PLANNING FOR THE NEW YEAR MEANS MUCH FOR EVERYBODY

THE BUSINESS MAN GETS HIS BEARINGS AND KNOWS HOW TO PLAN FOR THE NEW YEAR

INDIVIDUALS SHOULD LIKEWISE REFLECT

If You Have Not Accomplished As You Should the Past Year Note Your Failures and Try to Mend—Plan for the New Year On a Broad Scale and Kick the Goal.

Taking Invoice. This is a sign that one often faces on the door of business men these days in Lubbock, and we presume that this is also the case in nearly every town in the United States. It has long been a custom in the United States as well as in every country where January First is recognized as the beginning of the new year, that business men take an inventory of the stock they have on hand in order to know what they have invested, and also to determine whether or not they have gained or lost during the year, or in other words to find out how they stand with reference to their finances. This is good business, and while it is very inconvenient for a few days during the first week of the month, it really realizes the importance of the work, so one is prone to complain. We hope that every business firm in Lubbock will find when they total their inventory lists that they have made a nice profit during the past year. The Lubbock business men have been liberal in their support of all propositions that are for the growth and development of the town, and they have spent much money during the years gone by keeping their respective places up to the requirements of the town.

This is a much more difficult job in the new fast growing sections of country than in the more thickly populated communities, where the people are more settled, and just about so much can be figured for the requirements of a business during the year, while out in this section, a firm may have $5,000 invested at the beginning of the year, but the large number of people who come during the twelve months following may require that this same firm should be able to take care of the requirements so that as we stated above the job of keeping up to the requirements is much harder in this section.

The Avalanche can say for the business firms of Lubbock, however, that they keep the neatest and best arranged stores of any in the west. A visit to other places will prove the correctness of this statement, and they are truly deserving of the splendid business that each has enjoyed during the past year. By the end of this week all of our business firms will no doubt be through with their invoicing, and will be ready to map out their plans for the year just begun, and we hope that they will lay out a broad liberal campaign for bigger business during the year, for we believe that this will be one of the best they have ever had. Be liberal in the support of the Chamber of Commerce, support well the school interests of the city, as upon this depends largely the success of the town, and of course upon that depends the success of the business firms. Let us support well our churches, as on this depends much of our happiness. No community will prosper beyond its support of its churches. Let us not be stingy in the preparation for religious worship, and let us not make business or the dollar our idol, for nations have crumbled on account of this sin, and individuals have been dethroned and cast down for the same reason. Stick tight to your good resolutions made on January First, and while the business men of the community are invoicing their stock and figuring their profits, let every individual in Lubbock, regardless of his religious beliefs, his business classification, or whether he has a business, get quiet for a few minutes and look back of the past year and see wherein he has failed or has scored a victory, and launch a campaign for an intensive program of progressiveness and thrift this year. Thrift means much for the nation, the community or the individual, and it is not necessary that we stint ourself in order to practice thrift, but we can be economical, and refrain from wastefulness, which would mean a great sum of money to this nation during the twelve months time.

We hope that Lubbock will line up to a man, to make this year the greatest in the history of Lubbock. Keep this community before the world, and make the moral conditions of the community such that this city will be the most desirable place of any, for good people to live, a safe place to bring children, to educate, back our officers in the enforcement of the law and in every way be law-abiding and deal fairly with our fellowmen and apply the golden rule.

J. T. PUGH IS DEVELOPING HERD OF MILCH COWS

J. T. Pugh was here Wednesday from his farm, six miles east of town. He has a very interesting account on the development of his herd of milch cows, which proves that there is a profit to be made in the dairying and cattle raising business in this section, whether on a large or small scale.

R. B. Meador, traveling man from Oklahoma City, was here Wednesday.

Clovis Youth Caught Stealing Here Monday

Monday morning the appearance of an unaccompanied ten year old boy on the streets here attracted no special attention, until that night, when he asked for a room at a local hotel, and said he had no money with which to pay. He was admitted, and after lounging around for a while, produced some new articles which he offered for sale to the other lodgers. The Chief of Police immediately went to work on the case and found that the articles had been stolen from local business houses. The boy then "fessed up" and was made to help distribute the articles to those from whom he had stolen them.

He was seen later with his father and two larger brothers, who said they knew nothing of the boy's conduct. They had started for the oil fields, and the little fellow had been sent ahead on the passenger train, and the others expected to catch him, and arrive in Lubbock Monday night, but were unsuccessful in this matter, and the lad decided to occupy the time profitably until their arrival.

The embarrassment of distributing the goods to the owners, and making the confession to them was thought enough punishment for the offense, and the Chief released him with a warning to not be guilty of such offense again.

Farms in the Sudan Settlement Raided by Ducks

That ducks and geese are literally ruining the feedstuff that is not housed in the Sudan country was declared in a letter received by the Avalanche Monday, from L. E. Slator, with the Sudan Mercantile Company.

There are thousands of these birds to be seen in the early morning and at sunset making their way to and from the lakes and fields, and it is reported that one man has lost more than three hundred bushels of maize as a result of their raids on his place.

The cry for "help" was made in the letter, with a pressing invitation for Lubbock gunmen to come to their assistance to kill and drive them out. The reason for this invasion of ducks and geese is that there are so few places on the Plains where there has been enough rain to fill the lakes and they are taking advantage of the water in that country, and are so numerous that there is not enough food in the lakes to supply their needs, and the feed crop is taken as a second choice. It is very often the case on the Plains that they destroy the crops, but this is thought to be the first time they have invaded this locality.

POPULAR ABERNATHY COUPLE WED SUNDAY

A beautiful wedding was performed here New Year's morning when J. T. Miller and Miss Frances Arnett were joined in matrimony by Rev. J. W. Hembree.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Arnett, and has been active in the social work of the town.

Mr. Miller is one of the most promising young business men, and we are sure that through their combined efforts, social and religious work in Abernathy has two strong co-workers.

May the happiness of this New Year occasion remain with them throughout the coming year, and may they always hold a sign and a shining reward for their home and Abernathy is our greatest wish.

COMPANY WITH $30,000 CAPITAL TO FINANCE FARMERS IN BUYING DAIRY STOCK SHOULD BE FORMED AT ONCE

Anyone familiar with conditions here will realize that the things the Plains needs most are the simple, well tried and profitable business enterprises that are sure for large returns on small investments, and the most practical of these institutions, in the mind of the writer would be some well devised plan wherein the surplus money that the people just naturally will spend, regardless of the nature of things in attempts to get rich quick, be combined for the purpose of helping the farmer who is equipped for taking care of livestock with little cost, obtain a few head of milk cows that he might be given that much advantage to grow with the Plains and the rapid development which we are assured.

From authoritative statistics it has been shown that a thoroughbred milk cow will be self supporting a great deal of the time, and at the end of a series of five years will produce an offspring of eight head. These figures are, facts, and have been used by some of the best financed men in the country as laws of their business which they have adhered to, and thereby become known in the financial world. A company that will spend thirty-five thousand dollars in buying thoroughbred cattle and selling them to the farmers on such time, and on such low interest that they could pay for them from this assured offspring, and at the same time enjoy the benefits of the money derived from the sale of milk and butter, would prove a success here.

This proposition is neither unbound nor imaginative, as figures are figures, and the Plains are proven to be profitable and practical for the raising of cattle, and there are companies often formed that will invest even greater sums than the above amount, for operating oil companies, etc., etc., which are not a safe and sure propositions and when materialized, if ever, are not so beneficial to the development of the country in general.

A little assistance in this manner given the farmers here who are trying to make good without enough capital would be conducive for better conditions in every line of business in Lubbock before half the five years were past, and would last as long as there was a progressive element here, for this increase in five years would be multiplied by four in the tenth year (according to averages) and now who can realize the great improvement the beginning of such project would bring to this section in only a short time might understand its possibilities as the years go by.

If Lubbock county is to be made by the farmers why not see to it that something is done to help develop their earning power, and let the success that such project would bring to them stand out as one of our greatest achievements? Frankly now, wouldn't thirty-five thousand dollars invested in this manner return greater dividends and more general prosperity than the same amount placed in wildcatting for oil?

BLED SOE OIL WELL TO BE DRILLED TO 3500 FEET DEPTH—DRILLING WAS RESUMED LAST MONDAY MORNING

A letter received at the Avalanche from Abernathy, Tuesday, stated that the Bledsoe No. 1 was now under way of the drilling machine again, and that the slush bucket went down the full two thousand feet the first time it was placed in the hole since drilling stopped at the completion of the first contracted depth several weeks ago. This fact encouraged the driller and members of the company more than anything of note about the well, as there was constant danger of the well caving in during the stop.

The company that will complete the well is controlled by Lubbock and Hale county men, and is backed by sufficient capital to complete the test to at least thirty-five hundred feet of oil or gas is not found at a lesser depth.

There has been recent developments in the Howard and Mitchell counties (field to the south) that have made things look great better for that well than anything since the pocket of oil was struck at thirteen hundred feet in the first drilling. It is reported that a well in that field is making two hundred barrels per day.

The log of this well has paralleled that of the big gas wells in the Amarillo fields, with the exceptions that the formations here are about four hundred feet deeper than there, which is accepted as tangible evidence.

Car Owners Who Failed to Pay Tax By January First Are Subject to A Heavy Penalty if They Operate Cars

Approximately 25 per cent of the automobile owners of Lubbock county, are subject to a fine of from $10 to $100 for every day their car is operated on the county highways, according to Tax Collector, C. A. Holcomb.

Automobile taxes became delinquent Saturday at midnight, 1909 of the 1909 or more cars in the county had been registered for the year 1922, the Collector's report shows. This is considered exceptionally good in view of the fact that many of the Western counties have fallen far below this. Potter county having registered only about 50 per cent.

The twenty-five per cent penalty on delinquent automobile taxes is now effective until January 31st.

