A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own?—Matt. 23:5. Our material possessions like our joys, are enhanced in value by being shared. Hoarded and unimproved property can only afford satisfaction to a miser.—G. D. Prentice.

NO TIME FOR ALIBIS

Along about this time of year some people begin to use the alibi of the little boy whose mother ordered him to wash his neck and ears. "What's the use in washing 'em," he whined, "they'll get dirty again." That's the alibi some property owners advance when the season arrives for cleaning up their premises and putting their house and surroundings in shape for spring and summer.

disease and death if left to breed in dirty and stagnant places. As a usual thing, our people need little warning along this line, but always there are a few who lag back and offer alibis for not joining in the annual clean-up. It is to them we are making this appeal. You wouldn't deliberately wreck your neighbor's health, when you jeopardize it? Why expose him to disease and death by your failure to clean up your premises? Now, let your conscience be your judge!

Now that skirts are longer and won't have to be pulled down every six seconds, the nose will get powdered oftener.

A few days ago Bailey County District court made permanent a temporary injunction previously granted against opening of a new road greatly needed in that county. The incident reminded me of a story we heard not long ago and which may be of interest to the good roads enthusiasts of this county.

Men were seeking a right-of-way for a road in the Kentucky mountains. Some were giving it freely; others were charging for it. One old pioneer, when told the road would run through his garden, said: "Go ahead. Take the garden. Move the house if you want to, and I'll even pay the expense of moving it. I've hauled truck in the mud for 40 years and now I'm through."

A good many people who refuse to believe the Bible, accept the word of their bootlegger as gospel truth.

SELF-MADE REFORMERS

Crime is a matter in which a great number of people, without experience or knowledge of conditions, become self-made "authorities." The nation is alive with these amateur crime reformers. Their voices are raised in our legislative halls and in auditoriums, and their views find their way into print. That, of course, is their right. But it would be well to give their projects the closest scrutiny before making them the law of the land.

Advocating anti-revolver laws is their favorite cure-all for crime. They reason that as some persons are injured or killed with small arms, such articles should be legally abolished. On the same ground, automobiles, which in the hands of reckless or inexperienced persons kill more individuals than war, should also be abolished. So with airplanes, axes, knives, hammers, etc. The point that the reformers miss is that the gun in itself is a perfectly innocent implement for lawful uses. To forbid its ownership is tantamount to saying that anything that may be used in the commission of crime should be illegal.

Actual experience has proved anti-gun laws a failure. New York City is a sufficient example. An unprotected home or store is an invitation to the underworld.

Jaunty Journalettes

The Muleshoe man who can't see anything in his job should stand off and take a peek at himself. Then he will know what is the matter.

What has become of the old-fashioned Muleshoe boys and girls who could enjoy an evening spent playing Old Maids or Authors?

In some instances, it is getting so that instead of Muleshoe parents thinking their children need a chaperon, the children think their parents should have a guardian.

Kitchen gas ranges may now be had in bright colors. But it will take more than a pink stove to make some Muleshoe girls love a kitchen.

Golf is said to be good treatment for the insane, and the State Board of Control of the Insane Asylum at Wichita Falls recently ordered 400 worth of clubs for their patients. We have often wondered why some Muleshoe citizens were so interested in golf.

The people of Muleshoe who regret the good old days, usually demand all the modern improvements.

That's my answer.

Every year finds good roads supporters more numerous in this section. More and more our people are coming to realize that our salvation so far as prosperity and living conditions are concerned, depends on the kind of highways we have and the number of these days to build a highway improvement, because when he stands in the way of road building he is standing in his own light.

The old Kentuckian set a good example for the people of every community as well as his own. Let us hope that the same spirit will prevail in this section at any time, and every time there is a road-building proposition on foot.

Many people who complain that the government is not run right are the ones who vote for the best handshaker.

GLOOM MAKERS

Anybody who doesn't know any better might concede from reading some of the newspapers that it's about over with America, and that she is "going to the dogs" in a hurry. True there has been some cause for apprehension during the past months, but the professional gloom maker is back of most of the pessimism.

There's more happiness than misery in the world today; more good people than bad people; more kindness than cruelty; more sympathy than censure. Unfortunately, the newspapers have a habit of playing up the bad side of life, taking the good side for granted and remarking nothing of it, while the gloom-maker seizes upon these comments and rolls them as sweet morsels under his tongue.

But don't believe it. If a gloom-maker meets you on the streets of Muleshoe and starts to pour out his story of woe, and to wonder "what the world is coming to," dismiss him with a smile. Tell him it's the best world you have ever lived in, and that it suits you pretty well, since you are not in a position to change it very much. Then he take a spring tonic or good liver stimulant.

