

Wildcats Scheduled In Menard, Sutton

Exploration has been scheduled in Menard and Sutton counties. Lloyd Patton, Fort Worth, will drill No. 1 Mrs. Lizzie Tisdale as a 4,000-foot wildcat in extreme Northwest Menard County, 2 1/2 miles southeast of the Four Corners (Cross Cut) field. Drillsite is 600 feet from south and west lines of section 6, block C, BS&F survey, abstract 1908, 16 miles north of Fort McKavett.

Sutton Tries
HNG Oil Co. of Midland plans to drill three Strawn gas tests in Sutton. No. 1-57 Hicks, slated to 6,500 feet, is 12 miles east of Strawn, North gas production in the Sawyer field, 18 miles southeast of Sonora. Location is 933 feet from north and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 57, block 14, TW&NG survey. No. 1-61 Hicks, also slated to 6,500 feet, spots 933 feet from north and east lines of section 61, block 14, TW&NG survey, 1/2 mile southwest of Des Moines production in the Miers field. No. 1-65 VanderStucken, slated to 6,000 feet, is 1 1/2 miles southwest of the Miers, Southeast (Strawn) field, 933 feet from north and east lines of section 65, block 7, TW&NG survey. It is about 23 miles southeast of Sonora townsite.

Wilbanks Finals Scurry Discovery

Bruce A. Wilbanks, Midland, No. 1 Sears, Scurry County reentry operation, 1/2 mile northeast of the depleted Log-Pat (Wichita-Albany) field, has been completed as a Wichita-Albany discovery. It finished to pump 15 barrels of oil gravity unreported, and two barrels of water, on 24-hour potential test taken through perforations at 4,919-4,999 feet. Originally drilled by J. E. Jones as No. 1-C Sears, it was plugged and abandoned in 1961 at 8,218 feet. The plugged-back depth is 5,050 feet, and 5 1/2-inch casing was set at 5,250 feet. The pay zone was acidized with 3,400 gallons. Location is 1,320 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 261, block 97, H&TC survey, 13 miles west of Snyder.

Stonewall Sector Draws Explorer

Tri-Star Petroleum Corp. of Dallas has made plans for a 3,200-foot prospector in extreme Southeast Stonewall County, to be drilled as No. 1-271-112 Swenson Land & Cattle Co. Drillsite, 330 feet from south and 1,800 feet from west lines of section 112, BBB&C survey, 1 1/2 mile northeast of the Flat Top 113 (Swastika) field, and five miles southeast of Flat Top townsite.

Midland Family Uninjured In London Blast

A Midland man and his family are "fine and uninjured" in London where a bomb exploded at a bus stop shelter and killed one person and injured 20 others Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Land, and their two sons, Kevin, 7, and Keith, 4, were traveling through London on their way to Tehran, Iran, where Land is to assume the position of district sales manager. Cameron Iron Works spokesman here said today. "They were staying in a hotel across the street from where it happened and were blown off their feet, but they were unharmed," the spokesman said. Land was the sales representative in Midland for Cameron before being transferred to Iran. No group claimed responsibility for the blast, but detectives said the charge could have been planted by Irish extremists. Fifty-six persons have now been killed and about 800 wounded in terrorist bombings in England in the last three years, according to The Associated Press. Most of the casualties Thursday night were people standing at the bus stop when the bomb went off. Witnesses said the blast tore off the shelter roof and hurled chunks of metal across the broad thoroughfare. Police said the single fatality was a man in his early 20s. He had been standing almost on top of the bomb, hidden in a parcel left at the bus stop a few yards from the subway entrance, police said.

Policeman, 3 Other Men Killed In Houston Shootout

HOUSTON (AP) — Four men, including one policeman, were killed today in an east side shootout between officers and three convicts who escaped Wednesday from a state prison farm near Sugar Land. Another officer, a member of the Houston police special weapons unit, was shot in an ankle in the exchange of gunfire at a house near the Houston Ship Channel. About 100 officers had surrounded the house after the Harris County sheriff's office received a tip from an informant that the three convicts would be found there. The shootout ended after tear gas was lobbed through windows and the house caught fire. The dead officer was identified as Richard Howard Calhoun, 35, a five-year veteran of the Houston police force and the father of four small children. The wounded officer was Philip D. Hawkins of the police SWAT or Special Weapons and Tactical Team. Of the other three bodies, Scott Ballantine of the Texas Department of Corrections identified one as that of Michael Robbins, 37, one of the three prison escapees. Robbins was under a 40-year prison sentence from Dallas for robbery. Ballantine said the other two bodies, both found on the second floor of the house, were burned too badly for immediate identification. Police believed, however, they were the other two convicts. "WE ARE assuming they are the other two," said police detective David Massey. Medical examiners later reported there was indication one of the unidentified men had been dead about a day. The cause of death was not known but police speculated the man may have been killed during an argument among the three escapees. The other two escapees were Noel F. Smith, 29, under a 30-year sentence for murder from Houston, and Benjamin F. Wingberry, 29, under a 15-year robbery sentence from Houston. The trio escaped Wednesday afternoon from the prison system's central unit near Sugar Land, about 20 miles southwest of Houston. A prison maintenance supervisor and a Houston construction worker were abducted by the escapees as they made their way from Sugar Land to Houston. Both hostages were released unharmed Wednesday and police believed the convicts were in hiding in Houston's east side area. In the early phases of the two-hour showdown, seven policemen surrounded the house before the special weapons unit arrived and took charge. Calhoun, an early arrival, was among the first officers to enter the house. Investigators said Calhoun and the others found the first floor of the structure unoccupied and Calhoun was hit by gunfire when he was leading the group up a stairway. CALHOUN FELL dead as the other officers retreated into the street. The exchange of gunfire that immediately followed made it impossible for others to reach the body until the final shots had been fired. Tanner said he went in the back door of the house and saw someone moving. "I immediately fired the (automatic) rifle, and I saw a body fall," Tanner said, adding that he also heard a noise from the second floor. ## Economic Summit Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will fly to France in mid-November for a three-day economic summit with heads of major Western nations, Press Secretary Ron Nessen announced today. The announcement said Ford and the other leaders would meet on Nov. 15-17 somewhere in France, but certainly outside Paris, "to discuss economic issues of mutual interest, including promotion of recovery in the world economy, trade and monetary policy." Joining Ford will be the heads of state or government from West Germany, France, Italy, Japan and Britain, the announcement said. State Department counselor Helmut Sonnenfeldt told reporters Canada also is expected to participate, although the initial announcement did not say so. Sonnenfeldt said the sessions, apparently to be held at a rural chateau, would involve "a minimum of protocol." He also said the number of participants would be strictly limited — in the case of the United States to Ford, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon. French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing was an original proponent of the economic summit idea, strongly supported by West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt. A reporter asked Sonnenfeldt if the United States was less than enthusiastic about the meeting. "I think that's not the case," he said. "The President welcomes this." Asked if the summit plans reflected an economic crisis, Sonnenfeldt said: "This is not an air of crisis about it. I think there is an air of satisfaction..." Neither Sonnenfeldt nor Nessen would say whether Ford plans to visit other European nations during the trip. The formal announcement said: "This meeting will permit an informal and intensive exchange of views on common problems, possibilities for resolving them, and opportunities to enhance constructive cooperation." "The six leaders recognize the importance their economies have to one another and to the rest of the world. They believe that they have a responsibility to consult with one another on achieving stable growth for their own countries, and, in cooperation with other nations, greater global prosperity and improvements in the working of the international economy." Representatives of the six governments met in New York last weekend to prepare a summit agenda, but Sonnenfeldt said he could not go into detail about the meeting.

Ford, Congress Appear Headed For Showdown On Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic-controlled Congress and President Ford appear headed for a politically crucial showdown later this year over Ford's insistence that any tax cut be tied to a ceiling on next year's federal spending. Both sides see themselves as the political winners. Democratic strategists say privately they are convinced that they will either get credit for a tax cut or be able to blame Ford for blocking it, while the President contends the voters favor his package proposal. Ford reiterated his demand for the double-barreled legislative package at a nationally televised and broadcast news conference Thursday night, declaring: "If the Congress plays politics by sending a tax reduction bill to my desk without any responsible restraint on federal spending... I would not hesitate to veto it." However, two key Democratic leaders said it would be irresponsible for Congress to accept Ford's program. House Speaker Carl Albert, in a statement issued before Ford spoke, declared it "would be unrealistic and irresponsible" for Congress to enact a spending ceiling before it receives and studies Ford's budget for the year starting next Oct. 1. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said in an interview, "There is no way that this Congress can responsibly make the commitment the President is asking them to make." "He is asking them to commit themselves to a big spending cut without knowing where the cut is going to come," added the Louisiana Democrat, who heads the Senate's tax-drafting panel. In a related area, Ford indicated he remains adamantly opposed to federal measures to "bail out" financially-troubled New York City, declaring he has seen nothing so far he could accept. "I do not think it is a healthy thing for the federal government to bail out a city, and I mean any city, that has handled its fiscal affairs as irresponsibly over a long period of time as New York City has," he said, adding he remains reluctant "to say anything other than 'no' until I see what New York City has done." On other subjects, Ford said: "He canceled next Thursday's scheduled trip to Louisville, Ky., for security and other reasons after local officials and the Secret Service warned of massive demonstrations in a city torn by controversy over a school busing plan implemented this fall." "He has 'great faith and trust, and I fully support' his campaign manager, Howard H. 'Bo' Callaway, and feels he is developing 'a very, very good campaign organization' so that 'we are really moving exceedingly well in the nomination process.' "—He feels that, as leader of the Republican party, "I have an obligation to try and strengthen and rebuild the Republican party organization in many, many states," which is what he has been doing on many of the trips that will have taken him into all 50 states by the end of the year. "—He plans to send Congress proposals to revamp the food (See FORD Page 2A)

Energy Independence Authority Plans Unveiled By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today unveiled details of a proposed $100 billion government corporation to help finance energy projects to replace imported oil and was immediately accused of snubbing Congress. Ford sent to Congress a 54-page draft bill explaining in detail an Energy Independence Authority (EIA), which he said could replace 10 million to 15 million barrels of oil daily by 1985. The authority would be designed to help pay for projects beyond the scope of private efforts. The plan was outlined to reporters at the White House by Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zerf at the same time he had been scheduled to appear before the House Budget Committee to explain the program. "The President apparently prefers to communicate with Congress by way of the news media," said Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., chairman of a Budget Committee task force. Wright said Zerf cancelled his committee appearance late Thursday on grounds the proposed legislation was still under review. "A thorough discussion would be more appropriate after submission to Congress," Wright quoted Zerf as saying. "Then we learned ironically that he called a news conference... for a thorough discussion," Wright said. "It is gratuitously demeaning to the Congress..." he said. The President unveiled his controversial plan in broad outline in a speech last month in San Francisco. The legislation spells out the fine print of the proposal, which has been pushed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller despite reservations by some administration officials. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen's office distributed a fact sheet to go with the legislation that said: "The $100 billion for energy projects could help assure that the equivalent of up to 10-15 million barrels of oil per day of new energy production is realized by 1985." Under the legislation, EIA would support only those projects that would "contribute directly and significantly to energy independence" and projects "that would not be financed without government assistance." To be headed by a five-member board of directors, appointed by the President and subject to Senate confirmation, EIA would sell $25 billion of capital stock to the Treasury and raise the remaining $75 billion in normal capital markets through the issuance of notes, debentures and bonds. In a letter of transmittal to Congress, Ford said capital requirements for energy projects would total about $800 billion over the next 10 years. The President argued that the nation could not wait for emerging new technologies in the energy field to attract private investment capital.

