Andrews, Garza, King Areas Draw Wildcat Testers

Wildcat sites have been staked in Andrews, Garza and King counties.

Kirby Exploration Co., Houston, will drill No. 1-19 Fasken as a 13,800-foot try in East Andrews, one mile northeast of the depleted C-Ranch (Wolfcamp) field.

Drillsite is 2,005 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 19, block 40, T-3-N, G&MMB&A survey, 13 miles east of Andrews.

Garza Probe

Oklahoma Oil Co., Inc. plans No. 1 Macey-Slaughter as a 9,060-foot venture in Garza, seven miles southwest of Post.

Location, one location northeast of a former Strawn producer, is 2,400 feet from south and 1,400 feet from west lines of section 11, block 8, TTRR survey.

King Prospector

An 850-foot wildcat has been staked by Texas Pacific Oil Co., Inc., in Northwest King County. It is No. 1-2 S. B. Burnett Estate.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 2, A. Seisfield survey, abstract 821, nine miles northwest of Guthrie. There is no nearby production.

Two Projects Set In North Gaines

John L. Cox of Midland has scheduled two projects in the Seagraves, South field of North Gaines County, about five miles west of Seagraves.

No. 1 Sibley Jines is a northwest offset to the Siluro-Devonian discovery, and lone well from that pay.

Projected depth is 13,300 feet for the project, which spots 1,787 feet from south and 1,200 feet from west lines of section 16, block C-35, PSL survey.

The deep pay was opened in 1955.

San Andres Test

Cox's No. 2 ODC is slated as a location southeast offset to the two-well San Andres area of the field.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,990 feet from west lines of section 2, block C-35, PSL survey, four miles west of Seagraves. Planned depth is 8,000 feet.

The latest Railroad Commission proration schedule shows only one well currently producing.

Huber Completes El Cinco Gasser

J. M. Huber Corp., Midland, has completed No. 1-B Ruth Mary Price as a lower Leonard gas well in the El Cinco field of Pecos County.

It had a calculated, absolute open flow of 2.190 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing through perforations at 4,648-4,653 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 20,000 gallons and $7,000 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 10.

Palestinian Guerrillas Seize Egyptian Embassy In Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Palestinian guerrillas took the Egyptian ambassador and two aides hostage in the Egyptian Embassy today and threatened to blow up the building at midnight — 5 p.m. CDT — unless Egypt pulls out its Sinai negotiating team from Geneva and scraps its new disengagement accord with Israel.

One of the five guerrillas said explosives had been placed at the entrance and all the windows of the embassy — a 12-room apartment on the first floor of an eight-story building in the heart of Madrid's diplomatic quarter. Families in the building and surrounding homes were immediately evacuated.

The Egyptian government in Cairo said it has asked Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat to take steps to obtain the release of the diplomats in Madrid, and would hold him and his Palestine Liberation Organization personally "responsible for the incident and all its consequences."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat formed a special committee to deal with the embassy siege. The seized ambassador in Madrid, a horseman and golfer, is related to Sadat through marriage.

In Beirut, the PLO said it was making efforts to "safeguard the lives of the Egyptian brothers at the Egyptian Embassy in Madrid," but denied responsibility for the takeover and denounced what it called the "threatening tone" of Cairo's statement holding Arafat and the PLO personally responsible for the incident.

A United Nations spokesman in Geneva said there were no immediate plans to call off the next meeting of Egyptian and Israeli Sinai accord negotiators, now scheduled for Tuesday.

The embassy takeover was the first such action in Spain since the Spanish civil war that ended in 1939.

As the embassy siege began, about 40 Palestinian students from the University of Madrid occupied the Arab League office a quarter of a mile away in a rich Madrid residential district, but left two hours later, releasing the Egyptian director and secretary unharmed.

The students said their action had no connection with the embassy takeover, and was meant only to dramatize their identical demand to scrap the Sinai accord.

At the embassy, about five Palestinian gunmen held 55-year-old Egyptian Ambassador Mahmoud Abdul Ghaffar, his press attache and a consul hostage. They agreed to talk with the ambassadors of Algeria and Iraq, but the substance of the discussions was not known.

Scores of helmeted riot police armed with submachine guns surrounded the building, but made no immediate attempt to enter.

The semiofficial Spanish news agency Cifra said it had received a telephone call from the gunmen at the embassy in which they listed their demands:

—Withdrawal of the Egyptian delegation in Geneva.

—A declaration by that delegation to be made at Geneva airport that signature of the Sinai disengagement accord with Israel is "a betrayal of the Egyptian and Arab people and would not serve the cause of peace."

—The Egyptian ambassador and his aides will remain prisoners until the first two conditions are fulfilled.

—If the Egyptian government fails to carry out the demands, it will be responsible for the lives of the prisoners.

Eritrean Rebels Threaten To Kill American Captives

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Eritrean rebels threatened today to kill four Americans taken prisoner in northern Ethiopia unless the United States stops supplying arms to the Ethiopian government.

Two of the Americans were kidnaped Saturday along with six Ethiopians when raiders attacked the U.S. Kagnev communications facility near Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. The Pentagon said the Americans were Navy Electronic Tech. 3.C. Thomas C. Bowidowicz of Jersey City, N.J., and Army Spec. 5 David Strickland of Orlando, Fla.

Two other Americans, Steve Campbell of San Leandro, Calif., and Jim Harrell of Milwaukee, Wis., were kidnaped from Kagnev in July. Both were civilian technicians and were reported seen by a Syrian photographer last month in the hands of the rebels.

A spokesman for the Eritrean Liberation Front in Beirut said the ELF transmitted four demands to Washington through "a U.S. embassy in the Middle East."

In addition to the arms ban the demands included: —Dismantling the Kagnev base and an Ethiopian naval base under construction at Massawa, Ethiopia's chief port on the Eritrean coast.

—Compensation for areas of Eritrea that suffered heavy damage in attacks by the U.S.-equipped Ethiopian air force during fighting between the rebels and the Ethiopian government last February.

—U.S. government pressure on Ethiopia's military government to free all Eritrean rebels it holds.

"We demand a public U.S. government statement on these demands. Otherwise we shall not be responsible for what will happen to the four American captives," the ELF spokesman said.

He said the four captives were being treated well and fed well. He said they were being held "somewhere in northern Eritrea" but would not be more specific.

Harrell's mother, Mrs. William Harrell, said Sunday the State Department has advised her that negotiations for his release have broken down.

"They can't get anybody to negotiate with them," she said an official told her.

A State Department spokesman in Washington would not comment today on the status of the negotiations.

The Ethiopian government said nine "civilians" were killed and 23 were injured in the raid Saturday. The information ministry statement did not elaborate but informed sources said the term civilians could be taken to include rebels.

The United States is pulling out of the Kagnev base, which was built in the 1950s at a cost of more than $60 million and was once manned by 4,500 Americans. Most of the facilities have been turned over to the Ethiopian government and earlier this year only 29 Americans were reported still there.

The base has been used to track spacecraft, monitor broadcasts throughout Africa and the Middle East, and relay messages as part of the Washington-Moscow hotline.

Brig. Gen. Teferi Bante, chairman of the provisional military government in Addis Ababa, told newsmen that security forces were trying to locate the missing men. He said the situation required "utmost caution" and that U.S. officials were being kept informed.

Teferi said although his forces have been unable to stamp out rebel activities in Eritrea, the situation there is "under reasonable control" and the rebels have "no more than a nuisance capability."

He said his government is ready to establish contacts with the rebels to negotiate an end to the bloody guerrilla warfare.

LATE BULLETINS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford declined today to end his suspension of grain sales to the Soviet Union, despite the pleading of angry American farm organization leaders.

DALLAS (AP)—A federal court hearing on responses from seven school districts brought into the Dallas school desegregation case was postponed today in observance of Yom Kippur. The hearing was reset for Tuesday.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Marian Hart, 83, the "flying granny" from Washington, D.C., who flew solo across the Atlantic over the weekend, was grounded here today with a bad cold.

Gunman Who Held Doctor, Four Others Hostage Killed Trying To Hijack Jet

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—A gunman who took a doctor and four other persons as hostages was shot dead by a police sharpshooter early today while trying to hijack an airliner, police said. The doctor was wounded critically, but no other injuries were reported at the airport, they said. The gunman, identified as Freddie Solomon, 24, was shot as he emerged from Continental Airlines 727 passenger jet with a hostage in front of him and pointed a handgun at one of 25 police officers around the plane, police Sgt.

Michael Van Dyke said. The gunman had forced two Continental maintenance mechanics to start the engines of the unoccupied plane earlier, but police had shot out the tires as the jetliner moved down the runway. Van Dyke said at a news conference.

As the plane began moving, the doctor, who had been taken hostage at a hospital shortly before midnight, appeared at the door. A shot rang out, and the doctor tumbled down steps attached to the plane. He was seriously wounded but crawled to safety, Van Dyke said.

The doctor was identified as Frank L. Wiefels, a radiologist. He was taken hostage at a hospital after the gunman kidnaped the driver of a car which he commandeered at a small grocery store, Van Dyke said.

The gunman had fled to the store, which he tried to hold up, from the scene of a rape in which a woman was stabbed in the chest, Van Dyke said.

He went to the San Jose Hospital and Health Center from the store, took Wiefels hostage, and headed for the Reid-Hillview Airport with the two hostages in an auto, Van Dyke said.

At the Reid-Hillview Airport, the gunman took a security guard hostage, switched to a Santa Clara County vehicle and took it and his three hostages to the main terminal of the San Jose Municipal Airport, 20 miles away, Van Dyke said. He escorted the hostages into the main lobby, where he took the two Continental mechanics as hostages, Van Dyke said.

The gunman and the other hostages were not identified.

The rape victim was identified as Irene Rosas, 28, of San Jose. She was hospitalized with a stab wound in the chest.

Wiefels underwent surgery at the San Jose Hospital and Health Center.

The series of events began about 11:30 p.m. Sunday and ended with the gunman's death about 1:30 a.m.

After police shot out the Continental jetliner's tires, the plane came to a halt on the runway, its engines still running.

Police Lt. William Mallet began negotiating with the gunman over a radio from the control tower to the plane's cabin.

"He was yelling and screaming comments to the effect that he was going to kill all his hostages," Mallet said.

Democrats In Congress Talk Brief End To Oil Price Controls

By JIM LUTHER
WASHINGTON (AP)—There is growing sentiment among congressional Democrats to end oil price controls just long enough to give Americans a taste of higher fuel prices.

Then, the Democrats' theory goes, consumers would set up a clamor, controls would be restored despite President Ford's objections, and Ford would have suffered a stinging defeat.

It is doubtful the battle between Ford and Congress over energy policy will end that way, but chances for such a reprieve will be improved this week unless House and Senate Democrats resolve their differences over terms of a brief extension of controls.

Both houses of Congress will devote virtually all their efforts this week to energy legislation. Because of the Yom Kippur holiday, the House planned no action today or Tuesday. The Senate scheduled a meeting for today but planned no votes.

The House has cleared its calendar for the last three days of the week to resume work on a broad energy conservation bill that also includes new oil price controls that would reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil.

Leaders of both houses will be involved in behind-the-scenes negotiations trying to work out an extension of 60 days or so in the oil-price controls that expired Aug. 31.

Ford wants to end price controls in the hope that higher prices for gasoline and other fuels will force conservation, give the oil industry more money to find more energy and reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil.

His Democratic opponents fear the effects higher fuel prices would have on unemployment and recession. They say the Ford plan would raise gasoline prices by 10 to 12 cents a gallon, compared with the White House estimate of 3 cents.

The President vetoed the Democratic plan to extend controls for six months to allow Congress time to develop its own energy plan. The House then passed a 60-day extension of the controls law.

Senate Democrats insisted on limiting Ford's authority to send Congress a "take-it-or-leave-it" plan for phasing out price controls during the extension period. Such a plan would become law unless rejected by the House or Senate within five days.

Senate Republicans objected strenuously to that restriction. And Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House

Energy and Power subcommittee, said the Senate move was inviting a veto.

"Let him (Ford) veto it," one top Senate aide told a reporter. "He originally wanted an immediate end to price controls and by his veto of the six-month extension he got just what he had asked for. Let's see if he really wants to run next year with $1-a-gallon gasoline."

Agreement Nears On Teacher Contracts

By MARY CURTIS
Associated Press Writer
An agreement seems near and a ratification vote on a new contract to end the week-long teachers' strike in New York City could come as early as Tuesday, representatives of the teachers' union and the Board of Education say.
But the walkout by teachers in Chicago enters its 13th day today with no end in sight.
"We are near a conclusion, closer than we ever were," said Albert Shanker, president of New York's United Federation of Teachers. The UFT's 65,000 members struck the 1.1 million-pupil school system last Tuesday.

Shanker and Robert Christen, the school board's chief negotiator, said at a news conference Sunday that negotiations had been recessed until today because of Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement.

New York teachers, who were scheduled to vote on the new pact today. The agreement calls for pay increases of 5.5 per cent. Acceptance will open schools for about 4,500 pupils.
Teachers in two San Jose, Calif. school districts settled their disputes Sunday and were expected to return to work this morning.
At the end of last week nearly two million students were at home and 125,000 teachers off the job as teachers struck a number of systems throughout the country.
Teachers in six Pennsylvania districts agreed over the weekend to end their strikes, but teachers in three others decided to walk off the job. Across the state, more than 130,000 teachers remained at odds with local school boards over pay raises and better working conditions. About 10,000 students in 21 districts were affected.
A strike by 927 teachers in New Bedford, Mass., continued. Talks in the 12-day-old teachers' strike in Berkeley, Calif., were stalemated despite a new district proposal. Teachers in nearby Milpitas, meanwhile, authorized a possible walkout.
In Hoboken and Englewood, N.J., teacher spokesmen say there is no end in sight to strikes affecting 700 teachers and 13,000 students.

under the supervision of Margie Paddy, will offer snacks, drinks and complete breakfast and luncheon meals. It will operate 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday.
Also located in the building are a campus book store and a faculty lounge area which can be used for small meetings and luncheon gatherings. A game room in the center will include pool tables, foosball, pinball, ping pong and a juke box.

MC Student Center Opening Set Thursday

Thursday marks the long-awaited opening date for Midland College's first student center, designed as a social focal point of the almost-new campus.
Located between the administration building and the science-faculty building, the center will open at 7:30 a.m. on Thursday.
The new facility offers students and faculty a place to relax, get a cup of coffee or a sandwich, play ping pong or visit between classes.
Focal point of the student center is a large room dominated by a massive fireplace surrounded by a sunken "conversation pit." Moveable partitions allow part of this area to be divided into two rooms for smaller meetings.
With the exception of one smooth area for dancing, the entire floor is covered with amber paving tile.
Gary Askins has assumed duties as student activities director and has, with the aid of student government leaders, scheduled numerous events for the center.
A snack bar in the building,

under the supervision of Margie Paddy, will offer snacks, drinks and complete breakfast and luncheon meals. It will operate 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday.

tages if his demands were not met," Mallet said.
The gunman was demanding a pilot for the plane, a loaded revolver and that his parents be brought to the airport, Mallet said.
During the more than 40 minutes of negotiations, two hostages — the airport security guard and one of the Continental mechanics — fled the plane. The gunman apparently fired shots at them but missed, Van Dyke said.
Mallet told the gunman to come out without a hostage or gun. The young man, in his mid-20s, would agree, then change his mind. He did that 15 to 20 times, Mallet said.

Desegregation Plans Continue

By The Associated Press
After a weekend of minor demonstrations, the court-ordered desegregation plans in Boston and Louisville, Ky., continued today with National Guardsmen and police in both cities standing by to ensure a peaceful day of school busing.
A coalition of antibusing groups in Louisville met Sunday and called on more parents to keep their children home from school.

"You can't expect 20 or 30 per cent of the people to fight your battles for you," said William Kellerman, president of Citizens Against Busing. He disputed school officials' claims that more than 70 per cent of the students expected to enroll were attending school last week.
Some 1,000 National Guardsmen, augmented by extra state police, remain on standby alert, and armed guards continue to ride the school buses. No further violence has occurred, but officials haven't predicted when the Guard or the troopers will be sent home.

In Boston, about 300 National Guardsmen were pulled out of the city during the weekend, but another 300 remained. More than 1,800 city and state police were on school duty again today to preserve the order and calm that marked the first week of classes that began last Monday.
Police motorcycle reinforcements were sent to South Boston High School on Sunday night when a small group of youths threw rocks at the building. Mothers marched peacefully through the streets of Charlestown after dark, carrying flashlights and praying.
School attendance last week rose from 59.2 per cent Monday, the first day of school, to 69.1 per cent Thursday. It declined to 68.4 per cent Friday, a drop school officials said was normal.
School Supt. Marion Fahey described the first week of city-wide school desegregation as a "wonderful week. I'm pleased with the progress we made," she said.
But Miss Fahey refused Sunday to discuss the low attendance of white pupils during opening week.
For the first time a majority of the pupils attending public schools last week was non-white. There were 23,953 whites and 28,109 blacks and other minority children in school Friday.
About 26,000 out of a projected public school enrollment of 76,127 were scheduled to be bused this year, and about 60 per cent of them actually rode the buses last week.
About 22,000 students in the city-county school system in Louisville are being bused under the desegregation plan enacted when school opened Thursday, Sept. 4.
School officials say total enrollment in the system is expected to be about 124,000 this year, and that 84.6 percent of that number enrolled by Friday. About 20 per cent of the system's students are black.

Prison Inmates Earn Credits

VIENNA, Ill. (AP) — Inmates of the minimum security prison here and other area residents are earning three college credits for a course in outdoor cooking.
The course is offered by Shawnee College, a two-year school based in nearby Ullin, and provides instruction in campfire and charcoal cooking and hickory wood smoking of fish, fowl and beef.
"They go into ways to cook steaks, hamburgers, fish, poultry, ribs... over charcoal grills and things like that," instructor Don Bradshaw said in an interview. "I didn't realize people didn't know how to cook outside. But there is an art to cooking ribs and stuff like that."
He said the course is divided into day and night sessions and taught at the Vienna Correctional Center. Although it wasn't planned, the prisoners this semester are all in the day course and private citizens all in the night class.
Bradshaw said classes for the 17 daytime students emphasize job skills. But his 25-student night class has a backyard flavor.

"During the day the residents get a lot more instruction," he said. "They learn personal hygiene and safety, all the cooking techniques, beef and pork preparation, vegetables, fish and shell fish, quick breads and cakes. We prepare what's on the state menu for that particular day."
"At night it's for their own benefit," he said. "We teach them to prepare their own meals. For the outsiders this is the main reason for it. To let them cook in the backyard."
Hartzel Black, associate dean and director of correctional education programs, said the course includes classroom instruction and is part of a larger food service curriculum designed to provide employable skills. "If we are going to graduate a fellow to go to work I feel it is part of the total training," he said. "There is an art to it. Just to say it is a total barbequing course like we think of at home, it is not."
Dr. Loren Klaus, college president, said the course carries the same credit as courses in English, psychology and American government.
Bradshaw said grades are partly determined by tests and assignments but, "Mainly we judge the food as to how well it is prepared and if it is edible."
"It's a pretty good class and there is a lot of interest in it," he said.

DPS Recruiting New Officers

Applications are being taken by the Texas Department of Public Safety for new officers to enroll in its academy session that will get underway at Austin Oct. 28.
Major E. K. Browning, Regional Commander of the West Texas Region, said efforts to recruit men and women for the school are now being made, and persons interested should contact the department.
Persons making application for the position of patrolman must be between 20 and 35 years of age, weight proportionate to height, and visual acuity no worse than 20-40 correctable to 20-20. The department also requires a minimum of 60 semester hours of college credit for those applying.
Persons selected as recruits will be assigned to Austin for an 18-week training school beginning Oct. 28 at the Homer Garrison Jr. Law Enforcement Academy.
The salary during training will be $768 per month.

Jews Celebrate Day Of Atonement

NEW YORK (AP) — Jews filled temples and synagogues the world over today to mark Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, with fasting, self-evaluation and repentance.
The holiday, the most sacred on the Hebrew calendar, began at sundown Sunday as cantors chanted the Kol Nidre, a traditional prayer beseeching God's forgiveness for man's fallibility.
One long blast of the shofar, or ram's horn, ends the day-long worship this evening.
Rabbis in the New York metropolitan area stressed in their sermons that the sacred holiday was one of hope with the obligation to improve the human condition.
Rabbi Ronald B. Sobel, at Temple Emanu-El on Fifth Avenue, stressed that the faith, religion and heritage of the Jewish people "were built neither on the assumption that life is banal and absurd or human nature fallen and tragic."