BLANTON WOULD ABOLISH BATHS TO CONGRESSMEN

Washington, Jan. 3.—On the theory that the pay of a member of Congress is sufficient to provide a home with a bath, Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, today introduced a bill to close the Free Bath Establishments, Turkish and domestic, in the House office building.

The measure would drop from the government payroll what the Texan described in his mind as "body rubbers."

Other bills introduced by the Texan would eliminate the house barber shop, where a member may have his hair cut at 25 cents, half the city price; and the House restaurant, run partly at government expense but without a corresponding reduction in prices.

Leases Will Be Sold

The company has large acreage of leases adjacent to the well, and the secretary, E. B. Rosser, of Abernathy, states that inquiries are reaching his office concerning these leases, and as the company has planned to sell them at a very reasonable price, there will be a renewal of business in that line, as during the favorable developments of the first test these leases made rapid gains, and as it is from these leases that the stockholders will receive compensation for the use of their money in this project it looks a great deal like they will have a well that will be drilled upon dividends produced from the company's original resources.

The good that this test will do to this section of West Texas is yet to be determined, yet all indications are good, and it is certain that the proposition this company was offered by the original driller, Mr. Bledsoe, is the fairest and cheapest means for completing a thorough test of the Plains ever offered, and if this well should be brought in, and there are many who are completely confident it will, the financial returns to the business men of the towns from where the money came to finance its drilling, will be unestimable; and the showing it will make for West Texas will be a great asset to the entire section.

Mr. Holcomb says, but if cars are operated during the month of January, without the required license, the fine may be imposed.

The taxpayers will be required to make affidavit that he has not run his car on the county highways during January if he escapes the provisions of the law.

The collector's office was taxed to almost its capacity during the last few days of the year and many cars were registered. The office was kept open until midnight the last days of the week to accommodate the taxpayers. Mr. Holcomb and his deputies are to be congratulated for the prompt and courteous treatment extended the public.

J. W. PATTERSONS' FAMILY NOW LIVING IN LUBBOCK

Mrs. J. W. Patterson and children, of Plainview, are here comfortably located in their new home. Mr. Patterson is the live manager of the Uradia station and has been here for some time. He experienced considerable difficulty in securing a home, and is mighty glad to have his family located here where he has so many friends. The Uradia business is growing under the efficient management of Mr. Patterson, and he has used the Avalanche extensively in making the merits of the product known to the people of this section, which shows that he knows how to do after business. May he enjoy a good through and successful business throughout 1922 is our wish.

LOCKNEY PIONEER DIED AT HIS HOME TUESDAY

Word was received at the Avalanche Wednesday that B. F. Rigdon, well known pioneer of Lockney, died at Hereford. The well will be similar to the city's well here but a five stage pump will be installed.

Lubbock County Tax Values Have Increased a Million

The tax rolls of the county show a total valuation of $12,024,594, one-half of which is covered by the valuation of lands outside of railroad properties, town sites and county parks. A total of 668,815 acres of land are rendered. Personal property totals $2,125,390 against a city property valuation of $2,716,910. Ninety-two miles of railroad in the county is valued at $655,990, rolling stock at $77,728 and intangible assets $154,460.

The total tax taken from the rendered rolls is $201,547.57, of which $74,553.74 goes to the State, $96,196.75 to the County and $30,797.08 to the schools.

ANOTHER BOXING BOUT MAY SOON BE ARRANGED

According to the Amarillo Tribune arrangements may soon be completed for another boxing bout that paper says:

Steps are being taken to match Kid Lewis of Amarillo, welterweight fighter, with "Clever" Joe Denton of Tahoka, for a ten-round bout to be staged at Plainview, Lubbock or Slator some time in the near future.

J. H. Denton, father of the hard-pounding Tahoka terror, was in Amarillo Saturday and Sunday and expressed the willingness of Joe to meet any man in his weight-class in the Panhandle of Texas.

Denton fought Tal Bentley of San Angelo at Lubbock on December 23 and kayoed him in the ninth round, according to reports from the South Plains city.

Denton is said to be in a much better condition at present and putting up a much better class of fight than when he met Larry Smith in a local ring, something like six months ago. He has been training with some very good men and has gained considerable knowledge along with his training.

Should Denton be able to stop the Amarillo boy he then is going after a match with Mike Baca, the welterweight champion of New Mexico.

A. & M. SQUAD DEFEATED DALLAS ELEVEN 22 TO 14

Dallas, Jan. 2.—The Texas A. & M. squad completely swept the Centre College eleven off their feet, upset the dope and won by a score of 22 to 14 here this afternoon.

A. & M. scored a safety in the first quarter, two touchdowns in the third and one in the fourth, failing to kick goal on the last touchdown. Centre scored a touchdown in each the third and fourth periods.

Cool, cloudy weather, with only a slight wind greeted the Centre and Texas A. & M. football squads when they went on the field for final limbering up before the game. Both teams received big ovations. "Bo" McMillan appeared on the field with his bride of a few hours and was greeted with as much enthusiasm as the teams themselves.

More than 10,000 fans had passed through the gates at the time play was called.

SLATON CITY WELL TO BE STARTED VERY SOON

Hereford, Jan. 3.—The contract for sinking a 24-inch well from which to supply water for the city of Slator has been secured by D. L. McDonald, who returned from that point a day or so ago. News was received this week that the Attorney General of Texas had approved the City of Slator's bonds, $55,000 for a sewerage system, and $35,000 for a water system and action in getting the contract followed.

It is understood that owing to excessive railroad charges in moving his equipment Mr. McDonald will sublet the drill contract to parties at Slator and will take personal charge of the drilling after striking water bearing sands, which is deeper than at Hereford. The well will be similar to the city's well here but a five stage pump will be installed.

LOCKNEY PIONEER DIED AT HIS HOME TUESDAY

Word was received at the Avalanche Wednesday that B. F. Rigdon, well known pioneer of Lockney, died at Hereford. The well will be similar to the city's well here but a five stage pump will be installed.

One of the most commendable moves that could be inaugurated in Lubbock early in the year would be a campaign for home ownership. We have stressed the need for more rent houses. This is well, and good in its place, but the tenant house is merely a makeshift for home, and one cannot have the same feeling of permanency as when a fellow has who owns his home, has a deed to the property, and knows that he is not to be molested on account of having same sold out from under him. The fellow that owns a home can go forward with improvements to his own liking, he can fix up his home to his own taste, which is beyond the privileges of the fellow who has nothing but rent receipts to show for the money he has invested in a place to stay.

The spirit of home ownership should be encouraged. It means much for the community. It means more happy homes, and a more permanent citizenship. We believe that about the best returns a man with some surplus money could get, would be to invest same in a fund to build homes for those who desire them on the easy payment plan. This plan has proven very profitable indeed, to the investors in the past and has been the means of helping hundreds of people to secure homes, who would have never been able to secure one in any other way. During the past year, quite a number of people have been enabled to buy homes by various firms, selling them in this way, and the plans have worked admirably, and has made many happy families, and they are beginning now to look forward with happy contemplation of receiving a receipt for the last payment and a deed to the home, which always gives a fellow courage to press forward, and when close times comes the dread of a hard landlord does not drive the father to desperation, and the mother to the washtub.

The local association could easily place half a million dollars with reliable, responsible people in the building of two hundred homes for people in this city, if they had the money, and the heads of this organization are endeavoring to interest a number of big capitalists in coming to Lubbock with their millions, backing them, so lend encouragement to the home ownership spirit, and it is hoped that within the year just begun that a million or more dollars can be procured for this purpose. In the meantime, and while these things are being worked out on a large scale, we would encourage the placing of your surplus money in things of this kind, where much good can be accomplished, and sure returns for the money invested.

Home ownership is the foundation of better civilization, and better civilization is the foundation of better government, all of which goes to making a more prosperous, happy and pleasant community, which insures contentment of our people.

BOY FATALLY INJURED WHEN CAR TURNED OVER

Acton Baker, son of Mrs. J. J. Baker is in the West Texas hospital in a very serious condition as the results of his car turning over Monday, while Mrs. Baker, Acton, and his sister, Miss Elene, were enroute to Abilene, where Miss Baker was to re-enter the Christian College after spending the holidays here.

They were riding in their new Overland roadster, and making good speed, when the car hit a sand bed and turned off the grade which is about five feet high. They were all pinned under the car. The ladies were not hurt, but the young man was bent backward causing his lower limbs.

He is now under the care of specialists in the West Texas Hospital.

THREE BRICK BUILDINGS CHANGED HANDS THIS WEEK

The brick buildings occupied by the Manhattan Parlor, the Gift Shop and Lyric Theatre were sold this week to J. S. Johnson, of Lubbock, by R. H. Lowrey.

The buildings are located on main street here and are modern throughout. Mr. Johnson has been in the ranching business here for many years, and has confidence in the future development of Lubbock. Mr. Lowrey is an old land mark in this section, having made Lubbock his home for many years.

LUBBOCK BOYS' AND GIRLS' BAND GETTING LINED UP

Prof. G. W. Wright was here Wednesday and held the first meeting of his band, where instructions were given. Forty girls and boys were present, and had a very interesting evening. They are expected to be making some pretty good music within a few weeks, as Mr. Wright stated that he would appear in public with the band two months after the date of this meeting.

"The Penalty"

The amazing story of a man with half a body and half a soul. The ruthless onslaught of a twisted soul against all the powers of God. Can a genius be made a demon by the stroke of a knife?—A story such as Victor Hugo might have gloried in writing—a drama of revenge that blazes like molten steel. Would you trade your soul for a sound body?—A typhoon of emotions, strong as life, relentless as death. The compelling story of a character as bizarre as a flash of lightning in a storm. ## An Alarming Shortage Found In Texas Hogs

Of the 2,225,558 hogs on Texas farms Jan. 1, 1920, more than half, or 1,113,033 were pigs—under 6 months old, according to a bulletin of the Texas Industrial Congress on the need of increased swine production, and more than 400,000 were hogs for breeding purposes. Deducting these there were less than 100,000 hogs suitable for slaughter.

