MULESHOE, BAILEY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1930

BAILEY COUNTY FARMS SHOW 859.5 PER CENT INCREASE DURING PAST TEN YEARS

931 Farms in Bailey County Worth $5,983,840, According to Report of Tax Assessor Given Commissioners

An increase of 859.5 per cent in the number of farms in Bailey County during the past 10 years are the figures given out by the Census Department at Washington, D. C. last Saturday. Ten years ago this county was largely composed of ranches with very few tracts of land devoted to agricultural pursuits of any kind, but according to the 1930 census there are now 931 farms in the county.

The statistics further indicate that while many states show a decrease in rural population, Texas has increased its number of farms during the past decade. Texas in 1920 had 496,033 farms, as compared with 436,033 in 1930, an increase of 13.8 per cent; and the number of farms when the 1930 census was taken compare very favorably also with the 465,946 in the state in 1925. The increase over that year amounted to 6.5 per cent. There were 198 counties in this state that showed farm increases.

Bailey county, though one of the later organized counties stands well toward the top of the list in the number of farm increases. As each year passes the ratio of increase grows more rapidly, and during the past year there have been some farms carved out of the ranches of the county than during any previous year, apparently the public generally is just beginning to learn of the virtues of Bailey county farm land.

This county has an area of 816 square miles, the 931 farms total 328,456 acres, 208,886 acres of which are in cultivation, and having a taxable value of $1,495,960.00, which represents about 25 per cent of the actual value of the farms.

Would Organize A Municipal Band In Meeting Fri. Night

A meeting is to be held Friday night at 8:00 o'clock, at the McCarty cafe, at which time plans will be taken toward the organization of a band in Muleshoe, according to announcement made by Prof. W. C. Cox of the local public school.

"For several weeks past local musicians and would-be musicians have been discussing the need and value of a band," said Prof. Cox. As an advertising feature alone such an organization is well worth every cent it costs the community. There are many events during the year when a band is greatly needed, to say nothing of the worth while education it affords the young men and women who take part in it.

Miss Wright Armstrong organized the "Old Gray Mare" band at Brownwood, that town has become well known, not only throughout the State of Texas, but all over the South and West. It was the 185 piece band in Lamesa sent to the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that started the boom of Dawson county. It was the "Saxophone Six" from Ballinger, which the editor of this newspaper had the pleasure of organizing, that gave Runnels county so much free advertising at the same meeting, and there is no reason why Muleshoe should not now organize a band which will develop rapidly enough to enter the W. T. C. C. band concert next year and carry back home the honors of one year bands—plus thousands of dollars worth of publicity it will give Muleshoe and Bailey county.

All young people, both boys and girls, who desire to take part in the organization are urged to be present at the meeting Friday night. Both those who now play and those who wish to learn some wind instrument are urged to attend. Those who have instruments should bring them with them. An experienced director will be present to assist in the organization.

WINDMILL AND EARTH TANK FURNISH A FOOD SUPPLY

Apparently there is no excuse for any farmer with a good windmill and well going hound, regardless of general crop conditions, as is proven by a recent application of the old adage: "Necessity is the mother of invention." Several farmers throughout the state are reporting bumper small crops of vegetables and field crops raised by windmill water supply. A good sized dirt tank is built, and the water from the well allowed to flow into it, when it is practically filled, the water gate is opened and the farmer proceeds to irrigate the garden and small acreage he has planted nearby.

Such irrigation insures food for man and beast, and is done at the small cost of from 40 to 60 cents per acre per irrigation.

LAMB COUNTY WON FIFTH PLACE AT LUBBOCK FAIR

Lamb county won fifth place in agricultural exhibits at the Panhandle and South Plains fair, held last week at Lubbock, according to D. A. Adam, county agent.

The exhibit is said to have been well displayed.

Don't let the mail order houses deceive you!

RAIN DROPS

Since the persistent rains of the past week, newcomers pessimists are out-doing oldtime optimists in boosting the country.

One citizen wants to know if the rain came in answer to prayer, or is it just a case of the Lord respecting the reputation of the South Plains? Maybe both.

Journal advertisements of all kinds will be read with new zest and vigor this week. Not a bad idea to renew your subscription, also, since the country has been "saved," it's automobiles! New dresses, new sicabomes, more cokes and ice cream sodas, new homes, better farms are all in the category of blessings brought by the rain—not that the Muleshoe country really need it—but it helps out, nevertheless.

Some farmers who a week ago were planning on getting federal loans are now already figuring how much income tax they are going to have to pay on second crop sudan and the coming wheat acreage.

Some business men (not advertisers) who were going around last week with their under lip hanging down so they could almost step on it, now wear a smile that is so broad they have to turn sideways in order to get into their store doors.

JUST MUD

Just ordinary dirt and water mixed together in the proper consistency, but it has formed the one element for which many South Plains people have been hoping for, looking for, praying for, for a few months past. Perfectly clean and wholesome and inspiring it is this beautiful, magnificent MUD.

One farmer declared he could get out and roll in it; another said he had fallen down and wallowed in it and was perfectly happy. Still another dared to make the statement that he had walked through the front room of his house without cleaning his feet, and friend wife actually smiled.

And hath its cure for all creatures, but the most enchanting melody heard in this section recently was the rhythmic pattering of the rain on the roof-tops, while the swish of water in the bar-pits, the slosh of mud on recently washed cars and the skidding of automobiles toward dangerous proximities actually brought smiles of satisfaction to even the most "hard-boiled" citizen. And, why shouldn't folks be happy—it means thousands of dollars to the citizens of this section.

