DEATH OF A. B. CONLEY, JR., CASTS GLOOM OVER THE CITY—WE REALIZE A USEFUL MAN IS TAKEN AWAY

By L. T. Martin

Death is the grim antagonist of life and yet how seldom we think of it, until the shadow falls across our own path. We do not realize it in all its sadness until we follow some near and dear one to the silent city. How hard to realize they are gone from the happy home life and we are left to take up the burdens of life anew, unshared by their love and sympathy.

When the message came to me of the death of the great and good Adolphus B. Conley, Jr., my grief was great. Words seem cold when we would have them express the feeling we would bring tribute to the bier of the loved, who living have been our strength and our hope.

With troubled mind we have watched the bark of life as it neared the "moaning bar" and now that it has passed on and out into the ocean of eternity, we sit and mourn in the darkness of unutterable sorrow.

His life was a glory; his death a calamity to those who admire virtue and simplicity, and who believe honesty to be the highest attribute of human greatness and human goodness. He had no enemies among reputable people. I recount not his deeds or his works. At the threshold of morning, feeling unwell, he placed of praise, I lament with those who, like myself, have felt the warmth of his kindness and the sustaining power of his strength, and while I stand awed in the presence of his death, I am comforted by the assurance that he could approach his grave, "as one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Let the future be naught but a reward for his true worthiness and let the tenderest memories abide long with us, who remain.

Adolphus B. Conley, Jr., was born at Montgomery, La., April 7, 1878, and died at Lubbock, Texas, at 5:20 p. m., Sunday, March 19, 1922. He married Miss Nannie McAndrews of Lexington, Ky., July 24, 1893. From this happy union there are the following children: Earnest A. Conley, Marian Louise Jennings, Clifton, Texas, Elmer M. Conley, Frances B. Conley, A. B. Conley, Jr., the 3rd, and Virginia Nancy Conley. Mr. Conley was a graduate of the high school of Decatur, Texas, and of the University of Kentucky. Before coming to Lubbock he was in the mercantile business at Bridgeport, Texas, for more than twenty years. He still owns a large tract of land in Wise County. He came to Lubbock to make his home in 1917, buying the business of the Lubbock Mercantile Co. of which he has made a success. He is survived besides his wife and children mentioned above by his father, A. B. Conley, Sr., and a sister, Mrs. W. L. Rush, both of Decatur, Texas.

Mr. Conley was a Mason, and an officer in the Shrine Temple, an Elk, and Post District Deputy of Elks, member of Rotary Club and County Club, Ex-President of Chamber of Commerce and is now a member of the Executive Board. He devoted a great deal of time to Red Cross work during the late war, was a continual worker and booster for the up building of Lubbock.

The Rotary club is bereaved again by the death of Rotarian Bayless' father who was injured in an automobile wreck in California last Monday from which he died a few hours later. The writer joins the other members of the club in extending condolence to our bereaved member and his family in the hour of sadness. R. F. could not attend the funeral on account of the sickness of Mrs. Bayless at the time.

FARMERS SHORT COURSE AT TRACTING MANY PEOPLE HERE

FIRST MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED AND INTEREST GROWS WITH EACH SESSION

FINE SHOWING OF BLOODED CHICKENS

Many Entries and a Magnificent Display of Prize Winning Chickens and Other Fowls, Making the Poultry Show a Record Breaking Event. Poultry Raising Increasing in This Section.

That the many secrets of Agriculture are being delved into by our farmers, that they are seeking knowledge on all the phases of their work, and that they believe in getting the best out of what is put here for them was proven yesterday morning at the Methodist church when one thousand and fifty-eight persons assembled there to hear Mr. Mobley, of the International Harvester Company discuss Agriculture and the necessity of teaching it to the young farmers of the time. Mr. Mobley is a strong, forceful, capable speaker of extraordinary ability, and his interest in the work has made him possibly one of the most enthusiastic agriculturalists in the country, and his wide knowledge of his subject made his address one of the most interesting discussions that has been heard in Lubbock on that subject in many months. Mr. Mobley spoke for a long time on the possibilities of our farms and the best means for obtaining the most results in their cultivation. He is a hard hitter when it comes to discussing inconvenient, crude methods, and assured his hearers that the best way to do a thing is to be properly prepared for that special task, stressing education as the greatest asset in the hands of any person as a tool for the accomplishment of whatever their work might be.

It is a noticeable feature of the progressiveness of our businessmen that they are at all times doing some thing for the betterment of Lubbock County farmers, and we are overjoyed to see such unanimous response from the farmers to the invitation to bring their poultry stock here for this occasion. It is to be remembered that the recent rain has enabled many of our good farmers to be at work, who on account of the extra amount of work they have to do, were unable to participate in this affair, and it is estimated that only about one-third of the farmers are here who would be but for this condition.

The Poultry Show will naturally grow as the years go by and from all accounts the Lubbock Poultry Show bids fair to become one of the biggest things of its kind in all West Texas. Boost better poultry for Lubbock County and you will be boosting Lubbock.

It is encouraging to note that the people of this section have shown so much interest in this work, the committeemen who were appointed for special features of the work several weeks ago have been wide awake to their responsibilities and as a result their work was well done, and all arrangements for making the short course in Lubbock a success properly executed, which was highly commended by those putting on the program.

The evening program was more liberally attended owing to the fact that farmers from further around here for the beginning of the program, and more than fifteen hundred were in attendance when Prof. A. K. Short, of the University Extension Department spoke along educational lines, urging his hearers to arrest more attention from idle, useless vocations, to worth-while, creditable and necessary accomplishments.

Never in the history of farming has it been more necessary for people to take active interest in their work that the most products might be produced in the least possible time, and we believe the I. H. C. short course is one of the most helpful things to which our farmers can give their attention, as experts in every line are here to tell us the possibilities of accomplishing more by doing more studying as we go.

The complete discussion of the Amore course and the manner in which the program was carried will be printed in the following issue of the Avalanche.

That Lubbock County farmers are awake to the needs of thoroughbred poultry on the farms was thoroughly demonstrated here yesterday and today, as the Poultry Show being held in the beautiful and spacious salesroom of the Lub-Tex Motor Company is a success—not merely successful because it met with all expectations and hopes of those who launched it, but because it went beyond all expectations, showing that Lubbock County farmers have something on the shrunken businessmen in all Lubbock as they have better stock than was thought, proving beyond a reasonable doubt that this section is coming to the front in grand style, and that thoroughbred chickens will have a great deal to do with the development of the Plains country.