If all the swine in the State at the beginning of 1920 had been converted into pork and distributed equally among the people, each person would have received less than half a hog, with no allowance for bone, fat or waste.

If the pigs and breeding stock were excluded, the per capita allowance would have been only three-tenths of one hog.

Distributed among the farms of the State there would have been an average of only five hogs to the farm, but the Census Bureau shows 129,934 farms that are without hogs.

This comparatively small supply of hogs does not begin to meet the demand of the people of Texas for pork, and the consequence is that vast sums are spent annually for the purchase of pork products from other States. Under present conditions it may not be profitable for the farmers of Texas to raise hogs for the market, but unquestionably they can not afford not to produce them for home use.

GAINS REPORTED BY BUSINESS MAN

Resident Of Salt Lake City Adds Ten Pounds While Wife Gains 28 Pounds In Weight

John J. Perry, 370. Quince St., well-known Salt Lake City, Utah, business man, in reporting remarkable gains in weight, both by himself and his wife, says:

"My wife gained twenty-eight pounds and I gained ten pounds in a few weeks by taking Tanlac. The change in Mrs. Perry is all the more remarkable, as she had been going down hill steadily for four or five years. She got no nourishment from her food and I don't believe she averaged three hours sleep out of the twenty-four."

"While my condition was not as serious as hers, I had been under the weather for some time had no appetite and was bothered a good deal by indigestion. Tanlac has certainly proved all and more than is claimed for it with us."

Tanlac is sold in all Leading Drug Stores.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS-CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or digest the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 40c per bottle.

Many have promised to join Lubbock Mutual Aid Association No. 3 after January 1st. We are ready to take your applications now. Elmo Wall, Secretary.

INVISIBLE "BUT IT'S THERE"

If you were asked if you believed in Electricity, your answer would be that you most assuredly did. Yet, if you were asked by someone to show them some electricity, you would not do so.

The same thing is true of Inate Intelligence —The mental impulses or nerve energy which is propelled over the nerve cables to the various organs in the body. You cannot see this great, natural phenomena, yet you can distinguish its manifestations in every action of the human body—either voluntary or involuntary. The fact that you cannot see it, or reduce it to any tangible substance, does not alter its existence.

Moreover, we are wholly unconscious of it most of the time; only in case of its quantity being materially impaired does this "CURRENT" give us any concern. When this does happen certain parts of your system suffer, according to the location of the "SHORT CIRCUIT." The logical thing to do when this happens is to go to a competent Chiropractor, have him adjust the vertebra (small bone of the spine), which is pressing upon the nerve furnishing the supply of nerve energy to the offending organ or tissue.—When this is accomplished, HEALTH will be the result.

THE MARKETING SYSTEM IS ALL OUT OF LINE WHICH CAUSES UNJUST PRICES TO THE FARMERS

A paper of pins is the same price the whole year round. In fact, the price varies very little in a whole generation. The same is true of a spool of thread, a package of gum, a box of soda, a pound of beans and practically everything else we buy to use in the home. The price is fixed. We do not know who fixes it, but somebody does. Excluding wartime, when everything was abnormal and unnatural, the price of the things most of us have to buy does not vary much. But how about the things that are offered for sale by those who produce them? For example, how about the price of eggs at this time? There are records where the price of eggs has varied within a year 1,000 per cent. Last Spring when the egg harvest was on throughout the whole country, as it is every Spring, eggs were forced down in many places to 10 cents per dozen. No wonder there are many city women who will pay $1 per dozen for eggs to bake their Christmas cakes. What does this mean? It simply means that there is no order, no system, no sense to the egg market. The people, and most of the people who send eggs to market, are women and children, who do all the work to make the Christmas cakes possible for the Nation, received 10 cents per dozen for the products of their labor, and the women and children who make the Christmas cakes must pay $1 per dozen for the same eggs a few months later. Have the eggs improved by age, 1,000 per cent? As a rule, eggs do not improve with age. The question we would like to have answered and we believe there are millions of other women who would like to know the answer, is this: Who gets the 90 cents per dozen difference from the first selling price to the last buying price? Does it cost 90 cents to keep a dozen eggs through the Summer? There are few things in which the producer and the consumer are so far apart as they are on a dozen eggs. And yet how often in reality they are only a few miles apart at the beginning and at the end of the life of those eggs.

In this case who is the victim; the producer or the consumer? And how many more thousand years do you think an intelligent nation should endure such conditions?

The greatest desire of the rural woman at this time is not a woman's club. It is not an automobile. It is not a light and power plant. It is not running water in her home. It is not to move to town, as so many accuse her of. It is not to get out of honest, hard work. It is not ease and luxury, pleasure and entertainment. The greatest desire of the women on the farm today is a just and standard market for all her products that are left over after her own family is fed. When she can have this, all the other things will come. And they will come in an honorable, honest, business-like way. If women and children on the farm could get what they ought to get for the eggs and chickens, the milk and butter, the fruit and vegetables, there would not be an uncomfortable rural home in a few years. Women love their homes better than any other material thing on earth. They take more pride in their homes until it is literally starved out of them and they give up all hope of ever having a pretty home. Women would work day and night if they knew by so doing they could have the desires of their heart for their home and children and get them in a dignified, upright way, by working for them, and then exchanging the products of their work for the things they need.

The cry of the country woman today is: "Give us a just market for our products all the year around and we will supply every convenience and comfort for our home and be happy and satisfied on the farm." There are other things that enter the life of the country home, but none so vitally affects the health and happiness, the comfort and convenience and the contentment of the country home as this unstable, unfair, unbusiness like way of marketing the products of her time and strength.

But don't give up. Don't get the blues. Don't die if you can help it for a while yet. For we do believe the Texas Farm Bureau will get to the home interests pretty soon. All over this great State the producer and the consumer are gradually drawing a little closer together. One by one the products of the farm are being organized and controlled by the power of unity and purpose. In California they took up the perishable products first because they are their main crops. They will get to the same things in Texas before many more years. Don't give up. A better day is almost here.—Phebe K. Warner in Star-Telegram.

FIZ AND FRANCOIS

By Annilla Greene

Fiz and Francois were not afraid of the two big Indians into whose canoe they and the eagles fell. But they did wonder where they were going and what they would do with them. They tried to talk to the Indians, but soon found they could not make them understand. The Indians grunted and motioned a great deal to themselves, but the children could make nothing of what they said. Soon, however, they reached the shore and the biggest and brownest Indian whose name was Kiwona, stepped out of the canoe and fastened it to a small tree that grew in the edge of the river. The other Indian, Kinchiko, stayed in the canoe and lifted the children out. Then, taking the eagles under his arms, Kinchiko, gave a quick jump and after turning three somersaults, stood on his feet several yards from the edge of the water. Fiz and Francois were amazed at the wonderful strength of the Indian, and hoped he would not be unkind to the eagles; but suddenly they saw him thrust one of them between his legs where he held it firmly with his knees. Then from his belt he drew a hatchet, and raising it high above his head he gave a yell that sounded as if a hundred mountains had tumbled onto each other. Fiz and Francois were so terrified at first they could not move, but the next moment Francois fell on the neck of her eagle and Fiz leaped high in the air and caught the upraised arm of the Indian with a force that the hatchet fell from his hand. Kinchiko was furious and sprang to recover his hatchet, but Wiwawa, who had been silently watching him, sprang in front of him and grasped it first. Then Kinchiko drew from his belt a long and pointed knife, and scowling low on the ground, gave a mighty leap toward Kiwawa. But Kiwawa fell to the ground just as Kinchiko sprang at him, so that Kinchiko sprang over him and fell into the river. The water at that part of the river was not deep, but the quicksand was so deep that Kinchiko's head struck first, and went deep into the sand so that he could not get it out. Kiwawa went to the edge of the water expecting to see Kinchiko swimming out but all he saw was two big brown feet kicking and splashing against the bank just above the water. Just then a big turtle came by and snapped into one of the toes, and then the kicking and splashing grew more furious. Kiwawa first tried to rid the toe of the turtle, but soon found that the turtle was determined to stay with it until it thundered. Then he tried with all his great strength to pull Kinchiko out of the sand and river but he could not, so he motioned to Fiz and Francois to help, but even then they could not budge him. Then Francois went and brought the eagles. At first they did not seem to understand and only looked on silently, which Kiwawa and the children pulled almost exhausted themselves and Kinchiko's legs were beginning to feel limp and lifeless, when suddenly the two eagles touched their beaks together, raised their great wings and balanced themselves just above the body of the sinking Kinchiko. Then they carefully reached their long legs into the water and fastened their talons around his buckskin belt. They flapped their wings and pulled with all their strength and soon brought up the almost lifeless Indian. They might have carried him back to their mountain home and made a square meal of him if they had had the strength, but they were weak from their long flight so they laid him on the ground at the feet of Fiz and Francois.

W. A. KIMBRELL WILL INCREASE FARM ACREAGE

W. A. Kimbrell was here Wednesday from his farm, eight miles east of town, looking after business. He is one of the farmers who made it a paying proposition here last year, and said he expected to plant a large cotton crop next year on the L. C. Denton place, south of town. There is now seventy acres of land in cultivation, and he expects to break about forty acres of new land. These farmers are doing more progressive constructive work every time they break an acre of sod than any of us realize, and which will show up on the profit side of the ledger when old man Harvest makes a report.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rattling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely blocked, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarhal, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hair's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the ear.

