Prices On Gasoline Increasing

Two Firms Announce New Hikes

By BO BASKIN
Shell Oil Co. and Chevron Oil Co. have announced price increases that will mean Midland area drivers will be paying more for gasoline.

Several other oil companies, both major and independent, indicated fuel price increases might be forthcoming.

David Barlow, Chevron spokesman, said a two-cent per gallon price increase went into effect at midnight.

"This is our shot for July," Barlow said.

Sam Morton, a spokesman for Shell, said the company's prices increased three cents per gallon on automotive gasoline, one cent per gallon on distillates and 1.25 cents per gallon on jet fuel at 12:01 a.m. today.

He said the increase "is for all classes of trade, resellers and consumers nationwide."

The increase was at least a partial actualization of the three cent to five cent per gallon increase in gasoline prices predicted by oil expert Herbert Hugo, a senior editor of Platt's Oilgram, an independent daily oil newsletter, said Monday. "There will be a real deluge of price hike announcements in the next few days."

He indicated that price increases would probably begin before the Fourth of July weekend.

Several other companies indicated Monday that prices might soon increase, but they added that they felt a three to five cent increase was an excessively high prediction.

"We anticipate that there will probably be an increase in gasoline prices. Due to growing costs, there has been an increase in most of the last few months," said D. H. Adair, a Gulf Oil Co. spokesman in Lubbock.

"I would not be surprised to see an increase by the Fourth of July," he said, "but three to five cents is in excess of what will come."

Alan Amnden, spokesman for Conoco, said he also believed that the three to five cent increase was "on the high side. I expect that the change on the average will be two to perhaps three cents per gallon."

Jim Kent, manager of Kent Oil Co., Inc., said Monday his company had received notification from its supplier that its costs would increase at midnight (See GASOLINE Page 2A)

Fighting In Lebanon Rages Eighth Day

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Savage fighting raged unabated through the night and into the eighth day today as Premier Rashid Karami put together a "reconciliation cabinet" of six men.

President Suleiman Franjeh approved the lineup, in which each of Lebanon's major religious sects is represented, and the allocation of three cabinet posts to each minister. A presidential decree was issued after a night of squabbling over distribution of the ministries.

Meanwhile casualties increased to more than 210 dead and more than 1,000 wounded as armed factions, battling with mortars, machine guns and rocket-launched grenades.

Terrified noncombatants stayed at home with window shutters closed. All shops and business houses were also closed, and most streets were left to the fighters and the security forces trying in vain to check the bloodshed.

Fires raged in buildings hit by rockets or dynamite.

The government radio station warned that no street in the city of 700,000 was safe. Police broadcast appeals to snipers to stop firing on ambulances and trucks.

"Corpses are scattered about streets and alleys," reported one resident in the eastern suburbs, where Christians, Moslems, leftists, rightists and Palestinian guerrillas began fighting each other last week.

The cabinet is made up of Karami, a Sunni Moslem; former President Camille Chamoun, a Maronite Christian; Philip Takia, a Roman Catholic; Adel Ouseiran, a Shiite Moslem; Majid Arslan, a Druse Moslem, and Ghassan Tueni, an Orthodox Christian.

Karami got the defense and finance ministries along with the premiership. Chamoun got the interior ministry, which controls the police; telecommunications and water and electricity.

Ouseiran got justice, public works and commerce minister. Takia took the foreign ministry, education and planning. Arslan was named minister of health, agriculture and cooperatives, while Tueni got the ministries of labor, tourism and industry.

Already opposition to the cabinet was reported. Moslem leftists headed by Kamal Jumblatt were reported opposed to Chamoun's getting the interior (See LEBANON Page 2A)

Greenery Obscuring Traffic Signals And Markers In City

In a semi-arid area such as West Texas, there's not much that can be said about trees, bushes or other greenery at intersections.

But in Midland, city traffic engineers said he has designated an immediate telephone call in an effort to clear the obscured signs and obstruction. He said if that doesn't work a letter is sent.

During a four-day period last week, the traffic look-out man discovered more than 30 traffic signs alone that were obscured by trees and bushes of various nature.

Chambers said his office attempts to contact the owners of the adjoining property with an immediate telephone call in an effort to clear the obscured signs and obstruction. He said if that doesn't work a letter is sent.

Chambers said he sent a crew to one intersection, with permission from an owner, to trim a huge evergreen. "There were some kinks in the communication process," Chambers said, "when we told the men how the trimming was to be done. That tree ended up not so huge, as a matter of fact it ended up real small."

"But, the lady who owned it was especially nice and tolerant of us and even offered to have the tree completely removed if that was needed. We left it there, it's still a beautiful tree. We could use more people like that woman," Chambers said.

Food Prices Jump Again

By LOUISE COOK, Associated Press Writer
Consumers who had been enjoying spring's respite from grocery store price increases found prices on the rise during June, with most of the boost due to higher costs for meat and eggs, according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price on March 1, 1975, at one supermarket in each of 15 cities and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

Among the highlights of the latest survey:

—The marketbasket bill at the checklist store went up in five cities, rising an average of 2.5 per cent; declined in seven cities, down an average of 2 per cent; and was unchanged in one. This compared with decreases in 10 cities during May and in 13 cities during April.

—Meat and eggs led the list of more costly items. The increases were generally due to higher prices paid to farmers and reflected smaller supplies coming to market. Industry experts predict supplies of beef in particular will increase later this year, but they are unable to say exactly when or how much.

The price of a pound of chopped chuck went up at the checklist store in five cities, more than $2.5 billion in loans to complete development programs they launched before hard times in the industrialized countries and high oil prices reduced the demand for their oil.

Algeria is reported seeking about $2 billion, half of it in commercial loans from American banks and the other half from the Export-Import Bank and the World Bank. The informants said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is anxious to help the Algerians although they have blocked his attempts to convene an international energy conference by demanding that

Ford, AFL-CIO Leader Clash Over 'Recovery'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clashing head-on with the leader of the nation's largest labor organization, President Ford declared today that he is confident the economic decline is over.

But he warned that recovery must be based on sound economics — "or we stand in danger of setting off another massive rise in inflation, and even deeper recession and greater unemployment and hardship in the future."

Ford spoke to the 86th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He was interrupted by applause only when he praised achievements of the NAACP. After his address, the President moved along the front of his audience shaking hands.

In a message to the convention, AFL-CIO President George Meany denounced the Ford administration's definition of recovery as "cruel and fraudulent."

Meany called for "a united voice of protest" against what he termed the administration's acceptance of continued high levels of unemployment.

"Instead of full employment and full production, the administration promises us an unemployment rate of 7.5 per cent for the next four years — and this it calls a recovery," Meany said.

Ford declared an unstable economy "the enemy of equal opportunity" and pledged to work with Congress to achieve job opportunities for all Americans.

But he said at the outset that he did not come to offer a checklist of specific programs and promises for blacks.

"I come as President of all the people to talk with you about common problems and common sense approaches" (See RECOVERY Page 2A)

Wildcat Slated In Mitchell Area

C. E. Braun & Co. of Houston has scheduled a 7,000-foot wildcat 16 miles south of Colorado City in Central Mitchell County.

It is No. 1-12 Ellwood, 1,900 feet from the northeast and southwest lines of section 12, block 18, SPRR survey.

There is no nearby production.

Morrow Gas Flows From Eddy Wildcat

Burnham Oil & Gas Co. of Midland No. 1 Willow Lake Unit-Federal, Southeast Eddy County, N.-M., wildcat one mile south of Malaga, is testing gas in the Morrow sand.

Operator perforated casing from 12,300 to 12,674 feet and acidized with 6,000 gallons.

After cleaning up, the project flowed gas at the rate of 3,600,000 cubic feet per day, through 20-64-inch choke.

The wildcat, bottomed at 19,205 feet, is 600 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 22-34-26e.

Straw production was indicated during drilling on a drillstem test from 11,395-11,532 feet. The test flowed gas at the rate of 400,000 cubic feet per day.

A test in the Atoka, from 11,061 to 11,719 feet, flowed at the rate of 6.8 million cubic feet per day.

Eddy Test Develops Gas Flow

American Quasar Petroleum Co. No. 1 Robinia Draw Unit, wildcat 15 miles northwest of White City in Eddy County, N. M., developed gas on a drillstem test of the Canyon sand.

Open two hours and 15 minutes, the test was over the section from 8,740 to 8,875 feet.

Gas surfaced in three minutes with an estimated volume of 190,000 cubic feet per day. The estimated volume decreased to 8,000 cubic feet per day at the end of the test.

Recovery was 285 feet of gas-cut drilling mud.

Flowing pressure was 134 pounds, 90 minute initial shut in pressure was 2,460 pounds, and four-hour shut in pressure was 2,367 pounds.

Drilling continued below 8,875 feet.

Location is 1,875 feet from south and west lines of section 7-23-24e.

The site is 1 1/2 miles northeast of the depleted Bandana Point (Pennsylvanian) gas field.

Weeds Winning Battle

By GEORGE MASSEY
The battle of the weeds is the vacant lots. Most of the shall own or occupy any lot, and apparently the weeds give are set by kids or ag-lots or premises in the city grassed-home owners who find to allow weeds, tall grass, rubbish, brush or any other unsightly, objectionable or unsanitary property owners who apparently taking the old slogan "leave it to George" as an alternative to clean-up activities.

City officials, a little more than a year ago, started the work of removing the unsightly growth from vacant lots across the city and decided it was too expensive to handle.

Fred Baker, public works director, also said that debris dumped on the vacant lots was causing a lot of damage to moving equipment and the lot moving equipment on hand was inadequate to keep pace with the job. Baker asked for new equipment and more men to fight the weed battle, but city councilmen refused to approve the expenditure.

Today, Bill Harvey, city marshal, said he estimated 12,000 to 15,000 weeds are established every week because of the weed and debris problem in alleys and vacant lots.

Harvey said, "We have a lot of it. There is a big problem here."

Three Oil Nations Reportedly Short Of Money

LONDON (AP)—Three Arab oil-producing countries that are short of money have bypassed richer Arab governments and turned to the United States and Western Europe for loans, diplomats report.