They were all there! A big blue turkey with masterly looks and from all appearances the monarch of his tribe, gobbled challengingly to a brother of different color and style in an adjoining cage, while the sound of the morning was reverberated from many angles of the room when a Dominecker, Rhode Island Red, Game or Buff Orpington rooster tried to outstrip the voice of his fellow prize winners in an attempt to attract attention of the many admirers of fine poultry who swarmed the place from the time the show started until it was over.

The coops were, with but one or two exceptions occupied by five fowls, a rooster and four hens, and they were a beautiful lot, can only be explained by saying that typical West Texas poultry was shown in all the strains known to progressive poultry raisers. So well pleased are those in charge of the Poultry Show that it is now established as an annual affair, which will go a long way in stimulating the raising of better and more poultry on the farms of Lubbock County.

There were about two hundred and fifty fowls shown, all of the

Lid Is Off the Baseball Situation In Lubbock and Strenuous Workouts Will Be Carried On From Now On

The lid was pried off the baseball situation in this city last Thursday upon the arrival of Mgr. Sled Allen. Spring training stunts have been indulged in as Sled wished to look over the bunch of youngsters who had beaten him to camp.

Owing to condition of the playing field workouts have been a hazardous undertaking, as it is impossible to judge a ball on a rough field, and demands more bravery than skill, however a number of men will be added to the force already putting the park in condition, and everything will be in readiness for the practice game Wednesday with the local Methodist Sunday School team. If you want to see these men, who are going to carry the base ball banner for us this year, in their first stages of action here, come out to this game. The Sunday School team feel very confident that they will put one over on the Longhorns. At least you will see an interesting game, Wednesday afternoon at the Fair Park.

The men are practically all here from Ballinger, and as a matter of general information to the public, in order that you may become better acquainted with these men, we give you below, individually, a short history of their base ball career:

Leo Roy Nicholson: Business Manager and former owner of the club under the Ballinger franchise. He is 30 years of age, born in Ballinger, Texas. Does not play ball. Besides his duties as business manager, Nick (as he is known among the boys), is one of the Board of Directors, and owns considerable stock in the club. He is preparing to make Lubbock his future home.

Sled Allen: Catcher and Manager of the Club, is a native of Missouri, born at West Plains, however, Sled was raised in Oklahoma, to which state his parents moved in the late nineties. He now claims Texas as his home by adoption as he has been located here the most of the time since 1922. Sled started his professional career with Wheeling, W. Va., in 1908, having played two years of tournament baseball in Arizona. Failing to make the grade at Wheeling, he was "farmed" to Mansfield, Ohio, in the Ohio State League, from which place he was shipped on to Enid, Okla., in the Western Assn. finished the season there in 1909, they winning the pennant that year. Several of their players were sold or drafted. Allen going by the draft route to the St. Louis Browns, with the Browns in 1910 until the middle of August, was then "farmed" to the Louisville Americans to finish season; reported to Louisville season 1911, but was recalled in early part of season by St. Louis and sent to Houston in the Texas League. Allen took charge of the Hurley, N. M., club in the Ogden League, and was not in baseball except for amateur; returned to the game as manager of the Ranger club of the West Texas League in 1921, and when that club was dropped from the league, Sled took charge of the Ardmore club in the T. & O. League, where his club won second half and was in the play-off with Paris for the pennant. Sled is 35 years old and married. Mrs. Sled and young Sled will come on from Fort Worth as soon as he can secure a house.

Elton (Sax) Langford: Age 20, unmarried, has had one year professional experience. Was with the Ballinger club last season. Played baseball and football two years in the U. S. Navy. His home is Georgetown, Texas.

E. B. (Red) Gober: Infielder, age 29, has had six years semi-professional experience in Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Utah and California. Red is married, and is now at home in Lubbock. Mrs. Gober and children having arrived last Friday.

James Battle: Infielder, age 20; home, Celeste, Texas. Has had no professional experience; played semi professional ball with Floydada last year. He is not married.

Pat Goodlett: Infielder, age 22, unmarried, home in Georgetown, Texas. No professional experience. Five years semi professional ball.

Vernon B. Cox: Infielder, age 25, unmarried, home, Ozona, Texas. No professional experience. Played semi professional ball in Tampico, Mexico last year.

Willard Wooden: Pitcher, age 27, unmarried, home, Ballinger, Texas. Has had three years professional experience, besides your years college baseball. He has been out of baseball two years.

Bart Green: Pitcher, age 21, unmarried, home Abilene, Texas. Was with Abilene and Ballinger last year in the West Texas League. If you haven't met the personnel and players of the "Longhorns," look them up and form their acquaintance, and let's show them the old Western spirit of hospitality. They will appreciate it, and will feel more at home, for after all, a baseball player is merely a human being, and appreciates a word of encouragement now and then. Back them up, by word and deed, and let's go for a great year in baseball, and come out Wednesday afternoon and see them in action.

S. P. STUBBS DIES HERE LAST SUNDAY P. M.

Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at his home at 405 13th Street, Mr. S. P. Stubbs passed to his final reward, at the age of 78 years and 6 months. He was born September 19th, 1844.

Mr. Stubbs had only been sick a short time, and everything to which the medical profession could resort was used by him.

Funeral services will be held at the Lubbock cemetery Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. C. N. Ferguson, pastor of the First Methodist Church officiating.

A detailed account of the life of Mr. Stubbs will follow in the next issue.

We deeply sympathize with the family in this sad hour.

MRS. D. C. ROSS' BROTHER DIED IN OKLAHOMA MONDAY

Word was received last week by Mrs. D. C. Ross of the death of her brother, J. W. Mosier last Monday, at his home in Connett, Oklahoma, following a stroke of paralysis. He was an ex-Confederate soldier and was 77 years old at the time of his death.

Mr. Mosier was known by some of Lubbock's people, having visited with his sister at this place during the two last summers, and will be remembered kindly by many of our people.

The Avalanche extends condolence to the bereaved family.

TWO CHILDREN PEOPLE KILLED BY TRAIN FRIDAY

Amarillo, Texas, March 17.—Mrs. J. L. Green met instant death and her husband, Judie L. Green, died within two hours after the car in which they were riding was struck by a Fort Worth and Denver passenger train in the outskirts of Amarillo yesterday morning about 11 o'clock.

The body of the man was taken from the pilot of the engine after the train had stopped, and the body of Mrs. Green was thrown through the top of the automobile, over the engine and about twenty feet across the right of way. The train took the body of the woman and the injured man into Childress, where the man died at a hospital.

The couple resided at Childress. They had been married since last August.

R. L. Douglas, of the firm of Wilson and Douglas returned this week from points in the southern part of the state, where he went on business in connection with his firm. He says conditions are on the upward climb in that section, they having had a good rain.

Laughing yourself to death is better than worrying your head off.

