

Action Urged On Refugee Bill

Partial Funding Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. today urged quick consideration of President Ford's $507 million aid request for Vietnamese refugees, calling it "legislation of the highest national priority."

"When this country forgets its immigrant heritage and turns its back on the oppressed and homeless, we will indeed have written fins to the American dream," Rodino told the House immigration subcommittee handling the bill.

Rodino, a New Jersey Democrat, appeared before the subcommittee amid increasing signs that President Ford, a Republican, will get only partial funding for his Vietnamese refugee program. Administration officials have said the program will run out of money next week.

Rep. Paul S. Sarbanes, D-Md., a member of the subcommittee, thanked Rodino for making his rare personal statement to a subcommittee, saying it put into perspective reports that many Americans do not want the refugees in this country.

"I do not think that reflects the sentiment of the American people," Sarbanes said, "or the Congress."

Some subcommittee members said there could be action on the bill later in the day, but Chairman Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa. would say only that he agreed the subcommittee should move as quickly as it can.

Ford told a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night that he was encouraged by signs of support for his plan to bring the refugees to the United States for resettlement.

Ford has asked for $507 million to resettle some 135,000 South Vietnamese who are headed for the United States following the conquest of their country by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

"I imagine the Senate would approve part of the money," Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd said. "But I personally would not approve the full amount."

The West Virginia Democrat added that Ford's request would give each Vietnamese refugee $3,000 each and "that is too much money."

Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., chairman of a House subcommittee handling the refugee bill, suggested that some aid might be appropriated on an interim basis, at least until the administration can come up with more precise figures on what is needed.

House International Relations Committee sources said $382 million would fill the immediate needs of the refugees, including five Americans, was reported just 36 miles from the Thai border.

At the same time, the Khmer Rouge radio said Cambodia's new leaders have launched a big campaign to "clear the country of filth and garbage" left by the war and are pursuing an "offensive to increase production" in order to be "completely independent of all foreigners."

At Subic Bay Navy Base in the Philippines, about 20,000 weary refugees arrived in a convoy of 26 South Vietnamese navy vessels after a week's journey from the Vietnamese coast.

U.S. officials said the vessels now belonged to the United States because U.S. Navy officers boarded each ship before they entered Philippine waters and took over title.

The move apparently was designed to meet a Philippine government demand that no ships or personnel of the former Saigon regime enter its territory.

Housing Project Location Picked

Scharbauer Drive and Pecos Street was the number one choice of the Midland Housing Authority Tuesday for location of a low-income housing project for the elderly and handicapped.

Harry Clark, chairman of the authority, said he would hand deliver the decision and other proposed site and development bids to the Dallas office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development today.

It was the second time in less than a year for the local authority to pick a site to build a proposed $2.5 million 100-unit housing project under HUD turnkey guidelines.

The first site at Scharbauer Drive and Big Spring Street was turned down by HUD. The federal agency claimed that site was impacted with minority groups, and would not allow those persons to move to growth areas of the city.

Clark said Tuesday the new site choice at Scharbauer and Pecos should have no trouble in receiving HUD approval. The agency had previously stated it would approve a site at Pecos and Neely streets, less than two blocks north of the authority's new choice.

The new site, immediately east of the Northland Shopping Center, was proposed by Sabine Valley Industries of Fort Worth and Pierce Pace and Associates of Midland. It won out over four other site proposals made by two developers.

The Sabine proposal would be constructed as a combination mini-rise (four-story) and single-story unit complex. The complex would face south on Scharbauer Drive.

Homer Pace, local representative for the chosen site, said, "Our desire in submitting the site is to eliminate objections (to construction of the project) in this area." He said, "We felt there could be very little objection to development adjacent to a shopping center—the closest housing (single family) is 500 to 600 feet away."

Pace said the site is located between two hospitals—next to major shopping facilities (See HOUSING Page 10A)

HMH Finals Discovery In Mitchell

HMH Operators, Midland, has completed No. 1-CF W. T. Dabbs as a Clearfork discovery in Mitchell County, eight miles northwest of Colorado City, and one mile west of the Sharon Ridge field.

It finished to pump 151.2 barrels of oil and 10 barrels of water daily, with gas-oil ratio of 742-1, through perforations at 2,807-3,005 feet, which had been acidized with 8,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons and 60,000 pounds. Gravity of the oil was 29 degrees.

Drilled to 3,365 feet, it has 4 1/2-inch casing set on bottom.

Location is 2,173 feet from south and 1,750 feet from west lines of section 16, block 27, T&P survey, abstract 1416.

Fusselman Gas Gauged

A Fusselman gas discovery has been assured in Upton County with the flowing of gas at the stabilized, daily rate of 2.955 million cubic feet, plus a small amount of distillate, at B. W. Wiseman Jr., Midland, No. 1 Exxon-Shirk, four miles north of McCamey.

Flow was through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 7,177-7,181 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

It has 5 1/2-inch casing set at 7,240 feet, on total depth of 9,250 feet.

The test, shut in for four-point tests, spots 1,900 feet from south and east lines of section 17, block 3, MK&T survey.

Drill site is 1,900 feet from south and 2,337 feet from west lines of section 23, block 30, A. J. Curry survey, 1/2 mile north of the depleted Pennsylvanian opener in the Lazy "JL" field, but separated by an 8,200-foot failure.

Midlanders' Well Reopens Oil Pool

Dalton H. Cobb and John W. Ruwwe of Midland have completed No. 1 Blum to reopen the Ride (Cisco) field of Scurry County, four miles north of Ira.

It was completed to flow 148 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio of 710-1, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,862-6,867 feet, natural.

Drilled to 6,890 feet, it has 4 1/2-inch casing set on bottom.

It is 3/4 mile north of depleted Cisco wells which were assigned to the Ride field, and 3/4 mile north of the Ride, South (Pennsylvanian reef) opener.

Late Bulletins

AUSTIN (AP) — The House narrowly approved a bill today making the governor's Energy Advisory Council, created last year to seek solutions to the fuel shortage, a semipermanent state agency.

"We're a long, long way from a congressional bill, in my view," Zarb told a House appropriations subcommittee.

Imprisoned Suez Ships 'Set Free'

ON THE SUEZ CANAL, Egypt (AP) — Two West German freighters today became the first commercial ships in nearly eight years to travel the Suez Canal, steaming from their prison on Great Bitter Lake to Port Said on the Mediterranean in 7 1/2 hours.

Hundreds of Egyptian workers chanted "Long live Sadat" and "Welcome to the opening of the canal" as the 10,000-ton Muensterland and the 8,000-ton Nordwind stopped for the night after the 60-mile journey. They head for Hamburg Thursday.

The two ships were part of a rusting fleet of 15 freighters stranded in the 103-mile-long waterway when the 1967 Arab-Israeli war broke out.

Their release was assured when Egyptian President Anwar Sadat announced March 29 he was reopening the canal June 5 to all but Israeli ships, despite the failure of U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's peace mission.

"I'm very happy, we all are very happy to see the ships passing," said Suez Canal Authority Chairman Mashour Ahmed Mashour in Deversor on the northern edge of Bitter Lake. The freighters, the Muensterland in the lead and the Nordwind a mile behind, entered the narrow shipping channel with the sands of Sinai as a backdrop.

Today's exercise gave authority employees a chance to test navigation and communications equipment, and pilots got the opportunity to try out in the canal the skills they have been using in other ports.

Three Persons Die In Omaha Tornado

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National Guardsmen patrolled 3,400-square-blocks of Omaha today to prevent looting after tornadoes that killed three persons, injured more than 100 and did millions of dollars of damage.

The National Weather Service said the three twisters which hit Omaha were among a dozen which struck widespread areas of northeast Nebraska Tuesday, causing loss of livestock and substantial property damage in rural areas. No deaths were reported outside of Omaha.

After surveying the damage in Omaha from a helicopter, Gov. J. James Exon said, "It's just devastating. I've lived in tornado country all my life and I've never seen anything comparable to this for property devastation. This is certainly the biggest loss in property damage that ever has hit Nebraska."

Early today, eight hospitals reported treating 132 persons with injuries. The most seriously injured was a man who lost an arm, authorities said.

He said at least 500 homes were destroyed and at least 1,000 severely damaged.

Acting Douglas County Coroner James Keenan identified the dead as Margaret Burke, 86; Lloyd Kramer, about 40; and Pamela Myers, 23. All were believed from Omaha.

Police said Kramer died when the roof of a northwest Omaha service station collapsed while he was standing on it watching an approaching tornado. Keenan said the Myers woman, a waitress, died when the restaurant in which she was working was struck by a tornado.

Police said Mrs. Burke's body was found behind a home about one-quarter block from her own residence. Her home was blown away.

Storm sirens started wailing at 4:30 p.m. as a huge black cloud moved in over the city from the southwest, and the tornadoes soon touched down. Forty-five minutes later, the storm lifted.

State Weather Scene One Of Contrast

Texas was divided into two sharply contrasting weather belts today by a weak cool front almost stalled across its midsection.

It was warm and humid across the southeast half of the state after still another night of heavy thunderstorms, mostly in the central section toward the northeast. A few storms hung on this morning near the northeast corner. Skies were clear and temperatures on the cool side in the northwest half.

A Pacific front which lay along a line from Dallas and Fort Worth to Del Rio on the Mexican border set off the latest round of turbulence, inflicting hail and wind damage near the center of the state in Travis and Hays counties and pounding hard at the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

At the height of the wild weather, sightings of two tornado funnels were reported near the Dallas suburb of Richardson. There was no word of damage from either.

Hail as big as baseballs bombed some parts of Texas for a third straight night, battering cars and rooftops around Johnson City in Central Texas, but no injuries were reported.

"It broke a lot of glass," Deputy Sheriff Conrad Nagel said at Johnson City.

Dean Burch, the former Republican national chairman who is leading the initial organizing effort, said in an interview that today's session will discuss "the whole gamut" of pre-campaign matters.

These will include creation of a formal Ford campaign committee and selection of a campaign manager, development of fund-raising plans and an over-

Efforts To Write Compromise Primary Bill Fail In Senate

AUSTIN (AP) — Efforts to write a compromise over the presidential primary bill failed this morning when Senate members said they had never seen the so-called conference committee report they were asked to sign.

Another negotiating session was set for later in the day.

"I don't see any necessity to rush this out without reading it," protested Sen. Bob Garman, D-Houston. "So far as I know this is the first and only time this conference committee has met."

"I would like to get this reported out today," said Rep. Tom Schieffer, D-Fort Worth.

The compromise bill presented the committee retained the controversial provision that would automatically end the effect of the bill after the 1976 presidential election.

The measure has been called the "Bentsen Bill" because it has been pushed by supporters of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., a presidential nominee candidate.

The compromise retained the original requirement that 75 per cent of the national convention delegates be elected by popular vote in state-senatorial or congressional districts. Each delegate would be identified on the ballot as a supporter of a certain presidential candidate or "uncommitted."