LUBBOCK VISITED BY SHOWER TUESDAY NIGHT

The first indication of a break in the drought that has been a source of so much worry for local farmers came Tuesday night when a large cloud from the northwest swept the country with local showers. It is needless to say that there are those who hope this disturbed atmospheric condition will continue until a good "soaker" comes our way, as the progress of our farmers has been checked to a great extent by the dry weather. The majority of them, however, are going about their work with sturdy determination and will be ready to start something after the first rain and we hope there will be but a few more days to wait.

PREPARE FOR DISASTER WHICH IS COMING IN 1926

According to the prophets the year 1926 is destined to be one of disasters that will shake the world to its foundation. It is to be a year fraught with plagues, rioting and revolutions, floods and famine.

This prediction is handed out by the professional prophets union of London. About this time last year this prophets union predicted that 1921 would be the worst year ever experienced. The truth of this prediction can be left to the opinion of the general public.

It has been charged time and again by disbelievers in professional prophets that their predictions are based on the short-memory of the public.

We are about of the same opinion as the Albuquerque Morning Journal, which puts it this way:

"The only way to be pretty sure of having your predictions come to pass is to prophesy something pleasant and cheerful. That's the sort of thing that happens lots of times in this good old world of ours than the horrors emanating from the maddened minds of these chronic Casandras. Really, the world has no use for these wailers who 'lag superfluous on the stage.'"

CHIROPRACTIC HEALTH TALK NO THREE

The liver is the largest gland in the body. It forms the bile, aids digestion, and helps to produce the body heat.

If your liver does not function properly, it is because the nerve that carries life and health to that organ is obstructed at the spine where it exists or leaves to carry health giving power to the liver from the spinal cord, which power comes from the brain, but can only be cut off by pressure at the spine and thereby cause liver troubles, while if it was another joint of the spine that was out of line it would cut off the nerve function, life or healing power, from some other organ of the body and cause an abnormal condition, called Disease, in some other organ of the body, for instance, if it was the eleventh Dorsal vertebra that was out of line, it would cause a kidney disease and when it is properly adjusted by a trained Chiropractor it relieves the pressure from the kidney nerve and thereby turns life and health to the kidneys.

Nothing can register or suffer but a nerve, where there is no nerve function there is no life, or healing power. Turn on the current and you will have light. We make calls all over the Plains, day or night. We keep a lady Chiropractor of the highest quality all the time; bring your wife and daughter to see her. We keep three to four real Chiropractors here with us in the Burrus Bldg., where we have been for the past four years. ### METHODIST CHURCH

Missionary Society
Friday afternoon, December 30th, at the home of Mrs. R. I. Tubbs, the officers of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, met in Executive session to discuss and institute plans for the New Years work. On account of sickness, some of the new officers could not be present.
A spirit of enthusiasm prevailed in this meeting and we hope great good will result. After a busy afternoon, Mrs. Tubbs catered to the appetites of those present with an Xmas dainty.
Monday afternoon at 2:30 the Womens' Missionary Society met in the first regular business session of the year. There was a good and interested attendance. Mrs. Ferguson brought the devotional, making a splendid talk, followed by prayer and song.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and approved.
Officers made reports, also all outstanding committees.
A number of resignations were read, resulting in the re-election of the following officers:
Supt. of local work, Mrs. Baugh;
Supt. of Social work, Mrs. J. T. Hutchison;
Corresponding Secty., J. P. Posey;
Supt. supplies, Mrs. Pickens.
After discussion, it was decided to have a social hour and a public installation of officers, and invite our District Secy., Mrs. Dr. Adams, of Idaho, to be with us sometime during January. A motion prevailed to make our pledge for 1922, $2.00.
The society also decided we have a social every month throughout the year, instead of quarterly.

We have gained quite a few members recently and hope to enlist new women every meeting this year. We feel that the society will move along splendidly when the new officers learn their obligation. As all seem eager and anxious that this will be one of the best years. The study class will meet next Monday at 2:30 p. m. Every member of the school is urged to be present whether a member of the class or not.—Contributed.

The State of Texas, County of Lubbock.
Whereas, By virtue of an order of Sale issued out of the District Court of Lubbock County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 15th day of December A. D. 1921, in favor of Louis A. ### SOCIETY NOTES

Wednesday Needle Club.
The Wednesday Needle Club will meet with Mrs. Joe Smith at her mother's home, January 11, 3 p. m., with Mrs. Geo. W. Briggs joint hostess.

"Maggie and Jiggs" Club
Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Haley, assisted by Mrs. Will Barnett entertained the "Maggie and Jiggs" Club at their home on Avenue O, Tuesday night. A large number of the members were present, and a mighty good time was had. There were four tables where much enthusiasm was shown in each "hand" at the close of which Mesdames Will Barnett and Neal Douglass tied for high score for the ladies, and E. C. Simmons held high for the men, the lobby score being held by Bennett Slagle and Will Barnett.

A delicious luncheon of salad, cake, chicken sandwiches and coffee was served, and the guests departed with high esteem of their hosts, and grateful for the manner in which they had been entertained.
The Club meets every other Tuesday night and the next meeting will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Moore.

20th Century Club
The 20th Century Club held its regular meeting at the Methodist Church on the afternoon of December 27. The lesson was ably conducted by Mrs. A. W. McKee.

This club is now having an interesting series of lessons on "The Great Rivers of the World," in which the members have shown much enthusiasm and are angling themselves to the study in a most commendable way with splendid results. Child Welfare has been chosen as the more serious side of the club activity, and the specially appointed committee to care for this work has done some good and noticeable work. Shades have just been purchased for the windows at the high school building, for which the club contributed forty dollars, the school board furnishing the remainder of the amount, also the club is trying to arouse greater interest in the study of English in this school by offering a gold medal to the pupil who writes the best essay. The subject and the rules of the contest will be announced later.

The Parent-Teachers Club
The Parent-Teachers Club will meet in regular business session Thursday, Jan. 12th, 1922, at Geo. M. Hunt school building at four o'clock. All patrons or any one interested in school work is cordially invited to attend.

There is much to be done. We trust there will be many more join us in this work. Your cooperation will be very much appreciated.

One of the most enjoyable events of the holidays was a party given by Mamie Neal, complimenting Miss Ellen M. Blomquist, a student of Bethany University in Kansas.

The home was beautifully decorated with tiny golden bells and holly wreaths, and a large Christmas tree in the living-room added to the holiday spirit.

Progressive "42", the principal diversion of the evening, was interspersed with conversation and music. Two vocal selections rendered by Ellen M. Blomquist were highly appreciated by the guests.

Dainty refreshments, consisting of pimento and date sandwiches, peanut butter, biscuits, fruit salad and coffee were served to the following: Misses Olive Michael, Leona Burns, Cecil Sims, Frances Conley, Irma Glave, Ora Brown, Gladys Pryor, Gladys Clem, Ellen M. Blomquist and Ruby Peak. Mrs. E. P. Earhart Jr. and Mrs. Mamie Neal, Messrs. H. W. Broughton, E. P. ### TEXAS LAND EXCHANGE LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

C. W. and J. E. Alexander, managers and owners of the Texas Land Exchange, recently placed large orders for job printing with the Avalanche, which they are using in their campaign for more farmers for the Plains.

These men are awake to the needs of their trade, and are certain of the fact that the best and easiest way to get land buyers on the line is to make an attractive proposition and put it before them so often and in such manner as will cause them to take notice of what they are offered, and this was the very purpose for which their circulars are designed. It takes no little time to make a land business known to those interested in buying lands; and these men have worked hard and systematically for this end, and are receiving first-hand evidence of the worth of their advertising in the men who they have brought here in that way. They have sold lands to men who are now recognized as the county's best developers, and for this reason it is impossible to estimate the good these men have done for Lubbock. It takes farmers to make the Plains produce its maximum wealth, and if the Alexander boys have their way there will be enough farmers here within a few months to establish an unexcelled producing record in 1922.

State Superintendent Blanton Says Special Appropriation Should Be Made for School Purposes in Texas

The most important work which devolves upon the family, the community, the State, the Nation, is the training of our future citizens. In size, the population, in material wealth Texas ranks among the first States of the Union, but its standing in education is comparatively low. In 1918 it was ranked as thirty-ninth in education, but it has now advanced five points in educational rating, its present position being thirty-fourth.

At present one-fourth of our children drop out of school at the fourth grade and the average time of quitting school for the State as a whole is the sixth grade. Only one child out of ten reaches the high school, and only 2 per cent of those entering the first grade are graduated from the high school. But Texas stands first among the States of the Union in the percentage of high school graduates that afterward attend college.

During the last two years Texas has almost doubled its State support of public schools. It advanced from a State per capita appropriation of $7.50 in 1918 to $14.50 in 1920; from an appropriation of $1,000,000 per year for the special support of rural schools in 1918 to double that amount in 1920. Having made this progress as a result of serious deterioration in teaching forces and of strenuous campaigns for better schools, the State in 1921 has started again on the downward grade in the matter of school support. At a time when the value of education is felt as never before at a time when children are turned from many schools already filled beyond seating capacity, at a time when many overworked teachers are instructing two shifts of children a day, State support of schools in Texas, instead of continuing to advance, has started on the downward grade.

Per Capita Fund Reduced.

From a $14.50 per capita in 1920 the State has dropped to a $13 per capita in 1921. The State per capita appropriation for the public schools is derived from the following sources: First, the income or the permanent school fund, amounting approximately to $3,500,000 per year second, one-fourth of all of the occupation taxes, third $1 from each State poll tax, and fourth, a 35c ad valorem tax for the support of the schools and the purchase of free textbooks. The law provides that the residue of the latter tax, after books are purchased, shall remain in the available school fund. Fifteen cents of this tax is the addition to the former 25c school, which was voted when the free textbook amendment was adopted. Of the product of this 15c tax, $2,138,000 was left from the textbook expenditures in 1920-21, and it is estimated that the residue in 1921-22 will be $2,660,000. These sums, then, accruing from the textbook tax, have aided in increasing the State per capita. The maximum appropriation of 1920-21, however, was also partly due to the increased income from oil taxes, and to the appropriation by the Thirty-Sixth Legislature of $4,000,000 from the general funds of the State to increase the salaries of public school teachers. The drop to $13 in 1921-22 is due, to three causes: First, a reduction in the amount of oil taxes; second, the fact that the Thirty-Seventh Legislature for this session appropriated from the general funds $3,000,000 instead of the former $4,000,000 for the public school per capita; and third, an increase in the scholastic enumeration. When the divisor is increased the quotient is reduced unless the dividend has been correspondingly increased.

