TALKING WEST TEXAS EVERYWHERE

THEY MARVEL AT THE WONDERFUL RECENT CHARACTERISTICS OF THE WEST

NEW DISCOVERIES AND DEVELOPMENTS EXCITING

Oil Developments Attract Attention of People From Everywhere and Across the Sea—Big Firms Lease Dry Lakes and Will Develop New Industry.

West Texas is attracting the attention of the people now from all over the United States. In many ways the west is being brought prominently before the people as never before in the history of the country. The west got a wonderful amount of advertising on account of the drought, that, while it was severe, very severe in parts of the state, it was greatly overdrawn in scope of territory, and many portions of the drought area was not in West Texas at all, but we got the benefit of the advertising just the same for better or for worse. The people all over the country got it in their heads that WEST TEXAS was a place where people were starving to death, where livestock were falling dead in their tracks on account of starvation, and now comes on abundance of rain, great snows and the return of splendid seasons and WEST TEXAS is the wonder of the Lone Star State. Those who left are coming back and taking hold with a renewed faith and determination, and will make good this year. The way the west picks up is the marvel of the country. From a dry parched almost depopulated country, in some parts, it is changed in a few months to the land of promise, happy homes and cheerful people, with progress and development on every hand. The west is great! Then too, in the past few months such a boom has never been known in any part of the country as the oil boom in the west. All of West Texas seems to be underlaid with oil. People from every state and from across the seas are wild over oil in West Texas. The magazines are giving us pages and pages of publicity about the oil developments. The cities in the east where weeks ago the newspapers were decrying the awful conditions of the west are now bubbling over with enthusiasm about the wonderful changes that have been brought about in the west—The remarkable west.

Still further, the agricultural possibilities of the west are receiving attention from the farm papers and the agricultural department, that is giving us a boost, that will put us before the farming classes, and many people will come here to farm and range during the coming year. We have it upon good authority, too, that the plains country will produce some new varieties of crops that will be a big boost to the country. All in all the west is coming. She is getting up in the front ranks, and the people are watching the wonderful west in amazement—its developments are beyond the power of the human mind to anticipate. Just keep your hat on straight gentlemen and watch West Texas spread it on, and see the South Plains go over the top. Still more excitement is the recent developments in the South Plains in the Salt and Potash Mines—something entirely new, that promises to eclipse even the oil boom, and the fellow that has been burdened with a big "dry lake" in his pasture for years, wondering what in the world such formations were there for, is now beginning to realize that may be the few hundred acres of "lake" is worth more to him than the entire pasture land surrounding it for miles. This discovery has just come to light during the past few weeks when a firm from Kansas sent a representative to this section of the country and proceeded to lease up every foot of the lakes that they could get hold of from Midland north to the north line of Terry county, paying a fancy lease for some of the lakes and contracting with the owners for several years lease on the tracts announcing that they would in the very near future put in large plants and a big force of men to develop the salt, potash, and other like products from the soil in these basins, which promises to be rich producers. The wonderful West again. In the meantime come to Lubbock, the Hub of the Plains.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IDEA WELL ADVANCED

Paris, Feb. 2.—President Wilson on this Sunday had his first really completely restful day since he landed on French soil. Rear Admiral Grayson, his medical aid, was able to have his way in this respect, leaving in mind the exceedingly hard work which marked every day last week and the serious departure from the regimen which has so well preserved the health and strength of the President up to this moment. The President was even induced to refrain from his almost invariable custom of attending church in order to regain vitality which had been sacrificed. The progress made last week in the work of the peace conference through the daily sessions of the council of the five great powers has encouraged the hope and expectation that the main object—the society of nations—will be so far advanced toward realization that it will be possible to get it before the peace conference in plenary session in time to permit of its adoption by the middle of next month, which will enable the President to carry out his original idea of leaving for Washington about the date previously fixed. The plan which has been received with most favor looking to the formation of a league of nations is a composite one, embodying the best ideas of many of the delegates and specialists.

LUBBOCK YOUNG PEOPLE IN WEST TEXAS NORMAL

The following students from Lubbock County are attending the Normal this year: Misses Dora E. Bounds, Maggie L. Bounds, Lillian O. Brown, Ruby Cole, Lila Jane Gibson, Goldie M. Jones, Rosa Mae Jones, and Mae M. Morrison and Mrs. Mae Campbell. It should be of interest to the people of West Texas to know that the Normal has had a remarkable growth during its nine years of existence. It is now the second largest Normal in the State having this year enrolled five hundred and twenty students.

WILL BORE FOR OIL NEAR BARTONSITE, HALE COUNTY

E. A. Shackelford of the Anchor community was in town yesterday and stated to the News editor that Abernathy and Bartonsite parties would at an early date begin drilling a test well for oil and gas in the southwestern part of the county, near Bartonsite, close to what is known as Eagle Springs. He says the people down in that part of the county are much interested in the proposition, and some of them have ambitions of great riches. The whole Plains country will follow the test with interest, for if oil or gas should be struck in this county it would bring great prosperity to the people.—Plainview News.

GAS MASKS TO BE USED BY DALLAS FIRE LADS

Dallas, Feb. 3.—A consignment of gas masks from Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, has been received here by the city fire department. They were ordered and procured on the recommendation of Fire Chief Magee and with the approval of the mayor. Their use as a protective against smoke in the acute putting out of fires was said by Magee to be of much value to firemen and this led to their adoption.

HOMESTEAD LAW PROBABLY REMAIN INTACT ON BOOKS

Austin, Texas, Feb. 3.—By a vote of 45 to 32 the house today refused to have printed favorable the minority report of the house committee on constitutional amendments on the house joint resolution, proposing an amendment to the homestead provision of the state constitution. This practically means the death of the measure.

We are glad to hear Mrs. Ed Lake is getting along nicely at the Lubbock sanitarium after an operation for appendicitis. Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Fowler of the Big Four neighborhood went to Lubbock first of the week, where the latter will spend a while with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. John I. Lampkin were registered at the Crosbyton Inn from Lubbock Monday.—Crosbyton Review.

E. E. Johnson of the Tokio community returned this week, from Camp Travis, where he has been in training the last five months.

John N. Rice returned Wednesday from Ranger, and reports everything is looking good there for him.

C. L. STEWART GOES TO CHILDRESS EXCHANGE

C. L. Stewart, who has been local manager of the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company here for several months, has been transferred to Childress, Texas, where he will have charge of the business as manager. Mr. Stewart has been faithful to his work here, and has given Lubbock good service under the many handicaps that he has had to pull against, and we regret to see him and his estimable wife drift to other points, but they take with them the friendship of Lubbock people as well as abundance of good wishes. Mr. Stewart is succeeded by Mr. H. D. Phillips, who was at one time manager here, and later District Manager at Wichita Falls. Mr. Phillips has been here for several months but has not been actively engaged in the work, but he is considered one of the best in the state, and Lubbock is fortunate in getting him back on the job here, since the telephone company saw fit to make a change.

LEGISLATURE CAN'T REPEAL STATE POLL TAX LAW

Austin, Texas, Feb. 3.—In answer to an inquiry propounded by the House Committee on Revenue and Taxation, the Attorney General's Department made a ruling to the effect that the Legislature is powerless to repeal the law levying a poll tax upon male persons between the ages of 21 and 60 years and the Legislature is likewise powerless to except from the provision requiring the payment of poll taxes, sailors, soldiers and marines serving in the United States Army or Navy.

REMOUNT STATION MAY BE LOCATED IN LUBBOCK

It has been reported that inquiry has come to parties in Lubbock from Governmental sources, for a suitable place for a remount station for the border patrol forces. Nothing definite has developed in this line, but there seems to be a desire upon the part of the government to establish a station here, if the necessary arrangements can be made.

