A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.—Ephesians 6:12.

He who will fight the devil at his own weapon must not wonder if he finds him an overmatch.—South.

THE BEST MEDIUM

People go to theatres to be entertained, not to read advertisements. An advertisement thrown on a screen is more apt to be an annoyance than an appeal.

Billboard advertising cannot tell much of a story. A majority of those who see it pass so swiftly that they catch only a few words, rarely does anyone stop his automobile to read a billboard.

Dodgers and circulars cast around promiscuously or jammed into mail boxes, end up usually as street litter or stuffing for waste-baskets. Less than half the riders in street cars and busses ever read the ads that are carried overhead or in end space. Eight out of ten of these riders are engaged in conversation or in reading newspapers.

Advertising by electric signs is effective only at night. Direct mail advertising has some considerable advantages when properly done, but a large proportion of it receives no attention.

All the above mentioned mediums do not reach as many readers as do local newspapers. Every successful merchant prefers newspaper advertising. It is the only medium that gets his publicity into the homes. Newspaper advertising carries a considerable amount of good will, authority and prestige of the newspaper in which it appears. No other medium carries more than a negligible degree of these highly desirable qualities. No other medium lends the news and part of the process of keeping readers posted. It is exceedingly valuable news to the careful housewife interested in making the family income go as far as possible.

OLD FABLE WORKED OVER

A man there was—very jealous.

Who lived in a house constructed of glass. He had a neighbor whose modest home, was built of rock, from cellar to dome.

The man of the house constructed of glass, hurled stones at the other whenever he'd pass.

But the stones recoiled from the walls of rock. Against the house of glass, with a terrible shock.

Soon the man in the house constructed of glass, had not much left but a shattered mass.

While the man in the house constructed of stone kept coming and going, as he's always doing.

Nut seed!

THE TIME MAY COME

We've been thinking it over and we have come to the conclusion that the day may yet come when "old timers" around Muleshoe will not be viewing with alarm the "goings-on" of the younger generation; when modern magazines will think up some way of attracting attention without the use of nakedness in pictures; when a man will actually work as hard as he leads his wife and friends to believe he works; when somebody will not always be longing for the "good old days;" when the butcher will return to the custom of throwing in a piece of liver for the dog with every order of meat—and when all good citizens will realize that there really ought to be a nine months affiliated school in Muleshoe and will see that the children get it.

PLEASE BE BRIEF

We read a placard in a man's office the other day: "The world is in a hurry; please be brief," and we immediately thought of one or two people in this burg whose plethoric loquaciousness has meant the loss of considerable time at the expense of courtesy. Not infrequently it is a case that the man who has little or nothing to do fails to realize the business of his professionalist.

Poor terminal facilities for authors or speakers often nullify all their excellent wisdom. A man may possess all kinds of useful knowledge but fall in "discerning when to have done." Brevity is "often the soul of wisdom," and is the touchstone of success in any field. You may offend your customer, your reader or your hearer in one respect and please him in another; but if you tire him with your tediousness, you lose him altogether.

The newspaper leads the style today in plh and cogency, and has educated the public to the expectation of receiving much in little. The well-executed cartoon will impart a whole philosophy of life at a glance, or provide silent comment on current events worth a whole column of words.

Brevity is the soul of wit, yet often they who have wit, or think they have it, are in special danger of saying too much. Some one has said: "It is better to say nothing and be thought a fool than to open the mouth and dispel all doubt."

Jaunty Journalettes

Why is it that some Muleshoe people can't realize that whatever helps the town, helps them as citizens?

Two dollar bills are getting quite scarce, but if Uncle Sam wants to get rid of the rest of them he might try putting them on sale in Muleshoe at a $1.49 each.

Conscience tells many a Muleshoe man when he is doing wrong, but lucky for him it doesn't tell the neighbors.

We understand that since his wife started in to learn to drive the car, a certain Muleshoe man is thinking of having the back end of his garage hung on hinges.

There might be fewer divorces in this part of Texas if the men were as willing to let their wives have all the money as they are for them to have all the religion.

Another definition of a Muleshoe home is a place where we grumble the most and are treated the best.

To some Muleshoe girls, an engagement ring means that they have got some man wrapped around their third finger.

