started the game at third base, his first start as an infielder in almost nine years.

Phils Claim Sweep Over Pirate Nine

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dave Cash singled home Terry Harmon in the 11th inning, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-3 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates and a sweep of their two-night doubleheader Saturday.

Mike Schmidt drove in two runs with a first-inning homer and the Phillies went on to defeat the Pirates 6-2 in the first game.

Bob Boone singled to start the Philadelphia 11th in the nightcap and pinch-runner Harmon was sacrificed to second base. After Tony Taylor was intentionally walked by reliever Ramon Hernandez, Cash lashed his game-winning hit to right center.

DEFEAT BULLETS, 101-90—

Celtics Still Alive

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics took control of the boards behind Paul Silas and Dave Cowens in the second half and romped to a 101-90 victory over the Washington Bullets Saturday to remain alive in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

by Wes Unseld and Nick Weatherspoon. However the Celtics kept applying the pressure and went in front to stay on a field goal by Havlicek in the eighth minute of play. At the half, Havlicek had 18 points, Jo Jo White and Dave Cowens had 11 each and Don Nelson 10. Hayes had 15 points and Chenter 11 for the Bullets.

Two Boston starters, Nelson and Don Chaney, were in foul trouble with four personal fouls each. Kevin Porter of the Bullets also had four fouls at the intermission.

Bulls, Warriors Eye Key Contest

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls, still trying to regain their regular season mastery over Golden State, today will be confronted with perhaps the pivotal game of their National Basketball Association Western Conference playoff with the Warriors.

Chicago during the regular season outshot, outboarded and outscored the Warriors by 3-1, but as Chicago Coach Dick Motta says, "We haven't had a good playoff game against them yet."

San Antonio Hires Moss

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Journeyman Perry Moss, who has just one year of head coaching experience but more than 20 years logged as an assistant in college and professional ranks, was named Friday to lead the San Antonio Spurs in the World Football League.

The Bulls' victory virtually was a gift after Warriors star Rick Barry tried a poor shot with 10 seconds left and the Bulls got possession to set up Boerwinkle's winning layup. Boerwinkle, whose pivot play helped hold the Bulls together Wednesday night, suggested the Midwest Division champs were caught overconfident against the Warriors.

Robinson Ignites Cleveland Win, 6-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Manager Frank Robinson drove in the tying run with a pinch single in the eighth inning and scored Frank Duffy's single in the Cleveland Indians' 6-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a nationally televised baseball game Saturday.

It was the Orioles' sixth consecutive setback. Ross Grimsley, 0-3, blanked the Indians on two hits until Buddy Bell opened the eighth with a double and scored on Robinson's pinch single.

Duffy greeted reliever Wayne Garland with a run-scoring bloop single, and the runners advanced on George Hendrick's groundout. After an intentional walk to Charlie Spikes, Garland fanned John Ellis but walked Rico Carty, forcing in the third run.

Sox Rip Detroit, 12-2

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox sent 11 batters to the plate in the first inning Saturday, scored six runs on just four hits plus some shabby Detroit fielding and rolled to a 12-2 victory over the Tigers.

Jim Rice's bases-loaded single was the big blow off Lerin LaGrow, who lost his first game after three straight victories. The tall right-hander hurt his own cause with two walks, one intentional, and was the victim of two errors plus a couple of other defensive lapses.

Golden State's Keith Wilkes, bagging 26 in the opener, fell to 16 Wednesday night. Chicago's Chet Walker, held to 10 points in the first game, led Wednesday night's scoring with 28.

Fryman 1-Hits New York, 3-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran left-hander Woodie Fryman fired a one-hitter—rookie John Stearns' fifth-inning double—for his third straight shutout and set a Montreal club record of 20-23 consecutive scoreless innings as the Expos defeated the New York Mets 3-0 Saturday.

The 35-year-old Fryman, who has pitched in the National League after 2 1/2 seasons with the Detroit Tigers, walked three, struck out six, hit a batter and retired the Mets in order six times as he lowered his earned run average to 0.53. His record is 3-0 and he has yielded only 19 hits in 33.2-3 innings.

Milwaukee Trips Yanks On Squeeze

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don Money squeezed Pedro Garcia home from third base with one out in the eighth inning, giving the streaking Milwaukee Brewers a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Saturday.

After the Brewers failed to get runners home from third with less than two out in the sixth and seventh innings, Garcia opened the eighth with a double off New York relief ace Sparky Lyle, 1-2, and Bob Cuccio sacrificed him to third.

Money then dropped a squeeze bunt down the first base line and wound up at second when Lyle's desperation toss sailed past the plate. Garcia scored to give the Brewers their fourth consecutive victory. New York, trailing 3-1 after two innings, tied the score on two RBI by Thurman Munson. Bobby Bonds walked in the third, moved to third on Chris Chambliss' single and scored when Munson singled off Milwaukee starter Ed Sprague to make it 3-2.

Bonds walked again in the fifth, again was singled to third by Chambliss and scored on Munson's infield grounder off Jim Colborn, who had just replaced Sprague. The Yankees took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Roy White walked; went to third on Elliott Maddox' single and scored on an infield out by Chambliss.

Milwaukee came right back with two runs after Yankee starter Rudy May walked Money. Robin Yount singled and one of the Brewers' six sacrifice bunts sent the runners to second and third. The Brewers took a 3-1 lead in the second on singles by Rob Ellis and Money around a sacrifice.

Twins Crush Royals

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins cruised to a 14-5 victory over the Kansas City Royals Saturday as Bert Blyleven pitched a six-hitter and Eric Soderholm and Steve Brye combined to drive in seven runs.

Soderholm's two-run homer in the second inning put the Twins ahead 2-1, and four unearned runs in the third gave Blyleven, 3-1, all the cushion he needed.

He was touched for an unearned run in the first inning and home runs by John Mayberry in the fourth and Hal McRae and Tony Solaita in the ninth. Shortstop Frank White's two-out error on Bob Darwin's sharp grounder which skipped through his legs opened the door for the Twins' four tainted runs which routed Paul Splittorff, 1-4. Rod Carew scored from second on the boot, Soderholm then blooped a run-scoring single while ducking away from a pitch, and Steve Braun finished the flurry with a two-run single.

The Twins turned the game into a runaway with three runs in the seventh on Brye's bases-loaded double off Marty Pattin and five more in the eighth against Bruce-Dal Canton. Brye and Craig Kusick delivered two-run singles in the eighth.

BIKATHON WINNERS—John Kullman, right, and Bill Trumbo were winners in the 12-mile bike race at Midland College Saturday. Kullman won the senior division with a time of 30.31 and Trumbo captured the veterans division with a time of 34.07.

Jimmy Needs Spanking

NEW YORK (AP) — At 23, Jimmy Connors is too young to think he can control the world and needs a good spanking, a Pacific Coast tennis professor who doubles as a psychiatrist says. "He is a spoiled, frightened kid who is the victim of a lot of people using him to their advantage," added Vic Braden. "He hasn't found himself. When he does, he should be spanked."

You may go to Harvard to study law, Vanderbilt to become a doctor and Cornell to learn the hotel business. But if you want to learn how to hit a tennis ball, you can sign up with the Vic Braden Tennis College. The institution provides crash courses, costing $85 for two days and $150 for five days. During that period students undergo a whirlwind curriculum including clinics, court drills, classroom strategy sessions, instructional films and psychology courses.

Tennis Prof Claims Jimmy Is Spoiled, Frightened Kid

For years tennis players found themselves champions of nothing. Now that there is a boom and they are in the public eye, playing for thousands of dollars, they don't know how to handle it. "Billie Jean King is much like Jimmy—aggressive, often inconsiderate of promoters and fans, belligerent to linesmen and umpires. I think Jimmy will find himself before Billie Jean does." Braden is a short, husky man

Brewers Embarrass Cubs

Successful Homestand Ends With 13-7 Loss

BY TED BATTLES

The Midland Cubs took an 8-3 record for their homestand into Friday's game with San Antonio and were hopeful of finishing it up with a flourish. Instead, they turned in their worst performance of the young Texas League season in suffering a 13-7 padding at the hands of the Brewers.

