The Texas White Ribbon, the official organ of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Texas is replete with so many good things this month we wish everybody could read it. Mrs. Curtis begs the women to be more active, "be a force." The questions arises in many minds what can the women do? Vastly comes from our brothers, but I feel we can never win if we expect to meet the enemy and fight on an equal footing in a regular political campaign, which means usually, success to the cause which is able to put up the biggest campaign fund. Upon this basis nothing but defeat to our cause can follow, for we have no large monied institution as our enemy has, upon which we can levy and draw a regular monthly assessment for campaign purposes.

At the risk of being called a fanatic, I must say it is my opinion that if the women and children of Texas and, especially of Austin, had come up strong with their invincible weapons of song, banners, petitions, prayers and processions, our cause would have won in our last Legislature. In every local option contest and State wide prohibition campaign the final issue has always been acknowledged by foe as well as friend, to be the result of the efforts of the women and children.

more than you think. Let no day pass without sowing some seed which will spring up and count for State-wide prohibition. Our White Ribboner comes out square in the following terse article:

"Notwithstanding there is little reference made to State politics in our paper, still it must not be inferred that we have no opinions. I know there is a feeling among our women and in a certain sense it is true that our cause is in good hands and that there is little we can do but stand ready to lend a hand in the way of funds, when the call

"You may not all know it, but still it is a fact, that every saloon in Texas is assessed $10 per month—I came near saying for Mr. Colquitt's campaign—but it is in fact a fund designated to fight the election of a prohibition governor and for the election of one who is committed to their interests and who enjoys this enviable position, except Mr. Colquitt. Our principal asset must be prohibition sentiment together with an unconquerable faith in the importance of righteousness, and the approval and power of the Divine Ruler upon our side.

When a prohibition voter puts his reason and judgement in argument against an anti-man to man, there is always the chance that he may be defeated, but there is no reason or logic that may not be swayed by a good mother's prayers and petitions or a child's song. "So I believe that Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Schner, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Harris and others will have to take the field in our State and arouse Christians, the Church and the women to enthusiasm and a sense of their responsibility if we are to gain in the coming election."

LYNN COUNTY OPPORTUNITIES

Ten years ago Lynn County had ten voters and three women in it, and was attached to another county for judicial purposes. One could buy land here then for 50 cents to $1.00 per acre. We were eighty miles from a railroad and one post office in the county supplied mail to the people for a hundred miles around. Today Lynn County has a population of Two Thousand Five Hundred, twelve organized schools, three post offices and cotton gins, Four Hundred voters, Four Hundred Fifty school children, and thousands of acres of fine farming lands which produce a bale of cotton per acre with one hoeing and two plowings. Don't shake your head, for I can show you men right here who have done it. Our land will grow sixty bushels of corn or oats per acre, sixty five bushels of Kaffir corn or maize, abundance of millet and alfalfa, big crops of sweet potatoes, two good crops of Irish potatoes per year, eighty pound watermelons, two pound tomatoes, twelve to fifteen pound cabbages and not half try. Lynn County soil grows fine grapes, several kinds of berries, squashes, pumpkins, canteloupes and all vine products. Apples, Peaches, Plums and Apricots do well here and are freer from pests and diseases than East Texas fruit. Lynn County cannot be excelled as a corn and feed producing country, and it is well that such is the case, for the Great State of Texas spends twenty five million dollars annually for imported corn, and several million for imported meat. The Plains country is destined to become the future bread basket of not only Texas but of a large part of the United States. She will also be expected to furnish a big per cent of the beef and pork for the hungry millions. What country under the shining sun is better adapted to pork and beef production than this? There is none. It is easy to raise abundance of feed, and our water is as pure as God ever made. Our air is cool and bracing the year round, so that mister hog and miss cow grow to maturity under the most favorable conditions possible.

