SLATON QUARRELED AND QUIT THE FIELD IN FRIDAY'S GAME

CONTENT FOR TOUCHDOWN THEY CLAIM WAS MADE, BUT RULES WILL NOT PERMIT—FORFEITED GAME

LUBBOCK SCORED FOURTEEN IN FIRST HALF

The Visiting Team Was Accompanied by a Large Delegation of Enthusiastic Fans, and Was Full of Pep, But Were Entirely Outclassed by the Locals When it Came to Playing.

For several weeks the Slaton football team at Lubbock has been insisting on a game with Lubbock, and finally a date was arranged and the game was called last Friday afternoon at four o'clock. A large crowd of Lubbock people as well as Slatonites were present and stood shivering in the coldest breeze of the season, to witness the game.

Lubbock kicked off to Slaton, and Slaton was downed on the thirty yard line, and was unable to make any progress and the ball soon went over to Lubbock, where gains were made with each play, and a touchdown resulted in a few minutes after the game started, and the goal kick put the score 7 to 0.

Early in the second quarter Lubbock surprised the Slatonites with another touchdown and goal kick, which made a score of 14 to 0, in the first half of the game. Many irregular plays were made by the visiting team, and several contentions were straightened out when the rules were read to them. First half closed with Slaton near the goal, but a long way from scoring.

After a rest of ten minutes the game was resumed, and things were going nicely when Slaton punted and the ball was received by one of their own men who tore out down through the field for a touchdown, with no one after him, and landed the ball behind the line, seemingly confident that he had made a genuine star play and had accomplished much for his team, but lo, and behold, the book did not rectify anything that would indicate that this was a touchdown, or that the ball was even eligible for such. However, the umpire from Slaton contended that they had made a touchdown and was not willing to be convinced, and rather than acknowledge that the decision of the referee was right, called his team off the field, and forfeited the game to Lubbock with the score standing 14 to 0.

There seems to be no doubt as to the correctness of the referee in this matter, but Mr. Wheelock has taken the matter up with the University Athletic experts who will render a decision in the matter which we will publish as soon as he receives it.

Lubbock vs. Ralls

Arrangements have been made for a game between Lubbock and Ralls, which will be played here on Thanksgiving day. Ralls has a good team, we understand, and will likely put an interesting game. The game will be called at 3:30 Thursday afternoon, and will be played on the Fair ground grid. There will be a big crowd of Ralls folks on hand to back their team, and Lubbock should do likewise. Be there and boost for your Lubbock boys who have not been defeated in but one game during the season and has a big score piled up in their favor this season.

Plainview vs. Amarillo

Plainview and Amarillo played last Friday at Plainview, and Amarillo was defeated by a score of 14 to 7, in one of the hardest fought games of the year. This was a return game, Plainview having defeated Amarillo Armistice day by a heavy score.

Amarillo Wanted Much

Lubbock had planned to get Amarillo to play in Lubbock on Armistice day, but as Amarillo wanted everything and a cash purse on the side and our team would not sign a contract with them. Amarillo wanted all expenses paid, wanted to furnish the referee and umpire, everything else that was unreasonable, so negotiations were closed and arrangements made with another team to play that date.

Mrs. John R. McGee Died Last Thursday At Terrell, Texas

Last Thursday at Terrell, Texas, Mrs. John R. McGee died, while under treatment of specialists at that place. Some months ago Mrs. McGee was placed in their care, and has been receiving treatment since that time. Her mind had become affected, and she was placed in the asylum there with the hope that her mental faculties might be restored. It developed about three weeks ago, however, that she was suffering from palagra, and this was the last word that Judge McGee had heard from her, and Thursday he left to go to her bedside, but upon his arrival at Fort Worth was informed of the fact that Mrs. McGee had died that morning.

He continued his journey, however, and made arrangements for the shipment of the remains to this place, and arrived here Saturday afternoon. Funeral services were held in the First Christian church, of which she was charter member, conducted by Rev. A. N. Julian, pastor, at 2:30 o'clock and her remains were laid to rest in the Lubbock cemetery, near her daughter, Mrs. Earp, who died a number of years ago.

Mrs. McGee was born in Llano County, Texas, on the 13th day of July 1861, and was a daughter of Ben Davis, a pioneer settler of that county.

Along in the early days of Lubbock Judge McGee and family moved to Lubbock, and helped in the development and building of Lubbock. She is survived by her husband, John R. McGee of this city, a son Guy McGee, of Dalhart and a daughter, Mrs. C. O. Collins of Fort Worth.

Commissioner of Agriculture to Be Here December 3

Chas. E. Baughan, Com. of Markets and Warehouse Dept. will be here Saturday, Dec. 3rd, and will hold a meeting with our farmers at the court house to devise ways and means for establishing standard grades for Maize, Kaffir and other head grains, and to encourage the planting and raising of only the highest standard, which will mean a great advance in the price received for the crops. It is learned from an authoritative source that by raising the best grain from two to three dollars more per ton can be received for it, which will run into many hundreds of dollars for our farmers each year.

Curtis A. Keene, secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, is backing the movement, and sending circular letters to our farmers urging them to give the matter their close attention. The Chamber of Commerce is alive to the needs of our farmers, and their interests in this matter is only one of their many attempts to bring better marketing and greater production to them.

Every farmer who sees this notice should give it his close attention, as it means money to them, and by a little close cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, they can do a great deal toward making this meeting a success.

BAPTIST REVIVAL CLOSED WITH SUNDAY SERVICES

The revival meeting at the Baptist church closed last Sunday evening, completing a two week's series of services. Evangelist Evans is an able preacher, and aroused much interest in the local church. Quite a number of conversions were reported and a goodly number were added to the church membership.

T. G. Shaw and family left Thursday for Brenham, where they will spend two weeks visiting Mrs. Shaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Farmer. Mr. Shaw is manager of the Panhandle Cigar Company and has been too busy the past few months to take a vacation, and this trip is certainly deserved by him.

L. C. Boyd was here Saturday, from his farm seven miles east of town, with two loads of Sudan-hay. Mr. Slaton said this crop is a payer on the plains, and that when market conditions are good it is hard to beat.

"Honest" Frank Wilks is here from Littlefield, and will spend several days at a local sanitarium for treatment for blood poisoning.

BUSINESS HOUSES WILL CLOSE ALL DAY THANKSGIVING

In conformity with the recent agreement signed by our business houses that five holidays be observed each year in Lubbock, Thanksgiving day will find all our working people free to spend the day in whatever way they see best, as only two houses have failed to sign the agreement, and one of them closed Armistice day, and it is expected that both will close for Thanksgiving.

T. L. Lamance, of Breckenridge, is here looking for a farm for another year. Mr. Lamance was in Breckenridge during the boom, and is going to take the profits from his work and invest in a farm here. That is showing some mighty good judgment we think.

J. C. Witt has traded his farm for a farm in Lubbock County, and was in town Monday making arrangements for a sale before moving. Mr. Witt has been quite sick for some time, but is much better now.—Ralls Banner.

M. L. Copeland was here from his home near Idaho Friday, trading with our merchants.

BLED SOE NO. 1, NEAR ABERNATHY SHOWING OIL—LEASING STIMULATED—OTHERS TO BE DRILLED

The driller of Bledsoe No. 1 at Abernathy is now running day and night crews, with all obstacles removed, and at the present rate it is expected that the well will be down seventeen hundred feet, contracted by the driller, within a few days.

Last week a pocket of oil was struck and the driller reports that he could easily bail out two barrels per day, but owing to the fact that there is too much slush and mud with the oil, nothing will be done to conserve it until a greater depth is reached.

Leasing is expected to take on new life, as with the report gradually spreading of the oil finding letters are coming into Abernathy, business from interested parties seeking information concerning the location and sale price of nearby acreage.

The following is a letter from the vice president and general manager of the Atlas Milling Company, of Los Angeles, California, and many letters of the same character arriving daily prove that Abernathy is the center of attraction for many from all over the country:

Mr. J. J. Riley, Abernathy, Tex., Dear Sir:

The writer and a few others are interested in some 120 acres of oil leases located near the Bledsoe well that is doing down near your town.

We are all very much interested in the well and are contemplating drilling on one of our leases. Would you be so kind as to let the writer know if you are in a position to furnish lumber, etc., for the derrick, and what the approximate cost would be. Understand that you have land and leases near our property, so you ought to be able to give us some very intelligent figures on the above.

Will you kindly advise if labor is hard to obtain around your section, also if there are plenty of drillers available. Would also appreciate if you would advise us what the approximate cost of drilling a well in your section would be.

A prompt reply would be greatly appreciated.

Yours very truly,
JOHN C. HODGE.

Keeling Appointed Attorney General Succeeds Cureton

Austin, Texas, Nov. 18.—Governor Neff late today announced the appointment of First Assistant Attorney General W. A. Keeling as attorney general to fill the vacancy occasioned by the appointment of C. M. Cureton to the chief justiceship of the supreme court.

Mr. Keeling has been in the attorney general's department since 1913, when he was appointed assistant under Attorney General B. F. Looney. When General Cureton was elected to office in 1918 Mr. Keeling was made first assistant. He has been acting as attorney general for the past several months while General Cureton was engaged with the Texas-Oklahoma boundary suit involving valuable oil lands.

Governor Neff also wired General Cureton in Washington that he could return to Austin, and assume the duties of chief justice at his own convenience. Until he returns he will still be attorney general.

Mr. Keeling will name the first assistant attorney general after he assumes his newly appointed office.

Lubbock County Beats Them All On Average Crop

E. N. Harrison, who for four years has been engaged in making a business of farming in the Lubbock country, was here Saturday from his farm ten miles northeast of town looking after business.

Mr. Harrison said he had farmed for twenty years near Greenville, in Hunt county, and said that in all his experience, there he had never gathered a crop that would equal the crop he gathered here two years ago, and that on an average, the four years he has been here he has raised better crops than in any four years in the twenty spent in Hunt county.

He is a booster for this country, and said it would sound like a fish story to his old neighbors to tell of the commonest possibilities of a farm here.

It is nothing but right for Mr. Harrison to boost the plains, as he has been successful here, and attributes it to the advantages of the country.

He has made all the garden products he could use this year, and his cotton is making a little more than one-half bale to the acre, he said.

SANTA FE OFFICIALS PLEASED WITH LUBBOCK

S. T. Cruise, Agricultural and Industrial Manager of the Santa Fe lines was here Saturday with Assistant Freight and Passenger Agent, M. Goodloe, to meet Chamber of Commerce officials and the county agent, with the view of securing information concerning the general condition of this section, and to leave the roads of this city which comes under his department.

This is the first visit made to this country by Mr. Cruise, and he expressed himself as being agreeably surprised with the plains country and the city of Lubbock.

ANOTHER FARMER WILL INCREASE HOG HERD

H. M. Williams was here Saturday from his farm, ten miles east of town, with a bunch of fine Poland China hogs. Mr. Williams is taking advantage of every opportunity to make farming pay on the plains and has proven himself a good manager in this work. He has made about fifteen hogs of cotton this year, and will have enough feed to go into the hog business on a larger basis for the next year.

ABERNATHY WOMAN YOUNGEST DISTRICT PRESIDENT

Mrs. Carl G. Goodman, wife of one of Abernathy's most prominent business men, left last week to be in attendance at the convention of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at Fort Worth.

Mrs. Goodman is president of the First District, the youngest district president in the Federation. She is alive to anything for the advancement of her work, and in her we are sure the Federation has a strong supporter.

Geary Redman, son of S. J. Redman, editor of the Abernathy Review, arrived Sunday from Clovis, where he has been employed on the Clovis Journal, and will be with the mechanical force of the Avalanche.

Mr. Redman is a good mechanic and understands the printing business thoroughly, and we are glad to secure his services.

J. B. Moore was in town Saturday from his farm seven miles west of town. He has gathered fourteen bales of cotton from thirty acres this year, and the typical plainsman's smile he has for all his friends is perfectly natural. Come to Lubbock country, where there is no need to worry.

