County GOP Head Opposes New Constitution

By DEBBIE PIERCE
Robert L. Monaghan, chairman of the Midland County Republican Executive Committee, today announced his opposition to the proposed new state constitution to be voted on next Tuesday.

"The present constitution permits stability, progressive economic development, low taxes, sufficient local flexibility, relative freedom from corruption and a good life for Texans," Monaghan said. "The proposed revision is more concise and well organized, but in many cases it has the effect of being less restrictive on all governmental bodies with the resulting loss of people's freedom and protection from government abuse."

Monaghan cited 12 specific reasons why he could not support the proposed constitution. They include:
—The legislature could impose a graduated personal income tax without a vote of the people;
—The $80-million welfare limit would be removed;
—Unlimited annual sessions of the legislature would be required;
—Legislators' salaries would be set by a politically appointed committee;
—Taxing power of counties and cities would be tremendously increased;
—Unlimited tax dollar contributions to public employees' benefits would be permitted;
—No prohibition against the use of public money and public credit for private purposes.

—A minority of three Supreme Court justices could mandate the law of the land;
—Special taxing district could be authorized within existing taxing districts;
—More state control of education will mean less local control over schools;
—The estimated cost of this document, if adopted, would be in excess of $11 billion each year;

—No limit on taxing authority of special taxing districts.
Monaghan said several provisions in the new document have been rejected by Texas voters in the past, including annual legislative sessions, an appointive commission to set legislative pay, a tax exemption for non-profit water supply corporations, the "equal and uniform" property tax provision and continuation of the two-cent ad valorem tax for the state building fund.

Proposition No. 1 of the constitution would provide that most state agencies be abolished automatically every 10 years unless the legislature voted to keep them alive, Monaghan said. "The legislature right now has the power to abolish any non-constitutional state agency. If an agency is not essential, why wait 10 years to abolish it?" he added.

Monaghan noted this provision is estimated to cost the taxpayers $2.25 million per year. He said, "The good offered by this proposition is greatly outweighed by the removal of control from the people over salaries, limitations on welfare spending and the increase in taxes, regulations and costs of government."
Proposition No. 2 is often called a "unified" judicial system, since it abolishes the Court of Criminal Appeals and its function merged into the Supreme Court. (See MONAGHAN Page 2A)

Dorchester Plans Wildcat, Reentry

Dorchester Exploration Co., Inc., operating from Midland, has scheduled a wildcat, and made plans to reenter a failure in Crockett County.

No. 1-B Massie West is slated to be drilled as an 8,400-foot search for Ellenburger gas, 13 miles north of Ozona.

It is a north offset to the depleted Ellenburger oil opener of the Ozona, North field, and spots 4,300 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of Runnels CSL survey 1.

Reentry Set

Dorchester will clean out to 8,200 feet at the former Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-A W. E. West Estate, 8,246-foot failure, 2 1/2 miles northeast of the Ozona, North area.

It was abandoned in July, 1965.

Location is 2,500 feet from north and west lines of Runnels CSL survey 1, 12 miles north of Ozona.

Cee Vee Sector Gains New Test

Perkins-Prothro Co., Wichita Falls, staked site for a 3/4-mile northeast offset to the recently opened one-well Cee Vee (Pennsylvanian reef) field of Cottle County.

It is No. 3 Carroll, 990 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 5, F. P. Knott survey, 10 miles northwest of Paducah. Scheduled depth is 5,000 feet.

The discovery, Perkins-Prothro No. 2-A Carroll, finished Oct. 1, for 84 barrels of 30-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 4,706-4,708 feet.

Wildcat, 2 Field Tests Scheduled

Sterling County drew site for a wildcat, and two fields gained new producers.

Bright & Schiff, Dallas, will drill No. 1-32 Glass, an 8,000-foot venture in Sterling, 1 1/2 miles southeast of the firm's No. 1-29 Glass, a scheduled 8,000-foot wildcat.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 32, block 22, H&TC survey, 15 miles west of Sterling City.

Oil Completion

Stoltz, Wagner & Brown of Midland completed No. 2-14-C Glass as the fifth well and 1 1/4-mile southeast extension to the Big Salate (Canyon) oil pool of West Sterling.

It was completed to flow 230 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio of 1.274-1, through perforations at 7,864-8,096 feet, which had been fractured with 80,000 gallons and 80,000 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 14, block 31, T-5-S, T&P survey, 14 miles southwest of Sterling City.

Spanish Government Pressured To Name Prince Head Of State

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Pressure increased today on the Spanish government to name Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon chief of state, though Generalissimo Francisco Franco hung to life and was reported in slightly improved condition.

A midday medical bulletin said the 82-year-old Franco's fever had disappeared and his blood pressure was normal. It said that cardiac rhythm was stable at 80 beats per minute, and signs of congestive cardiac insufficiency had been reduced. However, it added: "Intestinal hemorrhaging has not disappeared. Gravity continues."

A morning bulletin said he had a quiet night, and a Monday night bulletin said he had passed a peaceful afternoon and requested food. After not being expected to live through the night Sunday, Franco rallied early Monday. A spokesman at his Pardo Palace said he talked with his daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren during the afternoon. The spokesman commented that he was "tranquil and lucid."

One medical expert said that even the slight improvement in Franco's condition after a week of heart attacks and other complications was "medically incredible." But even though he recovered from a near-fatal attack of phlebitis in July 1974, there was no expectation that this time he could resume control of the country again.

For the moment, the Spanish government rocked along under its own momentum. Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and his cabinet are transacting the day-to-day routine of government as usual. The country is quiet, with terrorist activity at a standstill, and the only major policy problem, the Spanish Sahara, is under negotiation and appears to be headed for a peaceful solution.

However, under the Spanish constitution, major decisions can only be taken at a cabinet meeting at which the chief of state presides, and all decrees must be signed by him before they can become effective.

Franco has been too ill to exercise active control of the government only once before in the 36 years of his dictatorship, when he had phlebitis last year. At that time he turned over his powers temporarily to Prince Juan Carlos, his designated heir, but he took them back after 40 days when he recovered.

Gas Pump Prices Spurt Since July 4

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices for regular grade gasoline have increased by a nationwide average of 8.1 per cent since the July 4 weekend, but the government has tried to suppress figures showing the rapid climb, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said today.

Aspin said the figures were compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics but were suppressed by the Labor Department. He said he obtained a copy of the price report from a disgruntled department employee.

Asked why the statistics were not released, a spokesman for the Wisconsin congressman blamed "bureaucratic inertia" or a desire not to publicize the rapidity of the price spiral.

The data showed that prices for premium-grade gasoline have increased 7.3 per cent nationwide since July and fuel oil was up 3.6 per cent.

According to the data, regular gasoline prices increased by 9.9 per cent in the western north-central states; by 9.4 per cent in Wisconsin-Illinois-Indiana-Michigan-Ohio and by 9.2 per cent in the mountain states of the West.

At the other end of the scale, Aspin said, the prices rose by 7 per cent in the Pacific states, 7.5 per cent in New England and 7.6 per cent in the middle Atlantic and southeastern states.

The eastern south-central states, had an 8 per cent increase and the western south-central, posted a rise of 8.5 per cent, he said.

President Plans Speech On NYC Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will make what was described as an important speech about New York City's financial problems on Wednesday, the White House said today.

Press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford will deliver the address before the National Press Club here. Nessen declined to say whether Ford has changed his position against federal help for New York.

Ford will deliver his speech at noon and then will depart in the early afternoon for a two-day Republican fund-raising trip to California, with a stop in Milwaukee on the way home Thursday.

Ford has maintained he has no legal authority to help New York and said that bailout legislation would not be necessary if New York City would take the hard steps necessary to put its financial house in order.

However, he has never said specifically that he would veto legislation if Congress sent him a measure to help the city avoid default.

Nessen called the speech "an important speech — on an important subject" and said Ford had selected a long-standing invitation from the National Press Club to speak on the issue.

Some sources have said that Ford has left himself room to maneuver and does not want to announce his opposition to any legislation before the legislation is approved.

When asked if Ford has changed his position, Nessen replied: "I suggest you listen to the speech tomorrow."

The first indication that Ford was planning an address came when Treasury Secretary William E. Simon canceled a planned appearance today before a House banking subcommittee considering help for New York.

Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, chairman of the panel, said Simon told him he did not want to appear before the subcommittee until after the President spoke.

The Senate Banking Committee was expected to approve federal aid for New York City this week, but it may not contain the kind of help that New York officials are seeking.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., and committee chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., met Monday night to discuss their differences over proposed aid plans, and Proxmire said he was hopeful a compromise could be reached this week so a bill can be reported to the Senate.

Proxmire, who has been the guiding force behind committee efforts to get an aid bill to the floor, continued to insist that any measure coming from his panel will contain a provision requiring New York state to levy a special tax to aid the troubled city. State officials have scorned such a proposal.

In the House, meanwhile, 15 members of the New York congressional delegation reserved time this afternoon on the House floor to talk about the city's crisis.

Trade Balance Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge in imported oil eroded the nation's foreign trade balance in September, but the United States still managed to record its eighth consecutive monthly surplus, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said the surplus for September was $976.4 million, compared to a $1.04 billion surplus in August. It was the smallest monthly surplus in five months.

The drop in the surplus came because imports rose 2.9 per cent during the month, while exports advanced 1.9 per cent.

The biggest factor in the import increase was a 9.5 per cent jump in oil imports to a total of 207 million barrels. The quantity of oil imports in September was second only to January's import of 285 million barrels this year.

Oil imports have varied widely all year as importers responded to President Ford's imposition of oil import tariffs and the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries increased prices. The latest increase in imports was in line with expectations by trade specialists that oil imports would resume their growth later this year as the U.S. recovery picked up steam and demands for fuel increased.

Despite oil, the quantity of imports for all of this year are still 1.9 per cent behind the same period a year ago.

Because of price increases, the value of the oil imported so far — $18.5 billion — is 3.4 per cent (See TRADE Page 2A)

Underground Nuclear Blast Shakes Parts Of 3 States

MERCURY, Nev. (AP) — An underground nuclear warhead test shook parts of three states early today, swaying tall buildings in Las Vegas and chandeliers in Fresno, Calif.

No damage was reported from the blast, also felt in parts of northwest Arizona, which registered 6.5 on the Richter scale at the University of California Seismographic station at Berkeley, Calif.

