THE WEST IS IN FINE CONDITION

BEST SEASON THAT HAS BLESSED COUNTRY FOR YEARS IS IN GROUND—FARM AND RANCH INTERESTS ENCOURAGED

CROPS ARE ABOUT ALL PLANTED AND RANGE IS FINE

Another Good Rain this Week Keeps Everything Booming and the Warm Sunshine Following the Precipitation Furnishes Ample Opportunity for Crops to Grow—Farmers are Busy Cultivating Crops

The West is in fine condition. This is true, not only from the standpoint of farming, but is extended over the stock interests as well. The exceedingly reasonable spring and summer up to date has brought about a very bright prospect for the South Plains country, and not only the plains, but over a large territory in West and Central Texas. The best season is reported from these sections that has blessed the country for some eight or ten years, and as a result the farming interests are greatly encouraged. In many parts of the state, the rains have been too abundant and the crops are ruined on account of too much water and no cultivation; but this condition does not exist over the territory that we have in mind at this time. The nature of the soil is different, and the farmer has not been kept out of his fields long enough for weeds to take possession of his land, but, on the other hand, he has his crops in good shape, and the showers coming at regular intervals keep everything in tip-top shape and the smile Mr. Farmer wears is one that will not come off. The planting is practically all done, most of it up and growing nicely. In many parts of this territory the best season is now on for small grain, and the yield is much better

WORK OF DISTRICT COURT

Two Important Cases Received Attention of Court—Riley Murder Case To Be Called Next Week

The case of Nix against the Western Telephone Company, in which Miss Nix is suing the telephone company for damages sustained from an explosion of a lamp while she was working as operator in the company's office at Slaton, occupied several days of last week in the District Court at this place, and resulted in the jury returning a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, allowing her $8,000 damages.

The case of J. B. Turner, charged with theft of cattle, was taken up Monday morning and is being tried at the present.

On next Monday, the Riley murder case will be taken up.

ACCIDENTS AT LITTLEFIELD

Littlefield, Texas, June 11.—The third serious accident of the same character occurred here yesterday afternoon, when a horse kicked E. G. Corbett, striking him in the small of the back and inflicting a serious injury. He is still suffering intensely, though his hopes are entertained for his recovery.

George Olson, a ranchman living south of town, started to mount his horse yesterday to return home, when the animal turned quickly and kicked him on both legs. It was at first thought both limbs were broken, although it fortunately proved to be only a very painful bruise.

WATERMELON SEASON OPENS

Brens, Tex., June 18.—The first watermelons to be seen here this season were just brought in. The melons were grown on the Brown ranch, near this city and were of an excellent grade. A good price for melons was received, which were sold to local dealers.

It is believed that carload movements of melons will begin shortly. A large acreage has been planted. The yield is expected to break all previous records. A few shipments in small lots have already been made to points over the state.

TEXAS WHEAT CROP

Houston, Texas, June 17.—Estimates of the 1914 Texas wheat crop have been made by the Texas railroads, twenty million bushels. The roads are beginning to concentrate car storage points, so as to be able to move the enormous crop.

LITTLEFIELD CATTLE

Littlefield, Texas, June 10.—Johnson & one have sold and delivered to Vantine & Fuqua, of Hereford, 549 yearlings and 2-year-old heifers. Cows were not given out. The cattle were shipped from Littlefield yesterday.

Three lawn parties ever held in Texas was given at Laredo, Texas, on July 8th, when citizens of the town and refreshments to 1,600 of the men at Fort McIntosh.

J. Pryor this week received a commixer, which he immediately put to work on his sidewalk job. The line will enable Mr. Pryor's foreman to do a great deal more work, but does not necessarily lower the number of men on the job.

Thos. Lodge, Chapter and Council have a public installation of officers at their hall on June 24th, 8:00 o'clock p. m. The public is invited to attend.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend.

CHILDREN LOST FOR TWO DAYS

San Angelo, Tex., June 13.—Many cowboys are searching Kibb mountain, in Upton county, for two lost children, who have been missing two days and nights from the W. W. Miller ranch.

It is believed they fell off a precipice, or were killed by wild animals. Both of the children belong to W. W. Miller.

Later

San Angelo, Tex., June 14.—A report reached here last night that the two Miller children, reported lost on the Kibb mountain, in Upton county, near Upland, had been found. A cowboy found the little ones huddled together in a cave, almost starved.

CUT WHEAT ON SUNDAY

Waxahatchie, Texas, June 18.—But slight observance was paid to the Sabbath in the harvest fields of Ellis county. In all the fields where it was dry enough to enter, a binder was seen in operation.

Both wheat and oats are ripe, and in many fields the grain is fast falling down. Believing more rain was threatened, the farmers placed out their harvesters at work on Sunday.

DIED

The infant child of Clarence Reed and wife died Saturday and was buried in the Lubbock Cemetery Sunday, the funeral being in charge of W. E. Robinson, undertaker. The Avalanche joins their many friends and relatives in sympathy for their sad bereavement.

LUBBOCK GETS SOME GOOD ADVERTISING

Chamber of Commerce is Having This Work Done and is Only One of the Many Ways They Have of Giving This Section Publicity That Counts. More Pictures Will Be Taken Later.

