Stakes Site
In Sterling

Marathon Oil Co. has staked site for an 8,800-foot exploratory test in Sterling City, five miles southwest of Sterling City. It is No. 1-5 J. Cole.

It spots 1/4 mile east of the depleted original Fusselman oil opener at about 8,788 feet, and one mile north of the marginal Fusselman reopener, in the Parochial-Bade field. It also is 4 1/2 miles north of Canyon gas production in the Conger field.

Drill site is 1,780 feet from south and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 5, block T, T&P survey.

Gulf Completes
Strawn Oil Well

Gulf Oil Corp. has completed No. 6-M McElroy as a 4 1/2-mile west outpost to Strawn oil production in the Amacker-Tippett field of Upton County, its No. 6-M McElroy, 11 miles east of Crane.

It had a 24-hour pumping potential of 46 barrels of 43.1-gravity oil and 46 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 2,706-1.

Production was through perforations at 9,582-9,612 feet, which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons.

It was drilled as an Ellenburger wildcat in 1969, to 13,070 feet, and completed as the Bend oil opener in the King Mountain, North field.

Reentry operations originally were planned as a confirmation to Cisco pay in the King Mountain, North field.

It spots 2,100 feet from south and 1,700 feet from west lines of section 67, block Y, TORR survey.

Cities Service Oil Co. No. 2-AB Government, 3/4 mile west and northeast of Morrow and 3/4 mile northwest of Wolfcamp production in the Russell field of Eddy County, N.M., flowed gas at the daily volume of 1.2 million cubic feet, along with 106 barrels of load water in 18 hours.

Flow was through a 20-64-inch choke and perforations opposite the Wolfcamp at 9,114-9,140 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons. Testing continued.

Drilled as a Morrow test to 11,449 feet, it has 3/4-inch casing set on bottom, and is plugged back to 11,336 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 10-20s-26e, nine miles northeast of Carlsbad.

Rain, Hail Batter West Texas Cities

Hail pelted several West Texas cities Sunday, but lightning was responsible for most of the damage in Midland and Stanton.

In approximately a half hour the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal recorded the major portion of rain and violent weather.

In Stanton, lightning struck a two-story home in the south sector of the city during the height of the storm about mid-afternoon. The home was destroyed by fire but volunteers with the Stanton Fire Department and several citizens helped to remove furniture and clothing before the home was consumed by the flames.

Stanton officials said no one was injured in the fire.

More than an inch of rain and light hail pelted the city and surrounding Stanton farm and ranch lands shortly before the Sunday fire.

In Midland, lightning damaged a house at 1601 N. Edwards St. shortly before 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

A tornado touched ground along U.S. 277 south of Bronte and sheared 16 telephone poles, knocking out service to customers at Bronte and Robert Lee.

Service was being restored to those communities by late Sunday.

A barn on the George Humlong Ranch near Bronte was blown into the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Landers, destroying the barn and causing moderate damage to the home.

Both Bronte and Robert Lee recorded half inch rains Sunday along with pea sized hail.

Large Hail Near Brady

Near Brady reports of golfball sized hail were turned in by travelers and smaller hail was reported to have caused minor damages to homes there.

At Big Spring, hail and heavy rain flooded streets Sunday and closed portions of old Highway 80 inside the city for short periods.

Stations at Andrews reported inch and a half showers Sunday with fog early today. Skies were clearing by mid-morning.

Sterling City reported a hard rain Sunday with light hail and clearing conditions today after a heavy fog cover this morning.

Firemen said lightning struck the home owned by Fred Henry, knocking out electricity and causing heavy damage to the exterior of the home. No fire resulted.

Transformer Blowout

Mrs. Henry said today the lightning knocked a hole in a living room wall and damaged the area near a plate glass window.

Lightning struck an electrical transformer at Wall and O Streets at 1:05 p.m. Employees with Texas Electric Service Co. said the transformer blowout cut power to approximately 26 customers. Service was restored within a half hour.

The National Weather Service recorded 2 1/2 inch of rain while the gauge atop the Reporter-Telegram showed 20 inch.

Gauges in northwest Midland measured 2 1/2 and pea sized hail was reported at several places across the city.

Severe Weather Watches

Cities placed under severe weather watches Sunday included Midland, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fischer, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Glascock, Sterling, Coke, Rannels, Coleman, Brown, Comanche and Mills.

Also Upton, Reagan, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, McCulloch, Menard and Mason counties.

Big Lake reported heavy fog early today and clearing by 11 a.m. A trace of moisture was recorded Sunday with accompanying thunderstorms.

Crane had a trace of rain Sunday with clearing skies today.

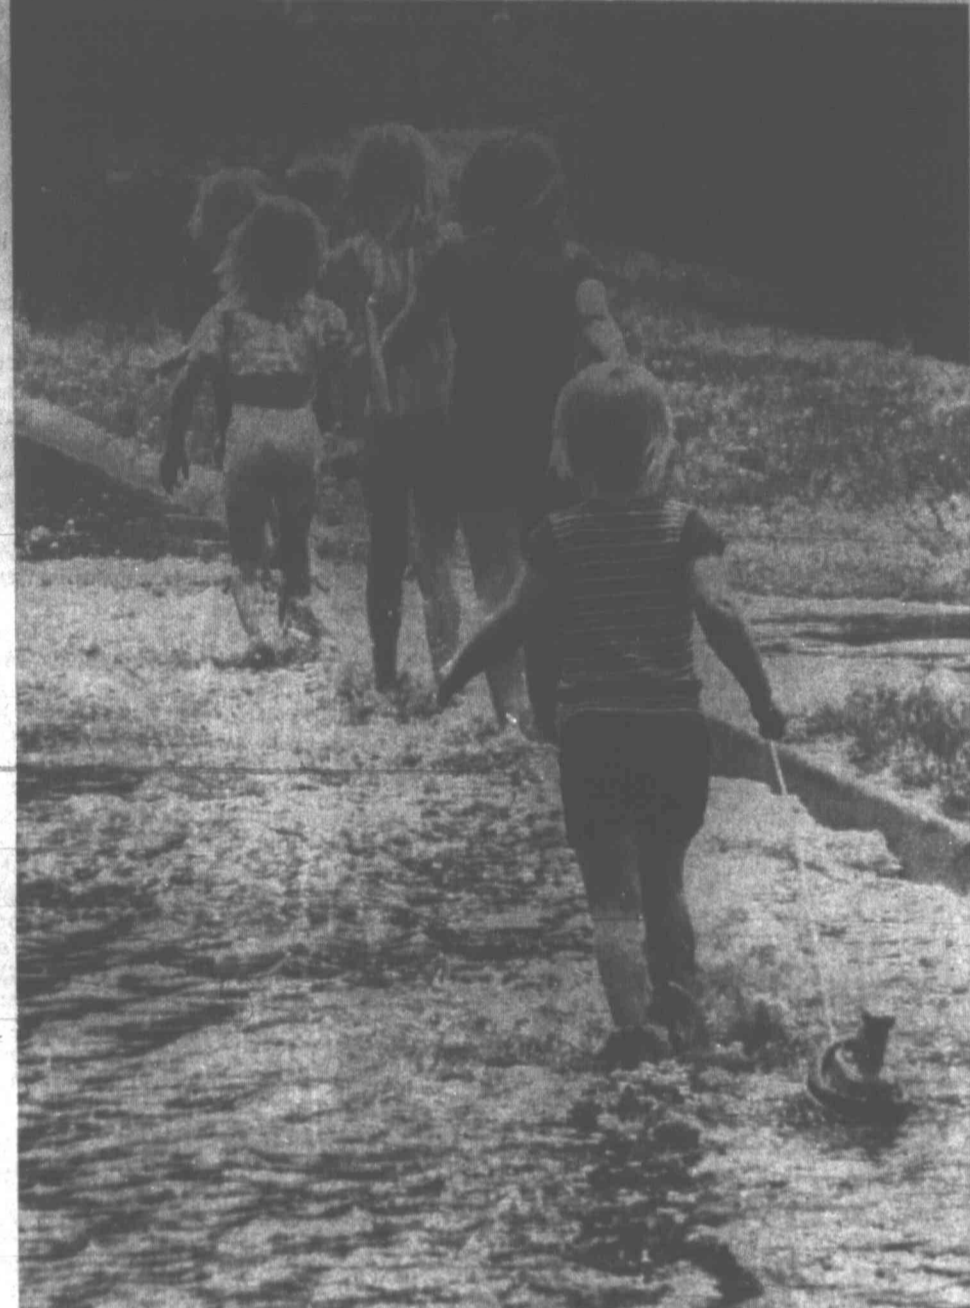

Garden City, Lamesa

Garden City received inch to inch and a half showers Sunday with fog early today and clearing skies by mid-morning.

Lamesa weather stations recorded 1 1/2 inch downpours Sunday and clearing today.

Rankin stations recorded a trace of moisture Sunday.

All Forces To Be Out By March

By The Associated Press
The United States will remove more than one-quarter of its troops stationed in Thailand in the next two months, taking its first major step toward total withdrawal from its last military foothold in Southeast Asia, it was announced today.

The announcement, made jointly by the Thai and U.S. governments, said the authorized troop strength of 27,000 would be cut 28 per cent to 19,500. The announcement did not say how many of the 350 U.S. military planes remaining from the armada that bombed Cambodia and North and South Vietnam will be allowed to remain.

Planes Being Held

However, Thai Foreign Minister Chatichai Choonhavan said for the time being his country will hold on to 130 South Vietnamese Air Force planes that were flown there by refugees. They are claimed by both the new Saigon regime and the United States, which gave them to the former Saigon government.

He said there has been no contact so far between U.S. officials and the Thai government about the planes and the next step is to hold talks. Chatichai also said his government is ready to open diplomatic relations with North Vietnam.

Prisoners Being Freed

Saigon radio, monitored in Bangkok, today carried the first word of release of persons imprisoned by the old South Vietnamese regime. It broadcast an invitation by the new regime for newly freed political prisoners and their families to meet at a pagoda and help plan a welcome home ceremony for people returning from Con Son prison island.