Mrs. Roscoe Wilson returned Saturday from Sterling City, where she has been the past three weeks, visiting relatives.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY ENGINEER MET C. OF C. AND CO. COMMISSIONERS

This Seems to Be the Most Practical Thing to Do, as Hardsurfacing is Out of the Question and Our Road Revenues are Inadequate at the Present Time.

Lubbock Farmer Will Gin More Than 100 Bales

P. G. Boyd was here Friday from his farm eight miles south of town, with two bales of cotton. Mr. Boyd has ginned one hundred and sixteen bales to date, and will gather between thirty and thirty-five bales more, as he has a large force of pickers working all the time, in an attempt to clear the field while the staple is good.

Mr. Boyd has been on the Plains for several years and has been making big crops of cotton each year, and is a strong believer in the Lubbock country. He is making a success of farming on a large scale, as can be seen from the crop he has gathered this year, and is doing his bit toward proving this the greatest farming country known.

Men like Mr. Boyd spending time and money in developing the Plains, and it is gratifying to see them so well compensated for their labor as he is this year.

The cotton gathered this year was raised on about two hundred and twenty-five acres of land, and it was learned from a reliable source that Mr. Boyd contemplates planting greater acreage next year.

At a special called session of the Chamber of Commerce with the County Judge and a part of the commission, the Federal Highway Engineer, Mr. Messigman, spoke at length Monday morning upon the problems and possible solutions confronting this and other South Plains counties in the proper treatment and maintenance of the highways thru this section.

Of greatest interest to the men in attendance at this meeting was his estimates of the cost of constructing and maintaining a hard surfaced highway as is being built by other counties over the state. From estimates made in Lamb County, Childress County, Potter County and many of the central state counties it is found that it costs approximately $5,000 per mile to properly grade highways preparatory to surfacing them with gravel or concrete. The cost of graveling the roads after they are properly graded is approximately $7,000 per mile—making a total minimum cost of more than $12,000 per mile of highway. In this county with 105 miles of highway it would cost considerably more than a million dollars to construct hard surfaced highways across the county in each direction.

In addition to this initial cost which would have to be taken care of each year thru the payment of 5 percent interest and a like percent sinking fund—it would be necessary to spend approximately $250 per mile per year to maintain these roads. This would run the total cost up to more than $1200 per mile per year for every mile of hard surfaced highways in Lubbock County.

All of this was not brought out in an effort to start an agitation to build hard surfaced roads—even the State and Federal governments would stand half the cost of such construction, but to emphasize the extreme impossibility of the present commissioners are up against in maintaining good roads in this county with a total yearly appropriation of $18,000—about $3,000 of which goes to pay interest on the bonded indebtedness of the road department.

In short, rather than to talk high soundingly about hard-surfacing a hundred miles of highway in this county through a bond issue of some $500,000 it is a better policy to take steps to provide a decent fund of from $20,000 to $30,000 per year for the present commissioners to take care of the roads,—at a less cost than would be necessary after the hard-surfacing was completed, all under the supervision of a highway engineer whose expenses could be prorated between three or four counties in this section.

The highway problem in this county is growing more acute with each month's growth of the section. The County Commissioners have accomplished no less than absolute wonders in view of the meagre sum they have at their disposal and still our roads steadily grow worse. Increased traffic and decreased finances do not improve the conditions of highways—and that is the situation this county is confronted with in the matter of proper highways.

The wear and tear on the 1500 automobiles and trucks in this county each year will amount to double the reasonable cost of putting these roads into fairly good condition. That does not include the loss of time and added cost of hauling products to the markets of the county.

All of these problems are acute problems, not only of the commissioners, but of the citizens of the entire county. The commissioners are willing to do the very best they can do with the limited amount of road funds that they have at their command. It is up to the citizenship of the county to provide additional funds in the way of a special-highway tax and that is a question that must be discussed and talked thoroughly in every community in the county so that all citizens may appreciate its importance before it is called for a vote.

Make haste slowly—But Think.

Rain Falls in Portions of Texas Last Friday

Reports from various places in Texas Friday indicated that the long drouth has been broken by copious local rains. Several sections of Grayson County reported heavy rainfall. Denison had more than five inches. Marshall reported heavy showers as did Gainesville and Wichita Falls. The rain extended beyond Red River into several Oklahoma places. West Texas has been visited by showers during the last twenty-four hours. Big Spring reporting a good rainfall.

Breaking of the drouth especially in the wheat belt and the oil fields will mean much to the material interests of the State as the small grain crop is suffering for moisture while drilling has been suspended in many sections of the oil fields for want of water.—Dallas News.

Mr. Webb places cotton with farm bureau

J. P. Webb, who left Sunday for Arkansas to spend the winter, placed his entire crop of cotton in the hands of the local Farm Bureau, to be sold next spring. Mr. Webb is one of our many farmers who is able to hold his products until market conditions are better, one of the characteristics of our farmers that is helping to make Lubbock county known as a great producer. There is nothing as satisfying as being independent, and through the advantages of this country Mr. Webb has accumulated enough that he does not have to market his products until he thinks it best.

MR. WEBB PLACES COTTON WITH FARM BUREAU

D. C. Dean was here from his farm, ten miles west of town, Saturday, with a load of fine hogs. Mr. Dean said that owing to the fact that feed can be raised so easily here, there was practically no expense to raising hogs, and that he would keep well stocked with them hereafter. He raises the famous Duroc Jerseys and says they almost turn to money when placed on the market at the price now paid for meat. He has a fine row crop also, and will hold his feed until a better price can be received for it.

Need For Production of More Pure Seeds

The more progressive and thinking men of this county are coming to realize the urgent necessity of producing more pure seed in this county for the double purpose of supplying the home needs and to furnish our less fortunate neighbors in other parts of the State. In the course of time a splendid market can be developed for Plains grown seed of all kinds. This is the best adapted section of Texas for the production of Sudan, Grain Sorghums, Sweet Sorghums, and most any other variety of field seed that can be mentioned. In the more humid sections of the State these sorghums cannot be grown for seed on account of the Sorghum Midge that attacks the plants when in the bloom and blasts the seeds. Also our climatic conditions makes this country especially adapted to seed production. Every year many, many tons of cotton seed are brought into this country from other sections of the State. These seeds could be grown in this country to a much better advantage, thus making the profit for some of our home people, and at the same time producing seed that will be native to this climate.

Aside from the viewpoint of commercial seed production, this work will greatly increase our yields which will return a good profit for the time and attention that must be given these crops. If the entire production must be fed at home or sold on the market as feed, and the farmer will have the satisfaction of knowing he is producing a better quality of stuff. The same law of heredity that applies to animals applies also to seeds and that is "like begets like or the likeness of some ancestor." No one will any longer question the value of pure-bred livestock whether they be grown for breeding purposes or for the market. The progressive man will no longer waste his time and feed with scrub stock, but the same may be content to plant just any kind of seed.

The one great need of this country is a better and more uniform grade of cotton. This can best be accomplished by standardizing our cotton, that is, by selecting some one or two varieties of cotton and growing them exclusively, selecting the planting seed each year, and then keeping them pure. There are relatively few varieties of cotton that are really adapted to this locality and out of this small number one or two outstanding varieties should be selected.

This country is not and likely will never be adapted to the production of long staple cotton on account of our short growing seasons and climatic conditions. Our local experiment station has been testing many varieties of cotton for a number of years and has found that only occasionally will a long staple cotton be successful. It has also been determined which of the different varieties are best adapted to this climate as to acre production, early maturity, and length of staple. So there is no need of the individual farmer wasting his time and money experimenting in work of this character when the problems are already solved by an institution that is maintained for that purpose by appropriation from the public

These Competent Laundresses are at Your Service

There's a convenient and economical way to be rid of wash-day and all its trials. It is this—enlist the services of this corps of competent laundresses.

These are the folks—conscientious and careful—who do your washing when you send it to us.

It is they who look to the washing. It is they who super-wise your ironing, and give to it the painstaking attention you would give yourself. It is they who send back your family bundle—snowy white, refreshed and ready to put away.

Have these willing assistants take off your shoulders the burden of the wash. Ours is a service that will satisfy. Have us call for your family bundle.

treasury. On the other hand we should avail ourselves of the opportunity to consult the Station on matters of this kind and bend our energies to the production of varieties that have been proven by experiments running over a period of years to be the best adapted to our conditions.

It is to be hoped that some concerted efforts will be taken along the above mentioned lines for another year. By producing a cotton of uniform grade and staple a much better price can be obtained for it in even running lots. If the local market does not demand all of a given grade and staple, outside buyers can be secured to take up the surplus—and possibly at a premium if the buyer is especially interested in this particular cotton.

Farm Bureau Cotton Ordered Shipped.

The first shipment of Farm Bureau Cotton from this point will be made this week. This cotton is sold from samples that are sent in to the general offices daily from local compress, and delivery is made as the cotton is needed to fill orders. Thus far orders have been filled from the warehouses nearest ports, but as these supplies are depleted, cotton from farther distant points is ordered shipped. Contracts are being filled at the rate of from 1000 to 1500 bales per day, and when the market improves so that selling may be resumed cotton will be called in from storage much more rapidly than for the past few weeks.

The Lubbock County Farm Bureau has approximately 1000 bales of cotton stores in the local compress. This cotton has been delivered by wagon from the local gins and shipped in for concentration from neighboring communities. This shipment to port will greatly relieve the congested conditions at the compress.

Lubbock County Exhibit, Texas State Fair

The Lubbock County Exhibit at the Texas State Fair this year was representative of the agricultural production of the county and showed to what extent diversification is being practiced by our farmers. With the exception of oats, barley and fruits we entered with a full score card including good exhibits of Black Hulled White Kaffir, Yellow Milo Maize, Cotton and Wheat, Alfalfa and Sweet Clover, including Biennial white sweet clover, and Hubam annual sweet clover, with a peck of seed each, Peanuts and Cowpeas, 10 varieties of fresh vegetables, including 1 watermelon, weight 75 pounds, 1 large kershaw, 1 large pumpkin, 1 peck white bermuda onions, 1 peck large turnips, 1 peck No. 1 sweet potatoes, 1 peck extra fancy Irish potatoes, 1 dozen carrots, 3 heads cabbage, and 1 dozen ears of sweet corn, the only roasting ears exhibited in the 27 county exhibits. The annual forage crops, included three varieties of sweet sorghums, sweet clover and a very fine sample of German millet. Other products on display included four jars of canned fruits and vegetables, some nice specimens of egg plants, large bell peppers, a giant sugar beet, and a miniature bale of cotton manufactured by a local gin company.

The background consisted of a neat arrangement of grain sorghums, clover, alfalfa, peanuts, millet and sudan grass. The principal feature of the background was Lubbock's slogan, "The Hub of the Plains." This was done in grains and cotton and represented a wagon wheel with Lubbock as the Hub with the spokes representing the Santa Fe lines radiating from Lubbock which includes the main line from Galveston to California, and branch lines to Amarillo, Crosbyton, Lamesa and Seagraves.

The award of 18th place was not representative of the quality of the exhibit. This low award was occasioned by the loss of one head of kafir from 300 heads after the exhibit was put in place thereby causing the loss of a possible 250 points on that class. The exhibit scored 120 points on decoration and arrangement which was one of the two high scoring counties on that point.

At the regular meeting of the County Agricultural Exhibitors Association at Dallas during the Texas State Fair the following officers were elected:

President, Col R. P. Smythe, Plainview.

Secretary, J. W. Jennings, County Agent, Lubbock County.

Vice Presidents from the different sections of the state were elected as follows:

North Texas, Jno. Ericson, County Agent, Hunt County.

East Texas, E. Gentry, County Agent, Smith County.

South Texas, Jim A. Harrell, Nueces County.

West Texas, B. M. Whiteker, Haskell County.