Washington, Feb. 3.—General Pershing has been authorized by the war department to send home for immediate discharge from the army any drafted or enlisted man who present convincing evidence of sickness or other distress of his family.

J. A. Oden of Canyon City, is transacting business in Lubbock this week. Mr. Oden was one of the pioneer men who came to Lubbock when very young, and says that he still has interests here, which he intends to keep, as he says that he expects this to be a real town before very long.

Martin and Wolcott received a message from their former bookkeeper, J. W. DeShazo, who went out to California for a few weeks visit with his children, that he had decided to remain in that part of the country, for awhile.

D. C. Crowley is another of the returning visitors to Ranger, for the last several days, and stopped over in town with us one day this week, enroute home in the east part of New Mexico.

The County Clerk informed us that they have plenty of marriage licenses on hand now and if you are in the market for them, we advise you to buy now, and avoid the rush.

K. Carter returned Saturday from Brownfield, where he had been looking after his store at that place. He has on a special sale down there and reported a good business last week.

W. E. Brecken, of Lorenzo, is another of the boys from Camp Travis returning home, and states that last Sunday about one thousand men were released from that camp.

J. C. Cohen is another of the business visitors to our town this week.

WHEN IS LUBBOCK TO PAVE STREETS

SHE WILL NOT BE THE CITY THAT IS EXPECTED OF HER WITHOUT THE STREETS ARE PUT IN ORDER.

INVESTORS SHY AT THE CONDITIONS OF OUR SQUARE

It Doesn't Look Good to People Who Come from Places Much Smaller and of Less Importance Than Lubbock When They See No Paving and Rough Streets.

Several times the Avalanche has mentioned the matter of street paving and we have not been able to stir up any opposition to the proposition, but on the other hand have had many to express their favor toward it, and believe that it is the only solution to the street troubles in this city. It seems to be in the same boat with a number of other things around Lubbock. Just lacks somebody to get in behind the matter with some definite plans and get the question thoroughly before the people and put it in shape to act upon it. It is a foregone conclusion that Lubbock must have some paving or some more work on the streets and we are not in favor of spending much money on them like we have been doing, as there seems to be but little results from the money spent in years past. Paving might cost a little more, and we are sure it would but it would not require everlasting repairing and then not be in shape to travel over half the time.

Lubbock can never be the city that she is supposed to be without paved streets, and it does not look good to the prospective purchasers of property in the town to come here when it is wet weather and see the water standing around in the streets—regular lakes in places and bog holes in other places. And in the dry times find the dust fogging in the main streets worse than anywhere else in town. They sicken of it right away, and we dare say that there have been dozens of people who came here to invest in property and become citizens of the town that have gone away in disgust on this account. We believe that the property owners of the town will be willing to pay their part where the paving touches their property and the city could certainly arrange to pave one third in the center. The Commissioners court would meet them a third of the way around the square we are pretty sure, and thus the expense would fall very light on everybody except those who are directly benefited by the improvement. Lets get busy people, and get this much needed work under way early this year, and while we are getting lined up on this work why not the city arrange to have the streets and the square sprinkled. They have plenty of water and could give the streets in the business part of the city a good soaking from the water plugs without running a wagon, and a good washing of the sidewalks could also be given at the same time, which would improve the sanitary conditions.

The ginner will attach the tags, which cost him 2c each. They are said to be fire-proof, weatherproof and waterproof.

WOULD MAKE CHILDREN CARE FOR THEIR PARENTS

Austin, Texas, Feb. 3.—A bill offered in the House today by Leo C. Brady of Galveston, seeks to hold children responsible for the care of parents. He offered the measure in response to requests from charity organizations of the cities of Texas. Under this measure children who are financially able could be held for criminal neglect when they do not take care of parents who are supported by charity.

His wife and baby met him at Lubbock Wednesday. Lt. Hughes entered the first officers' training camp at Leon Springs in May, 1917, and was given a commission. ## BOYS AND GIRLS' CLUB

Join the Lubbock County Poultry Raisers' Association.

I believe that we are all agreed that everyone should raise standard bred poultry and that he should give his poultry a reasonable amount of time and attention, keeping his stock always up to the standard in order to get the most out of his investment.

Local pride in the development of our county, coupled with good business sense, has driven scrub livestock from our county for all time, and the mongrel breeds of chickens are fast following the scrub stock into oblivion.

But there are other questions arising from time to time, such as finding a market for our poultry and poultry products, buying feed and other poultry supplies, etc. It is to meet just such needs that the Lubbock County Poultry Raisers' Association is for the benefit of every farmer, or other poultry grower in the county. You should attend the meetings of this Association and lend your aid in every way to promoting the interests of the poultry industry in this county, and in turn be benefitted by the work of the association. Below are some reasons given by Mr. Kazmeier, as to why you should be a member of a poultry raisers' association:

1. Acquaintance with other poultry breeders.
2. Discussion of poultry problems at meetings.
3. Co-operation in buying feeds and all other poultry supplies.
4. Recognition by other organizations, such as the Food Administration, Housewives' League, etc.
5. Co-operation in marketing of products.
6. Educational value in the way of addresses and demonstrations by Specialists, who could not meet you individually.
7. Best method of gaining publicity through the press of the value of poultry products.
8. Best method of standardizing poultry products.
9. Standardizing the aims of poultry breeders, resulting in improvement of breeds and strains.
10. Exchange of ideas and useful information at meetings.
11. It costs only fifty cents to become a member.
12. Organized efforts alone can be responsible for the development and backing of big things.
13. Easier to hold local and county poultry exhibits.
14. You can encourage proper legislation.

There are many other good reasons why you should become a member, but you will become aware of them as you go along.

The next meeting of the Association will be held in the Agricultural offices at the Court house, Saturday, February 8, from 1.30 to 4 p. m.

Sincerely,
MILIE M. HALSEY,
Corresponding Secretary.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Excess Lands.

Hon. T. J. Tilson,
Member lower house,
Austin, Texas.

My Dear Friend: Your favor to hand enclosing me the bill now pending before the Legislature, and requesting my views of the same.

The bill is H. B. No. — "Entitled an act to recover to the free school fund, the excess in surveys made for individuals, railroad companies, and the state or the school fund by virtue of certificates issued for the construction of railroads, and other works of internal improvements, etc."

You state that you are anxious that I examine this bill thoroughly and give you my views on the same. This I have done and after a careful reading of the same discover it is leveled at three classes of lands, viz: (a) Those located by virtue of alternate certificates. Commonly called school lands and their alternate patented sections, located by the same certificate.

(b) Non-alternate certificates, known as straight certificates, where the school fund had no interest in the lands located thereby.

(c) To all the vacant and unappropriated public lands in fifty-three counties including Nolan county and the counties west and north of Nolan, without any reference to the size or quantity of land in such vacant strip (reserving the three million and fifty thousand acres to build the state capitol) and also to vacant and unappropriated tracts in the Pacific Reservation, and to such tracts in the organized counties of the state on July 14th, 1879, which tracts contained 640 acres or less.