Communist broadcasts in the past have claimed the Nguyen Van Thieu government held tens of thousands of political prisoners, but the Thieu government claimed it held only criminals and Communists.

Naval Officers, Ships

The East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland reported from Saigon that thousands of officers and men of the former South Vietnamese navy turned over their ships and equipment Thursday and Friday.

Neues Deutschland also said the Saigon airfield at Tan Son Nhut was reopened Friday. It said the harbor at Da Nang was reopened April 24 and that foreign freighters could dock there after completing necessary forms provided by Revolutionary Government missions abroad.

The joint U.S.-Thai announcement on troop removal spoke of total withdrawal by year's end. But the Thai foreign minister said realistically he hoped this could be accomplished before next March.

"Of course it depends on whether the United States can accommodate all of them in mainland U.S.A. by then," he said, adding that after the fall of Cambodia and Saigon, the (See U.S. Page 2A)

Lawmakers Eye Control Of Handguns, Utilities

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators generally are made with weak launched debate today on controversial proposals to establish a state commission to regulate utilities and to dry up the supply of cheap "Saturday night special" pistols.

The utility bill revised under the supervision of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby after Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, and others said they would fight to defeat another version which consumer advocates claimed favored the industry.

It required approval of two-thirds of the 31 senators present today to debate the measure.

Pistol Bill Controversial
A legislative staffer said Houston Rep. Ben Reyes' pistol bill was controversial enough to slow down action on the logjam of bills that is before the legislature as it enters its last four weeks.

Reyes' bill prohibits the sale by licensed dealers of handguns which will melt at temperatures below 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. "Saturday night specials" generally are made with weak metals that have low melting points, enabling them to be sold for extremely low prices.

A dealer selling one of the metal pistols would be liable for a $2,000 fine and a two-year jail sentence the first time he was caught and for a prison sentence if he did it again.

Calendar Decisions

Much of the legislative action in the House was in the calendars committee, which decides on priorities and floor dates for bills that have cleared the other committees.

Awaiting calendars committee decisions are two major bills setting up a state commission to regulate public utilities and revising the school finance system.

The session ends June 2, and that means a bill major or controversial must have considerable momentum behind it to work its way through the pile that will melt at temperatures below 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Senate filibusters become more of a threat as the adjournment deadline approaches.

Kissinger Quizzed On CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger appeared today before the Rockefeller commission as it entered the final month of its investigation of CIA domestic activities.

Kissinger followed former CIA Director John A. McCone, who was to reappear before the panel after the secretary of state completed his session. In addition to Kissinger and McCone, Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger and former national security adviser Walt W. Rostow were scheduled to testify.

All four have at one time been directly involved in directing CIA covert activities.

Kissinger originally had been scheduled to testify last month but his appearance was postponed due to the absence of Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, the commission chairman. Critics of the commission have asserted that Rockefeller would not conduct a thorough investigation of Kissinger, a long-time friend and associate.

Both Schlesinger, who headed the CIA briefly in 1973, and McCone, who served as director in the early 1960s, have made previous appearances before the commission.

In early 1973, Schlesinger, who succeeded Richard M. Helms as agency chief, launched an internal CIA investigation in response to revelations of CIA ties to the Watergate burglars.

It was that investigation, completed by current director William E. Colby, which formed the basis for published allegations that the CIA conducted a massive, illegal spy campaign against anti-war dissidents and other Americans during the late 1960s and early 1970s.

Kissinger and Rostow are expected to be asked whether the National Security Council, which they both headed, ever ordered domestic surveillance of U.S. citizens. Under the terms of the law which created the CIA, the National Security Council has the authority to direct the agency to perform tasks not specified in the law.

Colby has acknowledged that the agency conducted some limited domestic spy operations in an effort to uncover any foreign influence behind domestic unrest.

Helms has said a special counter-intelligence unit that kept files on domestic radicals was set up in response to presidential concern, although he did not specify whether he was referring to Presidents Richard M. Nixon or Lyndon B. Johnson.

McCone, who took over the agency following the Bay of Pigs disaster in 1961, is expected to be questioned about alleged CIA involvement in plots to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Ford Wants $507 Million For Vietnamese Refugees

By JIM ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration will ask for $507 million to transport and care for more than 125,000 Vietnamese refugees, the director of the President's refugee program said today.

At the same time, the director, L. Dean Brown, suggested refugees will be free to return to South Vietnam if they wish.

Brown told the House Immigration subcommittee there are four categories of refugees, starting with 55,000 Vietnamese brought out under a special provision of U.S. immigration laws that would have accommodated up to 130,000.

"They will be accepted into the United States unless any wish to emigrate to third countries or return to their native land," Brown said.

He said the second category includes 69,000 Vietnamese picked up at sea by U.S. ships. "We propose to accept responsibility for them," Brown declared.

The third category involves about 3,000 Vietnamese and Cambodians who fled to other countries, many in U.S.-supplied ships and planes. The fourth category is an unknown number of diplomats around the world.

The U.S. planes and ships will be reclaimed, Dean said, and the Vietnamese and Cambodians who used them to flee will first be required to seek asylum in the countries they went to.

If refused asylum they will be asked to seek resettlement assistance from international organizations, Brown said; and if they can't get that, they will be considered for immigration to the United States on a case-by-case or class-by-class basis.

He said most diplomats will be able to settle abroad, and those who cannot get international organizations to take responsibility for them will be considered for entry into the United States.

Brown said 124,999 refugees had been accounted for by 9 a.m. EDT today, and that position was (See REFUGEES Page 2A)

First Displaced Asians Leave Camps For Homes

By The Associated Press

With thousands of Vietnamese still on their way, some of the refugees who arrived earlier have left military installations in the United States for their new American homes.

The first Vietnamese refugee family processed through Ft. Chaffee, Ark., left the base for a new home in Sorrento, Fla. Sunday night. The family of five will live with a relative there. Two Vietnamese women who had worked for the U.S. Embassy in Saigon also left the base for Oklahoma City, where retired Brig. Gen. Clyde Watts has offered sponsorship, officials said.

By tonight, 84 other refugees were scheduled to be released, all of them with relatives or sponsors and jobs lined up, said Maj. Arne Anderson. More new arrivals are expected later this week at the northwest Arkansas installation that can accommodate 10,282 evacuees, Anderson said.

There are currently 1,682 refugees at Ft. Chaffee, most of them flown in from Guam, he said. Anderson said that "everything is going very smoothly. Things are very well coordinated."

Air Force spokesman had said late Sunday that three airplanes with 634 more refugees were expected today. But they announced early today that all three flights from Travis AFB in California had been canceled. The Eglin spokesman could give no reason for the cancellations.

Refugees were assigned to wooden-floored tents set up on an abandoned base airfield. The camp has a capacity for housing 2,500 refugees.

Social Security Deficits To Top Present Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both short-range and long-range Social Security deficits are expected to be higher than previously projected, according to a report sent to Congress today.

Trustees of the four Social Security trust funds said that the big Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance program will for the first time this year pay out more than it will collect in payroll taxes. The deficit for the year is expected to total about $3 billion.

Under current financing, trustees said, the reserves will be exhausted by 1981.

Projecting 75 years into the future, the trustees said the average annual deficit is expected to be about 5.3 per cent. The trustees' report last year projected an average annual deficit of 3 per cent over the next 75 years.

The short-term financing problems, the report said, are created by higher than anticipated inflation, boosting Social Security benefits and higher unemployment which results in less payroll tax income.

The long-range deficit, the report said, results from an anticipated lower birth rate. The trustees said that the future work force is expected to result in a ratio of about 100 workers for every 50 Social Security beneficiaries by the year 2030.

TREASURY SECRETARY SIMON SAYS—

Jobless Rate 'Approximately' At Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury Secretary William E. Simon says the unemployment rate, now at 8.9 per cent, has reached "approximately" its highest level in the current recession.

Simon also said he was heartened by the April jobless figures released last week because although unemployment increased 0.3 per cent, the size of the total labor force also rose.

Referring to the oil exporting countries, Simon said "their proportion of the world's proven reserves will decline, coupled with their internal demands for funds to industrialize and diversify and all of the needs in their various economies."

—The Conference Board, a group of private economists, predicted that the moderate growth and high unemployment projected by the Ford administration for the next five years could cost the United States as much as $350 billion in lost output.

The board said that if unemployment exceeds 9 per cent, the federal budget deficit could easily reach $70 billion. However, the board said such a deficit could be financed without triggering a new bout of inflation because the capital market is now in a state of deflation.

Temperatures near daybreak ranged from 49 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle and Wink in West Texas up to 77 at Brownsville and 78 at Corpus Christi on the coast, The Associated Press reported.

As the unruly storms tapered off, fog plagued widely scattered localities. Visibility dropped to a mile or less at Midland and Odessa. There was fog also at Wichita Falls and Lubbock in the Panhandle-Plains sector and at Alice and McAllen in deep South Texas.

Some of the heavier storms after midnight pounded the Lufkin area in East Texas, dumping more golf ball-sized hail at Zavalla in Angelina County, and extending from near Center to Nacogdoches and Rusk.

Georgia State Trooper, Policeman Shot Fatally

CORDELE, Ga. (AP)—A state trooper and a city policeman were shot to death in the Cordele police station apparently while the trooper was administering a drunken driving test to a motorist he had earlier arrested, authorities said.

Killed were trooper James Young, 34, and Cordele policeman W. R. Haralson, 50.

Authorities said the shootings occurred after Young arrested Joe Patterson of the Albany U.S. Marine Corps supply depot for suspicion of driving under the influence of alcohol.

State patrol spokesman Bill Wilson said Patterson's brother, sister-in-law and mother followed as Young took Patterson to the police station for in-toximeter tests shortly after 11 p.m.

Wilson said that apparently "while in-toximeter tests were administered (there was) an argument, a scuffle, a shout-out." He added Young and Haralson were the only officers in the building at the time.

Wilson said someone apparently took the trooper's service revolver during a struggle and fired it, hitting Young in the head and chest and Haralson in the head.