Midland committed four costly errors, all in the early innings as San Antonio leaped to an 11-2 lead after five innings, but compounding the felony was the fact that the Brewers had on their hitting clothes.

San Antonio cracked three Midland pitchers for 20 base hits as lefthander Dave Geisel suffered his initial loss of the season against one win.

The Cubs didn't have a bad night at the plate, cracking out 14 hits and scoring seven runs, which would have won all three previous games in the series, but by the time they began to turn the hits into runs, it was all over but the shouting.

Tom McGough, a hard-throwing righthander, hung around just long enough to get his first win against a couple of losses as Matt Roiesk finished up and ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Voice on a radio talk show: "I'm from the Detroit area, and I think it's just terrible what they did to Billy Martin there. I'm behind him and the Rangers all the way. He's the greatest manager in the world."

Voice on another talk show: "Why are umpires always hating Martin and the Rangers? It seems like the umpires go out of their way to give us bad calls."

Billy Martin, love him or let him go.

Fans Love Him

Texas Rangers fans love him. They love his fiery brand of baseball with its suicide squeezes, double steals and jaw-to-jaw confrontations with those devils in blue who would dare intrude on a promised American League championship.

Martin promised Rangers fans two years ago that they would find respect, and last year, Texas came within five games of world champion Oakland in the AL West.

How about the 1975 vintage Ranger fans? Stick to the gospel according to Billy Martin and it will be yours.

"We will win the American League," Martin predicted. "A lot of people laughed last year, too."

Martin brought division champions to Minnesota and Detroit—never an American League champion. He stirred fierce loyalties in the fans but angered an occasional sports writer, not to mention a few club executives who didn't see eye-to-eye with his game plan.

Fired At Detroit

Although the fans loved him, Martin was fired at Detroit. Enter Bob Short, former owner of the Rangers. He persuaded Martin to come to Texas and, lo and behold, Martin produced a 1974 baseball miracle with the worst professional team in the game.

Although the Rangers got off to a slow start this season, not a boo has been sent in Martin's direction.

And Texas fans can boo. They learned the knock when Don Meredith, Craig Morton and Roger Staubach were vying for quarterback jobs on the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League at various stages in their career.

Jeff Burroughs, the most valuable player in the American League in 1974, was booed roundly in one game for misplacing a fly ball to right.

Not Martin.

The fans cheer him when he steps out of the dugout to hand over the lineup card.

Recently, Martin decided to "bug" the No. 1 umpire, on his enemy list, Ron Luciano, with a microphone.

Martin had the microphone clipped to his lapel as though every word Luciano said would be duly recorded and shipped to the commissioner. Only thing is, Martin didn't connect the battery—a psychological ploy. The fans liked that, too.

"I want to get Luciano fired," Martin said quite candidly.

Martin's obsession is winning, and any umpire, player, sports writer, club official or bat boy who gets in the way is open for a tongue lashing—or perhaps worse.

Slap And Apology

Traveling secretary Burt Hawkins was slapped by Martin on a flight last year because of a disagreement. Martin later apologized.

Martin has taken pot shots at one local sports writer this year, yelling at him on the road in Chicago: "Why do you have to write negative things? Don't you care if we win?"

Martin can be alternately charming or fist-flashing hot.

Long, tall Texas fans dig Martin's competitive spirit. After all, he's smaller than most of those guys out there isn't he?

Last season, after a brawl with Cleveland in which this writer reported that Martin was knocked down twice during the melee, Martin said, "I was not. How can you print that? I was pushed down twice. There's a difference you know."

Martin has a club moiled in his swashbuckling image, and to enter the locker room after a loss is like visiting the county morgue.

After the Rangers lost a three-game home series to the Kansas City Royals this season, one local writer said: "Lordy, I hate to get on that flight to California. Anybody want to volunteer to go for me?"

Bass Tournaments Make West Texas Fishing News

The Brownwood Open Bass Tournament is scheduled for May 17-18 with headquarters at Flatrock Park and the Permian Basin Club has changed its Family Tournament to June 28-29 at Brady Lake.

Deer seasons across Texas will be generally the same as last year. The dates will be Nov. 15 to Jan. 4 in most of the state with Nov. 22-Dec. 7 (Panhandle) and Nov. 29-Dec. 14 (Trans-Pecos).

The turkey seasons generally will be concurrent with deer seasons while the South Texas quail season runs Nov. 15-Feb. 1; Possum Kingdom-Northeast, Dec. 1 to Feb. 15 and most other areas from Nov. 15 to Feb. 15.

Antelope season in the Texas Panhandle was set for Oct. 4-7 and in the Trans-Pecos and Permian Basin, Oct. 4-12. Ringnecked pheasants may be hunted only in the Panhandle counties Dec. 13-28; prairie chickens in some Panhandle and Permian Basin counties Oct. 18-19.

In other matters, the Texas Park and Wildlife Dept. Commissioners set a bag and possession limit on northern pike at three fish; defined natural bait as used on trotlines, except sail lines, as a whole or cut-up portion of fish, shrimp, crab or other animal substance approved by the TPWD.

It also established Nov. 15-21 for hunting woodchuck.

In keeping with recently altered federal lists of endangered species, TPWD commissioners added 10 species to a revised list of fish and wildlife threatened with extinction in Texas. Approved for the list were the blue, finback, right and sperm whales, jaguar, margay, arctic, peregrine falcon, Bachman's warbler, hawksbill and leatherback turtles. You mean we've got to put up with all those jaguars in our backyard?

The Trans-Pecos region shelters some of the remnant populations of the American peregrine falcon, an eastern subspecies of the bird which has all but been eliminated in the U.S. by pesticides. In 1976, during the breeding months of April, May and June, biologists will survey the Guadalupe, Delaware, Davis, Sierra Diablo and other smaller mountain ranges.

Eyries found in 1975 will be rechecked next year since, like eagles, peregrine falcons return to the same nest each year. Some eyries have been in use for up to 30 years.

Doyle Thompson won the men's division and Sue Davis took first in the women's competition of the High Sky Bass Club's tournament at Brady Lake. Brad Hixon won the Teen division and Kevin Erck was the Youth division winner.

Bob Houser and Hixon tied for second and David Kirkland and Bill Davis tied for the next spot in the men's division while Melba Erck, Nell Sites, Judy Heiser, Jackie Dozier and Ann Grisser followed Sue Davis in order in the women's.

Despite some adverse conditions, some good catches were reported by Ike Pate at Oak Creek Lake last weekend. Jerry Soudera of Clovis, N.M., took six bass with a 5-pound, 6-ounce in the haul and Jake Conine, Odessa, had a four-pound, two-ounce. Everybody was n't fortunate, however, says Ike.

Rugby May Be Answer For Montana's Grid Program

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — The American mind as a spec-er from the past—or an omen of the future. At the University of Montana, he is both father and apparent son of the school's troubled football program.

Is rugby a dead end, or a new start? Can it lighten the weight of athletic costs at the university level? Does it bode anything for the American marriage of structured athletic leagues and educational institutions?

A few Montana players are ex-footballers with no NCAA eligibility left. For some, rugby is their first experience with collegiate sports.

Player-coach Paul Smith, a Missoula lawyer, says most are playing for fun for the first time in their lives.

"This is a different atmosphere," Smith says. "We don't go on the field and say, 'We represent UM; we're going to eat you.'"

Athletic Director Jack Swarthout, who doubles as football coach, has observed his former charges taking up a new game and Swarthout professes ignorance toward the sport, but no hostility. He allows that rugby as an intercollegiate rather than a club effort might "be more of an income sport than some that we have."

