

Death Penalty Ruling Put Off

High Court Offers No Explanation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today put off until at least its 1975-76 term a decision in a case raising the issue of the constitutionality of the death penalty.

In a brief order without explanation, the court scheduled the case of Jesse Tharman Fowler for re-argument in the term which will begin Oct. 6.

Fowler has been condemned to the North Carolina gas chamber for the fatal shooting of John Griffin, a former roommate, on July 1, 1973, after an argument which erupted during a dice game in Raleigh, N.C.

Fowler was one of 283 men and 4 women on death row in the prisons of 24 states as of June 10, according to the NAACP Legal Defense Fund. Two of the women were in North Carolina and one in Ohio, according to the NAACP group. However, a second Ohio woman, Alberta Osborne, was sentenced to die June 3 so that state also has two women on death row.

Fowler was represented before the Supreme Court by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, who argued that the death penalty violates the prohibition against "cruel and unusual punishment" contained in the Eighth Amendment.

In other action, the court: —Ruled it is unconstitutional for a city to impose a blanket prohibition against the showing of movies with nude scenes at drive-in theaters.

—Agreed to decide whether military installations and other

Ballpoint Clicks Its Way To Top

By ED TODD

The middle-aged man sporting a greying Clark Gable moustache, trim haircut, and by today's changing standards, conservative attire, spoke plaintively.

"The (fountain) pen is going out," he said from the selling side of the counter in a Midland office supply store, "and the ballpoint (pen) is taking over." He paused, and lamented, "I'm sorry to say."

It's true. Try shopping for a pen—a sophisticated quill—and you'll see that the man knows journalist. (The ballpoint pen principle, however, was patented in 1888 by a John Loud.)

The ballpoint caught the writing public's imagination and pocketbook. (Remember the piggy-back Paper Mate?)

It has very nearly replaced "the pen with the nib," just as the diesel-electric engine has all but displaced the steam locomotive of another era.

The jet-age ballpoint is commonplace. A quarter will get you a Bic. And for 29 cents, less at discount stores, you can pick up a plastic encased retractable.

Of course, you can drop in to about any drug store, jewelry store, office supply store and other outlets and shell out many, many dollars for a ballpoint.

Some come in gold or silver—like the Cross—and in platinum for multiples of the cost of that $12.50 Reynolds.

But the show's not over. You can still find some pretty fancy fountain pens. At the usual places: drug, office supply, some department stores, and, if you've lived for a spell, possibly in a drawer or desk at your home.

Ah, nostalgia. Remember the old Esterbrook? About every office in town had the desk models. And the pocket Esterbrook with the replaceable point?

You'll be hard-pressed to find those anymore, unless you've got some pushed back into the far corners of a desk.

A man in Midland who runs a "trading post" occasionally finds fountain pens in chest of drawers he buys at sheriff's sales or flea markets.

Right now he's got a black Esterbrook fineline and a couple of Wearsavers, one sea blue, the other plain green. Of course the rubber bladders in the pens might be rotten by now, and it's hard to check them without messing up the writing instrument.

(But the little clip you flip out from the Esterbrook's side to fill the bladder works handily.)

Now, assuming you've latched on to a fine fountain pen—or rediscovered an "old friend"—your next step is to find a bottle of the fountain pen's companion—Scrip writing fluid.

You—if you went to school when every pupil's desk had an ink well—used to find this washable blue and deluxe black ink just about everywhere.

W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co. made the ink in the once familiar fat churn-shaped clear bottle with the sidebar well.

Yes, those were the days, ink stains and all.

And the ink well is fading fast. Even Sheaffer and Parker, which still make fountain pens (and ballpoints), markets the "cartridge pen." Simply insert a plastic cylinder of ink into the pen. No mess, no bottle, no ink well.

But for the old-fashioned and sentimental and those with select good taste, both Sheaffer and Parker pens have the bladder converter. With that, you can go right ahead and dip your pen in an ink well. That's a fountain pen.

But, it's like the man said: Times are changing.

And, with a definite touch of sentimentality, observed a co-worker of the office supply man with the Clark Gable moustache:

"We just don't sell fountain pens any more. . . . We don't sell much ink."

Fountain pens fading from scene the market, knows what he's talking about.

People are just not buying fountain pens anymore.

The ball-bearing pen with the "oily" printer's ink virtually has taken over the writing-instrument market.

It's hardy, durable, can take careless use in stride, and can even write under water and in outer space.

It was in 1948-50 years ago this October—that the "miracle pen" made its official debut in the North American marketplace.

Gimbels' Department Store in New York sold $100,000 worth of Reynolds pens with the ball-bearing point at $12.50—plus the jewelry tax—per unit.

Milton Reynolds, who marketed and manufactured the pen, got rich quick. (Gimbels had ordered, initially, 50,000 of the pens.)

From a capital investment of $26,000, he netted $1.6 million in profits ($3.6 million gross profits) from sales of $3.7 million in three months.

That was inspirational.

Eversharp soon came out with an $18 miracle pen that wholesaled for $7.50. Eversharp's had an added feature: it was retractable.

The Blythe pen soon appeared at $9.95. And the Eberhard Faber and the Waterman soon landed in the showcase.

Sheaffer and Parker, the staid makers of some downright high-faluting fountain pens, studiously began entering the market.

This revolutionary new pen, billed not to leak or drip, was invented in the 1890s by L. J. Biro, a Hungarian

Wildcat, Reentry Announced For Howard, Pecos

A wildcat site was slated in Howard County, and a plugging-back operation is planned in a Pecos area.

Marshall & Winston, Inc. of Midland will drill No. 1 Kallus-White, an 8,000-foot venture in Howard, three miles southwest of Vincent.

Location is 690 feet from north and 1,090 feet from west lines of section 15, block 25, H&TC survey, 1/2 mile south of the one-well Stolman (Wolfcamp) oil field.

Pecos Reentry

Shelly Oil Co. has filed application to re-enter and plug back to 8,900 feet as a Strawn oil wildcat, at No. 1-66 Slaughter, former Pennsylvania detrital gas opener of the Yuca Butte, West multipay field of Pecos County.

It was completed in March, 1973 from the gas pay for 3,657 million cubic feet of gas per day with gas-liquid ratio of 18,927:1 through perforations at 8,794-8,815 feet. It was drilled to 11,110 feet, and plugged back to 8,887 feet, and has 5 1/2-inch casing set at 8,917 feet.

Test spots 785 feet from north and 2,498 feet from east lines of section 06, block A-3, TCRR survey, 1/2 miles west of Sheffield, and 1 1/2 miles west of the two-well Strawn oil area of the Yuca Butte, West field.

Stopout Scheduled In Fusselman Area

Allstate Richfield Co. has staked site for No. 1 Mentone Gas Unit, as a 1/4-mile northwest stopout to the four-well Fusselman area of the Moore-Hooper gas field of Loving County.

It has a projected depth of 10,200 feet, and spots 1,320 feet from northwest and southeast corners of section 03, block 1, W&NW survey, one mile east of Mentone. The field has one Ellenburger gas, daily producing from the Fusselman zone.

Adobe Will Dig Outpost In Ector

Adobe Oil Co. of Midland has made plans to drill a 1 1/2-mile south-outpost to the two-well Yates gas sector of the Antecior field, eight miles northwest of Goldsmith, in Ector County.

Location for the project, slated to 3,000 feet, is 2,069 feet from south and 1,171 feet from west lines of section 23, block 44, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Midlanders Take Sterling Potential

Stoll, Wagner & Brown of Midland daily completed No. 4-3 Hildebrand, Canyon gas well, as a fourth Cisco oil producer and 1 1/2-mile south extension to that pay in the Conger field of Sterling County.

It failed to flow 38 barrels of 43-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio of 1,639:1, through an 18-3/4-inch choke and perfor-

Goldwater Says CIA Directed From 'Top'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today that the Central Intelligence Agency "took orders from the top" in carrying out illegal activities.

The Arizona Republican, a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, said the panel's investigation will show the CIA did not want to do some of the things it did but felt obliged to follow orders.

Goldwater made the statement in the Senate in the committee arranged to call as a witness John Roselli, a West Coast underworld figure and associate of slain Chicago mobster Sam Giancana in a reputed plot against Fidel Castro.

Roselli, scheduled to appear Tuesday in response to a subpoena, was expected to be quizzed about reports that he and Giancana were approached on behalf of the CIA to arrange for Mafia members to assassinate Castro.

Giancana, who also had been expected to testify, was shot to death in his home in a Chicago suburb last week.

Also expected to testify is William K. Harvey, a former CIA official who reliable sources have said was involved in plots to kill Castro.

This week's edition of Time magazine said CIA officials began exploring the possibility of killing Castro in the spring of 1960 when suggestions were put forth that Castro's food or cigars be poisoned.

According to the Time account, Giancana and Roselli were approached to find a man in Havana to liquidate Castro. The two Americans, who were hoping to escape prosecution by the Justice Department, in turn

Exchange Student Going Home

By LUANNA CROW

Passerby watching a tall, fair-haired girl snapping photographs of sights across Midland last week may well have wondered what she thought was so interesting.

Janice Hixcox, Midland High School's American Field Service exchange student, was creating a visual scrapbook of her 18-month stay in Midland to take back to her native Australia.

An aspiring photographer, Miss Hixcox was taking pictures of Midland's tall buildings, new construction, residential areas and everything else that bears the unmistakable imprint of the Tall City.

Departing Thursday, she will meet a group of AFS students from Texas in Dallas and travel by bus to New York. During the two-week trip, the students will make two or three stops in communities along the way and visit in private homes for a few days.

From New York, Miss Hixcox

will fly to her home at Melbourne, arriving there July 17.

"I will miss everyone," she said of her departure. "It's such a definite break."

She hopes to return eventually to the United States to see more of it. While residing here the past several months with the Martin Alliday family at 2405 Humble St., she was able to travel to Lubbock, Dallas, San Antonio and Colorado for a skiing trip at Crested Butte.

While living in the United States the AFS student particularly has enjoyed the high school social activities and her participation in graduation.

