Garbage Piles Up In New York

Sanitation Strike In Second Day

By The Associated Press
Garbage piled up on New York City streets at the rate of 28,000 tons a day as a wildcat strike by sanitation men went into its second day today. Budget-imposed layoffs of 19,000 city employees brought threats of similar walkouts by police and firemen.

A walkout by state employees in Pennsylvania disrupted virtually all day-to-day functions of state government; efforts were made today to resume contract talks to end the walkouts.

The City of New York planned to go to court today to seek an injunction against the sanitationmen's union to halt the walkout.

In the sprawling neighborhoods of the city, residents watched the refuse piles grow and reacted variously with resignation, anger, or bitterness. Some worried that youngsters would set fire to the piles. "It's terrible, but what can you do," said the wife of an apartment house superintendent in Astoria, Queens.

"I pile the garbage up neat," said Antonio Escevec, a building superintendent in the South Bronx. "But it will stink and I think it will be very dirty. I pile it up right outside my bedroom window, and at night I lie awake. The kids, you know, will set fire to it."

Republican state legislators in Albany refused Tuesday to give New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame new taxing powers to raise money for city coffers. He was forced to order the firing of 19,000 municipal employees, among them nearly 3,000 of the city's 10,600 sanitationmen.

Vowing that New York would become "Stink City," Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association president John J. DeLury warned that if any of his men were laid off, the rest would refuse to work. The union followed through on the threat, staging a wildcat strike. DeLury said he had lost control of his men.

REFLECTIONS OF CHILDHOOD — Todd Robbins, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Robins, pauses to warm in the summer's sun during a romp in the wading pool at Dennis the Menace Park.

Fighting Tapers Off In Lebanese Streets

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Street fighting in Beirut between religious and political factions tapered off early today, and the Lebanese began returning to work through streets strewn with war debris and rotting garbage.

Late Bulletins

AUSTIN (AP) — The Highway Department announced today it has canceled the August contract lettings for construction projects because inflation has pushed up costs.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City has obtained a court order in an effort to halt a two-day wildcat strike by sanitationmen. That walkout has left more than 30,000 tons of garbage piled on city streets in soaring July heat. So far, there's no word on whether the strikers will return to work.

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King, in what she says will be her last major singles tennis tournament, rallied from a first-set loss today and beat Chris Evert 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, in the Wimbledon semifinals.

INDEPENDENCE DAY DISPLAY — Kiwanian Dave Kibler shows off some of the fireworks to be ignited at 10 p.m. Friday at Cub Stadium as part of the organization's Fourth of July spectacular.

Oil Tax Assessments Rise

By GEORGE MASSEY
The assessed valuation of oil producing property in Midland County has been increased by approximately $27 million this year, Virgil Jones, city tax assessor-collector, said.

BUT DON'T YOU TRY IT— Kiwanis Sets Fireworks Display

By BUDDY BAKER
The Midland Kiwanis Club will provide a fireworks spectacular Friday night at Cub Stadium, but anyone else shooting off fireworks inside the city limits will be subject to arrest.

Most Offices Closing Friday

All four Midland banks, the Midland Chamber of Commerce and almost all city, county, state and federal offices will be closed Friday to celebrate the Fourth of July holiday.

Marathon Well Opens Oil Pool; Field Extended

A new zone has been opened in a Sterling County area, and a field gained an extension. Marathon Oil Co. has completed No. 1-30 E. F. McEntire on a Wolfcamp oil strike, and has suggested field designation of McEntire.

It was completed on the pump for 41 barrels of 39.5-gravity oil and three barrels of water per day, with gas-oil ratio of 878-1. Production was through perforations at 6,543-6,764 feet, which had been acidized with 2,256 gallons and fractured with 25,000 gallons and 37,000 pounds.

Drilled to 7,850 feet, it is plugged back to 7,500 feet, in 4 1/2-inch casing seated to 7,848 feet. Location is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 20, block 14, SPRR survey.

The following log tops were picked under Kelly bushing elevation of 2,362 feet: Yates, 806; Queen, 1,225; San Andres, 1,682; Clearfork, 2,175; Wolfcamp shale, 6,218 and Wolfcamp sand, 6,543 feet.

Southeast Hockley Strike Completes In Pennsylvanian

Young Oil Corp., Fort Worth, has completed its No. 1 J. B. Hockley Jr., et al, as a Pennsylvanian lime oil discovery, 3/4 mile north of the Poplar, West (Cisco sand) field in Southeast Hockley County.

Sun Exploration Rates Big Gas Flow

Sun Oil Co. No. 1-C W. D. Johnson Jr., 1/2-mile northeast stepout to the four-well Fusselman area of the Moore-Hopper field of Loving County, flowed gas at the rate of 9.6 million cubic feet per day, for an unreported time.

Weather

FORECAST: Partly cloudy with a chance of thunderstorms, mainly afternoon and evening through Thursday. No important temperature changes. High this afternoon near 95. Low tonight, middle 80s. High Thursday upper 80s. Southeastern winds 5 to 15 m.p.h. this afternoon and tonight. Probability of precipitation, 20 per cent this afternoon, 30 percent tonight and 20 per cent Thursday.

Midland Youngsters Gyrate Themselves To Dallas

Doing the knee knocker are Lance Evans, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Evans, at left, and winner Richard Snook, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Snook.

It was a fad of the late 1960s that never quite died and currently is enjoying a renaissance in the wake of the decade's nostalgic craze.

Midland youngsters of the '70s still are entering hula hoop contests, performing such feats as the knee knocker, stork, hula hop, Alley Oop, wrap the mummy and a selection of varieties all their own.

Midland Parks and Recreation building Tuesday afternoon was the site of one of those contests which drew 23 competitors ranging in age from 6 to 14.

Winners of that undulating competition now are eligible to compete in the state finals to be held July 28 on the state fairgrounds in Dallas.

In the girls' division, 14-year-old Ruth Williams wiggled her way into first place, with Cuesta Besty, also 14, taking the runner up slot.

First place boys' winner was Richard Snook, an 11-year-old contestant, and runner up was Eric Luna, 9.

Midland Gets .4 Inch Of Rain In Two Showers

Midland received about .4 of an inch of rain during two showers Tuesday afternoon although the official rain gauge for the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal caught only .02 of an inch.

The weatherman said more precipitation may be forthcoming, with 20 per cent probabilities for this afternoon and Thursday and a 30 per cent chance for tonight.

Tuesday's high was 92, followed by an overnight low of 66. The forecasted high this afternoon is near 90, dropping back to the upper 80s for Thursday's predicted maximum. The low tonight should be in the middle 60s.

Elsewhere across the state, clouds thinned and thunder-showers dwindled today.

Skies even cleared in many areas during the night, although occasional showers and a few thunderstorms lingered this morning near Mineral Wells and Lampasas in the central part of the state, between Cotulla and Victoria farther south and from the Upper Texas Coast inland past Houston and Beaumont.

Late Tuesday storms lasting extreme South Texas caused some flash flooding and property damage at Brownsville.

Temperatures went as high Tuesday afternoon as 95 degrees at Childress and El Paso. Readings early this morning ranged from 76 at Galveston and Tyler down to 66 at Amarillo. The Associated Press reported.

$100,000 Lawsuit Filed In Wreck

A $100,000 lawsuit alleging negligence in a Pecos traffic mishap in which a 23-year-old Nevada man was injured was filed in federal court today.

Richard Lindsay of Sparks, Nev., filed the suit against defendants Lloyd James McNeil and L. D. McNeil, both of Pecos.

Lindsay, in the petition, said he was a passenger in a vehicle which crashed into a street marker and guy wire in Pecos Feb. 16, 1974. The petition said that Lloyd James McNeil at that time was driving the vehicle and that it was owned by L. D. McNeil.

Warren Burnett Lindsay of Odessa is representing Lindsay in the suit.

Diplomat Says Shooting Heard Nightly In Saigon

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A French diplomat from Saigon reported today that shooting is heard nightly downtown in the South Vietnamese capital.

"By 8:30 p.m. the city is dead. People are afraid to go outside," said the diplomat, who arrived Tuesday and refused to be quoted by name.

He speculated that the clashes in Saigon and conflict which has been reported in the countryside would get worse as the new Communist regime im-

Andrews Council Reaffirms Decision On Old Jailhouse

ANDREWS—The mayor and city councilmen have authorized city manager Lew Wilson to let bids for demolition of the now-unused jailhouse located at Prairie Dog Town, standing by a previous decision which had come under fire from a local historical group.

At an earlier council meeting, councilmen had asked Wilson to seek bids to demolish the 1930 facility but were immediately criticized by the Andrews Historical Society.

The society said the building should be kept, even if not restored, because it was rare and had historical value.

The council affirmed its decision after touring the facility before the council session.

Renee Robinette Takes 4-H Title

LUBBOCK—Renee Robinette of Dawson County was high point winner with 25 points in the 11th annual District 2-4-H Horse Show which ended here late Tuesday.

Another Dawson County contestant, K'Lynn Boyer, was second place high point winner.

The two girls were among almost 200 contestants in the horse show at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair livestock pavilion during the two-day event.

The two girls also were awarded first and second places in showmanship with the Boyer girl taking top honors.

Dawson County placed as the top county among the 20 counties in the competition.

poses its will on the population. Saigon's Liberation Radio reported clashes in provinces near Saigon and the capture of armed troops who had been holding out.

In the Mekong Delta, a broadcast said, authorities in the province of My Tho recently organized a demonstration to encourage the population to reveal "henchmen and ex-soldiers who are still in hiding places."

Another broadcast said officials in the vicinity of Hue, the former imperial capital on the northern coast, were forming security units to patrol the Cambodian border, a mountainous, jungled potential sanctuary for anti-government elements, and the South China Sea coast.

Meanwhile, a program of repatriation for South Vietnamese began today under United Nations auspices with the return of two diplomats who represented the former Saigon government in Malaysia. Ly Van Tam, an administrative officer at the Kuala Lumpur embassy, and Nguyen Thai Liam, an assistant press attache, flew from Vientiane to Saigon aboard a plane chartered by the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees.

Both signed declarations stating their repatriation was voluntary.

Alexander Casella, a Swiss official of the U.N. refugee office, said more than 2,000 South Vietnamese have applied for permission to return. He said the number is expected to increase as information about the program circulates.