Under the compromise the House version of having the other 25 per cent of the delegates elected by caucuses at the state convention was included. The Senate has proposed that the 25 per cent be selected in proportion to the statewide vote.

The compromise would let a candidate file a slate of convention delegates only in the districts he wished to appear on the ballot. The House version would have made a candidate file in every district of the state.

Nurse's Aide Convicted In Murder Of Elderly Patient

By KEN RINGLE
The Washington Post
PETERSBURG, Va. — Lee Roy Hargrave Jr., a hospital nurse's aide charged with murdering six elderly patients in his care, was convicted Tuesday night of first-degree murder in one of the deaths and sentenced to life in prison.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated one hour and 38 minutes before returning their verdict to a crowded courtroom.

The case had gone to the jury at 5:30 p.m. CDT, after dramatic testimony from two Petersburg General Hospital patients who said they received injections from Hargrave, lost consciousness and lived to tell about it.

Richard L. Byrd, a husky 43-year-old Hopewell resident, and Edda Jones, a 52-year-old nurse's aide, contradicted Hargrave's assertions that he had never violated hospital instructions against giving patients medication.

Both patients told of lying at night in the coronary care unit of Petersburg General Hospital last June and having Hargrave approach them and put a towel over their heads obscuring their vision.

Byrd, however, said he saw Hargrave "with a needle... sticking it into a tube" of an intravenous feeding apparatus inserted in Byrd's hand. The patient woke up hours later in the intensive care ward.

Miss Jones said she felt "pressure and a sting" on the hand holding her intravenous feeding tube and shortly afterward lost consciousness.

Both Byrd and Miss Jones were considerably overweight, a condition that contributed both to the heart conditions for which they were hospitalized and to a higher tolerance for drugs in general.

Both patients testified that Hargrave had adjusted their intravenous feeding tubes to drip faster — a condition nurse Linda Mungrove testified earlier would prove dangerous to their health.

Byrd said he could not identify Hargrave by name but picked him out at the defense table, saying "that man came in alone."

Miss Jones testified in a gasping voice that she knew what Hargrave was doing to her was wrong, and pushed his hand away.

"He said I was being stubborn and went out of the room," Miss Jones said. "Then my vision became cloudy."

Hargrave had denied on the stand administering any medication to either patient.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney James F. Dalton said the testimony of both witnesses confirmed the prosecution's contention that Hargrave initiated and followed a "scheme of murder" among the patients of Petersburg General.

Although charged with murdering six patients by injecting them with massive overdoses of the heart-relaxing drug lidocaine, Hargrave was on trial Tuesday for only one of the slayings, that of Josephine L. Thomas, 73, a Petersburg schoolteacher who died June 30.

Hospital spokesmen have refused to say how many patients died during the month of June in the coronary care unit where Hargrave worked as a nurse's aide, but confirmed that "at least 12" died in "suspicious circumstances."

Testimony Monday, however, disclosed that Hargrave himself had discovered 26 of the 31 patients whose vital signs had stopped during the month of June in the coronary unit. While some of those recovered, hospital officials have made it clear that the monthly death rate was several times the normal rate of five or six.

Sophisticated toxicological tests performed on the blood and tissues of Miss Thomas turned up lidocaine as found to contain massive overdoses of the drug and authorities here have given no indication how far the investigation ultimately may reach.

Russians Appear To Have Abandoned Space Station But May Plan Venus Try

By THOMAS O'TOOLE
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union appears to have abandoned its orbiting Salyut space station, which would be the fourth straight time the Soviets have launched one of their $500 million space laboratories without revisiting it.

Western space observers say that Salyut 4 appears to be drifting aimlessly in orbit, each day slipping a little more out of its orbit.

Another sign that the Soviets have given up plans to revisit the Salyut space station is the departure of the Soviet tracking ships from their normal stations in the Gulf of Newfoundland and the Gulf of Guinea.

The tracking ship Komarov has returned to its Black Sea port of Odessa and the Korolev to its port in the Baltic Sea.

In another development, the Soviet tracking vessel Gagarin left port in Cuba and steamed to a position in the Atlantic just north of Puerto Rico.

This strongly suggests the Soviets will attempt a deep space flight to Venus, since the "window" for a Soviet flight to Venus opens up in the second week of June.

Soviet tracking ships position themselves near Puerto Rico to help relay radio signals to unmanned spacecraft that have left the Soviet Union and have been put into "parking" orbit around the earth before leaving for Mars or Venus. Presumably, the Gagarin put to sea a month ahead of time for practice sessions with ground controllers in the Soviet Union.

"There's a good chance that this time the Soviets will attempt to put a spacecraft into orbit around Venus," suggested Charles Sheldon, Soviet space expert of the Library of Congress. "It's just possible, we'll see the Soviet flights to Venus next month, one an orbiter mission and the other a lander."

Sheldon pointed out that the Soviets did not launch a spacecraft toward Venus the last time earth was close enough to attempt a flight to the planet. Such opportunities occur every two years.

"The last time the Soviets skipped a window was to Mars more than two years ago," Sheldon said. "It turns out they skipped the window while they were upgrading their launch vehicles, so they could be getting ready to carry a lot more weight to Venus with the bigger launch vehicle."

Just as intriguing to Western space watchers is the appearance of the Soviet tracking ship Kogostrov at Port Louis on the island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean. The only time

Soviet tracking ships have positioned themselves in that region was to await the return of an unmanned spacecraft that had orbited the moon.

The Soviets' window to fly a lunar orbit mission opens Monday, leading some Western space observers to speculate that the Soviets might resume their Zond program. Zond is the spacecraft built to fly around the moon, then return to earth.

The last Zond flight took place more than four years ago. The lack of more such flights signals that the Soviets had dropped out of the moon race with the United States.

Miss Jones said she felt "pressure and a sting" on the hand holding her intravenous feeding tube and shortly afterward lost consciousness.

Both Byrd and Miss Jones were considerably overweight, a condition that contributed both to the heart conditions for which they were hospitalized and to a higher tolerance for drugs in general.

Both patients testified that Hargrave had adjusted their intravenous feeding tubes to drip faster — a condition nurse Linda Mungrove testified earlier would prove dangerous to their health.

Byrd said he could not identify Hargrave by name but picked him out at the defense table, saying "that man came in alone."

Miss Jones testified in a gasping voice that she knew what Hargrave was doing to her was wrong, and pushed his hand away.

"He said I was being stubborn and went out of the room," Miss Jones said. "Then my vision became cloudy."

Hargrave had denied on the stand administering any medication to either patient.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney James F. Dalton said the testimony of both witnesses confirmed the prosecution's contention that Hargrave initiated and followed a "scheme of murder" among the patients of Petersburg General.

Although charged with murdering six patients by injecting them with massive overdoses of the heart-relaxing drug lidocaine, Hargrave was on trial Tuesday for only one of the slayings, that of Josephine L. Thomas, 73, a Petersburg schoolteacher who died June 30.

Hospital spokesmen have refused to say how many patients died during the month of June in the coronary care unit where Hargrave worked as a nurse's aide, but confirmed that "at least 12" died in "suspicious circumstances."

Testimony Monday, however, disclosed that Hargrave himself had discovered 26 of the 31 patients whose vital signs had stopped during the month of June in the coronary unit. While some of those recovered, hospital officials have made it clear that the monthly death rate was several times the normal rate of five or six.

Sophisticated toxicological tests performed on the blood and tissues of Miss Thomas turned up lidocaine as found to contain massive overdoses of the drug and authorities here have given no indication how far the investigation ultimately may reach.

Byrd, however, said he saw Hargrave "with a needle... sticking it into a tube" of an intravenous feeding apparatus inserted in Byrd's hand. The patient woke up hours later in the intensive care ward.

Miss Jones said she felt "pressure and a sting" on the hand holding her intravenous feeding tube and shortly afterward lost consciousness.

Bonner Discusses Cost Of Regulation

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of Gulf Oil Co.-US says political regulation of business affairs may be costing the country's economy about $14 billion annually.

Z. D. Bonner told Texas bankers Tuesday the President's Council of Economic Advisers estimated in its 1974 report that the cost of government regulation may be as much as one per cent of the estimated $1.4 trillion Gross National Product.

Bonner told a convention session of the Texas Bankers Association that such costs to society often exceed the anticipated benefits.

He said the Federal Energy Administration's entitlements program is one of a number of regulatory activities affecting supplies and prices of petroleum products.

The FEA entitlements program was designed to encourage equitable sharing of "old" crude oil supplies by large and small refiners. The price of "old" domestic crude is controlled at $5.25 a barrel.

Top of the Leonard was picked at 2,095 feet and top of the Canyon at 6,134 feet, under ground elevation of 2,360 feet. It was drilled to 6,900 feet and plugged back to 2,250 feet, and has 4 1/2-inch casing seated at 2,201 feet.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I always put one or two light towels in with my white (even colored) sheets and pillowcases, when I launder them.

The towels are rough and they rub against the sheets and help them to come clean.

I've done this for years and it really works.

Grace Rothenberger

You are absolutely right Grace.

I have even put some light-colored towels, which had been washed many times before, with some colored shirts and they came out beautifully. The rough towel buffs and scrubs the soil away much easier and better.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
When my toddlers ask for an ice cube to suck on, I put it in a cotton infant-sized sock, push it down in the toe and tie a knot in the other end so it won't fall out.

Since babies grow out of those tiny socks before they even touch the floor, I consider them clean enough for the mouth after a good washing and bleaching.

This satisfies little ones for quite a while on a hot sticky summer day.

Mrs. Robert Carney

Dear Heloise:
Here's an idea for those who have artificial flower arrangements around the house and find that cleaning them can be a most time consuming job.

Just take any household spray cleaner, hold the arrangement in your hand and spray. The dirt and dust in the tiny crevices will wash right out!

Then hold the flowers under the faucet quickly so as not to saturate the base too much and WOW! Your flowers will look fantastic!

Leslie Simonides

I have even found the spray window cleaner works well on artificial flowers too.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Lots of us folks still live in the old houses with radiators that really collect too much dust.

I have never found a special brush made for radiators or a vacuum cleaner attachment that can really take out the dust.

One day I got the bright idea of a baby bottle brush that you can bend in any way.

I bent it into a curve and inserted it into the spaces in the radiator. It curled right around and down towards the back and pulled out all that old dust just fine.

I have the cleanest radiators in town — I bet!

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

She Looks Down On Topless Dancer

DEAR ABBY: My husband is friendly with a fellow whose fiancée dances topless in a bar. (I'll call her "Sandra.") I'm ashamed to say that my husband has been to this bar, so he has seen Sandra practically naked. He says she has a "fantastic" body, even though she admits to having had silicone implants. He insists that Sandra is a very "sweet and down-to-earth" person, and he keeps wanting me to meet her socially. (His buddy wants the four of us to go out together.)

ABBY: I don't care to meet her. I would be very uncomfortable in the company of a woman whom my husband had seen topless. My husband says, "It's only a job," and that Sandra is as nice a person as I am.

