Basin Areas Gain Sites For Wildcats

Wildcat sites have been planned in Howard, Lynn, Kent and Hockley counties.

Coquina Oil Corp., Midland, filed application to drill No. 1 C. Wolfe, a 9,000-foot probe in Howard, 1 1/4 mile northwest of the Coahoma field and 1 1/4 mile southwest of the Coahoma, North multipay pool.

Location is 600 feet from south and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 19, block 30, T-1-N, T&P survey, four miles northwest of Coahoma township. It also is 1/2 mile south of a 9,150-foot failure.

Lynn Prospector

Amoco Production Co. plans to drill an 8,500-foot wildcat in Lynn, three miles northwest of the depleted O'Donnell field, which produced from the Pennsylvania reef at 9,615-8,630 feet. It is No. 1-B L. C. Stewart.

Drill site is 2,588 feet from south and 843 feet from west lines of section 44, block 3, EL&RR survey, 10 miles southeast of Tahoka.

Venture In Kent

General Crude Oil Co., operating from Midland, accounted for the 7,000-foot Kentry, No. 3-134 Percy Jones, six miles northwest of Claremont.

It spots 2,654 feet from north and 900 feet from east lines of section 134, block G, W&NW survey, 1/2 mile northwest of the Salt Creek (reef) field, in which Sirwan production has become depleted.

Hockley Test

J. Roy McCoy of Lubbock Friday scheduled a 6,600-foot prospector in Hockley, about seven miles southeast of Loveland. It is No. 1 Grissom.

The test spots 1,094 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of labor 14, league 24, McCulloch CSL survey, 698 location north of the depleted San Andres discovery, and later Wolfcamp pay open in the Clauser field.

Clearfork production, at about 6,372 feet, is three miles to the southwest of the new test.

Monsanto Finals Winkler Opener

Monsanto Co. has completed its No. 1 Wilson as a shut-in Alaska gas discovery in Winkler County, eight miles northwest of Wink township.

The first reported gauge was 800,000 cubic feet of gas per day, flowing through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 14,074-14,122 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons.

It earlier had flowed gas at the maximum, daily volume of 2 million cubic feet, for 24 hours, through a 1-inch choke.

Drilled as an Ellenburger wildcat, to 20,710 feet, it has a 4 1/2-inch liner hung from 14,311-20,706 feet. Plugged-back depth is 14,300 feet.

The following tops were reported, under ground elevation of 2,857 feet: Delaware, 5,126; Wolfcamp, 11,800; Alaska, 14,301; (Continued On Page 11A)

Thais Recall Envoy To U.S.

By The Associated Press

The Thai government announced today that it is recalling its ambassador from Washington in protest against the United States using Thai bases for the military operation that recovered the merchant ship Mayaguez from Cambodia.

The government said the United States had violated Thai sovereignty by disregarding Premier Kukrit Pramoj's request not to send 1,100 U.S. Marines to Thailand for use in the operation.

Thailand also said it would demand a review of all economic and military agreements between the United States and its last ally on the Southeast Asia mainland.

Kukrit, after a special cabinet meeting, told newsmen that Ambassador Anant Panarachum would be asked before leaving Washington to submit a protest note to the U.S. government.

The note would explain that Thailand considers a violation of its sovereignty the keeping of U.S. Marines at a U.S.-run Thai air base for more than a half day after Kukrit formally requested that they be withdrawn, he said.

He said it would add that "we will not allow this kind of incident to occur again."

Saigon radio announced that South Vietnamese authorities today imposed a midnight-to-dawn curfew in Saigon and ordered the military to arrest all curfew breakers without proper credentials.

The broadcast, monitored in Bangkok, said the curfew was ordered because of the "requirement of common security and order and people's activities."

The broadcast gave no further details on the reasons for the curfew but said exemptions would be granted to those involved in such emergencies as fires, accidents, medical treatment or "the reporting of urgent things to authorities."

The broadcast was the first known announcement of a curfew in Saigon under the new government. Under the former regime, the South Vietnamese capital lived under a similar curfew throughout most of the war.

In Laos, three Americans held in the Mekong River town of Savannakhet, appealed to the U.S. Embassy to have senior Laotian government ministers sent to the town to arrange for their safe conduct out.

The U.S. Embassy said the Americans were not in any danger and were living in their own homes. It also denied their lives had been threatened, as (See THAILAND Page 2A)

Gulf Reveals Illegal Donations

$4 Million Given To Koreans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of Gulf Oil Corp. said today his company made $4 million in illegal political contributions to the ruling party in Korea; $400,000 in donations to the former ruling party in Bolivia, and $50,000 in donations for a "public education program" in the United States about the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Gulf Chairman Bob R. Dorsey said an internal company investigation also has turned up evidence that might indicate use of corporate funds for political purposes in Italy.

In La Paz, the Bolivian cabinet went into emergency session when it learned about Dorsey's statements.

Testifying before the Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations, Dorsey said Gulf paid $1 million in 1966 and $3 million in 1970 to the Democratic-Republican Party of Korea under what he described as great pressure.

He said Gulf made the donation to protect an investment of several million dollars and that he had discovered only recently that the donations were "in violation of a Korean statute."

Dorsey said Gulf made three political contributions in Bolivia.

It bought a $110,000 helicopter for the late Gen. Rene Barrientos while he was campaigning for president of Bolivia in 1966, Dorsey said.

He said Barrientos later demanded and got two other contributions of corporate funds in the amounts of $240,000 and $110,000.

Dorsey said Gulf also secretly funneled $50,000 through First National City Bank of Beirut, Lebanon, "for the purpose of helping to defray the expenses of a public education program endeavoring to bring (See GULF OIL Page 2A)

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A gunboat, believed to be Cambodian, shot at a Swedish freighter in the Gulf of Thailand Wednesday, reports reaching Stockholm said today. The incident happened in the same general area where the U.S. boat was seized.

AUSTIN (AP) — A $721 million patchwork school finance bill, pushed hard by Speaker Bill Clayton, was approved by the House today, 85-57. It goes to the Senate, which is expected to take action on its own measure next week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed a bill that would authorize $405 million for resettlement of an estimated 130,000 Vietnamese and Cambodian war refugees in the United States.

House Action On School, Utilities Measures Pushed

AUSTIN (AP) — State representatives were expected to vote final approval today to a bill, pushed by Speaker Bill Clayton, that provides a patchwork approach to school finance, the top issue of this legislative session.

House members also planned to take up another of the session's major problems, regulation of public utilities. Clayton advised them that if they don't finish work on it today or Saturday, the bill would have to lay over until next Friday, which could kill it.

The ultimate school finance measure will be written by a joint House-Senate conference committee after Senators pass their own attempt at equalizing Texas school districts. A final decision will come in the final days of the session, which ends June 2.

House members tentatively approved the school finance bill Thursday, 78-68, after Clayton's plan was adopted in the form of a complete substitute by a 74-71 vote.

Clayton's plan raises teacher salaries by $1,400 and provides those with four years of experience a $9,900 base salary. It would cost $721 million over the next two years—not quite within the amount available under Gov. Dolph Briscoe's "no new taxes" policy.

It delays until 1977 full use of market value of taxable real estate as the sole measurement of a school district's need for state aid. Until then, half the formula would consist of various measurements of each county's income.

The bill does provide $75 million in "equalization aid" for property-poor school districts and $37.50 per child in "compensatory education" for educationally disadvantaged youngsters. It also would extend bilingual education, now provided in grades 1-3, into kindergarten. The bill provides for a two-year study, on paper, of how the governor's weighted pupil approach to school funding would operate in selected school districts. That approach was rejected by the House Wednesday.

Pupils would attend school 174 days a year instead of the present 180.

Districts would receive $74 million more over the next two years for maintenance and operation and $47 million more for bus service than they would get under present formulas.

Clayton hustled hard to put together the majority for his plan, approved as a substitute for an earlier proposal that was padded out to an astronomical $1.8 billion two-year cost by numerous amendments, mainly a $2,400 raise for teachers. He was anxious to maintain a stance of "responsibility"—as well as a viable bargaining position with the Senate in conference committee—on the part of the House.

House adjournment Thursday night delayed consideration of two major Senate bills—setting up state regulation of strip mining and establishing a deepwater port for oil tankers. The measures probably will not be taken up until Wednesday, the next day provided by House rules for action on Senate bills.

Also coming up then will be final action on three major Senate bills that were tentatively (See SCHOOL Page 2A)

Officials Say Ship's Recovery Signal To Reds That U.S. Not 'Paper Tiger'

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the freighter Mayaguez today steamed toward a safe port, U.S. officials are claiming that its dramatic recovery by military force will signal China and North Korea that the United States is not a "paper tiger" in Asia.

The signal to North Korea is considered by U.S. officials to be of major importance because the fall of South Vietnam increased fears in South Korea that an attack from the north might be forthcoming.

U.S. officials have been searching for ways to discourage a North Korean attack; they see the ship rescue as serving that purpose.

Two Americans were killed, 14 are missing and an unknown number wounded, according to preliminary reports after nearly 200 Marines were lifted from the Thailand Gulf island of Tang following 14 hours of Communist gunfire described as "intermittent and heavy."

South Vietnam, Cambodia Under Trade Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States declared a general trade embargo against South Vietnam and Cambodia today.

The Commerce Department placed the two nations in the same category for export licensing requirements as North Vietnam, North Korea and Cuba.

"The general climate in those countries is to deny licenses for any exports except where special humanitarian considerations are involved," a Commerce spokesman said.

The embargo amounts to an extension of a trade suspension imposed by the Treasury Department shortly after the two nations fell to insurgent forces. Treasury also froze the official U.S.-held assets of the two nations and the assets of citizens still in those countries.

But officials said Commerce had open to it, in setting permanent trade policy for those countries, the option of including them in the same category as the Soviet Union and China, which can receive U.S. exports, or including them with the Cuban bloc.

LONG-AWAITED HIGHWAY OPENING — Midlanders and Odessans have waited almost three years for the safety this new overpass-underpass complex will afford U.S. 80 travelers. Today, motorists started using the complex at the entrance of Midland Regional Air Terminal. Members of the Texas Highway Commission, Texas Highway Department officials and other state and local officials will take part in dedication ceremonies June 4. The 2.9 miles of overpasses, underpasses, frontage roads and access points cost $3,386,220. Construction began in June 1972.

Philippines President Seems Serious About Reassessing Ties With U.S.

By DON OBERDORFER
The Washington Post

MANILA — In recent weeks the conviction has grown steadily among Filipinos and Americans alike that President Ferdinand E. Marcos is serious about his announced "assessment" of security ties and military base agreements with the United States.

Day after day, Marcos is having more to say in polite but unmistakable language about the "reassessment." One day he assures foreign investors that a final agreement will be "to the satisfaction of both parties" in keeping with the fact that the United States is "a staunch and old ally."

Another day he extols self-reliance in a speech to the Philippine air force, pointing to "the trap of overdependence on other nations, friendly or not" and wondering aloud if South Vietnam would not have been better off to have relied on its own will and strength "rather than on the power and the wealth of another nation."

Option Studies Under Way
Inside the government, option studies are under way on the future of Subic Naval Base and Clark Air base, which are among the largest and most important U.S. installations in Southeast Asia. One of the most interesting ideas being studied is a "pay as you use" plan under which U.S. warships at Subic, for example, would be charged fixed sums each time they pull up to the dock, re-provision themselves or use the extensive overhaul facilities. Subic would become a Philippine-operated industrial and port facility, with the United States one of several potential users.

Such a plan presupposes the early end of the present bases agreement under which the United States maintains an unfettered lease on the Philippine facilities for 16 more years, until 1991. The United States has openly expressed willingness to renegotiate the bases arrangement, which dates from 1947. But no guidelines for the nature or timetable of the renegotiation have been worked out.

Regional Picture
In the regional political arena, Marcos has called for a summit meeting of leaders of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations to discuss new policies or regional security and relations with the new Communist powers in Indochina. Given the present tendencies of most of the ASEAN countries—Thailand, Singapore, Malaysia and Indonesia in addition to the Philippines — policies of non-alignment and pronouncements of neutrality can be expected from any summit meeting.

On the immediate practical level, the Philippines is doing all it can — short of alienating the United States — to avoid giving offense to the Vietnamese Communists in connection with the flow of refugees through the U.S. bases at Subic and Clark. The Manila government is particularly sensitive because of a protest note from Hanoi, delivered in Paris, objecting to the participation of a Philippine ship in the evacuation of Vietnamese from Da Nang in late March.