She explained Australian high schools do not have graduations, although colleges do.

"I love the high school and being part of an American high school. The people have been so friendly and generous."

Feeling herself quite Americanized—"I've even picked up some slang!"—Miss Hixcox said the most difficult adjustment to living here was simply "being a foreigner, being different all the time."

She anticipates, too, another adjustment period when she returns to Melbourne. Upon arriving home, she said, "I will be able to see how I've changed. It's a whole year's growing up, anyway, but more condensed. And I've been through a lot more (experiences) than I would have at home."

Her plans for the future are somewhat uncertain, as she may be accepted into a college in Australia before receiving her degree from the girls school she attended before coming to Midland. If so, she will work the next six months until classes start in March.

Another of her future plans involves getting her driver's license when she returns home.

"It's going to be hard to learn to drive on the left side of the road," she said. "I'll have to go around as a passenger for a while to get the feeling of it."

U.S. Jobless Rate At Peak, Greenspan Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's jobless rate appears to have peaked and should begin receding by the end of the summer, says Chairman Alan Greenspan of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Greenspan said that, for all practical purposes, the recession is over.

Appearing on CBS' "Face the Nation," Greenspan said Sunday that he feels unemployment is creating a level of 9.2 per cent.

It will stay at about that level through the summer, but then there should be a marked decline, Greenspan said. By next January, the rate should fall to about 8.5 per cent and then decline during 1976 to 7.5 or 7.35 per cent, he said.

The recession, defined as a period of declining economic activity, is "pretty much spent," Greenspan said.

He predicted a "fairly strong" upswing in the economy but said he feels the recovery could still be threatened by excessive federal spending and large budget deficits.

Over-all, the economy is in slightly better condition at the present time than he had anticipated, with inflation reduced to about half of what it was a year ago, Greenspan said.

But, taking a less optimistic view, international economist Friedrich Von Hayek said a lasting cure for inflation would require another year of high unemployment.

Von Hayek, who appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press," said that steady inflation was the primary cause of the recession, drawing labor into jobs that could only be maintained by more inflation.

If the nation is to achieve economic stability, it may have to endure unemployment rates reaching as high as 13 or 14 per cent, the economist said.

Fertilizer Latest Doomsday Device?

By C. C. MINICKLER
BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Nitrogen fertilizers may ultimately cause more damage than aerosol sprays to the ozone layer which protects the earth from the sun's most intense ultraviolet rays, a Harvard scientist says.

As the national debate in-crosses over the use of aerosol sprays containing fluorocarbons such as Freon, Michael McElroy is focusing on the 50-billion nitrogen fertilizer industry.

"Our abundance of food in the United States depends in large measure on our chemical industry," he said in an interview Sunday, noting that nitrogen fertilizers greatly increase crop yield.

However, nitrogen fertilizers trigger a series of chemical changes which ultimately produce nitric oxide. That chemical eventually finds its way into the atmosphere containing the protective ozone layer.

An excess of nitric oxide reduces the ozone, and McElroy thinks it may do three times as much damage as aerosol sprays, based on present projections of production.

He is lecturing on the subject this week at the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder.

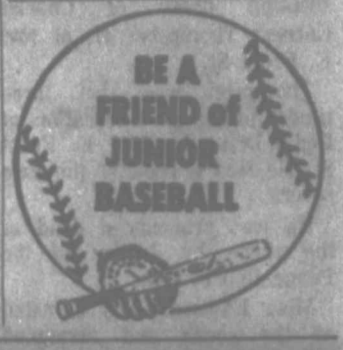

"Philosophically, we are trying to feed too many people. Nature could have the best of it, as we eat and die," he said.

However, the Irish-born scientist is quick to add that simplistic statements of impending doom have given the environmental movement a bad name. He is not predicting doom — but urging research.

If production of man-made nitric oxide continues to expand at projected levels it will exceed nature's production, and McElroy estimates it eventually could reduce the ozone layer by 30 per cent, perhaps by the year 2000.

This compares with other scientists' predictions of a 10 per cent reduction of ozone if the 1974 production level of aerosol sprays using fluorocarbons is stabilized.

Scientists aren't sure what the ozone reduction would mean, but McElroy says it could disrupt plant life within the sea, food grains mature and increase skin cancer among humans.

New York Governor Denies Reports He Used Influence To Help Brother

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Hugh Carey has adamantly denied a report that he used his political influence to help his brother make millions of dollars in a secret oil deal during the Arab oil embargo.

Cox Newspapers said Sunday that Edward M. Carey and an old friend of Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama made millions in the disputed oil deal.

Cox said Sparkman and Hugh Carey, both Democrats, applied political pressure on the Commerce Department and the old Federal Energy Office to approve the deal.

"The allegations do not have a shred of truth as far as I am concerned," Carey told reporters Sunday.

"Like any other person in Congress," Carey said he worked to secure oil for his constituents during the embargo. But the former Democratic congressman said his attempts were all above-board and on the public record.

Carey repeated his denials during an interview with radio station WGY in Schenectady.

"Any such story that I contacted anyone concerning any arrangement in Alabama — of all places — is without foundation. It is a fabrication. It is a lie," the governor said.

Throughout his career as a congressman from Brooklyn, "I always disclosed and made open any contacts with the entire petroleum industry, because my brother was engaged in it," Carey said.

Edward Carey is president of the New England Petroleum Co. and was the biggest contributor to Carey's successful gubernatorial campaign last year.

Carey said his brother telephoned him Sunday morning and "indicated he was personally outraged" at the charges.

The governor said that during the Arab oil embargo, "I made open requests" to the appropriate federal officials "on behalf of the Northeast to relieve us of the condition of excessive pricing."

Carey said he tried to endwindfall profits for the oil companies and to regulate prices for consumers.

"Those are the things I did, that's the record. And the best protection for any public servant is the public record," the governor said.

Sparkman told the Harrisville (Ala.) Times Sunday night that a letter he sent to the Commerce Department was "explaining the procedure" his friend was proposing to get his oil refined and he "never heard anything about prices."

The Cox dispatch said Sparkman "acknowledged he intended to help a constituent, Alabama oilman Bart Chamberlain. Commerce's Office of Export Administration approved three licenses allowing Chamberlain to sell cheap domestic crude at inflated prices to a refinery in the Bahamas controlled by" Edward Carey, the dispatch said.

"Edward Carey refined the crude, most of which became industrial fuel oil," the dispatch said. "He imported most, if not all, of that fuel oil into the New York area where he sold it to utilities at even further inflated prices. The utilities simply passed on their high costs to consumers in the form of increased electric bills."

Cox said its sources concerning political pressures were former federal energy officials.

Texas AFL-CIO Drops Telethon Participation

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas AFL-CIO and its Dallas branch have withdrawn their participation from the Democratic party's fund raising national telethon following a dispute between the labor organization and state Democratic chairman Calvin Guest.

In past telethons, members of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) have played a prominent role in the fund raising effort.

The dispute stems from Guest's vote against a labor leader for a seat on the Democratic National Committee (DNC), labor sources told the Dallas Times Herald.

During a March meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee, Guest voted to break a tie between Lem Allen and Lamarque labor leader Leo Riedel for the seat on the national committee. Guest voted for Allen, who is head of the State Democratic County Chairmen's Association.

Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard apparently was angered by Guest's vote for Allen, who was a supporter of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Hubbard claimed he had a commitment from Guest to support a labor member on the Democratic National Committee.

Texas has seven members on the national committee, but none from organized labor.

Guest told the Times Herald he was unaware of labor's withdrawal from the telethon and claimed he gave no "commitment" to organized labor or anyone else to support candidates for the national committee seat.

Gene Freeland, Dallas AFL-CIO Council secretary-treasurer, confirmed to the newspaper that both the state and Dallas AFL-CIO had decided to withdraw participation in the telethon fund raiser. But Freeland said the "official" reason was that the state AFL-CIO would be holding its convention in Dallas at the same time as the telethon.

State telethon cochairman Harry Crutcher of Dallas was told of the decision last week, Freeland said.

Strauss Says Ford Not Qualified For Job

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss says President Ford is "decent and honest," but not qualified to be president.

Strauss said the Democrats can win the presidency in 1976 because they have candidates who are decent and honest and qualified.

Strauss made a speech and answered questions at a reception held for him Saturday at the Governor's Mansion by the state Democratic party.

About 250 persons — mostly local party workers — attended.

Also on hand were Gov. David Pryor, Sen. Dale Bumpers, and other office holders.

Without citing specifics, Strauss said Ford's vetoes of some actions of the Democratic-controlled Congress "are going to come home — and the President was not the winner and Congress the loser; the nation was the loser."

Strauss blasted the delayed enactment of energy legislation on Ford.

"You can't pass a bill as complicated as the energy bill without White House leadership," he said. "It's not a perfect bill. It's a very average bill."

Strauss said it would not be difficult to defeat Ford in 1976. "What we'll beat him with is a man who understands the issues facing this country, because he (Ford) doesn't understand them."

Party strife, Strauss added, was dying out, which should aid the Democrat who faces Ford.

Coach's Contract Hearing Heads School Agenda

Consideration of professional salary schedule adjustment and a public hearing for a school employee whose contract has not been renewed will headline Tuesday's meeting of the Midland schools' board of trustees.

The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the board room of the school district's central office, 708 N. N St.

The hearing was requested by Ronald Hordick, Midland High School tennis coach and instructor who has not been offered a contract for the 1975-76 school term. Hordick is contesting the action.

The salary schedule adjustments may see action during the meeting, according to Dr. James H. Malley, superintendent of schools. The salary schedule must be determined, he said, in advance of the 1975-76 school budget.

Other items on the meeting agenda include action on a student insurance proposal and awarding contracts for replacement of water lines at Travis and De Zavala elementary schools, chairs and desks for the Lee High School vocational facility and reroofing Midland High School's gymnasium and south wing.

12 Are Arrested In Bootleg Raid; Hearings Tuesday

LAMESA—Complaints were filed today against 12 persons arrested Friday in a widespread bootlegging raid here.