GRANDPA HANNAH DIED LAST SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Grandpa Hannah, 78 years of age, father of J. Q. Hannah of this city, passed from this life at his home in the west part of town Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 from the Rix Undertaking parlors. Interment at the Lubbock cemetery.

Our heartfelt sympathies go out to this family in this sad hour of bereavement.

ANOTHER STILL CAPTURED FRIDAY OF LAST WEEK

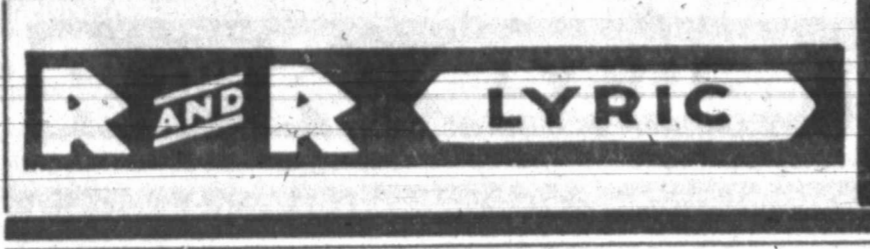

Friday of last week, Constable Rhea, accompanied by Chief of Police Hufstader, on getting wind of a "moonshine still" in the northwest part of the county, proceeded to that place, two miles northwest of Estacado, where they found a secret dugout under a residence there. Everything that could lead to discovery of the place had been carefully done away with. A secret door lead from the floor of the residence to the cellar, was covered with a rug. The officers made a run on the place, but found it had been deserted, and upon further search being made, they found that apparently several barrels of mash had been poured out on the floor, it standing about six inches deep on the floor.

The owner of the residence was found, however, and made a full confession, saying that since the recent capture of some of his other co-workers, he became frightened and had abandoned the place, and would henceforth and forever more steer clear of such behavior, although he had never put out any of the stuff.

Claude Graves, for a long time associated with the Floyd Beal Drug Company is now with the Lubbock Drug Company, having made the change last week.

LOCAL REXALL DEALER
 NINTH IN STATE SALES

By a tabulation sent out by the United Cigar Company, distributors of the Rexall line of goods, relative to the standing of Rexall Agents in Texas as regards the total purchases of Rexall stuff, by the retail jobber, we find the City Drug Company of Lubbock to be ninth in the list. They are lead only by Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, Waco, Denison, Galveston and Waxahachie.

In one year they jumped from nineteenth place, which they held last year, to ninth place, which they hold now.

This is not only a great boost and recommendation for our local dealer, but it also a great boost for Lubbock, showing that we have not only a live bunch of merchants, but an appreciative, patronizing public who show their spirit of cooperation with the local merchants.

The firm mentioned above is persistent advertisers, not only locally, but abroad. It pays to advertise. R. W. Emerson, a northern furniture salesman, was in the city Friday on business.

 THE A. & M. COLLEGE

College Station, Texas, March 11.—Maj. Gen. W. A. Holbrook, chief of cavalry, Washington, was received with appropriate military ceremonies on his arrival at the A. & M. College of Texas at noon Friday. The general was accompanied by Col. George Vidmer, his executive officer.

He was met at the train by President W. B. Bizzell, Maj. L. R. Dougherty, professor of military science and tactics, and his staff of twelve officers. A troop of mounted cadet cavalry escorted the general to the campus and a salute of thirteen guns appropriate to a major general was fired from a battery of three-inch American field guns.

A review of the entire cadet corps of infantry, cavalry, signal corps, field artillery and aviation was given in his honor following his inspection of a cavalry unit. Today a special cavalry drill will be given. He will leave for Houston at 2:15 today.

TWO MEN TAKEN WITH LOOT CONFESS

Breckenridge, Texas, March 11.—Three gunny sacks filled with cigarettes and a quantity of dry goods stolen in the burglary of two stores at Haskell Thursday night, were recovered here last night by the sheriff's department. The men who had the loot in a closed car were taken in custody. Both have signed written confessions according to Sheriff L. D. Head. An officer from Haskell today identified the goods.

Texas Voting
 Strength Over A Million In 1922

In 242 of the 251 organized counties of Texas 966,540 persons registered as voters for 1922 in connection with paying their poll taxes, as compared with 672,034 in 1920 and 593,882 in 1921, increasing of 43.8 and 62.8 per centum, respectively. Upon this basis it is indicated that for the entire State 1,014,233 persons so registered as compared with 705,308 in 1920 and 624,568 in 1921. Adding 15 per cent in each instance to cover exemptions, both certificated and uncertificated, it is indicated that there are 1,176,000 qualified voters in Texas this year, as compared with 811,103 in 1920 and 682,964 in 1921. The bulk of the counties had reported by Feb. 10, ten days after the registration period closed, but the publication of the report by counties is held back because figures are not yet available from Childress, Collin, Collingsworth, Eastland, Grayson, Gregg, Menard, Moore and Stonewall counties.

No effort has been made this year to get registration figures by sexes for the reason that very few collectors keep the figures separately and guesses are without value.

Not until late in the fall of 1920 was there any call for women to pay poll taxes or to register for voting in final elections. Then, after the suffrage amendment had been ratified by three-fourths of the States, the Texas Legislature opened the books for a few weeks especially for women. Only a few, however, felt enough interest in the final election to pay the tax. In 1921, although women were clothed with full suffrage, the registration fell off for the reason that it was an "off year" and many of the men did not pay.

Forget the past, don't hold on to the disagreeable things that pains you the most.

Longhorns Are Receiving Invitation For Games Early

Following is a letter from the Executive Secretary of the Young Men's Business League of Ballinger, which we are glad to reproduce, as it proves beyond any reasonable doubt that the Lubbock "Longhorns" which come from the Ballinger team, are well liked in that city, and we are glad they will be welcomed there again.

Lubbock is glad to be headquarters for that splendid team, and we are sure they will win the admiration of all those who associate with them in Lubbock: President, Lubbock Baseball Club, Lubbock, Texas.

Dear Sir: We have been advised that Lubbock will open up her baseball season this year in San Angelo, and we would like to arrange for a game between your club and a local amateur club before your opening date in that city.

The members of the Lubbock team have a very warm place in the hearts of the people of Ballinger, and their return to this city this spring for an exhibition game would be the occasion of a tremendous ovation in their honor by our citizens.

Our organization will arrange to make the day a half holiday and to provide any other entertainment in the way of a reception or dance, that you would be willing for your men to attend.

Kindly let us hear from you in this connection at an early date. Yours truly,
 Young Men's Business League,
 Stuart L. Williams.

Cream Separators
 Pave the Way to Farmers Prosperity

Cream separators and prosperity go together, according to the observations of many business men, and for that reason those who sell implements, hardware or other articles of commerce to farmers are strong advocates of good cows, cream separators and milking machines.

