IMPORTANCE OF AUDITORIUM CANNOT BE OVERESTIMATED

EVERY TIME PUBLIC GATHERING IS PLANNED A MEETING PLACE IS FIRST CONSIDERATION

BIG AUDITORIUM WOULD BE THE SOLUTION

One That Can Be Used for All Purposes is What is Needed at This Time With Seating Capacity of Not Less than Two Thousand Five Hundred People.

"There's where we need that auditorium." That is the way every discussion of town growth and development comes to sooner or later. There is seldom a question of any kind that comes up that does not sooner or later come back to that limiting clause. Maybe the situation is to be remedied. It is plainly up to the folks of Lubbock. Summer meetings are coming on. The Chautauqua will soon be here. Commencement programs need about any seating capacity we have in town. The Farmers' Short Course is right on us. A place for the Senior and Junior bands to practice, for the Elks to stage a minstrel, the Legion to stage a show, the Music and Dramatic Clubs to stage a program, a place large enough to hold a Chamber of Commerce banquet of its entire membership, the "Traveling Men's banquet," a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs with their friends—these and dozens of other needs cry forth and demand that Lubbock get busy and put up an auditorium that will seat at least 3,000 folks at one time. It will be used an average of three evenings a week throughout the year.

More than that—Lubbock pays at least a third of the cost of such a building each year in leasing tents, building temporary tabernacles, hall rent and other ways of putting out money without any permanent returns from it. A good sized tent for a two weeks meeting will cost around $250—and you have nothing when the time is over to show for your money. The Chautauqua will deduct between $100 and $200 from their contract price where an auditorium is furnished. Such a building will last at least eight years. Aren't we paying pretty high interest on our money through losses in these various ways through not building such an auditorium?

And yet one dollar per head in the city of Lubbock will build such a building, seat it, light it, paint it, and give us a real place to live. Would a dollar a head for the town ruin us? If it would then we are ruined already and just don't know it. Plans are under way to bring this matter to a head and see where we stand. When the committee calls on your hand down in your jeans and drag forth from $25 to $100 and let's get this thing in shape for the Short Course the 20th of this month. It can be done—but to do it will be to break all existing records for community cooperation.

The building, as proposed, will be 80 feet by 125 feet, with ample light, ventilation and room to handle approximately 3,000 folks. It will have a 40 by 22 foot stage, with dressing rooms, wash rooms, etc. on either side. It will have a moving picture booth for special occasions, a wireless receiving room for the installation of equipment to make available wireless programs picked up from Dallas, Chicago, Denver and other points. Once or twice a month it can be arranged to have a full program with music, addresses and sermons to which the public can be invited and in this way take advantage of the best that is to be had in the way of music, speaking and last minute report of important world events.

The possibilities of such a building are limited only by the ambition of the city and county to do things, to exercise their individual abilities and enjoy the delights of frequent community gatherings and social relationship for their individual and the entire community good.

It is planned to have the President, Chairman, Commander or whatever else his title may be from each club in the city to compose the Board of Directors in control of the completed building. For example, the Rotary club, the Kiwanis club, the American Legion, the Pastors Association, the Lubbock County Singing Convention, and the other recognized civic clubs of the city and county will each detail their presiding officer to sit upon this board, to assist in making our rules, regulations and granting permission for the use of the auditorium and in this way avoid any conflicts or misunderstandings and at the same time make the building available for the general public at all times.

It is true that money is tight—that we are all strained to meet various obligations—that it seems that just as soon as one thing is done another hole up that takes more money. All of that is granted. But what of it, if you didn't expect to carry your end of the development of the town why didn't you move to some finished town where none of these things remain to be done, where a rent house can be less than half what they can in Lubbock and where the only new people that ever come to town are born there and the death rate so nearly balances these arrivals that the population of the towns for the past sixty years read like a freckled faced boy stubbly—just a repetition of the same thing over and over again, never getting anywhere.

LOCAL RED CROSS SECRETARY IS KEPT BUSY DURING LAST COLD SPELL ASSISTING IN GIVING RELIEF

The recent cold snap doubled the work of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, and the secretary, Miss Mina Ellis, has been busy relieving distress in every section of our city. If it were possible for every person in the city to know exactly what the Red Cross does each day, there would be no trouble in the fall to raise a sufficient budget for this work. For example: A two room house, or rather one room and a shed room, in a certain section in Lubbock, houses a family of seven, the mother, father, and five children, the oldest of which is nine years old, and the youngest two weeks old. They prepare their meals, cook and eat in the shed room, live, sleep and entertain their visitors in the other room, which is a magnificent, unpapered, frame building. At the time the secretary visited them, the entire family of seven were in bed sick.

The husband has been a steady worker in the city throughout the winter, and is a good, dependable laborer, but with such a large family, a great deal of sickness, and other adverse conditions, he has been unable to accumulate any great surplus from his labor. When sickness struck the whole family, of course his pay stopped, and without the Red Cross and the assistance of his neighbors, there would have been actual suffering; but as it is, the Red Cross is furnishing groceries, coal, and assisting the neighbors in caring for the situation, and an effort is being made to provide a nurse. Every day calls are made for clothing. Five

Flu Pneumonia Is Taking Its Toll in The United States

For several weeks, Flu has been raging in Europe. One thousand deaths a week have occurred in London from the Flu, and a similar number in Paris. Deletions Extra precautions have been taken to prevent a recurrence of a Flu epidemic in this country by keeping in quarantine any passengers on incoming steamers, showing symptoms of the Flu, but precautions were unavailing. One thousand cases of flu a day are developing in New York City. The death rate in New York City in one week jumped from 1434 to 1837. Just think of it. An increase of four hundred or 30 percent in one week over previous year deaths resulting from flu and pneumonia, yet this increase has not been confined to New York City but is general throughout the United States as shown by comparison of death rate for week ending February 4th, 1922, with same week of 1921. Comparison showing how general is the increase in death rate for week ending February 4th, 1922: Against the same week in 1921: Flu and pneumonia constitute a real menace at the present time throughout every city in the United States. The biggest increase in death rate since the flu epidemic of 1918 will be noted in New York alone. There is an increase of four hundred deaths or 30 percent against last year.

Brewers Fear Prohibition Will Spread in Europe

Berlin, March 2.—Minutes which have just been published here of a recent secret invention of German and Swiss brewers disclose that the brewers admitted they feared prohibition would sweep Europe. It was decided at the convention immediately to send a representative to the United States to study the effects of prohibition there and to start a campaign in the newspapers of the use of alcohol. The campaign in the press would attempt to prove the tonic advantages of alcohol, especially with regard to the order. Dr. Keury, president of the Swiss and Prohibition Association, asserted that it was necessary for the brewery interests of the world to unite in a campaign against the anti-saloon movement and particularly to fight together against the antagonists of beer. The newspaper advertisements, he added, must represent the view point of the users of the beverages and not over estimate the beneficial effects of alcohol, lest there should be a reaction against the brewing interests.

Texas Lawmakers Will Vote With A Machine Hereafter

Austin, Texas, March 2.—When the Texas legislature next convenes the votes in the house of representatives will be counted so quickly that a considerable saving in time and expense will result. Heretofore, it has taken about 20 minutes to take the count the votes in a roll call. The saving in time will amount to from five to ten minutes or more on each. A voting machine was ordered installed in a resolution passed at the second called session of the 37th legislature. Votes are cast by the members turning a key on their desks. One turn of the key to the left registers a "yes" vote, two turns to the right registers a "no" vote, and three turns, "present" or "not voting." Each turn of the key flashes a light on a large board above the speaker's stand. On this board is the name of each member. If a "yes" vote is cast by a member, a red light flashes opposite his name; if a "no" vote, a blue light, and a white light for the "present" or "not voting" signal. At the same time the letter "Y" or "N" which ever the vote is appears opposite the name of the legislator casting the vote. Lundis is suggested as mayor of Chicago. Since he will give all his time to baseball he is qualified.

Allen Brothers Post American Legion Held Lively Meeting Last Thursday Evening—Post Commander Resigned

Allen Bros. Post No. 143, the American Legion, met in regular business session last Thursday evening. After considerable gossip and the usual exchange of blood-curdling experiences preceding a meeting of this kind, we delved into the regular business of the organization. A general discussion followed, preceded by a debate on the same question, as follows: "Resolved that the United States should cancel all war debts contracted by foreign countries during the Great World War."

