Konjola Amazes Houston Man

"Konjola Is The Greatest Medicine I Ever Used," Says Houston Man, Age 80

MR. H. R. BARTLETT

I was in failing health for five years," said Mr. H. R. Bartlett, 4312 San Jacinto street, Houston. "I felt tired and worn out all the time. I suffered with rheumatism in my hands and fingers. The joints were stiff and sore, and, at my age, I thought there was no medicine to help me for I had tried many.

Konjola gave me a welcome surprise. I should have taken it much sooner. My strength has returned and I feel much better in every way. Rheumatism in my hands and the stiffness in my fingers has passed. Konjola is the greatest medicine I ever used and I am glad to recommend it to everyone. Even though Konjola has won many remarkable victories over ailments of the aged, it can just as readily be given to infants for it is free from alcohol or harmful drugs.

Konjola is sold in Muleshoe at Collins pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

At a late hour the party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bledsoe where the young hostesses again served the guests with a midnight pate luncheon with Russian tea. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Lust and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ditch and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bledsoe and children, and the two hostesses, Misses Billy Jones and Grace Jennings.

Those enjoying the day with the Burtons were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Matthews and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Raper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Roberts and family, Mrs. Eva Abney and Mr. Chas. Burton.

On account of the holidays, most of the news is late and it was impossible to get all of it so the reporter wishes to announce that she will try to bring all the news down to date next week.

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

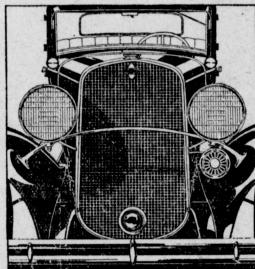

Strikingly beautiful, fleet and smart — a masterpiece of Fisher styling

In the entire field of modern coachcraft no symbol has come to mean more to the buyer of a motor car than Body by Fisher. And never has Fisher's superiority been more strikingly exemplified than in the beautiful new bodies of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six!

Working with the added advantage of a lengthened wheelbase, Fisher designers have been able to achieve in the new Chevrolet a degree of smartness, comfort and impressiveness hitherto considered exclusive to cars far higher in price.

Inside and out, you will discover scores of refinements that stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar have been artistically grouped to create an unusually attractive and distinctive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back from the graceful new radiator in an unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new colors, in carefully devised combinations, lend a new individuality.

Front view of the new Chevrolet Sport Coupe

Interiors, too, are exceptional in every way. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is tailored with exceptional smartness. Seats are wider and deeper and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision for both driver and passengers. And beautiful new hardware, of modern design, lends a final note of charm.

The greater quality and beauty of the new Chevrolet-Fisher bodies have a counterpart in the many improvements which have been provided in the chassis of this Bigger and Better Six. Among these improvements are a longer, deeper, stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a quieter, smoother-shifting transmission; and engine refinements which make the new Chevrolet a car you will be happy to drive—as well as proud to own.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six is now on display in our showrooms. See it today—drive it—and learn for yourself that it is the Great American Value!

STEPHEN
 Acts 6:7-10; 7:54-60.
 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

Will it work; is a question that many ask when the ideals of Christianity are presented. The best answer it to turn to the lives of attitudes of Jesus in their daily experiences. Stephen is one of the first to do this very thing and has the distinction of being called the earliest Christian martyr. Leaders in Jerusalem followed closely the activities of all propagandists just as the authorities do today in any country with an orderly form of government. And yet the mind must always be open to a fuller understanding of truth since the realm of facts can never be regarded as a closed book.

Stephen comes into prominence when the necessity of church organization arose. A poor fund was tharted for part of the teachings of Jesus called for distribution by those who had any excess to those who were in need of daily bread.

Soon this servant of God became a marked man and was regarded as dangerous by those who were determined to stop the progress of this radical teaching of brotherly love that had been announced by Jesus.

The case was tried before the Sanhedrian and Stephen had to make his defense before the Seventy. He showed them that Jesus was the long looked for Messiah, and that He had been treated with base consideration, even as their forefathers had despised the instructions of the prophets. When the judges could not deny the facts they determined to kill the messenger. Sentence of death by stoning was pronounced and it was executed outside the city wall. In the midst of his death throes he prays as did Jesus, "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge."