At a recent State convention of the Texas Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association in Dallas, the subject of the cream separator business came up for discussion. It seemed to be the general opinion that while the margin of profit was slight, that the service rendered paid indirectly and that it was worth any dealer's time to push that part of his business. We quote from a part of the discussion as published from a stenographic report appearing in the Hardware and Implement Journal:

Mr. Timberlake: "I don't think we ever made a dollar on cream separators, but it is like the gentleman said yesterday about what it brings into the store. When we sell a separator we are giving service. My observation has been that the fellow who uses a separator is a man who pays cash for things, or who will soon be able to pay cash for things. A man who keeps his cows and other by-products on the farm, is a man that can pretty soon pay cash for everything he wants. It is a mighty good combination with other lines. It gets you better acquainted with your customer, although on that one item you might not make much money. It keeps you in touch with people you serve and who may be worth something to you, and besides that, it encourages dairy farming."

Mr. Scoates: "I would like to add my 'Amen' to that. If you can encourage a man to go into or help him in the dairy business, you are going to have cash customers."

These are views of business men who take that position from an entirely selfish standpoint. They want to be surrounded by prosperous men, so that they can sell more implements for cash, and they have learned through experience and observation that the farmer who has good cows and a cream separator is not only the best farmer, but the best financial risk.—Farm and Ranch.

LOCAL ITEMS FROM THE
 SEMINOLE SENTINEL

R. C. Forbis, a prominent cattleman of Spur, was here several days last week in the market for two year-old steers. His purchases were made through D. W. Scott, a local commission agent, and are as follows: From Tom Ross 800, M. S. Doss 325, P. W. Daimont 190, B. M. Ansell 180, W. T. Price 100, and B. B. Curry 90, making a total of 1685. These steers are to be delivered at Seagraves on May 15.

The five-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sartin, of Seagraves, died Friday morning after an illness of scarlet fever and diphtheria. Burial was made at Seagraves Friday afternoon.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Wesson, Saturday, March 4th, a boy. Mr. and Mrs. Wesson reside 20 miles south of town.

The Seminole Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting decided to pay $5 for each rat killed. Seminole, provided that the rat is delivered to "Rat Committee," which is composed of Rufus Mitchell and R. W. Pittman.

Country Schools
 Forced to Close
 In Many Places

Sulphur Springs, March 14.—That more than one-third of the rural schools of Hopkins county had already closed because of a lack of funds, and practically all rural schools of the county would be forced to close within the next two weeks for the same reason, was the startling announcement of County Superintendent B. F. Vanderslice at a county-wide mass meeting of rural school trustees, teachers and patrons held here Saturday.

The meeting, which was called by Vanderslice and presided over by Prof. C. A. Mangrum, had for its purpose the discussion of conditions in the rural schools in Hopkins county, and the problem of making adequate preparation for the school year of 1922-1923.

The report of the resolutions committee favoring a special session of the legislature to provide additional funds for rural schools for the next session, and also favoring the elimination of rural school inspection in the interest of economy, was adopted unanimously. The resolutions committee was composed of Professors W. C. McKay and J. Y. Lamm, and Trustees F. B. Green, J. C. Allen and R. N. Kirkpatrick.

AW, WHAT'S THE USE

HOW TO HATCH AND RAISE CHICKENS WITH MOTHER HENS
(By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College)

On many farms the chicks are still hatched and raised by the "good old hen" way. There is no doubt, but that the hen can do the job as well as in incubator and brooder. Where only a few are to be raised each year, the hen may be used to advantage.

We believe the mammoth hatcheries will not only gradually put the small individual incubators out of use but the old hen as well. The baby chick business is a business of service and bound to grow. No doubt the hatcheries can put out chicks, better and cheaper than small incubators and setting hens. The "broody hen" no doubt will be used for quite a time yet, for brooding baby chicks bought from these hatcheries.

Kind of Hen to Set.
The best hens for setting purposes are found among the medium weight breeds like the Rocks, Reds and Wyandottes. They are not too clumsy, yet make dependable mothers. The small breeds like the Leghorns and Anconas are not reliable as setting hens, although there are exceptions. Old hens are much better than pullets. The large breeds are persistent setters, but too clumsy, and because of great abundance of feathers on body and shanks are hard to keep free from lice.

The Hatching Nest
The nest should be large enough, at least 16 inches square and six inches deep. It should be located in a secluded place, protected from the weather, stock and varmints, and where there is plenty of fresh air at all times. It is not necessary to locate the nest, so that the hen will have to fly or jump on the nest, because that generally means many broken eggs.

The nest should be rounded out enough to hold the eggs in the nest, yet not so much that they won't roll apart when the hen gets on the nest.

STOP THAT ITCHING
Use the reliable Blue Star Remedy for all skin diseases such as: Itch, Eczema, Tetter, Ringworms, Cracked hands, Old Sores or Sores on Children. Sold on a guarantee by Lubbock Drug Co. (6-10-22) nest. If the nest is too shallow, some of the eggs may become chilled, because it is more convenient for the hen. In case of varmints it may be necessary to protect the nest.

We have found, oat, wheat straw and hay, best for nesting material. Long and coarse nesting material might become caught on the hens shanks, and upon leaving the nest she would be apt to tear it to pieces. The nesting material should not pack so much that it becomes hard, like dirt and planer shavings and saw dust will do.

We like to place several inches of dirt and sod in the bottom of the nest, and a teaspoonful of coal tar disinfectant on top of the sod. The nesting material may then be added. A few tobacco stems and leaves may also be placed beneath the nesting material to great advantage. One or two moth balls may be placed in the corner of the nest.

Be on the lookout for lice on setting hens. Use sodium fluoride on them when they are first placed on the nest. This drug may be purchased in any drug store and put on like any lice powder, but it should be put on when the hen is set, and not when the chicks hatch, because it would injure and might kill the chicks. Inspect the setting hen occasionally for vermin. We have found setting hens dead on the nest due to the ravages of lice and mites. The red mites are even more dangerous than lice, because in warm weather they multiply so rapidly. We have found that painting the nest box with kerosene, Beaumont oil or carbolineum, has a tendency to keep them down. Care must be exercised to get none of these oils directly on the eggs.

The nesting material should be renewed, if any eggs are broken, and after each hatch. We believe it wise to burn the nesting material and use scalding water around the nest box. Look out for fleas; if they bother, spray surroundings with kerosene. More will be said about controlling vermin in a later article.

Number of Eggs and Chicks to Hen
It is best to place only 15 eggs under one medium sized hen, although this to a very large extent depends on the size of the hen and the weather. In warm weather more eggs may be placed under a hen than in cold weather. It does not pay to crowd too many eggs or chicks under her. We have found it a good plan, if possible to set two hens at the same time and when the chicks hatch to place all of them with the best setting hen of the two. As a rule not more than 25 chicks should be placed with one medium sized hen, and a smaller number in cold weather.