Argument waxed hot on both sides, as there are men in the Legion capable of handling questions of that kind, and have studied the question more or less, however, this was a very extemporaneous discussion. The status of the Bonus bill was discussed at length and upon a test vote being taken it was found that 60 per cent of the men present would choose the insurance plan of the bonus over all of the other four plans combined, including cash, land settlement, vocational training and loan to purchase or improve farm or town home. It appears that this bill will be passed by this session of congress and in part settle an obligation that is already three years past due. But the payment of this adjusted compensation will not forever settle the matter as far as the Legion is concerned. It will take a provision of congress whereby in case another war is ever forced upon this country, that every citizen in the United States will be conscripted for service upon the same basis, regardless of whether he carries a gun, serves in the Artillery, Signal Corps, builds ships, makes blankets, sells bonds, or runs a plow. When every man in the nation is conscripted upon a basis commensurate with his actual standing in the scheme of things—then there will be no adjusted compensation bills or misunderstandings to come up after the war—the profiteer will be practically done away with, inflation of wages, prices, etc. will be reduced to a minimum and war will not be so popular.

Information has come to this city that Saturday evening at about a quarter to nine o'clock, Catholic priest Kelley, of Slaton, was taken to hospital by ambulance. He had been about a mile from town, where he was given a coat of tar and feathers and lectured upon the things that he had done to bring about this punishment, and given till 11:00 o'clock the following day to pack his duds and remove himself from the community. Priest Kelley it is stated was found living in adultery, and also guilty of insulting ladies of the community and other things unbeknownst to a citizen of America, and it was for this that he was meted out for this punishment. We understand that Kelley left Slaton immediately and was seen to board the train at Lubbock Sunday afternoon, and start for parts unknown.

It will be remembered that Kelley was taken to hospital by ambulance on Saturday afternoon. He was taken to hospital by ambulance on Saturday afternoon. He was taken to hospital by ambulance on Saturday afternoon.

HOUSE VOTES SUM OF $94,000,000 TO VETS

Washington, March 3.—Without a record vote, the House today passed and sent to the Senate a bill appropriating approximately $108,500,000 to meet deficiencies of various Government departments. The largest item carried in the measure is $24,000,000 for the Veterans' Bureau.

PACIFIC COAST PLAYER TO MANAGE LOCAL DIAMOND

Elmer Gober, widely known baseball man, especially of the Pacific Coast, has been signed up by the local West Texas League as third-sacker. In all probability, says Mr. Morgan, president of the board of directors, Gober will be signed up as manager of the local diamond. He comes to us with the highest of recommendations, both as a good clean ball player, and a progressive, forward looking citizen, and we feel that Lubbock is very fortunate in securing such men as Mr. Gober. We are always glad to welcome them to our midst. In talking with him we can't help but feel encouraged over the prospects of the local team for the pennant this year, and we wish for them all the success possible.

Dishonest Persons Betrayed by Voices Blind Man Says

Denver, Colo., March 2.—Is your voice honest? A stranger stepped up to Ernest Kidd, a blind news vendor, "Fine sunny afternoon," he began. "You change for a five spot?" "It is a fine afternoon and I believe I have change for the bill," replied Kidd. He dove deep into his pocket with his left hand (the other is cut off at the elbow) and drew forth four silver dollars and 98 cents change returning it to the man together with a copy of a local paper.

"How do you know that was a $5 bill I gave you?" queried the stranger. "It might have been a one spot." "It is what you said it was. Your voice is honest," Kidd replied. Kidd then explained how blind persons judge character, by intuition, and he continued that "they seldom are fooled." "The average dishonest person can cover up a dishonest heart but he can seldom hide it in the tone of his voice," Kidd declared. "Women make up the majority of dishonest persons and it is difficult to tell by their voice," the blind philosopher continued.

DALLAS MAN MAKES HEADQUARTERS HERE

O. B. Shook, of Dallas, of the Shook Rubber Company, of that place, has come to Lubbock to make his home, and will have headquarters here, from where he will work the West Texas territory. Mr. Shook is a live wire and we are indeed glad to have him added to the force that is going to make Lubbock the most prominent city in this section.

Mr. Shook is going to have his headquarters in the Lubbock Tire and Vulcanizing office, where he will be glad to meet the people of Lubbock. He is a very successful man, and understands the tire business thoroughly, having been engaged in that business for many years. Lubbock is glad to welcome such citizens, and may their coming here add greatly to their welfare as to the city is our wish.

EXCITEMENT RUNNING HIGH IN MITCHELL COUNTY—PROSPECTS OF OIL—WEST BROOK ON BOOM

Excitement remains high in Colorado with the probability at hand that Morrison No. 2 will be subjected to a shot of "nitro" Thursday. The explosive for the task is on the ground, but no definite decision as to its use has been made. Swabbing at Morrison No. 2 continues with an increasing response from the well, according to reports from the field and arrangements have been made to handle any amount of oil resulting from the shooting of the well.

The Rio Grande Oil Company representative in Westbrook to oversee the laying of a pipe line between the Morrison No. 2 and Westbrook, the nearest railway station to the well. When completed the El Paso refinery will buy all the Underwriters' oil that is offered for sale, according to the representative now on the ground. This pipe line will be approximately two and a half miles in length, it was stated.

Allison & Phillips of Abilene have just purchased all available lots and other acreage about Westbrook and will open a new townsite, it is stated. The company is very much amazed with the prospect of the Underwriters' wells and believe that Westbrook is destined to become an important oil station on the Texas & Pacific railroad within a very short period.

People from practically every point continue to visit the well by the thousands to watch the swabbing and drilling operations. More than three thousand persons were at Morrison No. 2 Sunday afternoon despite the inclement weather. For the past few days an additional number of scouts and oil operators have arrived upon the scene. Leases are trading at recurring higher prices.

Being confident that they have a paying well and that this field is the next new big one of the state, Colorado and Westbrook citizens are making the setting for a big oil boom in the very near future. Sweetwater Reporter.

MOODY NEWS ITEMS OF THE PAST WEEK

Now! What do you think about us not having any winter weather? Mr. Charlie Copeland, of the Dr. Dean ranch, spent Tuesday and Wednesday night at Mr. King's. While there he bought two loads of feed which he took away Thursday. Messdames Chism and Swofford spent Monday evening at Mrs. Teague's.

Mrs. Murray visited in the Bill Meares home Tuesday. Mrs. J. L. Thorp spent Thursday evening at the Bill Murray home. Harry Palmer and Fred Reeves went to Lubbock Friday and brought out a truck load of freight for the store.

Mr. White thinks there is no reason why he should keep a race horse as he makes more out of his store on Rodeo day. On last Wednesday, Rodeo day, he sold upwards of $40 worth of groceries and gas (including smokes, of course.) Mr. Swofford, of Moody, and Mr. Evans, of Ropes, were callers at the county seat Friday.

The trustees at Moody school were invited to meet in joint session with the trustees at the Ropes school last Friday afternoon. They went, but for some reason there was no meeting.

Annie Lou Thorp is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Wesley Williams.

Prof. Teague and family were Lubbock visitors Saturday. They were pleasantly surprised upon returning, to find a dressed hog, weighing two hundred and forty-two pounds in their kitchen. This was made possible by kind friends of Moody, with a full share of credit belonging to Mr. Graves of Ropes. Mr. Boyd has been quite sick for a few days, but is some better.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Murray took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Swofford Sunday.

John Doyle has been in the Lubbock Sanitarium several days. He is suffering from abscess of the ear.

Prof. Teague and family and Fred Reeves spent a few hours at the J. L. Thorp home Wednesday night. They report a very pleasant visit.

Rather a large crowd met at the Claud Haven's home Wednesday, to enjoy a social evening. They all say they had the best time ever.

Ropes, we thank you for conceding all the races and games to us. But we do not need them as we always win, anyhow, in a square deal. Then Smokie must have won at Meadow, else I fail to see the application. For, if his opponent made her legs go up and down like pump handles, as you say, she must have stood in the same place. I've never yet seen a pump handle with an upward movement and, too, your little bird informer must have gotten some mud in his eye else he could have seen that the mare did have her tail tied into a quence.

I, too, might boast of the good plays made by "Babe Ruth," but I fail to see where any credit belongs to Moody.

We are glad you're pleased with your school as we think ours is second to none. We know all about your school, even more than you yourself. We know you have as fine and brilliant a set of pupils, (even though they are labeled, "stupid," which is not true), as we've ever met. We love them all and only wish they had the chance they so richly deserve.