Rites Scheduled For J. C. Barnes

Masonic graveside rites for J. C. Barnes Sr., 83, pioneer independent oil operator, will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Resthaven Memorial Park in Masonic Gardens.
Dr. F. Ray Riddle, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will assist in the services.
Interment will be under direction of Newie W. Ellis Chapel.
Barnes died Sept. 5 at Fort Myers, Fla. He had been hospitalized since last June when he suffered a stroke.
Barnes, who came to Midland from Arizona in the 1930s, had figured in the discovery of oil and gas fields in West Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.
He was born June 22, 1892, in Alabama.
Barnes and his wife maintained a home in Midland, and several years ago had set up a winter home in Florida.
He was a member of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association and the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners.
Survivors include the widow; a son, J. C. Barnes Jr. of Midland; two daughters, Mrs. Russell J. Ramsland of Midland and Mrs. W. F. Wynn of Dallas; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
The family has requested memorials be sent to the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame.

Senators Vote To Extend Price Control Veto

Both of Texas' U. S. senators, Republican John Tower of Wichita Falls and Democrat Lloyd Bentsen of Houston, voted with the Senate majority last week to sustain President Ford's veto of a bill to extend price controls on domestic oil production.
Congress is expected to consider a compromise measure this week.

Hijack Try, Abductions End In Gunman's Death

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A gunman who took a doctor and four other persons as hostages was shot dead by a police sharpshooter early today while trying to hijack an airliner, police said. The doctor was wounded, but no other injuries were reported at the airport, they said.

The gunman, who was not immediately identified, was shot as he emerged from a Continental Airlines 727 passenger jet with a handgun in front of him and pointed a handgun at one of 25 police officers around the plane, police Sgt. Michael Van Dyke said.

The gunman had forced two Continental maintenance mechanics to start the engines of the unoccupied plane earlier, but police had shot out the tires as the jetliner moved down the runway, Van Dyke said at a news conference.

As the plane began moving, the doctor, who had been taken hostage at a hospital shortly before midnight, appeared at the door. A shot rang out, and the doctor tumbled down steps attached to the plane. He was seriously wounded but crawled to safety, Van Dyke said.

The doctor was identified as Frank L. Wiefels, a radiologist. He was taken hostage at a hospital after the gunman kidnaped the driver of a car which he commandeered at a small grocery store, Van Dyke said.

The gunman had fled to the store, which he tried to hold up, from the scene of a rape in which a woman was stabbed in the chest, Van Dyke said.

He went to the San Jose Hospital and Health Center from the store, took Wiefels hostage, and headed for the Reid-Hillview Airport with the two hostages in an auto, Van Dyke said.

At the Reid-Hillview Airport, the gunman took a security guard hostage, switched to a Santa Clara County vehicle and took it and his three hostages to the main terminal of the San Jose Municipal Airport, 20 miles away, Van Dyke said.

He escorted the hostages into the main lobby, where he took the two Continental mechanics as hostages, Van Dyke said.

The gunman and the other hostages were not identified.

The rape victim was identified as Irene Rosas, 28, of San Jose. She was hospitalized with a stab wound in the chest.

Wiefels underwent surgery at the San Jose Hospital and Health Center.

The series of events began about 11:30 p.m. Sunday and ended with the gunman's death about 1:30 a.m.

After police shot out the Continental jetliner's tires, the plane came to a halt on the runway, its engines still running.

Police Lt. William Mallet began negotiating with the gunman over a radio from the control tower to the plane's cabin.

"He was yelling and screaming comments to the effect that he was going to kill all his hostages if his demands were not met," Mallet said.

The gunman was demanding a pilot for the plane, a loaded revolver and that his parents be brought to the airport, Mallet said.

During the more than 40 minutes of negotiations, two hostages — the airport security guard and one of the Continental mechanics — fled the plane. The gunman apparently fired (See HIJACK Page 2A)

Eritrean Rebels Threaten To Kill American Captives

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Eritrean rebels threatened today to kill four Americans taken prisoner in northern Ethiopia unless the United States stops supplying arms to the Ethiopian government.

Two of the Americans were kidnaped Saturday along with six Ethiopians when raiders attacked the U.S. Kagnew communications facility near Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. The Pentagon said the Americans were Navy Electronic Tech. 3.C. Thomas C. Bowidowicz of Jersey City, N.J., and Army Spec. 5 David Strickland of Orlando, Fla.

Two other Americans, Steve Campbell of San Leandro, Calif., and Jim Harrell of Milwaukee, Wis., were kidnaped from Kagnew in July. Both were civilian technicians and were reported seen by a Syrian photographer last month in the hands of the rebels.

A spokesman for the Eritrean Liberation Front in Beirut said the ELF transmitted four demands to Washington through "a U.S. embassy in the Middle East."

In addition to the arms ban the demands included:

—Dismantling the Kagnew base and an Ethiopian naval base under construction at Massawa, Ethiopia's chief port on the Eritrean coast.

—Compensation for areas of Eritrea that suffered heavy damage in attacks by the U.S.-equipped Ethiopian air force during fighting between the rebels and the Ethiopian government last February.

—U.S. government pressure on Ethiopia's military government to free all Eritrean rebels it holds.

"We demand a public U.S. government statement on these demands. Otherwise we shall not be responsible for what will happen to the four American captives," the ELF spokesman said.

He said the four captives were being treated well and fed well. He said they were being held "somewhere in northern Eritrea" but would not be more specific.

Harrell's mother, Mrs. William Harrell, said Sunday the State Department has advised her that negotiations for his release have broken down.

"They can't get anybody to negotiate with them," she said an official told her.

A State Department spokesman in Washington would not comment today on the status of the negotiations.

The Ethiopian government said nine "civilians" were killed and 23 were injured in the raid Saturday. The information ministry statement did not elaborate but informed sources said the term civilians could be taken to include rebels.

The United States is pulling out of the Kagnew base, which was built in the 1950s at a cost of more than $60 million and was once manned by 4,500 Americans. Most of the facilities have been turned over to the Ethiopian government and earlier this year only 29 Americans were reported still there.

The base has been used to track spacecraft, monitor broadcasts throughout Africa and the Middle East, and relay messages as part of the Washington-Moscow hotline.

Brig. Gen. Teferi Bante, chairman of the provisional military government in Addis Ababa, told newsmen that security forces were trying to locate the missing men. He said the situation required "utmost caution" and that U.S. officials were being kept informed.

Teferi said although his forces have been unable to stamp out rebel activities in Eritrea, the situation there is "under reasonable control" and the rebels have "no more than a nuisance capability."

He said his government is ready to establish contacts with the rebels to negotiate an end to the bloody guerrilla warfare.

Palestinian Guerrillas Seize Egyptian Embassy In Spain, Threaten Dynamiting

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Palestinian guerrillas took the Egyptian ambassador and several aides hostage in the Egyptian Embassy today and threatened to blow up the building at midnight — 5 p.m. CDT — unless Egypt pulls out its Sinai Liberation Organization and scraps its new disengagement accord with Israel.

The Egyptian government in Cairo said it has asked Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat to take steps to secure the release of the diplomats in Madrid, and would hold him and his Palestine Liberation Organization personally "responsible for the incident and all its consequences."

A United Nations spokesman in Geneva said there were no immediate plans to call off the next meeting of Egyptian and Israeli Sinai accord negotiators, now scheduled for Tuesday.

The embassy takeover was the first such action in Spain since the Spanish civil war that ended in 1939.

Mediation Averts Strike By Moslems In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Palestinian mediation averted a potentially explosive antigovernment strike planned by leftist Moslems today, but Christian-Moslem fighting spread to Beirut.

At least 20 more persons were reported killed in machine-gun battles Saturday night and Sunday in the northern city of Tripoli, the hills around it and several Beirut suburbs. This increased the casualty toll since Sept. 3 to nearly 150 killed and twice that many wounded.

Moslem leftists had called a nationwide general strike to protest the use of the army as a buffer force between warring Christians and Moslems in northern Lebanon. Premier Rashid Karami, a Moslem, asked Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat to intercede with the leftists, and he arranged a meeting between Karami and Socialist bloc leader

Kamal Jumblatt.

Jumblatt agreed to call off the strike "to void having the fighting move to Beirut." Karami said he had established a new dialogue with the left which would pave the way to "national reconciliation." Palestinian guerrillas of the Syrian-backed Saliqa group passed the word that any shopkeeper who did not open faced guerrilla reprisals, and most Beirut shops were open today.

However, fighting broke out Sunday in four suburbs of Beirut, and witnesses said Palestinian guerrillas were among the Moslem forces battling Christian militiamen of the conservative Phalangist party. Seven persons were reported killed.

Army troops near Tripoli opened fire for the first time since they established buffer zones last week between the warring Christians and Moslems.

which they listed their demands:

—Withdrawal of the Egyptian delegation in Geneva.

—A declaration by that delegation to be made at Geneva airport that signature of the Sinai disengagement accord with Israel is "a betrayal of the Egyptian and Arab people and would not serve the cause of peace."

—The Egyptian ambassador and his aides will remain prisoners until the first two conditions are fulfilled.

—If the Egyptian government fails to carry out the demands, it will be responsible for the lives of the prisoners.

The Palestine Liberation Organization, as well as more radical Palestinian groups, have bitterly opposed the recent Sinai agreement which Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger negotiated.

They said Egyptian President (See GUERRILLAS Page 2A)

At the embassy, about five Palestinian gunmen held 55-year-old Egyptian Ambassador Mahmoud Abdul Ghaffar, his press attache and a consul hostage. They agreed to talk with the ambassadors of Algeria and Iraq, but the substance of the discussions was not known.

Scores of helmeted riot police armed with submachine guns surrounded the building, but made no immediate attempt to enter.

The semiofficial Spanish news agency Cifra said it had received a telephone call from the gunmen at the embassy in

By JIM LUTHER
WASHINGTON (AP) — There is growing sentiment among congressional Democrats to end oil price controls just long enough to give Americans a taste of higher fuel prices.

Then, the Democrats' theory goes, consumers would set up a clamor, controls would be restored despite President Ford's objections, and Ford would have suffered a stinging defeat, action today or Tuesday. The Senate scheduled a meeting for today but planned no votes.

The House has cleared its calendar for the last three days of the week to resume work on a broad energy conservation bill that also includes new oil price controls.

Both houses of Congress will devote virtually all their efforts this week to energy legislation. Because of the Yom Kippur holiday, the House planned no

the oil-price controls that expired Aug. 31.

Ford wants to end price controls in the hope that higher prices for gasoline and other fuels will force conservation, give the oil industry more money to find more energy and reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil.

His Democratic opponents fear the effects higher fuel prices would have on unemployment and recession. They say the Ford plan would raise gasoline prices by 10 to 12 cents a gallon, compared with the White House estimate of 3 cents.

The President vetoed the Democratic plan to extend controls for six months to allow Congress time to develop its own energy plan. The House then passed a 60-day extension of the controls law.

But a snag developed when

Senate Democrats insisted on limiting Ford's authority to send Congress a "take-it-or-leave-it" plan for phasing out price controls during the extension period. Such a plan would become law unless rejected by the House or Senate within five days.

Senate Republicans objected strenuously to that restriction. And Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House

Energy and Power subcommittee, said the Senate move was inviting a veto.

"Let him (Ford) veto it," one top Senate aide told a reporter. "He originally wanted an immediate end to price controls and by his veto of the six-month extension he got just what he had asked for. Let's see if he really wants to run next year with $1-a-gallon gasoline."

Agreement Nears On Teacher Contracts

By MARY CURTIS
Associated Press Writer

An agreement seems near and a ratification vote on a new contract to end the week-long teachers' strike in New York City could come as early as Tuesday, representatives of the teachers' union and the Board of Education say.

But the walkout by teachers in Chicago enters its 13th day today with no end in sight.

"We are near a conclusion, closer than we ever were," said Albert Shanker, president of New York's United Federation of Teachers. The UFT's 65,000 members struck the 1.1 million-pupil school system last Tuesday.

Shanker and Robert Christen, the school board's chief negotiator, said at a news conference Sunday that negotiations had been recessed until today because of Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement.

New York teachers, who made from $9,700 to $20,350 under the old contract, have reduced their original demand for a 25 per cent wage increase, in light of the city's fiscal problems. Besides class sizes, issues include school board attempts to reduce teacher preparation time and eliminate sabbaticals.

In Chicago, where 530,000 students and 27,000 teachers have been out of school since Sept. 3, the Board of Education and the city's teachers' union remained far apart in their differences over a cost-of-living salary increase proposal.

Chicago teachers made from $10,400 to $20,996 under the old contract.

Classes were scheduled to open today at the eight Chicago City Colleges and Thornton Community College where three-week teachers' strikes ended Sunday.

In Lynn, Mass., a strike by 820 teachers ended Sunday night with an agreement between the city's school committee and the teachers' union, Supt. J. Leo McGuinness announced.

In addition, teachers in North Providence, R.I. tentatively agreed Sunday night to end their strike with a new contract.

The 250-member union is scheduled to vote on the new pact today. The agreement calls for pay increases of 5.5 per cent. Acceptance will open schools for about 4,500 pupils.

Teachers in two San Jose, Calif. school districts settled their disputes Sunday and were expected to return to work this morning.

At the end of last week nearly two million students were at home and 225,000 teachers off the job as teachers struck a number of systems throughout the country.

Teachers in six Pennsylvania districts agreed over the weekend to end their strikes, but teachers in three others decided to walk off the job. Across the state, more than 130,000 teachers remained at odds with local school boards over pay raises and better working conditions. About 10,000 students in 21 districts were affected.

Talks in the 12-day-old teachers' strike in Berkeley, Calif., were stalemated despite a new district proposal. Teachers in nearby Milpitas, meanwhile, authorized a possible walkout.

In Hoboken and Englewood, N.J., teacher spokesmen say there is no end in sight to strikes affecting 700 teachers and 13,000 students.

MC Student Center Opening Set Thursday

Thursday marks the long-awaited opening date for Midland College's first student center, designed as a social focal point of the almost-new campus.

Located between the administration building and the science-faculty building, the center will open at 7:30 a.m. on Thursday.

The new facility offers students and faculty a place to relax, get a cup of coffee or a sandwich, play ping pong or visit between classes.

Focal point of the student center is a large room dominated by a massive fireplace surrounded by a sunken "conversation pit." Moveable partitions allow part of this area to be divided into two rooms for smaller meetings.

With the exception of one smooth area for dancing, the entire floor is covered with uniform paving tile.

Gary Askins has assumed duties as student activities director and has, with the aid of student government leaders, scheduled numerous events for the center.

A snack bar in the building, under the supervision of Margie Peddy, will offer snacks, drinks and complete breakfast and luncheon meals. It will operate 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday.

Also located in the building are a campus book store and a faculty lounge area which can be used for small meetings and luncheon gatherings. A game room in the center will include pool tables, foosball, pinball, ping pong and a juke box.

shots at them but missed, Van Dyke said.

Mallet told the gunman to come out without a hostage or gun. The young man, in his mid-20s, would agree, then change his mind. He hid that 15 to 20 times, Mallet said.

Finally, the gunman appeared at the door of the plane with the remaining mechanic in front of him. He had both arms raised with a gun in his right hand, Van Dyke said. The other hostage, the auto driver, remained inside the plane, Van Dyke said.

As the gunman walked out of the door, he lowered his right hand and pointed his gun at Van Dyke, the police sergeant said. At that point a police sharpshooter fired once, hitting the gunman in the head.

James Kerr, 47, Dies At Houston

FORT STOCKTON — Fort Stockton attorney James R. Kerr, 47, brother of Mrs. George Moberly of Midland, died Saturday in a Houston hospital following a two-week illness.

Funeral mass will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church here. Interment will be in Easthills Cemetery under direction of Fort Stockton Funeral Home.

Kerr was born Sept. 27, 1927, in El Paso, and came to Fort Stockton from Sanderson in 1958.

He was a member and past director of the State Bar of Texas, past president of the American Bar Association, and was a director of the Pecos County State Bank. He was also past president of the Fort Stockton Historical Society and was a member of the Fort Stockton Rotary Club.

Kerr was a graduate of St. Mary's University School of Law.

He was married to Totsie Adams on Oct. 2, 1954, in Fort Worth.

Survivors, in addition to the Midland sister, include the widow; four daughters, Katherine Kerr, student at The University of Texas, and Camille Kerr, Valerie Kerr and Karen Kerr, all of Fort Stockton; and three brothers, Joe Kerr Jr. of Del Rio, Campbell Kerr of Carrizo Springs, and Edward Kerr of Sanderson.

Richard Gazzale Rosary Wednesday

Rosary for Richard W. Gazzale, 27, will be said at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Newnie W. Ellis Chapel.

Graveside rites will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Resthaven Memorial Park.

Gazzale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Gazzale of Midland, died Saturday at Barstow, Calif. He was born May 20, 1948, in Oklahoma City, attended Midland public schools, and served in Vietnam in the U.S. Navy. He moved to California about 10 years ago.

Survivors include the parents and a sister, Mrs. Geane Webb of Midland.

Desegregation Plans Continue

By The Associated Press

After a weekend of minor demonstrations, the court-ordered desegregation plans in Boston and Louisville, Ky., continued today with National Guardsmen and police in both cities standing by to ensure a peaceful day of school busing.

A coalition of antibusing groups in Louisville met Sunday and called on more parents to keep their children home from school.

"You can't expect 20 or 30 per cent of the people to fight your battles for you," said William Kellerman, president of Citizens Against Busing. He disputed school officials' claims that more than 70 per cent of the students expected to enroll were attending school last week.

Some 1,000 National Guardsmen, augmented by extra state police, remain on standby alert, and armed guards continue to ride the school buses. No further violence has occurred, but officials haven't predicted when the Guard or the troopers will be sent home.

In Boston, about 300 National Guardsmen were pulled out of the city during the weekend, but another 300 remained. More than 1,800 city and state police were on school duty again today to preserve the order and calm that marked the first week of classes that began last Monday.

Police motorcycle reinforcements were sent to South Boston High School on Sunday night when a small group of youths threw rocks at the building. Mothers marched peacefully through the streets of Charlestown after dark, carrying flashlights and praying.

School attendance last week rose from 59.2 per cent Monday, the first day of school, to 69.1 per cent Thursday. It declined to 68.4 per cent Friday, a drop school officials said was normal.

School Supt. Marion Fahey described the first week of city-wide school desegregation as a "wonderful week. I'm pleased with the progress we made," she said.

But Miss Fahey refused Sunday to discuss the low attendance of white pupils during opening week.

For the first time a majority of the pupils attending public schools last week was non-white. There were 23,953 whites and 28,109 blacks and other minority children in school Friday.

About 26,000 out of a projected public school enrollment of 76,127 were scheduled to be bused this year, and about 60 per cent of them actually rode the buses last week.

About 22,600 students in the city-county school system in Louisville are being bused under the desegregation plan enacted when school opened Thursday, Sept. 4.

School officials say total enrollment in the system is expected to be about 124,000 this year, and that 84.6 per cent of that number enrolled by Friday. About 20 per cent of the system's students are black.

Prison Inmates Earn Credits

VIENNA, Ill. (AP) — Inmates of the minimum security prison here and other area residents are earning three college credits for a course in outdoor cooking.

The course is offered by Shawnee College, a two-year school based in nearby Ullin, and provides instruction in campfire and charcoal cooking and hickory wood smoking of fish, fowl and beef.

"They go into ways to cook steaks, hamburgers, fish, poultry, ribs... over charcoal grills and things like that," instructor Don Bradshaw said in an interview. "I didn't realize people didn't know how to cook outside. But there is an art to cooking ribs and stuff like that."

He said the course is divided into day and night sessions and taught at the Vienna Correctional Center. Although it wasn't planned, the prisoners this semester are all in the day course and private citizens all in the night class.

Bradshaw said classes for the 17 daytime students emphasize job skills. But his 25-student night class has a backyard flavor.

"During the day the residents get a lot more instruction," he said. "They learn personal hygiene and safety, all the cooking techniques, beef and pork preparation, vegetables, fish and shell fish, quick breads and cakes. We prepare what's on the state menu for that particular day."

"At night it's for their own benefit," he said. "We teach them to prepare their own meals. For the outsiders this is the main reason for it. To let them cook in the backyard."

Hartzel Black, associate dean and director of correctional education programs, said the course includes classroom instruction and is part of a larger food service curriculum designed to provide employable skills. "If we are going to graduate a fellow to go to work I feel it is part of the total training," he said. "There is an art to it. Just to say it is a total barbecuing course like we think of at home, it is not."

Dr. Loren Klaus, college president, said the course carries the same credit as courses in English, psychology and American government.

Bradshaw said grades are partly determined by tests and assignments but, "Mainly we judge the food as to how well it is prepared and if it is edible."

"It's a pretty good class and there is a lot of interest in it," he said.

Jury May Call More Mob Figures In Hoffa Inquiry

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury may subpoena three more reputed mob figures, including the alleged Mafia boss of Detroit, in connection with the disappearance of ex-Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, according to sources close to the investigation.

The three are Joseph Zerilli, Raffaele "Jimmy Q" Quasariano and Peter Vitale.

