By ERIC WENTWORTH
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Hispanic, oriental and other children who do not speak English should be taught classroom subjects in their native tongues while studying English as a second language, the U.S. Civil Rights Commission said Tuesday.

Education for these children should be "bicultural," weaving their cultural traditions and customs into the curriculum to bolster their pride and confidence, the commission said.

At least 5 million Spanish American, native American, Asian American and other "language minority" children currently in U.S. schools may need this type of education until they master English, the presidentially appointed panel reported. These children are 10 per cent of the youngsters enrolled in U.S. schools.

The six-member panel acknowledged that bilingual education has been criticized as fostering ethnic isolation or making it harder for "language minority" youngsters to cope in an English-speaking society.

But one commissioner, Manuel Ruiz, contended that bilingual education doesn't conflict with patriotism or being an American.

Ruiz added that failure in school can mark the end of the road for minority youngsters trying to improve their status in life. And, "If someone talks to you in a language you don't understand, you're a dropout right from the beginning," he said.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was published March 20, 1852.

Masonic Lodge Sets Past Masters Night

Hal Burnett

Hal Burnett of Alpine, past grand master of the Grand Lodge (Masons) of Texas, will be the speaker Thursday when Midland Masonic Lodge No. 623 observes Past Masters Night.

The function will begin with the serving of dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the dining room of the Masonic Temple. Following the meal, the guest of honor will speak at a closed meeting in the upstairs lodge room.

Burnett also is a past commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Texas, and past worthy patron of the Grand Lodge of Texas Order of Eastern Star.

Bill Farnum, worshipful master of the lodge, said all Master Masons are invited to attend.

Bank Robbery Suspect Nabbed

AUSTIN (AP) — A shotgun-wielding robber fled with between $5,000 and $6,000 Tuesday from the First State Bank in Austin. Police arrested a man 20 minutes later in a barbecue stand and recovered the loot.

Officers said a witness to the holdup trailed the getaway car. They were notified and arrested a man eating a sandwich at the barbecue stand.

Charged with aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon was Eddie Brown Jr., 45, a local florist. Municipal Judge Rob Robertson set bond at $50,000.

A bandit armed with a sawed-off shotgun approached a teller in the south Austin bank at 2:30 p.m. and told him to hand over money, investigators said. The witness followed the robber in his car and returned to the bank to report where he was last seen.

Israelis Cross Into Lebanon For Third Day

By The Associated Press

Israeli troops crossed the border into southern Lebanon today for the third straight day on a hunt for Arab guerrillas, Israeli military sources said.

The Lebanese Defense Ministry said armored patrols broke through the demarcation line and searched village homes but were driven back by Lebanese artillery. It was the first report of Lebanese resistance during the current series of raids.

The Israeli military command said only that Lebanese mortar fire drew an Israeli artillery response. An Israeli military source said Israeli troops searched the border region for Arab guerrillas but entered no villages.

A Lebanese communique said the first Israeli patrol was driven back, but two hours later four armored patrols pulled up to the border and several vehicles punched through the barbed-wire and cyclone fence demarcation line. Israeli soldiers searched two homes in the village of Alta al-Shaab less than a mile from the border before being driven back into Israeli territory by renewed Lebanese artillery salvos, the communique said.

In another Mideast development, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat flew to Baghdad, Iraq, in an attempt to avert a break in diplomatic relations between Syria and Iraq. He will visit Damascus after a stop in Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Syria and Iraq are locked in a bitter dispute over the waters of the Euphrates River. "President Sadat has got to do something to prevent the worst from happening," one Arab diplomat in the Middle East said.

The Syrian government closed its trade center in Baghdad on Tuesday, announced it was withdrawing all Syrian workers from Iraq, and demanded that Iraq close its trade center in Damascus today and recall the staff.

Diplomats in Damascus from other Arab countries said tension was mounting "very dangerously" between the two nations, which are ruled by rival wings of the Baath Socialist party.

Syrian Defense Minister Mustafa Tlass declared: "The fascist right-wing regime in Iraq is provoking Syria into marginal battles at the moment when Arab ranks have become unified to fight the Israeli aggression on the Arabs."

There has been no public comment from Iraq so far on the recent Syrian actions.

Iraq and Syria have been squabbling over division of the Euphrates waters since the 1960s, but the quarrel has become acute since a new Syrian dam at Tabka went into partial operation last year. Iraq accused Syria of violating a 1973 understanding by allowing only 14.7 billion cubic inches of water per second to flow through to Iraq. The Iraqis claim they should be getting 37.5 billion cubic inches.

An Arab League committee tried to mediate the dispute last month, but the attempt collapsed.

Sadat is on a tour of his Arab allies seeking to unify support for his diplomatic drive for further Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai desert.

On Tuesday he visited Kuwait's ruler, Sheik Sabah al-Sabah.

In Washington, the U.S. States and Israel issued a statement opposing the Arab boycott of nations doing business with Israel. The statement, which was signed by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz, was issued after a two-day meeting of the U.S.-Israel Joint Committee for Investment and Trade.

Simon and Rabinowitz also initiated a new treaty to eliminate double taxation on persons and businesses operating in the two nations.

August Becomes Marrying-est Month

LAKEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Surprising as it may sound, the marrying-est month is no longer June — it's August.

The source of this romantic revelation is Cove Haven, honeymoon resort located in the Poconos here.

For a couple of years, August has been the most sought-after month at Cove Haven for newlyweds, according to owner Morris Wilkins, but the phenomenon was attributed to coincidence. However, so far the same is holding true for this August and a number of requests have already arrived for August of 1976.

School Debate Resumes

AUSTIN (AP) — House debate on the legislative session's top issue, school finance reform, resumes today amid predictions the representatives will change their minds about a teacher pay raise costing about $1 billion over the next two years.

These funds, $54 million for teacher pay raises, $44 million for duty-free lunches for teachers and $50 million more in state funds for school operations, aside from teacher pay.

resources taxes, you can talk about sales taxes, you can talk about a tax on Saudi Arabia, and the governor is going to veto it," said Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, chairman of the House tax committee.

One tornado or severe thunderstorm watch after another covered most of Central and parts of East Texas on Tuesday night into this morning.

He and Rep. Dan Rubeck, D-Rockdale, another TSTA stalwart, predicted the House would approve a substitute bill today that would set starting salaries for the next two years at more than $8,200.

Strikers Still Off Job

Unskilled laborers who walked off the job at two downtown construction sites Tuesday remained off today and indications are that negotiations have not yet been initiated.

Gonzalez said the walkout is being staged by Rose and Sons Inc., contractor for the Midland Hilton, and Cooper Construction Co., contractor for the Southwestern Bell Telephone building.

Work at both sites remains on schedule as craftsmen other than electricians continue to work.

Before the House recessed Tuesday evening, it had defied both Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Speaker Bill Clayton by adding $60 million worth of amendments to Clayton's $604 million proposal.

Air Strike—

County Officials Protest Proposed Property Appraisal

By ED TODD

The concept is acceptable, possibly desirable, but the means are less than ideal.

That seems to be the consensus of Midland city and county tax officials and of the county's top administrator on the Texas House bill that would re-arrange the multi-property appraisal system and would tend to bring local taxing authority under control of the state.

"The concept is good," Virgil Jones, the city's tax assessor-collector, said this morning. "But unless it gets amended, the state has control of it (property appraisal for taxation)."

committee in representing the Midland's stance on the bill. Sen. A. M. Aldin Jr., D-Pecos, is chairman of that committee. The Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Midland, is vice chairman. Sen. W. E. "Pete" Snelson, D-Midland, is a member of the 13-senator committee.

Like Jones, Judge Culver said the bill's general concept appears practical, but there are "so many little things in the bill that were offensive to local governments—city, county, college and schools."

One objection she cited is an annual property reappraisal that would cost the local governments more than $1 million. "That's impracticable," she said.

Essentially, the bill would consolidate appraisal offices here and would eliminate duplication of property valuation. This would include real estate property, personal property, minerals, and industrial and commercial property.

Under the system now, Elmo Lineberger, Midland County tax assessor-collector, is in charge of appraisals for county taxation.

For 1974, the county has assessed valuations, based on 33 per cent of the fair market value, at $224,810,360. The amount collectible, on a tax rate of 36 cents per $100 valuation, is $81,357,724. On top of that is the state's $350,201.93 in ad valorem taxes collected county-wide.

Jones heads up three taxing agencies: the City of Midland, the Midland Independent School District and Midland College.

In these three instances, tax assessment is based on 75 per cent of the fair market value. The city has marked $3,937,595.41 collectible on valuations of $345,465,000. The tax rate is $1.14.

For the Midland ISD, which lists a $1.42% tax rate, $7,767,055.22 is collectible on valuations of $546,052,000.

Midland College's tax rate of 14 cents is to bring in $763,094 in revenue. Its valuation is the same as that for the Midland ISD.

The bill proposes a nine-member advisory council—Board of Appraisal Review—in each county. Members would be elected by the governing bodies of the city, county, school and college districts.

Under the bill, the county-wide chief appraiser would be answerable to the nine-member board. And answerable to the chief and the board would be the state appraisal director who would be appointed by and working at the pleasure of the state comptroller, Bob Bullock.

"The bill places the county tax assessor-collector—who is responsible to the voters—under the control of the state director in Austin..." commented Judge Culver. Lineberger would be the chief assessor and appraiser.

In effect, she said, the state comptroller's office "can tell you how to do your appraising, how to make your maps, how to do the whole thing... They want a complete annual reappraisal of property."