AM I WRONG TO FEEL THE WAY I DO? What kind of a woman do you think would dance topless for a living? She can't be a very moral person.

ST. LOUIS

DEAR SAINT: Not everyone views nudity as "immoral." Some women (and men) pose nude for artists. However, if you would feel uncomfortable in Sandra's company, it's your right to avoid her.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently invited to a friend's home for dinner. The table was beautifully set, but after the guests were seated, I was surprised to see that the hostess had not set a place for herself. She said that she was "on a diet" and had already eaten her diet dinner. Then she served us and didn't even join us at the table.

WAS THIS PROPER? I felt as though we were invited to her home to be given a free meal—like a couple of charity cases. What is your opinion of this?

FED, NOT ENTERTAINED

DEAR FED: Your hostess should have sat with her guests and eaten her "diet dinner" unceremoniously while you ate yours.

DEAR ABBY: When I was younger, I used to drive a car as though I were going to a fire. But now that I am married and have a son, I realize how

Some Women Overlook Way To Save On Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — You don't have to be an oil heiress from Texas to take advantage of tax shelters.

"Just look into tax-sheltered annuity, which is so often overlooked by too many women," advises W. Scane Bowler, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Pioneer Western Corp., a financial services organization.

A tax-sheltered annuity is an investment vehicle, federally sanctioned, through which an employee of a nonprofit organization — such as a teacher or a nurse — can put a certain part of monthly income into a retirement fund without first having to pay income tax on that amount.

that only 800,000 had taken advantage of the plan through the end of 1974.

He says that teachers and other school employees are the most numerous group taking advantage of tax-sheltered annuities, with nurses next. Then come workers for membership organizations and religious institutions.

Bowler said that four out of five persons now showing interest in TSA, as he calls it, are women. Previously it was two out of three.

Glass Door Treatment Suggestions Are Given

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. We have recently remodelled our master bedroom, which had two small windows in it. One is a window over the bed and the other was a side window we removed and replaced with a sliding glass door. I do not need the window over the bed for light or ventilation and so we want to close it off. However, this is a rented home and we don't feel we can do that.

What would you suggest? Also, please give me an idea of how to treat the sliding glass door in our bedroom. We like very tailored furnishings. — P.W.

A. A window over a bed is often a very difficult one to treat and there are probably lots of people like you who want to close it off. I recently visited a home where the problem was simply solved. It might help you to do the same thing.

The people wood-paneled the wall and paneled right over the window on the inside. Instead of plastering the exterior over, they hung some stationary wood shutters across the window which they painted the same color as the exterior stucco. Because your house is rented perhaps you could not wood panel, but you might just place something in the window to cut out the light and then hang something large over it to conceal the window.

I have seen great area rugs that make super wall hangings. Or an Oriental screen might be lovely.

Another possibility would be to use exciting fabric between stretchers. You might repeat the same fabric in your bedspread or perhaps just bed pillows. You could do simple draperies in the print fabric. A very good-looking sliding glass door treatment is the contemporary and very slim venetian blinds that are available in a huge variety of colors.

Q. I have recently been collecting plates that I like. Many are antiques of English origin. Some I just like because of the pretty designs on them. I have so many but I seldom enjoy them because I don't have any bookcases to place them on. And I don't have a dining room in my apartment. What can I do with them? — T.T.R.

A. You don't need to have a dining room to display your plates. Hang them on the walls of your living room.

Fill a whole wall with them, using plate hangers. They can be very effective this way.

Arrange them in interesting color combinations or use all one color in one room. You've probably seen elegant rooms done in blue and white with blue and white plates hung on walls. They also would be exciting hall decorations providing you hang them so they won't get bumped. Or put them in the bedroom or bathroom. Pretty objects that mean something to you can be used anywhere.

The interest which grows up over the years is also sheltered from income tax, as long as it remains in the fund.

Bowler said that more than 17 million persons are eligible for tax-sheltered annuities but

Mountain Medicine Man Claims Cure For All Diseases

GLENWOOD, W.Va. (AP) — Clarence "Catfish" Gray quit school in the fourth grade and lives on the basement of an unfinished house some three miles from this tiny Ohio River community.

Despite his remote location and lack of formal education, he has become one of the most sought-out residents in these parts.

Catfish is a mountain medicine man who says he firmly believes things such as ginseng, bloodroot and pipsissawa will cure what ails you.

Each month, he receives dozens of cards and letters from people who want his healing herbs. Although laughingly calls his basement by ground-hog hole, "hardly day goes by that he isn't hailed by someone who's pined with problems that prescriptions haven't solved.

Regardless of the ailment — be it cancer, gallstones or freckles — Catfish claims he has a cure.

"Most things I can cure with my bitters, a combination of 15 herbs," he tells visitors, who are welcome at any time of the day or night.

A small, smiling, nonstop talker, Catfish loves the woods where he gathers his herbs and flowers. But even there, he loves people.

Visitors inevitably are greeted with a big smile and a glass of cold sassafras tea — and perhaps a handful of chestnuts, "the old-fashioned kind."

Special guests are offered a sip of his cancer medicine, a black liquid that tastes a little like licorice and is dispensed from a refrigerated mayonnaise jar.

"It cured the man in the next house down the road," he said, carefully resealing the lid. "He had a cancer burning out on his back. His mother died of cancer, and he had had two of them cut out but my medicine cured this one in no time. He came over later and gave me $4."

His home is divided into three rooms. One is for drying the herbs, another is for sorting and grinding and the third is for display.

"They're a quarter a bag or five bags for a dollar," he said, pointing to the neatly packaged piles of bitters, his specialty. "I don't try to make much money."

An aroma of mint fills the air. The walls are covered with hand lettered Scriptures and with the New Testament and with hundreds of letters from friends and satisfied customers. They bear postmarks from across the nation and many are addressed simply to "Catfish."

Another two-foot-high pile of unanswered requests lies on the floor.

"I really don't have time to keep up with all these," he said, giving a little chuckle. "I go out into the woods three days a week and it takes time for the drying and sorting."

Although he never locks his door and has a thousand friends, not everybody looks favorably upon his herbs and mail order business, including local doctors.

Relics Of War Displayed In Hanoi Army Museum

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Copyright (c) 1975
The Associated Press
All Rights Reserved
HANOI, North Vietnam (AP) — In Hanoi they call the Vietnamese war the American "War of Destruction," and there are relics in the tree-shaded garden of the army museum.
A leading exhibit is large jagged fragments of a U.S. Air Force B-52 bomber.
The identifying sign in Vietnamese said the eight-jet aircraft was shot down Dec. 18, 1972, in Vinh Phu province about 80 miles north of Hanoi.

On a piece of fuselage are the stenciled names "SSGT. Dupree, Asst. SSGT. Borgard."
The only other Strategic Command markings visible on the fragments are the command's insignia — an armored fist clenching two lightning bolts and one olive branch.
The sign provides visitors with details of the B52's armaments and performance:
"Crew: six airmen.

"Fuselage length: 48.07 meters.
"Bomber height: 12.39 meters.
"Wing spread: 56.42 meters.
"Fuel supply: 137,700 liters."
Armaments listed were 30 tons of bombs, a four-barreled 12.7 caliber gun, two air-to-ground rockets, a Pathfinder missile and one radar jamming missile.
After detailing these characteristics the sign gave this analysis of the plane:
"Weak points — very big body, limited to very long landing strips, vulnerable self-defense, must rely on escort fighters for protection."

Another cluster of aircraft fragments is identified as wreckage from an F4C fighter brought down by a Hanoi anti-aircraft battery June 27, 1972, and the sign claims it was the 3,700th U.S. warplane destroyed over North Vietnam.
In one section of the garden there is a 57mm anti-aircraft piece with a placard saying it shot down "15 U.S. planes in Johnson times. On May 19, 1967, the birthday of President Ho Chi Minh, it shot down one A4J fighter plane." The sign referred to the late President Lyndon Johnson.

One of the prized exhibits is a Soviet-made MIG21 fighter with 14 red stars. A label said each star represents a U.S. plane that this MIG destroyed in combat.
It reports the MIG was piloted in combat by six different Vietnamese pilots in 16 air fighter and all the the pilots survived without injury.

There is also a Soviet-made surface-to-air missile launcher of the 77th Anti-aircraft Regiment with the claim that it was used to destroy three B52s over Hanoi Dec. 20-21, 1972.
The museum is staffed by army personnel, most of whom speak English. Girl janitors in white blouses, black trousers and conical straw hats sweep the museum building and garden.

No Haircut, No Diploma, School Says

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — About 60 college-bound seniors at Seton Hall Preparatory School face suspension less than a month before graduation unless they cut their hair.

To combat what traditionally has been called senioritis, school officials have told the long-hairs to trim their locks by Monday or face the ax.

The headmaster, the Rev. William Giblin, who sports a beard and mustache, said pupils who do not comply with school regulations on hair grooming would be suspended and could be kept from graduating.

"We don't issue warnings we're not going to follow through on," Father Giblin said Tuesday.

Student regulations at the all-male, Roman Catholic institution say, "Haircuts should be sensible; off the shirt collar and always neatly combed. Sideburns must be neat and trim."

"That's the rules," said Father Giblin. "They had that understanding when they came here."

He said school officials also are fulfilling the desires of parents who pay $900 per year to send their children to the school, located on the campus of Seton Hall University.

"They always say it's what our parents want," said Jim Lacko, 18, of Elizabeth, N.J. "But a lot of our parents don't really care about this stuff either."

Plain Language Insurance Bill OK'd By House Committee

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislation backed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to halt some of the fraud and much of the mystery in buying health insurance has been approved by the House Insurance Committee. Sponsors claim the measure will be given a high priority on the House debate calendar. A similar bill passed the Senate Tuesday, a few hours before the committee acted on the House version.

The bill would require all companies to attach to each policy a plain language explanation of the provisions. The State Insurance Board would be required to issue standard definitions for common policy terms—which some companies allegedly have twisted as a means for denying benefits.

The board also would have the right to make sure that premiums are neither too high nor too low for the benefits provided. This would be a means for heading off bargain-basement policies, issued with the intent of keeping premiums low by denying coverage through the use of policy loopholes.

If finally passed by both houses, the bill would take effect July 4, 1976, the bicentennial of the Declaration of Independence. Insurance board chairman Joe Christie calls it a "bicentennial gift" to Texas.

Board staffers say it would take about that long to hold all the necessary hearings and draft the definitions and regulations required by the bill.

Temperatures near daybreak sank to 36 degrees at Dalhart and 41 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. At the same hour readings still were as high as 78 at Houston and Lufkin and 79 at McAllen near the south tip of the state, The Associated Press reported.

Fair weather will prevail in the Tall City this afternoon and Thursday with an expected high today in the mid 80s, according to forecasters at Midland Air Terminal.

The low tonight is expected to be in the upper 40s and the mercury will reach the upper 60s Thursday.