The three countries are Iraq, whose 1973 production of nearly 600 million barrels was the fifth largest in the Middle East and North Africa; Algeria, which ranked seventh in 1973 with 357 million barrels, and Oman, in last place with nearly 103 million barrels.

The informants said the nations are asking the West for

Late Bulletins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Manufacturers pared their inventories for the third consecutive month in May, cutting the stocks of goods and raw materials on hand by the biggest monthly margin in 17 years, the government reported today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today announced additional U.S. aid to Egypt and South Korea. The long-term credit arrangements under the Food-for-Peace program include shipments of wheat and rice.

HINTS FROM Heloise
GRANDMA OUTLINES HOW SHE MEASURES UP!

Dear Heloise: I manage a children's shop and this is a hint from a dear customer. She has grandchildren living out of town and can't bring them in to try on dresses, etc., for a fitting.

So one week-end when she had a visit from the children, she got a large sheet of butcher paper and made them lie down on it. Then she drew an outline of each child, marking their waist, knees, etc.

When she comes in to buy for them, we just spread out the paper and match up the dress, slacks, tops or whatever. She gets a perfect fit for her sweet grandchildren every time.

Rosemary Makinson

Oh! I think that's great! How original and clever! Give that sweet customer and grandmother a hug from all of us for this goodie.

Former Students Attend Reunion

The joint Midland High School reunion of the classes of 1954 and 1955 was held Saturday. Over 225 attended the registration session at the Midland High Youth Center, which both classes raised money to build, and the dinner dance at the Midland Country Club.

Honored guests were Helen Miley, Minnie Jackson, Elsie Magee, Coach Ed Nixon, "Preacher" Roberts and Eugenia Wilson. Mrs. Wilson, who came to Midland in 1950 to teach at Cowden Junior High School, was honored with a gold disc. She continued teaching the same group of students until graduation and was the class sponsor. She now is retired from teaching and lives in Tyler.

Bob Pace, from the class of '54, who lives in London, England, won the prize for the longest distance. Billie (Shepherd) Huckbay of Concord, Calif., came the longest distance for the class of '55. Ann (Beauchamp) Hicks was honored with an award from the reunion committee for putting in many hours of work on the event.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: I would know you if I met you in the dark, since I have my cupboards lined with clippings of your column.

Gladys MacLeon

Dear Heloise:

If a recipe calls for black walnuts and you don't have them — substitute pecans that have been chopped and add black walnut flavoring.

To one cup chopped nuts, put two teaspoons black walnut flavoring. Put in a jar, seal, and shake well. This works better if left to sit overnight, or at least a few hours.

It's hard to tell them from the real thing.

Opal Callihan.

Dear Heloise:

We put carpeting all over our house and it seemed no matter what kind of slippers we were wearing, there was always static electricity.

It was really getting annoying until I thought about anti-static laundry spray.

I just gave the soles of our slippers a good "zap," and now I don't rue the day Ben Franklin was born every time I touch something.

Jest Dooley

Let's all tip our top hats to old Benjamin Franklin and our witty writer!

Kisses follow.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've just come up with a doozy!

I've always had a problem as to where to put "hard-to-store" jewelry, so I picked up a package of self-adhesive cup hooks.

I staggered them on the wall of my linen closet! Works perfectly! All that wall space is wasted anyway.

Now everything is hanging in "law and order." No hassle as to where they are.

Hope this helps you other gals, too! Love you.

JELLY SIDE DOWN— Packing Too Early Causes Children, Neighbor Problems

Whenever we go on a trip, the children beg to be allowed to do their own packing.

I only gave in once. When we arrived at the motel two hundred miles later, I discovered that instead of socks and underwear, they had brought thirty-seven comic books and their pine-cone collection.

While I now insist on doing the packing myself, I must admit that I have the unfortunate compulsion to pack too early.

Not only does early packing seem tidy, leaving me free the night before we leave to pluck my eyebrows, cut my toenails, and distribute African violets and gerbils to semi-willing neighbors, but I have learned over the years that saying "Don't wear your new blue pants to Jimmy's birthday party. Save them for our trip" is the best possible way to ensure that he will not only wear the pants to Jimmy's birthday party, but will fall into a puddle of wet cement on the way home.

Consequently, two weeks before we leave, all the matching socks are packed. One child must wear one red and one navy, while the other wears one brown knee-sock and one green ankle with a hole in the toe.

The only unpacked underwear is so threadbare that it looks like heirloom lace. All the other clothing in their drawers is either too small, covered with mustard stains, or has both knees out.

You see, I insist that we only take good clothes on a trip.

I mean, it's all right for friends and neighbors to see the children wandering around in faded green sweatshirts with the elbows worn through, but I certainly wouldn't want total strangers in hotels to see them that way.

Dear Abby Level With Him About Your Past

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago, I had a child out of wedlock. I never married the baby's father, but we lived together as husband and wife until six months ago. When we decided to split up, there was no big scene and no hard feelings. He quietly moved out.

I told the people at work that my "husband" and I were splitting up. Naturally, they assumed we were getting divorced.

An attractive bachelor (one of the bosses) asked me for a date. I accepted, and we hit it off wonderfully well. One date led to another, and now we are together almost every evening and weekends.

I know he is serious about me. He asked me if I had filed for divorce yet, and I avoided giving him a straight answer. Here is where I need your help.

If I confess that I had a child out of wedlock and never married the baby's father, yet lived with him for over two years, I wonder what this other guy will think of me.

I don't want to make up any lies, but if I tell him the truth, he might think I'm a tramp. How much should I tell him?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Tell him everything. Your past doesn't necessarily make you a "tramp." Many learn and mature from past mistakes, and the fact that you don't want to lie now shows that you have both learned and matured. Level with him, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that most of the better apartment-house owners will accept a couple with dogs or cats but won't rent to a couple with a child? The most damage our 4-year-old son could do is to crayon up the walls, whereas a dog or cat could completely ruin a place.

We are sick to death of being turned away as though we were undesirable because we have a child. I am also insulted that my son is classed lower than a dumb animal. We would be willing to put up a deposit to cover any damage our little 30-pounder might do.

Print this, please. I am sure

City Council Victory

The Midland City Council apparently knew what it was doing in its recent dealing with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Regardless of this, however, the council must be commended for standing up for what it considered right, fair and in the best interests of the city.

All too many governmental units at the local level are inclined these days to knuckle under to the threats of governmental agencies when federal funds are at stake.

As it is, however, the Tall City's application for more than $4 million in funds available through the federal Community Development Act has been approved by Washington.

The matter had been in the negotiation stage for months, and the deadline was just three days away when final approval came.

Just two weeks ago, the city's application was sent to Washington from the Dallas regional office with a negative recommendation. The recommendation was based on the fact that Midland had not included HUD suggestions for rental subsidy and housing on the city's west side.

There were those here and in Dallas who thought that this was it; that a regional office recommendation would be honored in Washington. But this was not the case this time.

Members of the Midland City Council also had done their homework in Washington during the lengthy negotiations. Members of the council had visited with their representative and senators and with HUD officials in Washington, presenting their case forcefully and well.

It is encouraging to know that final decisions in such matters can be won at the local level. Perhaps other communities in the future will stand up for what they consider to be reasonable in their dealings with federal agencies.

The Midland council took considerable criticism from some constituents, most of whom perhaps did not really understand the situation, but it stood its ground.

Anyway, the city now will receive funds requested in its application.

First-year funding under the development program totals $250,000, with more than $4 million available during a six-year period.

Paving in low-income census tracts likely will hold top priority as the program gets under way. It is anticipated that 9.8 miles of street paving will be done during the first three years, with lesser amounts slated in the final three years. It is estimated that almost $1 million will be spent on paving during the first three years.

Housing rehabilitation held second place in the city's application, with drainage holding third place priority.

A senior citizens center was said in the application to be the fourth most frequently requested action.

A definite plan undoubtedly will be forthcoming real soon, along with a possible timetable. Low income areas will gain the benefits.

This editorial is not intended as an outright endorsement of all federal grants, but it is to say that if grants are sought and obtained, they should be administered at the local level.

The Midland City Council has scored a victory in this regard. It is to be congratulated and commended.

'Mother India' Displays A Mean Streak

WASHINGTON — "Mother India," Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, has shown her somewhat dictatorial temperament to the world again. If your country is doing poorly, and the minority opposition musters threatening strength, throw them in jail and censor the press — that's Mrs. Gandhi's way.

For years, liberal ideologues in this town and elsewhere alternately lamented India's tragic poverty and gushed over the late Jawaharlal Nehru, and his daughter, Mrs. Gandhi. They were the splendid if elitist democratic-socialists who were to lead India out of its misery and into a bright new world.

What rubbish. The Nehrus, father and daughter, have ruled India for 27 of its 28 years of independence, and this major nation stands as a notorious laggard.

Nehru struck Christ-like poses for high-priced portrait photographers, as though he symbolized peace and progress. But even the most weepy liberal now knows this family team — more haughtily British than native Indian — has clay feet indeed. Take down the Christ-like portrait; remove the Madonna image, please.

Father and daughter, armed with Soviet weaponry, inflicted wars on their neighbors, big and small; sent troops into streets and provinces alike to crush riots and insurrections; followed a slavish, pro-Soviet line; developed and exploded an atomic bomb; recorded a below-average record in solving the problems of starvation and overpopulation (India approaches 600 million souls), and publicly cursed the United States.

When the going got tough for Mrs. Gandhi in recent months, she responded first by jailing 100 political figures, most of them from conservative parties affiliated with one Jaya Prakash Narayan. Narayan, 72, is a socialist, a believer in civil disobedience and firm in his insistence that Mrs. Gandhi leave office.

While Mrs. Gandhi's apologists claim that the charges of corruption against her were "trite and technical," those charges were only tip of the iceberg in the sense that India is smothered by political corruption and dead economically.

Some of our own Watergate people went to jail on "trite and technical" charges, though the strong feeling against them was for their blatant abuse of government power.

India today is a sad failure, and according to the most competent observers Mrs. Gandhi's government

'New People Are Going To Take Over'

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (KFS) — Harvard is not a place where new ideas are born. On the contrary, it is a place where yesterday's established wisdom retires to well-appointed faculty clubs and well-endowed professorships, happy to rake in royalties from obsolescent textbooks and consultant fees from government agencies and corporations.