Judge Culver said the behind-the-scenes purpose of the bill is to reap additional finances for the state's public school systems.

"We are aware of financing public education, and we are certainly not belittling it," the judge said.

She said the "broad general concepts" of the bill are desirable, but that the bill might lead "to absolute control (of local taxation) by a regulatory agency in Austin."

Bob Wills Dies At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) — Original band, the Texas Playboys, in a Dallas recording session.

Bob Wills, whose "San Antonio Rose" became a Western classic and his raspy "ash-han!" a popular trademark, is dead at 70.

The colorful Texan died in a nursing home here Tuesday, some six years after a stroke silenced his fiddle and song-writing career.

The 1969 stroke left him confined to a wheelchair but he survived a similar attack last year that left him near death for a time.

A funeral home in Tulsa, Okla., was arranging services there.

Despite his health problems, Wills fulfilled one of his last wishes in 1974 when he participated with members of his original band, the Texas Playboys, in a Dallas recording session.

But it was 1966 in which he received one of his fondest tributes—election to the Country Music Association's Hall of Fame in Nashville, Tenn.

During the ceremonies, Wills removed his ever-present 10-gallon white Western hat and said, "I don't usually take my hat off to nobody, but I sure do to you folks."

Along the way, he became associated with former Texas Gov. W. Lee "Poppy" O'Daniel and Burris Mills, for whom he worked for awhile.

He and two members of his band would play a radio program in the morning, work at the mill during the day and perform four times nightly under their new name—The Light Crust Doughboys.

It was in Tulsa where he named his band "Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys" and attracted earlier followers as a regular on Station KVOO.

Although "San Antonio Rose," which sold millions of copies, was his biggest hit, one of his favorites was "Take Me Back to Tulsa" and it, too, was a moneymaker.

It is said that he penned "San Antonio Rose" in a matter of minutes when a record company representative wanted something for the flip side of Wills' "The Spanish Two-Step."

Wills was credited with producing a new music during the depression and it was called Western swing. It caught on first in Texas and Oklahoma and then spread across the country.

As one of 10 children of a tenant farmer and his wife, Wills grew up in the cotton fields of West Texas, in the tiny town of Turkey, and launched his musical career at country dances.

Although he worked at a variety of jobs after leaving home at age 16, he never abandoned his fiddle, which took him eventually to the country's top bandstands and into Hollywood movies.

Trinity School To Host Festival
Trinity School of Midland will be the scene of an arts festival Thursday, involving students from three private schools in the city.

Participating in the annual event will be St. Ann's and Midland Christian schools, in addition to Trinity.

Leading off the day's activities at 10:45 a.m. will be a musical presentation, "It Takes A Wizard," by a group of sixth grade students at St. Ann's, under direction of Jim Pogue.

Midland Christian School will be represented with advanced instrumental students presenting a special program at 12:45 p.m. and a group of upper school students at Trinity will conclude the day's entertainment with a performance of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Mikado," beginning at 1:15 p.m.

An art show and other special displays will be on view at Trinity throughout the day Thursday, and Trinity students and guests from the other schools will join in a picnic lunch on the school grounds at noon.

All Thursday events will be open to the public. Trinity School is at 3500 W. Wadley St.

Trinity will hold over its production of "The Mikado" for a second performance on Friday night, that presentation also to be open to the public. The operetta has a cast of nine along with a 12-member chorus.

Audie Murphy Statue To Be Unveiled Saturday
SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The sculpted by Jimlu Mason of Alexandria, Va., will be unveiled at the Audie Murphy Veterans Hospital at the same time a memorial room near the hospital's lobby is dedicated.

Howard Callaway, Secretary of the Army, was to be principal speaker as Murphy's widow and two sons watched. Several congressmen said they would attend also.

Murphy collected the Congressional Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star, Purple Heart and more than a score of other American and foreign medals and decorations in his war career.

He returned from war to a movie career in the United States.

Miss Mason said she had admired Murphy and followed his Hollywood career closely, seeing his most famous film, "To Hell and Back," several times.

She said she reviewed dozens of Murphy's own photographs and hundreds of combat photos depicting his leadership in battle before deciding on casting the Murphy statue as a combat infantryman.

Scheduled to be present at the unveiling also is Spec. 4 Audy Ray Snodgrass, representing the 3rd Infantry division in which Murphy served during World War II.

Jackie Wants Old Name Back
LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis has told friends she is planning to change her name back to Kennedy, the gossip columnist of the London Daily Express reports.

The column said the widow of Greek shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis and of President John F. Kennedy wants "to ensure that her name passes into legend bearing the more historical associations of her first marriage."

The "move is motivated by her loyalty to the Kennedy name rather than by disloyalty to her memory of Onassis," the Express said.

"It will also help her considerably if she pursues her often stated ambition to involve herself once more in American politics."

Dallas Police, DPS Belong To 'Spy Group'

DALLAS (AP) — At least two city officials were learning for the first time Tuesday their city's police force was affiliated with a two-nation intelligence cooperative, which has been attacked elsewhere as a repository for information on citizens not involved in criminal activity.

A Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman acknowledged, meanwhile, that the state police force had been a member of the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit (LEIU) since 1969.

However, the director of the Department of Public Safety, Gil Wilson E. Speir, said at first in a telephone interview he was not familiar with LEIU. He later said "some of my men" belong to the California-based organization but LEIU "has no authority over this department."

In a separate interview, Department of Public Safety spokesman Bill Carter said in Austin that the state agency joined LEIU two years after it was founded in San Francisco and pays an annual assessment of $30.

A high Houston police source indicated LEIU does have some measure of control. This source said, "If you're a member of the organization, you are bound to furnish any and all information requested by other members, regardless of the nature of the request. This is a condition of membership."

Dallas Mayor Pro Tem George Altus was told by a reporter that the Dallas police department is affiliated with LEIU. "I didn't even know it," he said.

Allen asked the City Manager George Schrader about the organization, whose national chairman says it has about 230 members, and Schrader had not heard of LEIU, either. Allen then ordered an investigation.

"I wouldn't want to do anything to stymie our police in the apprehension of criminals," Allen said. "On the other hand, I look a little askance at a private agency of select police departments who are privy to confidential information."

"If it is necessary to duplicate the work of the FBI with infinitely less sophisticated equipment and resources, the people of Dallas ought to know about it."

There is a dispute whether the Houston police department has resigned from LEIU or, as LEIU national chairman Roy Henry of Long Beach, Calif., said, was "kicked out."

A Houston police intelligence supervisor, L. J. O. Brandon, said Tuesday that Houston no longer is cooperating with LEIU members for requests of information involving non-criminal activity.

Henry, a lieutenant in the intelligence division of the Long Beach Police Department, defended the LEIU. He said the organization was created in 1966 to enable peace officers across the country to keep better informed about the travels and activities of organized crime figures. LEIU has files on 3,000 to 4,000 such figures, he said.

Henry said no information is exchanged concerning political figures, church groups or private citizens.

However, the high police official in Houston said police there resigned from the organization after one LEIU member asked Houston officers to investigate a highly respected, legitimate businessman.

The source said the reason for the probe, he later learned, was a personal favor for a man who was considering a stock deal with the Houston man.

The source in Houston said much of the material in LEIU files was "worthless" and involved non-criminal activities.

LEIU operates a computerized information system known as the Interstate Organized Crime Index (IOCI). That index, which is based at the California Department of Justice, has received $1,338,486 in federal funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA).

LEAA, when queried in Washington, D.C., said it has given no funds to LEIU itself.

LEAA spokesman said this year's grant is "to implement the fully automated, one-line system that will be serving 120 or more terminal agencies while maintaining an interim system."

The interim system consists of WATS telephone line access by 224 member LEIU agencies.

LEIU members agree with Henry's statements that LEIU is geared strictly to organized crime. But critics of the system have in the past cited problems with the quality or type of information that some departments consider related to "or ganized crime."

About one-third of the LEIU members are in California. It is described as an "informal association" by a former member.

A former LEIU member said LEIU "has always policed itself." He said the organization originally was built on the integrity of individual members who pay a fee of about $75 a year.

Speir, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said he had heard of LEIU only as a fraternal group of intelligence officers from various law enforcement agencies around the country.

Driver Beware, Goodyear Warns

AURON, Ohio (AP) — When it first starts to rain after a long dry spell, driver beware, warns tiremaker Goodyear.

The company's new Motor Sports Club says that in dry weather an oil film builds up on the highway, and when it first starts to rain there's a mixture of oil and water on the road that is as slippery as ice.

The club says that if it rains really hard for 20 minutes or so, the oil will wash away, but until then roads are dangerous and speeds should be reduced, thus avoiding sharp braking and turning.

Beta Delta Chapter Has Installation Of Officers

Installation of officers was held when the Beta Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the home of Mrs. Biggie Lamkin, 1905 Westcliff St.

New officers installed were: Mrs. Bill Morgan, president; Mrs. Mike Williams, first vice president; Mrs. Fred Adams, second vice president; Mrs. Jolene Laughlin, recording secretary; Mrs. Max Moreland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Doug Rowan, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Pepper, extension officer and parliamentarian, and Mrs. Lamkin, advisor. Mrs. Morgan presented each of her officers with a yellow carnation.

Guests attending were Mrs. Don Aldridge and Mrs. Mike Winkler, and visitors from the local Beta Chapter were Mrs. Dale DeBord and Mrs. Frank Flourney.

Mrs. Williams gave the city council report which revealed that four scholarships were given to Midland College.

