Attitudes Count More Than Facts
For a man who does a lot of public speaking about the things he believes in, it is indeed a red letter day when someone comes to him and says, "I heard you talk on a certain idea and I thought it made sense. I acted on it and got some real results."

West Texas Storms Skip Past Tall City

Midland escaped all but the warnings Saturday night and early today as severe thunderstorms and threats of tornadoes covered much of West Texas, the Panhandle and eastward through the southeast quarter of the nation.

Foreign Minister Chatichai Choonhavan, charging that the incident had "seriously impinged on the national sovereignty of Thailand," called in U.S. Charge d'Affaires Edward E. Masters and delivered a protest note demanding the apology.

Memorandum Delivered
The protest memorandum, also delivered in Washington, said Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj met with Masters on Tuesday and made clear that Thailand "did not wish to become involved" in the Mayaguez rescue and also that Thai territory was not to be used in connection with any action which might be taken by the United States against Cambodia.

Blast Kills Seven Lebanese Children

By The Associated Press
Seven Lebanese children were killed at play Saturday when a mortar shell left from a recent Israeli shelling exploded in a field near the southern border village of Aitroun, a Lebanese army spokesman said. Five other children were wounded, three seriously. Asked about the explosion, first thought to be a mine buried by Israeli troops who twice raided the village in the past week, a spokesman for the military command in Tel Aviv said the raiders had "not exchanged fire with anyone or left anything behind."

In the Israeli occupied West Bank of Jordan, meanwhile, 12 persons were injured by three explosions, the Israeli military command announced. An Israeli underground organization claimed credit for one of the blasts, which wounded an Arab and appeared to be in retaliation for an Arab attack.

Outside the conflict area, Saudi Arabia was reported ready to announce soon a $150 billion five-year development plan. The Middle East Economic Survey quoted the head of Petromin, the state oil, gas and minerals firm, as saying that $13-$14 billion of that sum will be spent for new oil refineries, petrochemical plants, fertilizer plants, oil pipelines and a mammoth steel plant.

In another Mideast development Israeli Defense Minister Shimon Peres said the country will be a responsible neighbor and not interfere with ships using the Suez Canal after it opens officially on June 5, eight years after it was blocked since the six-day Mideast war.

Cliff O. Torgeson Dies; Rites Set

Cliff O. Torgeson, 60, owner of a Midland insurance agency, died Saturday in an Odessa hospital following a week's illness.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the First Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Robert Boynton Smith officiating. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park, directed by the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel.

Born Dec. 17, 1914, in Grand Forks, N.D., where he spent his early life, Torgeson entered the Army in 1942 after having been graduated three years earlier from the University of North Dakota.

Following his discharge from military service in 1946, he operated an insurance agency in Eugene, Ore. He established the C. O. Torgeson Insurance Agency when he came to Midland in 1948.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church and past president of the Midland Optimist Club, Torgeson was a member of Midland Masonic Lodge No. 673, Suez Temple, was a 32nd degree Mason of the Dallas Consistory, and served on the advisory council for the Order of DeMolay here. He was the recipient of the DeMolay Legion of Honor medal.

Survivors include the widow, a son, Cary O. Torgeson, of Colorado Springs, Colo.; a sister, Mrs. Helen A. Handley of Seattle, Wash., and three grandchildren.

The family requests that memorials be directed to the Midland Diagnostic Cancer Clinic or the Optimist's Boys Club.

Willie Lee Martin Dies; Rites Slated

Willie Lee Martin, 68, died Saturday afternoon in a Midland hospital.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church of Whitehall with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery there. Midland arrangements are being handled by Newbie W. Ellis Chapel.

Martin was born May 14, 1907, in Ector in Fannin County and was reared there. He married Robbye Broyles of Whitehall, Okla., in 1928, and farmed at Whitehall and Anton until moving to Midland in 1956.

He was a custodian at Midland High School until his retirement in 1968.

Survivors include the widow; two sons, Max Martin of Odessa and Frank Martin of Houston; two daughters, Mrs. Nadine Goen of Anton and Mrs. Joyce Denham of San Angelo; two brothers, Roy Martin of Whitehall and Lester Martin of San Antonio; two sisters, Mrs. Fay Glass of Duncan, Okla., and Mrs. Imogene Jarvis of Whitehall, and 15 grandchildren.

Mrs. Snodgrass Dies in Hospital

Mrs. O. D. (Dorothy Lillian) Snodgrass who came to Midland in 1969 from California, died Friday in a Midland hospital. She was 52.

Services will be at 3 p.m. today in the Thomas Funeral Home chapel with the Rev. Phillip Babcock of Parkies Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Snodgrass was born Dec. 3, 1922, in Gardena, Calif.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Charlyn Marie Daugherty of La Jolla, Calif., and Dorothy Joan Varner of Killeen; a brother, George Evan Young of Elk Grove, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Alberto Baez Loya Dies; Rites Set

Alberto Baez Loya, an 80-year-old Midlander who served under Pancho Villa during the Mexican Revolution, died Saturday morning in a Midland hospital.

Rosary for Loya will be at 8 p.m. today in the Thomas Funeral Home chapel. Funeral mass is scheduled for 5 p.m. Monday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church with interment in Fairview Cemetery.

Loya had resided 58 years in Midland. He was born May 8, 1896, in Mexico.

He is survived by his widow, Carmen, a son Alberto Loya Jr. of Midland, and a granddaughter.

Democratic Hopefuls Divided On Attitude Toward Wallace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic presidential hopefuls are sharply divided on whether to mount direct attacks on George C. Wallace and criticize his 10-year record as governor of Alabama.

However, none of the six current candidates is willing to say flatly he will support Wallace, should he surprise his party's professionals and capture the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

At least two candidates, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona and former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia, are planning major speeches soon that will take direct aim at the Wallace record.

Two other candidates, former Sen. Fred R. Harris and former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina, have joined Udall and Carter in saying they couldn't support Wallace if he captures the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Two other prominent hopefuls, Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas, have shied away from direct attacks on Wallace, preferring to mount "positive" campaigns that avoid criticism of their rivals.

Neither Jackson nor Bentsen has said directly whether he would back a Democratic ticket headed by the Alabama governor. Jackson takes the position it won't happen, while Bentsen notes he always has supported the party's nominee.

To a certain extent, the position of the various candidates on Wallace reflects their strategies for winning the party's nomination.

Jackson and Bentsen both hope to pick up Wallace delegates after it becomes evident that the Alabama governor can't win. Carter hopes to defeat Wallace in some Southern primaries to demonstrate that he, rather than Wallace, speaks for the South. So does Sanford, who is not yet formally a candidate.

8,400 Youths Aid Bicentennial Unit

Tall City elementary school children and their families are assisting the Bicentennial Commission of Midland in planning a large-scale display of flags in 1976.

The 8,400 youngsters have taken home questionnaires asking the help of each family in determining an approximate number of Midland homes which do not own United States Flags to fly on legal holidays but would consider buying one to fly in the future.

The survey is designed to tell local merchants the number of flags which will be demanded for a 1976 Bicentennial thrust which seeks to have 10,000 flying over Midland homes and businesses during the nation's 200th birthday year.

Snelson Bills Pass In Austin

Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Two bills by Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland were approved by the House of Representatives Saturday on a local and consent calendar.

Such a calendar is used for legislation of a local or non-controversial nature.

S.B. 195 adds municipality, school and junior college district to the entities which can bid for state salvage and surplus property.

Rep. Don Rains of San Marcos is the House sponsor of the bill.

The bill takes effect as soon as it is signed by the governor.

S. B. Bill 950 provides for the use of punch card voting in absentee voting and voting by mail and procedures for adoption of electronic voting systems.

Big Spring Man Draws Probated Term In Death

BIG SPRING — A 39-year-old Big Spring man convicted of murdering his wife was given a 10-year probated sentence in 118th District Court here.

A six-woman jury deliberated five hours Friday before returning the guilty verdict against James Schaffer.

He was indicted for shooting his wife Sandra in their mobile home east of Big Spring in May 1974.

Fourteen witnesses, including six for the defense, were called to the witness stand. Dist. Judge R. W. Caton presided at the trial.

Schaffer was released from the Howard County Jail late Friday.

Questions Remain After Cambodian Incident

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Why did U.S. warplanes bomb Cambodia 37 minutes after the crew of the merchant ship Mayaguez was safely aboard an American destroyer?

This question persists following a successful and dramatic recovery of the U.S. cargo ship and its 39 crewmen from brief Cambodian captivity.

There were other questions that could spark controversy after the elation fades:

Was the Marine landing on Tang Island, with a toll of possibly 14 American dead and 22 wounded, a necessity in view of advance indications that some and perhaps all of the crew had been taken to the mainland?

Did the United States needlessly run roughshod over Thai government objections in using bases in Thailand for U.S. Air Force operations over Koh Tang, and to stage Marine landings on that Cambodian island and on the captured ship nearby?

Why wasn't the United States alerted to the danger of Cambodian seizure of an American ship by the halting of a Panamanian vessel in waters off Cambodia several days earlier?

In the tense hours before the rescue operation was launched at 5:15 p.m. EDT Wednesday, May 14, reporters had heard official talk about possible punitive strikes on Cambodian military targets.

So suspicious about the motive for U.S. bombing of oil storage facilities near the Cambodian port of Kompong Som were sharpened by the Pentagon's failure to disclose the strike until questioned about it, some 14 hours after the whole operation ended.

"It might have been an oversight," Pentagon spokesman Joseph Laitin said when asked why he had not previously announced that raid by planes from the carrier Coral Sea. The raid came at 11:50 p.m. EDT Wednesday, or 37 minutes after the master of the Mayaguez verified that his entire crew was aboard the destroyer Wilson off Koh Tang. The U.S. merchant seaman reached the island in a boat after being released by the Cambodians.

The Mayaguez itself, empty of all life, had been retaken by a Marine boarding party more than three hours earlier.

The bombing attack on petroleum stocks was the second strike on the Cambodian mainland.

Both Laitin and Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger had discussed the first strike against the Ream airfield at Kompong Som, while briefing newsmen on what was then an incomplete operation. The first strike occurred at 10:57 p.m., or 16 minutes before the rescue of the crew was complete.

U.S. military officials agree that there was plenty of time for commanders to radio orders to Navy pilots to turn back without dropping their bombs in the second strike, the mission against the petroleum storage facilities.

But, according to Pentagon officials, the order to stop all bombing did not go out from Washington until after midnight. By then, the oil storage had been struck.

Did the Ford administration take the opportunity to bloody Cambodia's nose a bit?

Not so, said Pentagon officials.

"The reasons for it were that there were almost 200 Marines on a nearby island under heavy attack by these people," Laitin said.

Schlesinger reported that 17 Cambodian planes, including some T28 bombers, were destroyed in the first strike on the Ream field. Since most of Cambodia's small air force already had been flown to Thailand in April by pilots of the defeated regime, it did not seem likely there could be much left to worry about after the Ream attack.

Furthermore, Cambodia's tiny fleet of gunboats already had been battered with the loss of about five craft to U.S. air power in the Koh Tang area.

Tennis Project Hits Funding Snag

A proposed $186,000 tennis center project at Midland College has run into funding problems at the state level, it has been revealed in a letter to the city from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The letter, dated May 2, stated that on April 29 the tennis center project was considered. It stated, "Due to the small amount of funds remaining in the fiscal year 1975 apportionment, only the highest priority projects and those requiring immediate action were supported."

"Your (Midland's) application will be retained and considered by the commission after the fiscal year 1976 apportionment is received, sometime after July 1."

Midland is requesting $83,000 from the parks and wildlife department for the tennis center. The other portion will be supplied by the city and Midland College on equal basis.

The facility would be located at Midland College on 5.29 acres and be available for use by the general public.

It would include 12 lighted courts, wind screens, a tennis Stanton Hospital To Have Open House

Smuggling Blamed On Organized Ring

EL PASO (AP) — Customs officials say a well organized ring is smuggling large quantities of Mexico's spring marijuana harvest into this country.

Within the past week, agents have confiscated more than eight tons of marijuana with an estimated street value of $2.5 million, said Dale Swancutt, district director of the U.S. Border Patrol.

He said Border Patrol officers seized 10,000 pounds of marijuana Thursday after stopping two trucks which appeared to be carrying molasses.

Miller said he bargained while near the Cambodian port of Kompong Som through an interpreter who relayed the negotiations to his commander, who in turn sent word to Phnom Penh. Miller's voice cracked emotionally and his eyes reddened and moistened with tears when he spoke of the U.S. Marines who died during the rescue attempt.

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Discoveries Finalized In West Texas

Discoveries have been completed in two West Texas areas. Gas Development Corp., operating out of Midland, has completed No. 1-11 Adah Cauthorn as a Strawn "A" gas discovery, 2 1/2 miles north of Strawn production in the Vinegarone field, in Val Verde County, 20 miles southwest of Sonora.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 11 million cubic feet of gas per day.

Completion was through perforations at 9,885-9,877 feet. Treatment, if any, was not reported.

It was drilled "tight" to 10,350 feet, with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 10,112 feet. Plugged-back depth is 9,977 feet.

Discovery site is 1,120 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 11, GC&SF survey, abstract 502.

Crockett Strike
A Strawn gas strike has been completed in Crockett County, 4 1/2 miles southeast of the one-well American (Strawn) gas field. It is Lario Oil & Gas Co. and Mújo Oil & Royalty Co., Midland, No. 1 Hoover Estate.

It was finalized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2.63 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production was through perforations at 11,250-11,303 feet, after the section had been washed with 1,250 gallons of mud acid and acidized with 9,000 gallons.

A reentry operation, it was originally drilled to 13,473 feet. The operator set 4 1/2-inch casing at 12,870 feet and plugged back to 11,481 feet.

On ground elevation of 2,155 feet, the following tops were picked: Clearfork, 2,105; Wolfcamp, 4,010; Canyon sand, 8,968; Strawn, 11,200; Pennsylvanian detrital, 11,990; Barnett, 11,764; Woodford, 11,800; Devonian, 11,820; Simpson, 12,410 and Ellenburger, 12,780 feet.

It was plugged and abandoned.

Aug. 27, 1963, by El Cinco Production Co.
Located 21 miles southwest of Ozona, it spots 660 feet from north and 760 feet from east lines of section 51, block MM, T&SL survey.

Amoco Stakes Probe Sites

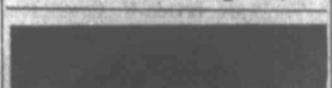

Amoco Production Co. has made plans to drill two wildcats, one in Terrell County and one in Crockett County.

The Terrell probe, No. 1-C Pakenham Ranch Co., Ltd., spots three miles southwest of the one-well Cobblestone (Strawn) field and 38 miles northeast of Dryden.

Slated to 9,500 feet, it is 500 feet from south and 1,026 feet from west lines of section 3, block 173, TMRR survey.

Crockett Try
The No. 1-B T. A. Kincaid Jr., a 7,000-foot wildcat, two miles north of the three-well Euleone (Wolfcamp) gas field, in Crockett, spots 1,685 feet.

Exxon Promotes Midland Geologist

George A. Ashland Jr. has been promoted to senior production geologist in Midland by Exxon Co. U.S.A.

He is assigned to the Joint Interest Section, Midcontinent Production Division.

He joined the company in 1946 at Rawlins. He worked on assignments at Denver, Colo.; Billings, Mont.; Tulsa, Okla.; and Casper, Wyo., before coming to Midland in 1970.

He is a member of the Society of Professional Well Log Analysts, Rocky Mountain Association of Geologists and the West Texas Geological Society.

Dowdle Completes 10-Well Program

Dowdle Oil Corp. of Midland has successfully completed a 10-well natural gas program since the first of the year in Indiana County, Pa.

The wells were completed in the Devonian sands at a depth of approximately 3,500 feet and for potentials ranging from 805,000 to 1,700,000 cubic feet per day.

Exxon Forecasts Massive Development Of Nuclear Power Over Next 15 Years

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon Co. USA expects nuclear power to be the nation's fastest growing energy source during the next 15 years while replacing oil and gas in utilities.

Exxon's new Energy Outlook 1975-1990 projects the nation's energy trends 5, 10, and 15 years into the future should certain assumptions hold true.

Nuclear power is expected to be supplying 17 per cent of total U.S. energy demand by 1990, compared with about two per cent in 1975.

"By 1990, nuclear could supply more than half of the U.S. electricity demand, compared with less than nine per cent in 1975," Exxon reports.

Total U.S. energy demand is projected to increase from an estimated 36.4 million barrels a day of oil equivalent this year to slightly over 60 million barrels a day in 1990.

High energy costs, conservation efforts, and slower economic growth over the forecast period, Exxon said, will cause the growth rate in energy demand to average about three per cent annually compared with four per cent average for the 13 years prior to the Arab embargo.

SPE To Hold Final Meeting Of Season

The Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will hold its final regular dinner meeting of the 1974-75 season Tuesday at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Activities will get under way with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. The dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. T. M. Doscher of New York, consulting engineer in Shell Oil Co.'s Petroleum Engineering Department, will be the speaker.

His subject will be "Recovery Efficiency — Prospects To Improve It and What We Need To Do."

Dr. Doscher received his Ph.D. in Physical and Colloid Chemistry at the University of Southern California and a masters and bachelors degree in Chemical Engineering from the Case Institute and College of the City of New York.

Prior to joining Shell in 1951, Dr. Doscher taught at several universities, was a senior chemical engineer at General Foods Corp., Hoboken, N. J., and a professional consulting engineer in California.

At Shell, he initially worked on production operations, particularly well stimulation and water injection, and with his associates, developed the membrane filter as a water equality test.

He became assistant to the president of Shell Development Co. and then joined Shell Canada to head the engineering task group that developed the in-situ process for recovering the Athabasca tar sands.

Dr. Doscher returned to Shell Oil in New York as project manager of heavy oil development and became Shell's first consulting engineer in the Petroleum Engineering Department.

Oil's share of energy supply is expected to increase from the current 77 per cent to 49 per cent by 1980 and then drop to 42 per cent by 1990. Natural gas, currently at 23 per cent, is expected to drop to 22 per cent within five years and to 21 per cent by 1990.

For both oil and natural gas, Exxon anticipates more than one-half of domestic production by 1990 must come from reserves yet to be discovered. Most such discoveries are expected to be made in offshore areas and in Alaska.

The current decline in domestic oil production is projected to continue until late 1977 when North Slope oil begins moving through the Alaskan pipeline now under construction.

"Over the forecast period, U.S. oil demand will grow much more rapidly than domestic oil supply," Exxon said. "Consequently, the United States will require increasing quantities of imports to fill the gap."

Oil imports were forecast to increase from nearly 40 per cent of total domestic demand in 1975 to about 50 per cent by 1980 and then maintain about that share through 1990.

Exxon said its projections are not intended to be firm predictions and are based on assumptions government policies will not mandate curtailment of energy consumption below levels necessary for adequate national economic growth, will create adequate incentives for expanded energy development, and will not reduce the availability of required capital funds.

Exxon said U.S. oil production is expected to total 670 million tons and that this is projected to increase to 870 million by 1980 and 1.2 billion by 1990.

Coal reserves account for 90 per cent of all known U.S. fossil fuel resources, Exxon said, and the pace at which new supplies are developed will depend on registrations for this workshop session can be made with the graduate center, 104 Gulf Building. The fee is $15.

Jim Mayberry of the Midland office of the Federal Energy Administration will discuss the FEA 90 form. Mrs. Rosellen Busby, with State Oil Reports, will conduct an advanced workshop on production reports and Mrs. Patricia M. Beck will be in charge of basic production report instruction.

The well, Florida No. 1 Pittman, flowed gas at the rate of 7 million cubic feet per day, through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations from 12,706 to 12,726 feet.

Other working interest operators include Dorchester Exploration, Inc., of Amarillo, Tex., and Central Oil Co. of Laurel, Mississippi.

Tom Love, owner of Musket Oil Co. in Oklahoma City and president of the National Oil

Retailers Association, says "We have complained to the Federal Energy Administration about it, but nothing allows them (FEA) to prevent this."

Both major brand lease operators and non-brand independents buy from the same major oil company refineries, but the price differential creates a retail spread of from nine to 13 cents per gallon.

Jim Cox, a Texaco lessee in Oklahoma City and board chairman of the Oklahoma Independent Gasoline Retailers Association, says he can buy gasoline directly from the retail pump at a nearby unbranded station cheaper than he can buy from his Texaco supplier.

Cox says the current Texaco wholesale price for regular gasoline is 46.4 cents per gallon. The nearby unbranded station is selling regular at a retail price of 44.9 cents per gallon.

Cox's pump price for regular is 57.9 cents per gallon.

Cox feels the price gap will eventually close, but it will be too late for many major brand lease operators. "Maybe 25 to 30 per cent of us will survive," he says.

Cox also believes the price differential was deliberately created by the oil companies.

He pointed out that major brand leasees are committed to buying from one refiner, and are also limited by federal regulations on the amount they can sell.

"Without gasoline allocation, this could not occur," Cox says. "If I could get all the gasoline I could pump, I could reduce my profit margin and make it up in volume."

This, essentially, is what the unbranded independents are doing.

Oil, Gas Pricing Proposals Full Of Contradictions

By CLYDE LA MOTTE

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON—You should feel no embarrassment whatsoever if you do not fully understand what is going on in Washington regarding proposals for pricing oil or natural gas. No one else understands, either.

Consider, for example, the bill recently approved by Senate Commerce Committee concerning the wellhead pricing of natural gas.

Champlin To Drill Offshore Wells Near Philippines

FORT WORTH — The signing of a service contract for exploration covering 312,000 acres in the offshore area near Palawan, Republic of the Philippines, has been announced by Roger S. Plummer, Jr., president of Champlin Petroleum Co. a wholly-owned subsidiary of Union Pacific Corp.

The initial well in this contract area will be drilled by the Brinkerhoff I drill barge immediately following completion of a well scheduled to be spudded in July in a nearby 1.1 million-acre area which is covered by a service contract granted to Champlin and other Parties Contractor by the Philippine Petroleum Board.

Champlin's partners in the new service contract group are Tricentral Philippines Resources, Inc., Westrans Petroleum, Inc., Basic Petroleum and Minerals, Inc., Landoll Resources Corp., Oriental Petroleum and Minerals Corp. and the Philippine National Oil Co.

"However, most of the growth in coal supply is projected to come from western mines," Exxon said. "The main reason for this is that environmental regulations have greatly increased the demand for low-sulphur western coal."

Eastern coal production is expected to increase from 578 million tons this year to 650 million in 1980 and 700 million in 1990. Western production is expected to jump from 92 million tons this year to 230 million in 1980 and to 514 million tons by 1990.

But that's not quite right, either, you discover as you continue to read the fine print.

Coastal States Promotes Two

HOUSTON — Leo C. Smith and Sam F. Wilson Jr. have been elected senior vice presidents of Coastal States Gas Corp.

Smith has been a vice president of the company since 1974 and is head of its coal and chemicals division. He also has obtained as president of Wycon Chemical Co., a Coastal States subsidiary.

He joined Wycon in 1964 and became vice president of operations for Wycon in 1971.

Wilson has been vice president in charge of crude oil supply operations for the company since May 1974.

Drilling Activity Increases Slightly

Drilling activity was up slightly in the Permian Basin last week, with 256 rigs making holes, as compared with the previous week, when 253 rotary rigs were in operation.

In a comparable week last year, 263 units were drilling in the two-state area of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico. Lea County, N.M., and Pecos County, with 26 and 24 units, respectively, for the second consecutive week, were the leading areas in activity. Scurry and Ward each recorded 13, Andrews 11, and Hockley 10 rotary rigs working.

Some problems also arise if the independent producer gets involved with some other company in a drilling venture—a not uncommon practice in the oil patch. Under the bill the Senate Commerce Committee has put together, such an alliance might well mean that the producer might or might not qualify for the deregulated price of up to $2 per thousand cubic feet.

Finally, the producer who manages to wind his way through all the fine print and produces some gas which qualifies for the deregulated price discovers that he has to do the actual production of that gas over the life of the field, say 20 years or so.

Other Complications That is, he could not sell this gas in place to a major company in order to get the money in hand to do some more drilling. If he made such a sale, the ceiling price would then revert to the 75 cents level.

Bear in mind, of course, that the legislation is aimed at "helping" the little independent producer—whether he wants that kind of "help" or not. The end result is that the gas purchaser naturally would prefer to buy from a big company at 75 cents than from an independent producer at a price ranging up to $2. So it could be, if there is any substantial increase in production, that the independent would have gas for sale at the attractive price of $2 with no takers.

The Ford Administration advocates deregulating new gas production across the board, but there is little indication at this point that Congress is going to go for any such simple solution. The situation regarding pricing is only a little less complicated for crude oil.

First there is a price ceiling for "old" oil and one for "new" oil. Then there is the "released"

Project Finaled In Coke County

The Willmo Sandy (Strawn and Canyon) oil field of Coke County gained its second Strawn producer and a 1,650-foot southwest extension to that pay, with the completion of No. 3-A Harris Estate-Sadie by Campana Petroleum Co. and Mann Rankin, of Midland.

It potentiated flowing 140 barrels of 43-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio measuring 820-1.

Completion was through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 6,277-6,321 feet, which had been treated with 800 gallons of acid.

Wellsite is 2,530 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of Winfield Scott survey 12, eight miles south of Silver.

The same operators completed No. 1 Harris Estate-Sadie, as the Strawn opener, Oct. 29, 1973. It produced 155 barrels of oil, through perforations at 6,325-6,327 feet.

Stepout Slated In Eddy County

David Fasken, operating out of Midland, has staked No. 1 Feil-Federal, 3/4 mile southeast and the same distance northeast of production in the Cemetery (Morrow) field of Eddy County, N.M.

Drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 28-20-25e, six miles southwest of Lake Wood. Contract depth is 9,900 feet.

ARCO Staked Eddy Project

Atlantic Richfield Co. has made plans to drill No. 1 Sterling Communized, one location north of production in the Red Lake (Pennsylvanian) field of Eddy County.

Scheduled to 9,900 feet, location is 1,650 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 7-18-27e, 19 miles southwest of Loco Hills.

Petrochemical Technical Positions Open In Area

Close to 170 petrochemical technical positions are open for immediate employment in the Permian Basin and the projected three-year need is even more acute, according to a survey conducted by Midland College and Permian Basin petroleum leaders.

On the national level, 5,400 jobs are available with no one to fill them, according to Warren Baker, vice president of International Drilling Contractors' Association of Houston.

Baker has said that many jobs must be filled in order to erect and maintain the 175 new oil drilling rigs scheduled to this year's operation.

In order to help fill the technical vacuum, Midland College has initiated a petroleum technology degree program which will begin next fall. It is designed not only for the untrained person interested in this field, but also to "afford people in production operations a chance to improve and learn new skills."

Texaco Reports North Sea Well

LONDON — Texaco North Sea U.K. Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of Texaco Inc., has completed tests on its well 5-5 in United Kingdom waters 85 miles east of the Shetland Islands, it was announced Saturday.

The well flowed 42.5 degree API crude oil at a rate of 4,578 barrels a day with a gas-oil ratio of 5,760 cubic feet per barrel. It was drilled to a depth of 11,020 feet in 446 feet of water.

The well is situated approximately one mile east of 4-4, an earlier discovery previously announced by Texaco North Sea U.K.

Mitchell Energy Finals Opener

HOUSTON — Mitchell Energy Corp. Saturday announced the completion of a new oil field discovery well located in northwestern Kimble County, approximately 15 miles northwest of Junction.

The Mitchell Energy No. 1 Rust Ranch was drilled to a total depth of 3,356 feet and completed in a Pennsylvanian Strawn sand through perforations from 2,340 to 2,348 feet.