On June 20-21, Harvard's John F. Kennedy Institute of Politics held a conference on "The Electorate and Party Politics," and yesterday's wisdom was present in considerable force. To be sure, there was general agreement that the present U.S. party system was weakening with the advent of ticket-splitting and media power, but at the same time, a "generation gap" was much in evidence. Most of us under 40 — Republican or Democrat, conservative or liberal — took the disintegration of the old New Deal system for granted, while senior participants were still prone to cherish the institutions and alignments of 1948 or 1961.

Private conversations gave additional dimension to the generation gap. Those activists who cut their teeth since 1964 scoffed not only at the old political science but at prominent officeholders. Young liberal Democrats laughed at references to Hubert Humphrey, Edmund Muskie and Scoop Jackson while younger conservatives rejected the "leadership" of Barry Goldwater and others now deemed to be over the ideological hill. Indeed, the casual observer might well have thought that young conservatives and young McGovernites were political allies against the older Establishment Republicans and Establishment Democrats. And in terms of political analysis rather than ideology, they often were. Both agreed that the older party themes and ideological denominators no longer mattered very much. Younger conference participants of all stripes were given to agreeing that the older ones did not realize how greatly the national political framework had been transformed by the upheavals of the last decade.

Skeptics will caution that political generation gaps are common and recurrent phenomena. They always exist, and should not be exaggerated. Just so, and indeed, the older wisdom is more often right than wrong. But, today's gap is so large that the 1970s should turn out to be a period of innovation like the 1930s. New people are going to take over because the turmoil, failure and change of the last decade has left practitioners of the old wisdom too remote from national problems and needs.

Nor is this absence confined to politicians and political scholars. The economists, if anything, are worse: In a July Harper's article, writer Saul Friedman exposes "the conventional, mainstream, brandname economists who serve interchangeably — or at the same time — as distinguished university professors, business consultants and oracles for Presidents and Congressional Committees."

Their predictive record over the last decade has been little better than that of a back-street gypsy fortune-teller, yet theirs are the opinions by which government and business policy is guided. Former White House adviser Otto Eckstein is quoted as admitting: "We have much to atone for — we did not see the oil shortage, the food shortage, or the effects of the boom in the sixties." Spurred by these and other failures, the economics profession seethes with revolt.

Young economists are up in arms against the old wisdom just like young political scientists, young conservatives and young liberals. Iconoclasm is achieving critical mass. Although my generation doubtless has fewer answers than we believe, I came away from the Kennedy Institute Conference somewhat cheered. The "old wisdom" is so visibly lacking in confidence that the basis of national leadership must soon be passed.

It Happened Here— 40 Years Ago (July 1, 1935): Invitation to the public to attend a "free entertainment," including sound pictures, comedy, local talent, music and dance numbers, and a lecture was extended by Earl Tichnor, superintendent of Magnolia Pipe Line Co., in the high school auditorium.

A benefit 42 party was scheduled in the I.O.O.F. Hall. The Minnet Club held its regular monthly dance in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

35 Years Ago (July 1, 1940): Nine offices on the second floor of the Thomas Building were being occupied by Ohio Oil Co. personnel transferring here from San Angelo, Iraan and Hobbs, N.M. Hughie Woody was honored with a birthday dinner at the ranch home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Woody.

July 4 had been designated as Midland Day at the Stamford Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. A large group of Midlanders attended the barbecue and horse show held at C. T. McLaughlin's Diamond M. Ranch near Snyder.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The shah of Iran has been singled out by the White House for special pampering. President Ford courted him over crepes and caviar during his recent White House visit. The shah repaid the hospitality by making arrogant demands for still higher oil prices.

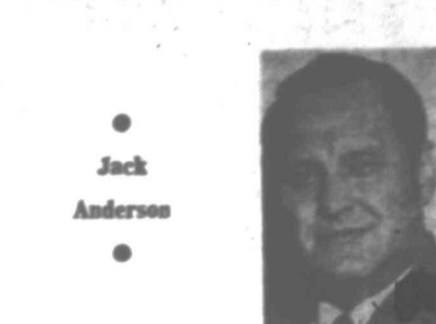

Behind the scenes, some administration officials are eager to challenge the shah, but the President has instructed them to keep their comments to themselves. In their private papers, however, they have demolished the shah's economic arguments.

Here are some of the points they have made: — One of the shah's favorite arguments is that oil prices have had little relative effect on the inflation rates in developed countries. On the contrary, statistics show that higher oil prices tend to drive up the prices of alternative fuels. And industries which use a lot of oil hike the price of their products to make up for increased oil costs. When all these things are taken into account, the effect of soaring oil prices is devastating.

— Time and again, the shah has declared that he has to hike his oil prices to make up for the price increases in imported goods from the Western nations. "A good deal of the cause of these increased prices," states one suppressed study, "are due to the repercussions of the (oil producers') own price actions."

— The shah is fond of comparing increased food costs to the increased price of his oil. Agricultural costs, however, have gone up and down because of bad weather, poor crops and market conditions. "In the case of oil," states one paper, "prices were increased not in response to an excess of demand over supply but as a result of unilateral actions by the governments of the oil exporting nations."

— The shah claims that Western European import prices jumped 35 per cent in 1974. Administration economists cannot understand where the shah gets his figures. He is mixing up various indexes with percentages, they say. His economic arguments, therefore, are "confused."

— "The shah's reference to the behavior of the foreign exchange reserves of the industrial nations during 1974 is also very misleading," states the study. What he doesn't take into account is the fact that most of these countries borrowed heavily to meet the staggering oil costs. "An appropriate analogy," suggests the study, "would be to a man who had started a year with $100 in cash and who, after having borrowed $1,000 from the bank during the year, still ended up with only $100 left at the end of the year. His cash holdings had not declined but certainly his economic position had."

SEA CHASE: Locked in federal files is a story of a wild chase at sea, with violent ending.

It illustrates the danger and drama that goes into compiling those dull statistics about drug seizures along the Mexican border.

The story began, according to documents intended for official eyes only, with a suspicious rendezvous recently between a blue launch and a sailboat off Todos Santos island in Mexican waters.

The blue boat was kept under aerial surveillance as it slipped away from the sailboat and headed toward Long Beach, Calif. It was intercepted by a customs patrol boat whose officers called over the loudspeaker for the blue boat to stop.

Instead, the launch began evasive action, with the patrol boat in close pursuit, its red lights flashing and siren wailing. The suspects responded with obscene gestures as they made a wide turn at top speed back toward Mexican waters.

The chase continued under an overcast sky through rain squalls. The water was so choppy that the operator's seat on the patrol boat was torn from its moorings, and the pilot was thrown on his back.

He had to be held in position to operate the boat by the other patrol officers, according to an official account. Whenever the patrol boat pulled close to the fleeing launch, the suspects tried to ram it.

The officers called for aerial support, and a helicopter swooped down on the launch with red lights whirling and siren blasting. Skimming two feet above the choppy water, the helicopter flew alongside the launch which tried to swerve into it.

U.S. authorities got permission from the Mexican attorney general, meanwhile, to continue the pursuit into Mexican waters, and a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter with narcotics agents aboard joined the chase. At this point, the suspects began tossing parcels and papers overboard.

According to an official report the Coast Guard helicopter directed the customs boat to drop back while they tried to swamp the fleeing vessel with "prop wash." The maneuver was unsuccessful.

After a four-hour chase, the Customs officers in the pursuing patrol boat opened fire upon the launch's motor with shotguns and carbines. They failed to cripple the blue boat which, nevertheless, slowed to a stop.

During the boarding, states one report tersely, one of the suspects was shot and killed. The other suspect was taken into custody along with the boat and approximately 800 pounds of marijuana.

There is still a mystery over who shot the suspect. A nine-millimeter cartridge was found in his neck, but the customs officers had no weapons of that caliber.

Footnote: The dead man was identified as Andy LeMay. His surviving partner gave his name as Leo Evionik. Mexican authorities were holding Evionik, the boat and the contraband.

Golden Tornado Jubilee Opens Friday At Lamesa

LAMESA—The Golden Tornado Jubilee, a three-day high school reunion, which plans to bring together 60 years of graduating classes, begins here Friday.

The reunion, which occurs every five years, this year is dedicated to kicking off the city's Bicentennial events, Jubilee chairman J. D. Dyer Jr.

In past reunions, more than 5,000 persons have been jammed into town from all over the country.

This year's activities will feature the "Slumtown Symphony," composed of musicians from throughout West Texas. Band leader is Richard Crawley, a first chair musician in a band alongside trumpeter Al Hirt in the Cincinnati Conservatory in 1938, according to Dyer. Crawley is now president of one of the city's banks.

Activities begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday with registration at the Lamesa High School student center. At 6:30 p.m., there will be a band concert on the school lawn followed by a "Howdy Doodie" reception from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at the LHS center.

On-going activities Friday include golf matches, tennis matches and teen activities. Free baby sitting will be provided for alumni.

"The Golden Tornado Extravaganza" will highlight Saturday's activities at 8:30 p.m. in the LHS auditorium. Individual class reunions will be held all day in various rooms in the high school, with class luncheons at noon.

The reunion will end Sunday as city churches host out-of-town exes in their services.

HOUSTON (AP) — Steven Bloom, 6, remained in good condition today after being mauled by his pet lion.

Steven underwent surgery Sunday at a Houston hospital after he suffered lacerations to the face and scalp.

Adele Bloom, the child's mother, said the boy was playing with the six-month old, 65-pound African lion named Sheba in the back yard of their home Sunday. She said the boy began teasing the animal and it suddenly charged, clawing the child on the face and head.

Andrew Bloom, the child's father, has been charged with violating a suburban Piney Point ordinance prohibiting wild animals. Village Police Chief Joe M. Schullea said.

Treasury Gets Big Avalanche In Gold Auction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department has an avalanche of bids on its hands after bidders offered to buy many times the 500,000 ounces of gold placed on sale by the government.

The department planned to announce today the price it will accept for the gold and who the successful bidders are. The treasury could decide to sell less than 500,000 ounces but is expected to unload the full amount at a price near $165 an ounce.