Sakharov Labeled As 'Anti-Patriot'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin today blasted Andrei Sakharov as an "anti-patriot" and described the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to him as a political ploy. The official news agency Tass, reporting news of the award after ignoring it for nearly a day, said: "It is no secret that the award of 'peace prizes' has become in recent years an object of frank political speculations, which, by the way, was admitted also by the Norwegian press. One cannot escape the impression that here is also an instance of such speculations that are prompted by consideration which, far from meeting the interests of peace, are running counter to such interests." The comment came as Sakharov in effect challenged Soviet authorities to let him go to Oslo in December to receive the award and to return home. The 54-year-old scientist-turned-dissident told a news conference in his small Moscow apartment that his desire to go to Oslo "is not unknown to Soviet authorities and if they find it worthwhile, they'll also find a way to inform me regarding whether I'm allowed to go." Tass, in an article by political commentator Yuri Kornilov, said Sakharov "has long since put himself in the position of an antipatriot" and had "taken a stand against his own country." Tass said Sakharov's statements repeat "what is said by and by opponents to peaceful anti-Communist propaganda" and by opponents to peaceful coexistence between Communist and non-Communist states. "The bourgeois press," Tass said, "has immediately raised a racket over this move and its pronouncements on this matter have a clearly anti-Soviet slant." Tass also quoted French Communist comment on the award as anti-Soviet and antipatriotic.

Hearst's Release From Jail Depends On Trial Date

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst could be released from jail if her bank robbery trial does not start by Dec. 27, but the government will make every effort to meet that deadline, says the federal prosecutor.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning conceded Thursday that if no trial is set and the trial is delayed beyond that date, the newspaper heiress "conceivably" could be released on her recognition under the amended Speedy Trial Act of 1974.

Miss Hearst is being held without bail at the San Mateo County jail in nearby Redwood City.

Meanwhile, Miss Hearst's defense team continues to focus its efforts on her mental competence.

Miss Hearst's lawyers won court consent Thursday for a physician to check her for possible physical problems. But they withdrew a request to have her examined by a psychiatrist chosen by them in addition to the court-appointed panel that has been testing her.

Lawyer Albert Johnson, a member of the defense team, said in an interview published Thursday that he was spending "100 per cent" of his time trying to get Miss Hearst committed to a hospital for a psychiatric care. He said her thoughts seem disconnected.

Johnson said he hoped his client could stand trial at some point, but he added that there are some cases where a defendant's mental state prevents them from ever standing trial.

The 21-year-old daughter of Randolph and Catherine Hearst is the object of "tremendous public resentment" and has received some "really gross" hate mail, Johnson said.

Miss Hearst has been receiving about 50 letters a day since her Sept. 18 arrest here, jail officials said.

San Mateo County Sheriff John R. McDonald Jr. said his deputies have not assessed how much of the mail is favorable or unfavorable and have not detected any threats to her life.

"She gets about 50 letters daily from people across the political spectrum and in all walks of life — religious people, people who say she's wrong, people who say she's right," McDonald said.

In other developments: —Miss Hearst's parents visited with their daughter for about 15 minutes Thursday night, but she spent most of her time talking with old friends Patricia Tobin and Larry McDonald.

—Attorneys for Jack Scott, who reportedly rented a Pennsylvania hideout for Miss Hearst and her Symbionese Liberation Army comrades, and his wife, Micki, said they have received information that Miss Hearst may be induced into becoming a government witness.

—Browning said he would not allow Miss Hearst to be transferred to Los Angeles for arraignment on 11 state felony charges until her mental competence is decided.

Miss Hearst was kidnapped by the SLA from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4, 1974, but later proclaimed allegiance to the tiny terrorist group. Her SLA companions, William and Emily Harris, and radical fugitive Wendy Yoshimura were arrested the same day she was

Cease-Fire In Effect In Beirut

By HOLGER JENSEN BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Street fighting between Lebanese Christians and Moslems abated at dawn today under a Syrian-sponsored cease-fire personally supervised by Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat.

Premier Rashid Karami did not announce what new security measures were agreed to by himself, Arafat and Syrian President Hafez Assad. But he returned from Damascus Thursday saying "the worst is over."

Beirut radio announced there were "no serious incidents since 6 a.m. But most approaches to the city are still dangerous due to the presence of armed men."

Roads around the northern city of Tripoli also were reportedly closed by armed men manning barricades, following repeated clashes between Moslems and Christians in neighboring hill villages.

County Tax Assessor Opposes Part Of New Constitution

By DEBBIE PIERCE Texas voters have turned down many of these same provisions over the years," Lineberger said.

Article 8, Section 2-B of the constitution says, "the legislature by general law shall provide for the establishment and enforcement of standards and procedures for appraisal of property for ad valorem tax purposes." Thus, nobody can now say just how the legislature will provide for taxes, especially as to the financing of cities and schools, according to Lineberger.

"TAOA opposes Proposition 5 of the new constitution for eight main reasons," Lineberger explained Thursday. "Special interest groups could receive special tax benefits, even manufacturing plants could be exempted from property taxes, banks would shift their tax burdens to other Texans, people would lose control locally of their tax values, mobile home owners would shift their tax burdens to homeowners, most Texans could be paying higher taxes because of exemptions, the wealthy would benefit tax-wise more than the average individual and pressure groups could be exempted from property taxes."

The county's tax assessor added it would be "very difficult" to compute the effect Proposition 5 would have locally since the local economy depends on that of the state as a whole.

"Although the document is written so it sounds very good,

DALLAS (AP) — Texas and Oklahoma football fans will have separate jails provided for them tonight after the big football rally in downtown Dallas.

Last year 144 fans were jailed during and after the OU-Texas rally, Bullard said.

Israel Approves Sinai Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel today signed the final document of the Israel-Egyptian Sinai accord, just seven hours after the Senate approved a provision of the pact that calls for 200 American technicians to monitor the peace.

Israel's formal approval, which was delayed pending final congressional approval of the monitoring, clears the way for a pullback of Israeli troops in the Sinai Desert and the return of captured Abu Rudeis oilfields to Egypt.

The Senate approved the use of U.S. civilians in the Sinai on a vote of 70 to 18. The House approved the arrangement 341 to 69 on Wednesday.

The civilian technicians will be stationed between Israeli and Egyptian forces in a demilitarized buffer zone.

President Ford, who had sought approval of the peace pact provision last week, was expected to act quickly to establish the small force at electronic monitoring stations in the buffer zone.

Brockette Issues Student Fee Guides

AUSTIN (AP) — School districts may continue charging their pupils admission to football games and other extracurricular activities where attendance is not required, Education Commissioner Marlin Brockette said today.

Brockette issued a seven-point letter to school districts, seeking to clarify Atty. Gen. John Hill's Oct. 1 opinion that most fees charged public school pupils are illegal.

Hill said the "free public schools" provision of the Texas Constitution prohibits fees not specifically authorized by the legislature. He did not say how far the legislature could constitutionally go in permitting certain fees.

Brockette said Hill's opinion did not cover fees collected before Oct. 1 and does not involve supplies traditionally purchased by pupils' parents outside of school, such as paper and pencils.

"Fees charged to buy such materials as workbooks, etc., are covered under the ruling. Fees for typing, labs, etc., are also covered by the ruling," Brockette said.

He said rentals may not be charged for band uniforms, and school districts must provide materials "necessary for the student to acquire basic skills in vocational education courses."

"However, the school district may allow a student, at his option, to furnish costlier or different vocational materials for approved projects undertaken for credit in such courses without incurring any obligation to the school," Brockette said.

Deadly Chemical Stolen From Texas Tech Lab

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University Police Department has issued an alert to all West Texas police departments to be on the lookout for two brown bottles containing 150 grams of cyanogen bromide crystals, a "deadly" chemical, a spokesman for the university police said.

The chemical reportedly was stolen between Monday and Thursday, police said.

Cyanogen bromide was used in "routine chemical analysis tests to detect the level of niasin" in plants and for a "mesquite brush control program" by the ranch and wildlife department of the university, a spokesman for the department said.

Inhaling fumes or skin contact with as little as one gram can be fatal and the chemical is used only in the lab under an exhaust hood, the department spokesman explained.

"It isn't a restricted chemical and it's not expensive," the department spokesman said, "and can be purchased through chemical dealers, but it just happens to be a deadly one."

If anyone finds the two bottles, one round and one is square in shape, containing crystals, they should contact their local police department immediately.

—He disapproves of marijuana smoking but feels it was "a very honorable thing" for his son Jack to admit he has done so "on a very limited basis."

Much of the questioning and Ford's replies on his tax proposal dealt with the congressional opposition to a simultaneous federal spending ceiling.

The President said the American people know that the package proposal "is the right way to meet the problem of getting our long-term reform in tax legislation and to achieve a responsible program in spending limitations."

Homeowners Insurance Rate Going Up Again In February

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Homeowners insurance rates will increase by a statewide average of 8.3 per cent on Feb. 16, but this is less than the insurance industry wanted.

The State Board of Insurance issued the new rates Thursday. Fire insurance rates on homes will increase an average of 7.9 per cent for one-year policies and 14 per cent on three-year policies.

The 8.3 per cent average statewide increase on homeowners policies will be the same for both one-year and three-year policies.

Insurance companies had requested a 13.8 per cent home-owners increase for one-year policies and 21.8 per cent on three-year policies.

Rates for homeowners policies and extended coverage—which pays for damage resulting from storms, hail, riots and out-of-control vehicles—vary among the three territories.

Average homeowners increases, by territory, for both one-year and three-year policies, are:

- Seacoast 7.6 per cent.
- Central 7.6 per cent.
- North-Northwest 12 per cent.

Extended coverage rates on homes will rise 12.7 per cent in the Seacoast Territory, which includes Houston, for a one-year policy and 19 per cent on three-year coverage. They will increase 6.4 and 12.4 per cent, respectively, in the Central Territory, which includes Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin and El Paso. The increases will be 26.5 per cent for a one-year policy and 33.6 per cent for three-year coverage on dwellings in the North-Northwest Territory.

Board chairman Joe Christie said existing rates, which were set Jan. 20, were inadequate even though they were 19.3 per cent higher than the year before for homeowners coverage.

"Inadequate rates were beginning to bring about pressures that could have contributed to a major shortage of insurance available to the public, and I think the board's action will head off that possibility with a minimum of financial strain to the consumer," Christie said.

mean the cost of a three-year homeowners policy on a $35,000 brick veneer house in Galveston will jump from $940 to $1,021, in Austin from $654 to $714 and in Lubbock from $1,137 to $1,283.