No charges were filed but Patterson, his brother Roy and Roy's wife Virginia remained in custody, police said. They had been taken into custody an hour after the incident. Patterson's mother was released, Wilson said.

Refugees—

He said Canada has agreed to take at least 3,000 of the refugees, and that the United States is working with other countries who might accept others.

As Brown made his statement, congressional backers of aid to Indochinese refugees renewed their efforts for legislation omitting the controversial issue of whether Congress should give retroactive approval to the use of U.S. troops in the evacuation of Vietnam.

The House last week rejected a $327-million aid bill for the refugees, partly because the bill contained after-the-fact approval of U.S. troop use for Saigon's evacuation.

Similar activity on a new refugee relief bill also seems likely in the Senate. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, D-N.Y., and Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., said they will introduce a bill to provide whatever funds are needed to help Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees being resettled in this country.

Meanwhile, Congress is ready to take final action on a bill to protect the environment against strip-mining. The measure, similar to one President Ford vetoed last year, was coming before the Senate today.

The bill was hammered out by a House-Senate conference committee from differing versions passed by both chambers in March.

NEW YORK (AP)—Postal authorities say the contents of 11 sacks of registered mail stolen from a Times Square area post office could be valued "into the millions."

Officials said insured letters and parcels such as those stolen from a mid-Manhattan postal substation garage Sunday morning, usually contain checks, cash, negotiable securities, jewelry and other valuables and sometimes guns.

The mail bags were stolen about 8:45 a.m. by five gunmen apparently "very familiar with the operations" of the Postal Service, according to postal inspectors.

Two Persons Hurt In Auto Collisions

Two persons were treated at Midland Memorial Hospital and released Sunday after being injured in two separate auto collisions.

William Jackson Whately, 22, 4403 W. Storey St., was injured, police said, when the car he was driving hit a parked car belonging to Harold L. McQuitty, 3515 W. Illinois St., about 12:35 a.m. in the 3500 block of West Illinois Street.

The force of the collision caused McQuitty's car to hit another parked car belonging to Leasing Associates Inc. of Houston, police said. The third car rolled 213 feet before coming to rest.

In a collision about 1:50 p.m., Lola Mae Williams, 48, of Odessa, was injured when a car driven by Leevester Williams, 36, of Odessa, in which she was a passenger, and a car driven by Edwin Alfred White, 26, Midessa Trailer Park, Space 6, were in collision at the intersection of Front Street and Bankhead Highway.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Cookout Time's A-Coming For Heloise

Dear Folks: This is a really great idea for those who go to the beach, hoping to have a lovely cookout. Sand blows in your food? Yeah. And you have a hard time starting your fire. Here's how I learned to avoid it: Dig a hole in the sand (and if you don't have a beach, the same hint really applies most anywhere there is dirt or soil of any kind) and you won't have any trouble starting a fire or attaining it at its highest heat level and saving on charcoal or wood at all. Line your hole with foil! Put your briquettes and wood (I always use some wood with them when using this method) in your foil-lined pit and put your grate on top of the pit. Then grill away and go, darlings. The foil will reflect the heat and make it so much hotter, the briquettes will not burn as fast (saving more money) and the pit keeps the wind from blowing your fire in any one direction. Your food cooks so much faster so be careful to test it sooner. After you have finished cooking, please do so (put water on) all fires and put any leftover briquettes aside to dry so that you can use them again, and again. Ecology and not only that, but saves on your budget, my dears.

Dear Heloise: If there is a large family, lots of cereal is consumed. Why not save the fine powder or crumbs, jar them and use in meat loaf, to roll fish in, etc. Em Ce

Why not? You're a peach. Heloise

THIS COLUMN is written for you... the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Did You Know? Cowbirds deposit their eggs in the nests of 200 different bird species.

P.S. If you are using public property for heaven's sake COVER UP that hole before leaving.

Dear Heloise: This hint came from the gentleman at the asparagus farm. Save all the tough ends of the asparagus stalk, cook and puree in the blender. Makes super asparagus soup when added to white sauce or cream. The puree can be frozen in just the right amount for any size family. No waste! Sherry

Dear Heloise: I wear a lot of "footies" and I have found by sewing a tassel on the heel, it prevents them from slipping down in my shoes. I buy a yard of the tassels used to decorate curtains and it lasts for several pairs of footies. Mrs. G.S.

Looks cute too! Heloise

Dear Heloise: Do you use cast iron frying pans? I used to keep mine greased between uses so they didn't rust—very messy! Now I spray them with the non-stick vegetable spray. Works just as well no more greasy fingers. Mrs. P. L. McNair

Dear Heloise: A clip-on earring makes an attractive decoration clipped to the neck of a dress or blouse. This is a good use for a leftover earring when one is lost or for a pair, especially after ears are pierced. A pair also makes a good emergency set of cuff links. Mildred Thomas

LETTER OF LAUGHTER?

Dear Heloise:

I have just done something that I thought was just great! I had some clear nail polish that I didn't use anymore, so I took some food coloring and mixed it in the bottle of polish. Then I shook it up and let it set a while. WOW—what a color! J. E.

HOROSCOPE

by Carroll Ringer

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much confusion exists where dealing with other persons is concerned and you would be wise to make different arrangements and profit thereby. Take time for relaxation. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Take any strange suggestions that may come up in your stride. Loved one may be in a strange mood, but all is okay in p.m. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Avoid a trial higher-up who is going through some difficult situation and could take anger out on you. Be poised. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Don't permit worry to deter you from getting out into the world of activity and deriving benefits. Get information from contacts. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Find a better way to handle credit and debit matters; gain the goodwill of others. Put off debts with loved one until evening. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Focus your attention on association matters and get away from the rather difficult situation at home during day. Harmony there in p.m. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Make changes at home to add to comfort, efficiency, improve health care. Avoid those who get you down physically or spiritually. SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): You're uncertain in a.m. about how to handle obligations, but later in day can do so correctly. Be kind to mate who's worried. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Partner may give you information that is erroneous which another has imparted to him, so study it well. Be cheerful. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Encourage a co-worker who has done good work instead of finding fault over his error. You may thank yourself in a.m., but it's nothing to worry about.

No job is too tough for a Payne Air Management Specialist.

That menacing beast you're looking at is a tourist attraction in the desert near Palm Springs, California. It didn't scare us a bit.

With all its king sized problems (large rooms, small rooms, tunnels, stairs), a Payne Air Management Specialist was able to air condition it. Without any problems. Which makes our point.

If a Payne Air Management Specialist can expertly air condition this monster, he can air condition your home as well.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Sounds Like Widow Missed Boat

DEAR ABBY: My husband like to date others. She's 17 and he's 18. It isn't fair to her boyfriend, either, since he can't possibly know whether she dates him because she wants to or because she feels she has to. Please stress how important it is for young people to keep their gifts, inexpensive and impersonal.

LATER, I received a lovely letter from him expressing his sorrow. He wrote: "When things settle down, why don't you come to Florida as my houseguest for a long weekend?" He gave me some alternate dates to choose from, so I knew he was sincere.

Well, I chose a date and I went. This man is a charming, well-to-do bachelor, who is 69 but doesn't look it. He has a gorgeous home that is well staffed, a beautiful boat and a great social life (but no woman in his life from what I could see).

The closest he came to a romantic gesture was saying, "If I were 20 years younger, I'd ask you to marry me." Abby, I'd marry him in a minute, anyway.

It's been seven months since my husband's death. Do you think this man was serious? Was that a proposal? If so, how can I get him to repeat it?

DEAR ABBY: I sympathize with Rich Tramp, but even a "Tramp" has more class than a "Bumb," which I have been for the last six years. It's amazing how many variations on the name new acquaintances will come up with to avoid calling me "Bumb;" they prefer to believe that I've mispronounced it or that they've misunderstood it. I teach English, and it's funny when my students use "bumb" in their compositions when they mean "bun."

My only consolation is that I chose my name. What a "bumber?"

DEAR ABBY: You missed the boat. You should have told him (very quickly) that the age difference didn't matter. And if that was indeed a proposal, you'll hear from him again.

DEAR ABBY: Please say a word about teenage boys who buy their girlfriends expensive, extravagant gifts. Our daughter received a stereo player from her boyfriend at Christmastime, and now she feels obligated to date him exclusively even though she would

Midland Women Attend Food Policy Alliance Meet

WASHINGTON, D.C.— More than 250 members of the Farmers Union Women recently had a "fly-in" here to participate in a campaign to obtain a national food policy through the new "Alliance for Food, Employment and Resource Policy."

Among the women from Texas attending were Mrs. Naomi Chandler, Mrs. Doris Blissard and DeAnn Cravens of Midland, Mrs. Betty Harlan of Bula and Mrs. Merrill Trosper of Childress.

During their four-day stay, the women from Minnesota, North Dakota and Texas taking part in the "Women's Fly-In" attended an all-day briefing session by the National Farmers Union staff, visited their own Congressional delegation, met with officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and made sight-seeing trips.

Milt Hake, editor of "Minnesota Agriculture," described the goals of the "Alliance for Food, Employment and Resource Policy." He said the new farmer-consumer alliance is working to establish a comprehensive farm and food policy to put America back to work and allocate scarce resources and credit to productive areas.

Wendy Bauman, an administrative assistant for the National Farmers Union and United Auto Workers union originally announced the alliance at the Farmers Union convention in Portland, Ore., other organizations are now being invited to join the effort.

The Farmers Union Women were urged to become more involved in International Women's Year activities by Joy Simpson, staff member of the President's Commission on Food and Nutrition Service, asked the women to help in the outreach program to bring the food stamp program to the attention of needy persons not now being assisted.

The women had a breakfast session with Congressmen George Mahon and Senators Walter Mondale and Hubert Humphrey speaking.

Botanical Garden Gets Peking Seeds

MILLBROOK, N. Y. (AP) — A major shipment of seeds from the Peking Botanical Garden in the capital of the People's Republic of China has been received by the Cary Arboretum of the New York Botanical Garden here.