Our Land is Cheap, Fertile and Plenty

And it is rising rapidly in value. It has doubled in value every three or four years without a railroad. Now, who can tell what it will do with a railroad, and may be two or three? Young man, do you suppose this land will long remain at the present prices? Do you think it will ever be cheaper? Certainly it will not. Then why not buy now? Don't wait until you can pay for a whole section, but pay one-third down on a half or quarter section. Whether you have little money or much, invest it in good real estate, either city or country.

TAHOKA is the County Seat of Lynn County, and is the only town in the county. It is 28 miles from any other town, and has a territory 75 miles across to supply. It has a Thousand population, 250 school children and a good school employing four teachers, and a proposition on foot to issue bonds and erect a Fifteen Thousand Dollar brick school building just as soon as the railroad is completed to our town. We have three nice churches, two drug stores, two barber shops, a National Bank, hotel, livery stable, confectionery, hardware, telephone exchange with long distance connection to all important points, a number of dry goods and grocery stores, a cotton gin, grist mill, wagon yards, feed stores, blacksmith shops, tin shops, and in fact every thing that goes to make a town. The Santa Fe Railroad has its grade completed and will be running trains into our town within sixty days. We have offered the Texas Central, at their request, a bonus and right-of-way through Lynn County, and their surveyors are now running the preliminary survey from Rotan through our county. The Rock Island Railway is planning to build a line through our county to Roswell or El Paso, and the material is already ordered, and their charter is granted.

I have lived in this country twenty five years, and have seen our country change from a buffalo range to the greatest farming country west of the Mississippi. The change has been rapid, but I predict that our progress the next five years will be far greater than the last twenty five. And why not? Then, it was the ox team age. Now, it is the steam and electric age.

Let me sell you a beautiful building lot in North Tahoka, where the title is simple and clear as the blue sky, where water is pure and plenty, where the sand, dust and trash from the city never comes. I can sell you a lot NOW from $100.00 to $401.00, and guarantee abundance of good water. Think it over. Do it now.

Results of Dairying

One of the most pleasing results of dairying has been the tendency to bring the farmers in closer relationship with each other. It is a very noticeable fact that those communities where a successful dairy is run boasts of the feeling of good cheer and fellowship that prevails. This, within itself, makes it an attractive proposition aside from a monetary viewpoint.

Dairying has developed in some sections to where it is the money industry of the people. As a rule you will find these communities with a good bank account and everything in a healthy condition.

We have some sections of the plains country where this business is receiving close attention but it is still limited to a small area. From reports received at the meeting of the Dairying Congress, recently held at Amarillo, these sections of the plains made a fine showing. Why there is not more creameries in operation in the plains section is another evidence of the fact that proper stress has not been brought to bear in the premises.

There is really no good reason why the plains of Texas is not shipping out thousands of dollars worth of dairy products each month. We have an ideal climate, lots of pure water and the land upon which to produce an abundance of cheap feed. With this combination of the perquisites to the successful dairy the next step in the movement is proper agitation.

Take from Elgin, Ill., her creameries and the town would be practically dead. The success of those industries is based more on publicity than ideal location. Great quantities of dairy products are shipped into that town every day from miles of surrounding territory. Those who are engaged in the business have a kind of partnership and the welfare of all are made co-equal. This is one of the greatest levers of encouragement and brings us back to the original idea of the close relationship existing among men engaged in dairying.

Since the advent of the railroad into the Lubbock section we have the advantage of an outlet to market and this gives to the Lubbock farmer an even break with other sections in making it a success.

Let us have a creamery in Lubbock. Let it be based on lines that will encourage every farmer to contribute to its growth. It is badly needed and with proper impetus it will be a success from the start, from a financial basis, and as a builder of strong and lasting friendships nothing could be better. We must not neglect an opportunity to secure every helpful industry and from present needs and advantages derived it would appear that the creamery is the next step in the building of a larger and better Lubbock and Lubbock country.