The scope of this bill is so broad, far reaching, and goes back and covers so many years, that I will not attempt to go into detail and discuss it through all this time, yet I will first say, that the lands embraced in classes (b) and (c) as no power to pass any bill looking to any future survey of these lands, and such a law would be invalid and of no force. Second, the lands included in class (a) above were located by virtue of alternate certificates, and the same are commonly known as school sections and their adjacent patented sections, and were principally located and surveyed out forty and fifty years ago, these sections very frequently contain small excess in acreage above the contemplated 640 acres, and for years nothing was thought of it, especially in the east and central part of the State, as there was very little of this land there, yet when the last spike was driven in the T. & P. railroad that tied the Atlantic and the Pacific together through the south school lands in the west on the marble the Legislature at once threw these ket to actual settlers, and the tide of emigration started westward, these lands soon purchased, and the settlers, in erecting their homes, building near their line fences and making other improvements soon discovered that many of the sections contained a small excess in acreage which threw the section lines out of Legislature in its wisdom, to forever harmony and caused trouble, and to settle the question, passed the act of 1887, known as chapter 115 found on pages 107 and 108 of said act then in 1889 passed the supplemental act to further carry out its intention, which last act is known as chapter 90 page 103 of said act, and then for years and years thereafter the then Commissioners of the General Land Office, worked under and tried to carry out the intention of the Legislature as expressed in said acts, but by and by a new Commissioner of the General Land Office reversed the action and rulings of the former commissioners, and decided he would squeeze the excess out of these school and patented sections and open up vacancies, on or between the block lines of such lands and sell the vacant lands to other purchasers under a different law. The case of 1887 and 1889 when carried out is all that the people need and all that can be carried out when the courts are resorted to if required by this bill you sent me, hence my advice is to defeat this dangerous litigation.

Obediently yours,

PRAIRIE DOGS MUST BE EXTERMINATED

Under the direction of the commissioners Giff of Lubbock County, Texas, all land owners whose lands are infected with prairie dogs are hereby given notice that they must destroy the prairie dogs that inhabit their respective lands. This applies to both resident and non-resident owners. The prairie dog is an economical waste and has rightly been declared by the legislature a public nuisance. Under the law it is made the duty of the commissioners to notify all land owners of the county to rid their respective lands of these pests where they exist, and if the land owner after notice fails or refuses to destroy the dogs on his land then the commissioners court has authority under the law to employ the sheriff of the county to destroy the dogs at the expense of the owner of the land and to fix a lien on the land to meet this expense and to foreclose the lien and sell the land or such part as may be necessary in order to recover from the owner of the land can do this work at very much less expense than for him to allow the sheriff to do the work for him at his expense. Suppose that the residents in the various neighborhoods organize and work together in destroying the dogs and in this way destroy your own dogs and let the sheriff work on the lands owned by the nonresidents in case it should be necessary. In any event every land owner is hereby given notice that the prairie dogs must be destroyed and it must be done at once. Now is the best time of the whole year in which to kill the dogs. Do it now.

WHY STATEWIDE PROHIBITION NOW?
 (By H. A. Ivy, Sherman, Tex)

Doubtless many of your readers are asking the question mentally, if not by word of mouth, "Why a campaign for constitutional statewide prohibition in Texas, now that the nationwide amendment has been ratified?" To help clarify the public thought on the subject I submit the following:

1. The national prohibition amendment by its own terms does not become effective until January 16, 1920, and not then if Congress should fail to enact the necessary laws.

2. The distillers of America have announced a pool of their billion dollars capital to fight the national constitutional prohibition in the courts "to the last ditch," and they may further delay the operation of the law.

3. More than a thousand saloons are closed in Texas today by virtue of our military zone law, and by statutory prohibition. The zone law will end in Texas with the signing of the peace treaty in the near future, and statutory prohibition has already been declared unconstitutional by our Court of Criminal Appeals and half of the lawyers of the state expect the Supreme Court to take the same view, and to dissolve the Attorney General's injunctions by which he is keeping some five hundred saloons in the state from re-opening.

In view of this, I take it that no friend of civic righteousness wants to take the risk of having a thousand or more dramshops re-opened in Texas while we wait for national prohibition, when by adopting a self-enacting prohibition amendment to our state constitution on May 24th, we can keep the "lid on" in Texas, regardless of the repeal of our zone law by the signing of the peace treaty, regardless of the distiller's dilatory litigation, and regardless of the possible tardiness of Congress, and in spite of the possible annulment of our statutory prohibition law thru an adverse decision of the Texas Supreme Court.

I yield to no man in my appreciation of National Prohibition. I believe that January 16, 1919 should go down in history as the second greatest day in the American calendar—the day on which a three fourths majority of the American Commonwealths rendered a verdict of perpetual banishment against the old tyrant King Alcohol. But national prohibition to come sometime in the future cannot meet the existing emergency in Texas, and so "imperative public necessity exists" for writing prohibition in the Texas constitution at the earliest practicable date by a popular vote of the people.

NEXT LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE WILL BE LAST

Washington, Jan. 22—Only one more big war loan drive is planned by the Treasury Department. Secretary Glass said today. It will be the Victory Liberty loan to be floated probably the last three weeks in April. The amount will not be more than $6,000,000,000.

"I expect the Victory Liberty loan to be the last intensive campaign for the sale of Government bonds," said Mr. Glass. "Reports that there would be two more bond issues this year aggregating $12,000,000,000 are entirely without foundation, not only as to amount, but also as regards the number of campaigns."

More bonds probably will be issued by the Government even after the next campaign, but it is planned to market these quietly through banks and other financial institutions, without the usual campaign of advertising and soliciting. The amount of securities to be sold in this manner will not be determined for months until the Treasury gets a more definite idea of the volume of expense growing out of liquidating of war contracts, the allies' needs for further loans and the demands arising from the continuing the policy of making loans to railroads, financing the next wheat crop, continuing ship building and other internal obligations.

The misapprehension regarding the number and amount of remaining loans may arise. Treasury officials explained today, over the fact that the Treasury had planned to float two loan issues aggregating about $12,000,000,000 this fiscal year. The fiscal year began last July 1, however, and ends next June 30, and the Fourth Liberty loan of nearly $7,000,000,000 already has been floated in that period.

Most Treasury officials believe that terms of the fifth or Victory loan will have to be made more attractive than those of the past, either by raising the interest rate above 4 1/4 per cent, or by some other means.

WEST TEXANS ARE ON THEIR WAY BACK HOME

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 23.—Some of the West Texas farmers who deserted their homes last summer in pitiful white lines of old prairie wagons are now going back in automobiles. Driven out by a three years drought, they are going back as oil men.

Stretches of land where the drouth had virtually withered every leaf of vegetation and from which the disheartened farmers departed for the cotton fields and other more prosperous sections, are within the new oil district.

Some of the farmers who struggled, almost penniless, from the "parched zone" a few months ago can qualify as oil magnates, according to Vance Muse of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, who has just completed a tour of Ranger, Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge, DeLeon, Moran, Gorman and other towns in the heart of the new oil district. He says the population in many counties, almost completely deserted last summer, has reached unprecedented figures.

Leases are being sold for a few acres at vastly larger sums than whole farms would have brought a year ago and enormous investments have been made.

The legislature had expected to adopt measures for relief of drouth sufferers, but since the discovery of oil little interest has been shown in the proposed action. There have been abundant fall rains that assured crops in districts outside the oil territory.

Letters from our Boys in Service at Home and "Over There"

(Corp. M. E. Kelley.)

Beaune, France, Jan. 14, 1919.
The Lubbock Avalanche,
Lubbock, Texas.

Dear Editor: In as much as I've been a weekly reader of your paper since landing in France, until November the 18th, when I was separated from my company and sent to the base hospital at this place, and let me assure you that every page was read with interest even though the news was at least a month old. If you were ever out on a long journey, tired and very thirsty and, by chance you came across a spring that brought forth pure, clear, cold water and partook thereof until satisfaction was reached you can understand how real news from home satisfies a Sammie when doing his bit at the front.

