Recovery was 965 feet of heavily gas-cut mud.

Briscoe Says Texas Will Welcome Its Share Of Vietnamese Refugees

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says Texas will join with its sister states in welcoming its share of South Vietnamese refugees and in trying to provide for their needs.

The governor's statement was released by his office Thursday amidst reports that the federal government had contacted Texas authorities about the possibility of resettling a large number of South Vietnamese in the state.

The Houston Post said Thursday that an aide to Gov. Briscoe had confirmed that Texas' Office of State-Federal Relations in Washington was unofficially approached by an administration source last week about the possibility of the state absorbing as many as 15,000 refugees.

The interagency task force spokesman said his organization is processing a request from "Friends of Freedom", a San Antonio group which said it can sponsor 1,000 refugees.

Briscoe said in the statement released through his office: "Texas, whose name means 'friendly', has a long history of welcoming immigrants and refugees from foreign shores. We have truly been a microcosm of the national melting pot. There are many problems we will face with respect to those refugees, problems of culture, language, job and training, but we will overcome them."

Vietnamese refugees have been arriving in Texas sponsored by private groups and individuals for some time now. Most have been greeted warmly although some private resistance to their arrival has been lodged by constituents with their congressional representatives.

An aide to Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said the senator's office has received several letters and telephone calls from individuals and businesses in Texas willing to provide jobs to South Vietnamese refugees. The aide added, however, that most of the letters received by the senator expressed opposition to the arrival in Texas of Vietnamese refugees.

A spokesman for Sen. Lloyd Benenson, D-Tex., said also that mail received by the senator opposed the resettlement of refugees in Texas.

Similar opposition was expressed in mail received by other Texas congressmen, sources said.

Meanwhile individual examples of warm welcomes and bitter rejection sprang throughout the state.

In Wichita Falls a Vietnamese staff reporter for CBS arrived to find a new home. Cat Nguyen, 46, his wife Phong, 45, and their seven children will live with friends and sponsors.

In Dallas Mrs. James Ditch of Carrollton, wife of a Korean war veteran, said she was offering to sponsor a mother with one or two children. "There are lots of factory works in Carrollton and we would work out the problem," she said.

Also in Dallas, an apartment manager sent a telegram to President Ford offering 20 rent-free apartments for six months and jobs for five adults.

—Bill Rogers, a disabled WW II veteran, on the other hand, mailed his Veterans Administration's pension and social security cards to the White House in protest saying the refugees are "getting better treatment than our own veterans."

Rogers also said he called the school board to say that he wants his sons withdrawn from U.S. government classes and exempted from having to recite the pledge of allegiance.

Rogers complained he has been ill-treated by the VA in connection with his pension payments and treatment for emphysema and a cardiovascular disease.

"They can help the goats, but not the vets," he said.

Hungarian And Cuban Refugee Influx Compared With That Of Vietnamese

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has previously opened its borders to hundreds of thousands of political refugees, but never before the current Vietnamese influx have so many come so suddenly about whom so little is known.

In 1956 and 1957, the immigration of more than 40,000 persons who fled Hungary was spread over 18 months. From 1961 to 1974, 400,000 Cuban refugees were absorbed, most into the Miami area during the mid-1960s.

In those two instances, the names and backgrounds of almost all who came were known to immigration officials before the refugees stepped on to U.S. soil.

History and geography combined to permit both migrations to be handled gradually and without the emergency surge underscored by the frantic evacuation of Saigon.

Nor was there the bitter resistance shown the new South Vietnamese arrivals and, in general, Cubans and Hungarians were welcomed without fear that they would take American jobs.

Hungarian refugee Istvan Gereben said Thursday he was "stunned" by the groundswell of resistance to the estimated 130,000 South Vietnamese either on their way or already in the United States.

"I am deeply troubled with this whole affair," Gereben said. "I have never been exposed to any kind of discrimination or that kind of bad-mouthing."

"I don't understand what happened in the last 18 years," said Gereben, who came to the United States in January 1957 along with his family aboard a crowded U.S. troop ship.

Other Hungarians came to the United States aboard U.S. Air Force or United Nations-sponsored transport planes. Almost all were taken to Camp Kilmer, N.J., a converted Army base where jobs and homes were found before the refugees moved on to lives in a new country.

In telephone interviews, Gereben and other refugees recalled that almost all Hungarians who came were mem-

Ky Will Remain At Refugee Camp

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has been processed and given a Social Security card, but he says he's not ready to leave the refugee center here.

Although he has scores of potential sponsors and even an offer of a 1,000-acre Texas ranch from old friends, the onetime head of the South Vietnamese air force said he's going to stay indefinitely in the camp.

Ky said he wants to "be with my people and try to help however I can."

bers of professions or had job skills then needed in the U.S. economy.

All had been screened at refugee camps in Austria. One former immigrant remembered that "the United States took the cream of the crop" from among the estimated 190,000 Hungarians who fled when the Soviet Union stopped an anti-Communist revolt in Budapest with troops and tanks.

Gereben said Camp Kilmer with its comfortably furnished wooden military barracks and adequate food and medical care, was home for most of the passing refugees for an average of two weeks.

Testimony Slated To Resume Monday In LCRA Lawsuit

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Testimony resumes here Monday by a former general manager of the Lower Colorado River Authority in the electric co-op's $22.5-million breach of contract suit against Coastal States Gas Producing Co.

Sam Gideon testified Thursday that Coastal States lawyer Frank Erwin told LCRA that Coastal would agree not to seek increased natural gas prices above the contract price by going to a government agency.

Gideon was general manager of LCRA when a contract was signed in 1962 between LCRA and Coastal States. LCRA claims that Coastal's subsidiary Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. later raised the price of gas with the permission of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Gideon was the first witness in the trial of the lawsuit, which started Tuesday with State District Court Judge W.C. Davis presiding.

The authority contends that Lo-Vaca illegally went before the Texas Railroad Commission asking for higher rates in 1973, and received them.

Higher Beef Prices Are Expected To Be In Offing

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The higher livestock prices that helped cause the latest boost in the Wholesale Price Index are likely to mean more expensive hot dogs, hamburgers and steaks for summer barbecues. But no one really knows whether the increase will continue, how much of it will show up at the supermarket or what the consumer will do.

On March 5, a 600-pound, choice steer carcass was selling for $56.75 per 100 pounds. On May 6, the same carcass brought $79.50, a 40 per cent increase.

Agriculture Department figures showed that prices paid to farmers increased 4 per cent from March 15 to April 15 after five straight months of decline.

The Labor Department said Thursday that this increase helped push up the Wholesale Price Index by 1.5 per cent in April. It was the first boost since November.

Why the sharp rise in cattle prices? What's going to happen at the supermarket?

The rise in cattle prices is due mainly to a decline in the over-all meat supply.

"Prices are going up primarily because of the low number of cattle available for slaughter now," said a Department of Agriculture economist in Des Moines, Iowa.

"The situation has been so unfavorable for feeders (feedlot operators who fatten livestock on grain) that some have just discontinued their feed operations. Feed costs are high ... and prices they get for meat are low."

The American Meat Institute reported that although beef production so far this year is 8 per cent ahead of 1974, decreases in pork and poultry production mean that 2 per cent less meat of all kinds has been produced in 1975 than a year earlier.

Howard Madson, an institute economist, also said that some cattlemen had been holding back their animals, waiting for the implementation of new beef grading standards. Those standards had been scheduled to take effect April 14, but were delayed by an injunction.

Gulf Oil's Chief Executive To Be Called By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church says Gulf Oil Corp.'s chief executive will be called to testify publicly next week about who received $4 million in political donations from the company.

"We must insist on full disclosure," said Church, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations. A hearing is set for May 16.

Gulf Chairman Bob R. Dorsey publicly assured the governments of Venezuela and Ecuador on Wednesday that those nations were not involved in the $4 million gifts.

Venezuela had threatened to end Gulf's business operations in the country if Gulf officials did not say by 6 p.m. EDT today whether or not Venezuelan officials were involved. Ecuador also made inquiries.

Bolivia also set a 48-hour deadline Wednesday night and threatened to halt payment of an estimated $50 million still pending in indemnities for Gulf property taken over in 1969 if the company does not clarify whether Bolivians were involved. The ultimatum was announced following a special cabinet meeting called by President Hugo Banzer.

Informed sources said they could only speculate about where the money went because Dorsey has so far refused to identify the recipients and has left few clues about who they might be. Japan, the Philippines, Nigeria, South Korea and Italy are considered possibilities.

The political gifts were disclosed publicly last week when the Wall Street Journal published excerpts from secret testimony Dorsey had given to investigators for the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Dorsey said Gulf paid $1 million in 1966 and $3 million in 1973 to politicians in an unnamed country. He said the money was paid under pressure, so Gulf could continue its business operations there.