In Vietnam, "hard evidence" of a blood bath is lacking but the flight of 120,000 Vietnamese who feared their lives were in jeopardy "is the best evidence of what probably will take place."

Some of the most severe damage occurred at the 848-unit, Wentworth Apartments, the city's largest. About 70 percent of the complex, which houses about 1,800 persons in suburban Ralston on the city's southern edge, sustained severe damage.

Odessa Named To Head Board

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has designated Joseph Connolly of Odessa as chairman of the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Security Agencies.

Connolly succeeds John Mason Lanford Jr. of Fort Worth in the post.

Connolly was elected county judge of Ector County in November, and has been on the Private Investigators Board since May 1973.

Engineers would give them ironclad rule over virtually every natural and artificial body of water in the nation.

Under the plan some potential homeowners would need a permit before digging a basement for their home and certain golf course greenskeepers would need federal permission to build a new sandtrap.

Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said the panel would "have the gravest concern" over any action that could have such a "far reaching impact on agriculture."

A spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation said the strongest of the corps' proposals "smacks of the sort of federal power grab of which we've seen far too much already."

A spokesman for the corps said the key factor in such strange areas as golf courses, backyard swimming pools and basements is whether the area has ever been flooded by a navigable stream.

If so, it lies on the flood plain and comes under corps jurisdiction. Permission would be necessary to move more than one cubic yard of dirt in these areas, the spokesman said.

The proposal was one of four issued Tuesday by the Army engineers in response to a U.S. District Court decision expanding the corps' jurisdiction over dredge and fill operations from "navigable waters" to "waters of the United States."

The court ordered the engineers to define "waters of the United States." The corps then published four alternative definitions.

The four alternatives are: —Give the corps authority over every coastal and inland artificial and natural body of water in the nation, including wetlands. The corps said this "would extend federal authority to regulate dredge and fill operations in thousands of square miles of land protected by levees." It also would require a rancher to obtain a federal permit to enlarge a stock pond or deepen an irrigation ditch, the corps said.

—Limit corps authority on coastal waters to the mean high water mark or salt water vegetation line, whichever is greater, and inland waters to navigable streams and their primary tributaries up to their headwaters. The corps said that under this proposal, permits would not be required for most dredge and fill operations involving less than 100 acres of land. The ANCA president said the Beef Research and Consumer Education Act is another priority issue along with meat import restrictions and the USDA beef grading revisions which currently are bogged down in a lawsuit.

Van Vleck said the tour is being made to get the input of Texas cattlemen on the biggest problems facing them right now and also report to them what the ANCA is doing to help overcome the problems.

"I doubt very much if we'll run out of issues to discuss during this tour," Van Vleck said.

Special guests at Tuesday's luncheon included Clevie Kerr of El Paso, TSCRA director, Bill Darnell of Marathon, past president of TSCRA, and Billy Carr with University Lands in Midland.

The controversy that led to the Supreme Court began when Woodward granted a pretrial motion to suppress evidence in the case. The government appealed to the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which reversed Woodward's ruling and denied a defense motion for a rehearing.

The Hunts then asked the Supreme Court to take jurisdiction and hear the case.

Hunt Brothers Wiretapping Trial Now Hanging Fire

LUBBOCK (AP) — The wiretapping trial of two sons of the late oil multimillionaire H.L. Hunt has been removed from the May docket in federal court here pending a ruling on whether the U.S. Supreme Court will hear a challenge to the trial.

U.S. Atty. Frank McQueen of Fort Worth said Tuesday a May 12 court date had been set by U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward on the condition that the Supreme Court would rule on the challenge by April 15.

The government claims Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt conspired to tap the telephones of their father's closest aides.

Houston School Officials Unveil Integration Plan

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Independent School District officials have unveiled a $10.3 million alternate education program aimed at improving integration.

The recommendations, calling for 46 programs in 45 schools, were presented to the school board Tuesday.

The program, developed in six months of study by district employees and laymen, would send the 81,000 of the district's 211,000 pupils to the 43 schools that would offer magnet programs. An estimated 40,000 would ride buses.

Magnet schools offer special curricula aimed at attracting a racial cross-section of pupils from all over the city.

Approval by the board, which will consider the program Monday, would be followed by a request that the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals authorize the use of the magnet plan instead of the current system of pairing 22 elementary schools.

Ask Washington If We Can Fill Bathtub

By JAMES H. PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition is developing to a proposal that could require some homeowners to get an Army Corps of Engineers permit before filling a backyard swimming pool and certain farmers to seek permission to plow.

The proposal by the Army Engineers would give them ironclad rule over virtually every natural and artificial body of water in the nation.

Under the plan some potential homeowners would need a permit before digging a basement for their home and certain golf course greenskeepers would need federal permission to build a new sandtrap.

The other sites and development proposals submitted to the authority will also be handed to HUD today for the federal agency's review.

New Brucellosis Rules Enforced

AUSTIN — New interstate regulations against brucellosis have been implemented by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and are being enforced by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The USDA guidelines require breeding cattle to be tested for brucellosis when they are moved interstate from areas or herds that lack "brucellosis free" designation.

The other major mandate of USDA requires cattle found exposed to brucellosis to be "heat-branded" on the left jaw with the letter "S" before they are shipped to slaughter or to a quarantined feedlot.

and in close proximity to churches and parks. He said all of those amenities would be considered important to elderly and handicapped persons who are to use the housing.

Pace said traffic flow on Scharbauer Drive is "moderate" at best, and noted the site has "good" entrance and exit ways to surrounding streets.

The Scharbauer and Pecos location is zoned local retail, Pace said, and will avoid any zoning complications other than a variance to a two and a half story limitation for height of construction. The proposed complex would go to four stories.

He said the housing would incorporate more than adequate room for parking and trash pickups, and be designed with excellent landscaping.

All living units would be larger than minimum requirements, and the development would be located on approximately four acres, Pace said.

Objections from a near full audience to property devaluation and shoddy maintenance of the facility were refuted by the authority members.

Clark said, "There is no proof whatsoever that public housing such as proposed here devalues surrounding property."

No 'Piles Of Junk'

Smith Ray, authority member, said, "We are going to build and maintain this project—we are not going to have piles of junk—we will maintain it. The fear of poor maintenance, I think, is groundless."

Gene Abbot, authority member, said, "Some of the people here have the wrong attitude. We are under an edict from the city council to get public housing for Midland. This housing is needed here—the council agreed to that eight years ago."

Abbot said if citizens of the community have complaints to public housing in Midland they should address themselves to the council, who ordered the housing to be supplied by the authority.

William Ray Plemions arrived at the city jail late Tuesday, bloodied and muddled. Officers said he suffered two head wounds in a struggle during his arrest Tuesday morning near Texarkana.

Shortly after his arrest Plemions was arraigned in Texarkana before Justice of the Peace Benn Grigson, who set bonds at $200,000.

Officers said Plemions escaped April 28 from the federal prison at Terre Haute, Ind., two weeks before his scheduled parole on a bank robbery conviction. Police records show he was on "preliminary furlough" when he escaped.

Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela — Venezuela has given Oil Corp. until Thursday to clear whether $4 million in oil contracts was paid to Venezuelan officials or to its business in this oil-rich nation.

A Gulf spokesman company headquarters in New York said late Tuesday.

Earlier this year, McGovern predicted a jobs rate of 9.5 percent by mid-summer, labor leader said he viewed his estimate upping higher forecasts for Ford administration.

Meany told a news conference Tuesday that he predicted a 9.5 percent jobs rate, which he adds two points to the most recent prediction of Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Administration economist who originally forecast a jobs rate of 8 percent, repeatedly raised the figure. Earlier this year, Greenspan predicted a 9.5 percent jobs rate.

A jobs rate of 11.5 percent translates into about 9 million unemployed in April, level at 8.9 percent, 11 million Americans were unemployed.

Venezuela Gives Gulf Oil Until Thursday To Clear Up Bribery Issues

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela has given the Gulf Oil Corp. until Thursday to declare whether $4 million in alleged bribes was paid to Venezuelan officials or discontinued its business in this oil-rich nation.

A Gulf spokesman at the company headquarters in Pittsburgh said late Tuesday that the firm had not received an official communique from the Venezuelan government and would have no comment until official word is received.

President Carlos Andres Perez and his cabinet decided after a meeting Tuesday to demand clarification from Gulf within 48 hours, by 6 p.m. (EDT) Thursday. A story in New York's Wall Street Journal last Friday said Gulf executives told U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission investigators that politicians in a foreign country compelled the company to pay the bribes in cash contributions in order to stay in business there. The country was not named, but the newspaper said it could be a Latin American nation.

"Since this foreign company (Gulf) has dominating interests in Mene Grande Oil Co., which operates in Venezuela, and due to the fact that the charge in reference has given rise to commentaries which could involve Venezuela, the national government has resolved to urgently ask Gulf Oil Corp. to publicly clarify whether Venezuelan public or political officials have been objects of or participated in the reported bribery," the communique said.

Gulf holds a 50 per cent interest in Mene Grande Oil Co., the third largest producer in Venezuela. The remaining 50 per cent is shared by International Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Exxon, and a subsidiary of Royal Dutch Shell.

He said the firm "has been in Venezuela 52 years and we have never made any contributions to any political campaign nor have we paid bribes or made any illegal payment to any government official."

The communique said Perez and his cabinet "analyzed and studied the information divulged by the international press during the past few days, according to which Gulf Oil Corp. has stated that between the years 1966 and 1972 it was obliged to pay certain sums of money in order to continue operating in a country whose name was omitted."

If the requested explanation is not forthcoming in 48 hours, the communique said "the national executive will order Mene Grande Oil Co. to suspend its activities until Gulf Oil Corp. clarifies the participation or lack of it by Venezuelan public or political functionaries in the events referred to."

The communique said Venezuelan political parties supported the government decision and that the U.S. government had also been asked to investigate.

Meany Sees Further Jobless Rate Rise, Ford Says Recession's End Is Nearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany believes the nation's unemployment rate will rise from its current 8.9 per cent level to about 11.5 per cent before the recession ends.

President Ford, however, said Tuesday night that "we're in the process of coming out of a recession." Ford said the nation should be in the midst of a healthier economy by next year.

Earlier this year, Meany predicted a jobless rate of 10 per cent by mid-summer. But the labor leader said he has revised his estimate upward following higher forecasts by the Ford administration.

Meany told a news conference Tuesday that he bases his predictions on a formula in which he adds two percentage points to the most recent predictions of Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Administration economists, who originally forecast a peak jobless rate of 8 per cent, have repeatedly raised their estimates. Earlier this week Greenspan predicted a peak at over 9 per cent.

A jobless rate of 11.5 per cent translates into about 9.7 million unemployed. In April, with the level at 8.9 per cent, about 8.2 million Americans were counted as unemployed.