On a 48-hour test, the well produced on pump at a rate of 39 barrels of oil per day, with 22 barrels of water per day; gas to oil ratio was 400 to 1.

The company owns a 100 per cent working interest in the well and an 8,123-acre lease block surrounding the discovery. The nearest production to the new field is approximately five miles to the west. Additional development drilling in the field is planned for the near future.

Expanded Midland Branch Plant Of Reda Pump

Reda Pump Co. Sets Open House Here Thursday

Reda Pump Co. will have an open house Thursday to celebrate the expansion of Reda's Midland branch plant. A ribbon-cutting ceremony will be at 3 p.m., followed by tours of the plant. Barbecue and refreshments will be served. Reda's plant, located two miles west of Midland on Highway 80, has been expanded to approximately 50,000 square feet. The plant currently has 45 employees in Midland and plans to expand to approximately 80 within the year. Home office for Reda Pump is in Bartlesville, Okla. where it was started in 1929. The company's first branch plant was built in Midland in 1967. Reda now has branch plants in several countries throughout the world. Al Pond is branch manager of the Midland plant. Field service manager is Eddie Heath and marketing manager is Ray Johnson. The marketing office for Reda Pump is located in Downtown Midland.

ARCO Employes Mark Milestones

Mrs. Norma McCollum and Mrs. Geneva L. Turner, both of Midland, recently received awards for completing 25 years of service with Atlantic Richfield. Mrs. McCollum, reports and distribution clerk in the general accounting office, joined the company May 17, 1950, Midland as a junior statistical clerk. Mrs. Turner also started her career with the company May 17, 1950, in Midland. She is a secretary in the production and drilling department, North Permian District. District Manager S. L. Smith presented the awards to Mrs. McCollum and Mrs. Turner.

AFTER MARATHON SESSION— Contract Not Renewed

LAMESA — Lamesa public school board members, after sitting through 15 hours of public testimony and closed-door conferences, Friday decided not to renew the teaching contract of Mrs. Kay Strance. Mrs. Strance, a migrant program teacher at North Elementary School here, had been under board pressure since principal Lee McCallister recommended that her contract not be renewed. Testifying before the board, McCallister said the teacher was uncooperative, lacked effective communication with him, and did not budget her planning time and that she had an attitude problem. Agreeing with the principal was teacher Nancy Doyle who said Mrs. Strance did not get along with co-workers and administrators. Standing up for Mrs. Strance were rebuttal witnesses and fellow teachers Beulah Roberts, Jo Ann Moore and Lorene Lippert. Each testified that Mrs. Strance was an effective teacher, budgeted her planning

Ringing The Bell

By BOB TIEUOL

The Black (Religious) Experience: One of the fastest growing black religious denominations in West Texas, the Southwest and the nation is the Church of God in Christ, with headquarters in Memphis, Tenn. Presiding bishop is J. O. Patterson, and Elder J. Whitehead is editor of the denomination's official periodical: The Whole Truth. A statement on the official listed membership which includes the continental U.S.A. and many other countries of the world, is expected shortly and will be released here when received.

There can be no doubt that the church has experienced its greatest decade of growth since 1965. The Church was founded by the late C. H. Mason around 1896 and is one of the youngest of the major black denominations. Bellringers will recall that several years ago, the Church was the recipient of the downtown Chisca Plaza Hotel in Memphis, an outright gift valued at several million dollars.

A recent report presented a plan with the Chisca-Plaza property serving as the base of operation for a complex business venture and "the large membership could build a program of economic development which would complement and enhance the spiritual, community-service and self-help of the church 1005.

Among some of the planned projects suggested by the Match Institution were: Developing a national insurance agency to reduce the cost of insurance to church members; developing a holding company to provide members with an opportunity to invest in all of the business ventures operated by the church; developing a real estate investment trust to provide church members the opportunity to make real estate investments under the most favorable financial conditions.

The suggested proposal also would help the church to: Develop housing for the elderly members, retired and convalescing elders and missionaries from the church; to develop lands belonging to the Saints College in Mississippi and to extend the college to a four year urban campus at the national headquarters in Memphis, as well as provide housing for delegates attending the many national functions of the church body.

In a statement to this correspondent, Bishop Patterson said "The church since its inception has always advocated social justice for all mankind... even long before Martin Luther King was even heard of... Yes, Bob, the hope of our race is Jesus."

Head Start's 10th Birthday: On May 16, 1965, the first installment of grants made to summer Head Start program was taken up to Capitol Hill in Washington, to be delivered to individual congressmen's offices. Almost overnight, Head Start became a household word. At the end of August 1965, President Lyndon Johnson announced that in addition to summer sessions, Head Start would be a full year program, enrolling children from the age of 3. That was ten years ago. In the meantime, almost five and a half million children of every race and creed, have been through the program or are currently enrolled.

A bellringer writes: "Dear Bob: More than 1,200 persons attended a recent Urban League dinner where Flip Wilson was the chief speaker at Oklahoma City. Among the many things the honorary chief of police said at the dinner: "Boley, Okla., is one of the few places left where people can leave their doors open." The comedian and tv star pointed out that he was committed to acquiring a swimming pool and a fire truck for the community. He is expected to attend the 70th birthday and annual rodeo homecoming festivities in the black-oriented town May 24-26. Last year more than 10,000 blacks attended from over the nation. This year, the number may double with white, black, brown and red cowboys and girls doing their thing. Of course, as usual, we shall look for you and your coverage." (Signed) P.T.G. Okemah, Okla. — Thanks, buddy. We do plan to be there.

Dirt, Squirt & Quirt
 - FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS -
 By CHARLES W. GREEN
 Midland County Agent

Planting gained momentum in the area this week. Dryland areas to the east of Midland received enough moisture to plant on, but in other areas to the south the moisture is marginal. Some producers are planting; others are waiting hoping for another shower. Some irrigated cotton that had been planted prior to the rain last week may have to be replanted. If the weather remains open most land that has moisture enough to plant will be planted by next week.

The pecan nut casebearer can be a destructive pest of pecans. This insect pest attacks the small pecan nutlets in late spring. When casebearer numbers are heavy, the insect may destroy one-third to three-fourths of the pecan crop on a tree, unless properly timed insecticidal applications are made to protect the pecan nuts from pecan nut casebearer attack.

However, last year many trees did not have infestations, while in a few scattered locations about Midland damage to individual trees was heavy. For this reason no blanket recommendation to spray pecans should be made.

Each pecan tree owner should inspect the young pecan nutlets for the presence of eggs on the tips of the nuts. The eggs are flat and blue-greenish white in coloration when first laid, but assume a pinkish red color after a day or two.

The eggs are small in size but can be seen with the naked eye upon close observation. The pecan nut casebearer larvae, upon hatching from eggs, feed on leaf buds for a short period of time and then attack the small pecan nutlets.

A small larva (worm) will attack a nutlet by cutting a hole into the base of the nutlet. As the larvae feeds in the nutlet, pellets of frass are produced. The frass material is collected outside the nutlet in fine webs. The webs also hold the nut cluster together and keep them from falling until the larva is mature.

Pecan nutlets should be checked 2 to 3 times a week for eggs. When eggs are detected on the nutlet tips, insecticidal sprays should be applied in 3 to 6 days. Where eggs are not detected but feeding damage to young nutlets are observed, insecticidal treatments should be applied immediately. Base on observations made in orchards in the immediate area and into New Mexico, moths may be emerging from pupal cases now.

Should this be the case egg lay on the nutlets will occur during the week of May 19th. Spraying then should be timed for the interval May 20 - 23. A second insecticide application about 7 days after the first is needed in most years for effective pecan nut casebearer control.

Insecticides such as Sevin, Malathion and Zolone will control pecan nut casebearers. Mix sprays according to the instructions given on the label of the insecticide container, following all precautions. Several home gardeners have expressed concern over the bolting (formation of seed heads) on onions transplanted into the garden early this spring. There are several conditions which cause bolting. Weather conditions during the growing season, the time of seeding and transplanting and the size of the transplant all affect the percentage of bolting. Also, varieties differ in bolting.

When seedstalks are produced, the bulbs will not cure properly and will not meet requirements for U.S. grades and thus are unmarketable for the commercial grower. A likely reason for the bolting in home gardens this year is the relatively mild February and March followed by a rather cool spring. Good, strong transplants that began growing vigorously when first set out, seem to be most affected. Also fall seeded onions have bolted more than 50 percent since they made too much growth during the winter.

There is really little that can be done to help the situation. Home gardeners could pull and utilize bolters as green onions. The idea of pinching or cutting the seed stalk out might be of slight benefit in keeping the plant vegetative.

When spring flowering bulbs bloom year after year, wait until their foliage has died back to the ground before removing it. Most bulbs should be dug and beds renovated every three to five years, depending on how long a bed of bulbs has been planted.

Purchasing Things Provide Children Chances To Practice Multiplication

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the eleventh of a series of 14 articles prepared by Science Research Associates, Inc., that shows how everyday situations can help children learn to add, subtract, multiply and divide.

The real world is filled with opportunities for children to practice multiplication. The most frequent is the consumer market, the grocery store, the dime store, the ice cream shop. Anytime a person buys more than one of anything, he uses multiplication. For most

Speech Students Honored At MHS

Three top awards were presented Friday evening at the Midland High School speech and drama students' banquet, held in the school's cafeteria.

Drama students Rich Gaines and Natalie Brown were named recipients of the two Martin Samples Awards, presented annually to the boy and girl who contribute the most to the organization throughout the year.

Julia Kinsey was cited as the outstanding speech student over a three-year period.

The banquet program also included a parody written by the senior students and the presentation of humorous awards by sponsors Jenetha Holt and James Buchanan.

Winkler Banker Moves To Clovis

WINK — Winkler County State Bank's president has been transferred by the Kipp-Rich banking group to Clovis, N.M.

R. D. Stelton, 34, who has been associated with the Wink institution the past two years, will assume his duties as vice president and cashier of Western Bank of Clovis June 1.

Both banks, as well as several others in Texas and New Mexico, are owned by Kipp-Rich.

children, this is their first time to use this skill buying three candy bars or five bubble gums.

Today's exercise provides practice in counting by twos. Many youngsters will work the exercise rapidly. Some may need help. Children who work the exercise with ease are ready to move on to more complex problems. Those who have difficulty may find practice in "skip-counting" on paper helpful.

"Skip-counting" is designed to help youngsters see how counting patterns develop, as well as to provide them with a practice model. For the ability to count by 2s, 3s, 4s, and so on will be a great asset to pupils as they work with sets of 2, 3 and 4 in multiplication.

To show a child how to skip-count, provide him with a sheet of lined paper and ask him to write the numerals in order from 1 to 18 with ONLY two numbers on a line. For example, the first line will read "1, 2," the second line, "3, 4," etc. When the exercise is complete, the numbers in the right column will read 2, 4, 6, 8, etc., down the page.

When that is complete, the child can write the numerals from 1 to 27 with only THREE numbers on a line. When this is complete, the numbers at the end of each line will read: 3, 6, 9, 12, etc.

The same activity can be done with 4, 5, 6 or more numbers on each line.

Parents and children also can practice skip-counting aloud saying the numbers with emphasis on the word at the end of the line, such as: one, two, THREE; four, five, SIX; seven, eight, NINE.

Children usually like the changing sound of skip-counting. Practice can be done with or without written lists.

If you would like a 32-page color booklet incorporating additional arithmetic problems that may help your child, send $1 to The Reporter-Telegram.

Pooch Has Part In Autograph Party

A pooch from the animal shelter here figures largely in an autograph party and reception scheduled Tuesday in the school administration building.

The honoree is Dr. Bernice Swanson, a former Tall City teacher and principal, and the book is "Ginger and the Little Lost Kitten." Ginger is a former Midlander, too. She came from the "pound."

The autograph party, to be held 3 to 5 p.m. in the board room, is being hosted by Epollon Eta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary society of key women teachers. Dr. Swanson was a charter member and former president of the group while living in Midland.

Currently living in Tulsa, Okla., where she is an associate professor of psychology at Northwest Oklahoma State University, she also will address the Midland Association for Retarded Citizens while visiting here.

That meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Opportunity Center. She will discuss building positive self-esteem for all children.

Dr. Swanson's book, written for grade levels 2 and 3, features a series of photographs of Ginger, many of which she took herself.

The author, who currently is writing a textbook about psychology of exceptional children, was director of special education while serving with the Midland public schools, as well as teacher and principal.

Dr. Swanson recently was named to the 1975-76 edition of "Who's Who of American Women" and also was recognized in "The Compendium: Persons of Emphasis in Exceptional Education."

The autograph party is open to the author's friends and former colleagues.

Two-Vehicle Crash Hurts One

Neva Head Clark, 44, of League City was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital and released Saturday afternoon after being injured about 12:30 p.m.

Police said she was injured when the car she was driving and a two-ton truck driven by Truett Melton Clark, 52, of League City, collided on Bankhead Highway near its intersection with Tower Road.

Berry Selected To Attend Honors Science Program

A Lee High School junior has been named one of 40 students in the United States to participate in the High School Honors Science Program to be held June 16 to July 23 at Michigan State University.

James Michael Berry, the son of Dr. and Mrs. George W. Berry of 2000 Neely St., will participate in the five-week program which includes chemistry, computer science, natural science and individual research projects.

U.S. 87 Repairs To Begin Soon

AUSTIN — The State Highway Department has called for bids on a project costing an estimated $750,000 for 4.5 miles of US 87 in Howard and Martin counties.

With 200 days allowed for completion, the work will include reconstructing grading, structures, flexible base and two course surface treatment. John H. Smart of Big Spring is engineer in charge.

"CALCULATE YOUR OWN PAYMENTS"

One of the most important considerations that should be met by any potential home buyer is the amount of monthly mortgage payments.

While there might be initial confusion in calculation of monthly payments of principle and interest, actually, even a most amateurish mathematician can do it.

Following is a handy sample that can be used!

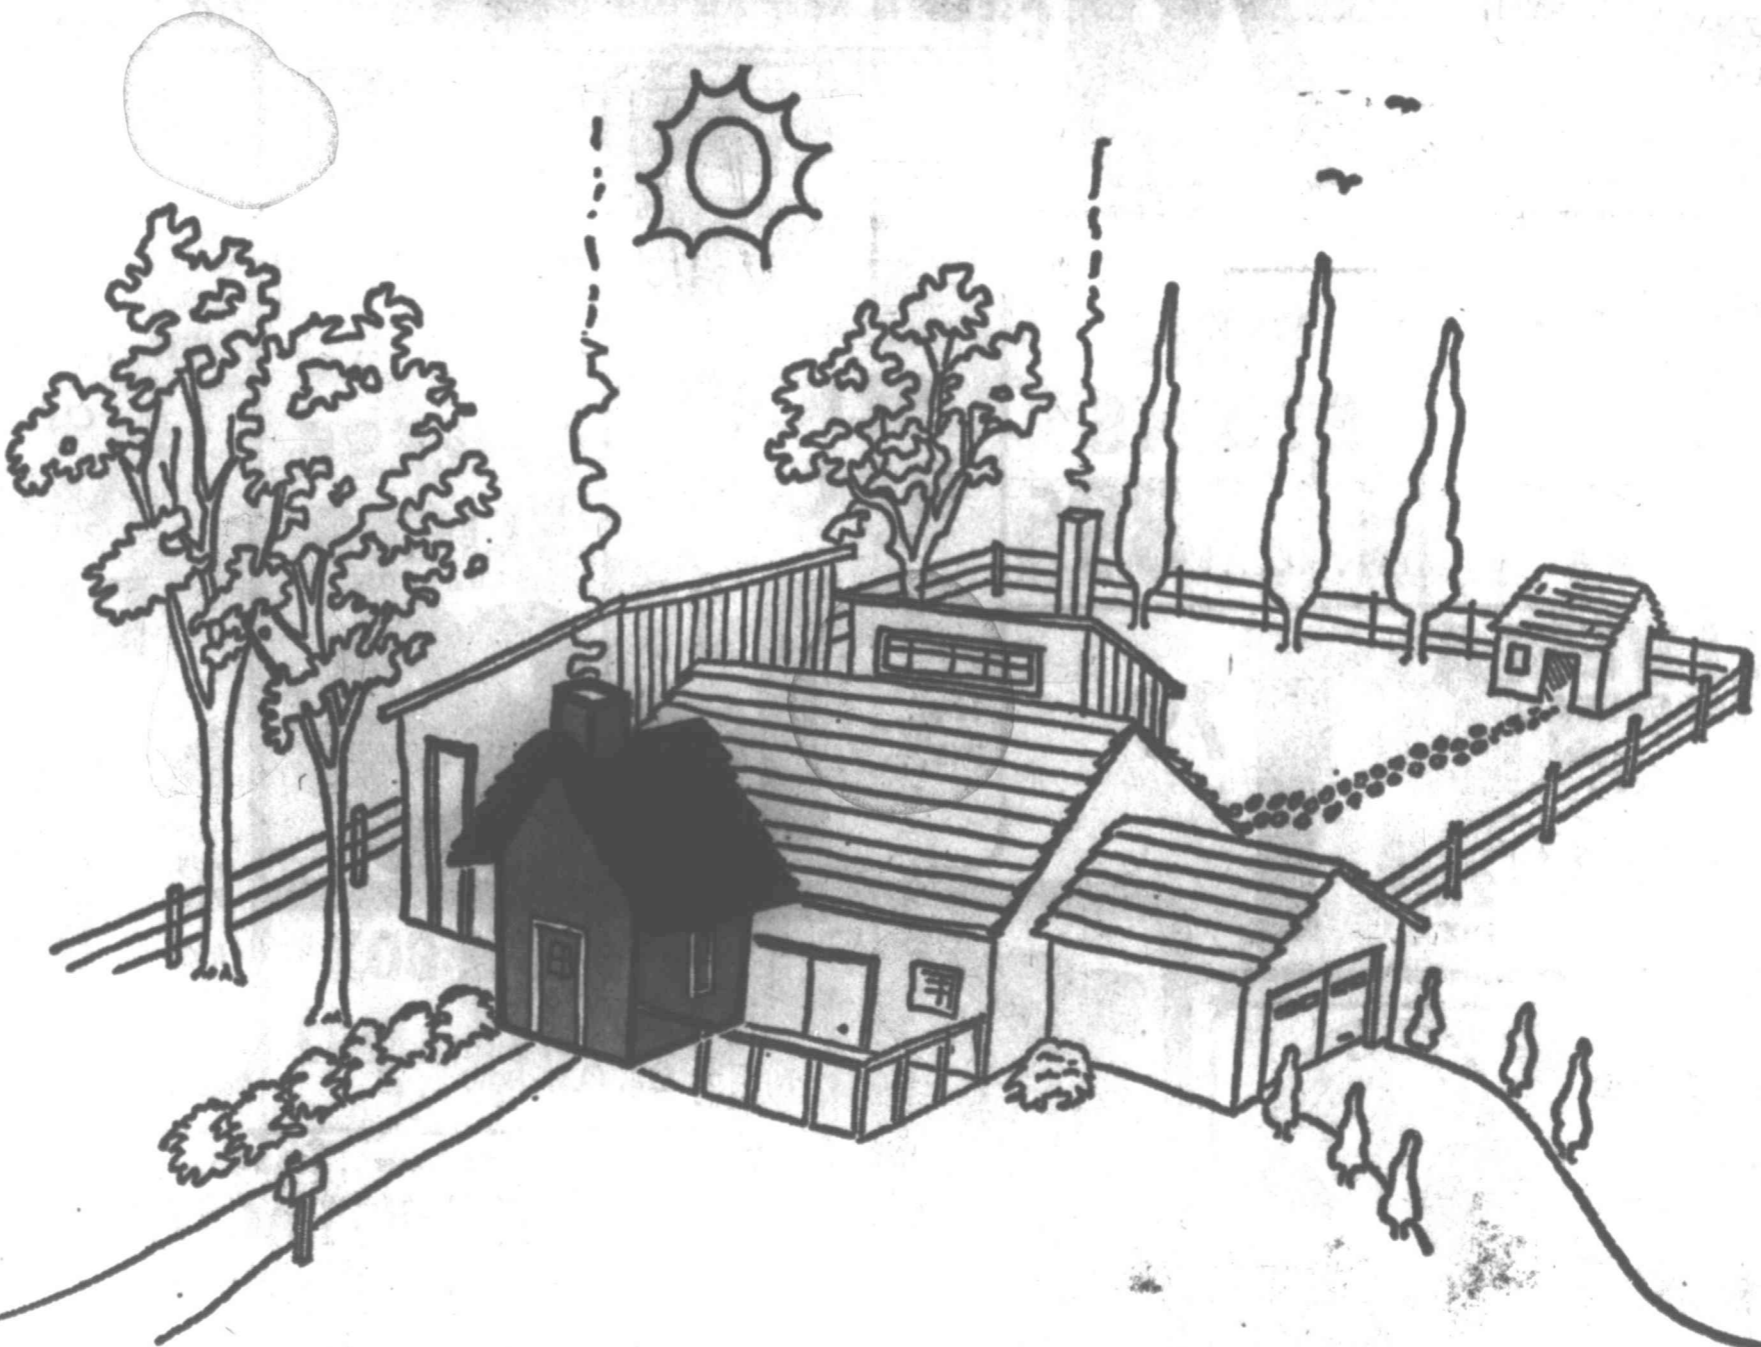

Home loan calculator table shows monthly principal-and-interest payments per $1,000 of mortgage.

Interest Rate	Length of Mortgage	20 Years	25 Years	30 Years
7 1/2 %		$8.06	$7.39	$7.00
7 3/4 %		8.21	7.56	7.17
8 %		8.37	7.72	7.34
8 1/4 %		8.52	7.89	7.51

To use: Multiply monthly payment-per-thousand in table by number of thousands of dollars to be borrowed. Results will be monthly principal-and-interest payments during the life of the mortgage.

In addition to the above figures, most monthly payments to mortgage lenders will include a set sum for taxes and insurance.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SUN., MAY 18, 1975-11A

Dedication of Midland College's newly completed permanent sign and the school's first flag raising is scheduled for 5:15 p.m. Monday at the campus entrance on North Garfield Street. A set of new flags—American, Texas, Bicentennial and Midland College—will be presented by The First National Bank during the ceremony.

Dr. Al G. Langford, Midland College president, will preside for the occasion and John P. Butler, honorary president of the First National's board, will present the flags. Accepting on behalf of the college will be Reagan Legg, trustee president, who also will recognize the raising of the colors by the Marine Corps color guard from the reserve center at Midland Regional Air Terminal. Gunnery Sgt. Robert Clements will be in charge. Musical selections for the event will be provided jointly by the Midland and Lee high school bands. The flags will be raised behind the school's new entrance sign, some 90 feet long and 5 feet high. It is constructed of poured-in-place brown concrete trimmed in brick. The block letters identifying the campus are black. The Midland College flag, to be raised last, was designed by the school's students and staff members. Using the college's colors, it depicts a gold roadrunner, the Midland College emblem, on a green background. It measures 5 by 8 feet.

Langford said the public is invited to attend the event pointing out that "we have scheduled the ceremony at 5:15 p.m. tomorrow in hopes that more of those people interested in attending would be able to participate."

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Can She Be Allergic To Men?

DEAR ABBY: If I asked my doctor about my problem, he'd think I was a hypochondriac, "putting him on" or even making a pass at him to prove my point. So I'll tell you: During my several marriages and all the romances in to men? Or do fatigue and emotional excitement lower one's resistance?

I really do like men, Abby. But they seem to be bad for my health. What do you suggest?

KISSING BUG

DEAR BUG: People who are "in love" usually don't get enough rest. And they don't eat properly. Consequently, their resistance is low, and they're more susceptible to whatever is going around.

Your problem could be that you don't stay with one man long enough to build up an immunity to his "germs." Given a choice, most women would rather be sick in bed with a wonderful man than playing solitaire in the best of health.

DEAR ABBY: My granddaughter got married two years ago. When she and her husband come to see me, he calls me "John." What is more, he calls my son, who is his father-in-law, "Frank."

I think this young man should call me, "Grandpa," and my son, "Dad." Am I right or wrong?

GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: Some Dads and Grandpas don't mind being addressed by their first names. But if you do, you should complain to the offending party.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Rear Adm. Jeremiah A. Denton Jr., who proclaimed "God bless America" when he returned two years ago after 7½ years as a North Vietnamese prisoner of war, is quitting the Navy to pursue a more active religious life.

Denton, 50, awarded the Navy Cross for enduring extreme torture during his years in captivity in Hanoi, told a news conference Friday he is not leaving the Navy because of the loss of Vietnam.

He said he will shed his uniform because of "a promise to God" that he would try to awaken a spirit of morality in the American people.

"My own particular conclusion is that the name of the game now is in the moral educational sphere and that the military is relatively less relevant to the most immediate and decisive problems confronting the country," he said.

Interest Rate For Late Tax Payments Due To Rise

DALLAS — The interest rate for taxpayers who are delinquent in paying federal tax bills, or have been granted extensions of time to file, will jump to 9 per cent per year beginning July 1, according to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

A. W. McCaless, district director of IRS operations in North Texas, said the higher interest rate was authorized by legislation enacted Jan. 1. The present rate is 6 per cent per year on most taxes.

The government, which now pays 6 per cent per year on overpayments by taxpayers, will also pay 9 per cent interest penalty starting July 1. Interest becomes payable if the overpayment is refunded to a taxpayer more than 45 days from the due date of the tax return, or from the date the return is received by the IRS, whichever is later, McCaless said.

In addition to hiking the interest rate to 9 per cent, the law provides for increasing or decreasing the rate in the future, to keep it in line with the prime interest rate commercial banks charge their largest customers.

McCaless said there has been no change in the percentage overpayments by taxpayers, but will be charged for the late payment also pay 9 per cent interest penalty.

The program entitled "Our Country 'Tis of Thee" will feature slides and song and the performance of a number composed by Burnet Elementary school student Diana Granado, "Dear Country of Mine." It will be performed by Lee shot put star Milton Jones.

Bill Cormack, coordinator of fine arts for the Midland Independent School District and originator of this biennial project, will be presented a certificate of recognition during the concert. An award will also be presented to Miss Granado.

Cleveland Amory, Wife Get Divorce

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland Amory, who became known for his writing about high society and is now active in animal protection, has reached a divorce agreement with his wife of 22 years.

Martha Hodge will get custody of their two nine-year-old Siberian huskies. The couple had no children.

Lee Senior Wins Janice Ottmann $500 Scholarship

Diane Hartman, a senior at Lee High School, is the first recipient of the Janice Ottmann Memorial Scholarship.

The scholarship, set up in honor of Janice Ottmann who was a former Lee student killed in an automobile accident early this year, is in the amount of $500 and will be awarded to a graduating senior at Lee for the next three years.

Miss Hartman is a member of the National Honor Society and has maintained a four year grade point of 3.51. She has been a member of the Lee swim team for three years and received a varsity letter her junior and senior years.

She was elected swimming sweetheart at homecoming and is a member of the St. Luke's United Methodist youth group, the Aviation Explorer Post and the German Club.

Miss Hartman plans to attend The University of Texas at Austin, majoring in fine arts. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hartman.

Ysidro Rodriguez Jr. Wins Scholarship

Ysidro Rodriguez Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ysidro Silva Rodriguez Sr. of 3301 Perry St., is the recipient of a $500 scholarship from the Lee High School National Honor Society.

Rodriguez plans to attend the Texas State Technical Institute in Waco and major in building construction.

While in high school Rodriguez has participated in the Distributive Education program for two years. He is employed by Midland Oil Scouts and has participated in various Distributive Education contests.

High-Stake World Championship Poker Players Described As 'Somethin' Else'

By ROD ANGOVE
 LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The clan of high-stakes poker players is what people here call "somethin' else."