Some Muleshoe men's idea of a good wife is one who tells him what a good provider he is, instead of what a poor driver he is.

Pavement Pickups

David said in his haste that "all men are liars," and according to Rev. Hicks, that lets the women out.

Clay Beavers says that maybe the reason why the Lord made Adam first was to give him a chance to say a few words.

Dr. Matthews declares one folks are pleasant only as an investment, and they never waste kindness where they know it won't pay.

"An auto is the most persevering animal I know of," says O'Neil Rockey. None of them ever butted a train off the track, and yet they keep right on trying it."

"One reason there are so many societies and lodges," declares J. B. Roberts, "is that some people are forever organizing new ones because they couldn't get an office in the old ones."

Mrs. Faulkner, in authority for the statement that the trouble with the modern bride's "going away gown," as she sees it pictured in the daily papers is that most of them look like they had already gone.

A certain young man in Muleshoe got married a week or so ago, and for two or three days following his wedding went around the store in a rather dreamy fashion. During this period of innocuous desuetude he was helping out the butcher for a little while, when a lady of rather esthetic nature stepped into the store to buy some meat, and was horribly shocked at overhearing the following conversation: "Step lively now, you old married man," said the butcher to the newly yet, "We must get these orders out as soon as possible. Break those bones in Mrs. White's chops and wrap up Mrs. Johnson's ribs." "Alright," replied the new benedict. "Just as soon as I have sawed off Mrs. Brown's leg or muton, weighed Mrs. Smith's liver and caught ———— chickens."

BLONDE BESS OPINES
"Mother becomes awfully vexed with me because I can't remember what happens right under my nose."

TEN CENT COTTON

Ten Cent Cotton
Fifty cent corn—
I wish to God
I had never been born.

There is a Hell below
And a Heaven on high.
So this Hell-bent bunch
Said "Diversity."

So I raised the eggs
Until 'twas no use;
My hens just busted
Their little caboose.

Bought me some shoats,
Put them on the rye;
They sold for a profit—
Yeah, in a pig's eye!

I raised a surplus,
But when I want to sell,
They told me the price
Was shot to Hell.

So I bought some cows,
And built a pasture fence,
Sold their butter
For fifteen cents.

So when it comes to the point
I want to tell you men,
The Devil himself
Is like Farmer's friend.
—Chas. Horton in Farm and Ranch.

Militiamen Guard $50,000 Contest Mail

THE thousands of letters received in the $50,000 Camel cigarette contest, advertised in newspapers from coast to coast, were guarded in the same manner as huge gold shipments. Photograph shows contest mail being loaded into an armored truck at the Winston-Salem, N. C., postoffice under guard for transportation to the offices of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. Charles Dana Gibson, noted artist and publisher of Life, Ray Long, president of International Magazine Company and Editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, and Roy Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, were judges of the contest which called for answers to the question, "What recent change has been made in the wrapping of the Camel package containing twenty cigarettes and what are its advantages to the smoker?" The huge response to the contest announcements proved anew the great responsiveness of the public to newspaper advertising.

100 OF 25 OR MORE SHEEP ADD TO FARM LIFE; COST OF KEEP IS LEAST SAYS EXPERIENCED GROWER

IS HORRISBERGER

Following article by Louis Horger, who lives a few miles north of Muleshoe, is worthy of consideration by every farmer in Bailey County. For the past 21 years he has been keeping flocks of from 25 to 40 sheep on his farm and each year has been profitable. Especially in times of financial depression, sheep are profitable, and return to normal prices higher than any other livestock.

At more farm flocks in Bailey County. During recent years people are rapidly learning to state the fact that lamb and mutton is the most delicious, nutritious and healthful of all meats. A farm will furnish cheap meat for the consumption. Almost any time it will turn waste feed into mutton, wool paying for the grain they feed. Formerly sheep production was a range industry but since the war there has been so much reduction in production, it is becoming a proposition, and in the future become more and more a part of the activities of the general farm in Texas.