Annual policies on the same structures will rise $27 in Galveston, $20 in Austin and $49 in Lubbock.

The rate increase will boost total premiums by $25.7 million.

Tom B. Lee of Austin, general manager of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association called the increase "indeed disappointing, to say the least."

Lee said the new rates are based on data compiled through Sept. 30, 1974. "Unfortunately this means that this announcement leaves us with inadequate rates right from the beginning," he said.

"I would be surprised if there isn't an availability problem, but we'll just have to wait and see," he said.

House Okays 200-Mile Fishing Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years, increasingly efficient foreign fishing fleets have scoured the waters off the U.S. coast for nearly every type of fish, sometimes moving so close to shore that they had to be shooed back by Coast Guard cutters.

As a result, the House rejected Ford administration arguments and gave approval Thursday to a measure that would ban foreign fishing within 200 miles of the U.S. coastline. Since 1966, the United States has claimed a 12-mile fishing limit.

Supporters of the bill, which was approved 208 to 101, say the expanded limit will conserve fish stocks and protect U.S. fishermen against the super-efficient operations of trawlers chiefly from Japan and Soviet bloc countries.

The 200-mile limit has widespread support in the Senate, where the Commerce Committee has approved a similar bill. The Senate has approved similar measures in past sessions of Congress.

U.N. conferences have failed to even approach agreement on fishing limits.

Rep. Joel Pritchard, R-Wash., said if the Congress did not act soon, "this bill won't have anything to protect."

Rep. Gerry Studds, D-Mass., said foreign fishermen in only a decade had swept up so many fish in their fine-weave nets off the New England coast that some species were com-mercially extinct. Soviet-bloc fishing fleets are accompanied by "factory" ships that process the catch the same day it is netted.

To meet administration arguments, the House bill does provide that the 200-mile limit would lapse when the United States ratifies a U.N. fishing treaty. The limit would be effective July 1.

The House bill would still allow foreign fishing, but only if fishing stocks are ample and the conditions are negotiated. It would allow the President to impose an import boycott on the products of a country that retaliates against long-distance U.S. fishermen and would create fishery management zones and charge fees for fishing, with the revenue going for research and fishery management.

He said that between 1973 and 1974 alone, house repainting costs had risen 11 per cent, reshingling roofs 19 per cent, siding 18 per cent and general construction costs 14 per cent.

Insurance companies had complained that current rates are based on loss statistics for 1973 and do not reflect increased costs since then.

Christie said new rates will

President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had opposed the unilateral extension to 200 miles, pushing instead for a United Nations treaty on fisheries.

Opponents also said the limit would provoke retaliation against long-distance U.S. fishermen.

Dear Abby

— By Abigail van Buren

Abby Advises Bored 4 'Look Busy' Or Else...

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is probably a common one, but I haven't yet seen a solution to it in your column, so I thought I'd write.

There are four girls in our office. (It's an insurance agency.) At times we are very busy, but there are times when there is absolutely nothing to do.

In the past, when we had nothing else to do, we just sat around and talked, did needlework or read magazines—anything to keep from pulling our hair out from sheer boredom.

Now our bosses have instructed us to "look" busy with "insurance business," even though we aren't in other words, we have to be typing something—even if it's personal correspondence. We can't read books or magazines, do needlepoint or manicure our nails.

I know this doesn't make one bit of sense, but those are our orders. Do you have any suggestions about how we can make our bosses see how ridiculous their orders are?

BORED FOURSOME

DEAR BORED: Better follow instructions or else your bosses might wise up to the probable fact that they've got more help than they really need.

DEAR ABBY: Add this one to your list of how a husband can tell if his wife is fooling around: if she suddenly starts to get pedicures and shaves her legs every day.

CAUGHT ON

DEAR CAUGHT ON: And here's another tip for the wives on how to tell if hubby is fooling around: if he starts shaving twice a day and suddenly makes constant use of those breath-sweeteners. Also, if he "loses" more than two handkerchiefs a week, follow him!

New Mexico Stitchers Create Pictorial History

VILLANUEVA, N.M. (AP) — They sat quietly around a large table in the old parish hall stitching pictorial scenes from the past into cotton homespun panels.

Women of the village, including grandmothers and teenage granddaughters, were all busily engaged in a common project of depicting the history and folklore of their locale in an elaborate tapestry.

A steady rain fell over the picturesque hilltop village of adobe and stone and the swollen Pecos River flowed rust red through green fields in the valley below.

But it was dry and cozy inside the abandoned schoolhouse where the Villanueva stitchers gather each Thursday afternoon to embroider their panels and compare notes.

Mrs. Dolores Garcia put down her bright colored wool yarns and held up her unfinished panel. "I call this the coming of Coronado," she said.

The Pecos pueblo and mission ruins are upstream from Villanueva, and it is believed that Coronado bridged the Rio Pecos near this community when he marched eastward into Texas in 1541.

Mrs. James Irving Poole

Garvin-Poole Vows Held

Mrs. Flores said the project was begun last year, as a church project for women of the parish, but it has since developed into a Bicentennial project as well.

Mrs. Gallegos said the Villanueva stitchers hope to complete their time-consuming task by March. She estimates it will be placed in the church in July.

Mr. and Mrs. James Irving Poole are residing in Midland following their marriage in Bethel Baptist Church.

The bride, the former Pennie Sue Garvin, attends Midland High School. The bridegroom is employed with Learco Bearings Co.

Mothers of the couple are Mrs. Jackie Brookshire and Mrs. Roy Hill, both of Midland. Jackie Brookshire presented the bride in marriage. She was attended by two sisters, Sherrie Garvin and Tammie Garvin. Best man was the brother of the bridegroom, Alvin Hillon Poole. Ushers were Alan Morgan and Charlie Garvin Jr.

TALIBAN (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study new ventures for possible errors. Some new contact could give you wrong ideas, pursue them well. The social can be fun in p.m.

CRAB (May 21 to June 21) It is important to keep promises even if you have to forego other plans. More patience with male may be necessary.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't feel sorry for yourself because you think a partner has not been loyal, since this is the case. Tomorrow could bring nice surprises.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Clear up work you don't complete during past week. Take extra exercise that builds energy. Be prepared for new arrangements, plans.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try not to spend too much money for recreation or you could regret it later and not enjoy it anyway. A day to assert clear of any risk.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't argue at home or there could be unfortunate trouble. Do something constructive about the situation there quietly. Entertainment favored in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be more careful in motion as well as with machines. Don't save yourself much trouble, expense. Count change carefully whenever.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you are pressured where finances are concerned, keep cool or you make mistakes. Follow proven methods for best results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You feel angry and want to lambast others, but instead get at the root of your trouble, eliminate it. Take the treatment that makes you feel better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18) Carry through with promises made. Be sure you will be free to advance in right direction. Don't be moored with love and you outrange.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) If you don't take that chip off your shoulder, you might as well forget social life today, or it could prove disappointing, troublesome.

Energy Conservation Study Produces Design Standards

By JAMES M. WOODARD
Copley News Service

Energy conservation is being given "top-priority" consideration in the design and construction of new homes and other buildings. It's the most significant trend in the 1975 construction scene.

A 20-month study of the most practical ways to conserve energy in new structures has just been completed by the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers. It has resulted in a comprehensive standard for energy conservation.

Even before its completion, many recommendations in the engineers' report were being incorporated into building codes in a number of states and local communities throughout the country, according to William J. Collins, president of ASHRAE. The document, known as Standard 90-75, covers the first and largest major application of solar collectors in municipal buildings in the state of Arizona.

The 284,000-square-foot high school, scheduled for completion in 1977, will use solar energy for all its heating needs. The cost of the solar energy equipment will be about $250,000. That amount is projected to be paid back in energy savings within eight years. An energy cost savings of $1 million is expected within 20 years, this writer was told by Michael E. James, of the architectural firm of Michael & Kemper Goodwin, Ltd., architects for the progressive project.

Some new buildings being designed this year are going much farther to conserve energy. For example, the new Corona del Sol high school in Tempe, Ariz., will utilize solar energy in a highly creative and sophisticated manner. It will be

Poll Shows Ford Leading Democrats

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford is preferred over nine Democratic possibilities in 1976 by margins ranging from 2 to 23 per cent, with his closest rival being noncandidate Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a recent Harris poll shows.

Pollster Louis Harris noted that the President was able to outdistance the Democrats despite the fact that another poll has listed Ford's over-all job rating as 56 per cent to 41 per cent negative.

Security Guard Draws Four Years

DALLAS (AP) — District Court Judge Richard Mays turned a deaf ear to defense pleas for probation Thursday and handed security guard Gene A. Guinn a four-year prison sentence for the shooting death of a shoplifting suspect.

Arguing for a probated sentence, defense lawyer Bill Neil said Guinn did not deserve to be sent to the penitentiary. But Asst. Dist. Atty Hugh Lucas countered by saying that Robert Raines Lee, the 16-year-old youth shot by Guinn, "did not deserve to have his head blown wide open for attempted theft."

Guinn was convicted Wednesday of involuntary manslaughter in the June 3 shooting death of Lee, who was killed as he ran from a store while Guinn chased him.

Broadcasters Revise Rules On Many Ads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Broadcasters said Thursday its code review board has acted to restrict the advertising of feminine personal hygiene products to specific time periods.

Starting the first of next year, the advertising of sanitary napkins, tampons and douches will be allowed in the central time zone from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. during the week and after 9 p.m. on weekends.

The board also rejected a request from the Population Institute to permit the advertising of contraceptives, ordering a further study.

Also approved were revisions of the guidelines on alcoholic beverage advertising. They provide:

Beer and wine ads shall not encourage use of such products by persons who have not reached the legal drinking age. Ads which represent personal achievements as deriving from drinking, convey the impression of excessive consumption of wine and which make direct or indirect references to the strength of beer or wine are unacceptable.

Texan Arrested In Alleged Gold Extraction Fraud

DALLAS (AP) — The FBI says Bradley Ray Milton, 33, of Richardson, has been arrested in connection with a scheme to extract gold from water that cost a Pennsylvania resident $175,000.

Ted L. Gunderson, agent in charge of the FBI office here, said Thursday a federal complaint filed before U.S. Magistrate Ila Jeanne Senserich charges that Milton, Frank J. Exum and Barbara Smith committed fraud by wire and aiding and abetting. It said that an Erie, Pa., man was approached to make an investment of $175,000 in a business venture described over the telephone to him as being a process to extract gold from water through the use of a special machine.

Much Of Dallas Blacked Out During Fire

DALLAS (AP) — Traffic stalled and building elevators stalled between floors during an emergency shutoff of electric power in nearly a fourth of downtown Dallas to help firefighters could descend to an underground vault and disconnect the malfunctioning equipment which started the blaze.

The blackout also interrupted police communications, put patrolmen to work in place of traffic signals and inspired an impromptu candle and flashlight buying spree by office workers.