At a similar auction last January, the government offered two million ounces, received bids for 954,800 ounces and sold 754,900 ounces. Officials attributed the more intense interest in the latest auction to a stabilization of the gold market since the Jan. 6 auction.

In the January auction, bidders paid from $153 to $185.

Referring to Monday's bids, Thomas V. Wolfe, director of the treasury's gold and silver operations, said: "It will be no great trick to sell either all or a great part at a market price which will be a substantial plus for the American taxpayer and for the treasury."

The Swiss Bank of Zurich made 49 bids Monday for 628,750 ounces at prices ranging between $140 and $167 an ounce.

Altogether, about 750 bids were received in the Treasury Department's second gold auction since the government lifted the 41-year ban on gold purchases by U.S. citizens in January.

The Treasury Department said the auction was designed to satisfy domestic demand for gold and to hold down imports. The high bids by large buyers were viewed as an attempt to maintain the market price of gold by interests that have a large stake in such an outcome.

Six Men Found Guilty in Dallas Betting Business

DALLAS (AP) — Six men found guilty in federal court here Monday of gambling charges connected with a betting business which allegedly grossed $2,000 per day will be sentenced July 18.

John Eli Stone, 62, of Dallas, could receive a seven-year prison term and $30,000 in fines from U.S. District Court Judge Sarah Hughes. Stone was found guilty of owning part of the gambling business which operated out of a North Dallas restaurant and of making a phone call to Las Vegas in order to transmit betting odds and information.

Richard Carl Biggs, 61, of Dallas was found guilty on one count of owning and operating part of the gambling operation. He could receive five years in prison and $20,000 in fines.

Four men who were found guilty of transmitting wagering information by phone between Dallas and Las Vegas face two years in prison and $10,000 in fines, according to Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert Prather.

They are James Williams Winingham, 52, of Dallas; Anthony Paul Daidone, 52, of Dallas; Ruben Goldstein, 38, of Las Vegas, and John Dayton Ritter, 60, of Oklahoma City.

Woman Admiral Plans To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alene Duerk is neither a militant feminist nor a crusader, but she is a pioneer in women's long struggle for equality. She is the Navy's first female admiral.

Hear Adm. Duerk, a native of Ohio, retires this month after 27 years' service. Since winning her star in April 1972, two other Navy women have achieved similar rank.

The admiral harbors no grudges about her career. She says her duties in the Navy Nurse Corps insulated her from much of the sexual prejudice that existed in the rest of the Navy.

"Being in a medical unit wasn't that much different from civilian life," she said. "You worked with doctors and you look care of patients. There weren't many opportunities for discrimination."

Her rise through the ranks aroused more uneasiness among male officers than prejudice, she said.

"I think some of the men may have felt a little uncomfortable, but I didn't."

A warm, open person with an easy laugh, Adm. Duerk enlisted in the Nurse Corps during World War II for "patriotic reasons." She served on the hospital ship "Benevolence" and at hospitals in the United States.

At the end of the war, she felt the Navy just wasn't for me.

"It was one of those things where you got the same kind of fever," she said. "All your friends were leaving, so you left too."

"A lot of people were like me. The job they came in to do was over."

She returned to Ohio and took more nurse's training at Western Reserve University. Her ambition was to be a hospital administrator.

Her first job after graduation was in Highland Park, Mich., in 1948. She also was one of the first persons to join an inactive naval reserve unit formed in Detroit.

"I still had an interest in the Navy and wanted to keep up with what was going on."

She was recalled to active duty in 1951 during the Korean war and was put to work teaching nursing. Once her 17-month tour was up she rejoined the regular Navy because "I actually was doing something I liked to do."

She says she still enjoys her work as head of the Nurse Corps. But if she has made any definite plans about a new career, the admiral is not disclosing them. She said only that it is time to try something else.

"At 55, I'm not ready to sit and rock. Who knows? I may want to go back to school."

She has been stationed in the Philippines and has traveled widely as a part of her duties in the Nurse Corps. But travel is definitely one thing she says she'll do after retiring.

She'll also have more time for gardening and for visiting her family. Her mother and stepfather live in Holgate, Ohio, where she grew up. Adm. Duerk's sister lives with her family in Michigan.

"I'm the first to admit I'm going to miss the hurry and flurry of the Navy, but I expect to find other things to do."

PARADE PREPARATIONS—Friday is the Fourth of July and the Midland chapter of the DAR will again sponsor its annual parade. Getting ready for the festivities are (left to right) Jamie Dodson, 3, Catherine Furguson, 9, Kelly Dodson, 6, and Amy Furguson, 5. The Furguson girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Don Furguson, 1003 Stanolind, and the Dodson children are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Dodson, 1004 Stanolind. The parade will start at 10 a.m. at the corner of A Street and Harvard. (Reporter-Telegram photo by Charles McCain.)

High Court's Ruling Curbing Border Patrol's Authority To Stop And Search Cars Draws Fire

By The Associated Press
The chief U.S. Border Patrol inspector for part of South Texas says a Supreme Court ruling this week "will be a real bad blow to us" and will make it more difficult to stop the movement of illegal aliens and narcotics into the United States.

In unanimous rulings Monday, the nation's high court further restricted the Border Patrol's authority to stop and search automobiles near the Mexican border.

The court held: "The government may not stop vehicles in the border area at will, but must have reason to suspect that the vehicle contains aliens who are in the country illegally."

That its 1973 ruling—which said that warrantless searches conducted by roving patrols who did not have probable cause to believe that aliens were present were unconstitutional—also applies to fixed check points not actually on the border or its "functional equivalent."

Under the previous rulings of the court, a check point is regarded as the functional equivalent of a border if its location is such as to give reasonable assurance that all passing vehicles had recently crossed an international boundary.

Tom Ball, chief inspector at the U.S. Border Patrol area headquarters in McAllen, Tex.,

said the ruling "will be a real bad blow to us."

Ball said fixed check points, such as those the Border Patrol operates near Sarita, Falfurrias and Hebbronville in South Texas, are "our last line of defense against illegal aliens and narcotics."

Restrictions on these check points, he said, will make it "a lot more difficult to control and stop the movement of illegal aliens."

Ball said the ruling will hinder the work of the Border Patrol, but that he has seen nothing official from Washington outlining any changes in procedures. "We ought to hear something in the next few days," he added.

A Border Patrol spokesman at El Paso said he could not assess the impact of the court rulings until he had seen the official version of the decisions and until he received instructions from officials in Washington.

Monday's ruling on the power to stop vehicles resulted from the case of Felix Humberto Brigrion-Ponce, who was stopped by roving Border Patrol agents on March 11, 1973, outside San Clemente, Calif. After a search, he was arrested and later convicted of transporting illegal aliens.

A federal appeals court reversed the decision and the Supreme Court's ruling Monday upheld the appeals court.

The high court said the sole reason for stopping Brigrion-Ponce's car was that its occupants appeared to be of Mexican ancestry.

The court, in its decision Monday, spelled out rules under which vehicles may be stopped by the Border Patrol.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, writing for the court, said that "when an officer's observations lead him reasonably to suspect that a particular vehicle may contain aliens who are illegally in the country, he may stop the car briefly and investigate the circumstances that provoke suspicion.

"The officer may question the driver and passengers about their citizenship and immigration status and he may ask them to explain suspicious circumstances, but any further detention or search must be based on corroboration or probable cause."

The Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution requires that an officer must have probable cause that a crime has been committed before he can search or seize evidence. Monday's court ruling extended that principle to the stopping of vehicles by the Border Patrol.

On the fixed check point question, the court ruled in the case of Luis Antonio Ortiz, who was arrested in 1973 as he drove to a fixed check point in California 66 miles from the Mexican border. Ortiz was convicted of transporting three illegal aliens who were found in

Midlanders Ask $1.25 Million Damages In Malpractice Suit

A Midland couple, who alleged their 2-year-old daughter suffered permanent brain damage in childbirth at Midland Memorial Hospital, is suing for $1.25 million in damages.

The plaintiffs, Susan K. Hayes and Larry Bruce Hayes, are seeking judgment against five defendants on behalf of themselves and their daughter, Michelle Lea Hayes, who was born in July 1973.

Defendants in the malpractice-negligence suit are Winthrop Laboratories, a New York-based manufacturer of medicines; Midland Memorial Hospital and three nurses Maudie Rains, Glinder O'Neal and Leona Duffee.

The lawsuit, filed earlier this year in 126th District Court in Austin, recently was transferred to 142nd District Court here on a motion by the nurses.

The couple charges that the nurses failed to perform certain blood-sugar and urinal tests on Mrs. Hayes, a diabetic, prior to childbirth and that they did not follow the physician's instructions in administering drugs to Mrs. Hayes.

The hospital and the nurses deny the allegations in their replies by Odessa attorney W. O. Shafer.

The plaintiffs, in naming Winthrop in the suit, claimed Talwin, the drug given Mrs. Hayes and made by Winthrop, was "defective and unreasonably dangerous."

Winthrop, the suit also said, "failed to give adequate warnings of the dangerous, harmful side effects" of the drug to the medical profession and "particularly to Dr. Jesse L. Coleman," Mrs. Hayes' physician.

The Hayes' attorney in the litigation is James D. Cunningham of Odessa.

West opened the nine of hearts. East put up the king, and South was delighted to win with the ace. This gave him three heart tricks.

South's delight faded as the hand developed. He was in his hand for the first and last time. The diamonds could never be brought in, and he was lucky to scramble home with eight tricks.

This was hardly a triumph. You can't get rich by going down one.

NEEDS ENTRY
South needs the ace of hearts as an entry to his diamonds. He must keep the ace of hearts until the diamonds have been set up.

South should refuse the first trick. This limits him to two heart tricks but assures the contract.

East returns a heart, and dummy wins. Declarer leads the ace and nine of diamonds from the dummy. East plays low, and South overtakes with the ten of diamonds to continue the suit.

East must eventually take his king of diamonds. Now nothing can stop South from getting to his hand with the ace of hearts. He wins one spade, two hearts, four diamonds and two clubs, thus scoring game and rubber.

ANSWER: Bid 3-NT. With your own 9 points you know that the combined count is 25 to 27 points. This should be enough to yield a good play for game, particularly since your hand is bolstered by two tens.