The shipment of seeds of 22 species of trees, shrubs and vines is the second received by the arboretum from mainland China. The first, consisting of nine seed packets from the Nanking Botanical Garden, reached the Millbrook scientific institution last July. It was the first shipment of plant seeds from mainland China to an American scientific institution in more than 20 years.

The shipment from Peking was arranged, in part, through the efforts of Mrs. Donald B. Straus, who visited China in January with her husband, Mrs. Straus, who is vice chairman of the board of managers of the New York Botanical Garden, took a letter and a package of seeds of 54 native American tree species from the Cary Arboretum to Peking.

San Joaquin Valley Grows Vine Raisins

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — About 175 acres of on-the-vine-dried raisins were produced in the San Joaquin Valley last summer as growers put some faith behind the new raisin-drying process developed by Vincent Petrucci, professor of viticulture at California State University in Fresno.

Although on-the-vine-dried raisins are produced elsewhere in the world, it marks the first time the process has been adapted for U.S. growers, all of whom are in the San Joaquin Valley.

Fruiting canes are severed on the spot they would be at pruning dormancy, then the vines are sprayed with a ethyl oleate-potassium spray combination which induces shrivel.

Petrucci said the vine-dried raisin is lighter colored and sweeter tasting than the sun-dried raisin, adding: "And it doesn't have the oxidized flavor of the sun-dried product, so we are tasting the Thompson seedless taste for the first time."

BROWNIES FLY-UP—The Girl Scout Fly-up Ceremony was held recently in the Bowie Elementary School cafeteria for members of Brownie Troops 332 and 46. Girls receiving Brownie Wings were Catherine Furgeson, Michelle Lauderdale, Shellie Pease, Terry Roderick, Angela Wallace, Shannon Floyd, Shannon Thomas, Sherinne Barlow and Karen Ulrich, Troop 332, and Lee Ann Gillespie, Kari McKee, Emma Wilson, Julie Griffith and Kristina Vaughn, Troop 46. Wild Hogs Set Swimming Record

SILVER SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Although they don't have the grace of an Esther Williams or the speed of a Mark Spitz, there is a group of swimmers at this central Florida nature preserve that is setting its own record.

"They" are a group of wild hogs that have been trained to swim, something that is virtually unknown in the world of the swine. Hogs can't swim, it is said, because if they tried they would slash their own throats with their sharp hooves. These hogs obviously don't know that. Instead, they spend half their day in the water, swimming out to the boats that cruise the Silver River, waiting for the boat captains to toss them slices of white bread. Whole families swim together, from a 400-pound boar to a mother hog and her litter of piglets.

It all started several years ago when Leon Cheatom, a gamekeeper, decided to try to coax the wild hogs out of the forests and closer to the river, so that tourists would be able to see them from the boats. He too believed that hogs couldn't swim. But once he succeeded in getting them to feed at the water's edge, which in itself took months of careful planning, Cheatom started tossing bread in the water to see if they would at least get their feet wet. Timidly, the hogs would wade into the river to retrieve the food, each time going deeper and deeper.

COUPLE TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Harlon G. Huddleston of 4712 Erie Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Belinda L. Huddleston, to Jerry L. Bullion, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Bullion of Odessa. The wedding is planned for 6 p.m. June 6 in the home of the bride-elect's parents. Miss Huddleston is attending Midland College. Her fiancé, a graduate of Odessa High School, is employed by R&J Service.

'Plantation Tour' Has New Addition
OCHO RIOS, Jamaica (AP) — One of Jamaica's most popular attractions, the "plantation tour," has a new addition. Prospect Estate, a 1,200-acre working-spice and cattle plantation, recently opened for visitors' tours for the first time.

The historic property has a 17th-century fortified great house, tropical gardens and a bird sanctuary. It overlooks the north coast near Ocho Rios and the gorge of the White River which flows into the Caribbean.

The tour gives visitors a first-hand look at the cultivation of sugar cane, bananas, citrus, coconuts and spice. Cattle raising is also "shown" and there is a pavilion and snack bar for visitors.

Conceal Good Luck From Opponents

There are two kinds of luck like a cold shower. South had what you suffer from and what the opponents fall into. Fortunately, the opponents don't always know what a bed of roses they have stumbled upon. Don't tell them!

DAILY QUESTION

Temperatures, Rainfall Running Below City Normal
Midland's average maximum temperature for April was 78.8 degrees and the average minimum was 47.2, according to the National Weather Service (NWS) at Midland AIT Terminal.

Both high and low averages were below normal, NWS reported. Highest reading was 97 degrees on April 17, and the lowest was 29 on April 3. Rainfall for the month totaled .09 inch for what NWS called "a dry month in what so far has been a dry year."

Precipitation for the year was gauged at 1.67 inches, .92 inch below normal. The heaviest 24-hour precipitation for the month was .06 inch on April 12-13.

Winds averaged 13.3 miles per hour, and the prevailing direction was from the south. The highest one-minute wind speed was 38 m.p.h. from the west on April 18.

Cloudless days—14 of them—prevailed. Weathermen here counted five partly cloudy days, 11 cloudy days, one day of thunderstorms and zero days of hail.

Make Arithmetic Practical To Get Children's Interest

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first of a series of 14 articles prepared by Science Research Associates, Inc., in conjunction with this newspaper that shows how everyday situations can help children learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide.

Most children—and a lot of adults—don't know that it takes 21 days from the time a hen lays an egg until the baby chick breaks through the shell.

The fact that this "incubation period" can be pinned down to a precise number of days is fascinating to young children. But it's only one of the many ways numbers can be applied to everyday life to help young children learn basic arithmetic.

There are 7 days in the week, 5 fingers on a hand, 4 legs on a table, 2 ears on a dog, 8 legs on a spider, one hole in a doughnut, 20 windows in a house, 3 wheels on a tricycle, etc. Numbers are related to almost everything.

Too often, parents overlook the fact that mathematics is not just a collection of skills and rules—it is an important part of our language. For we not only use the 26 letters of the alphabet in our daily speech and lives, we also use the 10 digits from zero to nine—to express ideas, to ask questions, to find and give answers.

If a person cannot use the language of math properly, he will be weak in basic reasoning ability. He will be, in many respects, illiterate.

Bastien To Present Program Tuesday

Dr. Joseph W. Bastien of Odessa, assistant professor of anthropology at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin will present a program, "The Qollahuaya Mountains of Bolivia," at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday for members of the Midland Archeological Society.

The meeting in the Museum of the Southwest, 1705 W. Missouri St., will be open to all interested persons.

Dr. Bastien, a native of St. Cloud, Minn., has been associated with UTPB since last September. He holds a B.A. degree from Maryknoll College at Glen Ellyn, Ill., masters degrees from State University of New York and Cornell University, and the Ph.D. from Cornell.

He has taught at Johnson State College and Cornell and from 1966 to 1969 was director of the Leadership School for Aymaras in Bolivia. Prior to that he directed a Bolivian youth center in La Paz for three years.

During his years of residence in South America, Dr. Bastien made many visits to the Qollahuaya Mountains, resulting in the publication of several scientific papers on the mountains and the Qollahuayan rituals, the latter an ethnographic account of the symbolic relations of man and land in an Andean village. He has traveled extensively in various other parts of South America.

Dr. Bastien has conducted courses in cultural and social anthropology, as well as those in applied, urban and rural anthropology, comparative religions, South American history and pre-Columbian history of South America. He holds membership in the American Anthropological Association and the Rural Sociological Association.

Piano Auditions Beginning Today

Keyboard students of Midland and area piano teachers will participate in annual auditions conducted by the National Guild of Piano Teachers.

The auditions began today and will continue through May 22 in First Christian Church with William L. Gillock as the adjudicator. Gillock, of Dallas, is a teacher, lecturer and keyboard workshop leader who is widely known for his compositions and piano teaching materials.

The NGPT auditions, billed as "The Biggest Piano Event in the World," are held in numerous cities and towns throughout Texas and across the nation. In all, more than 9,000 music teachers affiliated with NGPT will present an estimated 70,000 students for ratings in this year's auditions, said Mrs. Hermann D. Williams, chairman of the Guild event in Midland.

Mrs. Williams explained that students do not compete with each other in the auditions but play against a standard of excellence. Awards are gold, silver or bronze pins, certificates, high school diplomas in piano for graduating seniors, founder's medals and special medals to those who qualify. Scholarships of $100 also are awarded to qualified diploma candidates.

Highest award in the auditions is the coveted "Critic's Circle" designation, Mrs. Williams said. Ratings are given on memorized works in piano literature ranging from classical to modern.

The National Guild of Piano Teachers was founded in the late 1920s under the leadership of Dr. Irl Allison of Austin.

Organists Meet At Big Spring

Members of the Midland-based West Texas chapter of the American Guild of Organists held their recent monthly meeting in Big Spring where they were guests of AGO members Linda Lassiter and Charles Parham for organ demonstrations at two Big Spring churches.

Following dinner in the Howard County city, the group assembled in St. Mary's Episcopal Church where Miss Lassiter serves as organist and choir director. The parish has recently acquired a new pipe organ built by the Cassavant firm of Canada and the visitors participated in an "organ crawl" into the installation to inspect the 15-rank instrument.

During the visit to St. Mary's, the Rev. Steve Birdwell, rector, led the group in an evensong service.

The organists then proceeded to Big Spring's First United Methodist Church where organist-choirmaster Parham played a short recital and directed the handbell choir in a musical program.

Moe Howard, Last Of Three Stooges Comedy Team, Dies At Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Moe Howard, the last member of the Three Stooges comedy team, died Sunday night of lung cancer. He was 78.

Howard was the mop-haired leader of the slapstick trio, whose bullying bluster invariably received its just deserts in the end from his partners.

Howard was a boyhood friend of comedian Ted Healy and they teamed in the early 1920s in a vaudeville act which featured Howard heckling Healy from the audience.

Howard's older brother, Shemp, joined the act in 1925 and the group was expanded shortly after to include Larry Fine, who died late last year.