Special support for the rural schools has been decreased by 15 per cent, the Thirty-Seventh Legislature having appropriated for this purpose, for the present session only $1,500,000 instead of the former amount of $2,000,000. In addition, about 700 more schools are asking for aid from this fund, than made application last session.

We are facing a probability of having a State per capita of approximately $10.50. For the rural schools the special appropriation for next session is $1,000,000, necessitating a still smaller allowance for each school than that given this year. If the reduction this year is resented, what will be the feeling when next year's budget is made?

Means Reduced Salaries

The prospective reduction in State revenues for schools next session means reduction in teachers' salaries and shortening of school terms throughout the State, with a consequent lowering of standards educationally. While there has been no scarcity of teachers this year, this is true only as regards immature or poorly trained teachers. Eighty per cent of our rural teachers and 20 per cent of our town teachers have no college training. Only 16 per cent of our rural teachers and 30 per cent of our town teachers are normal school graduates. Fifty per cent of our rural teachers have certificates below the first grade. The average salary of the high school teacher of the United States was $1,677 and that of Texas, $1,297.

To my mind two courses of action are necessary to keep our schools on the upward grade. (1). The friends of education in the State should ask for a special session of the Legislature to make an appropriation from the general funds of the State sufficient to place the State per capita for next session at not less than $14.50, and to raise the appropriation for rural schools to $2,000,000. (2). The Thirty-Eighth Legislature should submit to the vote of the people an amendment to the State constitution whereby the present 35c tax for school purposes will be raised to 50c, the product of 10c of this tax to be devoted to special aid of rural schools under provisions made by the State Board of Education. By the passage of such an amendment, State support of schools in Texas will be stabilized, and our rural schools secured in their right to special help from the State, more nearly to equalize school advantages in the weak districts. Democracy in Texas can not be made safe without something like equality of opportunity to be educated, for the country child as well as the child in the city. The education of all the children of Texas should be a matter of concern to every patriotic citizen of the State. Shall we continue the downward grade as shall we make a determined effort to gain for our State the rank educationally which it holds in lines of material progress?

Springfield Mo.—"My back was so weak I could hardly stand up, and I would have bearing-down pains and was not well at any time," says Mrs. B. V. Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. "My husband, having heard of Cardui, proposed getting it for me. I saw after taking some Cardui... that I was improving. The result was surprising. I felt like a different person.

"Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me... My doctor said I got along fine. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it."

er as she picked up from the lawn a once-lovely hair-ribbon, now utterly ruined by the rain of the night before.

"Betty was not only careless in the matter of hair-ribbons but was always losing her handkerchiefs, needlessly scuffing new shoes and tearing little frocks.

"Of course she doesn't realize that these things cost money," mused her mother, "and yet she is not too young to learn that they do." Then she concluded that Betty could learn their value in no better way than to earn the money and pay for some of the things herself, small ones at first, more expensive ones as she grew older.

That very day the opportunity presented itself, for Betty came running home from Kindergarten, flushed and starry-eyed with the news that an outdoor festival was to be held on the school grounds and she was to be one of a group of fairies, "all dressed in white with big bows of ribbon on our hair." Then all at once Betty's enthusiasm died as her eyes fell on the bedraggled ribbon that her mother had found on the lawn. She remembered having lost it the evening before, but she had been so anxious to play she had not stopped to pick it up. Slowly she looked at her mother. "I'll need a new one, Mother," she said. "Yes, you will need a new one," her mother answered, "but suppose you earn the money for it all by yourself." Betty was delighted with the plan and anxious to begin, and it was surprising how many tasks mother found for her to do, wisely paying only what she considered the actual value of the work to be. And incidentally Betty learned that her work had to be well done before she could be paid for it.

Dandelions dug out of the lawn brought a number of pennies to Betty, and going on errands was also remunerative. Then at dish-washing time, she wiped the silver and the smaller pieces of china.

Eagerly Betty did some task each day, which was not so irksome with an end in view, and proudly she counted her pile of pennies which grew day by day.

Then on the night before the festival Mother and Betty went to shop for the coveted ribbon which Betty herself was to select. At her mother's wise suggestion that fairies usually dressed in very dainty colors, Betty chose a lovely pale blue ribbon.

How excited Betty was on the day of the festival! And she looked truly fairy-like in her dainty white costume, while the ribbon, like a huge butterfly, adorned her hair.

That night as Mother was ready to turn out the light after tucking her little girl in bed, Betty suddenly sprang up, calling, "Oh! wait just a minute, Mother, I want to put away my new ribbon. You know that cost a lot of money." And Mother smiled happily. Betty was at least beginning to learn the value of her things.

WITH LUBBOCK BUSINESS MEN

Notwithstanding the heading on these items which apparently necessitates speaking of "men," it will be news of unusual interest in business circles to know that the O'Neal Shop, the Exclusive Ladies Store which began operation under the management of the O'Neal sisters about one year ago, has been purchased by the Mallard Sisters, well known in this city. This business is now in charge of the new owners. The Misses O'Neal came to our city from Olney and though they will not return to make that place their home, they will leave in a few days for Olney on a short visit with relatives.

Barrier Brothers will open Saturday with one of their "Slaughter" Sales. People have learned to know that when Barrier Brothers declares a sale, bargains are to be had. No doubt this will be the case again this time. The sale will run for two weeks, closing January 21.

A man recognized as a moderately successful business man and who has lived in Lubbock for many years can find no better investment, after searching carefully over offerings in various sections, than right in his home town. Thus J. S. Johnson demonstrated in the purchase of the three Lowrey buildings in our city. "Lubbock surrounded by the finest diversified section of the finest portion of the State (and Mr. Johnson has been at one time a black land farm owner) is bound to grow into a real city. Conditions are pointing to this fact according to Mr. Johnson and his further faith in Lubbock is demonstrated in the above mentioned investment.

To have lost in business alone during the past year or more would almost be indisputable evidence that something was wrong with your methods of doing business, but to know that most of your competitors have suffered losses similarly and that even those concerns whose business amounts to millions and millions annually have also lost money, is good news to the merchant inasmuch as he is in a position to go on with an equal chance. Striking evidence of the great losses sustained by large companies was given us by A. B. Conley, who keeps in touch daily with the financial conditions of Dry Goods merchants all over the country through a daily publication devoted to that line of business. It was the case of where Julius Kaussenwald, President of Sears Roebuck & Co., one of the country's largest mail order houses, who came to the assistance of that corporation by making a cash purchase from the company's real estate holdings, amounting to about sixteen million dollars, and besides gave to the company five million dollars' worth of stock, altogether about twenty-one million dollars. This was done before financial figures showing the corporation's standing was made and its purpose is self evident. This concern during 1920 did a volume of business amounting to about two hundred and seventy million of dollars while the figures for 1921 show only about one hundred and seventy million of dollars of business was done. Another incident pertaining to Montgomery Ward & Company, who it is claimed by experts suffered a loss of practically nine millions of dollars for 1920—that is, an operating loss, and that negotiations are reported whereby the stock of this concern or shares may be sold at $10 each which would have brought at one time, around $50, we are informed. Thus local merchants or smaller town merchants who have participated in the sufferings occasioned by losses of the past year are by no means alone.

The last day of the year of 1921 was by several hundred dollars the largest day's business done that year by the store of A. B. Conley, Jr., informs Mr. Conley who is mentioned over the success of his January Clearance Sale and is very confident of the future since he has seen it demonstrated that the public will buy when prices suit them.

F. R. Friend is a believer in Lubbock county lands. Since he came to our country only a few months ago from Childress he has demonstrated that fact and now repeats with the news that he has closed a deal whereby he becomes owner of a half section of land ten miles northeast of town, better known as half of the home section of the Shewalter farm. This land will be cultivated, that means that fences will be built, a house, and the necessary buildings for making the land a suitable place for a home. Mr. Friend also would have told us that he was going to rent the land out if he hadn't been afraid that there would be a deluge of prospective renters sail down upon him. However, we won't tell about the disposition of this newly acquired property.

Automatically with the ringing in, the shooting and otherwise noising in of the New Year, Coca Cola began selling at five cents a glass in Lubbock. Surely the war must be over!

R. M. Harkey, Veterinarian of this city was called to the Cap Rock Jersey Farm the first of this week to make a post mortem examination on one of Mr. Guy's fine cows. Mr. Harkey reported that the examination revealed the presence of two pieces of balling wire and a small piece of metal, about the size of a dollar, in the stomach of the cow, which was cause of death. The cow was insured in the amount of $2,675.

P. N. Montgomery, traveling freight and passenger Agent of the Santa Fe railroad company of Amarillo, was in our city Thursday of this week getting acquainted with some of our business men.

SAM T. DAVIS IS NOW HOSPITAL EXECUTIVE

Sam T. Davis, ex-county Clerk, and possibly one of the most popular men in Lubbock county, is now at the head of the West Texas Hospital taking care of the business matters of that institution in his usual efficient manner.

He was having a time, when we called on him Thursday, determining the difference between a patient's report and a wedding license, and admitted he had much rather keep tab on the latter, but expected to become better acquainted with the forms, etc. of that hospital in the very near future.