Parr Trial To Resume

HEBBRONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — County Auditor Walter W. Meek, who testified earlier "things are done very informally in Duval County," was to return to the witness stand today for the ouster trial of suspended Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

Meek was on the witness stand Friday when District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo recessed the trial for the weekend. No court session was held Monday because Judge Carrillo was in Corpus Christi for a federal court hearing concerning income tax evasion charges pending against him.

Trial Postponed
Carrillo's trial in Corpus Christi was in effect postponed indefinitely by U.S. District Court Judge Owen Cox. A new trial date is expected to be set Sept. 8, when lawyers for both sides will appear to declare whether they are ready for trial.

Judge Carrillo temporarily suspended Parr from office March 24 after Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra filed a civil suit seeking to remove Parr from office on grounds of a federal perjury conviction, official misconduct and conflict of interest. Parr, who has held the office for the past 16 years, is a nephew of the late South Texas political boss George B. Parr and is heir apparent to the elder Parr's title of "Duke of Duval."

Parr, who has not attended any of the lengthy hearings concerning the trial and was not present for the opening testimony Friday, contends the attempt to remove him from office is a conspiracy to take political control of Duval County from his political faction.

Seeks Disqualification
Through his defense lawyer, Marvin Foster of San Diego, Parr has sought to have Judge Carrillo disqualify himself from presiding on grounds that Carrillo is involved in the conspiracy. Others Parr claims are involved in the conspiracy include secretive rancher-banker Clinton Manges of Freer and the presiding judge's two brothers, former state Rep. Oscar Carrillo and Duval County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo.

Parr has been subpoenaed as a prosecution witness, but process servers reported last week they have been unable to find him.

The suit seeking Parr's removal was filed by Dist. Atty. Guerra in behalf of Duval County grand jury foreman Jose R. Nichols of Freer. Nichols works as foreman at the Duval County Ranch Co., large Freer area ranch owned by Manges.

Third Witness
Testifying Friday as the third witness called by Guerra, Duval County auditor Meek said Duval County officials pay little or no attention to a budget in financing operations of the county.

"Things are done very informally, not wrong, but informally," Meek testified.

One of the allegations against Parr claims he did not draw up a budget for the county, did not hold a public hearing on the budget and authorized expenditures for items not on the budget.

Meek testified Friday that he did not participate in the preparation of the budget because "I'm not invited." He added, "We don't pay much attention to the budget. We are not inhibited by the budget."

Bicentennial Half Dollars Due July 7

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New bicentennial half dollars — stamped "1776-1976" — will go into circulation July 7 through banks here.

Wesley De Vries, senior vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank here, said Friday that 390 million bicentennial half dollars will be sent nationwide from here.

Heads on the new half-dollar will look like the standard coin, except for the date — 1776-1976. The tail side will bear a new design — Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

De Vries said two other new bicentennial coins — a dollar and a quarter — will be released later this year. The face sides of both coins will be unchanged except for the mark "1776-1976."

The reverse side of the dollar will bear the Liberty Bell and the moon, symbolizing the nation's rise from a colony to a world power. The reverse side of the quarter shows a colonial drummer.

Detente Warning Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exiled Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn cautions that Americans are deceiving themselves unless they realize that detente means hard-headed dealing with the Soviet Union, instead of merely "smiles and verbal concessions."

Calling on the United States to strengthen its role of world leadership, Solzhenitsyn declared Monday night that the Soviets are exploiting detente and luring Western capital to help build a regime committed to "ideological warfare."

Formal Address
 The Nobel Prize-winning author, in his first formal address in this country, also urged that Americans renew their support for Soviet dissidents.

Referring to the official Kremlin line that such backing amounts to interference in internal Soviet affairs, Solzhenitsyn asserted, "Interfere more and more, interfere as much as you can."

Solzhenitsyn, imprisoned for eight years during Stalin's era, was forcibly expelled in early 1974 by Soviet authorities enraged over publication in the West of "The Gulag Archipelago," a massive study of the Soviet penal system.

Talks At Dinner
 Addressing an AFL-CIO dinner given in his honor, Solzhenitsyn said any real U.S.-Soviet detente must not be "based on smiles, not on verbal concessions, but it has to be based on firm foundations... There has to be some guarantee that it will not be broken overnight."

Among the audience of some 2,500 persons at the dinner, mostly trade union officials, were Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, Labor Secretary John P. Dunlop and former Secretary of State William L. Rogers. Solzhenitsyn spoke in Russian, with simultaneous translation into English.

The author contended that in current negotiations leading up to a major pact on security and cooperation in Europe, the Communist side has offered only superficial concessions on freer East-West exchange of people and ideas.

And he added, "During these two years of negotiations, the pressure has increased in all the countries of Eastern Europe."

Refugees' Release From Center Now Better Organized

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — The release of refugees from this relocation center has become better organized, even though the number of requests to sponsor Vietnamese refugees declined in June, an Army spokesman said Monday.

Col. Mark Tinseth said Ft. Chaffee has received more than 20,000 requests from groups and individuals asking to sponsor refugees.

He said Chaffee has received 35,109 refugees since the relocation center opened May 2. Tinseth added that 10,669 refugees have been released to sponsors around the country.

There are about 10,000 active requests from sponsors, while there are nearly 24,000 refugees still at Chaffee.

"The number of individuals asking to be sponsors was down in June, compared to May," Tinseth said. "However, we've had an increase in the number of groups — service clubs, fraternal organizations and church groups — asking to be sponsors."

Overall, the number of requests to be sponsors declined, Tinseth said, although exact figures weren't available.

Tinseth said he talked with officials in Washington who said that about 45,000 refugees have been released from the four relocation centers — Chaffee, Indiantown Gap, Pa., Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., and Camp Pendleton, Calif.

He said that about one-third of all refugees received in the United States since the fall of the South Vietnam government have been released from the relocation centers.

"Most of the sponsors work through the volunteer groups, which are mostly church groups," Tinseth said.

He said many of the refugees who have already been released probably were the persons with skills and professions.

"It's easy to find a sponsor for some guy with a good, solid trade, while some of the others are harder to relocate," he said.

Cubs, Caps Split Pair

SHREVEPORT—The Midland Cubs snapped a six-game winning streak by the Shreveport Captains Monday night by posting a 10-3 win in the second game of a Texas League doubleheader after dropping a 5-4 decision in the first game.

first on a single by Mitchell Page and triple by Tommy Thomas.

Montreal walked to start the second and Wallis doubled off the center field wall. Greg Collins walked and Ortiz singled in two more runs.

The Captains still trail Midland 11-5 in the overall series, but the victory in the second game ended the six-game string that the Shreveport nine had over the Cubs at home. The Captains own a 6-2 edge over Midland at home and in 26-6 in the friendly confines of their ball park.

In the Midland sixth, the Cubs exploded for four runs when Wallis walked, Bill Hutman walked and Collins moved the runners down with a sacrifice. Ortiz walked and Julio Gonzalez singled in a pair of runs. Droegge plated two more runs with a single.

Mike Weiss will throw tonight for Midland and Donnie Moore will pitch for the Cubs in Wednesday night's game.

ONE FOR THE LOSER—Joe Bugner, top, connects with a right against Muhammad Ali in the 13th round, but Ali went on to win a unanimous decision to retain his world heavyweight title. (AP Wirephoto.)

Ali Decisions Bugner

Champ's Retirement Ends; Set To Meet Frazier

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — "People want to see me fight Joe Frazier," says Muhammad Ali, fresh out of retirement and off a unanimous decision victory over Joe Bugner.

Neither the victory here Tuesday morning nor the change of mind about retirement were surprises since Ali was a 2-1 favorite to beat Bugner and promoter Don King had already admitted Ali-Frazier III had been signed before the fight here.

The rubber match between the two rivals will be held in Manila, probably Oct. 1. It will be history's richest fight, with total purse money of $12 million. Ali got $2 million Tuesday.

"I don't want anybody to say that I'm afraid of Joe Frazier or George Foreman," Ali said before his victory over Bugner.

"If I quit, people will say that Joe Frazier would have whipped me," said Ali, who had announced plans to retire June 23. "They would say that Foreman and (Ken) Norton would too. So, when I retire I don't want anybody around who people might think could beat me."

"I'm ready," said Frazier, who was at ringside. "I am happy that he decided not to go out, otherwise I would have thought he was ducking me like he's been doing for the last year."

Frazier defeated Ali when neither was champion. Frazier then joined the king of Malaysia and an announced estimated crowd of 22,000 to watch the 33-year-old champion dominate Bugner, 25, in the oven that was the ring at the outdoor Merdeka Stadium.

"The heat was bad but it was bad for both of us," said Ali, who had predicted that Bugner would be a world champion after he defeated the Briton on a 12-round decision two years ago.

"I still predict that Joe Bugner will be champion," said Ali. "He's strong, he's young."

"I should have won the world title," said Bugner, who does claim the heavyweight championship of Europe. "I think the climate beat me this time. I just couldn't find a burst of energy to maintain the pressure by the 10th and 11th rounds."

"The heat was really incredible," a Malaysian communications official placed the temperature in the ring at more than 100 degrees.

All three bits and pieces of his rope-fighting technique and his dancing at Bugner. But the champion's main strategy was to rush Bugner, push him into the rope and gun for his head.

Ali was unable to knock down his opponent, but he came close in the final round. Late in the round, Ali backed Bugner up with a sharp right-left, right-left. He then hurt him with two lefts and a right and just before the bell had him reeling with about seven straight punches to the head.

The champion also appeared to have Bugner dazed in the 13th and 14th rounds. Ali finished the fight with a nick over his left eye suffered in the 13th round, and Bugner had a swelling under his right eye.

Referee Takezo Ugo of Japan scored it 73-67 for Ali. Judge L. Col. Suthee Phrom Jara of Thailand scored it 73-65 and Ken Brady of Australia 72-65 for Ali.

The Associated Press favored the champion 70-65. Ali, who officially weighed 225 last Saturday, recorded his 46th victory against two losses—against Frazier and Norton, both of them avenged.

Bugner, who got $500,000, now has lost seven times against 51 victories and one draw. He weighed 230.