People were shaken from their sleep in Ridgecrest, Calif., 150 miles northeast of Los Angeles. A spokesman at University of California, Berkeley, reported its telemetry devices felt the blast throughout California.

The weapons development test, code-named Kasserli, was detonated 4,150 feet underground and had an announced yield of 200 kilotons to one megaton.

LATE BULLETINS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge entered an innocent plea for Sara Jane Moore today at her arraignment on a charge of trying to kill President Ford and set her trial for Dec. 15.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Ford has made no change in his decision not to take any action to prevent a default by New York City.

NEW YORK (AP) — The College Entrance Examination Board today announced a special panel will probe the national decline in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores.

Sadat Meets With U.S. Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat resumed his quest for American weapons today after praising President Ford for moving toward "an even-handed policy in the Middle East."

Sadat met for half an hour at Blair House with Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and then held a second session with Ford at the White House.

Blair House is government quarters for visiting dignitaries.

Both Ford and Sadat were in a jovial mood as they began their talks in the Oval Office with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy.

At a state dinner in his honor on Monday night, Sadat said U.S. relations with his country have improved because of "a greater degree of American understanding of our just cause and our legitimate struggle to establish peace in the area."

He urged Ford to boost creation of a Palestinian state — "Are they not entitled to their national rights like all other peoples?"

His appeal went unanswered. But Ford, speaking first, stressed that "there can be no peace until the legitimate interests of all people in the Middle East are taken fairly into account."

U.S. policy has been to oppose Palestinian participation in Middle East negotiations until Israel's right to exist is accepted.

$500-Million Lawsuit Filed By ACLU

WASHINGTON (AP) — A suit seeking some $500 million in damages was filed in federal court today against present and former officials of the Central Intelligence Agency and National Security Agency for their surveillance of antiwar radicals and other dissidents.

The class action suit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of some 8,200 individuals and organizations who were the subject of files kept by the CIA as part of its Operation CHAOS, an intelligence program begun in 1967.

The suit alleges the CIA and NSA illegally opened the mail and intercepted the overseas phone calls and cables of American dissidents. It seeks damages of $50,000 for each of the 8,200 individuals and organizations. The suit also asks for $10 a day in damages for each day that their communications were intercepted.

In addition to the intelligence officials, the suit also names as defendants Western Union, RCA World Communications, American Cable and Radio, and ITT World Communications for allegedly supplying NSA with intercepts of overseas phone calls and cables.

Intelligence officials named in the suit include CIA Director William E. Colby; former directors James R. Schlesinger, now secretary of defense, and Richard M. Helms, now ambassador to Iran; along with Lt. Gen. Lew Allen, director of the NSA; and two of his predecessors, Vice Admiral Noel Gayler and Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips.

According to the Rockefeller Commission, Operation CHAOS was started in 1967 in an effort to uncover a suspected foreign influence behind unrest at home, but became "a repository for large quantities of information on the domestic activities of American citizens," much of which "was not directly related to the question of the existence of foreign connections with domestic dissidence."

AT WIT'S END Mondays Are Nil

By ERMA BOMBECK

For years, Mondays have been getting on my nerves.

Frankly, I don't see any excuse for them. They come on too strong. They're the longest day in the week, and besides they put a damper on your Sundays just thinking about them.

Mondays are so... ordinary. They lack luster and excitement. Think about it. Does the circus ever open on Monday morning? Does anyone get married on Monday? Have a party? Buy a boat? Get their car washed? Or roast a turkey?

The only reason I am bringing it up is that I sounded out a group last week and they thought with a little publicity it might just conceivably get rid of Mondays.

Here are some of the arguments:

To begin with, attendance on Mondays is falling off. Fewer people are showing up for it. The automotive industry reported absenteeism on Mondays was not only excessive, but that those who did show up were so surly and hung over, it reflected in the workmanship of cars.

Secondly, Mondays are becoming expendable. They are the dumping grounds of the seven-day week. Have you ever noticed that whenever they want to pick a working day to discard or use for a holiday, they pick Monday? There has been such a trend toward discontinuing Mondays as part of a work week that this year we only observed 45 Mondays. The rest of them were given over to Washington's Birthday, St. Patrick's Day, Memorial Day, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Columbus Day and Canadian Thanksgiving. Ask yourself. How long will it be before we throw all of the holidays to Mondays?

More and more we encounter restaurants that are "CLOSED ON MONDAY," small businesses that remain closed and did you ever try to get your hair done on Monday? Forget it.

Imagine for a moment what a Mondayless week would mean. No more diets. That's right. There would be a whole country of chubbies sitting around eating cupcakes waiting for a Monday to roll around.

We would stamp out the proverbial washday. Blue Monday (that term applied to the beginning of a week after a swinging weekend) would disappear as an American condition.

No one has to make a decision now. Just think about it and call me Mon. Tuesday.

School Carnival Slated Thursday

Emerson Elementary will hold its annual Halloween carnival Thursday, beginning at 6 p.m. with dinner served in the cafeteria.

A portable color television set will be auctioned, and a "carved pumpkin or mask" contest will be judged from 7-7:30 p.m.

COSTUME STORY HOUR — Tom Younger, Mrs. Gordon Marcum II, Bo McGuire and Mrs. Tom Johnson, from left, are ready for a special costume Story Hour. All children attending the Story Hour at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Midland County Public Library are invited to wear Halloween costumes for a special program. The Story Hour is sponsored by the Junior League of Midland, Inc., in cooperation with the library, from 10 to 11 a.m. Thursdays for pre-school children 3 years of age and older.

Specialist Suggests Having Home Halloween Parties

COLLEGE STATION — Texas now boasts another woman on the statewide campaign trail. She's a foods and nutrition specialist with a "revolutionary" idea for celebrating Halloween.

"Surprise the family with a new Halloween tradition this year — a party at home for children and friends," Frances Reasonover with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, suggests.

"Games and food can be planned around a theme — 'why pumpkins mean Halloween's here' is one theme suggestion. Older children can research the local library to learn all they can about pumpkins and Halloween before the party. And younger children can talk with their oldest friends or relatives to find out all they know about pumpkins.

"Then everyone can tell stories around a large pumpkin jack-o-lantern named 'The Great Pumpkin.'"

To start "pumpkin lore" research, Miss Reasonover said that although the custom of jack-o-lanterns at Halloween is considered native to America, actually Irish people made lanterns as far back as Druid worship, long before the discovery of America.

But since pumpkins didn't grow in Ireland, people hollowed out large potatoes and turnips, then cut faces in them for lanterns. Irish immigrants who fled the famine in the 1840's discovered that the American pumpkin was excellent for carving the jack-o-lantern, the specialist continued.

"Pumpkin is nutritious — it's rich in Vitamin A needed for growth and night vision. Vitamin A also helps protect against infection by keeping linings of the mouth and digestive system in good condition.

"One-third cup of pumpkin will furnish the average adult almost all the Vitamin A needed daily and more than the daily requirement for young children," she pointed out.

Pumpkin lends itself to a variety of dishes — perhaps each person attending the party could prepare a pumpkin dish to bring. This could turn into a smorgasbord of taste treats.

Miss Reasonover suggested the following pumpkin treat:

- PUMPKIN BREAD
2-3 cup shortening
2-2-3 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups or 1-pound can pumpkin (cooked, mashed carrots or winter squash may be substituted)
2-3 cup water
3-1-3 cups flour, sifted
2 tsps. soda
1 1/2 tsps. salt
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp each cinnamon, cloves
2-3 cup coarsely chopped nuts
2-3 cup raisins
Cream shortening and sugar. Stir in eggs, pumpkin and water. Sift together flour, soda, salt, baking powder, cinnamon and cloves. Blend into a smooth dough. Stir in chopped nuts and raisins. Fill baking pans about three-fifths full. Place baking pan in center of preheated oven at 350 degrees F. Bake large loaves 60-70 minutes, until a clean wooden pick inserted into Luncheon Held center of bread comes out clean. Remove from oven. Let stand five minutes in pan. Remove and cool.
The Woman's Auxiliary of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants met recently in the home of Mrs. Ronald Bumpus for a salad luncheon honoring Mrs. Jim Windlinger, wife of the chapter co-ordinator of the Texas Society of CPAs.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, adds her support to the "celebrate Halloween at home" campaign with some other ideas. "Among items to consider for both decorations and refreshments are apples, popcorn and cheese, along with pumpkins — all available at the local food store. "For decorations of jack-o-lanterns, select a pumpkin 10-12 inches in diameter, weighing 20 pounds or even more. When the pumpkin has a thin shell it enables light from within to really glow. But remember to use extreme care in lighting a jack-o-lantern — a flashlight will give the same effect as a candle and will be much safer," she said. Red Delicious and Jonathan are two popular apple varieties for "bobbing" at the party, as well as for eating and table decorations. "And a favorite of all is popcorn — a bowlful of buttered popcorn with apples is always welcome for a snack, and youngsters will be sure to appreciate popcorn balls.

"Try a cheese platter to add variety and flavor — and nutrition — to the Halloween party. Serve it with fruit or crackers for a snack. "Youngsters are more likely to enjoy mild flavored cheeses. Remove the cheese from the refrigerator about an hour before time to serve it because cheese develops full flavor at room temperature," she said.

Mrs. Dennis D. Chisum

Frances Soules Becomes Bride Of Dennis D. Chisum

SUNDOWN — The First Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Frances Blanche Soules and Dennis Dallas Chisum, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Chisum of Midland.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Soules of Sundown. She is a graduate of Texas Tech University, where she majored in home economics education and home economics management. She is a member of the American Home Economics Association and is the Sherman County home economics extension agent.

The bridegroom, who is self-employed with Chisum & Co., majored in marketing at Tech. He is a member of the American Marketing Association.

The couple will reside in Stratford. Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. E. L. Bynum of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, Lubbock. Mr. Soules presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown in Baroque design of cream French silk peau d'ange. Appliqued Alencon lace flowerettes with pearl centers covered the bodice. The A-line skirt ended in a cathedral train. She had a Spanish Baroque capulet which held a mantilla edged in matching Alencon lace and Cluny lace flowerettes. She carried a white Bible covered with champagne lace and silk roses centered with white and Burgundy orchids.