Last Monday the Philippine Foreign Ministry informed the United States in a diplomatic note of the "understanding" that Vietnamese military personnel or political refugees would not be brought ashore at Subic or Clark and that all Vietnamese evacuees would stay no longer than three days at the U.S. base. As a result of this, the United States suddenly speeded up its airlift of refugees from Clark to Guam, Wake Island and U.S. ports and began making plans for the U.S.-Vietnamese flotilla on the South China Sea to bypass Subic Bay at all possible.

U.S. officials said American warships, military sea-lift charters and Vietnamese naval craft are likely to stop only briefly at Subic for re-provisioning and adjustment of loads before heading east across the Pacific to Guam. Many of the Vietnamese refugees may be required to remain aboard their ships while those operations take place at the Philippine base.

Some Philippine news sources in Manila said Ky would be allowed at Subic or Clark for a short time so long as he did not attempt to leave the base for other parts of the Philippines.

At the same time, some Filipino officials have contacted U.S. Ambassador William H. Sullivan to express the hope that the United States. A Filipino "civilian" force of several thousand military men was assigned to duty at Tay Ninh, just west of Saigon.

'Lesson' Could Have Cost Her Life

DEAR ABBY: My wife attempted suicide (with pills) twice. Both times she came running to me to tell me what she had done, so I rushed her to the hospital to have her stomach pumped.

By coincidence, both high schools are having their 10th reunion on the same evening!

My wife says that she will not miss her class reunion no matter what, and I feel the same way about mine.

We have had all sorts of advice on how to settle it, but we want to know how you'd solve it.

BILL IN ATLANTA

DEAR ABBY: My wife is in the city in which we are presently living and mine is in a town 250 miles from here.

My problem is my husband's snoring. I am a very light sleeper, and he snores so loud that I can't sleep.

I have tried waking him up and asking him to turn over on his side, but that doesn't work. As soon as he's asleep, he rolls over on his back and starts to snore again.

I don't want to start taking pills to make me sleep, and I don't want to have to go into my little boy's room as I have done on several occasions.

My husband was in a hospital two months ago, and he was in a ward because that's all we could afford. Well, he snored so bad they had to move him into a private room at no extra cost to us because he was keeping everybody in the ward awake.

Can you help me?

LIGHT SLEEPER

DEAR NAMELESS: Yes. An attempted suicide is a desperate cry for help. I hope your wife is getting professional help to investigate the underlying reasons for her suicidal behavior. She may make yet another attempt—and succeed, just to teach YOU a lesson.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a problem. We both graduated from high school in 1965. Her school is in the city in which we are presently living and mine is in a town 250 miles from here.

DEAR BILL: Simple. I'd go to my class reunion, and let my husband go to his.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband's snoring. I am a very light sleeper, and he snores so loud that I can't sleep.

I don't want to start taking pills to make me sleep, and I don't want to have to go into my little boy's room as I have done on several occasions.

DEAR LIGHT: Your husband should see an ear, nose and throat doctor. Some snorers can be cured with minor surgery. If he can't, try ear plugs for yourself.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.J.L.: Make a mental note of it. You can tell a great deal about a person by observing how he treats someone who can't do him any good.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise: My girl friend and I have been saving the bottles of very special wines that we have shared.

Because of lack of space, this was getting to be a problem. We didn't want to throw any bottles away, but had to find a solution fast.

We decided to make a scrapbook of all our wine labels. We soaked the labels off, and then put them in our scrapbook.

We also got down the date, what we had for dinner, how we like the wine, etc.

It is a conversation piece and it brings back memories of our delightful evenings.

It has also proved to be a good reference when we can't remember the exact name or brand of a wine we like.

Bill, that really is a fantastic idea.

To take you one step further, I had some friends who made a very attractive collage out of their labels.

They took a piece of wood, burnt the edges and glued the labels on. They varnished over it to protect it, and they had a unique wall hanging.

You sure could improve an old end or coffee table the same way. I know from experience that most college students don't have much in their budget for interior decorating.

Now if we could find some way to recycle those bottles.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have found the greatest way to hold my pierced earrings without spending extra money on a special jewelry box or a pierced-earring tree.

I took some cracked and unusable ice cube trays and set them in my top dresser drawer.

They were just the right size to contain my long dangling earrings and kept them apart from each other so they couldn't tangle. Now they are so easy to pick out and the trays can be stacked to save space, too.

Mrs. Craig McNew

Dear Heloise: For those of us who save all our plastic bags, bread wrappers, and such, I have this hint.

I save the paper rollers that the paper-towels come on, or from foil or toilet tissue rolls, and I wipe the bags clean as soon as I come in from the store.

With fruits like oranges, bananas, vegetables, I start at the bottom of the bag and wrap each one tightly on these rolls, and slip a rubber band on one end.

I keep these in a drawer, lined up according to size, the bread wrappers on one, the vegetable bags on another, and the sandwich bags on another.

Dunlop Says Economy Can Absorb Vietnam Refugees

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. economy should be able to absorb job-seeking Vietnamese refugees despite the present unemployment rate of 8.9 per cent, says U.S. Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop.

"The problem, while not zero, is not large or significant," Dunlop said here at a news conference Thursday.

He was in Dallas as part of a tour of regional Labor Department offices.

"I am clear that they add to our problems of job training, but the size of the problems needs to be placed in perspective."

"The economy can take care of the relatively small numbers that are involved," he said, explaining that only about one-third of the expected 130,000 South Vietnamese refugees will be seeking jobs.

Dunlop said the labor force is over 80 million persons and 30,000-40,000 refugees could be absorbed into it when spread over the nation.

He said a department interview of 223 heads of households at refugee camps showed that about 30 per cent of the South Vietnamese are professionals, 14 per cent are skilled workers, 15 per cent are clerical workers and another 14 per cent are students.

Dunlop said the unemployment rate may rise, but he believes it is near its peak.

Although there is a need for public service jobs funded by the government, Dunlop said the greater need is to create or replace jobs in private business. To stimulate private business, Dunlop said tax cuts to workers or business, lower interest rates for mortgages to aid the housing industry, and the deficit federal budget are the measures now being used.

"I think we should wait to see how these things take effect before we try further measures," he said.

Dunlop told the news conference that he had also discussed with regional personnel the problems created by illegal aliens, but he said the department has little "solid information" to work with.

"This problem is not something confined to this region of the United States—immigrations from below the border," Dunlop said his home state of Massachusetts and other East Coast states have large number of illegal aliens from the Caribbean and South America.

U.S. Officials In No Hurry To Respond To Vietnam's Offer To Resume Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials indicate they are in no hurry to respond to the new Saigon government's overture for diplomatic relations with Washington and that they are uncertain just what the United States is being asked to recognize.

Provisional Revolutionary Government leaders in Saigon disclosed Wednesday that they are willing to have diplomatic relations with all countries of the world, including the United States.

They said their conditions for relations with Washington are that the United States respect South Vietnamese sovereignty and that it live up to its responsibilities under the 1973 Paris accords. On this latter point, there was no elaboration.

Normally, the only American requirements for recognizing a new government are assurances that it is in full control of the country and that it will abide by its international obligations.

But officials suggested the Vietnamese case won't be quite that simple. Currently, the Saigon government is under what is known as a military management committee led by Col. Gen. Tranh Van Tra. But it is uncertain how far his rule extends.

It is expected that South Vietnam eventually will come under the exclusive control of North Vietnam but officials here say they have no idea when that day will come. It also is unclear how long the military management committee will hold power or if any plans are being made for transition to a new style of government.

These factors enter into American thinking as the recognition question is being weighed here.

It is a puzzle to some U.S. officials that the rebel group known as the Viet Cong which the United States tried to destroy over a 20-year period extended an olive branch to Washington just 16 days after achieving victory.

In contrast, Cuba is still seething over the Bay of Pigs invasion 14 years after it occurred and only now shows interest in normalizing relations with Washington. China and the United States had virtually no contact for 23 years before moving toward détente in a related development.

Sikkim Annexation Completed By India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India completed the annexation of Sikkim today, making the little Himalayan kingdom the 22nd Indian state and reducing its once-absolute monarch to commoner status.

President Fakhruddin Ali Khan ratified a constitutional amendment completing the absorption of the 2,745-square-mile kingdom and making its 200,000 people Indian citizens.

The legislation was approved last month in parliament. The only opposition came from Marxists who wanted to abolish the monarchy but keep the territory autonomous.

The move toward annexation began after the Sikkimese branch of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress party led the people of Gangtok, the capital, in an uprising against the chogyal, or ruler, Palden Thondup Namgyal.

In a referendum which the chogyal declared illegal and unconstitutional, the Sikkimese voted 59,637-1,496 on April 14 in favor of statehood and abolition of the monarchy.

There was no announcement regarding the future of the 51-year-old chogyal, who has been under Indian army protection in his palace in Gangtok since

Thursday the new Saigon government announced it has sent a note to the United States declaring that Algeria has been designated to handle South Vietnamese interests and assets in Washington.

State Department officials acknowledged receipt of the note and declined comment beyond saying that it was under study.

The last ambassador of the ousted Saigon regime, Tran Kim Phuong, still works at the chancery and told a reporter he hopes to close it down in good order as soon as possible. He gave no deadline for completing the task.

Tuberculosis Germs Isolated

On March 24, 1882, German scientist Robert Koch said he had isolated the germs of tuberculosis.

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers sought the final two jurors today in the trial of Ronald Clark O'Bryan, charged with capital murder in the death of his son.

Dist. Court Judge Frank Price qualified the 10th juror Thursday.

O'Bryan, 30, is accused of feeding his son cyanide-laced candy last Halloween.

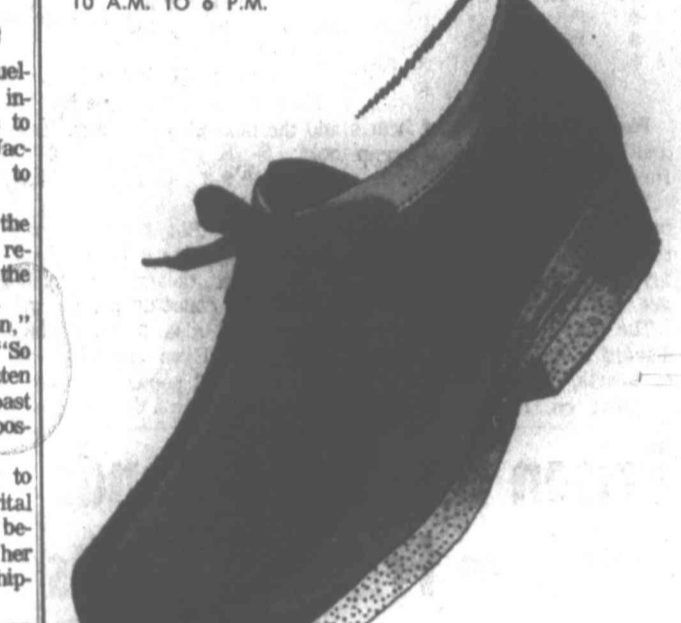

Jackie To Keep Onassis Surname

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis has no intention of taking legal steps to change her name back to Jacqueline Kennedy, according to one of her attorneys.

A gossip columnist for the London Daily Express has reported that she would drop the name Mrs. Aristotle Onassis.

"There is no such intention," the lawyer said Thursday. "So much fiction has been written about Mrs. Onassis in the past month that it's almost impossible to keep up with it."

He said he was referring to stories about alleged marital and financial difficulties between Mrs. Onassis and her late husband, the Greek shipping magnate.

Lawyers In Two Cases Join Forces In Houston Police Wiretap Issue

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for two newsmen facing possible contempt of court charges joined forces with lawyers of an accused drug dealer Thursday in attempting to prove police used illegal wiretapping to gather evidence.

The newsmen, Larry Connors of KTRK-TV and Jon Standefer of the Houston Post, refused last week to reveal sources for information they used in stories about alleged illegal wiretapping by police.

State District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson ordered them to appear Thursday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court.

In arguments Thursday, the newsmen's lawyers, Irving Terrill and Jim Crowther, contended they should be allowed to present testimony proving that information demanded of the newsmen is available elsewhere.

Judge Jefferson granted the request, but limited it to six witnesses.