Vitale and Quasariano are acquaintances of Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, according to Michigan law enforcement officials.

However, Fitzsimmons has not been subpoenaed and it is not known whether Vitale and Quasariano have been subpoenaed.

Jews Celebrate Day Of Atonement

NEW YORK (AP) — Jews filled temples and synagogues the world over today to mark Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, with fasting, self-evaluation and repentance.

The holiday, the most sacred on the Hebrew calendar, began at sundown Sunday as cantors chanted the Kol Nidre, a traditional prayer beseeching God's forgiveness for man's fallibility.

One long blast of the shofar, or ram's horn, ends the day-long worship this evening.

Rabbis in the New York metropolitan area stressed in their sermons that the sacred holiday was one of hope with the obligation to improve the human condition.

Rabbi Ronald B. Sobel, at Temple Emanu-El on Fifth Avenue, stressed that the faith, religion and heritage of the Jewish people "were built neither on the assumption that life is banal and absurd or human nature fallen and tragic."

DPS Recruiting New Officers

Applications are being taken by the Texas Department of Public Safety for new officers to enroll in its academy session that will get underway at Austin Oct. 28.

Major E. K. Browning, Regional Commander of the West Texas Region, said efforts to recruit men and women for the school are now being made, and persons interested should contact the department.

Persons making application for the position of patrolman must be between 20 and 35 years of age, weight proportionate to height, and visual acuity no worse than 20-40 correctable to 20-20. The department also requires a minimum of 60 semester hours of college credit for those applying.

Persons selected as recruits will be assigned to Austin for an 18-week training school beginning Oct. 28 at the Homer Garrison Jr. Law Enforcement Academy.

The salary during training will be $768 per month.

Opera Director Herbert, 75, Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Walter Herbert, director of the San Diego Opera and formerly director of opera companies in Houston, Denver and New Orleans, has died following a month-long hospitalization. He was 73.

The German musician, who died Sunday, had announced he would retire in 1977 after a career of more than half a century in European and American opera.

Rains Spreading Toward East Texas

Scattered light rains started spreading toward the east today after a weekend in which the moisture dampened areas from the Texas Panhandle southward past the Rio Grande.

While measurements generally were less than a quarter inch, Cotulla in Southwest Texas received as much as 1.71 inches.

Clouds with showers and light rain lingered into early morning over a big part of North-west and West Central Texas, particularly between Wichita Falls and San Angelo, and fog appeared in the same areas. In addition, there were heavy showers and thundershowers off the Middle and Lower Texas Coast from east of Corpus Christi to near Brownsville.

Skies were clear over areas east of a line linking Victoria on the coastal plains and Sherman in North Texas, The Associated Press reported.

Forecasts called for damp weather to keep on moving over the central and east parts of the state tonight while clouds thinned from the west. A little warming was in prospect for most sections.

Early morning temperatures stayed as warm as 76 degrees at Corpus Christi and Galveston on the coast while the mercury dipped to 54 at Dalhart in the Panhandle and Texarkana in the northeast corner of the state. Sunday afternoon's top marks went as high as 89 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Experts Deliver New Quake Alarm

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The Oroville area, shaken last month by an earthquake that measured 6.1 on the Richter scale, has sunk about six inches in relation to the Sierras, a federal study discloses.

The U.S. Geological Survey adds that there is a "reasonable probability" of another earthquake in the range of 4.5 to 5 on the Richter scale.

The study was released over the weekend on the Aug. 1 quake and the smaller ones that followed at this Northern California community.

Meanwhile, a pair of state seismologists are warning of an even larger shock.

"People shouldn't be surprised" if another 6-magnitude earthquake occurs in the area, said Toussou Topozada of the California Department of Conservation.

"Other scientists have warned that such a quake might be expected anywhere along the Sierra foothills, which had been previously thought relatively earthquake-safe."

Senators Vote To Extend Price Control Veto

Both of Texas' U. S. senators, Republican John Tower of Wichita Falls and Democrat Lloyd Bentsen of Houston, voted with the Senate majority last week to sustain President Ford's veto of a bill to extend price controls on domestic oil production.

Congress is expected to consider a compromise measure this week.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren
Mate Will Wonder How You Know

DEAR ABBY: I should be so lucky as the woman who for 30 years has been sleeping back to back with her husband like a pair of fireplace logs.

We've been married for 32 years, and my 220-pound Romeo holds me in his arms every night until my ribs ache. One night with him and I feel like I've been run over by a semi.

He smokes cigars and loves salami, pickles and garlic, so you know what his breath is like. I've smelled better cesspools.

His toenails are 2 in. long and sharp as razor blades, and he wraps his legs around mine like he's climbing a rope.

He sleeps in his shorts, and his chest is covered with bristly hair. It's like sleeping with a raccoon all summer. On top of this, he thinks he's the world's greatest lover, which he isn't.

Please help me. I'm about to cave in.

WATERLOO WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I assume you're on speaking terms with your Romeo, so start talking. Insist that he wear pajama tops, trim his toenails, use a mouthwash and loosen his grip. But don't tell him he's not the world's greatest lover because he'll wonder how you found out.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old, single career woman. I live alone and recently decided to take up jogging to keep myself physically fit.

The first time I went out jogging, I was stopped by a cop. He said he had noticed me running for two blocks and wanted to know what the trouble was. I told him there wasn't any trouble and that I was just jogging.

I have tried to find others who would jog with me, but no luck. The people I know are just too lazy.

So, Dear Abby, where can a person jog in peace, without appearing that she had just robbed somebody and is making a getaway?

WANTS TO JOG

DEAR WANTS: First, get yourself a sweatshirt and have printed on the back, "JUST JOGGING!" Then, drive your car to a park or playground where other joggers jog and join them.

DEAR ABBY: I have received some expensive gifts (jewelry) from a gentleman with whom I have been keeping steady company for quite some time.

Shouldn't he pay for insuring these gifts? He surely must know that I don't have that kind of money, but so far he hasn't mentioned it.

GIFTED

DEAR GIFTED: So YOU mention it.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding AFFECTIONATE FATHER: There are a couple of guys—25 and 32—I see a few times during the year. They always greet me with a bear hug and a kiss on the cheek, which I return. A 42-year-old 6'3" guy also gives me a big hug. They're my two grown sons and son-in-law, and when that happens, my day is made.

Constitutional Tizzy

Reports out of Washington reveal that the dual campaign of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., for re-election and for the presidency has the Federal Election Commission (FEC) in somewhat of a constitutional tizzy.

FEC members for some two months now have been trying to determine how they can give "equal protection" to anyone who decides to run for the Senate against Bentsen—and there are two or more who have that very thing in mind.

The "equal protection" which the commission members are concerned about is campaign spending under provisions of the new election law which they must administer.

The law provides that a presidential candidate can spend the maximum of approximately $1.3 million in a Texas primary campaign while a Senate candidate is limited to expenditures of about $600,000. And therein lies the big problem.

Should Bentsen as a candidate for both offices be allowed to spend $1.9 million in the Texas primary while his senatorial opponents are limited to one-third of that amount?

What do you think? Our feeling is that one person should not be allowed to seek two offices at the same time in the first place.

An FEC counsel has advised the commission that if it permits Bentsen to spend $1.9 million, an opponent in the Senate race might challenge the ruling with success.

An opponent, the council theorizes, certainly could claim his opportunity to reach Texas voters was restricted when he was limited to one-third of Bentsen's expenditures and that violated his right to equal protection as provided by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

On the other hand, the council

WRITE ON:

Police-Firemen Strikes Should Be Banned

By VIRGIL PINKLEY Copley News Service

The strike of policemen and firemen against the City of San Francisco was inevitable.

Once it was legalized to permit municipal and state protective agencies personnel, and those who work in the basic utilities, to strike it was certain that sooner or later this would happen.

Obviously policemen and firemen should be paid well and given various benefits. Certainly this could be done by the binding decisions of an impartial board or commission.

A strike is not in the best interests of a long-suffering public.

Policemen, who are sworn to uphold the law, set a bad example when they threaten to strike or do strike, and particularly at a time when there is a menacing and growing crime rate.

For a considerable time people have been dubious about adequate police protection in San Francisco. This has resulted in fewer visitors and less business for hotels, restaurants, transportation companies, even department stores and shops.

said that permitting Bentsen to spend more could be blamed on the Texas law which permits a dual candidacy and "is really responsible for the apparent discrimination." So it all comes back to Texas, which seemingly cleared the way in the first place.

Bentsen also has a wide voter identification in Texas and his aides say he probably would spend far less in his home state for his presidential campaign than in other states.

But yet another dual candidacy question presents itself, and FEC will have to decide this one also. Can Texas contributors give $1,000 (the new contribution limit) to both Bentsen's presidential and senatorial campaigns?

John Murphy, FEC counsel, after having made one or two possible suggestions in this regard, came back with a suggested rule which would limit persons to making a single $1,000 contribution to a candidate regardless of how many federal offices he was seeking. This appears to be a fair and square solution to this particular aspect of the case.

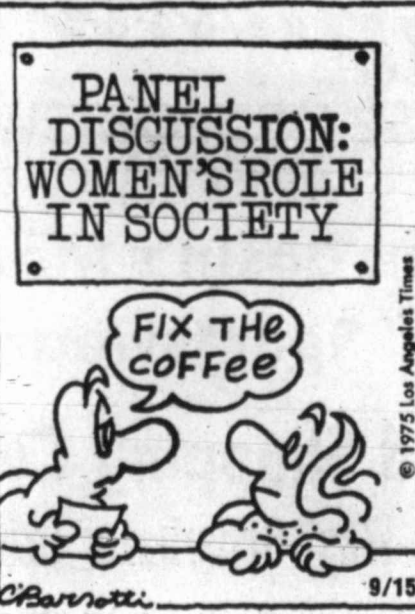

FEC is expected to rule on these issues early this week. It also was expected to settle the matters last week and the week before.

Senator Bentsen, meanwhile, has deferred forming a senatorial campaign committee until he knows for sure under what rules it must operate.

It is said that he has collected in excess of $1 million in the state since last November, all of which has gone to his presidential effort.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Senate Intelligence Committee has evidence that exploding light bulbs, silencer-equipped machine guns built into attache cases and dozens of other James Bond assassination weapons have been purchased in recent years by U.S. intelligence agencies.

This secret arsenal of exotic murder devices includes deadly, but seemingly innocent, household items and intricate remote-control explosives for blowing up unsuspecting victims from miles away.

The committee has documentation on these weapons, as well as first-hand information on another U.S. intelligence enterprise: a domestically trained assassination team whose members learn how to kill without leaving clues.

Sources close to the committee said there is no present evidence that the killer squad was put into action either abroad or in the United States. And the CIA steadfastly has played down any role in assassinations.

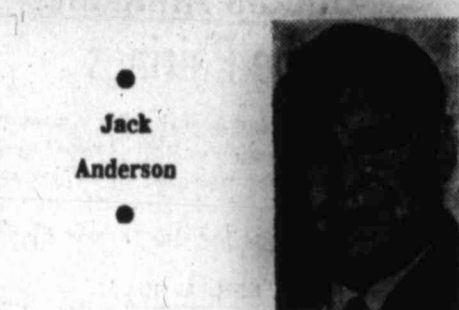

But our sources commented acidly, "If they weren't interested in killing, what do they need these things for? You don't use a light bulb that'll blow a head off to read the paper by." For six months, our sources said, the committee has been sitting on the evidence of the assassination weapons and murder squad. Some senators obviously were not even aware that the material was in the committee files.

Footnote: A committee spokesman declined comment.

HOFFA THEORY: Federal and Michigan investigators officially are keeping quiet on the Jimmy Hoffa case, but a top FBI expert on the Mafia has indulged in some rare private speculation on the mystery.

He barred use of his name, but he is convinced that Hoffa is dead, murdered not by mob godfathers, but by violent Teamsters.

This runs counter to theories of most law enforcement men and many of our Mafia contacts. But the agent's dissident view is so compelling it deserves an airing.

"He's killed. He's gone," said the agent in an interview. The most likely suspects in his opinion are "rebel unionists... a group of guys who were very loyal to (Teamster boss Frank) Fitzsimmons."

"They had so much trouble in Jimmy's home local 299 with the bombings and the beatings and the shootings and the like, I think they thought Jimmy had something to do with that," the agent went on.

"I think they just erased the guy, and I don't think the outfit (Mafia) was involved in it at all." Though the Mafia preferred dealing with Fitzsimmons, he said, it "would get along well under Jimmy as it did for many, many years."

"They wouldn't take that drastic step," the veteran Mafia specialist said. "Generally, in an outfit killing, it's because he violated some outfit rule. They only clip the guy if he hurt them."

"Jimmy, he didn't bother anyone." The agent, who over the years had occasion to "work him (Hoffa) all the time," pointed out that Hoffa had been given a whopping pension grant by the Teamsters, but never let the money go to his head. Still, said the agent, he was "power mad. He was a hard guy to figure."

"He didn't drink or smoke, didn't womanize. He'd eat his meals in an airport restaurant and grab a sandwich and eat it on the run... and I don't think he ever really did enjoy it (the pension). He just didn't care for nice clothes or big cars... a rare bird."

For the agent, the final mystery about Hoffa was why he did not let it be known that an affidavit with all his revelations of the Mafia would surface if he were killed. This would

INSIDE REPORT—

Dr. Arthur Burns Versus Mr. Micawber

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — In a backstage development of far-reaching economic consequences, the Ford administration's policymakers are turning an icy shoulder to pleas from central banker Arthur Burns to at least consider governmental intervention in wage-price decisions as an anti-inflation weapon.

President Ford himself leads the way in rejecting out of hand such intervention. But his key economic advisers privately concede failure to control federal spending, their preferred anti-inflation device. Rather, they fall back on cheery prophecies that inflation will not run wild, repeated so often that high officials begin to believe them.

This is in keeping with the economic Micawberism underlying seven years of faltering Republican economic policy in Washington. Dr. Burns, who as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board is not a part of the administration, confronts congenial optimism and imprudent refusal to plan against future ills. The backstage economic debate here, therefore, pits Dr. Burns against Mr. Micawber.

At age 71, elder statesman Burns is burdened with neither illusions nor false hopes. Apprehensive of ruinous inflation ahead, Burns has informed the administration that the Federal Reserve cannot fight it with tighter money. Furthermore, he has watched three Republican Presidents flinch from the politically bitter fruits of draconian budget cutting. Nor would the Democratic Congress permit Mr. Ford to control the budget anyway.

Accordingly, in testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee July 29, Burns declared, "We need to reopen our economic minds" about how this nation can achieve high employment without provoking new inflationary outbursts. Listing some ideas, he concluded by suggesting an "incomes policy" — government wage-price intervention short of outright controls. In somewhat convoluted prose, Burns said:

"Nor would I rule out the possibility that some form of incomes policy, going beyond the legislation governing the Council on Wage and Price Stability but continuing to rely mainly on voluntary compliance, may yet be of some benefit in moving our nation towards the goals of full employment and a stable price level."

This was hauntingly similar to his Pepperdine College lecture in Los Angeles Dec. 7, 1970, which helped push the Nixon administration toward wage-price controls in August 1971. But nearly five years later Burns' words went unnoticed by the press, the financial community or the administration. He may well rephrase his proposal in less equivocal language, perhaps at a University of Georgia speech Sept. 19.

Unequivocal or not, talk about an incomes policy will encounter a closed mind in the Ford administration. "Over my dead body," Treasury Secretary William Simon told us, adding he would not stay long at the Treasury if an incomes policy were adopted. There is little danger of that. Shutting the door to any incomes policy are economic adviser Alan Greenspan, budget director James Lynn, and senior White House aides Donald Rumsfeld and William Seidman. Secretary of Labor James Dunlop leaves the door open only a tiny crack.

Greenspan, the most influential economic force in the administration today, believes a non-mandatory incomes policy inevitably evolves into mandatory controls. Having run the Nixon controls program, Rumsfeld fiercely opposes any return to it. Beyond such declarations, there is simply no serious discussion of the question within the administration.

Burns actually feels it is too soon to resume controls (while not ruling them out forever). He may envision guidelines for higher prices and wages, with possible government power to postpone temporarily — but not abort permanently — such increases. Other Western industrial nations have rotated similar mechanisms with direct controls and no intervention at all.

While rejecting any intervention, the administration proposes no alternative. Instead, it confronts returning double-digit inflation with perpetual hope and a warm smile.

But Treasury Secretary Simon, certainly no Micawber, is different from his colleagues. He and Burns joined this year in unsuccessfully fighting for a tighter budget and now are both pessimistic about inflation over the long haul. Among friends, Simon despairs of a democracy's ability to handle inflation. Nevertheless, he rules out controls or even an incomes policy on philosophical grounds.

This is the real choice as President Ford heads into the election year: whether to follow Dr. Burns' quest for new economic thinking or to do nothing, hoping that for once those sunny forecasts will come true. As of today, the former course is not even being considered beyond the marble palace of the Federal Reserve Board.

Shell Oil Engineer Receives SPE 1975 Achievement Award

DALLAS — C. S. Matthews, manager of engineering in Exploration and Production with Shell Oil Co. in Houston, has been named recipient of the 1975 Lester C. Uren Award by the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME. Matthews will be honored during the Awards Luncheon at the SPE Annual Meeting in Dallas, Sept. 28-Oct. 1.

The Uren Award is presented by the Society to recognize distinguished achievement in the technology of petroleum engineering.

The citation accompanying Matthews' award reads: "For major achievements in petroleum engineering technology through his work on pressure transient behavior, and with special recognition for his role as lead author with Brons and Hazebroek of paper, 'A Method for Determination of Average Pressure in a Bounded Reservoir,' which added substantially to knowledge in the reservoir engineering area."

L. G. Jones M. L. Slusser

SPE Meets Tuesday At Ranchland Hill

The Permian Basin Chapter of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will hold its regular monthly dinner meeting in the Ranchland Hills Country Club Tuesday.

The meeting will get underway at 6:30 p. m.

Featured speakers will be L. G. Jones and M. L. Slusser of Mobil Field Research Laboratory in Dallas.

Their presentation will be "The Estimation of Productivity Loss caused by Perforations — Including Partial Completion and Formation Damage."

The presentation will provide the practicing engineer with equations for calculating the compound effect of formation damage, partial completion, and perforations in well completion.

Examples also will be presented to show the relative importance of these factors in the design of well completions.

The program will be supplemented with slides and printed material.

Jones and Slusser are chemical engineers. Jones received a Ph.D. from the University of Ohio and has 16 years of experience in the petroleum industry.

Slusser received his M. S. Degree from the University of Colorado and has 26 years experience in the petroleum industry.

A member of SPE since 1950, Matthews has served the Society as Technical Committee Chairman, Chairman of the AIME Lucas Medal Committee, and as a SPE Distinguished Lecturer in 1967-68.

The Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME is an international, professional, and technical organization for engineers and managers in the exploration, drilling, and production areas of the petroleum industry. SPE currently has more than 23,000 members worldwide.

New Construction Permits Top $19 Million For Week

New construction permits issued by the city inspection department topped the $19.6 million mark last week on 27 permits amounting to $2,364,745.

The weekly total was headed by a $2.1 million permit issued to Epoch Properties for construction of a 200-unit apartment complex in the 2400 block of Whitmore Street.

It was the first construction permit issued for new apartments in the last two years.

New single-family home construction kept up a steady pace with seven permits issued for $212,750 which brought the year-to-date construction total to $12.1 million.

Home permits went to Ray Autrey for a $31,650 home at 4605 Brookdale Drive and a $31,900 home at 4607 Brookdale Drive.

A $15,000 home permit was issued to the National Building Center. The home will be constructed at the center's 3111 W. Front St. location and later moved to a home site.

Two home permits, each for $29,600, were issued to T. L. Jenkins for homes in the 2400 block of Town Court.

A permit for $30,000 was issued to Larry Boler for a new home at 4614 Princeton St.

Charles Wallace was issued a permit for a $45,000 home at 1005 W. Pine St.

Permits for new commercial construction amounted to $11,000 during the week.

Commercial permits went to Mack Huggins for a $10,000 oil field supply center to be located at 1011 S. Lamesa Road, and to Epoch Properties for a $1,000 construction building at 4400 Lanham Street.

Commercial alterations and repair permits totaled $14,500. Those permits were issued to Eddins-Walcher Pump Co. for a $2,000 gasoline tank at 2511 W. Wall St. and a $2,500 gasoline tank at 3400 W. Illinois St.

The City of Midland was issued a permit for a $10,000 gasoline storage facility at the municipal garage, 500 N. Carver St.

Residential alteration and repair permits amounted to $26,495 during the week.