There are about 130,000 South Vietnamese refugees in the United States and its territories, and thousands more in other Asian countries.

Westerners returning from South Vietnam said about 50 Americans are still there, including missionaries, businessmen and relief workers. The sources predicted most of them would leave when transportation problems and bureaucratic procedures are ironed out by the new government.

San Antonio Police Battle Armed Gunman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A residential area in northeast San Antonio became a battleground late Tuesday as police, under the cover of darkness, used tear gas, hundreds of rounds of ammunition, and finally an armored car to flush out a man they blamed for killing a patrolman with a high-powered rifle.

When officers rushed the bullet-riddled house, they found Robert L. Keck dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, they reported.

According to police accounts, the siege and shootout began after officer James Anderson, 39, was shot in the head about 7:30 p.m. as he stepped from his car in front of the Keck home in a fashionable neighborhood.

Anderson had been called to investigate the shooting of Keck's son Tommy, 21. Police said he was shot in the arm as he tried to leave the dwelling. The young man was in fair condition today at Bexar County Hospital.

Investigators said a caller presumed to be the elder Keck at one point telephoned headquarters and warned police to stay away from the house, threatening to "kill somebody else." They said his motive for the shooting had not been determined.

Gandhi Says India Not Anti-American

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi says her government "is seriously trying for better relations with the United States" and hopes President Ford will go ahead with plans for a state visit late this year.

Mrs. Gandhi also announced a new economic program in an apparent effort to blunt criticism of her crackdown on her political opponents and the declaration of a national emergency she ordered last Thursday.

"It is very far from the truth to say that the government of India is anti-American," Mrs. Gandhi told a group of visiting American teachers on Tuesday.

She said she drew personal inspiration from "the great fighters of American history, like Jefferson and Lincoln. I admire the dynamism of the American people and their great advances in science and technology."

The comments were Mrs. Gandhi's friendliest toward the United States since Washington resumed arms shipments to Pakistan in March.

The new economic program, announced by the prime minister in a broadcast, included the promise of measures benefiting poor farmers, city workers earning fixed incomes and businessmen who have complained of cumbersome licensing procedures.

"The emergency provides us a new opportunity to go ahead with our economic tasks," Mrs. Gandhi said. "There is a chance now to regain the na-

Levi To Decide On CIA Cases By Himself

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi says he won't ask President Ford's permission if he decides to prosecute those involved in Central Intelligence Agency assassination plots and domestic wrongdoing.

Justice Department spokesman Robert Feldkamp said Tuesday that Ford has offered assurances that the attorney general will be free to decide whether to bring criminal charges against CIA personnel without presidential instructions.

"The attorney general has made clear to the President that he (Levi) will retain any prosecutorial discretion," Feldkamp said. "They did discuss this and Ford had no problem with it."

Recruits Sought For Texas DPS Training School

Recruiting for a Department of Public Safety training school to begin Oct. 28 has begun, Maj. E. K. Browning Jr., regional commander, announced today.

Recruits for the 16-week training school will be assigned to the Homer Garrison Jr. Law Enforcement Academy in Austin.

During training, recruits will receive $700 a month salary. Room and board at the academy will be about $60 a month. Recruits must furnish their own uniforms, Browning said.

Upon a recruit's commission as a patrolman, Browning said, his salary will increase to $876 a month with uniform and all equipment furnished.

Applicants to the school must be between the ages of 20 and 35, with weight proportionate to height. Eyesight must be no less than 20-40 correctable to 20-20. Good moral character, excellent physical condition and a minimum of 60 semester hours of college also are required.

Browning said application forms are available from any DPS office or patrolman.

Texas Cotton Acreage Down

AUSTIN (AP) — Lower cotton prices has resulted in a 12 per cent reduction in Texas cotton acreage, says Agriculture Commissioner John White.

White said Tuesday 4.8 million acres have been planted, a reduction of 700,000 from last year.

Cotton prices have been falling since the first of the year, the commissioner said.

He said some farmers planted other crops after their cotton fields were destroyed by hail and rain storms.

Ford Services Thursday Morning

DALLAS (AP) — Services for Robert E. Ford, 61, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday in Sparkman-Hillcrest Chapel here, with interment in Sparkman-Hillcrest Gardens.

Ford, an Associated Press newsman for 30 years, died Tuesday of cancer. Illness had kept him from working since mid-April.

Responsible as state editor for coordinating that news report since 1965, Ford was rated by his Texas boss as "the backbone of our news operation."

Known as a writer with exacting standards for himself and the countless coworkers he trained, Ford also was a columnist and novelist. His weekly column devoted to some facet of his native state, "A Texan Lost in Texas," appeared in dozens of newspapers.

James W. Mangon, The AP's Texas chief of bureau, said Ford "was the backbone of our news operation for two decades, and obviously will be missed. Bob Ford was a top professional newsman, unsurpassed at his job. His devotion to The AP and its principles will never be forgotten."

Ford, the son of a pharmacist, was born at Decatur, Tex., attended junior college there and later was a student at Baylor University and the University of Texas, where he was graduated in 1938.

He went to work first as a newsman with the Austin American-Statesman, and later the San Antonio Light before joining The Associated Press in 1948.

During World War II, Ford fought at a Marine Corps lieutenant—an experience that inspired published in 1970, "Sergeant Sutfon." It was translated into several foreign languages after successful sales in this country.

In the bitter battle for Iwo Jima in the Pacific, Ford was wounded and won the Silver Star and Purple Heart for action as lieutenant leading an anti-tank company whose higher officers had been killed. He served as a reserve officer after the war and was promoted to lieutenant colonel.

Associates knew him as a reporter and editor skilled at handling all kinds of news stories, and particularly so in the case of major events developing at rapid pace. Regular assignments in which he specialized were the main leads on all Texas elections.

The question arose after the President said in a Washington Post interview Monday that he would "expect to be informed" by Levi before any prosecution of government officials for past CIA activities and "would certainly want to discuss the pros and cons" of any criminal charges.

Questioned last Wednesday, Levi said "I would feel obligated to tell the President, to communicate the position of the department" on any prosecution stemming from the Rockefeller Commission labeled "plainly unlawful."

But the attorney general asserted, "I would not expect the President to tell the department what to do."

"Plenty Of Room"

After learning of Ford's remarks, Levi said there is plenty of room for the two statements to coexist," the spokesman related.

"The President certainly would be notified routinely if any prosecution the department might initiate would deal with national security or foreign policy," Feldkamp added.

He said Levi told Ford two weeks ago that "the decision had to be made here" in the Justice Department and there have been no different instructions from the White House since then.

Schlesinger Says Defense Plans Include First Use Of Nuclear Arms

By OSWALD JOHNSTON
The Los Angeles Times
WASHINGTON — Current U.S. planning for the defense of Western Europe includes a "selective strike at the Soviet Union" in a first use of NATO-based nuclear weapons, Secretary of Defense James H. Schlesinger said Tuesday.

distinguishable from a preemptive strike by long-range strategic weapons. Schlesinger evidently hoped to clear up public confusion about nuclear policy that had grown up in recent weeks over reports that first American use of tactical nuclear weapons could not be ruled out in defense of NATO.

At all times Schlesinger was low-keyed and unemotional in his remarks. He spoke carefully, resorting often to the "double negatives and convoluted phrases that are his trademark. And he was at pains to stress a conviction that administration arms policy is aimed at making nuclear war less likely than it has been up to now.

The main thrust of administration defense policy has been "to raise the threshold" of nuclear warfare by putting an increased emphasis on deployment of conventional ground forces, especially in Europe, Schlesinger asserted.

Similarly, Schlesinger reflected a growing sensitivity in the Ford administration to a recent spate of new articles which have suggested, erroneously, that the United States had traditionally forewarned first use of nuclear weapons in NATO or any other theater.

Asked a bit later on whether an expressed willingness, even under "very, very low probability," to launch a selective strike against Soviet territory might not breach the psychological "firebreak" between tactical nuclear war and an all-out exchange of weapons of massive destruction, Schlesinger replied this way:

"The notion that a nuclear firebreak if ever breached must inevitably lead to escalation to the top has been supported neither in American military planning nor doctrine nor policy statements... The notion that if one uses weapons... inevitably it must go all the way to the top is one that I do not understand the underlying logic... Presumably escalation is a conscientious choice."

Later, asked to explain further the blurring of the line between tactical weapons and strategic weapons contained in his scenario for fighting a nuclear war in Europe, Schlesinger replied in effect that the distinction is merely a semantic one that disappears once the weapons are fired.

Russia To Impose Tax On All Money Sent To Its Citizens From Abroad

By ROBERT C. TOTH
The Los Angeles Times
MOSCOW — The Soviet Union Tuesday announced that starting next January it will impose a tax of 30 per cent on all money sent to its citizens from abroad.

resolution was first announced in general terms three weeks ago but the size of the tax bite was not disclosed then. Also included in Tuesday's announcement was a list of categories exempted from the new tax, including persons receiving alimony payments, pensions, inheritances and the like.

Soviets are showing their muscle, much as Congress showed its muscle by passing the Jackson Amendment. The tax may be a bargaining ploy.

During their visit and talks with Soviets, the Senators have been probing the possibility of compromise on the trade-emigration issue. One of them suggested that Congress may now be willing to lift the credit restrictions this year and if the Soviets then doubled or tripled the current rate of granting exit visas (now about 13,000 a year), most-favored-nation status would be granted next year.

McGovern Says Friends Want Him To Be President But Don't Want Him To Go Through Campaign

By RICHARD BERGHOLZ
The Los Angeles Times
LOS ANGELES — If his friends had their way, says Sen. George McGovern, "they'd like to see me President — but they don't want me to run for it."

only an outside chance of winning," McGovern said. "I think most of my friends and supporters think I had a good run at it in 1972. We didn't make it. I was defeated by a large margin."

"The only time the American people will throw out an incumbent is when they like the alternative and if it's spelled out in a way that they feel they have a clear choice."

He was careful to stress that "conceivably" and "possibly" should be "underscored," and he added that such a first use of nuclear weapons is "indeed a very, very low probability."

Partly dead serious, partly self-mocking, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee Tuesday discussed his current political stance regarding the 1976 presidential race.

As for those who want to see him become President, but not by running for it, they are "sympathizers" who still feel the pain of the 1972 race that saw him lose to then President Richard M. Nixon everywhere except in Massachusetts and the District of Columbia.