Social chairman, Mrs. James McLaughlin, reminded members of the couples' social to be held Friday in the home of Mrs. Jerry Blanton.

The program on art was presented by Mrs. Moreland. Each member brought an article she had made.

Junior Cotillion Dance Scheduled

'VIAJE TEJANO MEXICANO'—Senior Girl Scouts, from the left, Sarah Matchus, Janet Tieman, Vicki Brooks, Sharon Josefy and Sheri Talley, will participate in the "Viaje Tejano Mexicano" project of the Girl Scouts of the United States.

Senior Girl Scouts Will Make Tour Of Historic Sites

The Permian Basin Girl Scout Council has been approved by the Girl Scouts of the United States to sponsor a national event in this area, "Viaje Tejano Mexicano," June 25-July 13.

Twenty-five girls from 22 states will join five Permian Basin Girl Scouts chosen to be hostess-participants. The Midland girls are Sheri Talley, Sharon Josefy, Sarah Matchus, Janet Tieman and Vicki Brooks.

The Senior Scouts will arrive in Midland June 25 and will be housed with Midland families during Midland activities and orientation. The trip will begin June 26 on a chartered bus. Girl Scouts in each city of the council are planning a variety of events for the girls.

Points of interest to be visited include Castle Gap, Tunis Springs Way Station, Hueco Tanks and Caribad Caverns. Two or more days will be spent at Hat-A Girl Scout Ranch, Big Bend National Park, Mitre Peak Girl Scout Camp, Guadalupe Mountains National Park, El Paso and Chihuahua City, Mexico.

Activities such as making adobe brick and ojos de disco, cooking Mexican, Indian and ranch foods, hunting rose agate are included in the agenda.

Merchants and individuals have made contributions to the trip, including gifts of white cowboy hats to each participant, a visit to a drilling rig and a rattlesnake rattle for each girl.

The tour will end July 11, when the girls will be housed with Odessa families.

Adults making up the staff are Mrs. Carl Doris, director; Mrs. R. M. Carroll Jr., program director; Mrs. Edward Matchus, nurse, and Mrs. Wilburn Elliott, business manager.

The purpose of the trip is to explore and develop an understanding and appreciation of an area which little more than 100 years ago was unsettled land, where Indians, pioneers and Mexicans vied for control. Also to enjoy the geography and geology and to become acquainted with the economy of the area, as well as meet the inhabitants.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapter Concludes Current Year

Officers for the 1972-73 school year were installed recently when the Beta Eta Chapter of Epiklon Sigma Alpha held its final business meeting of this year in the home of Mrs. S. L. Davis.

New officers are: Mrs. Davis, president; Mrs. Dan Cotten, vice president; Mrs. Jerry Doughty, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clarence Grant, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Compton, educational director; Mrs. Lamar Haines, parliamentarian; Mrs. Frank Felts, historian, and Mrs. O. D. Martin, reporter.

Committee chairmen named were: Mrs. Don Robinson, Jonquil Girl; Mrs. Haines, awards;

Mrs. Marshall Blount, scrapbook; Mrs. Davis, yearbook; Mrs. Blount, photographer; Mrs. Olyde Chynoweth, chaplain; Mrs. Charles Bruton, contact; Mrs. Cotten, social and rush; Mrs. Martin, ways and means; Mrs. Robert Connor, budget; Mrs. Doughty, bike ride; Mrs. Reggie Medley, philanthropic and clippers; Mrs. Doughty, district; and Mrs. Robinson, chapter.

A report on state convention held recently in Beaumont showed that the chapter was named one of the top ten in the state educationally, received a Gold Link Award for educational programming, and a citation for participation in the St. Jude Bible Ride held here jointly with Beta Omega Chapter last summer.

It was announced by recently elected District 4 president, Mrs. Frank Felts, that the district seminar will be held Sept. 14 in Midland, and the October district meeting also will be hosted by the chapter Oct. 19.

Discussions were held concerning the St. Jude Bible Ride for this year and it was agreed the committee should plan the ride for late summer, and that Beta Omega Chapter will assist.

The program, "Beauty of Home," was presented by Mrs. Felts and Mrs. Medley. Beauty is present only in a home that is full of love, cooperation, cheerfulness, courtesy and concern. Many of these attributes have been discussed throughout the year in the educational programs.

Diamonds Remain Bride's Favorite

NEW YORK (AP)—Bridal fashions change a lot through the years but engagement stones don't change very much.

The diamond remains the choice of 76 per cent of all first-time brides in the United States.

In 1965, when simplicity was the theme in bridal gowns, a solitary, brilliant-cut diamond, the most popular shape for engagement rings, was the overwhelming choice by most brides.

In 1970, bridal fashions were reminiscent of the 19th century, many choosing empire-style gowns with wide bishop's sleeves in the spring and white lace with matching, floor-length mantilla in the fall. The engagement ring chosen by the majority of brides that year was the solitary diamond with tapered baguette diamonds at the sides.

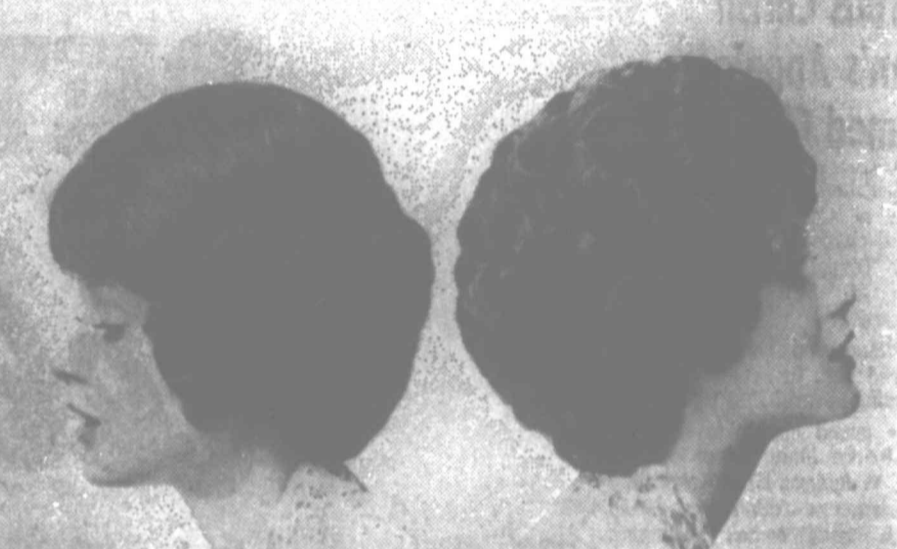

Recently the Diamond Information Center here interviewed several engagement ring manufacturers to find out what directions diamond rings are taking in 1973. It is evident that the solitary with stylistic variations, is still the favored engagement ring.

Young persons are looking for more twists and more curves rather than the bold look, according to one eastern manufacturer. A western manufacturer said that his customers favor the tailored, symmetrical look.

Matched sets are popular. In many sets, the diamond engagement ring interlocks with the wedding band, giving the appearance of a single, wide ring. Some sets look like a cocktail or fashion ring.

In a nationwide survey of 6,000 girls, aged 17 to 25, conducted mainly in shopping centers, midwestern girls were big on black antiquing as an accent on rings. Girls in the south, southwest and west were looking away from the traditional solitaire. The east showed the least change in style preference, still leaning heavily toward the traditional solitaire.

DRT State Convention Formally Opens

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. welcomed members of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas to Midland and the 84th annual state convention of the organization when it formally opened Tuesday evening at the Holiday Inn.

A response to the mayor's address was given by Mrs. Charles A. Robson, first vice president general, DRT.

The session was called to order by Mrs. George P. Red, president general, DRT, who also introduced special guests and presented the annual report.

Chapters of host District I were hostesses for a reception honoring Mrs. Red following the formal opening.

The evening got under way with the entrance of Midland pages, the Real Daughters, the hostess presidents, past presidents general, presidents general's pages and the president general.

Pages are Helen Cross, Leaf Fuller, Crissy Fuller, Sherri Brannon and Rachel Pearson. Real Daughter introduced was Mrs. Louis N. Eller. Past presidents general include Mrs. Henry R. Marech, 1947-49; Mrs. H. C. Vandervoort, 1951-53; Mrs. Barclay Megarity, 1955-57; Mrs. Joe N. Sanderson, 1957-59; Mrs. H. Raymond Hagan, 1959-61; Mrs. Murray Ezzell, 1961-63; Sarah Millie Hill, 1963-65; Mrs. Robert F. Hellock, 1965-67; Mrs. William L. Scarborough, 1967-69; Naomi-Ray Merrey, 1969-71; and Mrs. M. M. O'Dowd, 1971-1973.

Also introduced were pages to Mrs. Red. These included Sherla Katherine Simank of Houston, Paddy Covey of Lufkin and Mary Kathleen Taylor of Houston. Chairman of pages is Mrs. Lucien Brooks of Moran.

Chapters of District I honoring Mrs. Red included the Holly Bryon Chapter of Alpine, the Paso del Norte Chapter of El Paso; the Tuna Creek Chapter of Fort Stockton, the Port Concho Chapter of San Angelo and the Aaron Estes Chapter of Midland. She also was honored Tuesday afternoon with a tea.

Special music was provided by the San Jacinto Junior High Choir, under the direction of Mrs. David Mazey, who also provided music for the professional, the National Anthem and "Texas Our Texas."

Leading the pledge of allegiance was Mrs. H. H. Rowe, while the pledge to the Texas flag was led by Mrs. Thomas Walden. Dr. Ray Bristol of the Pastoral Counseling Service gave the invocation and Rev. John W. Long of Memorial Christian Church led the benediction.