The fight, which was seen in the United States live on closed-circuit television Monday night, was the third part of a TV triple-header. In the other two fights, both originating from Madison Square Garden in New York, light heavyweight champion Victor Galindez outpointed Jorge Ahumada and middleweight champion Carlos Monzon stopped Tony Licata in 10 rounds.

The New York fights were not seen here but the heavyweight bout was shown live on local home television. All three fights were seen on a live or delayed basis in about 60 countries.

Tinju Dunia Sendirian Berhad, the local group formed to hold the promotion here, apparently lost money—it put up $3 million to obtain the fight—but its leader, Dato Haji Harun-Bin Idris, chief minister for the state of Selangor, said the main purpose was "to project Malaysia and Kuala Lumpur."

Hale Irwin Garners Western Open Title

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Hale Irwin, an articulate, intelligent young man with a way of getting to the heart of the matter, had a simple explanation for his victory in the $200,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

"I just didn't make as many mistakes as the other guys," Irwin said after his one-stroke triumph Monday in what he called "the most nerve-wracking experience of my life."

And that's just exactly what happened.

Irwin, who has that happy habit of winning on the game's most difficult courses, let Butler National chew up the rest of the field—he was the only one to break par for 72 holes—and won it with a closing string of 13 consecutive pars.

"Pars," observed Irwin, "are hard to beat."

George Johnson, who led most of the long, hot, muggy day, and South African Bobby Cole, the man Irwin had to beat in the end, discovered the truth of that statement.

Johnson, who once had a four-stroke lead, blew it and built it back to three, finally played his last three holes six over par. Cole lost a tie for the lead with a bogey on the last hole.

Irwin won his second title of the season with scores of 71 and 73 in the double-round windup that was forced when a violent, dangerous thunderstorm washed out Friday's round and sent three lightning-jolted players to the hospital.

One of them, Jerry Heard, returned to action when the hospital released him, put together closing rounds of 73 and 73 and claimed a tie for fourth at 288.

The other two, Lee Trevino and Bobby Nichols, went home after a two-day stay in the hospital.

Irwin, who relinquished his U.S. Open title just a few days ago, won this one with a 283 total, one under par on the 7,002-yard layout that has yielded just that one subpar total in two years of play.

Cole, the 1974 South African Open and World Cup champion still looking for his first American title, bogeyed the 72nd hole from a bunker, shot 70 and 69 and missed by one at 284.

Ed Sneed came on to take third on rounds of 69 and 73 and a 267 total. Heard, Gibby Gilbert and John Lister of New Zealand, who matched the course record with a 65 in the morning round, followed at 288.

Johnson blew to a fat 79 in the last round and was tied with four others at 289.

Arnold Palmer had closing rounds of 73 and 72 and was well back at 292. Tom Weiskopf missed the cut for the last two rounds after an incredible 84 in Sunday's round.

All three, however, clinched spots on the American Ryder Cup team that will play Britain's best in Ligonier, Pa., Sept. 18-20. This was the last tournament in which players could gain Ryder Cup points.

The other members of the 12-man team are Trevino, Irwin, Al Geiberger, Weiskopf, Gene Littler, Bob Murphy, J. C. Sneed, Ray Floyd and Billy Casper.

Irwin benefited from the wiped-out round Friday. He'd shot a 74, saw that one cancelled, then played it over in 68. In his next round, the morning round Monday, he shot 71.

College Playoff System Studied

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eric Casale, athletic director at Temple University, has been named chairman of a committee to study the feasibility of staging a championship tournament for major college football.

Casale heads a 17-man committee, including coaches Darrell Royal of Texas and John McKay of Southern California; The Rev. Edmund Joyce, vice president at Notre Dame, and Allan Chapman of Rice, president of the NCAA.

Other members include, athletic directors J. D. Morgan of UCLA, Bob Devaney of Nebraska, Elroy Hirsch of Wisconsin and Seaver Peters of Dartmouth.

Royal and McKay are ex-officio members along with Bob James, chairman of the NCAA's extra events committee, who could relate the present bowl games to the championship picture. Marcus Plant of the University of Michigan, like Father Joyce, is a faculty representative on Casale's panel.

Casale said he recently received a letter from Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, listing the committee members and directing the Temple athletic boss to proceed with the job.

Casale said he hoped that a plan could be worked out to set up a program for a title game similar to that for major college basketball, after the 1976 season. But he said the problems involved might delay the timetable until 1977.

In the past, those in favor of such a championship have suggested use of the four major bowls, Rose, Orange, Sugar, and Cotton as showpieces for the tournament. A final game after the bowls also has been recommended.

Currently, the college football champion is the team which, after the bowl games, is voted No. 1 in a poll of football writers and broadcasters.

CLEVELAND SWEEPS TIGERS— Tanana Smokes 15

By The Associated Press
Frank Tanana and Nolan Ryan come from different sides of the mound, but batters will tell you that they both come to the plate the same way—too fast.

Tanana successfully served his speedy specialty at the Minnesota Twins Monday night, striking out 15, to raise his season total to 108, second only to Ryan, his California Angels teammate.

"But he doesn't see Ryan as his tutor, just his inspiration. 'I don't learn too much from Nolan Ryan,'" Tanana said after the Angels beat the Twins 10-3 to put the brakes on a seven-game losing streak. "We come from different sides because I'm a left-hander and he's a right-hander."

In striking out 15 Twins, Tanana was just two short of the American League record for southpaws of 17 he set against Texas June 21. He now has 40 strikeouts in his last three games, which ties an American League record for left-handers.

Nolan Ryan struck out 13 in a California game against the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night. He has 258 strikeouts in his career. Tanana has 108 in his career.

Two eight-game winning streaks were on the line and today the A's will have to start all over while the White Sox stand nine games tall, their longest victory string since May, 1973.

Bobby Darwin's pinch hit two-run homer lifted Milwaukee over New York and pulled the Brewers within one game of the second-place Yankees, who trail East Division-leading Boston by one game.

Chris Chambliss had put the Red Sox 5-2, Orioles 2-8

Boston's Luis Tiant and Baltimore's Jim Palmer pitched in different games of the doubleheader because each team wanted a sure victory. They each got a victory, but not the sure one.

Dick Pole outpitched Palmer, 12-5, in the opener, blanking the Orioles for eight innings before he was struck in the face by a line drive. Pole suffered a fractured cheekbone and will be lost "for a period of weeks."

In the second game Jim Northrup's two-run homer and Dave Duncan's record-matching fourth double of the game highlighted a four-run eighth inning that helped snap Tiant's four-game winning streak.

Duncan's fourth double tied the record for most two-base hits in a nine inning game, held by over 30 players.

Yankees on top 4-3 with a two-run homer in the ninth but Sixto Lezcano beat out an infield hit and Darwin ended the game with his eighth homer of the year.

Yankees 4-3, Tigers 1-2
Rick Manning backed Eric Raich's five-hit pitching with a two-run single in the eighth that gave the Yankees a sweep of their doubleheader.

In the opener, the Tigers backed the seven-hit pitching of Cleveland's Roric Harrison by committing six errors and allowing three unearned runs.

KING ADVANCES—Billie Jean King advanced to the semifinals at Wimbledon Monday with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Russian Olga Morozova. King will meet Chris Evert in the semifinals. (AP Wirephoto.)

King Downs Russian

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Billie Jean King has a sore throat and a runny nose, but an attack of English hay fever has done little to stop what she insists is her final bid for a sixth Wimbledon singles title.

The 31-year-old tennis queen won her quarter-final match against Russia's Olga Morozova 6-3, 6-3 Monday to reach the semifinals without dropping a set.

Billie Jean meets the No. 1 seed, defending champion Chris Evert, Wednesday. The other semifinalists are a pair of Australians, Margaret Court and Evonne Coolidge. The American Association's Ann Kiyomaki is the consolation prize.

The men play their quarter-finals today with 22-year-old, left-hander Jimmy Connors still odds-on favorite to retain his title.

NFL Suffers Money Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's economy, a players' strike and the World Football League, which sent salaries soaring in some cases, were just three of the factors that caused the National Football League to suffer its worst year in at least a decade in 1974.

The NFL Management Council, which released the financial data Monday, said a record eight teams lost money and ticket sales plunged by $6.6 million.

The report said the average NFL team's after-tax operating profit was down by 45 per cent from 1973.

"It is not an encouraging report," said Terry Bledsoe, assistant executive director of the Management Council.

The NFL did not identify which clubs lost money, but it said that in addition to the eight which did there were three others that made less than $100,000. Published reports, which have been disputed, have identified the losing franchises as Miami, Dallas, Washington, San Diego, Philadelphia, Houston and the New York Giants.

Ed Garvey, who heads the players' union, challenged the NFL report, charging that no NFL team lost money. Garvey said reports of such things were a subterfuge to allow league teams to reduce their losses to 43 players from 47.

The report said the 19 most profitable teams had a pre-tax profit of $13 million each, but the eight most unfortunate lost an average of $216,000 apiece.

According to the council, 1975 will present an even bleaker picture. Ticket sales, which fell six per cent—and $6.6 million—to $94 million in 1974, are down in 1975, the council said.

"Our costs continue to go up," said Bledsoe, "and the only recourse we have is to raise ticket prices. There's a limit to that, and we may be reacting it."

The Management Council said player compensation rose 18 per cent in 1974 so that the average player made $42,338 in salary and bonuses and $12,883 more in preseason pay, postseason pay and fringe benefits.

The financial report showed that television money was responsible for averting an even bigger decline in profits. The league received $99 million from television and radio, an average of $28 million per team. That is an increase from $44 million in 1973.

It also showed that those teams which lost money were the ones with the highest player payrolls.

Stanton Runner Named All-State

Connie Christian, Stanton High School junior, who won both the 100-yard and 200-yard dashes in the girls Class A state track meet last spring, was named to the Texas Sports Writers Association's all-state team.

Miss Christian was named in the 200. Her 25.1 seconds was third best in the state. She also had an 11.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash.

Connie also was named all-district in basketball.

Malaysian Officials Glad Fight Over

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — "Well, Malaysia did not," signed the contented Malaysian Boxing Federation official as victorious champion Mohammed Ali and vanquished challenger Joe Bugner left the ring Tuesday.