Central Texas, H. A. Oliver, Jackson County.

Some important changes were recommended in the score card and rules and regulations which will be presented to the Fair Association by the President and Secretary sometime during the winter.

FARMER MAKES NINE CROPS WITHOUT A FAILURE

C. C. Casey was here Thursday with a bale of cotton from his farm eight miles west of town. He is making more than a half bale to the acre this year on twenty-six acres, and has twenty-five thoroughbred hogs that will be sold on the local market.

Mr. Casey has been on the plains for the past nine years and has made a paying crop each year, he told an Avalanche reporter. "There is no country any here that can equal the plains as a farming district," he said. Another record crop this year is a patch of Porter Rico sweet potatoes that is about twenty-five by fifty yards in size and from which he has gathered about fifty bushels of potatoes.

BEN HULL IS VISITING HIS SISTER IN LUBBOCK

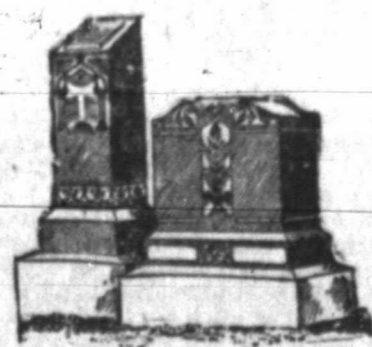

Mr. Ben Hull, of Eastland, is here visiting his sister, Mrs. Ed Abbott. Mr. Hull is just recovering from an attack of rheumatism, and is having to use crutches, as it settled in his left ankle, and the foot cannot be touched to the ground. Mr. Hull is well pleased with the Lubbock country and will make this his home in the near future. He has been in the Abstract business at Eastland and Abilene.

TRENT MERCANTILE CO. STORE ENTERED AND ROBBED

Trent, Texas, Nov. 14.—The general mercantile store of M. G. Scott and brother of this place was robbed Saturday night. The same store was robbed during the past July when about $800 worth of silk goods were taken. Also just one year ago to the night the store was robbed of several hundred dollars in dry goods. The past loot consisted of men's suits, wool overshirts, and several bales of silks. The company's total loss has been more than $2,000 dollars.

GOVERNOR NEFF WANTS A NUMBER OF WOMEN ELECTED TO LEGISLATURE NEXT YEAR

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 16.—Governor Pat M. Neff gave notice here tonight that during the next two weeks in addresses to the people of Texas he is going to call upon citizenship of the State to elect ten or fifteen good women to membership in the Thirty-Seventh Legislature. The proposal was warmly applauded. The address of the Governor shared honors with the annual address of Mrs. Florence C. Floore of Cleburne in celebration of president's evening at the convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Floore spoke on "The One Great Need," and the Governor talked on "Pressing Problems—Not Financial." There was a musical program and in addition four of the past presidents answered from their several viewpoints the question "in what way does Texas most need the women of this organization?" They were Mesdames Percy V. Pennybacker, Austin; E. P. Turner, Dallas; H. B. Fall, Houston, and Fred Fleming, now of Muskogee and formerly of Dallas.

In the midst of his speech in which he listed major problems of the State Government under nine principal heads, Governor Neff announced just at the conclusion he would answer any questions that might be propounded to him as Governor of the State. One of the subjects dealt with in the address was the State Juvenile Training School at Gatesville, and that subject inspired most of the questions asked.

Governor Turns Questioner.
For a moment during the questioning the Governor turned questioner and took a hand vote on three questions:

"How many in this audience believe corporal punishment in the home should be forbidden by law?"

"How many believe corporal punishment in the school should be prohibited?"

"How many believe that corporal punishment should be prohibited in State Institutions of all kinds?"

There were probably 100 in the audience of 400 or 500 crowded into the Crystal ballroom of the Texas Hotel who voted affirmatively on the first two questions and a considerably larger number were in favor of the abolition by statute of punishment in State institutions.

Mrs. Floore's address in general was an arraignment of laziness, sluggishness and indifference in matters that concern the State and the Nation and a vigorous plea for women to shoulder the responsibilities of alert citizenship individually and collectively.

Lubbock Is Getting Ready to Entertain the Visiting Teachers

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, assisted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce is planning to furnish the teachers attending the Institute to be held here from December 19 to 24th, with rooms, and are going to call on all home owners to take care of at least one of the teachers. Many teachers are expected to attend the institute this year, and a program of great interest to all is being planned by M. M. Dupre, superintendent of the Lubbock schools.

This is a great task the Chamber of Commerce has voted upon itself, and the people of Lubbock should give this matter their attention, and plan to be able to provide rooms for the visiting teachers, and it is understood that furnishing meals for the teachers is not requested.

Help these business men in this matter and let the teachers leave Lubbock with a feeling of gratitude for every citizen here.

LOCAL ITEMS FROM THE SEMINOLE SENTINEL

Mrs. Cleve Cobb, who is taking treatment in the West Texas Hospital at Lubbock, came in Friday to spend a few days with her family.

George and Walter Grogan, of Muleshoe, this week purchased 800 steer yearlings from W. K. Dickinson & Son of near Tatum, N. M. They will be shipped to the former's ranch near Muleshoe.

The deal was made by T. C. Heard of the firm of Heard & Cox of Seminole.

It is needless to say that a fine time was had in the celebration this week. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the program to the fullest extent. And we have heard many compliments on the barbecue dinner.

In the basket ball games Seagraves girls won over Seminole. Following this game Seminole oys cleaned up Seagraves in a snappy game. Brownfield boys beat Lovington, and the Lovington girls won a close one from Brownfield.

Seminole was indeed glad to have as her guests the visitors from the neighboring towns, and all are looking forward to other days in the future when a like event can again be had.

CURFEW DETECTIVE AGENCY ESTABLISHED IN LUBBOCK

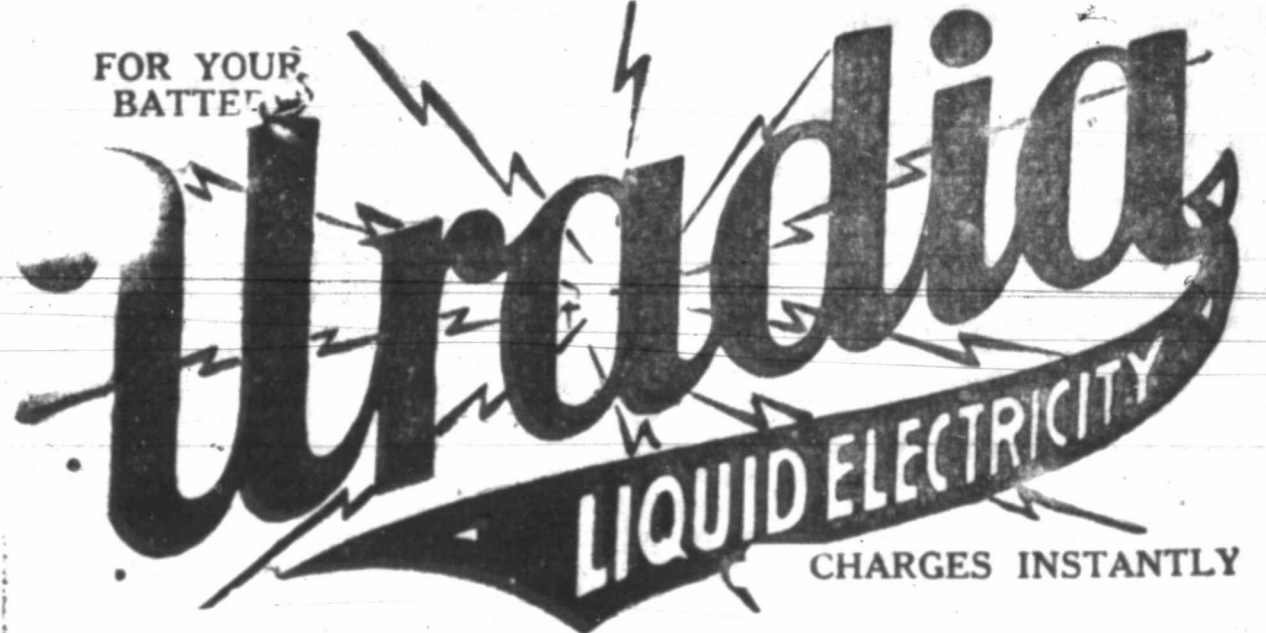

Joel E. Lancaster, for six years a resident of Lubbock county, has accepted a position with the Joel E. Curfew Detective Agency, and has opened an office here.

Mr. Lancaster is a booster for Lubbock and it was through his influence that the office was established here. He was with the company several years ago, and is well experienced in the work, and his services will be of great help to the business men of West Texas.

Miss Ruth Huff, divisional representative of the Red Cross, left last night for Lubbock to arrange plans for the annual roll call in Lubbock county. She will return to Amarillo the latter part of next week.—Amarillo News.

CHARGE YOUR BATTERY WITH---

FOR YOUR BATTERY

QUICK CHARGE

When you use the customary line charge on your battery it necessitates your battery being tied up for 36 hours. URADIA (liquid electricity) can be put in your battery "while you wait," giving you a full charge almost instantly.

URADIA Stations are equipped to give you prompt attention and install a Uradia charge within a few minutes.

NON-INJURIOUS

URADIA is positively non-injurious. In fact, Uradia is beneficial. The usual line charge, over-dosed with acids, tends to depreciate your battery, while Uradia builds up the plates. Uradia solution is principally pure water, with specific gravity largely due to finely dissolved minerals. Uradia service men usually demonstrate the absence of strong acid content by pouring it freely on their bare hands.

SOME CONVINCING TESTS OF URADIA

By the following rigid test you can prove to your entire satisfaction the merits of Uradia. They were all made by the Uradia Company long before it was decided to market the product:

Test 1: Take battery that is fully charged by the old line charge method, crank with starter until completely discharged; keep record of time required to run battery down. Open battery for inspection. If the plates have buckled under the strain, re-charge battery and fill with Uradia. Now run battery down with starter again. Time operation and compare; inspect plates again and you will find that they have returned to normal. We have never heard of anything that would do this except Uradia. Uradia should be used by every car owner in the country for this reason alone.

Test 2: Take sulphated battery, rinse thoroughly with gods water, empty, and fill with Uradia. Shake well and then observe that Uradia has blasted off the sulphation. Empty contents and refill with Uradia and your battery is ready for instant use. Another reason for which car owners can well afford to use URADIA.

Test 3: Remove plates that have buckled from prolonged discharge, from battery that is shorted by wornout separators. Insert new separators that have been soaked in Uradia for at least four hours; replace plates and fill battery with Uradia. Your battery is again ready for immediate use.

SAVES MONEY

Uradia Service does away with the extra expense of battery rental while your battery is being charged. Uradia charge costs less than the old method. It has been known to give over 50 per cent more hours than line charged batteries, an additional service based on cost per hour.

Yes, Uradia eliminates much of your battery costs as well as solves your battery service problems.

BUILDS POWER

Because Uradia builds up the plates of your battery and does not overcharge or undercharge, it holds a strong uniform charge, therefore adds to the power of your motor. An intensified, fat spark at all times assures the maximum force in combustion. Enjoy the thrill of a strong, driving motor power by putting a URADIA charge in your battery.

URADIA—A PRODUCT, PLUS A SERVICE

Uradia is handled by regular authorized dealers, with ample facilities for giving the most complete, efficient battery service. Uradia stations are being rapidly placed in large cities and towns all over the country. These men in charge are fully trained in the Uradia methods and are qualified to render efficient battery service.

Every Uradia charge is GUARANTEED to fulfill every claim made.

Uradia Stations will give you in a few minutes, "while you wait," a service that formerly required days by the old system. No matter how aggravated your battery problems may be, drive into our Uradia Station and tell your troubles. No charge for answering questions. All possible investigation is welcomed. Do it right now.