A faulty switching device was reported during the blackout, but department stores became scenes of confusion and traffic jams occurred despite police hand signals in place of signal lights.

The city's new emergency generator was used to provide lighting at stairwells and exits. Neiman-Marcus, Titch-Goettinger and other department stores were filled with customers when the lights went out and store officials feared a rash of shoplifting. Security of officials and employees guarded Radio Station KLIF went off the air for about 45 minutes.

Kentucky Governor Disagrees With Ford

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, FRIDAY, OCT. 10, 1975-7A

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says concern for his safety and the safety of others forced cancellation of a scheduled trip to Louisville, but Kentucky's governor says the only thing the President had to fear was political embarrassment.

Ford's announcement at a Thursday night news conference that he would not attend a Republican fund-raising dinner in Louisville next week marked the first time that "security reasons" officially had been cited for cancellation of one of his many trips.

However, other aspects of Ford's security arrangements have been tightened since two alleged attempts on his life in California last month.

Taking issue with Ford, Kentucky Gov. Julian Carroll, a Democrat, said Ford's decision to avoid the Louisville trip was based on the fear of political embarrassment over the issue of school busing and over identification with a local Republican candidate who Carroll said was going to lose.

Today, Ford is scheduled to meet with Norway's King Olav and with Portuguese Foreign Minister Melo Antunes before flying to Detroit for a regional broadcast news conference and a GOP fund-raising dinner.

At his news conference, Ford noted that "there has been some turmoil in Louisville as a result of court-ordered, forced busing to achieve racial balance in the public schools," adding that "I was advised by local officials as well as others that under the current circumstances I should cancel the trip to Louisville."

The Secret Service said it had advised that large-scale, antibusing demonstrations were likely in Louisville in connection with Ford's visit, and a Louisville police spokesman said, "It was agreed it could be a potentially dangerous situation."

More than 500 persons were arrested and some 300 were injured in an outbreak of violence after Louisville schools opened last month.

The President said that despite his decision to cancel the Louisville trip, that does not affect "my decision to travel where I think it is the right thing to do, bearing in mind any security problems that might be raised."

Carroll said Kentucky was "politically unsafe" for Ford, but that "as far as his personal security is concerned, the people of Louisville and Kentucky have shown the respect due the President of the United States."

Carroll said he believed Ford canceled the trip because "he has suffered one recent setback campaigning for a Republican loser in New Hampshire. A second Republican flop within such a short time would certainly spell serious political trouble for the President in his own reelection bid."

Ford had planned to attend the fund-raiser to help the campaign of Kentucky Republican gubernatorial candidate Robert Gable.

Midland Enjoying One Of Best Economic Periods In History

Midland presently is enjoying one of the best economic periods in its history, members of the Midland Downtown Rotary Club were told Thursday noon at their meeting in the American Legion Hall.

The speaker was Doug Henson, who said that with an air of optimism prevailing, there is every reason to believe that Midland will continue to prosper and that its continuing growth will be orderly and well planned.

Henson, vice president, Economic Development Department, of The First National Bank, is a Certified Industrial Developer, a member of the Texas Industrial Council, and a member of the Midland Area Sales Team (MAST) of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a past president of Midland Jaycees.

Henson reviewed briefly the history of Midland and discussed its economic background leading to its eventual position as the headquarters city of the Permian Basin Empire.

Its economy during the last half century has been based on oil, he said, with more than 700 oil or oil affiliated companies operating here. He said that nine out of every 10 jobs in non-oil manufacturing jobs, compared with more than 2,000 in 1974.

The speaker said that last year Midland gained 800 family units and that through August of this year the city has gained 531 family units.

The city's ad valorem tax values, he said, increased from $225 million in 1968 to $345 million in 1974.

Henson also referred to substantial gains in building permits and other aspects of the community's economy. He said, too, that prospects for increased industrial development are bright.

Midland's economic outlook is excellent, the speaker concluded.

Midland County are related to petroleum in some way.

Midland has 2 1/2 million square feet of office space and ranks seventh in Texas in this category, the speaker said.

He explained further that Midland ranks 64th in the nation and first in Texas in effective buying income.

He cited the city's income ranges for the years 1967 and 1974 (with the 1967 figures listed first), as follows: 0 to $3,000 — 16.1 per cent and 8.5 per cent; $3,000 to $5,000 — 10.2 per cent and 5.6 per cent; $5,000 to $8,000 — 22.1 per cent and 11.4 per cent; $8,000 to $10,000 — 15.3 per cent and 8.7 per cent, and over $10,000 — 36.8 per cent and 65.8 per cent.

Henson said Midland's population presently is estimated at 74,369.

He mentioned the Economic Index which, he said, is showing outpacing 1974.

He explained that in 1968 Midland and Midlanders experienced a great change in attitude and business spirit which led to a more diversified economy.

In 1968, he said, Midland County had 900 persons engaged

Steer Defense Presents New Problem For Pack

BY TED BATTLES

Someone asked Coach John Reddell who did the outstanding defensive job for the Midland Bulldogs in last week's game against Odessa Permian.

"You'll never guess," John said, "No one even noticed or mentioned him. Not even the coaches. However, when we reviewed the film, he stood out like a sore thumb."

Interest was aroused by this time, "Who, John, who?"

"James Ponder was completely overlooked and his 16 tackles tied linebacker James Zachery's 16."

Considering that Ponder is an interior defensive lineman, whose primary function usually is to meet power vanguard of the play and expose the ball carrier for the linebackers to make the kill, 16 tackles is like a 200-yard game rushing for O.J. Simpson.

James Ponder . . . emerges in game film

Outside of the fact that Big Spring is pro-styled and Midland is wishbone oriented, both teams are similar in size and experience. Both rely heavily on juniors and Big Spring will even have three sophomores and Midland one soph starting.

Injurywise, Big Spring is worse off than the Bulldogs with both starting linebackers Mike Stark and Ricky Watkins out. Burris said fullback Jesse Doss and offensive guards Rusty Phillips and Steve Ruiz were hurt in the Abilene game last week and will not start this week, but probably will play.

Midland, which can ill-afford injuries, has been hit harder by illness this fall than by bumps, bruises and strains. Offensive guard Keith Whitaker, 152, while right half Kim Madden, 91 yards, is valued for his blocking and receiving as well as his running.

When quarterback Kevin Widner goes to the air, it's usually to split end Clellan Pearce or Madden, who have four receptions each.

BULLDOG QUICKIES — In addition to Ponder and Zachery, defensive standouts last week included Beane, 1 tackle, Gaddy, 10, halfback John Northington, 11, and James Wortham, 12 Wortham had a fumble recovery and Beane and Gaddy each were credited with sacks.

Nicklaus Beats Weiskopf In Star Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the victor, and Tom Weiskopf, the vanquished, sounded like seamen for match play golf.

"Financially, I think you could make it in an area where you could draw a gallery," said Nicklaus Thursday after trimming Weiskopf two and one for the $117,500 International All-Star title.

"After all," added Nicklaus, "15 years ago in medal play our galleries weren't much."

Weiskopf took a different approach.

"The trust test in match play is 36 holes and that's not because I lost," he said. "Even

Win Over Sooners Overshadows SWC

After four straight losses — four by lopsided margins, Saturday's Red River series date with Oklahoma looms more important for Texas, Coach Darrell Royal and Longhorn fans than a Southwest Conference...

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

It's back to the drawing board for the Oakland A's and Charley O. Finley, who had hoped to become the first to win four straight pennants and world championships since the New York Yankees.

But prospects of the A's stringing together three straight flags again are remote. As one major league executive told us last summer, "It's got to be now for the A's, Finley has stripped his farm system of its promising young talent in trades."

That would mean whoever inherited the A's from Oakland, should there be a franchise shift, would be getting a loser.

While Texas-Oklahoma is the weekend headline, there will be an overflow crowd at Lubbock's Jones Stadium for Texas Tech-Texas A&M Saturday night, even though Tech took some of the lustre off the SWC battle with that 42-18 lacing of Tech two weeks ago... The game has been a sellout for more than six weeks...

Although the game carries with it SWC title overtones, it smacks of a West Texas intra-city scrap with Odessa Permian's David Shipman quarterbacking the Aggies and Odessa High's Rodney Allison slated for duty with the Raiders...

SMU Coach Dave Smith talked about it last year, but next year he plans to do something about it, a football game on campus in Ownby Stadium... "I don't think it will take much to make Ownby first class," says Smith. "SMU over the years has adjusted to its need, and there's a big need to have football on campus."

Ownby's present capacity is 13,000, but temporary bleachers could raise the capacity to 25,000...

Although he was pulling for the Oakland A's in the playoff, Midland Cub Business Manager Bill Johnson is making plane reservations to Cincinnati for the World Series, which starts Saturday in Boston. Bill isn't a Charley Finley fanatic, it's just that Oakland is closer to home, Catalina Island...

Last year, TCU beat UT-Arlington in its opener then lost 10 straight. Coach Jim Shofner turned down an offer to return to pro coaching after the season, in order to "finish what I started at TCU." One cynical fan commented Jim did just that when the Frogs lost to UTA in this year's opener.

With a 14-game losing streak that should be a guaranteed 17 provided nothing happens tonight (Alabama and Texas follow SMU), it's good Jim has a sense of humor. "After last year a friend told me to cheer up, that it could always be worse." Shofner related, "Sure enough, I cheered up and things got worse."

Forecast? Easy, Reds break our heart in five. Oh, you want OU-UT... Sooners have had a couple of close calls, but against first-class foes. Texas is still an unknown quantity, so, OU 21-7...

TCU, SMU Kick Off Weekend

By The Associated Press

While Oklahoma and Texas fans participate in their annual madness in downtown Dallas tonight in preparation for Saturday's collision of the unbeaten, there will be a church school shutout in the Cotton Bowl.

Winless Texas Christian and Southern Methodist tangle in a Southwest Conference game in the Cotton Bowl with the Horned Frogs desperately grasping for the victory ring.

TCU now has a 14-game non-winning streak which is five short of the school's record for futility.

"Sometimes I think it would be nice if we could just score two touchdowns in the same game," said frustrated coach Jim Shofner. "But we're looking forward to each game because we think we have a chance to win."

The rivalry dates back to 1915 but has lost some of its attraction. "I would really love for this rivalry to be built back," said Shofner.

TCU lost 16-9 to Arkansas last week while SMU fell 28-22 to nationally ranked West Virginia.

It is the conference opener for SMU which has beaten Wake Forest and Houston in non-league games. The Mustangs are a two-touchdown choice.

No. 2 ranked Oklahoma is a touchdown favorite over No. 5 rated Texas before a sellout crowd of 73,000 in the Cotton Bowl. The Sooners will be seeking their fifth consecutive victory in their annual meeting.

The Texas Aggies, the sixth-ranked club in the land, tangle with Texas Tech Saturday night in Lubbock and Baylor opens defense of its SWC title against Arkansas in Waco in two other important league encounters.

A&M is off to its best start since 1957 with a 4-0 record.

Tech has been beaten by Texas and lost a 17-16 heartbreaker to Oklahoma State last week.

