

Senate Fails To Override Veto

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)— The Senate this afternoon failed to override President Ford's veto of a six-month extension of oil price controls.

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Senate appears to be unable to overturn President Ford's veto of a crucial energy bill, assuring higher prices for fuel, food and most manufactured goods.

Failing to pick up the votes of three or four eastern Republicans, the Senate's Democratic majority virtually threw in the towel even before Ford on Tuesday announced his long-expected veto of a bill extending controls on oil prices for six months.

Thus, it appeared Ford loyalists and oil-state senators would have about 36 votes—two more than needed to sustain the veto today.

The next step by the Ford administration would be to ask Congress for a 45-day extension of price controls. During that period, Congress would be expected to adopt a gradual phase-out of controls along the lines of the 39-month proposal offered by Ford.

The end result of such a move would be that U.S. oil prices would rise to the level set by the oil-exporting nations, currently about $13.50 a barrel. U.S. oil now sells for an average of $9.50.

All sides agree that such an increase in oil prices would raise the price of gasoline, food, clothing and most other goods. But since the energy battle between Congress and the White House began eight months ago, there has been little agreement on the size of the increases.

The Library of Congress has estimated Ford's plan to end price controls on oil would mean an increase of up to 15 cents in the price of a gallon of gasoline, raise the cost of living by nearly 2 per cent and throw 600,000 Americans out of jobs.

The Ford administration predicts that gasoline prices will rise no more than 6 cents a gallon, and inflation will increase by .8 per cent. The Agriculture Department calculates that retail food prices would rise by about .7 per cent over the next 27 months because of decontrol.

Almost immediately after Ford announced his veto of the six-month price-control bill, the debate resumed in Congress.

"If the veto is not upheld, the nation is not likely to have a comprehensive energy policy for a couple of more years," said Sen. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Md.

Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., called the veto inflationary and "a terrible act of irresponsibility on the part of the President."

"To sustain the veto is to chance a return to the destructive cycle of higher prices and fewer jobs," said Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who planned to vote with Ford. "To override the veto is to fall asleep in the eye of a storm and ignore the immediate energy crisis."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the veto destroyed the Ford administration's credibility in its battle against inflation and recession. "By this one stroke of the pen, the President has aimed a $40-billion energy shock at the American economy, a shock the economy cannot afford to suffer."

Ward Field Gets Second Gas Horizon

Gulf Oil Corp. has reclassified as a Canyon gas pay opener in the HSA field of Ward County, its No. 596 Hutchings Stock Association, former Canyon oil opener in the field, three miles southeast of Monahans.

It gauged a calculated, absolute open flow of 240,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 7,993-8,066 feet. No treatment was reported.

The potential from the oil zone was taken in March, 1964 for 235 barrels of 43.2-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 2,119-1, through the above perforations.

It previously had been completed in December, 1963, for 43 barrels of oil per day, through Pennsylvania perforations at 8,184-8,660 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 75, block N, G&MMB&A survey.

Regular gas pay in the field is from the lower section of the Pennsylvanian.

Roosevelt Field Gets Test Sites

H. L. Brown Jr., Midland, has staked two outposts to the three-well Wolfcamp gas sector of the Bluit field in Roosevelt County, N.M.

No. 1 CSO Federal, 1 1/2 mile northeast of production, is 990 feet from south and east lines of section 28-7s-37e, 3 1/2 miles northeast of Bluit. Planned depth is 8,200 feet.

No. 1-E Federal, one mile northeast outpost, was 2,310 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 34-7s-37e, three miles northeast of Bluit. Scheduled depth is 9,150 feet.

The field also produces oil from the San Andres.

Outpost Planned In Elsinore Area

Hunt Oil Co. of Dallas plans to drill No. 63 Elsinore Royalty Co. as a 1 1/2-mile northwest outpost to the Elsinore multipay gas field of Pecos County.

Location is 1,720 feet from north and 2,700 feet from west lines of section 18, block D, GC&SF survey, 30 miles southwest of Fort Stockton. Planned depth is 12,800 feet.

The Texas Railroad Commission recently consolidated the Devonian and Fusselman pays in the field.

Dunigan Slates Borden Project

James P. Dunigan, Inc., Abilene, has staked No. 1 B. J. Bellew as a stepout to Ellenburger production in the Fluvanna, Southwest multizone field of Northeast Borden County.

Slated to 8,600 feet, it spots 467 feet from south and 1,600 feet from east lines of section 532, block 97, H&TC survey, 11 miles northeast of Gail.

Midland Schools To Fight Ruling Of Appeals Court

By LUANNA CROW.

Midland plan for desegregation which was proposed in 1971 after Justice Department officials cited Washington and De Zavala elementary schools as racially identifiable.

The court's ruling demands that the district remove all traces of the "dual" system of education for minority and majority students.

Trustees said Tuesday they feel the clarification request is necessary because they do not understand why Pease, Crockett and Milam elementary schools have been included in the opinion.

Those three schools had been included in the original order from the Justice Department in 1970, but later were dropped from the suit.

Requests made to the 5th Circuit Court, however, must be made this week, and Mailey said attorney Charles Tighe will assist Hardie by tending to that matter in his absence.

In addition to discussing action to be taken regarding the court ruling, trustees also heard but took no action on a proposal by Prichard & Abbott to appraise oil and gas properties for $19,000, agreed to take bids on band blazers for Austin Freshman School, heard 21 transfer requests and voted to pay $25 in dues to the Permian Basin School Board Association, with trustee James Ramsoure as the official representative.

Reports were heard on the elementary science program, school loadings and enrollment.

Board members also awarded contracts for mimeograph and duplicating paper and two pickup trucks.

Graham Paper of Lubbock was awarded the paper contract on a bid of 13,174.12. Five other firms entered bids.

Thousands Expected For President's Visit

Thousands of West Texans are expected to be in Midland Saturday to hear the President of the United States make the dedication address at the opening of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame.

Russell Ramsland, president of the museum's board of trustees, said many of the Midland area law enforcement agencies will be on hand to help with the expected large flow of traffic.

In addition to the professional traffic control officers, volunteer help has been offered by the Midland Jaycees and the Boys Scouts of America.

Although the President is not due to speak until 5 p. m., museum officials suggest that persons planning to be on hand for the museum opening should leave their homes no later than 3:30 p. m.

Persons attending the museum opening will have to wait until Sunday before they can go through the facility.

"We expect the crowd to be so large Saturday that we decided it would be best to keep the museum closed until 2 p. m. Sunday. It will remain open until 5 p. m. Of course, the facility will observe regular 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. hours other days of the week except Mondays," Fort said.

Fort said it had been suggested to him that visitors Saturday bring their lunches and eat on the museum grounds while awaiting the arrival of President Ford.