The Journal suggested the money might have been paid in Latin America, which prompted the inquiries from Venezuela, Bolivia and Ecuador. Church said his subcommittee also had questioned Dorsey and that Dorsey wouldn't tell them where the money went, either.

Church said the subcommittee then asked the State Department if it had any objection to a full-blown investigation of the matter. He said the State Department replied that it had no objection.

He said the subcommittee also would probe overseas payments made by United Brands and by Northrop Corp. United Brands has admitted paying $1.25 million to an official in Honduras to get a banana export tax reduced. Northrop is fighting to keep secret details of "commissions" and other payments it made overseas in connection with arms sales to foreign governments.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Zavala County Judge Jose Angel Gutierrez said Thursday he would like to see some of Cuba's socialistic ideas in his county and La Raza Unida political party.

Gutierrez, who led 15 national delegates of La Raza Unida on a 10-day tour of Cuba, told a news conference he would "opt for" socialism over capitalism.

He was asked if he was a communist. "No way," he said. Gutierrez said the delegates were welcomed by everyone they met in Cuba, and their trip was "a fantastic type of experience."

The South Texas judge said those taking the trip wanted to participate in "the Cuba experience first-hand."

Gutierrez said the group found no crime, no poverty, no hunger and plenty of employment opportunities.

California Doctor Strike Is Spreading

By The Associated Press

A walkout by hundreds of anesthesiologists in protest of soaring malpractice insurance rates appeared headed today toward more California communities, crippling medical services in some hospitals.

The state is "saddled with a monumental problem of grave proportions," said Dr. Seymour Wallace, president of the California Society of Anesthesiologists.

Wallace made his comment Thursday after news from the office of Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. that the Travelers Corp., the major insurer of California doctors, intended to increase malpractice premiums by 400 per cent on Oct. 31. The Travelers Corp. is based in Hartford, Conn.

The news came one week after sharply increased rates for Northern California anesthesiologists by the Argonaut Insurance Co. went into effect. Premium boosts as high as 322 per cent drove more than 200 anesthesiologists to close their doors in protest and drastically reduced services at many private hospitals. The doctors were faced with premiums that increased from $5,377 to $18,164.

HINTS FROM Heloise Boxed White Cakes Great

Dear Folks: When you make a boxed white cake (I do, and don't anybody ever knock 'em, 'cause they're great), pour half of it in one pan, then add some cocoa — about a heaping tablespoon — to the second half and beat it some more. No additional liquid is needed.

Know what you are going to end up with? A nice "choc" layer and a white one. These can be split in two layers so that you will have a four-layer cake!

Place one of the cut white layers on a plate and smear with filling or icing, then top with a choc layer...

I learned that if you mix up a box of vanilla pudding when you don't have enough icing, that you can put this between every other layer and mmm, mmm, it is ever so good. Takes away the thought that most have: "Is it boxed or not?" Tricks to all-trades, I imagine?

But this does lots of things. Pools friends and gives you an entirely new reception when your family eats it, is easier to cut, and makes your cake taller — plus the fact that you can put the total recipe of your icing on the top and sides of your cake! Makes it look much more ritzy than when we tried to stretch the icing to cover between those two layers. Huh?

Don't forget this, honeypots. If you have an all-white cake, try chocolate puddings. If you have a chocolate cake, try vanilla, and so on.

Another thing I found out after testing this is that the cake doesn't dry out as quickly. Keeps it moist.

Love to the "Sweets" who "love" sweets... Heloise

Dear Heloise: I buy six pairs of men's socks in black and six pairs of brown socks each in identical patterns for my husband and I put the black socks on the left side of the drawer and brown socks on the right side, each color of socks laid out flat.

Now there's no more stretching of the elastic as sometimes happens when folding them. Also, no fumbling in the dark in the early mornings for the right color.

Just pick up two from either pile and come up with two matching socks everytime. Mrs. L. Borruso

HAVE YOU NOTICED How nice it would be if everyone said what they meant, and did what they said? "Tiny" Ghost Don

I'm not so sure... I'd have to think about that awhile... Heloise

Dear Heloise: I do a lot of sewing and, as I'm 80 years old, my fingers are "bumpy" at the tips.

When I sew, the thimble won't stay on very well so I use a little bit of denture adhesive to keep it on. The stuff rubs off easily and won't stain.

I suppose people will think this sounds funny, but it's better than having the thimble falling off every few minutes. Emma Christianson

Bride's Father's Share Feelings

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet fathers of the bride share the feelings of American parents as they watch their daughters wed — wistfulness that their little girl is starting a new life and horror that so much money is spent to celebrate that fact.

In their attempts to keep up with the Ivanova, young Soviet couples and their families may spend 1,000 rubles ($1,400) or more on wedding gowns, presents, processions and lavish feasts.

On one collective farm in the Ukraine, several sets of parents took out loans of 4,000 to 5,000 rubles ($5,600 to $7,000) to pay for their daughters' weddings, according to the rural women's magazine Krestyanka.

"It's upsetting that the wedding, a very significant event in a person's life, focuses on vanity, the desire to parade, and to show acquaintances and neighbors that we supposedly are not worse off than the rest of you," playwright Viktor Rozov recently scolded.

In a letter to the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta, Natalya Konovova complained that more than a year after her marriage, she and her husband were still paying off their 1,000-ruble wedding debt and because of that, could not afford to buy a cooperative apartment or take a vacation cruise.

Before 1959, Soviet couples spent little on their weddings. They registered their union in the State Bureau for Registration of Civil Condition, commonly known as ZAGS. No ceremony was held, no witnesses required. An official read the conditions for legal marriage and warned the couple that any false statement they might make constituted a criminal offense. They then signed their names in the register and an entry was made in their passports.

This dreary, dull event rekindled the interest of romantic young Soviets in the festive pageantry which accompanied old-fashioned weddings staged by the Russian Orthodox Church.

To stave off an embarrassing resurgence of church weddings in this atheistic state, Soviet officials in 1959 introduced "solemn civil ceremonies" performed in just-created state wedding palaces, most of which were ornate mansions belonging to pre-revolutionary nobility and bourgeoisie.

Solemn civil ceremonies, it was argued, would help prolong marriages and thus stabilize family life. That claim is arguable, but wedding places have fulfilled a psychological need and have sparked growth of new secular traditions.

Dear Abby Clyde Doesn't Like To Shake Hands

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice young man at a church fellowship affair for singles. Clyde had good manners and dressed well, and although he was on the quiet side, I managed to make enough conversation with him so that he asked to see me again.

We saw each other a few times and seemed to hit it off well. But there is one problem: Clyde doesn't like to shake hands with anybody. In fact, he even asked me not to take him any place where he would have to shake hands.

I noticed that when Clyde was introduced to another man, he held the mother not to say anything since it was not her house. Does this hold true for married children? I say, the kids' domestic squabbles even though they want to help.

Am I right or wrong?

DEAR WORRIED: You're right! The last person to mediate a family fight is a member of that family.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Today is a big day at KNFM. We're celebrating ten years of continuous operation as the Permian Basin's stereo "good music" station. On May 9, 1965, KNFM resumed broadcasting after being silent for nearly two years. Our small studio was located at 307 West Ohio, and the staff consisted of five people — the three owners of the station and two part-time employees. We signed on at noon, playing pre-recorded music tapes with interruptions for U.P.I. news, weather, and a few scattered commercials until midnight.

There have been many additions since that day. We now broadcast in stereo 24 hours a day, every day. We've added KNAM as a daytime complementary service for our listeners who don't have "FM" radio. Our news department has grown to become the largest, full-time radio news operation in West Texas. Our studios are now at 2001 West Wall, and the walls of our lobby are covered with awards for commercials and special programs produced through the years.

It's been a busy 10 years and we realize that we couldn't have grown and prospered without our listeners. You are really the most important people in the KNFM success story. When we started this station, we felt there was a need and a place for adult, good music programming in the Permian Basin. Your increasing support through the years has affirmed that belief, and inspired us to work even harder to provide the quality broadcasting you deserve.

Our promise for the next ten years is, very simply, that we'll keep working and growing so that you'll stay with us... and thank you for listening!

Today is a big day at KNFM. We're celebrating ten years of continuous operation as the Permian Basin's stereo "good music" station. On May 9, 1965, KNFM resumed broadcasting after being silent for nearly two years. Our small studio was located at 307 West Ohio, and the staff consisted of five people — the three owners of the station and two part-time employees. We signed on at noon, playing pre-recorded music tapes with interruptions for U.P.I. news, weather, and a few scattered commercials until midnight.

There have been many additions since that day. We now broadcast in stereo 24 hours a day, every day. We've added KNAM as a daytime complementary service for our listeners who don't have "FM" radio. Our news department has grown to become the largest, full-time radio news operation in West Texas. Our studios are now at 2001 West Wall, and the walls of our lobby are covered with awards for commercials and special programs produced through the years.