Scheduled to appear before the judge Tuesday are Jimmie Lee Hawkins, Betty Dery, Guadalupe Valle Jr., Odel Johnson Sr., Felix Hipolito, Lupe Hillburn, Earl Scott, L. E. Collins, D. Onelia Butler, Marvin Fleming, Korlene Bogus and Susie Salinas.

The 12 were arrested on charges of sale and possession of alcoholic beverages. Bond was set at $1,000 per count and ranged from $1,000 to $4,000. Also arrested on a disorderly conduct charge was Mathis Bogus, who was released on a $50 bond.

Approximately 35 law enforcement officers from six agencies participated in the bust which netted a truck load of beer, whiskey, wine and other alcoholic beverages after searching more than a dozen private residences and businesses.

Law enforcement agencies participating in the arrests included the Lamesa Police Department, sheriff's deputies, Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission officers, a juvenile officer and O'Donnell law officers.

Accused Slayer Released

Ella Mae Edwards, 30, of 807 E. Kentucky St., was free on $10,000 bond today after being charged Saturday night with the shooting death of Charles Earnest Thompson, 47, of 1809 E. Front St.

Thompson was shot three times during an altercation at Red's Drive In, 1807 E. Front St. He was a cook at the cafe tavern.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Robert Pina.

Miss Edwards was arrested at the scene and arraigned before Judge Pina, who set bond.

After being transferred to Midland County Jail, she was released on bond posted by Odell Walker and her attorney Harold B. Jones, late Saturday.

Police said a woman called headquarters at 9:47 p.m. and said "There has been a shooting at Red's. I shot the man."

Thompson was lying on the kitchen floor when police arrived, officers said.

Twisters Hit Chicago Suburbs, Causing Damage

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms persisted from Colorado to Texas and in the middle Mississippi Valley today.

A band of thunderstorms rolled over eastern Colorado and western Kansas and extended into eastern New Mexico and West Central Texas. Other storms stretched from southeastern Missouri, across Illinois into Indiana.

Tornadoes touched down in the suburbs of Chicago Sunday night. No one was reported injured, but property damage was extensive with houses and automobiles damaged and power lines snapped.

A tornado also was reported near Marfa, Tex., and hail one inch in diameter pelted parts of Lubbock, Tex.

Thunderstorms dampened scattered areas over the central and eastern Gulf coasts and the southern Atlantic Coast. Isolated showers and thunderstorms hit areas from the Pacific Northwest to the northern and central Rockies.

Refugees from the flooding San River in northwestern Montana began returning to their homes today although the river was not expected to return within its banks until Tuesday.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 43 at Evanston, Wyo., to 86 at Needles, Calif.

Postal Clerks Here Rarely Short-Changed

By ED TODD

Postage stamps or food stamps—they're all the same to the postal clerk.

If what's been dispensed doesn't jive with the cash in the drawer at the end of the work day, the clerk pulls out the difference from his back pocket.

"We're accountable for every dollar," said Midland Postmaster David Holster of money taken in exchange for postage and food stamps.

Last week some postal window clerks in Dallas got their dander up over having to pay for any cash mistakes they made—or were tricked into making—in doling out food stamps.

But Holster said it's just part of the game of business.

"If he (the clerk) gets short-changed, he has to pay for it," Holster added, "but that's on a 1-4-1 basis. To the grocer, who eventually winds up with the food stamps, 'they're just like cash,' Holster explained. It's money in the bank."

The postmaster said the U.S. Postal Service grosses 20 cents off each food stamp transaction. The dispensing program is handled through a contract with the Texas Department of Public Welfare.

In the unlikely case that clerical errors coupled with customer fraud through "bad" food stamp vouchers should make over-the-counter transactions a losing proposition, Holster offered an alternative.

His proposal would be a food-stamp mailout, similar to that of government checks. But he doesn't recommend it. Postmen would increasingly become the target of robberies.

"You increase the possibility of theft of food stamps," Holster said. "It's kind of like government checks."

Government Opens Hearings On Job-Related Noise Levels

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Noise regulations proposed last October by OSHA called for tougher medical testing rules while leaving virtually unchanged the existing limit of 90 decibels of noise over an eight-hour day.

Labor and industry have lined up on opposing sides over new regulations proposed by the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Daniel P. Boyd, an OSHA official and the leadoff witness, defended the government's proposal and stressed it was just that, a proposal subject to change based on evidence to be presented during the lengthy hearings.

"It does not, therefore, reflect a final agency position, but rather merely represents the best judgment of our staff at the time the standard was proposed," Boyd said.

Before setting final standards, OSHA expects to hear during four weeks of testimony from more than 100 witnesses representing the AFL-CIO, the scientific community, other government agencies and dozens of industry and trade associations.

Gunmen Rob, Kill Waco Man

WACO (AP) — Police said two gunmen robbed Bill Wiley, 25, at the recreation center he managed, forced him to depart with them and killed him early Sunday.

The holdup occurred at Mack's Machine Store. A witness told officers the robbers, in their late 20s or early 30s, entered the place about 1:30 a.m. while Wiley was counting money. He said Wiley handed over $75 after the pair threatened his life.

Sheriff's deputies found the body outside Waco nearly nine hours later. Wiley had been shot twice in the head.

Rotarians Plan Training Session

New officers and directors of the two Midland Rotary clubs — Downtown and West — are expected to attend a training session scheduled Tuesday at Lubbock.

Ralph McLaughlin of Big Spring, incoming governor of Rotary District 573, will be the official host for the meeting.

Delbert Downing of Snyder, formerly of Midland, will be the luncheon speaker.

Leaning Tower Still Collapsing

Agency Franco-Franco

PARIS — Italy's celebrated Leaning Tower of Pisa tilted just one millimeter from its position last year, engineers who have concluded their annual calculations announced Sunday.

In 1972, when the tower made a dramatic 3.3-millimeter lurch, alarmed authorities drew up plans to halt the tower's inexorable topple to destruction, but these have not yet been carried out.

The tower's annual lurch has been measured since 1811.

J. H. Denny Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Howard Denny, former president of Franklin Simon & Co., died in a hospital here on Saturday at the age of 78. He was president from 1938 to 1953, during which time the firm remodeled its Manhattan store and opened a half-dozen suburban branches.

Community Development Funds Not On Agenda

Recent developments concerning Midland's application for more than $4 million in Community Development Act funds will not be discussed Tuesday during a 5 p.m. city council session. The later meeting hour was set to encourage more citizen participation in city government activities.

City officials indicated the routine 24-item agenda would be void of discussion concerning the federal funds after it was learned last week Midland's application has been sent to the Washington office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development with a negative recommendation.

The city has until June 30 to alter its application if so desired to include HUD suggested guidelines for rental subsidy and new construction for the westside. Council action has indicated no desire to make the necessary alterations.

Tuesday, councilmembers will discuss future needs of the West Texas Education Center for a new building at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

A resolution to approve plans and specifications and to authorize the advertisement for bids on excavation of a drainage channel from Maxwell to Haynes streets and to purchase necessary culverts will be considered.

British Freighter Punches Hole In Soviet Trawler

LONDON (AP) — A hole was punched in a 2,435-ton Soviet trawler in a collision with the 10,978-ton British freighter Ionic in the North Atlantic, the coast guard reported today.

The coast guard said all 70 crew members of the trawler Zalesje and a dog were taken aboard the Ionic and were transferred to the mother ship accompanying the Soviet trawler fleet. The Ionic reported nobody was hurt.

The hole in the Zalesje was at the waterline close to the engine room but the ship stayed afloat, the coast guard said. Salvage tugs set out from England to tow her to port. The Ionic, a refrigerated ship, reported it was not seriously damaged.

Wait A Moment To Count Tricks

When you have just won a key trick, take a few seconds out and look thoughtful. If you can actually find the right thing to think about, so much the better; if not, you can later claim that you considered the right move but decided against it.

trick. Count your side's likely tricks.

Your partner may have the ace of clubs and a high trump at best. If so, the defense will win a spade, a trump and a club.

You will need one additional trick to defeat the contract. A club ruff is the only reasonable possibility. Hence you return a club at the second trick.

West wins with the ace of clubs and returns a club. West gets in again with the king of trumps and leads a third club. This time your ruff defeats the contract.

If you count your tricks you'll find the killing defense surprisingly often.

Say No Without Apologizing

By VICTORIA BILLINGS
Copy News Service

LOS ANGELES — A teen-age girl doesn't want to go all the way.

But she can't say no to the captain of the basketball team. A wife doesn't want to entertain her husband's Army buddy. But she can't find the words to protest.

A secretary resents picking up her boss's laundry, but she's afraid to refuse.

A mother wants her daughter to stop using obscenities, but the child says she doesn't give a damn.

What can these women do? Get assertiveness training, says Marilyn Leigh of suburban Marina del Rey, a licensed clinical social worker.

Learn how to state your feelings and desires and to use your power without apologies, she says.

"Assertion is not aggression."

The Midland Reporter-Telegram

Women

SA-MONDAY, JUNE 23, 1975

Leigh emphasizes, "Aggression is attacking or accusing and is not liked."

She admits people often get the two mixed up, though.

"A lot see being assertive as being aggressive, but others see an assertive person as someone they can be straightforward with."

"If you're assertive not everyone will like you," she says, "but if you're not assertive, no one will respect you."

More women than men have assertion problems says Leigh, who first saw the need for her training program when she counseled unmarried, pregnant teen-agers.

She borrowed from the work of South African psychiatrist Joseph Wolpe to help the young women.

One of their biggest problems, she found, was that they didn't know how to say no. Those who didn't want to say no were too unassertive to bring up the question of birth control.

Or they couldn't resist the pressure to join in what the group was doing.

In 1972 she decided the timing was right to introduce her assertiveness training to women's movement groups and it's now full-time activity.

"Women don't realize the power they have in their bodies," she says.

She isn't talking about throwing someone a curve to get your way.

She teaches women—and occasionally men—how to use their eyes, heads, arms and voices to command attention and respect.

How do you put her advice into action?

Suppose your husband wants to invite the boss to dinner and you can't stand the man?

Look your husband in the eye, raise the volume of your voice and lower the tone, Leigh advises.