Feed and Care of Mother Hen
If more than one hen is set in the same place, a good plan is to confine them to their nests, and regularly once a day let them come up for food, water, exercise and dusting. Plenty of fresh water, grit, char coal and whole grain should be placed before them. No wet mash of any kind, or other feeds that have a tendency to cause looseness of the bowels should be fed.

The one big job is to keep her free from lice under all circumstances. When the chicks are hatched it is a good plan to grease the tops of their heads (not the entire chick) with common lard to which has been added 10 per cent kerosene. This should kill the head lice commonly found on hen hatched and brooded chicks. Whenever you see little chicks, isolating themselves, stand around, humped up, drowsy, sleepy, droopy and with closed eyes, examine them for head lice on head and neck. Look good and you will find them.

Brood Coop
Any of the common brood coops may be used. The "A" shaped coop has been found very satisfactory. Locate these coops on ground upon which no chicks have been reared the year before. A clean sod is an excellent location. Move the coop onto fresh ground each week or oftener. All brood coops must, of course, have wood floors with plenty of clean litter on it.

Disadvantage of Natural Method Raising Chicks
One of the greatest disadvantages of the natural way of raising chicks, is that the hens ordinarily do not get broody early enough to enable hatching early chicks. Early chicks are the most profitable.

It is also more difficult to control poultry vermin, where hens are used to hatch and brood the chicks. The small breeds like the Leghorns do not go broody as frequently referred to as non-setters, hence other breeds must be kept or incubators used.

Broodiness is a natural instinct which fowls possess in a greater or less degree. Of the American breeds the Rhode Island Red, is especially recommended for natural hatching and brooding of chicks. As a general rule, the egg breeds, have the broody instinct the least developed. Breeding for heavy egg-production, has a tendency to decrease broodiness.

Hens with signs of diarrhoea should not be used. They should at least have a small amount of surplus fat. It is well to know that the brooding period, is a heavy strain on the bird, and she needs to be healthy and vigorous and given the proper care, in order to be able to pass thru the ordeal.

"CAN'T DO WITHOUT THE AVALANCHE," SAYS READER

J. M. Copp was here last week from his farm two miles west of town and called at the Avalanche office to advance the date of his paper another year.

This whole force is going to blow up and wonder how to get our feet on the earth again if our readers do not quit coming in and stating flatly that they are not going to be able to exist longer without the Avalanche. Pretty good old world we live in, especially when there is something incessantly happening that makes a fellow glad to be a newspaper publisher. In a few articles published in this paper have been told the experiences of a newspaper man, and the scribe failed to say much about those good old standpatters who are for the "old home paper" and against everything that exists for its disadvantage. The writer is of the opinion that if there is a human being in this world who learns to know the creator's subjects from the big hearted fellow who pays his subscription in advance to the one who is anxious to be able to swim the Atlantic with an armful of eels without losing one, it is the newspaper man, and when we do run into a good natured son of Adam—and really this world is full of them—we think there is something to be glad about. Subscribe for the home paper and let's go.

WE BOW IN SYMPATHY

Lubbock was made sad, and we state it correctly when we say Lubbock, for the entire populace of the city felt keenly the grief, when word came from the bedside of A. B. Conley Jr., that he had passed away.

ONE WAY TO LOOK AT ROTATION OF OFFICE

We may fall victim to a lot of criticism when you have read the following lines, but they express our opinion to a "T." Many people seem to look at this office holding proposition as a matter of rotation, without regard to qualification so much, and we believe that this is one reason that public business, such as city affairs, school affairs, State and National affairs are in such a mess now.

"He has had the office long enough, let somebody else have it now." The above sentiment, as is the case in every campaign, will be heard in the coming one with perhaps greater frequency than usual by reason of the greater number of people now looking for employment.

GOD KNOWS BEST.

THREE IMPORTANT ELECTIONS IN APRIL

In another part of this issue will be found a copy of the order calling an election to determine whether or not the Lubbock Independent School District shall issue bonds to the amount of $150,000 with which to build a high school building in the city of Lubbock and three rural school buildings, one in the northwest part of the district, one in the southwest part and another in the northeast part of the district.

A KNOWALL IS A MENACE TO SOCIETY

An exchange says: We have all heard about professional joy killers, and the fellow who is constantly taking the pleasure out of life soon becomes intolerable, and even hideous to us, and yet we will all keep an eye open for something that has gone wrong, in order that we may tell someone they have made a mistake, or that we may criticize some mechanical apparatus or another which is of little concern to us, possibly never will be.

The fellow who really gets the real joy and happiness out of life which this world holds for us all is the optimist who sees the right side of things, never looks for the faults of his fellow creatures, and works constantly improving his disposition that the world might not be worse by his being here, and now honestly isn't that the best policy? Laughing is just as easy as frowning, and a whole lot prettier.

Now answer this: Do we ever get any fun out of criticizing people, and what they do? Then let your conscience be your guide and quit kicking.

THAT FORT WORTH R. R. MEETING

The fellows who went to the Fort Worth Railroad meeting with a mapped out program, of how they were going to bring the road to their town, evidently were much disappointed in the result of their trip, from the way the thing was blanketed by the action of the meeting.

THAT SCHOOL MEETING WAS FULL OF INTEREST

The school meeting at the First Methodist church last Thursday was a most successful one, and one that meant much for Lubbock and her schools. The crowd was not as large as might have been expected, but what it lacked in numbers was made up in earnestness, and it was evident that the school board had all the backing that it needed to put the schools through for the full nine months term.

Firemen To Meet At Brownwood In Convention

Following is a circular letter to Chiefs of the Fire Departments received here, and we are sure there will be a great deal of interest shown in the contents thereof by local firemen, as they are a live bunch and will no doubt take an active part in the Brownwood meeting May 9, 10 and 11.

The annual convention of the State Firemen's Association will be held in the city of Brownwood, Texas, on May 9, 10 and 11, and in the same city and the same dates will be held the annual convention of the State Fire Chiefs and Fire Marshals.

It is respectfully requested and suggested that your honorable body have both your Chief of Fire Department and Fire Marshal in attendance.

Fire prevention and extinguishment have become such an important item in the commercial world and so vitally effects the welfare of every city, town and community that it is to the material interest of every city government to have representatives present, and in view of the fact that both organizations are meeting in the same city at the same time, makes it possible for your representatives to procure the benefit and experience from the field comprising the entire state.

This Association is working on the proposition and hopes to be able to procure from the railroads of the State a special rate of one cent per mile for these meetings.