Tuesday and Wednesday, the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce was busy, assisting the camera man in getting a series of moving pictures of Lubbock. First, two street scenes were taken, with a long parade of autos, then the party went out into the country and took several good pictures of farm scenes. The first scene taken was a herd of yearling Herefords, with the home of Geo. Boles in the distance. Then the party went out to the Lubbock Irrigation Company's farm. Here, with the assistance of Col. Wortham, a number of fine views of the fine wheat field were taken. Col. Wortham requested the camera man to take some extra pictures, all of which will go in the Lubbock reel. Two excellent views of the fine wheat field were taken, one with the irrigation ditch running through the field, full of water. Then a good picture of the oats was taken. On the way back to the well, the residence of Col. Wortham and the surrounding buildings were taken, and finally two excellent pictures of the well itself.

Wednesday morning, pictures of the Santa Fe station, a residence scene, a school house, a near view of a bundle of Sudan grass, and two views of H. W. Scroggins' vineyard were taken, making in all about 250 feet of film. Every picture will have a title, showing what the picture is, and where it was taken. This film, with others that were made on the road from San Antonio to Amarillo, will be shown on an auto tour from Texas to Winnipeg, Canada, next month.

Mr. Adams, of Abernathy, died at a local sanitarium Sunday last and his remains were shipped to Abernathy for burial by Undertaker W. E. Robinson.

Mr. Adams came to Lubbock for an operation for appendicitis, but the case was too far advanced for the physicians to be able to save his life.

Ray Wheatley, of Amarillo, is in the city on business. Mr. Wheatley is one of the stockholders of the First National Bank, and in speaking of conditions on the plains, says that he finds them better, all over, than ever before during the number of years he has lived in this part of the state.

SMALL BLAZE TUESDAY

Tuesday evening between seven and eight o'clock, the fire whistle blew that announced a fire had broken out in town, and it was soon discovered that the hamburger stand of John Puckett and Louie Shropshire was on fire. Quick work of those present and the prompt arrival of the fire company extinguished the flames with no damage done except to the hamburger stand, which the owners placed at about $100. No insurance. This might have been a very disastrous fire, as it started on the north side of the square in the midst of a long string of wooden buildings.

J. M. Hedgecock of Endes, N. M., Will and Sam Hedgecock, and Mrs. Sam Churchill and daughter, Hazel, of Plemont, Texas, arrived on this morning's Santa Fe train from Pecos, where they had been attending a family reunion. TOO MUCH CARRANZA

A few weeks ago it was too much Huerta; but now Carranza seems to be rocking the boat.

Huerta appears to be willing to retire from the dictatorship of Mexico, and is, apparently, endeavoring to save as much as possible for his fate.

But Carranza has shown his hand. He's a balky horse. He is the fly in the ointment of peace, and unless he is summarily swatted, he will upset every effort in that direction.

If the United States government wants peace in Mexico, it must clip Carranza's wings, for that bewhiskered patriot has optics firmly focused upon the battered presidential chair of the Montezumas.

Swat Carranza

If some men could see themselves as other people see them, they would not be able to see anything.

Some men's minds are smaller than a chigger, and don't create half as much stir.

A GOOD THING

The experiment of working convicts on public roads in Illinois has proven more than a success, and its scope may be widened in future. The work was voluntary on the part of the prisoners.

It is a policy which might be followed to advantage in many other states, and for two very obvious reasons:

First, when convicts are worked within penitentiary walls, the articles they manufacture are sold to the public, and therefore that much work is removed from the ranks of honest labor.

Second, when convicts are worked on public roads, their labors are of benefit to every citizen of a community, without at the same time being a detriment to some honest man who is in need of bread for himself and family.

There is every reason why convicts should be worked on the public highways of this country.

America is notorious for having the worst roads of any civilized country on earth, and yet if every convict was put to work at road improvement, it would be only a question of time when the highways of this country would be the best in the world.

THE SPIRIT OF VACATION

Every person who plays a full part in the keen struggle of modern life deserves a vacation, says Leslie's Weekly.

True, there is neither man nor woman who can keep the 20th century pace full 52 weeks a year; human endurance, like unto charity, attains its limit. Overtaxing the energy of man is correspondingly similar to overloading a machine of delicate, intricate and irreplaceable parts.

Remember the man who sat down on the safety-valve? There was a blow-up. Man is no lesser than his creation; vacation, therefore, is his safety-valve.

Travel has become the accepted way of spending vacations. Tourists flock east, west, north and south, as well as Europeward. But to the attraction hunter, to the searcher after rest or pleasure, the hunter for mountain-top breezes or hot springs, the land of Texas holds out glittering yet honest welcome.

The resources of the state are not alone industry. Texas has 57 varieties of climate, a thousand parks as nature placed them, lands abounding with game, rivers choked with fish, and the thunder of the tide on her boundaries. Texas is a vacation land.

MOTHERHOOD

The crowning glory of womanhood is motherhood.