This, in effect, allied the attorneys with the lawyers of Andrew B. Bloom, the defendant in a drug case. Bloom's lawyer, Richard Haynes, contends evidence against his client was gathered by wiretapping.

The show cause hearing is a spinoff from a pretrial hearing for Bloom. Connors and Standefer had been subpoenaed by Haynes to answer questions about what they knew about the alleged wiretapping. When they refused to answer the questions, claiming privilege under freedom of the press, Judge Jefferson ordered the show cause hearing.

Terrill told newsmen the informal alliance is necessary to protect the reporters' claim of privilege.

"We don't care if Bloom goes free or not," he said.

The six witnesses permitted for the newsmen are all police officers. Three are under indictment for alleged wiretapping. Two others earlier pleaded the fifth amendment when questioned about wiretapping.

The only witness to testify Thursday was Jesse D. Smith, a former Houston narcotics police officer currently on suspension. He is indicted in federal court on wire tapping and civil rights charges.

Smith said information gathered on Bloom came from "small time pushers" and from surveillance. He said he heard one tape recording of a Bloom conversation, but he thought it came from a "body bug" carried by a federal agent. During the conversation, said Smith, Bloom attempted to arrange the murder of the police chief of a Houston suburb.

The officer, however, said repeatedly "I can't recall" when asked about information he received from other officers who are also under indictment for alleged wiretapping.

Jefferson recessed the proceeding until Monday morning.

West leads the king of hearts and then switches to a trump. How do you proceed?
Your only chance is to get up one of dummy's hearts. Lead the queen of hearts from dummy and pass it around to West's ace.
The trouble is that when you discard a diamond on the queen of hearts, West will see what is going on. He will take the ace of hearts and lead a diamond. This will give the opponents their three tricks in the side suits, and they are sure to get a trump trick as well.

Mid-direction
You can't stop West from seeing what is going on, but you can give him the wrong thing to look at. Lead the queen of hearts from dummy and discard the low club from your hand!
West may fall into the trap by returning a club. Now you are home. Take the ace of clubs, lead the queen of clubs to dummy's king, and discard both diamonds on the jack of clubs and jack of hearts.
If West sees through your plot, you will go down two instead of only one, but it pays to invest 100 points to try for the game and rubber.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K H-Q J 6 2 D-Q J 10 9 2 C-K J 6. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid three hearts. The singleton king is better than a singleton deuce, but you should not count 3 points for a king and also 3 points for a singleton. Even counting the king as only 3 points, however, the hand is worth a double raise.

Prison Director Defends Employe Fringe Benefits

SUGAR LAND, Tex. (AP) — Jim Estelle, director of the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC), has defended the fringe benefits policies to some of his employes.
Estelle said he was responding to a recent Houston Post story which outlined the manner in which some TDC employes received free utilities and food as part of their pay.
Estelle told newsmen Thursday the story suggested that "because we are providing employes with food and utilities we could have reduced" the emergency request for funds now pending before the legislature.
"I don't think there is any inflation who is unaware of what the inflation has done to her feet," Estelle said. "Three years ago I don't think anyone could anticipate the economic situation today."
"We missed the mark by less than 10 per cent," the director said. "We are paying $1 today for natural gas which once cost us 22 cents. For this basic reason, we've asked for the supplemental funds."
Estelle said the fringe benefits of utilities and food for some TDC employes have been listed on every budget bill since 1961, when the TDC classification system took effect. The benefits help TDC gain a competitive position for employment, he said.
TDC experienced a 75 per cent turnover last year among its lower level corrections officers, Estelle said and added he shudders to think what would happen if the fringe benefits were cut back.
TDC's lowest level officer receives $630 per month, Estelle said. "I don't think any Texas enjoys the thought that his public servants are eligible for food stamps," he said.

Medical Malpractice Bill Wins Approval In Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A medical malpractice bill that allows panels of doctors to review all malpractice suits before any trial has received Senate approval.
The Senate voted 21-6 Thursday for a measure, by Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, that would also set a $600,000 ceiling on many recoveries in malpractice actions.
A bill that would reduce the number of fire escapes for some buildings also received Senate approval.
The Farabee measure originally called for a $100,000 limit in recoveries against doctors or hospitals plus an additional amount up to $400,000 that could be collected from a special fund financed by those who provide medical services.
Thursday Farabee amended his bill to allow for recovery above the maximum for actual medical expenses incurred before and after the final judgment.
Under the bill, which now goes to the House, a person seeking a malpractice recovery must appear before a panel of three doctors who will review the case and make a finding as to the claim. An amendment prevents the finding from being introduced as evidence in trial.
Another provision of the bill changes the two-year statute of limitations to start at the time of the alleged negligence. Under current law the statute begins running at the time of discovering the physical problem caused by the allegedly negligent act.
The fire escape bill, by Sen. O.H. Harris, R-Dallas, would allow those cities that have adopted a nationally recognized buildings code to avoid complying with the present law requiring a certain number of fire escapes per square foot.

Ex-Dallas Deputy Commits Suicide

DALLAS (AP) — The body of Roger Dean Craig, a former deputy under Sheriff Bill Decker, was found at his father's home here Thursday with a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest, Dallas police said.
Homicide investigator Robert Garza said a .22 caliber rifle and a note were found beside the body. He said the note read that Craig was sorry for what he had to do, but that he couldn't stand the pain.
Police said Craig's father, Kristel Craig, said the former deputy had been taking pain-killing medication for injuries suffered in an automobile accident and for a gunshot wound to the shoulder received six months ago.

Sales Tax Checks Mailed To Cities

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that $19.9 million in checks has been mailed to Texas cities for their share of city sales tax payments.
He said the May rebates of city sales taxes collected by the state covered money received by the comptroller from April 4 until May 2.

Trips Can Provide Ideal Opportunity To Give Children Practice In Math

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the tenth of a series of 14 articles prepared by Science Research Associates, Inc., that shows how everyday situations can help children learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide.

Trips provide an ideal opportunity to give children practice in using basic mathematics.

There are so many chances to practice arithmetic skills — particularly addition and subtraction — when families travel, that it would be impossible to suggest all of them.

To name but a few: The number of miles until you stop to eat, the number left after lunch, the number of gallons of gasoline in the tank and — particularly in these days of shortages — the number of miles to the gallon.

The arithmetic of travel can be made into games to bring mathematics vividly to life.

A game could be devised to let children "guess" when the car has gone a mile. Some children might want to compare the gasoline mileage at different speeds — or compare mileage in country travel with that in the city. Using maps, the distance to the destination using different routes could be compared.

Children also can compare how long it would take to get to the destination if the car went 50 miles an hour, 60 or 70. The cost per mile could be figured — by multiplying the number of gallons used by the cost per gallon, and dividing by the number of miles.

Today's exercise puts on paper some of the typical problems that arise during family outings. It's fun to work because the incidents sound familiar to everyone who's traveled with children.

Parents may have to help on this exercise because the problems require considerable knowledge of addition and subtraction. But most children will like it.

To double-check answers, they are: 45 miles, 25 miles, 32 miles, 133 miles, 100 miles, 37 miles.

If you would like a 32-page color booklet incorporating additional arithmetic problems that may help your child, send $1 to The Reporter-Telegram. Be sure your name and address are printed clearly. Your booklet will be mailed directly to you from Chicago.

House Investigators Told Medicare Overcharges Cost HEW $27 Million

By JOHN STOWELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration says the Medicare program has been overcharged $27 million by doctors, hospitals and nursing homes over the last five years.

About half that amount had been recovered by the end of 1974 and the balance remained outstanding, agency witnesses said Thursday to a House panel probing fraud and abuse in the budget of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Emphasizing that most cases involve abuse rather than criminal fraud, the witnesses said only a small percentage of alleged violations investigated result in convictions.

Frank D. DeGeorge, acting associate commissioner for management, said only 72 Social Security cases ended in conviction last year out of 11,678 investigated by the agency and 1,328 referred to U.S. attorneys.

One reason for the low conviction rate is that "disabled and elderly people do not generally gain the wrath of the U.S. attorney as criminals," he said.

A recent exception was an elderly man in California who said he had just returned from an extended stay out of the country and then allegedly applied at least 15 times under different identities for Supplemental Security Income benefits, DeGeorge said.

An investigation revealed that the man had spent 30 years in a U.S. prison for first-degree murder, DeGeorge said. The man is being held in lieu of $150,000 bond.

Social Security's Bureau of Health Insurance investigated 3,928 cases, 2,489 involving alleged fraud and 1,439 alleged abuse by physicians and providers, but referred only 55 to U.S. attorneys who convicted 28.

Robert D. O'Connor, an assistant bureau director, said the major areas of Medicare fraud and abuse in decreasing order are: doctors billing for services not rendered, hospitals and nursing homes billing for services not rendered, misrepresentation, duplicate billing and forgery of checks.

Rains Wash East Coast, Drift West

By The Associated Press
Rain washed the Eastern Seaboard from Maine to Florida today and spilled westward into the Appalachians.

Scattered local flooding plagued parts of the Southeast following heavy downpours Thursday. Jacksonville, Fla., was hit by 2.5 inches and 1- to 3-inch soakings ranged west into Louisiana. Flash-flood watches were in effect during the night in sections of South Carolina and through today in western Virginia.

Half a dozen tornadoes dropped out of thunderstorms Thursday in the Carolinas and Georgia. No injuries or damage were reported.

Showers and isolated thunderstorms also persisted in the northern Rockies and adjacent areas of the Northwest. Rainfall generally was not heavy, however.

Fair and pleasant weather favored most of nation's interior from the Southwest to the central Rockies and east through the western Great Lakes and Ohio Valley.

A warning trend fanned into the Rockies and Plains, but lingering cold held temperatures in the 30s and 40s overnight across the northern Great Lakes.

Readings before dawn ranged from 35 at Marquette, Mich., to 65 at Needles, Calif.

Some other reports: Anchorage 47 cloudy, Atlanta 85 partly cloudy, Boston 59 cloudy, Buffalo 56 cloudy, Chicago 46 clear, Cincinnati 55 partly cloudy, Cleveland 55 cloudy, Dallas 61 clear, Denver 59 clear, Detroit 46 partly cloudy, Honolulu 73 cloudy, Indianapolis 50 clear, Kansas City 54 clear, Los Angeles 56 cloudy, Louisville 58 clear.

Congressmen Warned On Free Rides

By EDMOND LABRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ethics Committee told congressmen today not to accept free rides in company planes when traveling to political campaign engagements.

This was one of several situations covered in an advisory opinion issued by the committee on circumstances that would permit members and congressional employees to accept non-paid transportation.

A committee spokesman said the opinion was in response to requests for clarification of what House members should do in such circumstances. There has been no similar action in the Senate.

The House panel cautioned that the principal purpose of the trip should be considered in every case.

"If the principal purpose of the trip is political campaign activity, and the host carrier is one who would be prohibited by law from making a campaign contribution, such non-paid transportation would amount to a political contribution in kind, and should not be accepted," it said.

Corporations and labor unions, among others, are specifically forbidden by law from making political campaign contributions.

Even if the trip were not for campaign purposes, a member should not request a special flight for his convenience, the opinion said.

"Such a request could be interpreted as abuse of one's public position," the committee said. It would not be improper to accept free transportation for a non-political trip if the transportation were offered on a space-available basis on a carrier making the trip anyway and involving no extra cost to the owner, the committee said.

If a member acting as a public official is going to be present at "an event for the general benefit of an audience," it would not be improper to accept free transportation, the panel said.

Hoestenbach-Ezzell Rider Would Reduce School Days

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The number of school days would be reduced by six under an amendment to the House bill to reform the financing of public schools, and to give teachers a substantial increase in pay.

The amendment was co-authored by Reps. John Hoestenbach of Odessa and Mike Ezzell of Snyder. It trims from 180 to 174 days the number of classroom days required of public schools in the State.

Hoestenbach argued that "the days we are cutting come in the heat of August. Teachers tell us that they are non-productive days anyway."

Rep. Anthony Hall of Houston argued that the reduction in number of classroom days would actually be a reduction in the quality of education provided.

But Hoestenbach said, "It doesn't matter if they are in school 200 days or 150 days, it is the quality not the quantity of education that matters."

The House adopted the amendment on a vote of 84-63. It is an amendment to a proposed amendment. So, actually House adoption of the plan won't come until it votes on the (Rep. R. B.) McAlister amendment, which includes calls for new revenue substantially above estimated available new revenue.