Members of the board of management, which held its meeting this Tuesday morning, are Mrs. Red, Mrs. Robson; Mrs. Thomas A. Nygaard, second vice president general; Mrs. Lucien W. Brooks, third vice president general; Mrs. Elizabeth Williams Estes, fourth vice president general; Mrs. Thomas J. Walden, fifth vice president general, and Mrs. O. N. Joyner, chaplain general.

Also, Mrs. F. M. Addison, recording secretary general; Mrs. Jonathan K. Barnes, corresponding secretary general; Mrs. Paulina Barbery, treasurer general; Mrs. Joe E. Erickson, registrar general; Nancy E. Gauk, custodian general; and Mrs. Ernest Allen, CRT registrar general.

And Mrs. Bernard Eugene Luskman, historian general; Mrs. Barclay Megarity, parliamentarian general; and Mrs. O'Dowd, retiring president general.

Representatives of the ten districts in the state organization are Mrs. John P. McKinley, District 1; Louise Vickary, District 2; Mrs. D. Harold Burd Jr., District 3; Mrs. C. W. Covey, District 4; Mrs. James M. Brooks Jr., District 5; Mrs.

John R. Stada, District 6; Mrs. B. Lanford, District 10.

An historical evening and dinner will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow with Mrs. Ludeman presiding. Hostess chapters are the Holly Bryon Chapter and the Paso del Norte Chapter.

Presentation of awards and an address by J. Everett Haley will highlight this event.

DAUGHTERS WELCOMED — Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. Tuesday evening welcomed Daughters of the Republic of Texas to Midland and their 84th annual state convention. He is shown with Mrs. John P. McKinley, general chairman of the convention and representative of District 1. District 1 chapters are hostesses for the event.

Graduation Party

Becky Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hall and a graduating senior at Lee High School, was the honoree at a recent quilting party given by Mrs. H. Clay Atchison Jr., 2401 Apperson Drive.

Miss Hall plans to attend Texas Tech University.

Guests brought embroidered squares to be made into a quilt for the honoree.

A manzanita branch holding pictures of the honoree and spring flowers decorated the serving table.

Coffee Honors Candy Tull In Home

Candy Tull, bride-elect of Bill Bohannon Jr. of Odessa and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Tull Jr., was honored recently with a coffee in the home of Mrs. A. B. McCain, 2202 Neely St., aunt of the honoree.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. McCain were Mrs. J. A. McCain, Mrs. C. E. McCain, Mrs. P. D. McCain, Mrs. Jack Hollis and Mrs. P. D. Pederson Jr., also aunts of Miss Tull, and Mrs. C. C. Tull Sr., grandmother of the bride-elect.

Serving in the house party for the 300 invited guests were Mrs. Don Matson, Mrs. John Casselman Jr., Mrs. Pederson, Mrs. E. A. Baumann, Mrs. John

Keys, Mrs. George Kimble and Mrs. Richard Rowan.

An arrangement of yellow and white daisies centered the serving table. Miss Tull was presented a corsage of yellow roses and a hostess gift.

The couple will marry at 7:30 p.m. July 12 in the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity.

Mrs. R. E. Griffith '74 Award Winner

Midland artist, Mrs. R. E. (Mary) Griffith was the 1974 purchase award winner at the annual Southwestern Area Art Show here.

The award for a graphic is given yearly by the Midland Branch of the American Association of University Women, with the winning work then presented to the Museum of the Southwest's permanent collection.

A recent listing by the AAUW of its previous years' winners incorrectly identified Mrs. W. W. Griffith as the 1974 award recipient.

HOROSCOPE

by Carroll Righter

GENERAL TRENDS: Handle detailed matters in a.m. for calm, 10-12 conditions. Then use caution in your dealings with others. Be most cooperative; feelings are touchy. Avoid arguments by kindness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Devote a.m. to important work. Don't miss any promises made. Some attention to health is vital. Handle civic matters with wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan arrangements early for later in the day. Then sit in and get work done. Avoid trouble by keeping out of way of an angry co-worker. Don't spend too much for pleasure. Be polite and you can take care of practical matters objectively.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 31) Avoid anything that will make the car fly at home. Shop. Run errands. Use care on the road, whether walking or driving.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 31) Handle "big" things now. Discuss with an expert how to make the future more secure. Get on with it. Don't waste time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get "frisky" ideas on how you can improve conditions. Then get into the work required. Gain personal aim via other's success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Organize career matters in a.m. Then go after some personal aim yourself. Gain support from higher-up. Use tact with disturbed pal.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Expand your class in a.m. Then gain higher-up's backing for your new ideas. An interesting message can be good for you. Consider later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to expand the new outfit. Use firm judgment in dealing with others. State aims to make for good results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Gain associate's support in a.m., then do the work. Proceed to further your mental aims. Know how to handle some civic

Sarah Lou Brown Wins Top Award

MIDLAND—Sarah Lou Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Brown of 3501 Camarie St., Midland, has capped off an impressive four years at Hardin-Simmons University by winning one of the school's top commencement awards.

Miss Brown, who served as University Queen this past year, was given the Minnie L. Anderson Award, which goes annually to a senior woman who has excelled in character, personal development and service to the community. She earned a bachelor of science degree with a major in elementary education and a minor in music.

During her college career, Miss Brown was elected freshman class favorite, to Who's Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities, to the Baptist Student Union Executive Council and to membership in Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional fraternity for women in music.

She served her senior year as president of the Student Foundation, a newly organized group which promotes student recruitment and scholarship funds for the university. She also sang with the Celebration Singers, a 300 voice voluntary choir, and was with a singing group called "True Light."

HINTS FROM Heloise No Discarding Of Pickle Liquid

Dear Heloise: I've always discarded the syrupy liquid from pickles when the pickles are gone. But no more.

We eat quite a bit of watermelon when it's in season and I cut the rind away before serving it.

Later, I peel the rind and cut it in cubes. I then simmer it in water until tender (about 10 minutes) and drain.

Cover the simmered rind with the sweet pickle syrup, simmer another 10 to 15 minutes and voila! — an acceptable watermelon pickle is the result.

I suppose it could be packed in sterilized jars and sealed. However, at our house, I simply put it in the pickle jar and refrigerate it.

It's eaten before it has time to spoil. Mrs. Harold Haynes

Dear Heloise: Now that it is getting "white tenny runner" season, here is my hint for keeping them cleaner.

Before wearing the new shoes use spray starch and saturate them really well and allow them to dry.

Then each time they are washed, repeat the process. You'll have white shoes at your house all summer.

This worked for my busy 10-year-old's sneakers. Lorna Sidwell

Absolutely true! You'll be amazed! The soil doesn't soak into the fabric. Heloise

Dear Heloise: We are avid campers and I have a suggestion for keeping many necessities in one place.

My husband had a large, old tackle box he was going to discard, so I latched onto it and spray-painted it inside and out.

I use the bottom section for dishcloths, dish soap, scouring pads, pot holders, garbage bags, napkins, towels and our first-aid kit.

In the top tray, one side holds all our cosmetics, soap, mosquito "dope," playing cards, paper, pencils, etc.

On the other side we keep all our silverware, can openers, small salt and pepper shakers, spatulas, etc.

These things never get wet and after each trip, I just replace what we used. LaRae Tretter

THIS COLUMN is written for you, the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

St. Ann's Club Holds Annual Progressive Dinner

St. Ann's Pre-School Mothers' Club recently held its annual progressive dinner. The theme was "Southern Belles and Gents," a Southern atmosphere with magnolia blossoms, hurricane lamps and hanging planters backgrounded with pastel colors.

General chairmen were Mrs. Rusty Buckingham and Mrs. Enrique Farias. Co-chairmen were Mrs. Pal Ryan, Mrs. Roy Fuentes, Mrs. Frank Gilmer, Mrs. Aubrey Stephens and Mrs. Tim Kearney.

Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres were served at 2502 Dartmouth St., the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Witt.

The main course was served in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Morales, 5500 Dengar St.; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dawson, 11 Auburn Court; and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hartman, 2406 Dartmouth St.

Following the main course, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Higgins, 2511 Terrace St., for dessert.

Golfers Schedule Business Meeting

A business meeting of the Hogan Park Women's Golf Association will be held at 9 a.m. Thursday. Pairings will be made at the meeting and the Play Day event will be a surprise.

Main Dish Cabbage salad is the main dish when you add chopped tongue or ham and raw onions. A little chopped mint mixed through the salad adds extra flavor.

ANNUAL AFFAIR — Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Farias Jr., left, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Witt were photographed during the recent annual progressive dinner held by St. Ann's Pre-School Mothers' Club. Mrs. Farias was a general chairman and Mrs. Witt was hostess to cocktails and hors d'oeuvres.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Burns

Janie Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Burns and bride-elect of Jim Cooley, was honored recently with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Porter B. Wallis, 1908 Western Drive.

Miss Burns and Cooley will be married June 7 in the Crestview Baptist Church.

House party members were Mrs. Joe Farris, Mrs. Reed Johnson, Mrs. Robert Davidson, Mrs. Lillian Jones, Mrs. D. F. Skaggs, Mrs. Robert Willett, Mrs. A. C. Shultz, Mrs. Foy Rotan and Mrs. Betty Thacker. Silver and crystal appointments were used on the serving table, which was covered with a white cloth centered with an arrangement made of assorted checked gingham in rainbow colors. The same theme was carried out in corsages for members of the house party. A checked gingham doll centered the registry table.