The group performed under different names, but clicked on the vaudeville circuit and on Broadway as Ted Healy and His Stooges.

Signed by MGM, the group featured its unique brand of knockabout comedy in a number of movies, beginning with "Soup to Nuts" in 1930 and "Dancing Lady," which starred Clark Gable and Joan Crawford.

Howard's original group started breaking up, with Shemp leaving to appear solo in MGM comedies. He was replaced by another Howard brother, Jerry, who was called Curly because of his shaved head.

In 1934 Healy left to pursue a career as a character actor and the Three Stooges, as the group renamed itself, left MGM to make a series of short comedy films for Columbia.

They acted under the Columbia banner for the next 24 years. Illness forced Curly's retirement in 1946. He died in 1952.

The Three Stooges' membership after Shemp's death in 1955 included Joe Besser and later, Joe de Rita.

Television brought the group even greater fame.

Funeral services are pending for Howard, who completed his autobiography three weeks ago. He is survived by his widow Helen; a son, Paul, and a daughter, Joan, the wife of Norman Maurer who directed several of the later Three Stooges films.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, May 5, the 125th day of 1975. There are 240 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1961, astronaut Alan Shepard Jr. was rocketed 115 miles into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla. He was the first U.S. space explorer.

On this date:
In 1821, Napoleon Bonaparte died in exile on the island of St. Helena.

In 1824, British troops captured Rangoon, Burma.

In 1864, Union troops were routed by Confederates in the civil war battle of the Wilderness, west of Fredericksburg, Va.

In 1936, war ended in Ethiopia as the capital, Addis Ababa, fell to Italian troops.

In 1955, West Germany became a sovereign state as the terms of the Paris agreements of 1954 went into effect.

In 1945, German troops in Denmark surrendered as the Western allies were near victory in Europe in World War II.

Ten years ago: government sources in Washington released a list of 54 Communist and Castroist leaders accused of seizing control of a rebellion in the Dominican Republic.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon assured Congress that American military forces that had pushed into Cambodia would be withdrawn in three to seven weeks.

One year ago: South Yemen released an American teacher, Edward Franklin of Noho, Ill., after he had served 16 months in prison as a spy for taking pictures near a military installation.

Today's birthday: Food expert James Beard is 70.
Thought for today: Dark secrets are the ones that soonest come to light — anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that slaves took place on the Massachusetts island of Martha's Vineyard in the first days of the American Revolution.

15 Tons Of Gold Left In Vaults Of Saigon Bank

The Los Angeles Times WITH THE EVACUATION FLEET — There were 15 tons of gold in the vaults of Central Bank when South Vietnam surrendered, an American official said.

It was part of the gold store left behind by the French when independence was granted in the 1860s and consequently is now worth many times the original price.

North Vietnam will almost certainly soon be recognized as the legal owner of the gold, the official theorized. In addition, Hanoi may get about $1 million in gold which was deposited in Switzerland by South Vietnam as part of international monetary agreements.

Sources were aware of efforts by some South Vietnamese officials to get the gold flown out during the evacuation period. All efforts were believed to have failed because the operation was too large scale to be hidden and the airlines would not co-operate. Also, too many officials necessarily had to be involved and, in the confused last days, they could not agree.

Runoff Develops At Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Nearly 50 per cent of the registered voters, a record for a city election here, turned out Saturday as banker Luther Jones and incumbent Jason Luby earned spots in a May 20 runoff for mayor.

A total of 36,817 cast ballots in the election as Jones, a newcomer to city politics, received 9,914 votes to 9,097 for Luby, an Independent. Jones was backed by the United Citizens for Progress Party.

Catholic Receives Protestant Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University President William J. McGill, an Irish Catholic, has received the Golden Rule Award of the St. George Association, an organization of Protestant New York City police officers.

Finally, a way to quit smoking.

Sworn statement of Charles Miller
"I really didn't expect it would work. I was very cynical. I was a heavy smoker for 37 years and I quit in five days."

Sworn statement of Joe Brockley
"54 years I smoked... and approximately $10,000 for cigarettes... Maybe it don't work like this on everybody but the first day that I went... I never wanted a cigarette... and my mind came back, you know... I'd say 75% of what it was."

Sworn statement of Mariellen Tissot
"I really wanted to quit but I couldn't do it on my own... and after going to the Schick Center, it kind of took away that horrible craving that you get. I'd say go to the Schick Center because it really works!"

Sworn statement of G. R. Ya Ince
"The big difference between cold turkey and the Schick Center is... after the first or second day I had no desire to smoke."

Modern Day Miracle

Newspapers normally receive many letters and articles on a wide variety of subjects — some good, some not so good.

The Clyde Journal, a well-edited West Texas weekly newspaper, recently received and published a most interesting letter, from a customer, Mrs. Mary Jo Rose, which is worth passing on to a wider audience. It reads:

"In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it impossible, my financial condition being what it is due to federal laws, state laws, brother-in-laws and outlaws.

"Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, income tax, amusement tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, water tax, sewer tax, sales tax, liquor tax, furniture tax, excise tax and telephone tax.

"I am also required to get a business license, car license, operator's license, truck license, and not to mention a marriage license and a dog license.

"I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing into life; to woman's relief, unemployed relief, and gold-digger's relief, to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Salvation Army, Community Chest, Red Cross, Blue Cross, Purple Cross, White Cross and the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, YWCA, Home

It Was Just Great!
The weatherman said late Saturday that fair skies and equally fair-to-summery and breezy weather again would prevail in Midland and over much of West Texas Sunday and Monday.

This is just what it took to bring on fog and a light mist early Sunday, followed by two of three hard showers of rain shortly after lunch. It was by far the best rainfall of the year to date. Many streets were flooded and others were curb-full. It was made to order for lawns, gardens, fields and rangeland.

Thank you, Mr. Weatherman, and please keep up the good work.

NICK THIMMESCH

for Wayward Girls, Boys Town and Boys Ranch.

"For my own safety, I am required to carry health insurance, life insurance, fire insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance and compensation insurance.

"My business is so governed that it is no easy matter to find out who owns it; I am expected, inspected, suspected, disrespected, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every need, deed, desire and hope of the Human Race.

"Simply because I refuse to donate something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed until I am almost ruined.

"I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that happened, I would not have been able to enclose this check. The wolf that comes to so many doors these days just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money."

And that's the way it is in Clyde and other places across the land these days. The Clyde Journal editor could have added the comment, "Thank the Lord for the sale of those pups, which helps keep the wolf away from our door."

Bible Verse Behold, I am the Lord, the God of all flesh: is there anything too hard for me? — Jeremiah 32:27.

WASHINGTON—It's no good for President Ford to urge Americans to close ranks and forget Vietnam. It's no good for Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to proclaim that tragic ordeal is now behind us. Vietnam is fresh in mind, is buried in our souls and will not be forgotten. We are not mindless robots moved by push-button admonitions.

Whatever a person's view on this national disgrace, it is clear that the United States has suffered a great defeat. However bravely U.S. troops fought, our military goals weren't achieved. However much negotiating we conducted, however much we leaned on "detente" or the Thieu government, we never got a political settlement. However much we pontificated about democracy and freedom for Vietnam, we wound up witnessing another conquest by a Communist dictatorship.

How can the President and Secretary Kissinger expect the American people, Hawks and Doves alike, to forget these realities? The American involvement in Vietnam was a mistake in the beginning, middle and end. The establishment intellectuals who thought it clever for us in the early sixties to conduct a counterinsurgency war in Vietnam failed, despite their Ph.D.s, to learn that once a nation is in a war against a heroic enemy like North Vietnam it must either win or lose.

Many a truck driver, bartender or longshoreman could have told that to President John F. Kennedy who started

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The late Nikita Khrushchev correctly sized up the Vietnam war during a talk with American Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in July, 1962. As Thompson later recounted the conversation in a secret cable, Khrushchev told him brusquely: "In South Vietnam, the United States has stumbled into a bog."

How did we happen to get mired for a decade in the Vietnam bog? Perhaps I can help answer his historic question. The two men who called the shots during this crucial period, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, discussed their decisions with me off the record. I have found my notes of these conversations.

In the early 1960s, the Pentagon tried to pressure President Kennedy to send combat troops to Vietnam. A combat force was needed, the Joint Chiefs urged, to defend U.S. facilities and to bolster the South Vietnamese.

Kennedy told me he had no intention of sending a military expedition to Vietnam. The Bay of Pigs had taught him, he said, not to trust the Pentagon's advice. Vietnam could become a Sea of Pigs, he feared, sucking the United States deeper and deeper into the maelstrom.

He was troubled, nevertheless, by the infiltration of North Vietnamese regulars into the south. He described this movement of troops and arms across international boundaries as "a new form of aggression."

But the way to fight a guerrilla war, he suggested, was with guerrilla tactics. He wanted to develop the best counter-insurgency force in the world and send them to Vietnam to train the South Vietnamese in anti-guerrilla warfare, he said.

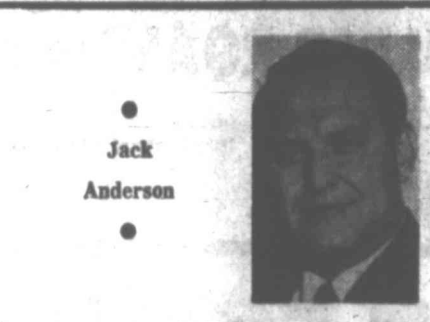

Kennedy rejected the Pentagon's call to send combat troops to Vietnam, but as a compromise he sent over more in looting of American homes in Saigon and even gunfire at Americans? While Kissinger read the funeral service, President Ford met with sheep and turkey farmers having trouble with coyotes. That really happened on the afternoon of April 29, 1975.

With Saigon conquered and quickly renamed "Ho Chi Minh City," there were mighty cheers in Hanoi and Peking and muffled ones in Moscow and Stockholm. A small band of antiwar protesters gathered in the park across from the White House to chant their support of the Communist "liberators."