In the Rodeo exercises Wednesday, which was viewed by a great number of people, Ullis King won in a foot race over, a Mr. Huckabee, of Brownfield. A Brownfield horse, owned by Milt Goode, won over the Charlie Copeland horse. Spot, a mare belonging to Mrs. Bill Chism, won over the Brownfield horse that was brought to run against Smokie, and Smokie was beaten by a mare from "God only knows where." Some say it came from Lubbock, some say Plainview, some Amarillo and some Midland. But the only thing we know is that they the mare and jockey too, hid until time to run. That alone speaks for "Smokie." The mare was O. K. and showed that she was well trained. John Swofford rode the two Moody horses in the races. Mr. Langley rode Smokie.

The singing at Bill Murray's Sunday night was certainly enjoyed by all present. There was some fine singing of both old and new songs.

Brother Ross preached here Sunday before Sunday school. We had Sunday School afterwards as Bro. Ross had sick people at home and was anxious to get home.

Prof. Gunn, of Levland, attended church here Sunday. Mrs. Bob Swofford gave a picnic to her Sunday School class Wednesday the 22. She served Dixity candy to the little tots and she also gave each a bean bag which was a source of amusement to them. Those present were: Rexie Swofford, Juanita Teague, Willie Mae Hice, Don Swofford, Johnnie Thorp, Dean Cheeny, Palmer King, Teddie Joe Palmer, Justine Murray and Bernard Evans, of Ropes.

Motion Pictures Will Be Shown to Illustrate Lectures

Motion pictures, both interesting and highly educational, will be among the big features on the program at the Agricultural Short Course to be held in Lubbock, March 20-21. These will consist of nine reels dealing with various subjects of importance to farmers, to housewives, to those living in town and those residing in the country.

One of these reels, devoted to sheep, has been pronounced by experienced sheep growers and prominent live stock men all over the country as the best reel on sheep ever produced. It covers practically every problem in the raising and care of sheep and is both pleasingly entertaining and instructive.

Every sheen grower, whether experienced or not, every farmer, every town dweller, every man, woman and child should see this reel. Two reels will be devoted to corn. One shows the harvesting, storing and testing of seed corn, step by step, illustrating how simple and easy, and yet how important, it is to provide ourselves with seed that we know will grow. The other corn reel deals with the cultivation of corn and how best to utilize it in feeding live stock.

Another reel shows the farm tractor engaged in numerous tasks, from plowing a town lot to pulling 52 plows on the open prairie.

"Home Conveniences" is the subject covered by a reel which will prove of great interest to women and equally interesting to men. "Home Canning by the Cold Pack Method" will be shown in another reel. This illustrates every step in the canning of various products.

"Milk—Nature's Perfect Food" is the title of a reel which tells the value of milk and how to produce and use it.

Another reel, "Make More from the Farm Poultry," deals with poultry raising from the farmer's viewpoint. It tells the things we ought to know about poultry.

Still another reel bears the title, "Farm Inconveniences," and graphically portrays some of the fool things we do.

The other reel, "The Pit Silo," shows how to construct and use this home-made silo that is so cheaply built and is so practical for dry countries.

No admission will be charged to any session of the short course. The public is invited. No one will want to miss seeing these moving pictures.

TAHOKA MEN HERE TO BOOST THEIR TOWN FRIDAY

Ben King, Marshall Stewart, E. J. Leedy, Buddy McGonigall, Ben Moore and last but not least Editor Robert E. Haynes, all of Tahoka, were here Friday and from all accounts the entire attention was given to placing a booster sign, a great big one, at the corner of the State-Tahoka roads, one of which is commonly known as the main route of the Puget Sound-Gulf Highway.

For such a little bunch it is hard to find a noisier, livelier, more progressive lot than those Tahoka boosters, and we believe Editor Haynes is taking his part and even doing a little of the leading once in a while. It takes a town to make people be proud of where they live, and real boosters to make a town, and if Tahoka isn't a place to be proud of we are a little behind with our estimations.

It is brim-ful of good live people, who are striving constantly for the betterment of their homes and the general welfare of the little city, which is making a rep with the people who are familiar with their activities.

Hats off to Tahoka. May it continue to expand under the leadership of the good people is our wish.

Joe Lane, widely known cattleman and ranchman of this section, was a pleasant caller to this city the latter part of the week. Mr. Lane has quite extensive holdings in ranch property around Cap Rock, N. M., his ranch comprising about seventy-six sections, on which he grazes sixty-five hundred head of cattle. He says his cattle have stood the winter fine, however, the last spell has been noticeable on them, from the effect of the snow-storm and blizzard, which has been raging in his section the last few days.

PARENTS AS EDUCATORS

The Call of the Clock
By Nella Gardner White

Dear Mother:

Have your children ever said—"I can't come just now. Mother—I'm busy with my blocks!" No doubt the building of blocks was at that moment very important,—more important than we can realize. But more important still should be the response to the demands of time. Some of us are martinet—always insisting on the accomplishment of a given task at a given time, till our children come to look upon time as a relentless, hateful giant. I think a great deal of the slothfulness of this world comes from that arbitrary insistence that things be done on time. The things hated in childhood are gladly cast aside as soon as maturity comes.

But isn't there some way to make punctuality and a well-ordered life a beautiful and desired instead of a dreaded thing? For it is beautiful. Time is not hard and relentless; if it is used rightly, life becomes smooth, peaceful and happy; if used wrongly, life is a tangled mass of folks who always had to rush to get to places on time—who rushed to get their meals ready—who rushed about their cleaning and their sewing. It is an unlovely quality. It is nearly always when you come down to the facts the result of previously not having done things on time. Their clothes weren't in order for calling—the dishes needed weren't clean—their materials had not all been purchased for the proposed sewing—there wasn't any scouring powder on hand for scrubbing. Not one of us wants a child to grow up to be that kind of a person, who neither gives nor gets happiness.

However, that state is only a natural one, arising from a failure to appreciate the importance of time. It is not the "rusher" who has the most leisure time. It is the one who does each task as it comes, does it thoroughly, leaves nothing for some other time. Of course, we're all only human and we all have lapses, but it's just in so far as we meet duties unafraid and willingly that our work becomes easy, a pleasure instead of a dread.

COUNTRY VS TOWN, AND VICE VERSA

The above line is the situation. It is regrettable that such is the case and there is no sense in it being that way. When the country people and the town yap, get it out of their system that one is trying to beat the other the better it will be for all concerned.

There should be a general burying of the hatchet and a closer coming together for the betterment of the town and country. Closer co-operation is necessary for the development of the community, and the upbuilding of the town.

On the 20th and 21st there is scheduled to be conducted here a short course of lectures on important subjects to both rural and city folks, and there should be no lines visible, but the people from the farm and ranch should come to town, and get the benefit of these lectures.

JAZZ, GASOLINE AND BRIMSTONE

Col. Mayfield of Houston in his weekly publication, says the high school boys and girls of Dallas are falling victims to the jazz dance and automobile outing evils. Spare the car and save the child.

We know something of Billy Mayfield and his pen. He has challenged the cause of righteousness in South Texas. He speaks the truth when he says the jazz dance and the automobile is responsible for much wreck and ruin in the cities.

MANY CHANGES SEEN

The Avalanche was established at Lubbock sixteen years ago by James L. Dow. Big Spring, 125 miles away, was the nearest railroad station. Lubbock had only a handful of people, and the county less than a thousand.

Every farmer of any influence in his community should be a member of the Chamber of Commerce. It would do much toward filling in the breach between the country and the city.

While you are boosting the big league base ball teams don't lose sight of the fact that the school ball team is tuning up; and they will bring some good games here within the next few weeks.

We are proud of the Lubbock hotels, and all we need is more just like them or larger ones of the same kind. The present hotel facilities are inadequate to the demands of the public.

Jealousy in business is one of the deadliest poisons that a fellow can come in contact with. It is the most deadly for a town, and when business people get saturated with it, the town cannot survive.

To wear a mile, I'd walk a mile And then I'd walk some more, For the man worth while is the man who can smile When the rest of the world is sore.

—John D. Jacobson.

BE AMERICAN

When a fellow comes to America and selects this country as his home, he should resolve to abide by the laws of the land or not locate in this country. When a man has decided to come to this country he should throw off the mantle of other countries and be American, and then there will be no trouble in finding friends, living peaceably in the community in which you are.

THE REAL MAN

He is never guilty of a single dishonest deed. He does not cheat, lie, or act dishonorably. He does not quit in the presence of hardship or hard work. He does not shirk, stall, grumble, or put off today's work to some "tomorrow."

—Norman Burdick.

Among the farm products from Littlefield, Texas, to be exhibited at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, in the All-West Texas Agricultural Exhibit is a bale of Sudan Hay.

For the luvuf mike, get a hustle on and let's have this school bond election and vote enough money to build a high school building, and three ward buildings that are so badly needed to supply the demands of the school children of the Lubbock Independent School District.