It's been a busy 10 years and we realize that we couldn't have grown and prospered without our listeners. You are really the most important people in the KNFM success story. When we started this station, we felt there was a need and a place for adult, good music programming in the Permian Basin. Your increasing support through the years has affirmed that belief, and inspired us to work even harder to provide the quality broadcasting you deserve.

Our promise for the next ten years is, very simply, that we'll keep working and growing so that you'll stay with us... and thank you for listening!

Native West Texan On Thompson Show

ODESSA—T. Gooney Thornton, a native West Texan, will be among the performers in the Hank Thompson Show scheduled Saturday night in Ector County Coliseum.

Arts Association Meeting Tonight

Midland Arts Association will hold its annual meeting tonight in Lancaster House, 1705 W. Indiana St.

Election of officers to serve during MAA's 1975-76 year will highlight a business session, to be followed by a social hour.

All members are urged to attend the 8 p.m. meeting.

Ancient Crayons
The first crayons date back to Upper Paleolithic times (before 10,000 B.C.).

Thornton is a songwriter as well as singer. Country music star Red Steagall recently recorded one of Thornton's songs, "Doghouse Blues," which the composer says is about the Permian Basin.

Headlining the Saturday night show will be Hank Thompson as well as the Silver City Saddle Tramps. Tickets for the event are on sale this week at M. L. Leddy & Sons in Midland and Notgrass Western Wear in Odessa, and will be available at the coliseum box office in advance of show time Saturday.

Ward Paintings Displayed

Paintings by a native West Texan are on view at Theatre Centre during the run of a new play with a West Texas setting.

The paintings of West Texas landscapes and oil rig scenes are by Midland-born Frank Delaney Ward, and the play is "The Last Meeting of the Knights of the White Magnolia."

Goddard, Austin Win Junior High Debate Tourney

Three teams went undefeated to snare a superior rating Thursday in the annual junior high school debate tournament sponsored by the Lee High School Chapter of the National Forensics League.

The annual event drew participation from the city's five junior high and freshman schools with a total of 52 teams competing.

Undefeated were the teams of Gina Clark and Brenda Crawford, seventh grade division, Goddard Junior High; Brian Broussard and David Braden, eighth and ninth grade division, Goddard; and Pat Harris and Lisa Petton, eighth and ninth, Austin Freshman School.

Winning schools in the seventh grade competition were Goddard, sweepstakes; San Jacinto Junior High, first runner-up, and Alamo Junior High, second runner-up.

In the eighth and ninth grade category, winners were Austin, sweepstakes; Goddard, first runner-up, and San Jacinto, second runner-up.

The contest was conducted by high school students, with both Midland and Lee high school students judging the events.

MONAHANS — An open art show sponsored by the Sands Art Association of Monahans will be held here Sunday.

The exhibition, which has drawn entries by artists throughout this region, will open at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Monahans Art Center on the Kermit Highway, continuing until 5 p.m. It will be open to the public at no charge.

Mummers Tryouts Slated

Summer Mummers time is just around the corner, and the annual search is on for suitable talent for that famous extravaganza.

This year's opus, scheduled to open in early July, will be "Calamity of the Colorado," or "The Briscoe Kid Rides Again." Although the Mac Jones script is still unfinished, Midland Community Theatre feels relatively safe in predicting that it will call for the usual red-blooded hero and beautiful young heroine, along with a slew of supporting characters and, of course, the usual black-hearted villain.

Tryouts to fill parts in the melodrama will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday and 8 p.m. Monday at Theatre Centre. There also will be auditions of singers, dancers and persons with specialty routines for the traditional olio which will be presented at all Mummers performances.

Love and Security

You don't need to know much about polar bears to get the message here. This cub hasn't a worry in the world. But one day he'll grow up to know all the frustrations of life in captivity.

Motherhood is security... but only for a while. And the human mother is no more able to perpetuate the bond of total protection than is her wild counterpart.

Some parents today have abdicated their responsibility to guide their children. They have broken the family bonds too soon. Their children pay for this negligence: They age—but they don't mature.

Whims are fickle... and momentary. The Church strives to replace such elusive goals with something more substantial; something more stable. The inner values of character and faith remain as vital today as ever.

In our turbulent society, tranquility can only be found inside a person. Such stability and serenity could be your greatest gift to your child.

Theologian Urges New Ways Of Addressing God

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — With some churches acting to get rid of "sexist" terminology, a problem regularly comes up about usages which impute maleness to God.

"It's a distortion of the truth," says Dr. Leonard Swidler, a theologian and church historian of Temple University in Philadelphia. "It's also the ultimate put-down to women."

In classic Judeo-Christian teaching, God is neither male nor female, nor delimited in any way to bodily organs, but traditionally and in most Biblical passages, has been referred to in the masculine gender as "He."

On the surface, church scholars note, this often has led to scaled-down, erroneous impressions of God as a kind of patriarchal grandfather or "man up stairs," a gross caricature of the Judeo-Christian view of God as an infinite, unincarnated Spirit.

Because it both distorts basic convictions, causing superficial misconceptions, and also implies male superiority, Swidler says, the language for addressing God needs to be modified, and there are Biblical grounds for doing so.

"We do have precedents both in Scripture and Judeo-Christian tradition for also referring to God in feminine imagery," he said in a telephone interview. "It's not a strong tradition, but it's there."

Although God cannot be accurately referred to in either sexual category, Swidler said that this becomes necessary because of the limited experience of humans which inevitably also limits their language.

Their holy words for referring to a person are either "he" or "she," including God, whom Christianity regards as a personal being, which is the highest form of being known to humanity, surpassing an impersonal "it."

"In our language, we're left with four possible choices, using 'he,' using 'she,' using both or coining a new word," Swidler says. Since new words can't be automatically imposed, he suggests using both pronouns, complementarily.

Swidler, an interreligiously versed Roman Catholic who edits the Journal of Ecumenical Studies, has worked out a tentative revision of the church liturgy, eliminating sexually classifying references to God.

"O God, our Father and Mother," the prayer put it.

As for the liturgical recasting, he said it aims only at "getting people to recognize we have a problem," and to start trying to resolve it. Some denominations, to a degree, already have taken steps in that direction.

While the Bible mainly uses male pronouns referring to God, Swidler notes scattered feminine implications. Isaiah 66:13 says God comforts as a "mother comforts." A parable of Jesus in Luke 13 portrays God as like a woman seeking the lost.

The Hebrew word for God's Spirit, "Ruach," is of feminine gender, referring to God's creative force. The "wisdom" of God is portrayed as feminine in Proverbs and in the Catholic books of Wisdom and Ecclesiasticus. The mysterious inclusivity of God's nature is hinted in various plural designations, such as the Hebrew word, "Elohim," with its feminine suffix.

Mormon President Deplores State Of Morality In U.S.

By ROBERT DIVEROLI
Copley News Service

The state of morality in the United States today is "terrible," says Spencer W. Kimball, 80, president of the 3.3 million-member Mormon church.

"Morals in this country are deteriorating, no question about that, and it really worries us to see moral permissiveness take hold of our nation the way it has," Kimball said in an interview.

Kimball said he is particularly troubled by widespread premarital sex, weakening of the family as an institution and use of liquor, tobacco and drugs.

Kimball said that in response Mormons are reemphasizing their belief in the importance of the family and inculcating in the young habits of "clean living."

Morals are so bad in this country today as to evoke comparison with "Sodom and Gomorrah," said Kimball, whose church is known formally as the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

As leader of the church since Dec. 28, 1973, Kimball is regarded by Mormons as a prophet who receives special divine guidance and inspiration.

In the interview, Kimball reaffirmed his church's opposition to abortion, criticized the "women's lib" movement as destructive of the family and called the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) unnecessary.

On abortion Kimball said: "We're against it. It's not a Catholic issue, but a moral issue. The Catholic church has been very strong against it, but we're against it not because the Catholics are but because it's wrong."

Asked whether he supports a constitutional amendment outlawing abortion, Kimball said: "We'd be in favor of almost anything that would put it out of commission. We feel it's a terrible thing."

Kimball said the country doesn't need the ERA because it already has enough laws on the books guaranteeing women's rights if properly enforced.

Both women's lib and the ERA, he said, distract women from their proper responsibility of centering their lives around home and family.

But he said the Mormon church encourages women's active participation in the church and cited its 900,000-member Relief Society, run entirely by women, as an example of its policy of giving leadership roles to women.

The society, whose president is Mrs. Barbara Smith, was founded in 1842 and has a variety of educational, relief and other programs in 45 countries.

Peace Officers Can Be As Successful As Citizens Want, Rotarians Told

Peace officers can be just as successful in their work as citizens want them to be, members of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club were told at their Thursday noon meeting in the American Legion Hall.