Bomb Injures Chilean Newsman

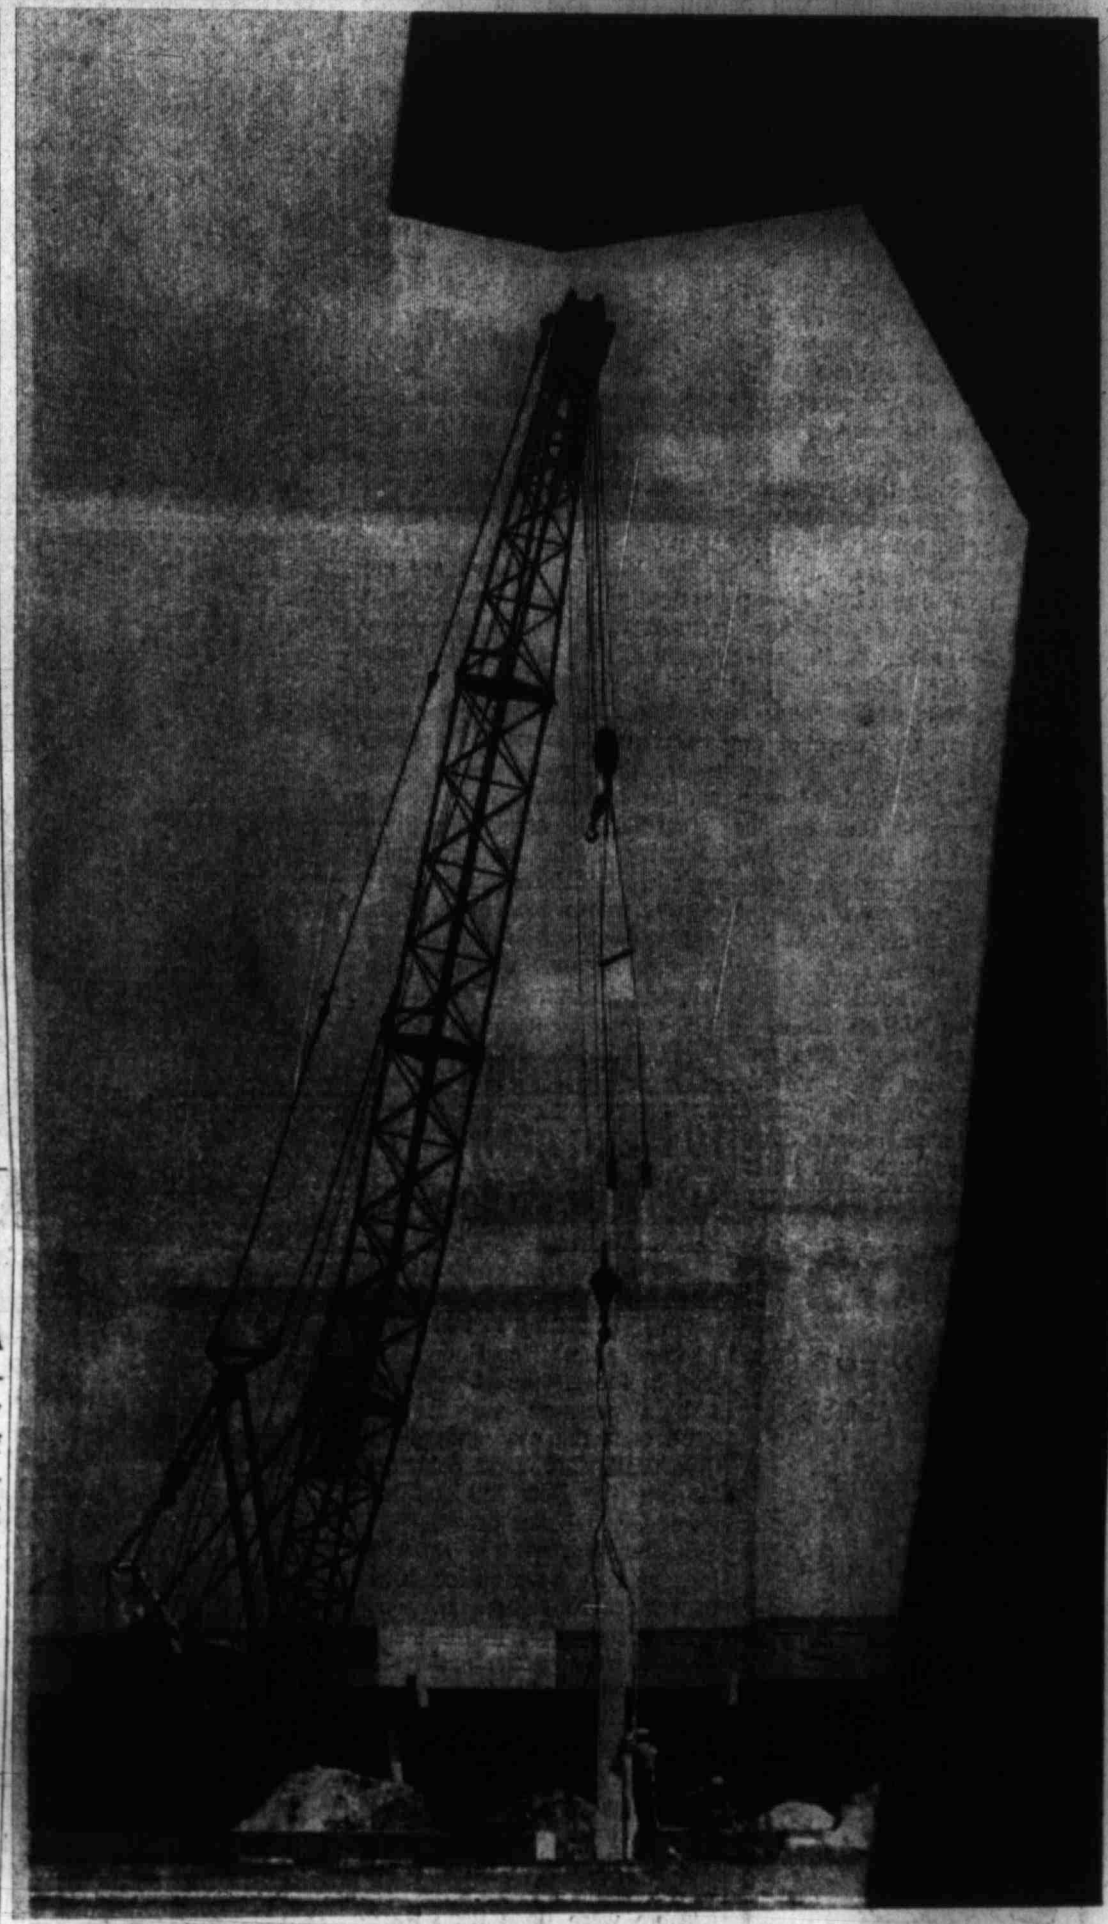

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)— A bomb concealed in a gift-wrapped book exploded today in the hands of the director of one of Chile's most pro-government newspapers as the ruling military junta prepared to celebrate two years in power.

Mario Carneyro, 56, was reported in grave condition.

Carneyro, director of La Segunda, a tabloid that is the capital's only afternoon newspaper, arrived at his office this morning.

According to accounts from witnesses, a book was delivered in gift wrapping by an unidentified messenger.

When Carneyro opened the package, the bomb went off and hurled him backward, causing grave injuries to his face and neck.

Plans For $1.5 Billion Nuclear Plant Scrapped

HOUSTON (AP)— Houston Lighting & Power Co. said today it is scrapping plans to build a $1.5 billion nuclear power plant.

Company spokesman Craig Sealy said cost estimates had jumped taking steps to substantially reduce its other construction programs.

Houston Lighting & Power planned to build a nuclear generating plant in the Wallis-Sealy area west of Houston but said cost estimates had jumped from less than $1 billion in 1971 to $1.5 billion.

Further, the company said, a construction permit has not been issued and may not be issued for one to two years, increasing costs even more.

"While several factors have combined to make deferment of the Allen's Creek plant necessary, the principal one is the tremendous escalation in its cost since 1971 when preparations to build it were first begun," a company statement said.

Houston Lighting & Power had targeted 1980 for completion of the nuclear plant but said delays and rising costs could push the outlay to nearly $1.8 billion.

"This enormous sum, together with the cost of the conversion program to permit the use of oil in its present plants and other required construction, is more than the company can finance at this time. In addition... a secondary consideration is the fact that the past year has shown some indication of a slower rate of growth in the area's electrical requirements," the statement said.

"The need to defer the Allen's Creek plant does not mean the company has changed its position with regard to a slower rate of (See PLANT Page 4A)

$14-Million City Budget Okayed

By GEORGE MASSEY

A $14-million city budget for 1975-76 was approved by Midland city councilmen Tuesday, and the city's tax rate was kept at $1.14 per $100 valuation.

However, a tax rate increase could be forthcoming next year if a proposed $6-million street bond issue passes the test of local voters on Sept. 23.

Fred Poe, assistant city manager, told the council that 4 cents of the next tax rate figure would be required to retire the bonds. Poe said the 4 cents could be added to make the tax rate $1.18 next year or it might be added 2 cents at a time on later budgets.

"The rate might not need an increase to pay off the bonds," Poe said. "The tax base could expand and cover the bonds without an increase or the city's operating expense might decrease to the point where the 4 cents would be made up by the present rate."

Councilmen deleted a proposed $20,412 item from the budget for machine rental for the data processing department. The deletion was possible, Poe said, because of a recent upgrading of the city's data computer system.

Six additions were made to the budget figure following requests for funds by several city departments and civic groups.

On request of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, an appropriation of $52,250 was approved for chamber activities to be allotted portions of the money on individual consideration by the council.

The chamber had requested funding of $82,250, but the council voted to delete $30,000 of the request for a proposed tree planting program. Councilman said the money could be channeled through city departments for the same project.

Other additions to the budget included Mental Health and Mental Retardation building lease funds, $4,200; budget printing cost, $2,000; extra help for the city health department and a car allowance, $3,344; parking lot expense for the police department, $1,800, and funding for the Human Relations Council on going programs, $13,100.

The request for $5,000 by Midland Senior Citizens, Inc., to pay expenses for drivers on a mini-bus system was not approved.

Following action on the budget, councilmen approved a 10 per cent hike for local water rates that will go into effect Oct. 1.

City administrators told the council the increase in the water rate was necessary to offset a 15 per cent hike in rates charged for water by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

A proposal by Texas Electric Service Company to hike local electric rates was ordered to be studied by the city's administrator. (See BUDGET Page 4A)

U.S. Technicians Dusting Off Spooky Electronic Gear

By ANDREW WILSON
The Manchester Guardian
LONDON—American technicians are removing the mothballs from spooky electronic equipment that will be used to monitor the Egyptian-Israeli "peace" agreement.

is continuous, but has a relatively short range. Installed in two long-range surveillance stations, one Israeli and one Egyptian, the radars will be able to pick up movements on Egyptian airfields as far west as Cairo and Israeli airfields at least as far north as Beersheba.

The eeriest systems will consist of devices developed in Vietnam under the code name Igloo White. They include "people-sniffers" and other short-range gadgets. In the words of an American expert, they can detect anything that perspires, moves, carries metal, makes a noise or is hotter or colder than its surroundings.

At a shorter range they are likely to be supplemented by heat sensors, which already make it possible for the Israeli Umm Khiseib station to detect the hot gases when a jet starts up on an Egyptian airfield.

The most important equipment is likely to consist of over-the-horizon radar. As its name implies, this differs from ordinary radar, whose range is limited by the curvature of the earth.

Three shorter-range "early warnings stations" are to be manned by American civilians. Another detection system will use infra-red photographic scopes which can pick up ground movement much more clearly than the human eye.

There are two kinds of over-the-horizon radar. One uses the ionosphere (the layer of electrically charged particles beginning 25 miles above the earth) to bounce its beam downwards.

The Vietman devices are not tactically foolproof. (The heat sensors can be misled by decoy bonfires, and the people "sniffers" by skillfully placed buckets of urine.) But unless either side is determined to wreck the agreement, they could serve their purpose in Sinai.

The former does not give continuous cover, but does provide a large area of illumination where the beam comes down from the ionosphere. The latter

One thing is certain. The Sinai gadgetry will be carefully watched by European military experts whose governments are looking for ways to cut military manpower and mounting defense budgets.

Houston Schools More Segregated Than In '70

HOUSTON (AP) — Reports show Houston's public schools were more segregated the first week of school this year than at peak enrollment in 1970 following a desegregation court order.

According to the fifth day enrollment report released Tuesday, the Houston Independent School District had 107 one-race schools.

Part of the purpose of the district's magnet school plan approved during the summer in federal court was to reduce the number of one-race schools.

That compares with 88 one-race schools in mid-October last year and 100 following the

According to the enrollment figures taken on the fifth day of school, the district has 80 schools with 90 per cent or more black pupils, 22 schools with 90 per cent or more blacks and Mexican Americans, seven schools with mostly Mexican Americans and 18 schools where whites comprise 90 per cent or more of the enrollment.

Houston School Principals Fined For Locked Doors

HOUSTON (AP) — City Fire Marshal Alcius Greer says his office is getting tough with school principals who lock building doors during school hours.

Proprietary Schools Lose Court Fight

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Association of Proprietary Schools has been refused a temporary restraining order against enforcement of rules set by the State Board of Education.

Five principals have been cited for having one or more school exits locked while pupils were in the buildings. One principal spent brief time in jail when she did not have $75 in cash to pay a fine.

District Court Judge Tom Blackwell said Tuesday the Proprietary School Association has an adequate remedy under present law which provides for appeal to district court when state approval is denied to operate proprietary schools. He noted that the suit did not result from an appeal from a decision by the state board.

Greer said Tuesday the measures were part of a "get tough" policy to avoid what he called "a serious hazard to the lives of everyone in the building" should a fire occur.

The TEA rules involved call for annual financial certified audits from most business and trade schools in the state and require that refunds must be made to dropouts for the days they were absent from a school.

School Supt. Billy Reagan said principals have been told to keep exits unlocked during school hours. He said any principal cited for the offense must pay his own fine.

Locking outside doors while the school is occupied is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine up to $200.

Dayan Says Syria, Russia Must Join In Peace Moves

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Former Israeli Defense Minister Moseh Dayan said Tuesday that his country's peace agreement with Egypt is not a major step toward peace unless there is a commitment also from Syria and the Soviet Union.