"I can see a sizable proportion of those delegates being the same people who supported me in 1972," he said. "They were out again at the Kansas City mini-convention last December."

"I think the country has made a big investment in me. I was presidential candidate and I think my voice probably is still heard by some Americans."

McClure, Bivens Exchange Wedding Vows In Dallas

DALLAS—The Warren United Methodist Church here was the setting Saturday for exchange of vows between Rhonda Marcell McClure and Lt. Courtland Clous Bivens III. The Rev. J. D. Mooring officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James C. McClure of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. James Bradford, 1315 E. Parker St., Midland.

The organist was Mrs. J. T. Beckett and Mrs. Charles S. Turet was the violinist.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length diamond white gown of sate peau and imported French re-embroidered Chantilly lace with seed pearls. The fitted bodice extended to a decollete neckline and a deep border of the lace motif completely encircled the hem. The sleeves repeated the skirt treatment. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift from her godmother, and carried a cascade of white roses, baby's breath and stephanotis atop a Bible her mother carried in a bride.

Mrs. Courtland C. Bivens III

ed as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shirley Jones of Houston, Cecilia Conrad of Washington, D. C., Charm Price of Dallas, Meadowlark Arceneaux of Port Arthur and Marcie Crenshaw of Fort Worth. Junior bridesmaid was Paula McClure of Dallas, sister of the bride. Flower girl was Marcie Crenshaw of Fort Worth.

The best man was Carlos Rankin of Dallas. Groomsmen were Lt. Greg Douglass, Lt. Kent Friese, Lt. Bascom Durham and Lt. Don Moten, all of Fort Hood, Killeen, Texas. McClure of San Antonio was junior groomsmen; William McClure of Houston, cousin of the bride, carried the rings.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony. The couple will reside at Fort Rucker, Ala. after a Caribbean cruise.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Woman's University and is teaching in the Irving Independent School District as a resource teacher in the area of language learning disabilities. She is a member of the Council for Exceptional Children and the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, and was a 1972 debutante of the Dallas Idlewild Cotillion. The bridegroom is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. and a helicopter pilot with the United States Army.

Jamaica Sends Americans Cooling Birthday Greetings

With the U.S. 200th anniversary uponing, the people of Jamaica are sending a special kind of warm weather greeting to commemorate the occasion. It contains some of their most treasured recipes for easing the heat of a summer's day, or night.

During the early years of the American nation, slow transportation and inadequate food preservation techniques did not permit the creation of these recipes on the mainland. Today, the tropical fruit ingredients are readily available most anywhere in the U.S.

The earliest and perhaps most famous example of the Jamaican art of cooling off was the Planter's Punch, a refreshing combination of juices, rum and flavors. Others developed over the years included the Strawberry Cooler, Raspberry Rum Float, Pineapple Daisy, Banana Daiquiri and Orange Bowl Punch.

Since rum was one of the more popular drinks back in 1776, as it is today, early Americans probably tasted the birth of their new nation with it. Today's Americans can repeat the toasts and cool off at the same time.

Planter's Punch
Slice of orange
Silver of fresh pineapple
Maraschino cherry
1/2 oz. rum
1/2 oz. fresh lime or lemon juice
1 teaspoon of sugar
Dissolve sugar in lime juice, add rum and shake well with cracked ice. Strain into tall glass 3/4-8rds filled with cracked ice. Garnish with orange slice, pineapple silver and cherry. Serve with straw.

Banana Daiquiri
2-inch portion of ripe banana
1/2 oz. fresh lime or lemon juice
1/2 oz. rum
1/2 oz. banana liqueur
Place in blender with 2 1/2 ounces of cracked ice for 30 seconds. Serve in cocktail goblet. Garnish with banana slice.

Raspberry Rum Float
1 oz. fresh orange juice
1 oz. fresh lime or lemon juice
1/2 oz. rum
1 heaping teaspoon sugar
Place in blender with 3 ounces of cracked ice for 30 seconds. Serve in tall glass or cup. Float 4 fresh raspberries on top. Garnish with lime or lemon slice if desired. For special occasions, serve in scooped-out coconut with straw.

Pineapple Daisy
4 tablespoons crushed pineapple with syrup
1/2 oz. rum
1/2 oz. grenadine
Place in blender with 3 ounces of cracked ice for 30 seconds. Serve in large goblet or scooped-out pineapple. Float daisy on top.

Orange Bowl Punch
2 oz. fresh orange juice
1 oz. fresh lime juice
1/2 oz. fresh pineapple
1/2 oz. rum
1/2 oz. orange liqueur
1/2 cup fresh berries in season
Mix all in punch bowl with large piece of ice. Serve when cold in scooped-out oranges garnished with orange sections. Serve with straw.

Strawberry Cooler
2 tablespoons frozen strawberries with syrup
1/2 oz. rum
1/2 oz. fresh lime or lemon juice
Place in blender with 4 ounces of cracked ice for 30 seconds. Serve in large goblet. Garnish with fresh strawberry.

Running Free
Every morning when you tidy up the bathroom pour a teakettle of boiling water down the sink drain. This helps to keep it running free.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise
I sew for several members of my family and have devised a method of storing patterns that is very convenient for me. Moreover, it eliminates the clutter of pattern boxes.

I store the patterns in their original envelopes in a drawer that is just deep enough for the patterns to stand up. (If you don't happen to have one deep enough, they could be placed long side, down.)

I then file them according to the person for whom I purchased the pattern, picture side facing the front of the drawer.

In other words, all my daughters' patterns will be together, all my sons', etc. One could make a small cardboard divider between sections if desired.

I never have to rummage for a pattern for a certain person. I know just what section in the drawer the pattern will be in.

Gal, your hint's a dilly, especially for those who sew a lot. Beats having to drag a box out from that high shelf or fish it out from under the bed. Kisses to you.

Dear Heloise

Just had to tell you what took place at our house today. I was looking through the morning paper and had reached your column. (My husband and I read it every day; can't imagine how we ever managed without it!)

As I began to read, Jim called to me and I said, "Just a minute, I'm reading Heloise!"

How To Store And File Your Sewing Patterns

He said, "Heloise doesn't run this house!"

My answer to that was, "Oh, yes, she does!"

Bless you both! I love hearing from you and your letter was a ray of sunshine with my morning coffee.

Dear Heloise
Nylon-stretch dress gloves make the nicest garden and yard gloves. They fit so smoothly one can handweed easily, even transplant with them.

They don't keep your hands dry, do they? Wash them out under your garden hose and throw them in the washing machine. They wear longer than anything I have ever tried.

When preparing a can of biscuits (10 biscuits) for the two of us, I make five or six into sweet rolls.

I put butter or oleo, brown sugar and nuts into a muffin tin and press the biscuits on top.

Biscuits and rolls can be made in one muffin tin. You'll have rolls for dinner, plus dessert.

THIS COLUMN is written for you, the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren
Heart Attack Information Needed

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, a man had a heart attack at the ball park. The only member of his family present was his small son. The police and hospital were notified immediately, but it took them 20 minutes to arrive.

Meanwhile, about 30 people stood around, but nobody seemed to know what to do. The poor man hasn't regained consciousness yet, and it's doubtful that he ever will.

Abby, I took first aid in school and was taught what to do for bee stings and poison ivy, but I can't remember learning how to administer first aid to a victim of a heart attack. It doesn't make much sense that it isn't taught in first aid, considering that heart disease is the nation's No. 1 killer.

You would be doing a great public service if you published instruction on what to do for a heart attack victim until professional help arrives. I am sure many lives could be saved.

CONCERNED IN N.O.

DEAR CONCERNED: I consulted one of the world's foremost authorities, Donald E. Effler, senior cardiovascular surgeon at the Cleveland Clinic. His reply:

"The victim should lie flat. Closed chest massaging should be applied immediately. (This is manually compressing the victim's chest 50 to 60 times a minute.) Mouth-to-mouth breathing should be given at the same time if possible, so the complete first-aid treatment requires two people.

"If only one is present, these two procedures should be administered alternately. Victims have been known to be revived with this emergency treatment even after the heart has stopped beating.

"Victims of suffocation and drowning should be treated in the same manner. The two life-saving essentials, oxygen and circulation, can be provided without equipment in the above manner in an emergency situation.

"Unfortunately, our society has adopted a policy of 'non-involvement'! In our major cities, people ignore the cries of victims who might be saved from homicide, rape or even violent death. In the case you mention, it is likely that one or more competent people stood by when their intervention might have saved a life.

"It's difficult for the average citizen to believe that he can get into trouble by helping his fellow man—but he can! In some states, legal action has been taken against people who have administered first aid at the scene of an accident.

"In a number of states, the so-called 'good samaritan law' has been passed to prevent taking legal action against people who try to help others.

"In my own profession, it is common practice for doctors to drive away from emergency situations on highways where they could be of very real help. This is not 'inhumanity' on the part of doctors; it stems from the bitter experiences of many whose emergency treatment has had serious legal repercussions. We live in a strange society!

Very truly yours,
DONALD E. EFFLER, M.D.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl and would like your advice on a problem I am confused about.

Is it right for a girl my age to accept a present from a boy she has never met? Mike is 21, and a good friend of my cousin's. She said Mike saw a picture of me, and he just flipped over it, so he bought a present for me. His problem is that he is very shy.

Should I accept it or not?
CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: No. Tell your cousin that you would be pleased to meet Mike, but you don't accept gifts from strangers (even shy ones).

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Connally Threatening To Steal Reagan's Thunder

By ROBERT SHOGAN
The Los Angeles Times
WASHINGTON—John B. Connally, in the midst of a comeback drive, is threatening to steal some of Ronald Reagan's thunder on the Republican right.

In their eagerness to find a fresh and forceful spokesman, some conservatives appear willing to overlook Connally's ties to liberal Democratic administrations and his widely publicized trial on bribery charges, which culminated in his acquittal in April.

Two weeks ago Connally was the featured speaker at a day-long gathering in Orlando of the Florida Conservative Union, an affiliate of the American Conservation Union. He spoke for 10 minutes and then artfully fielded questions on a wide range of subjects, foreign and domestic, for 40 minutes more.

Florida Conservative Union, and other AGU affiliates, ideology is more important than party loyalty. As for the Young Republicans, they have publicly differed with President Ford over his alleged liberal policies and organization staffers expect the group to pass a resolution next week endorsing an open GOP presidential convention in 1976.

