Wolfcamp Discovery Potentials

David and Inez Fasken of Midland No. 1-X Fee, reentry project in Northwest Midland County, has been completed as a Wolfcamp oil discovery.

Eight and one-half miles northwest of Midland and 10 miles southwest of Wolfcamp production in the Midland Farms field of Andrews County, No. 1-X Fee was finished for a 24-hour flowing potential of 44 barrels of oil.

No water was made on the potential test, and gas-oil ratio was 1,655-1.

Well site is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 35, block 40, T-1-N, T&P survey.

The discovery originally was drilled 12,714 feet by Union Texas Natural Gas Corp. as No. 1-Q-35 Fasken and plugged in 1961.

David and Inez Fasken deepened to 13,838 feet and then plugged back to 10,044 for the Wolfcamp completion which was through casing perforations from 9,858 to 9,867 feet. The pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Tri-State Finals Clearfork Oiler

Tri-State Oil & Gas, Inc., of Houston has completed its No. 4-C P. H. Pace as the third well in the Westbrook, East (Clearfork) field of Northwest Mitchell County.

The oiler was finished for a 24-hour pumping potential of 41.63 barrels of 26.4-gravity oil, plus 25 1/2 barrels of water, from perforations at 2,946-3,203 feet. Pay was fractured with 53,000 gallons.

Bottomed at 3,226 feet and plugged back to 3,211 feet, the well has 4 1/2-inch casing set at total depth.

Location is 990 feet from north and west lines of section 5, block 27, T&P survey.

TeePee To Test Deep Pecos Zones

Texas Pacific Oil Co., Inc. is preparing to acidize the Montoya, Fusselman and DeVonian in No. 6 Montgomery-Fulk, outpost to production in the Elsinore (Devonian-Fusselman) field of Pecos County.

The project, 25 miles south of Fort Stockton, has been perforated from 12,971 to 13,262 feet. Total depth is 13,550 feet.

Location is 100 feet from north and 1,500 feet from east lines of section 87, block A, GC&S survey.

Adobe Prepares To Test Canyon

Adobe Oil Co. of Midland is running tubing for tests of the Canyon in No. 1-A Conger, 1 1/2-mile southeast outpost to the Canyon gas pay in the Conger field of Sterling County.

Bottomed at 7,138 feet, the project is perforated at 7,017-7,062 feet.

Court Rules Oil Tariff Illegal

Scores Hurt In Portuguese Riots

By HORST FAAS
BRAGA, Portugal (AP) — Hundreds of demonstrators set fire today to a party headquarters sheltering 20 Communists, destroying most of the building, officials said. Three of the demonstrators were wounded in a clash with police, but the condition of the Communists was not immediately known.

The crowd, including many militant Roman Catholics, regrouped after a night of violence that left 30 wounded, then pushed past troops guarding the building and set it ablaze.

Earlier, several hundred Portuguese marines with automatic weapons, clubs and tear gas battled until dawn to protect the Communists inside their headquarters from a mob attacking it in this northern city.

The show of force was the strongest yet by the armed forces in the conservative north where four persons have died in violent protests against the leftward trend of the military-dominated government.

Police said the injuries were caused by stones and paving bricks thrown by the crowd, estimated up to 500 strong, and by shotgun fire from the besieged Communists. Some of the injured were in serious condition.

After a night of unsuccessful charges by the marines, five armored cars and two truckloads of reinforcements were rushed to Braga early today and finally succeeded in clearing the streets.

The scene outside the Communist offices at dawn resembled a battlefield. Big rocks and heavy sticks littered the ground. An auto set ablaze by the mob was still smoking.

The violence grew out of a massive anti-government demonstration Sunday by more than 50,000 Catholics protesting the Communist course of the 15-month-old Portuguese revolution and the military takeover of a Catholic radio station.

It spiraled quickly as the Communists, a minority political group backed by 12 per cent of the voters in recent elections, refused to be driven from their offices.

"The attackers were real hoodlums," commented a policeman. "What remained of an orderly Catholic meeting was a real rough bunch of toughs. All men, mostly youths."

More than 500 demonstrators attacked the building three times, smashing windows each time. They were driven back by gunfire from inside. At least one soldier was injured.

Troops surrounded the building and the mob dispersed to wreck the offices of the Portuguese Democratic Movement (MDP), a Communist satellite party, and a Communist library.

Decision Says Ford's $2 Levy Not Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled today that President Ford's tariff of $2 per barrel on imported oil is illegal. The court said Congress has not delegated to the President the authority to impose such a tariff.

The court ruling, in a 2-1 decision, was brought on by a lawsuit filed by the governors of several Northeastern states against the Federal Energy Administration, which administers the tariff.

Hoffa Case Clue Fades

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark today said a promising lead in the James R. Hoffa mystery didn't pan out, and he said there still are no solid clues to the fate of the missing ex-Teamsters president.

Guy said Federal Bureau of Investigation tests eliminated the possibility that stains on a Hoffa's foster son Charles car driven by Hoffa's foster son "Chuckie" O'Brien had told the FBI he borrowed the car and appearance 12 days ago were caused by human blood.

"The tests were negative insofar as human blood is concerned," Guy said. "They haven't really identified the blood as anything else, or even as blood at this juncture. Its tests were negative for human blood."

The stains were examined after the FBI seized the car in a predawn raid over the weekend.

Despite the official pessimism, Hoffa's son James P. Hoffa said he hopes for a break in the case soon.

"We are again running down many more leads which are coming in from all over the country," he said. "Each piece is part of a puzzle which might lead to a solution of the abduction or whatever it is."

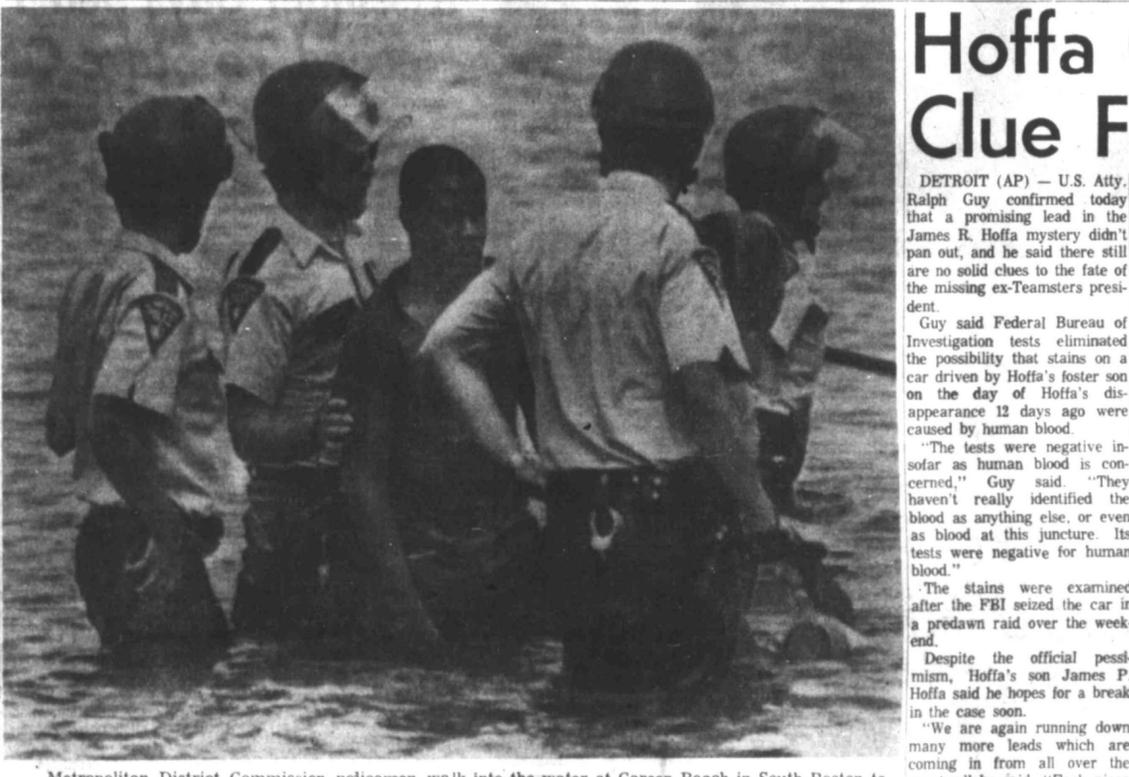

"We're encouraged by some of the information. We know a lot more than we did two days ago. We hope something will be breaking soon," he said. It was his only public comment on the case all weekend.

In predawn hours Saturday, FBI agents seized a car belonging to Giacalone's son Joey Hoffa's foster son Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien had told the FBI he borrowed the car and appearance 12 days ago were caused by human blood.

The car seat was stained with dripping blood from a thawing 40-pound salmon he delivered that day to Teamsters vice president Robert Holmes.

Agents confiscated the car to determine whether it was involved in Hoffa's disappearance. Sources close to the probe say O'Brien and Hoffa had a falling-out several months ago, and that O'Brien sided with Teamsters president Frank E. Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's bitter rival.

Told of the report that his story about fish blood had been supported, O'Brien said, "That's pretty good." He said he would hold off further comment until the FBI announces its findings officially.

Police Put Down Violence On Beach In South Boston

BOSTON (AP) — A black demonstration by about 500 blacks and about 1,000 whites at Carson Beach was to test the quality of police protection in white South Boston, where blacks will be bused when school opens under a Phase 2 court-ordered desegregation plan next month. Busing of blacks to the predominantly Irish area last year set off sporadic violence.

Atkins said another aim of the demonstration was to "reaffirm the fundamental right of every citizen to use public facilities." On the previous two Sundays, individual blacks attempted to use the beach were attacked by whites.

The demonstration was billed as a "picnic," but by late afternoon, any blacks who had not left voluntarily were forced off the beach by police, who held off a crowd of about 160 jeering whites.

The "picnic" erupted into a clash shortly after it started.

Helmeted policemen lined up shoulder to shoulder while mounted officers waded into the ocean to keep the opponents apart.

About 600 metropolitan, state and city police — some on motorcycles and others in an amphibious craft — quickly moved in and established a sandy off-limits area between the two crowds. But the two sides repeatedly tossed bottles, bricks, rocks and shoes at each other.

Later in the afternoon, whites roamed down an ocean-side boulevard and the two sides pelted each other again with debris. Police on motorcycles chased the demonstrators into a nearby park.

About two hours after they arrived, leaders of the black group declared the demonstration over. Police pushed the blacks back a quarter of a mile to a parking lot where they had left their cars.

Decision Reversed

But the U.S. Appeals Court now has reversed that decision and invalidated the tariffs.

"We recognize that we are overturning an honest attempt by the President to find a solution to a difficult crisis," said the opinion by Judge Edward A. Tamm, with Judge Harold Leventhal concurring.

But the opinion added that "the normal checks and balances on each branch of government" could not be suspended by citing national security or emergency.

Congress has not authorized the President to impose the oil tariffs, the court said, adding (See TARIFF Page 2A)

India High Court Ruling Deals Setback To Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Supreme Court dealt Prime Minister Indira Gandhi a setback today, refusing to hear her appeal of an election law conviction until it determines the validity of a one-day-old constitutional amendment which would acquit the Indian leader.

Mrs. Gandhi's lawyers asked the court to overturn her June 12 conviction immediately, arguing that the constitutional amendment had erased the guilty verdict.

But the five-man bench headed by Chief Justice A. N. Ray rejected the request, accepting instead the arguments of lawyers for Mrs. Gandhi's opponents that the validity of the constitutional amendment should first be tested.

The court set Aug. 25 for the start of the hearings on the amendment, further delaying resolution of the case which has touched off India's worst constitutional and political crisis since independence in 1947.

Lawyers from both sides estimated the court would require at least two weeks just to consider the constitutionality of the amendment which was introduced in Parliament last Thursday, passed Friday, ratified by the state assemblies Saturday and signed into law by President Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed on Sunday.

Shanti Bhushan, chief lawyer for Mrs. Gandhi's opponents, told newsmen after the brief hearing that if the amendment is upheld by the court "the case against the prime minister would automatically lapse."

The amendment being challenged by Bhushan states that courts no longer have jurisdiction to hear election cases involving the prime minister, the president, the vice president and the speaker of Parliament.

It also declares that any court judgments involving the prime minister "shall be deemed always to have been void and of no effect" — thus setting aside the June 12 conviction of Mrs. Gandhi.

Bhushan said he would argue that the amendment is illegal since it alters the basic structure of the constitution.

Irish Mobs Battle British Troops

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish Republican Army movements and shops were looted and burned.

The army rushed in reinforcements in trucks and armored cars from barracks outside the city. Several hundred rounds were fired but no soldiers were hit. The army reported wounding five persons.

The dead included a 4-year-old girl identified by local residents as Siobhan McCabe. She was gunned down when she was caught in the cross-fire when she tried to run across the road to her grandmother's house in the Roman Catholic Falls Road district.

Police identified the other two victims as Patrick Crawford, 15, a Catholic who died Sunday night after being shot in a separate incident on the grounds of the Royal Victoria Hospital near the Falls Road, and Martin McMenamy, a 17-year-old Catholic whose bullet-ridden body was found in Belfast early Saturday.

Protestant and Catholic gangs clashed as the demonstrators headed home. Snipers then backed up youths who threw stones, bottles and tin cans at the troops. Vehicles were set on fire to block troop movements and shops were looted and burned.

The weekend deaths brought the total of lives lost in the province's six years of sectarian violence to at least 1,267.

The Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing claimed army "harassment" and warned that unless it stopped the IRA would "reconsider the position regarding the cease-fire" which has been in effect since Feb. 10.

The IRA wants to unite the province with the pre-independence IRA.

Plane Lands On Interstate

A Midland man found himself about three miles east of Midland. He was unharmed in the landing near a rest area.

The airplane was maneuvered to the side of the road where a mechanic repaired the clogged fuel vent line which had caused the engine disorder, Blankenship said.

DPS officials then blocked traffic so the man could take off and fly it to Midland Air Park in north Midland, only a few miles away.