BANKING BUSINESS

It is generally assumed that every bank wants as many depositors as it can get, and that the more depositors it has the greater its profits will be. It will be somewhat of a surprise then to learn that at least one Texas bank, the First National Bank of Arlington, has announced it will accept no more deposits, and has even gone farther by asking its depositors to withdraw their accounts.

After due consideration and careful investigation, this bank has discovered that handling the money of their depositors was a serious drain on their profits, and that in the future they would loan only their own money. Any banking institution that is strong enough to establish such a policy is to be congratulated; but that is not the point of this editorial.

It is simply this: banks often receive much criticism because they will not loan money to every Tom, Dick and Harry. Frequently the public fails to recognize that the first duty of the average bank is toward its depositors in protecting the money entrusted to their care. Most bankers loan a certain per cent of their deposits. If they did not it would be of no value to them for people to deposit money in their institution. Every banker owes it to his patrons to do a sane, conservative business. The loans he makes must be adequately secured, else under a stress of unforeseen circumstances the concern may collapse. The banker generally knows the details of his business better than the average citizen not connected with the institution.

and uses the collaborated good judgment of his directory in handling the business of his bank in the most safe and efficient manner possible.

Because one or two men fail to get a much needed and wanted loan from their bank is no good reason to condemn the institution in toto. Banks invariably want to help their patrons and assist the community as much as possible, but their transaction, like any other, and even more so, must be conducted along the lines of sane conservatism, looking to the protection of the depositors and stockholders, and in keeping with the approved principles of good business.

There are always two sides to every question, and no banker should be unduly criticised or condemned until both sides of any proposition are thoroughly understood.

THE COMMUNITY CO-OP.

Most present day newspapers show a decided improvement in many ways over those published 15 or 20 years ago, and in most cases where this is true it has been in towns that have appreciated their newspapers, stood squarely back of them and rendered every assistance possible to those papers in promoting the interests of the towns they represent.

A newspaper can be the town's greatest asset toward civic improvement, and in uniting the citizens together in enthusiastic co-operative activity. In the final analysis, a newspaper is generally as good as its people make it. Its activities will be helpful and its influence will be strong in proportion to the support it receives.

The more printing of news is only one phase of the newspaper's function. It must also be back of every worthy enterprise and every local institution that is for community good. This is exactly the purpose of the Journal, and no citizen will ever find it lacking in this important duty.

In reciprocity for this duty your home newspaper is justly entitled to the support of its citizens—support both moral and financial. No newspaper can be produced without funds, and the better the financial support it receives the better paper it can give the community.

From week to week the Journal has been making and will continue to make suggestions looking toward the betterment of Muleshoe and Bailey County. Your assistance in bringing to pass these and other suggestions will mean much toward the development of this section, and in co-operating thus your teamwork will react to the mutual benefit of all residents.

THE H. D. AGENT

The interests among the women toward securing a home demonstration agent for Bailey County is highly commendable. A home demonstration agent is of as much benefit to the women as a county farm agent is to the men, while their activities complementing each other increases the results of both.

The benefits to be derived from home demonstration agents have long ago been proven. In this immediate section the counties of Hockley, Lamb, Castro and others, who have had such agents employed for the past year or more would not now think of releasing them. They have earned their salaries over and over again.

The Journal believes the Commissioners' court will do itself proud to authorize a home demonstration agent for Bailey County. It will be money well spent. In fact, one of the best financial investments the county's officials could make for their constituents.

Jaunty Journalettes

A Georgia judge has ruled that a man has a legal right to rule his own home. The Journal is willing to go a little farther in saying that any Muleshoe man has a legal right to play tag with a bob cat.

A Muleshoe citizen remarked to us the other day that his wife was very broadminded. "She can see two sides to every question," he said, "her own and her mother's."

We have recently discovered there are some people even in Muleshoe who apparently think old-fashioned religion is out of date. The kind of religion they want now days is one that can be plugged into a light socket or turned on or off like a gas stove.

One of Muleshoe's prominent citizens was driving down Main street a few days ago, when he accidentally struck the rear of another auto just ahead of him. Both cars stopped and the Muleshoe citizen got out to see what damage, if any, he had possibly done to the car ahead of him. It was occupied by a woman.

"Didn't you see me stick out my hand," she said angrily. "No, madam, I beg your pardon, but I didn't," he replied. "Well, if it had been my leg, you'd have seen it," she said, and drove away.

