Mesa Completes
Eddy Discovery
From Morrow Pay

Mesa Petroleum Co. has completed its No. 1 Nash Unit, Eddy County, N.M., multipay prospect, as a Morrow gas discovery, 18 miles southeast of Carlsbad.

It rated a calculated, absolute open flow of 3,919 million cubic feet of gas per day on potential test. On the last reported production test, it made four barrels of condensate and one barrel of water, in 14 hours.

Completion was effected through perforations at 13,194-13,907 feet, which had been treated with 5,000 gallons of acid.

Straw perforations at 12,138-12,150 feet have been shut in. It earlier assured production from that zone with the flowing of gas at the daily rate of 1.2 million cubic feet, through a 28-64-inch choke.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 13-23a-25e, three miles west of the Fortyniner Ridge (Morrow) gas field.

Oil, Gas Develop In Lea Wildcat

Joseph I. O'Neill Jr. of Midland was drilling below 11,871 feet on a 13,700-foot wildcat contract, at No. 1-N State, Lea County, N.M. wildcat, after taking a drillstem test in an unidentified formation.

A test from 11,265-11,325 feet was a miss.

Tool was open 2 1/2 hours on the test taken from 11,265-11,325 feet. Recovery was 9,650 feet of gas, 100 feet of green, 41.1-gravity oil, 1,300 feet of water cushion and 170 feet of slightly oil-cut mud.

Test site is 690 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 23-16a-32e, eight miles northeast of Maljamar and 1/2 mile northeast of the Hume, West (Pennsylvanian) oil field.

HMH Reports Gas Flow in Sterling

HMH Operators of Midland, No. 1 Sara Bode Estate, Sterling County wildcat despoiling operation, 11 miles west of Sterling City, flowed gas at the estimated, daily rate of 1 million cubic feet from the Canyon.

Flow was through an unreported choke and perforated section at 7,894-7,704 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 16,000 gallons and 16,375 pounds of sand. Duration of the test was not available.

Drilled to 8,000 feet. It has 4 1/2-inch casing seated at 7,855 feet. Operator was preparing to perforate opposite the lower Cisco and test.

It is three miles northeast of the Big Salute (Canyon) oil field, six miles northwest of Canyon gas and three miles northwest of Canyon oil prospect.

Gandhi Tightens Grip Further

Guidelines On Arrests Loosened

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi further tightened her emergency rule in India today, authorizing police to make arrests without telling their prisoners why.

The ordinance, issued in the early morning hours by President Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed, said arresting authorities need only make a declaration that the detention is necessary for dealing with the emergency declared by Mrs. Gandhi last Thursday.

Issuance of the order underlined the concern with which the 57-year-old prime minister views persisting opposition to her refusal to resign and her arrests of non-Communist leaders opposing her stay in power.

The first known anti-Gandhi protest in New Delhi took place Sunday. Police swinging bamboo staves waded into demonstrators and crushed it quickly.

The new ordinance empowers authorities at all levels to make arrests under the emergency powers, which already allow police to jail troublemakers without trial and bar prisoners from appealing to the courts.

But if the arrests are made by local authorities, they must be reviewed by state officers within 15 days and confirmed as necessary. They must be reconfirmed at four-month intervals, the ordinance said.

The original emergency de-

ODESSA—The ousting of narcotic dealers by whatever means from Odessa takes priority over any credibility the district attorney's office might have with the news media, District Atty. John Green said in a news conference here this morning.

"This office has always been forward. The books are open. . . I hate that it (fake arrest) did happen."

Decisions on cover-up work and arrests in the future "depend on circumstances," he said.

"Narcotics is dirty business," Green said. "You don't send a preacher out to work narcotics. . . It's a different world."

He said "It takes a while for the people (undercover narcotic agents) to get in, to get their (drug dealers) trust."

"The results (indictments and arrest engineered)"

The Ector County D.A. was referring to last month's hoax arrest of his office's narcotic undercover agent.

Green did not identify the man, but his age has been listed as 25. "The sole objective of this effort," Green said, "was to remove narcotic dealers from our streets."

"Our main objective was to catch and prosecute those who made large scale money and their living selling narcotics."

Arrest Engineered

The D.A.'s chief criminal investigator, Tom Barker, without Green's knowledge or consent, engineered the fake arrest of the agent.

To insure the coverup, he brought in 161st Dist. Judge R. L. McKim, Peace Justice Jan Brooks and Sheriff's deputy Elton Faught.

"They went out of the scope of their duties to protect the people of this community from narcotics," Green said.

He said that "no law was violated" and "nothing undercover" was dealt in the arrest of Barker's man whose "life had been threatened a number of times" by narcotic dealers who suspected that he was an undercover agent.

Green said his office is "very fortunate" in having Barker as his chief investigator.

Declines Comment

Green's investigation and that of the grand jury resulted in 67 persons accused in 112 sealed indictments of narcotic dealing. With aid of federal, state, and city and county law agencies, the D.A. has so far arrested 38.

In fielding questions from the press, Green declined to comment on questions on the news media-D.A. relationship.

A reporter asked when could newsmen believe the district attorney's office if similar hoaxes are not curtailed.

"I think," Green said, "if we look a survey now that they (people) would believe this office."

"I am looking at the results of the program and will not

U.S. Army Major Knocked Cold By North Koreans

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—A U.S. Army major was knocked unconscious today in a brawl with a group of North Korean guards outside the armistice commission conference room at this truce village.

Maj. William D. Henderson, executive officer of the U.S. Army support group in the joint security area, was rescued by United Nations Command personnel and flown by helicopter to a U.S. Army hospital near Seoul for observation and treatment.

No report on his condition was available immediately.

The fight broke out when a North Korean newsman apparently said something abusive to Henderson. After a verbal exchange, a North Korean soldier hit the major in the stomach and when he hit back, a dozen or so North Koreans jumped him, witnesses said.

Henderson was quickly overpowered and knocked down. Some North Koreans trampled him, and he fell unconscious. American and South Korean guards intervened.

The U.N. Command immediately lodged a protest with the North Koreans. The Communists charged that Henderson provoked the fight and rejected the protest.

MAYOR COMMENTS ON LOSS TO HUTCHISON—

Angelo Sees No Change In Texas GOP

By GEORGE MASSEY

After a 13-vote margin of defeat for the Texas GOP chairmanship, Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. said today he expects "no change" in Republican party endeavors across the state.

"We're in the same old boat we've been in for the last five to 10 years," Angelo said. "We haven't accomplished anything for the last eight years, and I don't foresee much change in that pattern with the new leadership."

State Rep. Ray Hutchison of Dallas was elected chairman of the state Republican party Sunday in a secret ballot that had been requested by Angelo backer and party committee member C. R. Dollinger Jr. of Beaumont.

Dollinger said he wanted the secret because of what he termed "pressure" from party leaders to vote for Hutchison over the Midland mayor.

"The majority feel that Ernest Angelo is the best candidate, but the heat has really been applied to support Ray," Dollinger said.

Angelo commented on the final committee vote today saying, "It was a matter of the in-group power structure of the party swaying the hold-out votes."

The final tally of the executive committee gave Hutchison a 38-25 margin. The election was held to replace Tyler oilman Jack Warren, who resigned the post.

Angelo indicated there was an "obvious undercurrent" at the committee sessions held at Austin Saturday and early Sunday touting support for Hutchison from staff members of U.S. Sen. John Tower.

"But Tower never made an open statement supporting Hutchison," Angelo said.

Tower's choice of Hutchison was implied, however, through the open actions of his staff members, the Midland mayor said.

He said most of the "fence sitters," about 15 in all, were "willy-willy," and if the vote had been taken Friday there would have been more than three or four votes difference between them. Friday, it could have gone either way, Angelo said.

"A large group of Midlanders who made the Austin trip with me were amazed at just how willy-willy the committee members really were," Angelo said.

The mayor said, "It was a lot tougher situation than I expected. It was a very complicated process."

Angelo said he talked to Hutchison before and after the final ballot count and said both of them agreed to support the party no matter what the outcome of the vote.

However, Angelo said today he offered "no concessions" to the "old party" philosophy represented by Hutchison and would not offer an open endorsement of the new chairman's "status-quo" policies.

"Hutchison will not unite the party in Texas and he will not make it an open party for input to win elections and gain the needed financial support," Angelo said.

Hutchison's term runs until the party's September 1976 state convention. He says he will not seek another term in the House and denies seeking the party chairmanship as a base for a future race for governor.

Angelo said today, "I would be very surprised if Hutchison is not a gubernatorial candidate in 1978."

Commenting on his own future, Angelo said, "Right now I couldn't say one way or the other if I will run for a state or national office. It's all a matter of timing. If Hutchison is trying to make a bid for the governor's race at this time it's the first time a Republican has attempted it so early. It might work, who knows?"

Hutchison served as chairman of the House Constitutional Revision Committee this year and was credited with submitting to the voters a new document that is virtually the same one that failed by three votes in the Texas Constitutional Convention of 1974.

Party's Nearly Over

By CHRIS J. HARPER

CHICAGO (AP)—"June 30 may be an historic day," a leading energy expert predicted today. "If a consumer doesn't have a tank of gas by midnight, he's missed the party."

Herbert Hugo, senior editor of Platt's Oilgram, an independent daily oil newsletter, said that the price of gasoline may never be as cheap as it is today.

The cost spiral probably will begin before the Fourth of July weekend as most major petroleum companies plan to announce price increases of between 3 cents and 5 cents a gallon, said Hugo.

The trend should continue for the next 25 years, he added.

Hugo said in an interview that drivers have forgone their fears of gasoline shortages and the demand has dealers hoping to hike their profit margins, which have suffered during recent months because of sagging sales.

Although many petroleum companies increased production last week, the additional supplies won't offset the recent import tax of $1 a barrel and desires to reap profits from the additional demand, Hugo said.

Hugo estimated that gasoline would jump from its present average of about 60 cents a gallon to between 70 cents to 75 cents by 1976.

One private company already has informed Hugo officially of its intention to raise prices and he predicted that others will follow.

"There will be a real deluge of price hike announcements in the next few days," he said.

"Maybe a consumer should get a can or a thimble full of gasoline, just for posterity's sake. It's not going to be any cheaper in this century."

Late Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Federal Energy Administration task force today recommended elimination of current profit margin provisions for oil refiners during periods of adequate crude supply.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today declined to rule on a Texas reapportionment case on which it heard arguments this term, noting that the law which was challenged in the case has since been replaced by a new redistricting act.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Rashid Karami formed a six-man cabinet representing all of Lebanon's main religious factions today in an attempt to end bloody fighting.