Senate OK's Bill Creating Consumer Advocacy Agency

By SPENCER RICH
The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — The Senate, ending a four-year battle, approved a bill Thursday creating a federal agency to speak for the nation's consumer.

The 61 to 28 vote sends the bill to the House, where Reps. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., and Frank Horton, R-N.Y., are ready to press for passage.

Consumer organizations have made the bill their top priority in this Congress, and Thursday the Consumer Federation of America said, "It is gratifying to know that the Senate has moved to give consumers a voice in the thousands of federal agency decisions which directly affect their health, safety and economic well-being."

President Ford and a big block of business organizations are opposing the bill on grounds it would tie business up in cumbersome red tape, but the margin of the vote Thursday indicates Senate sponsors would have a good chance to override a possible presidential veto.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., one of the three chief sponsors along with Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., called passage "a landmark day for the consumers of this country" and expressed the hope that the President would study the bill and realize that it is "balanced and fair to producer and consumer alike." Javits said, "I believe an agency for consumer advocacy can now become law with enormous benefits for the consumer in America." Ribicoff, happy after the vote.

Physician Strike Threat Develops At San Antonio

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the Texas Medical Association (TMA) has cut short a visit here to go to San Antonio to discuss a threatened strike by the San Antonio Society of Anesthesiologists.

The society has threatened to stop work at midnight Saturday in a protest of high malpractice insurance rates.

Dr. N. L. Barker of Paris, here to address the Harris County Medical Society, said Thursday he does not support the strike but understands the problem.

"Our professional liability insurance is absolutely outrageous," Barker said. "If for some reason I couldn't get liability insurance, then I wouldn't work... I wouldn't even prescribe an aspirin tablet over the telephone without it."

much of the credit for rounding up votes for passage and for breaking a filibuster earlier in the week went to Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

Thursday, in a final action before passage, the Senate drove a big loophole into the measure, approving 55 to 34 an amendment exempting farming operations — including subsidies, marketing orders, price supports and regulations on the use of agricultural, livestock and pesticide chemicals — from the scope of action by the new consumer agency. An exemption for labor management relations, national security laws and agencies and relicensing proceedings on broadcast stations was already in the measure.

A big block of farm-state liberal Democrats usually associated with consumer causes, including Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Walter Mondale, D-Minn., Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., John Culver, D-Iowa, Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., William Proxmire, D-Wis., Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., among others, voted for the agricultural exemption and one said later, "It's not my finest hour."

The amendment was sponsored by Bob Dole, R-Kans. The bill creates an agency for consumer advocacy, lacking any regulatory powers of its own, but authorized to speak for the consumer point of view in policy and rule-making proceedings before federal regulatory agencies on health, safety and price and before federal courts. The agency could enter such proceedings with the legal rights of a party and could take appeals to the courts. It would be headed by a presidentially appointed administrator, named for a four-year term subject to Senate confirmation.

Sponsors said the consumer has little voice in agency proceedings, while well-heeled business firms and trade organizations have vast resources to present their point of view, to the detriment of the consumer on rulings on drug purity, air, train and truck prices, clothing safety, other product safety and environmental protection.

The new agency would also act as a survey agency, sending general business interrogatories to firms to learn economic facts to $157.70 for individuals and up to $17.60 to $286.60 for couples. Social Security taxes will not be affected by the benefits increase.

The 8 per cent increase was promulgated by Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, on Thursday after Congress had failed to act on the President's request last February to limit the increase to 5 per cent this year.

Weinberger said the 8 per cent will cost $5.7 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1. This will add $2.2 billion to Ford's proposed budget deficit of $60 billion. The President had budgeted $3.5 billion for Social Security benefits under his 5 per cent proposal.

The 8 per cent increase "will be making a substantial addition to the already large federal budget deficit," Weinberger said.

Increases for 31.3 million Social Security recipients will take effect in June, payable in July 3 checks, and for 4 million Supplemental Security Income recipients payable in checks beginning July 1.

Social Security Benefits Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-five million Americans on Social Security or adult welfare will begin receiving an 8 per cent benefit increase in July, although President Ford considers the increase inflationary.

Checks for retirees will be $7.60 to $37 fatter although Supplemental Security Income recipients in about half the states may not see the extra money if states do not act to pass it along.

Among retired males more than 65 years old, the 8 per cent will add $7.60 to the minimum monthly benefit of $93.90, $16 to the average benefit of $184 and $25.40 to the maximum benefit of $316.30.

Among couples, the maximum increase would be $37 for a total of $611. The maximum monthly federal benefit will go up $11.70 to $157.70 for individuals and up to $17.60 to $286.60 for couples. Social Security taxes will not be affected by the benefits increase.

The 8 per cent increase was promulgated by Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, on Thursday after Congress had failed to act on the President's request last February to limit the increase to 5 per cent this year.

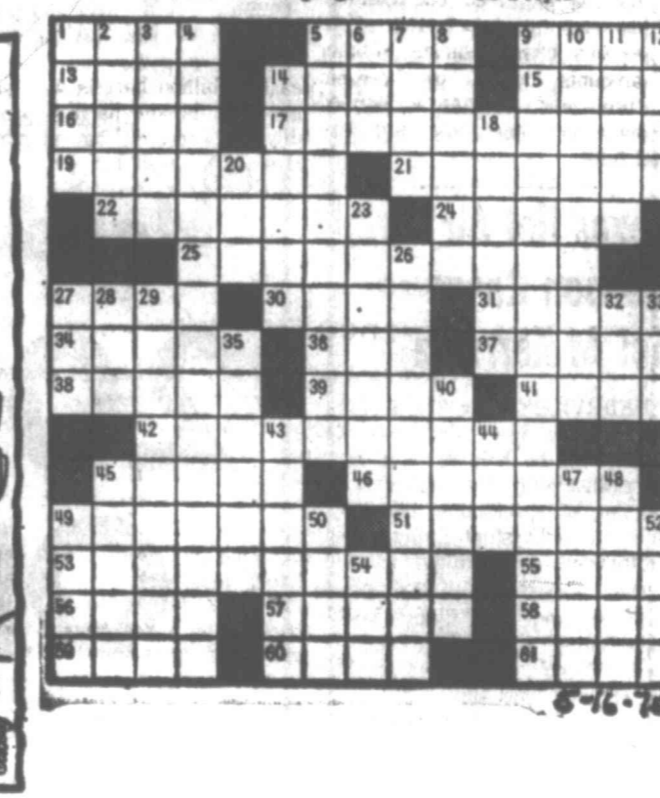

Weinberger said the 8 per cent will cost $5.7 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1. This will add $2.2 billion to Ford's proposed budget deficit of $60 billion. The President had budgeted $3.5 billion for Social Security benefits under his 5 per cent proposal.

The 8 per cent increase "will be making a substantial addi-

Morrow Discovery Assured In Eddy

A Morrow discovery apparently has been assured in Eddy County, N.M., with the flowing of gas at the rate of 2.8 million cubic feet per day, along with 42 barrels of water in 24 hours.

It is Texas Pacific Oil Co. Inc.'s No. 1 Phantom Draw Unit-Floral.

Flow was through a 68-64-inch choke and perforations at 14,674-14,896 feet, which had been jetted with an unreported amount of nitrogen. Testing continued.

It earlier tested unsuccessfully through perforations at 15,134-15,142 feet. That section has been squeezed.

It was drilled to 16,976 feet, on a 17,500-foot Devonian contract.

It indicated production in the Atocha at 13,932-13,950 feet, and in the Bone Springs at 7,940-8,023 feet, with the flowing of gas and recovery of distillate oil drillstem tests.

It is 800 feet from south and 1,000 feet from west lines of section 26-26-31a, 15 miles southeast of Malaga.

Gas Discovery Hit In California

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Occidental Petroleum Corp. has reported the discovery of a new gas field in the Sacramento Valley of California.

The well, No. 1-12 Morrissey, flowed from two zones in a two-hour test at the combined rate of 9,160,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through a 1/2-inch choke. Both zones are in the upper Cretaceous Wild Goose sands.

The interval from 3,096 to 3,108 feet yielded 4,825,000 cubic feet per day, and the zone from 3,196 to 3,232 feet flowed at the rate of 4,335,000 cubic feet per day.

The well is three miles east of Oriand in Glenn County.

Offshore Southeast Asia, China Touted By Trio

TOKYO (AP)—The most attractive part of Asia for oil exploration is in the Pacific off the coasts of China and Southeast Asia, three American scientists reported to the World Petroleum Conference today.

Offshore drilling on the continental shelf as well as in river deltas of South Asia is likely to turn up large petroleum deposits, the team said, but sediment deposits and deformation of the earth's crust indicate smaller amounts may be present throughout a triangle defined by Afghanistan, Japan and Australia.

They noted, however, that a

Drillate is 2,500 feet from north and 494 feet from west lines of section 133, BBB&C survey, 3/4 mile northeast of the Flat Top 140 (Tannehill) field.

Extender Finaled

Ryder Scott Management Co., Wichita Falls, has completed No. 4-M Swenson Land & Cattle Co. as the fourth well and a location south and west extension to the Moffett (Swatika) field of Stonewall.

It gauged a daily flowing potential of 40 barrels of 40-gravity oil and 10 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 160-1.

Production was through perforations at 3,280-3,281 feet. It has 4 1/2-inch casing set at 3,333 feet.

Location is 1,600 feet from north and 1,531 feet from west lines of section 145, BBB&C survey, six miles south of Old Glory.

Oil, Gas, Water Flows In Winkler

Skelly Oil Co. No. 3-10-18 University, Ward County wildcat, eight miles northwest of Pyote, and a southeast offset to the Wolfcamp gas pay opener in the War-Wink, South field, flowed 13 barrels of oil, 99 barrels of water, and gas at the rate of $32,000 cubic feet daily, from the lower Cherry Canyon.

Flow was through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,396-6,406 feet. Testing continued.

Earlier, it flowed gas at the rate of 1.178 million cubic feet per day, along with 13 barrels of load water in 12 hours, through Cherry Canyon perforations at 5,850-5,853 feet.

It spots 600 feet from south and 900 feet from east lines of W. P. Dodson survey 2, abstract 1089, seven miles west of Eden.

DALLAS — "Government basic laws of economics" neither advantage. He also said that government involvement in offshore exploration for oil and gas, which has been proposed, "would substitute a costly and unproven blueprint for an established program that has worked well for American taxpayers and consumers."

In his discussion of specific legislative issues, Waidelich criticized the concept of a Federal Oil and Gas Corporation that would have preferential rights to Federal lands and enjoy government financing as it competed with taxpaying private companies having

Scurry Champion '74 Oil Producer

Figures released Thursday by the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association show that Scurry County was the champion oil producer for 1974 with a recovery of 94.2 million barrels of oil.

The total was up from the 1973 production of 91.8 million. Second place Yoakum County also showed an increase, 77.6 million over 66 million in 1973.

Ector County took third in the production race with 71.2 million, compared to 72.6 in 1973. Gains were fourth with 57.8 (61.3 in 1973); Andrews fifth with 56.2 (60.4 in 1973), and Gregg became the only East Texas County to hit the top seven with 51.6 million. Gregg had 53.2 in 1973.

Hockley County was seventh with 51.3 million as compared to the 49.6 million for 1973.

Ector County, according to the Mid-Continent report, is the champion cumulative production area. Fields in Ector have produced 1.9 billion barrels of oil since the first commercial producer was found in the county in 1926.

Panhandle Eastern Seeks Rate Hikes

HOUSTON (AP) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. is seeking authority to boost wholesale natural gas rates for 130 Midwest customers by $1.2 million a year.

The request was filed Thursday with the Federal Power Commission. Panhandle serves 130 utility and municipal customers in Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

The company said it is seeking an overall 9.45 per cent rate of return and the rate hike was based on increased operating and capital costs and an adjustment relating to lower sales volumes caused by the natural gas shortage.

Under normal FPC procedures, the new rates would become effective Dec. 1, subject to refund.

Conoco Selling Market Properties

HOUSTON (AP) — About 100 marketing properties in East Texas and Arkansas are being sold to distributors and jobbers by Continental Oil Co.

"We've concluded that, in this particular area, independent distributors can best provide services customers desire," Tom W. Sigler, marketing vice president, said Friday.

"The change to local ownership will serve the customer best."

The properties include service stations, station sites, and bulk plants.