Trusting that the government bodies of the various municipalities to which this communication is addressed will see fit to make the appropriation requested and that the Association will be understood as having in view nothing but the advancement of fire prevention and extinguishment and that we may all be privileged to meet in Brownwood State Firemen's Association. By Olin Culberson, Secy.

The grounds surrounding the building are not yet in shape, but these are being graded up as fast as it can be done. The lawn has just been planted. COLBY THOMAS IMPROVING, STILL LOVES LUBBOCK

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Colby Thomas are delighted to know that Mr. Thomas continues to improve in health. The people of Lubbock hear from them often, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas lived in Lubbock several years, coming here from Dallas. They now live in Escondido, California, where they moved on account of Mr. Thomas' health. They have a host of friends in Lubbock.

"Mr. Thomas worked more zealously and enthusiastically for Lubbock perhaps than any citizen ever living here," is the statement of one of his friends. His loyalty to Lubbock was an inspiring example to others. He has always claimed that Lubbock would make the city of the Plains. He rejoices to see the city grow. He loved Lubbock and still loves it. His eyes are upon Lubbock. In a recent letter to one of her friends in Lubbock, Mrs. Thomas wrote of Mr. Thomas as follows: "He is delighted with this sunshine when it does shine and this wonderful balmy air. However, don't think he doesn't love Lubbock any more for he doesn't cease to talk of it and think about it; and I notice when we get a handful of papers at once the Lubbock Avalanche is the first one he opens."

That Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are happily situated is revealed in the following paragraph of the letter: "I wish you could see this country today. I told Colby it was so beautiful that it hurt—if you know what I mean. It fills you so full of joy and adoration of the beautiful in nature. We have a little glassed in sun parlor in which I sit to write and the view from it is so lovely."

A thought for today: "Thank God, that in life's little day, through all our care and sorrow, we have the promise from His lips, of home, Sweet home, tomorrow. A home unclouded, by a grief, and where in mansions fair, we'll clasp once more our missing ones. No hearts are broken there."

Mrs. Jed Rix, who has been visiting friends and relatives at her home near Dallas, returned to the city yesterday. She spent a few days in Dallas and visited her sister in Sweetwater en route home.

Mrs. John Penney and Mrs. M. Clarty who have been spending a few days in Fort Worth and Dallas returned home Sunday.

Baptist Ladies Aid The regular meeting of the Baptist Ladies Aid met at the church parlor on Monday afternoon, with a good attendance of members.

Kolonial Kard Klub Mrs. Joe Hilton was club hostess to the Kolonial Kard Klub on the afternoon of March 14. The members present were: Mesdames Swift, Oliver, J. O. Smith, Jenkens, Griffin, Castleberry, J. T. Hutchinson. A dainty luncheon was served at Martin's following the game.

1911 Needle Club Mesdames Oliver and Germany entertained the 1911 Needle Club on Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Fred Oliver. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in sewing and before the guests dispersed the hostess served a delicious luncheon, carrying out the color scheme in true St. Patrick style.

Baptist Tea The Baptist Ladies Auxiliary gave a delightful tea at the home of Mrs. E. Ballinger on Thursday afternoon, to help raise the required building fund quota. The Ballinger home was pretty with the dainty arrangement of spring flowers, and the lunch of sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, wafers and tea was served to a large group of church members and friends, a nice offering being realized.

Card of Sympathy The death of Mr. A. B. Conley Jr. has come as a shock to us all, and we join in extending our heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Conley and the entire family at this sad time.

Literature History and Literature are kindred sciences; both are the written story of life which has been lived. History places before us the life of action, and the heroes of history are mostly pioneers, statesmen, soldiers, inventors and leaders of industry. Literature presents the inner life of thought and emotion and ideals, written by novelists, historians and philosophers. Both through deed and word, history and literature reveal to us the life of a nation.

But the life of a nation is not an individual thing. There is an interdependence of nations as well as an interdependence. Literature, as well as history reveals the influence of this universal contact. It is only by a survey of all literature that any single literature can be appreciated or understood. In the survey of literature let us consider first that of our own country.

American literature may be divided into three distinct periods, viz, The Colonial Period, the Revolutionary Period, and the Period of the Republic.

In considering the Colonial Period it is well to remember that the group of English colonies, scattered along the Atlantic coast, represented entirely separate communities. There was no national life, and the literature of the Colonial Period had its beginning in no one center or group of men.

The literature of New England was throughout the Colonial Period of a religious nature and the only questions of interest were questions of theology. The most prominent among the clergy was Roger Williams and John Elliott "the apostle to the Indians," and the Mathers, father and son who were men of rare mental power and who wrote many volumes of sermons. The three great names during the Colonial Period were, Cotton Mather, (1663-1728), Jonathan Edwards, (1703-1768) and Benjamin Franklin (1716-1790). The celebrated book by Mather was "Magnalia Christi Americana," Jonathan Edwards principal book was "Inquiry into the Freedom of the Will" while the best known works of Franklin are his "Autobiography," "Father Abraham's Speech" and "Poor Richard's Almanac."

By the middle of the 18th century great changes were noted in the character of the colonies. They had become closer neighbors and had found that they had much in common. The old isolation was broken down and with a united voice they protested against foreign injustice. The character of the writings in the Colonial Period was purely theological while that of the Revolutionary Period was political. The writers of the day denounced tyranny and proclaimed for liberty and self reliance and thus laid the foundations of our national literature. Some of the leaders of the period were James Otis, Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Alexander Hamilton.

During the period of the Republic, in the midst of which we are working out today our ideals, we find the following names standing out in the making of a literature that shall be a factor in all the activities of the nation. The principal writers during the pioneer period of American literature were Washington Irving, Paulding, Cooper, Halleck, William Cullen Bryant, Allen Poe, and Drake. The second group includes minor poets as well as the great theologian Channing the poet and painter Allston and Henry Dana, who for many years was editor of the North American Review. The third group of New England writers includes Emerson, Hawthorne, Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell, Holmes, and to these may be added Louise Alcott, Henry Thoreau, Channing, Parker, Ripley and Edna Fuller. Notable among historical writers were McMaster, Prescott, Hickling and Motley. The period since the Civil War has been one of great productiveness in literary fields and continues to show an increasing, rather than a diminishing tendency.

With the dawn of the Twentieth Century, we have no promise of a literature equal in quality with the best product during the 19th century, but the number of those who can write well is exceedingly large. Fiction and short story writers are found in William Dean Howells, and Henry James Jr. Contemporaries with these are Thomas Bailey Aldrich, and Edmund Stedman.

Fiction has been the favorite form of writing during the past few decades and the south may well be proud of such writers as George W. Cable, James Lane Allen, Thomas Page, and Winston Churchill.