Smith says rugby might be "a wave of the future" at Montana, where student leaders have resolved to wage war against intercollegiate football.

The pliers are Gideon, Gibson and Martin Flores of Texas.

The first string outfield included Bill Raymer of Texas A&M, Mike Frazier of Texas A&M, and Mark Clark of Rice. The utility-outfielder was Al Thurmond of the Texas Aggies.

At the university, the rugby club receives more student money than football.

The Central Board, a 23-member panel of students, has cut off all student support of intercollegiate football: the rugby team receives about $1,200 a year.

John Nockleby, president of the associated students, campaigned for office on a plank of eliminating intercollegiate football. He said he opposed football specifically, but would like to see the foundation of college sports—scholarships—dedicated to students strictly on the basis of need.

"I think when you have athletic scholarships on an ability basis, you are paying people to play. The University of Montana can't afford that at all," he said.

Smith chooses to ignore any avenue leading toward the support—and responsibilities—of big-time college athletics. The Missoula rugby and soccer teams, which travel for instate matches, conduct raffles and work at odd jobs to earn money for meals on the road.

Steers, Aggies Dominate All-SWC Nine

The Southwest Conference named by his contemporaries as Coach of the Year.

Jim Gideon, the flame-throwing ace of the Texas mound staff, was tabbed Player of the Year in close balloting with all-star third sacker Keith Moreland of the Horns.

The rest of the team read like the Austin and College Stadium telephone books.

At first base was Jim Bratson of Texas A&M, Mike Schraeder of the Aggies was at second, Ricky Bradley of Texas at catcher, Mickey Reichenbach of Texas the designated hitter and Texas Tech's Ronnie Matison at Shortstop. Utility infielder—Gary Pyke, Texas.

Advertising and Publicity Sponsored And Paid For By Firms In These Columns

A TYPICAL SCENE of the Super Market Institute Exhibit Floor in the Dallas Convention Center that Reporter-Telegram National Food Representative, Mary J. Goodwin, will see when she attends the convention May 4-7. Two levels of exhibits containing a total of 415,000 gross feet of space accommodating about 600 firms showing products, equipment or services, if placed side-by-side would measure 3 miles and is estimated to value over $3½ million.

Local Representative At Dallas SMI Convention

The Reporter-Telegram National Food Advertising Representative, Mary J. Goodwin, will attend the Super Market Institute's Annual Convention and Educational Exposition opening Sunday May 4 through 7 on the largest floor in its history in the Dallas Convention Center.

The convention is expected to draw more than 12,000 food industry executives and representatives from related industries. Programs will focus on current trends and developments with one workshop each day being simultaneously translated into the foreign languages of French, Spanish, Portuguese and Japanese.

Three miles of the newest equipment, general merchandise, services, grocery, health and beauty aids, perishables, and supplies. A number of foreign countries will display their products to add an international flavor to the exhibit floor. Ireland and Portugal, showing for the first time, will be featured along with Germany, The Netherlands, France, Great Britain, Italy and Canada. The products of the other overseas firms will also be on display by their American distributors.

Outpost Planned For Sutton Area

A 1,874-foot west stepout to the two-well Strawn gas area of the Roberts multipay field of Sutton County, was staked by Pierce & Dehlinger, of Midland. It is the No. 2 Derrick. Slated to 4,800 feet, it is 1,700 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 26, block K, GH&SA survey, 19 miles northeast of Sonora. The field also has two Canyon gas producers.

Texas Pacific Finals Gas Well

DALLAS—Texas Pacific Oil Co., Inc., has successfully completed a wildcat gas well in Louisiana, reports Howard H. Hinson, president and chief executive officer. The well, No. 1 Agnes Phillips, is in Calcasieu Parish and tested 3,600,000 cubic feet of gas and 53 barrels of condensate per day.

Texas Pacific operates the well with a 75 per cent share, with Entex holding the remaining 25 per cent. Completion was from the Hartburg sand through perforations from 7,566 to 7,584 feet.

Del F. Denney Promoted By Drilco

Del F. Denney recently was promoted to leadman by Drilco here. Denney joined Drilco here in January 1974 as a tool grinder. Before joining the firm, Denney had been employed as a machinist and engineer in Texas and elsewhere for a number of years.

Exxon Transfers Bowen To Midland

Exxon Co., U.S.A. has transferred James C. Bowen Jr. from its Southeastern Division, Pensacola District, in Florida to the Midcontinent Production Division in Midland.

Previously assigned as district operations superintendent, he now is division reservoir engineer. He replaces Ansel L. Condray who recently transferred to the Southeastern Division as division engineering manager.

Bowen, who joined Exxon at Lafayette, La., in 1964, worked at New Orleans and again at Lafayette before being transferred to Pensacola.

Washington Oil—

(Continued From Page 1C) There is also the suggestion to the housewife that she allow dishes to air dry rather than letting the dishwasher run through its drying cycle. If there should be another Arab oil embargo, this may be followed by the suggestion that you take the family wash-down to the nearest river and pound it with rocks in the stream. As for dishes, you could get some made of the same material as ice cream cones and simply eat the dishes for dessert. Think of the energy that would save. If one were a cynic, one might volunteer this energy-saving tip: A substantial reduction in certain types of government documents would save all the energy it takes to produce the reams of paper, the ink and the equipment used to turn out those documents. The FEA writers were generous with their use of exclamation points in their outlandish energy-saving tips. Example: "A well-tuned engine runs better — and uses less gasoline!"

PROM TUX RENTAL — Now is the time to rent that Prom Tuxedo. Boutonniere has a complete stock of tuxedos and all the accessories.

Museum Announces Fees, Visiting Hours

Admission fees, operating hours and auditorium rental regulations have been announced by the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum Library and Hall of Fame due to open here this summer. Admission fees have been set at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12. Very small children and infants will be admitted free. Homer T. Fort, executive vice president of the museum, said 96 per cent of museums in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma have admission charges. Russell J. Ramsland, museum president, pointed out that in order to handle future operating expenses, the museum needs to generate income on its own. "We don't see any chance that the museum will be self-supporting," Ramsland said, "but we hope to offset a share of our annual costs. Charging admission at relatively low rates will help us keep the doors open." The museum will be open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. Sundays, Fort said. "The museum will be closed on three holidays, Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day," Fort added. The museum's 200-seat auditorium will be available for rental under guidelines established by the executive committee. The guidelines call for calculation of operating costs on a per hour basis and adding $10 per hour to this figure. Museum sources said that per hour rates based on this formula will be available to interested groups in another two or three weeks, along with other information. The museum's auditorium can be divided into as many as four sections for small sessions by means of folding doors. Audio-visual facilities are among the best in West Texas, with three slide projectors, a movie projector and facilities for multi-media presentations. The museum will use the room for educational presentations and lectures at times when it is not under rent, Fort said.

Mobil Files Suit To Void Oil Rules

DALLAS (AP) — Mobil Oil Corp. has asked U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Hill to void Federal Energy Administration regulations concerning the pricing and allocation of natural gas products. Mobil claimed in a suit filed here Friday the FEA has authority only to regulate prices and allocations of petroleum substances since the Economic Stabilization Act expired in 1974. The oil company maintains FEA has continued to enforce allocations and price regulations on natural gas products, causing Mobil to lose "substantial revenue."

Amoco Pipeline Names Manager

FORT WORTH—John J. Wright Jr. has been named Southwest Division manager for Amoco Pipeline Co., with headquarters in Fort Worth. He succeeds H. G. Mariner who has retired after 35 years with the company. Wright was transferred from the Chicago headquarters of Amoco to fill the Southwest Division post.

The Southwest Division embraces all crude oil and products pipelines operated by the company in Texas, East New Mexico and West Louisiana.

Desana Acquires Tennessee Firm

The acquisition of Precision Energy Corp. of Tennessee by The Desana Corp. of Midland has been announced by Darrell E. Smith, Desana president.