Madagascar Dead Having Day In Sun

By DIAL TORGERSON
The Los Angeles Times

TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic—The rains are over now on Madagascar, and the time has come to open up the tombs. The dead must have their day in the sun.

From now until September is the time for the Famadihana—the ritual by which the highland people of this thousand-mile-long island in the Indian Ocean honor the deceased.

Famadihana is supposed to be an occasion for putting new wrappings on the bodies of the dead. Its origin is lost in the days, a thousand years ago, when Indonesian wanderers settled here.

The traditional ceremony calls for rewrapping the mummified corpse in colorful shawls, amid dancing, singing and joking. Relatives, holding the corpse high, at times jokingly pretending to drop it, joyously dance seven times, clockwise around the family tomb. Then the body goes into the tomb again.

Modern times are now changing the ceremony. For city people it is a social event and, among the rich, an occasion to show who can hold the best party.

Said a young man who is an assistant library director:

"Now people who can afford it hire professional dancers and professional musicians to provide the music. It comes from flutes, drums, trumpets and the valiha (a stringed section of bamboo).

"Then, afterward, the musicians turn into a rock band. The fellow who plays the valiha changes to an electric guitar. And people drink and dance into the night, either in pavilions erected by the tomb, or in a nearby home or a guest house built close by just for this purpose."

A Famadihana celebration can cost $1,000, with professionals assisting in the nonmourning. It may cost a simple farm family $50 to $100, which means more to them than the $1,000 the rich family pays.

"It is our debt to tradition," said the librarian. "A family obligation. But we have to spend a lot of money this way which could go for things we need more."

Madagascar is predominantly Christian—every little hilltop village in the highlands has a Catholic and Protestant church, and in the capital, Tananarive, steeples punctuate the craggy skyline. But the presence of a pagan past pervades the island as completely as the church bells.

Astrologers play key roles in the citizens' decision-making process. Ghosts are everywhere, it is said, especially near the tombs, from which some escape to flutter across the countryside as moths or butterflies.

Traditional homes—tall but narrow two-story brick buildings—are aligned north to south, with the master's bed in the northeast corner, in homage to obligations of a pagan pre-history.

The tombs themselves although now decorated with crosses, date back perhaps a thousand years. They are sunk half into the ground on the slopes of the low hills which rise from the upland plain. Almost every hill has its village—a fortified town in the robber-baron days which preceded unification under Malagasy rulers after 1787 and French governors after 1895.

The tombs are about 20 feet square. They are made of stone, sturdily built, and cost three times what a Malagasy house costs to build. A large flat stone closes off the downward entry stairs.

Inside, on shelves rest the mummified dead. There may be 40 or 50 in one tomb. When it fills up a new tomb is built.

"Those who live together while alive must be buried together," the people say. When a person dies away from home he may be given a temporary burial. But, after two years or more, after only the skeleton remains, he or she will be brought to the home village for the Famadihana ceremony and reburial.

A Christian funeral usually accompanies the original burial in the family tomb. "But until Famadihana," said a Malagasy elder, "one realizes that one has not done his proper respects for the deceased."

Green Defends Fake Arrest Plot

E. E. "Gene" Clark, foreman of the Ector County Grand Jury which last year instigated investigation into narcotic dealing, went along with district attorney's evaluation of the hoax.

"It was justified," he said. "That is proved up by the amount of work they (agents) were able to accomplish."

Clark said the investigation is "a very good example of what can be done in undercover work, and I think we need more of it."

Mideast States Seek American, European Loans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq, Algeria and the sultanate of Oman are seeking to borrow money from American and European banks despite their oil wealth, the Middle East Economic Survey reported Saturday.

The authoritative weekly bulletin said the three have short-term liquidity problems because they have overspent on development projects.

It gave this report:

Algeria is seeking a five-to-seven-year loan of between $360 million and $500 million from a group of U.S. and European banks headed by First Chicago Ltd. of London. In addition, the Algerian National Bank plans to float a $200 million loan in the European currency market with American Express the probable manager of the seven-year loan.

Iraq hopes to raise a $500 million five-year loan for the Central Bank of Iraq.

Oman is expected to sign a $50 million bond issue next week with a group of international banks led by the Union of Arab and French Banks.

Shark Meat Good Eating, Say Hunters

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Shark Club stalks its prey with heavy-duty line from boats, piers and beaches. When the hunt is over, members know what to do with the sharks. They eat them.

"Shark has a delicate taste, very tender," said Peggy Tibbs, a club member. "It's almost like eating whiting, but you don't have to worry about any bones."

Mrs. Tibbs said she prefers steaks cut from the dorsal section of smaller sharks, soaked in salt water and then barbecued on an outdoor grill.

Loe Hagadorn said hunger is not the only reason that the 100-member club hunts the shark.

"The club was formed for sport fishing sharks," Hagadorn said, "but we feel every shark we catch is a good deed, in that it helps preserve other fish for sportsmen and helps protect swimmers and surfers at area beaches."

"I don't fish for the food, but I eat it because I like it," Hagadorn said.

"Shark is beautiful white meat," agreed club member Ed Hebert. "It can be cut into cubes, put in gumbo or made into croquettes. And you can fry it or smoke it."

Hagadorn said the largest shark caught by a club member measured slightly over 14 feet long and weighed about 1,000 pounds.

Passenger Hurt In Two-Car Crash

A car driven by Tammy Lynn Mahan, 17, Box 5344, and a car driven by Jimmy Clay Russell, 22, 4325 Douglas St., collided Saturday evening at the intersection of South Midkiff Street and Roosevelt Street.

Tammy Rodgers, 17, of Odessa, who was a passenger in Russell's car, was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital with cuts and bruises where she was treated and released.

Plane Modifications May Mean Jobs For Texas Air Base

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Possible modifications on C-5 and C-141s by the Air Force could mean 5,000 jobs for Kelly Air Force Base near here, U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., says.

Gonzalez said that the work under consideration would cost about $1.5 billion and could be done either at Kelly AFB or by Lockheed, the company which built the planes.

The C-5 Galaxy modifications would entail strengthening the wings and possibly changes in the rear cargo door.

Problem with the C-5 rear cargo door has been cited as the possible cause for the crash in Vietnam during the baby air-lifts.

Defendants Have Right To Represent Selves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that criminal defendants have a constitutional right to represent themselves and reject court-appointed counsel for their trial.

In a 6-3 decision, the court overturned a California Court of Appeal ruling that a defendant had no right to act as his own advocate.

Today was the final day of the court's 1974-75 term. The 1975-76 term is scheduled to begin Oct. 6.

In other action, the court:

—Ruled unanimously that the Border Patrol may not stop vehicles in border areas at will, but must have reason to suspect the vehicle contains aliens who are in the country illegally.

—Held unanimously that a 1973 ruling prohibiting warrantless searches by roving patrols who do not have probable cause to believe that aliens are present also applies to fixed checkpoints not actually on the border or its "functional equivalent."

—The question is whether a state may constitutionally hail a person into its criminal

Weekend Burglary Reports Keep Midland Police Busy

Three trumpets valued at $75 each were taken from the Keiview Heights Baptist Church, David Alan Newton reported to police Sunday afternoon.

Newton indicated that the trumpets could have been taken sometime between June 22 and Sunday.

Dave Smith told police Sunday morning that burglars had damaged or taken some $214 worth of goods at Lynda's Bangladeshi Club at 310 S. Fairgrounds Road. Thirty dollars in change was taken from a juke box, and eight cases of beer and some steaks and fish were also taken.

Entry was gained by crashing in the front door. Entry to the juke box was gained by use of a kitchen knife, a garden hoe and a pool cue.

A citizens band radio valued at $179 was taken from an auto parked at 101 W. Parker. Maurice Coldeyway told police Sunday afternoon. Entry to the

Traffic Ticket Scheme Won't Work Here

By ED TODD

You may be able to buy an insurance policy against paying traffic tickets in Hawaii, but the scheme probably wouldn't work too well in Midland.

In Honolulu, however, a fellow has concocted a scheme that, for $5, guarantees that you'll never again have to pay the dollar-penalty for speeding, running a red light or failing to yield the right of way.

Molder of the plan is 53-year-old Clarence Shak, a former electrical engineer, and the plan is Motorists, Inc. It has taken in approximately 5,000 clients at $5-membership fees. Shak said his enterprise works profitably.

And here's the catch, according to company policy:

—The traffic citation issued by the police officer is not a legal document. The motorist ignores the slip of paper.

—The alleged violator does not respond to the accusation until it is followed up by an arrest warrant—a court summons issued by the judge. (The plan calls for that to take about six months from date of the citation.)

—The ticket-writing officer will not recall in crisp detail (or at all) the specific violation. That cripples the government's chances for a conviction.

Should you be the loser in the court contest and the government takes all, then the company will pay up. All for $5.

"It doesn't sound like a novel idea," Midland County Judge Barbara Culver said of the scheme.

"It's an insurance thing . . . that's designed to put a monkey wrench in the (legal) machinery rather than give you a defense."

The judge called Shak's system "delay tactics." And apparently it has paid off.

His Honolulu office is plastered with thousands of unanswered traffic citations. Over the years, about 5 per cent of his clients made it to the courtroom, and of those, about one-fourth were levied fines. The company paid.

The scheme has little more than a prayer in Midland, Tex., in the Continental U.S. of A.

"That won't happen in Midland, Tex.," commented Municipal Court Judge William B. Ahders of Shak's delay tactic.

Here, the court issues an arrest warrant if the violator does not respond to the citation within 10 days after it's issued.

"We believe it's a legal complaint," Ahders said.

Assistant City Atty. Scott Shelton, who prosecutes most of the traffic cases that come to trial, goes along with that.

"The complaint (citation)," he said, "is the same thing to us that an indictment is to the district attorney."

Both the state's indictment and the city's complaint bear these solemn words:

"In the name and by authority of the State of Texas. That's the beginning. And the ending, following the accusation, is: . . . against the peace and dignity of the State."

But notice: Your copy of the traffic citation will not announce "In the name and by authority . . . (and) . . . against the peace and dignity of the State."

The citation issued by a Department of Public Safety trooper does not state . . . against the peace and dignity . . . But the complaint he later on swears to (or affirms) before a justice of the peace does. That makes it all legal.

Shelton speculated that Shak's system might some day "run afoul" of the law.