There is no way Mr. Ford or Dr. Kissinger can get us, Hawks and Doves, to hold our American heads high over this one. A personal note. As a young journalist in Washington, I made a radio program, in 1962, questioning the dispatch of 15,000 American soldiers to South Vietnam with orders to shoot the Viet Cong. It was chic in those days, in liberal circles, to back the new kind of war espoused by New Frontiersmen.

Once we were in that war, I was one of the impatient ones who favored carrying the war to North Vietnam, to make the Communists defend their own soil, to destroy their war-making capacity and to end the conflict as quickly and mercifully as possible. This was a naive notion that if you're fighting a heroic foe you must fight heroically until victory and then get out. But the technocrats in control had a grand design to stabilize Vietnam without provoking the Chinese (whom I still don't think

He became increasingly skeptical, however, of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam jungles. Shortly before his death, he indicated to me that he wanted to pull all American military people out of Vietnam. He asked me what I thought the political repercussions would be.

The Country Parson By Frank A. Clark

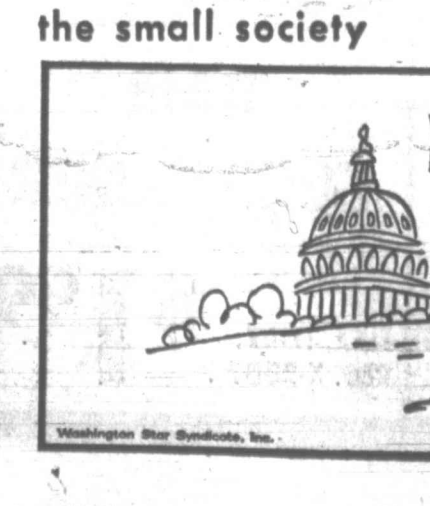

"When you're late for church you have to park farther away and sit closer up."

Finally, I was wrong in believing Nixon-Kissinger's argument that the Paris accords, Vietnamization and our new cozy relationship with Moscow and Peking (superpower politics) would insure eventual peace, despite the presence of 225,000 Communist troops in South Vietnam.

Not to grieve over our failure and defeat, not to feel remorse over breaking our word to the South Vietnamese whom we engulfed on a massive scale in this horrible war, would be damned foolish.

The North Vietnamese are triumphant. They persisted, fought and died heroically, and who can deny their victory? The Americans who fought, died, were wounded or taken prisoner were heroic, too, though their leaders failed them.

INSIDE REPORT— 'Option 4' -- A Real Blessing In Disguise

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The wrenching horror of the last Americans being helicoptered out of Saigon in the dead of a stormy night threatened by enemy fire resulted from American miscalculation of Communist strategy, but that miscalculation saved thousands of Vietnamese lives.

It bought time, however dangerously, for evacuation of South Vietnamese who had worked as allies of the U.S. for 15 years or more and to whom this country owed a debt of honor.

Thus, the miscalculation of Communist strategy in the battle for Saigon at highest levels here and in Saigon turned out as something of a blessing in disguise.

As late as last Monday, the American ambassador in Saigon, Graham Martin, felt the odds were above 50-50 that with final liquidation of former President Nguyen Van Thieu's regime, and his replacement by Gen. Duong Van Minh, Hanoi would stop the unequal military struggle for Saigon and negotiate what amounted to terms of South Vietnamese surrender.

Indeed, secret messages from Martin, a brave and stubborn diplomat who lost a son in the Vietnam war, made this forecast to President Ford: the lull late last week in the battle for Saigon and its suburbs signalled Hanoi's willingness to strike a deal with incoming President Minh allowing the Americans "two to three weeks" to complete the evacuation.

That forecast was buttressed — but just how much is still unknown — by

Evans Novak

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's strenuous and highly secret diplomatic approaches to the Soviet Union through Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin here. President Ford and Kissinger were seeking Soviet aid in their effort to do exactly what Martin was trying to do in Saigon: persuade Hanoi to accept negotiated settlement at the ultimate moment of American catastrophe.

What happened next in the ghastly scenario of this country's worst foreign disaster is now history. Not only did Hanoi and its Communist allies in South Vietnam reject the negotiations route, but the Soviet Union failed in any major way to change the course of events, either because of inability to influence Hanoi or because it did not choose to intervene.

Indeed, that result was probably predictable. For days Hanoi had repeatedly raised the ante for negotiating a ceasefire: get rid of the "Thieu clique"; dismantle the military establishment; dismantle the administrative establishment; throw out all American "advisers"; ad infinitum.

In the Pentagon, military commanders showed growing strain over the delays imposed by Martin and Kissinger. Their two highest options for removing the stranded and endangered Americans were to fly them out by commercial aircraft or by special military flights. Both those options, plus Option 3 — special military aircraft plus a sealfit — went down the drain when Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airfield came under heavy rocket fire.

That left only Option 4 — the perilous but successful helicopter escape from downtown Saigon. To the military brass, Option 4 was to be avoided at all costs as carrying unnecessary dangers. In Congress, so infuriated was the Democratic majority by the delay in evacuating Americans that unprecedented restraints were shackled on the President in the bill — still not sent to the Oval Office — financing the evacuation and providing humanitarian aid for Vietnamese refugees.

But Kissinger, fully backed by the President, controlled the timetable. Both he and Martin were deeply motivated by an obligation that angry Congressmen and Senators did not want to think about. That was the American obligation to tens of thousands of Vietnamese who followed Washington's lead and were marked for Communist revenge.

Thus, Martin's cabled messages to Washington predicting Communist agreement on a negotiated ceasefire, together with Kissinger's secret diplomatic approaches to the Russians, became a blessing in disguise, buying time, dangerously but fruitfully.

If the Americans had been rushed out in mid-April as demanded by frenzied members of Congress and anxious Pentagon officials, it is certain that only a small portion of the 55,000 South Vietnamese would ever have followed. That would have deepened the tragedy, presenting a morbid image of the free world's superpower leaving to Communist revenge its own best friends and allies among the South Vietnamese.

There was another example of this emotional commitment in 1961 when John Kennedy refused to forsake Cuban refugees who landed in Cuba during the Bay of Pigs disaster. He literally bought their freedom from Fidel Castro, the retrieval of some slight national honor from the wreckage.

Americans React In Confusion To End Of War In Asia

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The guns are silent and few are sorry for that.

But to a nation accustomed to celebrating peace with ticker tape, the war in Vietnam ended in the minds of many Americans, only in disillusionment, frustration, anger, confusion.

"A senseless tragedy," said Constance Gordon, a Chicago librarian, interviewed after church services. "More than 55,000 killed and hundreds of thousands wounded — what do you say to that? Senseless tragedy is the only way to put it." "I breathed a sigh of relief when it was finally over," said Richard Scott, a 33-year-old telephone company executive from Omaha. "But it was a sad sigh. Even with the kind of effort we gave, it was all really to no avail."

Those were the fundamental feelings of scores of their countrymen questioned at random by The Associated Press at their jobs and homes and churches in cities and towns and villages across the land. Some, utterly drained by the 12-year Indochina experience, were too benumbed even to follow closely the daily accounts of the fall of Saigon; a Vietnam veteran in Philadelphia, preoccupied with his own problem of unemployment, was not aware a day later that the war had ended.

Others, as if reflecting the promise of spring after winter's rains and ruins, preferred to look not behind but ahead with hope.

"It is time that as a country we begin anew, that our centennial and the end of our involvement in Southeast Asia may offer us an opportunity to recapture the ideals upon which our country was founded," said The Rev. William Fegg in a Sunday sermon at the Ontario Street Methodist Church in Buffalo, N.Y.

Edgar Crossman, a New York stockbroker, had been a staunch supporter of that involvement. "But I'm past feeling defeated," he said. "I would rather look to the future."

The underlying national mood — dejection tempered by optimism — had, however, a number of shades.

To those whom the war touched personally the end was especially cruel. Mrs. Howard Donald of Tamaqua, Pa., lost a son. He was 19. "He thought he was doing the right thing and was there for the right purpose," she said. "Now it's all gone down the drain and it hurts. What did he die for?"

Joe Funn, a Wheeling, W.Va., banker, also lost a son, but his frustration was of a different sort. "Yes, I'm disillusioned, but not bitter," he said. "My wife and I are disillusioned with the government officials who would not allow the military to win the war. That is the tragedy of Vietnam." Unlike Funn, some who shared his view still harbored bitterness.

"In my opinion, with our failure to win, we dealt a death blow to the democratic way of life," said Richmond, Va., City Councilman Nathan J. Forb, a lumberman. "It was the saddest day of my life when it sank in that we had lost the war in Vietnam."

Azhariah Jennings, a 52-year-old father of three, from Peabody, Mass., said he was a hawk during the war and his feelings haven't changed. "What we've done is taken the easy way out. Vietnam represents a lack of will, and it doesn't portend well for the future."

An Air Force veteran in Spokane, Wash., said: "We should have blown Hanoi off the map five years ago."

A Dallas housewife: "We made kljots of ourselves."

Curiously, or perhaps not so curiously, persons now claiming to have been opposed to the war all along seemed far in excess of the numbers who actively opposed it during its progress.

"We never should have been there in the first place," was a line tirelessly repeated. When M. A. Duvernay said it, however, he seemed utterly believable.

"We never knew the politics of the war," said Duvernay, a portly, 54-year-old New Orleans postman. "We were like the British in the American Revolution, out there fighting a war we didn't like or understand, getting shot by people in the woods."

FPC Begins Hearings On Routes For Northeast Alaska Gas Pipeline

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
WASHINGTON (AP) — Each summer, nesting birds flock to a wildlife refuge in north-eastern Alaska. Caribou and other animals migrate through the wilderness area.

If a natural gas transportation company has its way, a pipeline will cut through the refuge along a route that environmentalists claim will upset the birds' propagating and migrating patterns. But the company says that route would save money for natural gas customers.

The Federal Power Commission begins hearings today on the proposal and on a proposed alternate route that would involve converting the gas to a liquid and transporting it 1,900 miles by ship.

The commission is faced with competing plans offered by the El Paso Alaska Co., an affiliate of the El Paso Natural Gas Co., and the Alaskan Arctic Gas Pipeline Co., a group of pipeline and oil companies.