And the office prophet says there is more yet to come.

MULESHOE CITIZENS SHOULD KNOW DETAILS OF ORDINANCE NO. ELEVEN REGARDING INSTALLATION OF GAS

Now that gas is soon to be served the citizens of Muleshoe, it is well that their minds be refreshed regarding the important details of the ordinance passed by the city Commission and published in the Journal nearly a year ago.

Every citizen will desire to have his home or place of business properly serviced, and to become familiar with the important details of the requirements of this city for gas users. The Journal is, therefore, re-publishing some facts of interest to future gas users:

All mains shall be laid at least 16 inches below the surface of the ground, and so laid as to not interfere in any manner with water mains or pipes or sewer line of said city, or pipes or conduits of other utilities already installed, and all connections with the gas mains and pipes shall be placed and laid to the property of the consumer at the expense of the grantee.

"Gas shall be furnished to said city and its inhabitants for domestic use as a net price not to exceed $1.50 for the first 1,000 cubic feet or less, and 67 1/2 cents per thousand cubic feet for all gas used in excess of the first 1,000 cubic feet; provided, however, that gas used for heating public buildings, churches, hotels and apartments shall be sold at the following rates:

"For the first 1,000 cubic feet or less used per month, $1.50. For the next 49,000 cubic feet used per month, 50 cents per thousand. For the next 67 1/2 cents per thousand. For the next 100,000 cubic feet used per month, 50 cents per thousand. For all used in excess of 150,000 cubic feet per month, 40 cents per thousand.

"That the maximum rates for industrial gas shall not exceed the rates set out in the following schedule:

"For the first 1,000 cubic feet or less used per month, $1.50; next 49,000, 50c; next 150,000, 35c; next 300,000, 30c; next 500,000, 25c; next 10,000,000, 22 1/2c etc. Above rates all apply to gas used through one meter.

"The requirements as to size of gas piping to be used for a certain number of burners are specific, and consumers will do well to acquaint themselves with the details of ordinance No. 11 which contains these specifications. When installation is done by a gas plumber, he must be duly licensed by the City, and following completion of such work official inspection must be made before the gas company will render service.

Eight Are Added To Baptist Church As Revival Meet Closes

Notwithstanding the rain and mud the Baptist church was well filled for the closing service of the revival meeting last Sunday night. In fact, there was good attendance throughout the entire series of services. The earnest sermons of the pastor, Rev. C. A. Joiner, and the inspirational solos of the song leader, D. C. Hamilton were greatly appreciated.

There were eight additions to the church, three coming by letter and five being candidates for baptism.

The Baptist service will probably be held at the First Baptist church in Littlefield, next Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Joiner, who has been pastor of the Muleshoe Baptist church for nearly a year, is proving himself a worthy leader of the flock, a religious director of much skill and greatly beloved by his membership and the public at large. Under his leadership all departments of the church work are forging ahead with increasing zeal and added numbers.

DRUG STORE AND CAFE HAVE FORMAL OPENINGS

The Collins Pharmacy and the McCarty Cafe, both located in the same building, will have their formal openings Saturday of this week.

Details of the openings appear elsewhere in this newspaper.

They extend a cordial invitation to the public generally to be their guests.

WATSON PREACHES SUNDAY

Rev. J. W. Watson, who a few weeks ago conducted a very successful revival meeting here, will preach Sunday morning at the Methodist church.

City Night Watchman And Inspector Named By City Commission

With the fall well on cotton pickers and other harvesters and numerous transient travelers, the citizen business men believing it advisable to have further police protection, the City Commission at their meeting Monday night appointed J. L. Bartlett as city marshal for night duty; his salary to be paid by subscription from the business men. It is understood he will do night watch duty in the business district.

Dr. H. W. Duke was also appointed city gas and sanitary inspector, and given the duties of fire marshal.

COUNTY JUDGE URGES THE PASSING OF AMENDMENT

That the amendment providing for a tax on all state owned lands should be given favorable consideration by the voters of Bailey County, is the statement of County Judge J. E. Adams.

Judge Adams states there are 17 counties in the state that have from 10 to 29 per cent of their land property of the state and not subject to taxation. The adoption of this amendment would mean the state would have to pay county taxes on this land.

Such action, declares the Judge, would lift the burden from these specific counties and distribute it over the entire state which would be only a matter of equity and fairness.

OPEN MOVIE THEATRE

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brooks have returned from a two months visit in South Texas and will open the "Lone Star" picture show here next Friday night with a play entitled, "Vengeance" with Jack Holt as leading man.

Blackwater Valley Should Lead A Irrigation Sections Of Texas In T Production of Vegetables for I

The intensive cultivation of irrigated acres in the south and western and northwestern parts of Texas is rapidly putting this state abreast of California and Florida in the vegetable trade. New land is being brought under irrigation and methods of cultivation are steadily improving. In many sections the farmers are chiefly engaged in raising the staples, such as cotton, corn and wheat; but it is a consensus of opinion that the time is not far off when much of this land now going into these staple crops will be turned to the production of vegetables which, with more intense cultivation, and aided by intelligent irrigation will yield a greater profit to the land-owners.