"In a way, it's practicing law without a lawyer."

In Texas, the maximum fine that may be levied a convicted (Class C misdemeanor) traffic law violator is $200. But the run-of-the-mill fine is a fraction of that.

Commented Peace Justice Robert Pine of the Shak system:

"All that guy over there is doing is insuring that you won't pay any tickets."

Beirut Toll Reaches 120

By HOLGER JENSEN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Street fighting continued without letup through the night in Beirut, raising the toll to 120 dead and 486 wounded since last Tuesday.

American and European residents were reported making evacuation plans after two Arab countries, Kuwait and Bahrain, advised their citizens to leave. However, there was no word of evacuation plans from the U.S. Embassy or other Western diplomatic missions.

Palestine guerrillas, other

Muslim leftists and right-wing Christian militiamen turned out to be a holocaust of exploding mortar shells, machine-gun bullets, rocket grenades and dynamite blasts.

Bombs started fires that gutted commercial buildings in the central business district and wealthier residential neighborhoods in downtown Beirut and along the coast. All banks and trading firms were closed in the Middle East's biggest financial and commercial center.

Most city streets were blocked by armed gangs from

McGovern Weighs Idea Of '76 Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, who lost by a landslide as the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, is weighing the option of running again for president in 1976.

In a letter sent last week to fewer than 50 of his key 1972 supporters, McGovern asked their advice on three options he is considering, including one of becoming a presidential contender.

However, the South Dakota Democrat said that, "as things stand now, I do not intend to become a candidate."

The other options listed in the letter were endorsing a liberal candidate or making a statement specifying what potential candidate would be unacceptable to him.

After his hard-fought battle for re-election to the Senate last year, McGovern said, "I am not going to be a candidate in 1976" for the presidency.

The letter sent last week said, "I am seeking your candid advice on a personal, confidential basis as to the best role I can play. Some have suggested that I endorse one of the presidential candidates in order to help a strong liberal emerge. Is this a good idea? What do you think of the present candidates?"

"Others have urged I make clear now who is unacceptable as the Democratic presidential nominee — in short, that I identify certain candidates with whom we fundamentally disagree on either domestic or foreign questions."

"Finally, others are calling for me to consider entering the race myself and to enter primaries in states such as Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York."

Chances For Rain Continue For City

A combination of more daytime heating and a mass of unstable tropical air stalled over Texas prolonged chances for more showers and thunderstorms today.

Before sometimes heavy showers tapered off during the night, Hondo measured 1.95 inches of rain in 38 minutes and Houston received 1.75 in six hours. Smaller amounts of rain and occasional hail dotted other areas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 79 degrees at Galveston on the coast down to 63 at Dalhart in the Panhandle. Top marks Sunday afternoon went as high as 100 at El Paso. The Associated Press reported.

Weathermen are predicting a 30 per cent chance for rain with little change in temperatures for the Tall City.

Sunday's high was 86 with an overnight low of 65 recorded at the National Weather Service station at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Forecasts call for a continued chance of rain Tuesday with a 20 per cent probability.

High temperature today and Tuesday should range in the upper 80s with tonight's low in the middle 60s.

Youth's Condition Is Satisfactory

Wesley Gwyn Brags, 18, of 1503 W. Washington St., was listed in satisfactory condition at Medical Center Hospital in Odessa today.

Brags had suffered vascular injuries to the left arm in a car-motorcycle accident early Saturday morning at the intersection of Front and Garfield Streets. He had been in guarded condition Saturday.

Jim Bob Castleberry, 14, Rt. 1, Box 33, who had been riding on the back of Brags' motorcycle, was listed in satisfactory condition in Midland Memorial Hospital today with a broken arm and a cut knee.

Linda Tyler Burnett, 23, 1720 E. Maple St., who was the driver of the car, was treated at Midland Memorial Saturday and released.

Air Crash Claims Victim No. 112

NEW YORK (AP) — The death of the 112th victim has made the crash of an Eastern Airlines 727 jetliner near Kennedy International Airport last Tuesday the worst single plane disaster in the United States.

The worst previous single air line crash in the United States occurred in 1971, when an Alaska Airlines 727 crashed near Juneau, killing 111 persons.

A spokesman for Jamaica Hospital, where the male victim was being treated, said the man died at 6 p.m. Sunday. He was the only survivor still unidentified.

Twelve other survivors of the crash remain hospitalized.

across the state. That's not an issue."

The mayor said, "The real issue is the Republican party machinery is still being run by the old line people. There has been no change to unify or open the party structure."

"Tower has said he backs President Ford and Vice President Rockefeller for 1976. I think it's premature to make that decision at this time," Angelo said.

The Midland mayor has in the past indicated a strong support for former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, but lately suggested even the nomination of Reagan might be out of the question since the former governor has indicated no desire to run in 1976.

Normalcy Returning To McCamey

McCAMEY—This Upton County city, in the center of a highly-productive oil patch, was regaining a sense of normalcy this morning following a week-long Golden Anniversary celebration which was termed by residents the largest and most successful in its history.

Sponsors said it will take a few days to shed the luster of prolonged celebration, which was both enjoyable and profitable from a community standpoint. Several days also will be required to settle accounts and to know "just where we are."

The final presentation Saturday night of the big outdoor production, "Our Golden Years," followed by a public dance, rang down the curtain on the celebration, which attracted thousands of visitors from all-over.

A time capsule was buried Saturday morning, followed by a barbecue and special entertainment during the afternoon.

Meanwhile, Perry Graves, a McCamey teen-ager, rocked himself into the winning role — with cash and prizes totaling $500 — in the celebration's Rocking Chair Derby. He rocked around the clock continuously for 55 hours.

Two Youths Held In School Burglary

Midland police arrested two Midland youths early Sunday morning for burglary of Alamo Junior High School, 3620 Storey St.

Arrested and charged with burglary was Calvin Carl Clark, 18, 942 N. Baird St. The other youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

There was no report of anything damaged or stolen.

Midland Couple Reports Car Burglarized At Waco

WACO — Clothes, jewelry, cameras and luggage valued at $16,883 were stolen from a car owned by Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Walter B. Smith of Midland and Shelbyville, Ky., when the car was parked at a motel here recently.

Smith is offering a reward of $1,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the burglars.

The Smiths first believed that only cameras and some food had been taken from the passenger section of the car. But when they checked the car's trunk later in the day while visiting in Austin, they found are provided that prisoners must be told the grounds of their arrest within a few days.

Censorship was imposed under the Defense of India Rules when the state of emergency was declared. With the exception of dispatches based on government briefings, reports by foreign correspondents must be submitted to authorities for scrutiny and written authorization before they can be sent abroad.

Only scattered outbursts have been reported since the government proclaimed a state of emergency last Thursday, arrested hundreds of opponents of the prime minister and imposed censorship. A government spokesman said the country was generally calm, and there was no indication that the anti-Gandhi movement had gotten off the ground.

Woman Injured

A car driven by Fernando Roman Olgin, 37, 1306 Lynn St., and a car driven by Eddie Mancha Munoz, 14, 807 E. Estes St., collided early this morning at the Terrell Street cutoff, 45 feet south of the intersection of Terrell Street and Mineola Street.

Doris Olgin, 28, 1306 Lynn St., a passenger in Olgin's car, was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital, where she was treated for cuts and released.

Foot-In-Mouth Disease Afflicts Rockefeller Periodically

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — At least four times during his six-month vice-presidential tenure, Nelson A. Rockefeller has found it necessary to amend earlier statements that had proven embarrassing.

In all four cases, his later accounts differ from what the record shows originally transpired.

The subjects of this process have included his own political plans, the imminent collapse of the American-backed government in South Vietnam and the question of U.S. secret commitments to that government.

Most recently, it was the possible role of President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in alleged assassination plots developed by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Rockefeller had been in office barely two months when, in a discussion with reporters aboard his plane after a Feb. 25 speech in Detroit, he virtually ruled himself out of contention for a future Republican presidential nomination.

"I'm just not a competitive factor with the rising stars" in tion about the future.

On April 2, as the U.S.-backed government in South Vietnam crumbled, Rockefeller was asked by reporters as he left for the Buffalo, N.Y., funeral of former New York State Senate Majority Leader Earl Breydes, what he felt about the deteriorating military situation in the Southeast Asian nation.

"It's a tragedy," he replied.

pled that he didn't and then volunteered a denunciation of the Jackson charges as "totally unsubstantiated."

At almost the exact time, White House Press Secretary Ron Nease was telling reporters in Washington that there had been confidential exchanges in which Nixon promised Thieu that the United States would continue aid and enforce the Paris peace agreement.

On the flight home, Rockefeller conceded he hadn't known of the exchanges and questioned if President Ford had known. (Ford had known since the previous August.) Rockefeller also insisted that he only criticized Jackson because he had been asked about the senator's charges.

The question about the Kennedy brothers and the CIA arose on June 15, when Rockefeller said during an appearance on NBC's "Meet the Press" that his commission was unable to finish an investigation of CIA assassination plots, in part because "many of the people have died who were allegedly involved and others were assassinated in this country, tragically."

"Did you say some of the American leaders who might have been involved in possible assassination plots had themselves been assassinated?" Rockefeller was asked.

"I did," he said, answering a later query by naming the Kennedy and declaring "I think it is fair to say that no major undertakings were done without either knowledge and/or approval of the White House."

His statements produced criticism from several persons close to the Kennedys, including Frank Minicewicz and Adam Walinsky, former aides to Robert F. Kennedy, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

When he was interviewed last Friday by Barbara Walters on NBC-TV's "Today" show, Rockefeller was asked about that criticism.

"But that is a totally false criticism," Rockefeller replied, declaring he had said of the Kennedys that "these were the people who had been there in that period, and they weren't there, and therefore we couldn't get the information and that is all I said."

An AP Analysis

the GOP, he declared, calling talk about 1980 "crazy."

But a few hours later he denied that he had ruled himself out as a future candidate and declared only that he was "totally disinterested" in specu-

"I think it's really too late to do anything about it." Later, however, he expressed hope the South Vietnamese could regroup and that Congress would provide more aid.

When asked if he had installed at the Permian Basin B'nai B'rith Saturday night at Odessa Country Club. U.S. Rep. Richard White from El Paso was the featured speaker. Dr. Robert Gerry of Odessa is the new vice president. Roy Eisner of Odessa was installed as secretary and Stanley Saikin of Midland was installed as treasurer.