Connally, who was sitting in the same limousine with Kennedy and was wounded himself, said here Tuesday he neither favors nor opposes reopening the investigation of the assassination.

"Maybe it is better than nothing," Dayan said in a speech at North Texas State University.

A suggestion that the investigation be reopened was made by Pennsylvania Republican Sen. Richard Schwiker.

"If both your country and Russia will do everything in your power, we can have peace this time," he added.

Connally, who switched his allegiance to the Republicans in 1973 and was at one time considered a possible choice for the vice presidency, said he has no ambitions for national political office.

"THE LORD'S SUPPER"

One of the outstanding characteristics of the church of Christ is that the members of each local church observe the Lord's Supper EVERY Lord's Day. Any act of worship that is considered to be more important justifies some study.

Jesus instituted the Supper on the night of His betrayal. The references in the Scriptures are given in Matthew 26:26-29; Mark 14:12-25; Luke 22:7-20; 1 Corinthians 11:23-26. The meaning of the Supper is made quite clear by the unbiased, the "unbiased bread" and the "fruit of the vine," are symbolic of His "body and blood." The elements serve as a memorial, and sets forth the death of Christ until He comes again. It is a communion of Christ and each Christian who partakes.

The Lord's Supper was never designated in the Holy Scriptures as the "Eucharist," or "sacrament," or a "means of grace." It was never called a "ritual." The Lord's Supper was designated as such in 1 Corinthians 11:26. Such was called "the breaking of bread," (Ac.20:7). It was also called "communion." (1 Co. 10:16).

When the first century Christians came together on the first day of the week to "break bread," (Ac.20:7) they did so to show the Lord's death until He comes again. (1 Co. 11:26) It is our contention, gentle reader, that the early saints met EVERY first day of the week to observe the Supper. This is clearly documented, both in the Scriptures, and in religious and secular history. The Bible makes it clear that they came together on the "first day of the week" for such, and since every week has a first day, we insist that it is necessarily inferred that they met EVERY first day for the observance.

In the Jewish age, God said to ancient Israel, "Remember the Sabbath and keep it holy." Every student knows that the Jew kept EVERY Sabbath day holy. Yet the word "every" does not appear in the text. It is understood that the Jew was to keep EVERY Sabbath by the import of the language used. The same is true with Acts 20:7. This is why the church of Christ observes the Supper each Lord's Day. We believe it is scriptural. On the other hand, we obviously believe it would be unscriptural to observe it quarterly or yearly.

The Problem With Grain Prices?—Words, Not Wheat

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Higher food prices resulting from U.S. grain sales to Russia are caused by controversy and concern over the deals and not by any threat to American supplies.

The problem is words, not wheat. U.S. farmers are producing three times as much wheat as the country will use this year. U.S. firms have sold the Russians only one-third of the wheat that is expected to be left over at the end of the year after domestic consumption and regular exports.

The controversy eased a bit Tuesday when AFL-CIO President George Meany, acting after a meeting with President Ford, told dock workers to resume loading Soviet-bound grain voluntarily.

Ford told Meany he could make no promises about what would happen to food prices. But he extended until mid-October a moratorium on new grain sales to Russia and said he would try to work out a long-term agreement to minimize the impact of any future sales.

An AFL-CIO spokesman said the boycott suspension was for one month only, pending further developments. The controversy continues.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the 1975 wheat crop at a record 58.3 million metric tons. Added to stockpiles, that gives the nation a total supply of 67 million metric tons.

Only 19.4 million metric tons of wheat will be used at home; 34 million metric tons will be exported to countries other than Russia. That leaves almost 13.6 million metric tons.

Thus far this year, U.S. firms have sold the Russians about one-third of that 13.6 million metric tons, leaving just over nine million metric tons for storage in grain silos across the country.

If supplies are adequate, why are prices going up?

One reason is that people still remember what happened after the 1972 grain sales to the Soviet Union. The traditionally large American stockpiles were almost depleted; wheat prices quadrupled, from $1.33 a bushel in July 1972 to $5.29 in January 1974; food prices went up almost 30 per cent in two years and the grain sales shared the blame with rising energy costs and government price controls that disrupted production cycles.

There are several differences between the situation now and in 1972:

—U.S. firms have sold the Soviets less corn and wheat this year — a little more than nine million metric tons compared with about 18 million metric tons in 1972.

—There is more grain available for export to Russia. The 1972 sales represented 99 per cent of the U.S. wheat carry-over — the amount left after domestic use and regular exports — in contrast to this year's 33 per cent.

—The world grain situation has improved from 1973 and 1974 when drought and famine in developing countries increased demand for wheat and corn from U.S. stockpiles — stockpiles that had been depleted by the 1972 Russian sale.

Nonetheless, fear of a potential shortage can drive up prices just as surely as a shortage itself. Warnings can turn anticipation into reality. That is what has happened this year.

U.S. Technicians Dusting Off Spooky Electronic Gear

By ANDREW WILSON
The Manchester Guardian

LONDON—American technicians are removing the mothballs from spooky electronic equipment that will be used to monitor the Egyptian-Israeli "peace" agreement.

Some of the equipment was used in Vietnam. Other items are already in service at the Israeli surveillance station at Umm Khisbeib, a 2,500-foot peak on the western slope of the Giddi Pass.

The earliest systems will consist of devices developed in Vietnam under the code name Igloo White. They include "people-sniffers" and other short-range gadgets. In the words of an American expert, they can detect anything that perspires, moves, carries metal, makes a noise or is hotter or colder than its surroundings.

The most important equipment is likely to consist of over-the-horizon radar. As its name implies, this differs from ordinary radar, whose range is limited by the curvature of the earth.

There are two kinds of over-the-horizon radar. One uses the ionosphere (the layer of electrically charged particles beginning 25 miles above the earth) to bounce its beam downwards. The other launches its beam in such a way that it becomes a wave guided by the surface.

The former does not give continuous cover, but does provide a large area of illumination where the beam comes down from the ionosphere. The latter is continuous, but has a relatively short range.

Installed in two long-range surveillance stations, one Israeli and one Egyptian, the radars will be able to pick up movements on Egyptian airfields as far west as Cairo and Israeli airfields at least as far north as Beersheba.

At a shorter range they are likely to be supplemented by heat sensors, which already make it possible for the Israeli Umm Khisbeib station to detect the hot gases when a jet starts up on an Egyptian airfield.

Three shorter-range "early warnings stations" are to be manned by American civilians.

Another detection system will use infra-red photographic scopes which can pick up ground movement much more clearly than the human eye.

The Vietnam devices are not tactically foolproof. (The heat sensors can be misled by decoy bonfires, and the people "sniffers" by skillfully placed buckets of urine.) But unless either side is determined to wreck the agreement, they could serve their purpose in Sinai.

One thing is certain. The Sinai gadgetry will be carefully watched by European military experts whose governments are looking for ways to cut military manpower and mounting defense budgets.

Houston Schools More Segregated Than In '70

HOUSTON (AP) — Reports show Houston's public schools were more segregated the first week of school this year than at peak enrollment in 1970 following a desegregation court order.

According to the fifth day enrollment report released Tuesday, the Houston Independent School District had 107 one-race schools.

That compares with 88 one-race schools in mid-October last year and 100 following the

Houston School Principals Fined For Locked Doors

HOUSTON (AP) — City Fire Marshal Alcus Greer says his office is getting tough with school principals who lock building doors during school hours.

Five principals have been cited for having one or more school exits locked while pupils were in the buildings. One principal spent brief time in jail when she did not have $75 in cash to pay a fine.

Greer said Tuesday the measures were part of a "get tough" policy to avoid what he called "a serious hazard to the lives of everyone in the building" should a fire occur.

"It's so serious that we're through issuing warning notices," he said. "We're issuing citations with every violation we find."

School Supt. Billy Reagan said principals have been told to keep exits unlocked during school hours. He said any principal cited for the offense must pay his own fine.

Locking outside doors while the school is occupied is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine up to $200.

Proprietary Schools Lose Court Fight

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Association of Proprietary Schools has been refused a temporary restraining order against enforcement of rules set by the State Board of Education.

District Court Judge Tom Blackwell said Tuesday the Proprietary School Association has an adequate remedy under present law which provides for appeal to district court when state approval is denied to operate proprietary schools. He noted that the suit did not result from an appeal from a decision by the state board.

The TEA rules involved call for annual financial certified audits from most business and trade schools in the state and require that funds must be made to dropouts for the days they were absent from a school.

Fall Beginning To Make Itself Felt Over Nation

By The Associated Press

Fall is approaching, and the nation is beginning to feel it.

Temperatures continued to drop in the Northeast today as a high pressure system centered over the east end of the Ohio Valley brought cold dry air into the New England and lower Great Lakes areas.

Scattered frost was reported in a section from eastern Ohio to western New England.

Thundershowers in the southwest quarter of the nation led to some local flooding. Motorists in West Central Nevada were advised to use caution because of washouts and mud over highways. Highway 80 was partly closed about 30 miles east of Reno due to mud and water.

There were flash flood warnings in effect for the south part of Inyo County in California including Death Valley. Mud slides closed all highways into Death Valley.

The Southeast and the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts continued to experience thunderstorms. Showers and occasional thundershowers pepper the upper Mississippi Valley as well as the southern half of the Rocky Mountains to the plains.

Church of Christ

Jesus instituted the Supper on the night of His betrayal. The references discussing the institution of the Supper are given in Matthew 26:26-29; Mark 14:22-25; Luke 22:7-20; 1 Corinthians 11:23-26. The meaning of the Supper is made quite clear to the unbiased. The "unleavened bread" and the "fruit of the vine," are symbolic of His "body and blood." The elements serve as a memorial, and sets forth the death of Christ until He comes again. It is a communion of Christ and each Christian who partakes.

The Lord's Supper was never designated in the Holy Scriptures as the "Eucharist," or "sacrament," or a "means of grace." It was never called a "ritual." The Lord's Supper was designated as such in 1 Corinthians 11:20. Such was called "the breaking of bread," (Ac.20:7). It was also called "communion," (1 Co. 10:16).

When the first century Christians came together on the first day of the week to "break bread," (Ac.20:7) they did so to show the Lord's death until He comes again. (1 Co. 11:26) It is our contention, gentle reader, that the early saints met EVERY first day of the week to observe the Supper. This is clearly documented, both in the Scriptures, and in religious and secular history. The Bible makes it clear that they came together on the "first day of the week" for such, and since every week has a first day, we insist that it is necessary to infer that they met EVERY first day for the observance.