At the seventh World Championship of Poker in progress at Binion's Horseshoe Club in downtown Las Vegas, the elite of the clan sat for up to 12 hours at a time vying for a $210,000 pot made from the $10,000 put in by each of the 21 entrants.

looks studious, even when he smiles.

Crandall Addington of San Antonio never wears the same suit twice in a tournament. All his suits are color-coded right down to the footwear.

Brian "Sailor" Roberts of San Angelo, the leader on Saturday with $128,000, arranges his chips into a bastille and flanks it on three sides with a massive belly and two hairy forearms. He vents the pressure by clowning — feigning emotion, fumbling chips.

The crowd applauds as Aubrey Day of Tuscaloosa, Ala., gets up and puts on his neatly tailored burgundy suitcoat after a last-chip defense in which he won three straight hands only to lose out completely moments later.

A colorful former winner of the championship, "Amarillo Slim" Preston, is a kibitzer. He went broke on the second day of the tournament this year.

Varied Programs Offered City's Senior Citizens

Mrs. Gary Alan McCright
Laura Hughes, McCright
Wed In Baptist Church

Laura Ann Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Hughes of 3517 Thomas St., and Gary Alan McCright, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoyle McCright Jr., 4400 Tanforan, were married at 2 p.m. Saturday in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Ted Brian officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Carla Tergerson was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Debbie Hughes of Houston, cousin of the bride, Karyn Robinson and Allyson McCright, sister of the bridegroom. Alessa McCright, also a sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

Carol Owens was the flower girl, and Michael Hughes, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Randy Reddell was the best man, and Clayton Holcomb, Dan McCright, brother of the bridegroom, and Hal Brockett of Lubbock were the groomsmen. The ushers were Ben Carmona and Bruce Peeler of Midland, Tommy Loughery of Austin and Don Roberts of Seminole.

Decorating the church was an archway of greenery and baskets of white, pink and yellow gladiolus. There also were candelabra with greenery, and a kneeling bench.

Mrs. Gary Hall was the organist and Loretta Bybee was soloist.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a cathedral-length gown of clipped Chantilly lace with a redingote effect over peau de soie. The Empire gown was accented with ruffles at the neckline and the wrist-length sleeves. Her veil was held by a duchess cap trimmed with pearls. She carried a cascade of pink and yellow roses with daisies, carnations and stephanotis. She presented her mother and the bridegroom's mother with a white rose.

The maid of honor wore a blue dotted Swiss gown with long sleeves and hemline accented with a wide ruffle. She carried a nosegay of light blue carnations, white daisies and baby's breath. The other bridal attendants had dresses in the same styling in yellow, mint green and pink. They carried colonial nosegays matching their gowns.

The reception was held in the church parlor. House party members were Gina Lively and Karen Haskell of Midland, Lori Fort of Big Spring, Pennie Harber of Seminole, Mrs. Bill Luck of Lubbock, Mrs. Harold Hughes of Houston, Mrs. Tom Loughery of Austin, Mrs. Charles Howe, Mrs. Buddy Evans, Mrs. Larry Gnagy and Mrs. H. W. Hollingshead Jr.

The couple will reside at 3423 20th St. in Lubbock after a trip to Corpus Christi.

The bride attended Texas Tech University and is a medical assistant for Dr. Lowell Snyder in Lubbock. The bridegroom is a junior student at Tech and is a member of Alpha-Tau Omega fraternity and the Tech Varsity Football Team.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents in the Garden Room of Midland Country Club. Mrs. Don Tergerson was hostess to the bridesmaids' luncheon.

Business Meet Held By Chapter

The Preceptor Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the home of Katie Hibler, 1701 N. A St., for a business session.

Mrs. Francis Stickney presided and presented the City Council report. She said the state sorority has voted to support the Center of Behavioral Studies for Artistic Children in Denton as its 1975 project. Dorothy Herzer introduced Mrs. Bill McCoy, who reviewed the book, "Five Hours from Istanbul."

Mrs. Gene Holmes received the hostess gift.

Plans were made for a dinner party to be held May 27 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howard for members and their husbands.

Mrs. George Guerrero

Linda Rountree Becomes Bride Of George Guerrero

Fred Paltani officiated for the double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. Saturday which united in marriage Linda Sue Rountree and George Guerrero in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Amelia M. Rountree of 1405 W. Ohio St. and Mr. and Mrs. Delino Guerrero of Robstown.

C. Edward Rountree presented his sister in marriage. She wore a formal-length gown of Oriental silk in traditional style. Exquisite re-embroidered Venice lace overlaid the fitted bodice which featured a scooped neckline, lace shoulder caps and cuffs over lantern sleeves. The A-line skirt and train were finished in a ruffled flounce and then circled in a wide border of matching lace. The veil of silk illusion fell to fingertip-length from a Venice lace camelot. She carried a cascade of yellow roses with streamers of silk ribbons tied in love knots.

The bride's honor attendants and bridesmaids wore sheer print dresses of yellow and green fashioned with butterfly sleeves, ruffled hems and Empire waists.

The groomsmen were Gilbert Pena of Robstown and Roy Pena of Odessa, both cousins of the bridegroom. Glenn Rountree, brother of the bride, Mike Reno of Dallas, cousin of the bride, and Steve Garratt of New York City. John David, Rudy Jamieson, Hal Crabbs and Tim Dittmore were the ushers.

Decorating the church were baskets of spring arrangements of yellow and white daisies with English ivy. Mrs. Jim Paddock, pianist, provides presymptonic.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will reside in Robstown. The bride is a graduate of Midland High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Robstown High School.

New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special) — An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive while eating almost as much as you want.

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Lose up to a Pound a Day
Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Eat All You Want
Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, lobster, chicken, fish, some sauces, gravies, bacon, eggs, and still lose weight.

Diet Now Available
To get a copy of this highly successful diet and grapefruit pills, send $5 for 10 day supply (or $8 for 20 day supply or $10 for 30 days supply) cash, check, or Money Order to: CITRUS FARMS LTD, Dept. A60, 4040 E. McDowell St., Phoenix, Arizona 85008. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) BankAmericard or Master Charge OK (send number and expiration date). (Adv.)

Couple Exchanges Marriage Vows

Teresa Jen Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frank Ward, 2401 W. Dengar St., and David Lane Compton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Shepard Compton of Hereford, were married at 5 p.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church.

Dr. Timothy W. Guthrie, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony. George DeHart was the organist and Mrs. Howard Parker was the vocalist. The Adult Handbell Choir of First United Methodist Church played pre-nuptial music and the recessional for organ and handbells.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal-length gown of white angelskin peau and peau d' ange lace. The gown featured long, fitted sleeves and bodice of peau d' ange and a scooped neckline of sheer organza. A full, circular skirt was complimented by a wide flounced hemline of headpiece enhanced with seed pearls held the waist-length nylon illusion veil. She carried gardenias and stephanotis accented with pittisporum foliage.

Carol Ward, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Diane McGrath of New Orleans, La. and Susan Compton of Hereford.

Aaron Stephens of Kerrville was best man. Ushers were Max Fruge of Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom, Guilford Ward, brother of the bride, and Greg Toole of Dallas. David O'Dell of Fort Worth and Kevin Compton of Hereford were the groomsmen.

Spiral candelabra with votive lights and jade foliage and large bouquets of Woburn Abbey roses, gladiolus and carnations were placed on either side of the altar area.

The bridal attendants were dressed identically in gowns of mint green organza. The fitted bodices were enhanced by flounced scooped necklines and short sleeves. The gown featured A-line carpet-length skirts. They wore sheer mint green garden hats accented with white streamers and carried mixed spring bouquets of Woburn Abbey roses, yellow and white daisy mums and gypsophilla.

A reception was held in the parlor of the First United Methodist Church. In the house party were Mrs. Greg Toole of Dallas, Susan Reed of Sherman, Lindy Fruge of Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom, Kim Compton of Hereford, sister of the bridegroom, Melissa McFadden of Midland, Michelle McFadden of Midland and Marsha McGrath of Dallas.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 2402 9th St., Apt. 1, Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a B.A. degree in History. She was on the Deans Honor Roll for eight semesters and was a member of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority and Little Sisters of Sigma Nu. She is employed with

Mrs. Gregory Lynn Cessna

Rebecca Harkins Bride Of Cessna

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Lynn Cessna, who were married at 7 p.m. Friday in the First Apostolic Church, will make their home in Midland following a wedding trip to Austin and San Antonio.

The bride is the former Rebecca Lynn Harkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ray Harkins, 480 Roosevelt St.

The groom, Mr. Gregory Lynn Cessna, of 201 E. Baker St. are the parents of the bridegroom.

The father of the bridegroom officiated for the ceremony, and Mrs. Chris Gilmer, the organist, Nita Balastero of Houston and Mrs. Gilmer, soloist, and Danny Cessna, saxophonist, provided wedding selections.

Brenda Harkins attended her sister as maid of honor.

Miss Balastero and Julie Beth Harkins, also a sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Joann Lynn Harkins, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Best man was Max Cessna, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Buddy Lamb, uncle of the bridegroom, and David Harkins, brother of the bride.

Danny Cessna, brother of the bridegroom, and Danny Ray Allison, uncle of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Jonathan Cessna, brother of the bridegroom, was carrier of the Bible.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown in a modified Victorian silhouette of satin silk organza and silk embroidered tulle. The fitted bodice, with a Victorian yoke effect from the long, slim lace sleeves, ended with scalloped lace ruffle and a wedding ring neckline. The A-line skirt flowed into a softly gathered chapel-length train. The bodice and sleeves were accented with bridal pearls and French crystals. The bride's bouffant three-tiered veil was edged in lace and held together with pink Baby roses and white camellias. She carried a cascade of white camellias sprinkled with pink stamens and pink hearts centered with pink Baby roses. Bouquet included a white Bible covered in satin and lace given her by her grandmother when she was born.

Decorations of the church included two-seven branch spiral candelabra entwined with greenery and pink roses, and two baskets of pink and mint green carnations.

The bridal attendants were dressed identically in formal Victorian style dresses featuring a wide ruffle at the hemline. They were finished with on-detailed swiss with ruffles at the wrists and trimmed with white lace.

The Victorian style necklines were in keeping with the bridal gown. They carried messages of new green carnations accented with pink Baby roses.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Lella Mae Kuntz, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Joyce Lamb, Mrs. Donna Allison, Mrs. Kay Driver, Mrs. Brenda Cessna, Mrs. Susie Glen and Brenda Lamb were in the house party.

Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. Van Crocker of West Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bawcom and W. H. Harkins Sr. of Lake Arthur, La., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cessna of Bedford, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Mike Young of Bedford and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lamb of Pecon.

Party Courtesy For Miss Rhodes

Celia Joan Rhodes, bride-elect of Thomas Alan Layne, was the honoree at a recent lingerie shower given in Fort Worth.

Miss Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cecil Rhodes, No. 1 Deerfield St., and Layne, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Layne of Lubbock, will be married July 12 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Hostesses to the party in the Steppes Room were Peni Atwood of Dallas, Carol Paterson of Annandale, Va., Janie Atmar, Linda James and Betsy Junell of Houston, who will be bridesmaids in the wedding.

Midland In Bloom Program Given At Woman's Club

Members of Midland Garden Club were hostesses to the final luncheon of the current club year of the Midland Women's Club Thursday.

The program, "Midland in Bloom," was a slide presentation produced by Mrs. I. W. Hynd, member of the hostess club, and her husband. They had photographed scenes of blooming trees and shrubs and gardens. Mr. and Mrs. Hynd spent more than two years preparing the program, which was accompanied by music.

Mrs. L. H. Humphrey was in charge of the decorations. Tables were decorated with pink and blue larkspur and pink roses.

The vice president, Mrs. J. S. Knauer, presided. She presented a short resume of the history and activities of the Midland Garden Club. Mrs. William N. Sands made the gift presentation from the Woman's Club for Mrs. Yale E. Key for her services as president.

Mrs. Earl T. Glasgow reported life memberships in the Woman's Club have been presented to Mrs. Key and Mrs. John P. Butler. Mrs. William N. Sands, scholarship chairman, reported on scholarships presented to Celeste Nan Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dow Smith, and Patrice Ann Swihart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Swihart.

Mrs. E. J. Flannery announced the Woman of the Year for the 1974-75 club year is Mrs. Ernest Neill. She obtained and sponsored the most new members for the coming year.

COUPLE BETROTHED — Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Berry of 2305 Culpeper Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Belinda Ann, to Michael Dale Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wolf of 3604 Gaston Drive. The couple will marry at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 22 in West Side Church of Christ. Both are graduates of Midland High School. She is attending Midland College and he is employed as assistant manager with Sandy Land Western Wear.

Mrs. Dennis Duane O'Donnell

Patricia Diane Owens Bride Of Dennis D. O'Donnell

Patricia Diane Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary G. Owens of 1409 N. Marienfeld St., and Dennis Duane O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. O'Donnell of 303 Tanglewood St., were married at 7 p.m. Friday in the North A and Tennessee Streets Church of Christ, with William F. Walker, minister, officiating.

Maid of honor for the double ring ceremony was Ellen Brown of Lubbock. Bridesmaid was Teresa Owens, sister of the bride. Best man was Mike Crabb of Kermit. Ushers were Garreth Pollard of Odessa and Greg Owens of Midland, brother of the bride. Rick Thurman served as groomsmen.

Arrangements of white gladioli and white mums decorated the church. Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown, made by her mother, overlaid with lace featuring scalloped down the front accented with seed pearls. The gown was fashioned with long lace sleeves. Empire waistline ring collar and an A-line skirt. The cuff of the sleeves, the neckline and waistline were enhanced with daisy lace and seed pearls trim. Her net veil was of tulle.

The maid of honor wore a green floral chiffon dress fashioned with a round neckline bell sleeves, empire waist and A-line skirt. The bridesmaid was dressed identically in yellow floral chiffon. Both carried yellow daisies, baby's breath and greenery bouquets.

A reception was held in the Service Building of the church. Mrs. David Ham of Lubbock, Mrs. J. D. Allen of Lamesa, Mrs. C. R. Trice of Hobbs, N.M., and Mrs. E. V. McNew, Mrs. W. F. Walker, Mrs. I. J. Holder, Carla Perry, Mrs. Janice Tullon, Mrs. R. K. Owens and Mrs. W. D. Brown, all of Midland, were in the house party.

Following a wedding trip to San Angelo, the couple will reside at 1409 Marienfeld St. The bride is a graduate of Commercial College employed with Wailen Productions. O'Donnell attended The University of Texas at Arlington and Odessa College. He is employed with KBZB Radio at Odessa.

Mrs. Freddy Glyn Lowe

Miss Dobbins, Freddy Lowe Wed In Double Ring Rites

The Corinth Baptist Church was the scene of the marriage between Terrya Lettie Dobbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dobbins of 1309-C N. Pecan St. and Freddy Glyn Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Lowe of Chillicothe, at 3 p.m. Friday, with the Rev. Curtis Howell officiating for the double ring ceremony.

Decorating the church was a pair of conicals and an archway spanned with baby blue and heavy blue carnations.

Escorted down the aisle and presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of pearl sprinkled Chantilly lace over peau de soie. The modified Empire bodice scattered with seed pearls featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline and pearl ornamented, long semi bell sleeves. A full, voluminous chapel train of peau flowed from the slender silhouette, which had a scalloped Chantilly hemline. Her shoulder-length veil of multiple layers of silk illusion was held by a headpiece of pearlized flowers and crystals.

The bridal bouquet was a styled cascade of lace backed white Frenched carnations encircling blue roses and showered with love knotted ribbons.

Matron of honor was Georgia Chastain, Sherry Jones of El Paso and Pam Haywood and Tammy Lowe, both of Midland.

were bridesmaids. Flower girls were Kimberly Jones of El Paso and Debbie Lowe of Midland.

Best man was James Tompkins. Ushers were Larry Jones of El Paso and Alan Haywood, Gary McLennan of Houston and Ken Pruitt were groomsmen. Bradley Beth of Odessa carried the rings.

Judy Swales, organist, and Marvin Blansett and Vicki Banta, a duet, provided pre-nuptial music.

The matron of honor wore a formal light blue dotted Swiss dress fashioned with long, puffed sleeves and an A-line skirt with a sash in the back. The bridesmaids were dressed identically, except in navy blue dotted Swiss. All attendants carried blue corsages, nosegays with dark blue star flowers and light and dark blue streamers.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Wesley Blansett, Mrs. David Fawcett, Mrs. Curtis Hollis, Mrs. Buford Burton and Mrs. Jim Hawkins were in the house party.

Following a wedding trip to Galveston, the couple will reside on Route 1. The bride, a graduate of Lee High School, is employed as a secretary for Skelly Oil Co. Lowe is a graduate of Chillicothe High School employed with Drilco.

JULY WEDDING DATE - Mrs. Jack M. Pearce, 403 W. Pecan St., announces the engagement of her daughter, Rhonda Kay, to Gregory A. Moore. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gregory A. Moore, 412 W. Spruce St. Vows will be exchanged at 5 p.m. July 19 in Oaklawn Park Baptist Church. The bride-elect will be a 1975 graduate of Midland High School, where she is a member of DECA. Fiddlers Contest Set At Goldthwaite

GOLDTHWAITE — A pre-Bicentennial fiddlers contest and festival is scheduled next Saturday which is expected to attract old-time fiddling enthusiasts from throughout the state and neighboring states. The event has been approved by the Texas Old Time Fiddlers Association.

The festival, sponsored by the Goldthwaite Lions Club, will begin with a preliminary jam session on Friday evening. The fiddling contest will be held beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday. Site of the contest and festival will be the Mills County Park in Goldthwaite. The festival will also offer an arts and crafts show, a flea market, concession stands and food booths. A barbecue lunch will be served there Saturday noon. Admission to the festival will be free.

Art Show Ending At Crane Today

CRANE — The spring citation show for Region 19 of the Texas Fine Arts Association will continue through this afternoon at the Crane Museum and Art Center. It is open to the public without charge.

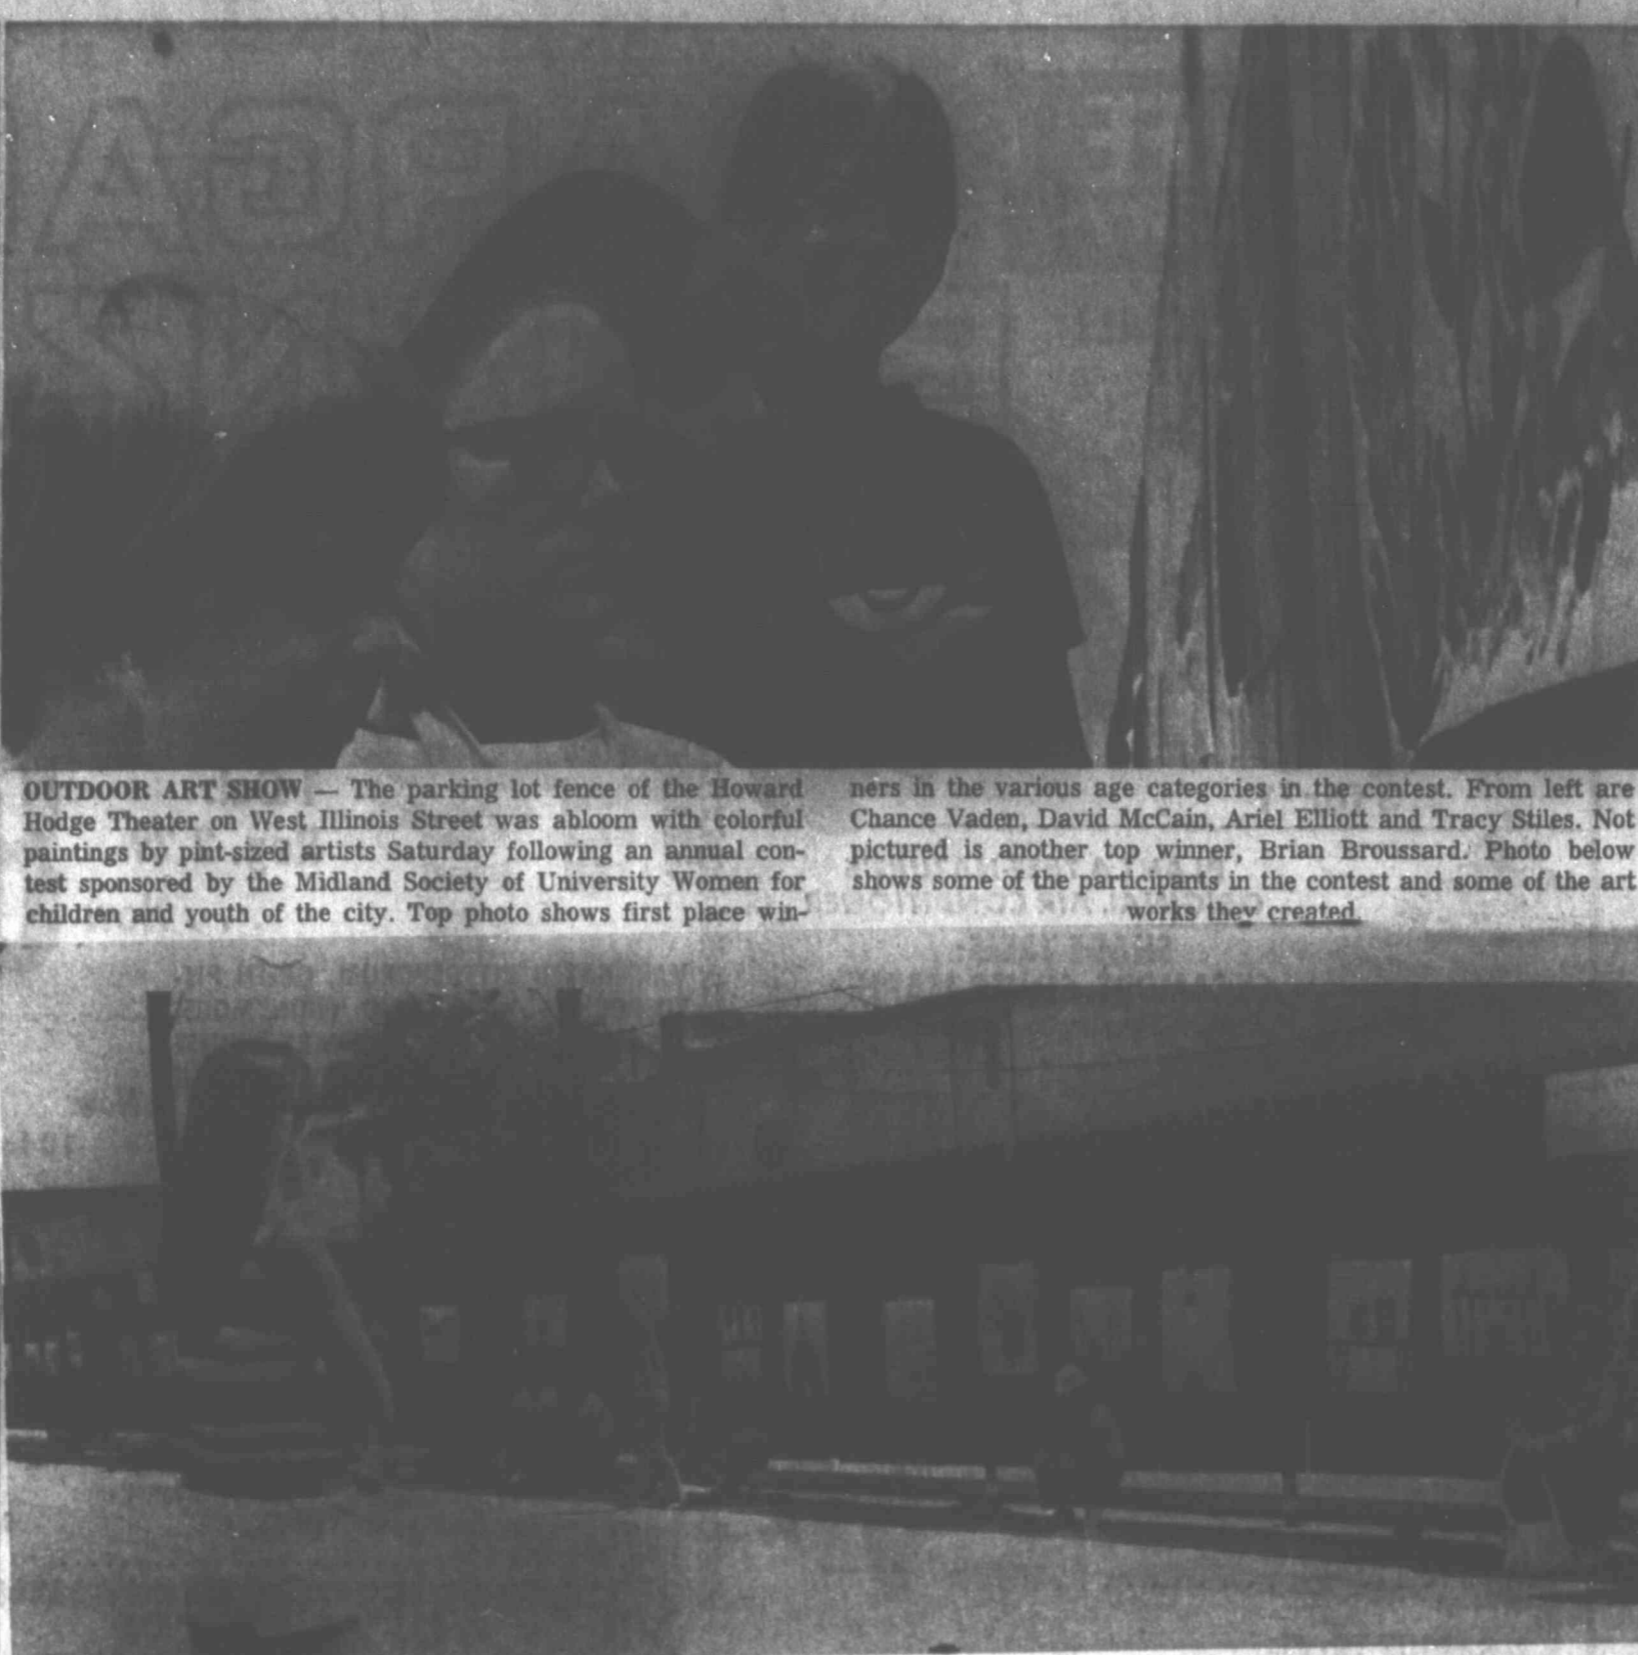

The show opened Saturday under sponsorship of the Oil Patch Art Association of Crane.

Awards to winning artists will be presented at the museum at 4 p.m. today.

Holden To Be Honor Guest At Reception

LUBBOCK — Dr. W. C. Holden, distinguished author and historian, will be guest of honor next Sunday afternoon at a reception in Lubbock's Municipal Garden and Arts Center.

The 2 to 5 p.m. event, to be open to the public, will mark the publication of a new book on regional history by Dr. Holden, longtime faculty member of Texas Tech University and a former director of the West Texas Museum, now The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Dr. Holden's new work, titled "Alton Hutson: Reminiscences of a South Plains Youth," is a lively account of life in the Lubbock area during the early years of this century. Hutson, now of Las Vegas, Nev., was born in Lubbock in 1903 and grew up here. During his youth and adulthood he witnessed the evolution of a dusty prairie village into a thriving metropolis.

Next Sunday's reception and autograph party is sponsored by the South Plains Genealogical Society. A portion of the proceeds from book sales during the afternoon will be used by the organization to purchase books and microfilm for the genealogical research collection in the Texas history and

Ray Price Benefit Next Saturday

ODESSA — The Odessa Symphony Association is inviting area music lovers to "spend an evening with Ray Price" this coming Saturday. By so doing, they'll not only be availing themselves of top-flight musical entertainment, but will also be giving a financial boost to the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Choral.