The three periods of Americans have been briefly sketched, the Colonial Period lasting two hundred years or more, when literary efforts were confined to feeble imitation of European models, the period of the Revolution, when there was a great unrest and little creative genius, the third, that of the Republic, a literature still in the making, which is destined to rank as the years go by with even the greatest.

One of the most beautiful social events of the season occurred last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Goble, Ferris, Texas, when their daughter, Miss Frankie Mae, was given in marriage to Mr. W. M. Slagle, of Ennis, Texas.

The pretty and spacious home was beautifully and artistically decorated with pot plants and cut flowers, and the house was filled to overflowing with eager guests long before time for the ceremony.

The nuptial rights were said by Dr. Grey, Presbyterian minister, the ring ceremony being used. The happy couple approached the altar, preceded by Miss Effie Goble, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Mr. A. B. Slagle, of Lubbock, brother of the groom, as best man, the bride and maid of honor carried beautiful bridal bouquets. In a very few but impressive words Dr. Grey pronounced the ceremony which made the two hearts beat as one.

The bride is an attractive and talented young lady, coming from one of the best families in the state. She has lived in Ferris for a long time, and is always active in the social affairs of the town, and in church activities, living a devout christian life, and numbers her friends by her acquaintances.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Slagle of Lubbock, Texas, and is at present employed by the Ennis High School in the science department. He is a young man of sterling character, highly refined and his friends are legion.

The happy young couple left immediately for Dallas, where they will spend a few days, after which they will return to Ennis, where Mr. Slagle is employed. They will be at home to their friends at 210 West Belknap St., Ennis, Texas. May their life be long and happy, and their days be full of joy, is the ardent wish of their many friends, both here and there.—Contributed.

One among the most beautiful and most enjoyable affairs ever been in Lubbock was that of the entertainment held at the first Baptist church parlors on St. Patrick's day afternoon, March Seventeenth. A most pleasing and interesting program was rendered. Mrs. A. L. Kirkwood's side of the recent contest who was defeated intimated the winning side. The program was carried out in the St. Patrick style the green predominated everywhere. The table was a beauty to behold festoons of green were draped from the center light to the beautiful table with the large cake in center. The winning ladies were met at the door by the reception committee and handed a cute little St. Patrick cap of red. The defeated ladies wore green caps and sashes.

The program is as follows: Scripture reading and prayer, by Mrs. T. J. Moore, our president. Musical reading—Mrs. Heim. Solo—Mrs. Joe Hilton, (A Little Bit of Heaven). Reading—Miss Pauline Carnes. Solo—Mrs. I. J. Holland. Reading—Miss Alice Powell. Piano Solo—Mrs. J. W. Jennings. Solo—Miss Clark, (Where the River Shannon Flows).

Reading and an address of commendation to all the Ladies Aid by Mrs. G. W. Scott. After the splendid program the ladies were served delicious ice cream cake and punch at the close the winning captain, Mrs. J. H. Wilson gave a sweet and most appreciated talk. When they all dispersed they marched around several blocks in a body happy and resplendent in their gay colors of green and red all paying their contributions to Mrs. Kirkwood for her splendid efforts as a "cheerful loser." Among those present were:

Mesdames A. B. Clark, A. L. Hawkins, F. B. Barclay, R. A. Barclay, Joe Hilton, C. E. Overman, M. E. Witt, Ed. Vaughn, J. H. Wilson, B. F. Dixon, C. M. Ballinger, G. M. Cosby, G. L. Mills, G. W. OLD LANDMARK TORN DOWN ON ELEVENTH STREET

This week the old frame building on 11th Street, formerly occupied by the Simpson Electric Co., and later by the Lubbock Mattress Co., is being torn down and moved.

We are very glad indeed to see this step being taken, for although this is an old landmark in the city, it was becoming a great menace to the city and more especially to the immediately adjoining property owners, for such buildings as that are very susceptible to fire, and when started, are practically beyond control.

Mr. Copeland, the owner of the property states that he will not build there right now, but some time in the near future he expects to erect some nice brick buildings on the lots.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffith after a six weeks' stay in this city left Thursday for their home in Lubbock. Mr. Griffith who is in charge of the undertaking department of the Rix Furniture and Undertaking Co.'s store at Lubbock, was in charge of that department of the Big Spring store during the absence of H. L. Rix at Battle Creek Sanitarium. Mr. Griffith has been very ill the past two weeks due to an attack of "flu" and is still suffering from the effects of this attack.—Big Spring Herald.

An Open Letter to The Avalanche From Major General of the Texas National Guard About Battery Here

This letter is addressed to you for the purpose of securing your cooperation in an enterprise that is of supreme importance to our country, state and community. After the close of the war many of the best military and civilian minds of the country were called in conference upon the problems of devising plans for our national and community defenses that would be adequate but never the less be harmonious with American ideals and would not multiply the already onerous burdens of the tax payers. The result was that Congress reduced our Standing Army to a low minimum, made certain plans for a skeletonized reserve, and called upon the citizenship of the country to contribute to our First Line of defense our war-time Guard Divisions reorganized at peace strength under veteran officers. Of such high importance to the country is the problem of perfecting our citizen reserve forces that General Pershing has assumed specifically the task of perfecting our National Guard as an immediately available force and of carrying out the peace time plans for the Reserve Army. Texas has been requested and has promised to reorganize the 36th Division. There is being organized a Battery of Artillery at Lubbock's contribution to the Division. The Federal Government bears the major portion of the expense of equipping and maintaining this Battery. The pay of officers and enlisted men for armory drill and for the summer maneuvers and the pay for care-takers for the animals and equipment belonging to the Battery will amount to approximately $19,000.00 per year. The State appropriates at present sufficient money with which to pay the armory and stable rent only, and we are calling upon your county commissioners and your city government to supplement the appropriation of the State. In this way all of the expenses of the Battery can be cared for except that of equipping your armory. It is of the utmost importance that the armory be properly equipped and maintained. If the armory is not an attractive place, if it is so poorly equipped and cared for that it will detract from rather than enhance the self-respect of the members of the Battery, it will be impossible for the officers to maintain the high standard of personnel that they have set for the organization. It is impossible to impress this point too greatly for it is of the utmost importance that the personnel of the National Guard Batteries be drawn from the best young men of the community. The Batteries is not only maintained as a fighting unit but it also serves the purpose of an officers' and non-commissioned officers' school for those who are and will be officers whenever the Guard should be mobilized at war strength to meet a national emergency. Therefore, the Battery that has not the young men of the high class necessary to meet these demands, is not fulfilling its whole mission. In general I am calling upon your paper for assistance in securing for the Lubbock Battery the moral support of the substantial citizens of the county and community. The support and co-operation is necessary if the plans for our national and community defenses are to be made effective and we wish to bring home to the citizenship of each community in Texas that they are the beneficiaries of the service rendered by the officers and men of the National Guard and that the whole scheme calls for their support and encouragement. In bringing this about, your excellent paper can be of great assistance to us throughout that part of the State. I shall appreciate whatever assistance you may give this movement personally and whatever expression in an editorial way that you may give through the "Lubbock Avalanche." With highest regards, I am, Yours very truly, John A. Hulien, Maj. Gen. Texas Nat'l. Guard.