Runaway Number Repeated

DEAR ABBY: Because I read in your column about that toll-free number, which allows runaway kids to call to let their parents know they are O.K., I re-established contact with my parents, went home and had the most wonderful Easter of my life. (I'm a 19-year-old boy who dropped out of school and hit the road 15 months ago.)

Will you please run that item again, Abby?

LUCKY IN ILLINOIS

DEAR LUCKY: With pleasure: Runaways, dial 1-800-231-6946. An operator will telephone your parents anywhere in the U.S. and convey a message from you. ("I'm alive, don't worry about me" is typical.)

There will be no lecturing or counseling. Your call will not be traced, and the only question asked of you will be: "Do you need anything?" If you do, you'll be told where you can obtain it for free. No attempt will be made to bring you home, regardless of your age.

Runaways, please forget the past and call that toll-free number now. Let somebody know that you are alive. You will sleep better tonight, and so will they.

P.S. This wonderful program originated in Texas and has been adopted by 37 states! It's staffed by volunteers, including some grateful runaways who have come home.

to watch some of those tv commercials with her boyfriend.

I've been in sales and advertising for over 50 years, and I recently became uneasy watching certain tv commercials with my daughter and son-in-law. I think the media is going out of bounds with some of the products they advertise.

If the "red-faced" young lady will go to the public library and ask for an up-to-date copy of "Advertisers' Register," she will find the names and addresses of all major companies listed with the brand names they produce and the names of their executive personnel.

She should then write a letter to the president of the company telling him why she thinks his advertising is offensive. It will be far more effective than writing to the FCC, as you recommended.

I've done this with several products and was amazed at the personal attention I received.

T.W.T.: TEXAN

Life's Getting Rough For Bank Robbers

By STEVE HARVEY
The Los Angeles Times

As a profession, bank robbing has its advantages. After all, the hours are good and you're your own boss, as prison inmate Virgil Starkwell (Woody Allen) noted in "Take the Money and Run."

But job security is poor, and the work can be nerve-wracking. Take the case of the fellow who entered a Salt Lake City bank, strode up to a teller and, after clearing his throat, asked her to hand over the money.

While she was collecting it, he fainted.

Or the two men, armed with shotguns, who stormed into a local bank and ordered everyone to lie on the floor. That accomplished, they realized there was no one available to fetch the money for them.

They hesitated, then fled. The movies' traditional portrayal of the bank robbery as a smooth operation carried out by a team of meticulous, steel-nerved holdup men is outdated, law enforcement officials say.

Robberies Up
Bank robberies have increased almost threefold since 1960, and most of the newcomers are amateurs working alone.

"Young and dumb," says William Sullivan, the assistant FBI director in Los Angeles. "By dumb I mean not wise in the way of the professional holdup man. We've had guys write holdup notes on the back of their own utility bills. Or run out of a bank so excited they can't find their getaway car!"

Adds Charles Ogle, an FBI supervisor: "Twenty years ago, the bank robber was looked up to by the other inmates in prison. He was a big shot, and bank robbery was viewed as the class robbery. Not any more."

Item: San Bernardino, Calif., police captured a man wanted for bank robbery weeks later when they noticed him drunk racing a friend down the street in a wheelchair. No, the man was not disabled, except by the alcohol.

No Class
"Class? Where have you gone, Willie Sutton?" Officials attribute the higher robbery rate to the economy and the drug problem, as well as the growing number of banks.

"Twenty years ago, most banks were downtown," Sullivan says. "Now you also have branch banks in the suburban areas, with easy access to freeways. Convenient targets."

But they also have added features like silent burglar alarms, cameras and closed-circuit television to make life more difficult for the holdup man.

FBI and police officials say they capture between 70 per cent and 80 per cent of the bank robbers.

Of the 37 people killed during bank robbery attempts throughout the nation in 1974, 24 were would-be robbers.

Small Hauls
The average haul — around $1,500 — is less than half what it was a decade ago because tellers now keep only minimal amounts of cash in the drawers in compliance with the Bank Protection Act of 1968.

(Bank robbers, more than half of whom are unarmed, often settle for the take from one window to avoid attracting attention.)

One FBI study showed that the convicted bank robber's income amounted to about 40 cents per hour for his time spent in prison. And that was assuming he was allowed to keep the loot.

Still, . . . 66 bank robberies in the first 127 days of the year in Los Angeles, up 40 per cent over 1974.

"It looks so easy nowadays," Sullivan says. "Banks are competing with each other for customers. So they try to have a pleasant appearance. In the old days, they were like fortresses on the inside. Now they're so open, no bars on the tellers' windows, if they even have windows."

Looks Easy
Cameras, such as the one that snatched Patricia Hearst in a San Francisco bank a year ago, are used by about 60 per cent of the nation's banks.

Cameras Expensive
They are expensive — costing about $1,000 each — but effective, snapping off four frames per second. And the FBI develops the pictures for free.

Occasionally, a holdup man tries to dispense with the problem of the camera by firing his gun at it.

The usual result: a close-up picture of a holdup man firing a gun.

"The housing of the camera is steel, a quarter-inch thick," says Jack Reitz, branch manager of Mosler Co., largest supplier of bank cameras.

"The only thing they can break is the lens. But even if they do, we still have the film."

A bank robber known to Los Angeles police as the Mercury Man, tried to circumvent the camera in another fashion.

"He was an ex-con," LAPD investigator Charles Davenport recalls. "And while he was in prison, some guys serving time for bank robbery told him that if he rubbed mercury on his face, it would be invisible to the camera."

"He bought some blue ointment that had mercury in it and smeared it all over. But the stuff only made his face brighter and clearer in the pictures. It made our job easier."

What about the Mercury Man's jailhouse advisers?

Grenades Used
"I think they were putting him on," Davenport says.

Since the development of the camera, banks have also begun using a tear-gas grenade that comes hidden in a phony packet of money. A teller can activate the timing device before handing it over and . . .

Well, let's put it this way. One moment, a 19-year-old Atlanta youth was walking into a restaurant with what he assumed was $5,000 stuffed in his waistband.

The next moment, he was flying out the door coughing, crying and ripping at his clothes as he rolled around in a parking lot. By the time he came to a stop, he had stripped off everything he wore.

Currency Protection Corp. guarantees that its tear-gas device will foil any bank robbery attempt or the company will reimburse the bank in an amount "equal to the cash not recovered, up to $5,000."

Chemical Bank of New York has tried a unique approach, installing a two-foot-square sign on the outside of some branches that can be activated to flash "Robbery in Progress," in four inch-high red letters.

Not Yet Tested
Put into operation six months ago amid much publicity, the system hasn't been tested yet.

"We haven't had any robberies at those branches," a spokesman says.

Just as it has eliminated so many other jobs, automation seems likely to wipe out the bank robber one day.

Already, some banks are set up so there are no tellers or cash drawers on the main floor.

"I know of one marketing study that said if banks continue to multiply as they are now, they'll be using 38 per cent of the female population as tellers within a few decades," says Reitz of Mosler Co. "So they have to start automating."

What then for the prospective bank robber? Insert a holdup note into a Mosler Teller-Matic System No. 4000 computer?

But for now, there are plenty of robbers on the lam.

"This guy's driving us nuts," says Ogle, the FBI supervisor, pointing to several snapshots of a young man in various costumes. "We know of 11 robberies he's committed."

The bulletin board in Ogle's office carries more than 50 pictures of bank robbers caught (but only by a camera) in the act.

The adoption of the bank camera has greatly influenced the fashion world of the bank robber. Wigs, phony beards, ski masks, cotton in the cheeks and bandages on the face are the new look.

One person who avoided identification without a disguise was the Braless Bandit, a 16-year-old girl who held up a bank in South Central Los Angeles while wearing a see-through blouse and no brassiere.

Afterward, the bank teller — a male — was unable to tell police what her face looked like, only that she had a "medium build."

Police caught her after her fourth holdup.

Usually, if a bank robber successfully pulls off a job he (or she) will give the authorities another chance later. Robbing banks seems to be like eating peanuts: It's difficult to stop after one.

Greatest Meat Eaters
The greatest meat eaters in the world (figures include animal organs and poultry) are the people of Uruguay, with an average consumption of 10.93 ounces per person per day in 1964-66. The lowest consumption of meat in the world is 0.16 ounces per person per day in Sri Lanka (formerly Ceylon) in 1960.

NBC Picks Up College Cagers

Basketball

NBC is adding regular season basketball to its sports schedule, announcing a long-term agreement with the TVS network to add 90 regular season games to its schedule, starting Jan. 3, 1976.

Notre Dame basketball Coach Digger Phelps, on the verge of losing his third star to the pros in the last year, says he has nothing against the NBA.

Baseball

Cy Young Award winner Mike Marshall will be lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers until May 30 as a result of a torn rib cartilage.

Hockey

"I think we could hold our own right now," said Houston Aeros captain Ted Taylor as the WHA team was welcomed home after winning its second straight World Cup.

Football

Greg Burton, 28, who played for the NFL Detroit Lions from 1968 to 1970, has been named head coach of the Portland (WFL) Storm.

Michigan State quarterback Charlie Baggett has been ordered to return a $5,000 new car he got under an unusual loan arrangement, university officials confirmed Tuesday.

Dr. Lorene Rogers recommended repealing a Southwest Conference requirement that Longhorn athletes, coaches and alumni submit to polygraph tests.