Sam T. Davis is good at anything he goes at, and even if there is a little difference in a county docket and an operation order he will handle either in his usual way, which is hard to equal, and we are sure that what the West Texas Hospital board of directors employed him Lubbock county lost one of its most courteous and apt officials.

ABERNATHY EDITOR VISITED IN LUBBOCK WEDNESDAY

Editor Redman, of the Abernathy Review, was here again Wednesday, looking after the interest of his paper. He has a host of friends here, who are receiving considerable satisfaction in knowing that he is so successful with that paper. The people of Abernathy have something to be proud of in the Review, as each issue is a credit to the town and community. The merchants of that place are certainly live wires, and are keeping step with Mr. Redman in boosting their resources and possibilities.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 2, 1922.—The live stock markets started the new year with trade active and prices firm to higher. Hogs were steady to 25 cents higher than last week's close, top $7.35. All-fat steers sold readily at steady prices and butcher cattle, calves and bulls were strong. Stockers and feeders were strong to higher. Fat sheep were 10 to 15 cents higher, and the lambs strong. The Eastern meat situation has improved, and more even market for live stock is expected.

Today's Receipts.

Receipts today were 9000 cattle, 10,000 hogs, and 4000 sheep, compared with 3500 cattle, 4500 hogs, and 10,000 sheep a week ago, 7750 cattle, 7850 hogs, and 8125 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle

There was ample demand to care for all the fat cattle offered today at steady to strong prices. Plain heavy steers sold slowly, but other classes were in active demand. Most of the good steers here sold at $7.00 to $7.60, nothing prime was available. Fair to good kinds brought $6.50 to $7.00 and common to fair kinds $5.50 to $6.25. Local killers took most of the fat steers. Shipping demand for butcher grades. Cows sold largely at $4.00 to $5.00. Veal calves were firm. Bulls were strong to slightly higher.

Stockers and Feeders

Receipts of stock and feeding cattle were small and demand was active at strong prices. Stock cows and heifers were 10 to 15 cents higher, and stock calves strong. Indications are that demand for this cattle this month will be large.

Hogs

Hog prices were irregular. Shippers, order buyers and traders bought 140 to 240 pound grades at 15 to 25 cents higher prices than last week's close. Packers bid 10 to 15 cents lower at the outset and finally bought the supply left by shippers at steady prices. The top price was $7.35, and bulk of hogs $6.85 to $7.25. Pigs sold up to $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs

Fat ewes sold mostly at $4.50, and were quoted strong to 25 cents higher. Fat lambs were steady at $10.50 to $11.00. Poultry were below urgent demand and the general market in a firm position.

Horses and Mules

Inquiry for horses and mules improved some at the start this week, and by next week much larger demands and supplies are expected.

NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM MONROE COMMUNITY

Our school opened with a full attendance and much enthusiasm.

Our Primary teacher, Miss Tannyhill is boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Bondy, since her parents have moved near Abernathy. We regret to lose this family from Monroe, as they are all very competent and willing to help in all our enterprises, and will be missed very much.

W. T. Thaxton and family have moved from their beautiful home here to live in Lubbock, where they conduct a very successful business in the Cafe on the north side. This family has helped to make society pleasant in the school house and we still count on them to come back and attend all our gatherings.

We hear that Mr. Barber will occupy the house vacated by the Thaxtons and we gladly welcome them in our midst.

Mr. Jim King and family are occupying the house made vacant by Leslie Thaxton and wife, while we have a nice large family from Lexona to occupy the home in which Mr. King and family lived last year. We failed to learn the name of this family, but will want all of them to know that we make them welcome.

Mr. Sanford and sons have moved to Center community since his daughter Katie, is married and Louise is living in Amarillo.

The wedding bells were ringing here on Dec. 28th, when Mr. Clarence Warden, of Russellville, Ky., was married to Minnie Williams, of the parsonage in Lubbock, by the Cumberland Presbyterian preacher, Mr. Baker. Only a few close friends knew of this romance of long standing, which terminated in this union. Mr. Warden is a stranger to us, but comes highly recommended by those who know him. Miss Minnie is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams, who live 2 miles south of Monroe, and is a young woman of sterling character and is loved by a large circle of friends here and at Savoy, Texas, where she grew to womanhood. Mr. and Mrs. Warden will make their home here, and our sincere wish is that they may be very happy and successful.

Mr. Ward Crim and wife gave a sumptuous dinner on Dec. 28th to a number of relatives from Abernathy, Lubbock and other places.

Andrew Graham and family have returned from Harper, Kansas, where they spent Christmas with the ladies' mother, Mrs. Wood.

Miss Leola Cox was joined here by her assistant teacher, Miss Valma Lightfoot and they went back to teach a school near Crosbyton, after a visit with homefolks.

Dorling Cox and sister, Miss Irene left last Sunday via auto. for Canyon, to attend normal school where they expect to receive permanent certificates during this year. We wish for them unbounded success.

Miss Willie Mae Bratcher, of Lubbock, spent a few days here with her cousin, Mrs. R. Bondy, and attended our Christmas tree.

Our Merchant and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Canell, were entertaining their son and grandson from Mississippi last week. They were not looking for this great pleasure and the glad surprise was complete.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Long were seeing the old year out in Lubbock last Saturday p. m.

With heartiest good wishes for our force on the Avalanche, who are making a brave fight to benefit us all.

Judge George W. Neil of Brownfield, who was here one or two days the first of this week reports that the bond election was defeated last Saturday by a substantial majority. "Conditions were very unfavorable for the issuance of bonds in that city" the Judge tells us.

The Rotary Code of Ethics

For Business Men of All Kinds

Adopted by the Sixth Annual Convention of the International Association of Rotary Clubs at San Francisco, July 19-23, 1915

MY BUSINESS STANDARDS shall have in them a note of sympathy for our common humanity. My business dealings, ambitions and relations shall always cause me to take into consideration my highest duties as a member of society. In every position in business life, in every responsibility that comes before me, my chief thought shall be to fill that responsibility and discharge that duty so when I have ended each of them, I shall have lifted the level of human ideals and achievements a little higher than I found it. As a Rotarian it is my duty:

1ST: To consider my vocation worthy, and as affording me distinct opportunity to serve society.

2ND: To improve myself, increase my efficiency and enlarge my service, and by so doing attest my faith in the fundamental principle of Rotary, that he profits most who serves best.

3RD: To realize that I am a business man and ambitious to succeed; but that I am first an ethical man, and wish no success that is not founded on the highest justice and morality.

4TH: To hold that the exchange of my goods, my services and my ideals for profit is legitimate and ethical, provided that all parties in the exchange are benefitted thereby.

5TH: To use my best endeavors to elevate the standards of the vocation in which I am engaged, and so to conduct my affairs that others in my vocation find it wise, profitable and conducive to happiness to emulate my example.

6TH: To conduct my business in such a manner that I may give a perfect service equal to or better than my competitor, and when in doubt to give added service beyond the strict measure of debt or obligation.

7TH: To understand that one of the greatest assets of a profession or of a business man is his friends and that any advantage gained by reason of friendship is eminently ethical and proper.

8TH: To hold that true friends demand nothing of one another and that any abuse of the confidence of friendship for profit is foreign to the spirit of Rotary and in violation of its Code of Ethics.

9TH: To consider no personal success legitimate or ethical which is secured by taking unfair advantage of certain opportunities in the social order that are absolutely denied others, nor will I take advantage of opportunities to achieve material success that others will not take because of the questionable morality involved.

10TH: To be not more obliging to a Brother Rotarian than I am to every other man in human society; because the genius of Rotary is not in its competition; but in its co-operation; for provincialism can never have a place in an institution like Rotary, and Rotarians assert that Human Rights are not confined to Rotary Clubs, but are as deep and broad as the race itself; and for these high purposes does Rotary exist to educate all men and all institutions.

11TH: Finally, believing in the universality of the Golden Rule, all things whatsoever ye would that men shall do unto you, do ye even so unto them, we contend that society best holds together when equal opportunity is accorded all men in the natural resources of this planet.

U. S. GOVERNMENT TREASURY SHOWS MONETARY WEALTH OF OVER EIGHT BILLION DOLLARS

Washington, Jan. 1.—The United States Government, with a monetary wealth of $8,224,000,000, enters the new year—as the richest nation on earth.

The Government winds up its 1921 affairs with a cash balance of approximately $475,000,000 in the treasury. At the same time, the public debt stands at $23,462,000,000 a reduction of about $450,000,000 being effected during the year.

Treasury Department figures showed that $5,518,000,000 of Uncle Sams wealth was in actual circulation, the remainder being held in the treasury as guarantees for silver certificates. Subsidiary silver coins total $272,000,000, of which about $260,000,000, are in circulation. There is also $272, 800,000, in subsidiary silver of which approximately $260,000,000, is in circulation.

Included in the nations monetary wealth are $346,000,000, in United States notes, $2,736,500,000 in Federal reserve notes, $116,600,000, in Federal reserve bank notes, and $749,700,000 in national bank notes. Some of these bank notes are held in the treasury, but the amount in actual circulation totals approximately $3,642,000,000. There are also in circulation gold and silver certificates, backed by the deposits held in the treasury.

During the year the government paid off more than $3,000,000,000 on the public debt, but created debts totaling approximately $2,550,000,000 in round figures. This counted for a reduction of $450,000,000 in the total public debt.

Frank White, treasurer of the United States, predicts "better times ahead" and a substantial improvement in financial and industrial conditions during the coming year.

White urged the lifting of restrictions in the money market and asserted that an extension of bank credits was "absolutely necessary." He contended that money conditions indicate a business revival which can be continued in 1922 with the help of the big financial institutions.

America enters the new year under peculiar financial conditions," White said. "I feel that the nation has passed the bottom of depression and that better times are ahead."

"The currency in circulation is the barometer of the nation's industrial activity. During active times when business is flourishing a large volume of currency is needed. In prosperous times, large amounts of money remained in the people's hands."