Price, one of the nation's most popular singers and recording artists, will present his concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Odessa's Ector County Coliseum under sponsorship of the Odessa Symphony Association, with proceeds to be used by the association to fulfill its budget commitments to the Midland-Odessa Symphony.

Price, a country and western singer famous for his unique vocal style, has entertained audience throughout the U.S. as well as in Canada and Europe. A popular performer on college and university campuses, Price has performed with major symphony orchestras and has made guest appearances on such television talk shows as the "Tonight Show" and the "Mike Douglas Show."

A native of Perryville, Price began his show business career in Dallas in 1961. Later he joined the Hank Williams Show, went to Nashville and became a Columbia recording artist. From the days of "Release Me," "Crazy Arms" and the well-remembered "Heartaches by the Number," to that million-seller of more recent years, "For the Good Times," Price has sung his way to the top of his profession, garnering many awards along the way. Price will be backed by the Moises Calderon Trio as well as by instrumentalists of the Midland-Odessa Symphony in the Saturday night concert.

Reserved seats for the event are $5, $6 and $7. Tickets will be on sale in Midland daily this week at the Record Center, 2507 W. Wall St., and M. L. Ledy & Sons, 2308 W. Front St.

In addition, tickets are being sold at the First National Bank of Andrews, at Western World in the Town and Country Center of Big Spring, and at M. L. Ledy & Sons in San Angelo. There are also several ticket outlets in Odessa, including the American Bank Convenience Center downtown, Montgomery

Stanton Lions To Celebrate 30th Anniversary

Guthrie Players Presenting 'Everyman' Tonight

"What is lasting in life?" is the question subtly posed in the allegorical drama, "Everyman," which comes to Midland's Theatre Centre for a special presentation tonight.

Probably the best surviving example of the medieval "morality plays" which sought to communicate to audiences ideas about what was considered right and proper behavior in the light of religious thinking, "Everyman" will be performed here by a group from the famous Guthrie Theater in Minneapolis, Minn. The seven-member cast is currently on a Western tour after presenting the unique drama on the Guthrie's main stage during the winter season. The Midland performance is only one of three in Texas.

The performance here, sponsored by Midland Community Theatre Inc., will be open to the public. Tickets priced at $3 for MCT members, $4 for non-members and $1 for students, will be on sale at the box office of Theatre Centre, 2301 W. Indiana St., beginning at 7 p.m. today. The performance will begin at 8.

"Everyman" presents one man's reckoning with Death. Summoned by Death and informed that he has only a day to live, Everyman desperately attempts to find someone to accompany him on his journey.

Family, friends and material goods all reject him. Then he seeks help from abstract qualities such as Beauty, Strength and Discretion; these too, desert him. In the end, only his Good Deeds accompany him.

"Everyman" is played out on a bare stage. When a scenic effect is needed, the actors create it.

The costumes for "Everyman" are designed to suggest anatomical structures reminiscent of da Vinci's famous sketches. To create the anatomical effect, the designer stretched an earth-tone leotard over a mannequin and painted it with an abstraction of the body's basic muscle structure. Shadows then were air-brushed on, using a special dye, and highlights were created by bleaching areas that needed to be lighter.

The anatomical design is intended to emphasize characteristics of the human body common to "Everyman," and thus to reinforce the production's theme of universality.

Robert Benedetti, director of the Guthrie Theater's version of the famous play, describes "Everyman" as a ritual play which celebrates the ongoing flow of life and magical power of the theater.

Museum To Host Famed Indian Artist-Craftsman

The Museum of the Southwest will be host to noted Indian artist-craftsman Houston Saryerwinnie of Russell, Kan., next weekend.

Saryerwinnie will give demonstrations of traditional Plains Indian handicrafts and ceremonial dances during appearances in the museum's Turner Memorial Gallery next Friday and Saturday. Weather permitting, the dances will be presented on the Turner Gallery grounds, 1705 W. Missouri St.

Saryerwinnie, a Comanche Indian, is described as a masterful ceremonial dancer. He regularly attends and participates in two of the best-known Indian ceremonial events in the nation, the Gallup, N.M. ceremonial dances and the American Indian Exposition at Anadarko, Okla.

The dancer's intricate costumes have been crafted by Saryerwinnie of completely natural materials, many of them becoming increasingly difficult to obtain. Each piece of each costume is unique, with virtually no duplication in any other outfit. Many of the techniques employed in the creation of the colorful costumes will be demonstrated by Saryerwinnie during informal visits with museum visitors next weekend.

Midland Memorial Hospital has arranged for the visitor to perform some of his dances for the children in the pediatric ward while in Midland.

Saryerwinnie's schedule calls for craft demonstrations at 3 p.m. Friday and a dance demonstration at 7:30 p.m. that day. On Saturday he will give dance demonstrations at 2 and 7:30 p.m. and a crafts demonstration beginning at 3 p.m. All events will be open to museum visitors at no charge.

Star-Spangled Entertainment Planned By Permian Playhouse

ODESSA — A star-spangled, all-American lineup of entertainment is planned at Permian Playhouse during its forthcoming Bicentennial season.

The Playhouse, Odessa's community theater, has launched its annual membership campaign for the new season which begins officially on June 1 and runs through May 1976.

Themed "Happy Birthday U.S.A.," the Bicentennial season will offer such uniquely American theatrical hits as "George M.," the musical based on the life of that Yankee Doodle Dandy, George M. Cohan, and "Ring 'Round the Bathub," playwright Jane Trahey's warm and hilarious trip back to the Depression '30s for a visit with a wacky, winning family.

"George M" will lead off the new season next September, and is but one of two musicals planned for presentation at the Playhouse during the season. The other will be either Rick Besoyan's "Little Mary Sunshine," a gentle musical spoof of all those Jeanette McDonald-Nelson Eddy "Western" musicals of the 1930, or "The Sunshine Boys," playwright Neil Simon's touching, tender musical play about two retired vaudeville performers, former partners in a popular stage act, now living out their years in an old folks' home. The second musical production will be a season-closing event next May.

Other stage attractions in the new season will be Jason Miller's recent Broadway hit, "That Championship Season"; a light comedy, "Play It Again, Sam," by one of America's favorite funnymen, Woody Allen, and "The Petrified Forest," Robert E. Sherwood's timeless drama about desperadoes who terrorize the residents of a lonely highway oasis in the Arizona desert. The suspense drama is probably best remembered as the vehicle which spurred the late Humphrey Bogart's acting career.

Popular categories of season membership include regular membership, offering 16 admissions during the year, for $30; single membership, for single persons only, which allows eight admissions for $15, and student membership, for bonafide students only, offering eight admissions for $12. In addition, there are patron memberships at $45, sustaining at $75, sponsor at $100, donor at $150 and angel memberships at $250.

Season memberships are on sale daily at the theater box office, 310 W. 42nd St., or they may be purchased by mail from Permian Playhouse, P.O. Box 6713, Odessa 79762.

Pooler Planetarium Slates Star Shows Next Weekend

ODESSA — Star shows will be presented this coming weekend and the weekend after at Odessa College's Pooler Planetarium.

"Summer Under the Stars" is the title of the series which will be under the direction of Keith Johnson, planetarium director. Johnson will narrate the programs.

The star show next Saturday will be highlighted by viewings of a total lunar eclipse which will begin at approximately 11 p.m. and last for more than two hours.

The first show will be next Friday evening, and there will be additional presentations on May 30-31. Admission for each event will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. OC students may attend free of charge.

Mrs. Steven Kyle Bush

Cynthia Williams Becomes Bride Of Steven Kyle Bush

The Golf Course Road Church of Christ was the setting for the marriage of Cynthia Lynn Williams and Steven Kyle Bush at 2 p.m. Saturday. Winston Bell officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ratcliff, 1006 Tarleton St. and Mr. and Mrs. Dwane Bush of 1804 W. Louisiana St.

When presented in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a traditional gown of Oriental silk and Venice lace. The fitted Empire bodice featured a sunburst effect yoke of lace finished with matching Venice lace, lace ring neckline and full Bishop sleeves gathered to a lace cuff enhanced with a self ruffle above the hands. The A-line skirt featured three rows of lace around the hemline and the chapel train. Her chapel-length French illusion veil was edged in Venice lace and held by a matching lace Camelot. She carried a semi-cascade of Sonia roses, white miniature carnations, and stephanotis.

A rainbow candelabra with jade foliage and white tapers formed the background for the ceremony. It was flanked by a pair of spiral candelabra also entwined with jade foliage and holding white tapers.

Susan Pollard was maid of honor. Lisa Williams served her sister as bridesmaid. Flower girl was Sabrina Ratcliff and Jolie Ratcliff carried the rings. Both are sisters of the bride.

Ross Bush, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The groomsmen were Guy Richards, cousin of the bridegroom. The bridesmaid was attired in a dress of flocked sheer delight over apricot satin peau fashioned with a scooped neckline with a ruffled hemline and short puffed sleeves. All attendants carried nosegays of white daisies accented with yellow satin streamers.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. Bryan Pollard, Mrs. Mike Combs, Mrs. Gene Shrode, Tammy Woodard, Susan Bechtel, Melissa Ward and Linda Hagler were in the house party.

The couple will reside in Wichita Falls.

Journalism Professor Guest Speaker For Ladies Assn.

David V. Burkett III, an assistant professor of journalism at Trinity University in San Antonio, will be the guest speaker for the Ladies' Association of Midland Country Club Friday.

The program will follow a social period at 11:30 a.m. and luncheon at 12 noon.

Burkett, who teaches courses in communication, news reporting and non-fiction, will discuss inter-personal communication. He has bachelor of science and master's degrees in magazine writing and editing, creative writing and psychology from Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University, taking post-graduate work at the U.S. Department of State Foreign Service Institute at Arlington, Va. He joined the Trinity University staff in 1960. In 1970, he received national attention for his freshman level course in communication. The class focuses on inter-personal communication as the basis for understanding and practice of mass communication.

As a visiting lecturer, Burkett has spoken on communication at colleges, universities and high schools, professional press associations and civic, community and national organizations. In 1973, he was named U.S. Air Force Reserve Information Officer of the Year and also was the Central Region Air Force Reserve's Information Officer of the Year.

Mrs. Charles Floyd Tims

Charles Floyd Tims' Will Take Trip To Colorado

Charles Floyd Tims and his bride, the former Susan Carol Williams, will reside at 1514 Ave. N, Lubbock, following a wedding trip to the Red River and Colorado.

The couple was married in a single ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Saturday in Christ Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Richard H. Schmidt officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim R. Williams of 2611 Dengar St. She is a graduate of Texas Tech University and was a member of Alpha Chi Omega, social sorority, and ACE and TSEA, educational organizations. She is assistant manager of the Fleet and Leasing Dept. of Modern Chevrolet Co. at Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Tims of Dallas are parents of the bridegroom. He is attending Texas Tech where he is a member of Beta Theta Pi, social sorority. He is employed with Associated Supply Co., Lubbock.

When presented in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of white silk organza and beaded peau d'ange lace. The molded bodice was marked with a set-in applied yoke of beaded Alencon lace and crystals, and long, slim sleeves belled out, slightly at the wrists with duplicate trim and closed with tiny buttons. The A-line skirt was highlighted with an embroidered effect of Venice lace and bridal pearls. The skirt gathered into fullness at the back forming a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was edged in Chantilly lace and held by a matching bandeau.

Pearls traced the lace matching her gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of Phalaenopsis orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Karen Williams of Lubbock served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Roy Anne Williams, also sister of the bride. Mrs. Mark J. O'Brien of College Station was matron of honor.

Best man was Gerry Burr of Lubbock. Ushers were Terry Cantrell of Lubbock and Bob Taylor and Charles Mahoney of Dallas. Groomsmen were Fred Rolke of Dallas and Steve Wright of Lubbock.

The bridal attendants were dressed identically in floor-length peach gowns fashioned with cowl necklines. The maid of honor and matron of honor each carried one peach and one yellow silk rose tied with peach ribbon. The bridesmaid carried a single peach silk rose accented with peach ribbon.

Decorating the church were two identical white baskets filled with spring floral arrangements, and seven branch candelabra with fresh greenery.

Mrs. Robert Scott, organizer, provided pre-nuptial music. A reception was held in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn, Kathy Long and Debbie Shaw of Midland, Jan Hogan of Lubbock, Mrs. William Grillos of Lubbock, Anne Tims of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. James Bubenik of Duncanville, sister of the bridegroom, were in the house party.

Master Derby Pounds To Narrow Preakness Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — Master Derby, sent off at 23-1, took the lead at the head of the stretch and pounded to a narrow victory over favored Foolish Pleasure Saturday in the $10,600 Preakness Stakes.

Jacinto Vasquez, aboard Foolish Pleasure, filed a foul claim against the winner and there was no immediate resolution.

With Darrel McHargue in the saddle, the chestnut son of 1971 Kentucky Derby winner Dust Commander was held just off the pace until he began his move on the turn for home.

Foolish Pleasure, winner of the Derby two weeks ago, was far back in the early going, running seventh. He closed with a rush that fell about a length short.

Frank McMahon's Diabolo held on for third, the same position he had in the Derby, and Prince Thou Art finished fourth.

Master Derby finished fourth in the Derby, but had won five races in a row before that, including the Louisiana Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes.

Native Guest, the previously unbeaten invader from the West Coast, broke first from the gate with Media, the lightly raced colt from New York, in close pursuit.

Singh, also unbeaten this season prior to Saturday, was placed in third position two lengths behind the leaders with Master Derby following closely for the first half mile.

Diabolo and Avatar ran fifth and sixth, with Foolish Pleasure seventh.

Jockey Angel Cordero Jr. sent Singh to the front a half-mile into the 1.3-mile race. But at that same point Master Derby was making his move, first to the outside and then to the rail.

Master Derby won by a length over Foolish Pleasure. Diabolo was another length back at the wire with Prince Thou Art following by 1 1/2 lengths.

Foolish Pleasure, suffering only the second defeat of his 13-race career, was sent off the 6-5 favorite by an estimated record crowd of 70,000 fans who jammed Pimlico Race Course for the 100th running of the second leg of the Triple Crown.

Master Derby was timed in 1:56 2/5, which is more than two seconds off the record set in 1972 by Canonero II. Fractions for the race were :23 2/5, :47 1/5, 1:11 3/5 and 1:36 1/5.

Master Derby paid $48.80, $16.00 and $7.20. Foolish Pleasure returned $3.20 and $2.60. Diabolo paid $4.90 to show.

Master Derby, who won only five of 12 starts last year, caught fire after he was left in the gate in the LeComte early in March at the New Orleans Fair Grounds and won his next five races in easy fashion.

Behind the first four finishers, in order, were Avatar, Singh, Native Guest, Bold Chapeau, Just The Time and Media.

The victory for Master Derby was worth $158,100 and boosted the colt's bankroll to $498,063.

Trainer W. E. "Smiley" Adams obviously wasn't believed by the fans when he said Master Derby lost a chance to win the Kentucky Derby when he was bumped on the first turn at Churchill Downs, forcing him to go wide.

Adams predicted a better Preakness finish as long as Master Derby was allowed to run his own race.

Master Derby, in 21 starts, has never finished off the board in stakes competition and has won 11, finished second six times and third twice.

The colt is out of a Royal Coatage mare, Madam Jerry, and was bred in Kentucky at Mrs. Robert E. Lehmann's Golden Chance Farm.

His sire, Dust Commander, (Related Story Page 4C)

won eight of 42 races and earned $215,012, most of it coming from his Kentucky Derby victory.

Dust Commander, purchased as a yearling for only $6,500, was sold to Japanese interests for a price that reportedly exceeded $500,000.

Foolish Pleasure, before the Preakness, had been defeated only once—in the March 29 Florida Derby when both Prince Thou Art and his stablemate, Sylvan Place, beat Foolish Pleasure to the wire.

However, after that race, trainer LeRoy Jolley said the colt had injured both front feet. Within three weeks, he had healed and won the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct after a mad dash to get position from his No. 15 starting slot.

Foolish Pleasure, John L. Greer's bay son of What A Pleasure, came from well off the pace in the Kentucky Derby as well, winning by 1 1/2 lengths over Avatar, with Diabolo finishing third.

But he could not pull it off this time.

Vasquez, aboard Foolish Pleasure, brought his colt to the outside. In his foul claim, Vasquez charged that Master Derby moved in on him during the stretch run.

"He was clear, but still made me change my course," Vasquez said. The stewards apparently didn't see it that way.

Vasquez said Foolish Pleasure apparently did not like the Pimlico track. "He was climbing all the way. It was cuppy and he didn't run his race," he said.

Lefty Pincay Jr., the rider on Diabolo, said the son of Damascus "ran a good race. He lost some ground around the turn but there was nothing I could do about it."

Jockey Braulio Baeza said Prince Thou Art did as well as possible. "He just got outrun," he said.

Bill Shoemaker, aboard Avatar, also complained of a cuppy track, but said there is "no excuse that I could see" for his horse's fifth place finish.

Singh, flying the colors of Cynthia Phipps and riding a four-race winning streak, was "caught between horses and I think it was the outside horse who came in and stopped us" at the three-eighths pole, said rider Cordero.

Part of Master Derby's put-on of the fans came because more than half his victories in recent races had come on a muddy track and the Pimlico strip was lightning fast for the 100th Preakness.

That did not keep them from betting on other horses, however. For the first time in Preakness history, the fans bet more than $1 million on the race itself. They pushed more than $1,306,000 through the mutual windows.

Master Derby broke fourth from the gate and moved into third position 1/4 lengths behind the leaders after the first quarter-mile.

McHargue pulled the colt slightly further off the pace going into the backstretch, but was within striking distance coming into the turn.

After making his move, Master Derby led by as many as three lengths in the stretch drive.

Foolish Pleasure ran his usual come-from-behind race, running seventh after the first half mile and fifth, almost three lengths behind the leader, in the turn for home.

Casper Holds Edge

Sizzling 66 Helps Billy Build Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Placid, imperturbable Billy Casper reeled off a decisive string of four consecutive birdies and expanded his lead to a commanding four strokes with a six-under-par 66 in Saturday's third round of the $150,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

The 43-year-old Casper, who scored the last of his 50 tour victories two seasons back, put together a 64-hole total of 201, a distant 15-under-par for three times over the muddy 7,000-yard Lakewood Country Club course.

Casper, who has led or shared the lead at the end of each round, dropped two back of England's Peter Oosterhuis early in the round, but then swept by him on the birdie string that started on the 12th hole.

Oosterhuis, meanwhile, bogeyed two of his last six holes and drifted back to a 69 and a 205 total.

Steve Melnyk, the former National Amateur Champion who has yet to make his mark in the pros, once advanced to second place, but made a double bogey six on the last hole, scored a 68 and was third at 209, 10-under-par, but five strokes off Casper's pace.

Fred Marti, Lanny Wadkins and Bob Wynn were next at 207. Marti shot a 69 in the mild, slightly breezy weather, while Wadkins and Wynn had 70s.

Defending champion Lee Trevino finally mastered his balky putter for a 67 that included a 45-foot birdie putt on the final hole. He had a 209 total, but at eight strokes behind, appeared out of title contention.

Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer are not competing.

"It's been a long, long time since I've played this well," the veteran Casper said. He attributed at least a portion of his success to a three-week break prior to this tournament.

"Some fellows need to play and practice a lot to play well," he said. "I need to get away. I need to have time off to get completely away from the game, to get myself refreshed."

Lee, Duncanville In Regional Play

Midland Lee meets the Duncanville Panthers at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Lee diamond in the opening game of the Class AAAA regional baseball playoff games in a best-of-three series with the District 7-4A champions.

Thurmon "Tugboat" Jones tried to get Duncanville to come to the Tall City Monday in order to play the game at Cubs Stadium, but Coach Jay Miller decided against the Monday game in which the Texas League Midland Cubs have an open date.

The series moves to Duncanville Friday at 3 p.m. with a third game to follow if necessary and a shot at the quarterfinals series the following week.

Duncanville owns a 27-5 season mark compared to the Rebels' 18-12 record. The Panthers beat Lake Highlands 8-1 and 8-0 while losing the middle game 1-0.

In other regional playoff action, Lubbock Monterey (26-6) takes on El Paso Burgos (20-5) in El Paso Tuesday with the series moving to Lubbock Thursday and on Friday if necessary.

The winner of the Lee-Duncanville playoff series will meet the Monterey-Burgos winner in the quarterfinals in two weeks with a shot at the state tourney in Austin.

Johnson Pleased With Team's Play

Frazier was superb in his 3 1/3 innings of relief, blanking Rick in the final innings and stopping a three-run uprising in the fourth. He came in with two men on base, but a Lee error loaded the sacks with two out. The pressure was there.

"Sure I felt the pressure. You can't help it in a situation like that. I just tried not to show it," Frazier related after the game. "When Fancher (Steve) came up, I just thought of throwing curves. I didn't want him to 'jack one out of the park, and I got him on a slider."

The most costly error of the day for the Rebs was charged to first baseman Stevens. He tried to take a high throw from third baseman Greg Howard in the fourth inning. Stevens got the throw, but when he tried to tag the runner, the ball was jolted loose and two runs scored. It was a do or die situation for Stevens, but it didn't work out.

"You're supposed to let the runner run into your glove, but I jabbed him and the ball got loose. I just didn't have time to do it like you're supposed to."

In the fifth inning, Robert

As history now shows, Lee did win that first one by a 5-3 margin and by virtue of Tuesday's 4-3 triumph at Cubs Stadium, the Rebels advance to the regionals Tuesday against Duncanville.

Victory, however, didn't come easy. Lee faced disaster on several occasions, brought about mostly by four errors and a couple of passed balls. But they managed to tread water through it all and, hopefully, came out of it a stronger and more confident team.

Big Advantage

One real advantage to winning the first game is that the Rebel mound corps will be fresh for the Duncanville series. Bobby Stevens pitched seven innings Tuesday, but he will have a week's rest. Kenneth Nix and Jay Frazier, who both looked good Friday, have less than four playoff innings between them.

Cubs Win, 10-8

Sember's Grand Slam Does It

By TED BATTLES

It wasn't the Fourth of July or even Memorial Day, but the Midland Cubs treated Cubs Stadium regulars to a fireworks display, pounding out three homers and 14 hits to beat the Arkansas Travelers, 10-8, Saturday night.

Shortstop Mike Sember, the former Tulsa University All-America, was the ringleader with what probably was his biggest night in two seasons of Texas League ball.

Mike crashed two home runs, including a grand slammer, to cap a five-run fifth, as Midland squared the series at 2-2 going into today's 1:30 p.m. windup against the St. Louis Cardinal farmhands.

Also swinging booming bats for the Cubs were Bill Bright, two doubles and a single, and centerfielder Joe Wallis socked a single, triple and homer good for three rbi. Bill Droegge also chipped in with three hits.

It all added up to Dennis Lamp's first pitching victory of the season as the Californian went six innings before giving way to lefty Rick Ware after giving up a single and walk to open the seventh. Ware blanked the Travelers on one hit the rest of the way to pick up his third save.

Midland had to come from behind 5-1 after three and a half innings to win it.

Joe Edelen's solo homer, his second of the series, tied it 1-1 in the third then came a wild four-run fourth in which Lamp was his own worst enemy. A walk to Mike Potter was followed by first baseman John Young's homer, a rare shot over the right field barrier.

Ed Bowman and Bob Hrapmann followed with singles and Lamp's wild pick off throw to first put runners on first and third. Shortstop Mike Sember bobbled a double play ball to let one run in and then Lamp's wild pick off throw to second let in another tally.

Midland rallied for three in the fourth when Bright doubled, Sember was hit by a pitch and Wallis, who couldn't find any 100-foot quarry cliffs to dive off in a recent trip to El Paso, so he jumped off the top of a Holiday Inn into the pool, homered to left.

In the fifth, Droegge and Wayne Tyrone singled up the middle and Al Montreuil walked to load the bases. Bill Bright looped a run-scoring single over short to plate one run.

That was the signal for Mike Ibarbuen to relieve starter Doug Capilla and Sember made everybody sorry by knocking his slam over the scoreboard in left.

Arkansas closed it to 9-8 in the seventh with three runs in routing Lamp. Dave Bialas singled and Dlug Clarey walked, which brought in Ware. After a pop up, Mike Potter singled to right to load the bases. Monte Bolinger, batting for Young, walked to force home one run and a force play at second on Ed Bowman's grounder brought in another run and the third tally raced home on the wild relay throw to first in an attempt for a double play.

Sember gave Midland a little breathing room in the home seventh with another homer, this one a solo shot to the left of the scoreboard, his third of the season.

CUB BRIEFS — Mike Krukow, 2-3, one of the Cubs' most dependable pitchers the last few weeks, will get the starting assignment in today's 1:30 p.m. series windup with Arkansas at Cubs Stadium.

Mike went the route in losing his last start 2-1 at El Paso. Mike's mound opponent will be Randy Wiles, who just reported from the St. Louis Cardinal farm at Tulsa of the American Assn. A native of Conroe, Texas, who was 8-7 with the Travelers last year, Randy notes, "I just finished pitching against the Cubs Wichita team." Randy said former Midland catcher Steve Haug had a good series against Tulsa and so did second baseman Bill Huisman, "but Jerry Tabb is having trouble with the inside pitch."

Outfielder Jose Ortiz, who pulled up lame in Friday's first game of a doubleheader, will be out of the lineup until Tuesday or Wednesday. Fortunately it wasn't a pulled hamstring as at first feared.

Ortiz was on base after being hit by a Steve Waterbury pitch as the game's first batter.

There were some words between Pepi and Steve at the time. "I wasn't throwing at him," Steve said later. "As I pumped, the ball hit my leg and it loosened my grip on the ball and it just sailed on me."

Andretti Has Super Race Car

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mario Andretti has a race car capable of running over half the starters in the May 25 Indianapolis 500, but he doesn't plan to abuse the advantage.

Andretti, whose previous worst starting position was ninth, will take the green flag for his 11th Indianapolis start from somewhere in the last three rows of the 33-car field.

"We've had some bad experiences here, but I'm not going to jeopardize one ounce of safety at the start for the sake of picking up one or two positions," Andretti said Saturday.

"I've been here long enough to guarantee you nothing foolish is going to come out of this guy."

Andretti, with all due emphasis on winning, is more concerned about just finishing.

"I want to finish this race so bad—so bad that you can't believe," he emphasized. "You've got to finish to win, it's just as simple as that."

Andretti, dividing his time this season between Indianapolis-type and Formula One racing, passed up the first day of qualifying here May 10 to run in the Monaco Grand Prix.

After the first day, all subsequent qualifiers fill the open spots at the end of the field, so Andretti's qualifying speed of 186.62 miles an hour—eight fastest in the field—earned him only a next-to-last row starting position.

He and Wally Dallenbach, who missed the first qualifying day because of engine troubles, will put an explosive thrust at the back of the pack. Dallenbach is in the eighth row.

"I just hope everyone behaves themselves," Dallenbach said. "I know I plan to."

"It hurts everybody when somebody tries to win the race in the first two laps," Andretti said. "We all know A. J. Foyt is going to be out front at the start, so there's no point breaking our necks to catch him at the start."

"Don't get me wrong, I plan to try hard—but not at anyone's expense."

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The tentative starting lineup for the $1 million, 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 25 based on time trials last week and Saturday (trials were to continue today to finalize the field with the 24 fastest qualifiers):

Colleges Apparently Ready To Take Action

For several years now, the collegiate athletic financial dilemma has been accompanied by much hand-wringing and headshaking, but a minimum of action.

Up until now, athletic departments, backed by vociferously influential alumni, have managed to ignore the pressure to pinch pennies, but, alas, the crunch is so serious that the time for some sort of action seems to have arrived.

For one thing, in the latest round of meetings to deal with the economic crisis, previously silent college presidents have not only appeared, but voiced an opinion, a strange role indeed.