Precision is a Tennessee corporation which owns and operates an active coal mine in Northeast Tennessee.

Expanded mining operations are expected to be started by the middle of this year, Smith said.

Precision will continue to explore and operate in the coal industry in its own name as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Desana, according to Smith.

Howard D. Martin of LaFollette, Tenn., Precision president and chief executive officer, now is a member of Desana's board of directors. He also now is executive vice president of Desana.

Patricia Hudson Becomes Bride Of David Lee Hutto

The Cotton Flat Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Patricia Ann Hudson and David Lee Hutto at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The Rev. Ross Payne, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony performed amidst baskets of blue, white and pink spring flowers and a pair of candelabra entwined with greenery.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Ruby Hudson of Route 3 and Glenn Hudson of Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hutto are parents of the bridegroom.

When presented in marriage by her brother, John Hudson, the bride was wearing a gown of white satin peau de soie. Floral lace overlaid the scooped neckline, Empire bodice and long sleeves. Pearl buttons enhanced the front of the bodice and sleeve closings. Her chapel-length train and Juliette cap were trimmed with floral lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations.

Mrs. Richard Rose served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Doyle Morgan of Sand Springs, also sister of the bride. Wednesday Ann Morgan of Sand Springs, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Nikki Morgan, niece of the bride, and John Hudson lighted the candles. Rice bags were distributed by Sue Chatham.

Best man was Danny Ellis. Ushers were Vance Cawthon and Adolph Olight and Phillip Hill was groomsmen.

Ed Speri, organist, provided wedding music.

The bridal attendants wore floor-length Princess style dresses with long sleeve lace jackets. They carried bouquets of white camellias with blue buds.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Guests were registered by Mrs. Wayne Doss and Mrs. Howard Glass, Janie Chatham and Mrs. Doss served.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas and Fort Worth, the couple will reside at 514-B Holmesley St. The couple, both Midland High School graduates, is employed with Furr's Super Market.

A miscellaneous shower was held recently in the home of Mrs. S. T. Miller. Hostesses with Mrs. Miller were Mrs. Doss and Pauline Hobbs. The bride also was honored recently with a lingerie shower in the home of Mrs. Richard Cooper. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Melvin Burnett, Karen Phillips and Aleda Jones.

Candy Store Reunion Held

BALTIMORE, Md (AP) — A wall in red, white and blue with the pictures under the flag, so the neighborhood knew where they were.

Mrs. Makowski sold the store in 1947 but she never forgot the boys. Last Christmas, she began thinking about them and began locating them by phone. Each remembered his boyhood days and responded enthusiastically to the idea of a reunion.

Legal Seminar Held In Midland

Approximately 100 attorneys and secretaries attended a legal education seminar sponsored by the Midland Legal Secretaries Association recently in Rowway Inn.

A cocktail party welcomed the registrants to Midland, and coffee and doughnuts were served during registration the next morning.

Speakers for the event were J. Harris Morgan of Greenville, an attorney; Duann Wiley of Beaumont, Professional Legal Secretary, vice president of the Texas Association of Legal Secretaries; Dr. Gerald King of Midland, social psychologist on the staff of The University of Texas-Panhandle Basin, and Max N. Osborn, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals for the 8th Supreme Judicial District of Texas, El Paso.

Morgan discussed the six basic office systems to increase office efficiency and productivity. Miss Wiley reported on recent developments in the field of legal assistants, and Dr. King discussed effective ways to deal with stress and fatigue in the office atmosphere. Judge Osborn, formerly of Midland, titled his program, "How to Help Keep Your Boss from Losing His Appeal," and instructed the group in briefing procedures for the Court of Civil Appeals.

Mrs. Larry Hock, P.L.S., member of the Midland Legal Secretaries Association, was chairman of the planning committee for the seminar. She was assisted by Mrs. Alan D. Holmes, P.L.S., Mrs. R. J. Anderson, Mrs. D. C. Kinnison, Mrs. Curtis L. Keel, Mrs. Wanda Nix, Mrs. Sue Eakin, Mrs. June Judkins and Mrs. Wilm A. Ashworth, together with other association members.

Mrs. Paul Milton Bailey

Christine Thomas, Paul Bailey Marry

GEORGETOWN—Paul Milton Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bailey of Fort Worth, married Ann Christine Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas Jr. of 2000 W. Holloway St., Midland, in a double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The service was held in Lois Perkins Chapel of Southwestern University, with the Rev. Mike Patison, superintendent of the Temple District of the United Methodist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Bill Thomas of Midland, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor. The maid of honor was Mary Macina of Midland. Paul T. Hughes of Fort Worth was the best man, and Rex Voland of Lake Forest, Ill., was the groomsmen. The ushers were Bill Thomas of Midland and Voland.

Dr. Ellsworth Peterson was the organist and Dee Ella Spears and Nancy Bohning were the vocalists.

Mr. Thomas presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown with sleeveless bodice of white embroidered organza. The embroidery motif was repeated in clipped lace at the high neckline and extended to the shoulders and curved waistline. The pleated lace-edged skirt swept into a train. Her lace-edged fingertip veil was held by a lace-appliqued bandeau. She carried a nosegay of white roses interspersed with red, yellow and pink roses and baby's breath.

The bride's attendants had formal-length dresses of flocked dotted crepe. Lace edged the hemlines and scooped necklines. The matron of honor's dress was in blue and the maid of honor's dress was green. They carried nosegays of multi-colored spring flowers and had miniature nosegay hairpieces.

The reception was held in the Memorial Union on the university campus.

The bride and bridegroom, both to receive bachelor of fine arts degrees from SU today, will reside in Lawrence, Kan., for graduate study at the University of Kansas. She is a member of Pi Epsilon Delta, national collegiate players; Mask and Wig Players; Cardinal Key and has been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." He also is a member of Pi Epsilon Delta and Mask and Wig Players. Also Alpha Chi honor society and has been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

GRAMMER-MURPHEY

Sharon Teinert, Jerry Tull Wed In Church Service

The Rev. Donald V. Hafemann of Grace Lutheran Church officiated for the marriage ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday for Sharon Kay Teinert and Jerry Lynn Tull.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Emil B. Teinert, Route 1, and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Tull Jr. of Wolforth.

Mr. Teinert presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a Victorian gown of white rose-point lace over slipper satin. The molded bodice featured a wedding band neckline and long full bishop sleeves gathered to wide cuffs. The A-line skirt had a chapel train. Enriching the gown were seed pearls and sequins in a rose design. A Victorian tiara of matching lace held her fingertip illusion veil.

The bride's gown was designed and made by the mother of the bridegroom. She carried a nosegay of miniature red roses on a white Bible given to her by her aunt, Mrs. A. C. Teinert.

Elaine Susan Teinert, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Sandra Elliott was the bridesmatron. The flower girl was Katrina Lee Teinert, niece of the bride. Sterling Taylor of New Deal was the ring bearer.

The best man was Terry Lee Tull of Wolforth twin brother of the bridegroom. Skip Torrans was the groomsmen, and John Teinert of Midland, brother of the bride, and Ricky Walker of Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom, were the ushers.

White chrysanthemums and gladiolus with candles decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony.

Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. Bruce Barthel. Mrs. Alan Smith was the soloist. Kevin Lewis was the trumpeter. Attendants to the bride were red crepe floor-length dresses with short puff sleeves. Their headresses were wide brimmed white hats, and they carried bouquets of white roses and baby's breath.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall. House party members were Gwen Richards, Tracy Richards, Julie Richards, Carla Richards, Mrs. Freddie Norton, Mrs. Skip Torrans, Mrs. Larry Elliott, Mrs. Bill Hartzogs and Mrs. Ervin Raumann.

The couple will reside at Wolforth, after a trip to El Paso. She attended Midland High School and Columbia Secretarial College, Odessa, and is employed by Underwriters Adjusting Co., Lubbock. The bridegroom attended Friendship High School and is employed by Tull Supply, Inc., Wolforth.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the bridegroom in the Bonanza Sirloin Pit.