Doubts Peary Reached Pole
 Washington, March 9.—By a practically unanimous vote the subcommittee of the House Naval Committee today decided against bestowing any reward upon Commander Robert E. Peary until he had furnished further proofs that he discovered the North Pole.
 "I confess that I am exceedingly skeptical about Mr. Peary's ever having discovered the Pole," declared Mr. Macon, today, before the committee.
 Mr. Macon said he wanted to direct attention to one discrepancy in Mr. Peary's story. This was the speed which the explorer declared he made from the time Capt. Bartlett left him until he reached the Pole. Mr. Peary said that for five days he made 26.4 miles per day, but Mr. Macon said this appeared very singular in view of the fact that and of course every convict was aware of the coming change. Nevertheless, when it occurred each and every one of them bore himself with a newborn sense of pride, and that day all previous records were broken in one important respect, viz., not a single infraction of the rules was reported. Even the negro convicts who were steeped in densest ignorance as to matters of moral uplift, and who had for years maintained an attitude of surly indifference to all appeals to their better nature, evinced an almost childish delight at the change and walked with higher heads and changed mien when it was made. As for the others, a fresh access of dignity was plainly visible in their manner, and the new and remarkable record of perfect observance of the rules plainly evidenced their appreciation of the new order of things. The prison management scored a convincing testimonial

Neglected Texas
 BY LIGE KELLY.
 There is not enough attention given to tree culture in Texas, in order that the best results may be secured, and it is a study that is well worth time being given it. A tree's crop can be increased or decreased almost at will—it depends on the handling of it. I spent three years in California among the orchards, and while there I studied the systems of the fruit growers there, and I saw that they had so great success that I have put their methods in practice on my Erath county farm.
 The Texas method of trimming up fruit trees so that the branches start out from the trunk several feet above the ground is practiced by successful orchardists. Then the tree is permitted to branch out at the ground, and the foliage on the branches pro-wouldn't a 9-year-old paper shell pecan tree, grafted, yield $30? In my opinion it would. Texas is asleep to a great opportunity in pecans. Twenty trees would yield $600, or at $15 per tree would have a $300 crop. That beats cotton or corn because after the tree gets to bearing all the work to be done is to gather the nuts. Think of what 150 trees would yield.

 And a man who plants grafted pecan trees can plant other crops among them until they get large enough to shade the ground too much, so there would be no loss from planting the trees from a crop standpoint.
 "But," says one, "it takes a pecan tree fifteen years to get up in a pay producing point?"
 It does if you plant the nut, but not in the case of grafting a paper shell pecan into good stock. The grafted pecan will often begin bearing in five years eggs, just because my hens had a go into the peanut barn when they were on a hunt for something good for them. Texas farmers should wake up.

Milo Maize As Hog Feed
 Milo Maize is the surest grain crop that can be raised on the plains of Texas or in any semi-arid section of any country, and ten pounds of milo are equal to nine pounds Indian corn in fattening and growing hogs. This is the claim made by Prof. H. M. Cottrell of the Colorado Agricultural College. He said: "A bushel of milo will produce from 10 to 11 pounds of pork, and experienced dry land farmers report that in an average year they can raise 25 to 40 bushels of milo per acre.
 Milo in the head can be fed to hogs when first put on feed. For the final finish when fattening hogs, the milo should be threshed, the grain placed dry in troughs at the time of feeding, and enough water poured over it so that a small quantity will be left in the trough after the grain is eaten. It is doubtful if it pays to grind milo for hogs.

 "Milo has an excess of starch and much larger gains can be made by feeding with it a small quantity of skim milk or of green cured, leafy, alfalfa hay. From seven to eight pounds of alfalfa hay should be fed with each bushel of milo, or thirty to thirty-five pounds of skim milk.
 "Stock melons will yield from ten to twenty tons per acre on the plains, and stored above ground and covered with straw and dirt can be kept through the winter. They will add materially to the gains made when milo is fed."

the Peary party had made but 9.06 miles per day up to the time Bartlett left.
 During this part of his journey Mr. Macon said "no white man was with him as a witness, his only companions being his negro valet and four Eskimos.
 "He claims to have made an average of forty-four miles per day on his way back from the Pole to Bartlett's camp, and 24.6 miles per day from Bartlett's camp to Cape Columbia. The greatest speed he had made before Bartlett left him was 9.06 miles per day, so Peary must have made nearly three times as great speed after Bartlett left him as he did before in order to reach the Pole."
 Mr. Macon declared that Peary's own statements showed that he equaled this speed but twice during the entire journey to the resolution, which was adopted, declaring that the committee must have further proof before proceeding.