Then, too, coaches of the stature of Joe Paterno and Darrell Royal, despite their positions as heads of "have" football programs at Penn State and Texas, have expressed concern over the money drain.

And when the University of Vermont dropped football last November, oddly enough, it apparently prompted some to give pause to consider college football's future. While Vermont as a football-playing college scarcely caused a ripple, it still had a history of 77 faithful, plodding years in the game. Maybe the fact that it wasn't the usually distressed private institution, but a state university that had something to do with it.

Actually, the $200,000 lopped off the budget was small potatoes compared, to say, Tulane, which awards more than $700,000 in athletic scholarships alone and that's before they even put anyone on the field.

In announcing the Vermont decision, President Edward Andrews said, "To keep football would have meant making everything else third-rate."

In Vermont's case that's probably true. It could probably have tripled its football

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

budget and still not have won the Yankee Conference.

In other sports, however, it can compete. Last winter in hockey Vermont was No. 6 nationally, second in the NCAA Ski finals to Colorado and its basketball team was one of the 10 most improved in the nation.

Perhaps, the biggest eyebrow lifter in the move to actually do something about expenses is Royal's unexpected stand.

He predicts and even seems to favor a return to one-plateau football, a move that it is reasoned would drastically reduce the number of scholarships, traveling squads and perhaps the size of coaching staffs.

In view of Royal's consistent success and four national championships (if you count UPI) in the plateau football era, it sounds to some like an attempt at coaching hari-kari.

A lot of folks forget, however, that Royal was highly successful before the free-substitution era and probably because of the type material recruited by the Longhorns would be more easily adaptable to one-way football. The Steers go after the athlete and not the specialist.

One other edge Royal might enjoy is the fact that he has played as well as coached two-way football. A return to one-plateau probably would result in a demand for retired do-it-all coaches who thought the game had passed them by.

CC Tennis Tournament Finals Set

Colonsels Post ABA Win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Artis Gilmore scored 41 points, 13 in the fourth quarter, as the Kentucky Colonels rallied Saturday night for a 109-101 victory and a 3-0 lead in their American Basketball Association championship series with the Indiana Pacers.

Indiana led 87-82 with five minutes remaining, but Gilmore scored seven points, including five in a row at one point, and the Colonels pulled away at the end.

The fourth and possibly last game of the best-of-seven series is scheduled here Monday night, with Indiana still hoping a protest of its 95-83 loss at Kentucky on Thursday will be upheld.

The Colonels' Artis Gilmore was the dominating force in the first half Saturday night with 19 points and 15 rebounds.

"The game was close most of the first two periods until Kenucky scooted eight straight to break a 36-36 tie.

The Colonels led the rest of the first half and built leads of up to 10 points before Indiana closed the gap to five, 56-51, at intermission.

Billy Knight led Indiana with 18, hitting all eight of his field goal attempts in the first half.

Indiana led 67 per cent from the field in the first quarter and finished the half at a 51-41 clip. The difference was that Kentucky got off 14 more shots and out-rebounded the Pacers 29-20 in the first two quarters.

McGinnis topped the Pacers rebounders by grabbing nine.

McGinnis added 15, but Pacer scoring dropped off sharply after an initial spurt. Again, it was Kentucky reserve Marv Roberts who gave the Colonels a needed punch late in the first quarter and early in the second by scoring 11 points.

Indiana shot 67 per cent from the field in the first quarter and finished the half at a 51-41 clip. The difference was that Kentucky got off 14 more shots and out-rebounded the Pacers 29-20 in the first two quarters.

McGinnis topped the Pacers rebounders by grabbing nine.

McGinnis added 15, but Pacer scoring dropped off sharply after an initial spurt. Again, it was Kentucky reserve Marv Roberts who gave the Colonels a needed punch late in the first quarter and early in the second by scoring 11 points.

Seniors Top Rebel Squad By 6-0 Count

The graduating seniors used their size and experience to post a 6-0 victory over the 1975 Midland Lee Rebels Saturday morning in a one-hour scrimmage at the Lee practice field.

Blain Murray scored the only touchdown during the hard-hitting affair which saw both sides play with plenty of emotion.

The 75 Rebs were unable to push the ball across the goal line during the workout and afterwards, Coach Jim Acree had them continue scrimmaging.

Junior Miller, all-district defensive end, stood out against the seniors and came up with some great plays, but the biggest seniors were tough to handle.

Clyde Gary had some good gains during the session for the Rebels who wind up spring drills Saturday night in Memorial Stadium.

Robert Johnson, Byron Webb and Sherman Byan impressed the crowd with some hard hitting for the Rebs on defense against the seniors.

Milton Jones ripped off several good gains for the seniors as the SMU-bound athlete was playing at 225 pounds.

The seniors lined up in a 1,000-pound backfield made up of Keith Bishop, Brad Stephenson, Travis Salinas and David Sledge, much to the surprise of the 75 Rebs.

Bishop is headed for Nebraska, Salinas to Sul Ross, Stephenson will play football at Abilene Christian College and Sledge will wear the green and gold of Baylor.

Acree feels that the scrimmage was good for his outfit. "They were pretty nervous at first, but seemed to do better as the workout went along," said Acree.

Nix then walked and Coach Erickson tried to bring in a player that proved to be Frazier got ground to Howard.

He bobbed the bases loaded calmly struck out.

Great Catch
White lunged at the ball and caught it just above the grass. "At first, I thought the ball was going to hang up there longer, but it started sinking. I knew if I didn't catch it that it might go to the fence and it would have been an easy triple. There was only one out in the inning," White said.

Nix and Frazier were both throwing a lot of breaking pitches that completely fooled the Rebel hitters. They combined for 11 strikeouts, but it gave Javier Torres a long afternoon behind the plate.

Rider batters struck out after time on balls that sank at the last minute, leaving Torres with the job of changing onto balls that hit the dirt. He had to tag the runner or throw to first to complete the out on six occasions.

"Both Kenneth and Jay were really breaking them off out there," Torres said while trying to find a cool spot to rest. "It was really hot out there, and both pitchers were working good. It was a real workout for me."

Will McMillan came into the playoffs hitting .161 and batting eighth in the order. So far, he is four-for-six in the playoffs, including one double and has raised his average to .281. This is the kind of effort that keeps a ship from sinking in the playoffs.

But Will doesn't seem to be impressed by it all. "I guess I'm just starting to hit now," he calmly stated.

Lee Rebels Capture Bi-District Baseball Crown

Rebels Defeat Rider Behind Frazier, 5-3

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
R-T Sports Writer

WICHITA FALLS—Reb fireman Jay Frazier took the worry out of being close here at Hoskins Field Friday as Midland Lee completed its two game bi-district baseball sweep with a 5-3 victory over the Wichita Falls Rider Raiders.

Frazier, a former resident of Wichita Falls, came on in a relief assignment in the fourth inning with two men on base. The curve balling righthander got out of the jam to preserve a 4-3 lead and then blanked the Raiders through the last three innings of play.

Lee, now 18-12 on the year, will meet Duncanville at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Lee diamond in the first game of a best-of-three regional series. Lee downed Rider, 4-3, at Cubs Stadium Tuesday and Friday's victory kept the Rebels from having to play a third game to decide the bi-district crown.

Lee really needed only one outing to turn the trick. The Rebel scored four runs in the third inning on just three hits. In fact, Lee managed only six hits, but got maximum mileage out of them.

Will McMillan, hitting only .341 on the year, started the four run rally with a sharp single to left and starting pitcher Kenneth Nixon reached safely on an error by Rider first baseman Jeff Jackson, who juggled a sacrifice bunt attempt.

The Rebel runners moved up a notch on a passed ball and second baseman Rusty Laughlin delivered a two-run single to left. Brett Blackwell then sent a booming triple 360 feet to center and Laughlin easily scored.

Rider's Terry Ford, who absorbed the loss, struck out Bobby Stevens for the first out in the inning, but Javier Torres laid down a perfect squeeze bunt to plate Blackwell and Alan Neal grounded out to end the uprising.

The Raiders came right back in the fourth inning to tighten things up again with a three-run effort. Jackson led off the frame with the inning's only hit, a single to center, but then Nixon began to run into some control troubles.

Nix walked Ford, got Buzz Draper on a pop-up, and walked Ricky Teakell. Teakell was forced out at second on a grounder by David Molinaro, but shortstop Blackwell could not turn the double play and Jackson scored from third.

Layne Leggett then hit a grounder to Greg Howard at third, but his throw to Stevens at first was high, and Stevens tried to tag Leggett, who was racing past him. The ball was jarred loose at impact and two runs scored.

Nix then walked David Beal, and Coach Ernie Johnson decided to bring in Frazier, a move that proved to be a big success. Frazier got Mark Ball to ground to Howard at third, but he bobbed the ball to leave the bases loaded. Frazier then calmly struck out Steve Fancher to end the inning. The Rebels put the game on ice in the top of the seventh when McMillan collected his fourth hit of the playoffs, a single to left which plated Howard who had earlier tripped to right center.

Nix pitched three strong innings before walks got him into trouble in the fourth along with an error behind him. Nix struck out six in the first three frames and Frazier added five more to pick up the victory.

Rider had two singles off Frazier in the sixth, but both were left stranded as Frazier struckout two and got another on a harmless grounder back to the mound.

Rebel centerfielder Robert White made a diving catch in the fifth inning on a sinking fly by Ford. If White had failed to come up with the spectacular grab, the ball would have rolled to the fence and Ford would probably have been standing on third with only one out. Rider also got a runner to third in the second inning with one out, but Nix retired three straight to avoid trouble.

The Rebels, on the other hand, capitalized on just about every opportunity. Stevens doubled with two out in the first, but was left stranded. Only two Lee runners were left on the base paths. Howard was left at third in the fourth.

Twins Topple Brewers, 8-7

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Rod Carew's two-run wind-blown double off the left field fence with two out in the eighth inning lifted the Minnesota Twins to an 8-7 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Saturday.

The winning rally came against Milwaukee relief ace Tom Murphy, who entered the game with a 1-0 record, seven saves and an 0.81 earned run average.

Murphy started his own downfall by hitting leadoff batter Craig Kusick with a pitch. Danny Thompson, who hit a three-run homer earlier to begin Minnesota's comeback from a 6-2 fifth-inning deficit, bounced into a forecourt and took second as Tom Lundstedt grounded out. Murphy walked

Home runs by Hank Aaron, Bobby Mitchell and Sixto Lezcano powered the Brewers to a 7-6 lead after 7 1/2 innings. The Brewers opened a 6-2 advantage in the fifth when Aaron slammed his fifth home run of the season—and 738th of his 22-year career—following a single by George Scott.

Lezcano drilled his fourth homer in the seventh inning for a 7-5 lead. Minnesota cut the deficit to 6-5 in the sixth on Thompson's second home run of the season and the Twins scored in the seventh on a two-out double by Eric Soderholm.

Mitchell slammed his second homer of the season into the left field pavilion following singles by Money and Bill Sharp in the third inning. After Scott walked, Aaron lined a run-scoring double, putting the Brewers in front 4-1 and chasing Minnesota starter Vic Albury.

Albury drilled his fourth homer in the seventh inning for a 7-5 lead. Minnesota cut the deficit to 6-5 in the sixth on Thompson's second home run of the season and the Twins scored in the seventh on a two-out double by Eric Soderholm.

California Edges Orioles

Stanton, Chalk, Bochte Star

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lee Stanton, Dave Chalk and Bruce Bochte drove in two runs apiece, leading the California Angels to a 5-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Saturday night before a record regular-season Baltimore crowd of 48,042.

The Orioles gave away free jackets to youngsters and the large crowd saw a wild argument in the fifth inning when one umpire signaled that California's Tommy Harper had hit a tie-breaking three-run homer and another umpire overruled him and called it a foul ball.

The ruckus occurred after Jerry Remy drew a leadoff walk, stole second and went to third on a bunt single by Mickey Rivers, who also swiped second. Harper hit a drive into the seats near the left field foul pole and third base umpire Ron Luciano signaled a home run.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver and many of the Orioles protested heatedly and Luciano then went to the California dugout and told Manager Dick Williams it was a foul ball. Williams eventually was ejected and the Angels played the game under protest. It was announced later that plate umpire Armando Rodriguez had overruled Luciano.

Two pitches later, Harper struck out, but Bill Sudakis was hit by a pitch. Chalk delivered the go-ahead run with a sacrifice fly off loser Wayne Garland and Stanton followed with an RBI single.

Royals Trip Red Sox, 5-3

BOSTON (AP) — John Mayberry hit his fourth homer and light-hitting Frank White contributed his first Saturday night, powering the Kansas City Royals to a 5-3 victory over Boston and extending the Red Sox losing streak to five games.

Mayberry sent a towering drive into the right field stands after Amos Otis started the third with a single. White connected for only his second major league homer with two out in the sixth.

Both drives were against Boston starter Reggie Cleveland, 2-2, who was relieved with two out in the seventh.

Kansas City right-hander Al Fitzmorris surrendered a first-inning leadoff homer to Bernie Carbo and two more hits before getting out of a jam. He settled down and earned his fifth victory in eight decisions with relief help from Doug Bird.

Lee Boosters Meet Monday

The Midland Lee Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Lee Cafeteria to hear a report from baseball Coach Ernie Johnson and his Rebels who just won the Class AAAA bi-district baseball crown, beating Wichita Falls Rider, 4-3 and 5-3.

Johnson will give a report on Duncanville, Lee's next opponent in regional play Tuesday and pictures of the Rebel baseball team will be handed out to the player's parents.

Lee takes on Duncanville at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Lee diamond in its next outing in the state playoffs.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hy Carol led all the way and hung on to win the $15,000-added Louisville Handicap Saturday in a photo finish over Angerona at River Downs.

The winner, who covered the six furlongs in 1:11-2/5, paid $5.90, $3.40 and $2.80. The place price was $4 and $3.20 and the show horse, Arto Aura, returned $4.80.

Reds Down Expos, 5-3

MONTREAL (AP) — Solo home runs by Ken Griffey and Johnny Bench in the 10th inning powered Cincinnati to a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday, ending the Reds' six-game losing streak.

Griffey, first batter up in the 10th, tagged reliever John Montague for his first home run of the season and one out later Bench walked his sixth.

After being held hitless by Steve Rogers over the first four innings, the Reds, who scored only 10 runs during their six-game skid, used three hits and three Montreal errors to take a 3-0 lead in the fifth.

Tony Perez led off with a single and Dave Concepcion reached on a throwing error by third baseman Larry Parrish. Cesar Geronimo singled for the first run and Concepcion went to third when left fielder Bob Bailey bobbled the ball.

Oakland Defeats Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Williams slammed two home runs and Reggie Jackson hit one, leading the streaking Oakland A's to a 6-1 victory over the stumbling New York Yankees Saturday night behind Ken Holtzman's five-hit pitching.

Holtzman, 3-4, was nipped for an unearned run in the first inning because of his own throwing error and blanked the Yankees the rest of the way despite six walks, five in the first three innings. He allowed only two hits over the last seven innings.

Loser Doc Medich, 3-6, walked Sal Bando and Gene Tonac with two out in the second inning and Claudell Washington ripped a triple down the right field line. Williams slammed his fourth home run in the fourth inning and Jackson and Williams connected in the sixth.

Jackson's sixth homer of the season was a mammoth clout that hit the scoreboard 420 feet from home plate and far behind the right-center field fence. Williams' second homer sailed into the second deck in right field above the auxiliary scoreboard.

Williams also drove in a run with a single in the eighth inning and sent right fielder Bob Bonds near the bullpen fence for his second-inning smash.

It was the fifth consecutive victory for the three-time world champion A's.

Staub Paces Met Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — Rusty Staub singled for a pair of runs in the seventh inning and scored another to highlight a five-run rally that lifted the New York Mets past the Houston Astros 6-4 Saturday night.

So. Alabama Tough

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — South Alabama is something of a mystery team in the South Central NCAA Regional baseball playoffs scheduled in Arlington Stadium May 23-25 but Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson isn't fooled.

"They are tough," Gustafson says. "Any team with Eddie Stanky as a manager is bound to be rough."

Ex-Bulldog Cager Leads Nation For Austin College

SHERMAN — Harold Howard, sharpshooting Austin College basketball guard from Midland, wound up as the nation's leading free shooter in NCAA Division III statistics.

Howard had a 91 per cent accuracy mark for 1974-75.

Howard also won the Austin College Pat E. Hooks Award as the outstanding basketball player of the year.

A junior, Howard transferred to AC from Paris Junior College last fall.

A six-footer, Howard played at Midland High and helped the Bulldogs earn a berth in the state tournament in Austin in 1972.

A pre-med student at a college that does not award athletic scholarships, Howard says, "I love basketball here and it's fun."

When Howard first decided to attend Austin, he didn't plan to play basketball, but now reasons, "I don't know what I'd do without basketball. I probably would be so tight about all my studies that I couldn't make it. Actually, my grades were better during the season than after."

On the way to his leading free throw shooting percentage, Howard established a free throw mark for the Kangaroos by hitting 31 straight.

Incredibly, Dick Comes Full Circle

By STEVE BISHEFF
Copley News Service

Call him Richie or Dick or even Sam, if that's what he prefers. Whatever name he's currently using is unimportant. The fact is, he's back. Incredibly, he's come full circle. Richard Anthony Allen of Wampum, Pa., has returned to the Phillies, and you'll have to pardon our look of amazement as the Philadelphia fans clutch him endearingly to their bosoms.

Richie Allen going back to the Phillies is like John Dean suddenly going into business with his old friends, Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

Allen and the demonstrative baseball fans in Philly got along about as well as Sonny and Cher. There was no love lost, brotherly or otherwise, on either side.

At The Juggler

They were constantly at each other's throats. The people would boo and hiss and throw things at him, and Allen would seethe and write uncomplimentary messages in the dirt around first base.

No matter what he did, no matter how many home runs he set rocketing to the outer reaches, they were never satisfied.

"In Philly," Allen once said, "it was always, 'You bum, I bet on you and you blew it.'"

Finally, inevitably, he was sent on his way. He began his long, troubled major league odyssey, moving from Philadelphia to St. Louis to Los Angeles to Chicago.

Atlanta purchased his rights briefly but he wouldn't even consider playing for the Braves.

Phillies Gamble ... Again

So now the Phillies have decided to gamble again. With dreams of a National League pennant and a World Series glowing in a future that somehow obscures the past, they've accepted the challenge.

And the burden.

Make no mistake about it, Mr. Allen is definitely a burden. Possessed with as much, if not more, natural ability than anyone currently playing the game, he is, nonetheless, a rebel, a free spirit who insists on going his own way and working by his own private set of rules.

Why else would anyone who hits baseballs that hard be traded so often?

It doesn't take much to get along in Los Angeles, for instance, where low-key Walter Alton makes no large demands. But Allen pushed the manager and the organization too far in just one short season.

Anybody See Dick?

He'd avoid batting practice, amid rumors he was in the Stadium Club less than an hour before game time. Once, as the rest of the team took the field for a Sunday afternoon appearance, Alton looked up and discovered his left fielder was missing. Allen was back in the clubhouse somewhere, ignoring the time, and a reserve had to be rushed in to replace him.

Clearly, the problem when you deal for Richie is that you're also getting an ulcer to be named later.

When he went to Chicago, there were those convinced he'd finally found a permanent home. Chuck Tanner was a friend of the family and the easygoing White Sox manager vowed he wouldn't get in Allen's way.

He put Richie first and the team second. And for awhile it worked. But only for awhile.

Allen was the American League's most valuable player and maybe the happiest, too.

"I'm trying to prove that I'm not the guy they said I was in Philly," he said. "There it was always the things I didn't do, not what I did do."

Eventually, though, it was what the White Sox didn't do. They didn't win, and guess who had to accept a major part of the blame?

Their $225,000-a-year first baseman, that's who. Allen "retired" after a long depression precipitated by an injury and a deep slump.

HUNTING FISHING

Fishermen are taking advantage of good black bass catches averaging around two pounds, with trotline anglers roaming the Rio Grande regions of the large lake. Goldfish in deep water and the results have been large yellow catfish catches.

For white bass, the action is in the upper regions of the Rio Grande and Pecos rivers.

Crappie were back in the picture at Lake E.V. Spence last week with those reporting showing some 500 in their creels. Also picking up was the white bass fishing and there was no let up in the striped bass action. One 10-pound channel cat catch was reported. Thomas Taylor, Midland, hooked a 2 1/4 pound black...

Creek Lake in a turmoil. "There have been some good fish caught this past week," says Ike Pate of Sportsman's Lodge, "but it's nothing like you would expect this time of year."

Ike figures the fish could be spawning in deeper water than anyone expected. Otherwise the lake is in perfect shape. "All we need is a stretch of good weather to straighten things around," says Ike.

Texas hunters harvested an estimated 4.9 million mourning doves last season, representing a small decline from the previous year. Average bag daily was 5.69 doves and the highest harvest of doves was in counties associated with the cities of Dallas, Waco, Brownwood, Austin, Abilene, San Antonio and McAllen.

Cub Thumbnail: Bill Bright

Outfielder Bill Bright, 38, was born in Allentown, Pa., but calls Cocoa, Fla., home. The 6-6, 180-pound left-handed swinger, played two years at Brevard Junior College in Cocoa and also attended LSU and the University of South Florida at Tampa, majoring in physical education. In the off season, when he isn't teaching school, he likes to hunt and fish.

In 1967, Bright led Adray Appliance of Detroit to a berth in the All-American Amateur Baseball Assn. tournament at Johnstown, Pa., and in 1969 he played for the Mohrbridge, S.D., Lakers in the Basin semipro league, leading the league in batting, .394, hits, 73, triples, 8, and set a league record 60 rbi.

Bright was the St. Louis Cardinals' second pick in the 1970 free agent draft, secondary phase, and led the California League in batting .340 in 1971, beating out teammate Barry Potts on the final day of the season.

Bill played his first season in the Texas League for Arkansas in 1972, but was acquired by Midland in 1973 and is in his third season with the Cubs, batting .262 in 1973 and .263 in 1974.

MIRACLE IN PONTIAC—

New Stadium On Time

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — "Ponnet," the $55.7 million, 80,000-seat Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium is nearing completion in what may be regarded as a modern miracle.

Ground was broken for the 20-story football playground Sept. 19, 1973. Backers contend it will be ready Aug. 23—less than two years after it was started—in time for the Detroit Lions' National Football League exhibition opener against the Kansas City Chiefs.

The "miracle" in modern-day construction is that 17 unions involved thus far have not engaged in strikes, slowdowns and other obstruction to construction which can push back deadlines and increase costs.

"We made up our minds a number of years ago we had to live with each other," said Jack Wood, secretary and business manager of the Building Trades Council of Metropolitan Detroit. He was referring to both labor and management. "We know each other. We get along with each other. When a job has to be done, most of us try to get it done."

Michigan is a lunch bucket state where labor organizations and big corporations have fairly well managed to settle their differences.

"We have rapport with the Building Trades Council," said Robert Rummel, executive director of the Pontiac Stadium Building Authority. "They have a reputation for fair and honest efforts."

"We got together with contractors and owners a few years ago and decided we had to get the job done without a lot of hassle."

Wood describes the Building Trades Council as "a coalition of all various building trades and all locals that belong to 17 international unions."

"We don't have many strikes around here," he said. "We've gotten over that. There's no reason there should have been trouble, and there hasn't been."

When Ponnet is completed, it will be one of the largest covered buildings of its kind in the world. A 400,000-square-foot, 200-ton woven fiberglass roof will stretch over the edifice.

Rummel said the stadium, rising from a construction pit on a 132-acre site some 35 miles north of Detroit, is 70 per cent complete.

"Things are moving rapidly, and I hope nobody stumbles," said Harold Cousins, chairman of the Stadium Authority.

Cousins, a beer dealer, worked for General Motors for 28 years and was a personnel director of one of its plants. He was active in local contract negotiations and "I found out there that surprises always hurt."

Trouble Brews On Golf Tour

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The American pro golf tour, for seven seasons a happily growing, prospering concern, suddenly is beset by rumbles of discontent, dissatisfaction and dismay.

There is ominous talk of suits and counter-suits, of rebellion against Commissioner Deane Beman and the tour's Policy Board, of the removal of board members.

There is more apparent unhappiness, concern and puzzled questioning than at any time since the internal battle between the touring pros and the parent PGA—almost a decade ago—threatened to destroy the tour.

Players Confused

The vast majority of the players are at least confused, at worst angered.

Commissioner Beman, himself a former tournament player, is embattled. He's under intense fire from the players, under cautious questioning by some sponsors, under pressure from diametrically opposed directions.

The match that touched off the flame was struck by Beman in his sudden cancellation of the Tournament of Champions for 23 years one of pro golf's most prestigious events.

Other brushfires quickly followed.

Questions Asked

Why, the players ask, were Tony Jacklin's playing rights returned? The Englishman was openly, publicly critical of the American tour when he resigned his player's card two years ago. The Tournament Players Division by-laws specify that he must attend the players school to reacquire full rights.

Why, the players ask, was the 1976 Tournament Players Championship awarded to Jackie Gleason and Inverry? In the announcement of that action Gleason was described as a long-time supporter of golf. He's had a tournament for three years. On the same day, the Tournament of Champions cancellation came to light. (It was never publicly announced.) The Tournament of Champions has put up more than $2.5 million in prize money over 39 years.

Why, the players ask, has the Tournament of Champions been cancelled and Jack Nicklaus' new tournament to make his debut in 1976, been awarded prize, summer dates and an invitational format? It has been a policy for the last six years to do away with invitational events.

All these decisions are under fire.

Some answers will come in the players meeting in Atlanta May 27.

Some Answered

Some answers already have been given.

The players school is a method of determining playing ability.

Jacklin, as a former British and American Open champion, has no need to demonstrate his ability.

The Tournament Players Championship went to Gleason as a third or fourth choice. Los Angeles, with its great Riviera course, was an obvious pick. But they've got their 50th anniversary tournament coming up and wanted their own celebration. Bay Hill in Orlando, Fla., was another one, but there were problems there that couldn't be solved in time.

Nicklaus, as a sponsor, has served his apprenticeship, gone still another answer. As a two-year sponsor of the Kings Island Open in a less-than-favorable time slot, he was due to move to a better date. As to the invitational format, well, there's some question whether it's truly an invitational.

Frustration Forced Johnson's Jump To Japan

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Mary Nan Johnson says false promises, half truths and broken faith led her husband, Dave, to quit the Atlanta Braves and join a Japanese baseball team.

"Dave was frustrated over a lot of things, plus the Braves were not being honest with him," Mrs. Johnson said in an interview with Orlando Sentinel Star columnist Jim Warters published Wednesday.

"He got some bad vibes from the Braves. There must have been a conflict between Clyde King (manager) and Eddie Robinson (general manager)," Mrs. Johnson added.

Johnson set a major league home run record for second basemen two seasons ago. He left for Japan three weeks ago and now plays third base for the Yomiuri Giants.

Mrs. Johnson said her husband first saw the writing on the wall when Atlanta announced it was trading for Chicago's Dick Allen (now with Philadelphia) then King told Johnson he would be sharing first base duties with Mike Lam.

"He just couldn't get over the fact they were going to platoon him and he figured he was in for a bad year," Mrs. Johnson added. "He has to play every day if he's going to do any good at the plate."

She said Johnson was in the best condition of his life when he reported to the Braves' camp.

"And he found the Braves were just stringing him along, going to use him as a bench warmer," she said. "Dave just wasn't going to wind up his career on a bench."

Mrs. Johnson said last December when another Japanese team, the Nagasaki Buffaloes, tried to make a deal with her husband "Robinson wouldn't release him."