The freezing point of a Uradia charged battery is lower than under the old system. We have expert battery and ignition men to serve you.

CANYON SCHOOL

(Theola Crawford)
Friday afternoon, Nov. 11, the pupils of the Canyon School rendered a patriotic program in honor of the day thereof. The program was followed by an interesting talk from Grandpa Webb. Then the students chose two pupils, Trucey Thompson and Theola Crawford to be the leaders of two societies, which are working against each other through the year in literary programs, reports to the Avalanche, ball games, and all play ground activities. Also in furnishing contestants for the interscholastic league contests. The students were divided by the two leaders choosing up.

Each leader appointed her committee to select a name, motto and colors. Also a program committee. Are we "awake?" Well yes, come and see.

Later, and the committees have just reported. The societies have decided on their names, motto and colors.

Theola's side will be known as the Athenian society. We selected that name because the Greeks were the great teachers to the world of art and the intellectual sciences and they began "the Olympian" games, which are like our interscholastic league of today. "Athens" was the leading city of Greece and excelled in the Olympian games, therefore our name the "Athenians."

Our motto is Excelsior, our colors, gold and white.

Trucey's side will be called the Olympian society for the Olympian games were contests between artist, poets, sculptors, and contests on the track. They stimulated physical strength, swiftness and ability in other lines. Their motto hasn't been selected yet. Their colors are light green and pink.

We the pupils of Canyon school wish to extend our thanks to Mr. Curtis A. Keen for presenting to us the fifteen dollars, which we won for having the highest percent of pupils in the parade.

The boys of Canyon school have just received their new basket ball. We sincerely hope they will develop into an excellent team.

Canyon is developing very rapidly. A new store is being built just across the road from the school building, so you see the children of Canyon will soon have a place to spend their spare nickels.

RUNNELS COUNTY TO HAVE WINTER FAIR

Plans have been perfected for the Runnels County Fair to be held at Ballinger, November 24 and 25, according to a telegram today to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from the Young Men's Business League of Ballinger.

The Fair promises to be the best ever held in Runnels County, featuring Poultry Show, Livestock Show, Home Products and Merchants Exposition. A very interesting amusement program has been arranged, which includes Rodeo, Football game, Rural Track meet and Carnival attraction.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING PAYS ON THE SOUTH PLAINS

J. J. Sharp was here Friday with a bale of cotton. Mr. Sharp has a farm six miles east of town, and has gathered seventeen bales, and has some cotton in the field. He has long since learned the value of doing the right thing at the right time when it comes to farming on the plains and planted several kinds of crops this year. His feed crop is fine, and he will have plenty to use in cultivating his next crop and some to sell.

LET US BE THANKFUL

Before the Avalanche reaches you again Thanksgiving will be upon us. The country has much to be thankful for this year, but even if it had less than usual, it would be the duty of constructive publishers to accentuate and further the observance of the Thanksgiving holiday. Depression, hard times, a blue feeling are largely states of mind. They can be counteracted by changing the current of thought. Exercise will generally relieve physical depression. Exercise (determination and action toward improving conditions) will relieve business depression. Exercise of the mind will relieve gloomy feelings. It takes no mental effort to become gloomy; an unemployed mind naturally gravitates in that direction. An active mind has no time in which to become depressed. When it is tired, sleep, results and that restores the activity. It should not be a source of gleeful satisfaction that we are better off than others, but it should be a source of thankfulness. The United States came through the war, through the period of reconstruction and is getting back to normal in much better shape than any other nation. We shouldn't crow about it; rather our hearts should be filled with sympathy for the less fortunate nations, but we should be extremely thankful that we are not called upon to suffer as they. Promote the significance of the autumn holiday and you will assist in getting public thought into the right channels. It will be reflected in a growth of the spirit so essential for a successful Christmas. The country has much to be thankful for in 1921.

The Avalanche can't help being a bit puffed up! So many of the prominent, substantial citizens of the city have complimented the paper on its worth to the community, its good news qualities and its editorial column, during the past few weeks, especially. We are specially proud of the fact that the people who are really interested in the moral betterment of the city are foremost in their praise of the utterances of the editor of this paper. We are just enough human to be inclined to be a little bit swelled up, and if we happen to pass by some of the big guns of the town and do not notice you, just overlook it and we will get down to earth again, when some fellow collars us for leaving his name out of the list of visitors to the city, or get his initials wrong, or make some other grave mistake, and get bawled out about it, but that's only the life story of ever newspaper man who is really trying to do something, and we shall try to do our best. So help us folks!

In the meantime, Mr. Marvin Jones, whisper into those wisecrackers around the National Capitol that there is a live, wide awake city down here on the South Plains that threatens to even rival the Capitol City itself in matter of importance, that needs a Federal Building—a postoffice building—one that will really deserve the name of a building—one that is somewhat if not entirely in keeping with the balance of the city and the development of the South Plains country. That place is Lubbock. The present quarters are not in keeping with the balance of the city and the building, though new, is not what it should be, and Lubbock is entitled to much better. Get busy, Marvin, and get a new building for the post-office in Lubbock.

Lubbock will soon petition for a new High School Building, and a proposition of voting bonds will be before us. You will need a poll-tax receipt in order to have a vote on this question. Next year will be full of elections, and every man and woman should possess themselves with one of those poll tax receipts in order to be equipped as a full-fledged voter. If you live within the City of Lubbock you must have a State and County receipt and also a receipt from the City Tax Collector in order to vote in elections in Lubbock. Be sure you get them. Your vote will count much for the development of Lubbock and the good of her schools, and other important matters in the near future.

A number of people have paid their school tax since the list was printed. Every good citizen should do that. Of course if you are just living here in order to get all you can out of the people of this city, and give nothing in return, a few people here would not mind paying your railroad fare out of the city provided you would not come back. Of course some folks get into positions where they cannot meet their taxes, but we believe we can count them on the fingers of one hand in that list and still have three or four to spare, who have not paid their school taxes for that reason, and a number of prominent people on that list would not be counted in that small number, either.

We are of the opinion that there are too many officials in Texas, for the best interests of the people in general. The salaries are too low to keep the best men. A number of officials have resigned recently for the reason that they were not getting enough money from their salary to keep their families, and hence had to quit. From what little we know of the work of the State and Federal Government too, there are too many people doing the same work, and getting half paid for it. Why not cut out about half of them and pay the other half a decent salary?

Everything is very dry and danger of fire is greater than when more recent rains have fallen, therefore the greater need for cautiousness in the way of fire. Keep the flues well cleaned out. Be careful when burning trash. Keep an eye open for fire dangers and correct them.

With the rapid development of this section, our postoffice will not be able to handle all the business that is required of it in the near future, and especially in the present quarters.

THEY FAILED TO DELIVER

Plainview took the honors in the big celebration at Amarillo Armistice Day. Plainview is always "there with the goods."—Plainview News. In all probability Plainview had the goods when they came to Lubbock to play, but they certainly failed to deliver them.

Our very best farmers are making money, raising hogs, poultry, and selling the products of the dairy cows. Any of these will be a great help in bringing in money all through the year and most any farmer can have them. Lubbock is pledging to supply a market for all cream and dairy products that can be produced, and the poultry market is never slow in this city. Raise more hogs, more poultry, more milk cows, and farming will be profitable every year.

This great South Plains section is enjoying the greatest amount of immigration that it has ever known. New homes are dotting the heretofore undeveloped lands of the country, and new farms are being opened. The big pastures are gradually crumbling under the pressure of the plow, and there will certainly be a wonderful changing up of the face of the South Plains within the next twelve months.

If Lubbock people are not going to join hands and vote for better schools, we should put up this sign, entering Lubbock, that there is no use for others to come to Lubbock who have children to attend school. We are not uneasy, however, that this will be necessary. Our people are for good schools, and will make ample provision of the growth and development of the schools in this city, when the opportunity affords.

The Red Cross office has several applications of boys and girls who would like to go to school, but cannot because they are not able to pay their way. Some person who is able and interested in the young people of the country should take care of these young folks and provide means whereby they can go to school. Take them into your homes and let them work before and after school which they are willing to do.

The Red Cross drive was made the latter part of last week. It was not as successful as it should have been. A number of the business men contributed liberally, all that should have been necessary, but large numbers did not even give a membership fee of one dollar to carry on the work. It is not too late yet, and if you did not enroll as a member last week do it yet.

The City of Lubbock will soon have their delinquent tax list ready for publication, and when that list is made up and published it will cost the tax payers a lot more money to pay the costs, etc. If you are aware of being delinquent in the payment of these taxes you should see the collector now and straighten them up before this list is published.

Great care should be exercised on the ranges this fall and winter. The range is covered with grass and easy to burn. A fire started during the breezy weather of the winter and spring might destroy the range for miles and miles, and cause ranchmen great expense, and also homes might be destroyed and much other damage wrought.

Lubbock has outgrown her present fire-fighting equipment, and a new outfit should be purchased right away. The present equipment would be fine for a smaller town, and could no doubt be sold to a good advantage and the proceeds applied to the purchase of another, larger and more suited to our present needs.

Read the article of Mr. Ridgway in this issue regarding the feeding of dairy stock, and the advantages of doing so. When feed stuffs are so cheap, this is the best way to market your feed. There is no use to sell your feed stuff for a song. Better investigate feeding hogs, cattle or dairy cows.

Join the Red Cross and support a most worthy movement. All donations are used for local charity. Half of the membership fees are retained here and half goes to the headquarters. See the secretary and make a liberal contribution. You can pay by the month if you so desire.

New business firm are wanting to come to Lubbock, but there are no buildings for them to open up in. We believe it would be a good idea to build a few more good business houses. There is no doubt that they would be leased long before they were completed and ready for occupancy.

Take the great South Plains on an average of ten years and more good crops have been made in this section than in the counties of the East, North or South Texas, and the crops are made with less work and effort on the part of the people.

Lubbock is quite a poultry market. Large shipments have gone forth from this point during the past few weeks, especially of the National Thanksgiving bird, and the prices paid have been entirely satisfactory to the raisers of the turks.

It is hard for some of the nations of the world to swallow such a big dose of disarmament as Dr. Hughes of the U. S. A. prepared for them, but they may finally worry it down, and become reconciled to their fate.

Sweetwater is soon to have free mail delivery. Lubbock is in line for this service, and with just a few blocks more cement sidewalks and a few more of the streets numbered the department will be ready to grant it.

Don't let an important election come along and find you without a tax receipt for you will need one in order to have a vote in any election after the first of January.

Did you read the delinquent tax list in the Friday edition of the Avalanche? You should read it. It reveals some very interesting information.

Editor of Miami Chief Died Last Thursday

Miami, Texas, Nov. 17.—L. G. Waggoner, age about 31, editor of the Miami Chief, died Thursday morning at 7:15 o'clock from blood poisoning. Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at the Baptist church by the Rev. Shimeall, minister of the Canadian charge, assisted by the Miami ministers. The Masons will have charge of the services at the cemetery.

Mr. Waggoner leaves a wife and two sons and another brother, Tom T. Waggoner, editor of the Claude News. The deceased had lived in Miami about ten years during which time he was editor of the Miami Chief. He was a leader in all civic undertakings in Miami and for several years has been a prominent member of the Panhandle Press Association and the Texas Press Association.

E. R. Haynes, County Supt. of Schools will leave today for Dallas, to attend the State Teachers' Association. Miss Anne Web Blanton, State Supt. has called a conference of county superintendents to be held at the Adolphus Hotel on November 23rd. at 9:30 o'clock A. M. This assembly of State Supt's. will be a business conference and some of the topics to be discussed at this meeting are as follows: A County Salary Schedule; Needed Changes in the Method of Apportioning the State Available School Funds; A County Unit Law for Texas; Economy in Free Text-Books; Adequate School Funds for 1922 and 1923; Permanent Provision for Rural Aid; A Retiree System for Handling County School Funds, etc.