The speaker was Joe E. Milner of Austin, chief of traffic law enforcement, Texas Department of Public Safety. He was introduced by Maj. E.K. Browning, commander of the Midland Region, DPS, who is a member of the club. Rotarian Ted Pearce is the program chairman.

Milner, who commands all uniformed services of DPS, discussed the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit; the crime situation, and the role of the citizen in the criminal justice system.

The speed limit law, he said, is not a popular one and many persons choose to ignore it. He explained that patrolmen issue an average of 60,000 traffic citations a month, not because they like to issue tickets but because it is their duty to enforce the law as well as to promote traffic safety.

He said 1974 registered the lowest traffic death rate in modern history, due at least partly to the 55 mph speed limit. Traffic mishaps, however, are on the increase this year.

In discussing the crime problem, Milner said an increase in the crime rate was registered last year, with the largest increase being in the area of robbery. He also called attention to the fact that major crime has doubled since 1972, when the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed the death penalty. The role of the peace officers and the courts in combating increasing crime was cited.

"Law enforcement needs and must have your support as good citizens if it is to perform to your liking," Milner said.

Legislative bills affecting law enforcement also were mentioned briefly.

Houston Wiretapping Hearing Could Have Far-Reaching Effects

HOUSTON (AP) — A hearing into the use of illegal police wiretapping recessed here Thursday until next week, but the information uncovered may have an effect on other cases.

And, as a spinoff, the hearing could spawn a precedent-setting appeal on a constitutional question.

Testimony on the possible use of illegal wiretapping came during a pretrial hearing for a man charged in a narcotics case.

The case against the man, Andrew Brown Bloom, was shored into the background after Bloom's lawyer, Richard Haynes, contended his client was charged on evidence gathered by illegal wiretaps.

To back up his contention, Haynes subpoenaed police officers, federal agents, newsman and telephone company security agents.

Two of the newsmen, Larry Connors of KTRK-TV and Jon Standefor of the Houston Post, refused to identify sources for news stories in which they said police conducted illegal wiretaps.

The newsmen were ordered by District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson to appear in court next Thursday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to answer questions.

Two Houston policemen, Joe Humberger and Eddie Fowler, were called to testify on wiretapping, but provided little information. Both men claimed the fifth amendment protection against self incrimination and "took the fifth" more than 40 times each.

J.L. Patterson, a Houston electronics expert who aided in a police departmental investigation of wiretapping, testified that police officers, in a secretly-recorded conversation, told of about a dozen federal, state and local law enforcement agencies which had participated in wiretapping.

Patterson, under orders by Judge Jefferson, presented tapes and transcripts to the judge and lawyers in a private meeting. Details of the transcripts were never produced in open court.

Other information on wiretaps was also discussed in the judge's chambers, but lawyers and the judge refused to divulge any details.

However, when Haynes was asked if the private wiretap information would affect other cases, the lawyer replied: "Like a pebble tossed into water, the ripples will touch all shores."

Haynes also said the proceedings on Bloom, described by Bony Core one lawyer as "the forgotten man in this whole thing", possibly could be delayed for months by constitutional questions raised by the newsmen's action.

Lawyers for both Connors and Standefor have indicated they will appeal any adverse judgment from the show cause hearing.

Irving Terrill, Connors' lawyer, said the issue involves a conflict between the first amendment (freedom of the press), the fifth amendment (freedom from self-incrimination) and the sixth amendment (a defendant's right to due process).

Terrill said recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions have gone against a newsman's privilege to withhold the name of a confidential source.

But those decisions, he said, dealt with newsmen who actually witnessed crimes. Connors and Standefor, he said, reported on alleged wiretapping using information from sources and were not actual witnesses to the wiretapping.

Terrill said the validity of a newsman's privilege in such circumstances is an open question that may have to be decided through legal appeals.

Clyde A Life-Saver For Rangers

It was summer in 1973 and David Clyde was the biggest thing in Texas baseball, bigger than the Astros and bigger than the Rangers, who signed him off the campus of Houston Westchester High in June.

One week, he was pitching Westchester to the state AAAA finals, where they lost to Midland High. The next he was making his first major league start against the Minnesota Twins.

Whenever David pitched the fans fought for tickets. They didn't care whether he won or not. They just wanted to see the 18-year-old phenom whip his fast one by the major leaguers. It was Bob Feller all over again.

For the Rangers in the midst of a going-nowhere season, he was the shot-in-the-arm that provided excitement to an otherwise drab season. Clyde was no sensation, but he did alright and he did the one thing the Rangers and Astros couldn't do by themselves. He filled up the stands.

Then, along came Billy Martin. He hit the jackpot in talented rookies and the Rangers were in the thick of the 1974 pennant race right from the start.

By mid-season, he saw Clyde as a young, hard thrower who was of little use to the pennant-hopeful Rangers, but might help win a flag in two or three years. That is, if he went somewhere and learned his trade.

The front office remembered the empty seats Clyde had filled the year before and fixed Billy's suggestion.

No Lack Of Incentive

A lot of folks may not have noticed but Clyde is no longer with the Rangers. Billy finally had his way and David is pitching for Pittsfield in the AA Eastern League. As one writer noted, "It's located due east of Nome, Alaska." And the guys who play there claim it's even colder... imagination, of course.

Eleven of the first 20 games were rained, snowed, sleeted, or just plain frozen-out. One Arctic trip to Quebec was wiped out and Clyde wound up pitching against college teams near Pittsfield, just to keep active.

That's one reason the Rangers are anxious to move their AA farm to the Texas League next year.

Midland Cub infielder Al Montreuil, who once played in Pittsfield, claims pitchers do have an advantage in the Western Massachusetts city.

"In the early innings, the setting sun blinds the batters. I remember one game was halted because of the sun. A cloud covered the sun and just as we started to play, a thunderstorm broke. Then the sun came out and we had to stop play again. And then it rained some more. We started the game four times before we finally got it in."

Midland Manager Doc Edwards, who managed at West Haven in the Eastern League, recalls the Eastern as a best league.

"Pittsfield, Waterbury and Bristol were commuter games. We stayed at home and bused two hours each night. That's rough."

If Clyde needs an incentive to return to jet-travel circles, the weather and rigorous travel should provide it.

Rider Leading 6-4A Series

EULESS—The Wichita Falls Riders lead the best-of-three playoff series for the District 6-4A baseball crown by downing the Trinity Trojans of Euleus, 5-4 Thursday.

The two teams already had tried to play on Tuesday, but that game was rained out.

Midland Lee faces the winner of the Rider-Trinity series in Class AAAA bi-district playoffs next week. Lee was set to face Class AAA Levelland today in a tuxedo game in Levelland.

Ricky Teakell was the winning pitcher for Riders, giving him a 3-1 pitching record on the year. The Riders are now 15-4 on the year and Trinity stands 13-7.

Davis Bats Texas Past Royals

Martin's Shouting Session Gets Results

By The Associated Press

What's a few words between friends? That's the way Texas Rangers centerfielder Willie Davis feels about his shouting match with Manager Billy Martin earlier this week—let bygones be bygones.

"I love Billy, we're great friends," says Davis. "Arguments clear the air. Out of arguments comes the best understanding."

And Martin? He's happy, too, as long as Davis hits the way he did Thursday night.

Davis rapped out four hits against Kansas City, including a two-run homer which tied the game and a ninth-inning single which knocked in the go-ahead run in the Rangers' 5-3 victory over the Royals.

The shouting match between Martin and Davis took place Wednesday night, when Martin kept the locker room door closed for about 15 minutes following a 4-5 loss to the Royals.

One player said later that at the meeting, Martin cited a number of "stupid errors," including Davis' attempt to stretch a double into a triple in the fifth inning. He was thrown out, killing a rally.

Davis apparently said something, because reporters outside the door heard Martin yell, "I'm doing the talking here."

Shouts and curses ensued, with Martin finally hollering, "That's the way things are going to be, and if you don't like it then get out of here." More shouts and yells followed.

He denied the shouting match inspired his big day. "I'm motivated all the time," he said. "Last night is gone and past. I love Billy. We've known each other for many years. We've parted together. You can't throw all that away over a few words."

And Martin kept up his end, saying Davis "is playing his heart out. I don't single out players at a meeting. I didn't."

CAMPINAS, Brazil (AP)—The United States basketball team won the state's governor championship, beating Puerto Rico 79-69 in an overtime game Wednesday night.

The American team had reached the final by defeating Brazil 87-79 Tuesday night.

The Brazilians took third place with a 79-64 victory over Canada.

say a word to him. I had something to say to the players. I've done it before."

Davis' third home run of the season, with Jim Sundberg aboard, erased a 3-1 Kansas City lead in the seventh inning. Two innings later the Rangers broke the tie on one-out singles by Cesar Tovar, Len Randle and Davis.

Jeff Burroughs then laced a double to right-center, scoring Randle to make it 5-3, but Davis was thrown out at the plate.

Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon noted that the veteran Davis tailors his game to the situation.

"When Davis knows they need a home run," he said, "he doesn't go up there for a single. He takes his rip."

NEW YORK (AP)—The Islanders dropped the first three games in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs to the proud defending champion Philadelphia Flyers. They were given up for dead.

Behind 3-0

Sure, the Islanders fell behind 3-0 in the best-of-seven quarter-final series with the Pittsburgh Penguins. Sure, they came back to win 4-3, the second team in sports history to overcome a three-game deficit in a seven game series. But repeat that trick against the best team in hockey—the Flyers?

That's a laugh. Stop laughing friend. The Islanders are a pretty live corpse. They trampled the Flyers 5-1 Thursday night on the champ's home ice, before 17,077 frantic fans. That, with their 5-4 overtime victory at home Wednesday and presto, the Islanders are back in the series. It's 3-2 now, and the next game is on Islanders' ice.

The Islanders did in the Flyers in the fifth game behind the outstanding goaltending of 26-year-old Glenn Resch, who stopped 28 of 29 shots, some that befitted hockey's team of miracle workers.

"Chico The Man" The Islanders' fans call Resch because of his likeness to a television character of the same nickname. They scream "Chico" when he does something good. Chico's fans went home boisterous Thursday night. He could do no wrong.

Someone asked Resch if he felt he outplayed Bernie Parent, the Flyers' NHL All-Star goalie who had a tough night. "No, I'm not outplaying Bernie," Resch snapped. "I'm getting the breaks and he isn't."

In that second period, the fired up Flyers got off 17 shots on goal and came up empty handed. The Islanders had six and scored twice.

Bulls Lead 3-2 Chi Clogs Up Middle To Beat Warriors

OAKLAND (AP)—For the Golden State Warriors, it was a disaster. For the Chicago Bulls, it brought them so close to the National Basketball Association's Western Conference title they could almost taste it.

Yet, both victor and vanquished agreed on the cause of the Bulls' 89-79 victory over Golden State Thursday night: the Bulls' traditionally tough defense.

"You can't dribble around and take 30-foot shots all the time and expect to win," said Warriors' guard Jeff Mullins of the loss that gave Chicago a 3-2 advantage in the best-of-seven playoff series.

"We took the middle away from them," said Chicago Coach Dick Motta in the noisy Bulls' dressing room. "We played great defense."

The sixth game of the series will be played Sunday after-noon in Chicago, where the Bulls are masters at their de- liberate, defense-oriented style.

of play. "The pressure is on them," said Motta, summing up Golden State's dilemma. "But I warned the team after the game that it's not over yet."

The game went according to the typical Chicago plan. Bulls' centers Tom Boerwinkle and Nate Thurmond plugged up the middle, allowing the Warriors virtually no good shots near the basket.

They held Warriors' star Rick Barry to eight-for-28 from the floor, cut off the Warriors' fast break and outbounced them 54-51. The Warriors never got any closer than five points, and the Bulls led by as many as 16 in the final period.

Chicago's Chet Walker led all scorers with 21. Barry popped for 20, 16 of them in the second half.

Buffalo played a very fine second period. That fourth goal (by Jim Lorentz in the second period) gave them a big lift. It was eventually the winning goal."

The Canadiens, who won 7-0 and 8-2 on Forum ice earlier in the series, started off with a furious offensive assault, but only Peter Mahovlich found the range against Buffalo netminder Gerry Desjardins in the opening period.

Meanwhile, Craig Ramsay, Rick Martin and Pete McNab scored for Buffalo in the opening session with Ramsay's goal at 2:07 coming with the Sabres short-handed. Lorentz got the lone goal of the second period with Guy Lafleur and Mahovlich scoring for Montreal in the third.

"We had some pretty good chances," said Bowman. "Desjardins made some good saves."

Death Of Brundage Great Sports Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — Sportsmen have lost a great champion in the death of Avery Brundage Thursday at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

Critics reviled him. They called him a tyrant. They said he was stiff-necked and old-fashioned. They accused him of being unrealistic in his unshakable belief in the ideals of pure amateurism.

In a way, he was all of these things. He was an anachronism in an age of rampant commercialism, the huckster and the fast-buck.

But if it hadn't been for Avery Brundage, the Olympic Games might have been reduced to rubble decades ago.

Whatever the Olympics are, whatever dignity they have maintained under the intense pressures of super-nationalism, slick wheeters and dealers, athletes seeking to turn gold medals into personal fortunes—they owe to the tough old coddler from Chicago.

He was an imposing figure of a man—tall, straight as a poker, wearing the muscled physique of an athlete who competed in the same Olympics with the great Jim Thorpe.

Even in his 60s, he walked with a strong, crisp step, his chin usually thrust forward as if daring his enemies to take a swing at it, his shoulders always back.

He talked with a booming, authoritative voice. When he spoke, people listened. Many feared him. Most were in awe of him.

As president of the International Olympic Committee, he hob-nobbed with princes and potentates, presidents and kings.

In royal company, Avery Brundage had a way of standing out as the most regal of them all.

To him, the Olympics were something that came down from the gods—down from Mt. Olympus.

The Games were not legislated. They were ordained. They were beholden to nobody. In Brundage's mind, they were above politics, personal greed and national pride.

That's the reason the old man was always on the griddle.

He was criticized for not taking a strong stand against the Soviet Union's policy of subsidizing athletes. There are no professionals in Russia, but every athlete, in effect, is a pampered and paid by the state.

Tower Of Strength

"In the Soviet Union," Brundage said, "everybody is subservient to the state. It is the system. But I see no greater fault in that than the American practice of subsidizing athletes through college scholarships."

When the Arab terrorists moved into the Israeli quarters at the 1972 Munich Olympics, triggering a bloodbath that sickened the world, there were universal cries, "Call off the Games."

When most officials wavered, Brundage stood firm. "The Olympics represent the gathering of the youth of the world," he insisted. "We can not afford to bow to terrorism and hate."

Brundage drew the wrath of the Alpine skiing community because he objected to their flagrant commercialism. He refused to let money changers cheapen the Games. He banned Karl Schranz, the Austrian skier who openly acknowledged that he made $40,000 a year from his skiing interests.

Schranz took his medicine with a stiff upper lip and complained: "Brundage is a rich man. He wants to make the Olympics a sport just for the rich."

"What does he know?" Brundage growled. "He didn't know I was once a hod carrier."

1ST WOMAN SCHOLARSHIP ATHLETE—Midland Miss Makes USC Sports History

For an institution with the proud and successful athletic heritage of the University of Southern California, there aren't too many firsts left, but Midland High gymnast Pam Williams has one of them.

The 5-4, 120-pound all-stater became the first woman to sign a four-year athletic scholarship to USC. This is the first year the Trojans have awarded athletic grants to women.

Miss Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Williams, 511 South Lincoln.

After finishing first all-around in regional competition, Pam took second at state in all-around this past season to cap off a successful year. She also was second all-around in the Anselmo Maverick Boys' Club Invitational; second at the state YMCA meet, first at Odessa, second at Andrews.

Pam began competing in gymnastics Nov. 7, 1969 as a 10-year-old and the same year took third all-around at the Fort Worth Invitational. From there, the records just continued to build up through the years.

Miss Williams also is a winning diver, taking first in the West Texas Invitational in 1970 and first in the 15-17 division in the sixth annual Watts (Los Angeles) Summer Games in 1973.

As a senior at MHS, Miss Williams also has been in the homecoming and Cotoco courts and received Junior Rotarian and Teenage awards. She also is listed in the Who's Who Among Outstanding Teenagers in America, reigned as Lions Club queen for the Tall City Lions Club and was a debutante for the Federated Women's Club.

Last season she was varsity football and basketball cheerleader and this summer will be a National Cheerleaders Assn. instructor for one week at Squaw Valley, Calif., and three weeks at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

LPGA FALLS BEHIND AS—Gal Netters Winning Publicity Battle

ATLANTA (AP) — Women golfers are trailing their colleagues on the women's tennis circuit when it comes to money winnings, and they think they know why.

They think it's because they get less publicity, especially television publicity.

"Television would mean people would know what we look like when we come to town," says Sandra Palmer, this year's leading money winner in the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

Going into Friday's Lady Tara Open here, she has a total so far this year of $40,606.

By contrast, Chris Evert has already passed the $100,000 mark in tennis earnings this year.

"But the thing we need desperately is an advance publicity man who could come into town a week before we did," adds Kathy Whitworth who has led the LPGA in money winnings for a record eight years.

Ashe, Borg Advance Arthur's Stunning Reversal Beats Cox

DALLAS (AP) — For a set and a half Thursday night, top-seeded Arthur Ashe wondered about the World Championship of Tennis court seeking his true identity.