Lamar Carnival Set Thursday

The annual Lamar Elementary School Halloween carnival will be held from 6-9 p.m. Thursday.

Many new booths, as well as the regulars, will be available for fun for all ages. Dinner will be served, and prizes will be awarded for the best decorated Halloween sack.

Pros And Cons Voiced On Whether To Sell Or Not

DEAR ABBY: A couple whose youngest child left for college asked your readers to help them decide whether or not to sell their big home.

I say, sell while you can still get your price! We didn't. We kept waiting for our kids to come home for a visit. It was always the same story: "Too busy. Maybe next year."

The one in college chose to spend Christmas with her boyfriend's family! We finally wised up and sold it for what we could get.

DEAR ABBY: Sell now! It's better to move to a strange place where you know no one while you are together. I suggest a retirement community where all others have been uprooted and are eager to make new friends. Choose a place where each of you can pursue new interests and hobbies and prepare for that day when one of you must carry on alone.

DEAR ABBY: Sell! Sell! Sell! Store what furniture you want to keep, buy a camper and take off, leaving no forwarding address.

Hold hands, sleep late, make love and enjoy each other. Buy some great clothes, go dancing, check to check, then come home if you want to. And never let your children use you as a free babysitting service or a place to go for a free vacation.

DEAR ABBY: Sell the house and get into something cheaper and easier to care for. If the kids come, put them up in a nearby motel. Even if you have to pay for it, it's still cheaper and they won't stay as long.

DEAR ABBY: I've worked with college students for 15 years, and I would advise parents not to sell their homes until their youngest is through college. Until that time, children desperately need a home to come back to, and it should be there whether or not it's made use of.

SANTA BARBARA

DEAR ABBY: Hang on to your home even though your children are gone. We have six grandchildren who come to visit us the day school lets out, and they stay all summer. If we had sold our big, five-bedroom home and moved into a small apartment, we'd have missed some wonderful dividends.

THE G'S

DEAR ABBY: Would you like to hear what our parents did after their kids left home? They sold their big house and now they visit each one of their six married children for two months every year. They said, "We took care of you; now you can take care of us!"

THE KIDS

DEAR ABBY: I don't think those people should sell their big house. If they were to move into a little apartment and their children and grandchildren wanted to spend Christmas or Thanksgiving with them, where would they put them? Where?

Q. What is the most common disease of mankind?

A. Tooth decay, or dental caries, is the most common disease of mankind. In the United States and most other countries, more than 90 per cent of the people suffer from this disease. As yet no satisfactory preventive for cavities is known. Decay can be retarded by proper brushing and visits to the dentist twice a year.

HOROSCOPE

by Carroll Righter
(Wed. Oct. 29)
GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is good for continuing with whatever plan of action you were able to put in effect yesterday. An unexpected surprise can be helpful to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is best time to engage in activities that will increase your income. Handle social matters later in the day.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) First take time to handle home affairs, then talk with associates and come to a fine understanding. Relax tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study reports carefully in the morning. Later discuss the future with associates. Obtain important data you need.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Strive to be more successful in your line of endeavor. Even busy at leading to practical matters. Be alert.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Improve your appearance in the morning and make the right preparations for the social events you want to attend.

De Soto Started Spa Business

LETTICE ROCK (AP)—Sportsman Herndon De Soto gave Hot Springs its start in the so-called "spa to the world," according to the state Parks, Recreation and Tourism Department.

De Soto and his party were the first visitors to bathe in Hot Springs thermal waters — 40 years after Columbus discovered America.

In 1894, President Thomas Jefferson sent a team of scientists to verify the medicinal properties of the waters. Then in 1897, President Andrew Johnson signed a law establishing Hot Springs as a U.S. Reservation, preserving it as a national resource.

It then became the only health resort in the country where the thermal waters are owned, controlled and regulated by the federal government.

Remember Girdles, B.V.D.'s?

By JACK SMITH
The Los Angeles Times

In writing the other day of once-common words that have passed from our everyday conversation, I knew there were many more than the few suggested by a reader, Roslyn Gaines, and the others I threw in.

Hers were icebox, slacks, undertaker, galoshes, grocery store, rumpus room, pocketbook, gear shift and skyscraper. I added crooner, marcel, running board and slow ball.

"Did you ever hear of snug-gles?" asks Edith Zittler. "Any female who waited for streetcars and buses in subzero weather some years back will know. They were short woolen pants worn under the girdle or over the girdle or next to the skin."

"Streetcars? Girdle?" "And when was the last time," asks Lou Rosen of San Diego, "you heard someone mention their B.V.D.'s? I can't even remember what the letters stood for."

I can't either, but I wore them, and I recall that just the mention of B.V.D.'s in polite company was good for a snicker. "As for galoshes," writes Grace Wood, of San Gabriel, Sheraton West, but deplures Calif., who came here from the East in 1922. "I have worn those cloth galoshes with metal and fasteners, which we left open to flap as we walked (1921)."

"As its usage moved outward to include (besides its original concept of back and forth motion) a style of music and dance, I was able to absorb this, since I danced swing dances to swing. I cut a rug, so to speak. As the root word evolved into swinger, I was able to follow and use the word properly to describe a devil-may-care bon vivant, an insouciant life of the party. But now I must be very, very careful that I do not use the word as defined above, because the subsequent mutation shifted the meaning into an uncomfortably different realm."

"But I think the word I miss the most in its old form," she adds, "is gay. The dictionary speaks of merriment and excitement. I would add to that forth, ebullience, and light-hearted spontaneity. What a pity that another word wasn't chosen . . . for people whose personal fulfillment differs from the conventional."

I don't mind so much the evolution of swing and swinger, as I never could cut a rug, but without resenting those who have appropriated it. I do miss gay. As rich as our language is, it has no really good substitute for gay.

A reader who doesn't want her name mentioned (she blushes easily) points out the quiet, almost unnoticed disappearance of a word that not long ago was a part of every mixed-company conversation. Not only has the word itself disappeared, but also the kind of story or remark it defined.

"Sadly," our blushing reader says, "no such thing exists anymore. So Sorry. Unfashionable things are not as much fun (as Hixley enlarged upon)."

Quite. And gone with it is its companion, the double entendre. Now that everything is permitted to hang out, as we say, and unrestrained speech is regarded as liberating and healthful, there is no point in trying to turn out one of those clever conversational coins that are white on one side and blue on the other.

Come to think of it, is there such a word as bluish anymore? I will have the best word to an old acquaintance of mine, Easy Stuman, who happens to have the best name I have ever heard in my life.

Quite. And gone with it is its companion, the double entendre. Minister Talks Man Holding Hostages Into Surrendering

MIAMI SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — "I told him that I would walk out with my arm around him, that they wouldn't shoot him," said a minister who persuaded a troubled Marine veteran accused of shooting a policeman to release two hostages and surrender.

"He was afraid that after what had happened, the police would shoot him on sight," the Rev. Arny Steffen said after Robert Knack Jr., 25, released a woman and her 3-year-old son and surrendered to authorities on Monday.

"The police treated him with dignity. I think it ended as well as it could have," the minister said.

The Rev. Mr. Steffen said Knack did not tell him what led to the shooting but that he had told the minister over lunch recently that he was having a drinking problem.

New Credit Rules Effective Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning today, lending institutions will be barred by federal law from refusing credit or loans because of an applicant's sex or marital status.

Under provisions of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, a woman cannot be asked whether she plans to have children, and lenders cannot assume from loan applicants' ages that they are likely to become parents.

Lenders cannot use discouraging comments or delays in processing of applications as a subtle form of sex or marital discrimination.

And over a period of three years, new rights gradually will be added. For example, anyone turned down for credit for any reason will have the right to find out why after Jan. 31, 1976.

The Equal Credit Opportunity Act became law exactly one year ago. It was passed in response to complaints that women had difficulty in obtaining loans, maintaining credit records apart from their husbands' accounts and being considered the equal of men as credit risks.

But the law will have an impact on men, too, particularly a provision providing access to a creditor's reasons for turning down applicants or for cancelling existing credit privileges.

Under rules drafted by the Federal Reserve Board and to be enforced by the Federal Trade Commission, rejected applicants will be able to write or telephone a bank, credit card company or other lender for an explanation of the firm's reason for denying or cancelling credit.

The law requires that rejected applicants be given a Waste Gasoline.

Since it is believed cars waste gasoline at slow speeds, it has been suggested that drivers who must drive to work in heavy traffic will find car pools the least expensive and troublesome way to commute.

reason orally, although government officials have predicted that most explanations will be provided in writing. The Federal Reserve is providing lenders with a model reply to requests for reasons for credit denial.

The phasing in of various rules going beyond general injunctions against sex discrimination begins Saturday. That's the date married women can seek their own credit ratings if in the past they've been lumped in with their husbands when creditors rated their reliability.

Another batch of regulations, including a ban against discounting income from part-time jobs, goes into effect Nov. 30. Women's organizations had complained that because most part-time workers are women, the practice of not giving part-time wages full weight in assessing ability to pay con-stituted sexual discrimination.

Portrait Of Power Emerges In Hearings

By DAVID C. MARTIN
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover "worked directly under me," the former attorney general said. "I'm not sure he worked directly for me."

So spoke John N. Mitchell, once regarded as the most powerful member of President Richard M. Nixon's Cabinet but, by his own admission, unable to control the man whose name is synonymous with the FBI, which he headed from its creation in 1935 until his death in 1972.

Mitchell's observation last Friday before the Senate intelligence committee drew a laugh, as he intended. But, at the same time, it filled in a portrait of Hoover that has been emerging piece by piece during the committee's hearings on illegal activities of the FBI, CIA and other intelligence agencies.

It is a portrait of a man who, at the peak of his power, was perhaps the most feared man in Washington, an absolute monarch subordinates dared not cross and presidents were reluctant to fire.

Charles Brennan, an FBI agent for 26 years and a high-ranking official for many of those years, said Hoover "at no time really hesitated to tell anybody in town exactly what he felt, including the president."

Brennan, who once had been placed on indefinite probation for disagreeing with Hoover over whether Daniel Ellsberg's father-in-law should be questioned in connection with the Pentagon papers case, gave a rather unflattering portrait of his former boss.

Testifying under oath, Brennan said he believed that Hoover had ordered a halt to all FBI break-ins and mail-openings in 1966 not because they were illegal, but because their continuing existence might be used to remove him from office.