That Plains Railroad proposition is opening up again, and there is going to be a meeting of committees from all the Plains towns who will take part in it, at Fort Worth, within the next few days, and Lubbock will be there with a good representation, and present her claims in the discussion of matters pertaining to the proposed road.

We understand that tabernacle proposition is coming along good now, and everything is getting in readiness for a campaign for funds. When the solicitors come round be sure to kick in. If you can't give money offer your services in building it.

WITH LUBBOCK BUSINESS MEN

The Lubbock Auto Company, reports the sale of the following cars since our last issue: Jno. T. Smith, city, Ford Sedan; The Plains Magazine Company, city, Ford Coupe.

The Lub-Tex Motor Co., local Overland dealers, have recently closed a lease with E. R. Weisenborn for their workshop. Mr. Weisenborn will install new and up-to-date equipment and machinery, and will be in shape to handle all Overland trouble the factory way.

In connection with the Farmers' Short Course to be held in Lubbock on Monday and Tuesday, the 20th and 21st of March, the Lub-Tex Motor Company, have thrown open their display room for the poultry division.

Combining Forces Much preparation is being made for the Farmers' Short Course and Poultry show which will be held in Lubbock March 20-21, and Lubbock business men are again proving themselves real boosters for the farmers of their territory, which will result in their getting closer together for mutual benefits.

The man who is not willing to co-operate with his neighbor for the accomplishment of a specific thing is a poor citizen, and the fact that Lubbock is altogether encouraging, and we take great pride in taking notice of this general spirit that exists in Lubbock.

We understand that tabernacle proposition is coming along good now, and everything is getting in readiness for a campaign for funds. When the solicitors come round be sure to kick in.

Never in the history of any country has close cooperation between the urban and burger classes been more noticeable than in the history of Lubbock county, and we may give the fellow who is looking on, a little tip right here that might do him a little good if he has not encouraged the existence of this co-operation in his community.

No town is one whit better than its people, and the same principle applies to all countries, and the men who are willing to join forces for the making of a greater, bigger, better and more densely populated country are real men, and deserve due credit.

Let the fellow who boost the merchant let the merchant boost the farmer, and let them both boost the country and the country will boost them all. The Farmers' Short Course and Poultry Show in Lubbock March 20-21, will be an example of what Lubbock business men are doing for the interest of their farmer friends, their having given much attention to the work and will have done a great deal more before the time is on. Let's go.

LUBBOCK GETTING READY TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS TO SHORT COURSE TO BE GIVEN HERE MARCH 20-21

Lubbock is anticipating with great pleasure the privilege of entertaining the people of the South Plains on March 20 and 21st, at the big Short Course, held by the International Harvester Company. One of the finest programs ever arranged in this section will be given during these two days.

In addition to the lecturers of the above company, several A. & M. people will be here to add to the interest of the occasion. An interesting program will be given both day and night, illustrated with moving pictures, slides and charts. Discussions will be held that should attract the attention of everyone interested in farming. Many of the problems of the rural home will be taken up and other phases of farm life discussed.

At noon on both days, a basket lunch will be served. Everyone is urged to bring their baskets, and coffee, cream, sugar and bread will be furnished to all.

One of the big features of the two days, will be the poultry show. A long list of prizes has been obtained and every effort will be made to make this a real poultry show. All exhibits should be on hand by ten o'clock Monday morning, and they must remain at the show until Tuesday afternoon, when they may be removed. A comfortable building has been obtained, and the exhibits will be well taken care of. Everyone in the entire South Plains is expected to be present during these two days.

METHODISTS WILL HAVE TEAM IN PRACTICE SOON

The young men of the Methodist Sunday School are planning on making things hum in this old town before long, a spirited meeting having been held in the Class Room Friday night where a base ball team was organized, and plans made to start practicing before long.

Bennett Slagle, the new reporter on the Avalanche, was elected captain of the team, and made temporary arrangements to start practicing in the near future, the men having been called to meet at the Methodist church grounds Monday evening, where they practiced enough to find that the old sling is a little less active than in the days they used to sail flattened stones at bullbats with such accuracy that there were a few air-castles built about the possibilities of becoming a big leaguer.

These young men are endeavoring to start an all church league in Lubbock with a view of getting the young men of this vicinity interested in Sunday School work. It was pointed out by those familiar with conditions that there were enough young men hanging around on the streets of Lubbock each Sunday to double the attendance records of every young man's Sunday School class in town, and it is believed that the base ball route is a pretty good one to go in getting this work started, and more interest for Sunday School work aroused within them.

If you do not understand Sunday School base ball do not ensure you until you have learned something about it, and we are sure there are many of the young men who will be mighty glad to explain it to you. Principal among the rules is one eliminating from the team those who are guilty of playing base ball on Sunday in a public place, and that each member of the team must be in Sunday School two consecutive Sundays to be eligible to play.

Sunday School base ball is alright in the minds of the young men of that class, and we are of the opinion that they have looked into it from every conceivable angle before they adopted it as the summer pastime for the weekday sports.

COLORADO PRINTER IS VISITING RELATIVES HERE

W. L. Holland, of Denver, Colorado, is here for a few days visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allen. Mr. Holland and Mr. Allen married sisters. Mr. Holland has been down in Mexico for a few months, awaiting the settlement of conditions in Colorado, which trouble has arisen between the employes and employers on account of the dispute over the 44-hour week, and rather than be idle while the settlement was being made he came over to Texas and has been employed every day. Things are shaping up for settlement, however, in Denver, and he is on his way back to take his former job. He spent a few hours in the Avalanche shop, Monday, and was very complimentary in his remarks about the splendidly equipped plant and general conditions around the shop. He will be here the balance of this week, when he will continue his journey on toward Colorado. He says Mexico is absolutely the toughest town he ever lived in. It is dangerous to walk the streets in the day time, let alone being out at night. He says the presence of the troops there no doubt done some good, but it will require more than that to ever put down the lawlessness of that community.

Hurbert Work to Succeed Hays As P. O. Head

Washington, D. C., March 2.—Dr. Hurbert Work, present first assistant postmaster general, will succeed Will H. Hays, as head of the post-office department, it was learned definitely today at the white house.

Dr. Work, whose home is Pueblo, Colo., will take over the postoffice portfolio Saturday, when the resignation of Mr. Hays becomes effective. The nomination of Dr. Work is expected to be sent to the senate shortly.

Dr. Work was appointed assistant to Will H. Hays last summer by president Harding and since the announcement of the former Republican national chairman that he intended to take up the position as national director of the moving picture industry he has been acting as postmaster general.

Mr. Hays will receive $150,000 per year as director of the industry, it is said. He received but $12,000 as a member of the cabinet with the portfolio of postmaster general.

CHAMPION WINDJAMMER OF WEST TEXAS RESIDES HERE

"Red" Kuykendall, of the Lubbock News Stand, returned home from the meeting of the directors and members of the West Texas League which was held at Sweetwater Saturday a victor in the "hot air" and "booster stuff" contest, which was one of the most entertaining features of the meeting.

The contest was one of the hardest pieces of work those fellows know anything about, one hour being consumed by each contestant during which time they constantly talked of the possibilities of their home town and its surrounding territory, and we are sure "Red" must have opened up in full force, the souvenir which he now wears being the prize for the champion speaker.

Lubbock is not being built on "hot air," but if one will take notice they will see the fellow who is always having something to say for the good of this old town is a winner, and even if they do not wear diamond tie pins and carry their money in a mail sack they are great assets for the growth and development of this section, and we are proud of every mother's son of them.

Practice makes perfect, and may be so Mr. Kuykendall was in trim for that contest, more proof that boosting pays.

Percy Spencer made a trip over to Plains, the county seat of Yoakum County Saturday, where he transacted some business in the County Court.

How to Operate an Incubator

(By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, Extension Service, A. & M. College)

The one great trouble in artificial incubation is chicks dying in the shell. Of all the poor hatches the largest number are due to dead chicks in the shell at hatching time.

The hatching time is the most critical. At this time it is necessary to have plenty of heat and moisture. The heat is necessary to get the chicks out quickly, and the moisture to keep them from drying to the shell. A temperature of 104 to 105 at hatching time is not injurious; but it must not be allowed to run above 105 degrees. The moisture at this time is very important. It is well to add extra moisture at hatching time by sprinkling. We sprinkle the eggs, when about four or five are pipped, by taking the eggs with water the same temperature of the eggs (103 degrees), trays out and sprinkling the eggs liberally.

At hatching time, the inside of incubator should show some moisture. In case of glass door incubators, drops of water should form on the inside of the door. If this is not the case, there is not sufficient moisture in the machine.