Ashe, who only several days ago had been presented a $33,333 solid gold tennis ball for being the top WCT point maker, looked like a club pro against Britain's battling Mark Cox.

Cox shocked Ashe 6-1 in the first set and was leading 3-love in the second.

"The best thing you can say is I didn't choke or panic," said Ashe who eventually prevailed 1-6, 6-4, 6-4, and 7-6 in the quarterfinal match.

Australia's John Alexander romped by America's Roscoe Tanner 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 in the other quarterfinal to set up tonight's semifinal joust against Ashe.

Sweden's Bjorn Borg and Australia's middle-age mauler, Rod Laver, who has won two grand slams yet at the age of 36 has yet to add the WCT title to his star-studded career, tangle in the other semifinal.

The finals will be nationally televised at noon CDT Sunday.

The true drama of the evening in Moody Coliseum before a crowd of almost 8,000 was the Ashe-Cox confrontation.

"I had visions of the match going 6-1, 6-0, 6-0," said Ashe of his struggle against the eight-seeded Cox, who battled gamely to the end which included the WCT tie-breaker. Ashe took it 7-4.

Ashe said "I never felt I was in it until I won the second set. I should have known things were going to go my way. They've gone my way all day."

Asked for an example outside the tennis court, Ashe laughed heartily and said: "I can't tell you."

Cox said the turning point was Ashe's bristling first service which took its toll.

"My serve saved me," Ashe said. "It was a funny feeling. I got nervous and then I couldn't breathe. When that happens, your legs get tight. Finally, I just told myself to keep my legs moving."

Ashe said he had trouble with Cox's lefthanded deliveries and said, "For awhile I was just running around out there looking busy. I couldn't do anything with his returns."

Cox said, "I was surprised I jumped off to such a quick lead."

Crampton Needs Nelson For Sweep

DALLAS (AP) — Bruce Crampton, the Australian veteran who won last week's Houston Open, happily admits to a certain fascination with the $175,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

"I'd very much like to win this tournament," Crampton said after taking a one-stroke lead with a five-under-par 66 in Thursday's first round.

There are two reasons: He needs only this title to complete a career sweep of the four Texas tournaments.

It would be a nice little record to have," he said.

And the Australian native now is a resident of Dallas. He'd like to win before the hometown folks.

"You know how it is," said the stocky veteran who has won 15 titles in his 19 years on the American tour.

"I have my family here. I have so many friends here. They all expect a lot from you. You'd like to play well in front of them."

Crampton took a major step in that direction with his solid, no-bogey effort on the hot and humid, 6,987-yard Preston Trail Golf Club course that left him with a one-stroke advantage over non-winning four veterans.

Don Bies and Bob E. Smith, Babe Hiskey and young Ben Crenshaw, who has had his problems since his spectacular start as a pro late in 1973.

They were tied at 67, but Crenshaw was far from satisfied. "It wasn't a very solid

Turns Indy Course in 193.924—Foyt Uncrates Old Coyote

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The long-awaited 1975 models are now on display at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

They are longer, lower, wider—but not necessarily faster.

After two years of planning and hard work, it appears A. J. Foyt's new Coyote is barely as fast as his old car.

The wily Texan's old Coyote has been the fastest thing going since it was uncrated in the spring of 1974.

It holds the world's closed course speed record of 217.854 miles an hour.

And compared with the old Coyote's speed in a brief appearance Wednesday in practice for Indy 500, the new machine's top effort of 192.431 miles an hour seemed slow.

In a speed duel Wednesday with Gordon Johncock, Foyt cranked out a circuit at 193.924 in the old Coyote, the first time out of the garage.

"It's going to be mighty hard to give up the old car," Foyt said. "The older car seems to be outrunning the newer car so far. But we may have the new car dialed in by tomorrow night."

He may try both of his faster mounts, holding his two older entries in reserve. Veterans Mel Kenyon and Rich Muth have been mentioned as possible drivers for two Foyt entries.

Johncock, who erased Foyt's fast practice speed for the month with a 195.228 clocking Thursday, has found his new George Bignotti-designed Wildcat better adapted to getting quickly from place to place than the Eagle he used last year.

"We had some handling problems with the Wildcat early this season," Johncock said. "But it appears we've got them solved here."

The speeds Foyt and Johncock have turned in their new machines admittedly don't mean much, because both concede they are just putting on a show using more power than will be allowed during qualifying.

One of the most promising new cars apparently has been parked permanently by Al Unser in favor of an older Eagle which has recorded faster speeds. Unser's Coworth-powered Parrell "may be the hot setup later this year or next year, but not now," he says.

The only other new car entered for the May 25 race is Rola Vollstedt's latest creation. Driver Tom Bigelow reports the car is quicker than Vollstedt's previous model which barely made the 33-car field last year.

Of the McLarens and Eagles—the most popular machines in open wheel racing the past several years—defending 500 champion Johnny Rutherford is fastest in a mildly restyled

Notre Dame's Dantley Applies For 'Hardship'

NEW YORK (AP) — Adrian Dantley, the nation's second leading scorer last year, and Luther "Tickey" Burden, who nearly put himself on the trading block last year, are among 20 players who have applied as hardship cases for the National Basketball Association draft.

The list of 18 collegians—who are asking that they be made eligible for the NBA college draft before they finish their schooling—and two high school students was announced Thursday by the NBA.

The 6-foot-5 Dantley, a Notre Dame junior, scored an average 30.4 points a game last season, and Burden, a 6-3 junior from Utah, averaged 28.7.

Others who applied as financial hardship cases included college stars Alvan Adams of Oklahoma, Joe Bryant of La Salle, Larry Fogle of Canisius, Major Jones of Albany State, Ga., Walter Luckett of Ohio University and Frank Oleyrick of Seattle.

A player ruled eligible as a hardship case has until 24 hours before the draft to remove his name from the list. This year's draft will be held in the final week of May, although an exact date has not yet been set.

Burden and Adams were on the hardship list last year, but both withdrew before the deadline.

"This is the fifth year the NBA has drafted undergraduates under the rule. Last year 20 also applied, but six of those withdrew.

Though two have applied, the NBA never has drafted a high school player. The only high school player ever drafted directly into the pros since the hardship rule was adopted was Moses Malone, who went to the Utah Stars of the American Basketball Association and immediately established himself as a star. He was the league's 15th leading scorer with 18.8 points a game and the No. 6 rebounder with a 14.6 mark.

Dawkins, a 6-10 senior at Maynard Evans High School in Orlando, Fla., is believed already to be negotiating with the Philadelphia 76ers, while Willoughby, a 6-3 senior at Dwight Morrow High in Englewood, N.J., has signed a letter of intent with the University of Kentucky.

The only player ever to move from high school into the NBA was Joe Grabowski, 1947-48.

Warrant Out For Herron

Winnipeg, Canada, city police confirmed Thursday that there was a warrant for the arrest of New England Patriot back Mack Herron for non-payment of a $1,000 fine on a 1973 possession of marijuana conviction.

Boston Globe tv critic Jack Craig and Phil Hochberg, Washington attorney, say there is virtually no chance Congress will fail to renew the anti-blackout law, one which the NFL claims is detrimental to the sport.

In fact, both predicted that it is likely a 24-hour or 48-hour waiting period may replace the current 72-hour deadline in which a team must sell all its tickets before local tv is allowed.

Japan's Isao Aoki took a four-stroke lead in the first round of the $103,000 Fuji Golf

Baseball

Bob Gibson was removed from the St. Louis Cardinals' starting pitching rotation Thursday because of a pulled rotator muscle in his shoulder.

Financier Robert A. Lurie says he expects to make an offer soon for the purchase of the financially-troubled San Francisco Giants. A Beverly Hills, Calif., mortgage banking corporation offered $7 million for the National League team after Giants owner Horace Stoneham confirmed he wanted to sell the club.

The Chicago White Sox traded left-handed hitting outfielder Bill Sharp to the Milwaukee Brewers for right-handed hitting Bob Coluccio Thursday.

Olympics

Work at the main Olympic site in Montreal was halted Thursday when about 250 construction workers walked off the job in protest against the Cliche Commission report which recommended four union locals affiliated with the Quebec Federation of Labor be put under trusteeship.

Celtics Down 3-1, Fight For Life

Boston (AP) — Less than two weeks ago, a couple of members of the Boston Celtics remarked it was "like looking at yourself in a mirror" when they played the Washington Bullets.

They didn't realize it at the time, but so far everything indicates they were thinking of crazy fun-house mirrors.

The Bullets, coached by former Celtic great K.C. Jones, have shown the ability and poise of Boston's great teams of the past. Now they have the mighty defending champion Celtics on the brink of elimination in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Washington, leading 3-1 in the best-of-seven series, seeks to wrap up the Eastern Conference championship and oust Boston tonight at the Garden. A victory will send the Bullets into the title round against the winner of the Golden State-Chicago playoff in the Western Conference, which the Bulls lead 3-2 after an 89-79 victory Thursday night.