Say, "I don't like your boss. I don't want him to come to dinner."

Do not smile, Leigh emphasizes, or be apologetic, common reactions women have when they are angry.

Don't explain yourself. "A lot of women do that."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks: All of us hate those wobbly, gobby candles. Since most of them are hand-dipped nowadays, it seems that no two bases are alike.

We have wrapped foil, rubber bands and different kinds of tape around them, and here's a new one I ran across recently while cleaning ten of them.

I tore a slip of paper towel about an inch wide and dipped it in water and while thoroughly wet, wrapped it around the end of the candle, bandage-style. (Kinds fold the end over and crunch it down in the holder.)

The good part about this was, because the paper was wet, it stuck to the candle itself, and did not slip. The paper will eventually dry, thus making a sort of paper-mache to hold the candle.

And yes, candles do have to be cleaned, especially if they sit out a long time, because they accumulate carbon. The best way I found to do this was to pour a recommended dry-cleaning solvent on a facial tissue and just wipe away. (Just follow safety precautions on the can.) You ought to see that old goop come off.

Washing with a detergent poured on a paper towel will

Dear Abby Abby Besmirches Image Of Pigs

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You besmirched the image of pigs and hogs when you wrote: "The person who hogs the conversation is no less a pig than the person who comes to the table and eats all the food."

Abby, you infer that pigs and hogs are greedy. They are not! If there are little four-footed creatures were fed balanced rations, they would not overeat!

That point has been proven through research at many universities.

It's a fact that most affluent people eat themselves out of shape. So why downgrade pigs and hogs when people, who are supposed to be more intelligent than pigs, are guilty of the same thing?

If you want to emphasize greediness in people, instead of calling them "hogs," why not say "prophit"?

G. B. PHILLIPS

DEAR MR. P.: I plead guilty. Life doesn't end with death.

And yes, you may use my real name.

SANDRA KLORES
DEAR SANDRA: God is blessing you now.

DEAR ABBY: I am a smoker. I know all the hazards, but I enjoy smoking and will not give it up. I resent all the reformers who have quit for whatever reason and preach to me to quit smoking.

I respect all the "No Smoking" signs. I do not smoke while I am in an automobile with others. I smoke while I am in my office, my home or with friends.

I do not drink. I hate heavy drinkers and detest drunks, yet I am constantly being exposed to drunks. On a long plane ride, for instance, I sat next to a woman who drank all the way. She was so loaded when we landed that she had to be helped from the plane.

Bars, restaurants, theaters, etc., serve liquor, but they want to put up "No Smoking" signs. I protest!

I would like to see every eating place with a "No Smoking" sign stop serving liquor and beer so I won't have to be around drunks. Also, airlines should have a separate section for drinkers, just as they do for smokers.

I am not asking people to stop drinking. I'm just asking that the drinkers drink with each other and leave us sober people alone.

MRS. T.S.
DEAR MRS. T.S.: You make a valid point. But while obnoxious drunks are no pleasure to encounter, they do no violence to your lungs and the environment, smokers do.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Envelope stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

WHY CONCRETE SWIMMING POOLS ARE OBSOLETE

What you see here is what did it! This is a SAN JUAN, fibreglass, one piece swimming pool being lowered into the prepared ground. A beautiful, full-sized pool with a permanently smooth, non-abrasive finish that is forever algae-free. Only one of the reasons why up to 90% of old fashioned cement pools' maintenance is eliminated.

The SAN JUAN POOL comes in several sizes (shown here, 16 by 34 feet); equipped as you wish and priced demonstrably fairer than a plaster/concrete pool. It's longer lasting, too, because fibreglass, 12 times stronger than concrete, is forever. Colorful, it never needs painting! Moulded in the plant, in one piece, in one incredible process, the SAN JUAN has a structural, yet flexible strength that has withstood four major earthquakes. A 25 year guarantee against chipping or cracking! Much faster, easier to install... before investing in any pool get the complete story, including color photos of local installations. Get the concrete pool story, too... it only makes ours better!

'Moonlighting' O.K.

A news dispatch from Houston reveals that more than 150 Exxon Company USA employees have turned to "moonlighting."

Sounds strange, doesn't it? But just a moment now before drawing any conclusions.

The company encourages the "moonlighting" by calling the participants VIPs... and the city of Houston benefits from it.

The employees, according to the news release, are part of Exxon's Volunteer Involvement Program (VIP) which identifies community organizations needing volunteers, and then matches interested employees with the needs of the community groups.

A marvelous arrangement for all concerned, isn't it? It is a richly rewarding program for the VIPs and highly beneficial to and for the community groups and the persons they serve.

This is somewhat similar to Midland's "Loaned Executive" program in which representatives of various business firms, including Exxon's Mid-Continent Division offices here, are given special assignments prior to and during the annual United Way campaigns. It is a most effective program and has aided materially in the success of the fund campaigns in recent years.

At Houston, Exxon now has more than 150 employees involved with approximately 30 organizations.

Randall Meyer, Exxon USA president, said Exxon always has encouraged its employees to participate actively in community affairs.

"The Volunteer Involvement Program is another means of assisting employees who desire to translate their personal concern into meaningful action."

Some of the community projects which Exxon VIP volunteers work with are Blalock Nursing Home, Houston Regional Minority Purchasing Council, Urban Affairs Child Development Center, Harris County Mental Health and Mental Retardation Authority, Sponsors for Educational Opportunity, Citizens Environmental Coalition, Concerned Teens, Mayor's Telephone Reassurance Program, Big Brothers - Big Sisters, Houston Independent School District, and Volunteers in International Technical Assistance.

The company also is said to be involved in numerous other social responsibility programs, ranging from a bi-lingual pre-school children's television series in the Public Broadcasting System, to a Minority Engineer Education Program, to Junior Achievement, United Fund and numerous finance efforts.

Exxon in Midland, as do most other oil companies, also encourages its employees to become involved in many of these same programs, plus Midland and West Texas chambers of commerce, Jaycees and others.

This is the type of volunteer service and cooperation which keeps many of the recipient organizations going.

And the community as a whole is grateful for their interest and effort.

Award Well Merited

It is not surprising that K. M. "Kenny" Jastrow of Midland is the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award presented by the American Association of Petroleum Landmen.

The award is given annually to persons who make outstanding service contributions to the association, the petroleum industry, or to the community.

Kenny Jastrow qualifies on all three counts, and his contributions have been of such magnitude that they could not be overlooked. Few persons have given as generously of their time and effort in association, industry and community affairs.

His activities over a long period of years have been climaxed in the last few years by his outstanding performance in United Way, Midland Chamber of Commerce and Midland Memorial Hospital fund raising — just to mention a few.

The Landmen's award is well merited, and congratulations are in order for Midland's Kenny Jastrow.

Views On American, French Revolutions

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "In the afternoon of July 14th," writes historian Otto J. Scott of the year 1789, "at three o'clock, a mob entered the first courtyard of the Bastille and cut the chains of the first drawbridge."

The above is taken from Scott's brilliant work on the French Revolution, "Robespierre: The Voice of Virtue" (Mason Lipcomb, N.Y., $9.95, 324 pages). The storming of the fortress prison in Paris is celebrated each year on July 14 by the French as the opening shot of their own revolution which had, initially, been influenced by the American Revolution, celebrated on July 4th.

In fact, some people feel that the French and American revolutions are similar, even identical. Reading Scott's work on the principal leader of the French Revolution quickly dispels any such notion.

Scott's work, however, has an even more important value to anyone interested in discovering why, 139 years after the Declaration of Independence and 200 years after the outbreak of the American War for Independence, we seem to have become confused over the principles of the American revolution for freedom.

Scott's "Robespierre" abounds with uncanny parallels with the present that make his work worth reading. Take, for example, the storming of the Bastille on July 14, 1789. The popular image is that the French citizens freed the alleged hordes of political prisoners held by King Louis XVI.

Scott relates, however, after extensive research, that exactly "seven prisoners were unseathed from the enormous empty establishment."

Later other left-wing revolutionaries would follow the French example, using the issue of "political prisoners" as propaganda smoke screens in order to come to power. Three contemporary examples come to mind: Castro used the issue of political prisoners to come to power in Cuba; the left-wing military in Portugal last year used the same propaganda line; and then during the Vietnam War, Hanoi, with the help of the American new left, used the issue of "tiger cages" of South Vietnam.

But in the cases of Castro and the military in Portugal (censorship in Communist Saigon prevents any conclusion at this time), both regimes followed the French revolutionaries and proceeded to use the very prisons they earlier decried for jailing THEIR OWN political opposition.

"The list grew longer," relates Scott of the rising reign of terror in France in 1793, "and the work of the Tribunal grew heavier by the hour. The prisons, already heavy with people, grew denser. Virtue reigned; revolutionary freedom extended throughout the land."

This striking parallel between the French Revolution and the Communists is no accident or coincidence. As early

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — The United Nations, collectively and separately, continues to ignore the forced evacuation of an estimated three million Cambodians from the cities to the countryside.

Yet this must go down in history as the greatest atrocity since the Nazis herded Jews into the gas chambers. The mass exodus was a death march, with reports of bodies abandoned along the way. An estimated one million people are expected to die from hunger and exposure in the hinterland, where the food stocks simply aren't adequate to feed the city population.

The details, however, have been bottled up. As we reported in an earlier column, the Communists have sealed off Cambodia so that almost no information leaks out.

An intelligence memo, prepared for the White House, reports this much: "Although the accounts are confused, and in many cases conflicting, it is clear that the forced march out of Phnom Penh resulted in death for many of the young, old and weak among the city's two million inhabitants."

Another million people from other towns were driven out of their homes and were forced to join the death march.

Continues the intelligence document: "First-hand accounts from individuals caught up in the forced exodus — and who subsequently exited the country — paint a grim picture."

"One reported scores of bodies floating in a river near the capital. According to doctors among the marchers, scores of people died from cholera, dehydration or hunger since the Communists provided no food, water or medicine throughout the long march."