Those permits were issued to Nick Tennier, 506 S. Calhoun St., add room, $500; A. C. Scharbauer, 2810 Sentinel Drive, cover porch, $1,000; Maureen White, 3301 Park Lane, enclosure carport and add carport in rear, $1,000; Hamm, 2615 Boeing Drive, enclosure garage, $2,000; Felipe Galan, 1200 E. Golf Course Road, add room and storage, $2,000; Gene DeLang, 1204 Stanolind St., enclosure porch, $500; James A. Brown, 419 E. Dormard St., add den, $6,000; Lee Thompson, 406 Idlewood Drive, enclosure garage and cover patio, $1,800; Jack Hopper, 4511 Versailles Drive, enclosure garage, $1,525; R. Z. Jimenez, 608 Sprayberry Drive, add two rooms, $6,000; Severo Hinojosa Jr., 105 E. Golf Course Road, reframe storage building roof, $120; E. G. Rogers, 3919 W. Illinois St., enclosure garage, $1,200; James Brown, 1710 S. Mineola St., add room, $2,100; Karl Kitto, 1405 N. Garfield St., add carport, $750.

Offshore Deepwater Ports May Be Models

HOUSTON (AP) — The manager of the Coast Guard Deepwater Port Project says offshore superports, operating as a unified system, could serve as a model for future ports ashore.

Capt. Kenneth G. Wiman said the "offshore deepwater port is a port of the future, and its method of management and operation must soon be brought ashore to our existing ports if we are to avert catastrophe."

Speaking Friday at a seminar on Offshore Terminals in the Gulf of Mexico, Wiman said the port complex must be seen as a system — "a system whose functions is not only the loading or unloading of ships but which concerns itself with the safety and rapid management of both the vessel and its cargo starting at a point well seaward of our conventional concerns."

He said he is a proponent of deepwater ports.

He noted that more than half the world's tanker capacity consists of vessels of more than 175,000 deadweight tons.

"The United States stands alone as the only industrialized nation in the world that cannot now receive these ships, and somehow we must, since we must have oil."

He said the superport offers not only economic advantages but advantages in terms of safety when compared to the alternatives.

The day-long seminar was sponsored by the Marine Services Association of Texas, the Industrial Economics Research Division of Texas A&M University and Sea Grant Center for Marine Resources.

Sonora Service Division Opens

SONORA — Brown & Root, Inc., an engineering-construction firm, has recently opened its newest Oilfield Services Division District office here. The office is located in northwest Sonora on Highway 277, adjacent to the city limits.

Manager of the office will be B. F. "Rusty" Braswell, a 10-year employee of the company and a native of Fort Cobb, Oklahoma. Prior to his latest assignment, Braswell served in the oilfield division in the company's offices in Gainesville, Ingleside, and Anahuac, Texas, and Morgan City, La. He also has previous service with Brown & Root overseas.

Houston-based Brown & Root is a subsidiary of Halliburton Company.

The company's Oilfield Services Division is primarily responsible for oilfield site preparation along with construction of pipelines and compressor stations. The firm has completed a wide variety of other projects around the world, including offshore platforms and submarine pipelines, industrial plants, power plants, chemical and petrochemical plants, pulp and paper mills, metals industries facilities, highways, dams, bridges, tunnels, and mining operations.

Rusk PTA Meets

Rusk Elementary Parent-Teacher Association will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the school's cafeteria.

Earl Booker, PTA district chairman, will explain how to incorporate Parent and Family Life Education (PAFLE) into Rusk PTA activities.

The faculty will be introduced by Printus Burkhart, principal, who also will explain school policies for the new school year.

Amin Shrugs Off Rebellion Reports

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Uganda Radio says there was nothing to reports of an attempt last month to overthrow President Idi Amin of Uganda.

The radio monitored here Sunday said Amin shrugged off the reports as he returned home from visits to Italy and Algeria. He treated the stories "with disdain," the radio said.

Davis Joins Energy Company In Odessa

ODESSA — Don Davis, a 17-year resident of Odessa has joined American Energy Co. where he will be in charge of Electrical and Instrument Construction, according to Garland Jordan, the firm's president.

In his new position Davis will be handling construction projects throughout the United States. He came to American Energy from the Orloff Corp., Midland, where he has been Instrument and Electrical Construction Manager for two years.

Prior to that he was employed by I. T. & E. Co. of Midland as vice president of Operations and Sales.

From 1967 to 1973 he owned and operated Instrument Tubing Service Co. in Odessa and also served two years of that time as General Manager of Bundick Enterprises, Inc.

New Plans Will Help Blind Read

The Los Angeles Times WASHINGTON — Any day now Jack Murphy, a deaf-blind resident of St. Louis, will receive a telegram from his friend, Joseph E. Wiedenmayer of Chevy Chase, Md., that he can read without any help whatsoever.

Two years ago Wiedenmayer, a 70-year-old retired foreign service officer, wanted urgently to send a confidential message to Murphy. But as Wiedenmayer said Friday, "I couldn't reach him. He could neither read nor talk on the phone."

It was at that point that Wiedenmayer, who is almost totally blind and is hard of hearing, began thinking there should be some way to send telegrams in Braille — a question he promptly laid before Western Union. Now his dream has been realized.

Today, Western Union was to launch two new services that will enable Wiedenmayer, Murphy and America's other 6.5 million blind and partially sighted persons to read telegraph messages themselves — without the eyes of others.

The new services are braillegrams and telegrams in large, 14-point type. Wiedenmayer said Friday he could hardly wait to send one to his friend Murphy.

Wiedenmayer, who has grown progressively blind for the past 12 years, is an associate editor of the Braille Forum of the American Council for the Blind which publishes material in Braille and large type, and also circulates recorded cassettes.

Hailing the new braillegrams, Wiedenmayer said: "It will be the first time in history that the blind will have the option of sharing a communication or not. This is something sighted people take for granted."

The former diplomat said that when he first wrote to Western Union about his idea for the braillegrams "they wrote back and said it was nice and they would do it, but they had trouble locating the proper equipment."

At that point Wiedenmayer appealed to the Library of Congress' Division of the Blind and Handicapped and the equipment was found.

As a result he received on Friday the first braillegram, signed by Earl W. Hilburn, president of Western Union. The message said, "because of your initiative, visually impaired persons will be able to receive personal and confidential messages."

Officials said the cost of both the braillegram and the large-print message will be $2 for the first 25 words of text and $1 for an additional 25 words. An ordinary telegram costs $4.95 for the first 15 words and 12 cents per each additional word.

Deep Gulf Drilling Talk Of Petroleum Industry

By BILL CRIDER NEW ORLEANS (AP) — People used to fear that the Gulf of Mexico was just about drilled out, but now giant rigs are opening up new oil finds way out there in deep water.

Findings by separate oil company combines headed by Shell Oil Co. and by Amoco may portend a profitable new ball game for the Gulf, though company announcements were cautiously worded.

There's no doubt that new oil and gas logged by the drillers are the talk of the industry along the Gulf, which has long been one of the world's richest oil areas.

With a lovely wildcat oil well now backed up by another hole two miles away, Shell and partners have two semisubmersible rigs, the Ocean Queen and Pacesetter II, making more holes.

Shell said the 9,770-foot "confirmation" well was drilled by a rig working in water 1,050 feet deep — a record for the Gulf. However, Placid Oil Co. plans to begin drilling soon in water 1,750 feet deep.

The exploratory wells were carefully plugged with cement at several points below the seabottom. The day that they, and other wells, can be connected onto an underwater pipeline to shore won't come for four or five years.

Deep water strikes greatly expand the Gulf area heretofore considered prime prospecting area. The best shallow water sections already bristle

Australia Introduces Sliding Oil Price Scale

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Australian government is introducing a sliding scale of oil prices to encourage more domestic exploration, but some major companies say it is unfair and inadequate.

Prime Minister Gough Whitlam announced the new system Sunday night after months of warnings from the oil industry that unless the government let prices rise, the industry would no longer be able to supply 70 per cent of Australia's needs from domestic production. Australia last year imported 96 million barrels of oil at a cost of $958 million.

The new pricing arrangement permits the price on oil from newly discovered fields to rise to the price paid for imported oil. Based on current import prices, the oil companies will be able to charge $9.17 per barrel on production from new fields, compared to the present price of $2.79. The government imposes an excise tax of $2.66 per barrel on top of the producer's charge.

However, the maximum that can be charged for production from an existing field is $6.96 on one field only, and then not until 1977. The price will rise to only $3.09 a barrel at the big Bass Strait Field, the country's

Laos Claims U.S. Repudiated Deal

TOKYO (AP) — The United States has repudiated a commitment to contribute to further construction on the Namneng hydroelectric power station in Laos, the Pathet Lao news agency said today.

The agency's report, relayed by the North Vietnamese news agency, said the commitment was signed last year by the U.S. and Laotian governments. It said the United States was to supply the funds to the Asian Development Bank so that construction could begin this September.

Edward Heath Adds Sailing To U.S. Itinerary

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Former Prime Minister Edward Heath of Great Britain, visiting in this New England resort community, added some sailing to his itinerary.

Heath was the guest Saturday of John Nicholas Brown, former commodore of the New York Yacht Club. A spokesman for Brown said Heath joined his host for some sailing on Brown's yacht.

Brown said Friday he had not met Heath but knew he was an "ardent yachtsman" and might be on hand for the final day of the World One-Ton Yacht Championships, so he invited the former prime minister to stay at his estate overlooking the Newport waterfront. Heath accepted.

Heath is on a speaking tour of the United States and goes from Newport to New Haven, Conn., today for a three-day visit to Yale University.

Midland College Enrollment Nears 2,000 Students

With three remaining days of registration, Midland College is nearing its projected 2,000 enrollment figure.

The enrollment count Friday hit 1,955, surpassing the 1,523 total for students enrolled for the fall semester of 1974.

The previous record enrollment for the college was 1,601 students for the spring semester of 1975.

Students may register for three or fewer courses through 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 17 is the 12th class day of the semester and the enrollment on that date will be the official semester figure.

"With three days left this week," said registrar Dee Windsor, "we think that we will go over the 2,000 mark. And for the 2,000th student, we will have a special recognition and some small gifts."

Fall semester enrollments at Midland College since its opening were 688 in 1969, 792 in 1970, 1,108 in 1972, 1,268 in 1973 and 1,523 in 1974.

Louisiana Protests Halt Of Planned Gator Hunt

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — "They tell us we can't touch our alligators even though in some areas they are so thick they are eating each other," said John Crain of Cameron Parish.

Crain, bitter about a federal government decision that could prevent a gator hunt this year, complained that muskrat, nutria and other fur bearing animals are being wiped out in some areas.

An estimated 250,000 hungry alligators roam the swamps and bayous along the state's mushy coastline. Most of them are in Cameron, Vermilion and Calcasieu parishes.

They've grown fat and sassy under the Endangered Species Act passed by Congress in 1973. And after lengthy talks with state officials, the U.S. Wildlife Service agreed to remove them from the endangered list.

But the service announced Friday that last-minute protests by the Audubon Society will delay for at least nine days publication of new rules changing the gators' protective status.

That could ruin Louisiana's plan to conduct a limited kill-off in the three parishes starting Saturday, said Jerry Jones of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

"The only objections are the same ones the Audubon Society has given for the past three years," said Jones. "There's nothing new but they (federal officials) still say they need more time."

Wildlife officials fear that if the hunt is postponed the gators will bed down in the mud and hibernate for the winter, making it almost impossible to find them.

"The Saturday opening was several weeks later than we wanted," said Alan Ensminger of the commission's refuge division. "If we can't start, then my opinion would be to abort the whole thing for this year rather than risk an unsuccessful season."

Jones said his agency is considering going to court to challenge the federal regulations. He said that's already happened in New Mexico, where a three-judge panel ruled the federal law unconstitutional. The case, Jones said, has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If a limited hunt isn't held soon, some fear the gators will be slaughtered illegally by trappers.

"The feds don't have enough men in the whole country to completely stop that kind of poaching," said Ensminger.

SPE Meets Tuesday At Ranchland Hill

The Permian Basin Chapter of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME will hold its regular monthly dinner meeting in the Ranchland Hills Country Club Tuesday. The meeting will get underway at 6:30 p. m. Featured speakers will be L. G. Jones and M. L. Slusser of Mobil Field Research Laboratory in Dallas. Their presentation will be "The Estimation of Productivity Loss Caused by Perforations — Including Partial Completion and Formation Damage."

New Construction Permits Top $19 Million For Week

New construction permits issued by the city inspection department topped the $19.6 million mark last week on 27 permits amounting to $2,364,745. The weekly total was headed by a $2.1 million permit issued to Epoch Properties for construction of a 200-unit apartment complex in the 2400 block of Whitmore Street. It was the first construction permit issued for new apartments in the last two years. New single-family home construction kept up a steady pace with seven permits issued for $212,750 which brought the year-to-date home construction total to $12.1 million.

Offshore Deepwater Ports May Be Models

HOUSTON (AP) — The manager of the Coast Guard Deepwater Port Project says offshore superports, operating as a unified system, could serve as a model for future ports ashore. Capt. Kenneth G. Wiman said the "offshore deepwater port is a part of the future, and its method of management and operation must soon be brought ashore to our existing ports if we are to avert catastrophe."

Two-Day Institute Starts At Dallas

DALLAS — The 11th Annual Institute on Oil and Gas Accounting will be presented by the International Oil and Gas Educational Center, a division of the Southwestern Legal Foundation in Dallas, Wednesday and Thursday at the Hilton Inn in Dallas. The speakers will include Stanley P. Porter with Arthur Young & Co., Dallas — "Accounting For Inflation"; Gorman H. Smith, assistant administrator for Regulatory Programs, FEA, Washington — "Information Needs of the FEA and FEA Views"; and Albert S. Martin Jr., controller, Sun Oil Co., St. Davids, Pa. — "Industry Views and Information System Implications and General Volume Reporting."

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Pay Reopener Seen In Runnels

The reopening of Gray gas production in the Wilmalee multipay field of Runnels County has been assured with the flowing of gas at the daily rate of 360,000 cubic feet per day at Bill H. McWilliams of Midland, No. 1 H. A. Stephens Estate. Flow was through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 3,961-3,967 feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons. It was continuing to flow to clean. Originally drilled by G. B. Cree as No. 2 H. A. Stephens, it was plugged and abandoned May 7, 1952, at 3,994 feet. The cleaned-out depth is 3,969 feet, and 4 1/2-inch casing is seated at that depth. Location is 331 feet from south and 333 feet from west lines of C. A. Parker survey 16, three miles east of Crews.

Belco Operation Gauges Oil Flow

Belco Petroleum Corp., Midland, No. 2 Martin, Eddy County, N.M., wildcat, 1 1/2 mile east of Delaware oil production in the Carlsbad, South field, flowed 193 barrels of oil and a small amount of gas in 24 hours, from the Delaware. Flow was through a 24-64-inch choke and perforations at 3,255-3,280 feet. Testing continued. Project is 2,198 feet from north and 1,750 feet from west lines of section 20-22a-27e, within Carlsbad township.

with some 12,000 oil and gas wells. At this point, the deepest water over a producing well in the Gulf is about 370 feet. But operations in deep water, whether exploratory drilling or production work, is very expensive. Shell is designing a production platform that will stand on steel legs in 1,000 feet of water. In 1974, engineers estimated such a platform would cost $30 million but now they don't want to even talk about what inflation has added. "Obviously, those 1974 figures no longer hold," a spokesman said. The successful Shell and Amoco exploratory wells are located on offshore leases about 15 miles southeast of the Mississippi River's South Pass. The area lies about 150 miles due south of Biloxi, Miss. Shell and partners paid the federal government $214 million for leases on three three-mile square tracts at a 1974 offshore sale. The Amoco combine paid $81 million for its one adjoining tract. The first Shell well logged oil-bearing strata totaling 162 feet in thickness, with 9 feet of gas and 26 feet of probable oil. The second well, two miles away, logged 46 feet of oil strata, 24 feet of probable and 32 feet of gas.

Australia Introduces Sliding Oil Price Scale

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Australian government is introducing a sliding scale of oil prices to encourage more domestic exploration, but some major companies say it is unfairly distributed and inadequate. Prime Minister Gough Whitlam announced the new system Sunday night after months of warnings from the oil industry that unless the government let prices rise, the industry would no longer be able to supply 70 per cent of Australia's needs from domestic production. Australia last year imported 96 million barrels of oil at a cost of $958 million. The new pricing arrangement permits the price on oil from newly discovered fields to rise to the price paid for imported oil. Based on current import prices, the oil companies will be able to charge $9.17 per barrel on production from new fields, compared to the present price of $2.79. The government imposes an excise tax of $2.66 per barrel on top of the producer's charge. However, the maximum that can be charged for production from an existing field is $6.98, on one field only, and then not until 1977. The price will rise to only $3.09 a barrel at the big lines of Williams CSL survey Bass Strait Field, the country's

Midland Student Elected To Post

NORMAN, Okla. — Edward L. Johnson of Midland, Tex., has been elected treasurer of the Petroleum Landmen, a student organization at the University of Oklahoma. A senior student, Johnson will serve during the 1975-76 academic year. The purpose of the organization is to further interest in petroleum land management, a career major offered in the OU School of Business. Mark R. Landt of Englewood, Colo., was elected president of the organization.

Davis Joins Energy Company In Odessa

ODESSA — Don Davis, a 17-year resident of Odessa has joined American Energy Co. where he will be in charge of Electrical and Instrument Construction, according to Garland Jordan, the firm's president. In his new position Davis will be handling construction projects throughout the United States. He came to American Energy from the Orloff Corp., Midland, where he has been Instrument and Electrical Construction Manager for two years. Prior to that he was employed by I.T. & E. Co. of Midland as vice president of Operations and Sales. From 1967 to 1973 he owned and operated Instrument Tubing Specialty Co. in Odessa and also served two years of that time as General Manager of Bundick Enterprises, Inc.

Edward Heath Adds Sailing To U.S. Itinerary

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Former Prime Minister Edward Heath of Great Britain, visiting in this New England resort community, added some sailing to his itinerary.

Heath was the guest Saturday of John Nicholas Brown, former commodore of the New York Yacht Club. A spokesman for Brown said Heath joined his host for some sailing on Brown's yacht.

Brown said Friday he had not met Heath but knew he was an "ardent yachtsman" and might be on hand for the final day of the World One-Ton Yacht Championships, so he invited the former prime minister to stay at his estate overlooking the Newport waterfront. Heath accepted.

Heath is on a speaking tour of the United States and goes from Newport to New Haven, Conn., today for a three-day visit to Yale University.

Midland College Enrollment Nears 2,000 Students

With three remaining days of registration, Midland College is nearing its projected 2,000 enrollment figure.

The enrollment count Friday hit 1,955, surpassing the 1,523 total for students enrolled for the fall semester of 1974.

The previous record enrollment for the college was 1,601 students for the spring semester of 1975.

Students may register for three or fewer courses through 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 17 is the 12th class day of the semester and the enrollment on that date will be the official semester figure.

"With three days left this week," said registrar Dee Windsor, "we think that we will go over the 2,000 mark. And for the 2,000th student, we will have a special recognition and some small gifts."

Fall semester enrollments at Midland College since its opening were 688 in 1969, 792 in 1970, 1,108 in 1972, 1,268 in 1973 and 1,523 in 1974.

Home permits went to Ray Autrey for a $31,550 home at 4605 Brookdale Drive and a $31,900 home at 4607 Brookdale Drive.

Two home permits, each for $29,600, were issued to T. L. Jenkins for homes in the 2400 block of Town Court.

Offshore Deepwater Ports May Be Models

HOUSTON (AP) — The manager of the Coast Guard Deepwater Port Project says offshore superports, operating as a unified system, could serve as a model for future ports ashore.

He said he is a proponent of deepwater ports. He noted that more than half the world's tanker capacity consists of vessels of more than 175,000 deadweight tons.

Two-Day Institute Starts At Dallas

DALLAS—The 11th Annual Institute on Oil and Gas Accounting will be presented by the International Oil and Gas Educational Center, a division of the Southwestern Legal Foundation in Dallas, Wednesday and Thursday at the Hilton Inn in Dallas.

Sonora Service Division Opens

SONORA, — Brown & Root, Inc., an engineering-construction firm, has recently opened its newest Oilfield Services Division District office here.

The speakers will include Stanley P. Porter with Arthur Young & Co., Dallas — "Accounting For Inflation;" Gorman H. Smith, assistant administrator for Regulatory Programs, FEA, Washington — "Information Needs of the FEA and FEA Views;" and Albert S. Martin Jr., controller, Sun Oil Co., St. Davids, Pa. — "Industry Views and Information System Implications and General Volume Reporting."

The company's Oilfield Services Division is primarily responsible for oilfield site preparation along with construction of pipelines and compressor stations. The firm has completed a wide variety of other projects around the world, including offshore platforms and submarine pipelines, industrial plants, power plants, chemical and petrochemical plants, pulp and paper mills, metals industries facilities, highways, dams, bridges, tunnels, and mining operations.