As Brennan explained it, Hoover became 70 years old in 1965, becoming subject to the government's mandatory retirement rules. Although he managed to maneuver himself out of a forced retirement, Hoover had to fight an annual battle to keep his job, Brennan said.

Therefore, Brennan continued, any operation that could provide his critics in Congress and elsewhere with ammunition if it were exposed had to be cut out.

Without an embarrassing incident, Brennan contended, Hoover could never be forced to retire. Presidents feared that firing him would cost them votes among people to whom the name J. Edgar Hoover meant law enforcement, according to Brennan.

Brennan also said there was the fear that "Mr. Hoover might have some information to embarrass them."

Federal Holiday Causes Court To Delay Action

By DEBBIE PIERCE
 The Veterans' Day holiday Monday caused Midland County Commissioners to be unable to take action on an issue regarding the Community Development Block Grant program.

Jerry Tschann, director of planning at the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, appeared before the court and said he had been unable to speak to officials in the regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development because of the Monday holiday. Commissioners agreed to recess their meeting until Tschann could present them more information on the grant program.

A total of $11,000 was budgeted under the program, and the Midland court applied for $10,000 for improvements to roads in low income areas and $1,000 to improve the Valley View Community Center.

Judge Barbara Culver said the overall community development program included a housing assistance portion, but the court agreed not to participate in that portion. She said they were told at that time there were no funds available for that portion, so commissioners did not opt to do anything with it.

"We didn't shut the door on accepting the entire program, but apparently the regional officials in Dallas have interpreted us as unwilling to participate."

Marijuana Haul Stolen From Police

MERCEDES, Tex. (AP) — Texas Rangers are investigating the theft of almost 900 pounds of marijuana from the Mercedes Police Department, according to Police Chief Bob Park.

Park said some of his officers have taken polygraph (lie detector) tests and said he cannot be sure it was not "an inside job."

The chief said Monday officers confiscated the 894 pounds of marijuana in August at a home near Donna and arrested three Mercedes residents and an Edinburg resident. Officers discovered about two weeks ago that the marijuana was missing, he said.

The Marijuana was taken from the police department property room on the second floor of the police station, Park said.

Sadat Schedules Visit To Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat begins a 23-hour Houston area visit Friday.

Sadat is expected to arrive about 2:35 p.m. Friday by private plane at Ellington Air Force Base and then tour the nearby Johnson Space Center.

A dinner and reception is scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at a Houston hotel where Sadat will address area businessmen connected with the petroleum industry.

He is scheduled to visit the Glenloch Farms north of Houston Saturday morning for a barbecue, rodeo and a look at Arabian horses on the farms owned by Douglas B. Marshall.

His party is to leave Houston for Jacksonville, Fla. about 1 p.m. Saturday.

$15,000 Settles Oil Spill Claim

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County officials have agreed to accept $15,000 as settlement in a claim stemming from a 1972 oil spill in Galveston Bay.

The amount would be paid by the Lykes Steamship Co., Inc. and Big B Towboat Services.

Testimony Slated In Collins Trial

SHESTON, Tex. (AP) — Testimony was scheduled to begin in state district court here today in the trial of wealthy Dallas businessman Carr P. Collins III, who is charged with possession of cocaine.

A seven-woman, five-man jury was empaneled Monday to hear the case in Judge R. C. Vaughan's court.

Collins, a nephew of Rep. Jim Collins, R-Tex., was arrested with eight other persons last November at a Dallas apartment complex, allegedly after an undercover agent arranged a purchase of $10,000 worth of cocaine.

The case was transferred here from Dallas County because the defense successfully argued that there was extensive publicity about the case in Dallas.

EDITORIALS Chivalry Returns!

Chivalry is on the way back in America! This is the prediction offered in the 159th edition of Farmers Almanac...

Geiger theorized that chivalry departed the fashion scene about 25 years ago when young people started to deviate from traditional guidelines of morality.

He said that chivalry went out of style with the younger generation, and as a result, a whole lot of young people don't know how to treat women with affection.

Yes, chivalry is known and appreciated in West Texas, and it certainly should be appreciated in other parts of the nation.

Here are a few things that men are advised to do in this regard: Remove their hats while riding on an elevator with women passengers...

America will be an even better country with the return of chivalry—nationwide.

NICK THIMMESCH The New Breed Of Pedagogues 'Different'

WASHINGTON — A recent dispatch from Maryland's neighboring precincts tells how schoolteachers are dogging it because the local governors couldn't find enough money to pay a 10 per cent pay increase...

Nick Thimmesch

Why not put these quiet Jacobins on an hourly basis, possibly at minimum wage rates, and thereby save bundles of money?

Moreover, their number includes draft-dodgers from the Vietnamese war; young married birds panting for a second color TV and certainly not for offspring...

And there must be a spasm of compassion for what teachers have to face today in most classrooms — a gag of overfed, over-entertained, prosperous urchins, sired during some TV commercial, and forever beholden to that tyrannical machine's charms.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency's harassed director, William Colby, has written us a letter that deserves attention.

"The successful conduct of both intelligence and journalism," he contends, "depends upon the ability to protect sources. We are deprived of intelligence today, which we might have had but for sensational exposures of our activities, not our abuses.

The need for the press to occupy an adversary role was clear to America's founding fathers. That is why they made freedom of the press the first guarantee of the Bill of Rights.

Colby claims we misrepresented his views on Senate Bill No. 1, a 750-page monstrosity disguised as a codification of existing law, which would strangle in the crib the system of free inquiry we have today.

"You say that you want to make it a crime for newsmen to publish classified information. This is not so. The legislation I have recommended," Colby claims, "would apply only to those who gain authorized access to classified intelligence information."

He also states that any prosecution for unauthorized disclosure be subject to prior judicial review to ensure that

And your eyes shall see, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified from the border of Israel. — Malachi 1:5.

ART BUCHWALD Gun Stamp Program For Poor Advocated

WASHINGTON — Jonathan Spear and Michael Pettit have brought to my attention a statement from Harlan B. Carter of the National Rifle Association in defense of the "Saturday night special" handgun.

Carter told a House Judiciary subcommittee on crime, "It makes no sense to me why possession of a finely made $200 handgun owned by a decent law-abiding man of means should be legal, but ownership of a $40 handgun (Saturday night special) by an equally law-abiding resident of the inner city, who can't afford anything better to protect his family and home, should be a felony."

The federal government should institute immediately a gun stamp program for the poor. The program would work as follows: A family of four making less than $6,000 a year would apply for gun stamps at the local post office.

All the head of the family would have to produce is his income tax return, and if he qualifies as a "needy case" he would be given the equivalent of $200 in gun stamps which he could spend at any gun store for weapons and ammunition. The gun store would be reimbursed by the government for the stamps at 100 cents on the dollar.

classification of the information is not arbitrary or capricious.

Behind almost every important revelation of government wrongdoing in our time has been three ingredients: (1) the honest public employee who reveals the hidden truth; (2) the newsmen who verifies the story, fits it together with other information and publishes it, and (3) the official investigation that is thereby forced into being.

As we understand Senate One, it would nullify or impair each step in this process. First, it makes it a crime for public employees to reveal classified information. This is often a euphemism, of course, for embarrassing information their superiors would like to censor.

Second, the bill in its present form would make it a crime for a reporter to receive or publish "national defense information." The government would have the power, with some limitation, to define national defense information. Thus, the government could attach this classification to almost anything it didn't want the people to know.

Third, the bill provides a loophole for officials who break the law in line of duty if they believe they were acting lawfully, thereby weakening the incentives for official probes.

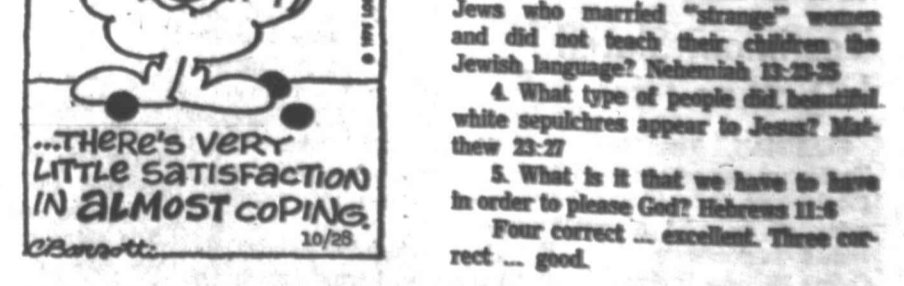

Our professional estimate is that this package would shut down the investigative press quite effectively. Remember how President Nixon tried to invoke the CIA and "national security" to cover up the Watergate scandal? Under Senate One, he would have gotten away with it.

There are legitimate defense secrets, as Colby suggests, which the government ought to be able to protect. Codes, nuclear secrets, plans for military operations, the identity of undercover agents, crucial data on weapons systems — all have a just claim to secrecy if they are not already known to the enemy.

But instead of defining narrowly the types of information that must not be revealed, instead of writing into Senate One the standards set by the Supreme Court for justifying news security of the United States — the bill relies on a long-discredited classification system.

The decision as to which parts of the people's business could not be divulged would be left to the caprice of innumerable bureaucrats.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pearl Bailey graced the "power on earth" and played a good role in the state dinner for Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

She got everyone into her act and both President Ford and Mrs. Betty Ford were in the White House when she sang "You'll Be So Easy to Love."

She closed down her performance of "Hello, Dolly" in Boston and came to the White House, where she always feels right at home. She was the guest of the Ford's twice before, entertained twice for the Nixon's and was a favorite of Presidents Johnson and Eisenhower.

She also knew the Egyptian president, having been a guest in Cairo in June 1974. At her performance in the East Room Monday night, she wore the First Order of Arts and Science decoration Sadat gave her.

Mrs. Bailey had hugs and kisses for everyone.

She started right out with an impromptu act, summing up to Oscar Statin from the audience to do a number with her.

Because of Sadat's business for the old West, the White House had planned to present Country and Western singer Johnny Cash. But when he became ill, the Ford's asked Mrs. Bailey, whom Ford described as "a person who always seems to come through when the pressure's on."

Mrs. Bailey had hugs and kisses for everyone.

She started right out with an impromptu act, summing up to Oscar Statin from the audience to do a number with her.