Comparative Figures Showing Relative National Positions

Washington, Nov. 17.—The reported intention of the Japanese delegation to the armament conference to ask higher ratio of naval strength compared to Great Britain and the United States than the 60 per cent fixed in the American plan gives added interest to statistic comparisons of the three countries.

Extent of coast line in part determines the need of naval force. The United States has 40,206 nautical miles of coast, as compared with 50,938 for the British Empire and 21,948 for Japan. On the basis of the existing and projected naval fleets, each country would have per mile of coast line as follows:

United States, fifty tons; British Empire, forty tons, and Japan sixty-one tons.

Population might also be considered and the figures are:

United States 118,832,000, including insular possessions; British Empire 469,432,000 on the same basis, and Japan 78,001,000.

The density of the populations of the three is:

United States, thirty-one persons per square mile; British Empire thirty-seven persons, and Japan 299 persons.

The comparison as to national wealth runs:

United States, $250,000,000,000; British Empire, $180,000,000,000; Japan, $25,000,000,000.

To convert some of these figures into a percentage of the average for the six powers, the British Empire, the United States, France, Italy, Japan and China, the following results are obtained.

The American population per square mile is 35 per cent of the average; per capita national wealth 312 per cent; foreign commerce per capita 161 per cent; expenditures on armed forces per capita 106 per cent.

The British Empire shows 42 per cent of the average in population per square mile; per capita national wealth 76 per cent; per capita expenditures for armed forces 45 per cent.

The Japanese figures against the average of population per square mile are 840 per cent; per capita national wealth 34 per cent; per capita foreign commerce 62 per cent; per capita expenditures on armed forces 98 per cent.

COTTON YIELD IS GOOD AROUND JENKINS, N. M.

O. E. Johnson, of Jenkins, N. M., was here Friday. Mr. Johnson said the farmers of his community who planted cotton had made a bumper crop, but that there were few of them, as this is the first year it had been planted there, and little was thought of it being a paying crop for that country. He said one of his neighbors, J. E. Hebisen, is gathering a seventeen acre crop that is proving to yield about one-half bale per acre.

Canyon City Has A $5000 Fire Saturday Night

Canyon, Texas, Nov. 17.—Two fires, the second breaking out before the first was extinguished did about $5,000 damages here last night.

The C. J. Lightfoot house was burned about 5:45, with a loss of about $4,000, with $2,000 insurance. It is believed the house caught from an oil lamp left burning while all of the family were away from home.

While this house was still burning a garage, wellhouse and windmill belonging to Mrs. J. C. Cowart burned from a fire which started the wellhouse. The loss was about $1,000. Miss Birdie Lee Burkhalter, a granddaughter, lost a trunk containing many valuable hair looms in this fire.

GREAT PROSPERITY WOULD FOLLOW A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION OF THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE—GARY

New York, Nov. 18.—Negotiation of a treaty which would prevent future wars was urged, in conjunction with an agreement to limit navies by Albert R. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, in an address today before the American Iron and Steel Institute, of which he is president. He also belittled the suggestion that armament limitation would reduce the manufacture of steel, saying the thought was unworthy of even a passing notice.

"Business was improving, he said, but there must be further adjustments."

"With an agreement for limitation of capital ships," he said, "it would not seem to be practical to stop with less than a final treaty which will prevent future wars."

In addition to what is contemplated by the limitation of armament, there should, with other things, be an understanding that if any international differences arose, no resort of military force should be permitted until after there has been a conference and full discussion by all nations now participating in the deliberations at Washington.

"President Harding and the four selected, able and experienced representatives of this country will energetically and persistently strive for an agreement."

"They realize their constituents are unconditionally and fervently supporting them in their campaign for peace and limitation of armament and all this is true of each of the other nations."

He asserted that the international arrangements to be concluded must cover every kind of armament heretofore or hereafter discovered.

"The benefits which would be derived by reason of all the nations living under peaceful conditions as compared with military conflicts are beyond calculation," he said.

"If means for the firm establishment and maintenance of peace can be found and generally assented to it will mark an epoch of the greatest business prosperity as well as the largest measure of happiness that the world has ever witnessed. We should be thankful that this conference has been called."

Failure of the conference, he said, was unthinkable.

An adverse outcome would be intolerable and those responsible for it would be repudiated and everlastingly condemned.

"No claim for personal or individual advantage not based on the principles of right and justice, in the opinion of the majority would be entertained," he added.

He briefly dismissed the suggestion that less steel would be manufactured as a result of armament limitation.

"In the first place," he said, "the amount of decreases, if any, which is doubtful, would be small, and even though they might be large, no sane and right spirited person would consider pecuniary interest as of any importance when discussing national or international welfare."

Mr. Gary said it seemed to be generally conceded that business conditions through the country for the last six months had been steady, if slowly getting better. The volume of business in the steel industry had more than doubled in the last ninety days, he said, though profits had been little or nothing due to high costs and low prices. Of the countries business outlook he said:

"Even though we have now passed the most critical period in our recovery, I still think we would not be warranted in concluding we have arrived at the point where we can with certainty predict the exact time when there will be a return to a normal financial, commercial and industrial basis for the world's economic structure has been terribly shaken by adverse winds during the last few years. There must be further adjustments."

"The delay in complete restoration of a sound and satisfactory economic development and activity in this country is largely due to high costs—higher costs of living, high costs of production and transportation and high costs of owning and earning money or its equivalent."

Julian Joplin, one of the best football players that ever played on the Slaton team, was here Saturday, en route to Littlefield, to visit home-folk. He played in the Slaton-Lubbock game Friday.

Henry Nickel and mother, accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Arnold, of Littlefield, were Lubbock visitors Saturday.

BLANTON CHALLENGES TEXAS REP. FOR A DEBATE

Washington, Nov. 18.—Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, who was recently censured by the House for inserting objectionable language in the Congressional Record, today challenged the seventeen other members of the Texas Congressional delegation "singly and collectively" to debate in nine Texas cities after adjournment of the present session.

Mr. Blanton in his formal challenge charged that his colleagues "abetted" in introducing and passing a resolution of censure causing him to be "publicly" insulted on the floor—a punishment worse than expulsion."

He added: "This was an infamous outrage which he did not merit and charged that after a resolution to exel him had failed he was not offered an opportunity to be heard in his own defense."

N. B. Allison was here Saturday from his farm near Shallowater. Mr. Allison has gathered fourteen bales of cotton this year and has a fine row crop. "I can raise enough feed on my place in one year to supply the needs of my teams for five years," he said, while explaining to a prospector that the plains country cannot be equalled as a farming country.

FIZ AND FRANCOIS.

By Annelle Greene.

It was near midday when the eagles by which Fiz and Francois had been carried away reached the top of the mountain. They were very tired and almost fell to the ground where they tried to alight with the children still clinging fast to their backs. There was nothing to fear now from the forest below, for they had flown far above the tree line and alighted on a bare and rocky bluff.

Fiz and Francois felt cold and hungry and wondered where they might find something to eat. Francois loosened her hold on the eagle's neck and was about to slip onto the ground when the bird suddenly turned his neck about and fiercely struck at her with his beak.

"Stay where you are," cried Fiz, "and choke him enough to keep him still," for well he knew where the eagles meant to get their refreshments. They dared not yet get off the birds, but knew they could not remain on them forever. The eagles were so tired they were almost helpless and Fiz and Francois might easily have strangled them, but then how could they hope to reach their home again? They knew the eagles could carry them back just as they had carried them away, if only they could find some way to make them do it. But first they must find a way to make those beaks and talons harmless, for with these once free, they knew the eagles would make a quick meal of them.

Fiz thought of his pockets and wondered if they were still with him. He saw that they were, although there was little left of his trousers but strings.

Holding tightly to the eagle's neck with one arm he searched his pockets with the other hand and found in them some pieces of heavy cord that were very strong. One of these he made into a loop and threw it over the eagle's head. The eagle quickly pecked at it and as he did so Fiz gave it a quick jerk that sent it well into the bird's mouth. Then he quickly drew the heavy cord up, pressing the eagle's beak close against his neck so that he could neither move his head nor open and close his mouth. The bird struggled fiercely to free himself, but soon lay quite still and exhausted. Fiz took another piece of cord and tied his feet together so he could not harm him with his talons and then stepped onto the ground feeling sure, both he and his eagle were safe. He then went to help Francois and soon had her eagle as safe as his own.

At last the children had captured the eagles instead of being eaten by them. They looked about and found they were near a small stream of water, by the side of which lay the remains of a goat which the eagles had killed a short time before. They saw that the eagle had found a way to build a fire, but found a one lake of boiling water instead. With Fiz small knife they cut off two pieces of meat from the goat and fastening them onto the ends of sticks fastened the other ends into the boiling lake to cook, while they went to look after the eagles.

Fiz and Francois felt very sorry for the poor birds as they lay so helpless and unhappy. They stroked their heads kindly and to their surprise found the eagles were very gentle and grateful. They moved close up to the children and made no effort to harm them. Fiz and Francois slipped the chords out of their mouths and onto their necks. Up went their heads and open their mouths, but the children jerked hard on the cord and gave them such a choking that they soon lay quite still and quiet. They tied them to a high, slender rock that seemed to have grown straight up out of the ground. This done, Fiz and Francois returned to the boiling lake and found their meat quite tender and ready to eat. After they had eaten they lay down under a large rock to sleep, for it was now quite dark. Soon they found, however, that they could not sleep for the cold. They thought of the eagles' warm feathery bodies and decided to see if they could manage in some way to spread the night near them. But as they approached the eagles, they found them cross and restless, and they knew they dared not go too near. As they stood shivering in the cold they saw that the eagles shivered too, and then they realized that they had been very, very selfish. They had eaten the captive eagles' food, warmed themselves by the boiling lake, drank of the cool mountain stream, and were now seeking to keep themselves comfortable for the night by sleeping near those shivering bodies that they had left without food or water and tied in a cold and unprotected place.

They lead the eagles to the cool stream and let them drink and then to the dead goat and let them eat, and then to the protected rock where they themselves had meant to sleep. Soon the eagles were quickly sleeping side by side, and as Fiz and Francois cautiously slipped in between them, they spread their two great wings, protectively over the children and there on the high mountain top with the cold wind howling above them and the icy mountain stream rushing below they all slept snug and warm, through all the long dark night.

PARENTS AS EDUCATORS

The Value of Responsibility.

By Barbara B. Hunting.

It seems a strange fact that one's neighbor's children are always wretchedly brought up. We could suggest innumerable means and methods of improving upon the "small fry" a row the way, while even at the moment our own children run shamelessly wild, and are subject to much the same criticism from that neighbor herself.

But it is got in that spirit of criticism I make a suggestion, rather in a hope that it may be of help to some mother who has a child or two, with the attending problems.

To foster a feeling of responsibility in a child is one of the most important steps in starting him along the right road. It will work wonders with him if he has his own little tasks, duties about the house, for which he alone is responsible.

The boy who keeps the grass trimmed along the walks after the lawn has been mowed, who empties the ashes from the kitchen range each day, sweeps the porch, who in winter, picks up his clothes each morning and leaves his bedroom in order, that boy is beginning well. When he knows that his family depends upon him for the evening supper and the rest, the responsibility thus imposed will strengthen the will to do. It may be far easier for a mother to do a thing herself than to succeed in getting the boy to do it, but in the end the effort will be found well worth the while and one which a thoughtful mother should feel it a duty to make.

The little girl who shares the task of dishwashing with her mother, and whose duty it is to dust the living room before going to school in the morning, that little girl is developing not only her abilities as a young housekeeper, but those characteristics of unselfishness and service that are most essential in all of us.

The question arises as to when we can begin to impose these little duties, for surely a three year old can not be expected to shovel snow. No indeed, but a child may be trained at a surprisingly early age to perform duties that lead as he grows older to larger things. Visit any kindergarten and children may be found doing things, of which their own mothers never suspected them capable. It is altogether too common a fault that mothers underestimate their children's capabilities. Many times mothers have come to our kindergarten and said "Why, I had no idea Johnny could do such a thing. He never has at home!" For example, children in kindergarten will put on their leggings, coats, overshoes and mittens without a murmur, while at home they never even attempt to do this.