Since rallying from a 12-point deficit to win the opening game 100-95, the Bullets have looked the better team, employing old Celtics plays learned by Jones and employing new patterns. Washington won the second game 117-82, Boston took the third 101-90 and the Bullets romped 119-108 Wednesday night.

Basketball

George McGovern said American baseball and basketball teams may be flying to Havana soon because Fidel Castro is receptive to using sports diplomacy for warming up relations between Cuba and the U.S.

"You never think you're out of it," said Celtic John Havlicek following Boston's 119-108 loss to Washington Tuesday in an NBA playoff game. The win gave Washington a 3-1 edge in the series. "You've got to make the other team earn it, then if they do, there's nothing you can say. We're not ready to concede anything yet."

Actor John Wayne III Of Pneumonia

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Actor John Wayne is recuperating from a case of pneumonia and is battling with doctors who want him to stay in the hospital for several more days, his son says.

Actually, it's nothing serious," said actor-producer Michael Wayne Thursday. "Not a recurrence of anything else."

Doctors say the veteran actor is completely cured of the lung cancer he suffered several years ago.

Wayne, 67, underwent two days of tests at Hoag Memorial Hospital here after experiencing chest cold symptoms for several days, his son said.

Doctors diagnosed his condition as "wasting pneumonia" and were treating it with antibiotics.

The younger Wayne said his father's physicians advised him to spend several more days in the hospital, "but he won't stay."

Port Of Houston Cites Good Profit

HOUSTON (AP) — Earnings for the Port of Houston for the first three months of 1975 was $41.5 million, compared to a loss of more than $140,000 for the same 1974 period.

Richard Leach, general manager for operations, said increases in grain elevator earnings helped boost the profit.

Hobbs Man Charged In Lubbock Bank Robbery, Kidnaping

LUBBOCK — Ruben Escobedo, a 23-year-old Hobbs, N.M. man, was in custody at Lubbock County Jail today after a 15-hour ordeal that included the kidnaping of a Lubbock family and the holdup of a local bank.

Escobedo was charged with aggravated robbery and aggravated kidnaping before Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy who set bonds totaling $200,000.

After his arrest, Escobedo reportedly told police he planned to "share the loot with people who have nothing."

Escobedo was arraigned about five hours after he was apprehended at a roadblock two miles south of Plainview and barely 30 minutes after police received a silent alarm from the Lubbock National Bank.

The 10 a.m. arrest by eight law enforcement units climaxed a 15-hour ordeal for Escobedo's hostages, Mrs. A. L. Wilson and her sons, Mark, 18, and Todd, 12.

The hostages, who had been held since 6 p.m. Wednesday at their Terra Estates home, escaped unharmed as officers swarmed the Wilson family car

Bomb Explosion Damages Cannes Festival Palace

Agence France-Presse CANNES, France — The International film show, the Cannes Festival, will go on as planned tonight despite bombing of the Festival Palace before dawn.

Nobody was hurt in the blast, but there was a lot of material damage. Windows up to the fourth floor were blown out, doors blown in and two television vans parked outside badly hit.

Police estimated the plastic charge used as weighing about 3 1/2 pounds and thought it may have been set off by means of an electric cable laid right around the palace leading up to the western entrance.

The caretaker, Albert Laurent, said it was a miracle that nobody was hurt, as he and five members of his family were sleeping in their rooms on the second floor.

The hall in the palace where the festival opening ceremony takes place was only slightly damaged—one wooden door was blown to bits. But technical equipment was left intact.

Festival director Maurice Sessy, along with Mayor Bernard Cornut-Gentille, were quickly on the scene to assess the situation.

It was Sessy who said the show would go on as planned.

Senators OK Primary Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Senators today approved 19-7 a compromise bill that would set up a presidential primary poll for the 1976 presidential election in Texas.

House members still have to act on the issue.

The conference committee report from House-Senate negotiators was approved 9-0 Wednesday. They had been working on the controversy since the 10 members were appointed a month ago.

The measure, often called the "Bentsen bill" because it was introduced and pushed by supporters of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., a 1976 candidate for the Democratic nomination, actually would elect delegates to the

Two Men Arrested, Charged In Holdup Of Service Station

Two men were in custody at Midland County Jail today after being arrested Thursday and charged with the robbery of a West Highway 80 service station.

Sheriff's deputies said the men were described by a station attendant at the Hi-Lo Service Station as the pair who rode into the service facility on a motorcycle and brandished a pistol demanding money.

Justice of the Peace Robert Pine accepted charges and set bonds of $25,000 each on Steven H. Brickhouse, 18, and Royce Wayne Moore, 17, both of the Airline 80 Trailer Park west of here.

Deputies said the money and pistol have not been recovered.

The men were arrested at the trailer park after deputies received a tip as to the pair's possible location approximately one hour after the holdup occurred at 7 p.m.

Motorcycle Spill Hurts Midlander

Cecil E. Earnest, 33, of 3702 W. Louisiana St., was treated and released from Midland Memorial Hospital early today after he suffered multiple abrasions and a chin laceration when he fell in a motorcycle accident.

Police said Earnest apparently lost control of the motorcycle when it slipped in loose sand near the intersection of Delmar and Storey streets.

Senate Approves Land Trade Bill

AUSTIN — The Senate has approved the bill to continue for another four years the power of the land commissioner to make trades of state land for private land.

For two years, the land commissioner has had that power, subject to the concurrence of the State School Land Board and the governor. The law granting the power to make land swaps expired Dec. 31.

The Senate amended the measure, so it will have to go back to the House.

Griffin Elected Trustee President

CRANE — Johnny Griffin has been elected president of the board of trustees for the Crane Independent School District.

Elected to fill the vice presidential post was L. O. McFarland, with E. M. Doshier as secretary.

The reorganization was conducted at a recent meeting following the district election in which trustees Bennie Joe Morrison and Doshier were returned to the board.

Jacqueline Packs To Leave Island

ATHENS (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis has arrived on the Ionian island of Scyros to clear out her private belongings, family sources said.

Mrs. Onassis left Athens on Thursday for Scyros, the burial place of her husband, Aristotle Onassis.

In his will, Onassis left the island to his daughter Christina, who met with her stepmother in London on Wednesday, reportedly to discuss finances.

Inventory Selling Report Helps Send Mart To Gain

By LEE MITGANG, AP Business Writer.

NEW YORK (AP) - News of a record level of business inventory selling in March helped send stock prices broadly higher today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was up 5.17 at 896.67, and gains on the New York Stock Exchange mounted a 3 to 1 lead over losers. Trading was heavy.

Early today, the government announced business inventories declined in March by a record $1.92 billion. Many on Wall Street felt a drop in the level of inventories is a necessary prelude to an economic upturn.

"After all, when you get inventories down, businesses will have to start buying again," said analyst Ronald Cooper.

The most active Big Board issue, Hercules, Inc., added 1/4 to 3 3/4, including a 401,000-share block at 34.

The NYSE's composite stock index climbed 0.24 at 47.70, while the American Exchange's market-value index was up 0.66 at 87.13.

Market leadership in today's advance continued in the lower priced issues as in recent sessions. Buying interest in these stocks indicated to Cooper and others a growing speculative tone in the current four-month rally.

Among lower priced actives, MGIC Investment added 1 1/2 to 15%. Coca-Cola Bottling of N.Y. rose 1/4 to 9 1/4 and Ryder System gained 3/4 to 4.

Other gainers included Merck, up 1/4 at 70, United Technologies a point at 49 and Xerox a point at 21.

On the American Exchange, McCulloch Oil rose 1/4 to 4 1/4 as the most active stock.

Dog, Cat Food Being Used On Tables Of Nation's Poor

By CELESTE DURANT
The Los Angeles Times
LOS ANGELES — It has become an American truisim that dog and cat food now is being served on the dinner tables of the nation's poor.

A congressional report last year quoted estimates that perhaps one-third of all pet food sold in ghetto areas was being consumed by humans.

"Dear Abby" gets letters saying it is so, as do local and national senior citizens groups.

And the word has been spread through the media — discussed by columnists like Jack Anderson, illustrated by cartoonists like Paul Conrad, echoed by national figures like the Rev. Ralph Abernathy.

If a search is made, scattered individuals can be found who are eating pet food, or at least say they are — or have.

But whether it is happening on the scale suggested, whether many thousands of Americans are resorting to animal food to fill their stomachs, is much less certain.

Los Angeles' El Rey Hotel is considered one of the Row's finest accommodations. Discussed in a third-floor room with a radio and a small potting table is a 41-year-old man down on his luck.

The El Rey does not offer frills in its rooms: a sink, a metal gymnasium-styled locker, a small dresser, a medicine cabinet, a chair and a single bed.