Sills Keeps Date

DALLAS (AP) — Singer Beverly Sills kept her date with the State Fair Music Hall for almost a full minute on Dallas six months late Thursday night, and she was cheered and pelted with red roses from the stalls during a prolonged ovation marking her appearance in Rossini's rarely performed opera "The Siege of Corinth."

She had been scheduled to appear with the Dallas Civic Opera in "Lucrezia Borgia" last fall but became ill during rehearsals and had to undergo cancer surgery. She finally made her Dallas debut before a full house on the opening night of the Metropolitan Opera's 32nd annual visit to the city. Twice during the show, action was held up completely as she completed arias. Applause and repeated shouts of "Bravo" had not been heard anywhere in the United States for the past 100 years, the Met will rely on "golden oldies" for the rest of its visit. Verdi's "La Traviata" will be performed in Dallas before and tonight.

Bob Wills Goes Home Last Time

TULSA (AP) — Today he came home like his album said, "For The Last Time," said the weeping admirer of Bob Wills. The strains of "San Antonio Rose" and "Faded Love" wafted through the Eastwood Baptist Church as the tearful man and 500 other mourners paid final respects Thursday to the composer and entertainer. Wills, 70, the developer of Western Swing, died Tuesday in a Fort Worth, Tex., nursing home. His records sold more than 20 million copies. It was during the recording session for his last album — "Bob Wills and His Texas Playboys — For The Last Time" — that he suffered a stroke that placed him in the nursing home where he spent his final days. Scores of mourners walked into the church two hours early to await services for "the man in the white Stetson hat." About 50 wreaths, some shaped like a fiddle, surrounded Wills' closed coffin.

Wills' fifth wife, Betty, sat at the front of the church along with Wills' five daughters, a son, three brothers, four sisters and 10 grandchildren. Clem McSpadden, a widely known rodeo and dance announcer and a former eastern Oklahoma congressman, eulogized Wills as a musician with a personal touch. The coffin was moved to the church foyer and opened for mourners. "He did more to put Tulsa, his home, on the map than anybody," the weeping man said.

1st Methodist To Recognize Its Choirs

First United Methodist Church and its music ministry will honor the church choir at a 25th annual Choir Recognition Service at 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Participating in the service, which will mark conclusion of the fall-winter-spring choir season at First Methodist, will be the four singing choirs and the Youth Handbell Choir. The ensembles will debut for the summer after the Sunday concert. Members of the Vesper and Chancel choirs will combine to sing at services during the vacation months.

According to George L. DeHart, organist-choirmaster at First Methodist, members of the choral and handbell ensembles perform a service of love and dedication to their church by their regular attendance at rehearsals and their participation in various worship events. He noted that the Carol Choir has served at seven services this year, the junior choir has participated in 10 services, the youth choir has led 15 services and the Chancel Choir has sung at 56 worship events. The Youth Handbell Choir has played for six services and the adult handbell group, although it does not participate in services, has performed 14 concerts throughout the city this year, representing First Methodist through its ecumenical outreach.

All music to be used in the Sunday evening service is based on the Book of Psalms. Works to be presented by the choirs and by various combinations of the ensembles include the following: "O Praise the Lord" (William Grime), "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes" (Siml Fleisher), with flute obligato by Mrs. Jack Beshears, "The One Hundredth Psalm" (Carl F. Mueller), "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord" (Claude L. Bass), "Pastorale" (Alinda B. Couper), "I Ring My Praise to God" (Howard F. Starks), "Grant Thy Grace, O Lord Jesus" (Christian Gregor), "The Lord My Pasture Shall Prepare" (Geoffrey Shaw), "Lead Me, Lord" (Samuel S. Wesley) and "A Blessing" (Martin Shaw).

The choral program will be open to the public. The church nursery will be available.

Great Wall

The Great Wall of China, completed during the reign of Shih Huang-ti, 246-210 B.C., is 1,684 miles in length with a height of 15 to 39 feet and up to 32 feet thick. Its erection is the most massive masonry construction job ever undertaken by the human race.

The evangelist for the special emphasis will be Jack Sallee of Cleveland, Tenn., said Rev. H. M. Tomlinson, host pastor. The opening service on Sunday will be at 7 p.m. and weekday services Monday through Saturday next week will begin at 7:30. All will be open to the public.

A special motion picture, "The Making of a Masterpiece," will have a showing Sunday night as a highlight of a special Day of Pentecost service at Gardens Assembly of God, 2901 W. Kansas St.

According to the Rev. Paul Coxe, pastor, the film tells the story of the creation of an important painting depicting the events of the Day of Pentecost. The original art work, which measures 124 feet in length and 20 feet in height, is housed in a specially-constructed hall in Dallas, to which thousands of visitors flock yearly to view the masterpiece. The film shows many portions of the large painting in detail, Mr. Coxe said.

The public as well as members and friends of Gardens Assembly of God will be welcomed at the Sunday night service, which will also present the Gardens television choir and other musical talent in special presentations. The service will begin at 7 p.m., Mr. Coxe said.

TO SING HERE — The Good News Quartet from Amarillo will be featured in special gospel and inspirational concerts scheduled Saturday and Sunday at Northside Baptist Church, 303 E. Shandon St. The ensemble will sing at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and during the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday services. The public is invited to hear the visiting group at no charge.

Reports Of CIA Activities Abroad Endanger Work Of Missionaries

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of American missionaries overseas, whose work depends on their being trusted by people of other lands, say that recent disclosures of CIA activity abroad have jeopardized mission efforts.

"It creates suspicions and puts the missionary in a precarious position," says the Rev. Charles P. Davignon, of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America, whose about 1,000 far-flung members popularly are called Maryknoll missionaries.

"Our work has been put under kind of a shadow," Similar anxieties have arisen in numerous missionary agencies, both Protestant and Catholic, as accumulating information emerges about undercover CIA intervention in affairs of foreign countries, particularly in Latin America.

"A lot of missionaries are nervous about it," says the Rev. William Wipfler, an Episcopal priest and head of the Latin American section of the National Council of Churches Division of Overseas Ministries.

"We see signs it could begin the closing of doors," he added in an interview.

Altogether about 42,500 American missionaries labor in countries abroad, 7,500 of them Catholics and 35,000 of them Protestants. Nearly 12,000 of them work in Latin America.

The Rev. Eugene Cuthane, of the Latin American division of the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C., says revelations of clandestine CIA manipulations in foreign cultures cause their people to "put up their guard" to missionaries.

"It's going to reduce the rapport," he said.

The uneasiness in missionary circles first began generating last fall after disclosures about CIA expenditures in Chile to buttress opposition to the Salvador Allende government in the period before it was overthrown in a military coup.

Special Pentecost Service Scheduled

El Calvario United Methodist Church has planned a special Day of Pentecost service for 7 p.m. Sunday at which ministers of Spanish-speaking congregations in the city will participate. The event at 1209 Garden Lane will be open to the public, said the Rev. Frank Rodriguez, host pastor.

Speaking on the events of Pentecost Day and their significance through the ages down to modern times will be the Rev. Axel Chavez, pastor of La Primera Iglesia Bautista Mexicana; the Rev. Saul Luna, pastor of La Jerusalem Assemblies de Dios, and Mr. Rodriguez. Special music and testimony will be presented.

At Sunday Service Patrick To Speak

The Rev. I. L. Patrick of Odessa will be guest speaker at a special Sunday afternoon service at New Hope Baptist Church, 1400 E. New York St.

Mr. Patrick is pastor of Odessa's Bethel Baptist Church.

The 3 p.m. service, sponsored by the mission organization of New Hope Baptist Church, will be open to the public.

Revival Begins Sunday Night

The Church of God of Prophecy, 1201 E. Spruce St., will begin a revival Sunday night, with services to continue through May 24.

Midland Free Methodist Church Celebrating Its 10th Anniversary

The congregation of Midland's Free Methodist Church will celebrate the 10th anniversary of the local church this weekend. The denomination's state leader, the Rev. M. Wayne Mote, will be a participant in the celebration.

The congregation, organized at a home in Odessa on May 16, 1965 and met there for the first few months under the leadership of conference superintendent R. G. Mumaw. Later the members began meeting at the Burnett Elementary School in Midland. Then, in September 1966, the group purchased a home at 4700 Thomson Drive for use as a parsonage and held its meetings at that structure until ground was broken for construction of a permanent church edifice at 4712 Shadylane in early 1967.

The congregation's first pastor was the Rev. Lloyd Dixon, during whose ministry the church construction project was initiated. He was succeeded by the Rev. Virgil Damm in June of 1968 and Mr. Damm was in turn succeeded by the present pastor, the Rev. William E. Jenkins, in February 1972.

The congregation also sponsored the establishment of a Spanish-speaking Free Methodist Church, the Iglesia Metodista Libre, which meets at 411 S. Terrell St., under the ministry of the Rev. Julio Castillo.

A 7 p.m. service on Saturday will initiate the anniversary observance, with Mote as the featured speaker. Mr. Mote is the present conference superintendent of the Free Methodist denomination in Texas.

Another anniversary service is scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday at which the Rev. Ira Lowe, who served as interim pastor of the Midland church for several months in 1971-72, will

Motion Picture To Be Shown Here

A special motion picture, "The Making of a Masterpiece," will have a showing Sunday night as a highlight of a special Day of Pentecost service at Gardens Assembly of God, 2901 W. Kansas St.

The original art work, which measures 124 feet in length and 20 feet in height, is housed in a specially-constructed hall in Dallas, to which thousands of visitors flock yearly to view the masterpiece. The film shows many portions of the large painting in detail, Mr. Coxe said.

The public as well as members and friends of Gardens Assembly of God will be welcomed at the Sunday night service, which will also present the Gardens television choir and other musical talent in special presentations. The service will begin at 7 p.m., Mr. Coxe said.

Senate Committee Okays Tougher Fuel Efficiency Use Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Automakers would be liable for fines of up to $100 a car for each mile per gallon by which they fail to achieve proposed new fuel efficiency standards under legislation approved by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The penalty is included in the bill to require automakers to achieve a 100 per cent improvement in fuel economy by 1985.

The bill, which was readied for a Senate vote sometime next month, sets a 21-mile-per-gallon standard for the 1980 model year and a 28-mile-per-gallon standard by the 1985 model year.

Commerce Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said the proposed standards would result in crude oil savings of 700,000 barrels a day in 1980 and at least 2 million barrels a day by 1985.

"By 1985, this will represent an $8-billion-per-year savings in energy costs at current prices," Magnuson said.

Southeast Asia Nations Form 'Neutrality Zone'

The Los Angeles Times KUALA LUMPUR — The foreign ministers of five Southeast Asian nations Thursday approved creating a zone of "neutrality" in this unsettled region, free of interference from the superpowers.

They also approved a treaty of amity between them that would serve to handle inter-country disputes which have in the past ruled relations.

The countries are Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia and the Philippines, members of a confederation called the HSSN of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN).

The ministers, however, declined to spell out the details of the treaties, which they said are not fully completed, and which must be first submitted to their heads of government before publication.

The ministers in a news conference after their final session of the 3-day meeting declined to comment on the use of force by the United States to free the merchant ship Mayaguez from the Cambodian Communists earlier in the day.

"We don't want to complicate a situation already complicated by making a statement pro or con," said the Philippine foreign minister, Gen. Carlos Romulo.

Connally Urged To Seek Office

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County's Republican executive committee wants former Gov. John Connally "to seek public elective office as a Republican candidate in the forthcoming general election."

Party leaders disclosed Thursday the committee had adopted a resolution to that effect.

Committeemen lauded Connally, a former Democrat who has turned Republican, for past service to the nation as secretary of the Navy and secretary of the Treasury. It added that this country is in "desperate need" of leaders matching his caliber.

They did not specify what office he should seek. GOP state committeeman William A. McKenzie said, however, that only two offices would be realistic goals — U. S. senator or president.

A former Republican candidate for governor, Jim Granberry, said if Connally wants the party's nomination for senator he can have it. Granberry expressed a belief that Connally can defeat Sen. Lloyd Benenson, D-Tex., if Benenson's name is on the ballot as a candidate for both senator and president or vice president.

"I think people would resent Benenson going for both," Granberry told a reporter.

Adding that he hasn't abandoned hope for a presidential ticket of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan with Connally as running mate, Granberry said, "I see a very potent team in 1976 of Reagan and Connally."

Weinberger Says Rumors Correct

The Washington Post WASHINGTON — Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare for the past two years, confirmed rumors Thursday that he expects to resign.