The Malaysian Boxing Federation was virtually moribund until two months ago and this rubber and its producing country had not known regular prize fights since before World War II. But Malaysia indeed "did not," said Dato Haji Harun Idris, 49, leader of the UMNO youth group, which sponsored Tuesday's contest. UMNO stands for the ruling United Malay National Organization.

"Some thought it would be just like Zaire, but things worked here," said a bureaucrat.

Although none would admit it for the record, pre-fight concern about a Zaire-type fiasco troubled authorities. Those who attended Ali's battle in Kinshasa against George Foreman last September told horror stories of official harassment, censorship, communications breakdowns and other tribulations.

From Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak on down, Malaysian leaders seemed determined that things would run smoother in Kuala Lumpur than at the "rumble in the jungle."

Strict security measures proved unnecessary. Diplomats said some officials feared that the country's Communist underground might try to foment trouble when international attention was focused on the fight.

Still others were said to be concerned that Ali's vociferous espousal of the Black Muslim movement might rub raw the papered over communal conflict between the Malay majority—who are mostly Muslim—and the Chinese minority. An outbreak of this communal violence in May 1969 left some 200 persons dead in the streets of Kuala Lumpur.

It was not clear whether the match was a box office success in Kuala Lumpur. It was on home television in this country.

the promoting organization, said 22,000 were on hand Tuesday. Other observers estimated the crowd at several thousand less.

"Financial success or failure isn't really important. The attention this fight brought Malaysia is worth our tourist promotion budget for the next five years," said the bureaucrat.

"The main reason for holding the fight here is to project Malaysia," Dato Harun said last week.

The spectators were generally subdued by Zaire or even Madison Square Garden standards. A loudspeaker request that fight fans stay in their seats was heeded for the most part.

Those who chanted "Ali, Ali, Ali," in support of the 33-year-old champion were in the majority although the British boxer had his "Bug-ner, Bug-ner, Bug-ner" cheering section. Both fighters waved their gloved fists in acknowledgement of the cheers.

Pride of place at ringside went to the Yang Di-perluan

Agong, or paramount ruler, a constitutional monarch. He and the royal entourage plus Prime Minister Razak and other dignitaries displaced fight judges, newsmen and others by taking one entire side of the ring for a V.I.P. enclosure.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, feet crossed in scarlet shoes, was at ringside to welcome Ali's announcement just before he answered the bell for round one that set Ali-Frazier rematch was in the works.

A communications technician said the ring temperature soared above 100. Humidity was also high and the bright sun was supplemented by hot television lights.

The Cincinnati Reds are working overtime these days and they're turning Riverfront Stadium into a sweatshop for opposing relief pitchers.

Even Marvin Miller and the Major League Baseball Players Association can't do anything about the hazardous working conditions when the Reds decide to extend their working day past the regulation nine-inning quitting time.

Johnny Bench was the whip-cracker Monday night with a three-run homer in the 12th inning that gave the Reds a 9-6 triumph over the Houston Astros. Last Friday, Dan Driessen belted a three-run homer in the 11th inning to defeat San Diego and Saturday George Foster cracked a two-run shot in the 10th to beat the Padres.

The Reds trailed Houston 6-2 but scored three times in the eighth on Ken Griffey's bases-loaded triple and tied it in the ninth on pinch hitter Bill Plummer's sacrifice fly. Joe Niekro retired the first two Cincinnati batters in the 12th but Griffey doubled, Joe Morgan walked and Bench followed with his 16th home run.

Lone Star Gas Rate Increase Effective Today

AUSTIN (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co.'s 9.3-cent rate increase went into effect today, affecting four million residential and commercial customers in 470 cities, towns and villages.

The increase ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission is for each thousand cubic feet (mcf) of natural gas. Monthly bills are expected to go up by 78 cents for the average residential customer and $1.96 for the average commercial customer.

In addition to setting a rate charge of $1.0399 per mcf, the three-member commission said Monday the "public interest requires the continuation of a gas cost adjustment rule due to the rapidly spiraling cost of gas."

The order permits Lone Star to automatically pass on 85 per cent of any increase over 72.39 cents per mcf that the company must pay for natural gas. The company could adjust its prices monthly, rather than on a six-month basis as it does now.

Lone Star filed for a rate increase Jan. 30, and the commission granted a temporary 8.63-cent hike May 2, to $4.19 cents per mcf.

The commission then sought an increase to $1.21, and more than 100 cities, towns and villages in the Texas Utilities Advisory Council opposed the application, asking the commission to hold the rate at 94.19 cents.

The increase granted by the agency is 10.4 per cent above what the council had recommended and 13.8 per cent below what Lone Star had requested.

The commission order is designed to give Lone Star an 8 per cent return on a company investment of $163 million.

In addition to the new 1.0399-cent rate, the commission instructed 18 cities to pay 4 cents more per mcf so the company can recoup alleged losses it suffered when the cities refused to pay higher costs which the company had tried to pass on earlier.

Murder Suspect Still Fighting Extradition Move

HOUSTON (AP) — The court-appointed attorney for Gary Addison Taylor says he'll appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals the extradition of Taylor to Washington state, where he is charged with first degree murder.

Taylor, 39, a former mental patient in Michigan, sat impassively Monday as State Dist. Judge William A. Hatten issued the ruling to return Taylor to Washington state to face charges of murder in the death of Vonnie Stuth, 19.

"We'll appeal at each step as long as it takes," said Stuart Kinard, Taylor's attorney. "We'll track it as far as we are able to go. We are sure there are technical defects in the document that we could find if we had time to research."

During a hearing Monday, Hatten repeatedly overruled Kinard's request for a 10-day continuance to allow further investigation in the case.

Kinard told Hatten the extradition papers from King County, Wash., arrived here last Thursday but were not served on the defendant until shortly before the hearing Monday morning.

Kinard said because of other cases in which he is involved he had not had an opportunity to study the warrant for Taylor's return to Washington.

The attorney said he would base his appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals on the fact that he was not given a continuance to pursue the investigation.

Taylor is charged with five sex offenses here. Taylor was working as a machinist when he was arrested here May 20. Houston detectives claim Taylor told of killing a Houston waitress, a Seattle, Wash., woman and two Toledo, Ohio, women whose bodies were recovered in Onsted, Mich.

Shortly after Taylor's arrest, visiting State Dist. Judge W. A. Hughes, Decatur, Tex., denied a request by Kinard for $2,500 to investigate police claims that Taylor had signed a statement concerning the women's deaths.

Taylor was arrested at Royal Oak, Mich., in 1967 following reports of sniping attacks on women and girls in that city. He spent 13 years in Michigan mental institutions before he disappeared while on convalescent leave from court-ordered therapy in 1973.

SREB Re-Elects Sen. Snelson

ATLANTA, Ga. — State Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Southern Regional Educational Board (SREB) at the group's annual meeting in Boca Raton, Fla., June 15-17.

Sen. Snelson, who begins his second year as an officer of the organization of 14 southern states for the advancement of higher education, will serve with Arkansas Gov. David Pryor, who was elected 1975-76 SREB chairman, and Furman University President Gordon W. Blackwell, who was elected vice chairman.

For the past three years, Sen. Snelson has been the Texas representative on the 18-member SREB executive committee, which has full power to act between board meetings. He will also continue to serve on the five-member finance committee, a subcommittee of the executive committee which prepares the board's annual budget and reviews other financial policy matters. In addition, he is a member of the SREB legislative advisory council.

Surrenders Awaited At Pine Ridge

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (AP) — Negotiations aimed at arranging the surrender of 16 persons sought for questioning in the shooting deaths of two FBI men on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation may be in the offing, federal officials hint. Acting Reservation Supt. Kendall Cumming said Monday he "had appointments with some people," but indicated no definite plans had been made. Earlier, Cumming said an attempt at negotiations with persons he termed "responsible tribal leaders" had been unsuccessful.

Bureau of Indian Affairs and FBI officials had arrived at a predetermined time at a small mission over the weekend, but the other individuals involved in the talks did not show up. Cumming would not identify either group or how it might know of the persons being sought in connection with the slaying of FBI agents Ronald Williams and Jack Coler last Thursday. The FBI says it does not have positive identifications of the 16 persons it is seeking, but a spokesman said, "We have a pretty good indication of who they are."

Williams and Coler were shot down as they attempted to serve four federal arrest warrants in connection with an alleged kidnapping. An Indian from the Lapwai Agency at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Joseph Bedell Stuntz, 34, was killed in shooting which erupted when federal officers moved onto the reservation in the wake of the Williams-Coler slayings. Dennis Banks, a leader in the American Indian Movement (AIM), also had offered to negotiate the surrender of the 16 persons if federal law enforcement officials would leave the reservation. But Cumming said, "We weren't going to contact Banks."

Redistricting Suit Returned To Texas By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court has returned to a three-judge federal panel in Austin a suit challenging legislative districts in seven Texas counties to determine if a new redistricting law made the case moot. The three-judge panel on Jan. 28, 1974, ordered that Texas House districts in Tarrant, Lubbock, Travis, El Paso, McLennan, Jefferson and Nueces counties be divided into individual districts with one representative each. But while the case was under appeal by the state to the Supreme Court, a bill became law that drew single-member districts lines for the seven counties. The law leaves no counties in the state with countywide House districts represented at large by two or more members.

Gurney Takes Witness Stand In Own Defense

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Former Sen. Edward Gurney took the stand today in his own defense to rebut 14 weeks of prosecution testimony linking him to an alleged influence-peddling scheme. The former Republican senator was the first witness called as the trial of Gurney and three codefendants resumed following a three-day weekend recess. A weekend recess was extended for an extra day that Gurney could visit his widowed mother, who underwent surgery in Maine. Gurney, his ex-aid, Joseph Bastian, and former housing officer K. Wayne Swiger and Ralph Koontz are charged with conspiracy to create an illegal slush fund from builder payoffs by peddling Gurney's influence with the Federal Housing Administration. Gurney is also charged with bribery, receiving unlawful compensation and four counts of lying to a federal grand jury. He faces a maximum sentence of 42 years in jail if convicted on all seven charges.