MIDLAND GARDEN CLUB — The outgoing president of the Midland Garden Club, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, right, is shown with the newly-installed president, Mrs. I. W. Hynd.

Midland Garden Club Has Installation Of Officers

Mrs. Earl Chapman installed new officers during a luncheon meeting Thursday of Midland Garden Club in the Midland Woman's Club.

Those installed were Mrs. I. W. Hynd, president; Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, first vice president; Mrs. Walter Putnam, second vice president; Mrs. Robert W. Patteson, recording secretary; Mrs. W. C. Howard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. H. Humphrey, treasurer; Mrs. C. E. Bissell, reporter; and Mrs. Jack Griffin, historian.

Floral arrangements for the luncheon tables were prepared by Mrs. Patteson and Mrs. Ed Reigle.

Presiding was the outgoing president, Mrs. Hodge, who was presented a framed needlepoint piece made by Mrs. Humphrey as a gift of appreciation for Mrs. Hodge's two terms as president. Mrs. Chapman read a club resolution commending Mrs. Hodge.

It was announced by Mrs. Chapman that Mrs. Hynd will present a program on "Midland in Bloom" at the Midland Woman's Club luncheon May 15.

Introduced as a guest was Mrs. Bestina Davis.

Mrs. Hynd announced the following committee chairmen for the coming year. They are Mrs. John Grimland, civic projects; Mrs. Putnam, program; Mrs. A. B. Pankhurst, horticulture; Mrs. Paul Smyres, Mrs. Floyd Shirley and Mrs. Steve Currie, hospitality; Mrs. L. I. Baker, Mrs. R. T. German, Mrs. Ellison Tom and Mrs. M. C. Newell, telephone; Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Tom McMillen, press book; Mrs. Tom, Arbor Day; Mrs. Hodge, membership; Mrs. Chapman, yearbook; Mrs. A. P. Shirley, awards; Mrs. German, ways and means; Mrs. Walter Smith, properties; Mrs. John Kelsey, conservation and antiques; Mrs. C. Bill Coleman and Mrs. Linnie H. Davidson, Lancaster Garden Center; Museum of the Southwest representatives, and Mrs. Smyres, Woman's Club representative.

Administrator Gives Suggestions

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — Santa Maria school administrator John Mudge told a public hearing recently that it cost the school district $83,000 to transport elementary pupils and that the money might not be available next year. He suggested the following as possible answers to the predicament.

- Buy every student a bicycle.
- Pay the students to walk to school. If they were late their pay could be docked.
- Pay parents to take four or more students to and from school.

To Prevent Wrinkles

To prevent wrinkles in a bedspread, fold it by starting at the top and folding in half to the foot and then fold from each side to the center to make a triangle. Fold this point over the footboard or, if there is none, over the back of a chair. This keeps the spread from dragging on the floor and also prevents more wrinkles.

Computer Goofs; 100 Copies Arrive

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Due to a computer error, Anna Wright received 100 copies of a magazine to which she subscribes.

A spokesman for the magazine said the same mistake was made with six other subscribers around the country, who received 100 copies each.

The worst thing about the whole mess, the spokesman said, is that Miss Wright and the others will again receive 100 copies each of next month's issue because computer programming won't be corrected before then.

In the meantime, Miss Wright gave out her copies to friends, a school and a hospital, carefully laying aside one for herself.

Splice Yarn

Splice yarn when you join it and your knitting will not be full of knots. Thread a darning needle with one end of the yarn and sew it into the other end for 3 or 4 inches. Always sew with matching thread and continue to pull it through until the ends just disappear. Twist gently and continue knitting. This will not be noticed and does away with knotting.

Advertise Or Be Forgotten!

Before Filling

Place a saucer upside down on the bottom of a salad bowl before filling. Excess salad dressing will drip through to the bottom of the bowl and leave the salad crisp and fresh.

Did You Know?

The Hohokam people of Arizona discovered and perfected the acid process of etching (on shells) four centuries before it was used in Europe.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 29, and my husband is 33. We are unable to have children of our own and want to adopt, and have our names in at a very reliable adoption agency.
 We would prefer a very young infant but are told that it could be a long wait. We have been offered a brother and sister, ages 5 and 6, but friends have told us that we shouldn't consider children who are that old. They say that children of that age are usually emotionally damaged and that we would be looking for trouble. We can easily care for these two and want them.
 What is your feeling about this? We trust you.
 LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES: If you are "looking for trouble," you will find it. If you are looking for love, you will find it. Your signature says as much as your letter. Take the brother and sister. No one has a guarantee against having emotionally damaged children even when they have children "of their own."

DEAR ABBY: I am the oldest of five children. Four years ago, both of my parents smoked about three packs of cigarettes a day. One day my father decided to quit cold turkey. He also proclaimed that my mother was going to quit, too.
 Well, my father really quit, but my mother didn't. She said she did, but she used to sneak cigarettes behind everybody's backs. She wasn't fooling Dad. He knew it, but he made all of us policemen, and he was the chief.
 We felt bad raving on Mom, because she sometimes keeps things we do a secret from Dad because he is a violent man and she wants to protect us.
 We believe Mom should quit smoking, but we can't do anything about it. We've now sided with Mom because Dad has threatened to send her to her mother's if she smokes another cigarette.
 We don't want our home broken up. What should we do?
 CIGARETTE PROBLEM

DEAR ABBY: It's unfair of your father to ask you to inform on your mother. He should know that nicotine is strongly addictive and some smokers can't be cured by nagging or threats. Lay off Mom! she's trying to quit. If she succeeds, it will be her victory over herself, not your dad's—or yours.

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago I met a man to whom I was very much attracted. I gave him my phone number, and he said he would call me.
 I waited a week, and he didn't call, so I got his phone number and called him. He seemed glad to hear from me, and he asked me out. I had a fabulous time. I gave him my number again to be sure he had it, and he said I'd be hearing from him. Well, it's been a week, and he hasn't called.
 I don't like running after a man, but if I wait for his call, he may never call me, and I really want to see him again.
 How do men feel about women calling them?
 IMPATIENT

DEAR IMP: Some men enjoy being pursued, but most do not. I think it's his turn to call you.

'Raymonda' To Be Performed At Houston

HOUSTON—A new full-length production of the ballet "Raymonda" will be performed by the American Ballet Theatre in a series of Houston performances next month.

The spectacular new production is by former Russian ballet star Rudolf Nureyev. Performances are scheduled June 26, 27 and 28 in Jones Hall for the Performing Arts in downtown Houston and matinee performances scheduled for the four days.

The Nureyev production of the legendary Russian classic ballet, with choreography after Petipa and music by Glazunov, also will feature such ABT greats as Erik Bruhn, Ivan Nagy, Gelsey Kirkland, Eleanor D'Amico, Cynthia Gregory, John Prinz, Martine Van Hamel, Fernando Bujones, Jonas Kage, Marcos Paredes and Sallie Wilson, along with Nureyev.

The production, featuring costumes and sets by Nicholas Giordias, will be accompanied by Houston Symphony Orchestra players under the baton of Akira Endo.

The upcoming Houston engagement is in advance of the ABT's New York premiere performances of "Raymonda." The presentations here will include three evening performances on June 26, 27 and 28 as well as a matinee performance on June 28.

Tickets for the evening performances, except the gala opening performance (a benefit), range in price from $25 for orchestra seats and $16 for those in the Grand Tier, to $4.50 for lower balcony and $3.50 for upper balcony. The matinee presentation has tickets from $12.50 for orchestra seats and $9.50 for the Grand Tier, to $3.50 and $2.50 for lower and upper balcony locations respectively.

Mail orders of tickets should be addressed to the Society for the Performing Arts, Jones Hall, 615 Louisiana St., Houston 77002. All orders must be accompanied by check, money order or charge card information, along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the return of the tickets. Persons should allow four weeks for receipt of their ticket orders.