Blankenship was returning to Midland from College Station when the forced landing took place.

Imports Now Hottest Action In Cold Automobile Market

By OWEN ULLMANN
DETROIT (AP) — "Thirty-seven miles per gallon in the EPA highway test. An import?" asks a radio commercial to the oom-pah-pah strains of a German brass band. "No. A Chevy!" the radio voice answers.

Foreign cars are suddenly the hottest action in a cold auto market and American manufacturers are copying the imports by introducing luxury compacts and developing minicars.

Record Share
As a result of hefty increases in automobile and gasoline prices and consumer fears of more fuel shortages, the predominantly small imports are grabbing a record share of the domestic market.

Through the first half of 1975, they accounted for one of every five new U.S. car sales.

Listen to the broadcast commercials and read the newspaper ads. It's no longer Chevy versus Ford. Now it's Chevy versus Toyota and Ford versus Volkswagen.

Imports suffered virtual neglect for years.

In 1965, foreign car companies sold 57,000 cars here—less than 1 per cent of total sales for the year. But import sales peaked at 1.7 million in 1973, and have accounted for at least 15 per cent of total U.S. car sales since 1970.

Began In 1950s
The import invasion began slowly in the 1950s when more than 75 per cent of world auto sales were in the United States.

The foreign companies offered a product not available through the American car companies.

A combination of high gas prices; narrow, winding and crumbling roads; small families; short traveling distances, and a low level of disposable income led European makers to build small, inexpensive, fuel-conscious cars engineered with an emphasis on maneuverability.

Lack Of Restrictions
A lack of U.S. import restrictions made it profitable for foreign makers to ship a portion of their cars to the U.S.

By contrast, American-made cars—tailored for a unique and affluent market where gasoline was cheap, families large and traveling distances long—were growing ever larger and plusher.

Auto analysts attribute the surge of import sales to the United States to an approaching recession putting the squeeze on consumers' pocketbooks and the emergence of two-car families. Inexpensive imports attracted urban commuters looking for a second car that was economical to operate and easy to park.

Higher labor and material costs in the United States gave imports a price advantage and during one period in 1971, imports took 22 per cent of American new car sales, an all-time monthly record.

The 1971 repeal of the federal excise tax on cars and the devaluation of the dollar suddenly made American small cars cheaper, however, cutting the imports' market share in half by October 1971.

The latest import boom was triggered by the Mideast oil embargo in the fall of 1973. Fears of gasoling shortages produced a massive switch in buying habits as consumers traded for smaller cars.

Fuel shortages and then the recession cut into all car sales, but imports fared better than domestic models, and increased their penetration of the U.S. market last year to a record 16 per cent.

However, inflation abroad has pushed importers' costs above those of U.S. makers, and foreign cars are now more expensive per pound than American autos.

U.S. industry analysts say the trend toward imports can be summed up in two words: fuel economy.

But since this spring, GM and Ford have introduced new versions of existing cars that get better than 30 miles per gallon on the federal highway driving test. And observers say GM's upcoming 1976 Chevette could get around 40 m.p.g. on the highway, comparable to the smallest imports.

General Motors chairman Thomas Murphy has predicted a significant drop in foreign sales during the last half of the year. He forecast the import share for the full year would wind up at about 16 to 18 per cent.

Consideration will be given to awarding a contract for the extension of the northwest drainage channel across Midkiff Road and on to the point it intersects with Haynes Drive.

Unit 4, Princeton Street, will be considered for acceptance in the assessment paving program under Street Project 125.

A request by Luby's Cafeteria to abandon a portion of the existing alley and relocate it on property which lies between Louisiana and Kansas streets just east of the Andrews Highway will be considered.

Contract negotiations will be discussed for the golf pro at the city's Hogan Park Golf Course.

The request of Midland Miss Softball of America will be considered for permission to close Kansas Street between Alpine and Godfrey streets for a part of the day Aug. 16 and 17 for a state tournament at Lancaster Park.

The request of the First United Methodist Church will be considered to block streets around the church Aug. 23 for its 90th anniversary celebration.

Thailand, Malaysia Said Targets For Communists

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence analysts believe Thailand and Malaysia have about 18 months to prepare for major Communist insurgencies.

Reports indicate that infiltration into Thailand already has increased since the Communists won in neighboring Indochina this spring.

Malaysia is less vulnerable than Thailand to large-scale overland infiltration because it does not border on Communist-run countries.

But intelligence sources say Malaysian insurgents have become more aggressive in recent months and have sent emissaries to try to get U.S. small arms captured by Communist forces in Indochina.

Information collected by U.S. intelligence in Southeast Asia indicates that massive infiltration into northeast Thailand is likely to begin in early 1977 with the objective of "liberating" 16 provinces, sources say.

By that time, intelligence specialists believe, the Communists will have cemented their control throughout Vietnam and Laos and will be ready for a major effort to promote insurgency in neighboring Southeast Asian countries.

Worried Thai leaders already are embarked on diplomacy aimed at achieving a live-and-let-live arrangement with the Communist Vietnamese, considered the principal threat. The Malaysian officials are said to anticipate one or two years of grace before facing serious insurgency troubles. To get ready, they are reportedly expanding their army, police and village guard forces.

Last week, Thai Defense Minister Pramarn Adireksarn said in Bangkok that "thousands of insurgents" have been receiving war equipment from foreign nations which he did not name.

About the same time Gen. Kriengsak Charnanart, chief of the Thai joint military staff, spoke of "preparing our defense strategy and reviewing the military situation daily" in light of increasing internal insurgency and uncertain relations with Thailand's Communist neighbors.

But U.S. officials long have been critical of Thailand's armed forces. Those forces have received more than $600 million in U.S. equipment but were unable to suppress even a relatively low-level insurgency while the North Vietnamese were concentrating on gaining Communist victory in Indochina.

American officials also have been unhappy over what they consider Thai failure to act effectively in recent years to improve economic and other conditions in Thailand's impoverished northeast provinces.

court judgments involving the prime minister "shall be deemed always to have been void and of no effect" — thus setting aside the June 12 conviction of Mrs. Gandhi.

Bhushan said he would argue that the amendment is illegal since it alters the basic structure of the constitution by limiting the powers of the Supreme Court.

Bhushan argued the original case against Mrs. Gandhi on behalf of Socialist leader Raj Narain, who filed charges of election law violations against the prime minister after she defeated him in the 1971 parliamentary elections by 183,000 to 71,000 votes.

Mrs. Gandhi was found guilty of two charges that she illegally used government officials to aid her campaign.

The conviction carried a mandatory penalty of a six-year ban on Mrs. Gandhi holding elective office. However, the Supreme Court stayed enforcement of the ban pending her appeal.

nearly $70 billion deficit expected this year.

Those deficits are necessary to revive an economy weakened by the mismanagement of the Ford and Nixon administrations, Humphrey says.

But to Curtis, it's just so much red ink. He argues that there has to be a limit to what the government can do for the people and adds:

"We must not let the advocates of big government and big spending ruin the greatest country on the face of the earth."

Curtis Still Fighting Red Ink

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the 13,513 bills introduced in Congress so far this year, one of the least likely to become law is an often-introduced bill that would require the government to balance its budget.

But Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., who has been preaching the evils of deficit spending for a quarter century, is undaunted. For the first time since he began introducing the balanced-budget constitutional amendment 10 years ago, he is about to get a public hearing.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional amendments has scheduled hearings in September and October on the Curtis proposal, which basically would require Congress to raise taxes if it spends more money than it takes in.

The hearings come as the United States is rolling up the largest budget deficit in history.

Curtis, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, takes the balanced budget fight seriously even while conceding no chance of victory.

"The greatest challenge to this generation is that we must promptly bring federal spending under control, end deficit financing and stop the ravages of inflation," Curtis told a recent audience. "If we fail to successfully meet this challenge in our generation, our very liberty can be destroyed."

Curtis, who has a record for tightfistedness to match any on Capitol Hill, blames free-spending liberals for the nation's financial problems.

"It is totally immoral and dishonest to vote for more welfare state programs than we are willing to collect the taxes to pay for," Curtis says.

But Curtis' economic views, while generally compatible with those of the Ford administration, are clearly a minority stand in Congress, even at a time when many liberals are beginning to oppose new spending programs.

For example, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee and a liberal spender, says there's no reason for Congress to hang its head because of the $44 billion deficit last year and the

One-Year 'Pill'

Agence France-Press
NEW DELHI — An Indian woman doctor has developed a one-year contraceptive pill which is 99 per cent effective, it was reported here Sunday.

Overpowering Passion For Food Could Lead To Death

EDITOR'S NOTE — The symptom; an overpowering passion for food. The possible result: patient literally eats himself to death. The disease is called Prader-Willi, different from other causes of obesity, and perhaps not as rare as doctors once thought.

By GRANT FJERMEDAL
SEATTLE (AP) — It is a rare and horrifying disorder. Consider — a three-year-old locks his mother out of the house and eats everything he can find, including two quarts of mayonnaise.

Consider — a 16-year-old who ate 12 pumpkin pies his school class had made for Thanksgiving; an 11-year-old who ate an entire carton — 12 boxes — of Campfire Girls mints his sister was to sell. University of Washington doctors are taking aim on this unusual syndrome — first described in 1956 by three Swiss doctors — in which the patient literally eats himself to death.

Not only does the Prader-Willi victim have a ravenous appetite, but he gains weight on what would be a restricted diet for any other child. He may also suffer from defective development of tooth enamel, poor muscle strength, underdeveloped genitals and, frequently, mild mental retardation.

The university's Child Development and Mental Retardation Center has put together a team which includes a pediatrician, nutritionist, dentist, nurse, occupational therapist and psychologists.

Twelve boys and two girls between the ages of 2 and 15 are in the program and two others recently have been referred.

"It is supposed to be rare," said Dr. Vanja Holm, pediatrician in charge of the team. "But I think it is un-derdiagnosed. We have too many patients for it to be that rare a syndrome.

"An undiagnosed 11-year-old ended up in juvenile court because he repeatedly broke into neighbors' homes and threw food around the kitchens," she said. "His mother declared him incorrigible and the court placed him in a group home."

"He had been diagnosed incorrectly by various doctors, but when he was brought here, even the secretary recognized the syndrome."

Dr. Holm saw her first Prader-Willi child five years ago, and two years later, the center formed the multi-discipline team. Dr. Holm says she knows of no other research team studying the disease.

At the center, the team first formulates a diet for each child to bring him down to a normal weight. It took two years to scale a 12-year-old down from 209 pounds to 119.

Next a maintenance diet is established to allow body growth without excess fat. Parents are taught to measure and record all food eaten by the child and siblings, peers and teachers are told how to help.

Children in the project range from slim to husky, but none is nearly as fat as would be inevitable without strict dietary control.

The source of the appetite still eludes the specialists.

"We know what it is not due to," Dr. Holm said. "It's not metabolic and it's not chromosomal. We believe it has something to do with the central nervous system. Their capacity is so outrageous and so different from other obese people."

She says most Prader-Willi adults are in institutions because of their behavior and obesity.

A-Frame House Provides A View

By PATSY GORDON

Somewhere in Midland is a vacant, unfurnished, one-room, A-frame house with "an excellent view of the city."

Before you people who have been searching hopelessly for a place to call home go dashing off, the aforementioned is a playhouse, which stands as a representative to the many lengths some grandmothers will go to keep grandchildren near at hand.

"Grandma" is Mrs. Ray Reynolds. The grandchildren she hoped to entice to stay in Midland while their parents return to Aswaz, Iran, on the Persian Gulf are Jody, 8, Lance, 4, and Jason, 2, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Taylor. Mrs. Taylor is the former Lorna Reynolds.

Taylor is an engineer with Dowell-Schlumberger and has been in Midland with his family the past two months, but found it necessary to return to Aswaz for at least another year. The Taylors previously had resided there 14 months and "Grandma" could not bear to be parted from her boys for a longer period of time, although she knew they probably would have to go back. "I was hopeful and dreaming," she said.

The Reynolds also have a granddaughter, Misty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Herring of Midland, who is another reason for the building of the playhouse.

It is quite possible Grandfather Reynolds, as well as Herring and Leslie Reynolds, an uncle, were quite anxious for the boys to stay behind, since it was this trio who built the "whim."

But the "whim" failed, at least for its original purpose. "They would have lived in the playhouse if they could have stayed," said Reynolds. "They like it and wanted to stay in Midland, but they have to go back."

The playhouse was built on stilts two feet off the ground and has a front entrance approached by a ramp. Open the front door and a uniqueness is found in paneled walls whose seams are trimmed with rope.

"We talked about carpet," said Reynolds, "but decided on a tile linoleum floor."

The 12 x 12 square playhouse is highlighted on the outside by an observation deck reached by a ladder on the east side. The deck stands approximately 11 feet off the ground, providing "the excellent view." The slanted roof is covered with wood shingles.

What does such a venture cost? When Mrs. Reynolds first got the idea from a Tulsa, Okla., newspaper, costs were estimated at $300. The total tab so far is nearer $1,000.

But hopes for an even better playhouse aren't down the drain, as Reynolds says later on he plans to connect gas to the house.

But even with this improvement, anyone who might be entertaining thoughts of occupying the house would have Misty to contend with. She says the house is "hers."

Fuel Shortage Has No Effect

CHICAGO (AP) — The fuel shortage will have no effect on lawn and garden equipment sales in 1974, according to Darwin Kettering, senior vice president for operations of Massey-Ferguson, world's largest maker of tractors, and a leading manufacturer of lawn and garden machines.

According to Kettering, industry sales of lawn and garden tractors should rise 7 per cent over 1973. Massey-Ferguson expects its own lawn equipment sales to increase by 9 per cent this year.

"The fuel shortage will force more people to stay at home this summer," said Kettering. "As a result, money spent on lawn and garden activities will show an increase. Dollars previously slated for vacation driving, motor homes, water craft and other vacation-oriented activities will be channeled to lawn and garden products."