Bob Gibson, an assistant with the Memphis Southmen, will be named coach of the Charlotte (WFL) Hornets, succeeding Babe Parilli, who is expected to move to Chicago (WFL) as head coach.

Brewers Blank Captains

In the nightcap, a six-hit job earned the decision for pitcher Rich Anderson, now 6-1. Two sacrifice flies, a fielder's choice on a grounder and Mark Olliver's triple accounted for the Shreveport runs.

Fourteen hits, two Alexandria Aces miscues and a grand slam homer by Gary Alexander produced for the Lafayette Drillers' barrage of runs.

The Arkansas Travelers used John Young's third homer of the season and two hits each from five players to hang defeat on the Jackson Mets.

Randy Sealy, now 3-1 for the season, hurled a five-hit shutout for Shreveport, which now leads runnerup El Paso by 5 1/2 games in the West Division.

Montreal May Lose Games

QUEBEC (AP) — Alternative sites for the 1976 Olympic Games were considered Tuesday in Rome by the International Olympic Committee.

Work on the Olympics sites and other major construction projects has stopped since May 6 when 5,000 workers walked off the job as part of a union confrontation with the Quebec government.

DICK CHANGES HIS TUNE—Writer Recalls 'Richie'

By RALPH BERNSTEIN PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Any reporter who has ever covered the exploits and antics of Dick "Richie" Allen has to have a personal story or two about the controversial slugger.

My memories of Allen's first seven-year tour of duty with the Philadelphia Phillies were jogged Monday night when we met in the Phillies clubhouse. "Hi, long time no see," was his greeting.

I remember the incident as though it was yesterday. Allen had failed to report to the Phillies' spring training camp at Clearwater, Fla. That was par for the course.

So, I set down and wrote a story that Richie Allen not only wasn't in the opening lineup against Cincinnati, he wasn't even in camp. I quoted Quinn on the AWOL designation etc.

It just so happened that Allen was in Miami that same day, helping Joe Namath of the New York Jets promote the opening of a new restaurant.

I wasn't aware of the Miami display when I walked into the Phillies clubhouse the next day and saw Allen getting into his uniform.

Relations were cool between us from that time until he was traded in 1969 to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Fourth No-Hitter Escapes Ryan

By The Associated Press
 Nolan Ryan pitched nine innings, Jim Bibby pitched five and Ken Holtzman faced only one batter but all came away with victories Tuesday night.

Ryan pitched six hitless innings and finished with his sixth career no-hitter in the California Angels' 5-0 victory over the New York Yankees. Bibby allowed singles to the first two batters and then knocked off the rest 15 in the Texas Rangers' 5-0 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers which was called in the fifth inning because of rain.

And Holtzman, who had a 1-4 record in eight starts despite a five 2.35 earned run average, struck out Carl Yastrzemski and a Boston rally in the fifth inning and was credited with the win in the Oakland A's 9-5 triumph over the Red Sox when Joe Rudi's tie-breaking home run in the bottom of the fifth made him the pitcher of record.

Ryan flirted with a record-tying fourth career no-hitter until Bobby Bonds broke the spell with a leadoff single in the seventh. The Yankees' only clean hit, Ryan, who joined Oakland's Vida Blue and Don Sutton of Los Angeles as the only seven-game winners in the majors, struck out seven and walked five.

Doc Medich matched scored innings with Ryan until he walked Bruce Boone with two out in the sixth and Jim Latham and Dave Chick followed with singles for a 1-0 lead. An inning later, Tom Egan's triple and singles by Morris Nettles and Boone made it 3-0. Billy Smith landed a two-run double in the eighth.

"I'm not really disappointed that it wasn't a no-hitter because I didn't have good stuff and I was more concerned about getting the ball over the plate and winning the game," Ryan said. "I didn't have real good stuff, especially early in the game. I had a real good curve early and that kept me in it."

Royals 8, Tigers 7
 Kansas City jumped on Lee-rin LaGrew for five runs in the second inning, one on an off-the-roof homer by Tony Solatis, and survived a four-run Detroit rally in the ninth. Solatis, who singled home a run in the fourth, led off the second with his towering homer. It bounced off the roof of the third deck, 370 feet away and about 100 feet up.

KC starter Al Fitzmorris was working on a two-hitter until the seventh when Nate Colbert hit a two-run homer. Pitcher Dan Meyer drilled a three-run homer off Doug Bird in the ninth.

Indianapolis 8, Twins 3
 Rookie reliever Dennis Eckersley shut off a seventh-inning Minnesota rally and Cleveland capitalized on a unique text double to defeat the Twins.

Jack Brainerd laid down a hard bunt past pitcher Vic Albury attempting to sacrifice in the third inning. Minnesota second baseman Rod Carew overran the bunt and Brainerd sprinted to second for a double with Charlie Spikes, who had walked, going to third. Frank Butty doubled to give the Indians a 3-0 lead. Cleveland made it 3-0 in the fifth on Buddy Bell's first home run of the season.

Cleveland 4, Minnesota 0
 The Golden Cranes take an 11-5 season record into Friday's game while Alpine stands 7-3. Friday where the two teams will play the second game and a third one will follow if necessary in the best-of-three series.

Crane pounded out 11 hits and picked up the mound victory to give him a 5-1 pitching to a 10-8 victory over the Alpine record.

LA Uniform Makes New Pitcher Of Burt

By The Associated Press
 Even though the Chicago Cubs have the best winning percentage in the major leagues, Burt Hooton says he would rather be with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The rejuvenated Hooton, obtained by the Dodgers from the Cubs on May 1 after a dismal start this season, showed his gratitude toward his new club Tuesday night, allowing only two hits in pitching Los Angeles to a 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hooton was ecstatic over his sparkling performance and the confidence the Dodgers have shown in him.

Changed Attitude
 "As soon as I got here (with the Dodgers), I had a reversal of attitude," he said. "Maybe the Cubs have a winning attitude now (they finished in last place in 1974, but now lead the National League East with a 19-9 record), and I admire what they're doing, but it just really didn't sink in with me. The thing is it's a whole new start."

"Red Adams (Dodgers pitching coach) talked to me and got me back to doing the things I'd once done right," Hooton said. "He got me back to squaring off toward home plate. He got me to slow down and get my arm working with my body."

While Hooton was shaking the Cardinals, Jerry Reuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates and rookie Tom Underwood of the Philadelphia Phillies also were pitching shutouts. Reuss stopped the San Diego Padres 2-0 on three hits and Underwood handcuffed the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 on six hits.

Hooton, who had pitched a go-hitter with the Cubs in 1972 against Philadelphia, said his effort against St. Louis was a better pitched game.

"In that game (against Philadelphia), I walked seven," he said.

Against St. Louis, he walked only one, struck out seven and faced just 29 batters—two over the minimum. The only hit off him were Ted Sizemore's double in the fourth and Luis Melendez' single in the ninth. Jimmy Wynn drove in three Los Angeles runs with a homer and a single, and Rick Auerbach singled in two runs.

The Cubs scored their first run in the third inning on a balk by Houston pitcher Doug Konecny, then broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth on Bill Madlock's single, a walk, a wild pitch by Konecny and a passed ball by Milt May.

Unbent Steve Stone, with ninth-inning relief from Oscar Zamora, won his fifth game.

Grove pitched 9 1/3 innings and a leadoff single by Mike Pelfrey in the eighth kept the Cubs in the game. Grove pitched 9 1/3 innings and a leadoff single by Mike Pelfrey in the eighth kept the Cubs in the game.

Earl Williams drove in four Atlanta runs with a single, double and forceout as the Braves saddled Dave McNally with his fourth consecutive loss. Williams' two-run single and Mike Lum's two-run triple highlighted a six-run, sixth inning uprising.

Watson vaults to 5th in earnings
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnny Miller's tie for 35th place in Monday's windup of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic boosted him into the No. 1 spot on the 1975 official pro golf money list.

Miller regained the lead with a $644 check and a total of $155,233, just $45 more than Jack Nicklaus, who did not compete.

Tom Watson, whose victory in the tournament was worth $35,000, vaulted into fifth place from 14th with $64,613. Tom Weiskopf is third with $117,897 and Al Geiberger fourth with $107,157. Trailing Watson are Lee Trevino, $94,297; Bruce Crampton, $82,106; Bob Murphy, $68,886; Hale Irwin, $60,864 and Gene Littler, $75,265.

Magnum Inks Pact With San Diego
 SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bud Magnum, the Canadian Football League's defensive rookie of the year in 1973, says he has signed as a free agent with the San Diego Chargers of the National Football League.

Before joining the CFL, Magnum, 6-foot-4, and 257 pounds, was the Big Eight Conference's defensive player of the year at the University of Colorado and was voted most valuable player on the Marine football team at Quantico, Va.

Lagging Tornado Must Turn It Around Against Sounders Friday

DALLAS (AP) — "We've got to start doing it this week," midfielder Roy Turner told his fellow Dallas Tornado soccer team as it prepared to meet the Seattle Sounder in a North American Soccer League match Friday at Texas Stadium.

The Tornado is currently in a third place following a disheartening loss to the Chicago Sting last weekend. The Tornado led 2-0 25 minutes deep in the second half, but the Sting must do is get back on the winning track if they expect to be a factor in the NASL race this year.

Small Colleges Really Feel Pinch

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Stonehill never has had a deficit in its general operating budget. But it always has had a deficit in its athletic budget.

Although small in size, the school maintains high academic aspirations. There is a combined five-year liberal arts and engineering program that operates under a cooperative agreement with the University of Notre Dame, which The Rev. Ernest J. Bartell, Stonehill's president, calls "our sister institution."