Connally does not pretend to be a conservative on the order of Ronald Reagan or Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater. "I think I am moderately conservative," he said recently. "But I would describe myself as being a middle-of-the-roader."

More so than Regan," said Richard Viguier, conservative activist and publisher who recently met with Connally to talk politics. "I was so impressed," said Viguier, who runs George Wallace's mail fund raising campaign, "that I told him I would be very eager to do anything to further his political interests."

How's Your News IQ?

Editor's Note: How much do you remember about the news of the world? This weekly quiz will help you find out. If you score fewer than five correct answers, you had better read the paper a little more carefully. If you get eight or more right, you rate an "A."

1. The United States and the Soviet Union have reached virtual agreement on the draft of an accord that would outlaw: (a) whaling in the Antarctic; (b) techniques for changing weather for military purposes; (c) deploying nuclear weapons in the Pacific.

mining; (c) a bill creating public service jobs.

9. In its ruling that harmless mental patients cannot be confined without treatment, the Supreme Court declined to decide whether such patients: (a) can be held against their will if treatment is provided; (b) are entitled to free legal aid; (c) have the right to choose their doctors.

Next week Connally will share top billing with Reagan at the biennial convention of the Young Republican (YR) National Federation in Indianapolis, an opportunity that was offered to him, YR sources said, at the urging of the Texas Young Republican group.

10. David Mathews, University of Alabama president, was nominated to become the new Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, following the resignation, effective August 16, of: (a) Robert H. Finch; (b) Claude S. Brinegar; (c) Caspar Weinberger.

But, Evans added: "He's looking at this conservative discontent and ferment, and to some degree, trying to position himself to lead it."

11. Now he's getting more invitations from conservative groups than ever," said Bradley O'Leary, executive director of the Texas GOP, who keeps in touch with Connally's informal political operation.

But Connally warms right-wing hearts with his attacks on the bureaucracy and his advocacy of a strong U.S. role in the world.

12. The 58-year-old Connally has some serious obstacles to overcome if he is to lay claim to right-wing loyalties. Not the least of these is the stigma, in conservative minds, of his past as a protégé of Lyndon B. Johnson. Almost as odious to some conservatives are Connally's former ties to former President Nixon whom he served as Treasury secretary and White House adviser.

More so than Regan," said Richard Viguier, conservative activist and publisher who recently met with Connally to talk politics.

4. Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, said that the nation's unemployment rate should fall by the end of 1976 to: (a) 9.5 per cent; (b) 8.5 per cent; (c) 7.5 per cent.

5. An Eastern Airlines Boeing 747 jetliner crashed on the edge of Kennedy International Airport in New York en route from New Orleans. The crash, the second, worst in the city's history, killed: (a) 81 persons; (b) 81 persons; (c) 111 persons.

6. The Supreme Court of India ruled that Indira Gandhi could continue as Prime Minister for the near future, despite her conviction for electoral corruption, but restricted her from: (a) running for another term; (b) voting in Parliament; (c) appealing her conviction.

7. The Democratic majority in the House of Representatives gave President Ford his fourth straight veto victory when they failed to override his veto of: (a) an emergency housing bill; (b) a bill regulating coal strip-

Sheinwold On Bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Make Simple Plays In Correct Order

Certain bridge plays, like taking candy from a baby, are easy in theory but tough in practice. For example, there are some hands in which the only problem is to make simple plays in the right order.

You take dummy's king of spades and lead the jack of hearts for a finesse.

West takes the king of hearts and leads his other trump to your ace. You cash two hearts to discard a diamond from dummy. Then you take the top diamonds and ruff a diamond in dummy.

Now you must lead a club from dummy. East steps up with the king of clubs and slaps down the queen of spades to draw dummy's last trump. You must lose a diamond trick, and you are down one.

PREDICTABLE TRAGEDY
This tragedy was predictable. If you looked ahead you could see there would be no way to get back to your hand.

Win the first trick in dummy with the king of spades and return a low club from dummy. West wins with the queen of clubs and leads his other trump to your ace.

You lead a diamond to dummy and return the jack of hearts. West takes the king of hearts but cannot lead a third trump.

You can ruff out your diamonds because you will be able to get to your hand by ruffing a club.

A very simple hand—if you look ahead at the second trick to see where you'll be at the ninth trick.

DAILY QUESTION
As dealer, you hold: S-A 8 7 3 H-A Q 10 D-K 8 4 2 C-J 2. What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid one diamond. Avoid opening with a weak four-card spade suit, especially when the hand is a minimum opening bid. A bid in a minor suit will solve your rebid problems.

Fish Fossils May Be Seen In Monument
KEMMERER, Wyo. (AP)—Fish that swam in waters that covered what is now the state of Wyoming, 40 to 65 million years ago, can still be seen in fossil form in the state's Fossil Butte National Monument, according to Rand McNally's National Park Guide for 1975. No other North American formation has produced so many significant aquatic fossils as this great series of lakebeds in Wyoming.

Quail Business Booming For Man In California

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Quail Inc., started just a little more than a year ago by Hank Bogardus, has turned out to be quite an operation.

It sells quail and quail eggs to dining establishments and Bogardus says he expects to have 70,000 quail for sale nationwide this year. Pickled quail eggs can be used as a substitute for a martini olive, he says.

Bogardus says a quail lays an egg a day. Those that are fertile go into incubators and hatch in 17 days. When the birds are 24 days old they are transferred to growing cages.

He said the Coturnix quail is the species best suited for his operation. After eight weeks the quail reach an optimum point when the cost of feeding is not returned on the market. Then they become eligible for the menu.

Bogardus says the bird's menu price is comparable to a quality steak.

Battle To Get Into Right School Fact Of Life For Japanese Students

By MARK MURRAY
The Observer, London
TOKYO — For two days ultra-cautious professors at a top Tokyo women's university agonized over the dubious sex of an entrance examinee. Although glamorously decked out in fashionable clothes and a gorgeous wig, the candidate had ugly, mannish hands and, under the heavy pancake make-up, the suspicion of beard stubble.

ed up enough courage for a confrontation, under the wig was a middle-aged high school English teacher taking the exams on behalf of his 17-year-old daughter. Behind this bizarre tale is a real and depressing fact of life for Japanese students — the battle to get into the "right" school. It is a cut-throat business that can start from kindergarten at the age of three until the weary student claws his way into a top university and hasn't a clue why he or she is there. Usually it is called "examination hell" and it has produced a forbidding breed known as Kyoiku Mama (education mother), a fanatic who will go any lengths to ensure her children get on to the narrow road to success. In Japan, success is measured in terms of where one graduates, not what one has learned there (which tends to have no practical application).

The problem lies in the fact that there are only 77 "first class" colleges and universities. They are the national (government-supported) establishments. Of the 77 national institutions, the best, Tokyo University, gets 10 per cent of the government aid and, in turn, provides virtually the entire government and business leadership. The competition to enter this handful of elite schools is obviously fierce, and unless a child is a natural-born genius, regular classroom lessons will be insufficient to cope with the severe entrance examinations. The child with ambition must go to evening, Saturday and Sunday classes at private prep schools for further general schooling, and then to private tutors or special schools to polish up individual subjects. There is homework to be tackled until after midnight, with the family terrified to switch on the television or make any noise that could break concentration. Small wonder that the incidence of defective eyesight is abnormally high among Japanese youths. Saburo Hashimoto, a senior official of the left-wing Japan Teachers' Union, says: "What is needed is a radical reform of Japanese society, because right now a diploma from the right school is still the key to acceptance. Apart from prestige, it's a matter of money. Private university tuition fees are 10 times higher than the national." Mitsui Fujinami, education expert of the ruling Liberal Democratic party, says the government's aim is to improve the other (private) establishments by more financial aid and better training of teachers. He also believes it is necessary to adopt a uniform entrance exam for all national universities and have a system that gives all, rich or poor, an equal opportunity to develop their native intelligence. Education Minister Michio Nagai is urging business leaders to cooperate in his plan to create a society that does not attach so much importance to academic background. He wants to see a merit system, not the "right" school diploma, govern company entrance and promotion opportunities.

EPA Pulls Back From Support Of Bottle Deposits

By DOUGLAS WATSON
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Environmental Protection Agency, under heavy pressure from corporate and union lobbyists, has pulled back from its previous strong advocacy of controversial legislation to require deposits on soft drink and beer containers.

With some exceptions — most notably in Oregon, Vermont and South Dakota — a united front of industry and labor thus far has succeeded in defeating measures aimed at saving energy and reducing litter by replacing with returnable containers the more than 60 billion no-deposit beverage cans and bottles thrown away in this country annually.

However, the national "Bottle and Can Battle," which mixes emotional environmental, economic and energy issues, is far from over.

Businesses and unions, motivated by what they see as likely job losses and other direct economic threats, are estimated by one of their leaders, William Coors, chairman of the board of the Adolph Coors Co., to be spending $20 million a year to counter proposed legislation.

Even so, according to Donald E. Prescott of the National Soft Drink Association, "It's a constant, everyday battle. In every village and hamlet there's an environmental group working for deposit legislation.

The corporate and union forces, which this year have met with officials at the White House and at other high levels of the Ford administration, appear to have a substantial impact on the Environmental Protection Agency.

Last November EPA Administrator Russell E. Train emphatically stated his enforcement of federal deposit legislation in a San Francisco speech. "Nationwide mandatory deposit legislation would create a situation in which 90 per cent of all containers used were refillable," he said.

If each of those refillable containers were used 10 times, he added, it would save the energy equivalent of 2.5 million gallons of oil per day.

In December, Donald M. Kendall, chairman and chief executive officer of Pepsi Co. Inc., sent Train a blistering letter that charged: "Your advocacy of a national beverage container deposit bill is directly counter to the President's war on inflation and his concern for unemployment. Your position defies and denies the will of the people as expressed by their free choice of containers."

Kendall's three-page letter continued, "By adding more fuel to the fire, you have guaranteed an absolute waste of tens of millions of dollars (government and private) by extending legislative debates on this issue at the federal, state and local level."

The corporate and union opponents of beverage deposit legislation followed Kendall's blunt letter by meeting this winter with White House aides, then-Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent, officials of the Treasury Department and Federal Energy Administration, as well as with Train, to press their point of view.

There is other evidence of a pullback this year by EPA from its former strong advocacy of beverage deposit legislation.