Bell Wins Delay In Gravitt Suit

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — District Court Judge James C. O'Neil has granted a motion by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to delay indefinitely a lawsuit against the firm by Mrs. T. O. Gravitt. Mrs. Gravitt, widow of a former Bell Texas operations chief, is asking exemplary damages because the company withheld nearly $300,000 in pension and death benefits. Gravitt committed suicide last October. District Court Judge James McKay earlier ordered Bell to pay the pension and death benefits, but lawyers for Bell appealed the decision.

Problem-Solver Ann Landers To Get Divorce

CHICAGO (AP)—Syndicated columnist Ann Landers, the personal problem-solver for millions of American newspaper readers, says she and her husband of 36 years are getting a divorce.

"The lady with all the answers does not know the answer to this one," the 57-year-old Miss Landers said in today's column in her home newspaper, the Chicago Sun-Times.

The columnist, whose actual name is Esther Lederer, wrote: "The sad, incredible fact is that after 36 years of marriage Jules and I are being divorced. As I write these words, it is as if I am referring to a letter from a reader. It seems unreal that I am writing about my own marriage."

Mrs. Lederer, who writes for Field Newspapers Syndicate of Chicago, was married to her husband, Jules W. Lederer on July 2, 1939. Until recently, Lederer was chairman of the board of Budget Rent-A-Car Corp. in Chicago.

Miss Landers did not divulge the reason for the divorce, and she asked readers not to write or call for details. Neither she nor her husband was available for comment.

The couple has a daughter, Margo, who formerly wrote a column for several Chicago newspapers.

In the 20 years Miss Landers has written the column, several articles have centered upon the close relationship she has had with her husband. In 1969, a column celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary.

"That we are going our separate ways is one of life's strangest ironies. How did it happen that something so good for so long didn't last forever?" she asked in today's column.

She said the column was "the most difficult column I ever have written, but also if it is the shortest."

About four inches of blank space followed the announcement "as a memorial to one of the world's best marriages that didn't make it to the finish line."

More than 700 newspapers carry the column, and it has an estimated readership of 54 million persons in the United States. A recent Gallup Poll showed that Miss Landers was one of the 20 most admired women in the nation.

Labor Confrontation Apparently Strengthens Isabel Peron's Position

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Isabel Peron appeared to have gained the upper hand at least temporarily today observed the first anniversary of her husband's death with the austerity measures.

The labor movement was energized by Mrs. Peron's decision after a confrontation with the labor movement, the Peronists' chief support.

Juan D. Peron's 44-year-old widow and political heir conferred Monday night with labor leaders opposed to her new austerity program, and a government communiqué said there was agreement to work toward national unity. But the labor leaders refused to comment until they could discuss the situation with their associates.

General strikes were under way in Cordoba, the nation's key industrial province, and in Mendoza province, and there were scattered work stoppages elsewhere. This indicated that the rank and file might continue to rebel even if their national leaders went along with the government.

But informed observers said Mrs. Peron and the strong man of her regime, Social Welfare Minister Jose Lopez Rega, appeared to have gained the upper hand at least temporarily today observed the first anniversary of her husband's death with the austerity measures.

Gin Drinkers Hit Jackpot

Agence France-Presse HONG KONG — Gin drinkers in search of a tonic to beat the summer heat got unexpected help Tuesday when 2,000 tons of unwanted lemons were dumped here.

"People flocked to the dumping site when the lemons were left here after port strikes prevented scheduled delivery in Japan.

The dumping site — and toast of the town — was Gin Drinker's Bay.

Study On Revenue Sharing Scheduled To Include Odessa

ALANTA, Ga. (AP) — Three Texas cities have been named as part of a 30-city study by the Southern Regional Council to determine how local officials might be influenced by federal revenue sharing.

Peter Petkas, director of the project which will make the study, said federal revenue sharing amounts to $6 billion per year, and nobody is keeping track of how the money is being spent.

"The only way is to ask local officials what they are doing with this money," he said.

The Texas cities to be studied are Austin, McAllen and Odessa.

Petkas said that revenue sharing can become a form of political payoff.

ROBARY SPEAKER—Delbert Downing of Snyder, former Midland civic leader, will be the speaker tonight at the officer installation banquet of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club at The Midland Country Club. Downing, a former president of the Midland club, is one of the Southwest's most versatile speakers. He is a past president of Christian Men's Fellowship of Texas. The ladies-night event is scheduled for 7 p.m.

DC8 Pilot Warned Tower Of Turbulence Before Eastern 727's Crash At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Airlines jetliner that crashed last Tuesday was cleared to land in a thunderstorm despite another jet pilot's warnings of dangerous air turbulence and his strong recommendations that the affected runway be closed, tapes reveal.

The crash shortly after 4 p.m. June 24 of Eastern Flight 66 nonstop from New Orleans killed 112 persons in the nation's worst single-airplane disaster. The plane was attempting to land at Kennedy International Airport.

The tapes of the exchange between the pilot of a Flying Tiger DC8 cargo jet and the control tower, made public Monday by Federal Aviation Administration officials, include this exchange:

"I just highly recommend that you change the runways and, ah, land northwest," the pilot of the Flying Tiger DC8 cargo jet warned. "You have such a tremendous wind shear down near, ah, near the ground on the final approach."

The tower replied that its instruments showed the runway was clear.

British Queen Knights Fulbright

LONDON (AP) — Former Sen. J. W. Fulbright has been awarded an honorary knighthood by Queen Elizabeth II, the Foreign Office has announced.

The award mainly recognizes the former senator's part in establishing the Fulbright Scholarships, through which 25,000 Americans have studied abroad and some 50,000 persons from overseas have studied in the United States.

Marshall Plan Act

On April 3, 1948, the Marshall Plan Act was signed into law in Washington.

that the New Orleans flight was to use was the proper one under weather conditions at that time. "O.K. We're indicating wind right down the runway at 15 knots when you landed," the air traffic controller said.

The Flying Tiger pilot snapped: "I don't care what you're indicating. I'm just telling you that there's such a wind shear on the final on that runway, you should change it to the northwest."

A wind shear is the violent movement of two adjacent layers of air in different directions.

Seconds after the Flying Tiger pilot's warning, Eastern Airlines Flight 902, an L1011 jumbo jet, pulled up when only 100 feet off the ground rather than land in the strong winds. One report said the jet missed the approach light stations by no more than 20 feet.

The pilot of Flight 902 gave the tower a detailed account of the missed landing and the treacherous air currents and diverted to Newark Airport where he landed safely. Shortly after the jumbo jet went to Newark, a Finnair DC8 and a small, twin-engine propeller plane landed safely on runway 22 left. Flight 66 was still miles from the airport.

At about 4 p.m., the ill-fated Eastern Flight 66, a Boeing 727 carrying 124 persons, requested landing instructions.

The controller responded, "O.K. Eastern 66. Turn left, heading 220. Did you copy that, sir?"

"That's affirmative," the Eastern pilot, Capt. John Kleven, answered.

The tower cleared the approach to Runway 22 Left.

A few seconds before 4:04 p.m., Kleven, apparently concerned about runway wetness, asked, "Got any report on braking action for 66?"

At 15 seconds after 4:04, the controller replied, "No, none. Approach end of the runway is wet and I'd say about the first half is wet but we've had no adverse reports."

At 4:05 p.m., a half-mile from the runway, Eastern Flight 66 tore through several approach light stations, rose momentarily, hit more stations, Eastern Flight 66, a Boeing 727 flipped over and exploded in a ball of fire.

Ex-Milk Co-Op Manager Says Unit Used Bogus Billings To Make Contributions

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) used bogus billings by consultants and lawyers among other schemes to make corporate contributions to federal political candidates, a former AMPI manager says.

Harold Nelson, who helped found the giant dairy cooperative, testified Monday in the federal court trial of Oklahoma City lawyer Stuar H. Russell.

Russell, 58, a heavy set man with pale skin and thinning grey hair, is accused of conspiring to make illegal corporate contributions.

He is charged also with aiding and abetting such contributions of corporate money, forbidden by federal law.

Nelson testified quietly but firmly that he authorized most of the illegal contributions and used various subterfuges.

AMPI employees were given bonuses to be donated to specific candidates, employees were loaned to campaigns and phony billings were required from consultants, Nelson said.

Asked if he could remember amounts contributed, Nelson said, "No, but they were substantial."

Nelson remained on the stand when Dist. Court Judge John H. Wood recessed for the night. Nelson has pleaded guilty already to campaign funding violations and served four months in opening remarks, Thomas

P. Ruane, a special assistant Watergate prosecutor, said he would show that Russell made political contributions on behalf of AMPI, then recovered the money as billings for legal services.

Ruane said also that he would show that Russell participated in covering up a $100,000 contribution which may have eventually gone to President Richard M. Nixon.

The prosecutor said $118,000 in contributions was involved in three counts of the indictment against Russell.

Defense lawyer Wallace Duncan told jurors that Russell had no knowledge of the contributions.

"We don't dispute most of the facts the government has in this case, they're indisputable," Duncan said. "But what did Stuart Russell know?"

Later he said, "We don't deny that others in this case committed crimes... we deny that Stuart Russell had any knowledge of these crimes."

Duncan argued that Russell took orders from AMPI unquestioned because of loyalty, trust and because AMPI was his main livelihood.

Leadoff witness was Herbert W. Kalmbach, one-time lawyer for President Nixon.

He testified that AMPI lawyer Milton Serner gave him in 1969 $100,000 carried in "a little overnight bag" while Kalmbach was keeper of a $1.6 million trust for President Nixon.

The $1.6 million was left over from Nixon's 1969 election effort, Kalmbach testified. He said the $100,000 contribution was added to the trust.

Kalmbach quoted Serner as telling him that AMPI had contributed to the Democratic ticket and "we now find we have no friends in the White House and we would like to make a contribution."

Kalmbach said AMPI wanted a 90 per cent parity price support, greater access to present their point of view to the White House staff and to have Nixon address their annual convention.

Nelson said that the $100,000 came from a special fund from AMPI's legal political arm, Trust for Agricultural Political Education (TAPE).

Robert Isham, AMPI's controller discovered that the contribution was illegal and it was decided to use corporate funds to cover it up, Nelson said.

Lobbyist Bob A. Lilly got a loan for $100,000 secure by TAPE to replace the contribution given to Kalmbach.