In the Jewish age, God said to ancient Israel, "Remember the Sabbath and keep it holy." Every student knows that the Jew kept EVERY Sabbath day holy. Yet the word "every" does not appear in the text. It is understood that the Jew was to keep EVERY Sabbath by the import of the language used. The same is true with Acts 20:7. This is why the church of Christ observes the Supper each Lord's Day. We believe it is scriptural. On the other hand, we obviously believe it would be unscriptural to observe it quarterly or yearly.

Dayan Says Syria, Russia Must Join In Peace Moves

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Former Israeli Defense Minister Moseh Dayan said Tuesday that his country's peace agreement with Egypt is not a major step toward peace unless there is a commitment also from Syria and the Soviet Union.

"Maybe it is better than nothing," Dayan said in a speech at North Texas State University.

"If both your country and Russia will do everything in your power, we can have peace this time," he added.

Connally Believes Lee Harvey Oswald Acted By Himself

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally says here is no evidence that anyone but Lee Harvey Oswald was involved in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Connally, who was sitting in the same limousine with Kennedy and was wounded himself, said here Tuesday he neither favors nor opposes reopening the investigation of the assassination.

A suggestion that the investigation be reopened was made by Pennsylvania Republican Sen. Richard Schweiker.

Connally, who switched his allegiance to the Republicans in 1973 and was at one time considered a possible choice for the vice presidency, said he has no ambitions for national political office.

However, he said he has a heavy speaking schedule this fall and next spring during which he intends to "talk about the issues facing the country."

"At this moment I'm a free agent, and I'm going to say what I want," he said.

LTV Aerospace Gets Contracts

DALLAS (AP) — LTV Aerospace Corp. says it has received contracts from the Department of Defense totaling $132.7 million through the Naval Air Systems Command.

The company said Tuesday the contracts include work on the A-7D, A-7E, A-7H and the TA-7C aircraft models. It added that approximately $107.5 million consists of modifications to previously awarded fixed price incentive fee contracts in fiscal year 1975. The rest of the money includes advanced funding for fiscal year 1976 work on the A-7E and TA7C versions.

THE SCIENTIFIC CALCULATOR

Nortex has searched the market over, to find the quality, the features and the low, low price — $59.95! A fantastic value for a calculator so technologically advanced. The KINGSPPOINT SC-20 is especially designed for STUDENTS — SCIENTISTS — ENGINEERS — STATISTICIANS and those who require a pocket-sized, reliable, precision calculator capable of transcendental function performance. This unique, compact, and unusually complex system with a total of five operating registers is not only capable of performing all functions in various fields of technology, but also is extremely simple to operate since it employs the true algebraic notation entry method with a separate key for each function. The signs, numbers in full floatation decimal point or scientific notation, function instructions, and even the brackets and parentheses are repeatedly entered exactly in the same sequence as the problems would be stated. You can order today from Nortex with complete confidence! You get a full factory warranty plus NORTEX 10-day money-back guarantee if you are not completely satisfied.

- Number entry and display in range of 11×10^{99} to $\pm (10^{-10}) \times 10^{99}$.

Family Services Concerned Agency

(EDITOR'S NOTE: As a prelude to the United Way campaign, Reporter-Telegram reporter Bo Baskin visited several agencies receiving funds from the campaign with a member of the Visitation Committee. The following article is what he found out about the agency.)

By BO BASKIN

"My parents don't understand me."

"My husband is always gone. It's tough on the kids."

"Since the children went off to school, we've been lonely."

Different families, different problems; but all are the concern of Family Services of Midland, a United Way agency.

Family Services is a social service agency designed to help Midland families deal with family problems. According to Linda George, executive director for the agency, the family problems dealt with by the agency range from divorce to child abuse to teenager's sneaking out at night. She says the most frequent problem, however, is inadequate personal relationships.

"It always sounds trite," says Miss George, "but our biggest problem is communication."

"For instance, parents come in with a child and say, 'Do something about this bad kid,' when the real problem is that the parents are not communicating."

"We try to teach people to talk to each other," she says. "In fact, we suggest every married couple set aside 20 minutes each day just to talk about their feelings."

Approximately 500 families approached Family Services in 1974. Each was given an interview with one of the Service's three caseworkers, each of whom holds a master's degree in social services.

According to Miss George, the majority of the families continue to visit the agency "long enough to be helped"—on the average one to two visits per week for three to six months.

Although several United Way agencies are committed almost exclusively to the impoverished, William P. Slater, United Way Visitation Committee chairman, says Family Services is "committed to the entire community 365 days per year."

"Most people think immediately that social services are for the impoverished," says Miss George, "but we serve a cross-section of the community. In fact, the middle class is probably our biggest clientele."

Because all cases and problems brought to Family Services are confidential, Miss George says the agency must be "a low profile agency." However, not all of the agency's work is low profile.

For example, each year, in cooperation with the Midland Community Theatre and the Midland Council on Alcoholism, Family Services presents a play focusing on a family problem. Last year's play—a look at the problems of alcoholism entitled "Lady on the Rocks"—was performed 22 times before a total of 2,000 people. After each performance, Family Services organized members of the audience into discussion groups to talk about the problems dealt with in the play.

Family Services has also made extensive efforts to recruit adult Midlanders to participate in the Big Brother-Big Sister program which it began this summer.

Also, Miss George says she is always willing to speak on family problems or on the agency's activities. "I'll appear anywhere," she says. "If you ask me to speak on Wall Street, I will."

She adds, "We are available to help people reach an equilibrium in their lives."

In today's society it is often considered a weakness to seek counsel or advice. But as the English poet John Donne (1573-1631) once said, "No man is an island." And as long as men are not, they will require at least a modicum of the understanding and the counseling friends like Midland Family Services caseworkers are able to provide.

Briscoe To Tell How He'll Vote On Constitution

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will let Texans know in advance how he will vote on the new state constitution Nov. 4.

Briscoe has expressed concern about such innovations as annual legislative sessions, but says his final decisions must await analyses being made by several members of his staff.

"I anticipate I will state my thinking on them, state how I intend to vote on each proposition," he told reporters.

He said he has found little public interest in the document in his travels around the state "but I hope interest will build."

FTC Finds No Jar Lid Violation

The Washington Post — The Federal Trade Commission has found no evidence of antitrust violations in its 30-day investigation of the shortage of canning jar lids.

According to sources close to the investigation, the report, which will be presented to a House Small Business subcommittee today, says that the shortage is due to a demand greater than anticipated and to consumer hoarding.

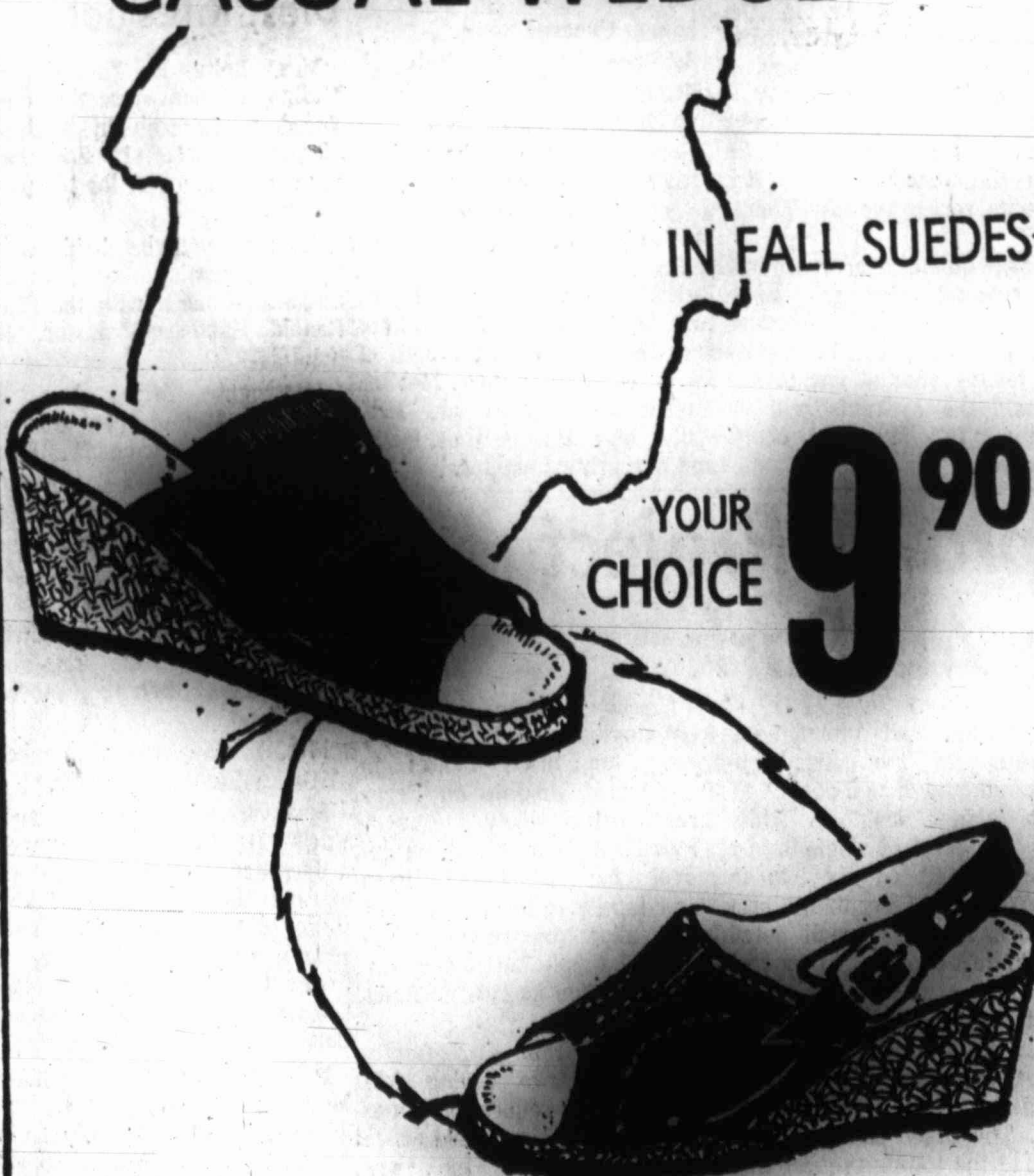

One official, who asked not to be identified said the hoarding may have been caused by the President's consumer affairs adviser, Virginia Knauer. She announced in March that the replacement lid situation would be "tight."

"Her press conference could have created a scare psychology," the official said, "like what happened with sugar, gas and toilet paper."