Pictures of Prison Life
 Kansas City Journal: The actions of the convicts in the Missouri State penitentiary the other day in the matter of donning their new blue uniforms and discarding their hated stripes, affords another evidence not needed, but still cumulatively convincing, of the fact that the surest way to reform a fallen man is by kindness, and that even the most hopelessly degraded prisoner usually will respond to an appeal to his self-respect. The event had been in course of preparation for several weeks, during which the 2,000 or more suits of the new clothing were being made by the prison tailors as to its executive ability and fitness to handle the problems that confront it daily in new and trying forms by issuing an order putting all men on the same footing as regards the new rule, wiping out old scores and giving every convict an equal chance to earn his new uniform as a permanent article of attire. That was probably the secret of the perfect score in behavior. Every prisoner felt that in one respect, at least, he was as good as the best, and that it was in his power to maintain himself on that level of equality. The effect is bound to make itself felt as a strong and abiding force for good in the prison, greatly reducing the troubles of the management and adding immensely to the general moral of the institution. What tall oaks from little acorns grow!

tect the roots from the hot sun rays in summer. The body of the tree is also protected by the foliage. The tree is not permitted to grow tall, as is the case generally in Texas, but it has a bush-like shape, and when harvest time comes no ladder is needed to gather the peaches or apples, the fruit being plucked from the tree while the harvester stands on the ground. This saves labor and it also saves fruit from being shaken off and bruised in falling.
 One big industry in California is English walnut growing. I have seen trees there that produced $20 worth of nuts. Texas could do just as well in the nut line as California does in paper shell pecans by grafting, and big money could be made at the business. If a California walnut tree will yield $20 a season why and the crop is larger each succeeding year. Out in California nursery men graft walnut trees and sell the young trees just like peach, apple and pear trees are sold in Texas. They are sold exclusively to progressive men and women, because it was that kind that brought the world out of darkness. A man with moss on his back won't do anything that will help push this good old world along.

 Now I am doing a little diversified farming on my Erath county farm and last year I sold $260.50 worth of by-products, consisting of melons, apples, peaches, a few eggs and some butter. I have found peanuts to be a sure crop and a pay crop, and my advice to Texas farmers is: Raise peanuts. I have a barn full of peanut hay now. Last week I sold fifteen dozen the time of feeding, and enough water poured over it so that a small quantity will be left in the trough after the grain is eaten. It is doubtful if it pays to grind milo for hogs.

 "Milo has an excess of starch and much larger gains can be made by feeding with it a small quantity of skim milk or of green cured, leafy, alfalfa hay. From seven to eight pounds of alfalfa hay should be fed with each bushel of milo, or thirty to thirty-five pounds of skim milk.
 "Stock melons will yield from ten to twenty tons per acre on the plains, and stored above ground and covered with straw and dirt can be kept through the winter. They will add materially to the gains made when milo is fed."

Early Maturing Crops

What this section of the country needs is early maturing crops. While the season is reasonably long, at the same time it will not suffice for the maturing of some species of crops unless they be of the early maturing variety.

With the advent of the experimental farm here we will be enabled to learn just what to plant and when. This is the all important object of those who are engaged in farming on the plains.

Some species of cotton can be raised successfully in this part of the country and they will be grown later on in large quantities. Fact is there is enough farm land in the plains to raise all the cotton necessary for the world's use, were it properly handled.