The Aggies lead the nation in total defense, rushing defense and are third in scoring defense. They have been inconsistent offensively.

"We've played four games and have seen four different defenses," says Aggie quarterback David Shipman. "We were at a disadvantage against three of those teams because they had not played a wishbone team before us so we didn't know how they'd play us. We don't know what to expect from Tech because there are so many things they can do."

A&M is a 14-point pick.

Baylor will be on the rebound from a shocking 24-13 loss to South Carolina after holding powerful Michigan to a tie.

"We're upset by the loss but it should serve to make us a better football team," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "If you will remember we came back after we lost to A&M last year."

Arkansas has been surprisingly installed as a one-point favorite.

In other games, Mississippi State is at Rice and Houston is at North Texas. Both games are rated just about even.

Angry Sparky In Eye Of Series Controversy

BOSTON (AP)— While Manager Darrell Johnson and his Boston Red Sox waited placidly for today's arrival of the Cincinnati Reds, controversy swirled around Sparky Anderson and his National League champions.

Anderson has been firing off shots in a psychological World Series war, aimed at the unusual delivery — he calls it a balk move — of Luis Tiant, Boston's ace pitcher and starter in Saturday's first game.

Thursday in Cincinnati, Sparky took a swipe at the news media following reports he had sent films of Tiant's delivery to league officials.

Anderson, annoyed by the stories, called it "a total lie" and threatened to lock out the writers in the future. "Either the truth comes out or everything stops," he snapped.

Tiant's reaction was, "He can say what he wants. I don't let it bother me."

He added, "I'm not going to change—not after all these years. I've been 11 years in the major leagues and I've never had a balk called on me."

"I come to three or four stops on the way down. If they call it, the call it. I never pitched in the National League."

Then reserve catcher Bob Montgomery ambled by, "Hey, Luis, they can't call a balk if nobody's on first base."

"That's right, Monty," Tiant replied, "And nobody ever stole first base on me."

Johnson observed, "They have the same rules for both leagues. The National League umpires must know them as well as the umpires in our league. This talk about the balk doesn't bother me a bit."

Anderson also was catching a blast from Fred Norman, lefthander, who was bumped from Sunday's starting assignment in favor of Jack Billingham.

Johnson did some bumping of his own, without the angry Norman reaction. Lefty Bill Lee will pitch Sunday's second game in Fenway Park while Rick Wise, who had been scheduled to start second, will open in Cincinnati on Tuesday.

FIRST, TEARAWAY JERSIES... AND NOW — Steve Scott, York University in Toronto, "streaks" after play during a rugby game against Toronto Saracens after his pants were ripped in scrum. Scott just grinned and bared it. (AP Wirephoto.)

Midland College Cagers Stage Sneak Preview

BY TED BATTLES

If college basketball was trying to slip into the Tall City unnoticed by making its debut during the height of football season in West Texas, it didn't get away with it.

A pretty good turnout of fans showed up to watch the Midland College Cagers make their unofficial debut in hot, stuffy MHS gym Wednesday night.

The intra-squad, game-type scrimmage wound up with the Greens beating the Golds, 106-82.

Coach Chester Story looked relieved at the outcome, commenting, "If we were to open the season now, the Green team would be our starters, although there are several on the Gold capable of making the starting team."

"But I'm glad we aren't starting the season yet. We made a lot of mistakes and we really aren't in condition to play yet."

First chance Story will get to look at his Chaps against outside opposition will be a scrimmage at Sul Ross University, where Story once coached, a week from Saturday.

Despite the ragged edges, Story observed, "This is a good working bunch."

Six-eight Dan Vander Zee of Hereford led the Greens with 19 points, followed by Tommy Parks, a six-footer

Massengale Leads By 6

HOUSTON (AP) — Don Massengale of Houston held a six stroke lead today going into the final round of the Southern Texas PGA Championship.

Massengale fired a four-under par 68 in Thursday's third round to give him a 10-under-par 206 for 54 holes.

Tommy Aycock of Kingsville was in second place with a 212 after a sizzling seven-under par third round 65.

Sports Scratchpad...A's Praise Yaz

BASEBALL — "We thought when (leftfielder) Jim Rice got hurt it was a break for us," said Oakland A's Captain Sal Bando after Boston won the American League playoff series. "It turned out to be the worst thing that happened."

The play of Carl Yastrzemski, who switched from first to left, and that of A's outfielders Claudell Washington, Bill North and Reggie Jackson turned out to be the difference in the series.

"People talk about the Yankees winning five straight World Series," said an undaunted North. "I'm not comparing us, but we won three in a row and had to go through the playoffs, too. This is tougher." Pitcher Ken Holtzman agreed that the A's three-game straight feat "will be hard to duplicate when you have to go through sudden death each time."

Fred Fleig, National League supervisor of umpires, feels Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson's fuss over Boston pitcher Luis Tiant's alleged balking may be a stroke of psychological warfare.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL — Former Georgia great Charlie Trippi had the perfect squelch for ex-Clemson Coach Frank Howard when their alma maters met Saturday. Spotting Trippi in the press box, Howard kidded, "Your name is Sinkwich, ain't it?" purposely mistaking Trippi for Frank Sinkwich, another one-time Georgia star.

Retorted Trippi, "They just called me 'Touchdown' when I played against your Clemson team."

"They whipped us on the line of scrimmage. They lined up and slapped us around when we had the ball," said Bear Bryant. No, it wasn't made after the 20-0 loss to Missouri but after last week's 32-6 win over Mississippi.

"We were going up the middle, outside, everywhere. I don't think they had a very good defensive team at all, honest, I don't." The quote belongs to Paul Jasinks, Northwestern center after Arizona beat the Big 10 team 41-6 last Saturday.

PRO FOOTBALL — John Cappelletti, the Los Angeles

Rams, former Heisman Trophy winner from Penn State, has carried the ball just three times this season and he's wondering if he has a future with the Rams. "Nobody ever says anything to you," complains John. Coach Chuck Knox says, "The reason he isn't playing much is that we have Lawrence McCutcheon, a guy who's been to the Pro Bowl twice and has rushed for more than a 1,000 yards the last two years, ahead of him."

Colorado Faces Hurricane Tonight

By The Associated Press
Colorado, No. 13, opens the college football weekend action tonight against Miami in the Orange Bowl. Coach Bill Malory describes Miami, a team that pressured both Oklahoma and Nebraska before bowing, as "a real sleeper." In another major encounter tonight, Southern Methodist entertains Texas Christian, a crowd of over 60,000 is expected for Saturday's West Virginia-Penn State war. Penn State, No. 9 nationally, has triumphed the last 19 years, except for a 14-14 draw in 1958, and the Nittany Lions are counting on running backs Jim Cefalo and Woody Petchel to notch another victory over the 10th-ranked Mountaineers.

The Iowa-Ohio State game Saturday is the only Big Ten collision where one team is favored by more than a touchdown. The oddsmakers figure the top-ranked Buckeyes, 4-0 after victories over Michigan State, Penn State, North Carolina and UCLA, can defeat the Hawkeyes to they please.

Elsewhere in the Top 20, No. 8 Michigan faces co-No. 15 Michigan State; Kansas visits No. 4 Nebraska; No. 14 Oklahoma State squares off against No. 12 Missouri; No. 7 Alabama hosts Washington; Louisiana State challenges No. 19 Tennessee; Vanderbilt opposes No. 18 Florida; No. 15 Notre Dame plays North Carolina; Washington State tackles No. 3 Southern

Moore Sparks Lee JV To 19-6 Grid Triumph

By BOB DILLON
Tailback Jerry Moore rushed for 156 yards in 23 carries Thursday night to spark the Midland Lee junior varsity to a 19-6 victory over the San Angelo JV in Memorial Stadium.

Moore had touchdown runs of 59 and one yard in giving the Bobcats defense fits.

Lee struck early when halfback Charles Roseberry picked off a Carl Brainard pass and returned it 15 yards for a 6-0 lead with 11:08 left in the opening period. Moore booted the PAT to make it 7-0.

The Rebels struck for another first period TD when Moore zipped off a beautiful 59-yard TD scamper. The kick failed, however, making it 13-0.

Central held Lee on its own 17 in the same period when a Rebel drive fizzled after Moore had ripped off gains of 21 and 11 yards and latched on to a pass from quarterback Tracy Rogers for eight more.

Central cut the lead to 13-6 in the second period when Brainard hit Steve Givens on a 19-yard TD pass, but the run failed, with 6:06 left in the period.

Lee drove 67 yards in eight

Grid Spy Turns Out To Be Wolfpack Prof

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Dr. Robert Ramsay says he thinks it's funny, but he's not laughing about the misdemeanor charge he faces for jogging around the track while the North Carolina State University football team was practicing.

Ramsay, a 35-year-old math professor at the school, was arrested on orders of Coach Lou Holtz who was afraid Ramsay might be a spy for University of Maryland football Coach Jerry Claiborne. The teams will track and arrested me," Ramsay said Thursday.

The professor was jogging his usual four miles Monday when an officer acting in the line Holtz ordered him off the field of duty. Bill Williams, campus security chief, said the officer's closed practice. Ramsay said duty was to keep outsiders he didn't think Holtz had the way from the practice field, right to close the field and told Holtz refused to talk about him so.

"I had a few words with him. Athletics department spokesman told him he'd have to arrestman Walt Atkins said, "Lou me to get me to leave. I got in thinks Jerry Claiborne spies on a couple more laps before a se-practices."

Rebels Invade San Angelo For Big One

While the Midland Lee Rebels battle the San Angelo Bobcats in a homecoming affair tonight, Abilene Cooper tries to bounce back against Odessa and Odessa Permian entertains Abilene in other District 5-4A encounters.

Lee puts a perfect 4-0 record on the line in San Angelo while the Bobcats, who are 3-1, hope to avenge last year's 21-7 loss to the Rebels. That loss cost the Concho Cats a berth in the Class AAAA state playoffs. Both Lee and San Angelo wound up 5-1-1 in loop action last year.

The Rebels were ready for a good performance after having one of the best workouts of the year on Wednesday afternoon.

The Rebels got to the SA 18 in the third period, but failed to score as both teams saw fumbles and pass interceptions hold each other off at the pass.

The Rebel's final drive went from their own four to the Central 20 where a 15-yard penalty turned the Tail, City eleven away empty-handed.

With the win, Lee is 4-1 and is on a four-game winning streak while San Angelo is 3-2 on the year. Lee faces Abilene Cooper, Oct. 18 in Abilene in his next outing.

Pack, Rebel Girls Notch Victories

Midland High and Midland Lee both ran to volleyball victories Thursday night.

Midland High defeated league contender Abilene Cooper, 15-11, 8-15, 16-14, while Lee downed Abilene High 5-15, 15-13, 15-12. Midland High is now 6-0 in loop play with only Lee left on the first half schedule. Lee is now 4-2 in district play.

Karen Graham was the star in the Bulldog win with eight spikes and high point individual with 15 points. Staci Moore had 5 spikes and rifled nine straight hard to handle serves. Tish Madison and Amy Grimes also had a big night.