"Having forcefully relocated the urban population, there is evidence that the leadership is having difficulty adequately caring for its new wards and the toll of human lives is likely to continue as the result of disease and famine."

Jack Anderson

Why did the Communists empty the cities? Declared the memo: "The removal urban population to the countryside is clearly a deliberate and calculated policy of the new leadership and appears to be aimed at furthering the Communists' plan to remake completely Cambodian society in the shortest possible time, relieving the strain on urban food supplies and facilitating consolidation of control over the cities and towns."

But the full "magnitude of human suffering caused by this policy," suggests the memo, "will probably never be fully known."

AMIN'S ADVICE: From his jungle kingdom in deep Africa, Gen. Idi Amin, the irrepressible madcap ruler of Uganda, is always ready with unsolicited advice for world leaders.

He counseled President Ford to appoint a black vice president and to replace Secretary of State Henry Kissinger with a black. Amin also called the United Nations recommending its transfer to his own backwater capital city of Kampala which, he explained, was "the center of the earth between Asia, Europe, Australia and the Americas."

His latest misadventure to a world leader, according to intelligence reports, was addressed to Egypt's President Anwar Sadat. Amin offered to send his comic-opera army to help "liberate" Arab lands from Israel.

Uganda stands ready "whether called upon or not," Amin notified Sadat, to fight with its "Arab brothers and sisters"

INSIDE REPORT

Ford Is In Gear With Appointments

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Gerald Ford's selection of Army Secretary Howard H. (Bo) Callaway as his presidential campaign manager may prove a master stroke in Mr. Ford's pre-convention strategy: fence in former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and his conservative stalwarts so tightly that Reagan will abandon any hope of winning the nomination himself.

But beyond that, selection of the exuberant, rich and extroverted Georgia conservative, who had been under active but secret consideration at least since May 27, reveals important details about Mr. Ford's developing political style and its healthy contrast to Richard M. Nixon's.

For example, the President himself has had a series of confidential talks with long-time Republican tacticians, such as Jack Mills, president of the Tobacco Institute who will be a part-time campaign aide, Ohio national committeeman Ray C. Bliss and many more. He is looking to old friends from his days in the House, including Assistant Secretary of Defense Robert Ellsworth, a former Congressman from Kansas, for major jobs in his campaign organization and is leaning toward Richard Cheney as White House liaison for the campaign.

As top aide to White House staff chief Donald Rumsfeld, Cheney's designation as presidential go-between, with campaign chief Callaway would give Mr. Ford automatic contact with all elements of the campaign. Such personal, detailed involvement was virtual heresy to Richard Nixon, who seldom deigned to talk politics with traditional politicians.

So tightly held was Callaway's selection, revealed to Callaway himself only on June 13, that Republican leaders in Congress and the party's high command around the country, including Georgia state chairman Mark Mattingly, did not learn of it until the formal White House announcement last Wednesday.

Callaway's name was first quietly surfaced for White House consideration by wily presidential intimate Melvin R. Laird, now the highly-paid "senior counselor" on Reader's Digest magazine. Laird and Dean Burch, chairman of the Ford campaign advisory committee, had culled the names of scores of prominent Republicans before settling on Callaway.

With Laird, Mr. Ford's first choice, for 1976 campaign manager, out of the running because of his Reader's Digest job, Callaway's assets took on formidable proportions, with one obvious liability: his 1966 campaign for governor (lost by an eyelash) which one White House aide privately described as "racist."

But in the Republican South, heartland of Ronald Reagan, that criticism is no liability. Indeed, Mattingly told us that Callaway's selection would unquestionably help Mr. Ford in Georgia if a primary challenge from Reagan actually developed.

More important, Mississippi state chairman Clarke Reed, the most active and vociferous critic of Mr. Ford as insufficiently conservative, says the President "couldn't have done any better" than Callaway for campaign chairman.

The "racist" charge against Callaway's 1966 gubernatorial campaign, moreover, is viewed in the White House as substantially outflanked by Callaway's success in building an all-volunteer Army with the highest black percentage — 22 per cent — since World War II.

The underlying Ford strategy in trying to convince Reagan and his conservative partisans that a race against the President would be futile has the South as its focal point. Callaway, as a Southern organizer for Barry Goldwater in the 1964 pre-convention period and Southern regional director for Nixon in 1968, has outstanding credentials among Southern Republican conservatives.

Thus, his selection as campaign manager gives Mr. Ford another lever in the South to go along with his nomination of Dr. F. David Matthews, president of the University of Alabama, to be Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Although some anti-Ford conservatives describe this as "tossing the South a couple of bones," the bone-tossing is having an indisputable impact. That was clear recently in Columbus, Ga., when Mr. Ford spent a highly fruitful hour behind closed doors with Georgia Republican leaders.

The President told the Georgians that "my philosophy is like yours," and the evidence he produced — his successful record of anti-consumption spending bills — drew his point home.

The danger in this pre-convention strategy is obvious: that the President will succeed in fencing in Reagan, thus winning the nomination battle hands down — but risking the election war when conservative Republicans will comprise a minor slice of the total vote.

Tax Agents Examine Returns Of Hundreds Of Top Corporate Officers

By BROOKS JACKSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax agents are sitting through the returns of hundreds of the nation's top corporate officers to see if they made illegal campaign donations.

The special project has the Internal Revenue Service comparing the returns of corporate officers and their companies to see if the officers' political donations were reimbursed illegally through phony expenses, accounts, bonuses, travel vouchers or other corporate payments.

The study, called the Campaign Contribution Compliance Project, has recently been expanded to cover foreign bribes and payoffs by U.S.-based companies.

It is illegal for corporations to claim tax deductions for unlawful campaign gifts or for payments to foreign officials that would have been illegal if made in the United States, such as bribes or kickbacks.

The Securities and Exchange Commission recently began an investigation of the 25 largest defense contractors to determine whether those companies have made bribes or other improper payments to government officials in the United States or abroad.

A classified Pentagon report, supplemented by about 300 agents in the Washington headquarters, including computer experts, engineers, economists and others.

Assistant IRS Commissioner Singleton B. Wolfe said in an interview that the compliance project centers on an examination of the returns of the top 100 or so officers of about 20 corporations, where some officials are known to have made political donations.

Land Use Planning Measure Facing Defeat In House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — A controversial land-use planning bill may face defeat if the House Interior Committee fails to vote on it this week.

Even with the vote, the bill's chances are in doubt, with the outcome hinging on three members whose support has been waning.

When the committee began work on the bill more than a month ago, the measure's supporters won a crucial test by a two-vote margin. But as the panel nears the end of its preparations on the legislation, at least three Democrats who voted with supporters of the bill in May are indicating they have strong doubts about it in June.

The measure would set up a system of federal grants to the states to encourage them to establish governmental machinery to plan the future growth and use of land resources. The Ford administration has opposed the bill on the ground of expense.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the bill's chief sponsor, is concerned that if the committee doesn't act before Congress begins its 10-day recess at the end of this week, the members will be subject to lobbying in their home districts by organizations opposed to the bill and the bill will have little chance of success.

Opponents and supporters agree that if the measure is approved by the committee, it will almost definitely be approved by the House which last year refused by a close margin to take up the measure. However, the more liberal tenor of the House this year is cited as an indication that it would approve the bill.

The Senate has twice approved a similar bill. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has sponsored the Senate measure, has said he would wait for the House to act before reintroducing the bill.

Udall hopes that the committee will finish drafting the bill Wednesday and that the committee to vote on the bill Thursday. However, a spokesman for Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., who has led the opposition, predicted the committee would fail to finish drafting the bill by Wednesday.

The bill has been opposed by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and various conservative political organizations. The Udall spokesman said the chamber is urging its local chapters to express this position to the congressmen when they return home.

The three members considered to be in key positions are Reps. John Melcher, D-Mont.; Allan T. Howe, D-Utah; and Roy Taylor, D-N.C.

All three voted against the motion to table the bill when it first came up in the committee May 14 and they are believed to be wavering.

It was considered unlikely that Udall will pick up any votes from among the 30 members who voted to table the bill, so the loss of Melcher, Howe and Taylor could defeat the bill.

Spokesmen for each said that unless the bill is significantly changed in the final markup session, they will vote against it.

Hyde Resigns City Position

John Gary Hyde has resigned as assistant city attorney for the City of Midland to enter private practice with the law firm of Freeman and Hyde here.

Hyde, who was appointed to his present position in March 1970, was graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1966 with a B.A. degree in political science. He earned his Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from The University of Texas School of Law in 1967. He was admitted to the Texas bar in December 1967.

Texas Demo Introduces Special Prosecutor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dale Milford, D-Tex., has introduced a bill that would allow federal judges to appoint special prosecutors when the Justice Department fails to pursue a federal indictment.

The bill was prompted by the impasse over the prosecution of Austin lawyer Jake Jacobson on federal charges of misapplication of funds, said Milford.

Jacobson was the government's chief witness against former Treasury Secretary and former Texas Gov. John B. Connally in Connally's milk bribery trial. Connally was acquitted of the charge.

The Justice Department sought dismissal of a bank fraud perjury indictment against Jacobson, as part of its deal to get Jacobson's testimony.

Jacobson pleaded guilty to a one-count indictment of giving a federal official a bribe, but U.S. District Court Judge Robert Hill of Dallas refused the plea.

Justice Department's request to dismiss the other indictment. When the Justice Department indicated it would not prosecute Jacobson on the remaining charge, Hill appointed special prosecutors to pursue the case.

The Justice Department, however, challenged Hill's authority and the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans is considering the matter. Milford, who represents the Dallas-Fort Worth mid-city area, said he felt the procedure for appointing special prosecutors would not interfere with the concept of plea bargaining which he considers desirable in some cases.

PARIS (AP) — Existentialist author Jean Paul Sartre says his writing career is over because he is nearly blind. The 70-year-old novelist, philosopher and playwright said in an interview with Neuvel Observateur magazine that his legs hurt when he walks and his blood pressure is low. He said he has bleeding in his left eye, his only source of vision since he lost his right eye at the age of 3.