As the child is placed to the breast of the young mother there awakens within her heart the glow of divine love—divine communion, known only to mother. Within the chafel of her highest sphere she sits enthroned and all the world bows in humble reverence to her mastery of life. Motherhood is to womankind a shield—an armor irresistible to all onslaughts, save love. We, of the earth are ever seeking the ideal and in the glories of motherhood we stand with bared head. For it is a fact that to mankind motherhood carries us within the sacred precincts of immortality and we breathe a prayer of reverence to her name.

Glorious indeed will be the entrance of mother into the presence of her Creator. Sorrowful indeed the entrance of the wife, who enters empty-handed, save where childhood was denied through physical defects. "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbids," was a command that thunders down the ages and woe is he who heeds not its tenets and purposes. Woe is the wife who, at the banquet shall come before the Throne of Grace, and hiding in very shame from the presence of the Master say, guilty my Lord, I forbid them.

True it is, many cannot give to childhood all the comforts really needed, yet all can strive toward this end, and, as life is duty, we have all to gain; nothing to lose. Give to earth healthy, normal children. Teach them to know life—its duties; sorrows; joys and the greatness of responsibility toward their fellows and the world will call you blessed whether you hail from thatched roof or gilded palace, but give to life children, ye wives of this land and "forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." For of all the joys that can come to womankind none will equal the supreme; the crowning; the glorious; the sublime joy of motherhood and the sweetest notes of melody ever wafted to human ear is the crooning song of mother to her child.

The United States Census Bureau reports that in 1912 the 228 mills of Texas crushed 1,415,098 tons of cotton seed, obtaining 174,846 bales of linters. This was something more than one-fourth of all the seed crushed in the United States. Ranking next to Texas, the 156 mills of Georgia crushed 861,574 tons, obtaining 110,367 bales of linters.

Having annexed a wife, Kermit will now proceed to take the first real licking of his young but eventful life.

LUBBOCK MOVING FORWARD

That Lubbock is moving forward can be seen by observing conditions around us. The Secretary makes it his business to study these conditions pretty closely and he is convinced Lubbock is in for an era of prosperity which will surpass anything that we have yet had. We believe conditions are propitious for it.

In the first place, money has been and still is tight over the entire country, but there is every evidence that this condition will grow better in a few months. The best reason for a near future better condition is the fact that there is every prospect for a big crop throughout the country. The wheat crop promises to be enormous, and all other crops look promising. This will bring better conditions throughout the entire country, and will necessarily have its influence on our locality.

Then, coupled with the general good crops, the South Plains region will probably have one of the biggest years in its history. And it is a true saying, that when the farmer has a good year, everyone is prosperous. Lubbock county expects to see several hundred thousand dollars coming into our midst through the sale of her crops.

Through the advertising this country has received for its pure seeds, money is going to come in in large amounts this fall from this source alone. This phase we will take up later.

Again, Lubbock is in a position for further advancement along other lines of development.

We say money is tight, but read the following report of what Lubbock is doing along the line of civic improvements in one line:

This spring Lubbock has already built 13,235 square feet of sidewalks, at a cost of $1,985.29; the city has put in 2,234 square feet of walks at street crossings at a cost of $735.

There is now ordered to be built 2,848 additional square feet of sidewalk, amounting to $3,277.20, and 1,244 square feet of street crossings at a cost of $1,335.44.

The above shows something of how the city is spending money.

In addition to the above, the Lubbock Light & Ice Co. are building a 20,000 concrete oil storage tank, at a cost of $500.

New if these things are being done while money is supposed to be tight, we can imagine what will happen when Lubbock begins to realize on her crops and other investments that are coming fall.

We, also, predict that there will be a great influx of new people on these plains within the coming year. As our editor says, "Come to Lubbock."

down of the logging car, the seven cars of the party were delayed and did not get into Lubbock until eight o'clock. This was unfortunate, as over 50 autos were lined up to go out and meet the party at 5 o'clock, the supposed time of arrival. But as it was, about a dozen did go out four miles and gave the travelers a royal welcome.

The Lubbock Band boys did themselves proud, as usual, and added much to the heartiness of welcome. Lubbock realizes now that it is well worth while to support a band.

After supper a mass meeting was held at the court house, where various speakers from Lubbock and out of town, too, spoke on the value of such a highway.

The next morning the tourists left for Plainview, accompanied by Hilton, Baker and Briggs. About 50 autos met these cars near Plainview, and quite an imposing procession autoed into the city.

During the day the Western division of the Colorado-Gulf Highway Association was organized, and every county from San Antonio to Amarillo paid a fee of $100 for its membership and guaranteed that its part of the road should be put in the best of condition as soon as possible. Lubbock is fortunate in this respect, as the county commissioners already have men at work on this road and plan to put it in good shape.

The $100 which each county contributed will go to defray the expense of the organization, and a part of it will be used for publicity work. This week, a moving picture is being taken over the route, taking pictures of the scenes of interest in each county. These films will be displayed in July on a big auto tour from Fort Worth to Winnipeg, Canada, every night. On this trip each county's literature will be distributed, and Lubbock will receive her share of publicity.

Lubbock is now an member of the State and National Highways Associations, and will receive considerable benefit from this source.