Much Imported Vegetables

The vegetable trade of the United States is shared by a score of countries, far and near. At present Cuba and Canada are America's best customers, with Panama, Mexico and Central America taking our products. Our competitors are scattered throughout the world, France and the Netherlands send us a large proportion of our imports; in South America, Venezuela and Chile are large shippers to this country; nearer to our doors, Mexico and Bermuda are contending for the American market. Cuba is becoming an exporter as well as an importer. Our home producers do not supply our home market, our imports exceeding exports in the proportion of 3 to 2. Texas' geographical position, especially the location of the Blackwater valley in Bailey County, on the South Plains plus the fertile soil and abundance of pure water underlying it, should make this the greatest vegetable producing state in the Union. California and Florida are great fruit states, but the vegetables which take the lead in the world's trade are not tropical or sub-tropical products. They are such as Texas has already shown considerable ability in raising. Potatoes headed the export list of 1929, amounting to 3,861,540 pounds valued at $4,192,361. Dried beans followed, 605,000 pounds, valued at $2,406,322 and onions came next, 693,959 pounds, estimated at $284,572.

South Plains Changing

During the past 10 years the South Plains country has been undergoing a vast change, land being sold off in large quantities. These large acreage tracts are gradually becoming broken up into smaller parcels, and more intense farming methods are being employed. Farmers generally are learning there is more money in farming more thoroughly a small tract than skimping over a large one.

Big Opportunity Here

In the Blackwater valley, where Muleshoe county seat of Bailey County is located, there is at least 100,000 acres of rich valley land that can be profitably irrigated. It is a well known fact that all this land is underlaid with a solid sheet of the purest of water, which can be lifted to the surface in large quantities at very reasonable cost by grading the farms around Muleshoe are already located nearly 100 wells with pumping plants yielding from 500 to 1,500 gallons per minute. The water mounts high in the wells, the draw-down is exceptionally low, the lift consequently shallow, and the cost of irrigating, per acre, said by experts to be among the cheapest if not actually the cheapest, to be found anywhere in the United States. Farmers of this valley who have been practicing irrigation for a few years past have conclusively demonstrated the profitable production of all kind of staple and fancy vegetables—and they can be grown here as luxuriantly and as cheaply as in California.

TERRACING FARM LANDS BRINGS BIG INCREASES IN 1930 CROPS

"The drought conditions not affecting the South Plains so much, but prevailing over many other sections of Texas, has been quite valuable in showing the worth of farm terracing," remarked Fred S. Reynolds, Bailey County farm agent, to a Journal representative this week.

"There are plenty of instances on record throughout the state where terraced land has increased farm crop yields from one-half to double previous yields, even when moisture conditions are forcing the farmer to use favorable soil. Mr. Reynolds, who generally good crops of Bailey county can be greatly increased and their maturity practically insured by terracing methods, continued the farm agent.

cheaply as anywhere else in the United States.

Altitude Means Quality It is a well known fact, also, that fruits and vegetables produced in altitudes climates have a crisp flavor that those produced in lands never equal. This also the Blackwater valley has had of 3,750 feet will make products of this section in great quantities when they are placed on the market. The fertile soil is here, the abundance of pure water for irrigation, the one and only thing that complete and make possible the virate of wealth-producing—the people to develop it and vegetables on the market, constantly reaching out for prices to satisfy the appetite of glib public.

Surveyor Plot Off More Tracts For

Ray B. Jones, Lamb Co. road to soon be opened county.

This week he is surveying number of 10 acre irrigated which were recent sold Brown, Mr. Brown is also the cutting up of another tract into five and 10 acre sale.

These small suburban acreages are very popular to many of this section who find them desirable than living right in their close proximity to the increased amount of land enables them to grow excellent pastures and feed-raising, and a cow or two, with plenty of pastures and feed-raising.

Located in the shallow water these small tracts can be cheaply gated and their market value will increase much more rapidly than larger farms farther out in the country.

Friona Wins Fro Muleshoe 12-0 In Hard Football Me

In the football game between Friona and Muleshoe high school teams played at Friona Friday of last week, the host team won 12-0 over the visitor.

The game opened with the Yellow Jackets kicking off. Friona received the pignak across the line a touchdown within 17 seconds failed for the extra point.

The second touchdown came in the second quarter. The rest of it was a hot contest, for by this time Yellow jackets had been the aroused and were doing some dirt burring and stinging. Seven times Friona carried the ball into the Yellow Jackets' 10 yard line, but each time they were driven back in furious manner. In the third quarter they within six inches of the goal.

The first down, but the boys in white hurried them back for yard loss on the second down. The total of the game showed the Yellow Jackets the stronger aggressor throughout and that they made more first downs than their opponents. It was a game of hard tackling throughout with fine fighting spirit shown by the Muleshoe lads until the last whistle was blown.

Friada afternoon of this week the Muleshoe lads will play the Sudan high school on the home grounds, it being the first game of the season to be played here this year. It is anticipated that Coach Bryant will have his fighting machine in good form for this game and a large attendance of local fans is urged.

There were some jokes in the paper last week concerning some of the students of Muleshoe high school which we hope were not taken too seriously.

The Freshman are very happy to announce the fact that they have added a new member to their class, Beulah Tension.

It has been reported that the Freshman president is thinking rather seriously of giving her class a party. They are all hoping this is not a false report.

Pep Squad Peppy... Hoopay for Muleshoe... Tuesday of last week the Pep squad elected Adella Beavers to take the place of Alice Ragsdale as leader.

At the assembly which was called in honor of Ralph, the Pep squad marched up on the stage and gave some yells and also sang some songs, while Rheta Mae played the piano. After the assembly the Pep squad and football boys decided to buy a bouquet and send to him as a token of their love and appreciation.