Tyrone Guthrie Troupe To Do 'Everyman' Here

"Everyman," the world famous morality play, will have a special presentation in Midland two weeks hence.

The performance at 8 p.m. Sunday, May 18, in Theatre Center will be presented by a group of seven talented actors from the famous Tyrone Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis. The Midwestern tour that includes New Mexico, will skip across the border to give Texas performances only in Midland, Lubbock and El Paso.

"Everyman" is probably the best surviving example of the medieval "morality" play, the name given to a specific type of Middle Ages drama which sought to communicate to audiences ideas about what was considered proper behavior in the light of religious thinking. The significant issue in most of these plays was the question of whether man should be scryed or damned at the end of his life.

"Everyman" presents one man's reckoning with Death. Summoned by Death and informed that he has only 24 hours to live, Everyman desperately tries to find someone to accompany him on his journey. He goes first to friends, family and material goods. All reject him. Then he seeks help from more abstract entities such as Beauty, Strength, Discretion and Five Wits but these, too, reject his plea. Only his good deeds—that which he has given of himself—accompany him.

An engaging theatrical presentation for all ages as well as a spiritual story, "Everyman" contains much more than just a simple moral. There is fine beauty in its straightforward language, a moving feeling of inevitability as Everyman's fate nears and humor of a touchingly real kind in the speed with which Everyman's associates reject him when he seeks them out.

Guthrie Theater director Robert Benedetti has staged "Everyman" in an exuberant, acrobatic style while utilizing the original medieval story. The production contains broad and vivid characterizations, humor, strong verse and intense emotion.

The presentation here is sponsored by Midland Community Theatre Inc., and tickets are now on sale at Theatre Centre, priced at $3 for MCT season members, $4 for non-members and $1 for students. Seat reservations may be made through the box office, 682-2544.

Midland-Odessa Symphony conductor Dr. Tom Hohstadt prepares to give the downbeat to symphony staff member Randy Ray who will be in charge of cannon fire during performances of the "1812" Overture Monday and Tuesday nights. It's all in fun, of course, since the venerable cannon in the Lee High School courtyard hasn't been fired in a good many years.

Cannons To Boom

A rousing, roof-raising rendition of Tchaikovsky's "1812" Overture will bring the current season of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale to a close this week.

The orchestra and chorus, joined by a guest artist and a children's chorus, will present its final subscription concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Odessa's Bonham Junior High School and 8 p.m. Tuesday in the auditorium of Lee High School here.

The closing concert was originally scheduled as an Odessa event (balancing the Midland-only concert in February which featured violinist Fredell Lack). However, a recent grant from the Mobil Foundation Inc. made possible the scheduling of the Midland concert.

Tchaikovsky's monumental "1812" Overture will be performed by the orchestra and chorus with the help of a children's chorus. Audiences also will hear and "feel" the boom of cannons during the work.

The orchestra under the baton of symphony music director Dr. Thomas Hohstadt also will perform one of Franz Joseph Haydn's small symphonic gems, the Symphony No. 104, as well as Mario Lombardo's "Variations in a Mod Mood" and Johann Strauss' "Blue Danube Waltz."

And—certainly not least—the dual concerts will feature a beautiful guest artist, lyric soprano Paulina Stark of Houston. She will be heard with the orchestra in performances of Micaela's Air from Bizet's "Carmen," Leo Delibes' "The Maids of Cadix" and selections from "Song of Norway" and Lehár's "The Merry Widow."

Symphony season subscribers may use their membership tickets at either the Midland or the Odessa concert. In addition, single admissions will be for sale at the doors both nights.

Symphony subscribers and the general public also may purchase season tickets for the symphony's 1975-76 season at the pair of concerts this week. The new season will begin next October, with famed pianist Peter Nero as guest performer and with equally-famed conductor Carmen Dragon as guest conductor.

'Texas' Ready For 10th Summer

CANYON—The sounds of "Texas" will roll through the Palo Duro Canyon for the 10th season this summer.

The acclaimed musical drama of Panhandle history and lore will open its new season June 18, continuing through Aug. 23.

Echoing from the great cliffs behind the stage will be the bugles, the hymns, the banjos and guitars, the songs of celebration and sorrow, the cry of the wolf and the roar of a train, the words of warning and waiting, the shots of 45s and rifles, the thundering crashes of storms—all helping create the mood and the story of the Great Plains in the 1880s.

This drama, one of playwright Paul Green's great declarations of faith in America, has been celebrating the strengths and struggles of the Texas Panhandle since the summer of 1966.

At the end of the 9th season last summer, more than 677,000 people had seen "Texas."

A company of 140, including a cast of 80 actors, singers and dancers, tells the "Texas" story and the sound of their words and song carries to the farthest corner of the theater.

Sensitive and powerful mechanical sound equipment reproduces the winds, the rains and the crackling of the prairie fires which heighten the dramatic impact of "Texas." And, finally, fine lighting, colorful costumes and the play of lights on the cliff above the theater leave the "Texas" visitor with an evening to remember.

Following its June 18 opening, "Texas" will play nightly except Sunday each week. For additional information and a schedule of ticket prices and seating, persons may write to the "Texas" office, P.O. Box 268, Canyon 79015, or telephone 806-655-2182.

Wildlife Illustrator, Sculptor To Have One-Man Show Here

One of the nation's leading wildlife illustrators and sculptors, Clark Bronson, will have a one-man show here this week.

The exhibition will open Monday in the lobby of Commercial Bank & Trust Co., continuing there through Wednesday afternoon. The public is invited to view the display between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily, said CB&T president Robert L. Pendleton.

Bronson's limited edition bronzes of the animals that stalk the mountains around his Utah home are among the most sought-after works in the Southwest and elsewhere. His bronze works are as realistic as his watercolors and drawings, and their three-dimensional detail impresses all who view them.

Born in Kamas, Utah, Bronson's love of the outdoors was nurtured by his game warden father and by nature itself. After studying art at the University of Utah, he returned to his personal observations of the mountains around his Utah home are among the most sought-after works in the Southwest and elsewhere. His bronze works are as realistic as his watercolors and drawings, and their three-dimensional detail impresses all who view them.

Art Show Winners Named

Forty-two artists from many sectors are represented in the 9th annual Southwestern Area Art Show currently on view at Midland's Museum of the Southwest.

The show opened Saturday in the museum's Turner Memorial Gallery, 1706 W. Missouri St., under co-sponsorship of the museum and Midland Arts Association. It will continue through May 30.

A total of 207 art works including paintings in all media as well as sculpture, graphics, drawings and photography, were entered in the show, of which 62 were selected by juror Arthur Williams of Abilene for inclusion in the annual exhibit. Williams, a member of the art faculty at Abilene Christian College, recommended cash awards totaling $1,000 for winning art in the current exhibition. Names of winning artists were announced Friday night at a preview and reception in the Turner Gallery.

Announced as winners of $100 cash awards were Don Hedman of Abilene, Judy Rhymes of Lubbock, and Beth N. Buster, Kim Dowdle, Jerry Galloway, Janet S. Garner and Dorothy Peterson, all of Midland.

Receiving $50 cash awards were Barry M. Stewart of Lubbock as well as Janet Garner, Nancy Henderson and Frances Porter, all of Midland.

In addition, the annual purchase award from the Midland branch, American Association of University Women, went to Marian Ford of Midland. The graphic, "Composition A," will go into the permanent collection of the Museum of the Southwest.

The ninth annual show drew entries by artists from San Antonio to New Mexico and from El Paso to the Texas Panhandle.

The art show will be on view to the public between 2 and 5 p.m. today. Weekdays, the museum is open to the public between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Admission is always free.

Comedy Continues At Theatre Centre

Midland Community Theatre will take its new show, "The Last Meeting of the Knights of the White Magnolia," into the second weekend with performances Friday and Saturday.