The former member of the Baltimore Orioles World Series winners did not seriously negotiate with any other U.S. clubs because he felt an obligation to the Japanese who had taken a keen interest in him, Mrs. Johnson added.

"Dave got an awful lot of calls from Charlie Finley (Oakland A's owner). He called the house a lot, but Dave was afraid to play for him," she said.

When it was obvious Johnson had the deal sealed with the Tokyo club, Mrs. Johnson said, Robinson gave her husband his release.

"I don't think Eddie Robinson would have released him if he were going to sign with an American team," she added.

NEW LOOK — The Permian Basin Rifle and Pistol Club will sport a new concrete range floor, plus new benches and roof for the Super Shoot... to be held in Midland next week.

Midland Hosts Super Shoot

The Tall City will play host to one of the big shooting events of the season next week when the Firearms Industry Super Shoot III comes to the Permian Basin Rifle and Pistol Club range southeast of Midland.

The first contingent of shooters will begin arriving Saturday and the big shoot competition itself will begin at 8 p.m. May 27 and continue through May 30.

The PBRPC has made vast renovations in its facilities in preparation for the big event and the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Tall City bankers and merchants have been a big factor in bringing the shoot to Midland.

R. J. Maberry, Midland gunsmith, expects 300 to 500 people from throughout the U.S. to come to Midland for the Memorial week action.

"While I have not shot on all the rifle ranges in the United States," Maberry notes, "I have shot on all the big name ranges. None have the spirit, the shooting facilities that we have right here in Midland."

"I hope Midlanders can find time to make at least one appearance at the range during this event."

In addition to shooters, Maberry expects writers, editors and publishers of the big name publications in the shooting industry to be here as well as firearms company representatives from both the U.S. and abroad.

Rain Wipes Out British Hardcourt Play

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP) — The $80,000 British Hardcourt Tennis Championships, already plagued by dis-sension and bad weather, were washed out Saturday by heavy rains.

The women's singles final between third-seeded Janet Newberry of LaJolla, Calif. and 19-year-old Terry Holladay of San Diego was postponed. Also put off until today were semifinal matches between top-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina and Manuel Orantes of Spain, and Onny Parus of New Zealand vs. Frenchman Patrick Nastase and Roger Taylor's refusal to finish his match.

Nastase was leading 5-4 in the first set of his match with Proisy when he was disqualified for "persistent arguing" over line calls. Orantes was ahead 7-5, 1-0 against Taylor when the Briton turned to the umpire and told him, "I am leaving."

Warriors Face Bullets Today

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Coaches Al Attles of the Golden State Warriors and K.C. Jones of the Washington Bullets, who made National Basketball Association history four months ago, will do it again today.

When their teams meet in the nationally televised opening game of the NBA's best-of-seven championship series at the Capital Centre, it will be the first time that two black coaches have opposed each other in the final.

On Jan. 14 in Phoenix, Attles coached the Western Conference team and Jones handled the Eastern Conference club in the NBA's 25th All-Star game. Jones' squad won that game, and his Bullets team also has an edge over Attles in regular season play, Washington winning three of four games against the Warriors.

Bullets Pick
The Bullets, having beaten Buffalo and defending champion Boston en route to the final, are favored to win both the opening game and the series against Golden State. But the brash, irrepressible Warriors—an unusual conglomeration of veterans, rookies, castoffs and fringe players—have been defying the odds against them all season and are supremely confident they can do it again.

"This is a Cinderella team," said 36-year-old Bill Bridges, the Warriors' elder statesman. "It's never going to take the glass slipper off. Sometimes the clock never strikes 12."

"There's no telling what this team can do," said Jeff Mullins, 33, who along with superstar Rick Barry played on the last Warriors team to reach the final in 1967.

"I'd like to believe the teams in the final are the two best in basketball," said Attles, a member of the 1967 team as a player. "Maybe people are going to say we're pretty good after all."

One member of the Bullets who is convinced that the Warriors are good is Assistant Coach Bernie Bickerstaff. He scouted them at Oakland Wednesday night, when the Warriors rallied from a 14-point second-quarter deficit and beat Chicago 83-79 in the deciding game of the Western Conference final series.

"They love to run and they've got one of the best benches in the league," said Bickerstaff. "They used 11 players Wednesday night."

"I was really impressed with their defense," he added. "Even when they got down 3-2 (in games) to Chicago, they shut the door. They can all play defense when they have to."

They also can play offense, having led the league during the regular season with a 108.5 average. Barry was the pacesetter with an average of 30.6, second best in the NBA.

The teams have not played each other in exactly four months, the last meeting on Jan. 18 resulting in a 125-101 Washington triumph, the Bullets' highest point total of the season.

MIDLAND CUBS GAIN SPLIT—

Beckman Five-Hits Travs

BY TED BATTLES

Left-hander Bernie Beckman, a native of Holland who now lives in Florida, came out of the bullpen to make his first start of the season and it may be hard to get the curly-haired blond out of the rotation.

Beckman pitched a five-hitter to slam the brakes on a three-game Midland Cub skid as the Bruins beat Arkansas 3-1, in the second game of Friday night's Texas League double-header at Cubs Stadium.

First baseman Monte Bolinger, with a single and vital two-run homer, proved the hero in the Travelers' 7-4 first-game win.

"I was used as a spot starter and long reliever for Albuquerque (Pacific Coast League) last year and compiled a 5-9 record," Bernie said after the game. "This is the longest stretch I've pitched since then, but I felt good, my legs were strong, although I did have some control trouble."

Beckman added, "But I got some great support. There were four or five big plays that kept me from getting in serious trouble."

Three of them came in the seventh inning, when Dave Bias led off with a single to left. Third baseman Julio Gonzalez, a bare-handed grab and throw, second baseman Al Montreuil a leaping one handed catch of a liner, and shortstop Mike Sember, rushing to the grass and snapping a throw to first, closed out the game spectacularly.

Left fielder Bill Droege went to the wall at the foul line in left to rob Bowman and first baseman Aaron Randall's diving catch to his right in the third inning were other big plays.

Joe Walls' double, scoring was the decisive run as the Cubs struck for two in the third.

RANGLAND WINNERS — Mrs. ArDee Morgan, center, won the 18-hole championship flight, in last week's Ranchland Hill Women's Handicap Golf Tournament while Mrs. Rick Peterson, left, was runnerup, and Mrs. P. D. Hendrix took honors in the nine-hole flight.

In the second, Midland went ahead 1-0 as Wayne Tyrone walked and came around on Montreuil's single to right, Randall's infield hit and resulting throwing error.

Six-five Steve Waterbury, with relief help from Dan Butkus, posted his third win without a defeat for Arkansas in the opener, fanning seven and allowing just five hits in 5-2-3 innings.

Bolinger's first homer of the year, a two-run job in the third, made it 5-1 and that was all the runs the Travs needed.

Al Montreuil homered to left, his third, in the second, and Bright hit his second to left in the fourth to put the Cubs on the scoreboard. Then in the fifth Midland made a game of it when Walls and Tyrone walked and Bright doubled in the runs to cut the Arkansas lead to 5-4.

However, Arkansas sacked it away in the sixth as a walk to Bob Hrapmann and Kinzie Davis' run-scoring single knocked starter Dave Geisel, 2-3, from the box and singles by Tom Zimmer and Bias produced a second run.

Big 8 Wants Spring Grid Schedule

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The Big Eight Conference wants to begin holding spring football games between league schools to raise additional revenue.

Commissioner Chuck Neinas said the conference will submit an amendment to NCAA bylaws to allow Division I football schools to schedule a spring game "with another institution in accordance with appropriate guidelines."

Also approved at the Big Eight meetings here earlier this week, Neinas said, were proposals for a post-season basketball tournament, a rotation plan for the conference wrestling championships and elimination of the 30-second clock in league basketball games.

Neinas said it was his interpretation that the NCAA allows spring football games only between students of an institution and "bonafide alumni."

He said athletic directors and faculty representatives felt that spring games between Big

Ex-Bruin Tops NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — Keith Wilkes, the silky smooth forward of the Golden State Warriors who last month was voted the National Basketball Association's rookie of the year, was the only unanimous choice for the league's 12th annual All-Rookie team as chosen by the 18 NBA coaches.

Wilkes, who played his college ball at UCLA, is the first player from his franchise to make the All-Rookie team since Rick Barry and Fred Hetzel both made it in 1966.

Forwards John Drew of the Atlanta Hawks and Scott Wedman of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings each received 17 of 18 ballots. Drew, an exciting 20-year-old from Gardner-Webb, was the outstanding offensive rookie while Wedman, of Colorado, helped the Kings make the playoffs for the first time since 1967.

Completing the squad were Tom Burleson, the 7-foot-3 center from North Carolina State who developed rapidly under Seattle SuperSonics Coach Bill Russell, and Brian Winters, the former South Carolina star who was used both at guard and forward by the Los Angeles Lakers.

Ranchland Hill Hosts Stampede

Ranchland Hill Country Club will hold its 19th annual Stampede Golf Tournament Thursday through Sunday with golfers coming to the Tall City from throughout West Texas and neighboring states.

The tournament will tee off with a special pro-am event Thursday and then the regular two-man low-ball competition will begin Friday and run through Sunday.

Back to defend his title will be Craig Adams, who teamed up with his brother, John, to win last year's title. John, who attends college in Arizona, will miss this year's tournament.

Some 112 teams have entered this year's event.

One of the highlights will come Sunday, it was revealed by tournament publicist Bill Milby, when a Buick will be awarded to a hole-in-one on the seventh hole.

Amer Upsets Favorite

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Hamilton Amer put on a strong kick in the last few yards Saturday to upset favored Will Rodgers in the 1975 National AAU 15-kilometer championship run through historic old city Alexandria, a Washington suburb.

Amer, representing the Greater Boston Track Club, nipped Rodgers, a teammate who won the famous Boston marathon in record time this year, by less than two seconds—46 minutes, 56.8 seconds to 46:58.

Tab Within Reach In This French Riviera Hideaway

By JOHN PHILIP SOUSA
Copley News Service

VILLEFRANCHE, France — Less than five miles from bustling Nice, this tiny citadel-like town that rises in tiers over a deep blue bay is one of those French Riviera hideaways Frenchmen often pick for their own vacations.

Accessibility to a host of attractions, a stunning setting and reasonable prices are among the chief pluses here.

Everything but natural beauty is on a small scale. The streets leading to the picturesque harbor are steep and narrow, the smell of history — and superb bouillabaisse — all about the place.

But you can get around on foot. There are less than a dozen hotels and only one, the 80-room Hotel LeVersailles, sports the "top class" four-star rating accorded by the French Government Tourist Office. But accommodations are spottier and the tab will not drive you to financial ruin: Cost of a double room with continental breakfast ranges from about $8 to $20.

Sailing, yachting, water skiing and tennis are among sports both locals and visitors take part in, to say nothing of that French national indulgence — good food.

A number of restaurants line the road that winds along Villefranche's protected bay while others are perched on the flower-bedecked terraces that keep an eye on the sea and the seemingly ever-present sun.

Even during the winter months, when this resort is even less crowded and prices are strictly at sea level, you can sit outdoors and treat yourself to a succulent Mediterranean meal you'll never forget.

Bouillabaisse, that thick fish soup most visitors often turn into a main course, is, of course, beautifully prepared here. But there are other delicacies as well, such as poutinot, small local fish boiled and seasoned with olive oil and lemon, and capon, stuffed cabbage.

More than anything else, Villefranche is an ideal base from which to sample some of the countless attractions of the Riviera or, as it was known in the latter part of the last century, the Côte d'Azur.

Probably the most famous stretch of shore in the world, it extends some 76 miles from Cannes on the west to Menton right on the border with Italy.

The towering Maritime Alps keep the continent's cold winds out of this area while its southern exposure guarantees a temperate and sunbathed climate present all but a few days out of the year. Such weather no doubt accounts for the fact that the entire Riviera is overgrown with flowers. In fact, the $70 million French perfume industry is centered at Grasse, about 35 miles from Villefranche.

In all, there are some 30 resorts within this compact chunk of shoreline. Not one is like the other.

And they range in size from Nice, a happy city of more than 300,000 inhabitants which boasts of more than 300 hotels, to Cagnes-le-Haut, a village of 1,000, mostly olive growers and gardeners who apparently have no interest in the hotel business.

Founded by the Greeks in the 5th Century B.C., Nice has long been famous as an art center. One in a long list of artists drawn to this area was Henri Matisse who spent the last years of his life in Nice. The Musée Matisse, a handsome 19th Century mansion facing archaeological excavations of old Nice, houses more than 40 of his canvases and drawings.

Nice, whose airport is the busiest in France after Paris, is also a city of elegant gambling casinos, a variety of festivals, international exhibitions and the site of one of the most colorful carnivals anywhere.

Nearby Cannes, one of the Riviera's most elegant resorts, draws movie personalities from all over the world every spring to its famous International Film Festival.

The 20 miles that separates Cannes and Nice are a nearly solid fringe of mansions, hotels and condominiums. But there are still enough trees and flowers on which to feast the eyes and a wide choice of sports facilities: 18 tennis clubs, a number of 18-hole golf courses, stables, a racetrack, polo fields and, of course, all sorts of aquatic diversions.

Guadalajara Full Of Exciting Clutter

By LAURIE BECKLUND
Copley News Service

GUADALAJARA — Mexico is redolent of turn-of-the-century immigrants building America.

It assaults your senses with exciting clutter. Pre-sign ordinance, pre-pollution device, pre-Lysol clutter.

You can see people at work in this beautiful old city of two million.

Notary publics clack on typewriters set up in open pats.

Vendors sell fresh, paprikaed cucumbers from carts, or squeeze ugly brown oranges into fresh-and-safe-juice that some only dream about. Here it costs 16 cents for a milk shake-size glassful.

Horse-drawn carts with rubber wheels wait for hire outside the fascinating Mercado Libertad. In the marketplace are hundreds of stalls that sell about anything you could want. The carts outside will haul bulky bargains wherever you ask.

Goings-on inside small stores are as plain as life in a dollhouse. Most of the stores have no doors, just front walls that roll up for business hours.

One step up from the sidewalk, men are getting haircuts, machines are flip-flapping kilos of tortillas along odd-looking conveyor belt contraptions, and ice from open pickup trucks is being shoveled over trays of gray or red fish.

There is more to Guadalajara than its famous, gracefully spired cathedral and numerous museums.

You can hear it, see it, smell it just walking down the streets.

The streets themselves are a challenge.

You have to watch your step in Mexico. Open manholes abound. Filmy boards cover holes in the ground and act as sidewalks.

The red and green tiles of older sidewalks have ruptured in places. Newer walkways have been made of local volcanic rock, picturesque, but built for tennis shoes only.

The noise doesn't descend here, once every 30 minutes like a jet emitting a filtered whine over a busy airport. Noise is unceasing.

Traffic directors whistle. Vendors clang bells. Orange and green parrots squawk from wooden cages strapped a dozen high on vendors' backs.

Rattley old buses roar through the city, chording so loud against the pink and blue-plastered one-story houses that people on the sidewalks stop talking and cover their ears.

Jackhammers are incessant, chipping away cement for the new metro or for another new building.

It seems half of Mexico is always under construction. The church of Expiatorio here has been under construction 80 years. When asked why it wasn't finished yet, one worker replied, "Just a lot of work here—it will come around one day."

Along Puerto Vallarta, one of the town's longest avenues, barebacked men dig with puny shovels in a mile-wide construction area, apparently laying cement pipe. But the pipes only hypenate the trenches, lying in no apparent order.

Guadalajara emanates the raw smells of tropical fruits ripening and people laboring out of buses.

They say an antimog ordinance has abolished smog here, although a familiar haze hangs over the city.

Maybe they're right. The city doesn't seem ready for smog. Instead, it has soot that gets in your eyes and exhaust smoke pouring out of an electrical plant and open brush fires burning away rodents and insects in the night.

Yes, there is more to Guadalajara than the cathedral and museums; there is Mexico. You can see some of it from the picturesque horse-drawn carriages that pull you down the city's wide avenues.

But not all.

Outfits Make For Carefree Travel

By GUS STEVENS
Copley News Service

In recent years for the traveling man. Most of us still take too many things to wear when we travel, whether for business or vacation wear. This bad habit dates to the times when it was almost impossible to keep clothes looking neat without frequent changes and convenient accessibility to hotel cleaning and pressing services.

Today things are different and the man on the go would do well to leave home with fewer suitcases and leaving those he does take along half empty for bringing gifts home to the women in his life.

Perhaps the most important contemporary change in men's travel wardrobes is that ease of clothing has become much easier, thanks to the polyesters which can be almost impossible to wrinkle and from which most of the dust of travel can easily be brushed away at day's end.

Not too long ago it was not uncommon for men to hang their slacks and jackets in hotel showers, turn on the hot water — careful not to soak their clothing by accident — and hope that the steam would whisk away the wrinkles brought on by all-day wear and crowded suitcases.

Those days can be gone forever for the man who turns to polyester knits for travel. They can literally be dumped on a hotel room floor overnight and not show wrinkles the following day, although this is not meant to encourage such sloppy habits.

Synthetic fiber and blended materials used in shirts and underwear can mean that such apparel can be washed in a bathroom sink at bedtime, hung over the tub — or out

Borger Publisher To Receive Award

J. C. Phillips, Borger newspaper publisher, has been selected to receive the Toastmasters District 44 communication and leadership award.

The award was presented to Phillips during the Toastmasters District conference Saturday in the Hilton Inn in Lubbock.

Among previous recipients of the District 44 award is LaDoyce Lambert, former managing editor of The Midland Reporter-Telegram.

on the balcony, if the hotel manager doesn't catch you — and be dry and relatively free of wrinkles in the morning.

(If it rains during the night, you have a problem. Free advice we give, but miracles we cannot command.)

Traveling and looking presentable is also easier because men's clothing has become more leisurely looking, both at home and away.

We can thank the popularity of the leisure suit for much of this welcome trend. The leisure suit means no necktie, a lightweight jacket with little or no padding and the option of wearing a variety of shirts and slacks with the jacket.

The safari jacket and matching slacks, for example, is an ideal outfit for traveling. If a man gets caught in a church or restaurant where a tie is demanded, he can add one to this outfit while he leaves.

The outfit can be coordinated with a CPO leisure outfit of a different color and then the two outfits can be worn interchangeably to give the man four different looks — jacket and slacks, slacks and jacket. Clever?

This allows our traveler to go lighter and the outfit can be of wrinkle-free fabrics to give him a double advantage.

At one time crumpled formal travel clothes, but even on the world's fanciest vessels formal wear is becoming rare. Neckties for the captain's dinner, yes; formal clothes, usually no — and they aren't going to throw anybody overboard who is out of uniform.

Here's a chance for kids 14 to 18 to have some fun — and learn some mountain skills — in Switzerland this summer. There are two programs at Zermatt, one from June 15 to July 9, the other July 9-Aug. 4. They are offered by Swiss Challenge, a private educational organization, in cooperation with Swissair. The cost is $1,342, which includes round-trip air transportation from New York or Boston, room and board, unlimited ski and climbing lessons, ski lift passes, all hikes and staff fees. Write Swiss Challenge, in care of European Camp Association, P.O. Box 1047, Slowe, Vt. 05672, or contact any Swissair office.

In these days of rising prices, National Airlines proposes a price reduction. The fare cuts, if approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, would slash coach fares 35 per cent beginning April 14 in "no frills" flights in wide-body jets. For example, a one-way Los Angeles-Miami day coach ticket would drop from $183 to $112. (This compares with Los Angeles-Miami train fare of $178 and bus fare of $113.50) The low-cost service would be available on wide-body flights between Los Angeles, Houston, New Orleans and Miami, Tampa and Orlando; also, on the East Coast between Miami-Fort Lauderdale and New York-Miami.

Three-day, two-night tours offered to Anaheim-Disneyland, Los Angeles-Hollywood, Sacramento, San Diego and San Francisco.

Each package includes two nights' lodging and a sight-seeing tour or 24 hours' use of a rent-a-car. Prices range from $45.50 to $85.50, based on double occupancy. The program was developed by the California Division of Tourism and convention and visitors' bureaus of cities involved. Write for details to Lassalle Travel, International of San Francisco, 98 Post St., San Francisco, Calif. 94104.

NOT A DANCE LESSON — A first lesson in water skiing may look like practice for a new dance step, but it's a more sporting proposition. Each year thousands of Florida visitors rush over the state's sun-sparkled waters, acquiring a golden tan.

The Monterey will sail on six 13-day cruises to Alaska this summer. Ports of call will be Vancouver and Victoria in British Columbia; Juneau, Skagway or Haines, and Sitka in Alaska, and a 50-mile sail through Glacier Bay.

Bridge players will be able to enjoy their hobby with experts on all Princess Cruises of seven days or longer. Under a new agreement a "travel with Goren" bridge team will direct daily activities and tournaments.

Icelandic Airlines has just announced some low round-trip rates in April and May from New York to Luxembourg. For example, there's a saving of $316 on the "one-to 21-day fare" of $360 if the stay is under 14 days, and a saving of $212 for stays of 14 to 21 days. The new youth fare (for those 12 to 21) is $360 with savings of $74. There are savings in other categories of travel, from both Chicago and New York.

The airline says it can offer savings on U.S.-Europe travel because it is the only scheduled airline on that route that is not a member of the price-regulating International Air Transport Association (IATA).

Munich Joyful Old Town

By JOHN PHILIP SOUSA
Copley News Service

MUNICH — Even Germans unfamiliar with Thomas Wolfe agree with the American author on how most of them feel about this joyful town for all reasons and seasons.

"Many people go to sleep and dream that they have arrived in heaven," he wrote. "Throughout Germany people often dream that they have gone to Munich, to Bavaria." To that we would add that this, the capital of Bavaria, is a town for those who practice the art of fine living, a commendable pursuit accessible even to those with a modest budget.

The similarity is one of mood, attitudes and beauty, though there is no physical resemblance.

Munich is 816 years old and bulging with sumptuous Gothic churches, ornate rococo palaces, baroque castles and other architectural treasures from centuries back. But it is a very young city when it comes to its people. A respectable 40 per cent of its population of 1.5 million is under 30.

Not only Germans, but visitors from all over the world, consider it as one of the most hospitable metropolises anywhere.

The two-week-long Oktoberfest, a king-size beer and folklore festival that begins on a Saturday in September and ends on the first Sunday in October, and Fasching, the carnival that runs from Jan. 7 to Ash Wednesday, are the most famous of the local festivities.

The calendar is crowded the entire year with festivals, concerts, operas, ballet and theatrical performances.

Munich boasts four symphony orchestras, 22 theaters — including the regal Cuvillies and the National theater, home of the famed Bavarian State Opera.

And then there is Schwabing. Some call it a state of mind. What most visitors see in this neighborhood is a string of bistros, cafes, jazz joints, discotheques, beer and other bars pulsating with the dancing and talking of most of the 40,000 students who make Munich Germany's biggest university town.

Looking out from the 933-foot Olympic Tower you see the hustle and bustle below tempered by the sight of trees, thousands of them lining many of the city's arteries, and by the countless parks and squares that put a human dimension on the city's face.

On a clear day you can see the snow-capped Alps, a short 50 miles to the south. Then you are reminded that above and beyond its many attractions, Munich is the gateway to a world of mountains, lakes, pastures and villages tailor-made for the leisure-loving Bavarians.

From here you can make daylong outings to such delights as Neuschwanstein, the fabulous castle of King Ludwig II; Oberammergau, home of the renowned Passion Play; Zugspitze, at 9,700 feet, Germany's tallest mountain, and Garmisch-Partenkirchen, one of a score of great ski resorts.

Hotel-wise it makes sense to make Munich your headquarters for a Bavarian vacation. There are more than 4,000 hotels within the metropolitan area. And they range from modest guesthouses to palatial establishments. In between you'll find such familiar names as Hilton, Holiday Inn and Sheraton.

Wheel Across Baja

Copley News Service

If you should be traveling by car in Mexico and wish to visit the 1,000-mile-long peninsula of Baja California, you can get there by ferry across the Gulf of California. Or vice versa, of course. The most recent ferry to enter service joins Puerto Vallarta with Cabo San Lucas. Other ferries link La Paz, capital of Baja California, Sur, and Santa Rosalia on the peninsula with the ports of Guaymas, Topolobampo and Mazatlan on the mainland.

The ferry serving Puerto Vallarta and Cabo San Lucas can carry 400 passengers and 185 autos. Cost for vehicles ranges from $60 for a small car up to $192 for an auto and house trailer. Fares for a passenger range from $10 in salon class to $40 for a two-bed cabin.

The Rotterdam will have a jazz festival called "Showboat 3" on its one-week cruise to Nassau and Bermuda sailing June 7 from New York. Entertainers will include Lionel Hampton and his orchestra, Dave Brubeck and his trio and the Duke Ellington band. There will be jam sessions and panel discussions with passengers participating. Rates range from $490 to $830.

Vacationers in the Far East are discovering the South Korean island of Cheju, 60 miles off the southwest end of the mainland. The island's 1,000,000 population includes more women than men, and many of the women are divers who bring up abalone, lobster and pearls.

Mt. Halla, 6,345 feet high, Korea's highest, dominates the island. It has many beautiful waterfalls, and in its crater is a lake surrounded by trees. There are a number of hotels, and restaurants that serve good seafood.

Passengers on the four Santaliners of Prudential Cruises will get free shore excursions in Latin American ports. The shore excursions include 13 ports of call and vary in length from a half to a full day. They are offered to passengers who take the full 52-day cruise or a combination sea-air trip. Cost of the 52-day cruise from Los Angeles starts at $3,640.

Ending America's Education Hang-Up

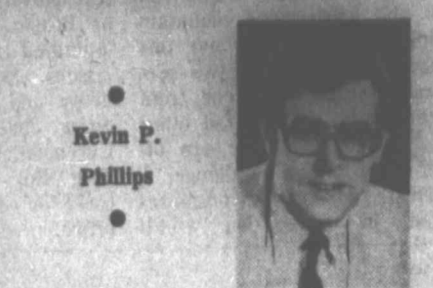

WASHINGTON (KFS) — One of the few good things about the current recession lies in growing evidence that it is awakening Americans to the danger of too much education.

This may sound like an unspeakable barbarity, because for decades fashionable opinion has used only one word in educational planning — more, more, more. Give more people more education, the theory goes, and we will have a better country.

During the Nineteen-Sixties, U.S. colleges expanded to educate an unprecedented share of the population. Before long, the idea of opportunity gave way to the idea of equality. Education was a great social tool. From kindergarten to college, everybody could profit from it, and everybody had an equal right to it.

My purpose is not to mount a diatribe against equality, nor even against the high industry and bureaucracy that has grown up to perpetuate the educational system's over-expansion of the Sixties. Let me cite a new book — "The Case Against College," by Vassar graduate Caroline Bird — which lays out the mistakes, premises of our educational system in cold, statistical terms.

Author Bird begins with the point that only 25 per cent or so of college students are "turned on" by their work. The Carnegie Commission estimates that 5 to 30 per cent of students are in college reluctantly. Jacob Mincer of the National Bureau of Economics and Columbia University states that to 20 to 30 per cent of students at any level, the additional schooling has been a waste, at least in terms of earnings. Yet to coddle these marginal students, intellectual standards are being reduced. In the United States, almost 40 per cent of high school graduates go on to college. In Britain, West Germany and France, the figure is only seven per cent or so.

Ms. Bird also cracks another clay idol, the notion (per a 1972 U.S. Census Bureau Study) that a man finishing four years of college will earn $199,000 more between the ages of 22 and 64 than a man who merely completes high school. First, she notes that more than half of the people earning more than $15,000 a year in 1972 did so without the benefit of a college degree. But these statistics, reflecting the pattern of the older generation, might not apply to today's young people. So try these mathematics:

Suppose a 1972 Princeton-bound high school senior, instead of going to college, had been given the $34,181 that his four years at college would cost. If he went to work, and put his money in a savings bank at 7.5 per cent interest (compounded daily), by age 64 he would have a total of $1,129,200 or $528,200 more than the lifetime earnings of a male college graduate.