"It depends on my wife's health," he told a breakfast meeting of reporters. "My wife's anxious to get back to California where she feels her arthritis will be cured."

White House sources said Mr. Ford did not request Weinberger's resignation. "The initiative has come from Weinberger, but we've accepted the fact that he's going," a White House official said.

Peking Newspaper Says Mayaguez Was Spy Ship

Agence France-Presse PEKING — Peoples China today published its own version of the Mayaguez affair, claiming that the United States cargo vessel arrested by the Cambodian navy and released Thursday by armed force was a spy ship "equipped with electronic radar and sophisticated scientific apparatus" and "loaded with military hardware."

The claim followed China's first reaction Thursday night.

Cambodians Fire On Swedish Ship

Agence France-Presse STOCKHOLM — A gunboat, apparently Cambodian, fired on the Swedish freighter Hiraon in the Gulf of Thailand on Wednesday, the Ostasiatiska Shipping Co. announced today.

The ship managed to evade the gunboat without being hit, the company said.

The ship's captain cabled the company that a gunboat had fired four rounds at the 13,000-ton freighter while it was sailing from Singapore to Bangkok some 12 miles from an island in the Gulf of Thailand claimed by Cambodia.

Ali-Lyle Title Fight On National Television Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Cosell talking; Muhammad Ali fighting; its all free and live on home television Friday night. There must be a gimmick! Not so, according to fight promoter Don King of Cleveland. "I went to Ali and Herbert Muhammad (Ali's manager) and asked them to take a fight on home tv for the minimum amount. "Just so the poor, down-trodden, aged and underprivileged could see him (Ali), a legendary figure, perform live and in living color." King, who promoted Ali's championship fight with George Foreman in Zaire last October, claims that the Ali-Ron Lyle heavyweight championship fight will be on live home television for that simple reason. It will be the first time since 1972, when Joe Frazier defended his title against Ron Stander, that a heavyweight champion has defended his crown on home television. All last fought on home tv in 1966 when he beat Karl Mildenberger in Germany. The American Broadcasting company doubleheader gets underway at 8 p.m. CDT with light heavyweight champion Victor Galindez of Argentina meeting Ray Elston of New York in a non-title bout. The Ali-Lyle bout will follow. "Many kids wanted to see Ali's other fights on closed circuit tv," said King, "but they couldn't afford the $50 to take their girls out to dinner and see the fight, too. "So now we are giving them all the anxiety, all the anticipation and all the electricity of the fight game, and they won't have to wait to see it at a time when they already know who won." King was referring to the custom of Video Techniques and previous closed circuit promoters who sold rights to ABC for delayed Wide World of Sports viewing. "It's an altruistic situation," maintained King from Las Vegas. "Money is not involved. I think very much of my country. Only in America could a Don King be out here. "Ali has millions of fans. He is in the evening of his career, but still riding the crest of victory. I sold Ali and Herbert on that part and the fact that it could be over for him in a minute. "Although that isn't likely Friday night when Ali steps into the ring with Lyle, 33, who started boxing in prison, became National AAU champion in 1970, turned pro in 1971 and sports a 30-2-1 log. "Ali is predicting an eighth-round knockout over Lyle, who learned to fight during a nine-year stretch in Colorado's prison for second degree murder of a teen-ager in a gang fight. He has been a free man for five years. Some have accused King, a former club promoter in Cleveland until he became involved in the Zaire fight, of setting up a closed circuit gate for the Ali-

Joe Bugner match by permitting home television of Friday's bout. But King maintains that his motives are simply to let a lot of people, who wouldn't normally be able to afford it, see Ali. ABC reportedly paid King $1 million for the tv rights. Ali will get $1 million for his efforts and Lyle is expected to reap $100,000, win or lose. Campo Optimistic About Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ac-Time, who has had only one previous start this year, formed an entry listed at 20-1 by Pimlico oddsmaker Earle Hart. "Media didn't break real good in the Derby, but that's not an excuse," Campo said. "But then he added: "Maybe it's good in the Derby, but that's not an excuse." Campo said Thursday. "He kind of swerved when he broke out," Campo said. "Down the backstroke he got a little beef when a horse hit the fence or something—he was in a little beef behind that trap. "At end, he was still running a little bit. He could've run better."

With a 10-horse field in the 13-16th mile Preakness, five fewer starters than the Derby, there shouldn't be as much trouble negotiating the course on Saturday. Just The Time, winner of the Belmont Futurity last year, made his lone start of 1975 on Derby day. He lost an Aqueduct allowance by a nose but was awarded first place through disqualification. "That don't mean nothing," Campo said of the colt's inactivity in 1975. "He got sick on me early in the year when he was ready to run. The race that he had was a good one. "I tell you one thing, he'll be running at the end on Saturday because he ain't got speed in the first part. He'll be running. They might set up pretty good for him." The early speed in the Preakness is expected to come from Native Guest, Singh and Diabolo. A big battle on the runners Foolish Pleasure, Avastar, Prince Thou Art and Media.

But with the tighter turns at Pimlico, and the race one-sixteenth of a mile shorter than the Derby, the horses laying off the pace can't afford to be too far back. "I look for my horse to be laying one or two," Trainer Bobby Frankel said of Native Guest, the California campaigner who has won four straight for owner William A. Levin's Goldmills Farms. Asked if Singh also might be expected to be on the lead, Frankel cracked: "If he can keep up with me." John Russell, who trains Singh for Cynthia Phipps, said he was satisfied with the No. 7 post position his colt was assigned in Thursday's draw.

Prestone® reveals some little-known facts about cooling system corrosion and how it may be shortening the life of your car's engine

In a new survey of 1,202 cars, 45% required cooling system service because the coolant was no longer doing all of its job properly. Read how Prestone II® Concentrate, with its patented formula, fights all forms of harmful corrosion — and how this protects your engine from overheating, to prolong its life.

If you check your own oil, why not your cooling system?

Chances are, if you're reading this, you want your car running well at all times — especially during the hot summer.

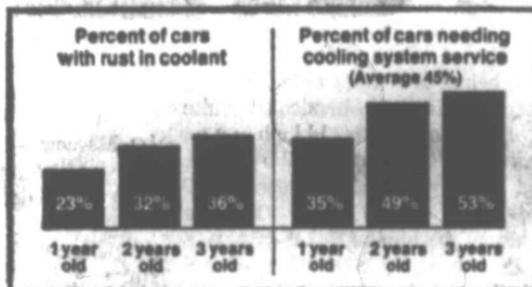

You probably also know a lot about how your car works. And do some of your own car maintenance.

If so, you should include your car's cooling system and coolant in your maintenance checks from now on — starting now.

The fact is, corrosion in your cooling system and worn-out coolant can do as much damage to your car over a period of time as old and worn-out oil in your engine.

What a 1,202-car survey shows

A just-completed survey of 1,202 cars all across the United States by PRESTONE, with the assistance of United States Testing Co., shows some startling statistics. It reveals just how large a percentage of cars are suffering from corrosion and risking costly repairs. These cars were relatively young — 1972, 1973, and 1974 models.

Corrosion could be shortening the life of your car's engine

What kind of damage could corrosion be doing to your car right now?

Corrosion could be clogging the tiny tubes in your radiator, so it can't cool your engine properly.

Corrosion could be plugging up areas in what cooling system engineers call the "coolant jacket." It can build up around hot spots near exhaust valves, to act as an insulator and hold heat in.

Corrosion could be gradually perforating tiny holes in your coolant pump and your radiator, letting your coolant leak away and causing the engine temperature to rocket.

Corrosion is indiscriminate. Over time, it can attack all the metals in your cooling system: steel, cast iron, copper, brass, solder — and aluminum, which is in more and more cooling systems today, particularly in imported cars. Many people don't know it, but aluminum is highly susceptible to corrosion damage.

Trained researchers took samples from the cooling systems of 1,202 cars across the U.S. 45% needed cooling system service.

You can protect all the metals in your cooling system, including aluminum, against corrosion simply by adding PRESTONE II Concentrate, with its exclusive patented silicone-silicate formula.

PRESTONE II Concentrate with its patented formula bonds a protective film to metal surfaces

PRESTONE II bonds a protective film to each metal surface. That film is extremely tough. And if the film should break, it will mend itself quickly.

But other forces can go to work to keep the coolant from fighting off corrosion.

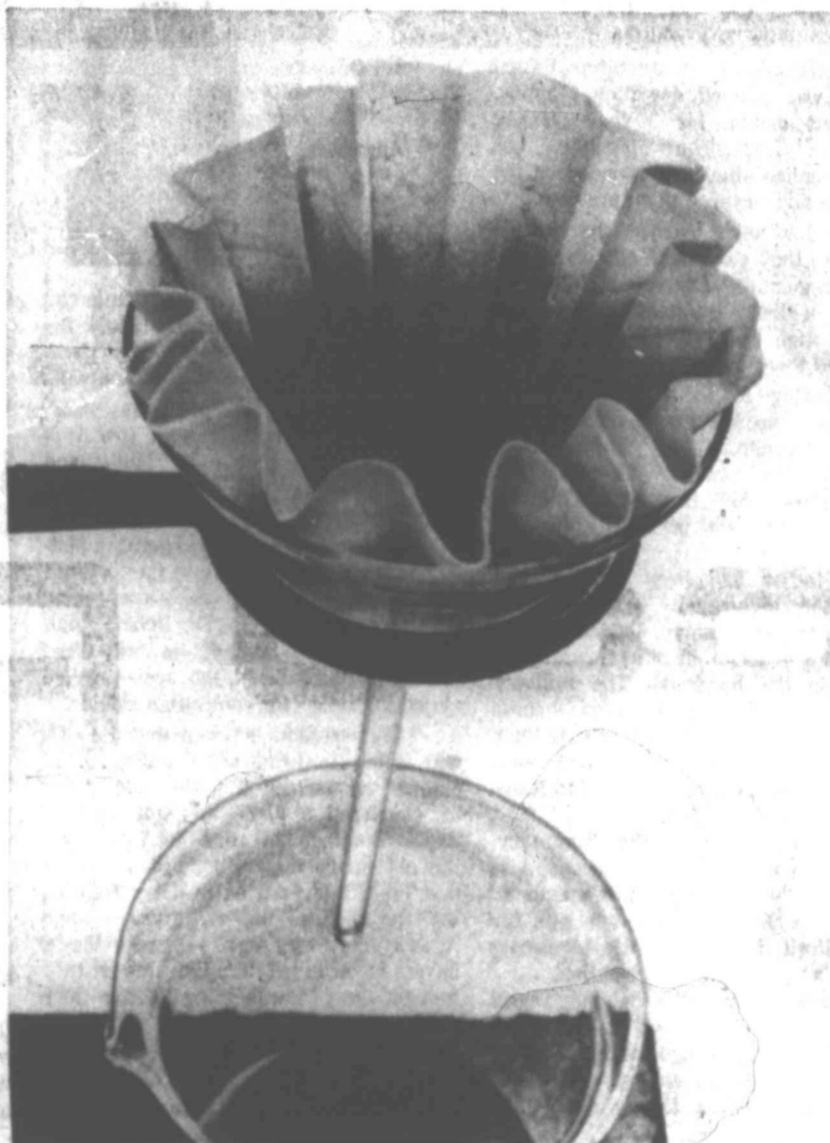

Exhaust gases can escape through a leaky cylinder-head gasket into the cooling system. When that happens, the gases turn to acids, which weaken rust inhibitors and hasten corrosion of metal parts.

For this reason, you should never leave your coolant in the cooling system too long — even when it's PRESTONE II.

How permanent is permanent?

Many people think a modern coolant can stay in the cooling system permanently — or at least two or three years.

It's true that a coolant will give you anti-freeze protection year after year, as long as it isn't diluted, and your cooling system doesn't leak.

Paper filter shows sediment left over after we poured coolant sampled from a car's cooling system through it. Sediment includes particles of rust from metals in cooling system and is a warning sign of corrosion at work. PRESTONE II Concentrate fights corrosion.

But it won't protect against corrosion that long. To fight rust and sludge and acidity and corrosion, you need to flush your cooling system and replace your coolant periodically.

How often should your coolant be changed?

How often should you change? Recommendations in car owners' manuals may vary.