Academically, the two may be related. But athletics is quite another matter. Notre Dame is one of the traditional major powers in American collegiate sports. Stonehill is not.

"Our athletic program has always run a deficit," said The Rev. Bartell. "In fact the athletic department must be completely subsidized by the college because there is only token income from athletic events. For the current year, we will expend $137,000 on athletics and we anticipate revenues of only $2,000. Five years ago, the athletic department budget was $37,000, and the department had an income of $1,500."

When you have less money to spend, you spend less money. That has been the case at Jacksonville, Ala., State. There is no projected deficit in sports because, by law, a state school cannot legally have a deficit. But the entire athletic budget has been cut by 30 per cent.

The Rev. Daniel C. O'Connell, president of St. Louis University, drives a Volkswagen and has turned down a $500 electric typewriter and an executive suite chair for his office, so you know how he feels about saving money.

There has been talk of eliminating varsity basketball at St. Louis, but Father O'Connell has assured that the sport will continue for the 1975-76 season and after that so long as it remains fiscally sound. St. Louis' other major sports are soccer and hockey, and they, too, will continue as long as they operate on a balanced budget.

"All varsity sports will have to stand on their own two feet or two skates, or whatever," he said. "We'll wait until the public proves its point. If people do not attend games, we cannot break even."

At George Washington University, the athletic budget was cut in half seven years ago when the school dropped football. Now its teams are cutting back in travel with games limited to a 50-to 70-mile radius of the school. American University teams have a bit more latitude, but not that much. Their games are limited to 300 miles except for baseball.

Ted Kjolhede, athletic director at Central Michigan, said his department is well aware of the economic problem. "We've tried to be frugal in all areas," he said. "We've made uniforms last longer, for example."

Fritts, such as banquet, have been reduced, and trips are kept to a minimum, both for recruiting and competing. CMU doesn't recruit out of state and it carefully weighs all factors involved before sending a team or player to a post-season competition.

"We're not naive," said Kjolhede. "We know the university may have to go into an austerity program, but if CMU was to strike out, about it would lose television money and bowl possibilities. We have to be careful about retreating to a modest program because we would lose much that the alumni and students are proud of."

Another small school refusing to cut back is Lenoir Rhyne of Hickory, N.C. When the Carolina Conference voted last year to reduce athletic scholarships, Lenoir Rhyne withdrew from the conference. Instead of reducing scholarships, the school is redirecting some of its grants.

Mustard Gas Reported Stolen In West Germany

The Manchester-Guardian
BONN — Fifty-three steel bottles, each containing a liter of mustard gas, have been stolen from ammunition bunkers in a West German military training area on the Luneburg Heath near Homburg.

They are said to be of British origin, and were handed over to the West German army to be destroyed.

There are fears that they may be in the possession of terrorists.

A West German terrorist group threatened over the weekend to attack the city of Stuttgart with Soviet SAM-7 missiles, bombs and mustard gas, unless an amnesty was granted to all political prisoners.

College Trustees OK Computer Net Tie-In

By JAN WILLIAMS
 Midland College will be the state's first junior college to tie into The University of Texas computer network, instituting a pilot program in Computer Assisted Instruction (CAI).

The board of trustees Tuesday unanimously approved the system at a special meeting.

Dr. Al G. Langford, president of the college, along with faculty and administrative staff who have studied the plan for the past year, voiced enthusiasm over its adoption.

"This is part of a program to help improve undergraduate study here," Langford said, "and it is a tremendous opportunity for Midland College. Not many colleges have gotten into it because of the cost. We were fortunate to have the funds to do it."

The first year cost for the college is estimated at $9,711, with the second year expense dropping to $7,361. Cost after the third year is expected to be $5,717.

At Midland College, the program will be partially funded through the National Science Foundation and contributions from The University of Texas.

Langford said the system will not save the college anything on teachers salaries now, but may in the future.

Choice Schofer, economics instructor at Midland College, said he favored implementation of the system "because it might help students and teachers do a better job."

"I constantly like to do a better job in teaching," Schofer said. "We won't know until the end of the year whether this system has helped the students, but as teachers we have to continually strive to do a better job."

While not replacing pupil-teacher interaction, CAI will offer basic instruction as well as "leveling," or bringing each student's background knowledge in a subject up to an equal level with his classmates.

The system could be operational at Midland College by August. First offerings in the fall would be in math, economics and English.

Dr. Don Hunt, vice president for academic affairs, said classes will have an estimated 20 students and the instructor will determine the amount of computer work and the type most beneficial to the student.

Dr. Charles Wakefield, computer science data processing chairman at Midland College, did the initial research into adopting the system.

OAS Will Lift Embargo On Cuba

By LEWIS H. DRUGUID
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Organization of American States foreign ministers agreed Tuesday to call a special meeting two months from now in San Jose, Costa Rica, for lifting the 11-year-old embargo on Cuba.

Dismissing the sanctions was set in motion without even mentioning Cuba. The step to be taken in Costa Rica is an amendment of the treaty, under which Cuba was sanctioned in 1964, so that the embargo can be undone by a simple majority.

instead of the present two-thirds requirement.

The foreign ministers meeting informally, accepted by consensus the plan included in a package of proposed institutional changes in the OAS. A four-nation committee including the United States will now draw up a formal resolution.

But dominating the sixth day of the OAS general assembly was intense politicking in the halls of the Pan American Union on the question of who will succeed Ecuadorian Galo Plaza as secretary general of the organization.

Elections were set for 3 p.m. Wednesday. While it was widely expected that Argentine ambassador to the United States Alejandro Orfila, 46, would win easily, these predictions were confounded by the discreet but determined opposition of the Brazilian delegation.

The Brazilians contend that the larger countries — Argentina, Brazil, Mexico and the United States — should not hold the secretary generalship. Brazil is backing the only other announced candidate, Foreign Minister Victor Gomez Berges, 38, of the Dominican Republic.

An absolute majority is required for election. The 25th, and smallest OAS member was formally accepted Tuesday with placement of a delegation from the Caribbean island of Grenada. Cuba is still counted as a member, though inactive.

Juridically, Grenada's vote will be the equal of Brazil's in the hemispheric organization. But the display of Brazilian persuasive power on the election question showed that size has importance in the OAS. The United States has refrained from backing either candidate though its delegation clearly favors Orfila to the relatively inexperienced and little-known Dominican.

Sen. Edward Kennedy D-Mass. visited the assembly Tuesday, telling Secretary General Plaza and others that "there is interest and hope in the Senate" in the work of the ministers.

He questioned delegates on issues from opposition to the U.S. Trade Act to the Panama Canal sovereignty question. Kennedy has actively supported the work of the OAS Human Rights Commission, whose critical report on civil liberties violations in Chile is to come before the assembly.

"Human rights is a high item on my agenda," he said, adding that he had been assured the issue will be thoroughly debated. Kennedy has also pressed for a new U.S. policy of reconciliation with Cuba. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has said that would come in concert with action by the OAS.

A first effort failed when foreign ministers meeting in Quito, Ecuador, failed to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to lift sanctions.

Hence the more circuitous route of amending the Rio Treaty.

That will require ratification by each government, but a formula is evolving — probably requiring yet another meeting — that would permit member states wishing to renew ties with Cuba to do so once the vote for revision is taken in Costa Rica.

In fact, nine member states have already renewed ties with Cuba. Its renewed active membership is moot since Prime Minister Fidel Castro has said he would never return to the OAS. He considers it a tool of U.S. policy.

Johnny Appleseed Was A Real Person

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Yes, everyone, there was a "Johnny Appleseed." The legendary planter was really John Chapman, a pioneer evangelist who hoped to convert the Midwest wilderness into one vast apple orchard. According to Rand McNally's "Discover Historic America," Chapman lived from 1774 to 1845, and he seeded so well that literally thousands of apple trees in Ohio, Indiana and other Midwest states are the direct, present-day results of his planting.

'Energy Ant' New Government Hero

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who is that friendly little fellow, smiling out from a new government publication? Can it be that Reddy Kilowatt has survived the energy crisis? Why no, it's Energy Ant!

Energy Ant clearly has emerged from the energy crisis as the new hero. While Reddy Kilowatt used to bounce around on television encouraging people to conserve electricity until electricity wasn't cheap any more, Energy Ant's role is to save electricity.

"This little friend has been created by the Federal Energy Administration to tell kids about energy and how to use it wisely," says a new Energy Ant coloring and game book for children.

Energy Ant is full of energy history, riddles and games to encourage children to save energy. For example, there is a maze to help Energy Ant through, so he can turn off a light.

There also is a game called "Trip to the Moon" that penalizes the player who lands on a square that says the door was left open but rewards the player for landing on squares that say the television set was turned off or that the child walked to school.

The child with a pair of scissors may also cut out a deck of cards that take up six pages of the 27-page book. Among the cards is a mean-looking Evil Prince who drives fast, and an equally unattractive Old Queen, who wastes hot water. Peter Keay, acting director of FEA communications and public affairs, said the ant was picked as the energy hero because the "ant is a unique symbol of an industrious creature who really uses energy wisely."

Preparation of the Energy Ant book was done by the FEA staff, especially by cartoonist Tony Ranfone, who Keay said formerly was a combat cartoonist in Vietnam.

The FEA has printed 10,000 copies of the coloring and game book for distribution to selected schools around the nation on a test basis. It also can be purchased for $1.40 from the Government Printing Office in Washington.