We recommend, if possible, flooding the incubator room once a day, during the entire period of incubation much moisture in the incubator room; but it is easily possible to get too much inside the incubator, especially if it is added before the hatching time.

Sometimes if the hatch is delayed and appears dry we place one medium-sized sponge, for every 75 eggs, soaked in scalding hot water under the egg tray, or if necessary on the tray. This sometimes helps bring them out quicker.

The quicker they hatch, the better the hatch. A long drawn out hatch as a rule is a poor hatch.

A very uneven temperature will cause chicks to die in the shell. If the chicks appear very moist, flabby and with yolks only partly absorbed, it is because of too much moisture and may be prevented by increasing the ventilation, increasing the amount of cooling and decreasing the moisture provided, if any.

This condition does not often exist, unless moisture has been added regularly during the hatching period.

If the chicks appear small and some are seen with pieces of shell dried on the down and the shell membranes very tough and leathery, it is because of too little moisture. In Texas so-called non-moisture machines give better results, if moisture is added, at hatching time. This is especially true in West, Northwest Texas and Oklahoma. In high altitudes it is also wise to add moisture at hatching time.

Weak breeding stock produces eggs with weak germs and chicks, many of which will die in the incubator.

We have also found that closely yarded breeding stock will produce eggs many of which will be found with dead chicks in the shell.

Chilling the eggs before incubation sometimes is responsible for dead chicks in the shell at hatching time.

Hatching eggs shipped any great distance, and receiving rough handling in transit often are responsible for dead chicks in the shell at hatching time.

As a general rule it is wise to add moisture to the incubator at hatching time. Experiments appear to indicate that moisture at hatching time will prevent many chicks from dying in the shell.

Another common cause of dead chicks in the shell at hatching time is a lack of fresh air in the incubator room. We have noticed that incubators operated in storm cellars frequently are responsible for many dead chicks in the shell at hatching time. A storm cellar is a very poor place in which to operate an incubator, because no provisions for ventilation are made.

Uneven temperature in the incubator is another cause of dead chicks in the shell at hatching time. This may be remedied by carefully turning the eggs twice a day, and shoveling the eggs around on the tray.

Hatching eggs produced by hens fed exclusively on oyster shells sometimes are so hard and thick that many chicks die in the shell at hatching time. This can well be noticed by the way white shelled and brown shelled eggs hatch. The brown shelled eggs, partly on account of the thicker shells, do not hatch as well as a general rule, than the more thin white shelled eggs.

Sometimes the ventilators are forgotten and not opened or kept "plugged." This has a tendency to cause many dead chicks.

One of the best ways of adding where moisture is to be supplied regularly, is by placing a shallow sand tray beneath the egg tray, without obstructing the ventilator holes that may be in the bottom of the machine.

Old eggs seldom produce strong and healthy chicks, and frequently are responsible for dead chicks in the shell moisture to the eggs in an incubator, at hatching time.

Eggs produced by breeding stock that has been forced for heavy egg production, when placed in incubators develop into many dead germs and chicks at hatching time. Do not force breeding stock for abnormal egg production.

Pullet eggs sometimes are so small that the chick can not develop properly and hatch, hence many of them will be found with dead chicks at hatching time.

We do not believe that thunder storms have any influence on eggs under incubation.

Incorrect thermometers sometimes are responsible for operating the incubators at the improper temperature resulting in dead chicks in the shell at hatching time.

If the incubator should accidentally run up a temperature of 108 to 110 degrees for several hours do not throw the eggs away—remove the eggs from the incubator and sprinkle the eggs with water about 100 degrees. This will cool down the eggs quickly. Air or cool the eggs for about 30 minutes and do not place them back into the machine until the temperature is under perfect control.

Cooling and airing eggs too much during the hatching period sometimes weakens the germ so much that a large number of the chicks will die in the egg before they can be hatched.

Beginners frequently open the incubator door while the chicks are coming off. This allows the heat and moisture to escape, and as a result many chicks do not hatch. Keep the incubator door closed. (Copyrighted.)

ITEMS FROM THE PLAINVIEW HERALD AND NEWS

Plainview Herald: P. H. S. has arranged for nine games for the 1922 season so far. Four of these are with Lubbock, two here and two in Lubbock, and the same arrangement has been made with Amarillo, Hale Center will come to Plainview to cross bats with Coach Duncan's nine on March 10. This latter is the first game of the new season and is to be a practice game.

The boys are working out every day, under the direction of Coach Horace Duncan. An entirely new team is being developed this year, as only three old men are back to form a nucleus for this year's nine. "Chunky" Yates, a pitcher from last year, has not been able to start school and the chances are he will not get in the game this season. This leaves the brunt of the pitching burden on the shoulders of "Bub" Turner, the skipper of this year's team. Travis Helm, brother to the famous hurling demon, Frank Helm, is working out for the middle position, and is showing some good stuff, though lacking in control.

Plainview News: The Hale county schools will this week get about $5,000 from the state available school fund, as the state board of education Saturday decided to make an apportionment of $2 for each scholastic on March. The per capita for this year is $13, and this apportionment leaves $9.50 yet to be paid.

CATTLE SUFFERING ON LAMB COUNTY RANGES

Littlefield, March 1.—This country was in the grip of the most severe blizzard of several years yesterday. It snowed intermittently all night, and the ground is covered with ice and snow, making it impossible for cattle on the ranges to get anything to eat. There is bound to be a great deal of suffering and considerable loss of cattle if the spell continues for any length of time. The thermometer registers seven degrees above zero.

Farm Valuations in Texas Are Now Far Over the Four Billion Mark According to the Federal Statistics

The Census Bureau has finally issued its bulletin on Texas agriculture, and the statistics, the first complete set in ten years, (show in a most lucid manner the enormous wealth of our greatest state, and the magnitude of the increase in that wealth since 1910. After analysis of the figures as presented, the outsider becomes convinced that what he may have considered extravagant claims of "native sons" of Lone Star State are in reality based upon solid foundation.

The bulletin gives the value of Texas farm property—including land, buildings implements and machinery, and live stock—as approximately four and one half billion dollars; a rather staggering sum, and more than double that amount at the 1910 census. Live stock alone are valued at a little under $600,000,000. These valuations, it is true, are as of January 1, 1920, when prices were very high; nevertheless after all allowances are made the figures remain highly indicative of agricultural wealth and progress.

in 1910; this is contrary to the trend shown in most states. There was a very large increase—86.6 per cent—in sheep. No comparative statistics are given for hogs. Notwithstanding the slight falling off in dairy cattle, there was substantial growth in purely commercial dairying, not only in dollar sales but in actual volume of products handled. This is in line with developments over most of the country. States amounted to nearly $15,000,000 in 1919; about treble the 1909 record.

Coming now to crops, we find that the estimated value for the state in 1919 was somewhat in excess of one billion dollars; nearly three and one-half times the 1919 figures. Furthermore, we see that actual acreages in the vast majority of cases show increases, often large.

is the leader, with a total of $21,500,490. The greater part of this represents cotton. In 1920 Williamson was the banner cotton county of the United States. The census indicates that in crop value it ranked, in 1919, 21st in the nation.

Calf Crop Big, Range is Fine in New Mexico

The calf crop is increasing, the herds improving, the range is getting better, and the percentage losses is being reduced on the Coronado, C. T. Turney's ranch, 25 miles northeast of Las Cruces, according to E. W. Nelson, of the forestry service, who is in charge of experiments being made on the ranch.

When cattle were first placed on the range, about 15 years ago, only mountain springs and lakes in the flats were depended on for water. Mr. Nelson said: Now numerous wells, ranging from 125 feet in the flats to 300 feet on the hills, furnish a good supply of water.

"There are 70,000,000 acres of land in New Mexico that are valuable principally as grazing lands," Mr. Nelson said. "Of this amount, 18,500,000 acres are in the southern tier of counties including Dona Ana.

Quanah, Texas, March 4.—The cutting up of ranches in West Texas into farm lands received impetus here this week in the announcement from London, England, that the celebrated Wagoner ranch property comprising more than 600,000 acres of land, would be cut up into small tracts. The property was sold to British oil men for a consideration of $125,000,000.

Word has been sent locally to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce asking the co-operation of that body in securing desirable immigration for this property.

$90,000,000 INCREASE IN PUBLIC DEBT

Washington, March 2.—An increase of more than $90,000,000 in the public debt during February was announced today by the treasury.

On Feb. 28 the total debt stood at $23,478,789 as compared with $23,388,544,236 on Jan. 31. The increase in the debt was largely accounted for officials explained by the issuance of approximately $601,000,000 in treasury notes during the month while Government securities retired during February approximated $511,000,000.