Before the festivities were over, Mrs. Bailey had kissed Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, got a big hug from Happy Rockefeller, and put the spotlight on another guest, actress Natalie Fabyer, to sing "Happy Birthday" to her.

Mrs. Bailey, who wears a hearing aid and works with the deaf, responded by singing a song in sign language.

Mrs. Bailey and her husband, drummer Louis Bellon, were overnight guests at the White House. But Pearl wouldn't go to bed until Susan Ford promised to show her some of the famous Ford puppets.

The two presidents, pulling on pipes, sat with their wives in the Blue Room to chat briefly during the evening.

One guest who left early came to say goodbye — Redd Foxx's coach George Allen. He explained to sports fan Ford: "I've got to get ready for Dallas," the forthcoming game for his team.

"You're getting better every week," Ford told the coach.

She picked yellow chrysanthemums out of the decorations to toss at him, finally giving him a white jet full as the song "You'll Be So Easy to Love."

Statin, who flew here from Paris for the occasion, was among the 200 dinner guests and 177 others who later joined them for the entertainment.

"She surprised me" when she pressed him into the act, Statin said.

Statin said Sadat was likewise caught by surprise when Mrs. Bailey whisked him from his front-row seat to dance. The visiting Egyptian President was blushing, Statin reported.

The Egyptians had requested the informality of business suits for the meal, an unusual thing for a state dinner.

And Mrs. Bailey helped the informality.

President Ford, still hunched from a cold and sinus infection, admitted "a week ago I was feeling stinking," while he danced until 1:30 a.m., long after most of the guests had gone.

Bentsen Will Run In Texas Primary

By STEPHEN M. ESKRIS
SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., riding his hopes for the Democratic presidential nomination into his home state says Texas is the only primary he has decided to enter so far.

However, he added he would double or triple to ten others later.

Bentsen, 71, grip-hatted and surrounded by tight security, talked about his campaign plans Monday during a round of speeches and meetings.

"I have not made any positive decisions on any of the primaries other than Texas. I'm already going to be in it one way or another," he said.

"One of the reasons I supported the Texas presidential primary was because I didn't want to see this decided in some smoke-filled room," Bentsen said. "I know how you spot some of these political manipulators out there because that's where they would like to do it in smoke-filled rooms."

Bentsen spent much of the day in San Antonio after a morning speech to the American Institute of Planners and a news conference.

Security was heavy. Secret Service, customs and local police dogged every move and closely checked newsmen.

"In these days and times, all you have to do is read yesterday's newspapers to see what public officials are up against," Bentsen said when asked about why he took Secret Service protection.

"Peppered by questions, Bentsen said:

"The federal government should not rescue New York City from its financial woes unless New York learns to live within its means and balance its budget."

"The natural gas deregulation bill which he co-authored would provide relief from this winter's expected natural gas shortages in the West and Northeast while not affecting Texas natural gas consumers."

"America's economy is the No. 1 issue in campaigning."

"The public is fed up with the confrontation between Congress and the President over a national energy policy."

The senator said the federal finance bank could buy up to two years of New York City securities if the city balances its budget, but that a tax penalty should be provided to keep other cities from seeking federal help with debts.

"New York City must learn to balance its budget, must learn to live within its means," he said.

Bentsen said also that his natural gas deregulation bill designed to remove federal price controls over a 10-year period would not greatly affect Texas this year.

"There would be no increase in the cost of natural gas to the homeowner for the period of time that the old gas laws, which should be many years," he said.

The Senate-passed bill is pending in the House.

He said the bill allowing purchase of surplus natural gas by interstate pipeline companies would help during the expected job crisis next winter resulting from an expected 1.3 trillion cubic foot natural gas shortfall.

"You're not going to solve all the problems with this piece of legislation," Bentsen said, "but it's going to help."

Theory Of Biorhythm Gains New Popularity

NEW YORK (AP) — Biorhythm, theoretical human cycles used to explain those in trouble ups and downs as they are being tested as the latest way to chart your way around physical, emotional and intellectual troubles.

Many scientists and psychologists say biorhythm theories are pure pseudo-scientific hank skills to straggle, but some believers and thousands of individuals are nevertheless preparing monthly biorhythm charts or having computers do it for them.

Proponents, many of them engaged in the business of selling biorhythm charts, claim biorhythm cycles begin at birth and can be plotted throughout life.

They say three rhythms — physical, emotional and intellectual — are fixed into cycles of 28, 28 and 33 days respectively. When drawn on a chart with the days of the month, the cycles appear as waves.

The average, the individual's birthdate is used to begin the chart, in addition to the month and year for which the information is sought. As the theory goes, there are six "critical" days each month when extra care should be used in one's action and thoughts. On the chart, these days appear where the curve crosses the middle of the chart.

Although first charted in the latter part of the 19th Century by Herman Swoboda, a Viennese psychologist, and later by Wilhelm Fliess, a Berlin physician, no one really knows how biorhythm originated or who came up with the fixed periods of 28, 28 and 33 days.

"I'm convinced these cycles exist," said George W. Hoak, vice president of Psi Rhythm, Inc. "Everyone seems to know they're there, but no one knows why they're there."

Hoak has sold over 2,000 kits at $25 each for plotting biorhythm curves. He said he started his firm after learning of Japan's interest in the subject and seeing a potential for profit.

The Omni Publishing Co. and other Japanese firms prepare biorhythm charts of their employees for use in accident prevention. One Japanese, his company posts the biorhythm charts of its drivers daily so they can see extra care or not drive at all when the curves are low or critical.

Bernard Gitelson, president of Biorhythm Computers, Inc., has devised a method for preparing biorhythm charts by computer. He has sold more than 30,000 charts at $9.95 for a 12-month chart and says he has been a consultant to corporations and airlines concerning the use of biorhythm for accident prevention.

"I find it valuable because we have been able to reduce accidents in factories by warning people not to work on critical days," he said. "I find doctors are able to almost predict when a schizophrenic will have a tantrum. I have teachers tell me they have given intelligence tests to students and tell me when they are intellectually high or intellectually low."

Connally Accuses News Media Of Misrepresenting Business

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally says the news media misrepresent big business and seldom depict a corporation in any light that might indicate it is something worthwhile.

He accused newsmen of falsely depicting corporate misconduct in the nation as the "norm and not the exception."

Connally told delegates to the Texas Association of Broadcasters Monday that the news media have misrepresented big business as polluters and price-gougers who are chiefly involved in making illegal campaign contributions, paying bribes to foreign governments and exploiting the American worker.

He specifically criticized the news reporting of federal regulatory actions against corporations, claiming that newsmen too often give credibility to government officials with "instant wisdom" and suspect businessmen of "the profit motive or something worse."

Connally, also a former U.S. Treasury secretary, said the news profession needs "a little caution and judgment and a clear understanding" of the issues, especially those concerning American economics and business.

"It is not often a corporation is depicted in any light that might indicate it is something worthwhile and possibly humanistic," said Connally.

He also criticized newsmen for what he called too much reliance on "public watchdog" organizations.

"All too often," he said, "media mouth their pronouncements against responsible institutions without ever asking for their credentials or motivations, or even whom they represent other than themselves."

He also criticized coverage of the recent presidential assassination attempts in California.

"There is some madness in the media as well," he said. "I question whether it is responsible journalism to make cover girls out of assassins, and to me it is absolute irresponsibility to report breathlessly on bullet-proof vests allegedly worn by the President."

He described these events and their coverage as "the dark side of human society which has become more pronounced due to the speed and sophistication of broadcast news."

Connally told the broadcasters that freedom of their profession already is limited by government regulatory agencies and that the restrictions could be even more severe under a different type of economic system.

"I suggest that we in this country are falling prey to the notion that free market practices are inherently bad and that government regulation is the panacea," he said.

"Your own experience with the Federal Communications Commission and the problems that the fairness doctrine have caused when it limited your freedom should give you a considerable inkling that governmental regulation is not necessarily a rational, fair and desirable process."

Ford, Fromme Lawyers Heading For Showdown

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Attorneys representing President Ford and a woman accused of trying to kill him head for a courtroom showdown today on a federal judge's order that Ford give video-taped testimony as a defense witness at her trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride scheduled the hearing on a Justice Department request to reconsider his order that Ford testify by video-taped deposition in behalf of Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, a follower of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson.

Miss Fromme, 27, is representing herself, but attorney John Virga was appointed co-counsel. Virga and Miss Fromme asked MacBride last week to order Ford to testify in person at her trial beginning Nov. 4. But the judge rejected that motion and instead ordered the President to give testimony by video-tape.

The Justice Department and the White House have said Ford is not opposed to testifying but is concerned about establishing a precedent that has been fought by presidents throughout history to avoid forcing chief executives to appear as witnesses in court cases.

Presidents Richard M. Nixon, James Monroe and Thomas Jefferson all fought subpoenas to testify in criminal trials.

Jefferson eventually submitted information for the trial of Aaron Burr but said he was doing so voluntarily, not in response to a court order. Monroe and Nixon both declined to appear in person but submitted written answers to questions used in criminal trials.

And on Oct. 17, 1974, Ford brushed aside interpretations of presidential privilege and voluntarily appeared before the House Judiciary Committee to testify about his decision to pardon Nixon.

Miss Fromme, 27, is accused of pointing a gun within arm's length of Ford as he walked near the California Capitol here Sept. 5. The gun was loaded, but there was no cartridge in the firing chamber.

Miss Fromme was arrested after a Secret Service agent said he wrestled a .45-caliber automatic pistol from her.

Virga said the prosecution will produce witnesses who said they heard the gun click before the agent grabbed Miss Fromme. But Virga said Ford was in the best position to say whether the gun clicked and whether Miss Fromme actually intended to shoot him.

Since Miss Fromme's arrest, another California woman has been charged with attempting to assassinate Ford. Sara Jane Moore, 45, is accused of firing a shot at Ford as he emerged from the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco on Sept. 22. The President was not hit.

Mrs. Moore was scheduled for arraignment today in San Francisco.

Rizzo Campaigns In Wheelchair

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Frank Rizzo came out of the hospital in a wheelchair for a political rally and his first public appearance since he broke his hip at an oil refinery fire earlier this month.

He was cheered enthusiastically by more than 2,000 Democrats at a $100-a-plate campaign fund-raising dinner Monday night in which he declared that he expects to win a second term by the biggest margin ever given a candidate in the city.