A two year old child may be taught to put away his toys, take care of his coat and cap, and run little errands about the house for his mother. He can not be trained too soon to wait upon himself. Don't make the common mistake of being "a slave to your children." Teach them self-reliance, give them some responsibility. You will be more than rewarded for your effort when they attain young manhood and womanhood.

ALL-WEST TEXAS EXHIBIT WINS AT HOUSTON

Haskell, Texas, Nov. 19.—B. M. Whitaker, who had charge of the All-West Texas exhibit at the Houston Fair and Exposition, has returned to his home here. The All-West Texas exhibit which was shown under the auspices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce won first prize in the regional agricultural exhibit contest staged at the Fair, capturing a prize of $200. Before taking the exhibit to Houston Mr. Whitaker had charge of the exhibit at Shreveport, La., and also assisted in putting up the exhibit at Waco. Last year Mr. Whitaker took the All-West Texas exhibit to fairs at Sedalia, Mo., Danville and Springfield, Ill., Indianapolis, Ind., and Topeka, Kansas.

DAIRY EXPERT SAYS FARMERS CAN ALWAYS GET GOOD PRICES FOR FEED THROUGH DAIRY COWS

(The following article by Roy Davis, is a report of the meeting held under the auspices of the Livestock Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. A prize of $5.00 was offered by J. W. Ridgway, representing the Mistletoe Creamery at Fort Worth for the best article on the subjects discussed at this meeting by any member of the class in Vocational Agriculture from The Lubbock High School. Seven of the boys responded and Roy Davis won first prize. Thomas Howard ranked second and Alton Pettit third.)

Mr. Ridgway who is associated with the Mistletoe Creamery talked principally about dairy cows and their products.

Mr. Ridgway having recently been over a large part of the grain section of the United States has seen the huge amounts which cannot be sold at a reasonable profit to the grower. What he is interested in is marketing this crop in the way that it will pay the most and that way is feeding it to livestock. Is there a demand for dairy products, and does it pay to market feed through the dairy cow?

Mr. Ridgway proved that there is a demand for dairy products and that there is much more profit in feeding the feed to cows instead of selling it in the bulk. For instance, when he became associated with the Mistletoe Creamery he noted that they shipped in in one month three cars of butter from northern markets which shows there is a demand for dairy products.

Last year Mr. Ridgway was in the town of Childress. Maize was selling on the car for ten or eleven dollars per ton. Counting two dollars off for hauling the farmers were receiving eight or nine dollars per ton for their maize. A ton of maize crushed and balanced with other feed would bring sixty to eighty dollars per ton. If the farmers of Texas would feed their feed to dairy cows and supply the home market, it would mean more money in Texas.

Cotton farming is unsuccessful. Cotton is the cause of ignorance and it requires more work and time and pays less than anything. It is unsafe farming. Safe farming is raising feedstuff and keeping good livestock. Good livestock are machines that convert the things you can't consume into things that you can.

To run a dairy at a profit there are three requirements. First, the most important is having good foundation stock—cows that are high producers. Second is good feeding and third is good management. It is very important to get good foundation stock but they are hard to get. One community in Illinois had a scheme of supplying trustworthy men with good foundation cows at a very low cost. While Mr. Ridgway was on this Banker-Farmer tour he visited this community and learned the ways and plan of this scheme. It is something like this. It is an incorporated organization, anyone can buy stock in it at one hundred dollars per share. When a man buys a cow he just takes a hundred dollar share in the company. The man that buys the cow gets the products such as milk and butter and he keeps the heifer calves five years, he is not allowed to sell them. The bull calves that is half of their worth goes to the company. At the end of five years the company will dissolve. All of the foundation stock will be sold at auction. Any man can bid on any cow. This plan pays all that had an interest in it. The stockholders will get about 25 per cent dividend on the share. The man that bought the cow got her for less than an ordinary cow would cost and he got the milk, half the bull calves, the heifer calves and a chance to buy the cow at final auction. Such organization helps get good foundation stock which is a help to community in general. We should have such in Texas. In the meantime get the best stock you can afford and breed them up by using a good bull.

Mr. French who is connected with the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company says he was in Lubbock when it was hardly more than a post office. He drove herds of cattle from the Panhandle to northern markets, steers that was four and five years old, but no larger or better conditioned than the baby heaves of today.

The packers do not want 2000 pound steers or 1000 pound hogs, but they want 800 to 1000 pound steers that are young and in the best of condition and they want hogs weighing from 160 to 225 pounds and from six to nine months old. In order to finish such meat we must raise from the biggest and best animals. They must be fed properly. We have the feed out here grain sorghums have proven out as a valuable feed for stock. At an experiment at Spur common steers were bought that averaged about 400 pounds, in 150 days they weighed 800 pounds. They were shipped and topped in the market. They made a good profit. While four year old range steers showed a loss of $20.00 per head.

Another reason it is more profitable to market the feed through stock is because of freight rates. Some years ago it took 6 per cent of the value of feed to get it to market. At the same time it took 3 per cent of the value of hogs to get them to market. Now it takes 30 per cent of the value of feed and only 6 per cent of the value of hogs.

Corn belt feeders of north buy feeders at the stock yards and feed them out. They get most of the hogs at southern stock yards something Texas farmers ought not to allow. Last May 559 went to Illinois, 581 to Iowa, 2050 to Kansas, 2678 to Oklahoma, 300 to Texas. Next month of June Texas bought 1300 out of 12,000. The thing of it is the farmers of Texas ought to keep these hogs here (for they are cholera immune) and feed them our surplus feed. Mr. French will assist in getting feeders if you want them.

Miss Murray of the A. & M. College talked on the care and judging of poultry. First thing poultry should not just be a sideline for the women to look after as it is a big industry, being surpassed only by banking and steel in value. One boy made $4.00 another $3.99 off one hen. 100 hens like that would amount to something. There are three varieties of chickens (1st) the hens that lay the most on the layers, (2) the meat purpose chickens, (3) the dual purpose chickens, those that lay pretty well and of pretty good size. The layers are the small chickens such as the leghorns, minors, etc. The meat variety are the Brahas or the feather legged type. The dual purpose breeds are the Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, etc.

By sending pens of your chickens to the A. & M. College they are judged according to the standard of perfection and they keep a record of them. If they pass requirements, they are certified which is the same as registered in hogs.

Feed and care of chickens: You should feed milk for protein. Feed it at regular times and keep vessels clean and sanitary, never allowing milk to be left over till next time to feed. Meat scraps, rabbits, or good green stuff, plenty of mineral matter should be fed. They should have plenty of exercise and fresh water and be kept free from lice.

Cull the flock in September, October or November. In culling keep those that have white legs and beak, bright prominent eye, large comb and of good color, width 3 to 5 fingers between the breast, between the breast bones and lay bones, three fingers between the lay bones. Hens should moult late and are 22 weeks in moulting.

The average Texas hen lays 60 eggs a year, which is a loss. A good hen should lay from 170 to 210 eggs per year. Cull your flock and breed from the highest layer. Feed plenty of protein and mineral food. Keep fresh water, keep free from lice, and you will build your flock up.

C. H. Burrus was here Saturday with a bale of cotton from his farm two miles south of town. "I will make about five bales from thirteen acres, and my row crop is as good as could be raised anywhere," he said.

H. S. Dugan and J. S. and J. A. Allman, were here Saturday from Fordney, Texas, prospecting.

MEADOR AND SON ARE MAKING SUCCESS FARMING

M. D. E. Meador and son, Wood, were here Friday from their farm three miles southwest of town. These men are handling their farm in a money-making manner, and are accumulating wealth by taking care of the opportunities offered them by the advantages of this great country. They have their feed from their crop last year that will last them until the next harvest, which enabled them to sell all this year's crop, which was a money-maker as they harvested a good second cutting of Sudan after threshing the first crop. Thirty-two fine Duroc Jersey hogs will be sold from their farm this year, and more than thirty-five bushels of corn per acre from a thirty acre patch.

DICKENS COUNTY MAN'S NECK BROKEN BY FALL

Dickens, Texas, Nov. 17.—W. A. Welburn, father of Mrs. C. A. Harris of this place, was accidentally killed Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in Spur. Mr. Welburn was at work on a small frame building on the rear of the lot that is occupied by the city market. Mr. Welburn was on a ladder about six feet long from which he fell, striking his head on the floor and breaking his neck. He died without ever speaking.

E. B. Holt and R. B. Hunter were here from Hollis, Oklahoma, last week prospecting. They are well pleased with the Lubbock country and Mr. Holt will probably buy land near here.

$800,000,000 Estate Goes to Several Texas Heirs Soon

Weatherford, Texas, Nov. 14.—The $800,000,000 estate of Joseph Baker which included valuable oil lands in Pennsylvania and property in New York, is to be divided among the heirs after being held in trust for 100 years, as provided in the will of the original Baker. It is estimated that there will be 300 heirs after false claimants have been eliminated. The estate will be divided proportionately to the age and relationship. Several of these heirs live in Hood and Parker counties, among whom are the following: Mrs. Gaylor, formerly Mrs. Bolton, whose husband died in Oklahoma several weeks ago. She also has several children in the Baker community. They are Mrs. J. W. Rains and Ed Nick and Ollie Bolton. Some of the first generation of nearest kin have already received their portion of $3,000,000 each. Mrs. Gaylor has been notified that her share would be approximately $2,000,000.

E. E. Smith was here Friday from his home near Idalou.

J. D. CROW HERE ONLY ONE YEAR BUT PLEAS

J. D. Crow was here from his farm near Ropesville Friday with a bale of cotton. Mr. Crow has averaged a half bale to the acre this year, and has many encouraging things to say about this country as a farming district. This is his first year on the plains, and he said he had raised a better crop this year than he had ever grown before. He came from Erath county, and said that there can be no comparison made between his row crop this year and any he had ever made in that county. He has a fine bunch of thoroughbred Poland China hogs, and will realize a good profit from raising them, he said.

TEXAS LAW DEPARTMENT SAYS NEW BEER RULING CAN'T BE APPLIED TO TEXAS POINTS

Austin, Nov. 17.—The Dean prohibition law of Texas governs the sale of intoxicating liquors upon physicians' prescriptions and the amount that may be prescribed in Texas in respect of the federal statutes or the rulings of the federal authorities, an opinion of the Attorney General's department held today. The Dean law limits the amount to be prescribed to one pint of one kind of liquor only, that is wine, beer or whiskey. This opinion also held that it is unlawful to establish a place of business intending to sell only intoxicating liquors to persons bearing prescriptions. The comptroller cannot issue permits for sale of liquors except to bona fide retail druggists or pharmacists it is held.

Neither is the Secretary of State authorized to file a charter of a proposed corporation organized for the purpose of operating a liquor dispensary and selling intoxicating liquors exclusively on physicians prescription the opinion held. Instead it would be his duty to refuse to file such a charter if he believes that the purpose of the corporation is to dispense liquor exclusively. The opinion also held that a holding company cannot be chartered in Texas for the purpose of holding stock in corporations or concerns mentioned in the opinion.

Commissioner of Labor Would Have "Peace on Earth"

Austin, Texas, Nov. 15.—Joseph S. Myers, Commissioner of Labor, today made public an appeal to all Texas employers and employees to forego all labor disputes between Thanksgiving and Christmas to the end that there be no strikes, no lock-outs and no trouble, and that on the morning of the festival of the nativity there be in fact "Peace on earth, good-will toward men."