At the game with Friona Friday the Pep squad yelled and sang until they were hoarse and then kept on yelling. They have been working this week and plan to be out at the game Friday with Sudan in colors of gold and white yelling brand-new yells. Ray for the Yellow Jackets!

FARM NOTES

By FRED S. REYNOLDS Farm Agent, Bailey County

Sold on Bailey Co... A. J. Neutzler, from Coryell county, is building a modern $2500 house on his four labors of land located near the Watson school in Bailey county.

During a visit to his farm it was rumored that Mr. Neutzler has been making visits to Bailey county since 1925, with a view to locating here. "What finally convinced me to trade for land here," said Mr. Neutzler, "was that friends who lived in this country for years told me that they had fewer crop failures here than in central Texas."

Insects, plant diseases such as root rot, and worn out soils are some of the reasons for short crops several hundred miles east of here.

When Do Canning... The Home Demonstration agent from Lamb county gave a canning demonstration last winter at Circleback school, and from this start, interest has grown during the year, which has resulted in 2,600 cans of vegetables and fruits being put up.

"There are seven pressure cookers," said Martin Stone, school superintendent at Circleback, "in the community that were bought this year."

A room in the school building was equipped with oil stoves, and the women of the community brought their canners and stuff there to do the work, making a community affair of the home canning business.

To Start Calf Clubs... With a view to starting calf club feeding in Bailey county several schools were visited last week. The program of work was outlined to the boys 12 years old and over, with the request that they discuss it with their parents.

Later, another trip will be made to the schools to make arrangements with the boys who want to take up the work. One or two calves is enough for a boy to start with. The calves will be penned and fed bundle stuff or other hay that may be available, and ground heads or wheat will be the grain. Cotton seed meal will be mixed with the grain in the proper portion required to put on the most rapid and economical gains. To make a success of it this work will need to be closely supervised. It is planned to get the calves on feed late in October.

Webster's Favorite... Gray's "Elegy" was Daniel Webster's favorite poem, and he delighted to repeat it with great emphasis.

New York City.—"Music is as much a Big Business as steel." This is the opinion of Don Bigelow, blue stocking orchestra leader of Manhattan.

"Music is as practical as any so-called big business," Bigelow declares. "My father has an office at his steel plant ready for me, but I like music better and I'm making more money than any steel plant could pay a man who had been on the job only one year."

"A few years ago, musicians were a kind of family curse. To have one around the home was about like having a queer old maid aunt. One didn't talk about it."

"But now that is changed. The musician is respectable and respected for he must know his business onions, especially if he is an orchestra leader. He has to make contracts involving millions and must certainly know what it is all about before he assumes a modern orchestra pay roll.

"Yet commerce has not taken the artistry out of music. The modern dance band player must know his instrument perfectly. He must read well and be a thorough musician."

"However, the general run of music has improved because high-salaried men want good stuff to play. Each piece must have some outstanding feature. It must not be just another number. Just now college songs are in vogue and believe me, they must be good. Betty Good's is illustrative of the new type of collegiate fox trot that goes for any college. It has college spirit and when a song makes the sensation this one has, then it must have also real musical merit."

MARY, THE MOTHER OF JESUS—AN EXAMPLE OF MOTHERHOOD
Luke 2:15-19; John 2:1-5; 19:25-27
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

In addition to the three passages indicated above special attention to the record of the Annunciation as recorded in Luke 1:26-38. Gabriel was again made the messenger, even as he went to Zacharias and told about the birth of John the Baptist. Mary understood the import of the promise of a child, for the Hebrews had been looking expectancy for the coming of their long promised Messiah. It was with triumphant faith that Mary then went to visit her relative Elizabeth and was given special confirmation that what Gabriel said was being accomplished in her. The Holy Spirit had indeed come upon her with His creative power.

The events of the Nativity at Bethlehem are familiar and we again take our places with shepherds and wise men in adoration.

Mary did her part in training her son in exerting a blessed home influence during the next thirty years in Nazareth. The day came when, as in the case of all other parents, Mary was forced to realize that her Son had grown into adult life and she could no longer direct His activities. There was a wedding in Cana, about five miles from Nazareth, and Mary was one of the invited guests. Jesus and the disciples who were then with Him may have dropped in while passing and thus unexpectedly added to the company to be provided for. When the wine failed, and this was a calamity on such an occasion, Mary brought the matter to the attention of Jesus. This suggests that during all the years in the Nazareth home this son had been the one to meet each emergency with his thoughtfulness and ability. When the mother returned to Nazareth she had still more occasion to follow her habit of years as recorded in the Golden Text: "Mary kept all these things, pondering them in her heart."

RECENT RAINS BENEFIT CROPS MAY GET SECOND SUDAN CROP

Cotton picking, which has been delayed in Bailey county for lack of sufficient pickers, was further slowed down this week by the abundant rainfall of the past 10 days, but the crop has not suffered any damage, and with the coming of sunshine again and the arrival of pickers, the gins will once more begin operations.

The recent rainfall has been a wonderful benefit to the large acreage of wheat planted in this section. It is also valuable in finishing out much of the feed crops planted late in this area.

It is reported that there is a big acreage of sudan in this vicinity that will make a second crop of seed, running from 150 to 250 pounds per acre, if frost will hold off a sufficient time.

Don't let the mail order houses deceive you.

MAKES SECOND CROP OF SUDAN ON 100 ACRES

J. W. Miller farmer, residing a few miles north of Muleshoe, last Thursday began cutting 100 acres of sudan for the second crop this year.