The hearings, which are expected to continue until next autumn, will result in the commission deciding whether to grant permits to either company, or to recommend a compromise route.

They will be held before Administrative Law Judge Nahum Litt and will be divided into two phases, with the first considering technological and policy matters, and the second focusing on environmental problems.

El Paso wants to build an 800-mile pipeline, roughly parallel to the trans-Alaska oil pipeline now under construction from Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's North Slope to Point Barrow on the state's southern coast.

At Point Barrow, the gas would be liquefied, pumped onto a tanker, and shipped to Point Conception near Los Angeles where it would be converted back to gas and piped to various distributing companies.

The route offered by Alaskan Arctic would run a total of 2,635 miles, cutting through the Arctic wildlife refuge and the Yukon Territory, and splitting in the province of Alberta for two destinations: California and southern Pennsylvania.

The two competing companies are transportation firms and do not own the estimated 22 trillion cubic feet of natural gas believed to be in the North Slope fields. But they hope to pump one trillion cubic feet of gas a year to distribution companies in the lower 48 states.

Ronald Wilson, an attorney representing an environmentalist consortium composed of the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society, the National Audubon Society, and the Alaskan Conservation Society, said the Alaskan Arctic plan to run the pipeline through the refuge "is not a fit use for something set aside for wildlife."

Researcher Says Coal Could Last 600 Years

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Coal is available in sufficient quantities to fuel the United States out of an energy shortage for the next 600 years, according to researchers at the Texas Transportation Institute.

"This is the fuel with the greatest potential for development," said Roy A. Smith, a researcher at the institute headquartered at Texas A&M University. "Not only can coal be used to fire electrical power plants, but technology is being developed to convert it into synthetic oil and gas."

Smith said because much of the low-sulfur coal reserves are in the western states, more efficient means of transportation are necessary to get the coal to other parts of the country. He said for distances of 100 miles or more, freight costs constitute at least half the cost to the consumer.

Coal gasification — the process of converting coal into substitute natural gas — was developed in 1936, Smith said, but it was ignored until it became apparent in the 1960s that oil and gas reserves were being depleted.

The researcher claimed data shows that natural gas is deregulated, the prices will go high enough to make the synthetic gas competitive at slightly over $1 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Smith said synthetic crude oil can be produced from a process known as "coal liquefaction," and he predicts that if costs of imported crude remain at present levels, "synthetic crude oil could be an attractive substitute or at least provide a potent bargaining chip in foreign negotiations."

Coal can also be converted to electricity, Smith said, but the problem with all three processes is the high costs for transporting the coal.

Louisiana Fete Opens In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Five justices of the state supreme court and a throng of lower court judges, attorneys and professors from Louisiana took places today at graffiti-covered student desks in a lecture hall of the Paris Law School.

They were beginning a week-long celebration in Paris of the 150th anniversary of Louisiana's civil code, which is derived from the Napoleonic Code of France.

New Saigon Government Says Exploration Wanted

By JONATHAN C. RANDAL
The Washington Post

PARIS — The new government in Saigon wants western oil companies to continue offshore exploration and drilling in South Vietnam, according to informed sources.

The concessions signed by the now overthrown South Vietnamese government with Gulf Oil Corp. of the United States and the French government-owned ELF will have to be renegotiated, the sources said. But the new arrangements are not expected to be any more unfavorable to the oil firms than recent deals worked out with a major petroleum-exporting countries.

Technology Needed

The Provisional Revolutionary Government's willingness to continue cooperation with the Western oil firms is believed dictated by the realization that only Western technology can bring the oil on stream quickly and supply the hard currency badly needed for important reconstruction projects.

Observers were encouraged by the implied pragmatism based on the new Saigon authorities' conviction that despite a desire for self-sufficiency outside aid is required for efficient reconstruction.

However, the sources stressed that the Communists — both in Hanoi and in Saigon — will tend to be extremely touchy about any foreign aid which might smack of infringing on Vietnamese independence and sovereignty.

Seen as bearing out the Communists' pragmatic approach were recent statements such as North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Doi's May Day greetings to the American people and by PRG leader Nguyen Huu Tho's recent assurance in Da Nang "not excluding economic relations with the United States."

Problems Seen

The sources expected the new authorities to be on their good behavior in promoting the much promised national concord and reconciliation during a transition period.

Such expected moderation is dictated by various problems, both political and practical.

Given the priority of winning a long and costly war, neither North Vietnam nor the PRG have enough trained cadres to administer South Vietnam by themselves.

South Vietnam is expected initially to be administered by a mixture of North Vietnamese cadres; PRG officials, many of whom went north after the French Indochina War in 1954; and cooperative civil servants who worked for successive South Vietnamese administrations.

The use of the former regime's cadres is expected to be especially widespread in technical skills — such as running the power plants or water works — where the new leadership has no trained manpower pool to draw on.

These holdovers are not expected to be given positions of real authority and are likely to be shunted aside as the new regime gradually produces its own, ideologically safe, civil servants in sufficient quantity, the sources said.

Both because of practical problems and a desire to reassure the south's middle class the sources expected a three-to-five year transition period before north and south Vietnam are formally reunified under northern leadership.

A sign of the new pragmatism, the sources noted, was the decision to maintain the use of the South Vietnamese piaster alongside the North Vietnamese dong rather than imposing the sole use of Hanoi's currency.

Despite such signs of moderation, the sources fully expected a harsher economic and social policy to be instituted even before formal reunification is carried out.

Winter Hurls Late Snowstorm At West

By The Associated Press
Winter clambered over the Rockies and intermountain region early today, dumping from three to nine inches of snow in parts of Utah and Montana.

War Photographer Michel Laurent Killed In Battle

PARIS (AP) — Michel Laurent, 29, a former Associated Press Pulitzer prize-winning photographer, was killed April 28 covering one of the last battles in South Vietnam. His body was identified Saturday by the French ambassador in Saigon, who found Laurent buried at the scene of a clash 15 miles northeast of the capital. A Frenchman, Laurent joined the Gamma photo agency in 1973 after working a number of years for The Associated Press. With Horst Fias, he won the 1972 Pulitzer for photographs of Bangladesh soldiers executing turncoats after the India-Pakistan war.

A heavy snow warning was issued through today for parts of Montana, where a foot or more snow was predicted. Heavy snow warnings were also posted for Colorado, and travel advisories were issued for the mountains of southeastern Idaho, where heavy snow was likely. Strong winds in parts of Arizona and the mountain areas of Southern California also resulted in travel advisories being issued. Before dawn two inches of snow fell at Flagstaff, Ariz., and both Bozeman and Butte, Mont. added one inch for a total depth of five inches.

Up to three inches of rain in the Southeastern states Saturday caused some flooding in the Carolinas, but by Sunday the rain accumulation slowed down considerably.

Showers and thunderstorms damped areas from Central Texas into Louisiana, with some danger of flash flooding, and from northeastern Iowa into Wisconsin. Rain and drizzle covered much of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and southern New England. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 25 at Ely, Nev., to 80 at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, Tex.

New TMA Leader Says More Medical Schools No Solution

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The new president of the Texas Medical Association says the construction of more medical schools in the state is not the solution to health manpower shortages in rural areas.

"I can't say the association opposes the construction of more medical schools in Texas. It hasn't been an issue with the association," says Dr. Nym L. Barker of Paris.

"I oppose it (new medical school construction). And I'll probably catch hell for saying so," he added.

Barker denied any effort by "organized medicine" to limit the number of physicians in the state.

A family practitioner who still makes house calls, Barker said the state's six medical schools can produce more physicians if given adequate funding.

"Truly, when the present six schools are operating at their peak to produce quality physicians, we will be graduating more doctors than we can find places to practice," he said.

At full capacity, these schools can turn out 1,200 doctors a year, Barker said. Now they are producing approximately 800.

he said, adding that more funding is needed for the present schools and that he intends to work for that.

Barker commented in an interview published in the Dallas Times Herald Sunday following his election to head the physician group.

Delegates to the medical association's 106th annual convention here over the weekend deferred action on a controversial self-insurance proposal by sending it to a committee for further study.

The powerful 250-member TMA House of Delegates took the action as the convention ended.

The self-insurance proposal, sponsored by the Lamar-Delta County Medical Society, would have let Texas doctors form their own professional liability malpractice insurance company.

Opponents said they believed the malpractice insurance crisis may be solved by legislative action by November, when the delegates meet again.

As a result of these failures, the minorities who are supposed to be assisted by federal anti-discrimination efforts are understandably frustrated, said Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., fiscal-policy subcommittee chairman of the Joint Economic Committee.

One-fifth of the "affirmative action" hiring plans approved by the Pentagon for its contractors do not meet federal guidelines, the GAO said.

Seventy per cent of the plans approved by the General Services Administration, the government's housekeeping agency, were deficient and did not have sufficient safeguards to promote job equality, the GAO added.

Discrimination Law Not Enforced, Says GAO Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators are criticizing the government for lax enforcement of rules requiring federal contractors to end job discrimination against blacks and women.

In a report Sunday, the General Accounting Office said it found a pattern of "almost non-existence of enforcement actions." It said the pattern could lead contractors to believe that "the compliance agencies do not intend to enforce" regulations against discrimination.

Retirement Amendment Includes Pay Increases

DALLAS (AP) — Elected state officials would get an increase of as much as 66 per cent in retirement pay under an amendment approved by the legislature that was never debated in the Texas House or Senate.

Four Top Officials In Texas Boast $45 Million Net Worth

DALLAS (AP) — The four top men in Texas government each have assets in seven figures, with Gov. Dolph Briscoe leading the way with a net worth estimated at $40 million.

The financial holdings of Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Atty. Gen. John Hill and House Speaker Bill Clayton were reported Sunday in the Dallas Times Herald. Their wealth is dominated by holdings in land and bank stock.

Briscoe did not file a detailed statement of his worth, complying only with the state financial disclosure law.

Hobby listed his assets as $3.9 million and his net worth at $590,483.