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?
"Thy Word Is Truth" (John 17:17)
by Bryan Bost

I once heard that Thomas Edison had 79 failures in trying to make the electric light before his invention worked. When asked about the relatively large number of failures before success came, he shrugged them off by saying that he had discovered "79 ways not to do it."

We admire his persistence and his perspective, his ability to view the overall goal instead of just the immediate happenings. We understand what it means to fail because our goals and ambitions are often thwarted. Often, what we have committed our lives to turns out to be something other than what we had hoped for. The problem is that we cannot, through our human eyes, view the whole of reality. We need God. As we read in Jeremiah 10:23, "I know, O Lord, that the way of man is not in himself, that it is not in man who walks to direct his steps."

Don't try to live by your own power and understanding. Turn to God.

HINTS FROM Heloise Housecleaning Outline Given

Dear Folks:

Today we are going to see how those of you who sent in your schedules for housecleaning set up your plan of attack.

Most of these will work on a house or apartment.

It appeared that the ladies with the schedules were full-time homemakers and had a great part of their days free.

Mrs. J. Gilcrest sent in an "overall" outline that she says works for her.

The Plan: divide up your rooms into four weeks.

Before doing anything, make a list of everything that must be done in each room. Dusting, vacuuming, etc.

Monday: pick which room will be done in the first week, the second, and so on. Do the room of the week well and the others lightly. Always check your list of things to be done.

Weekly: Every Monday and Tuesday wash and iron.

Wednesday and Thursday clean lightly in all rooms. Clean the special room of the week thoroughly.

Friday: tie up loose ends. Kitchen: sweep and mop, clean oven, refrigerator or pantry. Wash windows or clean curtains. I do one of the latter on Friday, and Saturday I prepare food for Sunday and enjoy the family.

Miscellaneous: keep things in place. Clean the living room before going to bed. In the morning, pick up what others might see. No one sees the bedrooms.

Set all dirty dishes in the sink, rinsed or in water. Wait until you are ready to do them. Insist all family members do the same.

One dear lady sat down and typed out her detailed schedule of how she runs her house.

Daily: wash dishes and clean up counter tops, stove top and outside of refrigerator. Make beds early and pick up bedrooms. Tidy up bathroom. Empty all the ashtrays, store newspapers and put things in their place.

Dust lightly anything that needs it and do one weekly job.

Weekly: Every Monday wash clothes (or do a small batch everyday)

Tuesday: Iron. If you have wash and wear, your ironing load should not be very much.

Wednesday is my lazy day. Enjoy yourself. Do something for yourself or a volunteer job.

Thursday: wash inside of refrigerator and stove. Grocery shopping and any errands that need to be done. These are sale days in newspapers so watch for the ads.

Friday: I like to wash bedding, vacuum entire house. Scrub bathroom and kitchen. Make beds with fresh linens. Open all the windows and let in the fresh air.

Saturday and Sunday are to be spent with the family and free of chores. Just tidying up and cooking.

MARRIED 62 YEARS—Ret. Col. and Mrs. John Perkins, 2007 Stanolind St., recently observed their 62nd wedding anniversary. The couple was married in a garden ceremony Aug. 7, 1913, at Starkville, Miss. They traveled by train from Starkville to Montreat, N.C., for their honeymoon, which was delayed because of missed train connections at Asheville, N.C., a short distance from Montreat. Col. and Mrs. Perkins resided in Mississippi before moving to West Texas and Alpine, from where they moved to Midland in the 1930s. They have two children still living, Col. John Perkins Jr. of Annapolis, Md. and Mrs. Dell Dahl of Scottsdale, Ariz.

Dear Abby
—By Abigail van Buren

Abby's Answer Stirs Up Tempest

DEAR ABBY: I certainly don't agree with the advice you gave THE GIRL ACROSS THE WAY. Her apartment faced a 10-story high rise. She could see into the apartment of a gentleman who is always alone. Since she is alone, too, she asked you how she could meet him. You told her to pull down her shade and forget it.

DEAR CATHY: "A little casserole, a bottle of wine and a knock on the door" sounds like Little Red Riding Hood revisited—complete with wolf. I'm all for honesty, honey. But I believe in safety first.

DEAR ABBY: I was saddened by the cold finality with which you dismissed GIRL ACROSS THE WAY's letter.

MAY I offer a solution? Honey, if you want to meet that dude, hang a sign outside your window: "Want to come over for a cup of coffee?" Or maybe a safer, "Meet you at the corner drug store in 15 minutes."

If he doesn't show up, THEN she can pull down her shade and forget him.

LIBERATED IN SANTA ROSA, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I have a solution for GIRL ACROSS THE WAY. I'm in advertising and believe in it.

If I were that girl, I'd put a big sign in my window, reading "GOOD MOVIE ON CHANNEL 6 AT 8 P.M."

And even if the gentleman responds with a sign that reads, "IT'S A RERUN," at least she's gotten his attention and might get something going.

FT. SMITH, ARK.

DEAR ABBY: Where does that 28-year-old, lonely working girl live? She wants to meet a guy she sees across the way and says she doesn't even care how old he is.

She sounds like my kind of gal. I'm 56 and could use some female companionship.

If she's in the state of Rhode Island, I'll get her.

Signs Point To New Agreement On Sinai

By The Associated Press
Two high-ranking Israeli officials flew to Washington today to resume talks on their government's request for $2.5 billion in U.S. aid. Diplomatic sources interpreted the visit as a sign that agreement with Egypt on a new Sinai pact was not far off.

Mordechai Gazit, director-general of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's office, told newsmen as he left Tel Aviv that the trip was "not a dramatic development, but merely a link in the chain of events aimed at achieving another interim agreement" with Egypt.

The United States broke off aid discussions with Israel last spring following the breakdown of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's peace shuttle. Diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said the resumption of the aid talks was a sign the United States was satisfied that Israel was making concessions to Egypt.

Rabin told a Jerusalem news conference Sunday that progress had been made toward a Sinai accord but "certain key issues" still needed clarification. Israeli sources said they include certain parts of the line to which Israel would withdraw and the number of troops Egypt would station on the Mitla and Gidi passes vacated by Israel.

Rats Swarm On Popular Beach Resort

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Tourists and other beach-goers in this resort city find they are having to compete for space on the golden sand with some unwelcome residents: Rats.

"I've never been to a beach before where I had to keep my feet up on a picnic table," said one tourist.

"It's not like they're talking about a little mouse," said another beach-goer. "These are rats, and they're really big."

Jerry Fetters, an official in the city's pest control department, said the foot-long rodents have been in the area for years but have been thriving recently on garbage left overnight.

"They live in trees and have even been seen on telephone lines," Fetters said.

Officials said they have heard of no incidents in which any one was injured, and efforts were being made to rid the area of the pests.

Meanwhile, local residents and tourists are still using the beach. But they are being careful.

Nixon Signs Deal For TV Interviews

By BOB THOMAS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon has signed a contract to do a "no holds barred" series of television interviews, David Frost says.

Frost would not disclose the price tag agreed to by Nixon.

In a press conference Sunday, the British interviewer said Nixon agreed to discuss the events, collectively dubbed Watergate, which led to his becoming the first U.S. president to resign his office.

Although no arrangements have been made yet to air the interviews on American television, Frost said the four 90-minute programs would be distributed to stations throughout the world.

"No subject, including Watergate, has been barred," Frost said.

He estimated that Watergate would consume about a quarter of the 20 taping sessions to be held. He did not say when they would start.

Spokesmen for the CBS and ABC television networks indicated they would not be interested in buying the interview.

NBC Drops Out
NBC, which could not be reached for comment, had been bidding for the television rights to Nixon's memoirs, but a network spokesman said last week NBC dropped out of the bidding at $700,000.

The three commercial networks have made a practice not to buy news specials developed outside their control. The Public Broadcasting System is in financial difficulty, so distribution in the U.S. would likely have to be done via syndication.

Frost, who said he was acting for a consortium of international television organizations, would not disclose the composition of the consortium.

He said he completed contract negotiations Saturday night at Nixon's San Clemente home midway between San Diego and Los Angeles.

Saturday was the first anniversary of Nixon's resignation and departure from the White House.

He said Nixon did not "want to appear to intervene in the affairs of the United States," so the broadcasts will be delayed until after the November 1976 elections.

"I have no reason to believe that former President Nixon will be anything but candid," Frost said. He said the 13-page contract gives the interviewer "total editorial freedom" in content and editing, and there is no obligation to submit questions beforehand.

Advisers Report Reagan Planning To Enter Primary

WASHINGTON — Former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California will enter the New Hampshire primary next March, Reagan campaign advisers have informed Republican Gov. Meldrim Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire.

Thomson, who has been saying he will challenge President Ford in the nation's first presidential primary if no other conservative does, in turn has agreed to stay out and back Reagan, according to informed Republican sources.

Although Reagan still publicly says he has not decided he will run, word of his entry into New Hampshire was conveyed to Thomson last week, when John Sears, director of the Citizens-for-Reagan Committee, called on him in Concord.

As a first concrete step to generate interest and support in the Reagan candidacy, Thomson announced Friday that Reagan will campaign in New Hampshire Sept. 10 in the special Senate election in behalf of the GOP candidate, former Rep. Louis Wyman.

The Constitution Of 1861

One provision of the Constitution of 1861 threatened Texas with a civil war of her own on the eve of the national Civil War. This was the requirement that all officers of the government immediately take an oath of allegiance to the Confederacy. Governor Sam Houston refused. The Secession Convention declared his office vacant. At least a third of all Texans were, like Houston, opposed to Secession and the old hero of San Jacinto had many loyal adherents.

There was serious talk of an army being raised to sustain Houston in office, until he voluntarily stepped down and retired to his home in Huntsville. Houston opposed Secession, and, if it came, preferred that Texas return to the status of an independent nation. He was not willing to abandon his principles, but he would not allow Texas to be torn apart in a battle to sustain his cause.

Actually, there was no new constitution of 1861. The convention, after their secession ordinance had been approved by popular vote, simply amended the Constitution of 1845 to fit the circumstances. All references to "The United States" were deleted or replaced with "The Confederate States." The debt ceiling was

One Of The Greatest

Many Americans in today's fast-moving, complex society are inclined to overlook the importance of agriculture in the United States.

Congressman Bob Krueger of New Braunfels, who represents a part of West Texas in Congress, points out some interesting, informative facts in his recent Weekly Report from Washington.

He says that one of the greatest strengths of the nation is its extraordinary agricultural production.

"The United States," he reported, "is one of only three major food exporters in the world, and is by far the largest of the three."

"As a matter of fact," he continued, over half of the oil that we have imported into this country in the last year has been paid for by the American farmer and rancher, whose exports overseas have kept us from running a terrible balance of payments deficit."

This is a most interesting fact, one which most often does not receive consideration in discussions concerning agricultural exports. We really would have a frightening balance of payments deficit were it not for our exports of meat, grain and other products.

The congressman offers facts and figures to correct certain notions about food production. Some people, he said, have argued that in order to have enough food to feed all the world's population, Americans should cease eating meat.

"The idea behind this argument," he continued, is that animals inefficiently transform plant protein into animal protein, therefore many nutritional benefits of the original plant protein are lost to the ultimate consumer of meat.

"There are some problems with this argument. Ruminants (those animals that chew their cud, such as cattle and sheep) eat hay, grass and other roughage which man cannot eat. The only way for humans to benefit from the plant protein contained in roughage of this sort is to inject it as animal protein, once it has been consumed and transformed by a ruminant. Three-quarters of all food for ruminants consists of food from the pasture, rather than feed grains. "Americans not only have a preference for meat, they need to have it in their diet. One of the major reasons for the health and vigor of young Americans today is their superior diet, and a prime component of their diet is meat and its accompanying animal protein."

This has been right down the line with our thinking for a long, long time, and it is good to have official confirmation from a U.S. congressman.

Krueger also explains that grain, like meat, is of great importance to the American economy. He said there is an important (and quite evident) relationship between the two economies, and grain in its own right accounts for a major share of U.S. exports.

In 1974, for instance, it is reported that three-quarters of the nation's wheat crop was exported. One-half of its soybeans and one-quarter of the corn crop were also exported.

"We need these exports in order to pay for some of the commodities which must be purchased overseas," Krueger explained. "In order to maintain this healthy domestic (and international) agriculture industry, however, we need to strengthen our research efforts."

He believes that government assistance is needed in agricultural research, if the future physical and economic well-being of the nation is to be served.

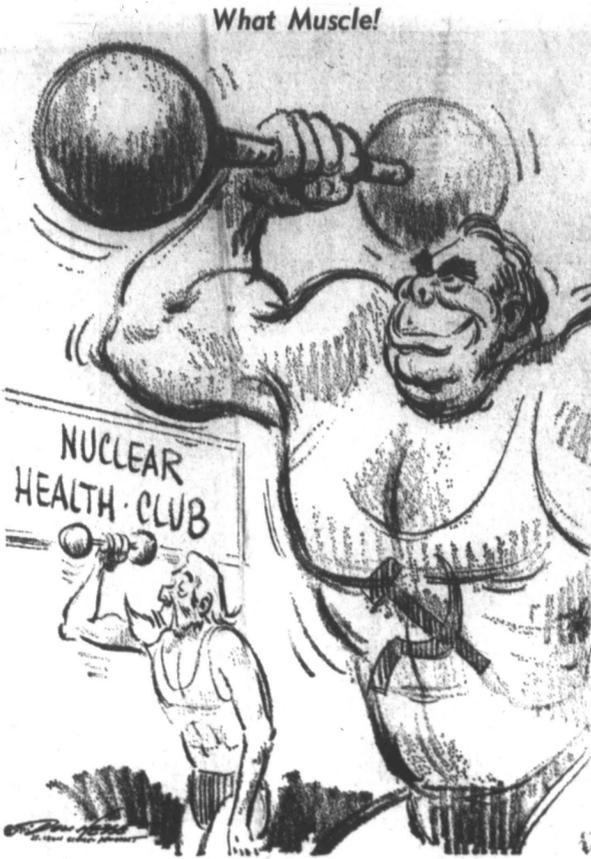

Yes, agricultural production definitely is one of America's greatest strengths.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The man who stopped the CIA from tampering with the mails, it is now alleged, actually helped the CIA cover up the illegal operation and misled Congress in the bargain.