The first crop, which was contracted at a good market price, was cut high, and the second crop began to put on rapidly, recent rains enhancing the growth. It is estimated the second crop will make around 200 pounds per acre, the sale of which has already been contracted to a local elevator.

Old English Custom

The phrase "hue and cry" was employed in English law to signify the common law process of pursuing a criminal with horn and voice. It was the duty of the aggrieved person to raise the hue and cry, and his neighbors were bound to turn out with him to assist in discovering or in pursuing the offender.

ALL TAXES BECAME DUE OCT. 1, PAYMENTS MADE

State, county, school and municipal taxes became due in Bailey county October 1, and every day payments are being made, according to Collector H. A. Douglas, who urges the citizens to liquidate this annual obligation as rapidly as possible.

Miss Lillian Adair has the honor of holding receipt No. 1, this year, she being the first to pay county and state taxes, while Miss Lola Lipscomb holds receipt No. 2.

E. K. Warren of the Muleshoe district, and the John N. James estate, in Liberty school district, made advance payments of their school taxes which were appreciated by the directors of both school districts, and furnished funds to meet expenses incident to starting both school terms.

MULESHOE JEWS OBSERVE NATIONAL EVENT DAYS

Muleshoe Jewish citizens gave observance to "Yon Kippur" the "Day of Atonement, Thursday of last week, by closing their places of business.

Saturday of last week was "fast" day for the Jews, it being the close of the 10 day period following the Jewish New Years day, known to them as Rosh Hashana.

Thursday of this week another feast holiday, known as "Sukkouth" or the "Feast of the Tabernacles," was duly observed by the orthodox sons of the ancient Holy Land country.

But just how many Jews are there in Muleshoe; can anyone tell?

An all day session of the Bailey County Singing convention will be held at Baileyboro the second Sunday in October. Everybody come and bring well filled baskets. Plate lunches will be served 34-2tp —That numerous automobiles not used to mud, bogged down in this section this week.

—That Muleshoe is destined to a general revival of building and painting this fall and winter.

—That what hinders the preacher's congregation sometimes helps the farmer's crops—for instance, the rain last Sunday.

—That the fingerprints of criminals age kept in Amarillo, but since the recent rains—the footprints of good citizens are quite noticeable in Muleshoe.

VERY LATESTS

By MARY MARSHALL

To the woman who makes dresses at home the nearby hemstitching and picot expert is a friend in need and indeed, in every small town there is at least one little shop where this sort of work is done and usually done very well, and in larger cities these operators are to be found in every neighborhood. All the home dressmaker has to do is to mark her material where she wants the picot or hemstitching and the operator of the hemstitching machine does her rest. It is such a convenient way to finish frills and flounces, capes, collars, tabs and drapery.

At any rate, we are told that more overalls are being sold this year than ever before, and that is certainly not a bad sign in a country where overalls are still a highly respected article of clothing.

Still another thing to be said of the old fashioned sofa is you didn't have to keep one eye on the road.

Many a Muleshoe man who puts his shoulder to the wheel finds his wife has her foot on the brakes.

Foresters say the older a tree the less sap it exudes. This does not seem to be true, however, with the average Muleshoe family tree.

Occasionally we see a Muleshoe woman who gives us the impression that the only thing she lost by dieting was her disposition.

No Muleshoe man thought 25 years ago he would ever be able to step in the snow and go anywhere his wife and children told him to go.

Muleshoe men are as smart as any others on earth, but there never was one yet who was able to blow up a toy balloon as big as his kid wanted it.

If you want to live in the kind of town

Like the kind of town you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip

And start on a long long hike. You'll only find what you left behind; For there's nothing really new; It's a knock at yourself, when you knock your own town.

It isn't the town—it's YOU. Real towns are not made by men

Lest somebody else gets ahead. When everyone works and nobody shirks

You can raise a town from the dead. And if, while you make your personal state,

Your neighbors can make one, too. Your town will be what you want to see. It isn't the town—it's YOU"

The Journal this week without charge printed a quantity of season tickets for the High School football team. It is hoped they will be freely purchased by the citizens, as the team needs both the money and the encouragement.

Mrs. Hiram Bearden, Miss Emma Bearden, Mrs. Cecil Robison and daughter Coy May and Mrs. H. E. Wilterding and son, Jack, left Wednesday for a two weeks visit in Nebraska and Oklahoma. Mrs. Bearden will remain there to spend the winter with her mother, Mrs. Emma Dainton, of Dorchester, Nebraska.

Send Them Back Well-Nourished

By JOSEPHINE E. GIBSON Director, Home Economics Dept., H. J. Heinz Company

EVERYWHERE we pass the children with their school books! And it comes to us, with a little shock, that Summer is almost gone—that the winter-long round of studies is beginning all over again.

For the mothers, too, in homes from which these children come, school days make a decided difference. The family schedule now is regulated by the classroom clock. And many a mother finds that the lunch hour is the most trying time of the entire day.

Particularly annoying is the problem of planning dishes that include generous quantities of milk. Plenty of milk must be in the diet of every growing child, yet many boys and girls quickly tire of drinking it; and mother must use strategy to get this food necessity in the daily menu.

Listed below are a number of recipe and menu suggestions that should prove helpful to any mother who must face the school lunch problem. Try them, and see how delightfully they will serve to keep milk's healthy glow in the children's faces.