You will say that the problem of waiting until age 64 makes the above largely irrelevant. True, but what if the young man had only to wait until age 28? His passbook would contain $73,113, enough to buy a substantial business.

Of course, most people ready to go to college are not in a position to make a comparative economic decision. They don't have cash in hand. Increasingly, one or another level of government pays out the money from tax revenues. But the same point must be raised: Is present spending wise, or is it partly wasteful and counter-productive?

Persons analyzing the current labor market also are concerned. Tilford Gaines, chief economist of New York's Manufacturers Hanover Bank, worries about U.S. education equipping too many graduates for only intellectual work. He calls for a "restructuring of public attitudes toward employment" away from "an attitude that downgrades physical work." Harvard Prof. Richard B. Freeman says that through the 1980s, many college graduates may "end up in non-professional, non-managerial jobs" simply because the U.S. economy does not provide enough professional jobs.

The sum total of U.S. education, in all its swollen glory, now requires an annual public and private outlay of $100 billion. But the cost is not simply in dollars: We also are distorting our economy and our society. It is time to stand up to the education lobby, and demand a careful cost-benefit analysis for every dollar spent.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON WASHINGTON — The global rout of Henry Kissinger's policies — and his attempt to disarm his own handwork by laying it at the door of an obstreperous Congress and an unsteadfast people — calls for comment.

Kissinger has cut a great swath through our time. He has a formidable intellect and an arresting eloquence. He is possessed of an awesome drive and dedication. He is a brilliant negotiator and a commanding personality.

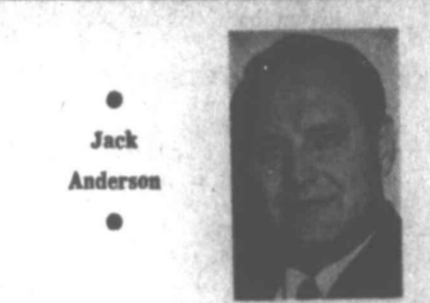

But he has made one great mistake. As the chief navigator of our foreign policy since 1969, he has kept the flag of American idealism deliberately lowered and has sailed the seven seas without a moral rudder. He has been willing to do what must be done to get "results," ready to make common cause with any pirate who controlled a useful ship.

If the expediency of the moment calls for throwing the gentle Cambodian people into the maw of an already lost war in order to facilitate our retreat from it, or for the terror bombing of Hanoi at 11:59 of the war to disguise the surrender inherent in his peace terms, well — that's the way the game is played.

If the calculations of power politics cause America to stand before the Solzhenitsyns of the world with eyes averted while placating their oppressors, or to deceive Congress and the public as to exactly what had been done or pledged in their name, well — it isn't easy to be Bismarck.

For a time, Henry Kissinger dazzled Washington. He was adept in the backrooms at producing accords that meant different things to different signatories, assiduous in building up houses of cards by ambiguities.

He practiced a diplomacy of duplicity and manipulation, putting expediency ahead of principle. He underestimated the American idealogy. He forgets that there comes a time when the foreign policy of a democracy is no stronger than the people's respect for it.

One by one, the houses of cards have fallen in. Success would have permitted at least a pragmatic defense of his tactics. But where are the victories?

The Indochina debacle is merely the latest example. By 1969, the Vietnam war was lost. It was painfully evident that we could not forever defend a regime which could not defend itself.

Yet instead of facing the true reality and dismantling the war in the most humane and least costly manner possible, Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger prolonged it for four years in pursuit of appearances. They had their eye on the global chess game and domestic politics.

That the Nixon-Kissinger "peace with honor" was never more than a cynical slogan, that the Paris peace accords were made only to be broken was obvious even to the Joint Chiefs. Their secret estimate was that under the Paris agreement, the Saigon regime could not survive. For it left large North Vietnamese forces within South Vietnam, building up for the final kill.

The Vietnam mistake was part of a pattern. Here is the dismal record, which must be understood before it can be corrected:

— During the India-Pakistan war,

EDITORIALS ... At The Local Level

Midland County Judge Barbara Culver is very much concerned, and rightly so, that statutorily created state commissions as proposed in the Texas Legislature will take over the regulation of almost every aspect of city and county affairs.

This is a very real danger, of which all citizens should be aware.

In a recent letter addressed to Sen. Pete Snelson, with copies going to Rep. Tom Craddick and several other members of the legislature, Judge Culver expressed the fear that in the rush of the closing weeks, "you will have to consider these bills, singly, without an opportunity to weigh the total impact of the bills, and that one-by-one, they will be enacted.

"For every problem, a statewide regulatory bureau seems to be the answer."

The judge cited a half-dozen specific proposals as examples.

First, she mentioned the Peveto bill which would control assessing of property values within the county and make the county's elected tax assessor-collector more an agent of a state director in the comptroller's office and of the local board of adjustment than an independent elected official responsible to his voters. Under such an arrangement, local initiative and control are jeopardized, she said.

"Another commission being proposed is in the County Jail Law and is for a Commission on Jail Standards," the judge continued. "It will, if enacted, control operation of city and county jails."

Her third example reads, "The Texas Youth Council proposals get that agency through boards and commissions involved in local affairs pertaining to juvenile delinquency . . . TYC's track record is such that it should focus its attention on its present jurisdiction and not take on more areas of endeavor at the local level."

As Point No. 4, Judge Culver refers to a statewide commission proposed for licensing and supervising adult probation officers through a regulatory body. She is of the opinion that this would diminish the power the local district judges have in selecting adult probation officers.

She continued with her fifth example, "The bill called the Texas Alcoholism and Intoxication Act prohibits local governments from enforcing a local law or ordinance that fines or punishes a person for drinking, being drunk in a public place, etc. (in effect repealing all the state laws and city ordinances on these subjects, and putting more power and control in the Texas Commission on Alcoholism."

Judge Culver's final example: "The one which is attracting all the attention at the moment is the Public Utilities Commission (or commissions) which would take away municipal regulatory powers in rate setting."

Judge Culver, an authority on government at the local level, knows whereof she speaks.

"Besides these there are probably many other bills which have not come to my attention," her letter said. "Each would create a state expense for an executive director, staff . . . Each would remove local control and replace it with state bureaucrats inspecting, directing and regulating.

"Add them all together and you have severely weakened the cities and counties of Texas."

The legislature would do well to heed the sound advice offered by the Midland County judge by side-tracking the proposals mentioned and others designed to further weaken government at the local level.

INSIDE REPORT—

Another Tough Confirmation Hearing Begins

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee has begun confirmation hearings on President Ford's nomination, as the government's top trade negotiator, of William Walker, a 37-year-old White House aide with an immaculate record and a better than even chance to be rejected by the Senate — a paradox traced to today's weakened presidency.

Walker's ostensible problem is lack of experience in international trade. Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska, the Finance Committee's senior Republican, shares that concern but will vote for Walker, he says, "out of deference to the President." Other committee Republicans — Paul Fannin (Ariz.), William Roth (Del.) and perhaps Clifford Hansen (Wyo.) — show no such deference. On the Democratic side, liberals Abraham Ribicoff (Conn.) and Gaylord Nelson (Wis.) are inclined against Walker, and chairman Russell B. Long of Louisiana may join them. If all these senators vote against Walker, his nomination is dead.

What is happening here is the intersection of two bitter legacies from the ruined presidency of Richard M. Nixon. The first, especially strong among Democrats, is congressional attempts to usurp presidential selection of high officials, among other functions. The second, involving Republicans, is a corrosive post-Nixon reaction to arrogance from the Oval Office.

That second legacy means that opposition against Walker from Republican Senators is in large part an emotional slap back at Walker's boss and patron, White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld, and, indirectly, Rumsfeld's departed predecessors, H. R. Haldeman and Gen. Alexander Haig.

Walker is unmistakably Rumsfeld's protege. Brought into the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) as a young Chicago lawyer by fellow Illinoisan Rumsfeld in 1969, Walker followed him to the Cost of Living Council (COLC) in 1972. When Rumsfeld took over the White House last December, he gave Walker the messy task of running the personnel office there. In reward for that hazardous duty, the President on April 15 nominated Walker for the choice post of deputy special trade representative stationed in general to head forthcoming negotiations.

On his courtesy calls to Senators since then, Walker has argued that he gained plenty of negotiating experience as a government lawyer and that past trade negotiators, while more experienced, were concerned with foreign policy dictates rather than driving a hard bargain. With such arguments, Walker would have sailed through the Senate in pre-Watergate days. But in 1975 Senators are touchier about a nominee's qualifications.

Beyond lack of experience, Walker suffers from having been personnel chief.

A highly competent but buttoned-down young man who does not suffer fools gladly, Walker treated some seekers of high federal posts recommended by Senators as supplicants rather than VIPs. One Senator now opposing Walker tells of a prominent constituent volunteering for government office being given a runaround by Walker. He is accused of sidetracking a would-be member of the new Commodity Futures Regulatory Commission who had influential support in the Senate Republican cloakroom.

Conservative Republicans who are Walker's sharpest critics also blame him for decisions on some obscure but politically sensitive appointments. Most annoying of these is Neil Staebler, veteran liberal Democratic politician from Michigan, to the Federal Election Commission. The selection of Legal Services Corp. board members viewed as insufficiently conservative by many Republicans is attributed to Walker.

With these complaints in the background, the White House made a possibly fatal error in handling Walker's confirmation. His nomination was presented to Finance Committee members not as a possibility but as an accomplished fact, a blunder in the post-Nixon mood of congressional superiority.

There is yet another subsurface layer. One Senate Democrat opposing the nomination told us there is unvoiced suspicion on both sides of the aisle that Walker is Rumsfeld's choice, not the President's, hurried past the President's eye. Absurd though the charge is, the fact that it is articulated by serious politicians points to the anti-Rumsfeld underpinning of the Walker confirmation fight.

The private complaints against Rumsfeld are that he is "too liberal" and too abrupt in dealing with members of Congress. In truth, Rumsfeld is a moderate conservative and a courteous, pleasant man who religiously returns all telephone calls from Capitol Hill. He approaches Haldeman neither in arrogance nor mastery over the White House.

But whereas overwhelming arrogance from the White House was suffered in silence by congressional Republicans under Haldeman and to a lesser extent Haig, even a fraction of that executive hauteur will not be tolerated under Rumsfeld.

That fact, perhaps not sufficiently realized at the White House, explains the otherwise inexplicable fight over Walker — and why the process of governing is becoming very nearly impossible for President Ford facing a self-assertive, troublesome and not always rational Congress.

Law Distorted

To The Editor:

It is not pleasant to me to have to bring to public attention yet another issue involving The University of Texas of the Permian Basin in Odessa, which has already received too much adverse publicity and whose faculty and students have been undeservedly hurt by the exposure.

But the issue I raise now is one of fundamental principle, and it has been on my mind ever since I arrived at UTPB two years ago. It greatly concerns my colleagues at UTPB, as well.

It ought to concern every American who believes that individuals should be selected for jobs on the basis of what they can do and not on the accident of their birth—their being born black, white, male or female.

I'm talking about the policy of reverse discrimination being practiced with full vigor at my university—the hiring or attempted hiring of faculty on the basis of their skin color or gender. And the matter is an urgent one because some faculty may not be retained because they are not black, Mexican-American or female.

When I have discussed this matter with the administration I have been given the standard argument that U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare field offices in Dallas might come to our campus to inspect and determine if HEW racial and sexual quotas in hiring were being met. I am distressed to have to report that our administration asks us to violate the dictates of our conscience and violate the law on the claim that we might lose our federal funding. I have suspicion, however, that the real pressure on our school is coming from the UT system office in Austin and directly from Dallas.

I ask this question: when Congress passed the 1964 Civil Rights Act, did our lawmakers mean what they said? Did they mean that ALL forms of discrimination were in violation of the law, or did they mean that our higher education institutions could not discriminate against blacks, women, Mexican-Americans but COULD discriminate against white males. I think the intention of that law is clearly spelled out. It bans the recruitment of persons for jobs on the basis of race period!

Racial and sexual requirements for jobs, however shrouded in euphemisms, are patently discriminatory.

Though in my view the moral and legal issue is of paramount importance, there are the costs to the taxpayer as well in all of this. To replace good faculty already on campus, our administration is spending recruitment monies to bring in minority candidates. This is needless waste of tax money and needless waste of our faculty's time and energies.

In closing, I want to direct an inquiry to our elected representatives, especially in our Congress. When you pass a law of great importance to the people's welfare, is it not also your duty to make sure that the executive branch of the government, the bureaucracies at the state and local level, abide by that law? Should you not feel outrage when the law's meaning is distorted grossly to conform to the sentiments of bureaucrats who are not elected to office and who do not speak for the people?

It's time we stood up and were counted. If we do not, our liberties will be wholly at the whim of bureaucrats and will soon be lost to us.

I am calling, therefore, on my elected representatives to investigate the policy of reverse discrimination here at UTPB and elsewhere in the UT system. And I would be delighted to hear from my congressional representative in Washington, George Mahon, that the same inquiry was being pursued with vigor in regard to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Texas First In Highway Funds Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas is leading the nation in the use of highway funds released by President Ford earlier this year, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said Friday.

The Federal Highway Administration has reported that more than $1 billion has been granted to individual states from the impounded funds. Texas has received $72 million.

Released in February, the impounded money was released in February. It is not new money being appropriated by Congress, but money whose expenditure already had been approved in earlier years for use by the states to meet transportation needs.

"We worked hard to get this money for the states and I am especially glad Texas is taking full advantage of it," said Bentsen, chairman of the Senate transportation subcommittee.

"The money is being used mainly for projects that are free from controversy and that have been stalled for months and even years because of financial difficulties," Bentsen said.

Increased Employment

He said the funds, in addition to improving Texas highways, also result in increased employment.

"Every time $1 billion in highway funds is spent, this means that 150,000 unemployed people are put back to work," he said.

"With the recession already seriously affecting certain areas of our state, and the construction industry showing an unemployment rate of 15 per cent nationally, spending this money now simply makes good economic sense," Bentsen said.

Ordinary Elements

Beautiful rubies and sapphires are composed of two ordinary elements, oxygen, as is the air we breathe, and aluminum, used in an ordinary satecan.

RETIRED BUT NOT TIRED OF WORK — Mrs. Mary Philippus, retired long-time Midland public school teacher, was out after the weeds on a vacant lot next to her home at 607 N. Colorado St., early Friday. She had cut and raked up this pile of weeds in an hour's time. An inveterate yard worker and Midland booster, Mrs. Philippus recommends that all Midlanders take it upon themselves to clean up and beautify the city as a community-wide Bicentennial project.

Nuclear Plant Cost Climbs $200 Million

DALLAS (AP) — The cost of the nuclear power plant near Dallas Power & Light Co. Glen Rose has exceeded its original estimate by more than $200 million dollars because of design changes and inflation, says Texas Utilities board chairman T. L. Austin.

The new figures represent a 27 per cent increase since the plant was designed, bringing the cost of the Comanche Peak nuclear power station to $987 million.

of C. A. Tatum as an officer and director of the company, said Friday if its system companies are to continue to provide fully adequate service, they will have to seek higher electric rates.

"Continuing inflation, conservation and unfavorable weather have limited operating revenues while operating costs have continued to increase," Austin said.

'It's Good To Win One'

By PATRICK J. SLOYAN
Newsday

WASHINGTON — President Ford has provided a temporary boost to the sagging American image with the bold rescue of the 40-man crew of an American merchant ship captured by Cambodia. To U.S. officials, it was a high-risk military gamble that paid off after a series of U.S. disasters in Indochina.

"It's good to win one for a change," said one white-haired Pentagon planner who, like most of official Washington, has seen one ambitious American adventure after another in Southeast Asia turn sour and backfire.

He spoke moments after a long boat waiving a white flag pulled alongside of the American destroyer Wilson standing off the Cambodian island of Koh Tang about 10:30 P.M. (EDT) Wednesday. Aboard and uninjured were the crewmen of the merchant freighter Mayaguez. Their return followed a Marine landing on the nearby island and the sinking or damaging of seven Khmer Rouge naval vessels by American war planes that also bombed Ream Air Base in Cambodia, about 40 miles from where the Mayaguez was halted early Monday morning.

Most important, however, was Ford's signal to the world, in general, and wavering Asian allies, in particular, that the United States was not a paper tiger. Despite grim warnings from defense advisers and complaints from Democratic leaders in Congress, Ford gambled and won in making the "piracy" of the Mayaguez a major issue.

The success comes after Hanoi's takeover of South Vietnam, the Khmer Rouge's victory in Cambodia and increasing pressure on the neutralist government in Laos and officials in Thailand, the last American base on the Southeast Asian mainland.

Ford and his secretary of state, Henry Kissinger, have been almost desperate to show Moscow, Peking and Asian leaders that in spite of these losses, the United States had not been bowed.

"He could have handled it very differently but he didn't," said one State Department official. "He took a big risk." For example when the Mayaguez was halted early Monday morning, Ford could have ordered the State Department to issue a protest and then wait a week or so while diplomatic efforts worked on the newly-founded Khmer Rouge government.

Instead, Ford elected to make a major tough-talking statement Monday and followed Tuesday night — less than 40 hours after the freighter was seized — with an air attack on Cambodian vessels that apparently were attempting to move the ship's crewmen to the Cambodian mainland.

"No one knew for sure where the crew was — on the island or in Cambodia or on the ship," said one defense official. "The Khmer Rouge could have killed the crewmen or got them out of our reach. We just didn't know for sure."

The uncertainty about the crew's location hampered planning throughout Wednesday. Ford launched the Marine ground and Navy air attacks Wednesday night — informing congressional leaders almost simultaneously. "Many were upset that the President informed us of his decisions rather than seeking consultation," said Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.), the assistant Democratic leader, after the 6:30 P.M. White House session.

By doing so, Ford carefully preserved executive authority to deal with emergencies threatening American lives abroad. At the same time, his contacts with congressmen at least partially satisfied congressional demands for consultations about use of American military power.

Among foreign diplomats, Congress and within the administration itself, there was strong belief earlier in the day that the whole mission would fail, that the crew would be killed or lost and that America once again would seem helpless against a third-rate power.

Instead, Ford defied the odds and won. Everyone was not cheering, however. The Thai government was angry and upset. Bangkok fears attacks by the newly-installed Communist governments of its neighbors. The Air Force planes that attacked the Khmer Rouge vessels flew from Thailand as did the small band of Marines that landed on Koh Tang.

The United States already has agreed to reduce some of its 25,000-man military force in Thailand, but this week's action could result in even larger reductions. State Department officials for the most part dismiss the Thai complaint as posturing for "local consumption." And, as the smoke clears, it is true that the U.S. victory is over one of the world's smallest countries with an unstable government and a navy that included 20 small boats before Wednesday's attacks.

"We were standing eyeball to knee cap and the other guy blinked," was the way one observer put it.

Some U.S. officials say Ford acted swiftly and forcefully after it became apparent to the administration that the Khmer Rouge vessels were looking for an unarmed American merchant vessel to pick on. The same Cambodian boats had harassed at least two other ships earlier but released them after finding they were from different countries.

Some policy makers argue Ford should have given diplomatic efforts — including those by China — a chance to work before resorting to military force.

Such second guessing probably will yield to the argument that it was badly needed demonstration that the United States is not about to be pushed around.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

Legislation Will Be Just A Patch

By STUART LONG
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Doctors were in the House, and the Senate, too, as they put on a big push for the Legislature to "do something" about the high cost of medical and hospital malpractice insurance.

And it begins to look like the Legislature will heed the cries of pain in the pocketbook they are all hearing from their doctors back home, as well as from those who have come to Austin to lobby.

All of the prescriptions being written by the experts are admittedly makeshift and temporary. But it looks like the legislators' prescription for the doctors and hospitals will take this line in a package of three bills all presently scheduled to expire in two years.

1. The creation of "joint underwriting association," a dignified name for what is called an "assigned risk plan" for the unsafe employers who need workmen's compensation insurance and the unsafe drivers who need auto liability insurance. This association would be made up of all insurance companies writing that line of insurance. For higher rates, this association would insure the physicians and hospitals which cannot get insurance at regular rates.

2. A retaking of some state control over insurance companies which write medical malpractice insurance. In 1955, the Legislature at the request of the Medical Association took away rate regulation. Now the TMA is asking that the State Board of Insurance be given some regulatory power to gather statistics on judgments awarded by the courts against physicians and hospitals because of mistakes in professional activity. This will give an answer to the charge by the trial lawyers and the doctors that insurance companies are raising rates in Texas because of big judgments awarded in New York and California. This bill, by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, would also require companies to give 90 days notice of a rate change or of cancellation of a medical liability policy, and would require that policies be issued for a term of one year, instead of the present practice of writing only short-term policies.

3. To take away some of the patient's protection against damage by a health-care provider by saying that the claim for damage must be made within two years of the time that health care was provided. This would replace the present law under which the statute of limitations begins to run when the foreign object left in the body or other damage is discovered by the patient.

4. To set up some sort of system by which malpractice claims are reviewed by a panel of physicians or hospital people. This plan, by Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls, would limit insurance policies to $100,000, and pay judgments above that amount from a state fund created by a surcharge on the premiums of the $100,000 policies. Payments from this state fund would be limited to $400,000. Its effect would be to create a reinsurance system administered by the state.

5. To set up a study commission which includes physicians, hospital officials, lawyers, insurance company executives and legislators to figure out a permanent solution to the problem which has many physicians simply refusing to practice any more medicine because they say they would just be working for the insurance company. Annual premiums as high as $50,000 have been reported.

All of this, including the flight of the physicians from the practice of medicine, comes at a time when legislators seem to have agreed to pump a lot more money into the state medical schools and to the private medical school the state subsidizes, in order to meet the shortage of physicians.

Lawyers, doctors, insurance executives and hospital officials make up the four-cornered lobby pulling at cross purposes every step of the way. Efforts to compromise are hampered by the very hard feelings between the lawyers, whose fees the doctors want to limit, and the doctors.

From this point, with just a dozen more days remaining in the session, it looks like some of the packages of patchwork legislation may become law. But they will have to do it all over two years from now.

Some serious talk about West Texas gas

Living in the middle of an area known for its abundant gas deposits, it's hard to imagine West Texans threatened by a shortage of natural gas. However, there is the possibility that governmental regulations could create a shortage here. If we are not vigilant, we could see much of our gas supply allocated to other areas. Or we could see price controls make it impractical for producers to drill additional wells in this area. What can the average citizen do to prevent that from happening? I would suggest that he be aware of the problem and support Pioneer's efforts to maintain our gas reserves.

Student Boycott Protests Planned Teacher Dismissals

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The layoffs were precipitated by a $14-million deficit in the school budget. Besides teacher layoffs, a school board spokeswoman said cutbacks in summer recreational programs also were planned.

The boycott has drawn most of its participants from six high schools in the Ironbound section, where blue-collar families have perennially sided with the Newark Teachers Union.

Since the protest began at East Side High School on May 5, the absentee rate there has averaged over 90 per cent.

Meanwhile, the Newark Student Union, an informal student group formed when the teacher layoffs were announced, has called for all students to return to classes on Monday.

But even school board officials were uncertain what weight the recommendation from the new group would have.

The effectiveness of the boycott has been limited. Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson told city hall demonstrators that he sympathized with their complaints but said he was powerless since the state had failed to enact a tax program to finance public school education on a statewide basis.

Last year, the state Supreme Court ordered the legislature to change the current method of financing education by property tax. The legislature's numerous attempts to pass a revenue-raising measure, including a state income tax, all have failed.

At the height of the demonstrations, more than 2,000 students gathered at the Board of Education offices. Attempts to organize a teachers' boycott were not successful, with the highest absentee rate being only twice the average 5.5 per cent for last year.

By week's end, the size of the demonstrations had dwindled to a few hundred, but absenteeism in the schools remained high.

School Superintendent Stanley Taylor said 23.1% of the city's 75,000 students were absent Friday. Over 21,000 were absent on Thursday and 17,000 did not report for classes on Wednesday. School officials said attendance is generally lower on Thursdays and Fridays.

Degree Candidate

STILLWATER, Okla. — Jane Fisher of Midland, Tex., was a degree candidate for recent commencement exercises at Oklahoma State University here. She was to have received a bachelor of science degree.

Agnes Atkins, right, Lee High School French teacher, presents an honorable mention certificate to her student Janet Hilliard, who won the citation in nationwide competition entered by almost 40,000 students.

Lee Student Wins National French Award

Lee High School sophomore Janet Hilliard has received an honorable mention in "Le Grand Concours," a national French contest sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of French.

Miss Hilliard's citation was in the category for first-year students. To achieve honorable mention status, she scored only a few points below the top 10 students on the national level.

She had placed third in the Texas Division and third in the eight-state Southwest Region.

Also receiving a regional honor was Alicia Torres, a Lee High senior who took an honorable mention. Miss Torres, in addition, garnered a second place for fifth year students on the state level.

First year students taking certificates of merit in the Texas Division included Tamara Xan Pliffer and Susan Elizabeth Posey, both of Lee, and Elizabeth Ann McCall, Midland High.

Second year students taking the same honor were Janie L. Barker, Lee; Peter F. Reed, Midland, and Patricia Maria Glenn, Midland.

Lee seniors Holly Christianson, K. Marilyn Dwyer and Donna Crawford were the third year students winning certificates of merit.

Expert Works Out Concealed Hands

The expert tries to locate the missing cards as quickly as he can. After a few tricks he can usually play the rest of the hand as though all the cards were face up on the table.

Clues In Bidding

The bidding may tell you quite a bit about the concealed hands. For example, a player who bids two suits usually has nine or ten cards in those suits.

Clues In Play

When an opponent signals, he tells his partner to continue with a suit or to lead a different suit, or perhaps he indicates the number of cards he himself has in the suit led.

This kind of information is meant to steer the defense in the right direction, and it usually has just that effect. Declarer should be watching the cards also and should use the signals to piece together useful information about the two concealed hands.

More information comes from the fall of significant cards. If an opponent drops a king, for example, he usually has no other card in the suit. (There are exceptions, of course, but the principle is valid.) This tells you where the other cards in that suit are.

Discards are even more useful. When a player cannot follow suit, you are quite sure that his partner has all missing cards in the suit. Moreover, the nature of the discard may tell you something about the hand of the discarder.

When you cannot locate the missing cards with certainty, use probability as your guide. This is not as good as a sure thing, but it's better to have probability with you rather than against you.

Shopping Your Way Through Indian Country Lovely Way To Go

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Shopping your way through Indian country can be an interesting route for travelers with a yen for Indian crafts.

It gives the visitor a chance not only to see the landscape, but also to meet the Indian craftsmen and discuss the age-old traditions they follow. The bonus, of course, is coming home with treasures that hold fond memories—a far more personal way of collecting than buying from a large craft shop or trading post in a major southwestern city.

The pueblos of the Rio Grande offer the Indian craft buff some fertile ground.

Here in the 18 pueblos of New Mexico the history is long, the architecture captivating and the crafts flourishing—particularly pottery making. Each pueblo follows its own traditions and its pottery is distinguished by the region's clay, surface designs and colors chosen by the potter.

Although pottery is a major pueblo craft, others are important and include beadwork, leatherwork, embroidery, jewelry, drums, weaving and carving.

Four of the pueblos—Zuni, Acoma, Laguna and Isleta—are located roughly between Gallup and Albuquerque. Zuni is particularly well-known for its silver jewelry and fetish necklaces, pottery with chalk-white slip and designs of brown-black and red, ceramic owls, stone fetishes and Kachina dolls.