Ordinary expenditures of the Government aggregated $182,000,000 as compared with $351,000,000 during the same month last year while ordinary receipts for the month approximated $175,000,000 as against $248,000,000 in February, 1921.

DEATH RATE HAS SHOWN DECREASE

Washington, March 4.—The death rate in the United States decreased to 1,306 per 100,000 population in 1920 from 1,496 per 100,000 in 1919 according to figures announced today by the census bureau. All age groups showed a decline in death rate, but the most pronounced decrease was recorded in the figures covering mortality of infants under one year of age, the 1920 rate being 9,660 per 100,000 compared with 13,083 per 100,000 in 1919, a decline of about 28 per cent.

The decrease in all adult groups was largely due to the reduced rates from tuberculosis, typhoid fever and bright's disease.

Disasters showing a serious increase in death rate on the other hand were cancer and influenza.

Lucky Nobody Came Along!

SOUTH PLAINS PEOPLE ARE EAGERLY AWAITING THE FIRST COPY OF THE NEW MONTHLY PUBLICATION IN APRIL

The Plains Magazine has found it desirable to change the name of their publication to "The Plains Agricultural Journal," according to its Advertising Manager, Mr. J. E. Griffith.

"The entire proposition is meeting with a response that is most gratifying," was the comment made by the Managing-Editor, when asked by the Avalanche Reporter Saturday how things were getting along. From all over the Plains and West Texas we are getting the most encouraging letters of commendation, good wishes and congratulations upon our good fortune in starting the first project of this kind in this section.

"All of these things make us believe that we can put over the proposition at this time, in spite of adverse conditions. But the real test is coming in the support of Lubbock folks. The outside world knows us by reputation only—just like you know Homer D. Wade, Porter Whaley, John Boswell, Eugene Shannon and a thousand others. You have heard their names, they sound familiar, you know they are from Stamford, Plainview, Ft. Worth, or somewhere, but you would rather hesitate to plunk down a dollar for a years subscription to a magazine they planned to bring out a month from now, without seeing a sample copy. That is more than true when you start to talk a $100, $200, or $300 advertising contract with them.

"So first, last and all the time—unless the City and County of Lubbock has enough confidence in the venture, in the men at the head of the project, and in the possibilities offered by this section for such a Journal—then we haven't the slightest chance to put the thing over out of Lubbock—unless we move out of Lubbock to do it. Frankly, we know that the business men and citizenship of Lubbock and Lubbock County appreciate the possibilities of such a publication sufficiently well to support it and give it a fair six months' or a year's trial. By that time the publication will be able to show the outside what it is and what it is doing and at the same time have proven its worth as an Agricultural and Community Journal of the Plains and for the Plains, both to the individual subscriber and to the advertiser to take care of itself upon a sound business basis.

"What we want and must have is between two and three thousand folks who have enough sporting instinct and natural born confidence in 'humanity, the Plains and West Texas to bet a dollar on two long, lank country boys who are full of pep, ambition and enthusiasm, putting over a Journal that will, in part at least, represent the Plains and West Texas.

"And they are doing it. The advertisers are buying space as a straight business proposition and subscribers are pouring in their dollars, some through curiosity, some as a sort of better proposition and some because, thank goodness they say it at least, they believe that we can put the thing over. You know upon our fiftieth anniversary, we are going to run a full page colored supplement picture of some of the fellows who have been considered enough of our feelings to slap us on the back and tell us that they think we have the stuff in us to put the proposition over.

"We are guaranteeing 2,000 circulation and by cracker we're going to have it even if we have to personally walk the lanes of Lubbock County and peddle our paper one copy at a time for eggs, turnips or sweet potatoes. In fact, if there is a farmer in Lubbock County that had rather trade market value in eggs, potatoes or chickens for the Journal we will take care of him.

"And say, Son, if you want a real friend, you stick to old Jimmie Dow! He's all wool and a yard wide and I hope you read the proof on this copy so it will get by him for he is entitled to it. You can just take my word for the fact that he has been a friend to a couple of would-be newspaper magnates in getting things shaped up for launching this project. Some folks were surprised that the Avalanche was going to publish it for us—thought that James L. Dow would more or less fight us—but they just don't know Jimmie, that's all. It may cost him a few pennies in split advertising appropriation for the first month or two—but in the long run he will make it all back—for newspapers like the Avalanche are not found in every little burg the size of this—or twice this size either.

"Good idea this—of interviewing ourselves, isn't it? You can be sure to get said what you intended to say instead of guessing how the reporter is going to remember it—and saves him a lot of bother too. It's a funny thing how energetic every new Cub News Hound Jimmie puts on for about a month. When Douglass first came on the force he made the Chamber of Commerce office at least five times a day. But little by little he has slowed up until now—we'll see him been a week since we've seen him. Now we have a new 'un and for a couple of weeks or so we will be bothered to death—and then Jimmie will get another one. Some one asked Mr. Dow recent-

ROTARY NOTES

By L. T. Martin

The regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club met at the Manhattan Parlor on Wednesday at high noon with over fifty present. President Walter called upon the secretary for the weekly announcements, which were as follows:

Associate memberships are now open and members will be permitted to present names. Attention was called to the banner on the rear wall.

"Home bred—Home fed"

Direct from
"The Hub of the Plains"
Lubbock, Texas

March 11th will be traveling mens day in Lubbock, and under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club, there will be a banquet staged at the Elks hall for the benefit of all traveling men. The hour will be 7:30 p. m. Remember the day and the hour and be sure and give the traveling man the glad hand and make him know Lubbock is his town and that he is one with us.

Geo. Briggs was called upon to make a talk in regard to the two-day short course to be held March 20th and 21st at which time there will be lectures of interest to both men and women. The program is so arranged that it will be of interest to the city men and women and children. There will be moving pictures and we want to make this a real community meeting of urban and city people. Do not forget the date and lay off party dates for those two days.

The meeting was then turned over to Rotarian Sensabough, chairman of the entertainment committee. You know Sensa always has something good up his sleeve for his friends. After singing Rotary songs he called upon Telephone Phillips to tell something of the Telephone business. He responded with a nice paper which he read to the club. Picking out the kernels we gather as follows: Much of the misunderstanding about the telephone business and its special problems is due to failure on the part of the public to realize some of the fundamental differences between the telephone company and ordinary business corporations. It is his desire to eliminate as far as possible any misunderstanding between the company and its patrons. When some people look at the telephone business, all they see is that competition is not a factor and that all the company has to do is to collect their revenue. They lose sight of the fact that the service is sold in advance and that public utility companies undertake to furnish a public service and under the law subject themselves to an obligation, to provide equipment, to avoid discrimination between patrons, that the charges will be reasonable.

plant of the telephone companies associated in the Bell System, represents an investment of a billion and a half dollars and every year it is necessary to add still more investment to meet the requirements of the public.

The quartette composed of R. I. Wilson, T. Q. Dyess, L. L. Wendell and R. A. Holland, sang a series of songs that are always well received by the Rotary club. When they were announced they were received with loud applause and were called back time and again. Neil Wright kept calling for nigger songs. You know he also has a weakness for nigger fights. Something wrong with that boy.

We have a few members in the Rotary club that some time say things just to make talk and in discussing the write up of the young folks in the Rotary notes in last week's Avalanche, Acy says to Bennie, Martin kind of landed on us young married folks. Bennie said he was not in that class, he had been married over two years. Acy! My, if I had been married that long I would think I had a life sentence. Upon seeing that the pencil pusher of the Rotary notes caught the remark, begged him to keep it out of the paper, but it was too good a morsel so you have it. Of course we would not mention it if we did not know Acy worships the ground that little wife of his walks on, but he must be more careful. The quartette took it up and sang the song: "You must love her all the time."

When in the Chamber of Commerce office the other day (Kiwanis Day), Fred Boerner came in and exhibited two beautiful neckties, swelled up his chest and said I got these as a prize at the Kiwanis Club for being the best looking member. Now every body likes Fred but it is the first time I ever knew he was in the prize class in looks. Not knowing who are members of the club, have been wondering what the rest of the bunch looks like. Have had two invitations to attend the Kiwanis club luncheon and have one for next week so intend to accept and will give the bunch the once over and report next week in the Rotary notes as to what I think of their judgment on Boerner.

Visitors at luncheon: Major Adams, guest of Keen; R. I. Wilson, T. Q. Dyess, L. L. Wendell and R. A. Holland of H. D. Phillips; S. E. Cole of W. A. Myrick; A. A. Bracher and J. E. Griffith of J. A. Medlock; Judge Foster of A. B. Weaver; L. D. Rankin of L. C. Montgomery.