One reason Ford cited for his optimism was the sizeable flow of new money into savings and loan institutions, which provide the bulk of loans for home buyers. The new deposits amounted to more than $10 billion over the first three months of the year, Ford said. That money in the savings and loan institutions means "the prospects for an upturn in the housing industry are good," the President said.

In other economic news: —The Labor Department issued new poverty-level guidelines increasing the amount of income which a family may earn and still be considered economically disadvantaged. The department said the increase was needed because of the rise in the cost of living.

—Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board said the success of new congressional budget controls may be essential to prevent galloping inflation and social upheaval in the United States.

The current recession marks the end of a 14-year economic growth cycle that has been brought to a close by spending excesses in both the public and private sector, Burns said. Persistent federal deficits in the last decade were directly responsible for much of the growing inflation of the past 10 years, he said.

'University Of South Texas System' Study OK'd In Senate Resolution

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate has voted 29-0 for a resolution calling for a two-year legislative study of the possibility of creating a "University of South Texas System."

Several hours after the Senate approved the resolution, the House Higher Education Committee debated the measure late into the night and ended up sending it to a subcommittee.

"Would this not make Pan Am (Pan American University), which is the fastest growing school in that area, a stepchild of A&I (Texas A&I University), which has schools that, if not failing, are certainly losing enrollment?" asked Rep. Frank Gaston, R-Dallas.

Rep. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, House sponsor of the resolution, replied that consolidation and coordination of higher education in South Texas would "strengthen everybody's hand."

"I do not believe in propping up one institution with another just because the first institution has been there 50 years," Gaston said.

Ted True, A&I regent, told the committee the enrollment at A&I's Kingsville campus had dropped from 8,000 in 1971, but he stressed that it has started back up again, increasing from 6,325 in the spring of 1974 to almost 7,000 now.

Sparking for the resolution were Jack Cole, a Dallas lawyer who graduated from A&I; Lola L. Bonner, a Rockport attorney who graduated from A&I; and David Garcia, A&I student body president.

Reps. Melchor Chavez, D-Harlingen, and Ruben Torres, D-Port Isabel, testified against the resolution.

Chavez noted the resolution speaks of "common goals" and "common ties" between the two schools. "I don't know what that means," he said.

The resolution's fiscal note says the study will cost $17,600, Chavez said. "Personally, if that money is spent, I think it's going to be money down the drain."

Chavez and Torres are co-sponsors on a bill by Rep. Felix McDonald, D-Edinburg, to merge Pan Am with The University of Texas. That bill won a 5-4 vote in the committee Tuesday night but failed to get the necessary six votes (a majority of the committee membership) to send it to the House floor.

The study resolution calls for an interim House-Senate study committee.

Midland Man Hurt In Mishap

ODESSA—Larry Wayne Nunn, 21, of Midland was in guarded condition in Medical Center Hospital today after his motorcycle rolled over on a rural Crane County road Tuesday night.

Department of Public Safety officials said Nunn was riding his motorcycle about 11:10 p.m. 16 miles southeast of Monahans on FM 1063 when the vehicle began to wobble.

Nunn apparently lost control of the motorcycle, officers said, and the machine rolled over.

Opportunities To Practice Arithmetic Occur Throughout The Day And Night

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the third of a series of 14 articles prepared by Science Research Associates, Inc., that shows how everyday situations can help children learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide.

Opportunities for children to practice arithmetic occur throughout the day and night in every aspect of a child's life. Here are some:

"There are four plates at the table but Grandma is coming to dinner tonight so we need one more. Now how many are there?"

"Two children are playing on the swings. Here come three more. Now how many?"

"I made 24 peanut butter cookies and I'll give you three. How many are left?"

Children will make mistakes even in very simple arithmetic. They may forget numbers. But with practice they'll learn.

Practice can be made much easier for children if they are given objects they can see, hold and move about — to count with, add with, and subtract with. All classrooms are equipped with such materials — teachers call them manipulatives. But items used around the house — paper clips, buttons, hard candies, spoons, thread toy cars, doll dishes, etc. — can be used as manipulatives, too.

These manipulatives are particularly useful in learning subtraction — for the simplest approach to helping a child learn this skill is the idea of taking some number of objects away from a given number.

The child needs practice in counting how many items, there were to start with, how many were taken away, and, as a last step, how many remain. Such activities are easily improvised with items around the house.

Today's exercise depicts with pictures the same process — one number of objects being "taken away" from a larger number. With this exercise, a child should first count the items on each line, then count the number being taken away. It may clarify things if the youngster draws a circle around those being "taken away."

A parent can ask "How many rabbits on the first line? How many are running away? How many will be left when they're gone?"

When the page is complete, additional practice can be provided by writing problems (not too many, please!) on a sheet of paper and giving the child manipulatives with which to find the answers.

If the instruction is relaxed — and related to things children know best — the youngster may even LIKE math.

If you would like a 25-page color booklet incorporating additional arithmetic problems that may help your child, send it to The Reporter-Telegram. Be sure your name and address are printed clearly. Your booklet will be mailed directly to you from Chicago.

Guerrillas Kill Israeli Trucker

By The Associated Press
Arab guerrillas shot and killed an Israeli truck driver delivering Arab workers to their homes, Tel Aviv police reported today. It was the third guerrilla attack in Israel in four days.

The truck, riddled with bullets, crashed and burned Tuesday night near the town of Jenin in occupied West Jordan.

In Moscow, W. Averell Harriman, a U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union during World War II, said he believes the Kremlin wants to cooperate with Washington in seeking an end to the Mideast conflict.

Harriman, heading a U.S. delegation for ceremonies marking the 30th anniversary of the end of the war in Europe, told newsmen he expected the Geneva peace conference on the Middle East to resume soon.

The Israeli truck driver ran into an ambush after taking a load of laborers from their jobs in Israel to their villages in the occupied zone.

Arab guerrilla organizations have frequently tried to prevent Arabs from commuting to work in Israel, but more than 50,000 make the trip daily.

The shooting was the latest incident in a new series of sabotage acts in Israel. Guerrillas fired two rockets into Jerusalem on Saturday, scoring no casualties, and an Israeli was killed by a guerrilla bomb in a Jerusalem apartment house on Sunday.

Police said a Jordanian Arab was murdered Tuesday in a West Bank town but it was part of a personal feud, not a guerrilla killing.

Meanwhile, Dutch Foreign Minister Max van der Stoep flew to Egypt for a four-day visit, his first to an Arab country since the Arab oil boycott hit the Netherlands and other countries in 1973.

The main purpose of the visit is to sign a treaty for technical and economic cooperation between the Netherlands and Egypt.

In Abu Dhabi, two U.S. firms named as "Power and Light" and "International Rectifier Group" were put on a blacklist for trading with Israel.

A government statement said that it was proved that the companies "have substantial dealings with Israel." No other details on the firms were given.

Second Juror Is Selected In Halloween Poisoning Case

HOUSTON (AP) — With two jurors already seated, lawyers continue quizzing prospective panelist today in the capital murder trial of Ronald C. O'Bryan, a Houston area man charged with killing his son with poison Halloween candy to collect on insurance.

Lawyers have questioned a total of 12 veniremen in two days of jury selection and have seated two men.

District Judge Frank Price is permitting the jurors to live at home during the jury selection process, but has ordered newsmen not to identify the jurors in any way.

O'Bryan is charged with the murder of his eight-year-old son, Timothy, by giving the boy Halloween candy laced with cyanide, a deadly poison.

The candy was part of a sack of sweets collected by the youngster during a trick or treat outing. O'Bryan escorted his son, his daughter, Elizabeth, 5, and two other children on the traditional Halloween night outing.

The group went to a number of homes in Pasadena, a Houston suburb.

Later, at his home, Timothy ate one of the candies, a powdered confection packaged in a tube called Pixie Stix. The boy died within a short time.

During a massive investigation, Pasadena police discovered four other poisoned Pixie Stix. One was found among Elizabeth's candy and one each in the candy collections of the two children that accompanied the O'Bryans. A fifth was found among the candy of a child who called on the O'Bryans.

O'Bryan is also charged with attempted capital murder of his daughter, and attempted murder of the other three children.

Police, in their investigation, discovered that O'Bryan had taken out two $20,000 life insurance policies on his children only a few days before Halloween.

Tucson Authorities Holding Airman In Waco Murder

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Police making a routine traffic stop here Tuesday arrested a 23-year-old man in connection with a killing in Waco, Tex., four years ago.

Lawrence E. Scott, who told officers he was stationed at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base here, remained in county jail under $200,000 bond.

After police stopped him for an alleged traffic violation, his name was checked through the National Crime Information Center and it showed a warrant outstanding for his arrest, officers said.

They said he evaded questions and they became suspicious.

Scott was arrested for investigation of murder and giving false information. A hearing was scheduled in justice court May 21.

At that time Scott can decide whether to waive extradition.

Scott and a second man, Michael Wayne Chappell, were accused of killing Bennie Franklin Cotton, 53, a service station attendant, on Jan. 30, 1971, police said.

Waco police said Cotton was killed by a shotgun blast but no money or merchandise was taken in what they believe was a holdup attempt.

Chappell, who was arrested 18 months after the shooting, jumped bail and remains at large, according to police.

Opening lead — ♣ J

If South rushes to take the diamond finesse, his slam may stand or fall on this single play. When the finesse loses, East returns a heart, and the party is over.

This is, of course, the wrong way to play the hand.

Tackle Hearts
South should tackle the hearts first. If West has the ace of hearts, he must take it at once or he will never get it. And after West has taken the ace of hearts South can discard a diamond on dummy's extra high heart.

The important fact is that South is not defeated even if the ace of hearts shows up in the East hand. South can regain the lead and try the diamond finesse next.

Two tries are better than one.
DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-2 H-10 8 6 4 D-K 9 7 3 C-8 5 3 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. Make it difficult for the next player to get into the auction; don't be a sitting duck for the enemy. Your heart support and fine distribution should protect you against mishap.

Reporter Refuses To Divulge News Source In Wiretapping Case

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Post reporter Jon Standefer refused to reveal the confidential source of an investigative news story during a hearing here Tuesday and was ordered to appeal at a later hearing to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

The action came during a drug case pretrial motion hearing that has, in effect, become a court of inquiry into police wiretapping.

The defendant in the case is Andrew Brown Bloom, charged with the sale of illegal drugs. Bloom's lawyer, Richard Haynes, claims that illegal wiretaps were used to gather evidence against Bloom.

To support the contention, Haynes has called as witnesses a long series of law enforcement officers and newsmen.

Standefer, who was represented by an attorney, "respectfully declined" to answer a number of questions on information he gathered for an April 16 investigative report on alleged police wire taps.

District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson directed Standefer to answer the questions, but each time the newsman declined.

The judge then ordered the reporter to appear at a May 15 hearing "to show cause" why he should not be held in contempt of court.

Jefferson said the reporter's action provoked a conflict between the first amendment to the constitution, freedom of the press, and the sixth amendment, the right of the accused, in this case Bloom, to due process.