The lives of most Muleshoe women are divided into two periods. The first she spends looking for a husband, and the second is spent looking after him.

A couple of little Muleshoe girls were discussing the devil at Sunday school a week or so ago. "Do you believe in a devil," one of them asked the other. "No," promptly replied the other. "It's just like Santa Claus, he's your father."

The editor of this widely read newspaper is a great commoner imbued with a consuming desire to be of assistance to human nature, yet sometimes the task is difficult and perplexing. For instance, the other day a subscriber wrote in wanting to know what he could get for his wife on their wedding anniversary. That question was certainly a poser. He didn't give us any description of his wife at all. If he had told us how many anniversaries he had kept her, and what offers he had received, if any, we might have been able to assist him in the transaction.

W. M. U. MEETING

The W. M. U. of the First Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. J. L. Alsop Monday afternoon, having ten members present. The president, Mrs. L. S. Barron, read the 14th chapter of Proverbs for the devotional, it being a very lovely and appropriate chapter as we need to understand each other more.

Our pastor, Rev. C. A. Joiner, had charge of the Bible study, using Genesis 25th to 29th chapters inclusive for the lesson, it being a very interesting discussion.

Following Bible study the regular business was taken care of and then the meeting adjourned to meet at the church next Monday for an all-day meeting to observe prayer for foreign Missions with a program. Each one is urged to bring a covered dish. At four o'clock in the afternoon we will have the pleasure of listening to Bro. M. O. Cheek, a returned missionary from China, who is speak to us.

All ladies are cordially invited to be with us. Don't forget our Christmas Bazaar on December 13th.

The Way Of Life

By BRUCE BARTON

Three interesting and very different experiences occurred one Sunday last fall.

In the morning we sat in the chapel of an historic academy in New England and, while the preacher prayed, we peeked a little. Our eyes wandered over the bowed heads of the boys; our imaginations were busy with thoughts of what might be in store for them.

Riding back to New York on the train we read an impressive speech by the President of the United States.

When the train stopped at Hartford we looked out of the window to see a crowd filling the air with rice and confetti, and presently an embarrassed but happy young couple hurried thru the car into a drawing room.

Of these events—the prayer in the academy chapel, the speech of Mr. Hoover, the marriage of an unknown and apparently common-place young couple—which was the most important? Which will leave the most lasting impression on history?

No one can possibly tell. If every child and every happening were labeled "This is important" or "This is unimportant" the business of living would soon lose its zest. The eternal uncertainty of it keeps it exciting.

For example, a King of England, coming down from Scotland, stopped for refreshment at a little town called Scotchby. The young man who waited on the table was so obscure that the king probably never noticed him. But who is more important in the light of history, the weak King James I of England or the strong young man William Brewster who sailed on the Mayflower and became the first governor of Massachusetts?

In 1704 occurred the Battle of Blenheim. Most of us remember nothing about it except the last lines of Robert Southey's poem:

"And what was the use of it all?" asked little Tweedledee.

"I don't know," the man said, "but 'twas a famous victory."

Just one year before, not far from the battle-field, was born a red faced baby. His name was John Wesley.

Battles, kingdoms and fortunes—they are all part of the great human drama. But the thrill lies in the fact that a word dropped into the fertile mind of a boy, or a young couple starting a new home or a helpless infant utreing its first cry—these also may have undying significance.

And any one of us, quite unwittingly may be a part of a famous victory.

The Family Doctor

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M. D.

OVERWORK

He came into my office last week, eyed me suspiciously. I thought; acted as if he'd fly out if the least thing happened that was unusual to him. He gave his age as 52, had been behind a counter all his life; hadn't had the time to get married, or to attempt anything not directly beneficial to himself. He had within the last month sold his business, and felt bereaved by so doing. He was of foreign extraction, weakened, tremulous, greedy-looking. Examination revealed no organic disease whatever.

But there are human disorders graver even than organic disease. Here was a man with a worn-out nervous system. Every thought of rest and recreation had forsaken him long ago. He had one obsession—that he might be compelled to go to the poorhouse or starve to death before his time.

I all but lost my temper when he skittered all over the room as I tried to take his blood pressure—made more noise than a frightened child—this man over fifty. I told him he ought to be turned over my knee and warmed with a bed slat. He looked at the door, wistfully I thought, and I told him he was perfectly welcome to decamp; go back to "business" and wind up in the bug-house! This aroused his ire a little, and he told me he hadn't been born yesterday; that he knew what he was doing. I congratulated him for his first natural expression in my presence, and told him he had probably been born, but he had never lived—he had just existed! We finally agreed and shook hands—on a schedule of conduct for him.