What I may say applies to several Lubbock boys who were called to the colors on September the 19th, 1917. Cook Riley Duff, Sgt. John E. Bobo, Corporal J. Wilson, Corporal Mark Shamburger and several others whose lot was cast in company E, 315 supply train, and here let me say, Hurrah, for Cook Duff. He's the man that cut the corn willie cans, made the soup, stirred the gravy, fried the meat and boiled the coffee that sustained us through over dark hours on three fronts. He stayed on duty under shell fire and even the 5's kitchen, (sometimes protected by tree tops, quite often by canvas with-out camouflage, sometimes by billet roof and many times by the blue sky, or thick fog that clustered about) was blown up by high explosive and shrapnel, yet without an exception our meals were always ready. Many times however, our meal hours had to vary as Fritz was very busy on exact hours to throw his gas, high explosive and shrapnel.

As you know our mission was to haul supplies with trucks to the entire ninetieth division, our doughboys would advance several kilometers today, for instance, and the following day we followed them up across the devastated battlefields. Here day after day we fully realized that General Sherman's statement was true when he said "War is Hell." The roads were in many places, torn into leaps, holes and gutters. You can imagine the condition after cross artillery had played its part. On either side the Dutchmen were thick, but they were in a condition "to harm us not." Many of our brave lads did the price but not in vain. If the slacker could have seen conditions as they were surely he would hang his head in shame.

Our work was supposed to be done at night, but on account of road conditions and such an amount to be done both day and night were used. All driving was done without lights (that's easily understood) and many dark, muddy, rainy hours were spent plodding along hauling this or that and top, if day break caught us we well understood what exciting times we would experience as many trips had to be made direct to the lines.

In case the roads were jammed by artillery or other heavy traffic Jerry would usually have his fun throwing over his three inch shells. Many times we would be forced to take cover in some trench or shell hole, until the fun passed over. Sometimes a boche plane would come in contact with an allied plane just above us. If we hid the sport was also hid, usually we would risk one eye, stuck out from under a truck. Can you imagine the sport of being a truck driver in France? Our first trips were the ones that would be of most interest. If I should discuss these instead of telling you of guns, planes and etc., I would be forced to confine my thoughts to, knees shaking, teeth clattering and an Arkansas cant in general. The cooty question has been discussed as much perhaps, as the question of Mademoiselle is American girl. We of the supply train have been vaccinated, inoculated, been given C. C. C. pills, doped with castor oil, iodine and many other modern preventions, but in no case have we been immune from our friend "cooty." Their methods of warfare are much like that of the American army. Their smallest unit is the squad. The general gets his division ready, about twenty eight thousand, depends of course on the size of the individual Sammie. The order "forward march" is given. They form in skirmish lines and the first wave goes forward. When their objective has been reached the order comes from the ranking cooty "to dig in." Many have service stripes, and usually when they begin to "dig in" the Sammie "digs out" of that under shirt and the "picking" that takes place cannot be compared to the picking Aunt Nancy gives her geese. A very common scene is to see an entire company (during fighting times) of two hundred men halted along the road with their undershirts turned wrong side out pulling em off. After some forty or fifty minutes they would advance a kilometer and pick again. This was done in order to prevent the first ones from counter attacking.

After the armistice had been signed we were hauling supplies to the refugees and returning prisoners in connection with our regular mission. In many villages, even up in Belgium, the old gray headed mothers, weary and worn and in many cases ill clad, were returning after being away for four long years, with their household goods on a two wheel cart, a wheel barrow, or on their backs. Even tho' they had suffered the privations of life for a long period yet they smiled and cheered as the trucks came in. They said, "We love the Americans" and believe me they would hug us until we were black in the face if they could get us off the trucks. Usually there were enough mademoiselles scattered through that we did not mind it so much.

Our boys are up on the Rhine. I'm here in a hospital, caused by being caught between two trucks. I sure would have liked very much to have gone on with them.

The ninetieth divisions record shows that the Hun caught hell on three fronts St. Mihiel, Verdun and Argonne.

Must close for fear this won't get by.

(Riley Duff.)

Cuas, Germany, Jan. 8, 1919.
Mr. James L. Dow,
Lubbock, Texas.
My Dear Friend:

It has been a long while since you had a letter from me. During the months that have elapsed I have led a rather strenuous life well mixed with adventure and excitement.

My trip coming over was uneventful other than the usual experiences and sights incident to an ocean voyage. I landed at Liverpool and came across England by train to Southampton, where we took a boat and crossed the English channel to La Havre, France. That boat ride was the one that "got me goat." The boat was a fast one and we were packed on board. The sea was rather rough and to all this was added a certain nervous anxiety which, I for one, was unable to overcome; that we might stop a hun torpedo or strike a mine. Before we were half way across I had a vague feeling in the pit of my stomach and was soon hanging over the rail with the other boys feeding the fishes. No sight could have been more pleasing to me than land did when we anchored in the harbor of La Havre, next morning. From La Havre we went by rail to La Pallice, France.

This is one trip that I will never forget. I do not know if you ever rode in a cattle car or not, but even if you have you can't have a full conception of what it is to ride one of these French box cars for a week without getting off. It was some ride.

At La Pallice we received our first convoy of trucks and after an overland trip of several days delivered them in Dijon. Well, I have traveled so much I will not attempt to give you a history in detail of my travels, but I traveled until I thought I would never reach the front. I finally reached Dieubonne, France, where I was under fire for the first time and near which place my division "went over the top," for the first time. I can not adequately describe that first time our division went into battle. It is enough to say they fought nobly and made a record of which I am not ashamed. We were in the lines almost constantly and had just made a great drive on the Meuse-Argonne front, near Verdun, when the armistice was signed.

Since our advance into German life has been a little more pleasant, at least we have been relieved of the constant nervous strain. I can have a light in my tent without any fear of having it shot out and can sleep on top of the ground without taking a chance on being blown off.

We entered Germany through Luxemburg. The Dutchy of Luxemburg is a small province. Its capital being the city of Luxemburg, a very beautiful place containing many rare works of art. I have seen a lot of Germany already, especially along the beautiful Moselle river. The valley through which the Moselle runs is almost a solid vineyard and from this valley comes the famous Moselle wines and other liquors. I have become a real judge of wine and can almost tell the quality by smelling the cork, but I of course have to occasionally sample it.

They have some queer customs and in many ways are far behind us. One thing they do have though, is good roads and good homes. At first the towns seem very old fashioned as you can see from the pictures enclosed, but you soon become accustomed to them.

Well, I must bring my letter to a close. I have seen a good portion of the world, have had many adventures and have tried to do my bit to the best of my ability. Of my personal exploits and deeds I will say nothing. I would not take a million dollars for what I have seen and experienced but I would not give five cents for any more like it.

I am very grateful to my friends and customers at home who have continued to give the store their patronage and hope to be back on the job again soon.

With my best wishes for the new year I am sincerely,

Your friend,
Riley Duff.

Walter E. Kimball.

Dear Mother, Father, Brother and Sisters: How are you all? I am well we are still at Boncourt, I am at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. It is still raining here. It rains all the time. I haven't hardly seen the sun since I left the States.

Well, I guess a lot of the boys back there have been mustered out. I would like to know whether the boys that were drafted just after I was had to come over. Believe me, I was lucky. I was a day behind the front line trenches when the armistice was signed. We were riding on the train I have been over lots of ground in France. We landed at Brest, France I have seen lots of sights since I have been over here. We stayed on the range three days in Southern France. I forgot the name of the town. It is only about six miles from here where you can find dead Germans and everything. All kinds of grenades, shells and dugouts, some of them haven't any bottom I think.

Well, I haven't any more time at present. Give my best regards to all.