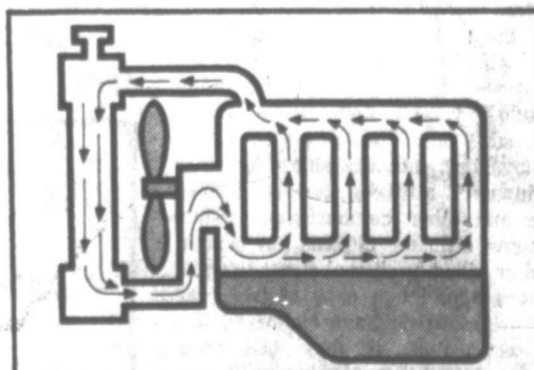

We say once a year. Some of you may think we say that just to sell more coolant. Others may think we're being perfectionists.

But we've been working with coolants and engine cooling systems since 1927.

And our experience says that the way to avoid corrosion and the expensive damage it can cause is to invest in two gallons of PRESTONE II Concentrate every year.

Take a sample

If you've waited more than a year to change, check your coolant now for signs of corrosion. Take a sample from your radiator. Look for a rusty brown color or loss of natural color of your coolant. Then check for sediment. These are all indications that you have Temperatures in your engine can reach 4,500°F. If coolant can't remove heat adequately, oil can't lubricate metal parts. Engine can suffer serious damage. PRESTONE II Concentrate helps keep corrosion from slowing down heat removal.

Coolant can be bad, even if it looks all right not changed your coolant frequently enough and that corrosion is already at work in your cooling system.

But even if your coolant looks all right, its rust inhibitors could have lost their ability to fight off corrosion. And you may not know it until it's too late.

We know a fresh fill of PRESTONE II Concentrate every year will fight corrosion and prolong the life of your engine.

Today's engines are required to run far hotter than those designed before 1962. So they need a coolant having a boiling point higher than water.

You need a coolant that can take those higher temperatures without boiling over on our fiercest summer days, particularly if your air conditioner is on.

Summer warning: have the right mix, the right pressure

According to PRESTONE engineers, today's cars need a 50-50 mix of PRESTONE II Concentrate and water for proper protection against boiling over, freezing up and corrosion.

The proper solution — in combination with 15 pounds of pressure in the system — raises your boiling point to 265°F. (and lowers the freezing point to -34°F.)

How to maintain proper pressure

How do you maintain proper pressure? Install a new radiator cap about every two years. Our service experience shows that pressure cap seals can go bad in that time.

Now that you know what we know, even if you checked your coolant for anti-freeze protection last fall, you'll want to check it again carefully for summer protection before the next weekend is up.

Oh, Those Taxes!

The weekend perhaps isn't the best time to bring up unpleasant subjects, but it does allow time for serious consideration of a subject as important as taxes.

To put the matter in proper perspective, let's look, for instance, at just what it takes in the way of work to pay your tax bill.

It is said that the average American taxpayer, working eight hours a day at his job, did not actually earn a single penny to call his own during the first four months of the year.

This certainly should attract your interest because it affects your pocketbook.

The Amarillo Daily News said recently that this may sound impossible. But it isn't really, when one considers what taxes do to a paycheck and the manner in which government is spending money these days.

"Statistically, it took from Jan. 1 to April 28 for each American to earn enough money just to pay his federal, state and local taxes for the current year," the Amarillo newspaper said.

"It hurts and irks us to know that one-third of a year's salary is gobbled up by bureaucracies on all levels. To add salt to the wound, we can't help but think of the congressional follies with our money (new buildings, salary increases, larger staffs, redecorating offices, jaunts around the world, illogical research grants, etc.)—plus all that money going to some who habitually hold their hands out for gifts from government when they could earn their own way."

It does make a whole lot of difference in one's thinking when the pencil is put to such things.

It also is pointed out that actually the period during which a person works just to pay his taxes was shorter this year due to the federal tax cut enacted by Congress.

Robert C. Brown, executive director of the Tax Foundation, Inc., says, however, that the day of reckoning will have to come. He said "government expenditures at the federal level alone will run some $45 billion ahead of revenues in fiscal 1975 and $80 billion more in 1976. And sometime soon, we taxpayers will be told to dig down deeper and work a little longer for the government." (In other words, we should get set for a tax hike somewhere down the line.)

Back in 1929, an American worker "donated" 52 minutes a day to pay his taxes. Presently, he chafes up two hours and 35 minutes.

It's great anyway to have the 1975 income tax payment behind us. . . so go on and have an enjoyable weekend.

On-The-Job Training

Congress reportedly plans to modify a 1974 act which would have closed the door to summer work opportunities for thousands of American children.

An amendment moving through the House would restore the opportunity for youngsters under 12 to earn money in agriculture.

The law still would carry safeguards against exploitation of child labor, as it certainly should, but it would recognize that in many parts of the country summer farm work is both a healthy and profitable experience for children.

While the law also would assure that young people can work in fields only during vacation from school, the experience obviously is educational — in teaching the important principle that the way to get what we want in this world is to work for it.

Congress appears to be on the right track in this regard.

'Human Kindness Day' Not Quite That Way

WASHINGTON — For several years, we have had this "Human Kindness Day" celebration here drawing enormous crowds to hear a rock concert and exhortations telling us to love one another like brothers and sisters.

Last Saturday was such a day, and 125,000 people gathered round the Washington Monument to celebrate. The Lord provided sunshine, and Stevie Wonder made with loud soul music, and there were people swaying and moving around, only some of them moved with malevolence.

One spectator, Steven Laine, 46, was attacked from behind. He wheeled around, and suddenly felt an excruciating pain as something "sharp and thin" was thrust into his right eye. Laine cried, "Help me!" to the Human Kindness Day crowd, but no one did.

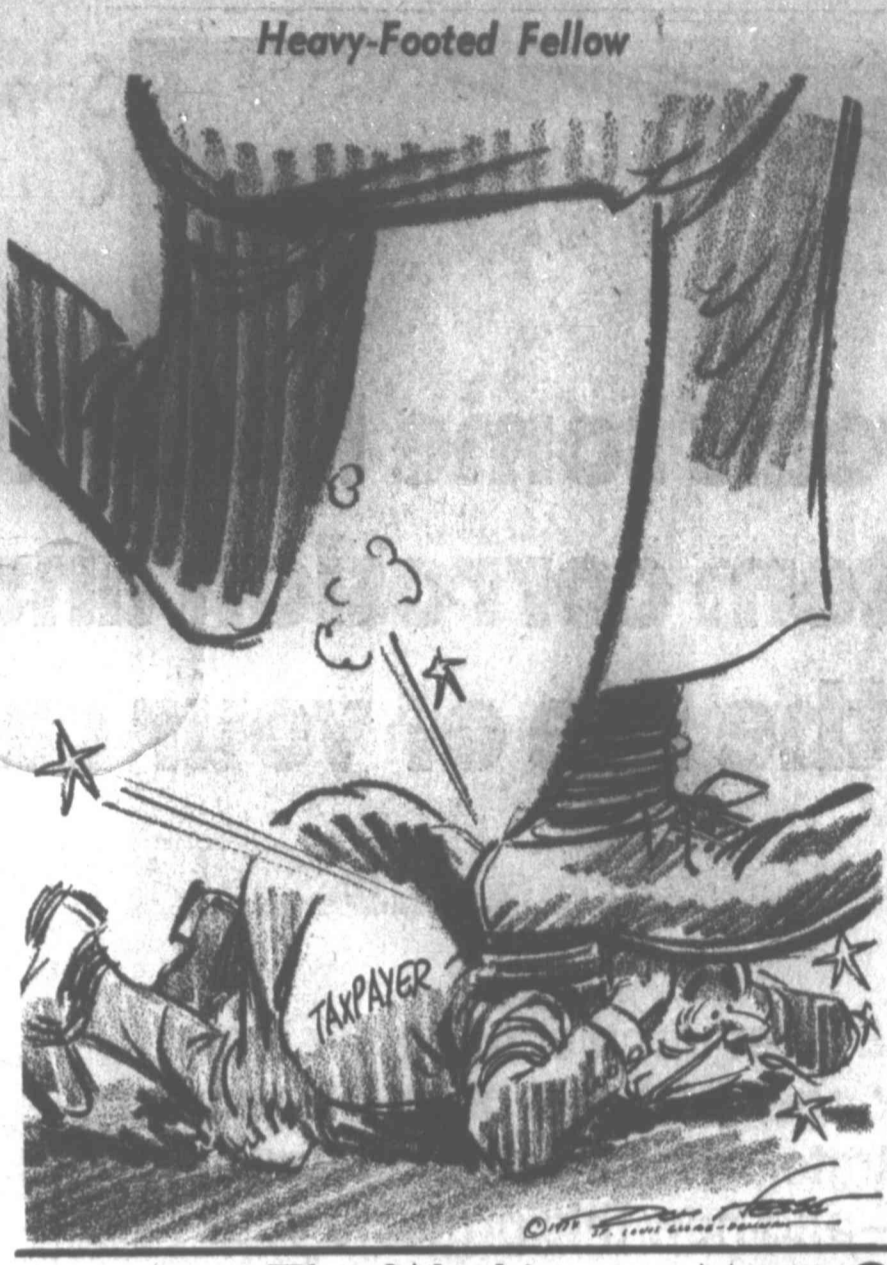

Laine held his hand over the bloody eye and staggered alone through the thickness of people until he found a first-aid station. Later, doctors told him he will likely lose his eye. Laine, public affairs director for Agriculture Secretary Earl Butts, had been working in his office, and thought he would walk through the crowd to take in some of the music and atmosphere on his way home.

So there's a hubbub here now about violence. Laine was not the only person attacked here. Some 150 people received hospital treatment after being assaulted at Human Kindness Day. According to the National Park Service, there were 500 complaints of beatings, robberies and molestations at the concert.

While crime increases here, it is booming in the suburbs, so the white bourgeoisie has nothing to be proud of. It's clear that money and more cops don't stop it. The American crime epidemic is caused by materialism, glorification of violence in the media, hate mongering, bad family life, the growing acceptance of anarchy, liberal judges and the appalling tendency of people to close their windows when someone cries, "Help!"

All the social workers and increased appropriations in the world won't cure this national illness. We have too many big-headed judges and police chiefs celebrated on the covers of newsmagazines and elsewhere for their "enlightened" attitudes toward college twerps and other demonstrators, while back-home ordinary citizens get beaten, robbed or killed by dismal street thugs.

Years ago, tough cops of whatever ethnic origin would have clobbered this street crud and, if they had their druthers, stuffed them down sewers. Now the statistical minded point out that you can't trust statistics on crime because police departments report them to serve their own purposes and, besides, most murders are committed at home.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Dictator Rafael Trujillo was gunned down on May 30, 1961, thus ending his 31-year tyranny over the Dominican Republic. His military police efficiently rounded up the assassins and tortured them to death.

We now have learned that before they died, they gave detailed confessions implicating the Central Intelligence Agency in the assassination plot. The tortured men believed the CIA not only supported them but would save them.

According to their confession, the CIA was supposed to prevent the old tyrant's murderous son, Ramfis from returning to Santo Domingo. Nevertheless, he flew home in a chartered plane and personally directed the torture.

His father had been bushwhacked on a lonely highway by a few military and civilian marksmen, backed by a conspiracy of 20 to 40 others, with supporters in the hundreds. The military security forces hauled in dozens — some say hundreds — for torture. From their agonized confessions, a detailed summary was written and presented to Ramfis, who has since died.

The existence of the summary, however, is attested to by sources close to the surviving Trujillo family members. We also have been in contact with the family itself, but they refuse to discuss the CIA's role in the assassination.

They would say only that they regret Rafael Trujillo was not informed by the CIA of the plot against him. "After all, he was not an enemy. He should have been told," a family spokesman said.

One Trujillista veteran, now a respected businessman, acknowledged that he had helped compile the summary. "The CIA helped get the guns and gave the plotters encouragement," he said in a statement to us.

He charged that the plotters "were urged on by Lear Reed," a former U.S. embassy aide in Santo Domingo, who was regarded by his colleagues

INSIDE REPORT

Portugal And NATO Summit Problems

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When President Ford convenes the NATO summit meeting in Brussels May 29, one head of government sitting in the inner councils of the Western defense organization will be Vasco Dos Santos Goncalves, revolutionary Portugal's prime minister who is widely perceived here as a Marxist with intimate ties to the Communist party.

That prospect is now causing concern at working levels inside the White House and State Department. It confronts both the President and his Secretaries of State and Defense Henry Kissinger and James Schlesinger, with this agonizing dilemma: can leaders of the West's defense and political alliance openly discuss their military and defense strategy with Goncalves sitting at the table?