Sheep Are Not Difficult to Handle. Many persons have the idea that sheep are hard to care for and handle while it is true that sheep have peculiarities, there are no secrets nor being difficult in the care and management of a flock of sheep. All that is needed is an exercise of patience, perseverance and good judgment. Any country with dry, open lands, abundance of roughage and plentiful markets has a decided advantage in this business. The average farm would be much benefited by a flock of sheep which could turn waste products into cash, thus saving feed of commercial value and at the same time increasing the fertility of the soil. Sheep produce a double crop annually, wool and lambs in the spring, and if the animal is cared for properly the income from the wool will more than pay for the ewe's keep. Their value as builders of soil fertility should not be overlooked. A great many farms that have been cropped year after year are rapidly losing their productivity, and there is no class of livestock so well adapted to building up of the soil as sheep. Their droppings are extremely rich and are scattered over the fields in a manner which neither man nor machine can duplicate.

To Destroy Weeds

Sheep are noted scavengers; as weed exterminators they have no equal. Not only will sheep rid the fields of these pests but they also will turn them into a marketable product and return the fertility in the form of manure. Most farms have feed lots and yards which annually group up weeds which are very unsightly. By allowing sheep to graze in these places and pasturing sheep on it the appearance of the farm will be much improved and it will be the means of making good meat, which mean a large bank account. Roadsides, lanes and fences corners also may be kept clean and tidy by the use of a flock of sheep.

Consider the Ewes

Get ewes that have a feminine, motherly appearance as it is an indication of prolific breeders and good mothers. The eyes should be large, clear and bright, yet placid, indicating a kind disposition. The ewes should show plenty of constitution by having a wide spring of ribs and a deep, full chest. They should have a strong back with a thick covering of natural flesh. A little more length of coupling is required in the ewe than in the ram, the hips should be wide apart and the hind quarters full. The body should stand squarely on the four legs with strong feet and pasterns. The wool should be dense, have quality, strength and lustre. When possible, the purchaser should examine the ewes personally. This is sometimes impossible when they are purchased by mail. The reliable breeder will fill his mail orders as nearly as possible from the purchaser's instructions.

SO THIS IS U. S. A.

An Englishman was visiting this country for the first time and as he was driving along the highway, saw a sign, "Drive Slow. This Means YOU!" The Englishman stopped in surprise and exclaimed, "My word! How did they know I was here?"

When a grade flock is to be established it is well to choose good strong Western ewes and a pure bred ram of the mutton type. This makes an excellent foundation. The ewes should be young, uniform in size and build, showing constitution and vigor. In selecting a bunch of grade ewes it is not always possible to examine every individual carefully but they should be examined for age, being sure to buy only ewes with good mouths.

It is just as true with sheep as with any other class of livestock that if one is to be successful in breeding he must have the ideal type in mind and breed toward that type through selection of the breeding stock. When buying this breeding stock, select only the kind which comes nearest to the ideal you desire. A pure bred ram should be placed at the head of the flock. The ram should be as nearly perfect in conformation as possible at the same time having a good fleece, and the markings of the breed in which he belongs. The neck should be taken not to select a ram that is excessive in size. A large coarse ram will not breed so uniform a lot of lambs or will they be as compactly and smoothly built, which is essential in lambs that are raised for market.

The flock ram should have a short, broad, clean cut head with a clear, prominent eye. The head as a whole should show decided masculine appearance, which is a good indication of strong productive powers. The neck should be of medium length and fitting neatly on to the head and shoulders. The ram should have a strong, vigorous constitution. This is indicated largely by the spring of ribs, and the width and depth of chest. The shoulders should be smooth, compact, and well covered with natural flesh.

A ram should be short coupled, having a wide, thick loin with a thick covering of meat along the back. A long, smooth rump is desirable as a sheep that carries a large percentage of meat in the hind quarters is preferable from the butchers' standpoint. The leg of mutton should be wide, full and carried well down towards the hocks. The ram should stand squarely on his feet and legs with strong feet and pasterns. The bone should show plenty of size for the individual, at the same time being clean cut and showing quality. The fleece is an important item in selecting a ram. It should be dense, fine and strong, showing plenty of crimp and lustre.