Louisiana Primary Bill Defeated

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Bowling to the desires of Gov. Edwin Edwards, the state Senate has rejected a bill to establish a presidential primary in Louisiana.

It was a rebuff for Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who made a special trip here earlier in the summer to plug the bill in a speech to a joint session of the legislature.

Wallace carried Louisiana in a three-way presidential race in 1968 and predicted he would win a primary next year if one was held.

A bill authored by one of the Alabama governor's Louisiana operatives passed the House with little opposition a few days after his appearance.

However, Edwards predicted at the time he would have no difficulty getting the Senate to kill the measure. The vote against the bill Tuesday was 12-26.

Although it remained techni-

Airport Officials To Impound Cars

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP)—The Dallas-Fort Worth Airport board of directors decided at a meeting Tuesday to authorize the airport's Department of Public Safety personnel to impound and auction vehicles left unattended for more than 90 days, an airport spokesman said.

Under the new plan, unattended vehicles will be impounded after 90 days and the owners notified.

If the owner does not respond within 30 days of the notice, the car will be sold to the highest bidder.

Yarborough Wants Probe Reopened

ARLINGTON (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough says the investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy should be reopened, because "if you weren't a Johnson or Connally friend, you weren't likely to be called" before the Warren Commission.

Speaking to students at the Taft Institute of Government at the University of Texas at Arlington, Yarborough, now an Austin attorney, said, "You never heard me make a statement anywhere that the Warren Commission report was complete."

Yarborough, who rode in the motorcade which wound through downtown Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, said he sent a picture from the Saturday Evening Post to Earl Warren, then chief justice of the United States, which Yarborough said showed how some cars in the presidential motorcade had bunched together.

The former senator said the cars, including the one in which the President was riding, slowed down after the first shot, instead of speeding off immediately.

Yarborough said he volunteered to appear before the Warren Commission but was never called.

South Pole Expeditions

The South Pole was reached for the first time in December 1911 by Roald Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, who disappeared later on another exploring expedition.

He reasoned that passage of the measure would only encourage Wallace to pursue plans to seek the Democratic nomination rather than run on a conservative third party ticket with former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Duval said he was fed up with both national parties and would support a Wallace-Reagan or a Reagan-Wallace ticket.

He said he did not believe Wallace could gain the Democratic nomination, "with or without the Louisiana delegation."

In announcing his position, Duval read from a letter he said he sent the governor informing Edwards that he would change his position and oppose the bill.

Another of those who voted no, Sen. Ted Hickey of New Orleans, did not state specifically in advance whether he would oppose the bill but said he resented any inference that he had been pressured by the governor.

"I can guarantee you that he has not put any pressure on me nor do I know of anyone he has," said Hickey. "He may have asked some people if they could support him."

Hickey's remarks came after Sen. Bob Jones, who is running for governor against Edwards, said it was "most unfortunate" that the governor had involved himself in the issue "by sending threatening letters."

Edwards sent letters to House members warning that a vote in favor of the presidential primary might result in a veto of some of their pet projects.

Although Edwards' public reasons for opposing the primary concern its cost to taxpayers, he is known to fear privately that Wallace would win a primary in Louisiana.

The governor has stated his preference for Sen. Lloyd Benson of Texas for the Democratic nomination. He also has said he does not believe Wallace has a chance to get the nomination, with or without Louisiana's support.

Ford's Request For Delay In Auto Exhaust Cleanup Faces Opposition

By SPENCER RICH
The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — President Ford's request for a four-year delay on auto-pollution cleanup deadlines is facing major opposition in the Senate Public Works Committee and may be headed for defeat.

Senators Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and James L. Buckley, Cons.-R-N.Y., in an unusual left-right union, have come up with a counter-plan giving the President only two years, on one condition: that the delay in reaching the tough cleanup deadline is legally tied to making Detroit improve the gasoline mileage on its automobiles.

The President's plan for a four-year moratorium on further legal requirements for auto cleanup was announced last Friday amid high praise from General Motors, Ford and other industry spokesmen.

Some said the proposal would give Detroit more time to work out better methods of controlling pollution while simultaneously developing smaller, higher-mileage cars that would save fuels in the years to come.

Industry sources have repeatedly complained that it is too much of a technical burden to achieve both aims at the same time, especially under the requirements of the existing law that the final tough limit on pollutants be reached by the 1978 model year.

What Ford requested was that the existing, easier limits on emissions of hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxides be frozen for four years beyond the current deadline, or until 1982. While that White House obviously hopes the industry will use that time to improve gas mileage as well as pollution devices, Ford's plan wasn't tied to any legal requirement for improved mileage.

Even as Ford's proposal was being announced at a White House press conference by Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb, a counter-proposal drafted a day earlier was being circulated to members of the Public Works Committee by Muskie, long-time chairman of the Air and Water Pollution subcommittee and father of the original auto pollution law, and Buckley, senior Republican on the subcommittee who has long

Shooting Suspect Sought By Police

HOUSTON (AP) — Police sought today a gunman who shot and wounded Charles Otto, Houston Business College business manager.

Otto, 24, was listed in fair condition after being shot in the abdomen Tuesday in his office by a gunman whose head was wrapped in what appeared to be elastic bandages.

Police said they did not know why the man shot Otto. No money was taken, they said.

Hearing Recessed

HOUSTON (AP) — City Council has recessed until July 14 a hearing on an application by Houston Lighting and Power Co. for a rate increase.

been associated with conservation causes.

What the Muskie-Buckley proposal says to Detroit, in effect, is this:

— Okay, if you want to build a new generation of lighter, smaller cheaper cars that will get much better mileage and thus meet both the mileage and price competition of imports, we'll give you a freeze on meeting the tough 1978 pollution standards. It will be for two years and for cars that, beginning in 1978, get at least 20 miles per gallon in urban driving based on federal tests. You can have until 1980 on meeting the pollution standards on these cars because we recognize that developing them will present special technical difficulties. But we think two years will be enough.

— For any big cars that don't meet the 20-mpg standards, the 1978 clean-air deadline will still apply.

Buckley is said to view the proposal as going a long way toward meeting the President's objectives while holding the industry's feet a little closer to the fire than Mr. Ford would.

"This is probably the most effective way to speed up construction of real high-mileage cars," said a Buckley aide.

"This goes a long way toward meeting the problems the administration has raised. . . . The National Academy of Sciences has said the industry could meet anti-pollution standards by 1978 by a variety of devices."

An important aspect of both the administration and Muskie-Buckley proposals is the desire to let the industry develop high-mileage, low-price cars to meet foreign competition and save jobs of U.S. auto workers in Detroit. Some relaxation of the tough 1978 goals for at least a few years is seen as needed to let Detroit make the effort to develop these types of cars.

While the Muskie-Buckley plan does provide some relaxation of the goals, Detroit is unlikely to view its going far enough. A United Auto Workers spokesman said Tuesday that the Muskie-Buckley plan doesn't sufficiently relax the requirements and would mean further loss of auto industry jobs through competition from low-cost, high-mileage imports.

Included in the Muskie-Buckley proposal — on which the subcommittee is to start voting next week — is a proposal to relax permanently the very tough final emission standards for smog-producing nitrogen oxides.

Don Knotts Once Soap Opera Star

By NANCY ANDERSON
Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD—Don Knotts, the shaggy deputy sheriff in Andy Griffith's first television series, hasn't gone back to Mayberry, but he has returned to small-town life in "Harry and Maggie," a CBS-TV comedy which may spin into a weekly show.

Since Knotts has become so thoroughly identified with comedy, most TV aficionados have forgotten that he was a soap opera star for three years (1956-59) playing traumatized Wilbur Peterson in "Search for Tomorrow." Lee Grant, who also went on to better things, played his sister.

Though soap operas have armies of devoted fans, Don found out that his wife wasn't among them one day after he played a scene with an actor named Les.

In those days, whatever went on in the studio during soap opera production was what the viewers saw. No matter how horrendous the mistakes, they went out to the homes of the nation.

One day, Don as the neurotic Wilbur was playing a scene with Les who suddenly and completely forgot his lines.

They were. "When I got home that night," Knotts finishes the story, "I asked my wife, 'Well, how did you like the show today?'"

Attendance Drops
HOUSTON (AP) — The Tax Research Association says average daily attendance in the Houston Independent School District declined 13,548 over a three-year period from its total of 198,825 in 1970-71.

Money Matthau's Main Objective

By AL COHN

His hair was gray and thin, liver spots speckled his scalp and his face was pinched and wrinkled. Walter Matthau, 54, looked at least 20 years older — a splendid tribute to the makeup man who transformed him for the upcoming movie, "The Sunshine Boys."

In his natural state, Walter Matthau has a full head of black hair and a comfortably creased countenance, but no matter. One senses that Matthau is always, well, Matthau, and one is right.

thousand on a game, that's terrible. That's a terrible compulsiveness that leads my body to all sorts of pains and illnesses of the psyche and the brain. So now, I haven't gambled in awhile and I'm very pleased. Gambling also creates excitement. You make your own excitement. And excitement is not the best thing in the world for your senses. Or your organs. People are always seeking excitement. So I haven't quit, but I haven't gone crazy. It's sort of under control.

Nashville Folk Not Too Taken With 'Nashville'

By MATT YANCEY
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Robert Altman's movie "Nashville" opens in 12 cities across the United States this week after raves from film buffs in New York and Los Angeles.

Both Altman and the movie's music arranger, Richard Baklan, brush off the criticisms. "I think it probably got a little too close to the truth," Altman said. "The people at Opryland aren't interested in the truth; they're interested in their corporate image."

Others, including a few Music Row studio musicians who had bit parts in the film, said the movie and the 27 songs in it are an inaccurate slur on country music and its people.

Deplores Reaction
He admitted he is upset that the reaction in Nashville has been critical, and noted that characters from New York and Los Angeles are shown as having the same foibles.

Q: You speak highly of doing performances — "smelling and tasting" what the audience is feeling — yet your career has been mostly in films. Why?

Q: Do you still consider making movies, in your words, "almost like being in the army?"

Q: Why, specifically, do you regard acting as "the hardest job known to mankind?"

Q: So this is something that comes through without a conscious effort?

Q: How do you feel about working in the theater?

Q: More than anyone I can think of, a very strong sense of Walter Matthau — his cynicism, his attitude toward life — comes through in most if not all of your roles. How do you feel about that?