Luncheon next week will be held at the Manhattan parlor. Phone in your guests the day before. Possibly it would be of interest to know Who's Who, in Rotary. It is now my intention to write biographies of the different members as I can gather the information. From what you will read in the biographies of the members selected for this week's items you will be getting a pretty good line on the membership and if you have anything you do not wish known you had better get it under cover.

Walter Aspery Myrick Jr., was born in Ft. Smith, Ark., July 17th, 1890. His people moved to Beaumont, Texas, when he was but a lad of ten years. He went through the public schools of Beaumont and finished his education at Truops Polytechnic Institute, of Pasadena, California. At the time Walter's people moved to Beaumont there was another family moved to Beaumont by the name of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, who had a daughter by the name of Margaret. It so happened that Walter and this little girl were put in the same room at school to take examinations and the boy Walter was so attracted by the little girl that he made up his mind, if she did not pass the examinations he himself would fail so they could both be in the same room. They both passed, thus the boy and girl went through school together. Their friendship ripened into love and Walter Myrick Jr., the second married Margaret Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, the oil man of Beaumont, Texas, on June 25th, 1914. From this happy union there are two children, Roberts, a girl of six years and a boy, Walter A. Myrick Jr., the third, now 17 months old. He brought his bride to Lubbock in 1916 to make his home. He entered the hardware business with Mr. Sam E. Cole under the firm name of Cole-Myrick Hardware Co. Walter is responsible for there being a Rotary Club in Lubbock and is President of the Club. He is an active member of the Chamber of Commerce, of the Country Club, a Mason and an Elk. He is an interested worker for anything that is for the good of Lubbock.

Jed Adams Rix was born in Cedar Creek, Wisconsin, December 20th, 1887. His people moved to Colorado, Texas, when he was but two years old. When he was about six years old they moved to Big Spring, Texas, where they now reside. He went through the public school of Big Spring, and finished his schooling at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. On January 11th 1912, at Hickory Withe, Tenn., he married Miss Frances Biars, the accomplished daughter of J. B. Biars, of Whitesboro, Texas. At this time she was living with her aunt, her mother being dead. Mrs. Rix is a graduate of Kid Key college of Sherman, Texas. Jed and his wife came to Lubbock in 1918 to make their home and started a branch house of the Rix Furniture and Undertaking Co. of Big Spring. Jed showed his good judgment by coming to Lubbock as his business now equals in sales that of the parent house at Big Spring. Jed is Secretary of the Company. As a hustling wide awake business man and mixer Jed cannot be beat. He is president of the Chamber of Commerce, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the Rotary Club, member of the Country Club, a Mason and an Elk. He and his wife are both members of the Episcopal church. He is a public spirited man and a man who is for anything that is for the up-building of Lubbock.

PRISON SYSTEM OF TEXAS IS PENNILESS
Austin, Feb. 28.—Figures in the State Treasury disclosed today that the Texas prison system has exhausted every penny to its credit in the prison fund. These figures show that on Jan. 1, the system had $3,467 to its credit. Since that period slightly over $71,000 has been deposited by the prison authorities to the credit of the prison fund, but the total amount of $74,935 has been paid out on warrants. So the system will begin the month of March without any funds to its credit. There has been no indication of how the system is to be operated without funds, or how supplies are to be bought for the actual support of the prisoners. Governor Neff had no comment to make on the present condition of affairs.

Evolution
What has become of all the quaint characters we used to meet at every turn? Possibly many vanished into obscure corners of unknown spots, but here and there an enterprising editor has dug up an individual history. And so we find that—
The old-fashioned man who told his girl good night at ten o'clock now has a son who gets home in time to wash up for breakfast.
The old-fashioned man who used to sit in the sun and whittle for hours now has a son who lives in a pool room.
The old-fashioned home that had a big "Welcome" dormat now has a butler who opens the door for you.

The old-fashioned woman who spent her time rocking the cradle now has a daughter who spends her time turning a steering wheel.

The old-fashioned man who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth now has a son who was born with curly hair and became a movie star.
The old-fashioned woman who married to get a home now has a daughter who married to get a car.
The old-fashioned man who knew everything there was to know now has a son who thinks ozone is a brand of tooth paste and Newport News a newspaper.

Those who go to church in a limousine and put a nickel in the collection.

Some Facts About Water
Enough water goes over Niagara Falls every day to furnish chasers for all the drinks of hooch confiscated by enforcement agents in a like period.
There are a great many eels in the ocean, but nobody knows how many because they are so slippery that some of them may have been counted twice.

Great Bend, Wyoming, is so called because there is a great bend in the river at that point.
If all the water were suddenly drained out of the Atlantic Ocean, boat traffic between New York and

Even Score
"I'm not denyin' the women are foolish," said Aunt Henrietta, as she patiently peeled potatoes for dinner. "God Almighty had to make 'em to match the men."

"Nothing Is Impossible"
Some great philosopher once said that nothing is impossible. Experience, however, teaches us to emphatically disagree with the proposition. In support of our contention, we want to know if you have ever tried—

- To carry a mattress upstairs.
- To find out what a woman is thinking about.
- To write with a postoffice pen.
- To sleep in a hammock.
- To save ten per cent of your income.
- To swim a mile with your arms full of eels.
- To rest quietly in a bed of ants.
- To find how some guys get along.
- To look innocent on the witness stand.
- To choke a wildcat with hot butter.
- To play a slide trombone in a clothes closet.
- To enjoy near beer.
- To get soup bones from the butcher for nothing.

She Caught Him
The young lady confronted him with flashing eyes.
"What did you mean," she demanded, "by kissing me as I lay asleep in the hammock this morning?"
"But" protested the youth, "I took only one."
"You did not," she retorted. "I counted at least seven before I awoke."

Recollections
(From Judge—by request)
We sat in the Rector's garden and watched the kids at play, Digging their tiny trenches and earth-works made of clay; Spoiling the grass with wire from old, discarded toys; To tangle the feet of heroes who still are little boys.

The missiles they used were harmless but they called them deadly shells.
They seemed to know that modern war's a thousand kind of shells; They dug in the ground for shelter, then over the top they went.
Like troops, at the dawn's first glimmer, to death or to victory sent.

I glanced at the Rector furtively, and saw his eyes grow dim, And I felt the tears on the cheeks of me as I tried to smile at him; For I knew that he had a vision, beyond the lawn and trees, Of what we had seen where War was real when we were overseas.

CONCERNING INTERSCHOLASTIC LIGUE MEET

Judging from the number of inquiries being made at the office of the District Director General for the Interscholastic League, it appears that an unusually large number of schools are grooming their students for the County Contests which are to be held prior to the District Meet, April 21-22.

For the most part there has been an improvement made in the preparation of pupils for the various county contests. When the League was first organized, the teachers never began their work with the children until a few weeks before the contests were called; but now it seems that the preparation for these contests is becoming a regular part of the school work and well worked out plans are made months in advance. This is a commendable feature and should be universally adopted among the schools.

Lubbock High School—Music Department
Juniors and Seniors Entertain.

It is with pleasure that announcement is made of the various activities of our High School, and a request is made that all items of school interest, in club or social matters, and general school news, will be promptly reported to 45-J, so that the school and all that pertains to school happenings, may receive the deserved place in this column.

One of the most delightful musical affairs that has ever been given in Lubbock, was that of the Recital, given recently by the Juniors and Seniors of the Music Department, of Lubbock High School, at the Presbyterian church. The program was presented by the Senior students, while the Juniors received the patrons, to whom the invitations were extended. This recital was the first of the kind in the history of the school and the splendid success of the evening, and the appreciative comments of those present, together with the interest and co-operation of students and teachers, has resulted in the plan of making these recitals an annual affair in Lubbock.

Miss Edith Wheelock read an interesting paper on the life of Gogowsky, and the musical program given was as follows:
Piano Solo (Concert Waltz)—Willett Waters.
Piano Solo, To Spring by Grieg.—Lena Demham.
"Bartlett," discussed by Edith Wheelock.
Piano Solo from this composer—Waltz Alameda Murray.