Hill's net worth is shown as $3.2 million, based on $3.4 million in assets.

Clayton's assets are listed as $1.1 million, with a net worth of $733,049.

The House speaker also filed a copy of his income tax returns in addition to a detailed financial statement. He called the state reporting law a "sham" because it does not "indicate much about an elected official's business investments."

Elected officials are required under state law to complete a standard form which shows areas of financial interest along with acquisitions and sales they make from year to year. The statements filed by Hobby, Hill and Clayton also include details of assets and liabilities.

In addition to his $63,000 salary as governor, Briscoe's disclosure form indicates he receives income primarily from his ranch holdings and a partnership in the Uvalde Wool and Mohar Co.

included in Briscoe's ranch holdings are the Briscoe Ranch, and Olinthos and Green Ranch, which cover 325,253 acres in 11 South Texas counties.

The Briscoe ranch, according to the financial statement, also holds substantial shares in eight Texas banks.

The statement also shows Briscoe owes amounts greater than $5,000 each to New York Life Insurance Co., Bankers Life Co., Federal Land Bank Association, Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. and Alamo National Bank.

Hobby, former editor of the Houston Post, has $2.85 million tied up in real estate and still owns nearly $275,000 in Houston Post stock. The lieutenant governor also owns stock in KPRC-TV and KPRC Radio in Houston. He also lists $3.3 million in debts.

Hill, a Houston lawyer before his 1972 election as attorney general, has extensive bank stock, real estate and oil company holdings in three states.

Clayton reported a gross income of $80,757 last year.

'Retrofit' Gaining In Popular Usage

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — Many words have just happened and have become part of our vernacular. "Snafu" probably is the best known. Now "retrofit" is gaining in popular usage.

Today, retrofit means insulating one's home to make it more energy-efficient, to conform with new government standards. During World War II it meant constantly refitting military aircraft tanks and naval vessels which became obsolete even before they were completed. Each plane or ship was provided with the latest gear — often on a weekly basis as technology advanced.

The resurrection of retrofit occurred during the energy crisis hearing in Washington in 1973 in testimony by energy experts of Certain-teed Products here. They pointed out that millions of American homes required attic retrofitting with six inches of fiber-glass insulation (or its R-19 equivalent). Conforming to these retrofit standards the nation could save up to 30 per cent on annual heating and cooling bills.

President Invited To Texas Meeting

DALLAS (AP) — President Ford has been urged to visit the Dallas-Fort Worth area this summer by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and other members of the Texas congressional delegation.

DALLAS (AP) — Former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has signed on as board chairman of Dallas Bank & Trust Co., one of three defendants in the Securities & Exchange Commission's lawsuit which grew out of the Sharptown bank scandal in 1971.

Barnes' political downfall was attributed to that scandal, but he was never directly implicated in the case which caused a housecleaning in the Texas legislature.

Third Twin Heart Surgery Reported By Barnard's Team

CAPE TOWN — Dr. Christian Barnard's surgical team Sunday night performed the third heart transplant in the new "twin heart" technique, according to unofficial reports from the Grootte Schuur hospital.

Dr. Barnard, who first performed the twin heart operation last November, was absent. In this technique, the diseased heart is left in place and the patient receives a second heart which is healthy.

The recipient was a 40-year-old man but he was not identified because of local legislation on transplants. The donor was a man of mixed-blood who died after a fall.

The first patient of the twin-technique, Ivan Taylor, who received the transplant in November, died in March. The second man Leonard Goss, who underwent the operation in January, is still alive.

Dr. Barnard performed the first heart transplant in December 1967.

Retirement Amendment Includes Pay Increases

DALLAS (AP) — Elected state officials would get an increase of as much as 66 per cent in retirement pay under an amendment approved by the legislature that was never debated in the Texas House or Senate.

The amendment raising state officials' pay was in an obscure provision buried in the middle of a long section in the State Employees Retirement Act.

The amendment was never discussed in either the House or the Senate. House sponsor Bob Vale of San Antonio told the News the amendment was drawn up by someone in the state employees' retirement system.

Under that system, a retired legislator could eventually earn up to $18,600 a year, although no one now retired would qualify for the maximum. The current maximum is $10,000 per year.

Twins, Brewers Triumph

By The Associated Press

Minnesota's Rod Carew and New York's Chris Chambliss were 90 feet away from glory Sunday, but they came up a couple of feet short.

Carew and Chambliss were both tossed out at home moments before Houston's Bob Watson scored major league baseball's one millionth run Sunday. Watson collected $1,000 and a gold watch for his feat. Carew could take consolation in the Twins' 6-3 victory over Kansas City. Chambliss and the Yankees got nothing but an 11-4 pasting from Milwaukee.

Chambliss missed his chance in the fourth when Milwaukee first baseman George Scott caught him trying to score on a grounder.

Minnesota got seven scoreless innings of relief pitching from Jim Hughes to hand the Royals their 10th loss in the last 13 games. Hughes surrendered just four hits to earn his first major league victory.

In Milwaukee, Sixto Lezcano collected four hits and Scott had three as the Brewers ran their winning streak to five games. Milwaukee built a 9-0 lead against three Yankee pitchers after five innings and coasted home. The Brewers led second-place Detroit by two games in the East Division.

Graig Nettles belted a three-run homer for New York.

Rangers 1, Angels 0

Jeff Burroughs' fourth-inning home run accounted for the game's only run. Bill Hands, who was ready to quit baseball last year until Texas Manager Billy Martin talked him out of it, held California on five hits through 8 1/3 innings and then got clutch relief help from Jim Umberger and Steve Foucault to preserve the win in the ninth.

M-Cubs Win In 10th Inning, 4-2

SHREVEPORT—The Midland Cubs pushed across two runs in the top of the 10th inning Sunday to topple the Shreveport Captains, 4-2, in a Texas League baseball game.

Trailing 2-0 going into the eighth inning, Wayne Tyrone hit a homer over the wall in left-center to cut the lead to 2-1 and then in the ninth, the Cubs tied the game, 2-2, to send it into extra innings.

Mike Sember started off the ninth with an infield hit, Aaron Randall moved him to second on a sacrifice. Ed Putnam grounded to third but the throw was high with Sember moving to third on the miscue. Pinch-hitter Bill Bright then lined out to left to score Sember with the tying run.

In the 10th inning, Joe Wallis doubled into the corner in left. Al Montreuil was walked intentionally and the runners moved up a base on a groundout.

Orleans 11-3, Indians 1-4

Al Burnaby and Doug DeCinces collected four hits, including one homer each, as Baltimore routed Cleveland at Gaylord Perry in the first game to snap a six-game losing streak. Burnaby drove in four runs and DeCinces three. Mike Torrez, 3-1, stopped the Tribe on five hits.

The Monticello choo-choo.

A little train that's helping fight the rising cost of electricity.

You're looking at what may be the shortest railroad in Texas.

The Monticello choo-choo runs only 12 miles from start to finish, but it's doing a big job hauling lignite coal to Texas Electric's Monticello power plant near Mount Pleasant.

The diesel-electric locomotive pulls seven to 15 cars. And each car is loaded with 100 tons of lignite per trip.

After unloading at the plant, the train is "backed" the 12 miles to the mining area. This saves the expense of a turn-around facility. On the trip back the engineer drives the train using controls in a special caboose.

Monticello is our second lignite-fired generating plant. We're building these plants because new supplies of natural gas and oil — the primary fuels we use to generate electricity — are harder to get and more costly. Lignite plants cost much more to build, which means electricity is going to have to cost you more. But the increase won't be as much, because lignite fuel is available and more economical than new supplies of natural gas and oil.

At Texas Electric we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

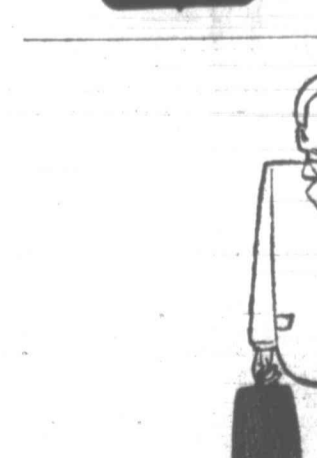

Over 20% of your electricity this year will be produced using lignite coal.

And the Monticello choo-choo is a mighty fine line that's helping do the job.

Stock Averages Drop Back In Moderate Trading Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, giving way to profit taking after last week's sharp advance.

Imperial Corp. of America was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 1/4 at 9 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index edged up .09 to 85 even.

Jordan Says Israel Now Massing Troops

By The Associated Press

Israel is massing troops and armor along the entire length of the Syrian and Jordanian cease-fire lines, a Jordanian newspaper claimed today. There was no immediate comment from the Israeli, Syrian or Jordanian commands.

In Beirut, Lebanon, an explosion ripped the ground floor entrance of an eight-story building housing the offices of the pro-Palestinian Lebanese newspaper Al Moharrer, slightly injuring four news paper employees, police said.

Al Moharrer supported Palestinian guerrillas during four days of street clashes with right-wing Lebanese two weeks ago in which 300 persons were reported killed.

The independent Jordanian newspaper Al Dastour quoted Arab travelers from the Israeli-occupied west bank of the Jordan River as saying the buildup along the cease-fire lines included tank columns and missile batteries that were "moved up to scores of concentration points on both Arab fronts."

Al Dastour said thousands of Israeli reservists released from service after the October 1973 war were recalled to active duty when the buildup started last week.

In Jerusalem, several terrorist bombs exploded Sunday in an apartment complex, killing one Israeli and wounding three others, officials said. The Palestine Popular Struggle Front claimed responsibility for planting the bombs, cans of paint filled with gunpowder.

Duke had been a resident of Lamesa for 51 years and was a Baptist.

Survivors include two sons, James Roy Duke and Robert Earl Duke, both of Lamesa; two sisters, Mrs. Namie Carlton of Tulsa, Okla. and Mrs. Agnes Marler of Cleveland, Okla.; two brothers, Horace Duke of Lamesa and W. E. Duke of Hobbs, N. M.; and one grandchild.