Don't Sell Your War Saving Stamps to other than Postmaster

Beware of the unscrupulous person who offers to buy your War Savings Stamps. No one but a United States Government postmaster has authority under the law to cash War Savings Stamps. All persons or firms offering to buy, exchange, accept War Savings Stamps on account, or take them in trade, are violating the Government regulations.

Steer clear of the W. S. S. scalper. The following official notice has been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury:

"My attention has been directed to the numerous offers made by unscrupulous persons through advertisements and in other ways to buy War Savings Certificate Stamps. As a result of such offers, I am informed that owners of such securities have suffered material losses which could have been avoided by redemption of the War Savings Certificate Stamps at postoffices as provided by law.

"In order that the interests of the owners of War Savings Certificate Stamps of either series (1918 or 1919) may be safeguarded, I hereby notify all persons to refrain from offers to buy War Savings Stamps or accept the same in trade."—Carter Glass, Secretary, United States Treasury.

A United States postoffice is the only agency designated by law to cash War Savings Stamps. If a person has urgent necessity for his money, he has only to file notice with his postmaster to cash his War Savings Stamps and the money will be paid over to him at the expiration of ten days, as provided by law. In view of the Government's great need of money now, it would naturally appear that no patriotic American will consider cashing his War Savings Stamps unless his financial condition is such that he has most urgent and compelling need of his money.

As a result of regulations passed by the Postoffice Department the unscrupulous person who accepts War Savings Stamps on account or in payment of debt or the scalper who buys War Savings Stamps will be unable to obtain his money on them. The regulations which make it impossible for the unscrupulous scalper to carry on his unscrupulous trade follow:

"Postmasters are directed not to cash War Savings Certificates on which the names of the owners have not been entered or have been erased or changed, since, under the regulation, War Savings Certificates are not transferable and are payable only to the original owners, except in case of death or disability.

"Postmasters are further instructed not to cash any War Savings Certificates presented by persons or firms known to be buying, or publicly offering to buy, War Savings Stamps or Certificates from the owners unless positive evidence is submitted that the Certificates were originally issued to the persons or firms presenting them for payment."

Save and have! The new 1919 War Savings Stamps are on sale at the postoffice. Invest your money in War Savings Stamps. Buy the safest and best security in the world. War Savings Stamps bear four per cent interest, compounded quarterly—they increase constantly in value, and this constant increase is guaranteed by the government. Save and save! Buy W. S. S.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that clings with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

HEAVY LIVESTOCK LOSSES IN PARTS OF NEW MEXICO

J. L. Samon, of Magdalena, N. M., passed through Lubbock Tuesday en route to lower plains country, where he has interests. Mr. Samon states that the cattlemen of this country should certainly be proud that they are in a country where the snow does not lay on the ground all winter, as a great many of the sheepmen and cattle owners of his country had been unable to either bring their stock to shipping points, or take feed to them on account of heavy snows which have been on the ground a long time. He says that a great many sheepmen had been put out of business on account of the hard winter.

OBITUARIES

A Beautiful Christian Life Closed.

Mrs. Bessie Noey, wife of E. L. Noey, was born February 10, 1889 in Mississippi and came with her parents to Texas when but a child. She was married to E. L. Noey at Briarley, Texas, December 10, 1895. The Lord blessed them with four children, one of which died in infancy and three, two boys and one girl survive the mother. Her life was devoted to her family, her church and her neighbors. There is much to be said of a humble earnest sincere life. Few of us have caught the large meaning of Christian living in all its holy aspects. To be a Christian is to have the privilege of living an exalted life and of contributing to the victory of good over evil. The right life is not of necessity the noisy and spectacular display of goodness, but the strong and prevailing power of modest silent and unheralded purity and holiness of thought word and deed. The whole Bible account of the lives of true men and women is a succession of portrayals of humble lowly meek and gentle worship and service in the love and fear of God. The standards of the world and the standards of the Christian are leagues removed from each other.

The beautiful life of our sister was only seen by those who would appreciate goodness. She was not distinguished by showiness or worldly display or ranking position. Her daily walk was a sermon to all who observed her and in her home and church in the circles in which she moved has their constant evidence that she lived with reference to two worlds. Her face shone with the light of her trusting loving soul. Her conquests were the result of her Christian humility and exalted faith in her Saviour.

This good woman knew values and estimated the Pearl of Greatest Price far above all earth's false fading and failing follies. Her confidence was in her Lord and his kingdom. Each day of life was to her a new opportunity to do real work in the vineyard of the Master. Every passing day was filled with deeds that shone with devotion and consecration. Like Moses she felt that even reproach for the cause of Christ was richer far than the temporary pleasures of sin that but please in order to destroy. The warfare of her life was not with carnal weapons on fields of blood and death but she wielded the sword of the Spirit and won on many fields of contest with the enemies of the soul.

It might well be said of her she lived for others, especially is this true as to her family and her church and neighborhood. In these realms her deeds of valor were done in the name of Jesus. Her last Sabbath on earth found her despite cold and snow at church with her husband and children and engaged in teaching her class of little children. Never will her friends forget her as she moved among them that winter day and smiled and taught the word of her Lord to the dear little ones. Her quiet noble bearing among the people of Lubbock has won for her an enduring memory and loving regard.

So has passed from our midst one more true witness for Jesus and we are made richer, purer and better if we have heeded her Christian testimony. Let us again thank God for every good life that has touched ours and seek ways to emulate their example. May our Father watch over

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

It is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula, I studied and investigated the laxative and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user, which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, simply acting on the upper or small intestine, while others would act only on the lower or large intestine, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I. I am full of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it. It is a comforting thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (N. R. Tablets) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prince of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child... I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time... I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. — about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble, so he got me 5 bottles... After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved... before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides.'"

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. B 14

In 1848 Sir Arthur Garrod proved that in gout (also true in rheumatism) there is deficient elimination of the part of the kidneys and the poisons within are not thrown off.

Prof. H. Strauss attributes a gouty attack to the heaping up of poisons where there is an abundance of uric acid which is precipitated in the joints and sheaths, setting up inflammation. Before the attack of gout or rheumatism there is sometimes headache, or what is thought to be neuralgia, or rheumatic conditions, such as lameness, pain in the back of the neck or joints. As Prof. Strauss says, "The secretion of uric acid we are able to detect by exciting diuresis." Drink copiously of water, six or eight glasses per day, hot water before meals, and obtain Anuric tablets, double strength, for 60 cts., at the nearest drug store and take them three times a day. If you want a trial package send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Anuric" (anti-uric) is a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce and much more potent than lithia, for it will dissolve uric acid as hot tea dissolves sugar.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

By Geo. W. Briggs, Sec.

Important Notice to Cotton Farmers

Plans have been perfected for rendering Direct Service to Farmers in Twenty Counties in Texas, by the establishment of twenty cotton marketing offices by the Extension Service of the A. & M. College, and the Bureau of Markets of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Each of these offices will be in charge of a competent cotton classifier, who will render direct service to farmers in grading and marketing cotton.

Lubbock has a chance of securing one of these offices. Therefore, the County Agricultural Agent, in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce, urgently request that all the cotton farmers of Lubbock County meet at the Court House Wednesday, February 12th, at 2 p. m. for the purpose of hearing this subject discussed by a competent representative of the Bureau of Markets.

Lubbock County has a splendid opportunity to secure one of these offices, which will be a considerable financial gain to the farmers as a result of proper grading and selling methods. So do not fail to be at the meeting, Wednesday, February 12th, at 2 p. m. in the District Court room at the court house.

CARROLL THOMPSON,
County Agent.
GEO. W. BRIGGS,
Secretary Chamber of Commerce

Another Broom Corn Meeting

Last Saturday a number of farmers met to discuss the raising of Broom Corn. Considerable interest was manifested and it was decided to call another meeting Saturday, February 15th, at 2 p. m. in the County Agent's office.