Only 22 U.S. Officials Remaining In Laos Today

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Only 22 U.S. government officials remained in Laos today as Communist-led demonstrators continued to harass Americans and to occupy U.S. facilities.

About 20 embassy staff members were flown out quietly over the weekend after youths and police of the Communist Pathet Lao took over the compound of the U.S. Embassy's support facility, a vacant American housing area and the U.S. Information Service library and offices.

An embassy spokesman said the Americans were flown to Bangkok, Thailand. He said some would return over the next week and others might or might not come back.

Those who left included 10 Marines of the embassy guard who took along American flags and flagstaffs. Three Marine guards and the embassy's military attaché, Lt. Col. Leonard Wood, are the only American military personnel left.

The students will hold only a rally at a university campus.

Kriangkamol Laechapairoj, a 23-year-old law student elected Saturday to head the powerful student organization, said he called off the demonstration for an immediate U.S. military withdrawal because "many people already know that the American government is pulling out its forces from Thailand and all will be out by next March."

Robert Considine Injured In Race

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Syndicated New York columnist Robert Considine remains hospitalized in satisfactory condition with injuries he received in a balloon race.

Considine, 68, hurt his back Saturday when the balloon got tangled in a tree, then was caught by a gust of wind and slammed into an embankment.

Considine said he entered the balloon race through Washoe Valley, about 10 miles from here, "because I thought it would be a good idea for a columnist."

Robert Considine Injured In Race

The purpose of the latest anti-American moves was not clear. Since taking control of the coalition government in the past two months, the Pathet Lao has pressured the United States into terminating its over-aid program and sharply reducing the embassy staff.

Pathet Lao spokesmen continue to say that they want to maintain diplomatic relations with the United States and to receive U.S. economic aid.

In Bangkok, the new head of the National Student Center of Thailand said the organization — which claims 400,000 members — cancelled demonstrations that had been planned at U.S. bases for July 4. He said

Father Again Attacks Children

NEW YORK (AP) — In April 1973, 4-year-old Pamela Winfree and her 2-year-old sister Michelle were thrown through the window of their Brooklyn tenement by their father, Herman White, went to prison.

On Saturday, White, 30, on weekend furlough from Manhattan's Bayview Correctional Facility, went to the Brooklyn home of his common-law wife. Police said he seized the girls, took them to the roof of an apartment building, and hurled them five stories to the pavement below.

Pamela and Michelle, now 6 and 4, survived the latest assault but were reported in critical condition today at Kings County Hospital. In the incident two years ago, Michelle suffered a broken leg and Pamela was not seriously injured in their three-story fall.

White had been at the Bayview facility the past month on a work-release program after completing a year in the state prison at Dannemora.

Study Questions Choosing Of F18 By Navy Officials

DALLAS (AP) — A government study questions whether the new F18 fighter plane is a suitable replacement for the Navy's old A7 fighter, the Dallas Times Herald has reported from its Washington bureau.

The internal analysis by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) estimates that 80 F18s would cost $800 million more than 480 additional F4s now used by the Navy, the newspaper said in a story Sunday.

The OMB analysis also notes that the F18 is a multi-million dollar, supersonic aircraft while the A7 is a subsonic air-to-ground system that supports the F14 high spectrum capability in the present Navy complement.

Fort Worth Mayor May Make Fast Buck On Land

FORT WORTH (AP) — Mayor Cliff Overcash of Fort Worth and a business partner own 1,304 acres of land near Seagraves which the City of Dallas is interested in acquiring for a proposed water plant.

Overcash and his partner, Leo Goodman, bought the land for $600 an acre in May 1975, before Dallas officials made public their interest in the land.

Land in the same area is now selling for $1,500 to $2,000 an acre and the two Fort Worth men stand to make a good and fast profit should the City of Dallas buy the land from them.

Overcash told the Dallas Times Herald that he and Goodman knew nothing of the project until notified two months ago by Dallas officials.

Fort Worth Mayor May Make Fast Buck On Land

"Now Dallas officials tell us they want the land for a treatment plant and reservoir for water which they plan to pump to the Dallas area from Lake Palestine in East Texas," Goodman said.

Goodman said the City of Dallas put a valuation of $1,600 per acre on the property for school tax purposes but it has only offered to pay $675 per acre for it. That offer has been rejected, Goodman said.

Dallas City Manager George Schrader said Saturday night that Dallas officials are only researching the availability of large tracts of land for the proposed water plant.

Overcash is the only one of the persons owning large tracts that Dallas officials have contacted, Schrader said.

HUD Secretary Expects Lower Mortgage Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing and Urban Development Secretary Carla A. Hills is predicting gradual declines in mortgage costs and increases in housing construction.

She also said she would urge President Ford to sign a housing bill passed by Congress to provide mortgage financing for thousands of moderate income homebuyers. The act is a compromise for a housing bill vetoed earlier by Ford.

Appearing on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" on Sunday, Mrs. Hills said she expects mortgage interest rates may drop to 8.5 per cent next year. They have been as high as 10.5 per cent in past months.

She also said she hopes the number of new houses started will reach an annual rate of about 2 million next year.

Despite some improvement in new housing starts this year, the annual rate probably will reach between only 1.6 million and 1.7 million by the end of 1975, she said.

In the future, it may be necessary to think of alternative ways of housing persons, Mrs. Hills said.

She said single family homes are the least efficient way to provide housing for low-income persons. She suggested that more consideration be given to ideas such as cluster housing units with a single green.

PBS To Rerun 'Jean Shepherd's America'

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Kuralt and his "On the Road" pieces for CBS are okay, I guess. But for my dough, the guy who best catches the flavor and humor of genuine Americana is Jean Shepherd.

He did it brilliantly for public TV in a 1971 series called "Jean Shepherd's America." Now, perhaps as a bicentennial godsend, the Public Broadcasting Service will rerun the 13-part series this summer.

The first show airs July 8, with Shepherd holding forth on the virtues of fishing, while casting about in a Maine river and recalling the joys of crappie fishing in a fetid Indiana pond when he was young.

Other editions feature studies and memories of working in a steel mill, flying and his Old Man's first flight, train travel and his Army train ride with K Company in World War II, and what it feels like to get in a car and just keep going and get away from it all.

It's hard to describe his approach, other than to say he brings into uncommon relief the odd, sad and funny common experiences of life in the United States, doing it like a gabby, funny tourist from Middle America.

He'll arrive to inspect our 49th state and report: "Alaska, it just isn't like Cleveland." Or, while celebrating food as an art form, he'll warn "there's a lot more to life than a Hostess Twinkie."

The Chicago-born Shepherd, a pilot, author of humorous essays on "Back When" and a long-standing monologist on radio station WOR here since 1958, did "America" for Boston's WGBH-TV.

The series was taped with the portable "mini-cam" many stations now are just starting to use. He had a small crew — producer-director Fred Barzyk and coproducers Leigh Brown and Olivia Tappan.

The idea of the show, he says, was to take the audiences to corners of America they rarely see on TV, and also get into what the philosophically inclined call the American experience.

"For example — beer," he said. "I said beer is truly the life blood of most Americans. So I did a show saluting beer. Not how they make it, just 'hooray for beer!'"

Fans of the 46-year-old Shepherd — and there are many, thanks to both his TV show and his stories in Playboy magazine — will be happy to know he has other public TV projects afoot these days.

One is "The Great Inverted Bowl of Darkness," a 90-minute drama he says he's sold to "Visions," a new PBS dramatic anthology series. He says he'll play the lead role. The plot is, ah, unique.

"It's about a guy killed in a car crash," he said. "He goes to heaven and finds a vast film library with billions of films about everybody's life. And everyone who goes to heaven has to find his own film and look at it."

And, he says, there's talk at PBS about getting a grant for another series — on Americans, but this one would be about "totally unsung American nonheroes, like a Class D relief pitcher."

"I want to do one about a day in the life of a used car salesman, fighting really unbelievable odds like the morning sales meeting where the boss says, 'I got 64 Dodges that gotta move today or else...'"

Ella Fitzgerald Likes To Expand

By HOLLIE I. WEST
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Ella Fitzgerald, who first sprang into the public eye back in 1938 with her recording of the novelty tune "A-Tisket-a-Tasket," is currently singing the new pop music of Steve Williams, Carole King and Paul Williams, and liking every minute of it.

Not that she's deserted her longtime staples, the fiery jazz pieces or mellow songs by Gershwin, Porter, Ellington and the like, as her current engagement at Shady Grove Music Theater outside Washington attests; it's just that she likes to expand.

Sitting in her motel room the other day, Fitzgerald talked about her music. "I try to change," she noted. "I don't like to be at a standstill. I love jazz because it's part of me, but I also want to do some other things. I'd probably look silly trying to sing some of these things like some of the younger singers do, but I sing the new material in my way."

"You Are the Sunshine of My Life" is a classic already. I love Stevie Wonder's material. To me, he's like a young Duke Ellington."

How does she continually increase her repertoire with new material? It's almost a form of stylistic survival.

"I've got a lot of nieces and nephews who keep me abreast of what's happening," she answers. "I have a 14-year-old niece I'm raising, and she likes the new music. And I don't work with just older people. I listen to what young people are doing."

Fitzgerald says she'd like to do an album of about 10 of the new songs, and that Norman Granz, her longtime personal manager and record producer, is talking of doing it for his Pablo label.

In her 40 years of show business, Fitzgerald, 57, has performed with such greats as Chick Webb, Duke Ellington and Count Basie and in a series of concerts produced by Granz in the '60s called Jazz at the Philharmonic. She's also recorded those wonderful songbook albums of the cream of American popular song — Berlin, Arlen, Gershwin, Porter, Kern.

A result of all this work is a loyal following of many ages, social classes, ethnic groups and nationalities. She's big in Italy and Scandinavia, Brazil and Canada.

Still, Fitzgerald has her critics. She says: "I've heard it said that I don't have soul or that my voice is too thin. But I sing the way I feel. I don't expect everybody to love my style of singing. For every one of those who don't like me there are those who like me."

Looking ahead, the singer says she'd like to spend less time on the road and perhaps host a half-hour television show in Los Angeles (she lives in Beverly Hills). "I'd like to do a show with songs from all over the world," she says. "It would be like a United Nations. We could introduce some new music to this country. Each week we could salute a different country. I like singing in Portuguese, and the Brazilians seem to like it. I could also do some Italian things. And maybe some Japanese material. We could have a lot of fun, and I think people would enjoy it."