Mr. Myers shapes his appeal in the form of a resolution that he asks all neutral organizations to adopt as well as the employers and the employees, asking for this industrial armistice. Also in the end, he thinks there will be a much better feeling between capital and labor in Texas; that the hiatus in labor disputes will enable both sides to better understand the problems of the other. Mr. Myers does not ask that his exact resolution be adopted, but that its substance be approved. He also asks that the press and the ministers lend their aid in promoting the proposed era of peace and good-will.

In discussing the situation, Mr. Myers said: "Our inspectors have been going into a number of plants in Texas and we find that all is not rosy; that the present depression is being felt in industry to such an extent that some of the factories are barely running. Regardless of the wrongs and grievances of the past, the employer and the employee should know that any jar today might close the doors of the institution and thereby deny meat and bread to all involved from the floor sweeper to the general manager. We can not consider the past now. It is the present and the future that concerns us most and that is what I am endeavoring to impress upon all those who will aid us in bringing about a better feeling."

Lubbock Folks In Auto Wreck Near Sweetwater

Last night about 5:45 o'clock Sidney C. Mason was coming to town from his home south of the city on the Abilene and Sweetwater road, and as he turned a short curve in the road witnessed a car go into the ditch and turn over, and as he neared the scene discovered that it was a Ford Coupe bearing an Oklahoma seal, and that two men occupied the car and picked themselves out of the wreck, but neither was badly injured. He brought the men back to town and left them at the Mart Hotel at the same time discovering that both were considerably intoxicated, and especially the one who was driving the car. Mr. Mason notified deputy sheriff Barbee, who went out and investigated the affair and brought the car to town. It was not injured except all the glass broken out of the windshield. Later the men were taken in charge on a charge of drunkenness and this morning one of the men who gave his name as Ledbetter, pleaded guilty to being drunk and paid his fine. He said his home was at Lubbock. The other man's name was not learned, but they claimed to be brother-in-laws. They also claimed to be on their way to Bronte, where the other man said he lived. They departed for Bronte today, stating that they supposed the nice Nolan county court house was erected by the money filched from people who were not guilty of any wrong-doing, and that they believed Sweetwater was a good place to stay away from. Such is life in the great west, the fellow who dances is bound to keep up the fiddler.—Sweetwater Reporter.

LOCAL ITEMS FROM THE ACUFF COMMUNITY

We are still enjoying the beautiful weather. A good rain would surely be appreciated. The farmers are still busy trying to get their crops harvested before "sure enough winter sets in."

Ashley and Keen Davis are still busy moving.

Aubrey Rounds is in school again, after being absent a week on account of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bloyd attended singing at Bledsoe Sunday p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis and Miss Pearl Mitchell attended church services at Lubbock Sunday and took dinner with Mrs. J. J. Baker. Also visited Davis Pounds, who is still in the hospital at Lubbock.

A. C. and L. S. Evitt had quite a lot of threshing done last week.

Mr. Lee and Robert Holland, of Ochoa, New Mexico, are visiting their sister, Mrs. E. O. Evitt this week.

Earl Davis and Mr. Fisher fixed Mrs. W. D. Davis windmill Tuesday.

Mrs. J. J. Baker and daughter, Mrs. G. H. Graham, of Graham, Texas, and Miss Allen spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Elmer Rush.

Mr. and Mrs. Eston Evitt and son Milton attended singing at Bledsoe Sunday.

Davis Pounds is reported to be a little better. He is still under the treatment at the West Texas hospital. Singing Sunday afternoon at Acuff was enjoyed by a very large crowd. That's encouraging. Everyone come back the fourth Sunday. We have ordered some new books we will begin using soon.

SOME MILAM COUNTY CITIZENS WOULD DIVIDE CO.

Thorndale, Tex., Nov. 17.—Milam County should be divided and a separate county formed of that part of the county south of Little River seems to be the consensus of opinion of large as well as small taxpayers of this section today following the action of the County Judge and Commissioners' Court at Cameron yesterday in refusing a petition of 300 residents of this section for the appropriation of $15,000 toward a bridge across the Brazos River near Gauss.

The people south of the river feel they have been discriminated against, not only in this matter, but in other matters of road building in the county.

The bridge across the Brazos is the key to the only opportunity this section of the county has of obtaining State and Federal aid toward a highway through it.

TEXAS MAY GET NEW FEDERAL JUDGESHIP

Favorable report on the Walsh bill to create twenty-three additional Federal district judges has been ordered by the House Judiciary Committee. Similar legislation is pending before a Senate committee and has been recommended by Attorney General Daugherty and Chief Justice Taft.

The measure as approved by the House committee also provides for the holding of an annual conference of judges in Washington with the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court presiding.

The bill which authorizes temporary transfer of judges to other districts to relieve docket congestion creates among others one new district judgeship each in Northern Illinois, Eastern Illinois, Eastern Missouri, Western Missouri, Eastern Oklahoma and Northern Texas.

SLATON MAN HELD UP IN SANTA FE YARDS HERE

Mr. Nicks, a stockman of Slaton, was held up this morning about 4:30 near the oil mill and badly scared, but was not out anything, as he was scared to start with, so had put his purse under his hat. The purse contained $80 or $90 and he was very thankful that it was not taken. He was going through on the Santa Fe with a shipment of cattle and was coming up town from the freight yards when he ran into the holdup men. He immediately turned in the report and both the sheriff and police departments answered the call and rounded up all the suspicious characters in town, but Mr. Nicks failed to identify his assailants and they were allowed to go.—Sweetwater Reporter.

BIG SUM ADVANCED ON LIVESTOCK AND AGRICULTURE

Advances aggregating $1,700,000 for agricultural, live stock and export purposes were approved Saturday by the war finance corporation. The advances consisted of a loan of $500,000 loaned exporters for the shipment of agricultural machinery to France, and 42 advances totaling $1,200,000 for agricultural and live stock purposes.

Miss Winnie Simmons was here from the Boyd ranch Friday and Saturday visiting friends. Miss Simmons is teaching school near the ranch.

4 Texas Counties Among Nation's Highest Producers

Washington, Nov. 13.—Four Texas counties are included among the fifty leading counties of the United States in a report by the Bureau of Census as the leading producers of crops and live stock. Ellis County, which has heretofore been rated as producing the largest amount of cotton in the United States, ranks thirty-ninth among the fifty counties and ranks below Williamson County, which is thirtieth.

The total value of the crop and live stock production of Williamson County for 1919 was $23,324,436, while that of crops alone was $21,509,090, and in crop production alone it ranked twenty-first in the fifty counties.

Ellis County produced in crops and live stock a value of $20,376,651 and in crops alone a value of $19,262,474, which gave it rank of twenty-ninth in crop values.

Fannin County is forty-second in value of crops and live stock, amounting to $20,163,821, and thirtieth in crops alone, with a value of $19,246,092.

Lamar, the fourth Texas County to be included, showed a total value for crops and live stock of $19,305,636, which gave it rank of forty-ninth, while it ranks thirty-sixth in the production of crops alone, the value being $18,270,287.

The crops of all the Texas counties upon which the rating was made included cotton, corn, oats, hay and forage.

Central Methodist Conference Will Be At Weatherford

Clisco, Texas, Nov. 12.—Whetherford will be the next meeting place for the annual Central Texas conference, it was decided at the session here this morning. The invitation was accepted over the bid of Graham in Young County.

Times of financial stress add stimulation to spiritual life, according to Bishop W. N. Ainsworth's interpretation of the reports today submitted by presiding elders of the ten districts into which the conference is divided. The membership of the entire conference, according to a summary of these reports, is now 84,163 an increase of 3,648 over last year. During the year 8,157 were added on profession of faith, 2,932 more than during the last preceding conference year. The conference contains 478 Sunday schools, with a total of 74,260 members. This is 12,322 more than the Sunday school had enrolled last year.

HOWARD AND MITCHELL TO SETTLE BOUNDARY DISPUTE

Big Spring, Tex., Nov. 17.—County Judge James T. Brooks and the four County Commissioners of Howard County went to Colorado this week to confer with the Commissioners' Court of Mitchell County relative to a settlement of the boundary dispute between the two counties. It was agreed that the corners of the counties as established by the State Land Office be accepted, and that a disinterested surveyor be employed to run the dividing line between the two counties. This work is to be done at once.

FOOT BALL GRIDS

Canyon, Texas, Nov. 18.—Burleson Atkins of this place, a student in the West Texas State Normal College underwent an operation at the St. Anthony Hospital in Amarillo Tuesday morning.

His father, a furniture dealer of this town, and his mother are at his bedside. The operation was made for spinal trouble.

Burleson is a football player of great ability and has succeeded in making things doubly interesting for the opposition. He weighs 185 pounds.

Plainview, Texas, Nov. 18.—Plainview eliminated all doubt, if indeed there was any remaining as to the superiority of her high school graduation team over Amarillo, when the Savages were trimmed 13 to 7, here today. All of Plainview's scoring was done in the first half, Plainview going off with a rush. In the second quarter Amarillo came back strong and held Plainview.

Amarillo received, and failing to make downs, punted. Plainview made her four first downs and got a touchdown in the first four minutes of play. Saffle made the score.

Two minutes later Amarillo punted behind the goal line. Some of Plainview recovered the ball and made two more points.

Three minutes later Bryan of Plainview took the ball over the line for another touchdown after a series of line plunges. The score stood 16 to 0.

The second half was about evenly matched with playing, but Amarillo went in like a house afire and Murrell scored a touchdown for the visitors in five minutes.

The remainder of the game was about evenly played, both sides making good gains, which netted neither anything.

Plainview stars were MacVickers, Saffle and Alexander. Amarillo luminaries were Murrell, Boyle and Dawson.

Chief Al Mott of Carlisle refereed; Norris of Vanderbilt was umpire, and Miller of Missouri University was head linesman.

Clarendon, Texas, Nov. 18.—Clarendon College defeated Abilene Christian College this afternoon in a hard fought game, 7 to 0. Clarendon's score came early in the first quarter on a forty-five yard pass, Meads to Jackson, and Meads kicked goal.

Plainview, Nov. 14.—The seventeen to nothing victory of Plainview high school over Amarillo high school football team Friday has whetted the appetite of the locals for more worlds to conquer. Although Plainview has previously lost to both Childress and Lubbock by close scores, it is felt that the right for return games with each has been won by the decisive defeat of Amarillo on Amarillo grounds. The Plainview team piled up a larger score on Amarillo at Amarillo than Childress was able to accumulate at Childress. Lubbock lost to Amarillo recently, and Plainview's victory Friday creates a triangular controversy which can best be settled by a meeting between Plainview and Lubbock. The Plainview team wants return games with both Lubbock and Childress, and is willing to offer good inducements to secure such games. The fact that Childress has played all of her important games on home grounds does not give the best possible indication of the strength of the team and Plainview believes that the present leaders for district honors will fall by the wayside when they leave the inspiring influence of home surroundings. All of Plainview's games have been on foreign fields, and home fans are yearning for a chance to see their prides in action.

Just Right Apparel for Every Kind of Thanksgiving Occasion

No matter where you'll go—nor what you'll do Thanksgiving Day—nor what you'll need in apparel for the holiday—you'll find it here.

It may be a new suit of ALDER-COLLEGIAN CLOTHES to keep you looking your best. It may be a leather vest, a Sheep-fleece-lined Coat, or a pair of Bottees for a foot-ball game or a hunting trip—

You may want a big, burley Ulster for motoring—and wintry blizzards later; perhaps only a Hat, a cloth or fur cap; or a pair of trousers for dress or sports—

Most men will want a supply of Shirts or Gloves—Underwear or Hosiery—perhaps a Sweater—plenty of collars and ties.

But whatever the need, this store is your place because of the quality, value, and satisfaction—guarantee back of everything we sell.

WE ARE THANKFUL FOR YOUR PATRONAGE

Men's and Boys' Outfitters 'We will make right that which is not right'

The Floydada football team played the Ralls High School team a match game here last Friday, which resulted in an overwhelming victory for the home team, the score standing 26 to 6 in favor of Ralls. This is a splendid showing for our boys, as the larger number of them have had little experience, and indicates that they have in them the making of champion players. A match game will be played Saturday afternoon between Ralls and Lockney. This promises to be a splendid game, and all lovers of football should be present.—Ralls Banner.