But he denied rumors that he is near death and said he plans to direct a number of television programs dealing with the first 75 years of this century. Sartre said his longtime companion, author Simone de Beauvoir, will help in the preparation of the programs.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Playboy publisher Hugh Hefner has rescinded some of the strict rules he established for women who work in Playboy clubs across the country because he says he wants to make "bunny lib" a reality rather than just a slogan.

In a statement issued from his California mansion on Sunday, Hefner said he may have been "just a wee bit over-protective" in setting up rules that forbid bunnies from dating customers, giving out their true names or visiting clubs outside of working hours.

In rescinding these rules, Hefner also announced that bunnies would be made honorary Playboy club members.

Bunnies staged a protest in Chicago last week against what they termed archaic work rules.

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP) — said, sending a fireball hundreds of feet in the air, shattered windows and damaged walls of nearby townhouses.

Explosions also occurred in a 4,000-gallon tank and in 40 to 50 small butane cylinders, Kelley said.

Persons evacuated lived in the townhouses, two mobile homes and a housing subdivision.

A 6,000-gallon tank did not explode but burned throughout the day. Firefighters extinguished the blaze in late afternoon and permitted residents to return to their homes.

Fire Chief A. L. Kelley said a gas leak reported at mid morning turned into a chain of small explosions a minute later.

He said the fire spread across a city-block area. An 18,000-gallon tank exploded, he said.

Kelley said the company property destroyed in the blast and fire also included company offices and shop and two tank trucks.

A tent skating rink in the back of the facility was destroyed by the fire and the roofs of two small nearby houses were ignited. The roof fires were quickly extinguished.

23-21 Result Should Give 'Coaches' Boost

After three less than spectacular games in a row, the Coaches All-America game needed something like Saturday's 23-21 East win over the West to remind folks of those first two crowd-pleasers played in Lubbock in 1970 and 1971.

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

In the '70 game, the East's Bruce Taylor returned a pass interception 43 yards to win it, 26-27, but quarterback Dennis Shaw had the West on the East nine when the game ended.

The next year, Jim Flunket rallied the West with a three-touchdown third quarter and then SMU's Chuck Hixson came off the bench to take the West 57 yards on four passes for the touchdown that won it 33-38 with 31 seconds left.

This year, the West, which went into the last period trailing 23-15, was fooled twice in the final quarter at the lip of the cup in bids to pull it out. The first time Alan Frigile missed a 46-yard field goal and then a fumble at the nine.

There was still 8:13 left, but the East simply ran out the clock, running 13 plays to move the ball to the West 41.

East Coach Steve Sloan felt the key to the game was that they fumbled on our nine, just when it looked like they were going in to go ahead 28-23 and the ability of our offensive line to run out the clock.

A vital play came on a fourth and one at the East 41 during the clock-killing drive. "All of the coaches discussed it and felt we could make it with Harold (Champ) Renson (Oklahoma fullback). Stopping him is like tackling a truck. I think he made it every time we called on him in third and short yardage situations."

When someone pointed out that Sloan is now 1-0 in Jones Stadium, the Texas Tech coach said, "I don't believe the fans will count it."

It will be the last time Lubbock fans will be less than solidly behind the new coach from Vanderbilt. After all, he was coaching the opposition.

Even so, the Tech fans got an inkling perhaps of what they'll be seeing this year, Saturday it was an drives of 75, 71 and 59 yards, devouring yardage in short bites and time in huge gulps.

The passing game is blended in to make the running game go rather than strike for the sudden touchdown, an witness 16 completions in 19 attempts for 48 yards.

The night's crowd-pleasing offensive play was left to Gary Johnson, a 6-3 280-pound tackle from Grambling, who stole the ball from West quarterback David Hamm in the second quarter and lumbered 73 yards for the score. A couple of moves he put on West players late in the run, added to the suspense, making it questionable whether he'd have enough left to make the end zone.

He finally did and was tackled and opinion seemed equally divided whether he spilled the ball, a 13-yard penalty, or just dropped it from exhaustion.

Beckman Faces Brewers Tonight

Left-hander Bernie Beckman, 2-3, will start for the Midwest Cubs tonight as the six-game series against San Antonio's Brewers makes its belated start at 7:45 p.m. in Cubs Stadium.

The Texas League rivals were "rained out" in Sunday's scheduled opener before the starting pitchers even started to warm up. Actually, it never did rain hard, but pre-game sprinkling delayed action 40 minutes and things appeared to be getting worse rather than better, so the game was called.

The Midland Reporter-Telegram

SPORTS

11A—MONDAY, JUNE 23, 1975

The teams will play two at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Beckman will be out to keep his own streak alive as well as Midland's string of eight wins in its last 10 games. The southpaw from Toronto is 7-0-1 for his last eight starts and while he beat San Antonio 6-3 the last time out, both of his defeats have come at the hands of the Cleveland Indians farmhands.

Probably Dan Corder, 3-3, and Donnie Moore, 6-4, will get the call for Tuesday's games.

The Cubs just finished knocking off Shreveport Captains four games to one and Manager Doc Edwards hopes his club isn't reflecting on the one game that got away or the upcoming series with the Captains in Shreveport as they take on the Brewers.

The series between the Brewers and the Cubs stands at 3-4, but Midland had to win four of the last five to pull even.

Outfielder Bill Bright stretched his hitting string to 13 games, Saturday, but had his consecutive-game hit streak snapped at nine. San Antonio has made several changes in its roster since an early season Tall City visit. Shortstop Rob Bellor has moved up to AAA ball and outfielder Brock Davis is no longer with the club. Outfielder Bill Droegge has a six-game hitting streak going for the Cubs. Three Cubs have moved over the 300 mark with Jose Ortiz at 305, Al Montreuil at 312 and Bright at 307. Montreuil 9-for-18 in the Shreveport series.

Graham, Mahaffey Settle Open

COSTLY TRAP — Lou Graham blasts out of sand trap on 18th hole during U.S. Open Sunday and then two-putted for a bogey to fall into a tie with John Mahaffey, necessitating a playoff today. (AP Wirephoto.)

MEDINAH, Ill. (AP) — A pair of longshots, Lou Graham and John Mahaffey, meet in an 18-hole playoff today for the $50,000 prize in the 75th U.S. Open Golf Championship—the "chokers" or "snake-bit" open.

It has been a wild one. And none is more surprised at the windup perhaps than the playoff contenders themselves.

Graham, a drawing, string-bean tour veteran of 35, was the only player among the 25,145 on the Medinah Club premises who didn't know he had a chance to win outright by paring the final hole.

He dumped his approach shot into a trap and took a bogey.

Mahaffey, a young lion of 27 out of Houston, had finished 48 minutes earlier and had rushed to the clubhouse to buy a candy bar and check on the airline reservations out of town.

He had to be searched out and informed that his 287 score three over par, had tied the late-finishing Graham for first place and that he should be on the first tee today promptly at 1:30 p.m. CDT.

The playoff will be shown over national television (ABC-TV). It's the first Open playoff since Lee Trevino beat Jack Nicklaus at Merion in Ardmore, Pa. in 1971.

Whatever became of that fellow, Nicklaus, anyhow? And Trevino? And Hale Irwin, who won last year? And Johnny Miller, the Pacific Coast hotshot and long Tom Weiskopf, Arnold Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player?

Some people, including the golfers themselves, called it a horror story and jested that the winner should have been Boris Karloff. Dazed spectators were around asking if there was some kind of penalty against a guy who won.

Everybody, including the comparable Nicklaus, blew it—that is, all except Graham and Mahaffey. They almost did. They backed into their tie for the top, Mahaffey shooting a final round 71 that he thought might get him about 10th money and Graham a 73.

Irwin, who whipped the terrors of Winged Foot a year ago, rallied for a 70 and tied at 288 with Frank Beard, Ben Crenshaw and plump Bob Murphy. Nicklaus, bogeying the last three holes, tied with England's towering Peter Oosterhuis at 289. Palmer was at 290 with young Pat Fitzsimons and Tom Watson.

All of them were wondering how they managed to let this Open slip from their hands.

"There will be 30 guys leaving here who will say, 'If I had played halfway decently I would have won,'" Nicklaus said.

Irwin acknowledged that the tournament left him completely dumbfounded.

"This was the easiest open to win I've ever seen," the bespectacled 1974 Open winner said. "Everybody was just throwing it away. It's unbelievable."

Irwin's acknowledgment that the tournament left him completely dumbfounded.

McCamey Romps

McCAMEY — Pete Fuentes pitched the McCamey Osters to a 13-6 victory over Marla here Sunday in a semi-pro baseball contest.

Dean Duckett slamed a homer and Harry Jacobson pounded out two doubles to lead the offensive attack. McCamey evened their record at 6-4.

Waterhouses Win

SAN ANGELO — Dr. Roy Waterhouse and son Randy fired a 298 to win the San Angelo Country Club Partnership golf tournament Sunday.

Stuart Chancellor of San Angelo and Punk Patton of Midland finished fourth with a 299 while Paul Page and Ted Ferguson of Midland followed with a 278. Dr. Dean Strack and Johnny Warren of Midland had a 271.

Finley Raps Writers For Destroying Giants' Boss

OAKLAND (AP) — Owner Charlie Finley's Oakland A's, despite profitable gains spurred by three straight World Series titles, are little better off than the San Francisco Giants whose fearsome gate losses threaten to leave them out of their town.

"If it wasn't for winning these championships we would be losing money," Finley said this weekend in a San Francisco Examiner interview.

He took the opportunity to take a blast at what he called "poison pen" sports writers on both sides of San Francisco Bay, who he claimed, are destroying interest in baseball, especially the Giants.

"I think it's grossly unfair what they have done to a man like Horace Stoneham who has been in baseball all his life. If the writers who have tried to destroy him had a brain in their heads they would still be idiots," he said.

The A's showed an attendance increase of 73,577 through 36 dates ending their last home stand. Finley himself can't fathom the significance of the figures.

"All of baseball is concerned about the situation in this area," he said. "And when you see what is happening to attendance in San Francisco, I mean sickened by it."