Lubbock Civic Club
The regular meeting of the Lubbock Federated or Civic Club met in the Justice Court room Saturday afternoon with but a small part of the membership present. The membership of this club is made up of two representatives from each Ladies Club in the city and their work is purely of a civic nature for the good of Lubbock as a town. It was reported that a large number of the members were out of town.
After discussion it was voted to affiliate with the State Federation of clubs in this district and in this way enjoy the assistance of that body of organized clubs.
The many problems connected with the boy and girl question in Lubbock were discussed, centering around the need of an auditorium, or meeting place for them, of suitable reading matter both in the way of magazines and a library where good books could be had, and direct ion of their play, and activities out of school periods.
The only practical solution that seemed to be possible was the playground director for another year and the problem of financing this work was gone into. The Chamber of Commerce Secretary, in discussing this matter, pledged the full support of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs to any movement looking toward the proper direction of the boy and girl movement, and outlined the Community Service Plan as in effect at San Angelo and other state towns. It is very evident that this must receive the attention of this city. What is to be done with and for our young people during the years between early childhood and young man and young womanhood? A committee is to be appointed to confer with the different organizations in the city looking toward a solution of this matter.

A nominating committee was appointed to submit names for the annual election of officers scheduled for next meeting date, the first Saturday in April and it is hoped that a full attendance will be out at that time.

Mrs. A. L. Kirkwood, of Lubbock, entertained the cast of characters in her recent play, the Old Fashioned Mother. On Saturday evening, March fourth, at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Mills, the house was cozily heated and beautifully decorated with ferns and pot plants. Tables were arranged for progressive forty-two and the older couples enjoyed forty-two, while the young set revelled in other games and music and song. Among the numbers was a sweet, beautiful Solo by Mrs. Holland and several Saxophone duets, accompanied by Mrs. Clark and after the very enjoyable and delightful evening was spent Mrs. Mills, the hostess and Mrs. A. L. Kirkwood, co-hostess, assisted by Mrs. Holland, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Barkham served a delicious course of punch and cake to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ault, Mrs. Barkham, Mrs. T. J. Moore and daughter, Neilsa, Miss J. Xrepaha Clark, Alva McBride, Irene Kirkwood, Miss Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ramond Levy, Miss Lois Mills, Mr. Ray Allen, Lester Miller, Lonnie Montgomery, Mr. West, Ben Dixon.

At the end of this most pleasant evening spent, Mrs. T. J. Moore gave a very touching and beautiful farewell talk to the honor guest, Mrs. Henry Ault, who is leaving for San Antonio next Tuesday.—Contributed.

Another thought:
Your House of Happiness
Take what God gives, O heart of mine,
And build your house of happiness.
Perehance some have been given more;
But many have been given less.
The treasure lying at your feet,
Whose value you but faintly guess,
Another builder, looking on,
Would barter heaven to possess.

Have you found work that you can do?
Is there a heart that loves you best?
Is there a spot somewhere called home
Where spent and worn your soul may rest?
A friend that loves you?
A store of health to meet life's needs?
Oh, build your house of happiness!
Trust not to-morrow's dawn to bring
The dreamed-of joy for which you wait;
You have enough of pleasant things
To house your soul in godly state;
To-morrow Time's relentless stream
May bear what now you have, away
Take what God gives, O heart and build
Your house of happiness to-day!
(By B. Y. Williams, Ladies Home Journal)

G. T. CRAWFORD IN RACE FOR COUNTY CLERK
In this issue of the Avalanche will be found the name of G. T. Crawford, who becomes a candidate for the office of County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary. Mr. Crawford has an announcement to the voters of this county in another column of the paper which is a most favorable introduction of his qualifications for the office to which he aspires, and he will be glad for you to look this letter up and read what his former employes have to say regarding his qualifications.
Mr. Crawford moved to Lubbock county, in the fall of 1916, and located in the Canyon community, where he had been stock-farming, and is considered one of the most substantial, reliable citizens of that community.

Prof. Roger Burgess superintendent of the city schools of Merkel, Texas, drove through from there Friday evening, to spend the week-end with home folks here, and with old school day friends at Canyon City. He returned to his work Sunday night.

AT THE CHURCHES

Bible Conference Began Monday
The Bible Conference, at the Baptist Church, began Monday morning with an address by Dr. H. W. Virgin, of Amarillo. Dr. Virgin will speak twice daily until Wednesday night, using as his general subject, "The Beginning of Things." Those present Monday morning were inspired and thrilled by the great message as it carried us back to the fundamental things of the christian faith, as revealed in the Book of Genesis. This is a time when christian people need especially to examine the foundation of things and be able to give a reason for the faith they hold. Other speakers will follow—Dr. Virgin throughout the week, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services, 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. being the hours.

Report of Sunday's Services
Services last Sunday were not up to their usual standard. Both Sunday School and preaching attendance not up to the usual standard. We wonder if the sand-storm had anything to do with it. We have an idea we had better begin to adjust ourselves to some sudden and not altogether pleasant changes in the weather, for these changes may happen to come this way during the next sixty days.

Cumberland Presbyterian Church
Sunday school progressing nicely, with 86 present, 24 absent. Real interesting lessons with Mother Earhart in the lead.
Morning Service: A goodly number of children present, where were your parents? Scripture: The entire Sixth Chapter of 2nd Cor. was read.
Text: "Lovest thou more than Me?" Thinking Thoughts: "The Devil has his hold on those that shoot craps or play cards in the form of high society circles of the church." "To be a Christian be for everything in Lubbock that the Devil is against, and be against everything in Lubbock that the Devil is for." "Are you laying your body on the altar for God's Service?"
Night Service: Scripture: 2nd Cor. 11: 26. Text: "Imperial among false Brethren."
Some folks were missed in both services, and you missed two real gospel sermons delivered by Bro. J. F. Baker.

Nazarene Church
Our Summer Meeting
We have arranged to have our Revival Services at the Church of the Nazarene, Lubbock, Texas, July 7-17, 1922.
Evangelists Revs. Allie and Emma Erick the Evangelists employed for this meeting need no introduction to the church-going people of Lubbock and vicinity, as these Evangelists held the meeting for us last year and quite a number of good people here gladly heard them and we are sure you will be delighted to hear them again. Rev. Allie Erick made a tour around the world a number of years ago. He is the District Superintendent of the Home District, Church of the Nazarene, and he and his good wife are among the leading Evangelists of the United States. We cordially invite you to attend all these services. "Come over and help us," help others and get helped. A hearty welcome awaits you all.
Yours in His Service,
REV. W. B. PINSON, Pastor.

Church of Christ
The interest in the study of the Bible continues to grow. Quite a few came with perfect lessons. 178 were present.
At the hour for worship, Bro. Smith spoke on the subject: "Watch" using a chart to illustrate. Words, actions, thoughts, character and hearts were enumerated to be watched, Matt. 24: 32-44, was the scripture read. Verse 42 serving as a text. Watch, therefore for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come. This exhortation to Christians occurs very often in various forms of expression. 1 Peter, 5: 8 gives reasons for watching. Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, waiteth about seeking whom he may devour. Christ gave as a reason for commanding us to watch because of that day and that hour knoweth no man. We are not commanded to watch the devil or each other, but ourselves. Ept. 4: 29. Let no evil communication proceed out of your mouth, Jas. 3: 2. If any man offend not in word the same is a perfect man and able also to bridle the whole body. By actions, also are we weighed, Rev. 22: 14. Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life and may enter in thru the gates into the city. Thoughts are to be watched, as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. Character is what we are in God's sight, so we should be watchful here, more concerned than by man's judgments. Also we should keep the heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life. If the strongest Samson was overcome; the holiest man, David, ensnared; if the wisest man, Solomon was deceived; the boldest man, Peter entangled; how much more is it necessary for us as humble followers of Christ to watch, Rev. 2: 10. Be thou faithful until death and I will give thee a crown of life.

An appreciative audience heard Bro. Smith at the evening hour. Answer, "Why send for Peter," as a subject. It was shown that Cornelius was a child of God under Patriarchy, the unwritten law of the Gentiles, that he was not amenable to Judaism, which had passed away 7 years before. That to become a Christian he must do the same things an alien sinner was commanded to do. Peter must tell him this instead of the angel, because Christ had given this authority to earthly vessels, 2 Cor: 4-7.

First Presbyterian
Sunday School was well carried on, fifty-eight of the eighty members having attended, even if the wind did seem to invite one to stay at home.
Rev. Dr. Burwell preached both morning and evening to large congregations, and the members regretted very much to know his last Sunday was spent in Lubbock, as he is making preparations to return to his home at Dallas, and Rev. J. M. Lewis, the new pastor will be here in time to conduct the next Sunday's services. He will be accompanied by his wife and little daughter who will receive a hearty welcome into the social and religious life of Lubbock, and Rev. Lewis will meet with courteous assistance from the alert members of that church.
Dr. Burwell has made many friends both among the membership of the church and among the business and professional men of Lubbock, having taken an active part in the business men's work, and assisted with the various programs in which he was invited to participate.