Also, Miss George says she is always willing to speak on family problems or on the agency's activities. "I'll appear anywhere," she says. "If you ask me to speak on Wall Street, I will."
She adds, "We are available to help people reach an equilibrium in their lives."
In today's society it is often considered a weakness to seek counsel or advice. But as the English poet John Donne (1573-1631) once said, "No man is an island." And as long as men are not, they will require at least a modicum of the understanding and the counseling friends like Midland Family Services caseworkers are able to provide.

Briscoe To Tell How He'll Vote On Constitution

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will let Texans know in advance how he will vote on the new state constitution Nov. 4.

Briscoe has expressed concern about such innovations as annual legislative sessions, but says his final decisions must await analyses being made by several members of his staff.

"I anticipate I will state my thinking on them, state how I intend to vote on each proposition," he told reporters.

He said he has found little public interest in the document in his travels around the state "but I hope interest will build."

FTC Finds No Jar Lid Violation

The Washington Post WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission has found no evidence of antitrust violations in its 30-day investigation of the shortage of canning jar lids.

According to sources close to the investigation, the report, which will be presented to a House Small Business subcommittee today, says that the shortage are due to a demand greater than anticipated and to consumer hoarding.

One official, who asked not to be identified said the hoarding may have been caused by the President's consumer affairs adviser, Virginia Knauer. She announced in March that the replacement lid situation would be "tight."

"Her press conference could have created a scare psychology," the official said, "like what happened with sugar, gas and toilet paper."

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Casual Greetings

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 72-year-old man. Two weeks ago when I went to my son's house, his wife greeted me at the door topless!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were married eight months ago. When I mailed the wedding invitations to his relatives who all live out of state, I enclosed a little note inside, which read, "Money would be the gift most appreciated."

The main reason I did it was to avoid duplications of gifts and to save them postage on the gift. I was only trying to do them a favor, but I got a lot of criticism for it.

Was that wrong? And if so, why?

—MEANT WELL

I said nothing about this to my son or anybody else, but yesterday my son asked me to meet him at his house.

When I got there, his wife greeted me at the door with absolutely nothing on! I told her I left some tools in my car and then I got into my car and drove straight home.

Abby, I don't think I can ever look that girl in the face again. I hate to tell my son, but if his wife acts like this with me, I am afraid she acts this way with others.

Should I tell my son or just forget about it?

NAME WITHHELD

DEAR NAME: Tell your son. His wife is in need of psychiatric help—and the sooner, the better.

History Of Alamo Mission Bell Presented For Unit

The Book Review Unit of the Midland Woman's Club met Monday in the clubhouse for a luncheon and guest day program, with J. Evetts Haley presenting his book on "The Alamo Mission Bell." A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Richard D. Jons, president of the unit. Mrs. Jack Samples gave the invocation. Mrs. Taylor E. Bowers presided at the serving table during the hospitality period. Mrs. J. S. Knaur, Mrs. E. V. Mitchell, Mrs. E. J. Flannery and Mrs.

Alice O. Mattix received the guests. Mrs. B. J. Tharp was in charge of the decorations, which featured the theme of the program with red, white and blue books, bells, flags and maps of Texas. The Alamo Mission bell and a replica were displayed at the speaker's table. Mrs. John P. McKinley, president of the Midland County and Permian Basin Historical Societies and organizing regent of the Aaron Estes Chapter, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, introduced the speaker. Haley's book, which has been described as the best book ever written about the bell and its history, informs the reader of the acquisition of the original bell in 1974 for the Nita Stewart Haley Memorial Library of Midland by Ray Whiteside, Don L. Bradshaw, J. Ray Stewart, John Haley and J. Evetts Haley Jr. Currently under construction are facilities for the memorial library, which houses Haley's extensive collection of Texas and Southwestern history and ranch materials.

The Alamo Mission bell, Haley said, was cast in 1722 for the Mission San Antonio de Valero (Alamo), where it hung several years. Accounts concerning the bell state it was found on a scrap pile in 1900 and taken to a junk dealer in Victoria. He recognized its historical interest and sent it to Adina deZavala, descendant of a pioneer family in San Antonio. It eventually became the property of a collector in Tennessee, who sold the bell to the Texans for the library. Haley presented highlights of the history of the Texas monument, and said the Alamo today, as it has for generations, fires the hearts of Texans to patriotism and appreciation of the forces of tradition. Guests attending from out of the city were the speaker and his wife, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Pyote; Ned Jacob, Denver, Colo.; Marion Russell and Mrs. Marion Russell of Pecos; Mrs. M. 24 Millionaires Pay No Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-four American millionaires managed to avoid paying a penny in federal taxes in one recent year, according to Internal Revenue Service data released by a member of Congress.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, said in a House speech Tuesday that seven of the millionaires had a total adjusted gross income of $17,783,008, an average of $2.54 million per person.

"There were also 17 (other) millionaires who avoided any tax after calculating their tax deductions and credits," according to IRS information for 1973, Vanik said. He did not identify the millionaires or explain the tactics they had used.

In addition, there were "54 individuals with adjusted gross incomes of between $500,000 and $1 million who paid no federal income tax and 282 individuals with adjusted gross income of between $200,000 and $500,000 who paid no individual income tax."

Vanik, a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, also said that 15 major oil companies paid foreign governments about eight times as much tax as they did to the United States in 1974.

He said "it is appalling to note" that the companies listed payments of $9,554,112,000 to foreign countries, but only a reported $1,309,136,000 in U.S. federal income taxes.

Vanik identified the 15 oil companies as Occidental, Texaco, Mobil, Gulf, Atlantic Richfield, Standard of Ohio, Getty, Ashland, Standard of California, Standard of Indiana, Union of California, Sun, Phillips, Continental and Cities Service.

He said two other firms, Exxon and Shell, were omitted from the survey "because information provided to the SEC (Securities Exchange Commission) made computations impossible."

Vanik spoke as the Ways and Means Committee moved Tuesday to end farm tax shelters used by wealthy city dwellers to virtually escape paying taxes.

The panel voted 23 to 10 to end such benefits, under which the wealthy use packaged investments in cattle breeding and feeding, tree crops, vegetable and field crops and other farm items to build up accounting losses that they can apply against their tax liability.

Committee tax specialists estimated that elimination of this device could bring $110 million more in taxes to the government next year.

The committee, however, moved to give a small tax break to those persons whose only investment in farming is a home vegetable garden. It agreed by voice vote on a plan to allow a $7 tax credit for any taxpayer buying up to $100 worth of gardening tools.

Action-Urged To Prevent Bans On Grain Loading

ABILENE — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has called for immediate action by the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government to prevent bans on future loading of agriculture products for foreign export.

On Nov. 19, 1971, the WTCC adopted a position calling for congressional action that would assure the continuous flow of farm commodities exported from U.S. ports. This action was perpetrated by the loss of sales of agriculture products to foreign markets because U.S. producers could not assure foreign countries of a continuous supply of products being moved through U.S. ports without stoppage due to dock strikes.

"Recent work stoppages by longshoremen, supported by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, have halted grain shipments and jeopardized future sales to Russia," says Dick Yeager of Vernon, chairman of WTCC's Agriculture and Ranching Committee. "The WTCC again restates its previous position and registers stringently its objections to such highly questionable dock strikes."

In its position paper the West Texas Chamber of Commerce maintains that a labor union does not have the authority to set foreign policy or to dictate prices negotiated for agri-products sold in the export or domestic market place.

Records Recovery To Aid Prosecution

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — The head of an investigative task force in the Texas attorney general's office says a recent discovery of records from the Benavides School District will be instrumental in prosecuting cases of alleged wrongdoing in Duval County government.

Asst. Atty. Gen. John Blanton confirmed Tuesday that an undetermined number of school records — mostly canceled checks — were recovered Aug. 24 on a ranch west of Benavides. Authorities said the records had been soaked in diesel fuel in an apparent attempt to burn them.

Blanton said the records "will give us additional information to make better cases against several people already indicted and provide information for indictments against several people so far not indicted."

He said the find includes records which several school district officials had said were destroyed.

Last month more than 500 pounds of school records were located in the attic of the school tax office in Benavides. Although there has been no announcement from the attorney general's office concerning the original find, state investigators reportedly have found a wealth of information on alleged illegal activities in the school district.

Little is known about the new collection of records except for the apparent attempts to destroy them.

The Corpus Christi Caller was told last spring by school officials that all records prior to 1974 had been destroyed. The newspaper went to court to obtain copies of the remaining records.

Church said Helms, now ambassador to Iran, is likely to be a witness at the public hearings as well.

Hills said the White House still hoped to convince Church and committee Vice Chairman John Tower, R-Tex., not to hold public hearings but to issue a report on the matter instead.

Heat Exhaustion A Football Hazard

CHICAGO (AP) — Heat exhaustion can kill you. Dr. John D. Burrington of the University of Chicago's Wyley Children's Hospital says that doctors see cases of heat stroke every year among high school football players in training for the fall season.

Dr. Burrington warns especially against exercising strenuously on hot, humid days. Heat exhaustion is characterized by dizziness, confusion, coma and sometimes death. "Death results when the body generates heat faster than it can get rid of it and the body overheats," Dr. Burrington says. "The body cools by the evaporation of sweat. Evaporation is slowed by high humidity."

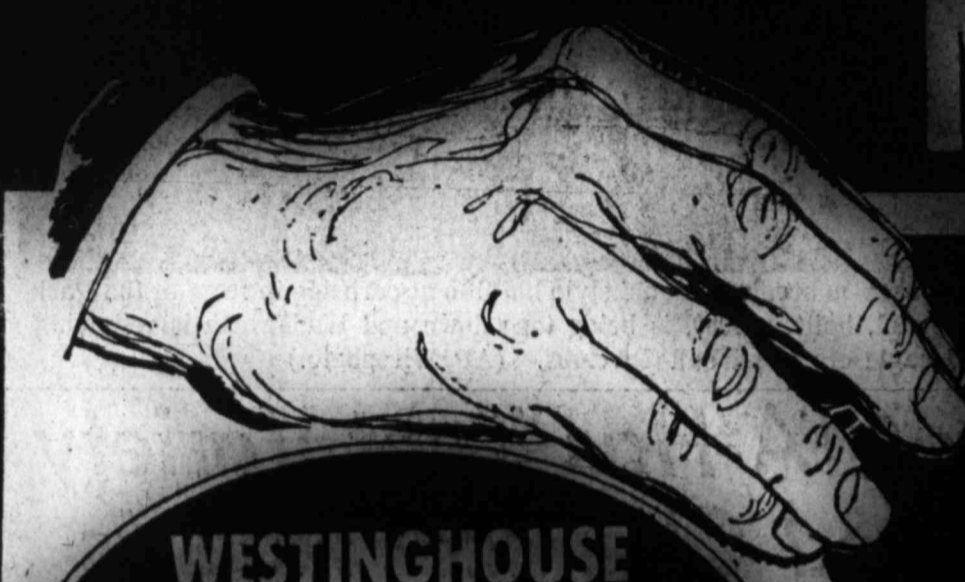

Dr. Burrington suggests limiting strenuous exercise to early morning and late afternoon on hot, humid days, if you must exercise. He also suggests: Drink plenty of fluids. Use salt liberally at meal-times. Take frequent breaks during exercise. Avoid tight-fitting clothes such as football pads. Wear thin cotton in preference to synthetic fabrics. If you feel faint or confused, Lie down in the shade.