He is William Cotter, the chief postal inspector, who first began dealing with the Post Office in the 1950s as a CIA agent opening other people's mail.

After he was put in charge of enforcing the postal laws in 1969, he allegedly promised a CIA officer that he wouldn't interfere with the illegal mail openings without first consulting the CIA.

True to his promise, he never told his postal superiors about the mail-opening project. But when the heat was on, Cotter asked the CIA to clear the operation with his postal bosses. The CIA refused, so Cotter belatedly stopped the mail openings to save his own skin.

These charges have been made by Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Calif., in a private letter to Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar. Wilson, whose subcommittee has been investigating scandal, asked Bailar to fire Cotter.

In calling for Cotter's removal, Wilson charged that "his dedication is first and foremost to the CIA, not the Postal Service."

Cotter also misled Congress, according to Wilson, about his knowledge of the mail openings. The chief inspector swore he had "no official awareness" of the mail surveillance since he left the CIA project in December 1955. "The Rockefeller Report reveals that this assertion is false," wrote Wilson.

He bluntly told the Postmaster General that "the contradictions in Mr.

Cotter's testimony should be of some concern to you."

Wilson noted that Cotter continued to conceal the mail openings even after he had received inquiries "from American scientists." Not until 1973, nearly four years after he became the chief inspector, did he halt the illegal operation.

Meanwhile, he was more concerned about concealing the CIA's law violations than enforcing the law.

Footnote: Ironically, Cotter now is pursuing a marginal mail-opening case with uncharacteristic zeal. This involves a reporter, however, rather than the CIA.

Brian Kanzaki recently wrote in the Queens College, N.Y., newspaper that a student leader allegedly had used student funds to make personal, long-distance phone calls. The student leader charged that the story was based on phone records illegally obtained from her mail.

She called in the postal inspectors who threatened Kanzaki with prosecution if he didn't tell them where he got the phone records. These are the same inspectors who ignored the opening of millions of letters by the CIA.

There were widespread predictions at the first of the year that the President was—but a weak, uncertain dog who would be wagged by a powerful congressional tail.

Kissinger Cover-Up Of Soviet Deceptions

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "It was precisely due to a failure to know how the Communists would interpret agreements at Yalta and Potsdam and elsewhere," asserted Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, "which substantially contributed to the demise of liberty in Eastern Europe."

Moscow reached a historic milestone when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger committed President Ford and this nation to the Soviet-engineered 35-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

President Ford approved an executive agreement, which does not require the consent of the Senate, that sanctions Soviet military and political control of Eastern Europe—control that had initially been made possible by the Allied nations at the World War II Yalta and Potsdam conferences.

"If this agreement," McClure told the Senate, "climaxes the end of World War II—the way the Paris accords terminated the Vietnam War—we are again courting disaster."

McClure, moreover, points out that like the Kissinger-engineered Vietnam-Paris accords (which codified the wholesale surrender of the United States to Hanoi with the active help of Moscow), the Helsinki agreement was also negotiated by Kissinger in COMPLETE SECRECY. Even the liberal New York Times found the Helsinki agreement unacceptable.

"The lengthy document drafted in Geneva by hundreds of diplomats over thousands of hours has as many holes in it as Swiss cheese," wrote The Times six weeks before the Helsinki summit.

It is now clear why the Russians were unusually enthusiastic about the joint mid-July Soyuz-Apollo space mission. It served to shift world attention from the fuller implications of the Helsinki summit and place a false face on the entire issue of detente. For all the while Kissinger has committed the United States to detente he has been less than forthcoming with his friends and critics about Soviet aggression in Southeast Asia, Soviet troublemaking in the Middle East, its funding of Communist activities in Portugal and, specifically, Russian violations of the SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty) agreement signed in 1972.

It is the SALT violations that concern members of the Senate like McClure. In fact, for reasons that remain a mystery the press has had almost nothing to say about Soviet SALT violations. On June 26, 1975, McClure took the Senate floor and delivered a point-by-point documentation of the violations and of the subsequent executive agreement signed by President Ford at Kissinger's insistence at the Vladivostok summit last year.

"The Soviets have managed to carry out a vast program of concealment," asserted McClure, "as well as a major expansion of their nuclear capability with scarcely a word of protest from the U.S. government. If the Soviets continue to conceal their activities in violation of the previous agreements it would be unwise for the United States to continue the SALT process."

"The Russians may have not only outmaneuvered the United States in the 1972 SALT accord and the 1974 Vladivostok talks, but they are also violating the spirit or letter of the original treaty in at least five key areas."

McClure was so alarmed that he went to Moscow with a delegation of other senators on June 30 to meet with Chairman Leonid Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders on July 2. Kissinger and his aides at the State Department, we can report, were seriously disturbed that McClure would confront the Kremlin leaders with the truth of the SALT violations, but could not stop the Idaho Republican from confronting Brezhnev in a blunt face-to-face meeting.

McClure told this columnist that when he confronted the Kremlin leader, Brezhnev insisted that this was a matter "for our technical people and should not concern us at this level."

But McClure persisted, pointing out that how could the United States have confidence in Soviet promises when it was taxing the limits of that confidence with violation of the 1972 SALT agreements.

"His reply," McClure told me, "was not to deny that the Soviets had, in fact, been engaging in violations, but merely to brush aside the issue by saying 'Oh, that's ancient history.'"

McClure, not the least intimidated, told Brezhnev bluntly that "It may be ancient history since you have stopped the violations as of February, 1975." There was no response. Nor was there any response when McClure pressed Brezhnev on the conventional arms buildup of the Soviets on the European front and their outstaying the United States in budget expenditures for conventional military hardware by as much as $10 billion.

It is no wonder that with this remarkable confrontation still fresh in his mind McClure returned from Russia and delivered his stern warning to the U.S. Senate on the need of Congress for a complete disclosure in public hearings of the Helsinki summit agreement.

But if Kissinger is to be called, will he be candid and forthcoming with answers? Kissinger has already misled Congress on a number of foreign policy issues. Specifically, liberal journalist Tad Szulc, writing in the New Republic of June 7, 1975, maintains that Soviet violations of SALT and the Vladivostok agreement "have been generally concealed from the American public and to a large extent from Congress because of its enormous political sensitivity... Kissinger, wittingly or not, may have misled Congress in explaining the 1972 pact."

Today's USDA Crop Forecasts May Hold Key To Food Prices

By BRIAN B. KING
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is readying its forecasts of the 1975 corn crop and of other farm production, figures that will give some clues as to coming food prices for consumers.

The department's crop monitoring experts and forecasting economists planned to release the data after commodity trading ends today. This timing reduces disruption in markets.

The corn crop, keystone of the U.S. food supply, originally projected within a range of 5.7 billion to 6.4 billion bushels for harvest this fall, was estimated last month at 6.05 billion bushels. That would be a 30 per cent increase over last year's weather-reduced production.

The supply of corn is a principal factor in the cost of feeding cattle, hogs, chickens and turkeys. That, in turn, influences the cost of meat to consumers.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has asked grain-exporting companies to hold up on any further sales to the Soviet Union until after the more up-to-date picture of American supplies shown by today's report.

The Soviets have bought 9.8 million tons of grain this year from the United States but are reported to need more.

The Russians' 1972 purchases of 19 million tons of U.S. grain combined with several other uncommon world economic factors to spark a reversal of the U.S. agricultural pattern from surplus and low food prices to relative scarcity and two years of food-price hikes of 14.5 per cent a year.

The Agriculture Department has predicted a 6 to 8 per cent over-all increase in food prices this year, but other government officials have predicted higher levels.

Today's report is the first to provide an estimate of 1975 soybean production.

The department has been projecting a production range of 1.4 billion bushels of soybeans, a considerable increase over last year's 1.23 billion but still below the 1973 bumper year when 1.55 billion bushels were harvested.

The recent Soviet purchases have not included soybeans.

Wheat production this year was estimated last month at 2.19 billion bushels, up 22 per cent from last year.

200 Persons Greet Apollo Astronauts At Ellington Base

HOUSTON (AP) — Astronaut Donald K. Slayton says it's great to be home but it's hard to generate enthusiasm for going back to work.

Slayton and the other two Apollo astronauts, Thomas Stafford and Vance Brand, were greeted by about 200 persons Sunday as they arrived at Ellington Air Force Base from Washington.

They had discussed at a Washington news conference Saturday their docking mission with Russia's Soyuz and the poisonous gas fumes that entered the American spaceship as it returned to Earth July 24.

"Every event up there we savored and it's good to be home and I do mean home," Brand said.

"This is a heartwarming turnout," Stafford said.

"I know it's customary to say how good it is to be home," said Slayton, "but after being on the greatest vacation of my career, it's kind of hard to generate much enthusiasm for coming back to work."

South was an expert of international fame. When he opens his mouth to speak, let no dog bark.

Our hero ruffed the second diamond, drew three rounds of trumps and led a club. East won with the queen of clubs and led another diamond, forcing South to ruff with his next-to-last trump.

South led another club, and East shrewdly let dummy's king of clubs win the trick.

South had to use his last trump to reach his hand. But since the ace of clubs was still out, South wasn't any better off in his hand than in the dummy. He won only six trump tricks, one spade and one club.

FALLING DOWNSTAIRS
 Tell the truth, now: you'd have made four hearts if you'd been South. Of course you would; it's as easy as falling downstairs.

Ruff the second diamond and lead clubs immediately. That's right. Don't bother to draw the trumps first.

If any wiseacre refuses a club trick, you won't be stuck in dummy. You'll get back to your hand with a trump. After all, that's just why you leave the trumps there in the dummy.

Records Indicate Texas Policemen Learned 'Bugging' At U.S. Expense

HOUSTON (AP) — Records of the Criminal Justice Division (CJD), an arm of the governor's office, indicate that Texas police officers apparently have been taught how to do wiretapping at out-of-state schools with federal funding, the Houston Post reported today.

The newspaper, in a story from its Austin Bureau, said CJD grant records show the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) Organized Crime Intelligence Unit was authorized to spend federal funds to send eight agents in 1971 to an "intelligence officers training seminar" conducted by Bell and Howell Communications Co., a manufacturer of electronic surveillance equipment, at Miami Beach, Fla. A DPS spokesman said agents did attend, the Post story said.

CJD records, the Post said, also show that nine other DPS intelligence agents attended a Bell and Howell seminar in Chicago in 1973.

Records show the CJD approved use of federal funds, the Post said, to send agents of several police agencies to a similar surveillance equipment course at San Francisco sponsored by the Fargo Co. a manufacturer of electronic surveillance equipment in that city.

"There is nothing illegal about these schools," the Post quoted a Fargo Co. spokesman as saying.

"There is nothing wrong with law enforcement officers learning about this equipment. Wiretapping is a small part of the course. We spend a great deal of time explaining the laws concerning electronic surveillance."

The newspaper quoted a Bell and Howell spokesman as saying the firm made a corporate decision in 1973 not to manufacture or sell or teach about wiretapping equipment and the instruction on wiretapping methods has since been eliminated from the course.

Wiretapping and nonconsensual electronic bugging, except by federal officers, are prohibited by federal law in states which do not have their own laws authorizing them. Texas has no such law. Even federal officers may not electronically eavesdrop without court orders.

However, the Post said the Bell and Howell and Fargo course are designed for—and attended by officers from throughout the country—from states which do have laws authorizing electronic eavesdropping by court order, as well as those which do not.

Warren Believes Nixon Was Guilty

WASHINGTON — Gerald L. Warren, retiring White House deputy press secretary, says he believes that former President Richard M. Nixon was guilty of a crime in the Watergate scandal.

Appearing on the CBS television program "Issues and Answers" on Sunday, Warren said he thought the last set of the Oval Office tapes released, the tapes of June 23, 1972, "clearly show obstruction of justice."

Warren, who served as deputy press secretary under Nixon and remained in the White House after Nixon's resignation, said he did not mean to say that the former president should be brought into court and tried.

Warren, who will become editor of the San Diego Union on Sept. 1, said he still has great respect for Nixon and feels that the former president should speak out on public issues after his book is published in 1977.

New Math Plan Works In Connecticut School

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP) — Elementary school pupils here learn their mathematics from several different teachers as part of a program to tailor teaching to the needs of individual pupils.

The system at the Center School in this affluent suburb of New York was designed by its principal, Stephen E. Rubin, who has a Ph. D. in systems theory.

Letting each pupil proceed at his or her own pace is a popular notion among educators but is often difficult to carry out. Rubin believes the whole school should serve each child and children should not be limited to their home rooms.

A set of 146 mathematics teaching objectives was developed. All pupils above the first grade study math during the same period. They move around from teacher to teacher depending on which one is teaching the skills they are ready to acquire.

The school has developed similar programs to a lesser degree in other subjects, including reading, science and social studies.

Information is readily available on how far each child has progressed through devices such as punchcards and flow charts that look like complex molecular drawings.

The program involves more communication between teachers, who must share information about their pupils.

"They really know the kids," said Pam Diamond, who has two children in the school. "You meet a teacher in the hall and she'll say something like, 'Renwick is having trouble with subtraction.'"

Rubin, 35, said that when he became principal of Center School in 1965, "There was no cohesion. Teachers in one grade didn't know what those in the others were doing. Everyone blamed someone else if there was a problem and in the end it was the kids who were short-changed."

He said no systematic studies have been made on the impact of the new programs, but in general pupils achieve "significantly above the levels one would expect on the basis of IQs."

Teachers spent long hours developing the math system and some found it difficult to accept. But many have come around to favor it.

"My first reaction was grrrr," said Sabell Allred, who is retiring this year after 29 years of teaching at the school.

"I resisted it, but now I wouldn't want to go back to the self-contained classroom. I have to work harder, but it's not so nerve-racking. And my kids go farther."