Rizzo was injured when he collided with a bodyguard as the two were fleeing an explosion at the refinery fire Oct. 12.

Liquor Checkups Net 53 Arrests

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A rash of inspections by the Texas Alcohol Beverage Commission and Fort Worth police ended with 53 arrests over the weekend after checks at 217 establishments.

Approximately 50 agents and policemen took part in the checks.

While police said the operation was "routine" and not a crackdown on taverns and lounges, officers said they could not recall when the state commission staged its last inspection here.

Many of the arrests were for public intoxication, said Bill Burks, Fort Worth district supervisor of the TABC.

Houston Project Start Scheduled

HOUSTON (AP) — Construction is scheduled to begin this week on a $200 million residential, commercial and industrial community project on a 265-acre site in northwest Houston.

The project, to be called Northwest Crossing, is a joint venture of Joe A. McDermott, Houston developer and investment builder, and the Northwest-Holister Corp.

McDermott is managing partner in charge of a 15-year development program for the property.

The first section is planned as a $40 million development of a 45-acre site and will be started this week and completed late in 1977.

Non-Edible 'Treats' Urged This Year

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County Commissioners have urged Trick-or-Treaters to limit their Halloween treats to non-edible items.

The court Monday amended a resolution passed last week to include a section asking parents and children alike to neither distribute nor accept food or candy.

By this time the defenders had taken nine tricks and were content to let declarer take the rest.

Play For Error
In a hand of this sort, play for the error. Just make sure that it's somebody else's error.

It's quite an art to discard properly on a long suit, and you shouldn't deprive the enemy of their chance to practice the art. Take the first club in dummy and run the diamonds, discarding a heart and two clubs from your hand.

The opponents must discard all of their clubs and do something cleverer things to beat you. The odds are very high that they won't.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: SA 9 5, BK 9 6 3, D-10 9 8 C 9 6 3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart. Show a suit at the level of one when the hand is worth a response. This is more informative than a response of one notrump.

Snow Storms Diminishing

By The Associated Press
Winter-like snow storms in Wyoming and Colorado diminished in intensity early today. Only light snow fell in the central Rockies and just east of the Continental Divide.

However, travel advisories for snow continued in the Cascade Mountains of Oregon.

Showers lingered from western Washington and Oregon into Idaho. A few light showers fell behind an eastward moving cold front from the upper plains into northern Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The air behind the front dropped temperatures about 25 degrees.

Thundershowers early this morning were confined to southern Louisiana and Florida. Patchy but locally dense fog was reported in sections of Wyoming, southern Texas and central Tennessee.

Skies were mostly clear from Southern California into Central Texas and from the Ohio Valley into New England.

Temperatures ranged from 14 at Evanston, Wyo., to 79 at Key West, Fla.

Seagraves Eagles May Earn First Grid Playoff Berth

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Seagraves, the state's top ranked Class A team, may be the first area eleven to earn a playoff berth in the state's run for grid roses.

The Eagles destroyed Stanton, 42-7, Friday in what most considered the game that would decide the District 5-A crown. Seagraves will take the week off this Friday, but can wrap up the title next week when they host Plains.

While Seagraves seems to be a shoo-in in 5-A, the other four area loops may wait until the final week of the season to decide a champion.

In District 7-AA, Crane's Golden Cranes took a giant step toward the loop crown with a 28-21 win over defending champion McCamey when Donald Jeffery returned a mid-air fumble by the Badgers for a 90-yard fourth period touchdown.

Ozona, however, is a major road block in 7-AA and kept pace with Crane Friday with a 11-7 victory over Sonora. Even Reagan County and McCamey can not be counted out of it since each has only one loop loss.

The Rankin Red Devils are another team that took a big victory Friday. The Devils escaped previously undefeated Balmorhea, 7-0, on Donnie Cole's TD, and share the top spot with Maria, who is not figured to make a strong run at the crown.

Rankin plays Maria Friday with a 28-21 win over defending champion McCamey a victory. This loop, however, will go down to the last week of play since Rankin meets Iraan on the last week of the season, and the Braves are not likely to lose another game between now and then.

Pecos, Seminole and Odessa Ector are still alive and kicking in the District 2-AAA race. Pecos and Seminole own 3-0 loop marks and undefeated 7-0 season records. Ector has a 2-1 district record.

Pecos and Seminole will battle Friday to solve who's in first place, but with Ector still in the picture, this loop may have to wait until all is said and done before playoff berths are awarded.

Lake View and Lubbock Estacado have just about narrowed the District 3-AAA field to a head-to-head battle. Lake View is 4-0 in loop action while Estacado is 3-0. They will wait another week before meeting.

Lamesa got into the win column for the first time Friday with a surprising 35-6 win over Brownfield. The Turcs can aid Lake View's cause Saturday when they play Estacado in Lubbock.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Lamesa's Eddy Pearson helped the Turcs end a six game losing streak Friday as he raced 15, 70 and 97 yards for touchdowns. Pearson had close to 200 yards rushing in that game and his 97-yard scamper is one of the longest TD runs in Lamesa football history. No other area player came close to matching Pearson's effort.

George "Sparky" Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds has been named National League Manager of the Year after a club record of 106 victories and the 1975 World Series championship. (AP Wirephoto)

Sparky Earns Landslide In NL Manager Ballot

NEW YORK (AP) — Sparky Anderson, the hard driver of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine, was named the National League Manager of the Year today.

Anderson, who spent the world championship title in their greatest season in history, was a runaway choice in the voting from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The popular 41-year-old manager won by a landslide 200-0 margin over Danny Murtagh, manager of the East-winning Pittsburgh Pirates.

John McNamara, who piloted the San Diego Padres to a fourth-place finish in the National League West, finished third with 20 votes while Philadelphia's Danny Chase was fourth with 18 and St. Louis' Red Schoendienst fifth with seven.

Anderson's well-earned title was the National League's highest honor. He was named the West by winning an average of 100 games, including a record 64 at home, and then polished off the Pirates in three easy games.

The tipping to Anderson's sweetest season came in the World Series, where the Reds defeated the Boston Red Sox in seven games to claim their first world title since 1957.

"A lot of people say it doesn't mean anything to them, but I can't say that," said the 61-year-old Anderson. "It's really thrilling. It'll be even a bigger thrill to the guys on my ball team."

"They'll really love it," Anderson, a strict, fair leader who allows no long hair or bad conduct by his players, has said.

Anderson's best winning percentage in baseball history— .688—was only this year's best in the history of a world championship.

Top Five Grid Teams Undefeated

By The Associated Press
Undefeated and untied teams monopolized the premier five spots in The Associated Press college football poll today, with Ohio State still holding a wide margin over second-ranked Oklahoma.

Ohio State, 7-0, had little trouble rolling over Big Ten rival Purdue 26-6, and 50 out of 61 voters were convinced of the Buckeyes' supremacy. Ohio State collected 1,180 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Oklahoma Sooners, 7-0, the defending national champions who haven't lost in their last 36 outings, drew eight first-place votes and 1,004 points after beating Iowa State 20-7, despite 13 fumbles.

Oklahoma's chief rival in the Big Eight, Nebraska, 7-0, continued to roll along undefeated, beating 100-branded Colorado 32-17. The Cornhuskers were checked off No. 1 by two voters, Nebraska's first two first-place ballots of the year, and moved up a notch into third place with 889 points.

Displaced Southern California, 7-0 and a 24-17 winner over stillborn Notre Dame, dropped into fourth with 800 points.

Also 7-0 is Texas A&M, which survived a scare from Baylor, winning 29-19. The Aggies total 622 points.

Arizona State, 7-0, the only undefeated team among the Top 10, finally made the grade, taking the No. 10 spot from Colorado following a 24-6 victory over Texas-El Paso. Arizona State collected 382 points.

Alabama, 6-1, which hasn't lost since its season opener against Missouri, stood sixth with 690 points after crushing Texas Christian 45-0. Michigan, 5-2, unbeaten but twice-killed, finished Indiana 35-7 and earned 394 points in the poll.

Texas, 6-1 and 5th place, held its No. 8 position after routing up Rice 41-0 and outdistanced Penn State, 7-1, blanked Army 24-0 and collected 620 points.

The "Big Ten" teams in the Associated Press poll today were: Ohio State, 7-0, 1,180 points; Oklahoma, 7-0, 1,004 points; Nebraska, 7-0, 889 points; Southern California, 7-0, 800 points; Texas A&M, 7-0, 622 points; Alabama, 6-1, 690 points; Michigan, 5-2, 394 points; Indiana, 3-5, 394 points; Texas, 6-1, 620 points; Penn State, 7-1, 620 points.

Johnson Rises Above Critics

BOSTON (AP) — As a rookie manager in 1974, Derrill Johnson was blamed by critics for the collapse of the Boston Red Sox in the final six weeks of the baseball season.

This year, blessed with young talent, Johnson turned things around, leading the Red Sox to a pennant and to within one victory of the World Series championship.

For his leadership, Johnson was named Monday the American League's Manager of the Year by The Associated Press.

In his first season as a major league manager, Johnson went from being bitterly disappointed that the Red Sox let the AL East by seven games in the fourth week of August, then went into a nightmarish slump to finish behind the Orioles and the Yankees.

"We got hit with some key injuries last year, and quite frankly, we just didn't have the talent to win," Johnson said. "This year things were different. We had the talent."

"In spring training, we were given a month of a chance. The many people believed we were a contender. I wasn't making any predictions, but I honestly believed we had a winning ball club."

"I know we had that in each outstanding young players on our team. Jim Rice, Dwight Gooden and Rick Burdett. They were just what they did for us this year. I was confident, but that's what you would expect. I had a lot of faith in them."

Johnson's only problem in getting that energy in his team...

Bulldog Boosters Meeting Tonight

The Midland High Bulldog Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today and view the great 7-0 victory film over the San Angelo Bobcats.

Coach John Reddell will give a scouting report on the Odessa High Broncos, Midland's homecoming opponent Friday night in Memorial Stadium.

Midland, with a 5-2 season record and 3-1 District 5-4A reading, meets the dangerous Bronchos who stand 4-3 and 2-2. Midland still is in the running for the 5-4A title.

AP Tabs Hayes For Performance

By The Associated Press
Lester Hayes, Texas A&M's strong safety, went from hero of the day to The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week in the span of about 15 minutes Saturday at Kyle Stadium.