All his life he has held a nickel so close to his eyes that he couldn't see a dollar. RASPBERRIES WITH MOUSSE FOR DESSERT

A Mold of Plain Vanilla Mousse With Raspberries or Other Fruit in Season.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the nicest and easiest des- erts you can plan for a special occa- sion is a plain vanilla mousse with fresh fruit in its season—strawberries, raspberries, peaches, blackberries, or other fruits that are good when eaten with cream. The illustration shows a molded mousse served with fresh red raspberries.

The bureau of home economics gives the following recipe for plain vanilla mousse. Leaflet 49, "Ice creams frozen without stirring," also suggests many other ways of varying the flavor of a plain mousse.

- 1 cup double cream 1/2 lbs. sugar
- 1 cup rich milk or 2 egg whites
- this cream 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. gelatin 1/2 tsp. vanilla

Soak the gelatin until soft in a lit- tle of the milk or thin cream. Heat the remainder, and pour over the gelatin. Add the sugar and stir until dis- solved, and put the mixture aside to chill. Whip the double cream. When the mixture containing the gelatin has thickened slightly, beat it to in- corporate air. Add the vanilla and fold in the whipped cream and well-beat- egg whites. The egg whites reduce richness, increase volume and improve texture. These proportions will make over four cups before freezing, or, if the egg whites are not used, about three cups.

Instead of the gelatin as thickener, you may prefer to moisten one table- spoonful of flour with a little of the milk or thin cream; add to the re- mainder, beat to lumps and combine with the whipped cream and other in- gredients. Or prepare a custard from the cup of rich milk, three egg yolks and the sugar. Cool, beat and add to the other ingredients as described. Or add one-fourth cup of marshmallows cut in small pieces to the milk or thin cream and follow the usual method.

Mousse made by the above basic recipe may be frozen by packing in ice and salt without stirring, or in a mechanical refrigerator. If packed in ice and salt, the container for the mixture should not be too thick. Large baking powder cans are good for small quantities, or fancy molds may be used. Since the mold must be buried in the ice and salt, seal the opening with a tightly drawn strip of cloth which has been dipped in paraffin or some fat with a high melting point, so that the salty water cannot leak in. Use about three parts of crushed ice to one of salt and let stand for sev- eral hours, depending on the shape and size of the mold.

SERVE ASPARAGUS WITH SPAGHETTI

Small Amount Will Give an Excellent Flavor.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Many people seem to know only two ways of serving spaghetti—with cheese or with tomato sauce. The bu- reau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture sug- gests the following mixture of spa- ghetti and asparagus. A relatively small amount of asparagus will give an excellent flavor, so this is a good dish for the asparagus season.

- 1/2 cups spaghetti 2 lbs. melted but- ter
- broken in small ter or other fat
- 1 cup rich milk 1 cup rich milk
- 1 pint canned or 3 or 4 drops ta- bacco sauce
- and liquid 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 lbs. flour 1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Cook the spaghetti in salted boiling water for 20 minutes, and drain. Drain the liquid from the asparagus and cut the stalks in short pieces. Prepare a sauce of the flour, fat, milk, and asparagus water and add the tobacco and salt. In a greased baking dish put a layer of the cooked spaghetti, then one of asparagus, cor- er with the sauce and continue until all the ingredients are used. Cover the top with the buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes, or until the crumbs are golden brown.

Many Pleasing Servings From Leg of Roast Lamb

Many people always have a leg of lamb boned for roasting. They say it is surprising how many attractive servings can be made from either a hot or cold boned leg that can be sliced evenly from end to end. Any butcher can bone a leg of lamb for you, or you do it yourself. The Unit- ed States Department of Agriculture tells how it is done. "In boning, first take out the Ir- regular aitch or pelvic bone at the large end. Cut into the meat on the thinnest or "stifle" side and lay back a flap of meat deep enough to expose the leg bone and permit its removal. You will have a pocket here for stuff- ing or the leg may be sewed together and roasted without stuffing as desired. A good sharp knife is needed for boning."

Anybody can carve a roast prepared in this way and serve it much more quickly than the ordinary leg roast. For sliced cold cuts, the meat is much more shapely than when the leg is carved with the bones in.

Endeavor to Establish Buying Specifications

The American Home Economics as- sociation and the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture are co-operating in an endeavor to establish speci- fications for all common household pur- chases. As a start they have pre- pared for clubs and groups interest- ed in discussing purchasing problems, a series of reading references includ- ing many on the food and drugs act, meat inspection, and regulations or standards affecting other foods. This reference list will be sent to any groups desiring it. Write to the bu- reau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

CORRECT FIT OF WIDE SHOULDERS

Avoid Cutting So That It Adds to Width.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Very often in buying patterns and ready-made garments the width of the shoulders has been increased in the same proportion as the bust mea- sure. Because the shoulders are a bony structure and the bust is a tissue structure, the shoulders do not neces- sarily increase in proportion to the Unattractive Appearance of Shoulders That Are Too Wide.

Just. Therefore the garment is apt to be too long on the shoulder and the armcye not in its proper position. This long shoulder tends to give a broad effect to the figure. It is par- ticularly unfortunate when a person has already rather broad shoulders, to cut a dress so that it adds to their apparent width, and makes the wear- er of the garment look short and squat.