Rubin thinks the Center School pattern can be adopted elsewhere. "The curriculum, plan for their employes as well as self-employed persons.

LAUDS TAX QUALIFIED RETIREMENT PLAN—Bill Dillon, 1202 Andrews Highway, will give you the details.

Bill Dillon Offers New Retirement Plan

On Labor Day, 1974, the Pension Reform Bill was signed into law, making it possible for persons not covered by a tax-qualified retirement plan to set up one of their own. This includes people who work for a company that has no retirement plan for their employes as well as self-employed persons.

If you are eligible you can put up to 15 per cent, a maximum of $1,500.00 of your annual earned income into an Individual Retirement Annuity. You can deduct nearly every dollar from current taxable income.

The tax and retirement advantage can be further enhanced if a husband and wife both establish plans. Such an arrangement can mean combined contributions and deductions of up to $3,000.00 a year.

It is most important that you determine early if you are eligible for this new plan. To do so, call Bill Dillon, more 694-9536 or stop at 1202 Andrews Highway. Some U.S. military aid to Thailand, which amounted to $30 million in this fiscal year, is channeled by the Bangkok government into its counter-insurgency program. But American training of anti-guerrilla troops has ceased, and the U.S. Embassy says it now gives only occasional "advice and guidance" at the headquarters staff level.

Several Western diplomats in Bangkok contend that the rebels chances look promising at this stage.

Insurgents Chalk Gains In Thailand

By DENIS D. GRAY. BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Insurgency in Thailand, a country which escaped the full-scale wars of neighboring Indochina, is growing in patterns that experts find reminiscent of Vietnam a decade or more ago.

The rebels of Thailand, in the 10 years of their existence, did not engage in the kind of operations carried out by the Viet Cong in Vietnam, the Khmer Rouge in Cambodia and the Pathet Lao in Laos. They made no spectacular gains and they confined their activities to peripheral, although large, swaths of the country.

But events in the past few months appear to have changed the context of the insurgency problem in Thailand, experts say.

Policy Not Spelled Out. The Thai government makes few official statements on the insurgents, and its policy has not been spelled out publicly.

It has started diplomatic moves with its new Communist-dominated neighbors in hopes of convincing them to halt their support for the rebel movement. The government also has started a program of aid to remote villages with the aim of winning support of the people.

But Thai military leaders call for aggressive battle action. The armed forces chief, Gen. Kris Sivara, claims that Thailand is the Communists' next target.

Cities Infiltrated. Gen. Saiyud Kherdopol, head of the anti-insurgency command says: "The Communist terrorists have even infiltrated the cities to gather information for the operations in the countryside."

"We cannot sit still and remain on the defensive. We received orders from the Interior Ministry last month to employ forces aggressively."

The triumphs of three Indochinese revolutionary movements, vast surpluses of war gear in Indochina and 1,700 miles of border with Laos and Cambodia across which weapons and Communist cadres can flow almost at will have forced the Thai government to seek solutions. A new sense of urgency has been given to the counterinsurgency effort.

Added to this is the quickly disappearing American military umbrella upon which Thailand once relied for protection against internal and external threats.

Rooted In Countryside. The Thai insurgency is a Communist-led movement still largely rooted in the countryside, where according to Western military reports, it is at the state of building up its organization, training its fighters and political cadres and trying to recruit villagers.

The insurgents, who experts say number an estimated 8,500 armed men and increase numerically at about a 10 per cent rate every year, have forced the government to curb some civil liberties in 28 of Thailand's 71 provinces where a state of emergency is in force. Thailand has a 180,000-man army.

Some U.S. military aid to Thailand, which amounted to $30 million in this fiscal year, is channeled by the Bangkok government into its counter-insurgency program. But American training of anti-guerrilla troops has ceased, and the U.S. Embassy says it now gives only occasional "advice and guidance" at the headquarters staff level.

Burger Chef Implements "Future Is Now" Program

Burger Chef is getting it all together. After overwhelming results from the modernization of the 907 Andrews Highway Burger Chef, an even more extensive modernization plan at the 409 North Big Spring Street Burger Chef is taking place. This downtown Burger Chef is a favorite noontime spot for Midland business people.

The building will have an additional 1800 square feet of which approximately 1200 square feet will be dining area. The building will have an entirely new look with the addition of exterior and interior brick walls, a mansard roof, bronze and glass doors, new lighting and equipment plus seating for approximately 125 people.

The F.I.N., Future Is Now, program will also be implemented in this Burger Chef which includes two "works" bars and a salad bar. The "works" bar enables the customer to fix his own hamburgers just the way you like them. The salad bar will provide crisp, tossed salad with your choice of dressing and you may go back for seconds at no extra charge.

You may also order your hamburgers dressed the usual Burger Chef way. The new program will include a hostess to assist you in any way possible.

Both locations will have drive-thru windows for the customers who do not wish to take advantage of the "works" bars.

Don Tidwell, owner of the two Midland Burger Chefs, also operates Burger Chef franchises in Huntsville, El Paso and Alamogordo, New Mexico.

Editor Advocates Equal Rights For Farm Women

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the nation's leading rural magazines says equal rights for farm women are long overdue.

Jim Thomson, editor of Prairie Farmer, says in an editorial: "Women are on the war path, and we can't say we blame them. Farm women especially have reason to complain. One told us recently that even though she had worked with her husband through 30 years of married life, on his death the government said none of the farm belonged to her."

Thomson feels the role of the farm woman has been changing subtly for many years. A recent Prairie Farmer poll shows that 25 per cent of farm women in the Midwest are taking jobs in town and/or furthering their education.

"The farm woman is no longer restricted to an auxiliary position," says Thomson. "In some cases she never was. But the farm woman generally was limited in what she could do and in what was expected of her. She had minimal education in a society with limited education."

"Women are demanding the recognition they rightfully deserve as equal partners in the farm operation vis-a-vis Social Security, taxation and government regulations," says Thomson.

SAN ANTONIO—The Midland Bill Bright and Bill Huisman moved to within one-half scored on the play.

Moore, the winningest pitcher on the Cub staff, allowed just three hits, but gave up five walks to the Brewers Junge came on in the seventh and pitched two-hit shutout ball the rest of the way.

San Antonio's Tom Linnert was the victim of the Cubs, but he gave up only four hits while going the distance. Bright got the only other hit off of Linnert.

The Cubs have now won 20 of their last 26 games.

Midland got only four hits in the contest, but struck for a run in the third and two in the fifth. San Antonio posted a 1-0 lead in the first when Bob Hickey scored on a sacrifice fly by Rich Guerra.

The Cubs tied it in the third when Mike Sembler doubled to left center and scored on a single to fight by Greg Collins. Jose Ortiz provided the muscle in the winning fifth with a bases loaded single to left Shreveport, after leading the Texas League's West Division almost without challenge this season, saw Midland pull into one-half game of the top rung Sunday night.

The Midland Cubs bested the San Antonio Brewers 3-1 and lacked just 12 percentage points of overtaking the Shreveport Captains, who absorbed an 11-3 pasting from the El Paso Diablos.

Arkansas whitewashed Jackson 6-0 in an East Division game. An Alexandria at Lafayette date was rained out.

Sam Ashford stroked home runs for El Paso in the second and third innings, the second with a man on base, as the Diablos grabbed a 4-0 lead. El Paso moundsman Pat Cristelli, 9-8, struck out 13 Shreveport batters—one in every frame and eight of the nine Shreveport batters at least once—in a rout going job.

El Paso combed three of the Captains' chumpers for 16 hits, one a solo homer by Randy Wilson in the seventh. Frank Grundler socked a bases-empty homer for Shreveport in the seventh and Mike Krizmanich added a two-run single in the eighth, but the game was out of reach for the Captains by then.

Ashe Takes On Orantes In Clay Court Finals

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—It'll be the power of Wimbledon champion Arthur Ashe against the finesse of Spain's Manuel Orantes when the two meet tonight for the U.S. Clay Court tennis championship.

The lanky, 32-year-old Ashe likes to pin his opponents in the backcourt with one of the fastest serves and forehands in a tennis.

Orantes is 26, shorter but stouter than Ashe and a recognized expert on clay. He's also the man who upset top-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina to get a crack at Ashe and the $16,000 winners' purse.

Taylor Brothers Wins Crown

By BOB DILLON

Taylor Brothers Jewelers of Corpus Christi used the long ball Sunday afternoon to down the Lake Jackson Brazos Sports, 17-13, in the finals of the Men's Open State Slow Pitch Softball Tournament at Hogan Park before an overflow crowd.

The Jewelers, defending state champions, won seven games without a loss to win their second coveted title and will advance to the regional tourney along with the Sports in Dallas next weekend.

With the seven victories, Taylor Brothers take an amazing record of 131 victories and 18 losses into the regional playoffs and will be favored to gain a national tourney berth in Florida Aug. 28.

Repeat Performance

It was almost a carbon copy of last year's tourney when the same two teams met in the finals with Taylor Brothers winning, 19-13, over the Sports. And last year, the Jewelers beat Goodrich Service Center of Midland, 8-5, to put the Tremen in the loser's bracket.

Sunday morning, Taylor Brothers had to overcome a 14-5 lead by Goodrich to down the Midlanders, 15-14. Goodrich pounded out 21 hits and played errorless ball, but then lost to the Brazos Sports, 18-12, to wind up third in the tourney. Last year, the Sports also beat Goodrich, 16-14, in eight innings.

In the championship game, the Jewelers, who had hit more than 1,400 home runs coming into the tourney, jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first inning against the Sports.

Home Run Power

Shortstop Larry Kelly homered over the fence in left for a quick 1-0 lead and teammate Rick "The Crusher" Scherr blasted a tremendous two-run homer for a 3-0 edge. Clark Adkins, the Most Valuable Player here last year, also hammered a home run as the Gulf Coast power rapped out nine hits during the uprising. Kelly added a double as he came to bat twice and Dub Morrison had a two-bagger.

Not to be outdone, the Sports stormed back to score five runs to make things interesting. Billy Hinkle homered and Maurice Tracy, who wound up belting three homers in the game, had a two-run blast.

Scherr added another long homer with a teammate on base in the fourth for the Jewelers and catcher John "The Cadillac" Simlon hit homers in the fifth and sixth innings to build up a 17-9 lead going into the bottom of the seventh.

The Sports tallied four runs in the bottom of the seventh, but it all came too late. Hinkle poked a two-run homer while Bobby Koenig tripled in George Warny.

A six-run outburst by the Sports in the semifinals against Goodrich, broke open a 4-3 game. Koenig's two-run blast highlighted the rally.

Goodrich closed the gap to 10-9 in the fourth inning with four runs, but an eight-run rally by the Sports in the sixth put the game out of reach. Tracy, Warny and Hinkle, all ripped homers in that inning.

Taylor Brothers and Goodrich were the only two teams in the tourney that were unbeaten after five games, going into the 11:30 a.m. contest Sunday.

Manager Kent Sloan's Tremen started off like wildfire. Goodrich took a 3-0 lead in the first on a two-run homer by catcher Howard Varley along with doubles by Don Haney and Jim Donnell.

Scherr then unloaded one of his patent cannon shots to cut the lead to 3-1, but Goodrich tallied four more runs for a surprising 7-1 lead in the third. Haney and Donnell had doubles, but one run that Goodrich apparently scored, did not count when Ed Connally missed second base, so his run didn't count and it was the difference late in the ball game.

Goodrich made it 14-5 in the fifth inning with Jim Bowles hitting a triple and Haney a homer, but the Jewelers scored six runs in the sixth and it was a tape-measure job by Scherr that was the difference. The bases were full when Scherr connected.

Bowles, an all-tourney selection, had a grand-slam against the Brazos Sports in the semifinals. Other players named to the all-tourney team were Buddy Hearne and Haney of Goodrich; Mickey McCarty, Kelly, Buchanan, Ken Mitchem and Clark Adkins of Taylor Brothers.

Warny, Koenig and Hinkle were chosen from the Brazos Sports while Sandy Lawrence of San Angelo Beverage Sales was the other player named to the elite team. Beverage Sales wound up fourth, Goodrich third, Lake Jackson Brazos Sports runnerup and Taylor Brothers champions.

Mitchem was named Most Valuable Player of the Tourney. Mitchem, Adkins, Warny, Hinkle and Haney were all on the all-tourney team last year.

This will be the final year for at least four years that the Slow Pitch Tourney will be in Midland, since it moves every four years to a new city.

Fred Ezell was the tourney director and terms this year the most successful of the four held here at Hogan Park since 1972.

NATIONAL UMP—Don Deck of Midland, veteran slow pitch and baseball umpire, has been chosen to umpire in the National Slow Pitch Softball Championships in Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 28 though Sept. 1. Deck worked the Texas State Slow Pitch Tourney at Hogan Park over the weekend.

Detroit Spin Goes To 15

By The Associated Press

"If you were 12 years old, you could cry," said Detroit Manager Ralph Houk.

The Tigers continued their taut Sunday, dropping a 4-0 decision to Bert Blyleven and the Minnesota Twins. It was their 15th straight loss, extending the club record, and left them within five games of the all-time record of 20 straight defeats set by Boston in 1902 and tied by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1916 and 1943.

Despite extra batting practice, the Tiger bats managed just 16 base hits and one run in dropping three straight to the Twins.

"We haven't had a day off since the All-Star break, maybe that's the trouble," said Houk.

"The bats may be heavy. When you face a pitcher like that, you don't know whether you're hitting or not."

Blyleven, 11-6, limited the Tigers to four singles in route to his second shutout of the season.

"I thought before the game I'd have to go as hard against them as any other club," said Blyleven. "When you lose 14 straight it's gotta turn."

It didn't. Jerry Terrell broke up a scoreless game with a run-scoring double off Ray Bare, 6-7, in the seventh and Rod Carew followed with a sacrifice fly. Phil Roof added a two-run homer for Minnesota in the ninth.

The Tiger Stadium crowd of 11,851 was not amused. The fans booed heartily as the last Detroit hope went down the drain when Gary Sutherland hit into a double play to end the game.