"In 1920 the maximum per capita was reached—nearly $60—and it also was the peak of industrial activity."

In 1921 the reverse occurred. Money left the pockets of the people. There was a reduction of almost $1,000,000,000 in the money circulated. Business reached the bottom of depression. The per capita was about $52 for the year.

"The great volume of money coming to the treasury was for redemption. The Federal Reserve Banks sent in money for credit rather than for reissue. This volume has remained practically stationary for the last three months."

"The indications for 1922 point to a business revival if money restrictions are removed. Business must get better; surely it cannot get worse."

"The readjustment of prices is moving slowly. Accumulated money reserve must be loosened. It is absolutely necessary that there be an extension of credits. The banks have a larger cash reserve now than a year ago. This money must be put back into circulation and the return to normalcy will follow."

MOTHER, QUICK! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP FOR CHILD'S BOWELS

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle, or you may get an imitation fig syrup. 10-13

LOCAL NEWS FROM THE ACUFF COMMUNITY

We are beginning another year. 1921 is gone. Never to return. May all of our New Year resolutions be for the improvement and upbuilding of the community, and when 1922 has gone may each of our records be clearer, that we can say we've done more good this year than in 1921.

Is Your Banker Easy to Talk With?

Because it is very important that you consult your banker about business problems in which your financial affairs are involved, he should, at all times, be easy to approach and ready to converse with you freely.

No doubt but that there are men who feel as if their banker is cold-distant, and almost unapproachable on many subjects.

From the very beginning the officers in charge of the affairs of the Lubbock State Bank have sought acquaintance with all people who feel that this is the right bank for them. At all times have we courted their friendship and confidence and it is with pride that we refer to the many customers who have done business with us from the organization of the bank until the present time.

You will be made to feel free to discuss your problems with us; because we are interested in you and your business.

DETHRONED KINGS

Some times individuals, cities and nations fly too high for their own good. They get up in the clouds where no effort is required to keep them in that range, but when it comes to the time that they should go higher and desire to progress, they find that they are handicapped and like unused machinery, or the unexercised race horse, they can't get themselves warmed up to their former speed without a great deal of effort. This seems to be the condition that some of the towns have found themselves in, after a few years of easy sailing, when everything was coming their way and it looked like they had the world by the tail with a downhill run before them. When time came for them to put forth an effort to go forward they found themselves stiff from standing and it is with much difficulty that they are trying to get up momentum to put the wheels of progress to turning as rapidly as some of them wish.

We bair the remark above on the editorial utterance of the Southwest Plainsman published in Amarillo which shows that while Amarillo has been boasting of her kingship over anything on the Plains heretofore, has fallen into this sluggish, inactive condition, and the thinking men of the town are awaking to the dangers that they see lurking in the road ahead, ready to spring upon the progress and development of that city, if the people do not get busy and drive these dangers away by an intensive, forward program. The Plainsman says:

"Fort Worth is planning a more direct connection with the South Plains country by means of a railroad from Fort Worth to that fertile and prosperous section. It is likely that either Lubbock or Plainview will be the western terminal of such a line and it will be a wonderful thing for the town that gets it as well as the rich country the road will traverse. Those towns are fully awake to the importance of the proposition and are going after the plum with characteristic energy and enthusiasm—plus the necessary financial backing. Amarillo is much nearer to most of those South Plains towns than Fort Worth but no one doubts that the Panther City will, by this direct route, draw much trade that has hitherto come here. It will be the same in every other direction unless Amarillo takes the initiative and inaugurates an actively aggressive policy toward expanding her trade territory.

"Comparisons are odious but sometimes it is good for folks to take a look about them at what others are accomplishing. In this connection it is interesting to note that while Amarillo has expended more than one million two hundred thousand dollars, in the erection of residences and mercantile buildings during the past year, Lubbock, with less than one-third of the population, has a building record of more than a million dollars. Aside from the paving that has been laid, civic improvements here have been at a standstill for the past year while both Lubbock and Plainview have financed and put over big fairs and made the institutions permanent by the provision of grounds and buildings. Plainview also held a poultry show which attracted three thousand exhibits as against six hundred that were exhibited at the show held in Amarillo. Hereford has built a sales pavilion for the cattlemen—something that has been needed in Amarillo for years. Many other instances might be cited to show that, though this City is growing and improving, when compared with the accomplishments of some of the much smaller communities, it is questionable, if it has held its own, let alone set a pace for progress and enterprise for the other Panhandle towns to follow."

THE QUESTION

We are sure that not a more important question was ever before the people of Lubbock, and one more vital to the interests of the town and the development of the South Plains, than is before the people of the Lubbock Independent School District at this time, and that is the question of issuing bond for the erecting another school building in Lubbock. The school conditions of every city has much to do with its growth and Lubbock is at that critical point, just at this time, of caring for the increase in scholastic population in the proper way. We are confident that if the majority of the people will get in line and express their opinion on the matter that the vote will be overwhelmingly in favor of the issuance of the bonds, and that within the present year the new building will be completed or well under way to take care of the school conditions in this city. There is a very important duty that must be performed, however, before the polls are reached, and that is for every voter to know that he is properly supplied with the necessary voting receipt from the tax collector and that this receipt be issued before the first day of February, or it will be too late to do you any good so far as voting is concerned. You will have to pay this tax sometime, and you should do so in time to legalize you as a voter in any election during the present year. You will be called upon to express yourself at the polls on several occasions during the year, but we are of the opinion that the school proposition is the most important just at this time. Pay your poll tax and be ready to vote!

The Avalanche does not advocate the burdening of the people with taxes, and only for the fact that Lubbock must take care of the schools, would we be in favor of increasing our tax rate to $1.00 and voting $125,000 bonds to build a new high school building. This is really what we should do, however, to get the schools back in line.

The wife of a deaf and dumb man in Kansas City was granted a divorce on the grounds of abusive language last week. Her plea was that her husband cursed her and abused her until she could not bear to "look" at his conversation any longer.

JURY SERVICE

We heard a splendid talk by one of the Rotarians at the mid-week luncheon this week, in which he brought out some splendid thoughts along the line of jury service. The speaker stated that one trouble with the country today is the fact that too many good men shirk jury service, and leave the decisions to men who are probably not as much interested in the community as they should be. The better the men who serve on the juries of the country, the quicker the moral standing of the state will be raised to something near to where it should be. Of course hundreds of good men do jury service, and do the very best they can; but on the other hand hundreds of men shirk this duty and leave the verdicts to those probably less concerned about the morals of this city and community. The speaker also stated that in his mind that a man could not be classed as a high-class citizen who would not exercise his privileges of voting when matters of importance was before the people. He emphasized the importance of the people who are legal voters to line up with their vote and influence in matters that pertain to the growth and development of the community. The Avalanche heartily agreed with the speaker, and if more of our citizens will busy themselves in matters of this kind, a much better interest will be shown when questions arise concerning the interests of the community.

WILL SUE FOR TAXES

The school board of the Lubbock Independent School District are going to carry the collection of taxes for this district to the last ditch if necessary to collect the taxes that are due the school, as advertised in the delinquent list published in December. As soon as the required time has elapsed between the date of publication and the requirements of the law, the list of delinquents will be turned over to the attorney employed by the board with others, to proceed with the foreclosure for this debt. When this is done, additional costs will be added to the taxes, and when the final process is completed the cost will be very voluminous. If you know that your taxes are delinquent for the Lubbock Independent School District, you will save yourself a considerable amount of money and do the schools a great amount of good if you will pay them now.

OUR EXCHANGES

We are glad to welcome our usual list of exchanges to our table. One hardly knows how to appreciate them till they miss an issue. We hope that all enjoyed their Christmas rest, and will not fail to send their paper to us every week during the coming year. The Avalanche appreciates very much its exchanges, and we read every one of them, and enjoy doing so.

HOT SHOTS

Will you be a Chinaman after February first? If you don't pay your poll tax by that time, you will. And then you will not have any more vote during the next twelve months than the sorriest kind of a nigger.

Some of the niggers of this community are paying their poll tax, and will be entitled to a vote, and you will not if you do not pay your poll tax.

You would look nice sitting around on the streets of Lubbock telling what ought to be done with the niggers in Lubbock, and then let the colored man walk up to the polls and vote and you can not. Better get that poll tax receipt.

And if you have not a tag to put on your car you had better see the collector over at the court house and make arrangements with him, and if you are running your car without a tag you had better be mighty nice to him, because he could exact a fine of $10 to $100 per day off you for doing so.

School bonds, School tax, City Election, State Election, and many other elections will be held during 1922. If you have not a poll tax receipt you will not have any right to vote in any of them, and remember too, that you must have a receipt for both county and city poll tax or you are counted out.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the Lubbock Schools, the City of Lubbock, and the State of Texas. As it depends largely upon the kind of men who are elected to the various offices in each case as to what the progress will be along the line of schools, city and state. Elect good men, progressive men, and there will be no need to worry about the improvement of conditions, where such is now the case.

The Lorenzo Enterprise is showing probably the greatest progress of any newspaper in this section of the country, when taking into consideration the size of the town and the age of the paper. Editor Quinn issued a most creditable New Year edition, which showed a good progressive spirit in the merchants of that little town, and also the publishers. We hope to see the Enterprise accomplish much during the year, for its owners and for the development of the Lorenzo community, which land is as rich for agriculture as will be found on the Plains.

The collector's office was besieged last Saturday till a late hour with people who wanted to pay their auto tax. The same thing will happen to many who want to pay their poll tax on the 31st of January. That is the dead line so far as making you a legal voter in Lubbock County is concerned.

The extra cost on taxes to take care of a bond issue of $125,000 would be mere pin money compared with the good results that would come from the building of a new high school. It will be worth, multiplied by thousands, more than it will cost the town.