There is no question as to the value of these highways for Lubbock. The object of these associations is not entirely for auto highways; in fact, everywhere the men in charge of the work are urging the building of these good roads for the benefit of all kinds of traffic. And while the value is great because of the auto traffic alone, the worth of these good roads come directly to all the people of every community that has them.

Lubbock will gain great good from this highway and others, because of the auto traffic which will go through here. As soon as this road is thoroughly known, every week we will see cars from all parts of the country passing through our county. Not only will they leave considerable money with us, which benefits not only the hotels and garages, but everyone, indirectly, and every stranger who rides through our county and sees the great development which we are making, and sees the possibilities of these plains regions, will become a voluntary publicity agent for us.

INSPECTED SLAUGHTER HOUSES

Mayor F. E. Wheelock, Health Officer Dr. G. F. Poebler, Alderman Raleigh Martin and C. G. Hunt, Geo. W. Briggs, J. A. Wilson, Frank Chase and Fred Spikes and the Avalanche men made a tour of inspection of the slaughter houses of the Sanitary Meat Market and the Cash Meat Market, Monday afternoon. The Sanitary Meat Market slaughter house was complete in every detail and was accepted by the inspectors as being up to all requirements. The slaughter house of the Cash Meat Market is not complete at the present time, but Mr. Chase said it would be only a few days until he had everything in first-class condition.

The city officials deserve commendation in their efforts to see that Lubbock is kept clean and that the food served to the people shall be of a wholesome and sanitary kind. We are pleased to note the interest manifested in the premises and feel sure that the general health of the town will show the effect of measures now being enforced.

YOUR BOY AND HIS MUSCLES
In the June American Magazine Dr. Chas. K. Taylor, of Philadelphia, Pa., writes an interesting and practically helpful article entitled, "Your Boy and His Muscles," in which he gives suggestions as to proper exercises for young boys. Following is an extract from his article.

First of all, when a child is in poor condition, of which the basic cause is some remediable physical defect, there is little use in giving special exercises until the defect is removed. For instance, breathing exercises can not be nearly as effective as they should be for a child suffering from large adenoids, (enlargements in the once a month his interest is kept up, and he is stimulated when he finds that he is actually gaining. Finally, do not carry on a special exercise after it is no longer necessary. What you desire is a good, all-round development, and when this is attained special work can never be considered as a substitute for outdoor play. This latter is vitally necessary for all children. These exercises are to be used as adjuncts—to bring up to standard any set of muscles which are underdeveloped.

orable damage. The first squares begin to make when the plant is about 40 days old, but this time can be shortened by the use of a fertilizer consisting of a small amount of nitrogen and a larger amount of acid phosphate, and the squares will come still more quickly if the seed is planted in hot weather. From the first appearance of the squares to the bloom, it is about 21 days, and the boll will open 42 days or more after the bloom appears, depending on the weather. The weevil makes his appearance about the time when the squares, ordinarily, would set, and after his appearance the race begins. If the land is warm, quick-making, well cultivated and well fertilized, the plant an early, quick-fruiter, prolific variety and the crop cultivated until the bolls begin to open, then the cotton wins with a big lead; if the land is slow and cloudy and but little or no fertilizer used, and if the seed is a late variety and the cultivation has been slow and deep, and the weather rainy, the boll weevils will first destroy the squares and then the bolls. Trying to poison boll weevils is like an effort at sweeping back the ocean with a broom, and they will not be led from the cotton to any other crop. The victory lies in beating them out with an early crop.

"Insects of less importance are, the cowpea pod, best fought by early planting, after fertilizing with cotton seed meal; the cotton caterpillar, which can be poisoned with Paris green; and the red spider, or rust mite, when the affected plants and others near them can be pulled up and burned. If the trouble is ascertained early and the affected field deeply plowed as soon as possible after picking."

Although the poisoning of weevils is expensive, it can be done to some extent. The quickest way is to ride a mule between the rows, with a stick across his back, at each end of which is hung a well pierced bag of arsenate of lead, so that the powder will fall upon the dewy squares and young bolls. When the squares have been destroyed by the weevils and fall upon the ground, they should be gathered and burned before the weevils get out to attack other squares and bolls. The crop should not be laid by, but should be cultivated until the bolls have begun to open, and the old stalks and leaves and pieces of bark and all weeds near at hand should be gathered and burned, and the ground plowed deeply and planted to a winter cover crop.

With reference to corn, the following is quoted from the Henry Exall Farm Book:

"Corn has a number of enemies; the bud-worms are the grubs of the 12-spotted lady-bug, and they bore into the central part of the plants that are from 2 to 12 inches high and kill them. There is no direct remedy. The main reliance is to plant the corn very late, so the grubs will have passed this stage; or plant very early. Also, the fields many of the young plants are being injured by the bud-worms, it is sometimes considered an advantage to bar off the corn rows and thus warm the soil.

"There are many kinds of cut worms and they are worse where clover, weeds or other rank vegetation has grown the year before. It is sometimes recommended that cut worms be poisoned just before the time of planting corn by scattering over the field a compound of one pound of Paris green to one bushel of wheat bran, thoroughly mixed and moistened with sufficient water, to which has been added one quart of molasses.