Loosen tight clothes. Drink fluids. If you can, apply cold, wet towels to arms and legs. The doctor says the victim should be helped to drink liquids if he is able but liquid should never be poured into the mouth of a person who is unable to swallow.

Topless On Topside Sinks Skipper

The Washington Post WASHINGTON—The Navy relieved a submarine skipper of his command after he allowed a go-go dancer to perform topless on the ship's deck as it sailed out of Port Canaveral, Fla. Friends of Commander Connelly D. Stevenson, skipper of the U.S.S. Finback, said Tuesday that he approved the crew's request for the show to reward them for extra work. While the crew apparently considered the show a Mr. Roberts kind of gesture, Navy superiors in Washington and Norfolk did not. When they heard of the topless dance, they radioed Stevenson in the depths of the Atlantic to sail back to Norfolk to be relieved.

Uncrowned King About To Lose Pacific Throne

By DENNIS BARKER
The Manchester Guardian

LONDON—The Uncrowned King of the Cocos Keeling Islands in the Pacific, John Clunies-Ross, is about to be dethroned. The Australian government is about to buy him out for just over $4.5 million and end a feudalistic dynasty that has lasted for 150 years.

There are 27 Cocos Keeling Islands 200 miles southwest of Java head, and John Clunies-Ross, a shadowy figure on the Howard Hughes model who was educated in England, owns almost all of them, as his family has done since before the days of Queen Victoria.

There are 650 Cocos islanders, almost all employed in copra picking, and in recent years they have become restive, largely owing to the fact that the Clunies-Ross family has solved the islands' financial complexities—in a way not open to rules in more sophisticated economies—by paying the natives in plastic tokens which are exchangeable only at the Clunies-Ross stores.

"That is one of the bases of our worries about the place," said an Australian high commission spokesman in London. "There seems a little bit of exploitation going on."

Such worries about the primarily Malaysian community were shared by a United Nations mission which went there last November and came back uneasy about the "domination" by Clunies-Ross of the economy of most of the territory. "The complete control by the estate of the economic life of the Cocos Malay community is effectively exercised through the use of the plastic token as the vehicle of exchange," it reported, and suggested that Australia, as the administering power, introduce its own dollar as the official currency.

Clunies-Ross mentioned a figure of just over $40 million as a possible sale price of his kingdom, at which the Australian government choked a bit, though it continued to negotiate. There were other dissatisfactions among the islanders.

The reliance on copra helped to keep wages at what the United Nations called subsistence level, insufficient for saving, and the introduction of other crops or the exploration of fishing possibilities would mean heavy investment.

There was also secondary education or, rather, the lack of it: The only education on the inhabited islands of Home, West and Direction is primary, and this is not compulsory. "I object to compulsion of any type," the Uncrowned King, as he is styled on the Australian political cocktail circuit, informed the meddlesome fellows from the United Nations.

The governing Labor party in Australia found all these circumstances not to their taste, but had to face the fact that the family of "Tuan John," as the Malays call Clunies-Ross, had been granted the islands in perpetuity by Queen Victoria, even though they came under Australian administration in 1955.

Negotiations proceeded to close the purchase price at something rather less than the Uncrowned King's suggested figure, and it is thought a settlement at around the $4.5 million figure will soon be reached.

Russia, Norway Differ Over Island

By ROBERT C. TOTH
The Los Angeles Times

MOSCOW — The Soviet airline Aeroflot today inaugurates what must be one of the most infrequent "scheduled" air routes in the world — once-a-month to Spitzbergen, the northernmost inhabited place on earth.

The service must also be one of the most politically motivated, for the primary aim is to maintain and enhance the Soviet presence, and eventually to gain some authority over the Arctic island that has been under Norwegian sovereignty for 50 years.

Spitzbergen is of immense strategic importance. All of the Soviet's 175 nuclear missile submarines, plus the 500 surface ships of its northern navy, are based near Murmansk and must pass between the island and Norway's north cape to get into the Atlantic Ocean.

Those vessels are reportedly detected in transit there now, but more importantly, in time of crisis, controlling the relatively narrow unfrozen passage would bottle up much of the Soviet fleet.

NATO, of which Norway is a member, is said to see Soviet designs on Spitzbergen as its most pressing problem after Turkey's closure of American bases.

Beyond the purely military significance, the Spitzbergen archipelago also has potentially great economic value. Huge oil deposits are believed to lie under waters around it and under the Barents Sea that washes it and Northern Russia.

The Soviets and Norwegians are currently arguing about the line from their joint border to the North Pole that would delineate their waters and the riches in and underneath them. Two attempts to resolve the question have been held and a third is expected late this year.

If the Norwegians have their way, and international law seems to better support their position, their waters and Western drilling rigs might soon be only about 75 miles from the entrance to Murmansk Harbor and even closer to Soviet naval bases west of that port.

Oil prospecting is already under way in both the Norwegian and Soviet waters wherever the eventual line falls. (The Soviets this week signed an agreement with Standard Oil of Indiana under which the U.S. firm will help with offshore prospecting and drilling, perhaps in the Barents Sea.)

But test boring is under way only on Spitzbergen itself, and there, ironically, it is being conducted by Soviet, Norwegian, American and other Western organizations.

This curious situation arises because of the 1920 treaty (which took effect in 1925) that gave Norway full and absolute sovereignty over the archipelago, with three restrictions:

No naval base or fortification or "warlike" use of the island; citizens of all 42 nations signing the treaty, including the U.S.S.R. and U.S., have equal rights to conduct certain economic operations, and reduced taxing rights for Norway.

Judge Refuses To Hear Protest Of Fired Official

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Until administrative remedies are exhausted, U.S. District Court Judge John H. Wood Jr. has refused to hear the protest of fired Crystal City School Supt. Amancio Cantu.

Cantu was fired last month in what lawyers said was a power struggle involving four members of the Crystal City school board and Zavala County Judge Jose Angel Gutierrez, father of La Raza Unida political party. In declining to immediately reinstate Cantu at once as requested, Wood said federal courts "should exercise greatest restraint in interfering with political parties."

Cantu claimed he was fired without proper procedure and dismissed because of his political beliefs.

Frank Herrera Jr., Cantu's lawyer, said the school board

Eight Senators Say 'No Work, No Pay'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Eight of the 31 Texas senators have said, officially or informally, they do not want to be paid $30 a day expense money unless they actually are working.

Four senators declared in writing that they do not want to be paid expenses during the lengthy recess in the impeachment trial of District Judge O. P. Carrillo of Benavides.

Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel said four others had told him informally they did not want the $30-a-day expense money to which they are entitled.

The four who wrote Schnabel to reject the money are Betty Andujar of Fort Worth, Grant Jones of Abilene, Kent Hance of Lubbock and Mike McKinnon of Corpus Christi.

The other four were not identified.

The Senate met Sept. 3 to organize for the trial but adjourned until Sept. 29 to avoid a conflict with Carrillo's federal tax evasion trial in Corpus Christi, which started Monday.

Despite the long adjournment, the senators may collect $30 a day in expenses if they choose to.

members had already made up their minds and that "it would be of little use to send it back (to the school board)."

However, Wood said he wanted to "give the board at least a chance to correct its mistakes."

Jesse Gamez, lawyer for the school board, asked that the federal court action be delayed until administrative proceedings ran their course.

"Until such hearing is conducted and all administrative remedies available to the plaintiff exhausted, this honorable court has no jurisdiction to proceed," Gamez told the court.

Wood said during arguments, "I don't want to referee a squabble in this party (La Raza Unida)."

Herrera argued that board members fired Cantu because of a split in La Raza Unida. It involved three school board members said to oppose Gutierrez, the party's founder.

Cantu's lawyer said his client was fired after he reported to the Texas Education Agency about alleged nepotism involving three school board members.

Although Wood refused to hear the case immediately, he ordered progress reports on administrative hearings.

Continental Wants To Cut Service To Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Continental Airlines executives say they are exploring a possibility of curtailing jet service to Wichita Falls because the airline is losing money on it.

Representatives of the airline met Tuesday night with city officials to discuss the possibility of entering into a management contract with Rio Airways to continue the route.

Continental's Tulsa to Midland flight also makes stops at Oklahoma City, Lawton, Okla., Wichita Falls and Lubbock.

Baptist Board Okays Budget

DALLAS (AP) — The executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas has approved a record $23 million budget for its 1976 state ministries and will present it for approval to the state convention of the 2.2 million member denomination next month.

The convention will be held in Dallas Oct. 28-30.

The budget, approved Tuesday, will support ministries including child care to homes for the aged, evangelism, missions, and church-strengthening programs.

Quotations From Texas Newspapers Of Early 1876

The Taylor-Sutton feud hasday going in the direction of broken out afresh in the Cuero area. Jim Taylor, with 2 or 3 men, was seen walking the streets of Clinton "with two six shooters on each." They sent word to Dick Hudson they would kill him unless he left the county. Hudson gathered up six or seven of the Sutton boys and rode into town. In a pitched battle, four of the Taylors were killed and two surrendered.

Adv.: "I will pay $7, $11, and $15 per head for 20,000 one- and three-year-old TEXAS TEERS, delivered at my rancho, near Julesberg, on the south Platte in the month of July."

J. W. Illif, Denver, Colorado

Deputy Sheriff Strickland and a posse of 12 men from Burnet County have taken two prisoners to the Austin jail for safekeeping. One was Scott Cooley, a noted desperado and the other, a confederate in crime, John Ringo. Cooley is also charged with having murdered Deputy Sheriff John A. Whorlet of Mason County. It is said after killing his man he took the scalp of the victim.

An eventful scene was witnessed by many citizens of Brazoria on the 31st of December, at 12 o'clock, in the execution of Job Jackson, who met his fate in the jail yard, under the dictates of the law, justice, and the judgment of a jury of his peers. The doomed felon exhibited a cool, placid courage, as he stepped upon the inexorable instrument of justice with a calm mien and steady tread; he drew himself up to full height, as if knitting for the doom as the hand of fate draws nigh; he looked around on the multitude, not for a sympathetic tear, but for a last farewell look at God's creation and a living humanity; then heroically adjusting the cap, the minister said, "Amen," and the prisoner was launched into eternity.