Lee produced a team effort to take their win after losing the first game 5-15. Coach Linda Weikel was pleased with her squad's showing.

The Midland High junior varsity won 15-8, 15-8 while the Lee JV's won 15-7, 15-2.

Midland High and Lee will tangle in the MHS gym Tuesday in the first half windup game. Midland High already owns the first half championship with a 6-0 record.

Big Spring Nips 'Pups

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring junior varsity drove 93 yards in the final across period to punch a touchdown to nip the Midland Bullpups, 7-6, Thursday afternoon.

Midland took the game's opening kickoff and drove 82 yards for the score with Brentley Jackson skipping the final 10 yards. The snap from the center was bobbled and David Reddell never got off the extra point attempt.

A pass interference call on the Bullpups set up the Steer TD which ate up more than eight minutes on the clock. Tailback Robbie Wegner went over from the one and the difference in the game was the toe of Don Stump.

Score by periods:
Big Spring 7 0 0 7
Midland 0 0 0 0
ME—Brentley Jackson, 10-yard run. (Kick failed).
RS—Robbie Wegner, 1-yard run. (Don Stump Kick).

SJ Green Blanks Alamo

San Jacinto Green, Goddard Red and Goddard White posted football victories Thursday afternoon in 7th grade action.

Alamo Grey was surprised by San Jacinto Green, 12-0 while Goddard Red downed Alamo Scarlet, 22-6 and Goddard White took a narrow 6-0 win over San Jacinto White.

Goddard Red and Goddard White continue to lead the standings with 5-0 records.

Midlanders Provide Paintings For Theatre Lobby

A trio of Midlanders provided the paintings on view in the Theatre Centre lobby during the run of Midland Community Theatre's current attraction, "Anne of the Thousand Days."

The drama by American playwright Maxwell Anderson opened last weekend, with performances scheduled through Oct. 17-18.

Performances at 8:30 p.m. today and Saturday will be followed by a Sunday matinee at 2:30, and the closing presentations announced for next weekend. Information on availability of seating for the remaining performances may be obtained from the box office, 682-2544.

Featured artists in the MCT gallery show are Frances Porter and Roger L. and Colleene Holmes.

Mrs. Porter, formerly of Kailua, Hawaii, studied art at Trinity University in San Antonio and also has studied privately with Andre Szabo. She has had numerous solo shows in South and Central Texas, including those at San Antonio and Victoria, and also has exhibited in shows in Honolulu and Kailua, Hawaii.

The Holmeses have resided in Midland the last four years, moving here from Southern California. Colleene Holmes began the serious study of painting and sculpture after moving here, and she has taken art courses at Midland College and studied privately with several prominent teachers here. A native of New Mexico, she first was exposed to the world of art and painting as a child, inasmuch as her mother was an artist.

Husband Roger was born in Colorado but grew up in the Texas Panhandle. He had his first encouragement in art, and his first art lessons, from his mother, and spent many childhood hours drawing, sketching, carving and molding objects. He also had formal art study during his public school years.

Following service in the Navy during World War II, Holmes attended West Texas State University, during which time he worked in the art department of an advertising agency and also took classes taught by Panhandle artists. Eventually he became a draftsman for a major oil company, but he never lost interest in art as a special creative outlet. Particularly since moving to Midland in the early 1970s, he has devoted more and more time to work in oils, watercolor, pastels, pencil and charcoal.

The three-artist gallery show provides a wide variety of works, from landscapes and portraiture of still lifes, florals, and special life studies.

It's A Boy For John Lennons

NEW YORK (AP) — John Lennon and his wife, Yoko Ono, are the parents of an eight-pound, 10-ounce boy.

The birth Thursday of Sean Ono Lennon came just one day after the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled that his father, the former Beatle, could not be deported because of a 1968 British conviction for possession of marijuana.

The baby was born on Lennon's 35th birthday. Both mother, 42, and child were reported doing well.

The Lennons' new son automatically is a U.S. citizen because he was born in the United States.

Liberty Bell Replica Unveiled

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Beaumont has unveiled its replica of the Philadelphia Liberty Bell and immediately set it up for display on the opening day of the South Texas Fair.

The bell, which cost $15,000 and was cast by the same English foundry, Whitechapel Foundry, that cast the original Liberty Bell, was underwritten by the Young Men Business League and the Enterprise Corp., publisher of the Enterprise-Journal.

Crane To Discuss Homecoming Plans

CRANE — Homecoming activities will be discussed at the Monday meeting of former Crane High School students.

Gene Cowden is president of the Ex-students Association, and Mrs. Nell Moore is secretary.

Program To Feature Rugs

Navajo rugs will be the subject of a special program scheduled Sunday afternoon in the Shop of the Southwest of the Museum of the Southwest.

Jackson Clark, president of the Jackson David Co., Durango, Colo., will present the program which will initiate the popular "Shop Talk" series offered each season in the museum shop.

The program will be held inside the Turner Memorial Gallery, 1705 W. Missouri St.

In addition to a comprehensive collection of Navajo rugs, Clark will also be exhibiting fine examples of Pueblo Indian pottery and Navajo and Zuni jewelry.

The "Shop Talk" event is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. Sunday and will be open to the public without charge.

Catholic Church, Brazilian Government At Odds

By BRUCE HANDLER
RIO DE JANEIRO—Relations between the Catholic Church and the military-run government in Brazil — the world's largest Catholic country — remain strained, despite earlier hopes that they would get much better.

Many clergymen seem upset that even though President Ernesto Geisel has reopened church-state dialogue, the church hasn't been able to exercise any real influence on government policy. This is especially true in the tough areas of censorship and the torture of political prisoners.

Also, an anonymous smear campaign using vicious "dirty tricks" is being carried out against some outspoken Catholic bishops. Religious leaders don't know who is responsible, but many of them feel the church is the victim of an organized effort to tear down its reputation.

"Relations between the church and the government are improving, but that doesn't mean we still don't have problems," the cardinal-archbishop of Rio, Eugenio Sales, said after a recent 45-minute closed-door meeting with Geisel.

When Geisel, a retired army general (who also happens to be Brazil's first Protestant president), took office in March 1974, he started making contacts with influential archbishops. This was a complete change in policy from his predecessor, ex-Gen. Emilio G. Medici, whose administration viewed the Catholic Church as sympathetic to a wave of left-wing terrorism that occurred here several years ago.

The armed forces and the police crushed those guerrilla movements with a brutal campaign of repression which included secret arrests of suspected subversives and sometimes their torture in jail. Many church leaders thought the renewed dialogue with the government might help put an end to these practices, even though President Geisel feels subversion still is a problem in Brazil. But this hasn't been the case.

"People are getting arrested all over the place," Paulo Evaristo Arns, cardinal-archbishop of Sao Paulo, Brazil's biggest city, said in a recent interview with a semi-underground paper called Extra. Arns said he receives frequent complaints about the torture of political prisoners. And he declared: "Nobody has the right to lock up a man and yank information out of him."

Cardinal Arns said that even under dictator Getulio Vargas, who ruled Brazil in the 1930s and '40s, "Bishops could go talk to him and get any serious problem straightened out." But this sort of direct action is not possible under the current government, he said.

The Sao Paulo cardinal also is feeling the heavy hand of government censorship. Last year federal authorities took away the license of his archdiocese's radio station, claiming it was guilty of a technical violation of the communications law. Repeated appeals to the government to let the station go back on the air have been rejected.

The weekly archdiocese newspaper in Sao Paulo is subject to prior censorship — by a young federal police agent who goes to medical school on the side and who appears regularly in the paper's composing room to cut out anything he thinks the government won't like.

"A college boy censoring the archbishop? Now, just wait a minute," Cardinal Arns said indignantly in the interview with Extra. "Not even the Pope censors me. Not even Christ, directly or indirectly, has ever told me: 'Take that part out.'"

Arns also told the reporters he has started to receive death threats.

In addition, it is believed that Cardinal Arns and Bishop Ivo Lorscheiter, secretary-general of the National Conference of Bishops of Brazil, are the principal victims of a recent wave of faked letters and photographs dealing with clergymen's sex habits.

The bishop conference has admitted officially that there is a campaign to "cast suspicion on the moral behavior of leading church personalities," but it wouldn't go into any more details.

Once in a while the church does succeed in getting the government to listen to it. For example, a report circulated earlier this year that the justice ministry was planning to expel a Spanish-born bishop named Pedro Casaloaiga, a long-time defender of peasant farmers in central Brazil whose land often is invaded by big agribusinesses participating in the government's drive to develop the interior of the country. But a few days ago the bishop conference announced it had received guarantees "from the area of the president's office" that the bishop will not be thrown out.

Cardinal Arns said in the newspaper interview that he keeps in touch regularly with Geisel's chief policy tactician, Ex-Gen. Golbery Silva, a cabinet-level minister in charge of civilian liaison affairs. But Arns noted candidly: "It's hard not to believe in Golbery. But you're never sure exactly what he can do. You don't know who's really got power." This was in reference to a widely held theory in Brazil that Geisel and his closest advisers in Brasilia do not have total authority over the certain local military commanders.

Marriage Seminar Scheduled Here

A community-wide Marriage Enrichment Seminar is to be held here this weekend under auspices of the Golf Course Road Church of Christ, 3500 W. Golf Course Road.

The seminar, presented by Abilene Christian College and led by two outstanding members of the ACC faculty, is designed to counsel couples on how best to cope with frustrations in married life. Segments of the seminar will include one on a couple's commitment to God, another on a couple's commitment to each other and another on commitment to communication. A final portion of the seminar will deal with sexuality in marriage.

All segments of the seminar are aimed at exposing elements which threaten the stability of the home, pointed out Bert Mercer, minister of the Golf Course congregation.

Leaders of the seminar will be Dr. Paul Brecheen and Dr. Paul Faulkner. They have led similar seminars in numerous cities in the South and Southwest.

Concert To Launch Revival

A fall revival will begin Saturday night at Northside Baptist Church, 303 E. Shandon St., continuing through Oct. 19.

Launching the evangelistic emphasis will be a concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday by the Good News Quartet from Amarillo. The event will be open to the public at no charge.

The visiting quartet also will be in charge of music for the morning worship service the following day.

For the remainder of the revival, the music will be under the leadership of Zebbie and Ruth Land of Amarillo, it was announced.

The upcoming revival services will be a combination of Bible study and special preaching. Services each weekday next week will begin at 7 p.m., with Bible study, followed by preaching at 8 p.m. The Rev. Jerry Raiston, who became pastor of Northside Church several months ago, will be in the pulpit as revival evangelist. His central text for the series of special services will be drawn from John 10:10 and Acts 1:8. The public has been invited to hear his message each night. The church nursery will be in operation during all services.

Rock-A-Thon Set To Begin This Weekend

Young people at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, members of the Episcopal Young Churchmen (EYC) organization there, will be staging an annual "rock-a-thon" this weekend.

Proceeds from the marathon will help fund EYC and youth projects of the parish and the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas.