Elton Mines Gold In Colonies

By ROBIN WELLES
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD—Elton John has one of those "ahout" voices that would seem to fit a man in the image of Elvis Presley more than the slender, baby-faced import from England.

But Elton, with his Hollywood and vine glasses, does very well with what he's got: 11 albums released in the five years that he's been mining gold in the Colonies.

Elton doesn't stomp you to death with his rock, the way Presley does on "Jailhouse." He's a rhythmic singer, like Frankie Laine, building up to a climax through slick arrangements and vocal group backup.

Elton also can cool it way down until he sounds a little like a country boy from Tennessee (Ernie Ford was one of his musical heroes when he was growing up in a middle-class environment in England).

But Elton says that Jerry Lee Lewis and Little Richard had the greatest impact on his music.

"I heard them and that was it," he says. "I didn't ever want to be anything else."

But the boy, born Reginald Dwight, became superstar Elton John, at age 28 about the hottest thing on the American music scene. His albums, like "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" and "Caribou," bring millions of dollars rolling into MCA Records.

The latest Elton John album is called "Captain Fantastic and the Brown Dirt."

You would have to guess that the nutty cover was created by Salvador Dalí during a nervous breakdown. The music is wild.

will it sell? Will the sun come up tomorrow?

If you can't beat 'em, join 'em. How else are you going to explain the soul crowd at Motown dipping a tentative toe into the inviting waters of country music? But it is Motown putting out a T. G. Sheppard album under the Melodyland label.

You can't fault them on their choice. Sheppard, who made a hit out of an obscure Bobby David song called "Devil in the Bottle."

He also has a current hit: "Trying to Beat the Morning Home," which is the centerpiece of his new Motown album.

The instrumental backup is tops, as one would expect from Motown Class production all the way.

A note for jazz fans: RCA is just out with a two-record set called "The Father Jumps—Earl Hines and His Orchestra" under the Bluebird label. Hines is one of the great pianists of all time and there's no way that you're going to keep this man's music in the mothballs.

Few know that Hines had an orchestra, but he did have one back in the late 1930s and the early 1940s, and the group made some memorable recordings that, even now in the 1970s, sound curiously up-to-date—which is a tribute to the timelessness of a great musician (Hines, by the way, STILL is producing superb jazz).

Nancy Nevins is a saucy gal with an upbeat voice that makes a very agreeable "Sunny Face" on her new album for Tom Cat Records. That's one of the 10 songs she wrote for her LP, and each has about it an entrancing freshness. Nancy also nods to nostalgia with an old Rodgers & Hart tune called "Ten Cents a Dance."

Seven Seas Selling Part Of Its Crew

ARLINGTON (AP) — Seven Seas is selling part of its crew—its feathered and furred animal crew, that is.

Officials will change the park's theme in 1976 because it's losing money as an oceanarium. Consequently, Newtka the killer whale, a porpoise team, some trained sea lions, exotic birds, a tankful of sharks and other animals are for sale.

Oceanariums around the world have expressed interest in the animals—especially Newtka—said John E. Shawen, director of finance for Seven Seas. England and Germany have bid for her, but no contract has been signed.

Newtka, whose tricks include carrying her trainer through a flaming hoop, is expected to net between $125,000 and $150,000. About $100,000 is expected for the other animals, Shawen said.

Years of training are easily priced, he added.

"You triple the cost of acquiring the animal," John Seeker, marketing manager, said. "Our animals are better animals than you'll see anywhere in the United States. They are better trained and in better health. They'll bring a premium."

Susan Ford Visits Disney World Briefly

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mouse, Pluto and Goofy greeted President Ford's daughter Susan at Disney World.

Miss Ford, accompanied by a school friend, Barbara Manfuso of Washington, and several White House staffers, viewed the Hall of Presidents on Sunday and called the representation of her father "a fine job."

Her brief visit at the Central Florida attraction ended her three-day trip to Florida. On Friday she kicked off the American Bicentennial's "Operation Sail '76" in St. Petersburg.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks:

This is one day that I want to give thanks to all menfolk who write to us. Especially one widower named John. . .

And he wrote to us about olives and the scum (or "mother") that gathers on top after opening a bottle. (He never said where "father" went!)

John told me that if I set the bottle of olives aside at room temperature and removed the top, that the scum would leave after a few days. Sounds kinda nuts, doesn't it? (So did the nylon net when a woman wrote years ago.)

Anyhow, I bought a jar of salad olives — they are less than half price because they are broken pieces, etc. — and sure enough, after a few weeks in the refrigerator, "mother" visit 'em, and that scum made them look bad.

Don't Throw Out That Bottle Of Olives!

I removed the top (but I left them in the refrigerator) and a week later, so help me Hanna, if all that scum wasn't gone!

I know you are not going to believe this. I didn't either. But John is right, folks.

So when you can't find "father," and "mother" comes to visit your olives, just take the top off the bottle and she will leave too.

Wasn't it great of John to pass along this hint?

So welcome all you men to this column. If you have more short cuts, just write 'em in to Heloise in care of this column.

We gals all love you!

Heloise

The couple will reside in Jackson.

LETTER OF LOVE

Dear Heloise:

Probably most of your letters start off with a "thank you" and this is no exception.

In so many ways, ideas in your column have helped me in simplifying my work, plus giving me a chuckle from time to time.

Thank you for making housework easier so that I have more time to spend on other aspects of creating a loving home.

—By Abigail van Buren
Don't Talk, Just Move

DEAR ABBY: I am a 34-year-old, self-supporting career woman. My parents are divorced, and I share a two-bedroom apartment with my father.

We get along very well. At least we did until this problem came up. My dad has a girlfriend. She and Dad sometimes go off together for weekends. I am a big girl, and I know they sleep together, which is none of my business. However, my dad tells me that his girlfriend refuses to spend the night at his apartment as long as I am there, so I am sent away to spend the night elsewhere whenever he wants her over.

I didn't mind it occasionally, but now it seems that every weekend I'm getting kicked out of my own apartment.

My dad says he wouldn't mind if I stayed, but his girlfriend does.

What do you suggest I do? Should I have a woman-to-woman talk with her? She is 33; Dad is 46.

TRUBLED

DEAR TRUBLED: If he is sufficiently motivated, with therapy and determination, he could possibly go straight—and stay straight. But the advice from here is: Don't marry him until he is straight and you're convinced that he's straight for keeps, which could be a long wait.

NAMELESS

I say she should tell them now—before we get married. What do you think?

CHILD PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: I agree with you. There is no reason for her to try to hush up a previous marriage and child. If she does, your parents will feel betrayed and will not like her for certain.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I am a girl who is very much in love with a gay guy. We live together and get along beautifully. We like the same things, go everywhere together and have straight as well as gay friends.

He says that one day he will probably go straight because he wants to raise a family. He often talks about getting married (to me), but the talk never leads to anything definite.

I understand his past, and it doesn't bother me.

Overweight Moms Often Underfed

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY
Registered Dietitian
Copley News Service

Mother's role in the family has always included the care of the family's health from feeding them to patching up bruised knees.

She is concerned, self-sacrificing, conscientious and completely well-meaning. She also, in many instances, tends to "overmother" and in the process does herself a disservice.

She is the dedicated woman who puts everyone ahead of herself — particularly at mealtime. Sometimes she is overweight and undernourished.

Let's take a look at how her behavior can cause her dietary problems.

Even in the most well-organized families, weekday mornings are a scramble to get the members off to work and school. This is when mother's day and problems begin.

In her zeal to make certain her family starts the day with a substantial breakfast she neglects her own. Her attention and efforts are directed away from herself and if she eats at all it is while clearing the

Lunch is frequently forgotten or again eaten on the run. She seldom sets a time or a table for her midday meal and the result is a "snack" out of the refrigerator or a piece of pastry.

Dinner time is an occasion to peak her day's devotion by preparing and serving a delicious meal. Again we find her up and down from the table, in and out of the kitchen, and by the time she can eat the family is through and it's time to clear the table.

This woman may feel virtuous believing she is being a good mother making sacrifices for her family, but what she is doing is robbing her family of a healthy mother.

What she is also doing, undoubtedly, is giving her family a fat mother. Almost all women who pamper their families in this manner neglect their own nourishment and eat haphazardly, encouraging overweight and ill health.

The sad conclusion to this is that the family may be critical of her overweight and even ashamed.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't make important decisions in early A.M. Later, you tune in on what's best for you before and the best to put new ideas and activities in action.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Avoid early arguments at home. Then you can handle important outside matters of business later. Some early mistakes can be easily righted.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Decisions are easy in a.m., but you can plan the future more intelligently with a good adviser later. A heavy rain.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Stay clear of an acquaintance who is acting strangely early, then you can enjoy the social in a.m. with good friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be careful of the law early and then you can carry on with career duties intelligently and profitably.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22): Making radical changes in a.m. is not good, since thoughtful ones later get much better results. Check facts for accuracy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sep. 22): You feel bogged down with obligations in the a.m., but later can breeze through them efficiently. Show more dependence.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Don't leave any serious task in a.m., or afternoon activities will suffer. Use the set pedal with one who opposes you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Persevere at work today and you accomplish much with good benefits following. Brighten old workbooks with new accessories.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Handle work problems, then you can seek out others for recreation. Show more devotion for the one you love.

Swiss Family Seeger Enjoys Midland Visit

By JAN WILLIAMS
The visit to Midland was brief, but enjoyable for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Seeger of Liestal, Switzerland.
The Seegers were guests last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cramer, also the host family of the Seeger's daughter Esther, during the 1974-75 school year.
As a student participating in the Youth for Understanding program, Esther attended her senior year at Lee High School while staying with the Cramer family.
The Seeger's main reason for coming to Midland was to see their daughter, but they left with the impression that Midland, although flat, was one of the prettiest places they'd seen in this country.

The Seegers traveled by bus from New York to Midland and plan to visit San Francisco, Colorado and Niagara Falls before returning to Switzerland.
Esther will leave Midland July 7 for a three-week stay in New York with friends before returning with the Youth for Understanding group to Switzerland.
Seeger, who speaks very little English, and his wife, who speaks none, used their daughter as an interpreter.
Seeger had visited the U.S. 18 years ago and wanted to return to show his wife the country. It was her first visit to this country.