Q: That certainly leads us neatly to the next question: Do you have any plans for a return to Broadway?

Q: Set this is something that comes through without a conscious effort.

MINNESOTA, NORTH DAKOTA HIT BY HEAVY RAINS—

Crop Damages Are Expected To Top $125 Million

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Four days of pelting rains have flooded more than a million acres of cropland in several North Dakota and Minnesota counties. Officials estimate losses will top $125 million.

Fields throughout the fertile Red River valley of the north were under water Tuesday in the wake of torrential rains which have dumped up to 12 inches of water on southeastern North Dakota and western Minnesota since last Saturday. Scattered tornadoes and hail added to the havoc.

The National Weather Service predicted that occasional showers and thunderstorms will continue through Sunday, and it said extensive flooding could be expected as water drains off the fields into such rivers as the Red, James, Sheyenne and Maple.

Officials of two counties in North Dakota estimated damage in their areas alone at $100 million.

Extension agents in Minnesota's Clay, Norman and Wilkin counties estimated damage to sugar beet, spring wheat, sunflower and potato crops in their areas at $25 million. They said 60 to 100 per cent of the crops planted this spring have been destroyed.

"The crop is lost for this year and there's nothing we can do about it," said Ozzie Daellenbach, Clay County, Minn., extension agent. "At this point, it looks like it's costing us at least $30 million. I've been in this area for 37 years and I've never seen such wide flooding at this time of year."

The crops primarily affected in North Dakota are sunflowers and small grains — oats, barley, soy beans and wheat.

at North Dakota State University, said Tuesday night there was no over-all view of damage from storms which dumped up to a foot of rain on some areas, because it was "too widespread and too quick."

"Many fields are covered with water now, and if it can get away in two or three days, the damage may be 10 per cent less in the normal yield," Wilkins said. "If the water stays on for another four or five days, then it would be a total loss."

He said a firm damage estimate will not be available for a week or more because some farmers cannot get into their fields, but he said a "wild guess" would put losses at several hundred million dollars — from lower yields, crop plant-

Storms Head For Great Lakes Area

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms which ravaged crops in North Dakota and parts of Minnesota weakened and moved eastward today toward the Great Lakes area, as other showers and storms headed toward the Southeast.

High pressure in the East and low pressure in the West continued to bring warm, moist air into the central third of the nation but promised sunny and warm weather for the Northeast, and sunny and dry conditions for the Southwest.

Mild temperatures with showers and thundershowers were predicted for the Pacific Northwest and northern California.

Widely scattered afternoon showers and thundershowers were predicted for an area that embraced the Gulf Coast states; Georgia, Arkansas, Oklahoma and the southern Rockies; and Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Midwest thunderstorms lost much of their punch Tuesday night, with no warnings nor reports of severe weather since late in the afternoon. But the torrential rains they had brought over the last several days were already causing record flood crests on some rivers and streams in North Dakota and adjoining sections of Minnesota.

The West Fargo, N.D., Police Department called for volunteer sandbaggers Tuesday night with the Sheyenne River reported at 20.5 feet and rising, and a crest of 22 feet predicted — 5.5 feet above flood stage. A previous record flood in 1969 brought a crest of 21.7 feet.

The National Weather Service said the Red River mainstem was expected to flood north to Pembina, N.D., with a 40-foot crest expected at Grand Forks July 8 — 12 feet above flood stage. The Maple River was also reported cresting at record levels.

Damage estimates for several western Minnesota counties were expected to exceed $25 million, according to agriculture agents in the Red River Valley. The valley is the largest beet sugar growing area in the nation, one of the largest areas for spring wheat, the largest area for sunflowers and the third or fourth largest for potatoes.

Meanwhile, scattered storms in the Pacific Northwest picked up strength for a brief time early today, with thunderstorms in western Montana accompanied by reports of large hailstones.

Temperature extremes over the nation ranged from 91 at Phoenix, Ariz. to 47 at Klamath Falls, Ore., Paso Robles, Calif. and Concord, N.H.

Travelers Stranded

FORT NELSON, B.C. (AP) — Hundreds of travelers, some from locations as distant as South America and Europe, have been stranded in Fort Nelson, B.C., because heavy rains caused mud slides and washouts along the Alaska Highway.

Counselor Ellen Zeebeck of the Fort Nelson tourist information center estimated 2,000 travelers, "all of them headed for Alaska," were stranded. Royal Canadian Mounted Police put the number at closer to 1,000.

A Highway Department official in British Columbia said it would take about 10 days to repair a washed out span of the Racing River Bridge, the major obstacle in reopening that portion of the road.

Washouts forced the closure Friday of a 325-mile section between Watson Lake and Fort Nelson, about 350 miles northeast of Prince George, B.C. Forty miles of highway between Dawson Creek and Fort St. John were closed by mudslides at Mile 31 Sunday.

Authorities said it would be at least Tuesday before the longer section in the north reopens to traffic. They said it wasn't known how long the southern section would be blocked.

Zeebeck said a large recreation center has been opened for the travelers in Fort Nelson, a town of 5,000. In addition, she said, the community has been entertaining the visitors.

"We've got bingo ready for them tonight," she said, "and Aurora Furniture took down a television for the kids and someone brought ponies for them to ride."

Bus tours of local sites, extra showings at the movie theater and a parade Tuesday were scheduled, she said.

"All of them are headed for Alaska," she said. "Lots of folks told me they've been saving three or four years for the trip."

She said some of the travelers included residents of South America, Switzerland, Germany and areas throughout the continental United States.

Some travelers who are running out of money, she said, are taking temporary jobs in Fort Nelson.

She said there is one detour drivers could take to avoid the roads washed out by heavy rains and the summer melting of snow. But it adds 1,400 miles to the trip to Alaska, she said.

Midland Couple Attends Retreat

Mr. and Mrs. Alvey Bryant Jr. of Midland recently participated in a young couples retreat sponsored by the Texas Farmers Union at Hilltop Lakes Resort near Normangee.

The Bryants joined young Farmers Union couples to discuss policies of the union and leadership in their own communities.

Jay Naman, state president of Texas Farmers Union, urged the couples to assume responsibilities of leadership. He said, "Farmers-Union must have young couples such as you who are attending this retreat."

British Tourist Business Booming

Agence France-Press

LONDON — The decline in the pound's value has led to a boom for the British tourist sector, official figures showed Wednesday.

The number of tourists was 25 per cent up on last year during the past three months, said Mark Hethig, head of the British Travel Association.

He added: "I don't want to sound too happy because the falling pound is a national disaster."

Equal Employment Conference Slated

FORT WORTH (AP) — The West Texas region of National Conference of Christians and Jews will sponsor an equal employment opportunity conference next Tuesday from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The conference theme, "Seniority, Layoffs, Promotion and Affirmative Action in a Crisis Economy," is designed to allow representatives from business, labor and minority groups to examine employment in the present economy.

Judicial Qualifications Committee Won't Act On Odessa Hoax Case

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Maurice Pipkin, executive director of the Judicial Qualifications Commission, said Wednesday no formal action is planned at a July 12 meeting against an Odessa district judge and justice of the peace who knew of a phony drug bust.

Wednesday Pipkin somewhat retracted his earlier statement that, "The matter is on the agenda."

The nine member commission, established by a constitutional amendment, cannot take any action against the judge until a formal complaint is filed.

"We have got to have something more tangible than hearsay," Pipkin said. As of Wednesday morning he said no formal complaint had been filed with the commission against either state district court judge R. L. McKim or Justice of the Peace Jan Brooks of Odessa.

"Allegedly they know of the phony drug bust staged by district attorney investigators to arrest an undercover narcotics agent so the drug underworld would believe he really was a drug dealer."

The Judicial Qualifications Commission looks into the conduct of judges and justices of the peace. It may privately or publicly reprimand a judge, recommend he be removed by the Texas Supreme Court or take no action.

Orioles, Brewers Win

By The Associated Press
Last weekend, the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees only had eyes for each other. Suddenly, they're eyeing the Milwaukee Brewers and Baltimore Orioles as well.
The Orioles outslugged the Red Sox 10-6 while the Brewers were defeating the Yankees 6-3 Tuesday night, further tightening the race in the American League's East Division. The Red Sox lead the Brewers and Yankees by one game, with the defending champion Orioles just 6½ games out.

Milwaukee, which begins a three-game set against the Red Sox tonight with a doubleheader, trailed by five games two weeks ago while the Orioles were nine games back as recently as last Friday.
Brewers 6, Yankees 3

The Brewers posted their fourth consecutive victory behind the five-hit pitching of Jim Colborn and Rick Austin. George Scott had two doubles and a single, drove in a run and scored twice while ex-Yankee Mike Hegan drove in two runs with a single in the two-run first inning and a grounder in the Brewers' four-run third.

Lafayette Splits Pair

By The Associated Press
Texas League teams hauled out the heavy wood Tuesday night as Midland and Shreveport pumped out 24 hits including five home runs and Jackson and Lafayette each drummed hit-laden innings in their doubleheader.
Jackson capitalized on a seven-run sixth inning to snatch the first game of a doubleheader from Lafayette, 8-1. Jim Kidder, Angel Contreras, and Bob Salinger all popped two-run doubles in the Mets' cause. Jeff Grose, 6-5, notched the mound victory for Jackson.

In the nightcap, the Drillers bounced Jackson 11-1, bunching five runs into the fifth inning. John Yerginski got two hits in four trips to the plate and two RBIs.
A sacrifice fly by Tony Manning to score Mike Krizmanich gained for San Antonio a 2-1 decision over El Paso. Winning pitcher Ron Salyer, 4-6, allowed the Dablos only four hits.
The Arkansas at Alexandria game was postponed because of rain.
Tonight's schedule shows El Paso at San Antonio, Midland at San Antonio and Lafayette at Jackson for single games and Arkansas at Alexandria for a doubleheader.

Pirates 10, Expos 4
Bill Robinson drove in three runs to key Pittsburgh's 17-hit attack as the Pirates buried Montreal Rookie John Candalaria, with late relief help, was the winner.

Cubs 5, Mets 4
Jerry Morales knocked in the winning run with an infield single in the 10th, leading Chicago past New York.

Cardinals 6, Phillies 5
Bake McBride drove in three runs with a pair of singles and stole two bases to lead St. Louis past Philadelphia. Al Hrabosky, the Cardinal relief ace appearing in his fourth straight game, recorded his 12th save of the year.