To correct the trouble, says the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agri- culture, in the bulletin on "Fitting Dresses and Blouses," fold a small lengthwise dart in the front and back of the pattern, through the center of the shoulder, taking out the necessary amount. This allows plenty of full- ness in the bust and gets rid of it on the shoulder. Be sure to keep the back shoulder from the neck to the armcye one-half inch longer than the front shoulder. Rip the shoulder seam and recut the armcye from the altered pattern. This preserves the original size of the armcye and is safer than trimming it out. If full- ness is desired, make tucks or shir- ring in the front shoulder to take up the extra width. To alter a ready-made garment, make a small lengthwise dart or a group of tucks in the front shoulder and trim out the armcye in the back.

Don't Expect Too Much From Your Mouth Wash

The greatest virtue of an antiseptic mouth wash is to leave a pleasant taste in the mouth, say officials of the food, drug, and insecticide adminis- tration. United States Department of Agriculture, following a campaign dur- ing which more than 1,000 supposed antiseptic preparations found in im- port and interstate trade were tested by government chemists and bacteri- ologists. Less than 100 bore labels that no exception was taken by the department.

Two preparations actually contained living bacteria, and tests revealed that many others would not kill or prevent germ growth. Of the effective anti- septics, some were found to claim un- warranted curative effect for such dis- eases as influenza, bronchitis, stomach ails, dysentery, tuberculosis, and appendicitis.

WASHING BLANKETS BEFORE STORING

Regarded as Good Precaution Against Moths.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Most housekeepers like to wash their blankets, if possible, before storing them over the summer. In addition to the satisfaction of taking out your winter bedding clean, fresh, and ready to use, washing the blankets before storing them is a good precaution to prevent moth damage, since moths do not attack clean woolen articles as readily as soiled ones.

The bureau of home economics says to wash blankets in lukewarm suds made of neutral soap and rinse them in several lukewarm waters. Soft water is best, but do not use water that has been softened with large quantities of strong washing powders. If anything at all besides the soap is put into the water, use borax or ammonia. Also, do not rub soap right on the blankets, but dissolve it in the water and put the blankets in a large quantity of this lukewarm suds. Woolen materials absorb a great deal of water so you will need more suds than for cotton, linen or other fabrics.

If you have a washing machine you will want to use it for cleaning your blankets. One double blanket at a time is about the capacity of the ordinary family-size machine. Take especial care to have the temperature of the water exactly right, and the soap solution evenly dissolved, before you put the blanket in. Also wash the blanket in the machine only a short time so as not to mat or felt the wool. Wring through a loosely set wringer, wash in a second suds of the same temperature, and rinse in several lukewarm waters until no soap remains.

Dry the blanket by hanging it over a line with from a fourth to a half on one side, not in direct sunshine, but, if possible, where a current of warm air will help to dry it quickly. After each blanket is thoroughly dry the nap may be raised by brushing with a clean stiff whisk broom. There is some loss of wool in napping a blanket, but the result is a fluffier, consequently warmer, blanket.

Best Temperature for Storing Milk

Studies show that both raw and pasteurized milk stored for 24, 48, 72 and 96 hours have only a small increase in bacteria when stored at 40 degrees Fahrenheit whereas at 60 degrees Fahrenheit the increase is very large. The first great jump in bacterial growth takes place between 45 degrees Fahrenheit and 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The relation of time to temperature is also important. If milk is held for a short period—24 hours or less—a temperature not exceeding 50 degrees Fahrenheit appears to give satisfactory results. If milk is held for a longer time, then a temperature not to exceed 45 degrees is of real value.

A temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit or below can be obtained in the milk compartment of a good, well-insulated, well constructed ice or mechanical refrigerator in a room of ordinary temperature. Another important point is the refrigeration of milk as soon as possible after delivery. Milk that had been kept at 40 degrees Fahrenheit before delivery, but allowed to stand at room temperature of 75 degrees Fahrenheit for 1½ hours and was then refrigerated, showed great multiplication of the organisms that cause decomposition and spoilage, often equal to the 24-hour rate of increase at refrigerator temperatures.

Cleaning Large Rugs
It is inadvisable to attempt to clean a large rug at home, unless experienced and equipped with the proper facilities for stretching and drying, but the result is likely to be a streaked, faded, and sorry looking rug. It is usually most economical in the end to send large rugs to a commercial cleaning firm.

STRAWBERRIES ARE ALWAYS DELICIOUS

Fruits in Season May Be Used in Any Desserts.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Strawberry moussé is one of the most delicious of the combinations of strawberries with cream. Raspberries, blackberries, peaches and other fresh fruits as they come in season may also be used in these easily made and easy-to-freeze desserts. The following recipe is from the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture:

Strawberry Mousse.
1 cup double cream 1 cupful crushed strawberries
¼ cupful sugar 1 egg whites
2 egg whites ¼ tsp. of salt

Whip the cream. Combine the crushed strawberries and the sugar and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Fold into the whipped cream. Add the salt to the egg whites, beat until stiff, and fold into the fruit and cream mixture. Pour into the tray of an electric refrigerator and put in the unit to freeze. Or pour in a mold, pack in ice and salt and let freeze without stirring for four hours. The opening of the mold should be sealed by having drawn tightly over it a strip of cloth dipped in paraffin or some fat with a high melting point, so that the salty water cannot leak in. Another good combination is made by using vanilla ice cream with fresh whole strawberries on top, as in the illustration. The berries should be previously sugared unless they are unusually sweet. When plain ice cream, whipped cream and fruit or a sauce are combined in a tall glass it is often called a "parfait."