Many other crops will be grown in this part of the state as soon as their success is demonstrated. Everyone interested in farming should take hold of the proposition with the man in charge of the experimental station and swap experiences. He cannot develop all the crops as quickly by himself as he will if aided through the knowledge of what others have accomplished. The experimental farm for the Plains is the greatest step that has ever been taken looking toward its rapid settlement. When we can furnish the proof of what the country will do, it will be easy to induce the farmers to come.

The development of the plains is to be looked for from a farming point of view. Indications all seem to point to the fact that this is to be final and full.

Not only does America need more farms, but the entire world is beginning to feel the need of more farm products. Aside from the reclamation of submerged lands, the Plains offers about all of the virgin soil of the civilized world. It is no trouble to put in a farm in this section and with proper judgment and management they will be successful investments.

At this day it is no longer possible to go into business in a careless way and hope for success. Science has reached out into every branch of human endeavor. Let us keep a look ahead and do all things needful, to make the Plains, the mecca of America. It can be done.

Why Tillman Thanked God

Columbia (S. C.) State: "The man and the woman have made their bed and must lie upon it, for, thank God, there is no divorce in South Carolina."

We quote from Senator Tillman's "return" to the Supreme Court in answering the rule to show cause in the case in which his deserted daughter-in-law petitioned for the possession of her infant girl children, surreptitiously taken from her and deeded to Senator Tillman by their father. None is more proud of South Carolina's stand against divorce and her unique place among the States than we, but to make that attitude one for which Carolinas may thank God without hypocrisy there must be a deeper foundation of morality and justice in family life.

A law against divorce signifies little; we can not say to any other State. "Thank God! We are better than thou," unless the lives lived in our homes prove that the harsh decree of legal separation is not unnecessary unless there is secured to each of the partners in the marriage contract that position of justice which is necessary to the happiness of an enlightened man or woman.

There is no divorce, but is there justice to the wife when a dissolute husband may force her to endure a hell on earth through fear of his taking away her children? There is no divorce, but does that fact conduce to happiness or purity in the home when a man may maltreat his wife, and finally send her children away, forever out of her reach, with no fault charged against her, without the woman's having redress?

We can not boast of our laws against divorce unless we can point with pride to the results of such a condition. A prerequisite to happiness among the enlightened men and women living together in life partnership is justice.

Justice is outraged by that South Carolina law against mothers whose enforcement Senator Tillman has invoked against a woman standing alone in the world, robbed even of her babies!

Profit on 129 Hogs

A clear profit of $1,070.06 or $8.29 1-2 per head is what Earl Harrington of Bureau county, Ill. made on 129 hogs less than one year old. The hogs were Duroc-Jerseys of his own raising and were sold on the Chicago market February 1, at $8.65 per 100 pounds. In Breeders Gazette he tells how he did this, and his story follows:

I had twenty-three brood sows, thirteen young and ten old sows; they all farrowed in April except two, which farrowed the first week in May. On October 1 I had saved 149 pigs, and after selecting out thirteen good sows to keep over, I weighed the 136 head and they weighed 13,152 pounds, an average of 96 1-2 pounds.

I then turned the 136 into seventeen acres of corn and thirty-five acres of new seeding of clover. I estimated the corn at sixty-five bushels to the acre. I took them up December 17, when they weighed 28,690 pounds or about 211 pounds a head, and sold two out to butcher that weighed 410 pounds, leaving 28,280 pounds. I then shut them in the yard and on January 17 I had fed them 504 bushel of corn (75 pounds to the bushel) and they weighed 34,640 pounds, a little more than 258 pounds each. I took out five head to butcher that weighed about 1,200 pounds; that left 33,440 pounds and 129 head. On January 31 I hauled them five miles in sleds to a shipping station where they weighed 35,480 pounds, or 275 pounds each.

I did not weigh the corn that they ate, but think it amounted to about 225 bushels. I kept salt and ashes by them all the time. They cleared me $8.29 1-2 at home.