Giants 9, Braves 1
Chris Speier drove in five runs with a pair of doubles as surging San Francisco beat Atlanta for its fifth straight victory.

Dodgers Win Fight, Lose Ferguson Fractures Wrist

By The Associated Press
The Los Angeles Dodgers are hitting for a change—but this time it's with their fists, not their bats.
The Dodgers, no doubt bothered by their poor performance of late, took out their frustrations on the San Diego Padres Tuesday night with a bench-clearing brawl.
The Dodgers won the fight, but lost the game, 10-1.
"The brawl might spur 'em on, make them a better ball club," said Dodger Manager Walt Alton, whose team lost its sixth game in the last seven, "but I sure hate to lose Joe Ferguson for eight weeks."

Midland Bombs Captains, 9-5

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Midland's Cubs showed little respect for one of the Texas League top winning pitchers in raking Mike Kavanaugh, 8-4, for a 9-5 series-evening victory over Shreveport here Tuesday night.
The win left the Cubs eight games behind the Captains in the Texas League West Division and Midland will attempt to shove another from that margin tonight when Donnie Moore, 7-4, goes against Randy Sealy, 6-3.
"He has been pitching well," said Manager Tim Murtaugh of his ace Kavanaugh, "but everything he threw tonight was high and when he got the ball up Midland hit it."
The big blow for the Cubs, who have won the last two after losing the first two of the series, were home runs by Steve Clancy and Al Montreuil and the Bruins' 14-hit attack more than offset a three-homer barrage by the Caps. Mitchell Page connected twice for Shreveport to raise his total to 13 and Melvin once for No. 10.
Mike Weiss, with relief help from Gary Junge, notched his second win in four decisions.
Kavanaugh whiffed the side in the first, but in between whiffs, Midland managed a run as Bill Huisman singled, Bill Droege beat out a bunt and Wayne Tyrone singled to load the bases before Montreuil walked to force in a run.
In the second, Jose Ortiz walked, stole second and scored on Huisman's single up the middle. Page's homer in the home second made it 2-1, but Bill Bright tripled to right center in the third and scored on Montreuil's fly.
In the sixth, Joe Wallis doubled off the boards in left and was balked to third. Mike Sember walked and Clancy delivered his third homer, a 360-foot blow over the left field fence.
It was a timely blow because Mike Edwards hit a two-out single in the sixth and Page hit an opposite field homer to cut the Cubs' lead to 6-3.

In the seventh, Montreuil's sixth homer, second of the series, after a Bright single just about sailed it away for the Cubs. Shreveport scored a run in the seventh on Frank Grundler's double and Harry Saterlight's single and nicked Junge for a run in the ninth on Melvin's homer.

CUB BRIEFS — Midland Manager Doc Edwards rates Kavanaugh and Moore as the two hardest throwing pitchers in the Texas League. Midland raised its series edge over Shreveport to 12-8, but the Cubs still trail here, 6-3, where the Captains have a 26-7 record. The teams play here tonight and Thursday before the Cubs move into El Paso for a series.
Two great defensive catches helped keep Cub pitching out of trouble. Droege robbed Melvin with a catch in left in the second and centerfielder Wallis bounced off the wall to rob Tommy Thomas in the eighth.
Another heads up play came when Melvin opened the sixth with a double and headed for third. When he saw the throw had him beat, he headed back for second where first baseman Wayne Tyrone was waiting to take the throw and make the tag. It made up a little for Ty's faux pas the night before when he failed to cover home in a run down.

Foreman Signs With Vikings

Football

Chuck Foreman, the Minnesota Vikings' leading rusher and pass receiver last season, has signed a three-year contract with the team, the Vikings announced Tuesday. Foreman, who had one year remaining on his original contract had been thinking about retiring, but is happy with the new pact. He rushed for 777 yards and caught 53 passes and led the National Football League with 15 touchdowns in 1974.

Basketball

A six-nation pre-Olympics basketball tournament set for Aug. 4-5 had been cancelled today. The Canadian Amateur Basketball Association and co-ordinators of International Competitions called off the tourney because they were unable to get confirmation that the Soviet Union, United States, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Cuba would join Canada in the competition.

Baseball

Chicago White Sox pitcher Terry Forster, 1974 Fireman of the Year, has returned to the 25-man active roster after being on the disabled list since May 23. He replaces outfielder Bob Coluccio who suffered a severe ankle sprain in Monday's game with Oakland.

The Philadelphia Phillies signed veteran catcher Tim McCarver Tuesday as a free agent and sent outfielder Mike Rogodzinski to their Toledo farm club.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn pledged Tuesday he will take whatever measures that are necessary to discourage major league coaches and players from harassing or attacking sports writers.

A museum in the honor of Cy Young, the winningest pitcher in baseball history, will open Friday with an array of memorabilia on display, much of it from the Cy Young era from 1890-1911. It is located at Newcomerstown, Ohio.

Golf

The Texas State Junior Girls Golf Championship has drawn a near record field for competition July 7-11 at Forest Oaks Country Club in Dallas. Sixty-three girls 17 years and younger have already entered the tourney.

Hockey

Doug Barkley today was named coach of the Detroit Red Wings, succeeding Alex Delvecchio, who will remain as general manager of the National Hockey League team.

Bowling

Competition of five finalists in the $50,000 San Jose Open Bowling Tournament was rescheduled from Tuesday to today because of a problem with television taping cameras. Fort Worth's Gary Dickinson whose 9,819 total included 555 bonus pins for 18 victories and one tie, leads the competition.

Rangers Cop 5-4 Victory Over Royals

Football

There's an old adage that you pay for your mistakes but Texas Rangers pitcher Ferguson Jenkins' performances in his last two starts at home are living proof that the rule doesn't always apply.

Jenkins is leading the American League in home runs allowed with 23, and seven of those have come in his last two starts at Arlington Stadium. Both of the starts have resulted in Jenkins victories, however, as all seven homers were solo shots and the 6-foot-5 right-hander has allowed no other runs.

In his latest effort Tuesday night, Jenkins beat the Kansas City Royals 5-4 but at the same time surrendered to an awesome power display of three homers by John Mayberry and one by Harmon Killebrew.

Mayberry's third homer and Killebrew's homer both came in the ninth inning and made the score 5-4. Then Jenkins walked Cookie Rojas and gave up a single to Fran Healy before Stan Thomas came in to strike out pinch hitter Tony Solaita for the third out. For Thomas, who has four victories out of the bullpen, it was his first major league save.

"I threw him (Solaita) a breaking ball and obviously he was looking for a fast ball," said Thomas. "I couldn't believe he didn't cut at a 3-2 pitch, but I guess it just had him fooled."

Kuhn Says Seattle To Have Team

SEATTLE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn says a major league team definitely will be assigned to Seattle, perhaps for the 1976 season.

Seattle franchise more likely would be given an existing team having trouble in another city rather than a new team, Kuhn indicated.

He refused to speculate on which teams would be candidates for Seattle, but, in answer to questions, he said the San Francisco Bay area cannot continue to support two teams.

Kuhn said neither the world champion Oakland Athletics nor the San Francisco Giants "has made any commitment to move the ballclub," but both have supported his negotiating efforts with officials of the two cities. Each team has a long-range lease commitment on a local stadium.

Kuhn was in Seattle to inspect King County's 60,000-seat domed stadium, scheduled for completion next March, just prior to the 1976 baseball season. He also discussed with County Executive John Spellman possible lease arrangements for a major league team.

Garvey Incident Closed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers declared the Steve Garvey incident closed Tuesday, slamming the door shut on the subject with statements of "no comment."

The matter began two weeks ago when the San Bernardino Sun-Telegram published a story quoting some of Garvey's teammates with statements that were less than complimentary about the All-American image portrayed by 1974's National League Most Valuable Player.

The June 15 article, with quotes from third baseman Ron Cey and second baseman Dave Lopes and the strongest statements from an anonymous Dodger, was the subject of a June 18 team meeting called by Manager Walter Alston.

The matter was considered closed until Monday night, when the slumping Dodgers held a closed-door meeting before their game with San Diego.

Then, after leading a Dodger victory with four hits, Lopes opened a post-game broadcast interview by stating he wanted to make an announcement.

After saying that comments in the article were "misinterpreted and misunderstood," Lopes said, "Steve Garvey is well-liked and respected by his teammates as a man and as a player. There is no animosity or dissension on the Dodgers and that is all there is to it."

Lopes was quoted in the article by Betty Cumberti as saying other Dodgers viewed baseball as a game while Garvey considered it more a business.

Tuesday Cey said, "You are not going to get any comment from me on it. No comment. That's the best way to handle it."

No one would talk about the anonymous comment in the story that Garvey "doesn't have one friend on this team."

Garvey himself joined in the series of no comments.

"You know I always cooperate," he said, "but on this I really have nothing to say. I really don't have a comment. I would like to, but I don't think the story deserves it from my standpoint."

The situation has been taken care of. It's now a closed matter."

Manders Retires From Dallas Team

DALLAS (AP) — Dave Manders, a 10-year-veteran with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, announced his retirement Tuesday.

Team officials said Manders, who has been the regular center for punts and placement kicks for the past two years, will continue to live in Dallas where he works for a radio station, and will do the color commentary on Cowboy pre-season games.

Manders, 34, joined the Cowboys in 1964 as a free agent after he graduated from Michigan State.

Swedish Runner Sets Record In Gruelling Steeplechase

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Anders Garderud of Sweden clipped his own six-day-old world record by six-tenths of a second in a gruelling 3,000-meter steeplechase race at an international track and field meet Tuesday, and said he won't be running for world marks any more.

The 24-year-old Pole, Garderud's archrival for the past year, was soundly beaten in the finish here by the Swede but still bettered his national record clocking 8:12.6.

Garderud's performance was the highlight of the two-day meet here, despite New Zealand's John Walker's excellent 3:52.2 mile Monday, only 1.2 seconds off Tanzanian Filbert Bayi's world mark. U.S. athletes, part of the U.S. team which meets the Soviet Union in Kiev next Friday and Saturday, won three events Tuesday, but the results were below world standard.

Larry Brown won the 200 meters in 20.9, Danny Seay took the broad jump with a leap of 26-feet, one-quarter inch and Rory Kotinek the high jump at 7-3. World record-holder Dwight Stones was second at 7-14.