Another newsman, Larry Conners of KTRK-TV, testified Monday and also refused to reveal the sources of reports he has made recently on police wiretapping. Judge Jefferson said Conners may be recalled later.

Another witness, Houston electronics expert J. L. Patterson, testified Tuesday that material from a police department internal investigation indicates that illegal wiretapping in Houston was widespread at one time.

Patterson said the material was tape recordings made by Houston Police Chief Carroll Lynn of interviews with police officers.

Lynn conducted the investigation last year, shortly after being named chief. Patterson aided in the investigation.

Asked to recall what he could from the material, Patterson said police officers Joe Humbarger, Eddie Fowler and Charlie Everitts were each quoted in the material as knowing of numerous state and federal agencies that benefitted from the illegal wiretaps.

Under cross examination, Patterson admitted that he had copies of tapes and transcripts from the Lynn investigation. Jefferson gave him an hour to produce them in court.

Fifty minutes later, Patterson appeared with an attorney and a briefcase. He met in chambers with the judge and the lawyers for more than two hours.

Haynes later told newsmen the material "could possibly" provide legal relief for Standefer, but this would be determined later.

A series of Associated Press reports late last year quoted sources as saying illegal police wiretapping was a casual, "almost routine" practice in 1973 in the narcotics and criminal intelligence divisions of the Houston Police Department.

The stories also reported that several federal agencies and police of other cities have benefitted from a wire tapping expertise developed in the Houston Police Department.

Other sources were quoted as saying that wiretapping was so "sophisticated" that it required the aid and assistance of someone employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., the Houston telephone service franchise holder.

Bell officials have repeatedly denied this.

Sources said, however, that information gathered in the Lynn investigation implicates some Bell employees. The investigation also implicates several Houston police officers or former officers, the source said.

In testimony on Monday, Humbarger and Fowler each refused to answer scores of questions about wiretapping, claiming the fifth amendment privilege.

Humbarger has worked in the Houston police department communications division for 25 years. Earlier AP stories quoted sources as saying sophisticated wiretap devices were manufactured in the communications division.

Humbarger pleaded the fifth amendment 42 times Monday, refusing to answer questions on wiretapping, manufacturing of wiretap devices or acquaintance with Southwestern Bell officials. Asked specifically if he knew Jerry Slaughter, the Bell security chief here, or Fred Bolton, a Bell Security officer, Humbarger refused to answer.

Both Slaughter and Bolton, testifying later, denied any knowledge of illegal wiretapping or of aiding police in illegal wiretapping. Bolton also denied any former acquaintance with Humbarger.

Sabres' Beat Canadiens On Overtime Goal, 5-4

BUFFALO (AP) — It is unlikely that Rene Robert's contract calls for overtime pay and he admits he doesn't like putting in extra time on his job. Nobody, he said of his Buffalo Sabres teammates and himself, "likes an overtime game. One mistake and you're gone."

Neither Robert nor the Sabres made a mistake in Tuesday night's sudden-death overtime and Buffalo, on Robert's low shot, defeated the Montreal Canadiens 5-4 in Game 5 of their National Hockey League semifinal playoff.

The victory gave the Sabres a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series with Game 6 to be played in Montreal Thursday night.

Keeping up with fast moving traffic is sheer torture for her in a small car. Yes, compacts and minis can suffer extra engine strain to accelerate speed. This can cause excessive engine heat, wear and noise. That's why small cars should have extra protection. Now they can get it thanks to WYNN'S OIL TREATMENT FOR SMALL CARS. # Barry Guns Warriors To 111-106 Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Rick Barry came out a winner in "one of the most memorable games I've ever played in."

And after scoring 36 points Tuesday night, leading the Golden State Warriors to a comeback 111-106 victory over the Chicago Bulls, Barry isn't haunted quite so much by the fatal mistake he made two games earlier.

"Thank God it's even now," the Warriors' star said after doing his bit in squaring the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals at two games apiece.

The fifth game is scheduled

18-WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1975

Thursday night.

The Bulls blew a 19-point lead in the fourth game of the best-of-seven series, but guard Norm Van Lier vowed later, "We're going to win the playoffs."

Chicago has a 2-26 all-time playoff record in road games, but Van Lier feels, "We're the better team, and we're going to prove it."

Barry, in Game 2 at Chicago, threw up a foolish shot in the closing seconds, giving the Bulls the ball and the opportunity they needed to pull out a 90-88 victory.

The third period was even, but the Warriors overtook the foul-troubled Chicagoans in the final period. Barry had 26 of his points in the second half. "We lost it at the foul line," Chicago Coach Dick Motta said, looking at the Bulls' final statistics which included 20 missed free throws.

But guard Jerry Sloan, whose 22 points were second high to Bob Love's 27 for Chicago, differed with his coach.

"The turning point was when we were the dominant team and were getting into foul trouble. I still can't figure out how that happened," he said, implying the Warriors owed officials Don Murphy and Jake

Giants Find Gem In Brooklyn

Pete Falcone Notches No. 3

By The Associated Press — He is a young left-hander just breaking into the National League. He went to Lafayette High School in Brooklyn, N. Y.

There end the similarities between Pete Falcone of the San Francisco Giants and Sandy Koufax of the All-Time Baseball Greats.

For now, that is.

After all, the 21-year-old Falcone made his fifth major league start in his team's 25th game Tuesday night. Koufax didn't appear in his first game until the end of June 20 summer ago and didn't start until July 6.

A 19-year-old Koufax pitched a total of 42 innings his first season, while Falcone already has worked 37. The last eight of those innings were spent beating Atlanta, 7-1, holding the Braves hitless for his first six innings and losing his shutout on an eighth-inning ball.

Eventually, Randy Moffitt came on in relief of the 21-year-old who had expected to pitch baseball in the Texas League this year after owning lockers in previous seasons at Great Falls, Mont.; Fresno, Calif.; and Amarillo, Tex. The two finished with a three-hitter that went into the books as Falcone's third victory in four decisions.

Koufax, in his first year, was ent home run to back Sutton's four-hitter, his 15th victory in 16 decisions and the Dodgers' 10th triumph in 12 games.

The Astros hadn't scored in 18 2-3 innings before Watson's blast.

Aeros Take 2-0 Lead

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Bill Dineen says position hockey is the "only way to play the Quebec Nordiques and his defending World Cup champion Aeros are in good position after two victories over the Nordiques in the World Hockey Association playoff series.

The Aeros skated and fought to a 5-3 victory over the Nordiques Tuesday night to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series, which will be resumed Saturday in Quebec.

"That's the only way to play them because of their great speed," Dineen said. "If you don't, they'll skate us right down the ice."

The speedy Nordiques were ready to play after a slow start in last Saturday's 6-2 loss and matched the Aeros goal for goal until Houston broke away in a rapidfire third period, when three goals were scored in 58 seconds.

Permian's Shipman Leaps Into Aggie Picture

One thing and another, and, quick now, who was the Texas League batting champion last season? Need a hint? Gerry Remy, Bill Hulsman or David Collins? Former San Angelo Coach Emory Bellard was highly-pleased with Texas A&M's spring football drills. "It was by far the best spring we've had at Texas A&M," said Emory.

"We're pleased with the progress we made. The defense is very solid... has a lot of quickness and the starters are extremely sound. The offensive line made great strides... Richard Osborne is a sound, solid tight end, as good as anyone around... We have solid running backs, but we can't afford to sustain injuries."

"We have a solid kicking game. We'll be more experienced, have a lot of senior leadership and the squad had a great attitude all spring."

Of course, the big question about the Aggies after last fall's late season collapse is at quarterback. Says Emory, "At present we do not have a No. 1 quarterback. We have three good ones (David Shipman, Mike Jay and David Walker) fighting for it."

However, that's for publication. After the way he led the Maroon to a 69-0 win over the White in the spring game, it would be pretty hard not to give Shipman, the former Odessa Permian star, a slight edge.

Directing the Ags' combination wishbone-I offense, Shipman guided the Maroon to four touchdowns in a six-minute span, running 27 yards for one score, hitting seven of 10 passes for 169 yards and running for 92...

Fire Suffers Setback

New Coupling Lessens Danger In 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Fire, the word that makes men shudder at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, has taken a real setback this year with the adoption by the U. S. Auto Club of a requirement that a revolutionary fuel line coupling be used.

The coupling, developed by E. B. Wiggins Inc. of Los Angeles already has prevented at least one minor accident from turning into a possible tragedy, according to USAC technical chief Frankie DelRoy.

In three days of practice for the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 25, four cars have made contact with the Speedway's cement walls. There has been no fire and, in all but one case, the driver walked away uninjured.

"This device is really fantastic," DelRoy said. "On this last crash, if it hadn't been on there, we would certainly have had a fire situation," he added, noting that the car's magnesium right rear wheel was smashed and would have exploded into flames if fuel had splashed onto it.

W. Robert Martin, sales manager for the Wiggins firm, which makes mechanical components, said the company experimented with the device on several cars last year.

"We came up with the concept while searching for a crash-worthy coupling for helicopters in Vietnam," Martin explained. "When Frankie heard about it, he picked it up for USAC right away."

The coupling, very simply, is made up of two valves. One is attached to the car's fuel cell and the other to the gas line with a supporting arm to the car's frame. When the two valves are attached to one another, they allow fuel to flow through. When they are pulled apart, both of the valves automatically seal air tight. "They work on a pre-determined load," Martin said.

"When the car strikes anything solid, the coupling pulls apart and both the fuel cell and the fuel hose are sealed."

Rookies Jigger Sirois and Chuck Gurney and veteran Mike Hiss are the three who have walked away uninjured, while veteran Steve Krisloff of Parsippany, N.J., suffered a fractured left heel.

Cards' Donny Anderson Traded To Miami Dolphins

MIAMI (AP) — In a move to fill gaps left by the departure of three top stars, the Miami Dolphins have acquired veteran running back Donny Anderson as part of a four-player National Football League trade with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach Don Shula of the Dolphins said Tuesday that the Dolphins obtained Anderson as a partial replacement for World Football League defector Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick.

Cards' backup receiver Jim McFarland also will join the Miami receiving corps depleted by the departure of WFL-bound Paul Warfield.

The Dolphins gave up wide receiver Martin Briscoe, who was injured last year after being placed on the injured reserve list, and running back Hubert Ginn.

"We plan to use Donny in the Jim Kiick situations," said Shula. He indicated Dolphin runner back Don Nottingham would have first crack at the fullback position vacated by Csonka.

"We plan to use him (Anderson) in the passing situations.

He's caught a lot of passes coming out of the backfield," Shula said. "He's probably more of a halfback but he can play fullback. We'll give him a chance to fit into our program."

The Dolphins' backfield still boasts considerable power in Mercury Morris, Benny Malone and Nottingham.

Anderson, a nine-year veteran, joined the Cardinals in 1972 after six years with the Green Bay Packers, who made him a first-round draft choice out of Texas Tech.