Every farmer who is interested in this crop is urged to be present promptly at this hour. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the raising of broom corn, and if enough desire to raise this crop, plans will be made to secure seed and other arrangements made.

Fathers and Sons Week

Fathers and Sons week will be celebrated in this city, February 14th to 16th. Friday afternoon a field day contest for the fathers and sons will be held. At 6 p. m. dinner will be served in the basement of the Methodist church.

Sunday morning the pastors of the various churches are planning to preach sermons on this subject. Sunday night a program will be given at the Methodist church, to which everyone is cordially invited.

The committees are now hard at work preparing the programs for the various events, and this celebration will be of great enjoyment to all.

PLEASANT DREAMS

GEO. M. HUNT
Lubbock, Texas

When twilight fades and darkness comes,

Inviting to repose,
While shades of night around us play,
Our eyes in slumber close,
And into dreamland as we pass,
But yesterday it seems,
Since we were boys and girls at play,
As seen, in "Pleasant Dreams."

We stroll among our native hills,
And gather flowers there,
While cheering songs of little birds,
With music fill the air.
We wander through the fields of green,
Or by the winding streams,
And thus the scenes of bygone years,
Are shown in "Pleasant Dreams."

We sit around a blazing fire,
Free from the wintry breeze,
But seek the shade in summer time,
Among the apple trees.

We watch the moonlight shadows play
Beneath her smiling beams,
And all these happy times return,
To us, in "Pleasant Dreams."

We gather round the vine clad trees,
That beautified our home,
And wander thru the clover fields,
Where we were wont to roam
We walk again among the hills,
Or by the quiet streams,
And we review the joys of youth,
In many "Pleasant Dreams."

One of our citizens here that is under the influence of "oil fever" says he is sure to get rich before long, or come to a sudden death, because he dreamed he had one foot in the grave and the other in an oil well.

CASCARETS' WORK

WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Migraine Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step to build a very indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Come to Lubbock.

DEATH CLAIMS THREE MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY

To the Avalanche:
Grovesville, Jan. 28, 1919.

The cruel hand of fate is dealing heavily just now with this worthy family and the writer having been identified with them for the past eight years and knowing them to be such good citizens and neighbors I feel it my duty to call the attention of the people of Lubbock and Lubbock County to their very sad state of affairs, that they are now passing through. Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Groves came to this country about 30 years ago and settled where they now live. They have stood the hardships of a pioneer life and raised a large family of sons and daughters. All the "Old Timers" in Lubbock County know Mr. and Mrs. Groves. In the past seven years they have lost five of these children. Two sons and three daughters. Four of these have died in the last 12 months. Three of these have died with influenza, just recently, within the short space of ten days. Just a few months ago the news came to these good old people that their daughter, Mrs. Ethel Rhodes, had died in Fort Worth. Then next the influenza seized upon their youngest daughter, Charley, and but a few days and her sweet spirit winged its way to Him who gave it. Every body loved little Charley Groves. She was just blooming into young womanhood and was the idol of the once happy home. Nor did death stop here. He next claimed another son, G. O. Groves Jr., who just a few years ago was married to Miss Ola Bradley. He leaves a wife and one child. "Boss" Groves as we all knew him was a fine specimen of manhood. He was generous even to a fault and every body liked Boss. He had just moved back to his humble little home and was straining every nerve in these trying times to make a support for his wife and baby. It can be truly said of him, he was a true son, husband, father, neighbor and a gentleman in the full sense of the word. In just a few days death claimed another daughter of these old people. Mrs. Joe Joplin, who was visiting her father and mother. She was a young mother, leaving three small children to the care of the father, Mr. Joe Joplin. We were not intimately acquainted with Mrs. Joplin but she being a daughter of this grand old couple and sister to "Boss" and Charley is sufficient. I never saw a more patient sufferer. As to the Christian and church relationship of these dear friends we know nothing. But we do know that they lived and died just such lives as a Christian should live and die. Now our heart feels for all connected in this their sad hour. We specially feel for this old father and mother in their declining years. This schools that deserve more time than the teachers can possibly give them. The efforts put forth by the teachers to give the older pupils a fair chance is at the neglect of the lower grades. No better investment could be made than the building of a high school in our midst. What mother sends her child away from the influence of the home without heartaches, fear and trembling? Not only would we be enabled to guard the mental, moral and physical well-being of our children, when kept at home, but good schools always bring good citizens into a community. We want good people for neighbors and for the sake of good associates among our children. Let's have a high school and be proud to tell where we live. We would have a building where music, art and expression could be taught, for so much less than we would have to pay if we send the children away. With the three districts combined in the undertaking, we could have musical recitals, Lyceum courses, and such like for the pleasure and recreation of us all. We are too far away to depend on the town for these things. If we don't have them at home, we do without them, making life very monotonous.

Among the visitors who attended the meeting Thursday were: Judge Moore, Prof. Hall, Supt. Slaton High School; Mr. Thompson and Miss Hal-Millie Halsey, Home Demonstration agent; Messrs. Webb, of Lubbock; Ellison of Slide, Crump and Sheeley of Shallowater, of the County's Board of trustees; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Adams, Messrs. Langford, Mote and McCarty from Woodrow.

A meeting of the three districts will be held at our school house on Tuesday to take a vote on whether or not we have a high school.

The Ralls Banner is agitating the organization of a Commercial Club at that place. Certainly there is no well regulated town that has not an organization of some kind to which people can go for information regarding the town and where all sorts of committees branch out from. A town is never in good working order without a central organization. We hope Ralls will soon have a live wide awake organization to help Lubbock and other live South Plains towns to develop this great country.

ANALYZING SUCCESS

Success is a word without an abstract meaning. What one man considers success another man considers failure and what one man considers failure another man may consider success. We are, of course, considering the word in regard to a man's career and not any specific project. If a man sets out to discover a new chemical process, he either meets with success or failure. When speaking of a man being successful in life, we must give the term a broader meaning. If a man wishes to become a barber and learns his trade well, he considers that he has succeeded after he obtains an eighteen-dollar-a-week position. A distinguished college professor would probably call this barber a failure in life or probably his teachers back in the grammar school would also be inclined to call him unsuccessful. The man himself considers that he has succeeded and even though his ambitions were not great, we must admit that he did succeed. If a young man sets out in life to be an electrical engineer and ends up driving a grocery wagon, we are forced to say that he failed. If a young man decides to become a research chemist and at the age of forty is a mechanical engineer, there is a question as to whether he has succeeded or failed. If he later decided that chemistry did not suit him we must grant him the glory of success. Thus, we see that success depends entirely upon what a man intends to do in life. Success is the actual accomplishment of that which we decide to do in life—yes, presumably, but let us go farther with our process of mental analyzation. It would seem that we have not completed our work.

Captain Kidd aspired to become a pirate and in this he made a wonderful success, but according to the moral standards of Christian life he was a miserable failure. John D. Rockefeller set out to control the petroleum production of the United States and in this he succeeded. Judged by moral standards, Rockefeller would probably come between Captain Kidd and Mr. Hohenzollern.

Is a wealthy man successful. If he set out to accumulate money he is successful in so much as he obtained it, but this does not essentially mean that every rich man is a success in life. Money is by no means a measure of success. The twentieth century idea of success is that of going into business, making ten million dollars a year, building a mansion in the country and enjoying the money thereafter. That is a miserable idea of success. It has lead many men to dismal failure. The man who things success lies in money is to be commiserated.