In a selection of a ram the breed type should not be overlooked. Before purchasing a pure bred ram, learn all that is possible about the character of the breed you have chosen, and then select a ram that shows breed type and character. The ewes also should be taken into consideration. If the ewes are small and fine, it would be well to select a ram of opposite quality. If ewes are large and coarse, select a smaller, more compact ram. Always keep in mind that the ram is half the flock—like begets like—and, therefore, too much care cannot be given to the selection of the breeding ram which is going to head the flock.

If starting with a grade of Shropshire ewes, you will have the best all purpose sheep that are superior to other breeds for the following reasons: 1.—They sell for the high dollar over

The local committee on good cotton seed has adopted the resolution of the county committee in agreeing to place Roger's Acala on the preferred list. Certified seed of this breed are being secured through County Agent Reynolds for $1.50 per bushel in three bushel sacks. At a recent meeting of the Board of Education it was decided that school would run for seven and a half months, which makes it close the first week in June. This can be paid for from funds already in sight. If any more local taxes to speak of are collected, there is a mere possibility of a full eight months term.

"Finger Prints," a most enjoyable play put on by the school baseball club, brought $12.33. An indoor ball was procured for the girls, and the remainder is being expended for bats and balls for the boys.

A good rain has fallen over the entire community, and so far as we are able to learn, was general. Farmers are again turning sod and quite a few speak of planting crops in the near future.

Work will minimize the worries of all people except those who worry because they have to work.

FORD RELIABILITY THE FORD TUDOR SEDAN Long, hard use shows the value of good materials and simplicity of design

EVERYWHERE you go you hear reports of the good performance and reliability of the Ford. One owner writes—"The Ford Tudor Sedan I am driving has covered 59,300 miles through all kinds of weather. It is still giving perfect satisfaction." Another owner describes a trip of 3217 miles in 95 hours over bad roads and through heavy rain and sleet in the mountains. "Throughout the entire trip," he writes, "the Ford performed excellently and no mechanical trouble of any kind was experienced. The shatter-proof glass undoubtedly saved us from serious injury when a prairie chicken struck the windshield while we were traveling at 65 miles an hour."

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the Ford. Then, from your own personal experience, you will know that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

Like a Symphony . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

ITS primer knowledge to the orchestra conductor that each group of instruments in the ensemble brings a necessary influence into the symphony's finished blend of tone. In the unaccompanied "solo" of the bass horns the overlay of melody produced by singing violins and mellow woodwinds is lacking. All must be blended by the baton of the conductor according to the expert formula of the composer before the perfection of the symphony is achieved. CONOCO long has realized that harmony is as necessary to gasoline as to music. So CONOCO gasoline is blended—and balanced. One type of gasoline is no more satisfactory than is an orchestra of bass horns. So CONOCO refiners take the three types containing the elements of the perfect fuel and deftly combine them until they blend in absolute harmony. That's why CONOCO contains: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting . . . Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage . . . Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock qualities. No single type of gasoline can contain all these qualities. They are present, though, in CONOCO Gasoline . . . blended there into a symphonic, harmonious whole, with CONOCO's master refiners wielding the baton. For, after all, it's in knowing how. That's why some multiple directors, as well as some refiners, achieve fame. You'll find this triple-text gasoline with the balanced-blend wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

Rain Aids Wheat And Starts Plows Running Garden Making Active

Rain, in copious quantities, falling in this area Thursday and Friday of last week gives practical assurance of a bumper wheat crop and made possible the advancement of all spring farming operations.

Thursday afternoon, at Muleshoe, there was a heavy rainfall, then again that night and still more rain throughout Friday. Its value is beyond estimation, since many fields of wheat had begun turning yellow from lack of moisture, while some of the old farm land had been reported too dry for plowing.

Now all this is changed: all wheat fields are presenting wonderful green swards, farmers have resumed their plowing and sod-breaking, and will soon be planting, while all pasture lands have been greatly rejuvenated. This week garden planting was largely in vogue among both city dwellers and country folks.

The rain was general throughout this area.

How Islands Got Name

If you think the Canary Islands were so named because the trees were full of yellow songsters, guess again. Large numbers of dogs roaming around caused King Juba II of the Mauretania, who discovered the islands, to take the Latin name "canaries," meaning "dogs" and bestow it on the place.—Exchange.