"The corn ear-worm is the same as the cotton boll worm. It is the grub of a large, grayish-brown moth which, especially in the latter part of the day, may be seen flying in numbers over the fields of corn, cotton and cowpeas. The eggs are placed on the silks, leaves or other parts of the corn plant. After hatching the young worms find their way into the tip of the ear and destroy the tip grains, admitting rain to the ear and it is easy for the weevils to get in. Late fall or winter plowing will break up the underground homes of these moths, then in the chrysalis stage, and afford a remedy.

"Chinch bugs are a serious pest to Texas corn growers. The corn

CORN AND COTTON INSECT PESTS

The late, wet spring is bringing up many farm problems for consideration, among them how to deal with the insect pests. Fear of the boll weevil is felt in South Texas, below the line of the April freeze, where the cotton and corn not located in the flood district of the streams is now well along.

At this time, where the crops have not been set back by overflows and the freeze, the danger from many of the insects is past. The principal enemies to such plants now are the corn ear-worm, the chinch bug, the leaf worm, and the boll weevil. The boll weevil will do by far the greatest damage if it should get well started, but it is hoped that the general replanting of cotton during April and later in the north half of the state will bring the setting of the squares so late that the weevils will have starved to death.

The following on cotton and corn insect pests is quoted from the Henry Exall Farm Book, and covers the subject simply and thoroughly.

The boll worm (also known as the corn ear worm) does much damage. He prefers the corn, and while he can be poisoned by dusting the dewy cotton plants with Paris green or other preparation of arsenic about the time the corn ears begin to harden, the best way of preventing injury is to use corn as a trap crop. Two to four rows of corn should be planted with every 20 to 40 rows of cotton, about June 1, so it will be in the earing stage about August 1; or, better still, two rows should be planted about June 1, and two rows about two weeks later. Leave the corn standing as long as possible. When the worms have eaten as much of the ears as they can, they will eat each other.

"The boll weevil is the great enemy of cotton, but the grower by taking heroic measures, can win nearly every time if the weather is reasonably dry. An early variety of cotton should be planted early, well fertilized and vigorously cultivated, so that it will pass the stage of making squares before the weevils are numerous enough to do any considfield may be protected by surrounding it with a narrow strip of plowed land, kept constantly cultivated so as to surround the corn with a deep layer of dust, or by plowing a deep furrow around the field, the bottom of which is to be kept dusty by frequently dragging through it a heavy log (or iron drum will do). Make deeper holes from place to place in the furrow, and when the chinch bugs accumulate in them fill them with kerosene. A still better prevention is to burn all the weeds and trash around the field in late summer or early winter.

In running the trap furrow mentioned in the last paragraph, it is best to make the perpendicular side next to the corn.—Crop Bulletin No. 7, of Texas Industrial Congress.

"GETTING BY"

In this day of stress and struggle, when equality of opportunity is but a fancy of the mind, the fellow who is trying to "get by" should be given the hand of those along the way. For it is a fact, that many there be who have quit the ship, given up the fight, and are drifting with the tide. Opportunity is a fickle god. Some may woo it successfully to their net, while others knowing not its many moods, may overlook the main points and be lost. To fight for survival is the hope of the race, and he who "lets his star" is a disaster.

"Getting by" is the spur that urges us onward, even if we barely squeeze by. Hope is the star—the beacon that leads us, and he who hitches his wagon to a star may hope to soar. Life has no "no" angles, as the angle of the human mind. We live life according to our perspective. Hope is built in the breast in equilibrium with the mind's development. Those amongst us who have enjoyed the good fortune of proper training, owe it to those less fortunate brothers who have not known this blessing and when we see one striving to "get by," it behooves us to extend the hand of fellowship that lifts him along the way to higher effort.

Perfection will never be attained by mankind, yet the hope of perfection is the lever by which progress is achieved to the race. For, so long as mankind inhabits the earth, will we have wrongs to be righted, sorrows to be comforted. This is the Master's way with His children: It is the Divine way.

Were we to have equality of opportunity, coupled with equality of ability, the Mecca of Life would be ours. And yet who can say that this would be a solution of our problems? Do we really want perfection? Do we want equality? Whether we do or not depends largely on the angle of the eye, but we can give wonderful aid along this line by laying no stumbling blocks in the pathway of those who are "getting by."

THE PRAETORIAN CONTEST

In this issue of the Avalanche you will find an ad from Mr. D. W. McThason relative to the Praetorian contest that is now on in this part of the country.

This is a contest in which all the people of Lubbock and vicinity should take a great deal of interest, for the reason that if we win it will mean a victory over the neighboring towns and will also give us an opportunity of entertaining a large delegation from Dallas, who will come here to institute the work among the new members secured throughout the plains country, who will join as a result of the contest.

Another feature of the contest will be the help that the Lubbock Band

Boys will receive. A part of the proceeds will go to them, and this makes the contest of further interest. Plainview is our strongest competitor at the present time, and we should easily win if we only get a little enthusiasm into the campaign. For full particulars see any of the band boys, or W. S. Norton. Be sure and read the ad and get busy.