The Ranger Company, under command of Capt. Neal Coldwell, has been ordered to another point. This exposes a large area of country to the sudden inroads of thieving Indians and the more-to-be-dreaded visitations of roving bands of desperados.

The stage stable on the Cibola in Guadalupe County has been burned down. This makes the third stable that the company has lost by fire in the past few months.

The Corpus Christi Times urges the establishment of tanneries in Western Texas and claims (they could become) one of the chief industries of the country. The mesquite, of which there is an inexhaustible supply, is one of the best known materials for tanning and manufacturing leather.

An important murder trial has terminated in Bryan by the failure of the jury to agree. The defendant, Hord... was on trial for the murder of Henry P. Fuller. The difficulty originated about... the matter of which was correct: "brick" or "bricks," "sheep" or "sheeps" which led to a bet of $100. After a wordy altercation, in which the lie was passed, the two engaged in a personal encounter, and Fuller was shot twice by Hord, instantly expiring.

On the night of the 12th inst., Indians captured eighty horses from the rancho of Capt. Adams, on the Leon, eighty miles west, also stole a considerable number on the Sabinal. A party is in pursuit.

Four Clay County hunters killed in four days, twenty-three buffaloes, forty-two turkeys and one antelope. A boy thirteen years old killed two buffaloes with a Colt's repeater.

The largest surveying party ever sent out left Fort Worth last week to locate lands in the Pan Handle for the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company. The party was to be accompanied by a squad of cavalry and a company of infantry from Fort Griffin.

The popping of whips on the public streets is a most dangerous nuisance. If an ox or a horse has been impudent to his owner, the proper way is for the owner to take him out in the bushes out of hearing, and chastise him, not talk to him on the streets with a twenty-foot-long whip that has got a voice like a cannon cracker.

The streets of Dallas are rivers of mud. Good weather for ducks, but death on candidates.

Indians were supposed to have made a raid on the San Saba county rancho of Mr. Lewis, on Richland Creek, stealing many valuable horses. They, when followed, proved to be white thieves. They left the stolen property and fled for their lives.

Captain W. H. Kingsbery, Kansas City beef buyer, after a tour of Texas, reports cattle are scarce, except in the coastal area. Morgan, the steamship man, is running a line between Rockport and Havana, having a contract with Coleman, Matthis and Fulton for 1,500 head of cattle a week, but with only 1,000 head a week available.

Morgan gets $45 a head for them in Havana. He also reports plans of Texas ranchers to drive large herds to market in the Spring - Capt. Richard King, $1,000; Dewers and Ellison, $5,000; Nunn and Co., 3,000 or 4,000, etc.

Information has been received of important discoveries made by Colonel Shafter, who has been exploring the Staked Plains. He is said to have found plenty of water and excellent land where only the most sterile desert was supposed to exist.

One night last week, it is reported from Montague County, parties unknown hung six men, who, it is said, had been stealing hogs and cows.

The late meeting of stock raisers of Western Texas, at San Diego, was numerously attended... It was proposed

The San Antonio Herald reports upward of 400 fine looking hogs being driven through town, en route from Atascosa to Austin, where they take the cars to St. Louis to be converted into hams, bacon, etc. and shipped back at a considerable profit - to St. Louis. (NEXT: Changes in Texas and Texas.)

Finnish Lapland Mixture Of Old, New Ways

By TOM HOGE
ROVANIEMI, Finnish Lapland (AP) — A summer sojourn in Lapland can be an intriguing experience, even if reindeer meat heads the menu at lunch and dinner, and the arctic sun floods your hotel room day and night.

Impressions of Finland's northernmost province can differ sharply, depending on where you get your first glimpse of the vast region billed as Europe's last wilderness. One tourist, whose plane touched down near the provincial capital of Rovaniemi, was taken aback at the sight of this modern town with its glassy facades and smart shops. They seemed a far cry from any wilderness. And a tethered reindeer munching grass in a backyard looked more like a cow with antlers than one of Santa's helpers.

A couple of hours later, this same tourist, driving in a minicar through towering spruces which make up much of this 40,000-square-mile preserve called Finnish Lapland saw herds of graceful reindeer loping across rolling hills.

Beyond lay gleaming lakes and winding rivers that stretched for miles, with no house or any sign of man's handiwork visible. Tiny blue wildflowers dotted the ground in this northern Eden where August temperatures hover close to 70 degrees F., even though it lies above the Arctic Circle.

"This is the last real wilderness, except perhaps for parts of Russian Siberia," said Pertti Korhonen, young manager of the Lapland branch of Finland's Tourist Board.

"Even Rovaniemi was once a rural village of less than 7,000 persons," Korhonen said later as he nursed his car through the city traffic. "But that was before World War II when everything was changed."

He referred to the German armies who put Rovaniemi to the torch when they retreated in 1944, leaving it a smoldering heap. When the conflict was over, an army of architects, builders and engineers descended on the ruins of Rovaniemi and built a modernistic city of steel, glass and stone. Today the population has grown to more than 28,000. Rovaniemi's broad main street is part of the great Arctic Highway that leads to the Barents Sea.

Youth Draws 20 Years In Slaying

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert Dale Bond, 17, who pleaded guilty to murder in the slaying of his father, has been sentenced to 30 years in prison. The youth was charged in the Feb. 9 rifle slaying of Robert L. Bond, 42.

Even the back country has changed considerably since the old days, Korhonen pointed out. A tourist who expects to find the original Lapps living in wigwags with witches and magic drums is in for a disappointment. Today the quaint reindeer-drawn sledges that sped across the frozen countryside in winter have been

Midlander Shares A&M Team Honors

COLLEGE STATION—Tom Woodruff of Midland participated on the four-member team of Texas A&M University students which won a second place in a nationwide Bendix Design Competition on alternative energy sources.

The team won over entries from more than 30 other universities with a design which places propeller-type drivers on dams across rivers. The excess energy produced over what is needed would be used to pump water back into the lake, thereby effectively storing the energy.

largely replaced by noisy but more practical motor sledges.

There was once a saying that Lapland was a remote corner on the outskirts of the world, surrounded by Polar bears and darkness. It gets pretty dark in the winter, says Korhonen, but the only polar bears you will find are 500 miles southward in the Helsinki zoo.

But the vast forests still remain, inhabited by bear, wolves and wolverines. The ptarmigan, a plump, white, grouse-like bird that is regarded as a great table delicacy, circles overhead in the cloudless sky.

Reindeer roam the area grazing on the lichen, which covers the ground. In winter they dig it out from under the snow. The reindeer total half a million in the entire Lapp country, which covers some 150,000 square miles stretching across the northern parts of Norway, Sweden and Russia, as well as Finland.

The reindeer is one of the last animals to be domesticated by man, and about 200,000 of them are raised in Finnish Lapland alone, roughly one to each of the province's inhabitants.

This reindeer-breeding has become a highly organized business, and the 17,000 reindeer owners belong to a central association.

They butcher about 60,000 reindeer a year, since reindeer steaks, casseroles, tongues and smoked reindeer meat are considered great delicacies in Scandinavia. The meat is usually accompanied by a sauce of lingonberries, that resemble the American cranberry.

The Lapps have roamed the Lapp tundra for nearly 2,000 years, but they are now a distinct minority in all parts of the region. There are said to be only 2,500 of them among Finnish Lapland's 200,000 residents. But it is difficult to get an exact count, since many have intermarried with Finns.

In olden days, Lapps were nomads who spent their days hunting and fishing and huddled at night in their tents of reindeer hide. Today some of them maintain small farms, but most Lapps breed herds of reindeer for the butcher shops. The majority of them are literate, but a local law calling for the teaching of the Lapp language in school is hard to enforce since few teachers know the tongue.

Lapland has often been called the Land of the Midnight Sun, a term French scientists gave it in the 18th century when they discovered that, starting in late June, the sun does not set here for three weeks. By the same token, at the northern tip of Lapland it is dark around the clock for 51 days in winter.

Textile Bankruptcy Casts Heavy Shadow

By PIERRE BRISARD
Agence France-Press

TOKYO — An ogre with the name Kohjin is casting a heavy shadow on Japan, as it apparently threatens to bring the entire economy crashing down. Kohjin is the huge textile group that went bankrupt at the close of last month. It was a bankruptcy that made the whole nation sit up suddenly. Thousands of small and medium sized firms have gone to the wall in the past 18 months, but Kohjin was a very different matter.

Its shortfall was $500 million, three times the sum involved in the Sanyo special steel episode in 1965.

Government leaders are playing it cool, but they are frightened that a "Kohjin syndrome" will develop. Already there are rumors that other big names will tumble.

People are starting to recall the predictions of disaster formulated by Professor Haruh Naniwada of Waseda University. Not so long ago, he told the nation to prepare for economic doom and said Japan had a growth pattern that made the country look like a cyclist who has to keep pedalling to stop falling off.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE EVEN BRIDGE HAND MAY BE BEAUTIFUL

© 1975 Los Angeles Times

by Alfred Sheinwold

I think that I may never see a bridge hand lovely as one played by the late Albert H. Morehead many years ago. His quiet play at the seventh trick still excites my admiration.

East captured the jack of clubs with the king and returned a trump to the queen. Morehead tried to sneak the queen of diamonds through, but West stepped up with the ace of diamonds and led his other spade. Dummy's nine lost to the ten.

When East returned for another trump, Morehead drew the last missing trump and then made his quiet move. He simply cashed the king of diamonds, discarding the deuce of spades from dummy.

The next step was to ruff the ten of diamonds with dummy's last trump and return the four of spades. East, a player of only moderate ability, would have played the ace of spades if the queen had been led from dummy, but he didn't dream of playing the ace on dummy's four.

When East played the three of spades, Morehead discarded the deuce of clubs. And this was the entire plot. He had to steal the trick with a play that seemed perfectly natural.

It wouldn't have been natural to lead the four of spades through East if dummy still had the deuce of spades. East might have started to think, and he would have seen that it could cost nothing to play the ace of spades.

Scrambled Economic Signals Confusing To Bank, Business, Government Experts

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Trying to understand the messages that are being emitted by the U.S. economy today is as difficult as deciphering an electronically scrambled telephone call.

The economic signals are scrambled too, and all you need do for verification is to read some of the forecasts being made by the esteemed economists for banks, businesses, government and consulting services.

In all of these reports, "if" becomes a mighty word. Qualifications are sprinkled throughout every paragraph. Writers caution readers against taking too literally what they have just written.