I fed the sows at farrowing time 500 pounds of bran and the pigs 1,500 pounds of middlings in a thick slop after they had learned to eat corn in a pen by themselves, and they had sixty acres of clover and timothy pasture. I gave them a light feed of corn twice a day and they never had a ring in their noses and at no time while I had them in the yard feeding did I aim to feed more than they would eat in an hour and a half at a feed until the last week, when they seemed to want to quit.

Agricultural Prosperity

One does not have to look back many years in the past to recall the fact that farmers throughout the great grain-producing sections of the West, as well as in the cotton-producing States of the South, were groaning under not only a burden of debt, but under conditions adversely affecting prices, whatever the causes leading thereto, that made farming for the time being about the least profitable occupation a person could engage in. The industry of agriculture everywhere languished, despite the fact that harvests were, as a rule, bountiful. But all this has changed, and in so far as our farming population as a whole is concerned it is enjoying an era of "smiling plenty."

Recently at Joliet, Ill., farmers representing an aggregate farm wealth of $18,000,000 gathered to attend a "farmers' banquet," said to be the first function of its kind ever held in the United States. Not unnaturally the speakers discussed their own vocation, its successes and reverses, just as banqueting bankers, or lawyers, or manufacturers, are wont to do. One orator discussed the hog, and grew eloquent in tracing the steady rise in its price. Other subjects having similar relation to the growing value of farm products and the increase of farm wealth received attention, but on the whole the banquet was pretty much on the order of those enjoyed by gentlemen engaged in other prosperous professions or vocations.

Since the enduring success of practically every other industry and calling is contingent on the prosperity of our farming interests, it follows that governments both State and National, should be very careful to refrain from all such legislation as would have a tendency to disturb this prosperity. Houston Post.

War on Cigarettes

The present outlook in Silverton seems to indicate that war has been declared on the cigarette habit at this place. On the request of County Attorney J. E. Daniel all of the Silverton merchants with possibly one exception have agreed to not handle any more Durham or Dukes smoking tobacco, these two brands being the kinds most generally used for cigarettes. Just how far this will go toward correcting the cigarette habit in this place remains to be seen. That the use of cigarettes is detrimental to the development of both body and mind is not a question of dispute; and that it is a growing evil among boys, and is conducive to moral debility is clearly to be seen in every town. Parents who regard the welfare of their children and who wish to contribute to the elevation of society should certainly exert their best efforts to discourage this useless habit in their children. The most efficient and impressive instruction we can give our children is by example. It stands to reason that much of the force of our precepts are lost so long as our examples contradict our words. As a general rule the boy's ideal is not much above papa and if papa lectures his son on the evils of smoking between puffs there is reasonable grounds to question papa's sincerity. Since the crusade has been started on smoking cigarettes let's make a clean shucking of it. Say to the boys,

"Let's not smoke any more. Throw away that old pipe and buy the boys a sack of apples with the dime you was about to spend for a cigar. Help the boys to quit cigarettes."

We have been asked for an expression on this subject and they are our sentiments. Silverton Enterprise.