The 6-foot-2, 200-pound Hayes, who was a backup linebacker behind Ed Simmons, last year committed a grievous sin early in Texas A&M's 19-10 victory over Baylor.

Hayes came up too fast and Baylor tight end Ron Lee caught a short pass and turned it into an 87-yard touchdown pass play.

"Sometimes Lester is just too damn aggressive," said Texas A&M assistant coach Melvin Robertson, who simply has the best defensive in the nation.

"Baylor tried that play two more times and it didn't work because Lester was there he was supposed to be."

Then Hayes' 9.5 speed and fierce competitiveness rang the scoreboard for the touchdown that put Baylor away with the score tied 10-10. Hayes fielded a fumble in the air and dashed 77 yards for a touchdown.

"Lester made a quick reaction as Simmons and Tank Marshall put the hit on Baylor substitute quarterback Charlie Parker," said Robertson. "He can't."

The junior defensive back has the speed of a flasher but his like a linebacker.

"Now, Lester sometimes looks up more than I like but he

Louisville Swimmers Earn Pan-Am Medals

LOUISVILLE (AP) — A was good enough to break the most record by five seconds.

The swimmers were also told at training camp to expect an American sentiment among spectators at the games.

"They heard the first night during the relay but after that it settled down," Miss Wright said. "Because the coaches talked to us about it, we looked for it and didn't let it bother us."

Miss Boone said the way some of the spectators expressed their opinion helped. "When they cheered, it meant the same thing as a boo to them, but to us, the whistling meant we were doing okay."

"We needed somebody to yell for us so we yelled for each other," she said. "I think it helped."

Both swimmers said they had found Mexican people helpful and friendly despite the chilly reception from some of the spectators at the Games.

Greenwood Sweeps Midland Christian

GREENWOOD — Greenwood's junior high and Pee Wee teams swept four basketball games from Midland Christian Monday.

Greenwood took the boys' junior high contest, 47-35, with Rex Evans scoring 15 points, and the Greenwood girls won, 24-13 with Janyne Holiday hitting 22 points.

In Pee Wee action, Greenwood won the boys' outing, 28-8, and the Greenwood girls won, 24-5.

Dorchester Plans Wildcat, Reentry

Dorchester Exploration Co., Inc., operating from Midland, has scheduled a wildcat, and made plans to reenter a failure in Crockett County.

No. 1-B Massie West is slated to be drilled as an 8,400-foot searcher for Ellenburger gas, 13 miles north of Ozona.

It is a north offset to the depleted Ellenburger oil opener of the Ozona, North field, and spots 4,300 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of Runnels CSL survey 1.

Reentry Set

Dorchester will clean out to 8,200 feet at the former Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-A W. E. West Estate, 8,246-foot failure, 2 1/2 miles northeast of the Ozona, North area.

It was abandoned in July, 1965.

Location is 2,500 feet from north and west lines of Runnels CSL survey 1, 12 miles north of Ozona.

Cee Vee Sector Gains New Test

Perkins-Prothro Co., Wichita Falls, staked site for a 3/4-mile northeast offset to the recently opened one-well Cee Vee (Pennsylvanian reef) field of Cottle County.

It is No. 3 Carroll, 990 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 5, F. P. Knott survey, 10 miles northwest of Paducah. Scheduled depth is 5,000 feet.

The discovery, Perkins-Prothro No. 2-A Carroll, finished Oct. 1, for 84 barrels of 39-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 4,706-4,708 feet.

Shallow Project Staked In Basin

Burmah Oil & Gas Co. of Midland plans to drill a 1,000-foot cable tool venture in Tom Green County, as No. 2 Julia Kennemer.

It spots 124 feet south of the firm's No. 1 Julia Kennemer, recently completed reopener of the Kennemer, East (Cisco) oil field.

Drill site is 724 feet from northeast and 660 feet from west lines of F. Lambrecht survey 637, abstract 1629, five miles northeast of Carlsbad.

Tannehill Field Producer Finals

Sauder, Strange and WECO of Wichita Falls has completed No. 14-N Alexander as a new producer in the Croton (Tannehill) field of King County.

It produced 31 barrels of 36-gravity oil per day, with gas-oil ratio of 2,061-1, on the 24-hour potential test, taken through perforations at 3,098-3,110 feet.

Location is 750 feet from south and 2,050 feet from west lines of section 69, block F, H&TC survey, 20 miles southeast of Guthrie.

Spanish Government Pressured To Name Prince Head Of State

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Pressure increased today on the Spanish government to name Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon chief of state, though Generalissimo Francisco Franco clung to life and was reported in slightly improved condition.

A midday medical bulletin said the 82-year-old Franco's fever had disappeared and his blood pressure was normal. It said that cardiac rhythm was stable at 80 beats per minute, and signs of congestive cardiac insufficiency had been reduced.

However, it added: "Intestinal hemorrhaging has not disappeared. Gravity continues."

A morning bulletin said he had a quiet night, and a Monday night bulletin said he had passed a peaceful afternoon and requested food.

live through the night Sunday. Franco rallied early Monday. A spokesman at his Pardo Palace said he, talked with his daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren during the afternoon. The spokesman commented that he was "tranquil and lucid."

One medical expert said that even the slight improvement in Franco's condition after a week of heart attacks and other complications was "medically incredible." But even though he recovered from a near-fatal attack of phlebitis in July 1974, there was no expectation that this time he could resume control of the country again.

For the moment, the Spanish government rocked along under its own momentum.

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and his cabinet are transacting the day-to-day routine of government as usual. The country is quiet, with terrorist activity at a standstill, and the only major foreign policy problem, the Spanish Sahara, is under negotiation and appears to be headed for a peaceful solution.

However, under the Spanish constitution, major decisions can only be taken at a cabinet meeting at which the chief of state presides, and all decrees must be signed by him before they can become effective.

Franco has been too ill to exercise active control of the government only once before in the 36 years of his dictatorship, when he had phlebitis last year. At that time he turned over his powers temporarily to Prince Juan Carlos, his designated heir, but he took them back after 40 days when he recovered.

Hearings Open On Busing Ban Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both the Ford administration and Congress are taking a new look at forced busing as a means of achieving school integration.

As a Senate panel opens hearings today on proposed constitutional amendments that would ban forced busing altogether, administration officials are reviewing possible alternatives to busing.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.,

disclosed at a news conference Monday that President Ford has ordered the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to "extensively review" options.

Tower met with Ford for 30 minutes Monday and later told reporters the President "agreed with me that forced busing to achieve racial balance is counterproductive."

However, Tower said Ford did not suggest any specific alternatives to busing and refused to endorse his proposed constitutional amendment that would forbid busing for racial purposes.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is holding two days of hearings on Tower's and three similar proposed amendments. The witnesses before the panel include University of Chicago sociologist James Coleman.

It was a report by Coleman in 1966 for the U.S. Office of Education that provided an underpinning for busing to achieve desegregation, with its finding that children from disadvantaged backgrounds performed somewhat better when they attended school with children from more affluent homes.

recently said he now believes the disadvantages of forced busing may outweigh the advantages.

The hearings follow an anti-busing demonstration here this weekend in which thousands of union members, mostly from Kentucky, staged a peaceful march on the Capitol.

Even if the committee approves one of the proposed constitutional amendments, past

Tower told reporters on Monday that in his meeting with Ford "the President expressed the view that there had not been an adequate Supreme Court test" of alternatives to busing.

Tower said that while the President did not feel he could support any of the proposed constitutional amendments, he "did not express opposition" and said he was asking the Justice Department and HEW to conduct the review of busing and its alternatives.

Medicos Still Walking Picket Lines In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Doctors and interns continued to walk picket lines at Cook County Hospital early today and said they were undecided about whether to honor a court order barring their day-old walkout in a contract dispute.

"Because of the complexities of the legal situation, we are compelled to refrain from making any statement as regards the restraining order at this time," House Staff Association members said in a statement issued after a five-hour meeting Monday night.

Circuit Court Judge Donald O'Brien issued a temporary restraining order against the walkout earlier Monday, saying it could have a "catastrophic" effect on health care in the county. The facility is one of the largest public hospitals in the nation.

A spokesman said 490 of the hospital's 525 house staff phys-cians participated in the walkout Monday and refused to treat any new cases except emergencies.

The job action, first of its kind at the hospital, was called after federal mediation failed to produce a contract settlement. At issue are salary, fringe benefits, union security and patient care.

The association says the main stumbling block in negotiations has been the hospital governing commission's "refusal to discuss patient care." The commission has said patient care cannot be negotiated.

House staff members currently earn $11,000 to $15,200 annually, depending on their level of training. The hospital has offered yearly increases of $1,400 to $2,225.

Hospital officials said there was a "noticeable drop" in emergency room traffic, but (See STRIKE Page 2A)

LATE BULLETINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge in imported oil eroded the nation's foreign trade balance last month, but the U.S. still managed to record its eighth consecutive monthly surplus, the government said today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A suit seeking $500 million in damages was filed in federal court today against present and former officials of the Central Intelligence Agency and National Security Agency for their surveillance of antiwar radicals and other dissidents.

Expected NYC Bailout Bill May Irk City, State Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee is expected to approve federal aid for New York City this week, but it may not contain the kind of help that New York officials are seeking.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., and committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., met Monday night to discuss their differences over proposed aid plans, and Proxmire said he was hopeful a compromise would be reached this week so a bill can be reported to the Senate.

But Proxmire, who has been the guiding force behind committee efforts to get an aid bill to the floor, continued to insist that any measure that comes from his panel will contain a provision requiring New York State to levy a special tax to aid the troubled city. State officials have scorned such a proposal.

Meanwhile, the House economic stabilization subcommittee is to hear today from Treasury Secretary William E. Simon as it continues hearings on a possible New York City default. The panel is expected to wrap up its hearings today and report a bill to the full committee Wednesday.

Fifteen members of the New York congressional delegation reserved time this afternoon on the House floor to talk about the city's crisis.

What the Senate Banking Committee will produce depends largely on Stevenson, who last Friday got the panel to delay final action so he could explore alternatives to the aid bill under consideration. The bill would provide the city with $6 billion in federal loan guarantees.

Stevenson's role was underscored last week by Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., who said that if Stevenson opposes whatever bill comes out of the Banking Committee, it could mean 10 or 15 votes on the floor would be lost in efforts to end an expected filibuster.