The greatest confusion seems to result from signals that show at one and the same time that the economic recovery is under way and that so also is the beginning of the next recession or the deepening of the present one.

The conflict becomes clear when you realize that the index of leading indicators has now gained an astonishing 11.5 percent since its trough in January of this year.

This, the First National City Bank notes, "is the fastest increase on record for the first five months of any recovery since 1968."

Now look at consumer and wholesale prices. They're rising, and sharply, and that means a drag on sales. Companies that have geared up for an expanding economy could find themselves once again with big inventories.

Indeed, domestic demand for goods and services remains sluggish. A good deal of the expansion during the second quarter of the year resulted from exports. There has been no burst in retail sales.

At the same time, interest rates are rising, and if the past experience is a criterion that's like throwing water on a fire. Nowhere is the dampening effect more pronounced than in the housing markets. Lenders have money, but they don't want to part with it. And if they do commit themselves, they want almost impossible terms.

Mortgage rates for apartments and shopping centers showed their sharpest increase in a year during August, the Advance Mortgage Corp. reports.

Advance Mortgage, which keeps a running index on interest rates throughout the country, found that the general mortgage rate for apartment house construction was 10 percent, almost prohibitively high. Moreover, some lenders show a preference for refinancing existing apartment houses rather than committing their funds to new construction. What does it mean? That they can't read the signals with confidence.

UTPB Names Midlander To Faculty Chairmanship

ODESSA — Dr. Roger Olien of Midland is one of three faculty members at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin who have been appointed faculty chairmen.

Dr. Olien, associate professor of history, now is heading the faculties of history and government.

Also named to chairmanships were Dr. Robert Rothstein, associate professor of mass communications, as head of the faculty of communications and Dr. Jon Swartz, previously chairman of psychology, as chairman of the faculties of psychology, anthropology and sociology.

Both Dr. Olien and Dr. Rothstein are teaching courses in Midland this fall for full resident credit from the Odessa university. Dr. Olien is instructing "Applications of Behavior Modification" at Lee High School, and Dr. Rothstein is teaching a seminar course on "Western Historians: J. Everts Haley" at the Haley Library.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Plans are under way for a speeded-up bilingual training program for Texas teachers to meet changes in state law made by the 1973 and 1975 legislatures, the Texas Education Agency says.

Faculty members from 24 public and private universities, plus curriculum specialists for the state's 20 regional education service centers will meet with the Texas Education Agency staff Sept. 18.

"We need an additional 3,600 teachers trained to work in both English and Spanish with Mexican-American children in kindergarten through the second grade," said Dr. Arturo Luis Gutierrez, TEA director of bilingual education.

"Although a number of English-speaking teachers have received some Spanish language training through summer institutes sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the need right now is so great that it can be met only through undergraduate and graduate degree programs developed by colleges and universities in the state."

Hotel Finds Fear Of 13 No Problem

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — There was a time when builders skipped from the 12th to the 14th floor, pretending that one floor just wasn't there. The conventional wisdom was that people wouldn't stay on a 13th floor.

Now many are designating their 13th floors as such, apparently believing that triskaidekaphobia, the fear of the number 13, is fading.

In the two years that the Crown Center Hotel here, which has a designated 13th floor, has been open there have been no complaints. The management recently conducted a survey of guests who stayed on the 13th floor and couldn't find one frightened by that number.

There were three questions asked of the guests: Do you consider yourself superstitious? Do you think the number 13 is unlucky? Did anything occur during your stay that you attribute to having a room on the 13th floor?

Eight guests admitted they were superstitious. Two gave "maybe" answers to the second question. Only two answered "yes" to the third question. All other responses were negative.

"This is the first trip I've been on that my luggage ended up somewhere else," explained one guest who felt the number 13 had done him in. "My bag was 23 hours late in catching up with me. For no apparent reason it ended up in Moline, Ill. How's that grab you for coincidence?"

"If you believe in Christ as your savior, you don't have to be superstitious," was the advice from a guest in Room 1321.

One of the 13th floor residents gave a piece of strong evidence that the number is losing its bad reputation. He said that he was "extremely" superstitious but didn't think 13 was unlucky. "Too bad you cannot ask me later," a guest with an interest in numbers wrote on his questionnaire. "We're on our way to Las Vegas."

Mother's Helper

DALLAS (AP) — Lorena Chevalier says "one mother after another" and that's why she wants others to read her letter from Betty Ford explaining the First Lady's recent comments on premarital sex.

The Dallas woman said she wrote the letter because she was "bewildered" by Mrs. Ford's comments on television. Included in her letter were newspaper clippings criticizing the President's wife for her remarks.

"I wish it were possible for us to sit down together and talk, one to another. I consider myself a responsible parent. I know I am a loving one."

Priest Relieved For Criticizing Catholic School

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP) — The associate pastor of the Holy Ghost parish has been relieved of his duties after criticizing Iowa's largest Roman Catholic elementary school "is no longer Catholic. Another priest has moved out of the rectory in sympathy."

"I will not teach there again until I am sure beyond a shadow of a doubt that it is once more a Catholic school," the Rev. Mark McGovern said from the pulpit.

Father McGovern, 34, was relieved of his parish duties Saturday after he refused to assure his archbishop he would refrain from delivering critical sermons.

Father McGovern contended children at the 900-student Holy Ghost School are not being taught the basics of their faith by the Sisters of St. Francis who staff the school.

When Archbishop James J. Byrne placed Father McGovern on a leave of absence as associate pastor of Holy Ghost Church, the Rev. Bernard Duval said he moved "bag and baggage" out of Holy Ghost rectory.

Carrillo Brothers' Trial Starts Today

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Testimony was to begin at 2 p.m. today in the federal income tax evasion trial of suspended District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo and his brother, Duval County Commissioner Ramiro D. Carrillo.

A jury of seven women and five men was seated Tuesday evening selected from an original panel of 97.

U.S. District Court Judge Owen Cox ordered the jury sequestered for the duration of the trial, which is expected to last two weeks and possibly three.

Cox told the original panel he would sequester those chosen because of news coverage expected in the trial of Judge Carrillo, who also faces trial on impeachment charges in the Texas senate.

Despite defense arguments that news coverage of the Carrillo case would make it difficult to choose an impartial jury, only five persons raised their hands when Cox asked if anyone had read or heard about the case in the news media.

Fewer persons raised their hands when Cox asked about Judge Carrillo "in other matters," in an apparent reference to the hearings leading to the recommendation for impeachment in the Texas House.

The Carrillo brothers are charged with conspiracy to file false income tax returns and with filing false income tax returns.

The government alleges that the Carrillos attempted to conceal sales made by the Farm and Ranch Store of Benavides to various Duval County agencies.

McAllen Youth Charged In Death

McALLEN, Tex. (AP) — A McAllen youth was being held in the Hidalgo County jail today following his arrest Tuesday in the stabbing death of a popular McAllen High School girl.

Armando L. Ortega, 17, of McAllen, was arrested by McAllen police Tuesday on a murder charge in the Sunday slaying of Minerva Delgado, 17.

Ortega was ordered jailed in lieu of $50,000 bond Tuesday following an arraignment before McAllen City Judge Howbert Steele.

Miss Delgado's body was found at her home Sunday afternoon. She had been stabbed several times and had been struck on the head with an object believed to be an electric iron, according to police investigator George Salinas.

Rooney Planning Eighth Marriage

Agence France-Presse HONG KONG — Hollywood actor Mickey Rooney is to marry for the eighth time. The girl is U.S. singer-composer Jan Chamberlain, 25, he told the local "Star" newspaper Tuesday.

Describing Rooney as the "alimony-champion of the movie world," the paper quoted him as saying, "Well, yes, it's true. We'll get married in the United States at the end of this year. It's wonderful. At long last I've found the girl of my dreams."

Moon Voyager Seeks Senate Seat

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Moon voyager Dr. Harrison Schmitt admits to being a political novice.

He peeled off some of that image Tuesday in announcing his candidacy for the Republican party's nomination in the 1976 U.S. Senate race.

"I think it's going to take not a complete turnover in the Congress, not even a majority turnover, but we've got to get people in the Senate and House who have a broader understanding of what technology can do for you, both for good and evil," he told a news conference.

The 40-year-old bachelor with streaks of gray in his dark hair, said one of those might be Democrat Sen. Joseph M. Montoya.

It is Montoya's seat that comes up for election next year. The two-term veteran is expected to seek re-election.

"I don't think that he has the background of education, the experience in science, technology and public administration that I would bring to the U.S. Senate should I be elected," he said.

"The times in this state and in the nation are changing so rapidly and issues are becoming so complex — so deeply wrapped up in science, technology, philosophy, history and law, that people with a broad background in all those areas are the ones that are going to be required to lead the state and the nation."

"I think that's the competitive edge that I have over Sen. Montoya and the main reason I feel obligated to run for the U.S. Senate," he said.

In December 1972, Schmitt explored the Taurus-Littrow Valley on the moon as part of the Apollo 17 crew.

He resigned from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Aug. 30 to start his political career.

Schmitt had been NASA's assistant administrator for energy programs since May 1974.

He is a scholar, has received numerous scholarships and awards and studied in Norway under a Fulbright fellowship.

Don't Keep Those Cards Coming In, FCC Pleads

By JERRY T. BAULCH WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission seems unable to stop an avalanche of mail urging it not to do something it never considered doing.

The letters and postcards involving religious broadcasting total about 1.3 million, says Harry Shockro, the FCC's chief of administrative services, who oversees the mail.

But that's 600,000 more than the estimate on Aug. 1, when the commission explained in a public notice that there was never any question of banning religious broadcasting from the airwaves, as almost all the letter writers feared.

The FCC made the explanation in denying a petition for a freeze on applications by religious institutions for television or FM radio channels reserved for educational stations.

Two Los Gatos, Calif., broadcast consultants, Jeremy D. Lansman and Lorenzo W. Milam, contended that the assignment of more than one educational channel in a community to a religious group deprived minority groups of access to the scarce channels.

Their petition, filed last Dec. 5, brought the snowballing avalanche of mail and phone calls to the FCC. The FCC, in denying it, said: "As a government agency, the commission is enjoined by the First Amendment to observe a stance of neutrality toward religion, acting neither to promote nor to inhibit religion."

The FCC pointed out that the case never did not involve religious programming on any commercial network or station. It involved only the channels set aside for educational use.

And the two consultants have insisted repeatedly that they were not against religious broadcasting but only those institutions which use channels to present a one-sided view. But the mail continued unabated, spurred by many ministers, who continued to exhort their churchgoers from their pulpits or in church bulletins to write the FCC in protest.