George Scott collected four hits, including his 24th home run, and drove in three runs as Milwaukee snapped a six-game losing streak.

Red Sox 5, A's 3

Two-run homers by Cecil Cooper and Jim Rice helped Boston raise its lead in the American League East to seven games. Luis Tiant, 14-11, broke a three-game losing streak. Dick Bosman, 7-4, was the loser. Gene Tenace drove in all the Oakland runs with a homer and sacrifice fly.

Helms walked with the bases loaded to force in the first run. Jutze singled for two more and another scored on an error. In the fifth, Cedeno doubled and Helms singled for an insurance run.

"I expect at any moment for the club to break out of the hitting slump," Manager Danny Murtagh said. "We haven't pushed the panic button. We're still in first place. We're just having a bad streak now."

"The only thing we can do to help our hitters is to take extra batting practice—or call it off entirely. If anybody could find the cure for a batting slump, he'd make a million bucks in eight days. After all, my slump lasted 10 years."

PIRATES NEARING PANIC BUTTON

Dodgers Nip Mets

By The Associated Press

Don Sutton is pushing to become a 20-game winner for the first time in his career. The Pittsburgh Pirates aren't pushing anybody at the moment but the panic button might not be too far off.

Sutton, whose 19-9 records in 1972 and again last year were his winningest seasons, became the National League's first 16-game winner this year with a three-hitter that gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets Sunday.

While the Mets managed only three hits off Sutton, 16-9, in three innings, the Dodgers got three in the fourth inning alone—all they needed to secure the victory. John Hale's sixth home run of the season started the burst against Hank Webb, then Steve Garvey walked and Ron Cey and Yeaeger singled for a 2-0 lead. Mike Phillips' single gave New York its run in the bottom of the inning.

Nicklaus Wins PGA With Final Charge

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — For the world's greatest golfer, "Year That Jack Nicklaus Gave the Grand Slam Away" will not be one for weeping and the gnashing of teeth.

It will be a year for recharging the batteries and setting the sights on newer and loftier goals.

"If I had won the Grand Slam, I probably would have got out of the game," said Nicklaus after winning his fourth PGA and 16th major title Sunday. "Now I am more determined to continue playing. I like golf. I am a better player than I ever was."

Fourth PGA

"This is my fourth PGA. Walter Hagen won five. I would like to match that. Nobody ever has won more than four U.S. Opens. I would like to get five. The fact I came close this year only prods my ambition to try to win the Grand Slam."

Nicklaus held off the challenge of Australian Bruce Crampton Sunday over the long Firestone course and won the 57th PGA by two strokes, shooting a final-round 71 for 276. He collected $45,000.

Crampton, trailing three and four strokes most of the day, failed to sink crucial putts on the incoming nine and finished second with a 69 for 278. He must have broken into a cold sweat when he saw Nicklaus, with the tournament in the bag, take a double bogey six on the final hole.

"I had no way of knowing," said Crampton, who played ahead. "But if I had made those putts, I don't think Jack would have taken that six."

"Maybe not," Jack said, flashing a wry smile.

Only Crampton threatened—and not very seriously—in the muggy, rain-interrupted show-down over the 7,180-yard, par-70 Firestone layout which the pros have labeled the "Monster."

Tom Weiskopf, Nicklaus' fellow townsman who beat him in a recent playoff for the Canadian Open, had to sink a 20-foot putt on the final hole to finish third with a 68 for 279.

A 25-year-old tour-sophomore, Andy North of Gainesville, Fla., slipped past a handful of challengers with a 65 despite a double bogey, to grab fourth at 281. Former U.S. Open Champion Hale Irwin, without a single birdie, in a round of 73, and veteran Bill Casper tied for fifth with 283.

Some of the game's biggest names tired and fell back. British Open champion Tom Watson had 285. Gary Player and Arnold Palmer tied at 291. U.S. Open king Lou Graham shot 296 and Lee Trevino trailed with 297.

It was Weiskopf who suggested that 1975 will be one which Nicklaus might remember with great regret.

"I think he will not soon forget it is the year he gave the Grand Slam away," Weiskopf said. "He should have won the U.S. Open. He did things he never does. He also should have won the British Open."

After winning the Masters, Nicklaus blew the U.S. Open at Medinah by bogeying the last three holes, finishing two shots back. He missed the British Open at Carnoustie by a single eye goal of winning the top pro don't know—probably so."

He has won twice as many major crowns as his nearest challengers—Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, with eight each.

"I am still a young man," Nicklaus, 35, insisted after accepting his PGA check. "I don't beat myself. My nerves are always good. I am enjoying myself more every year."

"Now if you asked me 10 years ago if I would still be playing tournament golf at 35, I back. He missed the British Open at Carnoustie by a single eye goal of winning the top pro don't know—probably so."

"No chance." But now if you thus Nicklaus came within were to ask me will I be playing three shots of the professional in 45 I would have to say, "I goal of winning the top pro don't know—probably so."

Tom Weiskopf, Nicklaus' fellow townsman who beat him in a recent playoff for the Canadian Open, had to sink a 20-foot putt on the final hole to finish third with a 68 for 279.

The win was the first here for Sigel, a 31-year-old insurance executive who has played in 15 of the 17 Porter Cup events. He has been runner-up three times.

He birdied the sixth and eighth holes for a two-under-par 33 on the front nine to assure the victory. He had an eight-stroke lead going into the final round.

Buddy Gardner, a junior at Auburn University, notched a final round 69 to take third place at 284 while NCAA champion Jay Haas of Wake Forest was fourth at 285 after a 72 on the last round.

Sigel praised the play of runner-up Hancock and said, "He had me scared when he shot a 31 on the front nine."

Sigel played the back nine in a steady rain, but just as he overcame the wind Saturday, he weathered the rain Sunday, playing the back nine in one over par.

San Diego took a 2-1 in the top of the 10th on a homer by Tito Fuentes, but Ken Reitz homered in the bottom of the inning to tie it. Mike Tyson then singled, took second on Bake McBride's pinch single and scored on Lou Brock's single that gave the Cards a 3-0 victory.

Terry Captures Senior Tourney

Bob Herell rallied for a 75 Sunday in the final round of the Seniors Golf Tournament at the Ranchland Hill Country Club, but ended up losing the whole thing to Sudden Death Sam in a four hole playoff.

That's Sam Terry, the first day leader, that won all the marbles after carrying Herell four extra holes before letting him go. Both ended regulation with a 147. Terry also copped top honors in the 50-54 age group competition.

Bill Lupardus hung on the second day to win the 55-59 age group as did Dan Bailey in the 60-64 division. In the 65-69 age group, B. J. Cordonnier took top honors with a 167 while John Butler won the 70 and over play with a respectable 95-94 — 189. Lupardus and

Bailey had 153 and 160 respectively.

New NFL Coaches In Mixed Debuts

By The Associated Press

Of the six coaches who made their debuts in the first full weekend of National Football League preseason games, four are unbeaten, one is undaunted and one is unhappy.

The unbeaten are Bart Starr of Green Bay, a 23-6 winner over Buffalo; Jack Pardee of Chicago, 22-0 over San Diego; Bum Phillips of Houston, 13-7 over New Orleans, and Ted Marchibroda of Baltimore, 23-0 in overtime over Denver. All were played Saturday night.

Undaunted was Forrest Gregg of the Cleveland Browns, despite a 17-13 loss to the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

"I can't say I'm unhappy with the effort," said Gregg. "We made a million mistakes in the first half, but that's typical of a young football team. We came very close at the end; we had a lot of chances."

Unhappy described Paul Wiggin of Kansas City, whose Chiefs were beaten 10-3 Saturday night by the St. Louis Cardinals in the annual Missouri intra-state fracas.

Expected More

"I didn't go into this game expecting to score 35 points, but I certainly expected more than three points," said Wiggin. "I'm really disappointed. I'm hurt. I just don't like to lose."

In other NFL exhibitions, the Atlanta Falcons nipped the Washington Redskins 16-14 Friday night. On Saturday night, the Miami Dolphins edged the Cincinnati Bengals 7-3, the Philadelphia Eagles trimmed the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers 17-14, the Los Angeles Rams bombed the Dallas Cowboys 35-7 and the New York Jets defeated the Minnesota Vikings 20-15.

The Oakland Raiders blitzed the Detroit Lions 34-0 Sunday and the New York Giants topped the New England Patriots 28-14 Sunday night.

"You would have to start with Willard Harrell," said Starr in assessing his first coaching outing. "Except for that punt return, we could have been in trouble. He kept us in the game."

The punt return that pleased Starr was an 82-yard scoring scamper in the first period by a 5-foot-9, 179-pound Harrell, the third-round draft choice from Pacific. Harrell accounted for 224 yards total offense, including a 30-yard touchdown reception.

The Packers defense also starred, shutting down Buffalo's vaunted ground game. The Bills rushed 28 times for a meager 37 yards, with superstar O. J. Simpson netting just 18 yards on 11 carries.

Chicago's Jack Pardee hailed his defensive unit after the beat Cincinnati. Third-period TD passes by Roman Gabriel and Mike Boryla lifted Philadelphia past Pittsburgh in the Steelers' first game against NFL competition since the Super Bowl.

"You can't win if you don't come up with the big play on defense," said Pardee. "We were able to when we had to."

Offensively, the Bears got three field goals from Bob Thomas, then a pair of touchdowns within 19 seconds of the final period.

Field goals of 33 and 25 yards by Alan Pringle and an 18-yard scoring pass from Lynn Dickey to Willie Rodgers gave Houston's Phillips the victory and put a damper on a festive occasion in New Orleans.

It was the first game played in the $163-million Louisiana Superdome and drew a crowd of 72,434. That was 241 short of a full house, but stadium officials said some luxury boxes were not finished yet.

Don McCauley rushed for 35 of his 105 yards in an overtime march that set up Toni Linnhart's 29-yard field goal, making Marchibroda a first-time winner.

Sam Johnson's one-yard scoring plunge put the 49ers ahead of Cleveland, and the Raiders thwarted the Browns on a pair of late drives to preserve the third aboard Se-Ha and victory. St. Louis' Gary Keith-Bob Dales, San Diego, was key and Eddie Moss hooked up fourth with Donysons.

for a 12-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter for the only touchdown of the Cards' game against Kansas City.

Miami's veteran reserve quarterback, Earl Morrall, directed a 58-yard drive in the final period capped by a 10-yard scoring pass to Nat Moore to beat Cincinnati.

James Harris guided three touchdowns marches in the Rams rout of Dallas. Bob Gresham rushed for two touchdowns for the Jets against Minnesota.

Nick Mike-Mayer's 19-yard field goal with 15 seconds remaining lifted Atlanta past Washington.

Ken Stabler hit a 37-yard scoring pass in the first period, then gave way to Larry Lawrence, who led Oakland to a 24-point second quarter in the shutout over Detroit. Reserve quarterback Carl Summerell guided the Giants to a pair of fourth-quarter TDs, snapping a 14-14 tie.

Sailboat Regatta Goes To Barnes

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Dick Barnes of Seattle won the 10th annual Coronada 25 National Sailboat Regatta Sunday. Barnes' craft, the North Star, was faster than the 29 other nine-mile Olympic course.

Ron Schaveitz, Seattle, was of late drives to preserve the third aboard Se-Ha and victory. St. Louis' Gary Keith-Bob Dales, San Diego, was key and Eddie Moss hooked up fourth with Donysons.

WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE ROUNDUP Wings Clip Davis

By The Associated Press

Anthony Davis is learning that life in pro football isn't always a bed of roses.

Davis, one of college football's most glamorous performers and a Rose Bowl star at Southern California the past few years, had a rollicking time in his pro debut one week ago. He rushed for 102 yards, caught two passes and completed one in leading the Southern California Sun to victory in its World Football League season opener.

Then came the fall.

At San Antonio Saturday night, the Wings ganged up on Davis and clipped the fleet runner back, holding him to just 46 yards on 13 carries. Meanwhile, San Antonio's offense exploded for a 54-22 win.

"San Antonio had a player everywhere I went," Davis lamented afterwards.

And the Wings had lots of players left over for offense, too. Like Billy Sadler and Steve Conley, who each ran for two touchdowns, and Jim Strong, who ran for one. The five TDs on the ground set a WFL record, as did the Wings' five successful action points.

Sun rookie quarterback Pat Haden, a college teammate of Davis, completed 24 of 40 passes for 313 yards, and his team actually outgained the Wings 419-317 in total offense.

But statistics sometimes hide the true story, as Sun Coach Tom Fears knew all too well. "We were lucky we were not behind by 28 points at halftime," he said after the lopsided affair.

The Wings led by only 15-7 at the half, but then Southern California's luck ran out. San Antonio erupted for 31 points in the third period and the rout was on.

Elsewhere in the WFL Saturday night, the Memphis Soundmen came from behind to beat the Charlotte Hornets 23-11; the Hawaiians nipped the Portland Thunder 25-24; the Birmingham Vulcans trimmed the Philadelphia Bell 23-17, and the Shreveport Steamers set a club record for points in defeating the Chicago Winds 38-18.

Memphis, down 11-0 at halftime, got one touchdown from each of its three former Miami Dolphins stars and pulled out the victory.

Larry Conka, who rushed for 114 yards, and Paul Warfield, each snared 10-yard scoring passes in the third period from John Huarte, then Jim Kick capped the comeback with a two-yard TD run.

The Hawaiians scooped up three Portland fumbles and returned them all for touchdowns in their one-point squeaker. "It feels like we were snakebit or something," said Portland quarterback Don Horn, who committed two of the fumbles. Quarterback Matthew Reed ran for touchdowns of 24 and 10 yards in the final quarter to carry Birmingham to victory.

Both coaches agreed Reed was the difference. "He was just a brilliant star," said Birmingham's Marvin Bass. "They put Reed in and we couldn't contain him," said Bell Coach Willie Wood.