A good many people who refuse to believe the Bible, accept the word of their bootlegger as gospel truth.

ANSWER TO A MERCHANT

A Susquehanna business man was asked to complain about lack of trade yesterday. We reminded him that he never advertised, and he replied that he used circular letters and postcards to tell the people about his goods.

We asked him if he ever announced births, deaths, or weddings in the circular letters and handbills he sent out. If he ever told what the town council does, or reported the hundred and one things taking place here? If he mentioned the goings and comings of people? If he mentioned the parties held, and what the schools are doing? If he included an item or two about the basketball games? If he printed notices in the letters and handbills?

"Of course not," he replied. "All that is for you to print in the Transcript."

We admitted the responsibility, and then asked him if he did not think it wise to include his business appeal in the transcript, that the 6,000 readers might take notice of it while they read the news of the community.

He was candid in his admission that he had never looked upon newspaper advertising in the light before.

If you want to talk to the people of this community direct, the Evening Transcript offers the best medium—the advertising columns. And the cost is far below what the postage and printing alone costs to mail out circular letters. Of course, all people do not read the ads. All people who pass a store do not enter. All the good people do not go to church. All visitors to a store do not buy, either.

But if you want your business message in a place where it is more apt to be read than any other place, then put it in the home-town paper.

The evening Transcript is your home town paper.

Don't say business is poor until you have tried advertising long enough to build up confidence, and establish a reputation for serving the public in a modern way.

One drop of medicine does not cure a sick person. One ad will not cure a sick business. Even a sheriff's sale has to be advertised three times to be effective.—Susquehanna (Pa.) Evening Transcript.

Jess Jasack Josh and Mulesense

Along about this time of the year static begins to make the raido sound like mule-music.

A Muleshoe citizen, father of a bunch of children, remarked the other day he wished he had been born a mule. Now, just why?

Nothing in the world has put so many children on their feet as the alarm clock, and perhaps nothing more than mules-heels have taken more off.

A billion dollars of government contracts have been recently let, which means the hee-haws will have an increased demand.

With the Romanoffs, the Hohenzollerns, the Hapsburgs and the Bourbons gone, the only remaining advocates of that "Etat; c'est moi" policy remaining are the Jassacmuleers.

Most mules are noted for their single-tree pull; but the trigger pull of the gangsters is rapidly becoming more notorious.

NEWS PAPERS

"Newspapers," says a writer, "are the most unique institutions in the history of the world. The newspaper is the only business enterprise, conducted upon business lines and a perfectly legitimate manner, that really serves the progressive life of the state more than all other institutions of the country put together, and this service is rendered without cost to the public or state. It is still more peculiar in that, regardless of the profits it makes its owners, it returns even more profit to the community."

She lovingly gathered her little flock together and took them to the draw north of here to wienie roast. They roasted wienies and toasted marshmallows, drank soda water and played many interesting games. They came home at an early hour. The Nowell boys took them in their truck and when they arrived at the store treated the youngsters to suckers and chewing gum. Mr. John Steinbock also gave them a treat. A real good time was reported by all, thanks to Miss Grace Jennings, and everyone who joyfully contributed to the good time.

Club Meeting
On Thursday of last week Mrs. Raymond Treider was hostess to the Lazbuddie Study club in the Otto Treider home. The program was as follows: "Mother." The 7th grade pupils embroidered the blocks and other friends of Miss Jennings quilted it at Mrs. John Steinbock's home a few days ago.

Mrs. Finis Jennings was the recipient of a lovely shower at this meeting. We plan to give away a beautiful embroidered quilt Wednesday night to the one who holds the lucky ticket.

OLD SETTLERS REUNION TO BE HELD AT PLAINVIEW, 23

The Third Annual Round Up of Hale County and Plains Pioneers, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Plainview, will be held at that place at the city auditorium on the evening of May 23. A program largely by the early settlers is being planned, which promises to be of unusual interest. Early costumes will be in evidence, and a clever number will be planned by the children who attended the first schools on the plains.

Among other features of the affair will be a cowboy feature, a parade, a chuck wagon supper and a general get-together and visit.

All pioneers of the plains are included in this round-up and the early settlers of Bailey county are extended an invitation to attend.

Frankly, Mr. Farmer, if we were in your place we wouldn't know what to plant, but we have an idea.

Small Towns Assuming Leadership in Industry Not long ago the nation was stirred by the drift of population away from farms and rural areas into the great cities. Young men, attracted by the high wages paid by industry and what appeared to be the superior social life, deserted the soil for the city. In the last quarter century rural America has made tremendous progress. Better schools, good roads, the automobile, telephone and radio have created a rural civilization greater than any in history.