Proxmire and Stevenson met for an hour Monday night and Proxmire later said he was hopeful that an agreement could be worked out. He said he agreed with Stevenson's proposal to restructure New York's debt, but he said there were areas of disagreement between them. He and Stevenson declined to say what they were.

Among areas explored by Stevenson over the weekend was a federal loan guarantee with the amount based on the size of private investments. Stevenson also checked the possibility of allowing investors to exchange short-term city notes (See NEW YORK Page 2A)

Sadat To Meet With Defense Chief In Quest For U.S. Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat resumes his quest for American weapons after praising President Ford for moving toward "an even-handed policy in the Middle East."

Sadat calls first today on Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger at the Pentagon, then has a second session with Ford at the White House.

At a state dinner in his honor on Monday night, Sadat said U.S. relations with his country have improved because of "a greater degree of American understanding of our just cause and our legitimate struggle to establish peace in the area."

He urged Ford to boost creation of a Palestinian state — "Are they not entitled to their national rights like all other peoples?"

that the United States will not dissent from this irreversible trend.

His appeal went unanswered. But Ford, speaking first, stressed that "there can be no peace until the legitimate interests of all people in the Middle East are taken fairly into account."

U.S. policy has been to oppose Palestinian participation in Middle East negotiations until Israel's right to exist is accepted.

Sadat, obviously mindful of that policy, played on the Palestinian theme both at the White House dinner and earlier at an appearance before the National Press Club.

to praise Sadat for a "vigorous pursuit of peace." He called Sadat, the first Egyptian leader to make an official U.S. visit, a man of courage, wisdom, sincerity and moderation.

Once totally dependent on Moscow for arms, Sadat now is turning to the United States and Europe for assistance. Sadat denied bringing a "shopping list" with him, however, and said his 11-day visit is "mainly to meet the American people and let them know our ideas."

He urged the United States to be more forceful in promoting an Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights border with Syria. And he called for the internationalization of the entire city of Jerusalem, the capital of Israel.

As Sadat held his first meeting with Ford on Monday, about 300 Arab and Iranian students demonstrated in front of the White House.

Gas Pump Prices Spurt Since July 4

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices for regular grade gasoline have increased by a nationwide average of 8.1 per cent since the July 4 weekend, but the government has tried to suppress figures showing the rapid climb, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said today.

Aspin said the figures were compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics but were suppressed by the Labor Department. He said he obtained a copy of the price report from a disgruntled department employee.

Asked why the statistics were not released, a spokesman for the Wisconsin congressman blamed "bureaucratic inertia" or a desire not to publicize the rapidity of the price spiral.

The data showed that prices for premium-grade gasoline have increased 7.3 per cent nationwide since July and fuel oil was up 3.6 per cent. According to the data, regular (See GASOLINE Page 2A)

Pearl Bailey Stars At State Dinner

By FRANCES LEWINE
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Pearl Bailey promoted "peace on earth" and plenty of goodwill as the pinch-hit entertainer at a White House state dinner for Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

She got everyone into her act and both President Ford and Sadat danced with her, to the delight of the VIP audience. She even kissed Sadat on both cheeks.

She borrowed Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller's baton to read her music and later suggested to him that she'd like to keep the eyeglasses as a souvenir.

"You've got 'em," said the vice president. And Pearl, who once took home a White House chair when she performed before President Richard M. Nixon, walked out with her latest acquisition.

It was all part of a warm and cordial reception being given Monday night by the Ford administration for Sadat, the first Egyptian leader to make a state visit to the United States.

Because of Sadat's fondness for the old West, the White House had planned to present Country and Western singer Johnny Cash. But when he became ill, the Ford's asked Miss Bailey, whom Ford described as "a person who always seems to come through when the pressure's on."

She closed down her performance of "Hello, Dolly" in Boston and came to the White House, where she always feels right at home. She was the guest of the Ford's twice before, entertained them for the Nixon's and was a favorite of Presidents Johnson and Eisenhower too.

She also knew the Egyptian president, having been a guest in Cairo in June 1974. At her performance in the East Room Monday night, she wore the First Order of Arts and Science decoration Sadat gave her.

Miss Bailey had hugs and kisses for everyone.

She started right out with an impromptu act, summoning actor Omar Sharif from the audience to do a number with her.

her. She picked yellow chrysanthemums out of the decorations to toss at him, finally giving him a whole pot full as she sang, "You'd Be So Easy to Love."

Sharif, who flew here from Paris for the occasion, was among the 130 dinner guests and 117 others who later joined them for the entertainment.

"She surprised me" when she pressed him into the act, Sharif said.

Sharif said Sadat was likewise caught by surprise when Miss Bailey whisked him from his front-row seat to dance. The visiting Egyptian President was blushing, Sharif reported.

The Egyptians had requested the informality of business suits for the men, an unusual thing for a state dinner.

And Miss Bailey helped the informality.

President Ford, still hoarse from a cold and sinus infection, admitted "a week ago I was feeling stinking," while he danced until 1:30 a.m., long after most of the guests had gone.

Before the festivities were over, Miss Bailey had kissed Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, got a big hug from Happy Rockefeller, and put the spotlight on another guest, actress Nanette Fabray, to sing "Happy Birthday" to her.

Miss Fabray, who wears a hearing aid and works with the deaf, responded by singing a song in sign language.

Miss Bailey and her husband, drummer Louis Bellson, were overnight guests at the White House. But Pearl wouldn't go to bed until Susan Ford promised to show her some of the famous Ford puppies.

The two presidents, puffing on pipes, sat with their wives in the Blue Room to chat briefly during the evening.

One guest who left early came to say goodbye — Redskins football coach George Allen. He explained to sports fan Ford: "I've got to get ready for Dallas," the forthcoming game for his team.

"You're getting better every week," Ford told the coach.

Bentsen Will Run In Texas Primary

By STEVEN M. EAMES
 SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., riding his hopes for the Democratic presidential nomination into his home state, says Texas is the only primary he has picked to enter so far.

However, he added he would decide on eight to ten others later.

Bentsen, trim, gray-haired and surrounded by tight security, talked about his campaign plans Monday during a round of speeches and meetings.

"I have not made any positive decisions on any of the primaries other than Texas. I'm obviously going to be in this one and probably in eight or ten others," the senator said.

"One of the reasons I supported the Texas presidential primary was because I didn't want to see this decided in some smoke-filled room," Bentsen said. "I know how upset some of these political manipulators are because that's where they would like to do it (in smoke-filled rooms)."

Bentsen spent much of the day in San Antonio after a morning speech to the American Institute of Planners and a news conference.

Security was heavy. Secret Service, customs and local police dogged every move and closely checked newsmen.

"In these days and times, all you have to do is read yesterday's newspapers to see what public officials are up against," Bentsen said when asked about why he took Secret Service protection.

Peppered by questions, Bentsen said:

"The federal government should not rescue New York City from its financial woes unless New York learns to live within its income and balances its budget."

"The natural gas deregulation bill which he co-authored would provide relief from this winter's expected natural gas shortages in the West and Northeast while not affecting Texas natural gas consumers."

"America's economy is the No. 1 issue in campaigning."

"The public is fed up with the confrontation between Congress and the President over a national energy policy."

The senator said the federal finance bank could buy up to two years of New York City securities if the city balance its budget, but that a tax penalty should be provided to keep other cities from seeking federal help with debts.

"New York City must learn to balance its budget, must learn to live within its income," he said.

Bentsen said also that his natural gas deregulation bill designed to remove federal price controls over a 10-year period would not greatly affect Texans this year.

"There would be no increase in the cost of natural gas to the homeowner for the period of time that the old gas lasts, which should be many years," he said.

The Senate-passed bill is pending in the House.

He said the bill allowing purchase of surplus natural gas by interstate pipeline companies would help during the expected job crisis next winter resulting from an expected 1.3 trillion cubic foot natural gas shortfall.

"You're not going to solve all the problems with this piece of legislation," Bentsen said, "but it's going to help."

Theory Of Biorhythm Gains New Popularity

NEW YORK (AP) — Biorhythms, theoretical human cycles used to explain those familiar ups and downs of life, are being touted as the latest way to chart your way around physical, emotional and intellectual troubles.

Many scientists and psychologists say biorhythm theories are pure pseudo-scientific bunk akin to astrology, but some industries and thousands of individuals are nevertheless preparing monthly biorhythm charts or having computers do it for them.

Proponents, many of them engaged in the business of selling biorhythm charts, claim biorhythm cycles begin at birth and can be plotted throughout life.

They say three rhythms — physical, emotional and intellectual — are fixed into cycles of 23, 28 and 33 days respectively. When drawn on a chart with the days of the month, the cycles appear as curves.

Like astrology, the individual's birthdate is needed to begin the chart, in addition to the month and year for which the information is sought. As the theory goes, there are six "critical" days each month when extra care should be used in one's action and thoughts. On the chart, these days appear where the curve crosses the middle of the chart.

Although first charted in the latter part of the 19th Century by Herman Swoboda, a Viennese psychologist, and later by Wilhelm Fleiss, a Berlin physician, no one really knows how biorhythm originated or who came up with the fixed periods of 23, 28 and 33 days.

"I'm convinced these cycles exist," said George W. Hoak, vice president of Psi Rhythms, Inc. "Everyone seems to know they're there, but no one knows why they're there."

Hoak has sold over 2,000 kits at $1.95 each for plotting biorhythm curves. He said he started his firm after learning of Japan's interest in the subject and seeing a potential for profit.

The Omni Railway Co. and other Japanese firms prepare biorhythm charts of their employees for use in accident prevention. One Japanese bus company posts the biorhythm charts of its drivers daily so they can use extra care or not drive at all when the curves are low or critical.

Bernard Gittelsohn, president of Biorhythm Computers, Inc., has devised a method for preparing biorhythm charts by computer. He has sold more than 50,000 charts at $9.95 for a 12-month chart and says he has been a consultant to corporations and airlines concerning the use of biorhythms for accident prevention.

"I find it valuable because we have been able to reduce accidents in factories by warning people not to work on critical days," he said. "We find doctors are able to almost predict when a schizophrenic will have a tantrum. I have teachers tell me they have given intelligence tests to students and tell me when they are intellectually high or intellectually low."