The derby will begin early Saturday, continuing through Sunday morning in the parish hall. There will be a "VIP" rocker available for important visitors to use when visiting the marathon. The public is invited to drop by and watch the young people as they compete in the event.

Crane Center Seeks Recreation Leader

CRANE — The Crane County Youth Center Committee currently is accepting applications for the position of recreation director.

The center's year-round program serves an estimated 500 young people enrolled in the Crane public schools.

Persons interested in the position should contact Danny Dillard, 400 E. 23rd St., Crane, Tex., 79731.

Midland Church Gets New Pastor

Elder Gordon Burton is the new pastor of Midland's Seventh-day Adventist Church, located at 3114 Travis St.

He succeeds Elder Harry Curl, who recently assumed duties as pastor of the Austin Adventist Church.

Mr. Burton, born in South Africa to missionary parents, came to the United States in 1947 to attend Mt. Vernon Academy in Ohio and Emmanuel Missionary College in Michigan where he received a B.A. degree in religion in 1954. In following years he held teaching and administrative positions in Illinois and Florida, and in Ontario and Newfoundland, Canada. He was ordained to the ministry in 1968 while serving as pastor of the Portales, N. M., Seventh-day Adventist Church. For the last four years he has been pastor of a church at Lubbock.

Elder and Mrs. Burton are the parents of two daughters and a son. The family has established residence here.

Dallas Seminary is a graduate school founded in 1924 for the purpose of preparing Christian leaders to fill vital roles throughout the world as ministers, teachers, missionaries, evangelists and other positions. The student body is drawn from virtually every state and from more than a dozen foreign countries.

Midland Church To Host Choir

The Assembly in Christ Fellowship, 406 W. Pine St., will be host to Dean Romasnell and his choir for the Nations Choir at services this weekend.

The choir, which recently returned from a summer tour of the Scandinavian countries, will sing and present at services scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today and Saturday, as well as at the Sunday morning worship service which begins at 9:45.

Glen and Betty McNeerlin, pastors of the Assembly in Christ Fellowship, have invited the public to hear the singers and instrumentalists in the series of special concerts. The musical group has sung at the Midland church in the past and were well received by the public, the McNeerlins said.

Crane Crusade Continues

Grain Harvest Estimates Expected To Give Go-Ahead To Further Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — New 1975 grain harvest estimates may be decisive in whether to resume U.S. wheat and corn sales to the Soviet Union, President Ford says.

"As soon as we get that report, I presume there will be some announcements as to further sales to one or more countries," Ford told a news conference Thursday night. The Agriculture Department was to release the report this afternoon.

The new USDA report was expected to bear out earlier predictions that American farmers have enough grain this year to meet domestic and export commitments and still pro-

Any future exports will have some impact on U.S. consumer prices but domestic price increases for food are not expected to be major.

By his reference to "some announcements" following today's crop report by USDA, Ford raised a possibility that interim sales of grain to Russia might be allowed pending final settlement of an agreement.

Ford also said negotiations were proceeding on possible oil purchases from the Soviet Union, although he said those were not necessarily being tied to any grain deal.

Further grain sales to Russia were suspended after 9.8 million metric tons were sold in July, including corn, wheat and barley. Ford announced a month ago that the embargo would continue until mid-October when new U.S. production figures were available.

Another grain sales embargo was imposed Sept. 22 on shipments to Poland because of harvest shortfalls in Russia, normally a major provider of grain to Eastern European partners. Poland had turned to the U.S. market after the Russian supply failed.

Meanwhile, Ford sent a team to Moscow with an aim of getting a long-term commitment from Russia on future grain purchases, a quantity unofficially reported to range between five million and eight million tons annually over the next five years.

A further indication of Soviet grain hardship surfaced Thursday with a USDA estimate that Russian production now is expected to be only 170 million tons this year, a reduction of five million tons from a previous forecast and 21 per cent below Moscow's initial harvest goal of 215.7 million tons.

New York Detects Ray Of Hope In Ford Rejection

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York officials detect a ray of hope in President Ford's latest rejection of federal aid for New York City and Gov. Hugh Carey warns Congress today that default by the city would be "an economic Pearl Harbor" that could cripple the nation's economic recovery.

The President, speaking at a news conference Thursday night, said none of the proposals he has seen so far for congressional help would "fit the bill" and warrant his signature.

The fact that the President did not flatly commit himself to vetoing any bill for federal loan guarantees or other aid to the city raised hopes among state and city officials that some federal assistance might eventually be forthcoming.

But Ford was clearly reluctant, declaring that "I do not think it's a healthy thing for the federal government to bail out a city — and I mean any city — that has handled its fiscal affairs as irresponsibly over a long period of time as New York City."

Carey, in testimony prepared for the Senate Banking Committee today, responded that for the federal government to allow New York City to default "would, I am certain, be the most costly mistake in the history of this nation — in dollars, in human suffering and in the erosion of our democratic institutions."

He warned that a default by the city would not only hurt its own citizens, but also disrupt the municipal credit market across the country and thus harm the nation's entire economic structure.

"No member of the U.S. Senate will be able to overlook the certainty that if New York City is allowed to default, the financial problems of New York City will be in his state very soon," he said.

The governor's testimony came one day after Secretary of the Treasury William Simon denied before the Senate committee that a default would have such dire consequences. He argued that Carey's state government had not done enough to avert the city's financial collapse.

Simon suggested a statewide tax increase, such as a boost in the sales tax, to aid the city — an idea which Carey promptly rejected and which a spokesman for Senate Majority Leader Warren Anderson of Birmingham, the top Republican in state government, labeled "ridiculous."

"The answer is not more taxes," the Anderson spokesman said. "The answer is the

Robber Assessed 50-Year Sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — Ronald Allen Ramey, 28, convicted of the $20,000 robbery of a doctor's home last New Year's Eve, has been assessed a 50-year prison term.

Ramey was sentenced Thursday. A jury found him guilty Wednesday of the Jan. 1 holdup at E. A. Taul house. Taul was out of town when police said three men forced other family members into a closet and took money and jewelry.

Today's hand was played in Paris, where many experts bid one club with any very strong hand.

Dr. Pierre Jais led the queen of hearts and East overtook with the king to continue the suit. When East led the jack of hearts at the third trick, South ruffed with the jack of spades. Dr. Jais discarded a low diamond without the flicker of an eyelash or the slightest pause for thought.

HOW WISE?
How wise would you be if you were South?

South needed the diamond finesse or the spade finesse to make his game. It looked as though the spade finesse would work, and there was no indication at all about the diamond finesse.

Our French declarer cashed the ace of spades and led a diamond to dummy's ace to try the spade finesse.

Dr. Jais won with the queen of spades and got out safely with a club. Eventually he took the setting trick with the queen of diamonds.

You have to give Dr. Jais credit for his dangerous play. If West had overruffed at the third trick, South would have been obliged to try the diamond finesse and he'd have made his contract.

Reaction Varies To School Lunch Program

DALLAS (AP) — "You can't teach a hungry child," says Mariene Saunders, director of food services for the Mesquite School District.

But she admits she still has mixed emotions about the federally subsidized school lunch program.

"I come from a working background and think you should work for what you get. But, I see children discriminated against when it comes to lunch because they have no money. It is difficult."

In Mesquite, 1,300 of the 27,000 pupils enrolled receive free lunches.

But at suburban Carrollton Farmers Branch, food service director Alma Sanders says only 275 of the 12,000 enrolled are signed up for the lunch program. The others, she says, may be going hungry because they "are too embarrassed" to ask for free lunches.

"Most of them are in the elementary schools," she said. "By the time they get to the secondary level, most are working parttime or they are too embarrassed to ask for a free lunch."

The new law, as passed by Congress, states that children from families with less than $9,700 annual income may be charged no more than 20 cents for lunch.

The bill also will subsidize 23 cents of the cost of a lunch regardless of family income.

"It looks as if we are going to be supporting some kids for a long time," says Arlington's food services director Tom Cunningham.

"They are going to have to stop calling it a poverty program and start calling it a give-away program."

In Garland, Marvin Padgett said that while the district has considered taking federal money for the school lunch program, it has never actually done so.

"We felt we could do a better job without the federal red tape."

New Constitution Supporters Step Up Campaign Activities

By The Associated Press

Supporters of the proposed state constitution have stepped up the tempo of their campaign to bring the new document to the voters and explain its merits.

They are also stepping up their attacks on opponents of the document that will go before the voters on Nov. 4.

Backers of the constitution said Thursday in Dallas that opponents are using tactics based on "fear and suspicion."

State Rep. Richard S. Geiger of Oak Cliff said that "many of the expressed fears simply are not true."

He said the proposed constitution would allow local units of government, cities and counties, to govern themselves and to deal with problems which are uniquely local.

He said the proposed constitution also "makes the governor the chief executive officer of the state and not a figurehead as he is now."

Dallas League of Women Voters president Eleanor Southard countered a comment by county Democratic chairman Manuel DeBosk, an opponent of the new constitution, that members of the League were "knee-jerk" liberals.

She said the league had been working for 25 years for a new constitution and added that "there was nothing knee-jerk about the effort."

Geiger said, "There is also a knee-jerk conservative and I think some of the knee-jerk conservatives can be seen in the opposition."

On the other side of the line, R. A. Brookshire of Lufkin, a new member of the steering committee of a group opposing the proposed document, said: "This proposed new constitution has been written for the benefit of the legislators, not the people. Letting them set their own salaries, and authorizing them to call themselves into session, and having unrestricted annual sessions—these are all things designed to take power away from the people and give it to members of the legislature."

Brookshire, McAllen lawyer Charles Thompson Sr., and Mrs. Audrey Bruse of Canyon, tax assessor-collector for Randall County, were added to the steering committee of Citizens to Preserve the Texas Constitution.

Graduate Center Offers Courses

The Permian Basin Graduate Center will offer three courses next week in the center's classroom in the basement of Gihls Tower East, 119 N. Colorado St. in Midland.

One of the courses is the second lecture of the Principles of Land & Leasing course. It will be presented from 7 to 10 p. m. Monday.

The speaker will be Jack Huff, independent oil operator as a partner with Lewis B. Burleson, Burleson and Huff.

His lecture will deal with oil, gas and other minerals lease forms, definitions of terms, mineral and royalty deeds, and delay rental payments.

The second lecture of the Oil and Gas Fundamentals course will be presented Thursday, from 7 to 10 p. m. Dr. Jack G. Elam, Midland consultant, will present the lecture which will cover drilling procedures.

The center will offer a 5-hour AAPG continuing education course, in cooperation with the West Texas Geological Society, entitled "Application of Plate Tectonics to Petroleum Exploration." It will be presented from 7 to 10 p. m. Tuesday and from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. Wednesday. The instructor will be Hunter Yarborough, a Houston consultant who worked several years with Exxon.

A course on "Gas Contracts" will begin Wednesday. Classes will be held from 7 to 9:30 p. m. each Wednesday for six weeks.

The course is designed to im-

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Latin-American refugees holding five hostages at a United Nations office here cut off food supplies today until their demand for passage to another country is met, a refugee spokesman said.