The Giants lost $1.7 million last year and $1.8 million the year before. Now, attendance is lagging even behind last year. Should the red ink flow in next year, observers think there would be little question that directors of the National Exhibition Co., owners of the club, would consider selling or moving the Giants to another city.

The situation is all the more discouraging to Stoneham, considering the Giants made a strong showing on their last road trip, then returned home to draw 49,526 for 19 dates through last Wednesday. And one of them was a Sunday doubleheader that drew 12,131.

A Giants' official grumbled: "That $9,999 is about what the Los Angeles Dodgers would draw on any given Sunday afternoon."

In 32 home dates, the Giants have drawn only 219,277 fans or $1,963 fewer than last year at the same time. In Oakland, the world champs have drawn 382,788 for 30 dates or 75,977 above last year's total of 206,811.

Finley said he isn't sure what it means.

Last year, the A's drew a little more than 300,000 fans, a third of it "Family Night" crowds.

"Take away some 100,000 from our total," he said, "and the A's attendance would be closer to 200,000."

Finley said the A's are going for their fourth straight championship now as the only way to continue making a profit.

Hines, Bustillo Win Elks Tourney

Des Hines and Mike Bustillo defeated Pam Parish and Joe Shumestrutt, 6-3, 3-2, Sunday to win the Elks Club Scramble Mixed Double Tennis Tournament.

Crane Loses, 4-3

ALPINE — The Alpine A's won an eight inning, 4-3, semi-pro game over Crane here Sunday in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader.

The second contest was rained out after the two teams were tied at 2-2 in the third inning.

Mitchell On Top

LUBBOCK — Lubbock's Jeff Mitchell fired a 263 to win the Mens' West Texas golf tournament by one stroke over Texas Tech golfer Steve Long.

Fort Worth's Gaylord White finished third with a 286 while Lubbock's John Farquhar was fourth with a 290.

Powell, Harris Win

COLORADO CITY — George Powell and Jim Harris of Colorado City won the Colorado Country Club's Two-Man Low Ball Partnership Sunday with an even 168.

James Pritchett of Midland and Pat Pritchett of Lubbock finished third with a 169.

FIRST WIN SINCE BATTLE WITH CANCER — Betsy Cullen Comes Back

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) — Betsy Cullen has made her comeback from cancer surgery even sweeter with a one-stroke victory in the $60,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Hooper Classic.

Miss Cullen, 37, Sunday shook off the 99-degree heat, intense humidity and a strong challenge by a handful of LPGA regulars in the victory, her first since two weeks before surgery to remove a malignancy in her thyroid gland in 1973.

"It's been a long time between drinks of champagne," the Tulsa, Okla., native noted with a laugh as she accepted a drink of the bubbly and the winner's check for $5,700.

That placed her 13th on the LPGA 1975 money list this season with $12,120, well off the pace set by Sandra Palmer. Miss Palmer finished in a tie for third and won $2,150, raising her earnings to $94,633.

But it was Miss Cullen that took the spotlight on the narrow, lustrous-lined Plymouth Country Club course. With the exception of two hay bitches at the ninth and 10th holes, she parred her way around the tough layout while everyone else tried to catch her.

"I was pretty pumped up from No. 11 in. I knew I could win this thing," she said with a happy smile.

Miss Cullen's 54-hole total of 211 was five under par and just ahead of Judy Rankin's 213. The winner had rounds of 71-70-68.

Miss Rankin finished her final round, a 70, two groups ahead of Miss Cullen and waited in vain for her steady opponent to make a mistake on the last two holes.

Kathy Ahern, who has not won a tour event since 1972, was frustrated again by a six-over-par 78 on the final round that dropped her out of the lead she held each of the first two days.

She started Sunday's round two strokes ahead of Kathy Postlewait and three strokes ahead of Miss Cullen and Debbie Austin and added to her lead with a birdie on the first hole. Then the roof caved in.

Six World Marks Take Plunge In National AAU Swimming

LONG BEACH (AP) — Six world records fell and a dozen American marks were erased at the five-day National Amateur Athletic Union World Championship Swimming Trials this weekend at Belmont Plaza pool.

Tim Shaw of Long Beach, lowered his own world and American mark of 15 minutes, 31.75 seconds in the 1,500 meter freestyle, dominating a fast field with a time of 15:20.51. The time was better than the pending record of 15:27.70 by Australia's Stephen Holland.

Shaw's 600-meter split of 6:13.69 also improved Holland's 6:15.02.

Shaw, the only male swimmer to finish with three victories, lowered his own world record of 3:54.66 in the 400-meter freestyle to a 3:52.96. And his third victory came in the 200 backstroke, where he clocked 2:55.44.

Bruce Furniss opened the meet by straddling to a world mark in the 200-meter freestyle in 1:59.59, with former record holder Shaw right behind, equalling his 1974 time of 1:51.68.

Jim Montgomery of Madison, Wis., a junior at Indiana University set a world mark in the 100-meter freestyle during the preliminary heats at 51.12, better than Mark Spitz 51.22 time at Munich in 1972.

Shirley Babcock, a Fountain Valley, Calif., 19-year-old, swam in a world record of 2:14.95 in the 600-meter freestyle. The eldest of six children, her 1974 time of 2:13.75. On Sunday, she won the 100-meter freestyle in the American record time of 57.75, lowering Kim Peyton's 1974 mark. Miss Peyton, of Portland, Ore., who did not swim in the meet, had a 57.90 last year.

Kathy Huddy, Summit, N.J., won both the individual medleys in American record time. She had a 2:20.95 in the 200, better than her own 1974 performance of 2:23.95 and won the 400-meter in 4:58.13, bettering the 5:06.51 by Jenni Franka, Washington, D.C., in 1974.

Valerie Lee, Mission Viejo, Calif., solidified the 200-meter butterfly field Sunday with a time of 2:15.12.

Heather Greenwood, Fremont, Calif., hung on for a victory in the 200-meter freestyle, where her American record time of 2:25.51 edged Shirley Babcock, second at 2:28.77. Former American record-holder Jo Harshbarger, who set her mark of 2:27.50 last August, finished third and failed to qualify for the Cal, Columbia World Championship team.

She finished the front nine four over par for the day, including a double bogey 7 on the eighth hole, where she slipped her drive out of bounds and onto a nearby highway.

Kathy Huddy, Summit, N.J., won both the individual medleys in American record time. She had a 2:20.95 in the 200, better than her own 1974 performance of 2:23.95 and won the 400-meter in 4:58.13, bettering the 5:06.51 by Jenni Franka, Washington, D.C., in 1974.

Valerie Lee, Mission Viejo, Calif., solidified the 200-meter butterfly field Sunday with a time of 2:15.12.

Heather Greenwood, Fremont, Calif., hung on for a victory in the 200-meter freestyle, where her American record time of 2:25.51 edged Shirley Babcock, second at 2:28.77. Former American record-holder Jo Harshbarger, who set her mark of 2:27.50 last August, finished third and failed to qualify for the Cal, Columbia World Championship team.

Boxers Whip Karate Masters Without Too Much Difficulty

HOUSTON (AP) — Professional boxers and karate masters agreed to meet in an exhibition—and the boxers won. Since only an estimated 800 persons turned out for the affair Saturday night—it was mostly for kicks.

In the main event, Mike Quarry, highly ranked light heavyweight boxing contender, won a first round disqualification victory over Yong Lee, a Korean master with 31 years experience. When Quarry pinned Lee against the ropes and landed hard hooks to the body and head, Lee grabbed Quarry by the hair and began butting him with his head.

Eventually Lee's butting and kicking sent Quarry flying through the ropes onto the judge's table.

Lee then took off his protective feet covering and prepared to continue the battle but the fight was stopped. Referee Tadashi Yamashita explained afterward that Lee was not clear about the rules of the exhibition and that his natural reflexes as a karate master intervened when he felt he was in danger.

"Karate men expect to punch with their fists, feet, heads, knees, elbows and anything else that can be used as a weapon," he said. "Quarry just fought like he always does."

IN WOMEN'S TENNIS—Trinity Takes Trophies

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Trinity University of San Antonio, Tex., collected all of the trophies Sunday in the final round of the National Women's Collegiate Tennis Championships.

The Tigresses swept team, singles and doubles titles in a field of 70 schools.

Stephanie Tolleson of Trinity defeated Lela Forood of Stanford University 5-7, 4-6, 5-1 in an all-freshman singles final.

Miss Forood, who played despite a sprained left ankle and with pulled ligaments in her right foot, won only 27 points in the last two sets.

Trinity couldn't lose in the doubles as Jo Anne Russell and Donna Stockton of the Texas school defeated teammates Sandy Stat and Miss Tolleson 6-1, 6-2 in the title match.

Trinity combined a record 35 points in winning the national collegiate championship for the fourth time in the eight-year history of the tournament.

Stanford was a distant second with 26 points while Rollins had 18½, University of Miami and Midland Jr. College of Texas had 18 each.

Evert Claims Commercials Take Up Too Much Time

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Chris Evert, who globe-trotted her way to a quarter of a million dollars on the tennis courts last year, says her free time is too important to waste on commercials.

"Sure, I'd probably get $100,000 more just doing commercials," she said before leaving for several European tournaments, including her title defense in this week's prestigious Wimbledon. "But I'd drop to number five in the rankings.

"My idea of rest is not to do commercials," Miss Evert, who won a record $261,488 on the women's tennis last year, said during an interview at Holiday Park, where her father, Jim, is the pro.

"If I've played four months of tennis, I want to come home and be able to wake up in the morning and do whatever I want to—play tennis at Holiday, or go to the beach or shopping."

She said that in another 10 years, she might want to be a television commentator or do more dress designing.

Although most professional athletes are happy to make extra money by endorsing products, Miss Evert has lent her name only to a brand of tennis clothes for which she does some designing and a line of tennis rackets.

And Miss Evert said she and her father have decided that, for the moment at least, she will avoid television talk shows.

Montanez Ruins Rookie's Gem

By The Associated Press
Just because Rod Gilbreath was swinging his bat, it didn't make him the villain. That role belonged, in a roundabout way, to Willie Montanez, who was swinging his glove.