Pay Reopener Seen In Runnels

The reopening of Gray gas production in the Wilmalee multipay field of Runnels County has been assured with the flowing of gas at the daily rate of 360,000 cubic feet per day at Bill H. McWilliams of Midland, No. 1 H. A. Stephens Estate.

Flow was through a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 3,961-3,967 feet, which had been acidized with 500 gallons. It was continuing to flow to clean.

Originally drilled by G. B. Cree as No. 2 H. A. Stephens, it was plugged and abandoned May 7, 1952, at 3,994 feet. The cleaned-out depth is 3,969 feet, and 4 1/2-inch casing is seated at that depth.

Location is 331 feet from south and 333 feet from west lines of C. A. Parker survey 16, three miles east of Crews.

Deep Gulf Drilling Talk Of Petroleum Industry

By BILL CRIDER NEW ORLEANS (AP) — People used to fear that the Gulf of Mexico was just about drilled out, but now giant rigs are opening up new oil finds way out there in deep water.

But operations in deep water, whether exploratory drilling or production work, is very expensive.

Shell is designing a production platform that will stand on steel legs in 1,000 feet of water. In 1974, engineers estimated such a platform would cost $30 million but now they don't want to even talk about what inflation has added.

Shell and partners paid the federal government $214 million for leases on three three-mile square tracts at a 1974 offshore sale. The Amoco combine paid $81 million for its one adjoining tract.

There's no doubt that new oil and gas logged by the drillers are the talk of the industry along the Gulf, which has long been one of the world's richest oil areas.

Shell's first Shell well logged oil-bearing stratas totaling 162 feet in thickness, with 9 feet of gas and 26 feet of probable oil. The second well, two miles away, logged 46 feet of oil strata, 24 feet of probable and 32 feet of gas.

With a lovely wildcat oil well now backed up by another hole two miles away, Shell and partners have two semisubmersible rigs, the Ocean Queen and Pacesetter II, making more holes.

Shell said the 9,770-foot "confirmation" well was drilled by a rig working in water 1,050 feet deep — a record for the Gulf. However, Placid Oil Co. plans to begin drilling soon in water 1,750 feet deep.

The exploratory wells were carefully plugged with cement at several points below the seabottom. The day that they, and other wells, can be connected onto an underwater pipeline to shore won't come for four or five years.

Deep water strikes greatly expand the Gulf area heretofore considered prime prospecting area. The best shallow water sections already bristle

Edward Heath Adds Sailing To U.S. Itinerary

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Former Prime Minister Edward Heath of Great Britain, visiting in this New England resort community, added some sailing to his itinerary.

Heath was the guest Saturday of John Nicholas Brown, former commodore of the New York Yacht Club. A spokesman for Brown said Heath joined his host for some sailing on Brown's yacht.

Brown said Friday he had not met Heath but knew he was an "ardent yachtsman" and might be on hand for the final day of the World One-Ton Yacht Championships, so he invited the former prime minister to stay at his estate overlooking the Newport waterfront. Heath accepted.

Heath is on a speaking tour of the United States and goes from Newport to New Haven, Conn., today for a three-day visit to Yale University.

Midland College Enrollment Nears 2,000 Students

With three remaining days of registration, Midland College is nearing its projected 2,000 enrollment figure.

The enrollment count Friday hit 1,955, surpassing the 1,523 total for students enrolled for the fall semester of 1974.

The previous record enrollment for the college was 1,601 students for the spring semester of 1975.

Students may register for three or fewer courses through 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 17 is the 12th class day of the semester and the enrollment on that date will be the official semester figure.

"With three days left this week," said registrar Dee Windsor, "we think that we will go over the 2,000 mark. And for the 2,000th student, we will have a special recognition and some small gifts."

Fall semester enrollments at Midland College since its opening were 688 in 1969, 792 in 1970, 1,108 in 1972, 1,268 in 1973 and 1,523 in 1974.

Louisiana Protests Halt Of Planned Gator Hunt

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — "They tell us we can't touch our alligators even though in some areas they are so thick they are eating each other," said John Crain of Cameron Parish.

Crain, bitter about a federal government decision that could prevent a gator hunt this year, complained that muskrat, nutria and other fur bearing animals are being wiped out in some areas.

An estimated 250,000 hungry alligators roam the swamps and bayous along the state's mushy coastline. Most of them are in Cameron, Vermilion and Calcasieu parishes.

"They've grown fat and sassy under the Endangered Species Act passed by Congress in 1973. And after lengthy talks with state officials, the U.S. Wildlife Service agreed to remove them from the endangered list."

But the service announced Friday that last-minute protests by the Audubon Society will delay for at least nine days publication of new rules changing the gators' protective status.

That could ruin Louisiana's plan to conduct a limited kill-off in the three parishes starting Saturday, said Jerry Jones of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

"The only objections are the same ones the Audubon Society has given for the past three years," said Jones. "There's nothing new but they (federal officials) still say they need more time."

Wildlife officials fear that if the hunt is postponed the gators will bed down in the mud and hibernate for the winter, making it almost impossible to find them.

"The Saturday opening was several weeks later than we wanted," said Alan Ensminger of the commission's refuge division. "If we can't start, then my opinion would be to abort the whole thing for this year rather than risk an unsuccessful season."

Jones said his agency is considering going to court to challenge the federal regulations. He said that's already happened in New Mexico, where a three-judge panel ruled the federal law unconstitutional. The case, Jones said, has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If a limited hunt isn't held soon, some fear the gators will be slaughtered illegally by trappers.

"The feds don't have enough men in the whole country to completely stop that kind of poaching," said Ensminger.

New Guinea Set For Independence

PORT MORESBY, Papua, New Guinea (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles, arriving here for ceremonies marking New Guinea's independence from Australia, was greeted by bare-breasted New Guinea girls in grass skirts who clapped and giggled.

Also on hand at the airport Sunday were Papua New Guineans wearing feather headdresses, with stone axes in their belts.

The blowing of conch horns Tuesday will signal the end of 92 years of Australian rule and turn the island's government over to Michael Somare, known locally as "the chief."

Eastern Coast Gets First Nip Of Frost

By The Associated Press
Temperatures dipped to unseasonable lows Sunday night over the Atlantic Coast, bringing to some areas the first nip of frost.

A high pressure system centered over New England brought clear skies there and through the mid-Atlantic coastal states. Temperatures fell into the 30s in northern portions of New England, New York and parts of Central Pennsylvania.

Cooler temperatures continued their grip over a large section east of the Rockies. Lows in the 40s extended into Virginia and the 50s reached into northern Alabama and the mid-Mississippi Valley.

Light rain and drizzle was scattered in the Plains. The movement of warmer air over a wedge of cooler air near the ground kept clouds and some precipitation in the southern and northern plains. Drizzle and light rain fell from parts of Kansas and Missouri into Texas.

Partly cloudy skies covered the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes through the Mississippi Valley and Florida as well as parts of the southern Rockies.

Other clouds extended south from Washington into California.

A few showers and thunderstorms dampened Florida and the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

Low temperatures varied from 28 at Concord, N.H., to 87 at Blythe, Calif.

Some other reports: Anchorage 48 rain, Atlanta 54 clear, Boston 49 clear, Buffalo 42 clear, Chicago 59 cloudy, Cincinnati 52 cloudy, Cleveland 45 cloudy, Dallas 68 cloudy, Denver 52 clear, Detroit 46 partly cloudy, Honolulu 77 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 54 cloudy, Kansas City 53 cloudy, Los Angeles 64 cloudy, Louisville 57 partly cloudy, Miami 74 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 55 clear, Nashville 61 rain, New York 52 clear, Philadelphia 52 clear, Phoenix 84 clear, Pittsburgh 43 clear, St. Louis 59 cloudy, San Francisco 58 clear, Seattle 58 clear, Washington 54 clear.

Parks Board To Consider Golf Fee Hike

The Midland Parks and Recreation Commission will meet at city hall at 4 p.m. Tuesday and hear a request by Mark Martin, city councilman, to raise fees at Hogan Park Golf Course.

The commission will hear a staff proposal for a park bond election that should be ready to come before Midland voters next spring.

A request of the Midland Housing Authority will be considered for future recreation staff for that facility.

Slashed Painting Can Be Repaired

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — The director of the Rijksmuseum says the damage that an apparently deranged man did to Rembrandt's "The Night Watch" can be repaired, but the restoration will take four months or longer.

"The canvas is badly damaged," said Dr. P. J. Van Thiel after a burly, 38-year-old man repeatedly slashed the priceless 17th century canvas, one of the most famous paintings in the world.

Officials said Wilhelms de Rijk, a former teacher from a village 30 miles west of Amsterdam, entered the museum shortly after it opened Sunday afternoon, went directly to the spacious chamber where the "The Night Watch" hangs and began slashing at the lower center section of the huge painting with a serrated bread knife.

A guard grabbed his arm, but Rijk fought him off and moved across the painting to the right, slashing a center section about seven feet wide more than a dozen times. Knife marks were more than two feet long, and a piece of canvas about 12 inches by 2 1/2 inches was ripped off.

Two bystanders and guards who rushed in from other rooms helped to overpower the man. According to a guard, Rijk said he had been sent by the Lord to attack the painting.

"I was ordered to do it," he was quoted as saying. "I had to do it."

Police said he had a history of mental illness and had taken the knife from an Amsterdam restaurant where he had lunch.

He was held on a charge of willful destruction. It was the second knife attack in this century on the painting. A jobless shoemaker protesting his inability to find work slashed the painting before World War I.

After the attack museum visitors poured through the chamber for more than an hour before the painting was screened and a notice posted: "We regret that Rembrandt's Night Watch is not on display due to wilful damage."

Career Officers To Go

By EDMUND PINTO
WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, the Army is forcing out of the service some regular officers who in joining indicated they were making the Army a career.

The 625 regular officers are among 2,138 officers who will be dropped from the service by the end of September as part of a cutback to bring the number of Army officers to an authorized strength of 98,125 by June 30, 1976.

The change to permit the dropping of regulars during reductions in force was approved by a law sought by the Army. Before the legislation, the Army could drop only reserve officers even though they were outperforming regulars.

The new law permitted the Army to judge reserve and regular officers alike in identifying 2,700 officers for possible release from the service. A total of 2,138 were selected for release and were notified in June they would be dropped by the end of September.

All those selected for release were given a chance to appeal to the Army Active Duty Board, but the board says that as of early September it had received only 12 appeals.

The officers affected by this reduction in force were commissioned between 1967 and 1970, during the Vietnam buildup. The Army now says it has more officers than it needs because of that buildup.

The Army said that the typical officer selected to be released was 30.8 years old, with the youngest 25 and the oldest 44. It said that 50 per cent of the officers were 29, 30 or 31 years old.

The Army says it plans no further involuntary releases. It says that if more cutbacks are

THE BETTER HALF

Once-Swank City Brews Indian Political Crisis

By JACQUES LESLIE
The Los Angeles Times

ALLAHABAD, India — Layers of dirt have discolored the walls of the once-swank houses here where British colonialists used to reside — a testament to Allahabad's passage into neglected old age.

At least on the northern side of the railroad tracks, where the British laid out their fashionable half of the city, the streets are still broad and tree-lined, lending a touch of grace to the town's accelerating dotage.

Allahabad's leading hotel, a high-ceilinged relic estimated vaguely by its proprietor to be 80 years old, long ago gave up the struggle for elegance and now strives simply to be serviceable. The hotel has made an uneasy accommodation with modern conveniences such as hot water and air conditioners, and electric fixtures protrude from the yellowed walls like garish baubles.

All of this makes Allahabad, a city of 500,000 people in the center of India's northern plain an unlikely center of political drama. Nevertheless, three months ago a single act here ignited a crisis that is still unfolding: An obscure Allahabad High Court judge started a somnolent India by finding Prime Minister Indira Gandhi guilty on two counts of election malpractice. The verdict led to Mrs. Gandhi's imposition of emergency rule two weeks later and the arrest of thousands of opposition political figures, suspension of fundamental constitutional rights and stringent press censorship. Here is how one Allahabad lawyer, who admits to being an enemy of Mrs. Gandhi, described the day when Judge Jag Mohan Lal Sinha announced his verdict: "The courtroom was filled to capacity. As soon as the judge came in, he started reading out the operative portion of the decision, saying that the petition against Mrs. Gandhi was allowed. There was such a wild expression of — I shouldn't say it — joy. Everyone was supposed to behave in a decorous manner, but in that moment, they forgot themselves and loudly gave expression to their feelings. All this the judge did not like, and he continued to read into the din . . ."

Apparently because Mrs. Gandhi finds mention of her conviction distasteful, Indian officials informed journalists that if they had to allude to her case in stories, they should refer only to the "Allahabad High Court judgment" without stating the verdict. Now those four words reverberate around the country like a refrain, conjuring up images and courage to some and chaos and insubordination to others.

Sinha, the judge, has become something of a celebrity. A minor sensation was caused recently in faraway New Delhi when a rumor spread there that he had been killed. In fact, he was presiding over his courtroom on weekdays and playing golf on weekends as usual.

Sinha declined to be interviewed by a foreign journalist for what an intermediary described as "obvious reasons." The intermediary explained that since the judge ruled against Mrs. Gandhi, police kept his house under surveillance.

Alan Arkin Turns To Directing

EDITOR'S NOTE: He was an overnight star as an actor, but now Alan Arkin has turned his considerable energy to another talent, directing. He's working on a comedy — and somehow still finds time to turn out an occasional children's book or whip up a Doro Weutte.

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Acting still eats me up a lot," says Alan Arkin, Broadway Tony winner and double Hollywood Oscar nominee.

He enjoys directing much more, an accidentally discovered skill responsible for his current Main Stem activity.

"I've got less insecurities about directing than acting," asserts the amiable self-analyst. "Maybe it's because I have more at stake emotionally as a performer. I've been at it longer."

He has, however, no intention of giving up first love totally for second affection. The Arkin range of interests includes also such items as songs and books for the very young, keeping up on jazz and turning out an occasional dish of Ethiopian Doro

The Midland Reporter-Telegram

AMUSEMENTS

Weutte, his culinary chicken specialty.

"The Soft Touch," described as a comedy about a youth whose biggest problem is going to bed alone nights, is the project now engaging Arkin.

"I wasn't wild about the script when I first read it a year and a half ago," he recalls. Then the play, written by Neil Cuthbert, a 22-year-old English major, won the 1974 American College Theater Festival at Rutgers University. Arkin attended a student performance "grudgingly, and had one of the funniest nights of my life."

The management of the present production considerably scheduled the premiere at the Golden Theatre for Sept. 21, earlier than planned, so Alan could attend the night before taking off for a movie role in Vienna, "The Seven Per Cent Solution."

That will be his 14th or 15th screen stint — Arkin exhibits a casual attitude about statistics — and each has caused him identical capability tremors.

"I always feel like I've never done it before, never said three lines, a rank amateur," he declares. Stage acting is even more of a problem — "repeating a role in theater drives me up the wall. The excitement is making a character work. Sustaining has never been my joy."

Arkin, born 40 years ago in Brooklyn, raised around Los Angeles and abruptly bounced from Bennington College for marrying a coed without the dean's blessing, progressed into theater after folk music travels with guitar.

Two Midwest troupes of satirical young improvisers, the Compass and Second City groups, enabled him to whet a flair for the typically irreverent humor. He arrived in New York with the latter company in 1961.

"Enter Laughing," based on Carl Reiner's novel about a brash showbiz upstart, catapulted Arkin to overnight stardom two years later and a Tony. The show's leading lady, Barbara Dana, became the second Mrs. Arkin after his college romance ended in divorce.

Since evolving into a director, he has done several showcase productions with her and is slated next spring to supervise a reprise of their concept of Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine" for the Hartman Repertory Theater's Inaugural season at Stamford, Conn.

Arkin has also promised "probably" to act for the new organization, since runs are to be limited to three weeks.

"I haven't really been on stage since 'Luv' on Broadway in 1965," he declares. "One reason has been the steady round of film assignments. His first movie, 'The Russians Are Coming, the Russians Are Coming' got him an Oscar nomination. Another nomination followed "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter." Other movies have included "Wait Until Dark," "Popi," "Catch 22" and "Little Murders," which he also directed. "I liked half the films," he appraises. "but the roles were all fine. I've passed up a lot of stage parts and I don't regret any. A couple of other film parts I'm sorry I turned down."

Arkin's advent as a director occurred by chance in 1966. Some Second City chums were in "Eh?" a Henry Livings in "Whimsey" that was having trouble getting to off-Broadway. Two directors tried to shape it up, then he reluctantly agreed to try. The cast included another comer, Dustin Hoffman.

"I was terrified because I'd never been in a leadership capacity. Then, miraculously, I found that if I asked somebody to do a specific thing, they would — with no argument most of the time. If they asked why, I seemed able to come up with an answer that satisfied."

"Now I really enjoy being a director."

Interlochen Abounds With Young Musicians

By CLAIRE COX
Copley News Service

INTERLOCHEN, Mich. — When Secret Service agents recently combed northern Michigan to make sure it was safe for a visit by President Ford, the only creatures they flushed from the piney woods were teen-agers — playing violins, cellos, flutes, oboes and horns.

It is always open season on culture for the motivated young people—girls in blue corduroy knickers and boys in matching slacks—who gather at the National Music Camp in the summer and the Interlochen Arts Academy during the school year.

The Interlochen Center for the Arts, which President and Mrs. Ford visited this summer, is the nation's capital of youth culture. The President took note of that in impromptu remarks at the end of a band concert attended by 4,000 in the Kresge open-air auditorium on the 1,400-acre campus between Lakes Wahbeke and Wahbeke and not far from Traverse City. In offering his congratulations to the young performers, the President said that "it makes all of us extremely proud to see young people with such enthusiasm and talent and dedication."

He added that he could not help but be impressed by the words on the back of the stage stating that Interlochen is "dedicated to the promotion of world friendship through the universal language of the arts."

"That," he said, "is a hallmark that is something all of us should strive for and seek, and all of you who participate, whether it's in the summer or year around, make a giant contribution to a better world through the spoken word of the arts."

Motivated young people have been gravitating to Interlochen ever since the late Dr. Joseph E. Maddy pitched the first tent in 1928 and thereby pioneered the arts camp movement in America. Today the camp is the world's largest music school with 1,200 students, most of them musicians, coming here for eight weeks each summer to devote most of their waking hours to the expansion of their talents.

Competition is both keen and encouraged, with weekly "music bouts" to determine the selection of the occupants of the "first" seats in the various sections of Interlochen's famous symphony orchestra.

New campers are allowed to sample a variety of instruments before deciding on the right one for them. Then teachers—and practice—take over.

Loss Up To 10 lbs. in 10 Days
New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special) — An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive "while eating almost as much as you want."

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

New Mexico Plans Seminars On 'Crib Death' Syndrome

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — When a baby dies of "crib death," Harriet Gerardo or someone like her goes to the child's parents to tell them, "It wasn't predictable, and it wasn't in any way preventable."

Mrs. Gerardo, herself a parent of a child lost to crib death, or Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), usually finds the mother, father or babysitter shouldering the blame for the baby's death.

"You stress that this is a medical problem and not an accidental death," she said. "There's nothing they could have done."

SIDS is the No. 1 cause of death in infants after the first week of life, and 8,000-10,000 babies die of SIDS every year in the United States, said the National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death. This is two or three per 1,000 live births.

After Mrs. Gerardo, a nurse, and husband Jim, a physician, lost 4-month-old Ryan to SIDS, a pediatrician asked Mrs. Gerardo to consider organizing a group to help other SIDS victim families.

"It took about eight months after Ryan died to decide I really wanted to do it," she said.

She and others in the 20-member New Mexico Chapter of the National Foundation of Sudden Infant Death now visit SIDS families in Albuquerque as soon as they learn of a death through the state medical examiner.

A SIDS counselor usually makes contact with the family "in no more than 48 hours after the baby dies," she said. There have been cases in which a counselor was at the home the same day of the baby's death to help make funeral arrangements.

The SIDS counselor is rarely turned away.

The counselor meets in the family's home with the parents, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, grandparents and neighbors of a SIDS victim.

"We talk to anyone surrounding the family," she said.

"These are people they are turning to for support."

If the family asks Mrs. Gerardo about her experience with SIDS, "I tell them," she said. "But right now, they've got enough of their own problems."

She does, however, tell them they can't play the game of "If...If I had taken him to the doctor he might not have died...If I had not left him with a babysitter..."

"All these things should be explored and put to rest," she said.

Mrs. Gerardo or another SIDS counselor also tries to help the family understand the normal feelings they will have after the funeral.

"Nobody ever told me that six months after my baby died that I would crack up in the grocery store at the baby food counter," she said.

Parents of babies who die of SIDS usually have one of two attitudes toward future children, she said. "Either you get the family who says, 'We must have a baby right away,' or you have the family who says, 'We'll never have another sleeping baby in this house.'"