Public Spirit an Asset

Memphis News Scimitar: Public spirit is a private asset to every man in the community. By public spirit we mean a disposition to advance the interests of the community as a whole. The laborer or clerk with out property is benefited in such a community, because that spirit provides more comforts and pleasures available. If it is a man of property or business things that makes a city attractive to live in, brings people energy and capital to it, and this increases the volume of business and the value of property. There are men in Memphis who have been conducting business enterprises while at the same time owners of property, and the increase in the value of property, whose care gave them no work, was greater than the net profits of their business, that gave them all their work. This increase in the value of property came from increase in population. The more rapid the growth of a community, the more rapid the increase in the value of property. If a man has $200,000 invested in a manufacturing plant and the cost of living in the community and the pleasure of living in it make a difference of 50c per day for or against him in the cost of labor, and he employs a hundred workers, this is $50 a day, or $15,000 in the year, or 7 1-2 per cent on the capital of $200,000. Public spirit is not charity or giving, but investing. Public spirit is that larger spirit of faith that is willing to invest in the community through faith in the community as a whole or organized segments of a community, just as private spirit is willing to increase investment in one's own business, where the faith is confined to oneself. Public spirit inspires a man to take a larger interest in the management of his community or its component parts to help get things done right, and on the other hand the habit of interesting himself in public matters begets public spirit because he has more faith in the administration of affairs in which he has been exercising some voice. Every virtue helps every other virtue. Every reform helps every other reform that is worth while. Investment through public spirit may pay larger material returns than investment through private enterprise, and the man of larger vision is the one who sees it. He can see beyond his own business and his own bank account, and understands his part dependence on the business and bank account of every other man in the community and certainly of the community as a whole. Building a community by pri-ivate, as compared to public spirit, is doing what the world has been trying to get away from—the habit of pulling a load with four mules pulling one way to the front and three mules pulling the other way to the rear. Speaking figuratively, the business of life has been through all the centuries, in the broadest application, and touching the most vital and largest questions of humanity, to get all the mules pulling one way, and we are as much improved over former times as we have added mules to the front and taken them away from the rear. The same thing stated differently is that the business of life has been from the origin of man to reduce and stop friction. The search for frictionless machinery has gone on in the physical, moral and intellectual world.—Exchange.

THE SUBMERGED TENTH
The sweetest thoughts known to the human mind are those in which freedom has its setting.

We, as a nation, are drawing people from the old world who have been attracted to our shores through a hope for a better liberty than they have enjoyed at home. It is hard to imagine their feelings when they are awakened to a realization that freedom is unknown in this supposed "land of the free; the home of the moral coward."

The ideals of the founders of America have been dimmed by the shadow of the dollar and the one time submerged tenth has swollen into a submerged whole. The young man of twenty-five years ago, started out for himself on his own account. The young man of today fits himself for the service of others.

The ideals of the higher walks of life must be kept free from the contaminating influences of commercialism. So long as men are encouraged to success through the paths that are paved with the hopes and aspirations of others just that long will we be confronted with strikes and strife among those who toil with physical force submerged to the will of their masters. Wealth is a powerful weapon with which to stamp out the rights of mankind and this has been the prime power used to bring about present day conditions. We no longer hope for success that does not embrace millions of dollars. A million dollars is too much wealth for one man to safely control and yet we have men in America who actually control billions. With such unlimited power these men of many millions are easily made to believe that their's is a divine power, and of all the harmful agencies that work against the race, the man who rules by a supposed divine right takes the lead.

Rockefeller is one of these abnormal specimens, and Baer, the coal king, is another. They grant to themselves an unctious that the devil has never had the nerve to presume. Morgan and Ryan are of a different mold. Their idea, is to crush, ruthlessly.

Of the two types, the latter is far preferable.

merged to the will of their masters.

Optimism is the magnet that draws men away from contemplating unpleasant conditions, but without some logical basis of relief, optimism will not suffice.

We need a radical departure from the present trend, all are agreed. The man who can point the way has not been developed. Will he eventuate, or what will the ending be?

NEW TREE PLANTING IDEA

From the Lubbock Avalanche it is learned that recently a street two miles long was set to shade trees on each side. This is a laudable practice and every town on the Plains should plant trees. In a talk with Mr. Theo Griffith, of this place Sunday evening he advanced a new idea and one worth considering. Said Mr. Griffith, "I am in favor of planting trees, but believe we can as well plant apple trees as locust, and get the same result for shade purposes and at the same time increase the fruit crops, as the apple grows as fast or nearly so as the locust, makes a prettier tree, has all of the advantages of the locust and none of the disadvantages." That's the idea; plant shade trees, that kind which will give the most returns for the trouble and expense. An apple tree is no harder to raise than a locust, lives as long and has the advantage of being valuable from other standpoints besides giving shade. —Lubbock Beacon.