"New York was big, dirty and disappointing," Seeger said. "But Midland was just the opposite."
"I was very impressed with the big houses here," Mrs. Seeger said. "People keep them looking so nice and in such good shape."
Seeger said he was grateful to the Cramers and the school district for giving his daughter a chance to come here and study and see the country.
The Cramers held an open house Sunday for their guests, giving them the opportunity to meet several Swiss families now living in Midland.
The Cramers also have a daughter, Nancy, 14, a ninth grader at Edison Junior High.
"I have enjoyed my stay here and I've made lots of friends," Esther said. When she returns to Switzerland she will have to complete two more years of school even though she graduated this spring from Lee.
"I hope to visit here again in the future," Esther said. "And I hope the Cramers will be able to visit me in Switzerland."

Soviet Jewish Activists Meet With U.S. Senators

MOSCOW (AP) — Leading Soviet Jewish activists said a two-hour meeting with visiting U.S. senators reassured them that Congress has not forgotten their plight.
"It was a very important meeting," said Alexander Lerner, who is prominent in the Jewish emigration movement. "I feel now our fate is in the right hands; it has given me a feeling of optimism and hope."
Lerner and 16 other Jews met Sunday night with 10 of the 14 senators who arrived earlier Sunday for a four-day official visit. The meeting in Sen. Jacob K. Javits' hotel room was the biggest gathering of Jews and members of the U.S. Congress ever held in Moscow, and what the senators were told could have an important bearing on future Soviet-American trade legislation in Congress.
Alexander Luntz, one of the Jewish leaders, said the senators "want to help us and at the same time get along with the Soviet Union."
"It was a very good meeting. They understood everything," said Vladimir Slepak, who for five years has been refused permission to emigrate.
Newsmen were barred from the meeting, but Javits, R-N.Y., and Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said they wanted to find out the status of Jewish emigration from the Soviet Union.
The current rate of emigration indicates that only about 12,000 Jews will be allowed to leave this year, or about a third of the number in the peak year of 1973. The Soviets contend that the decrease is due to fewer Jews wanting to leave.
Javits, cosponsor with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., of the amendment that blocked trade concessions to the Soviet Union until emigration restrictions are relaxed, said the Jews "made a very good case" that the drop in emigrations this year is due to a reduction in the number allowed to go rather than "a diminution of those who wish to emigrate."
The Soviet government rejected the Soviet-American trade bill last year on the ground that the Jackson amendment was unacceptable interference in domestic affairs of the Soviet Union.
While some of the Jews were trailed to the hotel by plainclothes police, there was no attempt to prevent them from attending the meeting.

FBI Recaptures Suspect In Big Bank Robbery

BEND, Ore. (AP) — Floyd Clayton Forsberg, accused in one of the century's largest bank robberies, has been recaptured by the FBI after escaping from jail.
Forsberg fled from the Washoe County jail in Reno, Nev., in April. He had been awaiting trial on a charge of armed robbery in the holdup of the First National Bank of Reno on Sept. 27, 1974, in which more than $1 million in cash was taken.
Forsberg, 33, and two other men were accused of walking into the bank and staging the robbery during the din of the annual Shriners' parade. Curtis Michaelson, 36, pleaded guilty to an armed robbery charge on June 2. Edward T. Malone, 50, was found innocent on a similar charge June 10.
Agents said Forsberg was recaptured without violence on Sunday. They said he was arrested at the Bend Riverside Motel by about a dozen agents who had quietly evacuated the occupants of nearby rooms in the motel. Arrested with Forsberg were his wife, DeEtta, 54, and Clark Gable Timmons, 30.
Mrs. Forsberg is charged with harboring a federal fugitive, perjury, receiving and concealing stolen bank bonds and bond default. Timmons is charged with unlawful flight to avoid federal prosecution in a drug case.

That's part of their therapy," said the elder Mrs. Radke.
So Bob, 23, is learning the car repair business from his father, and Lavonna, 26, is learning how to do dishes and operate a vacuum cleaner again — this time in wheelchairs.
Both Bob and Lavonna hope to be fitted soon with artificial legs.
"Like Humpty Dumpty, I have to try and stand on my stumps and balance, so I won't fall either way. That's the first step toward getting fitted with artificial legs," said Lavonna.
The couple had been married just six months when the storm struck, so they say they need time to again learn living alone together.
"Maybe that will be the real story — how we are able to live day by day without someone to push or carry or help us," Bob said, with Lavonna adding: "In our own place again."

Storm Victims Attempting To Rebuild Lives Together

TRACY, Minn. (AP) — Bob and Lavonna Radke, turned into amputees after being trapped in the "blizzard of the century," are rebuilding their lives together, aiming for a home of their own.
The young couple was stranded in an automobile for 36 hours last January during a vicious snow storm the National Weather Service called the worst of the century. Their legs were so badly frozen that each of them had to have both legs amputated above the knee.
"Sometimes we can't remember what is fact or fancy of that time in the blizzard," Bob said.
The couple spent three months in St. Paul-Ramsey Hospital and then moved in with Bob's parents, Harold and Kay Radke.
"Harold and I decided that the kids needed to start doing things to help themselves.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

"Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17)
by Bryan Boob

Jesus says to us, "Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy, that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard, that leads to life, and those who find it are few." (Matthew 7:13-14.)

Jesus challenges us to decide for or against his kingdom, for or against his will for our lives. Two ways are open to us: the easy way of self-indulgence and the hard way of self-denial. In today's world most are choosing the first way, while few are taking the second. Such a decision is extremely important because these two ways lead to quite different destinations: one to destruction (which is separation from God).
Which way are you choosing?

Twisters Hammer At North Dakota

By The Associated Press
Four tornadoes slashed through North Dakota Sunday night killing one person and injuring four, as furious summer weather struck in the Northern Plains.
One twister swept through the southwestern part of the state, leaving a 30-mile path of destruction. One person was reported dead on arrival at a hospital in the town of Hettinger. Hettinger County Sheriff Earl Kramer said a tornado, which hit about 9 p.m., ravaged several farms and killed many cattle.
Two trailer homes also were destroyed, as was numerous farm equipment, said Kramer.
The vicious winds were accompanied by thunderstorms and hail the size of golf balls.
Meanwhile, the season's first tropical storm — Amy — moved northeast across the Atlantic at about 10 miles per hour. At midnight Amy was about 250 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Scattered showers dampened the Northern Rockies in the early morning, while thunderstorms and showers hit much of the central Appalachians, the upper Mississippi valley and the southern Atlantic coast and parts of the Southeast into Texas and Oklahoma.
Houston, Tex., recorded 1.75 inches of rain late Sunday and early today.
Elsewhere, a cloud cover blanketed most of the Plains to the Pacific coast.
Temperatures at 2 a.m. ranged from 41 at Kalispell, Mont., to 88 at Needles and Blythe, Calif.

Joke Is On Catfish

BOSTON (AP) — A pitching matchup between Catfish Hunter of the New York Yankees and Roger Moret?

Midlanders Set Meet Swim Marks

EL PASO—Tracy Williams and Heather Dunbar established meet records in the Chemical Invitational Swim Meet here this weekend.

Miss Williams recorded a 2:44.9 in the 200 yard and Miss Dunbar had a 4:25 in the 50 breast for records.

The Red Sox proved it was no joke. Making his first start of the season against millionnaire Catfish, Moret outduelled the 1974 Cy Young Award winner Sunday as the Red Sox defeated the Yankees 3-2 to regain the American League East lead by one-half game over New York.

Hunter pitched a good game, but Moret was just a little better as a 2-1 underdog. Each allowed just six hits, but the Red Sox put them together to take the series 3-1.

"I was going three days ago I was told to pitch and I was ready," Moret said. "The fast ball is my best pitch, but today I had my curve ball and change-up under control."

The Red Sox originally had right-hander Dick Pole listed to face the Yankees in the finale of the four-game series. However, Manager Darrell Johnson did some homework and shifted to Moret.

The lanky southpaw was brought out of the bullpen for his first start since last Sept. 24, when he beat the Yankees 4-2 in New York. It was no accident.

"I wanted a left-hander and Roger has a pretty good track record against New York," Johnson said. "He's been pitching good for us in relief and we just thought he was ready."

Moret, somewhat of an enigma since first coming up to the Red Sox in 1970 because of inconsistency, improved his record to 5-0 in his 20th appearance of the season. He has a major league record of 28-15, including an 8-3 mark against the Yankees.

"I don't know why my record is so good against the Yankees, but maybe it's because I get a chance to pitch against them," Moret said. "I'm not complaining about anything, though. I just want to pitch. The manager makes the decision. I do my job."

Rare 9 Innings "A funny thing, though. I haven't pitched nine innings in a long time, but I didn't feel tired. Maybe it's because I've been in so many games this year, throwing all the time."

American League Boxes IF IT HELPS INDIANS

Flagpole Sitter Willing

CLEVELAND (AP) — Charles Lupica, the world record flagpole sitter, says he's willing to go skyward again if it would help the Cleveland Indians win their first baseball pennant in 21 seasons.

"I'm almost willing to bet we'd win it all this year," said the 65-year-old Cleveland grocer as the Indians mired in last place in the American League East.

In 1940, Lupica climbed a 20-foot pole on top of the drugstore he owned then to assist the Indians in their pennant drive. He was up there 117 days, but the Indians didn't win the pennant—they finished third.

When Lupica climbed on his four by six-foot perch May 31, 1940, the Indians were wallowing in seventh place, seven games behind. He remained atop the pole until Sept. 25, breaking the record of 71 days set by Milton Van Nolen of San Francisco.

During his stay there, his wife, Augustine, gave birth to his son. Even his dentist visited him to fill a decayed molar. And newsmen from across the country constantly visited him. He ate only one meal a day and was involved in a number of hassles with the Cleveland Health Department and another flagpole sitter.

The health authorities tried to close his perch, contending it was a health hazard. The telephone he had on his platform was unlisted to avoid crank callers.

Bill Veck, then the Cleveland president, arranged special ceremonies for Lupica's descent at the Indians' final home game that season. Veck had Lupica, the flagpole and the perch transported to the stadium for the occasion.

Lupica received gifts, including a new automobile from Veck, and a standing ovation from a crowd of more than 33,000.

Ashford Claims Women's Singles

Midlanders won or helped win five titles Sunday as the gigantic Highway 30 Tennis marathon ended a three-day run in the Tall City.

Midland entries captured two singles crowns and two doubles titles while another doubles championship was shared with an Abilene staffer.