Morrow Zone Yields Gas Flow At Eddy Project

Penroc Oil Corp. No. 1 Wright-Federal, 1 1/2 miles north of Morrow No. 1 Foxie-Federal, Morrow gas discovery, in North Eddy County, N. M., developed gas on a drillstem test in the upper Morrow.

The two-hour test was over the zone from 10,750 to 10,910 feet. Gas surfaced in six minutes at the rate of 3,611,000 cubic feet per day.

The flow increased to 5,008,000 cubic feet per day.

Recovery was 430 feet of condensate. Flowing pressure ranged from 1,072 to 1,687 pounds.

Another test was tried from 10,998 to 11,105 feet in the lower Morrow, but packer failed.

Operator was preparing to drill ahead on last report.

Lea Exploration Rates Flow Of Oil

C&K Petroleum, Inc., of Midland No. 1-34-A Shupp, 3/4 mile southwest offset to the two-well Casey (Strawn) field five miles southeast of Lovington in Lea County, N. M., gauged new oil on production test.

On a 6 1/2-hour test, through a 10-64-inch choke, the project flowed 117 barrels of oil, and then, on an overnight test, through a 12-64-inch choke, 250 barrels of oil were recovered.

The crude is from the section behind perforations from 11,390 to 11,460 feet. The zone had seldom forgotten.

Sterling Project To Take Potential

I. W. Lovelady of Midland No. 1 A. Mahaffey, reentry project 18 miles southwest of Sterling City in Sterling County, flowed 264 barrels of oil and 10 barrels of water on a 24-hour test.

The flow was through perforations from 7,926 to 7,948 feet.

Then, on another 24-hour test, it made 99 barrels of oil and 2 barrels of water, through a 13-64-inch choke.

Operator is preparing to take potential test.

Well site is 660 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 24, block 2, T&P survey and 3/4 mile northeast of the one-well Deck (Cisco) field.

Tests are under way at McIntosh & Olsen of Midland No. 1 Anthony & Tubb, 1/2 mile southwest of the Worsham, South (Delaware sand) field of Reeves County.

Operator perforated from 5,076 to 5,084 feet and fractured the Delaware with 2,500 gallons.

During the last 24 hours of testing, the project flowed 37 barrels of new oil and 18 barrels of water, through a 20-64-inch choke.

Site is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 14, block C-5, PSL survey and 17 miles southeast of Pecos.

Industry Giants Dictate Path Small Steelmakers Must Take

By D. BYRON YAKE
PITTSBURGH (AP) —

Seldom has the dominance of steel's big giants been more obvious than in the industry price war currently going on.

U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 steelmakers, traditionally have held the upper hand in the battlefield of prices.

Others may start the war, but U.S. Steel and Bethlehem have the might to end it. Between them they turn out about 40 per cent of all steel produced in the country.

Smaller steel firms might want, and need, higher prices, but they have to settle for what the giants dictate.

"The smaller companies just don't have the clout the big boys do," said one industry observer.

After hints of price increases for weeks because of increased costs and a poor second quarter, three companies — two small ones and U.S. Steel — went into action last week. The events unfolded like this:

—Tuesday: Fifth-ranked Arco Steel Corp. of Middletown, Ohio, announced price hikes of 9 per cent, effective Saturday, on cold-rolled sheet, used primarily in the auto industry.

—Wednesday: Ninth-ranked Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel followed with a 9 per cent hike, again mostly on steel used in the automobile industry, effective Sunday.

—Friday, 12:30 p.m.: U.S. Steel announced a series of price moves, some up, some down, with an over-all boost of 3.8 per cent. Auto industry steel was increased, while steel used in construction was reduced. Steel used in automobiles won't be increased until Oct. 1.

—Friday, 3:30 p.m.: Arco suspended its announced price increase.

—Friday, 5 p.m.: Wheeling-Pittsburgh also suspended prices.

"Sure, it bothers you when you don't get the price you think you need," said one executive. "Most people don't think of steel prices having elasticity like the commodity markets, but they do."

"It's too early to tell what it all means," said a spokesman for Wheeling-Pittsburgh. "Steel prices are complex. It's not like buying five pounds of sugar."

One thing appears certain: U.S. Steel must have had at least the tacit approval of the Ford administration for its price moves. A spokesman for the Council on Wage and Price Stability said afterward, "We think the U.S. Steel move supports what we've been saying all along. We didn't think the market could take a price hike of that magnitude now."

And that significantly differs with two of the most noteworthy confrontations between U.S. Steel and the government.

It was U.S. Steel and its board chairman, Roger Blough, who battled President John F. Kennedy in 1962, then rescinded its announced price hikes.

It was current Chairman Edgar B. Speer who met with Albert Rees, head of the Wage and Price Council, last December when U.S. Steel raised prices between 6.5 and 9.2 per cent, then reduced the increase by 20 per cent after the meeting with Rees in Washington.

"The appeal was made for us to reduce our prices," Speer said recently, "because the inflationary rate was out of hand. I agreed to compromise on it. It was a judgment on my part."

Individual companies would depend on how much of the price hike can be passed through to the buyers of gasoline, heating oil, jet fuel and other products. In addition, Congress seems determined to take away much of the additional income through a windfall profits tax.

Most oil companies say the situation is far too uncertain for predictions about profits and price increases if controls are lifted. Atlantic Richfield and Shell, for example, refused requests for interviews on the subject.

Union Oil Co. of California was a notable exception to the industry's close-mouthed attitude on the impact of de-control. Union promised to limit price increases for the rest of the year to two cents a gallon if controls are ended and the tariff on imports is suspended. The company's pledge applies to wholesale prices for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel. Union is confident that competitive pressures will restrain prices when controls are lifted.

Terry Captures Senior Tourney

Bob Herell rallied for a 75-68 victory Sunday in the final round of the Seniors Golf Tournament at the Ranchland Hill Country Club, but ended up losing the whole thing to Sudden Death Sam in a four hole playoff.

That's Sam Terry, the first day leader, that won all the marbles after carrying Herell four extra holes before letting him go. Both ended regulation with a 147. Terry also copped top honors in the 50-54 age group competition.

Bill Lupardus hung on the second day to win the 55-59 age group as did Dan Bailey in the 60-64 division. In the 65-69 age group, B. J. Cordonnier took top honors with a 167 while John Butler won the 70 and over play with a respectable 95-94 — 189. Lupardus and Bailey had 153 and 160 respectively.

New NFL Coaches In Mixed Debuts

By The Associated Press
Of the six coaches who made their debuts in the first full weekend of National Football League preseason games, four are unbeaten, one is undaunted and one is unhappy.

The unbeaten are Bart Starr of Green Bay, a 23-6 winner over Buffalo; Jack Pardee of Chicago, 22-0 over San Diego; Bum Phillips of Houston, 13-7 over New Orleans, and Ted Marchibroda of Baltimore, 23-20 in overtime over Denver. All were played Saturday night.

Undaunted was Forrest Gregg of the Cleveland Browns, despite a 17-13 loss to the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

"I can't say I'm unhappy with the effort," said Gregg. "We made a million mistakes in the first half, but that's typical of a young football team. We came very close at the end, we had a lot of chances."

Unhappy described Paul Wiggin of Kansas City, whose Chiefs were beaten 10-3 Saturday night by the St. Louis Cardinals in the annual Missouri intra-state fracas.

Expected More
"I didn't go into this game expecting to score 35 points, but I certainly expected more than three points," said Wiggin. "I'm really disappointed. I'm hurt, I just don't like to lose."

In other NFL exhibitions, the Atlanta Falcons nipped the Washington Redskins 16-14 Friday night. On Saturday night, the Miami Dolphins edged the Cincinnati Bengals 7-3, the Philadelphia Eagles trimmed the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers 17-14, the Los Angeles Rams bombed the Dallas Cowboys 25-7 and the New York Jets defeated the Minnesota Vikings 20-15.

The Oakland Raiders blitzed the Detroit Lions 34-0 Sunday and the New York Giants topped the New England Patriots 28-14 Sunday night.

"You would have to start with Willard Harrell," said Starr in assessing his first coaching outing. "Except for that punt return, we could have been in trouble. He kept us in the game."

The punt return that pleased Starr was an 82-yard scoring scamper in the first period by the 5-foot-9, 179-pound Harrell, a third-round draft choice from Pacific. Harrell accounted for 224 yards total offense, including a 30-yard touchdown reception. The Packers defense also starred, shutting down Buffalo's vaunted ground game. The Bills rushed 28 times for a meager 37 yards, with superstar O. J. Simpson netting just 18 yards on 11 carries.

Chicago's Jack Pardee hailed his defensive unit after the whitewash of San Diego. The Bears picked off three passes and sacked Chargers quarterback Dan Fouts three times.

"You can't win if you don't come up with the big play on defense," said Pardee. "We were able to when we had to."

Offensively, the Bears got three field goals from Bob Thomas, then a pair of touchdowns within 19 seconds of the final period.

Field goals of 33 and 25 yards by Alan Pringle and an 18-yard scoring pass from Lynn Dickey to Willie Rodgers gave Houston's Phillips the victory and put a damper on a festive occasion in New Orleans.

It was the first game played in the $163-million Louisiana Superdome and drew a crowd of 72,434. That was 241 short of a full house, but stadium officials said some luxury boxes were not finished yet.

Don McCauley rushed for 35 of his 105 yards in an overtime march that set up Tom Linhart's 29-yard field goal, making Marchibroda a first-time winner.

Sam Johnson's one-yard scoring plunge put the 49ers ahead of Cleveland, and the Raiders thwarted the Browns on a pair of late drives to preserve the victory. St. Louis' Gary Keithley and Eddie Moss hooked up fourth with Donyys.

James Harris guided three touchdown marches in the Rams rout of Dallas. Bob Gresham rushed for two touchdowns for the Jets against Minnesota.

Nick Mike-Mayer's 19-yard field goal with 15 seconds remaining lifted Atlanta past Washington.

Ken Stabler hit a 37-yard scoring pass in the first period, then gave way to Larry Lawrence who led Oakland to a 24-point second quarter in the shutout over Detroit. Reserve quarterback Carl Summerell guided the Giants to a pair of fourth-quarter TDs, snapping a 14-14 tie.

Miami's veteran reserve quarterback, Earl Morrall, directed a 58-yard drive in the final period capped by a 10-yard scoring pass to Nat Moore to beat Cincinnati. Third-period TD passes by Roman Gabriel and Mike Boryla lifted Philadelphia past Pittsburgh in the Steelers' first game against NFL competition since the Super Bowl.

James Harris guided three touchdown marches in the Rams rout of Dallas. Bob Gresham rushed for two touchdowns for the Jets against Minnesota.

Webster Married In Foot Cast

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Marvin Webster, the first player picked by the Denver Nuggets in the American Basketball Association draft, was wearing a cast on his right foot when he married his college sweetheart Sunday.

The seven-foot Webster, who signed a contract reportedly for $1.5 million with Denver, fractured a left metatarsal bone while playing in a pickup game in New York nearly two weeks ago. The cast is expected to be removed in three weeks.

Webster married Medera Meadows in the Trinity African Methodist Episcopal (AME) church here.

WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Wings Clip Davis

By The Associated Press
Anthony Davis is learning that life in pro football isn't always a bed of roses.

Davis, one of college football's most glamorous performers and a Rose Bowl star at Southern California the past few years, had a rollicking time in his pro debut one week ago. He rushed for 102 yards, caught two passes and completed one in leading the Southern California Sun to victory in its World Football League season opener.

Then came the fall. At San Antonio Saturday night, the Wings ganged up on Davis and clipped the fleet running back, holding him to just 45 yards on 13 carries. Meanwhile, San Antonio's offense exploded for a 54-22 win.

"San Antonio had a player everywhere I went," Davis lamented afterwards.

And the Wings had lots of players left over for offense, too. Like Billy Sadler and Steve Conley, who each ran for two touchdowns, and Jim Strong, who ran for one. The five TDs on the ground set a WFL record, as did the Wings' five successful action points.

Sun rookie quarterback Pat Haden, a college teammate of Davis, completed 24 of 40 passes for 313 yards, and his team actually outgained the Wings 419-317 in total offense. But statistics sometimes hide the true story, as Sun Coach Tom Fears knew all too well. "We were lucky we were not behind by 28 points at halftime," he said after the lopsided affair.

The Wings led by only 15-7 at the half, but then Southern California's luck ran out. San Antonio erupted for 31 points in the third period and the rout was on.

Elsewhere in the WFL Saturday night, the Memphis Southmen came from behind to beat the Charlotte Hornets 23-11. The Hawaiians nipped the Portland Thunder 25-24; the Birmingham Vulcans trimmed the Philadelphia Bell 23-17, and the Shreveport Steamers set a club record for points in defeating the Chicago Winds 38-18.

Memphis, down 11-0 at halftime, got one touchdown from each of its three former Miami Dolphins stars and pulled out the victory.

Larry Conka, who rushed for 114 yards, and Paul Warfield, each snared 10-yard scoring passes in the third period by John Huarte, then Jim Klick capped the comeback with a two-yard TD run.

The Hawaiians scooped up three Portland fumbles and returned them all for touchdowns in their one-point squeaker. "It feels like we were snafked or something," said Portland quarterback Don Horn, who committed two of the fumbles.

Quarterback Matthew Reed ran for touchdowns of 24 and 10 yards in the final quarter to carry Birmingham to victory. Both coaches agreed Reed was the difference. "He was just a brilliant star," said Birmingham's Marvin Bass. "They put Reed in and we couldn't contain him," said Bell Coach Willie Wood.

Smith Holds Lead

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Rick Smith, a 17-year-old Pittsburgh golfer, continued to hold the lead in the National Association of Insurance Agents Youth Golf Classic Sunday.

Smith had a 36-hole par of 141 after a two-over-par 74 Sunday.

Jeff Smith of Oskaloosa, Iowa, was second at 142 and there was a three-way tie for third at 144 with Erick Dutt, Las Vegas, Nev.; Chris Houchin, Bakersfield, Calif.; and Rick Grover, Grandville, Mich.