HORATIUS

Who kept the bridge in the brave days of old, is probably the most pleasing hero of historic narrative. He was what is known in modern vernacular as a HUM DINGER. He stood pat and dared a powerful army to invade Rome and made it stick. He was crowned with a laurel wreath which is about the same thing as getting yourself fastened to a Caracole medal for rescuing a pie-eyed human from a duck puddle who thinks he was aboard the Titanic when it sank. But speaking of heroes, the chap who will come in for tears of admiration as big as boxing gloves for making a noise that reached around the world and pleased the taste of the million and who will reap a wreath worth mentioning, is the chap who invented NUNNALLY'S CHOCOLATES. Those taste-teasing, palate-tickling chocolates that have that fetching farewell that you can't forget, if you live long enough to make Methuselah look like a trundle bedder. We always have them fresh. Let us send HER a box NOW.

SINGING CONVENTION

The Lubbock County Singing Convention met at Canyon school house last Sunday at about 11 a. m. A good crowd had gathered and singing began. We sang until about 12:30, when we took a recess for dinner. A fine dinner was spread for one of the largest crowds that ever assembled at that place.

At about 2 p. m., singing was again resumed and continued until 3 p. m. Rev. Chase, of the South Side Christian church, of Lubbock, then delivered a splendid sermon, after which we took a few minutes intermission.

Then we held a short business session, and it was decided to hold the next convention at Lubbock on the third Sunday in July.

The place of meeting at Lubbock will be in the High School building auditorium.

Let's all begin to make preparations and make the next meeting the best yet held.

WILL VOTE ON SUBMISSION

State Executive Committee Met in Waco and Submission Will be Placed on Official Ballot

After selecting El Paso as the place for holding the next Democratic state convention, and deciding to place the question of submission on the primary ballot to be voted on July 25th, the Democratic Executive Committee at Waco adjourned. The sessions of the committee and the various sub-committees were at times rather heated. The meeting was presided over by Hon. Walter Collins, of Hillsboro, Chairman of the Executive Committee.

During the morning session Leopold Morris, candidate for Governor, created considerable amusement by a short address, in which he said, among other things, that the interurban railroads were responsible for the Allison law. He claims it was passed to make it necessary for the people living in the suburban districts to go to the big towns to buy their liquor.

The big feature of the afternoon session was the fight to see which city would secure the next Democratic state convention. After hearing the claims of Waco, Dallas, El Paso,

Fort Worth and Austin, the sub-committee voted in favor of giving the convention to El Paso. El Paso landed the convention as a result of making the most attractive offer. That city offered a certified check for $4,500, and agreed to pay the expenses of the Executive Committee, and to provide a suite of rooms for the candidates for Governor. Waco made an offer of $4,000. Dallas offered $2,500; Austin offered the committee the freedom of the city and a general good time.

Debate on Submission

The question of placing submission on the primary ballots to be voted on July 25 was the occasion of a two and a half-hour discussion by the members of the sub-committee, to whom the matter was referred. The report of the sub-committee caused more discussion by the executive committee. Senator Lattimore, of Fort Worth, represented the prohibition forces, presented petitions that had been signed by over 43,000 qualified voters, being over 19 per cent of the Democratic voters of Texas. Mr. Lattimore presented the following resolution:

"In accordance with the laws of the state of Texas, we herewith present to your honorable body petitions of more than 43,000 duly qualified voters of this state, some being more than 10 per cent of the voters for Governor in the last November election, asking that you have placed upon the official ballot to be voted in the regular Democratic primary to be held on July 25, 1914, the affirmative and negative to the proposition for submission by the Thirty-fourth legislature of the state of Texas, of a constitutional amendment to the constitution of the state of Texas, prohibiting the manufacture, sale, exchange and intrastate shipment, within this state of spirituous, vinous, malt liquors and medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, except for medicinal and sacramental purposes.

Same Form of Ballot

"We request that said proposition be placed upon said official ballot in the same form as that the same was placed upon the official ballot of the Democratic primary in 1910, as follows, to-wit:

"For the submission by the Thirty-fourth legislature of the state of Texas of a constitutional amendment prohibiting within this state the manufacture, sale, exchange and intrastate shipment of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors and medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, except for medicinal or sacramental purposes.

"Against the submission by the Thirty-fourth legislature of the state of Texas of a constitutional amendment prohibiting within this state the manufacture, sale, exchange and intrastate shipment of spirituous, vinous and malt liquor and medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication, except for medicinal or sacramental purposes."

Miller Heads Opposition

Judge Barry Miller, of Dallas, representing the forces opposed to submission, argued for a short form of ballot, and also urged the committee to place the submission question at the top of the ballot. Judge Barry's resolution was as follows:

"Whereas, By the terms of the law regulating party primary elections, it is provided that when a petition signed by the requisite number of voters as required by law is presented to the state committee of any party, requesting that questions which the legislature may pass upon shall be submitted to a vote of the people that it shall be the duty of such political party committee to comply with said petition; and

"Whereas, The Democratic State Executive Committee now in session has been presented with petitions with the requisite number of signatures, requesting that the question of whether or not an amendment to the constitution of the state prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors shall be presented by the Thirty-fourth legislature. Now, therefore, amended by striking out the words, "spirituous, vinous and malt liquors and medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication." It seemed to be the consensus of opinion of the members of the committee to make the ballot as short as possible, so that the voters would not be confused by surplus verbiage.