"We'll only allow medicines in," the spokesman said, reading a fifth communique since the group seized the office of the U.N. High Commission for Refugees at midday Wednesday. They are protesting living conditions for refugees in Argentina and demanding that they be taken to any country where they might find a better life.

Southeast Winkler Gets Field Stepout

Hilliard Oil & Gas, Inc., Midland, No. 1-E Sealy-Smith is scheduled as a 9,500-foot venture in Southeast Winkler County.

Location for the new prospect is 1/2 mile south of depleted production in the Paladino (Pennsylvanian) field. It spans 700 feet from north and 600 feet from east lines of section 32, block A, G&MMB&A survey, eight miles northeast of Monahans.

Location is 467 feet from north and 1,490 feet from west lines of section 18, block 125, T&SL survey.

MGF Signs Gas Selling Contract

MGF Oil Corp. of Midland said today it has signed a contract with a major gas purchaser to sell natural gas produced on a 7,116-acre Dimmit County lease block for $1.90 per thousand feet.

President R. O. Major said a gathering system and processing plant, currently under construction on the lease, is expected to be operational by Jan. 31, 1976.

MGF has completed three wells on the acreage, which is located approximately 80 miles north of Laredo. Casing has been set on a fourth. Another operator has completed four wells on property adjoining the MGF lease. Neither MGF nor the adjoining operator has drilled a dry hole.

The three completed MGF wells have tested at an absolute open flow potential ranging from 10 million to 84 million cubic feet of natural gas a day.

Perez Defends Oil Price Hikes

Agence France-Presse CARACAS — Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez said here Thursday night that blaming the oil producers for the ills of the world economy would be "like blaming a fever on the thermometer."

Perez, speaking at the 25th anniversary of the Venezuelan American Chamber of Commerce, defended the price rises put through by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC).

He said that OPEC "is not looking for confrontation between the industrialized countries and the developing nations, but is simply trying to maintain a balance between the raw materials we produce and the prices of the manufactured capital goods we need."

"In this sense," he said, "oil is the thermometer. It cannot be blamed for the fever or the great pressures from which the world economy is suffering."

Consumer Groups Filing For Interstate Regulations

By PETER MILIUS The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—Three organizations claiming to speak for consumers were to file suit here today to make the Federal Power Commission regulate the price of natural gas in interstate as well as interstate transactions.

The lawsuit is intended in part to counteract the current pressure in Congress for total deregulation of gas prices.

The FPC now limits the price of gas sold in interstate commerce to 52 cents per thousand cubic feet, over which the FPC claims it has no authority, is selling two, three and four times that amount. It represents more than a third of gas production.

Producers are thus reluctant to sell to interstate buyers, and that reluctance has helped bring on the present "shortages" of natural gas in some parts of the country.

The gas industry and the Ford administration say deregulation is the answer to this quandary, and the Senate now has a deregulation bill on the floor.

Consumer groups counter that deregulation would allow producers unconscionable profits. The alternative they prefer is to regulate all gas sales, whether interstate or not.

Today's suit is to be filed against the FPC by the American Public Gas Association, made up of 200 municipally owned gas distribution systems; the Consumer Federation of America and the U. S. Conference of Mayors.

For a variety of complicated legal reasons, the suit is to be filed directly in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. It will ask the court to rule that the FPC has the power now to regulate interstate sales and simply is not using it.

Among other things, the suit relies on a 1912 Supreme Court decision saying that Congress can regulate interstate as well as interstate commerce to the extent that interstate transactions have an effect on interstate markets.

The organizations filing the suit hope that if the apparent court accepts it for hearing, Congress will wait instead of acting on deregulation now. No one is sure which side has the votes in Congress at present.

FEA Administrator Says Energy Crisis Very Real

D. M. Fowler of Dallas, regional administrator for the Federal Energy Administration, said here Thursday there is a real energy crisis that threatens the integrity of the nation's foreign policy and its economic stability.

Fowler was one of three members of a panel before the National Issues Forum Student Association at Midland College Thursday afternoon.

"The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is not going to disappear," Fowler said. "They will not announce one morning that they have decided to reduce their prices as a gesture of international goodwill."

Fowler reminded that OPEC is in business, "a very profitable business and they have the market — us — cornered and they intend to keep us in that corner."

"The only way we can regain our independence is to establish a tough, hard program that will reduce our reliance on foreign oil, particularly oil from insecure sources."

"But we will never break out of that corner, never even take the first step out of it, if we refuse to see things as they really are," Fowler warned.

Fowler said that if we keep dreaming of magic solutions to our current problems, solutions without sacrifices and policies are living in a dream world.

"We can't build castles in the air and then try to live in them, and anyone who promises us a return to the days of cheap, abundant energy is just trying to help us furnish our castles in the clouds," he said.

Fowler said the U.S. can keep its domestic oil relatively cheap by maintaining price controls on more than half of it, but that simply means that our domestic oil production will drop.

"Our growing consumption will have to be met by expensive oil from insecure foreign sources, and there is no way that the government can control the price or availability of oil produced in another country. So, in the last analysis, the question before us is not whether the price of oil will go up, but rather when the price will rise how much and under whose control," Fowler said.

Fowler illustrated that the U.S. already has proven that our habits can be reshaped positively by the new energy situation.

"Over the last two years, the little more than 41 per cent of the new car market to 54 per cent. Average new car mileage has gone from about 14 miles per gallon in 1973, to better than 17 in the same time.

"The reason for that change has been market demand. The consumer expects better gas mileage, and he is making his feelings known to the manufacturer in the most direct way possible.

"But he will only do that as long as the real value of gasoline tells him to be careful, it is scarce.

"Our growing consumption will have to be met by expensive oil from insecure foreign sources, and there is no way that the government can control the price or availability of oil produced in another country. So, in the last analysis, the question before us is not whether the price of oil will go up, but rather when the price will rise how much and under whose control," Fowler said.

Kleppe Appointed Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas S. Kleppe, a 56-year-old millionaire and former North Dakota congressman, will be sworn in as the new secretary of the Interior. Kleppe won Senate confirmation to the 600,000-a-year cabinet post Thursday night and will succeed Stanley K. Hathaway, the former Wyoming governor who resigned last July after slightly more than a month on the job.

Youth Group Helps Alcoholic

By MARIAN FOX
Associated Press Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mimi, a slender, 24-year-old woman, decided to begin her battle against alcoholism when she woke up in a hospital with two broken ribs and couldn't remember what had happened.

"I took five months and five hospitals in a row to bring me to my knees, to realize I could not control my drinking and I was suffering myself with the disease of alcoholism," she said, asking that her last name be withheld.

Of an estimated 500,000 young alcoholics in the United States, some, like Mimi, are turning to help to a group operating within Alcoholics Anonymous, called Young People's AA.

Mimi described her life before YPAA at the recent 18th International Conference of Young People in AA in Memphis.

For years Mimi said she had been telling herself her problem was within her family, where she had grown up and into drinking as a way out.

"It wasn't until I broke away from the family unit that I realized I had a drinking problem of my own," she said. But the final realization — "the hospital and broken ribs — was still about five years away.

Describing herself as an achiever seeking approval through her actions, she said she did not allow her drinking to interfere with her work, first as an art student, then as a commercial artist.

"I was gradually becoming more and more withdrawn and by the time I reached college, I had withdrawn totally into myself. My room — my bedroom at home — became my skid row."

Commuting to art school in Philadelphia aggravated her loneliness. "Being a commuter, I didn't have to mix in with anybody and stayed to myself." In deep depression, several times, she attempted suicide.

She had joined AA when she was about 21 but left because the older people seemed like parents and that was where part of her problem was.

At 22, college completed, she moved out of her parents' house and into an unchallenging job. Her drinking became more serious. Then came the five hospitals in five months and the blackouts.

"A blackout is something most alcoholics experience," she said. "To everybody around you, you are wide awake and functioning but you don't remember. Your memory during that time blacks out."

She found YPAA after staying dry five months by herself. Slowly she began to open up. The program itself is based on a willingness, one day at a time, not to drink, she said. "But they give you 12 steps to change your sick personality so that a need to drink to fill the emptiness in that personality is changed."

The impact of YPAA hit her about eight months later.

"I was walking alone on an empty beach in early October on the New Jersey shore and I knew that a higher power than me was there and I didn't have to be alone any more. I really began to believe I could do it... one day at a time."

Mimi has been dry 22 months and is finding her personality changing.

"Where there was hatred before, you learn to love," she said. "Where there was fear, you learn how to deal with it and make fear a challenge."

Job Program Aids Young Offenders

NEW YORK (AP) — He's only 14 years old but he looks older, reflecting the street-smart and despair of many like him who have never really left Manhattan's Lower East Side where they were born.

Last year, when he was 13, Pablo was booked at a local precinct house for mugging a young woman after a day of swimming at a city pool.

After three months of waiting, a family court judge finally gave the youngster one year of probation. Often such an action has little effect on a ghetto youth with a seemingly bleak future. But in Pablo's case there was a new twist to the story.

The probation officer got him into an experimental program on the Lower East Side run by Henry Street Settlement and called SEA (Supported Employment for Adolescents). Its purpose is to provide part-time public service jobs in the community along with individual, group and family counseling, educational support, and recreational and cultural activities.

For juvenile offenders, it is the chance to earn money ($50 per week summers and $30 per week during the school year) and to build an attitude and confidence which may lead to ward a regular job and a more certain future.

The director of the Henry Street program is Anne D. Rudenstine, a former planner at the Vera Institute of Justice, New York City.

"We want to give these kids the feeling that they have some control over their own lives," Mrs. Rudenstine says. "Up until now it really hasn't been that way."

Mrs. Rudenstine supervises some 30 teen-age youngsters under a grant of $100,000 from the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The youths work on such projects as the design and construction of a small park or playground for the community, tutoring children after school, operating a clothing drive for burned-out families, and the cleanup and maintenance of parks in the community.

An independent organization will be retained to assess the program's impact on reducing delinquent behavior and in helping youngsters to develop positive home, school and community relationships, according to Mrs. Rudenstine.

Both the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services and the Mayor's Criminal Justice Coordinating Council are assisting in the administration and monitoring of the grant.

"We want to show that community rehabilitation programs are superior to expensive, crime producing institutions," said Bertram Beck, executive director of Henry Street Settlement, the 75-year-old agency that serves Manhattan's Lower East Side and works toward helping its residents adjust to the uncertainties of urban life.

As for Pablo, he likes SEA well enough. He reports daily to the Settlement where he's assigned to a work crew which, supervised by counselors, does work for merchants and individuals in the neighborhood.

"It's a job, man," he says today. But he's also gone as far as to think of possibly going to college and perhaps becoming an electrical engineer. That's a long way from where he was last year.

Willow Stem Diet
During the winter, beavers relish a diet of willow stems, leaves and bark. However, when they emerge in the spring they enjoy eating grass, herbs, buds and shoots. An adult beaver can bite through a 2 1/2 inch aspen branch in 30 seconds with its unusually sharp, strong teeth.