The top 60 juniors were to be teamed in foursomes with 20 professionals for the remaining two days of competition.

Based on latest FPC figures, Texas Electric's residential rates are 27% below the national average.

The average family uses about 750 kilowatt hours of electricity per month. Based on the latest Federal Power Commission figures, Texas Electric's rates for this much electricity are about 27% below the national average.

But the costs of producing your electricity are going up. New supplies of Texas Electric's major generating fuel — natural gas — are harder to get and much more costly. So we're turning to lignite coal and nuclear fuels. While these fuels cost less than new supplies of natural gas, plants that use them are considerably more expensive to build than gas-fired plants. This means electricity will have to cost you more. But we're working to keep your rates reasonable by using fuels that will keep costs lowest in the long run.

Industry Giants Dictate Path Small Steelmakers Must Take

By D. BYRON YAKE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Seldom has the dominance of steel's big giants been more obvious than in the industry price war currently going on.

U.S. Steel Corp. and Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 steelmakers, traditionally have held the upper hand in the battlefield of prices.

Others may start the war, but U.S. Steel and Bethlehem have the might to end it. Between them they turn out about 40 per cent of all steel produced in the country.

Smaller steel firms might want, and need, higher prices, but they have to settle for what the giants dictate.

"The smaller companies just don't have the clout the big boys do," said one industry observer.

After hints of price increases for weeks because of increased costs and a poor second quar-

SS United States Again Up For Sale

The Washington Post WASHINGTON — The 990-foot luxury liner SS United States, moored at a deserted Norfolk Va. dock since its last voyage in 1969, is up for sale again. The marked-down price is $75 million.

The ship's owner, the U.S. Maritime Administration, previously asked $121 million for the vessel, which accommodated 2,000 passengers and 1,000 crew members during its 17 years at sea.

ter, three companies — two small ones and U.S. Steel — went into action last week. The events unfolded like this:

—Tuesday: Fifth-ranked Arco Steel Corp. of Middletown, Ohio, announced price hikes of 9 per cent, effective Saturday, on cold-rolled sheet, used primarily in the auto industry.

—Wednesday: Ninth-ranked Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel followed with a 9 per cent hike, again mostly on steel used in the automobile industry, effective Sunday.

—Friday, 12:30 p.m.: U.S. Steel announced a series of price moves, some up, some down, with an over-all boost of 3.8 per cent. Auto industry steel was increased, while steel used in construction was reduced. Steel used in automobiles won't be increased until Oct. 1.

—Friday, 3:30 p.m.: Arco suspended its announced price increase.

—Friday, 5 p.m.: Wheeling-Pittsburgh also suspended prices.

"Sure, it bothers you when you don't get the price you think you need," said one executive. "Most people don't think of steel prices having elasticity like the commodity markets, but they do."

"It's too early to tell what it all means," said a spokesman for Wheeling-Pittsburgh. "Steel prices are complex. It's not like buying five pounds of sugar."

One thing appears certain: U.S. Steel must have had at least the tacit approval of the Ford administration for its price moves. A spokesman for the Council on Wage and Price Stability said afterward, "We think the U.S. Steel move supports what we've been saying all along. We didn't think the market could take a price hike of that magnitude now."

And that significantly differs with two of the most noteworthy confrontations between U.S. Steel and the government.

It was U.S. Steel and its board chairman, Roger Blough, who battled President John F. Kennedy in 1962, then rescinded its announced price hikes. It was current Chairman Edgar B. Speer who met with Albert Rees, head of the Wage and Price Council, last December when U.S. Steel raised prices between 6.5 and 9.2 per cent, then reduced the increase by 20 per cent after the meeting with Rees in Washington.

Profits Down, Rig Work Up

By ROBERT A. ROSENBLATT

The Los Angeles Times The oil industry has accelerated its search for new petroleum reserves despite a sharp drop in profits this year.

Industry leaders warn that the decline in earnings could jeopardize the nation's goal of achieving energy independence. Vast amounts of money are needed to increase domestic oil production, they say, but their business is enjoying its second best year ever while the nation struggles with the worst economic slump since the Great Depression.

And the industry may have even more funds to spend on exploration if price controls expire as scheduled on Aug. 31. The price of petroleum products will jump six cents a gallon within a few months if all controls are abruptly ended, according to government estimates.

Congress has passed legislation extending price controls, but President Ford promises to veto the bill.

Elimination of controls could increase profits on crude oil by as much as $5 billion a year. However, the gains for individual companies would depend on how much of the price hike can be passed through to the buyers of gasoline, heating oil, jet fuel and other products.

In addition, Congress seems determined to take away much of the additional income through a windfall profits tax.

Most oil companies say the situation is far too uncertain for predictions about profits and price increases if controls are lifted. Atlantic Richfield and Shell, for example, refused requests for interviews on the subject.

Union Oil Co. of California was a notable exception to the industry's close-mouthed attitude on the impact of de-control. Union promised to limit price increases for the rest of the year to two cents a gallon if controls are ended and the tariff on imports is suspended.

The company's pledge applies to wholesale prices for gasoline, heating oil and diesel fuel. Union is confident that competitive pressures will restrain price increases when controls are lifted.

Most industry leaders prefer to emphasize the sharp drop in earnings this year.

Federal tax legislation approved in March took an estimated $2 billion bite out of industry profits.

A group of 12 majors surveyed by The Los Angeles Times reported first half profits totaling $3.8 billion, down from a record $5.5 billion in the first six months of last year. But firm profits are still running ahead in of the previous record in 1973, when they reached $3.4 billion.

"The appeal was made for us to reduce our prices," Speer said recently, "because the inflationary rate was out of hand. I agreed to compromise on it. It was a judgment on my part."

Standard Oil of Indiana will cut its exploratory drilling outlays by 20 to 25 per cent this year. If money were available, the company would spend 50 per cent more than it did a year ago, a spokesman said.

Texaco cut its capital and exploration spending to $810 million in the first six months this year from $965 million a year ago. Higher taxes here and abroad "seriously impede the rapidly escalating capital investment funds required to find and develop additional energy supplies," warns Chairman Maurice F. Granville. The company will drill fewer wells this year than in 1974.

Yet, overall, the pace of industry drilling activity has not slowed.

Last week, for example, there were 1,609 drilling rigs at work in the United States, compared with 1,499 a year ago, according to the Hughes Tool Co.

More than 1,600 rigs were working every month this year except May. The monthly average for the first seven months of 1974 never exceeded 1,482.

While the tax increase "has had some effect," Hughes expects drilling activity for 1975 to run 10 per cent to 12 per cent ahead of last year, says Executive Vice President F. T. Alexander.

The higher taxes came from elimination of the oil depletion allowance for the major companies. The depletion provision had permitted firms to shelter a significant portion of their crude oil income from federal taxes.

The industry's profits have benefited from the sharp rise in oil prices. A barrel of newly discovered oil that sold for $3.50 in 1973 now commands a price of approximately $12 or more.

"Wipeout is what it means," said the leader, who asked not to be named. "The cumulative effect of everything — Fanne Foxe, the alcoholism and now this — means disaster. It's all over for him."

The official was referring to the revelation Saturday that Ashland Oil Co. illegally contributed $50,000 in funds to Mills in 1971 and 1972, while Mills was seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ashland said Mills, then House Ways and Means Committee chairman, was given the money "to help re-elect a Democratic Congress."

Mills released a statement following the disclosures noting that Ashland Chairman Orin E. Atkins sent a telegram to Mills saying, "the fault lies with Ashland and not the recipient."

Mills said he didn't know the money was from corporate funds.

In all, Ashland illegally contributed $724,000 to political candidates.

Mack McLarty, state Democratic chairman, said "it's too early to tell" what impact the disclosures will have on Mills.

"Certainly nothing of this nature is ever good," McLarty said. "Atkins' statement should minimize the negative impact."

As to Mills' political future, McLarty said, "Mills is taking it one step at a time because of his recent health problems, and we'll just have to wait and see."

The unnamed Democratic official said he doesn't expect too many other Democrats to wait. He noted that there are at least a half dozen Democrats who covet the House seat Mills has held for 18 terms.

"I'm sure we have a wide open primary," he said. "The question now is whether Mills will be in it."

Republican leaders have called for Mills resignation in the wake of his recent difficulties, although some GOP sources say Mills would be easier to defeat in this heavily Democratic state than a new young Democratic candidate.

Mills' power began slipping last Oct. 7 when the so-called "Tidal Basin Incident" occurred. Police said stripper Fanne Foxe ran from Mills' Lincoln Continental and leaped into the Washington Tidal Basin. Mills was in the car, bloodied by scratches from the Argentine stripper.

A month later, Mills appeared on stage with Miss Foxe in Boston, and a short time later he resigned as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mills then checked into a hospital and admitted he was an alcoholic.

After five months of hospitalization, Mills returned to Congress. But he says he won't decide anything about his political future until he has "a long period of sobriety."

Official Veep Residence Almost Ready For Rockefeller, Family To Take Over

By ANN BLACKMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plush white carpet has been laid in the master bedroom. One of the two wine cellars has been converted into a communications system. And Secret Service electric eyes have been installed.

Eight months and $311,000 later, the vice president's official residence is almost ready for Nelson A. Rockefeller and his family to move in.

The moving day is not definite but Ken Murray, the Navy's interior designer who has been coordinating the project with Happy Rockefeller, says the six-bedroom house will be finished by Sept. 1 — just a week before the Rockefellers have scheduled a series of nine parties to show off their new residence to members of Congress, the White House staff and the diplomatic corps.

"Mrs. Rockefeller visited Wednesday and was terribly pleased, very happy," Murray said.

Murray added that Mrs. Rockefeller drops in to see the house about every two weeks. "It's quite clear that this is her baby. The vice president is mainly interested in the master bedroom and in art."

The surrealistic Max Ernst bed that Rockefeller recently purchased for the house, reportedly for around $35,000, is not yet in place. The mattress and sections of the brass and African mahogany frame were propped against a wall in a guest room.

Work on the 82-year-old mansion, which sits on Observatory Hill overlooking Embassy Row, began last January, after Congress appropriated $315,000 to repair, renovate and redecorate the house as a permanent vice presidential residence.

To date, the Navy reports that almost all the money has been spent, with the exception of $4,000 which has been set aside for bills not yet in for the last fiscal year.

Of the $104,000 Congress appropriated to maintain the house for the new fiscal year, which started last month, $20,000 already has been spent, the Navy says.

Called "The Admiral's House" and situated on 12 beautifully groomed acres, the mansion was formally occupied by the chief of naval operations. But some of the recent occupants complained that the roof leaked, the walls were flimsy and the wiring and plumbing were faulty.

Though the paint is still fresh and the furniture is not yet in place, the changes are obvious: the official entrance has been extended to include a foyer; a new wiring system has been installed; the walls have been replastered; the oak floors refinished, almost all the lighting fixtures replaced — and the barber's chair removed.

"Mrs. Rockefeller wants to keep everything simple and use neutral shades with the idea that it will be acceptable to future occupants," explained Lt. Sam Niece, the Navy's public works officer who said he lives on the grounds and is responsible for the house. "The place is not being done just for the Rockefellers but for all vice presidents."

Ford Promises Refugees Major Placement Effort

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Dressed in blue pajamas, the middle-aged Vietnamese man approached President Ford and said in hesitant English: "All of people of Ft. Chaffee thank you very much for your help, and we pray for you, your family and your people."

The incident took place Sunday in a hospital ward as the President ended an hour-long visit to the Vietnamese refugee relocation center at Ft. Chaffee, Ark.

The President said he would do everything possible to see that new homes are found by 55,000 other Indochina refugees still in four U.S. camps.

Later, Ford and Mrs. Ford flew to Vail, Colo., to begin a two-week working vacation in the mountain resort.

Meeting with aides, social events, golf, swimming and tennis are on his agenda for the next several days before he takes off next Monday for a mid-vacation tour in Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois.

Last May, Ford pressed for funds to resettle Indochina refugees in this country, and Congress responded by appropriating $406 million.

Thousands of refugees still at Chaffee showed their appreciation by giving the President a rousing welcome. They lined the three-mile route from the base gate and waved and cheered as the presidential motorcade went by.

Donald McDonald, a senior civil coordinator at the base, told the President that Ft.

Chaffee quarters 20,941 refugees. Another 23,000 have been relocated elsewhere in homes across the country.

McDonald reported a total of 120,796 refugees have come to the four relocation centers but only 65,151 have been resettled.

Ford said, "We will make every possible effort to complete the relocation program on schedule by late this fall."

He said that, after a rough start, "Things are running smoothly now and are going to run more smoothly in the future."

Officials Will Inspect New Water Home

BIG SPRING — New headquarters of the Colorado River Municipal Water District located at 400 E. 24th St. here will be inspected by local and state officials during special ceremonies Aug. 22 and 24.

Board members and special guests will take part in a dinner at the Big Spring Country Club on Aug. 22, as part of the dedication ceremonies.

Total cost of the new office facilities is approximately $398,000, the board of directors has announced.

At their Thursday meeting, the directors authorized bid advertisements for a second water delivery point at Odessa. The project will take CRMWD water to the campus of the University of Texas at the Permian Basin for use in the campus irrigation system. Payment for the project will be made by the City of Odessa from funds supplied by the university system.

Directors reported that July water use totals ran 29 per cent less than the same month last year. Storage reservoirs are full, the board revealed, and are pumping water by use of energy conservation methods.

The board instructed O. H. Ivie, general manager of the district, to continue a study for possible ways to modify debt service over the next seven years to minimize city water service rates.

Kansas Governor Fetes Susan Ford

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Susan Ford, 18-year-old daughter of the President, sat on a bale of hay behind the Kansas governor's mansion, attracting the attention befitting the guest of honor.

The Sunday party planned by Gov. and Mrs. Robert F. Bennett was the only official function of the state to recognize the presence of Miss Ford, who will complete a six-week tour next Sunday as a photographer-trainee with The Topeka Capital-Journal.

About 250 young people attended the party in her honor, featuring a Western motif with barbecue, country music and a hay ride.