The Committee on Assessment of candidates reported the following assessments: Candidates for Governor, $100; railroad commissioners, judges of the supreme court and judges of the court of criminal appeals, $50; congressmen-at-large, $50; all other candidates, $25.

The Dry Resolution

J. Sheb Williams, D. E. Decker and A. G. Reynolds presented what they termed a dry-territory resolution, to-wit:

"Resolved, That there shall be placed upon the primary ballot to be voted upon in the July primary, the following questions, to-wit:

"For the amendment of the local option laws with regard to the sale of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, so that in addition thereto elections may be had in counties and political subdivisions thereof to determine if such liquors may be sold therein in sealed packages and not be drunk upon the premises, nor in public places."

Both the sub-committee and the committee as a whole voted against this proposition.

Judge Barry Miller, of Dallas, quoted from a telegram from Attorney General Looney, in which he stated a matter of that kind could not be placed upon the ballot unless it was requested by a petition of voters as authorized by present legislative enactment.

BETTER SCHOOLS

Frank K. Welles, Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State, in the Portland Ore. Evening Telegram, speaks with great earnestness before the commonwealth conference at the University of Oregon, on the subject of Consolidation of Country School Districts. Mr. Welles does not advocate any sweeping change of this sort, but he does maintain that there are sections where it would be altogether advisable, and that in districts thus located the matter should be taken up for discussion and action, after the advantages are fully established and the people led to an appreciation of them.

These advantages are obvious and have been presented many times before by educators who have given thought to the matter. Not only that, but in quite a number of states the policy of consolidation has gained a considerable measure of adoption, and where it has been thought best to try it, it has usually been satisfactory.

Chiefly, it means more money to be expended in the conduct of a single school, which will accommodate the pupils that two or more schools find accommodate, and in turn means a better school house, a longer school year and the employment of better teachers.

Fitting in with this policy, as advised by Mr. Welles is an idea recently advanced by United States Commissioner Claxton, to the effect that in connection with every rural school there should be a small workable farm, and that the school should be presided over by a principal who is himself a farmer. This involves the elementary and practical teaching of the science of agriculture in every community, and brings the average rural school boy to partial participation in the advantages which an agricultural college affords.

Elaborating this idea, Mr. Claxton holds that in every school district the school itself should be not only a social, but a farm center, and that the directing material should be drawn from the agricultural departments of the state and federal government.

This Claxton outline of policy is scarcely more than theoretically advanced, but it is one of those theories that has within it the germs of most serviceable school direction. As a matter of course, it calls for more money for the conduct of the schools, but the expenditure of that money would command the services of teachers who would be interested in the welfare of the community in which they taught, whereas it is now too frequently the fact that the interest of the teacher begins and ends with the compensation for the term. The most practical step to take in order to have more money for the schools without increasing the school tax is consolidation, and if this step is taken the more funds are in hand, and the better results begin to show people will conclude that the school dollar is about the best invested dollar, and they will add another one to it.

We are very much of the opinion that the more this proposition of consolidation, as advanced by Mr. Welles is discussed, the more it will grow in favor, and its final adoption will be a further step in school progress.

CATTLE RAISERS' ASSOCIATION

More than 250 new members have joined the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association since the middle of March, according to President Jackson of that organization. Men who have been members in the past and who have allowed their membership to expire have asked to be re-instated and from every section of the state new applications are being received.

This is an age of organization, and "no man liveth to himself alone." In every line of industry there is getting to be more and more a spirit of unity and co-operation, not competition, is the key-note of the successful association today.

HOGS AN AID TO FARMERS

Edwig Houston, of Welfare, Texas, a member of the Texas Industrial Congress, and President of the Texas Swine Breeders' Association, is an enthusiastic believer in the value of hog raising on the farm, and has written to the Congress as follows:

"Some people farm for the love of nature, and some for the amusement and glory that they get out of it, but almost everybody farms in order to make a living. This last class—the farmers of and by necessity, are the ones I appeal to.

With them, how to properly feed, clothe and educate their families are the prime factors of life. The grocery bill is their greatest expense, and their single item on this bill, if such family will produce its own pork it will materially increase its prosperity.

This can be done, too, with very little trouble, and at only a nominal expense, if all the kitchen scraps, damaged grain and other waste products of the average farm are used for this purpose, and, at the same time, a small piece of tillable land is set aside and fenced for a hog pasture.

A good way to try out the hog business, and at the same time a sure way to get a year's pork supply for nothing, is to fence about one acre of land hog-proof. Also cross-fence it so as to make two half-acre lots. In these put a small portable hog house of some kind and plant the lots in whatever will make the surest and most abundant pasture in your locality.

If the right crops are used, green forage of some kind will be in one or the other of these pastures all the year round.

A good sow should be bought and she should raise her owner two litters of big, strong pigs each year, with plenty of green pasture and the waste from the kitchen and a very little grain, the sow and litter can be well cared for; then if the pigs are fed heavily on grain from the time they are six to eight months old, they will be ready for making the finest home-cured bacon, hams and sausage, or to top the local market.