He led St. Louis in rushing (679 yards), pass receptions (41) and touchdowns (13) in 1973.

In his career, Anderson has averaged just under four yards a carry while catching 209 passes for 2,548 yards. Fourteen of his 56 career touchdowns came on pass receptions.

The Cardinals, who already boast talented receivers, gain the impressive talents of Briscoe, who in 1973 led the Dolphins in pass-catching. That year Briscoe latched on to 30 passes for 447 yards and two touchdowns.

Morgan, Berry Lead Golf

Mrs. ArDee Morgan shot a 69 Tuesday to set the pace in the Hogan Park Women's Golf Assn. Tournament while Mrs. Larry Smith was second with a 70 and Mrs. Allen Sherrord had a 73 net. In the nine-hole flight, Mrs. George Berry led with a net 36 and was followed by Mrs. George Ashland, 39, and Mrs. Ralph McCleskey, 41.

Competition today continues and the putting, chipping and long ball contests will be held at the end of play. The tournament concludes Thursday.

Mrs. Coughran Ketter is chairman of the event and is assisted by Mrs. Jack Velton. Defending champions are Mrs. Jack Hillis, 18-hole flight, and Mrs. Ralph McCleskey, nine-hole flight.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Nate Wright, Minnesota Vikings cornerback who made $68,733 in total compensation last season, says he came up the hard way, including two years as a free agent in pro football.

Wright testified Tuesday he found it wasn't easy to negotiate with another club or get a salary he felt he was worth in 1971 and 1972.

He was the 19th witness called in the suit by 15 present or former National Football League players who want to eliminate the Rozelle Rule. Defendants are the league, Commissioner Pete Rozelle and club owners.

The commissioner has power to decide compensation for a club losing a player as a free agent after he has played the club's option year. The NFL Players Association attacks the rule as restrictive when players try to move to other clubs and contend it violates federal anti-trust laws.

Wright, 28, of Lemon Grove, Calif., never was drafted out of San Diego State and joined the Atlanta Falcons as a free agent in 1969. After three regular season games, he was released and he signed with St. Louis.

The Cardinals traded him to Minnesota in 1971.

The 5-foot-11, 180 pound cornerback said as a free agent he signed for only $15,000 with the Falcons, but bonuses provided another $6,500.

He signed 1969-70 pact for $17,500 each year, testifying before U.S. District Judge Earl Larson Tuesday. "I didn't think I was in a position to do much negotiating," Wright wanted $23,000 in 1971 but the Cardinals would only pay $22,000, said Wright. He didn't sign, and St. Louis dealt him to the Vikings prior to the regular season.

His 1971 base was $15,750, or 10 per cent off his 1970 salary.

In 1972, as a free agent, Wright contacted Oakland Coach John Madden. The witness related:

"He asked me my situation. I said I'd played out the option. He said, 'Okay, I'll get back to you later.' But he didn't call me."

with a San Diego Chargers official but was told they weren't signing any players at that time.

He testified Vikings' General Manager Jim Finks told him the federal wage guidelines applied for 1972 contracts, limiting steps to 3.5 per cent. Pro athletic salaries were exempted in the summer of 1972.

A defense exhibit showed Wright got total compensation including base, incentives and pre and postseason pay of $16,875 in 1971, $28,170 in 1972, $39,661 in 1973 and $68,733 in 1974.

Clean Jones Denies All Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Mets have declined comment for the time being anyway, on the arrest of outfielder Clean Jones on indecent exposure charges in Florida. Jones was picked up early Sunday morning by police in St. Petersburg who claimed he was sleeping in the seats in a parked van with a 21-year-old woman identified as "Caron Ann Sabol. Miss Sabol was also charged with indecent exposure in addition to possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia. Jones has denied he was undressed and also denies any knowledge of the marijuana, which police say was in the woman's purse. Jones met with Mets' General Manager Joe McDonald for 45 minutes Tuesday and afterwards, McDonald said the club would have nothing to say at present. McDonald said he understood the Florida State Attorney's office will decide whether to prosecute or not in a day or two. He also said the Mets have been notified that the security department of the Baseball Commissioner's Office is planning to investigate the incident.

Jets Make Bid To Keep Joe

Football
 New York Jets' President Phil Iselein thinks he has made Joe Namath an offer the quarterback can't refuse. "A very substantial offer with security to go with it," is what Iselein describes it. "I wish somebody would offer it to me." Estimates are that the new figure would be $1 million, which would represent a 10 per cent increase over the three-year contract at $300,000 annually just completed by Namath.

Phil Iselein... a tempting offer

Denver's Broncos traded the NFL rights to wide receiver Otto Stow and an undisclosed 1977 draft choice to the Los Angeles Rams Tuesday as compensation for signing free agent defensive lineman Phil Olsen. ... Walt Chancy, a five receiver from Carroll College, has signed a two-year contract with the Dallas Cowboys. Chancy, 6-1, 175, does 4.6 seconds in the 40 and averaged 12 yards per reception in his senior year.

Tennis

South Africa faced almost certain extinction from the Davis Cup tennis Tournament Monday with the publication of an agenda for the annual meeting of the Davis Cup nations to be held in London July 3. The South Africans became reigning champions by default last year when India refused to play them. This year's competition has again seen countries refusing to compete because of opposition to South Africa's apartheid policy.

Coleman Hurls 1-Hitter Briles' 4-Hitter For KC Stops Rangers

By The Associated Press
 Joe Coleman thought he threw a good pitch. Nelson Briles knew he threw a bad pitch. Both pitches came down behind a fence as two-run homers but Coleman and Briles came up with victories anyway.

Detroit's Coleman was tagged for a two-run homer by Milwaukee's George Scott in the very first inning but that was the only hit he allowed as the Tigers rallied to end the Brewers' five-game winning streak 4-2.
 Kansas City's Briles blanked Texas on four hits until Willie Davis tied the game with a two-run homer in the eighth. But the Royals retaliated with four runs in the bottom of the eighth and trimmed the Rangers 6-2.

Coleman spun his one-hitter although he hadn't pitched in more than a week. "With that much of a layoff it might hurt you," he said. "Your arm may be strong but your legs hurt."
 Scott's first-inning homer following a hit batsman gave Milwaukee a 2-0 lead.

Bill Freehan's fourth-inning homer off Pete Brogert started the Detroit scoring. Ron LeFlore put the Tigers in front with a bases-loaded two-run single in the fifth and scored the final run in the seventh when he walked, stole second and came home on a single by Gary Sutherland.

Red Sox 4, Indians 1
 Bill Lee's six-hit pitching and Bob Montgomery's two-run single led Boston to its fourth straight triumph. Montgomery's second-inning single off Dick Bosman put the Red Sox ahead 2-0 after singles by Jim Rice and Rico Petrocelli and an error by second baseman Jack

Munson Signs With Texans

LEVELLAND — Larry Munson, Midland High's talented hurdler, has signed to run track at South Plains Junior College. Munson, who finished second in the District 5-4A track meet, wound up fourth last week in the regional track meet in a time of 38.0. He has run a 37.8. South Plains track coach Clint Ramsey signed Munson Tuesday. Jim Bibby issued a leadoff day.

Twins 4, White Sox 1

Steve Brye hit his first home run of the season and Larry Hise added a run-scoring triple as the Twins won their fourth straight game. The defeat was the sixth for Chicago's Wilbur Wood, who has won only once.

San Antonio Halts Diablos
 By The Associated Press
 Shreveport and Lafayette each took their 14th victories Tuesday and widened leads in their respective divisions as Texas League standings remained virtually unchanged. Shreveport stayed on top in the West Division defeating Midland 3-2, and Lafayette defeated Alexandria 8-3 in the East.

San Antonio shut out El Paso 4-0. Rain again forced postponement of the Arkansas at Jackson game. A combined shutout performance by John Langerhans (2-2) and Gary Weese kept El Paso scoreless. A two-run homer in the fourth by Rick Guerra and a two-run double in the eighth by Rob Beloir earned the Brewers tallies.

Lafayette took an easy 8-3 victory with winning pitcher Rod Dressler snaring his fourth victory against one loss. The Drillers' scoring streak was spared by one-on-home runs by Tommy Smith in the third and Reggie Walton in the fifth. Craig Barnes cracked in the bases-empty homer in the fifth.

Stoneham Vows Giants To Hold Fort

Long Term Leases Lock Giants, A's In Bay Area

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Implications that the Giants are going broke are erroneous. "We have assets in real estate. We are not going bankrupt. Our club will be in San Francisco all year," Stoneham said at a civic luncheon one day after a San Francisco newspaper quoted him as saying, "We're pressed for money right now, but we can operate for another couple of months." The 72-year-old Stoneham's wording about the team staying in San Francisco this season which seemingly lock them into the question of next year, a front office lieutenant said, "Horace didn't mean only this year. We're staying."

Both the Giants and the world champion A's in neighboring Oakland are staying in the Bay Area. Stoneham or A's owner Charles O. Finley can figure a million net loss for 1974 when home attendance totaled 510,991, lowest in the majors. The crowd count is up slightly so far this season, with an average of 9,300 paying fans per home date, but there's that dry nine-game homestand coming up. That's because the Candlestick Park concessionaires drew a 10-day suspension of its beer license for sale to minors in April, 1973.

The break even attendance point would be somewhere near one million, and Stoneham admits that's about the best that can be hoped for. As long as there's two teams in the area, neither is going to get too prosperous," Stoneham said. Finley has acknowledged the same fact. Finley has admitted frustration over his team's failure to pack fans in at the Oakland Coliseum despite three straight world titles. The A's have been over one million attendance only once since moving from Kansas City in 1968.

"I'd be embarrassed to tell you how little money we made last year," Finley said. Baseball's hot stove rumors have Finley moving the A's to Seattle, New Orleans, Toronto and other cities—annually. But the rumors don't help Stoneham's Giants. The team has sold such players as Willie Mays, Juan Marchal and Dave Kingman, bringing in some welcome cash.

Land Commissioner Urges Purchase Of Big Bend 'Brother'

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Senate Finance committee has a chance to buy a little brother for Big Bend.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong has been telling legislators busy with session-end work the state has a chance to buy 230,000 acres immediately west of the Big Bend National Park for a little over $36 an acre.

The land includes 23 miles of river frontage on the Rio Grande, and water is available on virtually the entire tract, Armstrong said.

The land commissioner has only a few days in which to persuade the legislature to give him $8 million to buy the land from Robert Anderson, chairman of the board of Atlantic Richfield Co.

Armstrong asked Anderson a year ago if he would give the state first refusal in the event he decided to sell the land. Armstrong was looking for a waterfall and told Anderson the state would swap land to get a waterfall in that area. Anderson's ranch has two large waterfalls, one approximately 170 feet high.

Armstrong said he forgot about his talk with Anderson until three weeks ago, when Anderson called him. The land is worth $60 an acre, Anderson said, but he would sell it to the state for a little over $36 an acre.