Seal Stored Milk
Under no circumstances should milk be placed in a refrigerator in an open pitcher, bottle, or other uncovered container. It should be tightly stoppered and not be opened until immediately before use. If only a portion of the bottle of milk is used, the cap should be replaced. Milk should always be kept in the coldest portion of the refrigerator. There may be as much as 10 degrees difference in temperature on the different shelves. Milk may be stale and unfit for food when it is not actually sour if it has been improperly kept. It should, therefore, be kept near its original wholesome state by the aid of adequate household refrigeration.

Pie Is Digestible
Pie, long known as a favorite dessert in America, has acquired a reputation of being indigestible. At Kansas State Agricultural college, investigations under the direction of Dr. Margaret Justin show that pie, when properly prepared, is a digestible food. It is especially nutritious when the filling is a milk custard. The rumor that pie should not be eaten came from its use as dessert for a heavy meal. One serving of pie contains from three to four hundred calories and should, therefore, be used to supplement low calorie dishes.

Remedy for Spoiled Icing
For those who have trouble with badly spoiled icing, here is a remedy: spread on the cake, add one teaspoonful of sweet cream and one spoonful of flour. It will be ready and taste like powder icing.

One Favorite Recipe for Stuffing Green Peppers

Almost everybody has a favorite recipe for stuffing peppers. The filling generally consists of rice or bread crumbs or macaroni—a starchy material—flavored with chopped onion, butter, salt, pepper, sometimes meat or chicken, and almost anything else the cook decides to put in or has left over. The recipe for stuffed peppers below is from the bureau of home economics, and has been tested for excellence of flavor.

- 2 green peppers
- 2 cups finely chopped rice or bread crumbs
- 1/2 lb. butter or other fat
- 1 cup ground cooked meat
- 1 small onion, chopped fine
- 1/2 tsp. salt, or to taste
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup chili sauce, catsup, or tomato sauce
- 1/2 cup buttered crumbs

Cut off the stem ends of the peppers, remove the seeds, boil the pepper shells for 5 minutes in lightly salted water, and drain. Stuff the peppers with a mixture made from the other ingredients, cover with the buttered crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes, or until the peppers are tender and the crumbs are brown.

Spanish Homby

Put one tablespoonful of shortening in a frying pan, and when hot put in one good-sized onion and one sweet green pepper chopped into small pieces. Fry and steam for a minute, but do not let it brown, then add one small can of homby, one large ripe tomato or three-fourths cupful of canned tomato, a dash of red pepper or chili powder, salt to taste and cooked until nearly dry, but do not allow to become mushy. If liked,okra cut into little round rings may be substituted for the green pepper.

Steak With Apples

Mix one teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of white pepper with three tablespoonfuls of melted fat, then rub the mixture into two pounds of sirloin steak and allow to stand for twenty minutes. Broil over a clear fire until done and serve surrounded with sliced fried apples that have been peeled, corad, dipped in milk, tossed in flour and dropped into hot fat to brown. This makes a very delicious dish.

Cleaning an Old Skillet

If you have an old iron skillet and it has become black and rough on the outside, put it in a heating stove when there is a good bed of coals and burn it, then it can easily be polished inside and outside with a piece of sand rock without hurting the skillet.

Helps Avoid Worms

One authority has stated that worms have very little chance of obtaining a foothold in chickens that have a gizzard well filled with insoluble grit. This authority claims that all eggs and cysts of the worms are ground and damaged so much by a gizzard full of grinding material that no worm infestation results. At any rate, it wouldn't hurt to see that the young growing stock is given plenty of coarse, insoluble grit and pure, fresh water.

Cooping One Rooster

The practice of cooping one male bird in a pen of, say, twenty fowls, and letting the alternate bird run with the flock day and night, is better perhaps than allowing the two birds to run together. It has been found, however, that the cooping of the male in the pen excites it so much that, instead of resting and gaining strength, the opposite effect is noted. The "resting" bird should be cooped out of sight of the pen. It will feed better.

Dynamite Helps Fight Drought

Dynamite has been called into use to create an essential part in relieving the cattle feed shortage resulting from the drought and as a means of preventing a lack of water for herds during the coming months. Many agricultural authorities agree that the use of the explosive for the heavy construction of credit silos and water holes offers the one practical means of avoiding a lead in water famine in extensive areas of the drought stricken North and sparsely agricultural agents, agricultural engineers and agricultural colleges are urging farmers and cattle raisers to take immediate steps to salvage the remnants of their corn and forage crops by converting all available materials into silage and storing it in trenches in the earth. The use of dynamite is being advocated to break up the parched and hard soil in order to permit the employment of plows and slip scrapers in removing the dirt for the trenches. Mostly, these silos are from 12 to 14 feet in width at the top, eight to ten feet wide at the bottom, and eight to ten feet deep, with the length varying from 25 feet upwards, according to the size of the herds.

run-off of rain or the flow of springs and small streams, water holes are being blasted. These vary in size from fifty feet in diameter and nine feet in depth to 80 or 100 feet across with a slope of 25 to 45 degrees to a depth of 10 to 14 feet. In some cases the holes are rectangular or of irregular shape, depending upon the contour of the fields or the proximity to springs or other sources of water supply.

manager, have developed new and special methods of doing the blasting of both trench silos and water holes, and the eastern force has put its services at the disposal of county and state agricultural authorities to cooperate in minimizing the serious results of the prologer drought.

While dynamite has long been used to relieve flood conditions, this is the first time the explosive has been brought into widespread use for the relief of an agricultural crisis growing out of an extended period of little or no rain.