Keri Ashford captured the women's single title with a hard fought 4-6, 6-3, 7-6 win over Abilene's Karen Schuchard, and Richey Houdek won the boy's 12 singles crown with another three-set tester, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Kathleen Murray and Mary Morgan won the girl's 14 doubles title with a 2-6, 6-4, 6-1 win over the Andrews team of Joni Russell and Sherrie Abney.

Joe Love and Kevin Hopson teamed to win the boy's 16 doubles with a 6-2, 6-4 win over the team of Marky-Tarver, and the men's doubles was captured by Midland's John Kirwan and Abilene's Rick Meyers with a victory over Abilene's Buck and Williams.

Midland's Cary Garton reached the finals in the girl's 16 singles while Kay Bates and Jean Nail were finalists in the women's doubles.

Dinah Boyd and Steery Armstrong also made the finals in the girl's 16 doubles.

Big Lake Triumphs BRADY — Ruben Sebia, backed up by the hitting of Rusty Owens, Rodney Hooker and Roy and Pablo Levario, pitched Big Lake's Tigers to a 6-5 semipro baseball win over the Loh Eagles Sunday.

Drilling Risks Told

Texas oilmen last year risked $214 million on finding oil and gas in places where it never had been found before.

This may not be news to persons in the industry who keep up with such statistics, but to others $214 million still is a lot of money to risk on anything.

But the really significant factor in the whole business is that the search last year added only 341 discovery wells out of 1,980 attempts.

Yet, we wouldn't have the 341 new discoveries if oilmen had not been willing to take the risk and if financial institutions had not been willing to make funds available for oilmen to continue the search under reasonable conditions.

Sherman Hunt of Dallas, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, who furnished the above statistics, explained that of "new field wildcats" drilled in areas or formations which never before have produced oil or gas, almost 83 per cent were written off as dry holes.

He went on to say that these wells, averaging more than $100,000 each, are the wildest and riskiest category of the overall exploratory effort.

Yet Texas operators drilled 348 more wells in this classification in 1974 than in the year previous. This really is remarkable.

"The 1974 increase in new field wildcat drilling," Hunt said, "stemmed from incentives operators received through percentage depletion and free market prices for crude oil and for natural gas sold within Texas."

Then he voiced the not-so-good news that the outlook for increased wildcat drilling this year has been clouded by congressional action which "eliminated depletion for large companies and began to phase it out for smaller operators, removing $2 billion from U.S. industry drilling capital."

This is where the matter of uncertainty strikes home with shattering results, especially when it comes to getting capital with which to continue the exploration and wildcat drilling programs. Most persons, with the exception of some members of Congress, understand this. One wonders about those congressmen who continually propose further regulations and restrictions which would all but eliminate the oil and gas industry's exploration program.

Hunt went on to say that the tax increase on operators, "coupled with current proposals to control all natural gas prices and allocate supplies to other states—plus tightened control over crude oil prices—has created uncertainties that can only hurt the drilling effort in Texas during 1975."

Fact of the matter is that the congressional actions of recent months, plus the continuing talk of even worse things to come, already have caused a marked slowdown of drilling activities in certain areas.

Congress simply must get off the back of the petroleum industry, which all too long has been the scapegoat of Congress, if the domestic energy problem is to be solved satisfactorily.

How about it, Congress!

'Brace Yourself, Here He Comes!'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With Les Whitten
WASHINGTON — While CIA officials squirm under the klieg lights on Capitol Hill, Soviet KGB agents are operating in the shadows of the same congressional corridors.

In the last few years, the KGB has stepped up its activities on the Hill. KGB operatives in a dozen guises have been slipping around to see key congressmen and their aides.

Many congressional aides, as political appointees, are granted access to secret documents after no more than a cursory background check. Their leaks, although unwitting, could be serious.

Secret government files identify diplomat Boris Solomatin as the KGB "residence," or operating chief, who first recognized how much valuable intelligence is available on Capitol Hill.

Until his recent departure, he was the deputy Soviet envoy at the United Nations. His replacement, although expected soon, hasn't arrived.

Under Solomatin, the KGB "residence" in Washington has been Dmitri Yakushkin, the brilliant Soviet embassy counselor. His KGB rank, according to the secret files, makes him second in power only to amiable Ambassador Anatoli Dobrynin.

The files allege that Yakushkin directs a Washington spy ring, which employs diplomats, newsmen and sympathizers from countries friendly to the United States. Visiting delegations from Russia also are loaded with KGB experts, who know how to spot useful intelligence.

Officials indicate that Yakushkin concentrates on Capitol Hill where information is abundant and security is lax.

One of his most effective spies on Capitol Hill was pretty Galina Utekina, a modish cultural attaché, who moved in congressional circles and even began dating prominent figures on the Hill.

The KGB appears to be most interested, according to officials, in intelligence about U.S.-China relations, SALT disarmament talks, MIRV missiles and U.S. computer technology.

The KGB reportedly also helps orchestrate the Soviet lobbying effort on Capitol Hill. Soviet diplomats, academics, economists and others have sought particularly to persuade Congress to grant the Soviet Union "most favored nation" trading status.

A favorite KGB approach is through contacts from other countries. In the secret files, they are referred to as "third party nationals." Those who quietly lobby for Soviet views are called "agents of influence."

The KGB ringers in visiting delegations may be technological experts, who can quickly size up a piece of U.S. equipment. Or they may be personnel experts, who sound out sympathetic Americans for recruitment as informants. This is called "talent spotting."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has quoted "very, very good sources," meanwhile, as alleging that foreign agents actually have infiltrated congressional offices. Our sources said the secret files contain no evidence that any members of Congress, nor their employees, are spies.

Footnote: Yakushkin never returned our calls. A Soviet spokesman, however, said "I don't think it's true" that Yakushkin is a KGB spy chief. The spokesman added: "You are interfering in a very sensitive field."

ONASSIS CRASH: Sources close to the late Aristotle Onassis have told us that he privately blamed himself for his son's death in a 1973 plane crash.

The son, Alexander, had wanted to install some new parts and check out the plane. Because this had been neglected, say our sources, Aristotle Onassis felt personally responsible for the crash.

To relieve his conscience, he tried desperately to come up with evidence that the plane had been sabotaged and, therefore, that someone else had caused the accident. He offered a $500,000 reward for proof that the plane had been sabotaged. But there were no takers. We contacted the pilot of the fatal flight, Don McCusker of Westerville, Ohio, who survived the crash without any permanent injuries. He said an investigation had established that the ailerons used to steer the plane had been disconnected. A check-out flight, he said, would have detected this.

Although the accident was caused by a defect in the plane, he still faces manslaughter charges in Greece. His trial has been scheduled for November 18.

He has been unable to contact hess Christina Onassis, however, for help in meeting his expenses and settling the case.

INSIDE REPORT

The Vice President Visits Mr. Rumsfeld

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — An understandable desire to protect President Ford's authority, described by some critics as "excessive" desire, has strained relations between protector Donald Rumsfeld, Mr. Ford's White House staff chief, and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller.

That strain has now reached a point unimaginable even during the Rockefeller-Rumsfeld infighting early this year over Rockefeller's demand to name his own men to top staff jobs in the Domestic Council, finally acceded to by the President.

Indeed, it has reached a point that Rockefeller on Wednesday, June 18, paid an unscheduled visit to Rumsfeld's office that lasted almost one hour. In language carefully hedged with civility and typical Rockefeller joviality, the Vice President made this point: He had been badly used by the White House staff in the chaotic mishandling of how and when the Rockefeller Commission's report on the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) would or would not be released to the public.

Evans Novak

What angered Rockefeller were anti-Rockefeller news stories, such as the Washington Post's highly authoritative story on June 8, which said "sources on the presidential staff blamed Rockefeller for producing confusion and suspicion" over release of the report on the CIA investigation. Vice presidential aides believe that only one White House source — Rumsfeld — has enough authority to risk undermining the Vice President.

Rockefeller intimates say amply that Rockefeller's real concern over such torpedo attacks is not their impact on him, but that they make President Ford look bad. Indeed, Rockefeller himself bluntly warned presidential press secretary Ron Nessen last week that sub rosa attacks on Rockefeller emanating from White House staffers are damaging to the President. Nessen fully agreed.

But Nessen, who took withering crossfire from White House reporters when he announced on June 6 that Mr. Ford might not, after all, make the CIA report public, was simply an agent, not a principal, in the horrendous mishandling of the report's release.

Neither Nessen nor Mr. Ford's legal advisers, Philip Buchen and Rodney Hills, had objected to Rockefeller's announced plan to hand the report to the press on June 6, at the same time it went to the President, for publication the following Sunday. That plan, outlined in written detail to Nessen by a commission aide on May 22, contained only one condition: it would take effect only "if the President decides to release the report."

Mr. Ford, Rumsfeld and Nessen left for Brussels on May 28. Five days later, Rockefeller commission aides, assuming the release schedule of May 22 would be followed, alerted the press that the report would be in their hands on June 6. With the President away, Buchen and Hills were specifically notified about the timetable, and they did not order the report held up. Even after Mr. Ford returned to Washington late on the night of June 3, Nessen was informally advising reporters that the original schedule would hold.

But when Rumsfeld learned that Rockefeller had arranged to give the report to the press before President Ford had studied it, his protective instinct was hyperactivated. He ordered Nessen not only to switch signals on the carefully worked out plan but to emphasize that the President had not even decided whether to release the report at all.

Rumsfeld correctly states that both Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Mr. Ford's national security deputy, Gen. Brent Scowcroft, wanted the report held up until they — and the President — could study it. Rumsfeld intimates also deny that Rumsfeld had anything to do with the torrent of anti-Rockefeller innuendo.

It is unthinkable, however, that Rockefeller, who knows the traps and snares of the bureaucratic labyrinth better than anyone in the White House, would take trouble and time to spend an unscheduled hour with Rumsfeld to redress a wrong that never happened.

One White House aide told us that the anonymous White House staff goading of Rockefeller "is just the opposite of Ford's style." Another told us that the chaotic circumstances surrounding release of the CIA report was at least as much the direct fault of the White House staff as it was of Rockefeller.

Indeed, vice presidential operatives claim Rumsfeld's protective instinct got out of hand and inescapably merged with a desire "to put us in our place." With Rockefeller's future on a 1976 Ford presidential ticket somewhat uncertain, Rockefeller's suspicions are all the more understandable.

Bible Verse

Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them! — Isaiah 5:11.

LANGUAGE DISCRIMINATION:

The State Department's prestigious Foreign Service Institute, which trains American diplomats in foreign languages, is struggling with a discrimination scandal.