In the bottom of the locker are two 10-pound bags of Purina Dog Chow, and in the bottom drawer of the dresser are several cans of Skippy Premium dog food and a couple of bottles of cheap wine. On the chair across from the bed are several boxes of Granola cereal and in the medicine cabinet, a large bottle of multipurpose vitamins.

Five years ago he was a chemical engineer at Lockheed Aircraft Corp., and then he got laid off.

First there were temporary engineering jobs; then an air of dismal career selling cemetery plots, then cab driving, guarding Christmas trees at night, serving fried chicken to Ohio State alumni at the Rose Bowl Game and the last job, proofreading the telephone book.

He is a big man, more than 6 feet tall, weighing about 250 pounds, and the free meals available at the local missions and centers did not always fill him up, he says.

Then came a period right after Christmas when his cash was so low that, for the first time, he bought dog food to stave off starvation.

The dry food, which he pours into his sink and moistens with water, "isn't bad," he says. But the canned food, which he eats either straight from the can or with a side dish like pork and beans, is "a little gamey."

He eats pet food, he says, because it is nutritious and filling, especially when there are no cooking facilities in his room.

He talks about food with an air of authority, proud of his knowledge of nutrition and eagerly sharing his observations on the short life of food, kept under his open window.

Dog food is part of his new expertise.

Trying to estimate the number of people eating dog and cat food is problematic.

A report by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Need published last year said:

"Experts at the Center for Science in the Public Interest, estimated that as much as one-third of the pet foods sold in ghetto areas were being used for human consumption; for areas with high proportions of elderly poor, the estimates were even higher."

After hearings last June at which the estimate was repeated, the news services sent the story across the country.

But Michael Jacobson, the center "expert" to whom the estimate was attributed, says he was misquoted.

He told The Los Angeles Times that during an interview, he happened to mention some information he had heard secondhand.

"I said something like, 'I heard some people were eating dog food.' I said I had heard over the weekend that one-third (of) the dog food sold is eaten by people."

After appearing in an article in its correct context, the reference was then picked up by the Senate Select Committee and transformed from an off-hand remark to a scientific estimate.

"In truth," says Jacobson, "it's impossible to get figures on it because people won't admit it. There has never been any data."

Bob Forst, executive director of the Senior Citizens League, based in Los Angeles, says he has talked to many elderly people who say they are eating dog or cat food, although he could not get any of them to consent to be interviewed, he did produce some of their letters.

"Buy dog food and cat food and send it to Congress and tell them to eat it — I do," read one. "Mix it up with an onion and fry it. Even dog food and cat food isn't cheap nowadays. I'd give most anything I have to be able to buy a roast of beef."

There are also the letters to "Dear Abby," some from housewives finding it difficult to live with deception.

"Ever since that letter appeared in your column about the woman who made a casserole with cat tuna I've been wanting to confess to my family that they have eaten quite a lot of cat food without knowing it. . . . I use it whenever my budget is tight." Signed PennyPinner.

Who is eating pet food is difficult to pin down.

Ronald Pollack, director of the Food Research and Action Center in New York, believes that not only are there large numbers of people eating pet food but that they span age and ethnic groups.

"I don't know what the percentage is," says Pollack,

"but if only from the discussions with people who are our clients, we have had numerous people say that they are eating it."

Social workers in Los Angeles, however, who work with low-income families and the elderly in various parts of the city, say that they never have actually talked to anyone who would admit they were eating pet food.

Some social workers with the Los Angeles County Department of Social Services say they find it difficult to believe that any poor families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children and using food stamps would buy pet food because they would have to pay for it with cash. Pet food cannot legally be purchased with stamps.

Pet food industry spokesmen say that although pet food sales have enjoyed a steady increase in the last few years, sales patterns indicate people are looking for a cheaper way to feed their pets rather than themselves.

"Humans are unlikely to eat the dry foods and the sale of canned pet foods in fact haven't gone up. The increase in sales are in the dry foods," says Duane Eckhardt, executive director of the Pet Food Institute, lobby group for the industry.

"People have gone into less expensive preparations for their pets."

Local chain store executives say there is more evidence against the people and pet food theory.

"We sell more canned pet food in the middle-high to high-income areas than we do in low-income areas," says Edward Maron, vice president of one of the major grocery-liquor divisions.

Why would pet food have any appeal to humans?

The most obvious answer seems to be not enough money in these days of inflation to buy human food.

Sheinwold On Bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Get Out Of Way To Help Partner

Good bridge players never make mistakes. They will tell you so themselves, if you happen to ask them. They occasionally make an unlucky play.

Now East returned his remaining spade. As it happened, this was the nine of spades. Very unlucky.

Blocked Suit
South played low, and the suit blocked. If West overlooked South's ten of spades would stop the suit; and if West played low, East would have to switch to another suit. Either way, South was sure to make his contract.

East should drop the nine of spades at the first trick. When East gets the king of diamonds he can return his remaining spade — and this happens to be the four of spades. Very lucky.

South's play no longer matters. If South plays low (his best chance) West can win a finesse with the eight of spades. West can then run the rest of the spades, putting South down two.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-9 4 H-Q J 8 4 D-K 5 3 C-Q J 9 7. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid two hearts. The hand is not quite strong enough to bid the clubs and raise the hearts later.

West opened the king of spades, and dummy won with the ace. It was an unlucky opening lead; West would have been better off if he had led the deuce of spades instead of the king.

Declarer got to his hand with a club and led the ten of diamonds for a finesse. East refused the first diamond, but had to take the next finesse

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, May 9, the 129th day of 1975. There are 236 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1936, Italy annexed Ethiopia, and King Victor Emmanuel was proclaimed emperor.

On this date:
In 1502, Christopher Columbus set out from Cadiz, Spain, on his fourth and last voyage to the New World.
In 1754, the first newspaper cartoon in America was published by Benjamin Franklin in his Pennsylvania Gazette.
In 1926, U.S. Navy Cmdr. Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennett became the first men to make an airplane flight over the North Pole.
In 1944, during World War II, the Soviets recaptured the Black Sea naval base of Sevastopol.
In 1957, President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam addressed a joint session of the U.S. Congress during a visit to Washington.
In 1963, an agreement was reached to halt racial violence in Birmingham, Ala.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union displayed new, big missiles during a gigantic military show in Moscow marking the 20th anniversary of the end of European fighting in World War II.
Five years ago: The Nixon administration announced that an American and South Vietnamese drive into Cambodia had been a success, with the capture of major enemy ammunition supplies.
One year ago: The House Judiciary Committee began its formal inquiry into the conduct of President Richard Nixon.

Today's birthdays: The activist Catholic priest, Daniel Berrigan, is 54. Singer Hank Snow is 61.

Thought for today: Words will build no walls — Plutarch, Greek biographer, about 46 to about 120 A.D.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today that Ethan Allen and his Vermont militiamen were closing in on the British at Ft. Ticonderoga on Lake Champlain.

Ft. Hood Area Church Fights Expansion Plan

COPPERAS COVE, Tex. (AP) — The Immanuel Lutheran Church here says it will fight if the U.S. Army tries to dislocate it from the foot of a cedar-covered hill as part of a proposed Ft. Hood expansion.

When Camp Hood was first established in 1942 in Central Texas, "the church at the mountain with a cross" survived, but the land acquisition carved out enough area surrounding the church to dislocate 15 families of its congregation.

The church now finds itself on the southern edge of the 50,300-acre tract set aside for the proposed expansion of Ft. Hood.

Accused Bigamist Arrested, Jailed

HOUSTON (AP) — Nolan Kizer, 27, a Houston night watchman accused of having four wives at the same time, was in jail today in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Kizer, indicted by a Harris County grand jury April 29 on bigamy charges, was arrested Thursday in Nacogdoches.

Harris County Sheriff's Sgt. James Datreay said authorities had been seeking Kizer since his indictment and furnished Nacogdoches sheriff's deputies information on where he could be found.

The four women Kizer was accused of being married to at the same time were identified as Rose Linda Kizer, 24, Linda Joy Kizer, 21, Marlene G. Kizer, 20, and Cynthia R. Kizer, 20.

Lt. Gen. Robert Shoemaker, the post commander, has pledged that the church and the mountain will not be included in the proposed acquisition area. He told Central Texas landowners that the southern boundary of the acquisition area had been drawn around the church.

Slaving Banned

On March 22, 1784, Congress passed legislation prohibiting slave trade with other countries.

Nonetheless, rumors persist that the Army had plans to take the mountain, so Immanuel Lutheran passed a resolution opposing the land acquisition in general and the acquisition of the mountain in particular.

Its pastor — the Rev. Martin Koch — said after passing the resolution, the church received written assurance from Shoemaker saying the Army had no plans to take either the church or the mountain with the cross. Koch said the church still opposes the land acquisition because it would lose about 20 families who would be forced to move to other areas to find land.