We are pleased to note the interest that is being manifested throughout the Plains country in the matter of tree planting, and we believe that Lubbock has set a pace that will be hard to over come.

ENLARGES PAPER

The Crosby County News comes to us this week in its brand new dress and considerably enlarged. The people of Emma can do no better than to stick to their home paper and help it to help them.

The Care of Trees

Now that the people have planted so generously of trees it is of the utmost importance that the should be properly cared for.

One thing is plenty of water. Without it they are apt to die. It will not be much trouble or expense to have water hauled in wagons for this purpose and it must be done in the very near future, if good results are to be obtained from the planting. Let some enterprising citizen take hold of the matter at once and see that it is attended to. It will pay.

Boy Caught Here

Sheriff W. H. Flynn, captured Charlie Lowe, of San Angelo, in this city Wednesday of last week, and conveyed him to Big Springs, where he was turned over to Sheriff McConnell of San Angelo. Lowe was wanted on a charge of forgery, at that place.

Planting an Arbor

A grape arbor adds lots to the appearance of a home as well as the comfort. They are an easy plant to cultivate and now is the time to plant. Do not wait until next season.

"BUCK'S" STOVES AND RANGES

THE ACME OF STOVE AND RANGE PERFECTION

A stove or range will be a most extravagant, or a most economical investment, there's no half way business about it. The person who considers price only when selecting a new stove or range, is making a most grievous mistake, price should be the last consideration. No matter how nice and attractive a new stove may be, if the appearance is all in the "finish," it soon wears off and becomes a most unattractive appearing object. A stove or range made of poor material soon wears out and your money has been uselessly squandered. A poorly made, poorly constructed stove or range, with poor, loose joints, is a most extravagant investment. These loose joint defects may not be apparent at the time of purchase, but are soon very apparent in the operation of the stove or range. Protect yourself against the unseen, hidden things, buy the stove or range that bears the

"BUCK'S" TRADE MARK

It means perfect stove or range satisfaction for the rest of your days, for a "Buck's" for whatever purpose you may desire it, will give perfect and economical service and last a lifetime. The "Buck's" stoves and ranges, the best in America, are the cheapest in the long run. Then by all means buy "Buck's."

The Editor's Mistakes

It is said to be an inexcusable outrage for a newspaper editor to make the slightest mistake in a statement of any sort, while professional persons, upon whose certainty of knowledge and on whose statement in regard thereto, life and death or the most important interests depend, make the most serious errors without incurring the slightest criticism, much less blame, says the New Orleans Picayune.

Take the judge on the bench, whose decisions are set aside and annulled by higher courts almost every day, and the judge whose judgment is so reversed does not suffer in the least in public and professional estimation.

In the same way the physician who makes a wrong diagnosis of his patient's disease, administers treatment that results in death instead of a cure, loses none of the confidence of his patrons, in his skill, and he may kill any number of persons secundum artem without incurring the slightest responsibility.

These are curious facts, but they are mentioned, not by way of excusing editorial mistakes, for there is no excuse for them. It is because every individual firmly believes that he could conduct newspapers better than those who are charged with the work, while no unprofessional person would undertake to usurp functions of the judge or the physician.

A Town's Talent

Every town has its advantages and should make the most of them. Every town is peculiarly fitted for some one enterprise more than another, and as soon as it is ascertained what would be most conducive to the growth and prosperity of the place the citizens should take hold of the matter and push it for all there is in it. One man can not make a town. The newspaper can not do it. But one man or a newspaper with the help of the wide-awake men of the place all pulling together can make a wide difference in a place. Every man who succeeds in a town is a help to it. The more money he makes if he spends it, the better for the community. The larger business he builds up, the more he advertises, the more attention is called to the town. A man can not build up an honorable business in a town without helping the country. A town can not build up without helping the country. The interest of one is the interest of all. The rivalry that sometimes exists between towns in the same country is short-sight policy.