It would be very difficult to promulgate a formula for success. Not because the market is full of two dollar volumes on the secret of becoming a millionaire, but because it would not apply to all men.

Let us ask ourselves what really constitutes success. If we thought real hard, we would probably come to the conclusion that happiness is one of the most important constituents of success. Men, rich or poor, intellectual or ignorant, must be happy to be successful. If a man is not happy, he has failed in one of the most important problems of life. Next to happiness comes service and by service we mean service to one's fellowmen. The man who connects success with his own tiny, selfish self is to be pitied as the most wretched of men. He is a social parasite of the lowest calibre. Thus, we sum up success in happiness and service. Lincoln did not have a million dollars when he died, but will anyone deny that his life was a success? Most of the great characters in the history of the world were poor men.

The writer had an intimate talk with a close friend one day concerning successful careers. The young man said that he intended to become a college professor because he believed that he could be of most service to his fellowmen in this way. This was his idea of service. His idea of happiness was that of having a comfortable little home with a wife and a family—also a small laboratory to experiment in, if the writer recalls correctly. Would some kind-hearted and scrupulous gentleman please ride and compare this young man's idea of success with that of Jno. D. Rockefeller? Which would be the happier man?

Success has no relationship to money. If some people, would forget themselves long enough to remember that there is somebody else in the world, the Hall of Fame would have more names in it than the police records. If you are happy and doing your best to be of service to mankind, you have succeeded.—Everybody's Magazine.

"I too have abolished slavery"

Hoosier's abolition of kitchen servitude has brought a new vision of life to nearly a million and a half housewives. These women are no longer slaves to old ways that waste time and energy. Drudgery has ceased to be their master. With its many wanted features and labor-saving inventions, the Hoosier has made their kitchen work easy and enjoyable.

Aided by Domestic Science experts and many practical housewives, Hoosier makers have conducted thousands of experiments in perfecting this "automatic servant." All kitchen cabinet devices were thoroughly tested. Only the worthy conveniences were adopted.

Today the Hoosier holds first place in efficiency, workmanship and materials. It represents the utmost in time and labor saving kitchen equipment. It has been designed by women for women—not a mere cupboard and table combined, but a scientific work-reducing machine.

Come now and see the several Hoosier models. Select the one that pleases you most. Then abolish slavery in your kitchen by having it installed at once. Don't hesitate because you may not have the money. A dollar deposit puts this work-saver in your home. The balance may be paid in small, convenient amounts each week. And your money all back if you are not delighted.

Items of Interest to Farmers Gathered From Various Sources

Winter Control of Insect Pests. (Ernest E. Scholl, Chief Entomologist, Texas Dept. of Agri.)

It has been several years since the weather conditions in Texas have been so much in favor of destroying insects. The long drouth throughout the western part of Texas has reduced very materially certain destructive species by the absence of vegetation. The scarcity of this vegetation has also left only meager winter quarters for those insects that were fortunate enough to "pull through" the dry and hot summer. The frequent rains of the fall have saturated most soils with moisture so that many of those insects overwintering in the ground have become thoroughly wet. The numerous extreme cold spells of this winter have caused the moist earth to freeze to some distance below the surface and no doubt many insects have been killed in this way.

Farmers and fruit growers can assist to a large degree in reducing the hibernating insects still further by burning trash heaps in the fields and along fence rows and in plowing and harrowing their soils as soon as possible.

Grasshopper eggs, white grubs, wire worms, etc. worms, and many other insects can be exposed still more to cold by plowing, while land that has been plowed should be occasionally harrowed so as to help the weather in doing its work well. The harrow should also be applied in the spring so as to keep down all vegetation that may tend to feed cut-worms and related species. Such weeds, allowed to grow, will also carry over various species of plant lice.

Chinch bugs and other insects that harbor in grass stools and in rubbish about the field should be killed by burning before the weather becomes warm enough for the insects to come out.

The U. S. Government has offered to help the farmers of this country to secure fertilizers at a reasonable price. By using some of this material, or by properly applying well rotted barnyard manure followed by frequent and thorough tillage during the growing season, plants will become so vigorous that they will have the power to throw off or to outgrow ordinary insect attacks.

Weevils in Beans and Peas. It is often that weevils enter beans and peas while in the field. There is no way to prevent this. After harvesting and cleaning beans or peas, they are often soon rendered useless on account of weevil infestation. Therefore, it is necessary to adopt remedial measures immediately after gathering.

Fumigation. Place in an airtight container a barrel will do—and place on top of the seed one ounce of carbon bisulphide to 100 pounds of seed and cover well. Let this remain forty-five hours. Do this during warm weather. The thermometer should be about 70 degrees. Be careful. Carbon bisulphide is dangerous around fire.

Heat. Heat up to 150 F. will not injure the germination of beans etc. Heat of 140 F. maintained for one hour will kill all stages of the weevil. Hence, if you can subject your beans or peas to a temperature of not lower than 140 F. and not over 150 F. for one hour. They will be free of weevils. To prevent reinfestation in either case, store in weevil proof containers.

Weevils in Corn. Examining the corn in your crib or in the field before gathering and you will likely find that the ears with long shucks extending well past the tip end of the cob are free from weevils. Those with the cob projecting beyond the shucks will likely be most or less infested by weevils. In the climate of Texas weevils usually enter the corn before gathering, taking the ears with a short shuck or those in which the corn ear worm has made a suitable opening. In fact, weevils seldom injure corn with shucks four or five inches longer than the cob.

Control. 1. Sort your corn. Store for immediate use the ears with short shucks, and those with long shucks store in separate place for future use. 2. Select for seed only such ears as have very long shucks, and in this way you will develop a resistant variety. 3. Thoroughly clean out the granary before storing new grain. Allow the chickens free access to the premises some days before storing your grain. 4. Weevils can be destroyed by placing in shallow pans, on top of the corn in the crib, carbon bisulphide in the ratio of 5 pounds to 1000 cubic feet of space. However, this is a dangerous explosive and granaries are not usually built airtight, which is necessary for this to be effective. Furthermore, stored grain needs ventilation. Therefore, a granary must be specially constructed for fumigation and ventilation afterward where carbon bisulphide is to be used. 5. Start in to control the corn ear worm and you will leave much weevil waste, because they leave a good place for weevils to enter.

Write to the State Department of Agriculture at Austin for bulletin on "How to Control the Cotton Bollworm." This is the same as the corn ear worm.

MAY DRAFT BILL TO CONSERVE OIL AND GAS STORES
Austin, Jan. 25.—An oil and gas conservation measure, patterned to a certain extent along the lines of the Oklahoma and Indiana statutes, is looming up as one of the big legislative matters in prospect for the coming week.

Investigation along that line now is being conducted by Senator R. L. Carlock, and a bill in all probability will be introduced by him.

Those advocating the passage of such a measure say that it is not the intention to do any experimenting along that line, but the purpose to study the conservation measures that have been in force in other States and apply them where practical and suited to conditions of the Texas field. By proceeding in this way in drafting the measure there will be avoided the danger of imposing conditions or restrictions that will be found prohibitive.

It may be taken for granted that one of the features will be a limit upon the proximity of wells. Such a provision is urged as a means of reducing the danger of a fire sweeping a large area. Two hundred feet has been suggested as a possible radius. Opposition may develop to this feature on the part of what is generally termed the "town lot" owners, but the larger operators generally are said to favor reasonable distance restrictions, as they participate in the close drilling only because others drill close to them.

The bill has not yet been actually drafted, Senator Carlock having only recently recovered from his attack of illness, and the entire measure remains in a formative state.

Gas is Wasted. It is certain, however, that it will include some plan for preventing unnecessary waste of gas. George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth, who was here the latter part of the week, said that although gas is today worth almost as much as oil, large quantities of it are being permitted to escape and in this way becomes a total loss.