The answer: almost certainly yes, because the slightest hint of excluding Goncalves would be seized upon by the powerful Portuguese Communist party as new evidence of Western attempts to subvert their April 1974 revolution.

It would, in short, be used by the Communists (whose political power far exceeds the bare 12.5 per cent of the vote they polled in the recent constituent assembly election) in the same way the aborted coup d'etat by the center-right in March was used: to aggrandize their power by charging foreign and counter-revolutionary intervention into Portugal's domestic politics.

Even if the U.S. had a workable plan to deal with this dilemma guaranteed not to boomerang, it is nearly certain that European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would veto it. In Europe, Portugal is still rather well regarded as a member of the European family.

The overwhelming probability, then, is that Mr. Ford and his NATO colleagues will finess the delicate problem of Goncalves listening to uninhibited security talk by making the summit largely ceremonial. The intimate talks will go on behind the scenes.

Even so, an horrendous problem is posed by the final communique. The question, could Goncalves, who has not before officially conducted any formal part of Portuguese foreign policy, sign a communique that could be interpreted as a warning or a threat to the Soviet Union and the Warsaw Pact?

The precise degree of political connection between Lisbon and Moscow is not known here. Soviet diplomats have gone out of their way to try to calm American fears over Communist influence in Portugal, fearful that the U.S.-Soviet detente might be damaged. In fact, however, high officials here worry deeply about several known facts.

With fellow-traveler Goncalves as prime minister and from at least two to possibly four Communists in the 21-man cabinet, the present Portuguese government is moving toward neutralism between the Western and Soviet camps. Such neutralism is antithetical to NATO, which was built for a single purpose: to combine the military power of the West against Moscow.

The Soviet ambassador to Lisbon is the most active envoy in Portugal and, at 45, one of Moscow's rising stars. He and the ambassadors from Czechoslovakia, Romania and Poland all speak fluent Portuguese (while U.S. Ambassador Frank Carlucci is the only ambassador from a NATO member who speaks Portuguese). The Czech ambassador is a former vice foreign minister, and the Romanian ambassador spent five years as special assistant to the foreign minister.

In short, the Warsaw bloc — led by Moscow — has zeroed in on Lisbon by sending only the highest quality diplomats to work there.

Neither Goncalves nor his new foreign minister, Ernesto de Melo Antunes, has given the faintest sign of wanting to take Portugal out of NATO. To the contrary, Goncalves will probably strengthen Portugal's NATO credentials by pointing to the highly successful NATO naval maneuvers last February, including simulated bombing runs by U.S. aircraft on targets just 30 miles south of Lisbon. The maneuvers went off without a hitch.

Accordingly, even if NATO contained the machinery for evicting a member (which it does not), Portugal remains in good, formal standing.

The paradox is acute: a neutralist-leaning member with ample potential for turning against the U.S. retains its seat in the highest councils of NATO, with the virtual certainty that any secret defense strategy adopted in Brussels will inevitably flow back to Moscow.

Senate Taking Up Legislation On Resettlement Of Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is taking up legislation authorizing a federal resettlement program for an estimated 130,000 Vietnam and Cambodian refugees and providing funds for the first 14 months.

The House passed a bill Wednesday night authorizing the $507 million expenditure ceiling requested by President Ford, but appropriated only $405 million in a separate money bill.

The Senate today takes up authorization and appropriation bills, both limiting expenditures to $405 million.

President Ford renewed his request for speedy approval of refugee aid Thursday in a letter to congressional leaders.

He said there has not been time to assess fully the implications of recent events in Indochina on foreign aid requirements.

"What is abundantly clear, however, is the urgent need to assist those people who have been forced to flee from Indochina," he said.

Final congressional action is not expected before Monday.

Final passage of the refugee legislation would permit the government to provide money to nine voluntary relief agencies to begin moving refugee families to new homes from temporary resettlement centers in California, Florida and Arkansas.

The movement would make room in the resettlement camps for more refugees housed in initial staging areas on Guam and Wake Island. Others are still at sea in boats.

The money provided for the program would reimburse the Defense Department for transporting the refugees to the staging areas and providing their food and medical care.

The private relief agencies and church groups would receive about $500 per refugee for their expenses in locating local sponsors and transporting the refugees to new homes.

Local communities would be reimbursed fully for any welfare and social services expense they incur on behalf of the refugees.

Women's Activist Organization To Aid Unemployed Bartender

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bob the bartender, claiming he's out of work because tavern owners are hiring only women, has been offered a hand by a women's activist group.

Bob, 26, who asked that his last name not be used, said Thursday that he is a graduate of the Professional Bartenders School in Boston and fully qualified for his profession. But every time he applies for a job he's told only women bartenders are being hired.

"I'm really starting to feel like a minority," Bob said. "There are a lot of clubs where you never see a male bartender."

Donna Taylor, coordinator of the National Organization for Women employment discrimination task force in Jacksonville, got in touch with Bob after hearing about his problem.

"Whichever sex is discriminated against, the other is involved," said Miss Taylor. "You can't discriminate against one without the other being involved."

Women want to be hired because they are qualified, not because they are women, she added.

She sees several options open to Bob, the most promising a class action complaint before the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

"We have filed three such suits from Jacksonville, but we've not been approached by a man before," Miss Taylor said.

NOW can file the action on Bob's behalf so that his identity can be protected, she said. His name would have to be revealed only if the commission takes the case to court to enforce a finding.

Miss Taylor said the case would be stronger if other men who feel they can't get work as bartenders because of sex discrimination would join in the complaint.

"The more people, the stronger the case," she said. Bob said he has talked to her and is pondering a decision.

Meanwhile, Bob recalled one of his first unsuccessful tries at getting a job. He answered an ad for a bartender and waited half an hour to see the manager.

Recalls Bob: "He said 'You're not a woman,' and I said 'I know.'"

Midlander Suffers Wound In Abdomen

Ronald E. Harrop, 18, of 1216 Louisiana St., was in a fair condition at Midland Memorial Hospital today following surgery after he suffered a bullet wound in the abdomen late Thursday.

Police said Harrop apparently shot himself in the abdomen one time with a .22 caliber weapon.

The man was at his home when the shooting occurred shortly before 10 p.m.

Harrop also got $1,000 from Atlas Van Lines, a regulated trucking company.

John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the housing subcommittee, got $1,500 from the National Association of Homebuilders.

Besides Baker and Hatfield, some of last year's other big earners were Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., $40,750; Talmadge, $32,165; Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, $29,550; Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, $28,800; Brooke, $28,700; Williams, $28,617; John V. Tunney, D-Calif., $25,450; Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., $25,190; and Bob Doole, R-Kan., $20,850.

In all, a score of senators reported getting more than $15,000 in honorariums last year. Starting last Jan. 1, a new law limits federal lawmakers to no more than $1,000 per speech and $25,000 per year.

Car-Cycle Crash Injures Youth, 17

FEES RANGE UP TO $2,500 FOR SINGLE SPEECH—

Senators Moonlight On Lecture Circuit

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 70 senators report they moonlight on the lecture circuit, with last year's fees ranging up to $2,500 for a single speech.

Reports filed with the Senate show: —Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., took an expense-paid trip to Bermuda last Oct. 31 to speak to an investors group, and was paid $3,000 for his efforts. Brooke is ranking Republican on the securities subcommittee.

—The chairman of the same subcommittee, Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey, got $2,500 for a talk to the Securities Industry Association last Dec. 4. The group represents stockbrokers, who are directly affected by legislation funneled through the subcommittee.

—The American Bankers Association paid $4,500 to Brooke for two speeches, $2,000 to Williams for one speech, $1,000 to Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and $1,000 to Bob Packwood, R-Ore. All are members of the Banking Committee.

Move Made In House To Get Resolution On Impeachment Of Duval Judge

AUSTIN (AP) — An associate of the Archer Parr political faction of Duval County has pushed through the Texas House a resolution calling for the formation of a special committee to consider impeachment charges against a Parr foe, State District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo.

The resolution, approved by a vote of 112-3, was submitted by Rep. Terry Canales, D-Prentiss, who represented the late George Parr and current Parr faction leader Archer Parr in their legal battles with and confrontations with the Carrillo faction.

In presenting the resolution, Canales denied that his request for a case of political vendetta. Canales was the Parrs' attorney in San Diego earlier this year at a hearing before Judge Carrillo to have their law licenses removed after George was convicted on tax evasion charges and Archer on perjury charges.

Later Canales was a pallbearer at the funeral of George Parr.

Canales' father also provided $121,500 in bond money for Archer Parr after the original bond money was withdrawn by Clinton Manges, a rancher who at one time appeared to be a Parr backer.

Canales' resolution, if approved by the committee and then by the House, would require Clayton to name a five-member board of managers to prepare impeachment charges against Carrillo.

"The court is being used by one political faction against another political faction as a political point of leverage. People are being removed from elective office by a judge, who replaces them with people of his own political philosophy. If this is not enough, people who are opposed to him politically are threatened with grand jury action," Canales said.

Carrillo attempted several months ago to remove Duval County Judge Archer Parr from office after Parr was convicted of perjury by a federal court.

In disbarment proceedings against Parr in Carrillo's court, Canales appeared as Parr's lawyer and obtained a trial delay because he would be occupied by legislative duties.

Canales said a select committee should hear the impeachment resolution because of the heavy work load on other House committees and because there is no panel with appropriate jurisdiction over such a resolution.

Rep. Ben Reyes, D-Houston, chairman of the House Rules Committee, protested that it should go to his panel, which he said would dispose of all the business before it by Friday.

"I suspect you'll have some more," replied Clayton.

Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, opposed the resolution, calling it "a local political problem. We have too much to do down here to deal with this situation. They have their elections back home to take care of this problem."

"It's important not only to my district but to the integrity of the entire judicial system of this state," said Canales.

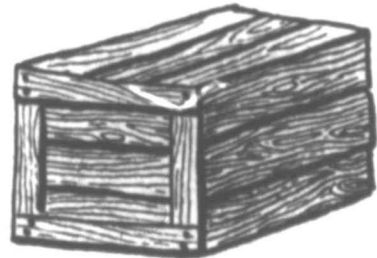

If impeachment charges against Carrillo are prepared, the House would serve as a grand jury, with the Senate sitting as the trial court should Carrillo be impeached.

Canales' resolution pointed out that Carrillo, whose judicial district includes Duval County, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on several counts of income tax evasion.

"It is not a question of guilt or innocence," Canales said. "It is a question of qualification to sit on the bench... I've talked to the man and asked if he would take a leave of absence until the indictments against him are cleared up in court. He said the only way he would be removed is forcefully."

Canales said his resolution had nothing to do with the South Texas power struggle between the Carrillo machine and the political heirs of the late George Parr, the "Duke of Duval."

"There is no political vendetta," Canales said.

The soapbox is a lonely place

For a long time now, we've been raising our voice in ads like this one. On a variety of issues. Including the need for a sensible U.S. energy policy. Noting that without adequate return on investment, exploration for new sources of oil and gas will fall off. Making the U.S. more and more dependent on costly foreign supplies.

Sometimes, we wonder if we are talking to ourselves. Congress certainly wasn't listening when it singled out the oil industry for heavy new taxation. In addition, there are now some 500 oil-related bills before Congress, many of which would impose new regulation on the industry. Some Congressmen have even proposed a subsidized federal petroleum corporation to "compete" with private oil companies.

We don't think the companies should be expected to take such assaults lying down. So we speak out. The trouble is, not enough other businesses follow suit—and it gets pretty lonely on the soapbox.

We think there's plenty for other companies to worry about. If our Congressmen can blithely take away the depletion allowance from some oil companies, if they can tinker with the foreign tax credit to "punish" us—and if they do this even at the risk of the nation's future energy security and perhaps the whole economy—what makes anyone think they'll stop with oil?

What makes any industry think it's safe?

We wish there were more like the Chase Bank, which has been warning that government disincentives to investment are precipitating a critical shortage of capital. The U.S., says Chase, will need $4.1 trillion in the next ten years, just to rebuild aging industrial capacity.

And if it doesn't happen, there won't be enough jobs. Which suggests other voices should come forth. Not just business, but labor groups. Women. Minorities. Every American who has a stake in the economy. And who doesn't?

If enough voices are raised, Congress will have to listen. And it won't be so lonely out there on the soapbox.