Oh, Boy! No tax on clothing after the first of January. Sounds like the war is sure enough over.

A COMPARISON OF CATTLE WINTERING IN THE PANHANDLE THIS YEAR AND THREE YEARS AGO

"There are being wintered in the Panhandle this year, 35,000 head of coming three year-old steers and 35,000 head of coming four year-old steers, or there are 70,000 aged steers in the Panhandle," said a prominent Amarillo cattleman, who keeps in close touch with the cattle situation, when asked Saturday as to the number of cattle in the Panhandle at the present time as compared to former years. "Three years ago there were 200,000 aged steers in the Panhandle. I am not in a position to give the figures on the coming yearlings and the stock cattle, owing to there being so many small bunches, but I know what I am saying, for I have the names of every man in the Panhandle who owns any aged steers."

"Those seventy thousand cattle are worth, or rather will be worth in the spring, maybe, $50 a head. Let us grant that they will sell for an average of $50 a head, that will make the whole herd worth $3,500,000. Three years ago the 200,000 aged steers in the Panhandle sold at an average of $100 a head, or the entire herd brought $20,000,000. So it is easily seen that there is a difference of $16,500,000 in the amount of money that will be brought into the Panhandle next spring from the sale of aged steers. Where have that money and the cattle gone? I do not know. But I do know that we have only one-third of the normal number of aged steers in the Panhandle and that those steers are only worth one-half of what they were a year ago.

"That shortage of cattle has not come upon us all at once, although it is true that during the past year the number of aged steers has been cut into. But, for the past five years in all parts of the cattle breeding section of the United States there has been a decline in the number of cattle produced for various reasons. "Five years ago the drought in Southern Texas, New Mexico and Arizona caused many of the finest breeding cattle in the world to be shipped to market. Many cows died, calves were sold on the market as vealers and the ranges generally depleted. Follow that with two hard winters in the Panhandle and the Northwestern country and then the drought of 1919 in the Northwestern states, then add the number of breeding cattle that have been shipped on the market during the past few months because their owners were told by the loan companies and bankers to pay up and it can very easily be seen why there is a shortage of cattle.

"The United States Department of Agriculture may differ with me when I say that I do not believe that there is over fifty per cent of the number of range cattle in the United States that there were five years ago, but I have compiled figures from the different range states that cause me to make that statement."—Amarillo News.

Some Facts and Suggestions From H. A. Halbert About the Growth and Care of Pecan Trees in Texas

The tap root of the pecan needs no defense in the eyes of all true lovers of nature's laws and expert pecan growers. There are some who advocate that the pecan tree will do better without the tap root. A pecan tree can be grown under favorable conditions with an abbreviated tap root but entirely without one, never. To sustain this proposition I will discuss briefly, under three heads—what is the tap root—its province—its importance.

First: The tap root of the pecan as well as that of other plants, begins at the surface of the soil or just below it, at the crown of the tree when the nut is planted. Most all of the concentrated food of the nut goes first to create the tap root, which descends into the earth, often two or more feet, before the trunk is formed to ascend into the air. The tap root growth is always in advance of the trunk growth and only in proportion as the tap root descends into the earth and finds food and water will the trunk ascend. The tap root will live many years after the trunk is severed and when necessary will grow a top every year to perpetuate life. Millions of acres of cleared land along the streams of Texas, where pecan trees have been hewn down, many years ago, are struggling to grow another trunk in verification of this statement. The trunk will die in a few hours when deprived entirely of the tap root and will never grow another if transplanted. Hence every tree is more or less injured and retarded in growth when part of the tap root is severed in digging it up to be transplanted; so much so that if the nut is planted at the same time and given equal care within a few years will grow the largest and most vigorous tree.

Second: The province of the tap root is primarily to seek food and water in the depths of the earth, to build and sustain all parts of the tree. Secondly it acts as a brace to hold the trunk erect in the air. The tap root is the trunk system of the roots, from which branch all the lateral roots, in every direction, as the tap root descends. These lateral roots are the feeding roots, for the tap root never absorbs water or takes in food, no more than the trunk bears the nuts. The trunk only sends out the limbs to do the bearing. Hence taller the trunk the more limbs will it send out to bear nuts; and likewise deeper the tap root more lateral feeding roots it will send out to sustain the bearing limbs. Therefore deeper the tap root and taller the trunk more efficient bearer will be the tree.

Third: The importance of the tap root is so clearly shown in discussing the preceding points that very little remains to be said. So important, however, is the tap root that no lateral roots can possibly be grown without some part of the tap root is left to start these lateral roots. After they once get started, it is possible, however, to make them take the place of the severed tap root, just as the severed limb in man will be made up in a measure by the strengthening of the remaining limb. Of course if man could control the elements to bring rain whenever needed, or had water at all times to irrigate, the tap root might be eliminated with small detriment. But as long as Texas weather remains as it is and in event of a drought causing the moisture in the soil, to either evaporate or sink by gravit below these upper lateral roots, then a deeply imbedded tap root reaching water or permanent moisture, is absolutely essential to the very existence as well as longevity of the pecan tree.

These advocates of no tap root claim that I am retarding the pecan industry by my teaching, when really the facts are just to the contrary. I am doing more to promote the pecan industry than they. When people become convinced of the great difficulty to get a transplanted pecan tree to live, as many have from sad experience, they will then go to planting the nut where the tree is to grow, so as to never disturb the tap root. They will do more by boring deep holes under the planted nut to assist the tap root in penetrating the earth. Then again the nut is one hundred times cheaper than the budded tree. The nuts can be planted for nothing to fifty cents per acre for the finest nuts. It is best to plant the finest nuts it is possible to get, but plant any nut even a pig nut rather than none at all. Grow up a vigorous tree first. It can be changed to a paper shell easier, cheaper and more certain of living than you can buy a budded tree with any assurance that it will live. Besides the danger of dying these budded trees will cost more per acre to set them out than often the land will sell for. Again it is all stuff, advocated for a purpose that pecans are different to other plants and will not reproduce its kind. From thirty to forty per cent of the nuts from the trees entire product will reproduce the same nut under adverse conditions. When a tree is favorable situated to be pollinated by its own male bloom or other trees of the same variety, from seventy-five to ninety per cent of the nuts will come true. Nothing but the law at atavism will prevent them coming, 100 percent true. With these facts established in people's minds they ought to be as wise as the squirrel. This little ardent has more fine pecan trees to its credit than man grown from the nuts it has buried along our streams.

H. A. Halbert, Coleman, Texas.

OBITUARY

Brabham, Nell. The home of James L. Brabham and wife was made happy on the fifth day of Feb. 1920, by the coming from God's finger tips one of His sweetest Jewels in the form of "Little Nell". That flower, the flower of all flowers, was taken from us the night of Friday, November the 25th, 1921. Little Nell was suddenly taken all two weeks previous to this date, and during those two weeks everything that human skill could do was done in order to fight back the onward fight of death. Father, Mother and loved ones watched closely, hoping and praying that the Allwise One might see fit to spare the precious flower. As death drew near and we saw for the last time that sweet smile, which always meant so much to us, we realized that only a few more hours and her little soul would take its flight to that home where pain would never again touch her precious little body. At last death finally came, we gathered around her with broken hearts and the dark cloud of sadness pressed heavily upon us; but in that dark hour of heart aches and sorrow the thought came, that while our home had been made one of sadness and sorrow, heaven had been made brighter, due to the fact that one of God's brightest Jewels had been added to the band of little Angels. Death that comes and plucks from us one of the sweetest flowers, we cannot explain. Looking through this veil of tears we wonder why? Some day the veil will be lifted and we can see the great beyond, and then understand. Now, we walk out in the darkness of night, look towards the skies and realize that beyond that beautifully decked firmament is our precious Little Darling Nell. As death came I walked out of the scene to be alone, standing there thinking of death with all of its blackness, this picture came: As death was claiming that precious Child, God in Heaven called around Him the brightest little angels of His kingdom. Sent them forth to bring back His Jewel Nell. Through space they dashed. The gates were thrown open, the greatest merry making that has ever been made was made that night by the little angels themselves; because Little Nell, the brightest of all angels had been added to that heavenly band. The brightest flower that has ever bloomed on earth, burst forth in the life of Little Nell. The sweetest, the dearest and grandest of all children. Wherever she went, she was the means of making merry even the gloomiest. No despondent feeling could long live in the breast of any one when she was around. Oh! how we loved her. Often times when we felt blue and down hearted we would go and get Little Nell. In her own way, she would soon have us gripped in the power of her personality and heaven seemed, even then to come just a little closer. She was loved and admired by all. Wherever she went, she was the center of attraction and we all realized that no other had ever been like Her. As I sit and write this little memory of her, in my mind I see her, sitting with her little heavenly playmates, she in the center, entertaining and making merry the little angels that surround her. How much brighter heaven has been made, eternity can only tell. Early in life she was taken and we wonder why? But that influence of her sweet life has left a lasting impression. Heaven has become more real and doesn't seem so far away. She is looking this way, waiting to join us around the great white throne of God. Like David of old, we look up and say, Little Nell, we cannot call you back to us; but we can go to you. By the help of God, some day we will again take her in our arms, press her to our breast, in that land where the sun never goes down, and the dark clouds never rise. Where death never comes and heart aches and sorrow never known. Loved ones let this be our hope.

There is a real of Ethereal Brightness Where the great white love holds sway; It is just beyond death's portals, In the Land of Perfect Day.

There the Sweet singing children, Gather round the throne of God To tell of the wonderful mother and Father They left on earth's gray sod.

Mother, your baby is waiting, In that Land of Perfect Day Singing and laughing with Angels Becking you to come that way.

Father she is waiting, In that Land of Perfect Day For you, to again embrace; And watch her as she plays.

So let your souls be spotless, From the sin and strife of the day; And prepare to meet your Darling In the Land of perfect Day.