The comedy with its West Texas setting is by Dallas Theater Center playwright Preston Jones. It opened here Thursday night.

The upcoming pair of performances will have 8:30 p.m. curtains, as will final performances scheduled for May 16 and 17. Seat reservations for performances may be made through the Theatre Centre box office, 682-2544.

Benefit Art Exhibition, Sale Set Next Sunday

An art exhibition and sale next Sunday evening in Ranchland Hill Country Club will benefit the maintenance fund of Midland's Permian Civic Ballet.

The gala evening, which will include a light buffet, will be climaxed with an auction of the art works on display. The event begins at 6:30 p.m. and the public may attend. Donations to the ballet fund will be $10 per couple, all of it tax deductible.

Art works to be on display will include signed lithographs, etchings, oils and watercolors by some of the foremost names in 20th Century art, among them Marc Chagall and Salvador Dali. Works by many talented but lesser-known artists will also be exhibited.

Mrs. Thurston Dean, Permian Civic Ballet Association board member who is chairman of the upcoming event, has emphasized that the works to be auctioned are real art, not reproductions or copies. The exhibition and sale is arranged by Graphic Art Galleries Ltd., of Los Angeles.

Working with Mrs. Dean in various phases of planning for the benefit event are Mrs. Byrne O'Neill, Mrs. Robert Halvorsen, Mrs. Wayne Westerman, Mrs. William Shaw, Mrs. Wes Perry Jr., Mrs. Lyle D. Eberly and Mrs. Jack Hall, in addition to Permian Civic Ballet president E. F. Bingham and other association officers and board members.

I Don't Believe It

"A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," but one wonders what the final words would be for such an axiom as "A bird on the head is worth . . . ?"

"Johnny," a one-year-old cockateel is completely at ease perched on the top of the head of his owner, Mrs. Don Bomar of 3803 Stanolind St. When released from his cage, "Johnny" spends his time flying from a light fixture in the den to the top of Mrs. Bomar's coiffure, and also enjoys taking a shower with Mrs. Bomar, still perched on her head.

Animal Kingdom Has A Friend

By FRANCHELLE MOORE Midland has its own female version of Dr. Doolittle who also talks to the animals, Mrs. Don Bomar of 3803 Stanolind St. It could be supposed that J. J. Audubon and other ornithologists, living or otherwise, would "perch up" and appreciate the affiliation Mrs. Bomar has with feathered friends, among other animals.

Mrs. Bomar, a staunch supporter of the Humane Society of the Permian Basin, has a very close rapport with a 1-year-old cockateel she purchased in a pet shop. She also has such friends as "Cuddles," a 4-year-old boa constrictor, four cats, three dogs, a hamster and eight turtles.

has assumed parttime motherhood for two young kittens which were abandoned in Big Spring and rescued by Mrs. Bomar.

"Bye" is the keyword for Mrs. Bomar's relationship with "Johnny," the cockateel, who is known for his enjoyment of gum chewing, tearing paper liners from clothes hangers and removing cigarettes from a coffee table. He also has been known, according to his mistress, as being very adept at "losing" a green salad.

When Mrs. Bomar utters "Bye" the cockateel "drops" whatever he is doing and alights on the top of her head. He also has mastered the imitation of facial expressions and has a few recognizable words to "beak."

Mrs. Bomar has been compassionate to animals since she was 4 or 5 years of age. She became acquainted with the animal kingdom as a child on a farm near Lubbock. She is well-known for her willingness to help any animal in need, and neighborhood children deliver to her doorstep any animal they discover needing assistance. She has raised a jack rabbit by bottle feeding, along with cats, owls, dogs, snakes, ferrets and sparrows.

Cindy, 16, and Doble, 14, children of Mr. and Mrs. Bomar, also share her interest in animals. And, according to Mrs. Bomar, her husband, an independent landman, "tolerates it."

resulting from this animal-love by Mrs. Bomar was a visit to a service station, with "Cuddles" residing temporarily in her mistress' purse. The purse was not fastened securely, and when "Cuddles" decided to leave confinement, the attendant had one glance at the reptile's head. He left the station displaying no hesitancy, and probably has not been heard from since. This I can believe.

Fertilizer Industry Probe Launched

By DAN MORGAN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department has launched a sweeping investigation of the United States fertilizer industry to determine if antitrust laws were violated in the rapid price rise that occurred after the government lifted controls in October 1973.

A federal grand jury in Chicago has subpoenaed records from around the world of more than 50 fertilizer producers and international brokers. The records include documents relating to their contacts with three overseas groups that dominate markets or set prices abroad.

Federal officials said company executives soon may be called to testify.

Deputy Assistant Attorney General Keith I. Clearwaters said the government is interested in any agreements that could have had the effect of raising domestic prices. He said such agreements would include price collusion, dividing up markets, limiting imports to the United States and voluntarily cutting back on production.

Since controls were lifted in October 1973, the domestic price of some fertilizers has quadrupled. The high price is a major concern of farmers and one of the main expenses in modern agriculture. Some farmers say they plan to use less fertilizer this spring as an economy move, even though this means they will produce less food.

Farmers complained bitterly last year of sudden fertilizer shortages. They asserted that some dealers had forced them to purchase expensive foreign fertilizer, claiming that no domestic product was available.

Farmers say prices remain high this spring despite the fact that supplies appear to be more ample than a year ago.

Fertilizer industry officials respond that supplies of nitrogen still are very tight.

In its investigation, the government has demanded all records pertaining to the American companies' contacts with the Moroccan state phosphate trust, the European nitrogen producers' cartel and the Saskatchewan Canada potash board.

Virtually all major American producers of phosphate, nitrogen and potash have been ordered to produce records, except for farmer-owned cooperatives. The cooperatives account for about a third of the country's annual nitrogen output but do not engage in export trade.

Companies that have been asked to provide documents to the grand jury include the International Minerals and Chemical (IMC) Corp. of Chicago. Several trade associations, fertilizer brokerage houses and giant nitrogen producers such as Arco and W. R. Grace also have been served with subpoenas.

Halloween Poisoning Trial Starts Monday

HOUSTON (AP) — A man known as a loving father and an active church worker goes on trial for his life here Monday, charged with murdering his 8-year-old son with poisoned Halloween candy.

Ronald Clark O'Bryan, 30, a Houston optician, is charged with killing his son, Timothy, with cyanide-laced candy in order to collect on a $38,000 life insurance policy taken out on the boy only a few days before his death.

The state seeks the death penalty for O'Bryan under a Texas capital punishment statute which allows the ultimate penalty in cases of murder for profit.

Murder charges against O'Bryan—filed by Pasadena police after a massive investigation that aroused suspicion and anger in whole neighborhoods of the Houston suburb—triggered outcries of protest and disbelief from friends of the O'Bryan family.

O'Bryan was a very active member of the Second Baptist Church in Pasadena and was known as a strong family man devoted to his son, Timothy, and daughter, Elizabeth, 5.

Details Given
Timothy died last Halloween night only a short time after going trick or treating with his father and his sister. They were accompanied by a family friend, Jim Bates, and two Bates children.

The group went from door-to-door in the comfortable Bowling Green subdivision where the Bates lived, but they didn't stay out long.

Timothy and Elizabeth, he said, weren't allowed to eat any of the candy they collected until just before their 9 p.m. bedtime. O'Bryan said he let each child have one piece.

Timothy picked a Pixie Stix, a powdered confection packaged in a plastic cylinder.

Moments after eating the candy Timothy called out, "Daddy, daddy, my stomach hurts," said O'Bryan.

The boy ran to the bathroom and began vomiting.

"He was in the bathroom, convulsing, vomiting and gasping and then suddenly he went limp," said O'Bryan. The boy was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Father Cries
Tears formed in O'Bryan's eyes the next day as he told reporters of his son's death. He ended the story with: "I have my peace in knowing that Tim is in heaven now."

The death sent shock waves through Houston and its suburbs.