AMARILLO FOLKS SEE FIRST SNOW OF SEASON FRIDAY

The first touch of real winter was evident in Amarillo Friday morning, when with the temperature at thirty, flurries of snow fell intermittently during the mid-forenoon. The atmosphere was not especially damp, and the snow made no showing on the ground.

Temperature began to fall late Thursday afternoon, and the below freezing point was registered by Friday morning. The United States weather bureau at Amarillo reported Friday morning that the mercury would drop from ten to twenty degrees within the next twenty-four hours.

The snow flurries and the freezing weather is the first that Amarillo has experienced this winter and people generally are of the opinion that the winter weather has come to stay. Very light frosts have been experienced this season.—Amarillo Tribune.

Health Facts

Perfect Health is Perfect Nerve Action

All of the main nerve trunks supplying the body, originate from the spinal cord and pass out through the small openings between the joints of the spine, when one of these small bones (Vertebra) get out of perfect line it impinges or cuts off the nerve flow or health from one or more of the organs of the body. The Chiropractor adjusts or puts in line the joint or vertebra that is out and thereby turns life and health to that diseased organ. Health is the result in most every case regardless of its standing. Dr. Council is the only Chiropractor in Texas, who is a graduate of Electricity.

We use Chiropractic, Osteopathic-Massage, Mechanical, Electrical Light and Heat for treatment of acute and chronic diseases—We have a lady assistant. All consultation free. Try us once. We have been in Lubbock for nearly four years and our success as healers is well known all over the West and in many other States.

West Texas Sales of Merchandise Better Than Elsewhere

A. B. Nickell, traveling salesman for the H. J. Hines, wholesale grocery dealers, with traveling men all over the United States and Canada, was here Wednesday calling on our merchants. There are more than eight hundred salesmen in this company, and the last year's business was checked up, giving each man his standing in proportion to the amount of goods sold, and Mr. Nickell was twenty-eight place from the top of the list, which shows there is a great deal more business for that company, when comparison of the population is made in the States and Canada. Mr. Nickell is a hustler too, and it is a coincidence that he was put in the best territory on the map.

Attorney General Cureton Appointed As Chief Justice

Austin, Texas, Nov. 16.—After a service of more than nine years on the bench of the Supreme Court of Texas, Chief Justice Nelson Phillips today resigned, effective at once, and will go to Dallas to enter private practice. He was not ready to announce his business connections in Dallas at this time. He was appointed an Associate Justice of the Court by Governor Colquitt in April, 1912, vice Judge W. F. Ramsey, resigned, and became Chief Justice of the court on May 29, 1915, succeeding Judge T. J. Brown, deceased. The appointment was made by Governor Ferguson.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 17.—Governor Neff tonight appointed Attorney General C. M. Cureton as Chief Justice of the Supreme court of Texas to succeed Judge Nelson Phillips who resigned yesterday. The appointment was made tonight shortly after the governor returned to the city.

It was made in a telegram to General Cureton who is in Washington, appearing before the United States Supreme court on a case involving the state of Texas.

The text of the message was as follows:

"As a tribute to your sterling worth as a man and in recognition of your splendid service as attorney general of Texas, I hereby tender to you the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme court of Texas made vacant by the resignation of Judge Nelson Phillips."

Arriving in the city late today the governor went to the capitol tonight and immediately wired General Cureton of his appointment. The governor said that he had not discussed the matter with General Cureton nor with any other person but that he believed General Cureton was the "right man" for the place.

Asked as to who he would appoint as attorney general, he said that he would consider that later. It was learned from another source that First Assistant W. A. Keeling would undoubtedly be considered for the place.

A short time ago General Cureton announced that as soon as his present term expired next year that he would not be a candidate for reelection or any other office on account of ill-health. His appointment to the Supreme bench was made in the face of this declaration. The governor expects him to accept and to receive his acceptance tomorrow.

His appointment will not hinder the Texas-Oklahoma boundary suit in which General Cureton is now taking testimony in Washington, Secretary Walthall said tonight, as the last witness was placed on the stand today.

Cureton Accepts As Chief Justice.

Austin, Nov. 18.—Attorney General Cureton in a telegram to Governor Neff early today accepted the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, which the Governor tendered to him last night.

General Cureton is in Washington appearing before the Federal Supreme Court on a case in which Texas is involved.

The text of his telegram of acceptance follows:

"Your telegram announcing the resignation of Chief Justice Phillips and tendering me the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas received. Permit me to say that I accept the position with the greatest pleasure. Words are inadequate to this great honor you have conferred upon me. The Red River boundary hearing will continue a few days yet and it is important that I remain here until it closes, so will appreciate it if you will let me know when I must return to Austin to assume the duties of chief justice."

The Red River boundary suit is a case disputing valuable oil lands situated in the Red River bed in Northwest Texas to which Texas and Oklahoma have both laid claims.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS FROM THE TERRY CO. HERALD

By reason of the fact that the editor did not make a note of the marriage of Mr. Otho Welch and Miss Gladys Flemming, when we learned of the wedding, it did not occur in these columns last week as it should have. They were married last Wednesday week, Oct. 26th at the Methodist parsonage. Rev. Baughman officiating. Miss Gladys is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Flemming, of near Gomez and had many friends throughout the county. Otho is the son of Mr. J. W. Welch of this city, and is now one of the popular barbers of Big Spring. He was reared and educated in Brownfield and has a host of friends. They will make their home in Big Spring.

The local Church of Christ has succeeded in raising quite a bit of money toward maintaining a local minister, and are now looking out for one.

Elder John T. Smith, minister of the Church of Christ at Lubbock, came down Wednesday afternoon of last week and started the Mid-Week Bible study of the ladies of the Church of Christ off with the G. Dallas Smith Bible Study Outlines. This was their first meeting, and was held at the home of Mrs. Stricklin, and sixteen ladies were present. They will meet with Mrs. W. G. Hardin this week. At night Bro. Smith delivered a soul inspiring sermon at the church, and he has a standing invitation to visit and encourage the Brownfield congregation occasionally.

South Carolina Senator Forecasts Cotton Shortage

Washington, Nov. 15.—Prediction of a world shortage of cotton next summer was made in the Senate today by Senator Smith, Democrat, of South Carolina in a speech analyzing the statistics on cotton consumption for October, made public by the census bureau. Should the rate of consumption for the ensuing months equal or exceed that of October, he said, there would not be a bale of American cotton in existence by next August 1.

In the course of his speech, Mr. Smith digressed to discuss what he said was the failure of congressional action intended to aid the farmers, asserting that it seemed the only hope for the agricultural interests, lay in the formation of their own co-operative selling agencies and the establishment of their own banks. He added that relief legislation thus far had been converted each time into "breastworks behind which the interests opposed to the farmers entrenched themselves to destroy the farmers profits."

Exports and domestic consumption of cotton for October aggregated 1,366,000 bales, which according to the Senator, constitutes a record for monthly deposition of the product.

At that rate, "he continued, "the exports and consumption between last August 1, and next August 1, will be more than 6,000,000 bales and the best estimate of the visible supply can be obtained, above only about twelve and a half, or 13,000,000 bales."

A carry-over of about five million bales was estimated by Mr. Smith while this year's crop he believed he would not exceed seven million bales. He made his figures liberal, he added, but found no way to bring the two totals any way near together.

Mr. Smith reviewed the many "cries" which he said had forced cotton prices down and told the Senate that all of the "menacing things foreseen by the trade, including the rail strike," had been put out of the way.

CLARENDON IS STOCKING RANCH WITH O'POSSUMS

Claude, Nov. 16.—E. D. Harrell has been the envy of those who could recall old days when "possum and taters" were the main attraction to the dinner table.

A friend in Oklahoma sent Mr. Harrell four possums and it was rumored that he was fattening them for Thanksgiving. But Mr. Harrell reports that he has turned the animals loose in the canyon on his ranch and means to protect them until he can stock the ranch with them. One of the o'possums came back to the house after being liberated and bought his old pen. Another was caught in a trap and slightly injured. But the others have apparently found happy homes in Palo Duro.

WITH LUBBOCK BUSINESS-MEN

J. W. Patterson of Plainview, has opened an Uradia, or a Uradia, station in Lubbock. He is located in the building recently vacated by the Lub-Tex Motor Company, and directly east of the Fire Station. Uradia is something new on the market and absolutely new to Lubbock people. It is some kind of water with a high percentage of specific gravity, we are informed, containing certain minerals, non-injurious to batteries, which when batteries are "treated" with it, they are what you are familiarly calling re-charged. It saves time, we are told, and is absolutely alright. Mr. Patterson is enthusiastic over the proposition and asks the motorists of this city to look into the merits of Uradia.

The Leader, the Simmons Furniture and Undertaking Company, the Texas Tire and Vulcanizing Company, the Lubbock Tailoring Company and Homer L. Hensley Battery Company, are starting today upon a unique advertising campaign. The idea of it is to better advertise their respective businesses. The purchaser of either of these businesses have a chance between today and December 24th of getting their purchases free. One day has been selected by each business above named and written on a piece of paper, put in an envelope and sealed and all purchases made on their day, which will be made public after the 24th will be free—that is all money paid in that day will be refunded.

The envelopes were sealed and placed in the Lubbock State Bank last week with instructions to let no one have them or tinker with them until the bank is officially notified by the firms which will be directly after or on the 24th of December.

ERICK POSEY IS WONDER-ING IF YOU ARE RIGHT

Erick says that he is unlucky enough to have a whole town full of people order tailor-made suits from him on their lucky day, then he'll be out all the money and they'll have the suits free. Then, those who never have their clothes cleaned and pressed will all have them worked over on his "unlucky day." Who knows, he may be right. Take a try. 25-1f

W. G. Merray was here Monday from his ranch near Abernathy. Mr. Merray has children in the school here, who will spend the winter here.

THINGS WILL HUM AT THE LEADER

"The public is bound to realize that we are putting over the most sensational event ever conducted on the South Plains," says G. C. Wolfarth, of the Leader Dry Goods Store. "Some seem to be astounded at the proposition of getting their clothes free on one day between now and Christmas, but nevertheless it's a cold fact." 25-1f

J. C. Wilson was here Saturday from his farm two miles southwest of town, buying farm supplies. Mr. Wilson said this season for hog killing had found him well stocked and that he would kill his first, a four hundred pound one, next week.

B. B. Rhea, of Plainview was here Friday and Saturday of last week, making arrangements to move his family here.

DIED.

Anna Grace Kessell, age four years and six months, died here Monday morning at one o'clock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Kessell, of Slaton, and has an aunt here, Mrs. M. Olim. The body was carried to the Rix Undertaking parlor, where it was prepared for shipment to Fort Worth.

W. B. Ray was here Saturday from his farm nine miles west of town on business. Mr. Ray has made a splendid maize crop this year, and will hold it until a better price can be received, he said.

W. S. Webb returned Wednesday from Ozark, Arkansas, where he spent three weeks visiting relatives. Mr. Webb said hunting was especially good in the mountain country, and that he had very good luck while there.

SOME INTEND GETTING AUTO TIRES FREE

Over at the Texas Tire and Vulcanizing Company somebody's going to get their oil and gas free, and somebody's going to do better than that and get their tires and tubes free on the one day Mr. Richards has selected and sealed in an envelope now in the Lubbock State Bank. This proposition holds good until Christmas. It doesn't cost any more to top and get them free. 25-1f

O. F. Reedy was here Monday, buying supplies for his farm, five miles south of town. He has gathered five bales of cotton this year, and has a good row crop. His hobby is raising fine chickens, and has a splendid flock of white leghorns that are proving very profitable.

J. R. Meon, of the Lindsey ranch, was here Saturday, buying ranch supplies.