On the theory that democracy begins at home, Spanish-speaking instructors have complained they must wait twice as long for promotions as teachers of such exotic tongues as Hindi, Hungarian and Swahili.

Instructors in German, French and other common tongues also are discriminated against, our investigation shows.

The institute's dean, James Frith, concedes there is unhappiness, but adds: "It's a matter of supply and demand."

Astronaut Just 'Oklahoma Farm Boy'

Thomas P. Stafford

By PAUL RECER
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)— Thomas P. Stafford has been to the moon and back, talked with presidents and premiers, written complex textbooks and was elevated to the rank of general in the U.S. Air Force. But he still calls himself "an Oklahoma farm boy."

The 44-year-old astronaut is a veteran of three space flights and is about to go up again — this time as American commander for history's first international space rendezvous and docking mission.

A unique, complex and colorful man in a profession that often produces stereotypes, Stafford can be a stern military man or the life of the party. A skilled public speaker, he cursed in awe when he flew around the moon as the whole world listened in.

Stafford, a bald-headed six-footer who enjoys fine long cigars and smokes them by the dozen, has disciplined himself to conquer a lifelong tendency to gain weight. He remains at a trim 175 pounds.

erford, Okla., and spent much of his youth working on nearby farms. His father was a dentist. An exceptional high school student, he earned appointment to the U.S. Naval academy and was graduated in 1952, ranked 96th in a class of 783. He took his commission in the Air Force and developed into a gifted pilot.

He served as a fighter interceptor pilot in Germany and subsequently was named to the Air Force Experimental Flight Test School. He stayed on as an instructor and later wrote two textbooks which became required reading for test pilot trainees.

When Stafford turned 30, an event his wife called "sort of a trauma," he began looking for new challenges. He applied to the Harvard Graduate School of Business and to the astronaut corps.

He had been at Harvard for three days when the space agency called. He left school and joined the fledgling group of spacemen. In December 1965 Stafford and Walter M. Schirra flawlessly scaled one of the mafor hurdles of America's race to the moon.

The two astronauts guided their Gemini 6 spacecraft to the world's first space rendezvous with the orbiting Gemini 7 craft, a complex and difficult task that was basic preparation for a moon landing.

Six months later Stafford commanded Gemini 9 in his second space flight. He and astronaut Eugene Cernan conducted three rendezvous with an orbiting rocket and returned to earth just four-tenths of a mile from their landing target point, the closest touchdown of any manned flight.

It was a major career disappointment for Stafford when he was chosen to command Apollo 10, a critical dress rehearsal for the first lunar landing, rather than the moon mission itself. Stafford and Cernan dipped a lunar module to within 50,000 feet of the moon in a test for the later landing.

Overwhelmed by his view of the moon on the Apollo 10 flight, Stafford used a locker room term to describe the lunar craters and was later embarrassed by his slip of tongue.

Stafford was named head of the astronaut office in August 1969 and then deputy director of the flight crew operations directorate. He maintained his Air Force commission and moved steadily upward in rank, becoming the youngest officer of flag rank in any U.S. service when he was promoted to brigadier general in 1972.

"To think a farm boy like me would be an Air Force general was beyond my wildest dreams," he said at that time. In 1973 Stafford was named commander of the Apollo-Soyuz Test Project designed to link in orbit a Russian and an American craft.

"If we can work together on a very difficult task . . . then there's probably many other problems we can solve by working together," Stafford says of the project. "It's really a demonstration to the world."

Stafford says his current mission may be his last, but he does not know what he will tackle next. Politics was suggested at one point by some of his friends back in Oklahoma, but "it wasn't my idea . . . I turned it down."

He has great fondness for his home state. "I feel that one of these days I'll end up there. It's a great state, and I've got a lot of friends there."

Stafford and his wife Faye have two daughters, Dionne, 21, and Karin, 18.

Saigon Gets Revolutionary Literature

Agence France-Presse
SAIGON — Revolutionary literature has made its official appearance in Saigon with the publication of a book about Ho Chi Minh and "the new culture."

The book, "President Ho, His Life and Works," was issued by the committee of historical studies of the Lao Dong party in North Vietnam.

The publication of this book was the first practical accomplishment of the policy of introducing a "revolutionary" culture aimed at replacing the previous "decadent and depraved culture," whose elimination was ordered by the new regime as soon as it took power.

Despite that order, books which obviously come under the heading of "decadent and depraved culture" are still on sale here and there in Saigon.

Stevenson Services Set This Afternoon

JUNCTION (AP) — Former Texas Gov. Coke Robert Stevenson, whose political career was overshadowed in 1948 by Lyndon B. Johnson, was to be buried this afternoon on his Hill Country ranch not far from Johnson's grave.

Stevenson, governor from 1941-1947, died in a San Angelo hospital Saturday of complications following abdominal surgery two weeks ago. He was 87.

Funeral services were set for 4 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Junction.

Stevenson lost to Johnson, then a congressman, by 87 votes in the 1948 Democratic primary for the U.S. Senate. The true vote count was not known for weeks — if it ever was known.

The biggest controversy was over now-famous ballot box 13, which mysteriously surfaced two weeks after the election — stuffed with 202 votes and its polling lists missing.

The box came from a precinct in Jim Wells County of South Texas, then ruled by political kingpin George Parr, an ally of Johnson and known as the Duke of Duval County until his death earlier this year.

The box gave Johnson an 87-vote margin in an election which saw more than a million votes cast. Stevenson claimed some of the names came from "Jim Wells County tombstones."

The State Democratic Executive Committee ratified Johnson as the party's nominee by one vote and the U.S. Supreme Court let the decision stand. Johnson was represented in the proceedings by a young lawyer named Abe Fortas, whom Johnson later appointed to the Supreme Court.

After his loss to Johnson, he returned to his 15,000-acre ranch, declaring in later years he was no longer a "brass collar Democrat." It is there he will be buried about 65 miles west of the LBJ Ranch.

Milk Fund Trial Beginning Today

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Trial opens today for Stuart H. Russell, a one-time lawyer for the Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) accused of violating federal campaign contribution laws.

Russell, 58, of Oklahoma City, Okla., is charged with one count of conspiracy to make an illegal contribution and two counts of aiding and abetting a willful violation of federal campaign funding laws.

He could face maximum penalties if convicted of nine years in prison and fines of $30,000.

The indictment handed down in Washington, D.C., alleges that Russell issued checks eventually contributed to political campaigns between 1969 and 1972, then recovered the money from AMPI.

The case was moved to the federal courts for the western district of Texas on a joint change of venue motion.

Midlanders Attend Kiwanis Convention

ATLANTA, Ga. — Two Midland men attended the 60th annual convention of Kiwanis International here last week.

Charles H. Priddy and Hank Krusekopf attended the conclave, which began June 22 and ran through Wednesday.

Krusekopf is a member of the Midland Downtown Kiwanis Club and Priddy is a member of the Village Kiwanis Club.

Midlander Lance MONTALBA — Kathy Knox of Midland was one of three members of a junior team which placed third recently in the Texas Junior Hereford Association Field Day contest here.

NOT INNOCENT

"You're not so innocent," West retorted. "You could afford to lead the ace of diamonds. If I give you a high signal, you continue. Otherwise you still have time to shift to the jack of spades."

They were both right, but South was just as guilty as either of them.

South should refuse the first trump trick. If the opponents then shift to diamonds, dummy can ruff the third diamond. If the defenders do anything else, South can draw trumps and run the clubs.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Police Department today announced that it had arrested two young French mountaineers Monday who scaled the 700-foot Montparnasse Tower in Paris and were promptly arrested.

The climbers, Jean-Claude Droyer and Patrick Pelayo, equipped themselves with ropes and mountaineering gear for the climb, which took just over four and a half hours.

Last summer, police waited at the top of the Eiffel Tower, 1,330 feet tall, to arrest a group of young climbers.

After the Eiffel Tower, the Montparnasse Tower is the tallest structure in the city.

Bible-Toting Assailant Kills Oklahoma Officer

OKLAHOMA, Okla. (AP)—A Bible-toting assailant shot and killed a trooper Saturday, died during surgery at a Hugo hospital after the incident.

The man accused of killing the 22-year-old Charles Rogers McAlpine of Houston, Tex., earlier when he turned the gun on himself after the trooper shot outside the Hugo police station.

According to police reports, trooper Magar had given McAlpine and his wife a ride to Hugo after the couple's car broke down on the highway.

The trooper dropped the pair off at a car wash so they could make a telephone call and went to the nearby police station.

While Magar was talking to the police dispatcher, McAlpine reportedly appeared at the door with a Bible over his chest.

Police said McAlpine asked Magar to make a telephone call for him, then suddenly grabbed Magar's pistol from his holster. At that time, McAlpine's wife Irene entered the station and told her husband "Don't do it! Don't do it!" according to police dispatcher Eunice Despre.

Mrs. Despre said McAlpine held her, the trooper and his wife at bay for several minutes before ordering the trooper outside.

At one point, she said he tossed the Bible on her desk when he discovered she had left the key open on her microphone and the conversation in the room was being fed to police and sheriff's department units.

Greek Planner Dies

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Constantinos Doxiadis, internationally acclaimed city planner who designed communities in more than 10 countries, died here Saturday after a long illness. Among projects planned by Doxiadis, 62, were sections of Islamabad, Pakistan, and Eastwick, Pa.

Police said McAlpine shot Magar just as they got outside the door and broke and ran across the street and into a parking lot as city police officers and Choctaw County sheriff's deputies ran after him.

Mrs. McAlpine said the Bible her husband carried had been given him by "the man who gave the lesson" at a church the couple attended earlier in the day at Antlers.

She said her husband had been permitted to "give witness" at the church and read scriptures to the congregation. After the service, she said the churchman gave her husband the Bible, telling him, "I can tell you are a Bible scholar."

McAlpine was arrested and jailed in Tulsa Friday on charges of public intoxication.

Soviet Minister Dies

MOSCOW (AP)—Alexander M. Tarasov, minister of the Soviet automobile industry, has died after a serious illness, the Soviet news agency Tass said. Tarasov died Friday at 64.

by use of drugs. He was bonded out by his wife for $75.

Mrs. McAlpine said her husband had been "beset with personal problems for some time" and said she had been advised to have him committed to a mental institution.

She said her husband did not have a criminal record, was a veteran of the U.S. armed forces and was an honor graduate from high school in Porter, Tex.

Magar, a member of the patrol since 1970, is survived by his wife Brenda, a son and a daughter.