The SIDS counselor encourages the family to call if they decide to have another baby. The SIDS Foundation provides counseling and literature on "the subsequent child" to help answer the question, "How will we feel about this next child?"

The Gerardos have two children now, Gina, 7, and Nicole, 7 months, "the subsequent child."

Mrs. Gerardo and the 16-month-old New Mexico SIDS Foundation want similar counseling for SIDS parents throughout the state. SIDS families outside Albuquerque receive telephone calls, paid for by proceeds from a fashion show by the University of New Mexico Lobo football players and other donations.

Personal Bitterness Marks Final Days Of New Hampshire Senatorial Campaign

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Bitter personal hostility between Democrat John A. Durkin and Republican Louis C. Wyman is marking the last days of New Hampshire's Senate campaign as the year-long rivals battle for advantage in a Tuesday runoff both hope will be decisive.

The antagonism between Durkin and Wyman flared Sunday, both on and off the air, as they participated in a pair of television interview programs to climax the campaign made necessary when the Senate was unable to decide who won their first race last November.

Durkin accused Wyman of engaging in Watergate-style tactics, while the GOP candidate claimed his opponent had lied repeatedly, as they clashed over a Republican letter to New Hampshire hunters that accused the Democrat of favoring gun control.

"I think it represents a new low in New Hampshire politics, and I'm ashamed of you," Durkin declared after he raised the issue and denied the charge on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

"I'm ashamed of you, Mr. Durkin, for lying time and time again," countered Wyman, claiming that Durkin had changed his gun control position.

An hour later, in another Boston studio, they went through a similar confrontation in an interview taped for showing to day on NBC's "Today" show.

Both the 56-year-old Wyman, a conservative Republican who has spent 30 years in elected and appointed posts, and the 39-year-old Durkin, a liberal Democrat who was state insurance commissioner before launching his first bid for elective office last year, said they hope the margin Tuesday will be decisive.

Neither, however, would rule out a challenge if the outcome once more is close.

The Senate now consists of 61 Democrats and 39 Republicans, including Republican Norris Cotton, whose retirement led to the Wyman-Durkin race and who has been serving until a winner is chosen.

State Atty. Gen. Warren B. Rudman authorized election officials to turn over all ballots and tally sheets to the state police Tuesday night for safekeeping to avoid post-election problems.

Politicians here agree the Durkin-Wyman race is close and will be decided by which organization succeeds better in turning out its supporters. The third candidate, American Far-grant of $136,000 was obtained from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to educate persons throughout the state about SIDS.

The SIDS Foundation is planning seminars in 11 New Mexico communities outside Albuquerque in an effort to establish SIDS counseling programs.

"Someone will have to care enough to do it," said Mrs. Gerardo. The first is scheduled Oct. 8 in Hobbs at New Mexico Junior College. Others are planned in Farmington, Clovis, Gallup, Roswell, Silver City, Las Cruces, Tucumcari, Espanola and Socorro.

Ex-Con Man Teaching Law

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — A lawyer who admitted bilking clients of $97,000 and was sentenced to 10 years in prison is teaching law at the University of Iowa.

"I'm just completely happy. I feel like I'm qualified to do what I'm doing," said William B. Mooney, 57, who is on parole from the Iowa State Prison.

"It can be beneficial in giving our social work students some insights into prison life," Thomas H. Walz, head of the social work department at the university said of Mooney's prison background.

Traffic Deaths Continue Higher

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Traffic deaths continue to run 15 per cent more this year than in 1974, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

There have been 2,247 deaths on highways and streets this year compared to 1,958 in 1974, the DPS said for the week ending Friday.

There have been 1,913 fatal accidents this year, compared to 1,699 last year, an increase of 13 per cent.

Jury Selection For Hunts' Trial Set At Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Jury selection was to begin today in the wiretap trial of Dallas millionaire businessmen Bunker and Herbert Hunt.

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward will hear the case which was moved here from Dallas on a change of venue.

The Hunt brothers are accused of hiring private investigators to wiretap the telephones of several employees of their late father, reputed billionaire H. L. Hunt.

The six-count indictment returned in 1973 said the alleged violations occurred between Nov. 20, 1969, and Jan. 16, 1970.

The brothers have denied any wrongdoing and contend the charges against them stem from a legitimate effort to expose a multimillion dollar embezzlement scheme within their father's companies.

Two former aides of the elder Hunt have been convicted of fraud.

Scientists May Have Found Answer To Insomniacs' Woes

BALTIMORE — Researchers at the Maryland Psychiatric Institute on Catonsville have found a natural non-addictive substance which provides insomnia with more restful sleep than the addictive prescription drugs now being sold.

The substance, an amino acid called L-Tryptophane, is present in many common foods, including meat and leafy green vegetables. According to the researchers, insomniacs given the substance fall asleep twice as fast as they would without it. They sleep about 45 minutes longer than usual for them.

Dr. Althea M. I. Wagman, director of psychophysiology, at Catonsville, said at a conference Saturday here that L-Tryptophane's principle advantage over drugs, in addition to being natural and non-addictive, is that it does not disturb the natural patterns of sleep.

She said that she and Dr. Quentin C. Brown, director of biomedical science at the Maryland center, do not know how the substance works.

"It may be," she said, "that insomniacs have metabolism problems, that is, their bodies do not absorb the L-Tryptophane normally found in their food."

The researchers say they have found that the substance contributes to the buildup in the brain of serotonin, the substance that triggers the sleep mechanism. What is not known is whether L-Tryptophane acts on its own to induce sleep or contributes to the serotonin buildup.

Brown termed the effect on the insomniac "dramatic. The average (period of lying awake before sleep among the persons tested) was 30 minutes, night

All-Star Visits To Help GOP Candidates In State

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

Texas Republican leaders believe the recent visit to Dallas by an all-star cast of GOP officials will benefit all of the party's candidates from the county to the state level.

President Ford, Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan were all in Texas during the past weekend to meet with the National Federation of Republican Women.

There also were appearances by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the 1964 presidential nominee, Gov. Christopher S. Bond of Missouri, and former Texas Gov. John Connolly.

The Republican women and the Texas GOP were encouraged by the stands taken on forced school busing by Ford, Rockefeller and Reagan. All said there were better methods to achieve racial balance in the public schools.

The President commented, "We must uphold the law of the land but our nation should rely more heavily on the neighborhood school concepts. There is a better way to achieve quality education in America than by forced busing and we will find that better way."

Indian Superstition

The Moxos Indians of Bolivia believed that if a hunter's wife were unfaithful to him during his absence, he would be bitten by a snake or mauled by a jaguar; if such a misfortune befell him, therefore, he was likely to kill her whether she had been unfaithful or not.

Rep. O. H. Harris, R-Dallas, said Sunday, "The cast of all-star characters that appeared here included all the big name Republicans and that had to help the state party. But, the highlight was when Ford took his position on busing. That is very vital in Texas and his stand will benefit all the Republicans from the local to the state level."

Many Texas cities and communities, including the big Dallas school district, are now facing court-ordered desegregation with massive busing apparently the only solution.

Broad Interests
Rep. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, told The Associated Press, "The appearance of these party leaders will be a tremendous help to our state party. There were men of different political philosophy and this showed all voters we are not a party of narrow interests."

She added, "I think the president's statements on busing and the way they were received by the delegates from throughout the nation proves this will be a major issue in the next campaign."

11 Resolutions
The Republican women approved 11 resolutions during their final session Saturday, including these:

—That the House of Representatives maintain the rights, power and authority over the Panama Canal Zone.

—That Congress pass legislation to prohibit busing or involuntary assignment of students because of race, color, creed, or national origin.

—Enactment of a national welfare reform act.

—Restoration of the death penalty for certain crimes; mandatory imprisonment with fixed sentences, without reduction, for convicted appointment of judges who are willing to imprison convicted criminals; abolition of violent television programs by putting pressure on the sponsors.

Senior Services Focus Of Seminar

Mrs. Marion Fisher of Midland Senior Services and Midland physician Henry Page will speak Tuesday in the second session of a senior citizens seminar at Midland College.

The seminar is sponsored by Midland College and the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission through the Governor's Committee on Aging. It is designed to provide training for persons who work with senior citizens.

Mrs. Fisher will discuss program planning, center space management, selection of appropriate activities and effective utilization of volunteer personnel.

Dr. Page's topic is "As We Grow Old — What Happens and Why."

The first session, held Sept. 9 at the college, drew representatives of eight area senior citizens centers located in Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Lamesa, Rankin, McCamey, Iraan and Seminole.

The third and final session will be Sept. 23.

Thousands Celebrate Canonization

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Thousands of Roman Catholics from the United States today continued a week-long celebration of the canonization of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton, a convert to Catholicism nearly 200 years ago who has become the first native-born American saint.

U. S. Ambassador John Volpe and Henry Cabot Lodge, President Ford's envoy to the Vatican, were giving a reception for many of the nearly 20,000 Americans who came to Rome for the canonization ceremony in St. Peter's Square Sunday.

In the evening, John Cardinal Wright, the highest ranking American at the Vatican, was leading a tribute to Mother Seton at the Catacombs of San Callisto.

"Elizabeth Ann Seton was wholly American," Pope Paul VI told the throng of pilgrims packing St. Peter's Square Sunday. "Rejoice, we say to the great nation of the United States. Rejoice for your glorious daughter. Be proud of her and know how to preserve her faithful heritage."

The 77-year-old pontiff led the service standing at an altar atop the steps of St. Peter's Basilica. He spoke in carefully enunciated English.

The music was supplied by the Vatican's Sistine Choir and the Community Chorus of Emmitsburg, Md., where in 1809, Mother Seton founded the Sisters of Charity, the first religious order of women in the United States.

The crowd included a thousand of the 8,000 Sisters of Charity and more than 15,000 other Americans who came to Rome on a seven-day, $500 package trip. The 30-minute canonization service, inserted near the beginning of a two-hour Mass, stressed women's contributions to society and emphasized what Pope Paul called the complete femininity of Mother Seton — wife, mother of five children, widow and nun.

WHAT IS THE TRUTH?

"Thy Word Is Truth" (John 17:17)
by Bryan Boet

A little girl walks along at her father's side. She looks up at the stars but makes no comment though apparently fascinated. Finally, her father asks what she is thinking, she replies, "If the bottom side of heaven is so beautiful, how wonderful the other side must be."

Admittedly, her understanding of God and heaven is too simple, but her faith and trust serve as models for adults who, by a careful study of the Bible, can come to a more precise understanding of spiritual realities. We need a sense of wonder concerning all that God has done and will do. The words of the familiar hymn express this:

O Lord my God!
When I in awesome wonder
Consider all the worlds
Thy hands have made,
I see the stars,
I hear the rolling thunder,
Thy power throughout the universe displayed,
Then sings my soul, my Savior God to Thee,
How great Thou art, how great Thou art!

Soviets Cooperate On Study Of Venus

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — American and Soviet exploration of the planet Venus is proceeding on complementary lines, without eliminating a competitive spirit between the two nations, says an American scientist.

Harold Masursky, who works at the U.S. Geological Survey's Center of Telegeology at Flagstaff, says two Soviet spacecraft heading for the planet, a quarter of a million miles from earth, will gather data that will complement information hopefully to be gathered by an American probe of Venus in 1978.

Masursky, a member of the 1978 Venus Pioneer team, returned recently from a series of meetings in Moscow.

The two Russian spacecraft currently heading for Venus, Veneras 9 and 10, both will attempt to analyze the chemistry of the planet's surface.

"Obtaining that information from Soviet officials, he said, indicates a new sense of cooperation on the part of the Russians.

In the past, he explained, Soviet scientists always have been reluctant to talk about the existence or purpose of a space mission until the mission actually had been accomplished.

Masursky said the two Russian spacecraft are unmanned, and are scheduled to land in October. Data from those craft won't be available until sometime after that, he added.

Americans have given Russian scientists in recent years a constant, broad overview of plans for Venusian exploration, he said, and probes anticipated for the two Russian spacecraft show the Soviets are trying to cooperate in the exploration program.

The Russians, he said, have agreed to tell Americans where to project landing sites for the two craft. With this information, he said American scientists can make plans to gather supplementary photographic data on the planet's surface by use of various giant, ground-based radars. Combining that information with the Soviet on-site probe, the scientist said, will provide new and valuable data about Venus.

"Since Venus is so difficult to explore," said Masursky, "we think that's a real fine idea."

85-Year-Old Spends All Day Whistling At Girls

By MIKE COCHRAN
ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — At 87, Charlie Patton may seem a little old to be whistling at girls all day.

But he's doing it anyway, and enjoying every minute of it.

Neither wolf nor dirty old man, Charlie Patton is the engineer of the Six Flags over Texas train that circles the amusement park day and night.

He's been tooting the whistle and carrying the kids on the mile-long journey since 1960—when he retired after 53 years with Texas Pacific Railroad.

"I enjoying seeing people having a good time," said Patton in explaining his post-retirement venture, "and I like to keep busy doing something."

With his striped cap, shielding his reddened face, and his work shirt open at the collar, the silver-haired Patton looks very much the engineer.

During the summer, he works a full 40-hour shift and has done so ever since the park opened. The park's abbreviated fall schedule requires only weekend duty.

"I never was sick in my life," said Charlie. "If I felt bad or didn't like to work, I wouldn't be here... but nothing bothers me."

As a veteran engineer, Patton has operated some of the country's largest and smallest trains, but he says even the authentic little steam locomotives here are no snap.

"I told them in the beginning they better have an engineer and no dad-blamed student (drivers)," he chuckled. "We have students now but we help 'em quite a bit."

The two steam engines at Six Flags, he said are "just like the ones in the old days when I first started."

A bachelor until age 45, Patton now has five daughters, two sons, 21 grandchildren and says he hopes to hang on long enough to reach great-grandfather status.

With a wry smile, he said his job might help him achieve that final goal.

How?

"Keeping busy," he said, "keeps me out of trouble."

August Month For Inventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — August could be called a month for inventions related to transportation.

An American patent on the Diesel engine was awarded to Rudolph Diesel of Germany, and Henry Ford got one for an improved carburetor, both in August 1898, according to Intellectual Property Owners, which dug up the data. Diesel fuel and gasoline have been competing ever since, says IPO, a nonprofit group devoted to strengthening the patent system.

The one-millionth patent, for a vehicle tire, was issued to Francis H. Holton, of Summit, Ohio, on Aug. 8, 1911. The Patent Office expects to issue the four-millionth patent during the next year.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE DON'T SHOOT PARTNER HE'S DOING HIS BEST

by Alfred Sheinwold

Bridge would be a wonderful game if it were not for partners. What can you do when your partner blunders into the auction just when the opponents were going to bid a game they couldn't make? Before you let him have it between the eyes, consider today's hand, played a couple of months ago in the European Bridge Championships.

Opening lead — ♦ A

The defenders had no trouble taking two spades, two trump tricks and a club, collecting a penalty of 500 points.

Since Swedish bridge experts are very polite, North did not complain. Still, he felt the usual pangs. If South had stayed out of the bidding West would have bid four hearts and gone down.

With the obvious diamond opening lead and the obvious club shift by South, West would have to lose a diamond, a club and two hearts. North could have pointed out that it's better to be plus 100 than minus 500, but he kept quiet.

GOOD THING

It was a good thing, too. When the hand was played at the other table of the match, West bid four hearts without any opposition.

And now it turned out that the opening lead was not so obvious after all. In fact, North led a spade. Declarer won with the king of spades and led a low heart. South took the ace of hearts and swiftly led a club—but to no avail.

Declarer took the ace of clubs, drew a round of trumps with the king, and ran the spades. By the time North ruffed, West had discarded his losing club and had made the vulnerable game, worth 620 points.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: ♦KQJ82 ♥8732 ♦K ♣J87. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades. The hand is slightly too strong for a pre-emptive jump to four spades.

West Australia Boasts Town As Wild As Old American West

By THOMAS KENT
KALGOORLIE, Western Australia (AP) — The capital of Australia's Wild West is a roar-in town, partner, and lawmen don't mess much with what goes on in the patch of scrub eight miles out of town.

You go out Broad Arrow Road to find the spot, take the first right at the rusty oil drum and bump along a maze of unmarked dirt roads. Then — if you're not ejected because you're a woman or have a camera — you step right up and join the local goldminers in Kalgoorlie's completely open and absolutely illegal "two-up" gambling ring.

Officially, of course, the two-up, a game in which two coins are tossed in the air and gamblers bet odds or evens on their fall, doesn't exist. The law hasn't been out there, the story goes, since the cops used to finger gamblers on the way in for contributions to the Police Youth Club.

The brilliantly spotlighted row of brothels on Hay Street, two blocks from police headquarters, doesn't exist either. The last time anyone asked the West Australian police minister about them he allowed that "if there are complaints, the police will take action."

But he said there would have to be evidence first that the 40 beckoning girls are involved in something illegal.

"You've got to realize this is a town of working men — hard workers," said Barney Jurley, a Kalgoorlie game warden downing his first beer in 10 days after a trip to the outback to chase wild dogs.

"The police just consider it a tradition to leave these places alone. Anyhow, if they shut them up, there'd be corruption all over town and they'd probably have a rebellion on their hands."

Kalgoorlie, (population 22,000), looks as if it had been lifted lock, stock and cheap rooming house from the California gold rush days.

You stride down raised sidewalks with wooden posts supporting the balconies above, pass noisy bars with pianos playing and see banks with signs that read "licensed gold buyer."

The 150-man Mt. Charlotte gold mine still cranks away downtown, right across from the Federal Hotel. Weekend prospectors tunnel and pan for gold in the nearby scrub.

Kalgoorlie (if you're initiated, you don't pronounce the "r") was the center of the big Australian gold rushes in the second half of the last century. American prospectors came here after the steam went out of the California boom, and even President Herbert Hoover spent 10 years here as a mining engineer.

Today, gold mining is still a big business in the town, 350 miles east through flat desert and scrub land from the West Australian state capital of Perth. But the gold isn't expected to last forever, at least in commercial quantities.

One mining company, Kalgoorlie Lake View Ltd., announced in June that it would progressively reduce its work force by at least 300.

Yet even if the gold industry eventually peters out, recent nickel finds in the Kalgoorlie area should stave off the last round-up for this rough and ready town. There is a shortage of skilled underground miners all over Australia, and the old gold hands of "Kal" stand a good chance of absorption into the nickel industry.

'Best Year,' Says Nicklaus After Win

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — A very satisfied Jack Nicklaus considered the question carefully. "This is the year of my best golf," said the man who, at age 35, has achieved a record unmatched in this ancient game's history.

"This would have to rank with '72 among my best years," he said. "I won more tournaments in '72 (a total of seven), but from a standpoint of consistency, from the way I've played week in and week out, this is better."

"This is the year of my best golf, but not my best year of record."
Still, his record this season is all but overwhelming. His Sunday playoff victory over Billy Casper for the World Open title gave him five wins—including the Masters and PGA—for the season that isn't yet complete. No one else has won more than three.

The $40,000 first prize pushed his money winnings for the year to $291,000—a figure that has been surpassed only twice—and all but clinched a record seventh money-winning title.

His winning score of 280, four under par on the 7,007 yards of piny woods and sand hills that make up the No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, left Nicklaus with a leading stroke average of 69.9 for the year.

Perhaps even more impressive is his record of near-misses. In 17 starts this year, including the British Open and the World Series, he has been second twice, third four times, fourth once and finished lower than ninth only twice.

Boost From Mickey Spurs Kathy Whitworth Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Everybody needs a friend, says Kathy Whitworth.

She and Mickey Wright, two of the most illustrious names in the history of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, had dinner last week.

They did not talk about downhill lies or hooks and slices.

"She just sat me down," smiled Miss Whitworth, "and told me how the cow ate the cabbage."

"She really laid into me good, and I love her for it."

Between them, they have won more than 150 professional golf tournaments, counting the $40,000 Southgate Open, which Miss Whitworth added to her list Sunday by shooting a two-under-par 69 in the cold, wind and rain at Leawood South Country club.

"Since 1973 I've been trying to pull back some and play for myself and not prove anything. Mickey, who is retired now, went through a similar experience in her career, and she

Miss Whitworth did not care to reveal any details of her conversation.

"It was very personal. It had to do with attitude and how a person feels about herself. And it was just what I needed. I knew I could talk to Mickey and she would be honest with me."

The victory, No. 75 in Miss Whitworth's long career, was worth $5,700.

SWC 7-2 Against Foes

Tougher Pickin's Lie Ahead For Conference

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference has built a 7-2 edge against non-conference football opponents but there are at least four games this weekend where you can flip a coin it's so close and sadly there's an apparent "gimmie" for the enemy at Fort Worth.

The Arkansas at Oklahoma State, Auburn at Baylor, Vanderbilt at Rice, and Texas A&M at Louisiana State battles should test the mettle of four unbeaten SWC clubs.