Sen. Ogg Blocks Malpractice Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Jack Ogg practiced his own brand of medical justice Tuesday in blocking a bill sought by the Texas Medical Association.

After Texas doctors got half the protection they wanted from medical malpractice suits on a 27-2 vote, Ogg's protests tied up the Senate until it quit for the day.

Ogg, who claims he was once a victim of malpractice, objected to a provision in a bill creating panels of three doctors to review all malpractice cases and to decide whether there has been negligence.

The panel's report would be admissible as evidence in my court action.

"The people (doctors) will be grading their own papers, protested Ogg.

Ogg, D-Houston, offered an amendment to wipe out the provision.

"That's the heart, spleen and liver of the bill," said Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin.

Lloyd P. Jobe

Jobe Takes Post With Midland Bank

Lloyd P. Jobe has been appointed personnel manager for The Midland National Bank, it was announced today by Tony A. Martin, president.

Jobe will be responsible for personnel recruitment, interviewing, employee orientation and training, benefit programs and government employment reports.

He joined Midland National last November. Prior to that he was operations manager for Gibson Distributing Co. here three years.

Jobe is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a bachelor of business administration degree. He is a member of the Gardens Assembly of God Church and a member of the Downtown Kiwanis Club. He recently served as an adviser to the Junior Achievement J.A. Bank.

"It's part of the anatomy of the bill—the tail end," replied Ogg.

The bill, by Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, also would limit to $100,000 the amount a patient could collect from a doctor or hospital. Any amount over that sum—up to $400,000—would come from a special fund financed by an annual surcharge on those who provide health care.

Earlier, the Senate voted to restrict malpractice claims by requiring anyone filing a suit to do so within two years of treatment. The current statute of limitations is two years from the time the patient discovers something wrong with him physically that he attributes to a doctor or hospital's negligence.

Such discoveries often are made several years after treatment.

The bill, by Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, also states that a child under six has only until he is eight to file a malpractice suit.

Now, the state of limitation would not start until the child was 18.

"How is a child six years old going to know to file a lawsuit in the death of a parent by his eighth birthday?" asked Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless.

"I'm not going to stand here and be branded as an anti-kid senator," said Schwartz. He insisted children "don't need any more protection than the bill offers them."

"We on the Senate floor are saying we're insensitive to the needs of children," replied Meier.

His amendment to eliminate the provision failed, 8-21.

Schwartz's bill also would require insurance companies writing medical malpractice insurance to issue policies for at least one year, with 90-day notice before cancellation.

He said in a statement that if malpractice rates at Texas' 493 hospitals follow the trend established by a major insurance program they will soar from $5.6 million in Feb. 17 to $14 million by July.

"While it is the physicians and hospitals that are contending with the immediate crisis, the problem of professional liability really is a public one; for when premium rates skyrocket, the additional cost must be shared by the patient in the form of higher fees, higher rates, and the loss of care by physicians who are forced by exorbitant rates to retire or find employment in research or other non-patient-related fields," said Schwartz.

Knowledge Of Money Can Be Helpful In Development Of Mathematic Skills

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the eighth of a series of 14 articles prepared by Science Research Associates, Inc., that shows how everyday situations can help children learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide.

Most youngsters know a lot about money — and this knowledge can be used in a very practical way to develop mathematics skills.

Most children have handled money in buying candy, toys, pencils, etc., and some have learned about saving money. Perhaps because money is such a vital part of the "real world," children learn with surprising speed how to decide if they have enough for an item they wish to buy. Sometimes they can even figure the tax.

Often children who make careless errors in computation practice will perform with 100 per cent accuracy when money is involved.

When helping young children learn mathematics involving money, you should have real coins so the child can compare the sizes and see the differences. The ease and accuracy with which a child is able to identify and count coins will signal whether more coin-counting sessions are needed before working today's exercise.

If more practice is needed, let the child count the change in a pocket, purse, or the piggy bank. Most children like working with money — and it's great practice.

Today's math exercise is designed to help children count and compare the value of sets of coins. If you think your child is ready to begin work on the page, make sure first he knows what the symbol "cents" means. Then the youngster should be able to answer these questions asked in the exercise:

How much money do "you" have?

How much do "I" have?

How much does Jamie have?

Answers to these questions are essential for completing the exercise. The youngster should begin counting the money with the coin that has the greatest value. When he's through with the first questions, he's already to decide who has enough money for the car, the candy, the ball or the billfold.

If the child needs help, actually get the coins shown and have the child make each purchase.

If you would like a 32-page color booklet incorporating additional arithmetic problems that may help your child, send $1 to the Reporter-Telegram. Be sure your name and address

Selection Of Jury Is Continuing In Poisoning Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers attempt today to select the final four jurors in the capital murder trial of Ronald Clark O'Bryan, 30, charged with killing his son by giving the youth poisoned Halloween candy.

The eighth juror selected Tuesday was the first woman chosen. Lawyers chose seven men the first seven days of selecting.

O'Bryan is accused of giving his son, Timothy, 8, cyanide-laced candy on Halloween. The boy died shortly after eating the candy.

The state, which seeks the death penalty, contends O'Bryan poisoned his son to collect insurance money.

East took the ace of spades and returned a spade to South's king. Declarer promptly led out the king of hearts, and the slam just as promptly went kerflooey. East was sure to get a trump trick.

Nobody can blame South for playing the first two tricks quickly. After all, he was just following suit. But nobody forced him to barge ahead with the trumps before he had thought about the hand.

Only Danger
 The only danger to the slam was a 5-0 break. If West had five trumps, nothing could be done about it. If East had five trumps, however, the situation could be handled. Declarer just had to lead low trumps twice through East.

This could be done only if dummy's two low trumps were reserved for this purpose. South couldn't afford to waste one of dummy's low trumps on his own king.

The correct play is to start the trumps by leading to dummy's queen. When the bad break shows up, a trump is returned from dummy through East. When East puts up the nine, South wins with the jack. South returns to dummy with the ace of clubs to lead another trump through East, and the slam is assured.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two hearts (forcing to game), and the next player passes. You hold: S-A 6 5 H-10 9 7 6 3 D-8 C-Q J 9 8. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts.

Agree on the suit first and show aces and other controls later. You expect to get to a slam eventually, but there is no need to rush matters.

Bureaucrat Gets Paid For Doing Nothing

By TOM RAUM
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubal Hale admits he's a bureaucrat with little to do. So he spends his working hours reading and listening to Beethoven records at his office.

Hale says it's not that he doesn't try to earn his $19,693-a-year salary as executive secretary of the Federal Metal and Non-Metallic Safety Board of Review. It's just that the board has never had anything to review in its four years, Hale said in an interview.

"We have been expecting to be abolished for over two years," Hale said. "Bills have been introduced in Congress to abolish us. But nothing happened."

The administration is asking for $60,000 in annual upkeep for the office in the President's budget for fiscal year 1975.

Hale was contacted after Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., charged in a House Appropriations subcommittee meeting Monday that the board was "a totally useless, toothless and do-less government agency which has never earned its pay."

Hechler called for the board to be abolished. Hale said he doubted any objections would come from his office if Congress did just that.

"We have been extremely candid with Congress," Hale said. "Our annual reports are clear and concise. We have had no cases."

Life Rough For Amtrak Chief

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The ticket-taker in cavernous 30th Street Station had no reason to suspect the man approaching was any different from the dozens of others patiently waiting for a morning Metroliner to Washington.

But he soon knew better. "Hi, I'm Paul Reistrup, president of Amtrak," said the man with a smile. "How are things going today?"

Things may have been fine at the gate, but they are rarely smooth for Reistrup. Now in his second month as Amtrak's leader, he's charged with turning the nation's creaking rail passenger system into a trim, fast, modern operation.

He says it's not easy. "Track is so bad in many places in the highly traveled eastern corridor that trains must stay below 30 m.p.h. or risk tearing up the rails. (In Amtrak's own Catch 22, when trains slow below 30 m.p.h., generators on many older cars fall and their lights go out.)

The five-member board was set up to hear appeals from non-coal mine operators ordered to shut down by the Mining Enforcement and Safety

Life Rough For Amtrak Chief

Vandalism is also a deterrent to speed.

"My gravest concern is hitting something on the track," he said. "I was riding just behind the conductor recently when the train hit a big board and two concrete blocks."

The impact threw him against a wall. "That is scary," he said. "That stuff bothers me."

His inspection trips try to cut down on other Amtrak problems that could bother him. The on-the-scene inspection in Philadelphia was not unusual. "I try to get out at least once a week," he says. Some trips are announced and some aren't. The impressions he gets are also mixed.

He has rated some trains outstanding, while others receive immediate instructions to shape up before slipping out on their next run.

He sees the highly publicized Metroliner service between New York and Washington as falling somewhere in the Administration as unsafe. A ago," he said.

Life Rough For Amtrak Chief

MESA spokesman expressed surprise that the board was still in operation. "I thought it had been abolished some time ago," he said. "There were 1,988 closure orders last year but not one was appealed to Hale's board. Hechler said that mine operators have another avenue of appeal through the Interior secretary."

He described a trip to the board's offices last week. "The door was open, the telephone was off the hook, and nobody was around," said the congressman. "The coffee-making equipment was elaborate. A large stereo set was in the office of the executive secretary with Beethoven records stacked high."

Hale said he was visiting the Interior Department and his secretary was home sick when Hechler visited, so no one was manning the office. He did not dispute Hechler's description.

Hale said his board can only be abolished by congressional action and that he thinks Hechler and other congressmen "should stop making diatribes against us" and, in effect, put up or shut up.