Industrialists, attracted by such factors as lack of labor difficulties, low taxes and uncongested, pleasant living and working conditions, were barred from entry into the small towns only because of lack of power. Then rural electrification on a large scale was inaugurated. And now, according to authorities, the smaller towns are on the road to industrial leadership of America and the countryside is staged for the next scene of our industrial progress. The drift of population has turned. At present the only pronounced gain in industrial wage earners is taking place in the country.

It is safe to say that many towns which are almost unknown today will be the great industrial centers of the future. This industrial revolution of the Eighteenth century, apparently doomed rural progress—now the electric revolution of the Twentieth century is reversing the process.—Terre Haute Tribune.

New Motor Highways

Destroying Old Charn? Many examples might be cited to show how we are almost daily destroying old values in the process of creating new ones with our motor roads. When shall we wake up? When shall we realize that highway engineering is much more than the mechanical construction of a road; it is also the placing of that road in such a way that it makes new values without destroying old ones? When are we going to realize that if we persist in our present policy of building motor arteries on the lines of our old roads through the hearts of villages and towns which have given to New England its unique charm, or if we fail to consider the landscape effect of our highways in places where nature is the supreme attraction, we are very rapidly going to destroy what is most characteristic in our landscape?—Boston Transcript.

Evil of Poor Construction

There is a section of almost every town that gave promise of fine things five or ten years ago. The houses in it were all new then. The streets wandered pleasantly into the meadows from which they grew. Now it presents a splotch of premature age and decay. The little homes sag dejectedly; their faces are gray with neglect. You have seen this sudden flowering and withering of a new community. It must have happened at least once under your eyes. You must know the reason for the unhappy end. It was poor, inadequate construction, nothing else.

Ideal Spirit in Oath

The "Athenian Oath" which was used in ancient Greece is: "We will never bring disgrace to this our city by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city. We will revere and obey the city's laws, and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of duty; we will transmit this city to those who come after us, greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Garden Important

A combination of house and garden in appropriate treatment is meeting with successful appreciation in some parts of this country, and the owner now considers it a necessary part of the scheme with the landscape treatment adjacent to the house, and to have either the architect or a competent landscape architect deal with the landscape treatment of the grounds.

Infant Industries

Capt. Robert Dollar says that manufacturing must grow up within a community and not be stolen from other communities. Get a little stock in your own well conducted "infant" industries and grow up with them.—Minneapolis Journal.

Value of Face Brick

Face brick is a popular medium used to modernize old homes. Very often an attractive, colorful home is salvaged out of the old house at a fraction of the cost that a new dwelling of similar appearance would entail.

ANNOUNCE OPENING OF PARK SITE ON PALO DURO CANYON SUNDAY, MAY 17

CANYON, May 12.—Plans are complete for the formal opening of the Palo Duro Park Site, located in the Palo Duro canyons, thirteen miles east of here, on Sunday May 17, officials of the local chamber of commerce stated today. The opening of the park site is the climax of 25 years of effort put forth by citizens here to establish a park in the beautiful canyons. Although it is a park site, this will not supplant the park system sought to be established by the legislature. Heretofore all sections of the canyons have been closed to the public, with only a few exceptions where an admission fee was charged. Several weeks ago the Canyon chamber of commerce leased a section of land located at a strategic point along the canyon, and have prepared to open that section to the public. A stretch of road 3 miles in length has been constructed by the commissioners court of Randall county to link the park with a good highway which goes east from Canyon. The park is easily reached. There is no admission charge to visit the park and all Texas is invited to attend the formal opening next Sunday.

Haberer and Miss Virgie McMillan.

Britain's Honor to "Unknown"

To honor the American dead of the World War the British nation dedicated a Victoria Cross with the simple yet expressive words, "The Unknown Warrior of the United States of America," inscribed on the cross, which, by direction of his majesty King George V, was laid by Lord Beatty on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arlington National cemetery near Washington on the 11th day of November, 1921.