Rugged Arizona State travels to Fort Worth to play Texas Christian and will be heavy favorites over the hapless Horned Frogs who were slapped 24-7 by Texas-Arlington Saturday.

Undeclared Texas is at Washington and will be heavy picks over the Huskies while unbeaten Texas Tech will be favored over visiting New Mexico.

Quarterback David Shipman's four-yard touchdown plunge in the first period was the only score.

A disappointed Texas A&M Coach Emory Ballard said his offense was "about 40 per cent below what I thought they would be. We need to start coming off the ball, play with some enthusiasm and get our motor hummin'."

Texas didn't have any trouble with its "human motor," full-back Earl Campbell who dashed for 103 yards in a 46-0 victory over Colorado State. Coach Sark Arslanian of the Rams said "Campbell is a super running back. He's as good a running back as we will see this year. Texas plays good smash-mouth football."

Arkansas unleashed three 100-yard plus gainers in quarterback Mike Kirkland, and running backs Ike Forte and Jerry Eckwood in a 35-0 victory over the Air Force. It was believed the first time that three Arkansas runners had gained over 100 yards in the same game.

Rice stung favored Houston 24-7 after Owl Coach Al Conover had his quarterbacks cut cards to see who would start the game.

"We are a vastly improved team but this is just one of 11 battles," said Conover.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said "Rice certainly wanted it. If you win, you usually deserve it."

Florida trampled Southern Methodist 40-14 and Mustang Coach Dave Smith said "Florida was quick, big and tough to stop. They ran the sweep better than any team I've seen. Sure the score was lopsided, but we beat ourselves."

Day Of The Opening Game Breather Remains

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

It was business as usual as collegiate football got underway in earnest over the weekend, with such "super" powers as Oklahoma, Texas and Southern California scoring impressive victories against less than impressive opponents.

The day of the breather was supposed to have gone out of style 25 years ago, but the mismatches suggested that Lewis Clark, Daniel Baker and Catawba were masquerading as Oregon, Colorado State and Duke.

The scores were the same, just like the good old days, only the names were different, presumably to protect reputations and project the illusion of respectability.

Rice's win over Houston suggests that upsets may be back in style again in the Southwest Conference, to which a hearty "Hooray" is appropriate.

UT-Arlington's trouncing of Texas Christian confirms it, and the reaction is "Oh, no!"

This was to be the year that Jim Shofer, a happy memory from TCU's past, summoned from the pros to restore glory to alma mater, was supposed to turn things around after a groping indoctrination year.

Last year Jim's Frogs beat UTA. A Frog schedule of Arizona State, Nebraska and Arkansas in the next three weeks seems more suitable for Ohio State.

Pats Strike But They Stand Alone

By The Associated Press

Sympathy abounds among National Football League players for the New England Patriots' lonely strike stance. Whether it can be turned into real support in the next 48 hours will likely determine the outcome of the players' latest rebellion.

The Patriots, in a show of solidarity, voted to strike and forced the cancellation of their Sunday exhibition against the New York Jets in the belief that others would follow their demand that NFL owners and the players' union reach agreement on a new labor contract.

The followers did not materialize over the weekend and now the Patriots face a lockout by management if they attempt to resume practice Tuesday for this weekend's NFL opener against Houston.

Team after team announced Sunday they supported the Patriots. The St. Louis Cardinals even voted 30-16 to strike, but decided that vote was not strong enough and went ahead with their exhibition game against Denver, which the Broncos won 21-17.

"We do not enjoy this task which we have taken upon ourselves," said Randy Vataha, player representative for the Patriots, who voted 39-2 to strike. Vataha, holding a news conference in a restaurant parking lot in Foxboro, Mass., Sunday, called on the other 25 NFL clubs to join the Patriots on the strike line.

But with one week remaining before the NFL season opens—when the players begin drawing regular checks—there were no immediate takers. Player representatives for four teams—Buffalo, Denver, Cincinnati and Dallas—said their teams would not vote to strike, and others said they had no immediate intentions of taking strike votes.

Hovering over the Patriots and any other team which strikes is this management statement: any team which strikes will not be paid and may not practice or play a game until a contract is signed or until the players union delivers a no-strike pledge.

Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer said players across the league were concerned that the Patriots not be punished for their actions.

The impasse which started the problems remains: the union insists that league rules which bind a player to one team are illegal and should be settled in the courts; the league insists they must be negotiated. From those stances, the two sides have never budged.

Duniven Owns Edge In Tech QB Battle

BY TED BATTLES

Texas Tech made Coach Steve Sloan's debut successful by shaking off dogged Florida State in the final 12 minutes for a 31-20 victory Saturday night at Jones Stadium.

Add in a subplot almost as interesting, Tommy Duniven, the junior quarterback from McLean who started eight regular season games and the Peach Bowl last year, enjoyed an edge over Rodney Allison, his sophomore rival from Odessa.

Duniven guided Tech to touchdowns on its first two possessions and then two more in the second half after the Seminoles had rallied and began looking over the Raiders' shoulders at the lead. Allison couldn't move the team on two second period appearance but broke 21 yards for the clincher that made it 31-14 in the final period.

"It was a designed play," he explained after the game. "When the tackle got the outside man, I kept and it was wide open."

Allison's first appearance in the game late in the first period came with Tech pushed back to its own seven.

"Sure, I knew where we were, but it didn't bother me. I just wanted to play," he said later.

While many expect Duniven or Allison to establish himself as No. 1 in Tech's new Vee offense, Coach Sloan doesn't regard it as a contest.

Naturally, there will be days when one performs more effectively than the other, but Sloan's plans include both.

"In our offense we need two quarterbacks," he explained, "so we must give both playing time. That's the way we plan it."

Daylong rain Friday and continued threatening and chilling weather Saturday discouraged some of the 42,000 fans who bought tickets, but 35,298 still braved the elements for Tech's opener.

Sloan feels he has more quality running back depth than any squad in the Southwest Conference, and Saturday's game did nothing to diminish that feeling.

After Rufus Myers and Larry Isaac gained almost 200 yards in scoring Tech's first three touchdowns, Sloan showed no hesitation in bringing in Billy Taylor and Cliff Hoskins in the fourth quarter, although had just seen its lead whittled to 19-14.

Taylor simply ripped off 51 yards on the game-clinching 83 yard drive. On his 17-yard scoring sprint, Taylor said, "The hole was so big you could drive a truck through it. It was straight up the middle and I just ran behind Dudley."

The way center David Dudley explained it, FSU moved All-America candidate Greg Johnson from tackle to noseguard during the game.

"It helped us. He really didn't know how to play the middle. He was vulnerable to the cutoff blocks and we were able to make our running game go."

Boston College, Irish Fray Excites New England

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The dwindling lead of baseball's Red Sox and the sudden strike by the Patriots of the National Football League have to play second-fiddle—at least for tonight—to the clash between Notre Dame and Boston College, the biggest college football game in the history of New England.

The nationally-televised contest ABC-TV, 8 p.m., CDT was scheduled little more than a year ago and Sheafer Stadium's 63,000 seats—almost twice as many as K.C.'s campus stadium—have been sold out since January.

No Room For Pope

"If the Pope wanted to get in I couldn't find him a seat," says B.C. publicist Reid Oslin. "Nothing has ever generated this type of excitement at B.C. before. We've sold over 6,000 season-tickets to our student body of 8,000 because of this game."

This is Boston College's chance to gain the national football prestige that has passed it by despite strong teams such as last year's, which won its last six games by a combined 270-27 score to finish 8-3 but was ignored by the pollsters and the bowl committees.

Notre Dame, of course, is Notre Dame, which means all that is traditional in college football and, as an extra added attraction, the Fighting Irish will be making their debut under a new coach, Dan Devine. The former head man at Missouri and before that at Arizona State returned from the pro ranks to the college game when Ara Parseghian resigned at the end of the 1974 campaign.

Notre Dame is ninth in The Associated Press poll; Boston College is unranked.

els all the talk and interest we've had about this game," says B.C. Coach Joe Yukica.

No job is too tough for a Payne Air Management Specialist.

That menacing beast you're looking at is a tourist attraction in the desert near Palm Springs, California. It didn't scare us a bit.

With all its king sized problems (large rooms, small rooms, tunnels, stairs), a Payne Air Management Specialist was able to air condition it. Without any problems.

Which makes our point.

If a Payne Air Management Specialist can expertly air condition this monster, he can air condition your home as well.

We happen to think school starts too early, too, but since this is a decision of the Legislature and not our local school system, we see no reason to penalize our children and others for something that isn't likely to change.

The face is, more than 10,000 Midland children must attend school for four months — almost half the school year — in warm to downright hot temperatures."

Red Sox, Orioles Near Showdown

By The Associated Press
Are the Boston Red Sox lacking confidence or just playing a confidence game?
The Red Sox have a four-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East but don't sound like they think they're the team to beat.
"I expect Baltimore to win every game they play. If they get beat, it's a bonus for us," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Red Sox rallied from a 5-1 deficit to beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-6 Sunday.

Berg Kicks Record 5 Field Goals

By The Associated Press
New Mexico got its season off on the right foot — namely that of kicker Bob Berg, who booted five field goals in leading the Lobos over Fresno State 29-0 Saturday night.
Berg's successful attempts from 28, 31, 24, 34 and 19 yards tied a Western Athletic Conference record for field goals in a game.
The Lobo defense, meanwhile, picked off five Fresno passes and recovered a fumble, limiting the Bulldogs to just 19 yards rushing and 139 total yards.
"I was really pleased that we were able to set the tempo of the game," said winning Coach Bill Mondt. "We've got to be able to do that this year because we'll be playing better teams than Fresno State."
"I was also pleased we were able to play a lot of second-team players. That was one of our weaknesses last year, and it hurt us when he had some injuries."
While the Lobos were winning their season opener, Arizona State was running past Washington 35-12. However, the five other WAC teams in action suffered cruel fates.
Most conspicuous among the losers were Colorado State, which was routed by Texas 46-0, and Wyoming, a 16-3 loss to Idaho State in new Coach Fred Akers' debut.
Brigham Young was tripped by Bowling Green 23-21, Texas El Paso bowed to New Mexico State 31-27, and Utah dropped a 13-7 decision to Utah State.
ASU crushed the Huskies with a vicious ground game, led by Freddie Williams, who carried 26 times for 152 yards and scored once. The Sun Devils rolled up 332 yards on the ground, and Coach Frank Kush was moved to say, "Our running game could be the best we've had."
Kush also indicated that sophomore Fred Mortensen might emerge as his No. 1 quarterback.
UTEP Now 0-2
UTEP slumped to 0-2 on the season as the Miners' late rally fell short. UTEP scored twice in the last four minutes, but couldn't get the ball back again.

Vail Streak Reaches 22

By The Associated Press
Mike Vail is a streak hitter... and the streaks never seem to stop.
New York's rookie sensation, leading the International League in batting, was plucked from the Mets' Tidewater farm club about a month ago, interrupting his 19-game hitting streak.
The move was designed to help the Mets in their charge toward the top of the National League East, a charge that never materialized.
But while the Mets have slowed down, Vail has picked up even more speed. He's hit in 23 of his 25 games in the majors, including the last 22 in a row to match the longest streak in the big league's this year by Boston's Denny Doyle.
No. 22, off St. Louis' John Denny in the Mets' 6-2 loss to the Cardinals, also moved Vail within one game of the NL record for rookie streak-hitting, set by Philadelphia's Joe Rupp in 1921 and equaled by the Phils' Richie Ashburn in 1948.
The major league mark for rookies is 26 by Guy Cartright of the 1943 Chicago White Sox. Vail is also one game away from matching the Mets' all-time hitting streak of 23 by Cleon Jones in 1970.
Pirates 4, Expos 3
Miguel Dilone raced from first to home with the aid of an error to help Pittsburgh beat Montreal. Woodie Fryman walked Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson in the eighth inning and Dilone replaced Robertson.
Duffy Dyer's single to right scored Sanguillen and when Tony Scott, defensive replacement, bobbled the ball, Dilone steamed home, too.
Giants 4-2, Reds 2-8
Successful seventh-inning homers by Dave Rader and Steve Ontiveros on consecutive Gary Nolan pitches boosted the Giants to their first-game victory. Terry Crowley's three-run homer and two-run hits by Dan Driessen and Darrel Chaney brought the Reds back in the nightcap.
Astros 4, Padres 2
Enos Cabell's two RBI and the combined nine-hit pitching of J.R. Richard and Joe Niekro carried Houston past the Padres. John Grubb had a two-run double for San Diego.
Dodgers 3, Braves 2
Ron Cey's 24th homer, a two-run shot in the sixth inning lifted Los Angeles past the Braves and gave Doug Rau his fifth straight victory.
Phillies 13, Cubs 7
Mike Schmidt, the major league home-run leader, belted his 35th and 36th of the year to pace the Phils. Schmidt drove in four runs and Dick Allen had three RBI on a homer and a single. George Mitterwald had a two-run homer and Tim Hosley slugged a grand-slammer for Chicago.

Deacons Top Upset List

By The Associated Press
Part of the problem in trying to recruit football talent to Wake Forest University is that it's located in Winston-Salem, N.C., and most flights require a change of planes somewhere along the way.
"We've never recruited a player who had to change planes to get here," Coach Chuck Mills observed following last year's dismal 1-10 record.
But a few more victories like Saturday's 30-22 upset of 15th-ranked North Carolina State and the airlines may schedule a few more direct flights. Jerry McManus ran 11 yards for one touchdown and passed eight and 29 yards to Bill Millner for two more scores as the Demon Deacons posted the biggest surprise in an early-season rash of upsets.
The first full-scale weekend of the season also included Memphis State's 31-20 shocker of seventh-ranked Auburn, South Carolina's 23-17 triumph over Georgia Tech club that was rated the South's best independent, Tulane's 17-13 victory over Clemson in the losers' "Death Valley" backyard, Northwestern's 31-25 upset of Purdue, Rice's 24-7 decision over Houston and Texas-Arlington's 24-7 surprise of Texas Christian.
Most of the top teams came through unscathed. Oklahoma's defending national champions, No. 1 again in The Associated Press ratings, swamped Oregon 62-7, runner-up Michigan throttled Wisconsin 23-7, third-ranked Ohio State stifled No. 11 Michigan State 21-0 and No. 4 Southern California rolled over Duke 35-7.
Missouri, rated fifth following last week's 20-7 battering of then second-ranked Alabama, was idle while No. 6 Nebraska edged Louisiana State 10-7, No. 8 Texas A&M shaded Mississippi 7-0 and No. 10 Penn State trimmed Stanford 34-14. Ninth-ranked Notre Dame meets Boston College tonight at Foxboro, Mass., in a nationally televised contest (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EDT).
In the Second Ten, No. 12 Texas walloped Colorado State 46-0, No. 20 Tennessee downed No. 14 Maryland 26-8, No. 16 UCLA crushed Iowa State 37-21 and No. 19 Florida mauled Southern Methodist 40-14. Alabama, Arizona and Pitt, ranked 13th, 17th and 18th, respectively, were not scheduled.
Wake Forest and N.C. State were tied 14-all at halftime but McManus' first touchdown pass to Millner put the Deacons on top for good in the third period. In the fourth quarter, Bob Hely kicked a 32-yard field goal and McManus again hit Millner for a score.
"It was a great effort," Mills said. "It's good for the kids. They have taken a lot of crap from everybody. Maybe this will get us out of the bottom 10. We didn't quit, but I don't think we have quit in the past. We have just been outmanned."

The average family uses about 750 kilowatt hours of electricity per month. Based on the latest Federal Power Commission figures, Texas Electric's rates for this much electricity are about 27% below the national average.

But the costs of producing your electricity are going up. New supplies of Texas Electric's major generating fuel — natural gas — are harder to get and much more costly. So we're turning to lignite coal and nuclear fuels. While these fuels cost less than new supplies of natural gas, plants that use them are considerably more expensive to build than gas-fired plants.

This means electricity will have to cost you more. But we're working to keep your rates reasonable by using fuels that will keep costs lowest in the long run.

Market Loses More Ground In Face Of Rising Interest

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back in very slow trading today, yielding again to concern over rising interest rates.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was off 6.02 at 803.27, and losers outnumbered gainers by close to a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market's persistent concern over the interest rate outlook was underscored during the morning by the rapid spread of a quarter-point increase in the bank prime lending rate to 8 per cent. The upward move was initiated on Friday by New York's First National City Bank.

Citicorp, First National City's parent holding company, topped the Big Board's most active list, down 1/4 at 27%. Blocks of 20,000 and 17,000 shares traded at 27%.

Savings Associations Shape Battle On New Real Estate Procedures Act

By CLAUDIA LEVY
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—The U.S. League of Savings Associations is gearing up to press for repeal of the new Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act on the grounds that it complicates and delays settlement for homebuyers and is costly paperwork burden for lenders.

RESPA, as the reform law is usually known, just went into effect June 20. It requires that details about settlement costs be outlined to the buyer at least 12 days before final papers are signed. More than 50 charges must be recorded, ranging from tax adjustments to title search to transfer fees.

The law also forbids kickbacks or referral fees—which added in the past to the cost of some settlement services.

A spokesman for the League of Savings Associations said banks as well as S&Ls are unhappy with RESPA.

The league is surveying a fourth of its 4,500 S&L members. It plans to tell Senate Banking Committee chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., at hearings he will hold on RESPA starting today, that the law either should be repealed or substantially modified. More probably the former, league spokesman Joseph Sims said.

West, like other lending officials interviewed, said although RESPA may be reducing settlement costs, it eventually may force lenders to increase mortgage rates.

However, Benny L. Kass, a Washington lawyer who specializes in settlement and consumer cases, calls the prediction about increased paperwork leading to higher rates "a straw argument."

"They said the same about Truth-in-Lending and the VA, in fact, the consumer saves money by shopping around, then more power to that."

"There may be some more paperwork—there's no question about it—but I think modern computers can probably handle some of these things. A lot of them are standard... I can go through a RESPA statement in 10 minutes."

Kass said that, in his new, lenders should be putting the burden on the real estate agent. "Real estate agents sell you a house, steer you to a lending institution and they're through. It seems to me that for the 8 per cent they're charging the seller, they ought to be doing the work themselves. The listing cards have 80 per cent of the information anyway, such as current monthly payments and taxes."

Kass also pointed out that S&Ls have charged buyers for the preparation of papers for years. With the disclosures already required by law, he maintained, RESPA has not really added that much more.

Wall Streeters had been expecting activity to be slow because of the observance of the Jewish holiday Yom Kippur.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed stocks fell .25 to 44.01.

Basin Petroleum, the Amex volume leader, gained 3/4 to 9 1/4. The company and Reserve Oil & Gas signed a definitive agreement to merge. Reserve gained 1/4 to 7 1/4 on the Big Board.

Kickbacks Forbidden

The law also forbids kickbacks or referral fees—which added in the past to the cost of some settlement services.

Red Sox, Orioles Near Showdown

By The Associated Press... Are the Boston Red Sox lacking confidence or just playing a confidence game? The Red Sox have a four-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East but don't sound like they think they're the team to beat. "I expect Baltimore to win every game they play. If they get beat, it's a bonus for us," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Red Sox rallied from a 5-1 deficit to beat the

Deacons Top Upset List

By The Associated Press... Part of the problem in trying to recruit football talent to Wake Forest University is that it's located in Winston-Salem, N.C., and most flights require a change of planes somewhere along the way. "We've never recruited a player who had to change planes to get here," Coach Chuck Mills observed following last year's dismal 1-10 record. But a few more victories like Saturday's 30-22 upset of 15th-ranked North Carolina State and the airlines may schedule a few more direct flights. Jerry McManus ran 11 yards for one touchdown and passed eight and 29 yards to Bill Miller for two more scores as the Demon Deacons posted the biggest surprise in an early-season rash of upsets.

Berg Kicks Record 5 Field Goals

By The Associated Press... New Mexico got its season off on the right foot - namely that of kicker Bob Berg, who booted five field goals in leading the Lobos over Fresno State 29-0 Saturday night. Berg's successful attempts from 28, 31, 24, 34 and 19 yards tied a Western Athletic Conference record for field goals in a game. The Lobo defense, meanwhile, picked off five Fresno passes and recovered a fumble, limiting the Bulldogs to just 19 yards rushing and 139 total yards.

Memphis Southmen Defeat Steamer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - The Memphis Southmen rolled up a 34-23 World Football League victory over the Shreveport Steamer Sunday before 18,003 fans, but if the Southmen had had to face quarterback D.C. Nobles for the entire game the outcome might have been different. Nobles, a second-year pro from the University of Houston, replaced Edd Hargett in the second half and proceeded to swamp the league-leading Southmen in virtually every offensive category. The Southmen, quarterbacked by Danny White in his starting debut, dominated the first half, taking a 26-0 lead to the dressing room. But Nobles came out in the final half with a passing attack that netted 186 yards, three touchdowns and 13-of-28 completions before the final gun. Two of his touchdown passes were caught by wide receiver Rick Eber and a third by Donnie Davis.