The state already owns several pieces of land totaling approximately 31,000 acres inside Anderson's ranch, so the solid chunk the state would end up with if the deal goes through would be approximately 251,000 acres.

This compares with 708,000 acres in the Big Bend.

Armstrong has been cornering lawmakers in the halls of the Capitol to show them some two dozen color pictures of the land he took, including many from his airplane.

He wrote a letter Monday to the chairman and members of the House Appropriations and Senate Finance committee urging acceptance of Anderson's offer.

"As you know, the Big Bend is now turning away visitors because of a lack of water," he said in the letter. "There are two waterfalls with permanent flowing water on the ranch and it is possible to dig three or four feet in many arroyos and have percolating water immediately available."

"Also, on the ranch is the Solitario, a unique uplift found nowhere else. Minerals are intact on approximately 106,000 acres and would be included in the price. Portions of minerals are available on most of the rest."

"The area has geothermal potential, as well as silver, mercury, fluorspar and other hard mineral possibilities. "I am requesting an additional appropriation of $8 million for the state to purchase this ranch as public school land. This represents a break with tradition. Up until 1956 the General Land Office has sold the public land. But I feel this is a unique opportunity in the Bicentennial year to reverse this trend."

Animal Cruelty Bill Advanced

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — All sides on the proposed animal cruelty act are now in agreement.

Sponsored by Rep. John Wilson of La Grange HB 168 would give the Animal Health Commission the authority to regulate the licensing of pet stores, zoos, animal sales and riding and breeding stables.

Exempt from the legislation are domestic farm animals, weedy cattle sales and veterinary medical clinics.

Wilson has said the intent of HB 168 is to require municipalities to provide for the orderly care and humane destruction of small animals, and to prohibit inhumane treatment at breeding farms and roadside zoos.

The House committee approved the amended version of HB 168, and sent it to the floor for debate on an 8-0 vote.

Ninth State
New Hampshire was the first colony to declare its independence from England and set up its own government. It joined the union as the ninth state in 1788.

Concert Real Roof-Raiser

The Midland-Odessa Symphony and Choral had promised a roof-raising performance of an old favorite, the 1812 Overture by Tchaikovsky, to highlight its season-closing concert, and instrumentalists and singers certainly delivered the goods as promised. The work was a rouser in its presentation here Tuesday night.

Composed to commemorate the Russian victory over the French forces of Napoleon, the "1812" or "Overture Solennelle" is quintessential program music—evocative, dramatic, musically fulsome. The composer ingeniously wove Russian folksong, liturgical melodies and the French national anthem, the "Marseillaise," into its programmatic fabric while building intensity with battle music and the sound of cannon fire. Its climax, an anthem and the wild pealing of church bells, must certainly provide one of the most dramatic endings in all music literature.

Joining the orchestra and choral in the splendid presentation was the Midland Elementary Schools Honor Choir and while that group's participation in the piece was limited, it did just fine and contributed importantly to the excitement and musical evocations.

There were other facets contributing to the luster of the concert, too. Guest soprano Pauline Stark presented Miccena's aria from Bizet's "Carmen" and the richly melodic "Maids of Cadiz" by Leo Delibes, then returned during the second portion of the program to offer the well-loved Viha from Lehár's "The Merry Widow" and the melodic "I Love You" from the musical, "Song of Norway." She sang Gershwin's "Summertime" as an encore.

Miss Stark demonstrated great artistry in all her presentations. She manifested good voice placement, excellent breath control, impeccable diction — hallmarks of the skilled vocalist. And, as a bonus, the attractive Miss Stark has dignity and elegant stage presence.

The orchestra, under the baton of conductor-music director Dr. Tom Holstad, presented Haydn's Symphony No. 104, the beloved "Blue Danube" waltz by Johann Strauss the younger, and Mario Lombardo's bright, sparkling "now" symphonic work, "Variations In A Mod Mood," offering catchy rhythms and jazzy harmonics.

The Haydn symphony, one of the "composer's many small symphonic gems, received a fine reading by the orchestra, which caught the melodic nuances and essentially flowing quality of this work. With the possible exception of the "Surprise" and "Clock" symphonies, Haydn's symphonic compositions are little known to most concert-goers, and I am glad that one of these pleasant works had a hearing locally.

The orchestra also caught the grace and lyricism of Strauss' "On the Beautiful Blue Danube," with some fine trumpet work evident. The "Variations In A Mod Mood," done with verve and dash, proved to be one of the audience favorites last night.

Texas High Court Upholds Andrews Commissioners

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN—The state Supreme Court today said the Andrews County commissioners had the right to purchase a medical clinic adjoining the county hospital and to lease the clinic back to the doctors who owned it originally.

Dan Sullivan and others brought the suit to enjoin the county from making the transaction after voters had approved a $2.75 million bond issue to expand and improve the hospital.

Andrews County commissioners agreed to pay $138,000 for the clinic and then lease it back, but the Attorney General ruled they did not have the authority.

In June 1973 legislation was passed to give the county that authority and the deal was made in August.

The high court agreed with lower court rulings that Sullivan was wrong in contending the county overstepped its authority.

Odesson Ordered To Serve Term

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN—William Donald Christian will have to go to prison for sale of marijuana in Ector County, the state Court of Criminal Appeals said today.

Christian's case came to the high court on an appeal of an Ector County district court decision to revoke probation he was granted, and ordering him to prison for nine years.

DPS Official To Speak Here

Joe Milner of Austin, chief of traffic law enforcement, Texas Department of Public Safety, will address the Midland Downtown Rotary Club at its Thursday noon meeting in the American Legion Hall.

"Law Enforcement" will be the subject of his talk. Milner will be introduced by Maj. E. K. Browning, commander of the Midland Region of the DPS.

Senate Approves Appointment Bill

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A bill to spread the power to appoint county court vacancies from the county judge to the entire county court passed the Senate 24-5.

Sen. Ron Clower of Garland carried the measure which changes current procedure where a county judge has sole authority to name successors to county commissioners' posts when a vacancy occurs.

"This would bring procedure in line with the filling of all other vacancies," Clower said of his SB 506.

The commissioners court now fills vacancies of the county judge, county clerk, sheriff, county attorney, county treasurer, county surveyor, county assessor-collector, justice of the peace and others.

The measure now goes to the House for consideration.

Texas House Takes Up Bill Creating Board To Screen Hospital Construction

AUSTIN (AP) — After spending all day Tuesday on just two bills, the House today takes up an "emergency bill" creating a federally mandated state board to screen plans to build or enlarge hospitals.

The bill was postponed last week under opposition from organized medicine, but sponsors claimed Tuesday all the problems had been ironed out.

It originally called for a three-member commission—none of whom could be health care providers—to do all the states health planning and issue or deny "certificates of need" for additional hospital space. Revisions made since last week's postponements allow the commission jurisdiction over only the certificate of need program, while making the State Health Department the chief health planning agency.

The House tentatively approved two bills Tuesday.

One would divide the nine remaining counties with multi-member, countywide House representation into single-member districts. The counties are Tarrant, Travis, Jefferson, Lubbock, McLennan, Hidalgo, El Paso, Galveston and Nueces.

The other sets up a method for evaluating agricultural land according to its productivity for tax purposes. Average five-year income that could be gained from farming or ranching the land in its natural state—without irrigation, fertilizer or insecticides—would be the main determinant of a tract's value.

Both bills need a final vote before going to the Senate.

Senators spent far less time but passed to the House, 29-0, two major insurance bills dealing with the high cost of malpractice coverage and with health insurance problems.

The malpractice bill sets up a temporary pooled risk system, voluntarily involving all firms now writing medical insurance in Texas. Doctors would obtain one-year policies, with the State Insurance Board approving premiums.

"This will solve the problem of physicians who need malpractice insurance but now are having to pay exorbitant sums for premiums," said the sponsor, Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston. During the two-years that the bill is in force, a 15-member committee will make a study to learn whether spreading the risks with a pool system is the best method to deal with the problem or whether some other means should be tried.

The health insurance bill empowers the insurance board to set minimum coverage standards, check rates for adequacy and issue required definitions of common terms. Companies would have to include a plain language explanation with each policy.

Companies that accept policyholders without a detailed questionnaire about their medical history would be required to provide benefits even for pre-existing conditions after six months.

Senators also passed and sent to the House, 21-8, a bill by Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, setting up statewide standards for ambulances and their drivers and attendants. It would make Texas eligible for $32 million in federal funds.

With rural senators complaining about the problems the bill might present their counties, Ogg-won approval of an amendment allowing any county by a resolution of its commissioners court.

House debate on the property tax bill lasted from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m., with much of the time spent on various amendments by Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville. Nugent objected to evaluating the productivity of land under a standard that specifically omitted the normal steps farmers take to make it productive—fertilizing, irrigating and spraying.

Soviet Spy Agency Shifts Tactics, Growing In Strength

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet espionage service, the KGB, is shifting tactics and growing in strength, according to intelligence sources in Western Europe.

They say they see a decreasing reliance by the KGB on agents who enter a Western country legally and work in embassies under diplomatic cover. Instead they see an increasing use of two other types of spy.

One is the "illegal," the agent smuggled in, such as a spy who steps off a freighter at an unwatched port. The other is the citizen of a Western country "turned around" to work for the Soviets.

Both types of agents are harder for Western intelligence services to spot than the highly visible "diplomats."

Smuggling a Russian spy into Britain, for example, is as easy as stepping off a boat.

A dozen British ports, among them Halifax in northern England, Ayr in Scotland and Barry in South Wales, have no immigration or customs officers. Russian freighters carrying crews of 30 and maybe 10 passengers call at these ports from time to time.

It is fairly simple to walk off one of these ships unnoticed and hide in the largely working class districts near the docks where many people are sympathetic to the local Communist party.

"The KGB are rationalizing their clandestine activities," one Western intelligence source said. "The illegals are more cost effective."

By that the source meant that an agent working as a diplommat can be costly if he defects and blows the cover of other Russian spies. Illegals and local nationals can be just as effective, and less damaging if caught.

The KGB suffered a major blow here in 1971 when the British government expelled as spies 106 Soviet officials working in the embassy or the trade mission. At the time the British estimated 75 per cent of the Russian diplomats accredited to London were spies. Their identities are known and it may be difficult for Moscow to place them abroad again in other embassies.

The Institute for the Study of Conflict, a London group which has access to some British, European and U.S. intelligence reports, estimates, however, that three out of every four Soviet diplomats in Western Europe still works for the KGB.

Western sources say the proportion of Russian spies working under diplomatic cover has remained steady, but there has been a noticeable shift toward other types of agents such as illegals and locals. These tend to concentrate in areas where the United States has large installations.

"The U.S. is the main target for Soviet espionage in Europe," a British source said. According to him the prime Soviet goals are to infiltrate into the U.S. Defense Department, the State Department, the National Security Council, the CIA and the FBI.

These organizations are weaker on the periphery than at the center and this is why the Russians try to infiltrate around the edges in Europe.