Armstrong said he appreciated that some loss of gas is a necessary incident to the development of an oil field, but he believes that considerable saving may be affected without hampering the industry. The matter is covered in House Bill No. 157, which was introduced by Representative Ben L. Cox of Abilene. Section No. 6 of the bill also provides for conservation by authorizing the commission to make such regulations as are necessary to prevent waste. If limited strictly to the piping and storing this may not conflict with the provisions that may be included in the Senate conservation measure.

In the view of Armstrong the measure will not be objectionable to the various local gas companies, in view of the fact that the same commission is given supervision in the measure over the distributing companies, and in specifying rates would have to consider both the rates to be charged by the distributing companies and the local companies.

U. S. ARMY WAS SECOND LARGEST AS WAR CLOSED
Washington, Jan. 25.—On the day that the armistice was signed the American army on the Western front was second in strength only to that of France itself. Figures made public today by General March showed that on Nov. 11 the United States was represented on the Western front by 1,950,000 men. France, on Nov. 1, the last date for which official figures were available, had 2,559,000. The British and the Portuguese attached to the British Army totalled 1,718,000, while the Belgian and Italian forces on the Western front aggregated about 200,000.

These totals are all based upon what is termed the "ration strength." This includes every soldier who has to be fed, both combatants and the necessary medical and supply organizations. General March gave comparative demobilization totals for the United States and British Armies. Up to Jan. 24 the United States had actually discharged 57,366 officers and 858,117 men. The British on Jan. 11 had discharged 13,759 officers and 611,950 men. The total ordered for discharge in this country now is 1,300,000.

Burkburnett Oil Stock

10 Cents a Share While it Last

We believe we have a 100 to 1 Shot right here. Read on, and if you don't agree with us, we won't ask you to buy.

The Golden Goose Oil and Refining Company

which is capitalized at only $45,000, and whose stock is selling at only 10 cents a share, has 20 acres in the center of the new district in the BURKBURNETT OIL FIELDS where the frezied rush for acreage is now going on. There is virtually a stampede for acreage in this immediate vicinity. Now, there must be a reason for this intense scramble for acreage. You follow us, and we will tell you the story. In this locality, and adjoining the holdings of the Golden Goose Company's 20 acres, the Quana Oil Company has 21 shallow wells that are paying handsome dividends monthly, but the big important reason why Golden Goose stock should go extremely high is that large companies are putting down deep test wells practically around this 20 acres, and one of these companies on Monday, January 20, struck a sand at 775 feet which the drillers estimate will produce 100 bbls. of oil per day, and the drillers say the formation is identical with that of the gushers near by. Now, this company is going on down after the 1900 foot sand that produces the big gushers many of which are flowing at the rate of 1000 to 3000 barrels daily. These wells have been known to pay as high as 12 per cent daily on the investment, or in other words a $12 a day income on a $100 investment. Think for a minute what it means to the GOLDEN GOOSE OIL AND REFINING COMPANY and its shareholders for the big companies to spend practically $200,000 on these deep tests, which will beyond a doubt prove up the GOLDEN GOOSE COMPANY'S 20 acres as to deep oil. If these big companies strike gushers, as their geologists say they will

Golden Goose Stock Will Go Sky High

because it is only natural to expect to find gushers on the adjoining holdings of the GOLDEN GOOSE COMPANY also. But, even in case the big companies fail to strike gushers, as they expect, the GOLDEN GOOSE COMPANY can still make the big dividends for their shareholders by developing the shallow depths, as it is only about 100 yards from their holdings to the producing wells of the Quana Oil Company, where the 775-foot sand is producing 100 bbls. a day. Now, frankly, if these big companies that know the oil game can afford to spend $200,000 betting that they will find gushers in this locality, haven't you got nerve enough to bet $10, $50, $100, or more, that the

CHURCH NOTES

February 6, 1919.

The Sunday School! The Sunday School! The Sunday School! Watch it grow. Let everybody be there next Sunday at 9:45 a. m. Come to the devotional meeting of the Laymen's work. It will do your soul good to attend. The hour is 3 o'clock p. m. Wanted—100 young people for Epworth League work, young men and young women in Dallas, and Ft. Worth and Amarillo and Weatherford and hundreds of other places are doing a most excellent part in the Master's Kingdom. Why should not the young men and young women do the same in the coming city in the West—Lubbock!

The Missionary society is one of the best in the land.

Let everyone be present at the 11 o'clock hour, February 9, and don't fail to bring a donation for our Orphan Home at Waco. Don't fail in this. Subject for the morning service "Stewardship"; for the evening worship we will discuss the "Four Salvation."

Yours, J. T. Griswold.

The Methodist Orphanage.
The Methodist Orphanage at Waco is the only institution of the kind Texas Methodist has and the complaint is made that it is not getting the support to which it is entitled. Is it possible that the more than 300,000 Methodists, in a land as fair and prosperous as this, are unable to clothe and feed two hundred orphan children who have a peculiar claim upon them? No, we are not that poor.

Well, then, is it possible that this great Methodist host is unwilling to take care of these wards of ours? We do not believe that either.

The writer is not acquainted with Texas Methodists. On an average they are not more niggardly than other people, though some among them would not be prize winners in a liberality contest. Why, then, are we not giving to our Orphanage a more generous support? We are forced to believe that we, preachers and laymen, have not gotten the matter on our hearts.

The Texas Baptists maintain a great orphanage at Dallas. Only last week our Baptist brethren, and many friends who are not Baptists, came together in great numbers to do honor to Dr. R. C. Buckner, founder and head of the orphanage, on his eighty-sixth birthday. They brought along a cash shower of $11,000. All honor to them. We rejoice in their loyalty and prosperity. The Methodists of Texas are as numerous and we presume as prosperous as the Baptists.

We owe it to ourselves, to our great church and to the hundreds of fatherless and motherless children to see to it that every Methodist congregation in the State is given a fair opportunity to make an offering for the support of this worthy institution. Furthermore, if any of our congregations have made miserable little offerings somebody ought to have the Christian courage to lay this matter before them and give them a chance to redeem their good name.—Christian Advocate

WANTED—100 singers for the community chorus, rehearsal next Sunday afternoon, four o'clock, at First Presbyterian church.

Baptist Church.

Certainly the people of Lubbock are ready to go to church when the sickness and extreme cold abates. It was beautiful to see the children gather last Sunday and enjoy their lessons and teachers. The older folks were as happy as the tots. The Lord in wisdom made the way of worship and service to meet every righteous desire of the body mind and soul. Our three-fold natures are only developed well by well balanced regularity of our devotion to the proper exercise of body mind and soul. Our worship is not an invention of man but a direction of our Master for our benefit. Nothing in our lives is of such great practical necessity as our religious duty well done.

The change from the night service to the afternoon at 3:30 has met with general favor. Let us try out this matter of daylight worship for these few weeks and I am sure we shall discover its advantages over the hour of cold and darkness. Don't forget the exact hour 3:30.

Next Sunday morning the subject of the sermon will be "The Transfiguration of Jesus". These sermons on the great epochs in the life of our Lord lead us to come more into understanding and sympathy with our Saviour's power and willingness to save us. Our veiled vision opens but slowly to see the glory of our Master but along these great heights we can see Him more clearly and discover more perfectly our absolute need of Him. The largest proof of our need of Him is our waywardness and foolish blunders in sin.

Come to church next Sunday and become a regular attendant at worship and witness in your life the great ennobling effect of giving your soul a chance to escape the snares and entanglements that await the prodigal. Most kindly yours,
J. R. COLE.