British Women Cop Wightman Cup, 5-2

CLEVELAND (AP) - The British were calling it a Golden Jubilee after their third-ranked woman tennis player, Glynis Coles, swept past America's Mona Schallau 6-3, 7-6, and clinched Wightman Cup tennis match. The 5-2 triumph on Sunday marked the first time in 50 years that the British had prevailed away from home in the competition that began in 1923. Miss Cole's victory was the visitors' fourth in the best-of-seven series for U.S.-British women's tennis supremacy. Later she shared in a final doubles victory that left the score 5-2 in her homeland's favor.

Twins 10, A's 8

Danny Thompson's three-run homer capped a six-run outburst that carried Minnesota past Oakland. The Twins outthrew the A's 15-12. The defeat and Kansas City's victory left Oakland's magic number at eight for clinching its fifth straight AL West crown.

Rangers 9, White Sox 8

Roy Howell's tie-breaking single capped a three-run comeback in the bottom of the 13th and gave Texas the victory over the White Sox. Harmon Killebrew and Frank White slugged home runs in Kansas City's victory. Killebrew's two-run blast, his 13th of the season and 572nd of his career, capped a four-run first inning. White hit an inside-the-park homer an inning later.

Vail-Streak Reaches 22

By The Associated Press... Mike Vail is a streak hitter... and the streaks never seem to stop. New York's rookie sensation, leading the International League in batting, was plucked from the Mets' Tidewater farm club about a month ago, interrupting his 19-game hitting streak. The move was designed to help the Mets in their charge toward the top of the National League East, a charge that never materialized. But while the Mets have slowed down, Vail has picked up even more speed. He's hit in 23 of his 25 games in the majors, including the last 22 in a row to match the longest streak in the big league's this year by Boston's Denny Doyle. No. 22, off St. Louis' John Denny in the Mets' 6-2 loss to the Cardinals, also moved Vail

The average family uses about 750 kilowatt hours of electricity per month. Based on the latest Federal Power Commission figures, Texas Electric's rates for this much electricity are about 27% below the national average. But the costs of producing your electricity are going up. New supplies of Texas Electric's major generating fuel - natural gas - are harder to get and much more costly. So we're turning to lignite coal and nuclear fuels. While these fuels cost less than new supplies of natural gas, plants that use them are considerably more expensive to build than gas-fired plants. This means electricity will have to cost you more. But we're working to keep your rates reasonable by using fuels that will keep costs lowest in the long run. TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY C. W. Road To Mandalay Filled With Black Market Goods

The Los Angeles Times reported that Mandalay, Burma — The road to Mandalay, like the roads and rivers to most other Burmese cities, is laden with black market goods.

"Without the black market, people would probably starve," said one Burmese of the contraband from China, Bangladesh, India and Thailand. "It keeps the country going."

This country of 30 million people in a nearly forgotten corner of Southeast Asia operates on two parallel economies: one run by the state, the other by the black marketeers.

And while state-run stores in Mandalay and Rangoon are depleted of every desired product, open-air black markets are chock-a-block with fabrics, clothing, radios, medicines, cosmetics, vitamins and rice.

As Burma slowly emerges from its self-imposed isolation of the last dozen years, it seems clear that the government's move to socialism has been a failure.

There is even a thriving illicit market in tickets to the movies, the favorite entertainment of the Burmese. Marketeers line up early in the day to purchase tickets and then scalp them to otherwise occupied citizens.

Here in Mandalay, the country's geographical center, a huge black market operates just a couple of blocks from the old royal palace, brick-walled and moated, which is now occupied by the Burmese army.

The last royal capital before the British took over in 1885, Mandalay is a quiet city of half a million, filled with Buddhist monasteries and shrines whose gold-leafed spires are topped with tinkling bells.

Mandalayans, elegant in the skirts worn alike by women and men, tend to look down at the British-built national capital of Rangoon, 350 miles south, as something of an alien place.

(Rudyard Kipling, by the way, in his famous poem later set to music, had it all wrong; there are no flying fishes in the Irrawaddy River between Rangoon and Mandalay; the dawn comes up like thunder over Burma, not China across the bay, and the old Moulmein Pagoda looks westward not eastward to the sea.)

"The government in Rangoon is responsible for our mess," said one Mandalayan. "The country is in trouble. People are disturbed. All we see is mismanagement, negligence, inefficiency, and corruption."

Another added: "Life used to be good here. But prices are rising at least 30 per cent a year, and our wages just don't keep up with prices."

The basic laboring wage under the Socialist economy is only about 75 per cent of what it costs to feed a family of four. So everyone must moonlight — often via the black market.

In Rangoon, though the countryside is lush, beautiful and unspoiled, the great stone buildings have gone scruffy from lack of maintenance. Shrubs sprout through cracks in the plaster. Green mold covers the once proud names of empire carved on the stone facades.

The army still holds the whip hand, but the populace continues to grumble about high prices, low wages, maldistribution of rice, and the shortage of consumer products.

The government likes to credit itself with great strides in the fields of education and health. The budget has been raised in those areas, but not enough to take care of the expanding population and its needs, Burmese say.

"The government's programs have been going downhill for a long time," one economist said. "The Socialist system is just not working in Burma."

"There's just not any incentive to get the individuals in the city or the country to produce more," one knowledgeable Burmese said.

In two areas where supervisors have been allowed to give the workers an incentive bonus — fishing and salt making — production has shot up markedly, sources said.

Even official criticism is mounting — not so much of the system but the way it is run.

Followers Of Zinder's Labor Day Theory Face Temporary Confusion

By HELEN L. CALL
Copley News Service

If you are a follower of the Newton D. Zinder theory of Labor Day week as an indicator, you have probably been busy computing the net change in the Dow for the week.

The Zinder theory is that if the averages gain in the day following Labor Day, the Dow will be higher 30 days later. If they lose, the averages will be even lower next month.

The Dow closed at 835.97, just a tick above the 835.34 where it started the week.

"It's not a very clear-cut signal one way or another," said Zinder in an interview from his New York office of E. F. Hutton, where he is the firm's technical analyst. "Even indicators are not always decisive. This one has been good for the last 15 years."

TEMPORARY CONFUSION, according to Zinder, is not all bad.

"We think there are some very good values developing. We are very keen on basic industrial issues like steel, chemical, paper and metal stocks. We also are high on food chains which we think will do very well and provide very good value."

Blyth Eastman Dillon's chief technical analyst, Harry Laubscher, said what the market needs is good leadership.

"The strength in the chemicals, steels and papers may provide that leadership."

"If we get other groups to fall in line, we could get a good market going," he said in an interview.

"If people are going to be in this market," he added, "we would counsel them to look at the basic industries. This is the area we think offers the best potential for the next year or so."

Specifically, Laubscher likes Bethlehem Steel, U.S. Steel, Union Carbide, International Paper, Goodyear Tire, Stauffer Chemical.

Portfolio strategy recommended by Leslie Pollack, market analyst for Shearson Hayden Stone, also centers on the cyclical. On a technical basis, he sees strength in the chemicals, oil and paper groups, followed by the aerospace, aluminum, autos, food, forest products, oil drillers, motion pictures, steel and tire industries.

John McFalls of Seattle, whose Value-Action Advisory is gold share-oriented, said in an interview that he has liquidated all his gold shares and made substantial short sales on the expectation that gold shares will test their lows.

THE RESEARCH department at Dean Witter has prepared a report on companies where "we believe dividend increases are a good likelihood." These companies, currently yielding between 3.8 per cent and 7.7 per cent, are: Bendix, Chicago Pneumatic, Hawaii Bancorp., Hilton Hotels, IBM, Nationwide Corp., Union Carbide, Universal Foods.

Bache & Co. has added two new stocks to its investment-grade category on the basis of favorable fundamentals: Kresge, Digital Equipment.

Bache's Charles Comer said in his technical analysis of the market, "Investors may want to begin making commitments in a few high-quality issues, even recognizing that more consolidation is likely and one more sharp dip is possible in the general market averages."

He said, "Celanese is still showing a sustained uptrend and continues to out-perform the general list. U.S. Steel is moving into new high ground after a four-month consolidation and appears positioned to move still higher."

Comer commented, "Basic industries are currently in the limelight with a shift in new commitments from the growth sector to cyclical." Steels and papers are in this group, he said, with chemicals also moving up.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith's securities analyst

Robert Farrell's Labor Day week comment was, "We still do not believe an aggressive posture toward stocks should yet be resumed. Group strength continues to be centered on aerospace, basic industries and energy areas. We also see relative improvement in auto-related areas, airlines and Canadian oils."

Hearing Slated For Seven Dallas Area Schools

DALLAS (AP) — A hearing was set today in federal court to allow responses from seven school districts plaintiffs in a desegregation suit want included as codefendants in a suit against the Dallas school district.

U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor already has given approval for plaintiffs to enlarge the suit to include suburban school districts.

The hearing planned today was to hear responses from the districts involved.

They are districts in Highland Park, Wilmer-Hutchins, Carrollton-Farmer's Branch, DeSoto, Duncanville, Irving and Lancaster.

By CLAUDIA LEVY
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—The U.S. League of Savings Associations is gearing up to press for repeal of the new Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act on the grounds that it complicates and delays settlement for homebuyers and is costly paperwork burden for lenders.

RESPA, as the reform law is usually known, just went into effect June 20. It requires that details about settlement costs be outlined to the buyer at least 12 days before final papers are signed. More than 50 charges must be recorded, ranging from tax adjustments to title search to transfer fees.

Kickbacks Forbidden

The law also forbids kickbacks or referral fees—which added in the past to the cost of some settlement services.

A spokesman for the League of Savings Associations said banks as well as S&Ls are unhappy with RESPA.

The league is surveying a fourth of its 4,500 S&L members. It plans to tell Senate Banking Committee chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., at hearings he will hold on RESPA starting today, that the law either should be repealed or substantially modified. More probably the former, league spokesman Joseph Sims said.

Paperwork Burden

Sims said that members "find that RESPA has caused them to add on extra numbers of people, as many as 12 employees, to handle the paperwork burden. And there are additional costs besides salaries. Land officers are getting an earful from customers about the delays. It now takes about twice as long to close a loan as it did before. A lot of the members are asking for outright repeal."

Savings and loans make about half of the mortgage loans in the country each year.

A spokesman for the American Bankers Association said his organization has indicated to Proxmire that it probably would support repeal of the settlement procedures act. He added that ABA members have not yet been polled.

Bill Toned Down

The U.S. League originally supported the RESPA legislation that was passed, largely because it was a compromise bill that toned down the more stringent version Proxmire had introduced. The latter would have required lenders to pay closing costs and called for government regulation of the actual fees charged in real estate settlements.

Feedback from customers on the effectiveness of the requirements is "generally in a state of confusion," said an official of one large lender, Washington Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Complaints Galore

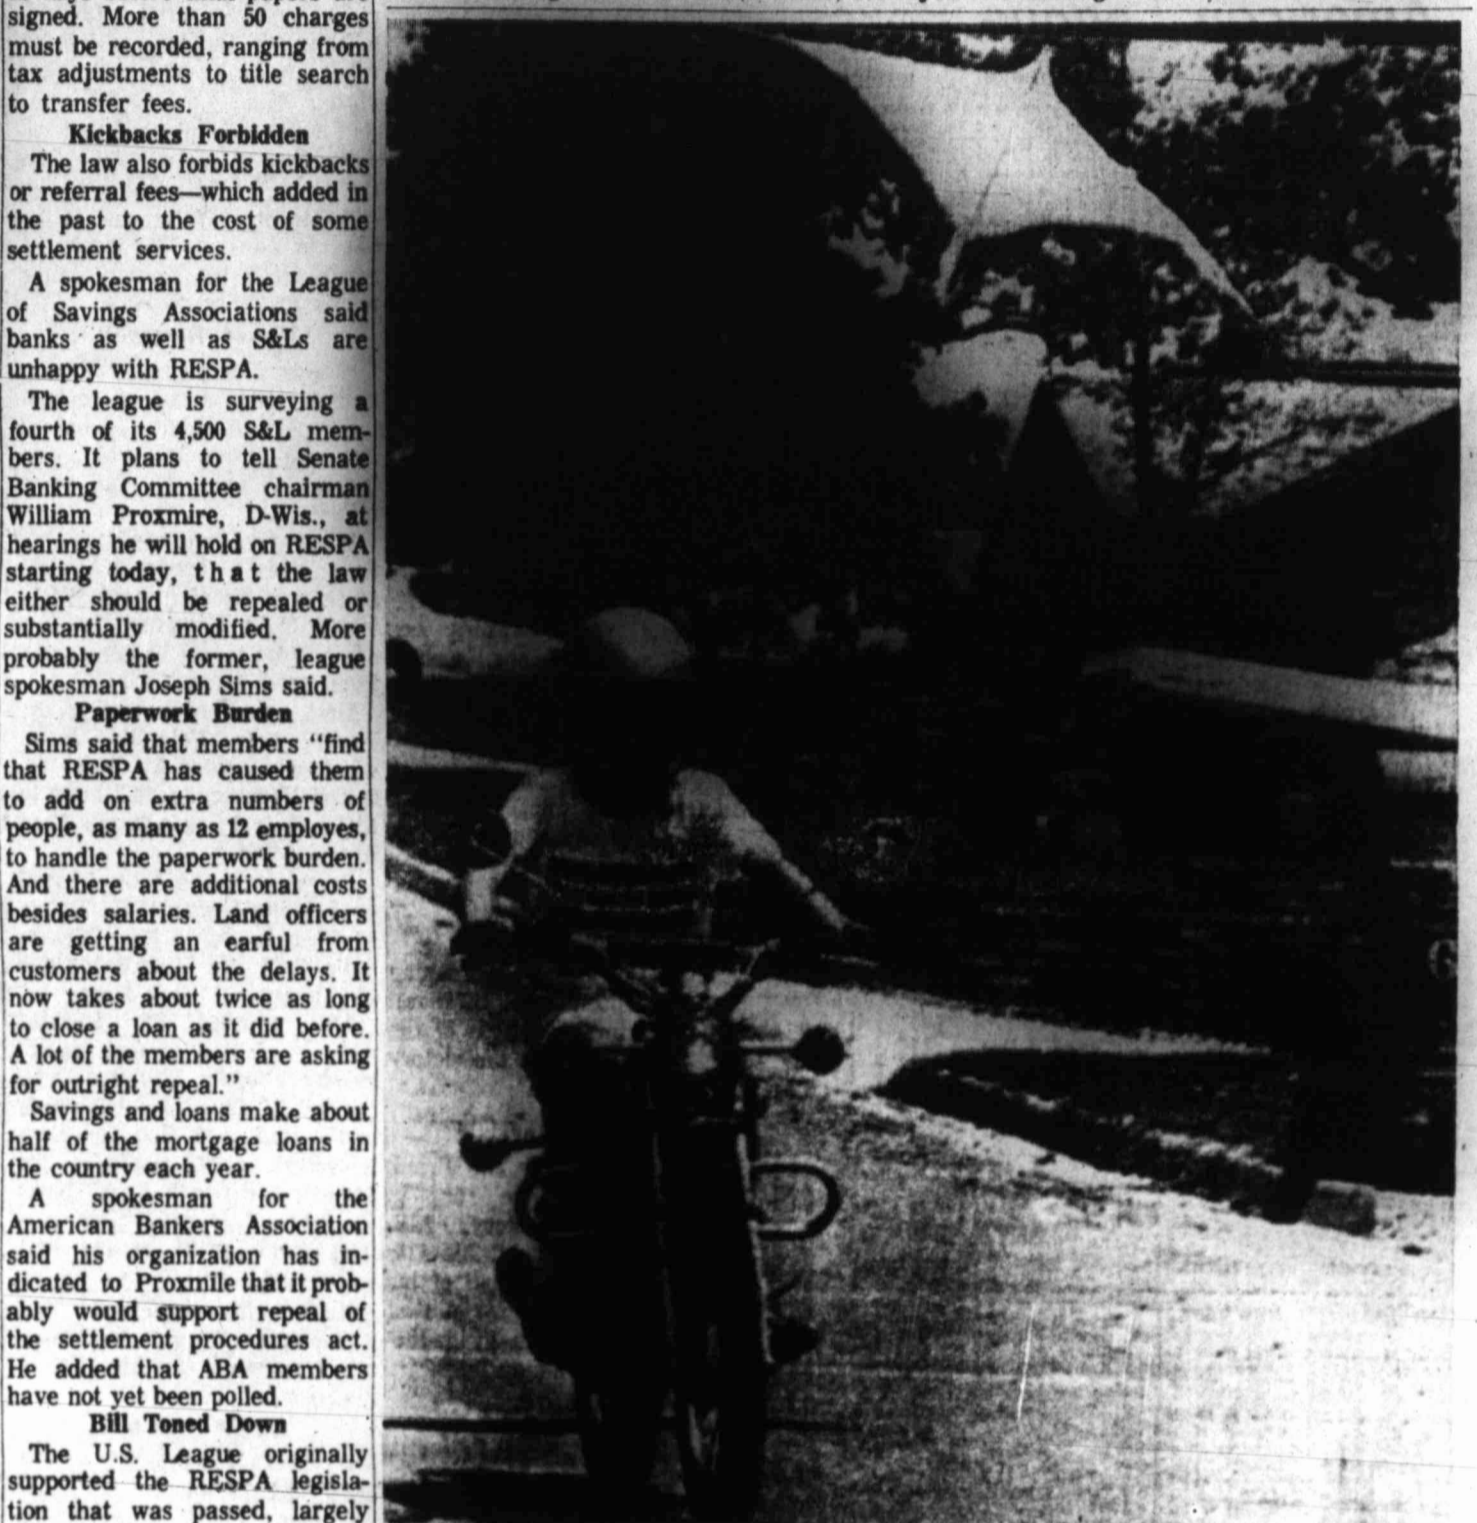

"We haven't had anybody congratulate us on adopting it," said Howard Orebaugh, who heads Washington Federal's loan department. "We get mostly complaints on delays—they've got furniture coming, this type of thing—and very little favorable response. But I'm not sure we would get it if there was."

He said it takes four to six weeks to process a mortgage loan now where it used to take two to three weeks. But he also said the advent of RESPA coincided with a surge in sales of new and existing houses, so that the S&L is "faced with a tremendous volume" of loans to process.

The hard thing to evaluate, he said, is if the law is "really doing the job it is supposed to do—that is to help people get a better deal."

Dan Lindley, residential loan manager here for Advance Mortgage Corp., said that RESPA has added three to five days to the normal 35-day processing period at his company. But while "people really don't understand it," customers tend to appreciate seeing the figures on costs before closing.

Donald West, another lending company official, calls RESPA "hard meticulous work" that

Is Inflation Under Control? One Guess As Good As Another

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Is inflation coming under control? Evidence that nobody knows is contained in the history of forecasts, which over the past decade have been lamentably inaccurate on this subject.

And the suggestion that one guess is as good as another is suggested by the amazingly wide range of opinions even among professionals who, like fortune tellers, earn good money for their alleged farsightedness.

Greenspan Confident

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, maintains the inflation rate will simmer down by next spring, and that the annual rate of inflation for 1976 would be about 7 per cent.

Even that rate, however, would hardly indicate that prices were under control, and Greenspan himself concedes it would be "by no means acceptable." No, not when we used to think that 3 per cent was too much.

The irrepressible Pierre Rinfret, whose opinions sometimes have been solicited by the White House and by political candidates, as well as by his regular big business clients, is a bit more cynical.

"Hope for the best, prepare for the worst," that's the strategy for 1976," Rinfret writes in his current "confidential" advisory.

"How do you protect yourself against inflation?" he asks rhetorically. "By raising your prices by more than the inflation rate," he answers, explaining that for a decade "the major mistake has been to believe inflation would disappear."

In the view of the National Association of Purchasing Management, the business recovery is under way but "an unwelcome return of price increases gives cause for concern."

Buyers Unconcerned

But not all surveys of purchasing agents indicate a fear that inflation might undermine the recovery. The highly regarded magazine Purchasing World makes this unqualified declaration:

"Everybody is worried about prices — except buyers."

John O'Connor, editor, conducted two surveys and reached the conclusion that "the people who actually pay the bills for their companies' supplies of goods and materials don't buy the economic doomsday prediction."

High List Prices

O'Connor observes that many sellers are maintaining high list, or book, prices, but are quoting actual prices much lower. He suggests that the government indexes—which are based on list prices, are thereby distorted.

Well, who do you believe? Searching for an answer one is eventually directed to the consumer, the final buyer, the ultimate decision maker. If the consumer is pessimistic he probably is so for good reason. When the consumer believes his income will be sufficient and prices stable and the job market healthy, he is said to have confidence.