It is usually more convenient to keep your spring litter for your own killing in the winter and sell the fat litter the following spring or early summer. In this way your fall pigs will bring you a hundred or more dollars in cash, which will more than pay for running your hog department, and you will have the spring pigs left for your year's meat supply.

I have not considered one sow and her profit in order to discourage those who would keep more than one, but because there is no farmer in Texas that can afford to be without at least one. Then another thing, the greatest mistake that is made by the average man starting in the hog business is that he starts with too many, usually, before he knows much about the business.

The Texas Industrial Congress is doing splendid work along this line by inducing farm boys to take one barrow each and properly feed it and keep careful records of gains made and the cost of these gains. If these boys learn how to make a good profit on one barrow, they will soon be able to do the same thing with a lot of them.

Last year Texas imported over $24,000,000 worth of pork products from other states. Is there much honor in our boast of raising one-third of America's cotton supply, when we have to trade it off to the other states for pork, especially as cotton is ruining the farms of the South, and hog raising is making the "corn belt" farms richer?

PRAETORIAN CONTEST GETTING LIVELY

In the last count of the Praetorian contest the Lubbock Band was in the lead. This of course did not set well with the Plainview people. So a meeting was held at the B & K yesterday eve to see if some of the contestants would withdraw and not have so many candidates at Plainview, but no satisfactory arrangements were made; so Plainview still has her many candidates against one at Lubbock. Unless some extra work is done at Plainview, Lubbock will win the $200.00. This carries with it the District Meeting which means much to the town that gets it. Just half or 100 members have been procured and the next half will surely be lively. Mrs. B. D. Crow is the first, Plainview Band second, in Plainview; others as heretofore reported.

A simple name, "sterling" on any of silverware carries a most definite message to the ultimate user, for the simple reason that the name "sterling" is a guarantee of quality of "sterling" quality. It doesn't matter whether sterling articles are bought in the finest stores in the land or in the best of small town shops. The "sterling" pledges the same good quality everywhere. In fact, modern merchandising has made it possible for any merchant with the positive assurance that they are buying to his advantage in every way as they in the stores of this country. You will read from time to time advertisements of your merchants in our local papers you will find that practically every one of these merchants carries one or more well known, standard brands of merchandise in his particular line. By "standard brands," I mean brands which have been standardized and kept standard by their makers, whose names and trade-marks on their products are pledges of their unvarying quality and worth. You can buy this class of goods locally as well as elsewhere and you owe your local merchant your patronage where they offer you the quality, prices and service to be found elsewhere. LITTLE EDITORIALS ON BUSINESS

Are City Dealers Tricky?

Did you ever go into a store and ask for a well known make of clothing or hardware, and have the dealer say, "I don't carry that line, because I have something better?" The dealer offers you a brand that you have never heard of before. Perhaps he will tell you that it is his own brand—that he has made it up especially for his trade. You don't know a thing about it, and you must accept his word for it. The larger the city and the greater the store, the more you will find private branded merchandise in evidence. The only reason for the dealer's private brand is that the big department store is operating under an enormous expense, and it must have a larger profit than the country store. Therefore, the big retailer prefers to sell goods under his own brand rather than the advertised, trade-marked lines whose quality and price has become standardized.

I have sold both the advertised line and the private branded lines to the retail merchants. I have seen an advertised article sell for $1.00 at a net profit of 10 per cent to the small dealer, while the big city dealer sells the same article with his own brand on it at $1.25 or more.

The city dealer is not tricky, he is simply doing business on a business plan of all big dealers. He has not yet accepted the new conditions of merchandising and the power of advertising to reduce the cost of living.

By selling the advertised article and making the small profit many times, the city merchant is as well off at the end of the year as he is now by selling only a few of the private branded articles with a large profit on each sale.

It will pay you to trade with the country dealer nearest you. If he has not changed his methods to conform to the new conditions, it will pay you to go to another dealer who can supply you with the well known and advertised merchandise of standard quality and price. Then you'll be sure to get full value for your money.

Don't fail to read the next Little Editorial, entitled "Stick to Your Home Merchant."

He is a very liberal man and always responds to every good cause, both in the church and out of it. As a citizen he is broad-minded, progressive, and stands for everything that is good in the City of Houston. He has a delightful home, and his home life is all that could be expected of a high-minded, honorable Christian gentleman. He has two daughters and a son. His wife is an excellent Christian lady, and is known in Houston for her works of charity. There is nothing that I could say that I would consider extravagant as to Mr. Ball's worth and character. The reports throughout the state attempting to reflect upon his moral and Christian character are base slanders. As the pastor of Col. HARVESTING BY MOONLIGHT

Out in Young county, the wheat crop is so large and farm hands are so scarce that the farmers of that vicinity are harvesting their wheat crop by moonlight. The recent rains saved the wheat to insure a successful yield; that this course was adopted as the only means of saving the heavy wheat crop of that section. The song of the reaper as it mingles with the carols of the night birds is an unusual sound, but it makes a note like progress and speaks for the farmers of Young county a prosperous season and a rich and plentiful harvest.