Acoma, located atop a 400-foot sandstone mesa, is well-known for its pottery, among the thinnest of the pueblo ware. It is often white with decorations of brown and yellow-brown. Some modern potters are taking design inspiration from prehistoric designs.

Between Albuquerque and Santa Fe are the pueblos of Sandia, Santa Ana, Zia, Jemez, San Felipe, Santa Domingo and Cochiti. Of these the most active craftwise are Zia, Jemez, Santa Domingo and Cochiti. Zia's pottery of fine reputation is often created with a white or yellow-buff background with black, red or yellow designs including deer, floral sprays and slender stylized birds.

Santa Domingo artisans produce more traditional ware with a cream slip with stylized and geometric designs in black and red as well as some shiny black pottery with designs in a black mat finish.

Shell, turquoise, bead and silver jewelry is also well-known. Cochiti produces fine pottery (bowls and figures), as well as drums made from cottonwood logs and rawhide. Cochiti crafts also include leather moccasins and bags and beadwork.

San Ildefonso's pottery gained world fame through Maria and Julian Martinez, who in 1919 first started producing polished black ware with dull black designs—a tradition continued by many of today's potters. Black on cream and black on orange-buff ware is also seen.

Santa Clara pottery is often polished black, although some red ware is produced. San Juan potters favor red and

Bandelier National Monument Offers Outstanding Attractions

By GARY EVERHARDT
Director, National Park Service

Distributed by Copley News Service

Take a part of Yosemite's scenic grandeur. Sprinkle in some Yellowstone wildlife. Add Indian ruins as fascinating as those you find at Mesa Verde.

Spice with the highlights of a dozen other national parks and you have the charms of many of America's treasured lands stuffed into 46 square miles of north-central New Mexico—Bandelier National Monument. Bandelier is an excellent example of a lesser-known site in the National Park System, but one that offers many outstanding attractions.

Waterfalls, large Pueblo ruins, hundreds of hand-dug cliff dwellings, backcountry, a campground, deep canyons, deer, forests of ponderosa, juniper and pinyon, nature trails, campfire talks, living history, guided tours...

It's all within the boundaries of Bandelier, a monument that borders such contrasting settlements as Los Alamos, birthplace of the atomic bomb, and the pueblos of Cochiti and San Ildefonso, inhabited by Indians who claim Bandelier as their ancestral homeland.

Nearly all of Bandelier is virtually undisturbed wild land, dotted only by 60 miles of maintained trails leading to archaeological and scenic features such as Alamo Canyon, the Stone Lions Shrine, Painted Cave, the pueblo ruins of San Miguel and Yapashti and White Rock Canyon of the Rio Grande.

But most visitors seldom venture into the rugged backcountry, preferring instead to remain in spectacular Frijoles Canyon, a deep gorge through which meanders a bubbly stream that breaks into an occasional waterfall.

The road into Frijoles Canyon and another to a nearby campground are the only fingers of asphalt that poke into the monument, named in honor of Adolph F. A. Bandelier, the distinguished Swiss-American scholar who carried on an extensive survey of prehistoric ruins in the region between 1880 and 1886.

The 400-room Tuzigoot Ruin, constructed between 1380 and 1466, is within easy walking distance of the visitor center, museum and concessionaire services. Here the visitor will find two miles of cliff ruins, cave rooms gouged out of the steep canyon wall of compressed volcanic ash.

The monument was established primarily to preserve the ruins, most dating to the pre-Spanish period with a few dating back as early as the 12th Century.

The large pueblo of Tsankawi, which is a detached section of the monument 11 miles from Frijoles Canyon, and Tuzigoot evidently were occupied until about 1550, although their decline had probably set in before Coronado visited the region in 1540.

tan colors and incise their decorations. Wood carving, embroidery, weaving, beadwork and leatherwork also are created here.

Picuris and Taos make undecorated pottery of a golden-tan color with a sparkle to the clay, created by the mica in the soil. Bean pots and double-necked wedding jars are favored shapes with these potters. Some leatherwork is also done at Taos.

Some pueblos maintain craft shops and others will guide you to the workshops of artisans. In some pueblos it's necessary to inquire of passersby where artisans live.

When visitors enter the pueblos they are expected to check with the governor and pay fees and learn about tourists' regulations (particularly about photography). Some pueblos conduct tours for visitors and others allow them to roam at will.

The actual date when this country. Acoma and the Hopis' Oraibi both vie for the title of oldest. And in the 1500s, the Spanish on expedition into the Southwest found pueblos in existence along the Rio Grande. So an expedition today through the pueblo country is truly an expedition far back into the history of New Mexico's Indians.

Ghost Town Lively Once More

By JERRY ABBOTT
Copley News Service

CALICO, Calif.—It is sunset. The desert floor and jagged mountain peaks are a deep orange as the sun sinks below the horizon.

You stroll down the board sidewalk, past Lil's Saloon. The plinky-pinky of the player piano cuts into the quiet street. Over at the livery stable the blacksmith is fitting shoes to a horse. The rat-tat-tat of hammer against hot steel is almost maddening.

You find a bench, sit down and prop your feet up on a hitching post. A horse nuzzles your boot.

Sound like the end of a perfect day in an old western town? It is.

But this isn't 1880 and Marshal Matt Dillon isn't cleaning his six-gun over at the poker.

It is 1975 and this is Calico, an authentically recreated mining town right out of the pages of the Old West.

Calico's history goes back to 1881 when three prospectors pitched camp near a range of mountains northeast of Barstow. They had heard tales of rich silver deposits in the area. They had heard such rumors before, but this time they felt silver in their bones.

Digging went on for three days without success. But the next morning the toil and sweat paid off. They hit pay dirt.

History is not clear on which of the trio—Charlie Mechem, Johnny McBride and Larry Silva—actually made the strike, but after staking their claim, the prospectors belted up to a bar in Barstow to tell of their adventure and good fortune.

And the silver rush was on. Within months a town grew up among the diggings. There was Lil's Saloon, the Wells

Fargo office, Lane's Mercantile Store, a Chinese laundry and even a schoolhouse.

Soon the diggings became sophisticated mining operations. Names like Silver King, Bismark, Red Jacket, Odessa and Waterloo are still remembered by old-timers and modern-day prospectors alike.

In all, more than 30 miles of underground tunnels and shafts were dug and more than $60 million in silver was produced from the Calico mines.

Silver King alone yielded more than $10 million.

At its peak in 1896, Calico had a population of 4,000, but as the rich veins of silver began to play out and the price of silver declined from a high of $1.31 down to 63 cents an ounce, miners and businessmen began moving on to more prosperous diggings. And Calico became a ghost town.

So it stayed until the early 1960s when the Walter Knott family—longtime Californians who had parlayed a fruit-tree farm into one of Southern California's most popular tourist attractions (Knott's Berry Farm)—began restoring Calico to its original state.

Today Calico is a bustling town again, but it is tourist silver that keeps the town alive.

Open year round, Calico offers mine tours, burro and narrow-gauge railroad rides, museums and spectacular views of the desert floor below.

It gets hot in Calico in summer. And it gets chilly in winter, but if it is Western lore you're after, Calico is a must. Located off Interstate 15 halfway between Las Vegas and Los Angeles, Calico offers camping facilities and nearby Barstow has motel accommodations and restaurants.

Plant 'Walls'
BOSTON (AP) — Tropical plants, not walls or corridors, will be used to guide traffic patterns in many offices at the new 40-story Hancock Tower.

Some 2,000 plants, including the six-foot, six-inch butterfly palm, are being transported from Florida to the delight of green-thumbed employees who will be working in the building.

Calico looks just like it did in the 1880s.

Balmorhea Pool Opens Friday

BALMORHEA — San Solomon Springs Courts, a modern, 18-unit motel, has just opened at Balmorhea State Park following in complete renovation of the cabins.

The motel units at the popular West Texas park, located four miles southwest of here at Toyahvale, feature central heat and air conditioning, television and linen service. Kitchensettes are available also, but utensils are not furnished.

Completion of the cabins was the last step of an extensive improvement project for the park that, in addition to the motel remodeling, included building a new park headquarters building, a new park residence, additional camping and picnic facilities and the addition of utilities and landscaping. The improvements were completed at the total cost of more than $500,000.

The major attraction of the Balmorhea Park is its huge, outdoor swimming pool, fed at the rate of 22 to 26 million gallons of water daily by San Solomon Springs. The pool is one of the largest man-made swimming pools in the United States.

The pool, as are all pools in Texas state parks, is open from the fourth Friday of May through Labor Day each year, with the 1975 opening scheduled next Friday. A concession offering soft drinks, sandwiches and candy is also operated in conjunction with the pool.

Other facilities of the park are open all year. Attractions in addition to the pool, are camping, picnicking and a playground. The camping area has five campsites with shelters, tables and grills and 26 multi-use sites with shelters, tables, grills, water and electricity. A trailer dump station and a restroom with showers are located in the camping area.

Two rare species of small fish, the Comanche Springs pupfish and the mosquitofish are found in the canals at the park. A canal encircling the motel cabins is being completed for these fish as well as to give park visitors a chance to see these endangered species.

A $1 per vehicle entry fee is charged at Balmorhea. Pool fees are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 13. Camping fees are $1.50 to $1.75 per vehicle, per night, depending on facilities used. Motel rates start at $10 per night for one person.

Bristlecone Pines Hanging On

Capley News Service

BIG PINE, Calif. — Twisted trunks of tree trunks, polished by nature to an unusual sheen, serve in some Owens Valley

Schulman Grove, named for the late Dr. Edmund Schulman, whose core studies of the bristlecone from 1953 to 1957 proved that some of them were already growing as long ago as pinon pines, up out of the trees past timberline, and back into the province of these ancient warriors.

Your first thought is that they are dead. Because this is a dry desert mountain range, those that have died manage to maintain a look of life for hundreds of years. But spunky sprigs of green emerge from trunks that at first glance look dead. The forest is spooky but alive.

Most of them are surprisingly small, rising no more than 20 or 30 feet above the gravelly terrain. Their rate of growth is incredibly slow, and in the most barren and windy locations they grow hardly at all. The study of their cores shows that in dry years they simply hang on, producing no cones and a ring so narrow that it can be detected only under a microscope.

A sapling only a few inches thick may turn out to be 600 years old. For the bristlecone survives because of its adversity.

The oldest trees in the Schulman Grove — and in the Patriarch Grove 12 miles farther up into the White Mountains — are those that are least protected from winter gales and have put down their roots on the driest slopes.

It is only a half-mile hike to Pine Alpha, a 4,300-year-old tree that was the first one. Schulman found older than 4,000 years. Along the two-mile Methuselah Walk are nine trees known to be older than 4,000 years — with the oldest of all, the Methuselah, proved now to be 4,600 years old. Its precise location is kept secret to guard it against desecration by visitors.

One or two Inyo National Forest rangers are all that stand between the oldest known living things and thoughtless visitors who have already left evidence of their desecration in chainsaw marks on 4,000-year-old trees. The Forest Service has set off 28,000 acres of the White Mountains as the Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest Botanical Area. Additional patrolling in summer months, when the bristlecones are accessible, is now under consideration.

California bristlecone pines homes as bar stools or coffee table ornaments. Invariable their owners will tell you that these pieces were collected 20 years or more ago.

That's because it was not until 1968 that the bristlecone pine was identified as the oldest known living thing. Until then, these singularly imposing hunks were quaint trophies hauled down from weekend outings into the forbidding desert mountains of the White and Inyo ranges that form the eastern wall of Owens Valley here on the back side of California.

Before midwinter snow closed in the steep Forest Service road leading up to Schulman Grove, at the 10,000-foot level above Bishop, my wife and I drove up Westgard Pass from the village of Big Pine in search of the 4,000-year-old bristlecone pine.

The route leads past the white dish-like antennae of Caltech's radio astronomy lab on a remote ascent through a pass named for A. L. Westgard of the Automobile Club, who in 1913 was incredibly persuaded to lobby for this route as a transcontinental highway.

Today it does not lead to much. From Westgard Pass you look across most of the 12-mile Deep Spring Valley and see nothing. The single oasis belongs to the 24 students and several teachers and staff at Deep Springs College, a uniquely isolated two-year college for men.

On beyond is Nevada, looking like more of the same, and the county of Esmeralda, which once had a mine boom but now is best known for having almost sent a madam to Congress in last November's elections.

If you turn north at Westgard Pass, you begin the climb up to the 10,000-foot level and as 2635 B.C., when Babylon flourished as a nation — and were gnarled old-timers when Christ was born.

Closed after the first winter snows, the road to Schulman takes you through mountainsides

Tent's Very Thrifty Shelter

By ART SCHUMANN
Copley News Service

With the skyrocketing costs of motel rooms, food and other travel-related items, many more people will be turning to tenting this year.

Tents remain the most portable type of shelter in existence. The tents are very compact and can easily be stored in the trunk of a car, or be backpacked into isolated areas.

The tents come in all shapes and sizes and offer more usable space than many truck campers, tent campers, travel trailers and mobile homes.

Many of the pioneers who settled the western frontier used tents and, except for the fact the quality has improved, many of today's tents are very similar to those of the pioneers.

The tents, reasonably priced, last a long time and are extremely versatile. Space can be added, zippers placed where ties exist and drop cloths placed over doorways rather easily.

Over the years I have had several tents redesigned and reworked, special tent packs made and even outdoor motor covers made.

It's almost impossible to find a tent with all the features a sportsman desires, so most buy a tent, then have it reworked to add the originally missing features.

There are many lightweight materials used in tent construction, but I still prefer Army duck, a strong material that has served my tenting needs well in the past.

Potential campers should look for features such as triple-stitched seams with stitching in nylon thread (rather than cotton), zippered enclosures rather than ties, separate drop cloths, sturdy frame and nylon screening when looking for a tent.

A good-quality tent often costs a little more, but it's worth it. A poor-quality tent can result in many problems during an outing and ruin a potentially good trip.

After many years of experimenting, I've found a two-tent setup works best for my family.

A Coleman 11x13-foot Oasis tent is our primary shelter, since it has plenty of headroom from corner to corner, a front and rear entrance and full screen and canvas enclosures.

The sidewalls opposite the entrances feature full window openings running the entire width of the tent and these openings also have canvas enclosures that can be dropped and zipped.

Strong guy ropes secure the tent, which can be opened to allow cross ventilation or zippered tight when rain, snow or cold temperatures prevail.

The tent, with dry waterproofing, sheds water like a duck's back. Because of its size, it can be used with total comfort during an extended period.

We outfit the tent with Army-style folding cots on which sleeping bags are rolled.

A single mantle lantern furnishes adequate light and removes chill and dampness from the tent. Each member of the family puts personal gear under the cots, which leaves plenty of walking room.

When required, we use a catalytic heater to keep the tent warm. The 5,000 BTU heater we use is more than adequate, although we always make sure there's proper ventilation.

Across from the front entrance of the tent is our "cook tent," a 10x12-foot umbrella-style tent with an added room off to one side. This tent has a table and benches for dining, a two-burner Coleman stove, a water-cooler and chests for maintaining the food supply.

The tent is also used for evening gatherings with friends.

This makes it easy for tired members of the family to leave and go to sleep in our primary unit without being disturbed.

We usually rig a canvas tarp in trees adjacent to the campsite or in lean-to style on the ground. This is used to protect gear such as fishing tackle, axes, hatchets and a supply of firewood.

We have found the two-tent setup ideal, since there is plenty of room for everyone and no congestion around the campsite.

Too often campers try to cram an abundance of gear in one tent and this results in confusion and congestion, to say nothing of much unnecessary searching.

The use of an auxiliary tent is well worth the added investment.

At today's prices, the camper can still purchase two tents without digging too deeply into the pocketbook.

The tents keep campers from having to pull a trailer behind the car, possessing extra licenses and having to spend much money for maintenance.

If a camper uses the tent only once a year, it's still worth the initial investment.

Tents can be stored in a small area at home and do not, like other types of shelter, depreciate in value.

Problems Created By Waste Paper

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are generating waste paper at the rate of 37 million tons a year — and they consider disposal of this vast amount of waste paper a significant environmental problem, according to the Recycled Paperboard Division of the American Paper Institute.

A new national study released by the Division reveals that consumers consider recycling waste paper a more logical means of "disposing" of it than burning it for fuel or using it as land fill.

Montreal is growing rapidly and new spires of concrete and steel are inuring on ancient charm. This fountain at Place du Canada is new, but directly behind it is the venerable Mary Queen of the World Cathedral. "Spoiling" the view, some say, are the high-rising Queen Elizabeth Hotel and the Royal Bank Building in the background. (CNS Photo.)

Canadians Proud Of Montreal

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service

MONTREAL — Canadians here are proud of this city of 1.4 million. They proudly say (even the English) that two-thirds of the inhabitants are French—more French than in any other city except Paris.

They also boast about their vast subterranean city—over 200 downtown acres of shops, theaters, hotels, parking areas, restaurants and all the facilities needed by a Montrealer who doesn't want to venture outdoors in the humid heat of the summer or the bitter cold and heavy snows of the winter. All of the underground city is connected to the Metro, reaching to most parts of the inner and close-by city.

These same Montrealers also speak lovingly but with subdued enthusiasm about Old Montreal, the area of original settlement. The old city includes buildings erected the year of Montreal's founding in 1642. For the fussy historians, Jacques Cartier, discoverer of Canada, first saw Montreal in 1535 but it was in 1642, even after Samuel de Champlain's 1611 visit, that Paul de Chomedey, Sieur de Maisonneuve, established a permanent colony.

All of these historical gems, with restored evidence in the person of some of North America's oldest buildings, are available to anyone desiring a leisurely walking—or riding—tour of Old Montreal. There are cobblestone streets, there are hippies (which some Montrealers identify as American military deserters and draft dodgers), there are many monuments to French heroes, old churches, including the beautiful Cathedral of Notre Dame—and there are hundreds of fascinating little French restaurants. The tourism people promoting Montreal say there are 3,000 restaurants in the city, 300 are good ones and most of the good ones are in the old city.

One of the 300 "good" ones must be Chez Marie Michel, a family establishment of intimate decor and delicious foods like caillies aux raisins (quail stuffed with raisins), preceded by las barquette alsacienne (onion pie), an appetizer far more delicious than the English translation may indicate.

But, there is more in Old Town than food for the stomach. There is considerable for the mind.

The Sallier's Church is a 17th Century edifice and one that recognizes the maritime nature that always has been part of Montreal's history—the world's busiest inland ocean port. The French don't talk about it too much but smack in the middle of French Old Montreal is the oldest column statue of famed British Adm. Lord Nelson. This statue was copied and stands as a more famous but not original one at London's Trafalgar Square. Notre Dame, with 5,000 seats, is a beautiful edifice of all stone outer construction and all wooden interior. Its acoustics are outstanding and its seats are filled for frequent organ and symphonic concerts.

A sense of history has gripped Montreal and each year new blocks of Old Town are being restored, mostly with private money. Even a river that now runs under cobblestone streets and concrete buildings will be restored to the open. And the ugly grain elevators at the St. Lawrence River's edge eventually will come down as part of the restoration. The elevators no longer are as important to Montreal's economy as they once were—western grain now is moving through Pacific

Santa Fe Keeps Its Flavor

SANTA FE — It was raining hard in Monument Valley and lightning snapped across the crests of the soaring stone towers which give the valley

Tehran Features Six-Mile Bazaar

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A thousand and one temptations and delights await the passionate shopper in Tehran's six-mile-long bazaar which, according to Iran Air, is the longest in the world. Along its arcades, copper urns, trays and ewers, tin boxes and candleabra, rare and luminous Persian carpets, leather coats and bags, suitcases made of deer cans, turquoise blazer than the mosques, enameled basins and ablution basins are just a few of the treasures for sale.

But there's also a second-hand bazaar, where those who have lost or misplaced a handbag, wallet or car battery, can get it back.

its name. Thunder echoed in the valleys between the towers.

In Moab it was cold and wet as the storm followed its north. In Durango it rained so hard the windshield wipers surrendered, and that night the town froze.

So we headed south into New Mexico, toward this old capital, a place that already was building a tradition when the Pilgrims were stepping ashore at Plymouth Rock.

Santa Fe was cold, too, but the warmth of its ambience was as dependable as ever.

This city of 90,000 surely is one of the unreal communities of the United States, a star in a land where so many cities are faceless, characterless, colorless and seemingly determined to remain that way.

Santa Fe hasn't been able to curb progress completely. There are some new hotels. Some of the downtown streets are one way. Brokerage houses are tucked here and there among the adobe buildings.

But Santa Fe maintains its flavor despite the fact that, as the capital of the state, it houses a number of politicians and several major state offices.

The fact that the Indians were here first doesn't hurt. Early Santa Fe folk lived with and among the Indians and the two civilizations existed side-by-side in reasonable harmony.

Midwestern Barns Join Endangered Species List

By MICK COCHRAN
Copley News Service
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Everybody's worried about endangered species these days. The wolf, the bald eagle, and the California condor are all on the list of extinction's do-or-die. All these species might seem distant to midwesterners. It's really hard to get excited about another alligator biting the dust in the Everglades.

Books, volume after volume, about the history of those eastern barns have been written, largely ignoring the "western" barns, those which were built west of the Appalachian Mountains.

He and his committee of barn savers have begun the work which may in time save the only thing which relieves the eye-strain flat prairie often gives motorists.

and farm outbuilding structures, is Dr. Emmet Pearson of Springfield.

The other enemy, inflation has been the ruin of many a barn, too. One farmer, who owns a round barn not far from Springfield, has discovered that needed repairs to the structure's roof will cost about $10,000, the same price as a new post-barn with metal siding.

"And finally, they have utilitarian value. People don't seem to bother about restoring them for automobile garages or shops. In a recent Chicago newspaper two barns were featured which had been restored for living quarters. In fact, I saw some other photographs where people had started out from scratch to make their living quarters look like a barn because they liked the charm and there are certain decorative things that go in a barn that don't fit into other types of living quarters."

Although the committee is called the Save Old Barns Committee, it is not necessarily interested just in old barns. The members are also interested in good barns, new barns which have a lot of architectural styling.

Barns are disappearing. Not overnight, but soon. It seems that some buildings which withstood decades of prairie winds of heavy snow are being let down at an alarming rate all over the country. For barns, easterners have been trying to preserve what remains they have left after the sick strippers have done their job and gravity has done its worst.

Silver brings Offers Offbeat Entertainment

By H. W. McCONNELL

Looks for some offbeat sights and entertainment? You might consider Silver Springs, Fla. Located six miles east of Ocala, central Florida, it is a 4,500-acre nature preserve filled with subtropical forests and exotic wildlife. You can take the Silver River and the Glass Bottom Boat Ride, visit the International Deer Ranch and the Reptile Institute. There are also shops and restaurants.

Canyonlands National Park in southeastern Utah as described in an illustrated booklet just released by the U.S. Geological Survey of the Interior Department. The 25-page booklet was written by S. W. Lohman, a USGS geologist for 44 years. It has more than 80 pictures, illustrations and maps, most of them in color. Among other suggestions, the booklet tells which areas you can be reached by passenger cars and which must be traveled by four-wheel-drive vehicles. The booklet, entitled "The Geologic Story of Canyonlands National Park," publishes USGS Bulletin 1327, may be bought for $2.65 a copy from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20540.

The Manger Theater in Philadelphia, closed since 1960, will re-open Jan. 28 with a four-week run of "Odyssey," a new musical starring Yui Bryner and Josephine. The 1,800-seat showplace was opened in 1927 at a cost of $2.5 million.

For $1 a week, you can go trout fishing in the Snow Mountains in New South Wales, Australia, that includes use of a powerboat, accommodations in a villa, Lake Eucumbene, spinning lods and fishing license. A package is offered by Coon Visitors Center, point of departure. You can take a plane to Sydney to Cooma for $54, drive the 300 miles in about 6 hours. Details may be obtained from the Australian Tourist Commission, 1270 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10020.

If you're a buff on things to do in space and aircraft, visit the Aerospace Museum in San Diego, Calif. There are replicas of original parts of historic aircraft, paintings, space helmets and other aerial exhibition display.

ENGINEERS NEEDED
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — While general unemployment in the United States continues to be a major problem, the University of Rochester predicts the demand for engineers will exceed the supply. Carlyle Whiting, assistant dean at the College of Engineering and Applied Science, says some 5,000 to 6,000 engineering jobs will go begging over the next three years in the U.S.

As a result of the favorable engineering job outlook, the number of freshmen pursuing an engineering major at the University of Rochester has doubled since 1970. Whiting says the demand is greatest for chemical, nuclear, optical and electrical engineers.

SUNDAY Viewing Highlights

10:30 ABC - MAKE A WISH - Host Tom Chapin examines the words "Bride" and "Chair." Many well-known brides are shown, including the Lake Pontchartrain causeway near New Orleans.

1:00 NBC - FAMILY CIRCLE TENNIS - Live coverage of matches in the women's tournament, played at the Amelia Island, Fla., Plantation.

6:30 CBS - CHER - Art Carney will be the guest of the singer-comedian tonight.

6:30 ABC - SIX MILLION DOLLAR MAN - A young woman guide is caught in a potentially deadly conflict between Steve Austin and a hunting posse which is out to destroy the last of a cougar species. Steve is determined to save Jess Walton, guest stars as E.J. Haskell, the endangered young woman.

6:30 NBC - WONDERFUL WORLD OF DISNEY - First half of "Return of the Big Cat," starring Jeremy Slate and Pat Crowley. A killer cougar returns to plague a farm family after a two-year absence, having previously frightened a young girl into almost panic.

7:00 PBS - FEELING GOOD - Tonight's program stresses the importance of proper doctor-patient communication and shows how an informed dialogue between the two can lead to better health care.

7:30 ABC - SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIE - "Friendly Persuasion," starring Richard Kiley and Shirley Knight as Quakers who, forced to a painful decision by their convictions, risk their lives to help a pair of runaway slaves.

7:30 CBS - KOJAK - Harry Busrido portrays a police detective who keeps his terminal illness a secret as he begins the pursuit of his late partner's murderer.

7:30 NBC - SU NDA Y MYSTERY MOVIE - "The 42nd Street Mystery," guest-starring Julie Sommars, McClellan (Dennis Weaver) unwanted assignment with the mounted police is brightened by Sgt. Mildred Cross (Miss Sommers) who looks to him for solace after revealing her fear of horses.

8:30 CBS - MANNIX - To even a score with Mannix, who was his former commanding officer in Korea, an ex-serviceman points out Mannix to the syndicate as a man with vital information it is seeking.

8:30 PBS - EVENING AT SYMPHONY - Beverly Sills, one of the most brilliant soprano of our time, sings Schubert in the concert. Restaurant and a few historical imperfections.

10:30 PBS - MONTY PYTHON'S FLYING CIRCUS - Tonight's program features a police fairy story, a commercial for La Gondole Restaurant and a few historical imperfections.

A New Version Of Pre-Civil War Era

"Friendly Persuasion," airing as a special premier "ABC Sunday Night Movie," May 18 (7:30 p.m.) on the ABC Television Network, stars Richard Kiley and Shirley Knight as Quakers who, forced to a painful decision by their convictions, risk their lives to help a pair of runaway slaves.

In the drama, set in the time preceding the Civil War, Kiley and Miss Knight play the roles created by Gary Cooper and Dorothy McGuire in the motion picture, which was nominated for an Academy Award as Best Picture of 1966.

Learning that a slave couple will be caught by slave-chasers unless he aids them, Jess, against the wishes of his gentle and peace-loving wife, volunteers to see them to safety. When he's arrested, Eliza endangers her own life by changing clothes with the black woman so that the slaves can escape.

In the film, Kiley and Miss Knight played the roles created by Gary Cooper and Dorothy McGuire in the motion picture, which was nominated for an Academy Award as Best Picture of 1966.