Eddy Draws Seven Morrow Gas Tests

Seven Morrow gas projects have been scheduled in Eddy County, N.M. Yates Petroleum Corp., Artesia, plans an 11,700-foot venture in Eddy, 22 miles northeast of Carlsbad. It is No. 1-EL ARCO-Federal.

Location is 2,310 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 13-21s-26e, 3/4 mile northeast of Morrow production in the Cabin Lake field.

Undesignated Tests

Yates Petroleum also will drill No. 1-ED Nellor Communized

as an 8,800-foot Morrow try, 3 1/2 miles northwest of the Morrow pay opener in the Kennedy Farms field.

It is projected to 8,800 feet, and spots 1,960 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 30-17s-26e, 1/2 mile southwest of Artesia.

Hondo Drilling Co., Roswell, has scheduled No. 1 SYN Communized, an 8,500-foot project, one mile north of Artesia.

Location is 650 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 5-17s-26e, 3/4 miles northwest of an undesignated Morrow gas area.

Roger C. Hanks of Midland accounted for a 9,400-foot Morrow test, No. 1 Trudy Communized, eight miles northwest of Lake Wood.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 7-19s-25e, 1/2 mile southwest of Morrow gas production in the Boyd field.

A 9,500-foot Morrow test, No. 1-D State Communized, has been staged by Martin Production Co.

Drillsite, seven miles west of Lake Wood, is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 16-20s-24e, 1 1/4 mile south of Morrow production in the Boyd field.

David Fasken, Midland, accounted for No. 1 Seven Rivers-Federal as a 9,600-foot Morrow project, 1/2 mile south and one mile north of Morrow gas production in the Cemetery field.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 17-20s-25e, nine miles southwest of Lake Wood.

An 11,000-foot Morrow test, Maralo, Inc., Midland, No. 3 Hanson-Federal, has been planned seven miles northwest of Carlsbad.

Hanson Reports Big Gas Gauge

Hanson Corp., Midland, No. 1-A Chester Parke, 1/2 mile north of the one-well BMH (Devonian) gas field of Pecos County, flowed gas on a drillstem test in an unidentified formation.

Tool was open 1 1/2 hours on the test taken from 7,796-7,824 feet. Gas came to the surface in four minutes, flowing on a 1/2-inch choke, at the daily volume of 7 million cubic feet. Recovery was 532 feet of fluid, being 158 feet of distillate and 374 feet of drilling fluid.

The project is bottomed at 8,341 feet, and operator set 4 1/2-inch casing at 7,936 feet, for completion try.

It spots 2,835 feet from south and 1,516 feet from west lines of section 2, block 206, Mary Simmons Grantee, 22 miles southeast of Fort Stockton.

The BMH operator, Hanson No. 1 Chester Parke, absolute Feb. 17, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 3.6 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 8,359-8,362 feet. Gas-distillate ratio measured 42,857-1, and gravity of the distillate was 62.9 degrees.

Fina Cuts Back July Allocations

DALLAS—American Petrofina, Inc., Tuesday announced its gasoline will be allocated to customers at a factor of 70 per cent of their respective adjusted base period volumes as determined by the Federal Energy Commission.

The allocation plan went into effect Tuesday.

The July allocation factor is 10 per cent below the June factor, but five per cent higher than July 1974, Tom E. Cook, marketing vice president, said.

Cook said that demand continues to exceed the maximum production available from Fina's four refineries and that the company will be unable to purchase as much gasoline to augment its supply as it did in June.

American Petrofina has scheduled refinery runs at rates approximately five per cent in excess of the industry's average in the United States, Cook said.

Economics Of North Sea Oil Crumble At Fast Rate

TULSA — The economics of drilling rigs climbed from about $14,000 per day for the heaviest production are crumbling at an alarming pace under the weight of soaring costs, new taxes and slowly declining world crude-oil prices.

The situation has caused a slowdown in development mobilization and eventually could force the area to fall short of its production potential, the Oil and Gas Journal reports in its special June 30 North Sea issue.

The new North Sea oil taxes in the United Kingdom and Norway play a definite role in the deteriorating economic picture for operators.

But even if these new taxes weren't considered, many of the sea's discoveries appear marginal or uneconomic, operators say, due to the phenomenal cost escalation coupled with heavy existing corporation taxes plus royalties.

Operators, a couple of years ago, were looking at development costs in the northern oil area of the sea in a range of from $1,400 to $2,500 per daily barrel of production capacity. Now, the figure is near $4,500 per daily barrel. And for some of the deep waters of the Shetland Islands, some estimates of $7,000 per daily barrel have been reported.

Of some 14 North Sea oil fields previously declared commercial, one of the larger operators tells the Journal, only four now clearly still appear to fit the category. The remaining 10 have sunk into the marginal (or less) category.

Orders for drilling and production platforms and other large equipment have slowed markedly. Few have been ordered in the last several months, and it appears this hold on development may well last for several more months — probably until early fall, the Journal says.

By then, most operators expect to see the final terms of the U.K. and Norwegian tax laws and have a better fix on the impact on prospective production income of the British government's drive for 51 per cent participation in existing licenses.

The cost spiral for North Sea development, the Journal says, has been awesome.

A derrick barge hired for about $17,000 per day in 1968 now commands $70,000 per day. Day rates for semisubmersible

Atlantic Richfield Reveals Another Alaska Agreement

DALLAS—Atlantic Richfield Co. today announced an agreement which should lead to the eventual sale to Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. 20 per cent of Atlantic Richfield's gas reserves in the main Prudhoe Bay field in Alaska.

Texas Eastern has agreed to advance funds up to $150 million to Atlantic Richfield to finance a portion of the cost incurred in relation to the exploration, production and development of Prudhoe Bay natural gas.

In exchange for the advance funds, the agreement provides that Atlantic Richfield and Texas Eastern will negotiate a gas sales agreement.

Texas Eastern also has agreed to share with others in the cost of facilities for gathering, compression and conditioning of the Prudhoe Bay gas to be purchased from Atlantic Richfield.

The agreement is subject to approval by the Federal Power Commission.

Atlantic Richfield earlier announced two agreements, with Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. and Pacific Lighting Gas Development Co., granting the right to negotiate for the purchase of 20 per cent and 60 per cent, respectively, of the company's Prudhoe Bay gas.

PI Acquires Energy Group

DENVER, Colo.—An agreement has been made making the Energy Group of University Computing Co. of Dallas, Tex., part of Petroleum Information Corp. of Denver.

Petroleum Information, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the A. C. Nielsen Co. of Chicago, has been engaged 48 years in the accumulation, processing and publication of data on exploration-production activities of the oil industry.

The Energy Group is comprised of petroleum engineering firms specializing in high technology applications, electrical well log services, mapping services and specialized capabilities serving the energy sector of the public utilities industry.

Functions of the Energy Group have not previously been performed by Petroleum Information. It becomes the Energy Services Division of Petroleum Information and will be headed by Jack Brand who becomes vice president of PI.

Four C Sector Gains New Test

Joe H. Warren Jr., Dallas, plans to drill No. 1 Mobil Fee as a location northeast stepout to the two-well Four C (Clearfork) field of Pecos County, nine miles east of Imperial.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 35, block 9, H&GN survey. Planned depth is 4,100 feet.

Walsh & Watts, Inc. of Dallas has staked site for No. 1 Fowler, a 4,500-foot venture, in Southeast Runnels County, four miles southwest of Jennings gas production in the Midstates multizone pool.

Location is 2,850 feet from north and 2,700 feet from most easterly east lines of Brooks & Burleson survey 101, nine miles southeast of Ballinger.

It also is 1/2 mile southeast of Clifton Thomas No. 1 Hoffman, an active wildcat, in which Walsh & Watts has an interest, and which is being tested "tight." Thomas set 4 1/2-inch casing at 3,553 feet, on total depth of 4,535 feet.

Fortune Slates Reentry Project

Fortune Drilling Corp., San Angelo, plans to clean out to 7,300 feet at No. 1 Harris, Tom Green County 8,603-foot failure, for completion try as a second well and 1 1/2-mile northeast extension to the Tom Green part of the Probandt (Canyon) oil pool.

It originally was drilled by J. C. Williamson of Midland, and was plugged and abandoned in April, 1964, as No. 1 Texaco-Harris.

Location is 1,980 feet from

Chemist Finds New Source For Protein

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — In the continuing quest for new sources of protein, a University of Wisconsin chemist has developed a method of extracting protein from oats.

Wisconsin Agriculturist, a rural magazine, reports that Vernon Youngs is able to extract protein from oats by a simple method in which water is the only chemical used. Youngs hulls the oats and then mills them into flour and bran. He then makes a water slurry of the oat flour and the bran and centrifuges the mixtures. Each yields a high protein layer of more than 50 per cent protein, which could be used to fortify snack foods and bread. A side benefit is a residue bran that is about 19 per cent protein and could be used in breakfast cereals.

Men Have More Blood

A man of average size will have about 1 1/2 gallons of blood in his body while an average sized woman will have only about seven-eighths of a gallon.

Bentsen Says Crops Depend On Priority

AUSTIN — U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen of Texas has told the Federal Power Commission that any attempt to lower the natural gas priority for irrigation uses would cause severe damage to crops in Texas and other southwestern states.

The FPC has been holding hearings on proposed plans to change the priority of irrigation from a "commercial" rating to an "industrial" priority.

West Texas farmers and ranchers use natural gas to power irrigation pumps, and Texas farm leaders have been pleading with the FPC not to lower the priority of the fuel source for them.

"Curtailling of natural gas supplies, particularly during the peak irrigation months of mid-summer when every day's supply of water is critically needed,

Pope May Visit Philadelphia In '76

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If Pope Paul VI attends the 41st International Eucharistic Congress here in 1976, it will be his first official visit as Pope to this country. He visited New York in 1965 but it was an official visit to the United Nations, which is international territory.

In endorsing the congress and its selection of the City of Brotherly Love as its site Aug. 1-6, 1976, Pope Paul indicated that he hoped to be in Philadelphia for the event.

"It is expected the Pope will favorably respond by coming," says the Rev. Walter J. Conway, executive secretary of the congress. "It depends primarily on his health at the time." Pope Paul is 77 and suffers from arthritis.

He attended two other Eucharistic Congresses as Pope — one in Bombay, India, in 1964, the other in Bogota, Colombia, in 1968. But he did not go to the last one in Melbourne, Australia, in 1973.