District Court In Hearing Criminal Cases This Week

Following adjournment Wednesday night of last week for the Thanksgiving period, Bailey County District Court again convened Monday morning, Judge Charles Clements presiding. Several cases were called, some of which were set for trial and others continued for cause by one side or the other. The court room was well filled with interested spectators. It being "criminal week" the nature of the cases proposed to be tried were more lurid and enticing to the public generally than those of a civil nature last week.

The case of Wayne Wallace, charged with wife desertion, was called, but because of the absence of a material witness for the state and of some desired legal documents, it was continued until Thursday of this week. It is understood that Mrs. Wallace has entered suit for divorce, but since continuance of the case, it has been rumored that settlement is about to be made between the contending parties and neither case may come to trial.
 The case of Jim Batterfield vs. Lumberman's Reciprocal Association, was first to come to trial. This was a suit coming under the State Workman's Compensation Act, wherein Batterfield alleged certain injuries received while in the employ of a Muleshoe gin. The jury awarded Batterfield 60 per cent of the damages claimed.
 The cases of N. L. Lambert and Arthur Blackburn, held on statutory charges, were continued until the next term of district court on account of the illness of a material witness.
 The case of Dollie Campbell vs. J. D. Campbell, for divorce, was dismissed upon representation of attorney for the plaintiff, who stated the contending parties had ironed out their domestic difficulties and again assumed their married relations.
 The case of I. C. Enuchs vs. Pauline Brisco, et al, was set for a hearing Wednesday of this week.
 W. I. Edgemon, charged with selling intoxicating liquor was called for trial Tuesday afternoon. The jury was duly empanelled, but the case was held up until Wednesday morning following the arrest of W. W. Kirk, of Planview, attorney for the defense, on a warrant out of the Justice of the Peace court alleging drunkenness. Kirk was lodged in the county jail to sober up. In the meantime the jury was placed under guard pending resumption of the case.
 Previous to adjournment last week he case of R. L. Brown vs. E. R. Hart et al was finished. This is a case involving a lot and some other property in Muleshoe and which has been in litigation for some time. The jury found a verdict against plaintiff R. L. Brown and in favor of the defendants E. R. Hart, D. P. Brown, H. A. Douglass and the Farmers & Merchants National Bank, Farmersville, Texas, also, found verdict against D. P. Brown in favor of plaintiff and the defendant, D. P. Brown; and verdict against Katherine Brown on her intervention, and a verdict against H. A. Douglass upon his cross action against the defendant E. R. Hart. It is understood R. L. Brown has filed a motion for a new trial.

women, it is to the very young women that they usually make their strongest appeal.
 The yellow chiffon evening dress shown in the sketch would not be at all difficult to make at home, and the picturesque trimming of artificial forget-me-nots would be very easy to apply. You may buy a bunch of the little flowers and apply them as shown to the collar and belt, or if you like you might use tiny rosebuds or any other sort of small blossoms.

WORK and PLAY

Mark Twain in "Tom Sawyer" declared: "Work consists of whatever a body is obligated to do, and Play consists of whatever a body is not obliged to do."

Perhaps your boy will be more inclined to fix up a few things around the place if you can suggest it to him in a manner that will make him feel it is his own idea to "dollar up the back fence" or do some interior decorating on the chicken house.

Anyway, here is a good whitewash recipe—give it to your boy and bet him a quarter he can't mix it up and make it stick on the chicken house walls.

Six quarts of Rock Lime or 9 quarts of Hydrated Lime; Spanish Whiting or Burnt Alum, 4 ounces; White Sugar, 16 ounces; Rice Flour, 3 pints; Liquid Glue, 16 ounces, and Boiling Water, 5 gallons. This will cover 300 to 400 square feet to the gallon, and will last six or seven years.

We'll Save you money on house paint!

Buy your paint on the yearage basis, and we'll prove to you that we have the most economical paint in the Southwest! Not because it is a bargain paint. But because it has yearage which means the same to paint that mileage does to tires — because it lasts from one to three years longer than other paints. Also it spreads further—it covers 15% to 40% more surface. Paint your home — it's a shrewd investment!