Gilbreath, a pinch hitter for the Atlanta Braves, swung his bat at a 1-1 fastball with two outs in the eighth inning Sunday and ruined San Francisco rookie Pete Falcone's bid for a no-hitter. But it was Montanez's antics with his glove at first base—and the moment of mayhem that followed—which ruined Falcone's concentration. And that ruined the no-hitter.

So with that out of the way, the Giants settled down to beat the Braves 5-3 and salvage a split of their Sunday double-header. Atlanta took the opener 2-3 on the strength of a seven-run first inning.

In the rest of the National League, Philadelphia bounced back to beat Montreal in their nightcap 4-3 after the Expos had taken the opener 4-0. St. Louis defeated Chicago 7-5. Pittsburgh polished off New York 2-0. Los Angeles edged San Diego 3-2 and Houston beat Cincinnati 4-1.

Figueroa Two-Hits Texas, Fergy

By The Associated Press
Ed Figueroa figured wrong. "When I found out last night that Fergie Jenkins would be pitching for Texas, I told my wife that it would be a tough game," said the California right-hander who proved tougher than Jenkins Sunday.

Not that Fergie pitched a bad game, losing a nine-hit shutout on an unearned California run. But Figueroa was seven hits and one run better than his veteran opponent, and that meant a 1-0 Angels triumph over the Rangers.

"I have confidence now in my breaking pitch and myself," said the 27-year-old hurler who didn't think much of either last season. That confidence has presented itself in get going," said Figueroa, who watched Nettles speed over and surround the last out.

"I was kind of expecting an alley shot," said Nettles. "I got a good jump on the ball and I knew it was mine all the time." Obviously, he figured right.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 7-4 in 13 innings and 9-1. Baltimore beat Boston 3-0, then dropped the nightcap 5-1. Chicago swept Minnesota 6-5 in 10 innings and 9-3. New York trimmed Detroit 5-3, and Cleveland edged Milwaukee 5-2 in 10 innings.

The Angels—said Texas third baseman Smalley—gave Figueroa all the help he needed in the fourth. Smalley made a two-base throwing error on Bruce Bochte's infield hit, allowing Bochte to reach third.

Joe Lahoud singled Bochte home for the game's only run.

Stock Market Recovers From Mild Early Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market stood about even today, recovering from some mild early declines.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down .063 at 854.82 at noon after being down about 4 points at midmorning. Losses and gains were closely in balance on the New York Stock Exchange.

The early weakness was ascribed to concern over the upturn in short term interest rates that began on Friday with a push from operations in the money market by the Federal Reserve. But there also appeared to be a continuing undercurrent of optimism over prospects for an economic recovery.

Southern Co. was the most active issue on the big board, up 1/4 at 13 3/4.

At the American Stock Ex-

KNOXKE-ZOUTE, Belgium (AP) — A taxi driver found the 6-year-old son and 2-year-old daughter of a wealthy Belgian steel man in a telephone booth early today 36 hours after they were kidnaped from the family's vacation villa.

Police said little Hubert and Ingrid Bonnet were unharmed.

Auto Industry's Layoff Total Lowest This Year

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Even though one in five U.S. auto workers remains on layoff this week, the industry's jobs toll will be lower today than at any time this year.

Industry forecasts now idle more than 150,000 blue-collar workers from a total industry workforce of 713,000, down from 159,332 last week.

Last winter, when sales reached a low ebb, more than 270,000 workers were laid off. Slowly improving sales recently boosted production.

All assembly plants except one are scheduled to operate.

Ford Motor Co. resumes production today at its Los Angeles car plant, sending 3,450 workers back to work after a one-week furlough.

Ford indefinite layoffs idle 19,000 of its 124,000 hourly workers. About 150 workers will be on temporary layoffs at scattered plants.

GM said 102,000 of its 400,000 hourly workers remain on suspended furlough. GM says it hopes to reduce layoffs to 88,000 by fall.

Chrysler Corp. has 22,500 of 114,000 workers on indefinite layoff, and American Motors Corp. has 87 of 34,000 hourly employees off the job for an indefinite period.

The one plant which will be closed next week is the Wilmington, Del., facility run by General Motors Corp. The factory closed June 13 for new model changeover, idling 1,130 workers.

The boy led the police to an apartment house in Middelkerke; near Ostend, and said he and his sister had been taken there. Police said one of the apartments had been rented by four Indians answering to the description of the kidnapers, but "the men were gone," a spokesman said.

A spokesman for the children's father, Pierre Bonnet, said there had been no demand for ransom and no contact between the family and the kidnapers after they left the villa.

Bonnet said the kidnapers were members of an anticapitalist organization. But one police investigator said he believed it more likely that they were burglars who had not expected to find the villa occupied and took the children to help cover their escape.

There was no report of any trace of the kidnapers despite a nationwide hunt and a systematic search of all public and private garages along the coast.

Monahans Council Will Consider Telephone Hike

MONAHANS — The second reading of a proposed ordinance to establish new monthly phone service rates will be considered Tuesday by the Monahans City Council.

At its last meeting the council approved the ordinance, which sets service rates at 88 percent of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's original request for a $73,000 yearly increase in rates. The new ordinance calls for a $63,000 hike.

No communication between the city and Southwestern Bell had been established since the city set the telephone company the rate proposal. Mike Jowell, Southwestern Bell manager in Monahans, said he felt the company would accept the proposal. However, he did not have an official word to that effect.

Also on Tuesday's agenda are a request from the Texas State Guard Unit in Monahans and a presentation of service awards to city employes.

John Mowell, Ex-Deputy, Dies At 64

Former deputy sheriff John Mowell, 64, died Sunday in a Midland hospital after a short illness.

Services will be at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church sanctuary with the Rev. Ted Bryan, associate pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Twilight Gardens Cemetery under the direction of Newman W. Ellis Chapel.

Mowell was born August 22, 1910, in Comanche County. He was reared in Comanche County. He married Dana Perry Aug. 10, 1935, in Haskell, where he lived for seven years before moving to Lamesa.

Mowell served with the Dawson County Sheriff's Department until 1954 when he moved to Midland. He was with the Midland Sheriff's Department for 18 years before retiring in May, 1974.

A member of the First Baptist Church of Midland, he was a Master Mason and a member of the Masonic Lodge in Lamesa.

Survivors include his widow; three daughters, Mrs. S. J. Young, Joanne Maxwell and Mrs. Jerry Tarpley, all of Midland; two brothers, L. L. Mowell and Bill Mowell, both of Fort Worth; five sisters, Mrs. W. C. McLellan and Mrs. Walker Dornsey, both of Fort Worth, Mrs. Grace Gayler of Hurst, Mrs. Kelly Burt of Houston and Mrs. A. T. Wright of Slaton; and four grandchildren.

INSULATION USED TO BE A DETAIL. NOW IT'S A PRIORITY.

Used to be, insulation in commercial, industrial and institutional buildings was frequently taken for granted.

The energy crisis has changed all that.

Suddenly, insulation is one of the most important considerations in the planning of any new building. Simply because good insulation saves precious energy.

Which brings us to the buildings we build. Butler buildings. Because they're built around pre-engineered systems, the roof and wall systems are designed with superior insulation to provide you with the best available seal against outside heat and cold, regardless of the climate.

Butler building systems have always been time and money savers. But more important, now they're energy savers. We'd like to show you why. Call us.

Vietnamese Reunification Predicted By End Of 1976

By JEAN THORVAL
Agence France-Presse
HANOI — Vietnam will be totally reunified by the end of next year, an authoritative Vietnamese source has predicted.

In an interview with this correspondent in Saigon, the high-ranking sources said, "Unless there is a setback, particularly in the economic field, Vietnam should be able to form a single political, diplomatic and economic bloc during 1976 or at the latest, by the end of that year."

He pinpointed the two obstacles which had first to be surmounted as the reestablishing of order and security in the southern capital with its 3.5 million inhabitants, and the setting up of a new economic apparatus in the South.

He appeared optimistic over the first target but less so over the second. In any case, he said, from now until the end of next year, and probably only during the next few months, Vietnam would provisionally have two governments.

"When the immediate tasks of the administrative military committee have been completed, we believe that a certain number of foreign countries who have diplomatic relations with the South will be able, if they wish, to have representation in Saigon," he said.

"Later on, these diplomatic missions will become simply consulates. Missions will be reorganized in Hanoi which will be the capital of Vietnam. Saigon will be the economic capital," he added.

Reliable diplomatic sources in Hanoi corroborate these predictions by pointing out that within the first half of next month the Soviet Union and China, waiting like sprinters in their starting blocks for the gun, will be allowed to establish themselves in the southern capital. They have priority because of the aid granted to the Vietnamese war effort.

This in turn means, some observers in Hanoi and Saigon believe, that the provisional military committee administering Saigon will step aside earlier than expected in favor of a civilian administration. Up to now civilians have played a subdued role as have the military, neither of them making any spectacular economic or political decision on the South's future since Saigon fell.

The Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) with its ministers on mission abroad has been conspicuous by its absence from Saigon, and the military with the exception of its maintenance of law and order has pursued a day-to-day administrative policy.

Its job is to tend to the most urgent needs first, to cope with maintaining order which is proving difficult and to provide for the hundreds of thousands of

It is, oddly enough, because of subtle pressure from the people of Saigon that the military, even though it would never agree, is handing over total power to a provisional civilian government. Observers expect the military however to remain responsible for certain sectors such as law and order, and security.

As in all countries where there has been a military takeover, the people of Saigon are today slightly lost, and among the majority of the masses — the civil servants, the small businessmen, and the employees — there is a perceptible feeling of confusion over what the future holds.

As far as one can judge by visits into the nearby countryside, the rural workers do not share their concern, but Saigon wants to know, and soon, what tomorrow holds.

A frequent question is: "When shall we have a government?" For numerous Saigonese who have had, or still have, a profession, the setting up of a civilian government would enable them "to see things more clearly."

Such a government "will at least make definitive decisions. We will be accorded new conditions of work, or we will continue to work in our respective fields, or we will be called on to do something different. At any rate we will know what we are doing," is a popular opinion in Saigon.