Suspicion centered on the Bowling Green subdivision where the O'Bryans knocked on doors. Pasadena police urged parents to bring to the police station any candy collected in that area.

An autopsy showed Timothy died from cyanide poisoning. The extremely lethal chemical was found in the candy he had eaten and police recovered five other Pixie Stix also laced with cyanide. One was found among Elizabeth's Halloween candy.

Police conducted a door-to-door canvass of the Bowling Green area, retracing the path taken by the O'Bryan children. Residents there received scores of crank telephone calls and the streets were busy as curiosity seekers drove through the area.

The O'Bryans, meanwhile, endured their grief. On the Sunday after Halloween, O'Bryan sang a solo in church, substituting his son's name in key places in a hymn about the peace offered by the assurance of an eternal life in heaven.

On the day before, funeral services for Timothy drew one of the largest crowds ever in the Pasadena church.

After three days of exhaustive, detailed investigation, Pasadena police said they discovered O'Bryan had taken out insurance policies on his children only a few days before Halloween.

Officials said he submitted to a polygraph test and only a few hours later was charged with murder in the death of his son.

Other facts were soon uncovered about O'Bryan.

Bates told officers that it was O'Bryan's idea to trick or treat in the Bowling Green neighborhood. Also, he said at one particular house he didn't see any answer to the door, but that O'Bryan returned with five Pixie Stix. Later, O'Bryan distributed the Pixie Stix to his two children and to the Bates children.

In a hearing Nov. 12, a chemist, Bob Terry, testified that O'Bryan called him two months earlier and asked a series of questions about the use of cyanide.

"He asked if just anybody could buy cyanide and I told him 'no'..." Terry said. "He also asked how much cyanide it would take to be fatal. I asked him why he needed to know all this and he said he was just curious."

David Jackson, a salesman at a chemical company, testified that O'Bryan once inquired at the company about buying some cyanide, but Jackson said, "I can't recall if I sold it to him."

Despite the evidence, however, many neighbors and friends of O'Bryan refuse to believe he could have caused Timothy's death.

"I'm not going to believe it until I hear him admit it personally," said one neighbor. "Ron O'Bryan just couldn't do something like that."

U.S. Military Base Network Crumbling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A worldwide network of U.S. military bases, built up in the 1950s to contain the Soviet Union and Communist China, appears to be crumbling slowly under the pressures of political change.

The process may be speeded by failure of the U.S. effort to preserve non-Communist governments in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Confidence Shaken
Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger conceded last week that the Southeast Asia experience shook the confidence of many countries in American power and particularly in American steadfastness.

Thailand, which was the base for the U.S. bombings of North Vietnam, has ordered U.S. forces to leave in the coming year. The Thai have been allies in the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization for 21 years, but are now trying to get on a live-and-let-live footing with their Communist neighbors.

Philippines Cooling
President Ferdinand Marcos, who sent Filipino soldiers in Vietnam in the late 1960s, is reported to have ordered a study of the need for U.S. bases in the Philippines. Marcos shows other signs of disengaging from longtime ties with the United States and sliding toward non-alignment.

Australia and New Zealand, close friends of the United States since World War II, have joined other nations to oppose construction of a major U.S. naval base in the Indian Ocean in the Eastern Mediterranean, a new leftist Greek government has ousted the U.S. Air Force from a base near Athens and stopped the U.S. Navy from "homeporting" six destroyers at a port near Athens. Other U.S. bases in Greece may go later.

The new Greek leaders blame the United States for Turkey's conquest of much of Cyprus and for supporting the rightist military junta ousted last year.

Meanwhile, neighboring Turkey is threatening to turn the Americans out of bases there. The Turks are angry because U.S. military aid to them has been cut off by Congress.

It was Turkey's invasion of Cyprus last summer that brought this about. Nearly eight years ago, the Turks stopped short of invading Cyprus after a strong warning from the United States. This time, Turkey defied the United States and landed troops on the contested island.

Portugal not too long ago was one of this country's unswerving allies. But the overthrow of a rightist dictatorship has resulted in a widening estrangement between Portugal and the United States.

Portugal, Spain
Recently, Portuguese Prime Minister Vasco Goncalves said publicly that his government would not permit the United States to use the Azores Islands base to support any future emergency airlift to Israel.

Base renewal talks with Spain also are unresolved, and there have been hints that the Spanish might like the United States to give up at least one air base.

Pair Charged After Drug Raid Remain In Jail

Stephen Derringer and his wife Janice Derringer, both 28, were in jail Saturday after being arrested in a drug raid Friday and later charged with possession of methamphetamine.

The man and his wife were being held in lieu of $26,000 bond each on the possession charges, set by Justice of the Peace Robert Pine.

Police said an "informant" supplied details leading to the issuance of a search warrant which was carried out at 900 S. Baird St. early Friday. Judge Pine issued the warrant approximately one hour before the drug raid took place.

A suitcase full of assorted pills in plastic bags and bottles were confiscated in the raid, police said.

Lung Unit Names Crane Man Head

SAN ANGELO — The American Lung Association's Big Country Area has named Ted W. Hogan of Crane president elect for the 1976-77 campaign.

Hogan was named along with incoming officers at the association's session at San Angelo Saturday.

The association announced plans for a workshop in Pulmonary Care to be held at Midland on June 6 and 7. The workshop, the first of a series to be held throughout the area, is for medical personnel in Midland and Big Spring.

Midland representatives reported campaign donations have reached $16,535 for 1974, more than the previous year.

Solons To Offer Refugee Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., said Saturday they will introduce a bill this week to provide whatever funds are needed to help Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees being resettled in the United States.

The measure will include educational, vocational and language training, refresher professional courses and transportation as well as food, clothing and housing.

Aides said they were unsure what the funding level of the legislation will be, noting that there have been varying estimates of the amount of money the refugee program will cost, up to $500 million.

House leaders have also said they plan to initiate new refugee aid legislation this week after a previous $327-million measure was beaten because of the controversy over its provisions for using U.S. troops in the evacuation from Vietnam.

In announcing the new bill, Javits, the son of immigrants himself, said, "I deeply regret what the funding level of the

Postal Service Plans Merger Of Air And First-Class Mail

By HOWARD ANGIOLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says it is ready to merge air mail with first-class mail, and promises that the result will be service as good or better than it now provides.

If the plan went into effect at current rates, there would no longer be reason to put a 13-cent air mail stamp instead of a 10-cent first-class stamp on the typical letter. The proposal does not say what effect the change might have on requests for future postal rate increases.

The Postal Service describes its plan in a document asking for an advisory opinion from the Postal Rate Commission, the regulatory body responsible for monitoring major changes in postal operations. The Associated Press obtained a copy in advance of a formal announcement, expected shortly in the Federal Register.

August Target Date
Aug. 1 is the target date for beginning the changeover, the commission's opinion is not binding, but the Postal Service could delay action on the plan if the commission has not reached a decision by Aug. 1.

The next step is for the commission to invite public comment on the proposal.

In explaining why it has developed the plan, the Postal Service states: "We have now reached the point where we have the capability of providing service to first-class mail which, on a national basis, will regularly equal or exceed air mail service performance, even under present operations, first-class mail occasionally overtakes air mail."

Service Schedule
At present, the Postal Service estimates that if air mail is picked up by late in the afternoon — generally 5 p.m. — it is delivered either the next day or the day after about 85 per cent of the time.

On first-class mail picked up by 5 p.m., the Postal Service standards call for next-day delivery if the mail is destined for an address in the same metropolitan area or, in some cases, for an address in an adjacent metropolitan area. Mail for addresses beyond the metropolitan area but within 600 miles of it is scheduled for delivery the second day; mail for destinations more than 600 miles away within the continental United States is due for delivery by the third day.

The Postal Service says that by merging air mail and first-class mail it expects to expand the mileage range of its overnight service and to provide delivery for virtually all other mail within two days.