45 MILLION BUSHELS OF WHEAT IS EXPECTED FROM INCREASED ACREAGE IN PANHANDLE DURING THIS YEAR

A minimum crop of 45,000,000 bushels is in prospect from the 2,650,000 acres of winter wheat in the Panhandle. A survey of the entire territory shows that during the past week there has been an abundance of moisture and that with only normal conditions for the next 60 days that a record crop will be harvested. Grain men, farmers and others interested say that as a whole the Panhandle crop was never in better condition at this time of the year and that only unusual conditions could cut the total yield below the 42,000,000 bushel mark established in 1929. The government estimate, recently released, shows Texas with a possible production of 44,000,000 bushels. All of this total will be produced in the Panhandle, with the exception of about 8,000,000 bushels in the Vernon district. But it is not believed that the government estimate takes into consideration the big increase in acreage in the Panhandle. The total acreage in this section is estimated at 2,650,000 acres as compared to 2,200,000 acres a year ago. Moore and Sherman counties are far in the lead in new acreage. It is estimated that these two counties account for fully 35 per cent of the 45,000,000-acre increase. The production of a record crop is believed to be the only salvation for the Panhandle wheat farmer. With the government predicting a record yield of 640,000,000 bushels of winter wheat for the entire Nation as compared to 580,000,000 bushels last year, it appears certain that the present low prices will at least continue and that only through a big yield will the Panhandle farmers be able to realize any considerable amount of money from the crop. Some are estimating that the new crop will not bring more than an average of 50 cents a bushel. If that is true and the production totals 45,000,000 bushels, the 1931 crop should bring more than $22,000,000 into the Panhandle. This is no small amount of money and will mean more to the Panhandle this year than at any time during the past ten years. Some cause for optimism over the prospect for better prices is found in the estimate that the spring wheat acreage is 10 per cent below normal. However, nothing definite can be forecast about spring wheat at this time as the Canadian farmer is just now planting his crop. The report shows that Canada has been dry this spring and that may result in a further decline in the spring wheat total.—Amarillo News.

Wheat prospects around Muleshoe, including the northern part of Bailey and adjoining counties, could scarcely be better. Recent heavy rains have produced a marvelous development. Some of the wheat in the irrigated section of the Blackwater valley is being estimated now as prospective of yielding 40 bushels per acre.

THE BLUEBONNETS

Years ago when the Indians roamed the plains of Texas, hunted in the mountains of Texas and fished in the rivers of Texas, the Great Spirit was filled with wrath against his people. The great Spirit sent a famine which swept the vast state which was not yet a state. The Indians prayed to the Great Spirit for relief. Their animals were dying and they themselves were dying; even the strongest of them.

At last the Great Spirit in his compassion said he would terminate the famine if the most sinless of the Indians would sacrifice his life. Now one of the Indian maidens who was fair to see and the purest of them all, asked that she be sacrificed.

The day she climbed the hill to the altar, her blue bonnet fell from her shoulders. The morning the hills were covered with vivid blue flowers in the shape of small bonnets spotted with a drop of blood red. Thus it is the bluebonnets came to Texas.

Thirty years ago the State Legislature voted the bluebonnet the Texas flower. Many other specimens were suggested but as the legislative body gazed out of the windows of the building they saw the hills covered with fields of blue, for it was March then. With such a sight to guide them they passed the bill legalizing the native flower for the state.

Nevertheless, many Texas people have never seen their state flower, and have never heard the legend of its birth. Those who do know it, are proud of it, and are urging that seeds and the plants themselves be planted all over Texas. Why not a campaign for beauty, as well as education, health and numerous other things sponsored by Texans?—Shamrock Texan.

HOME-MAKERS CLASS

The Home-makers Sunday School class of the First Baptist church met in regular business and social meeting on last Thursday afternoon.

Several items of business were disposed of, one interesting item being a motion to purchase a piano for the classroom. A committee was appointed to investigate prices and pianos. The group captains were handed their record books. The committee was dismissed that had charge of decorating the class room. Some of the officers resigned and their places were filled. We invite each and everyone to come to Sunday School and our class meetings.—Reporter.

BLUEBONNET TIME

Out of the far, far Southland,
Down by the Rio Grande;
Ending the reign of Winter
In our fair Texas Land—
Calling the gay Bluebonnets
Up from their long, long sleep,
Spring sends the radiant army,
Promise of old to keep.

Blue as the skies above us,
Blue as the restless sea,
Blue as the distant mountains
Standing out bold and free—
Blue as the wildest norther,
Blue as a maiden's eyes,
Blue as the haze before us
When Summer heats arise.

O'er every hill and hollow,
Through fertile field and fallow,
In sunshine, or in shadow,
As onward still they come;
With banners bravely flying
They march while Winter's dying—
And this their message, loudly crying:
"Spring has come!"

Chevrolet has struck a popular new note
in motor-car styling

Many factors have contributed to the remarkably widespread popularity of the new Chevrolet Six. Among these are smooth performance, low price, matchless economy, exceptional riding ease and driving comfort. But no feature has been more strikingly evident in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile. Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched the bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-swinging body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.