SUFFRAGE STIRRING WESTERN STATES

In Minnesota the women's jury service, with other suffrage rights, is being taboed, all on account of women serving on the jury having to spend the night in a locked room with men members of the jury. The governor of that state has declared that he would demand of the next session of the legislature a remedy to provide something different. The governor declared it an outrage, and the law that permit it should be changed and not tolerated in any courts. Not only does the Executive of the state disapprove of the practice, but many ardent believers in the rights of women are fighting the practice. In some counties in the state the courts have decided to ignore the right of women to serve on the jury.

In some other states this question of barring the women from certain places in state and county affairs is being discussed in courts, and is becoming a campaign issue. The women, however, say it is their right and they should exercise it. It is only a matter of a short time they say, that the husbands who are opposed to their wives being locked in a room over night with men, would soon get accustomed to it and would think nothing about it. One woman leader, and one who was on a jury over night, says, "we must perform the obligations imposed upon us regardless of the conventions which would interfere with our new duties. As wives get an insight into these duties and obligations formerly performed entirely by the husbands, their point of view will change from many old-fashioned notions. Men, too, are being broadened by the mental development of their wives in performing civic duties, and I believe will give the conventions less consideration in proportion as they interfere with women in performing such public service."

SUNSHINE COMMUNITY NEWS OF PAST WEEK

In a few days the farmers of this community will be able to start their spring plowing after the nice rain of Sunday night. The Sunshine Club proved a failure last week as the snow storm came up that day. Mrs. M. Goebel and daughter entertained only two members. Miss Erna Goeth spent Thursday night with Miss Thea Goebel and accompanied her to Center School the next day where she visited some of her old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fuchs and Mrs. Chas. Goeth and son went to Lubbock Sunday where Mrs. Goeth received medical attention on her hand. She had an operation on her hand about a week before. Nearly all in Mr. A. J. Fuch's family have been sick with bad colds. Last Friday while playing at school Herman Fuchs sprained his ankle, but it was not serious. He was able to walk a little Monday. Miss Erna Goeth and Mr. Wilburn Nelson spent Sunday with the Dunn's of the Center community. Mr. and Mrs. M. Goebel and family and Mr. Homer Ranta spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Goebel.

RAIN IS WORTH MANY THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

About one-half inch rain fell here Sunday night, worth many dollars to the country and putting a season in the ground that will enable the farmers to go to work preparing their ground for another crop. From what we can find out the rain was generally all over the South Plains. Tuesday morning a message from Terry county stated that a little more than one-half inch rain fell in that part of the country and was still raining. This, with the three-inch snow that fell last week will put enough moisture in the ground to revive the wheat that is still in the ground, and what is now up will be putting on a wheat field appearance.

EXCELLENT REMEDY FOR CONSTIPATION

It would be hard to find a better remedy for constipation than Chamberlain's Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. Give them a trial when you have need of them.

J. D. Levey, insurance man, of Slaton, was here Wednesday on business. Mr. Levey is a Slaton booster and it is really encouraging to know that our neighboring towns have citizens who support the same spirit of progressiveness practiced by our Lubbock business men. The Plains country has every natural advantage necessary in the making of a great trade territory, and the people are making their part come up to all expectations.

Good Intentions

During Jenkins' absence of several months, the minister's wife had died.
Jenkins hadn't hear of it, however,
and upon his return in the summer, when he met the minister, he breezily inquired: "And how is the wife standing the heat these days?"

The Question Box

Q. Can I raise my baby on whale's milk?

A. Yes, if you can hold a whale long enough to milk it, but even then your baby is apt to grow up and become a poor fish.

Q. Why can't I ever say the right thing at the right time?

A. Probably your watch needs regulating.

Q. When soap won't clean my feet, what should I do?

A. Try sandpaper.

Q. Why does a watch stop when it hits the floor?

A. Because it can't go on through
Q. There are warts on my knees.
What is the remedy?

A. You'll simply have to wear your skirts longer or stop rolling them.

All Planned Out

Young Man—May I have your consent to marry your daughter?

The Father—Bless you, my daughter made me promise not to interfere at the time she set her cap for you.

Devotion

If nothing else in all the world
Remained but just a glimpse of you
I'd still believe the world was good
And life was worth the living, too.

If every friend had proven false
But you, I'd still have faith to know
That God could raise up other friends
To stand by me in weal or woe.

If over all the world a cloud
Had settled, deeper than the night,
And I should see you smile, I'd know Sometime, somewhere, there would be light.

If ever bird that ever sang
Had lost the note it sang before,
One word from you would make me feel
That music would peal forth once more.

If every lovely flower that grew
Had perished in the world of pain,
I'd trust the Power that made you,
dear,
To bring back loveliness again.

If no one else believed in God,
And no one else believed in me,
Your joy in life, your faith, your love
Would make me feel eternity.

Since the rain the past week the merchants of the city already notice quite an impetus to their business, and more especially in the way of farm implements. The farmers are aware of the fact that they have in that rain what they have been wanting, and they are certainly taking advantage of the fact.

Says Mr. Myrick, of the Cole-Myrick Hardware Co: "We can certainly notice a difference in the trade in our line. We have been busy the last few days assembling and delivering implements of all kinds. It seems like the 1920 volume of business."

The farmers as a whole are in fine spirits, and wearing a smile the full length, as is characteristic with the South Plains farmer, and we are indeed gratified to feel that the farmer is once more coming into full self-confidence, and the realization that he can and will make himself felt in the solving of the country's problems, for when the farmer fails the nation as a whole has failed. Let's give them our full support.

Mr. Symes is very optimistic now since the rains have been general, early grass is assured and the farmers can go right ahead to planting when the opportune times arrives.

METHODIST S. S. TEAM TO PLAY "LONGHORNS" WED.

The baseball season is in full swing with the local Methodist Sunday School club. They have a fine bunch of fellows, and are very enthusiastic over their prospects for the season. Workouts are being had every evening that can be used for that purpose, and they are rounding out in shape for a great amateur team.

They say they are being snowed under with challenges, and are this week closed for further engagements as they have all they can handle. On Wednesday afternoon, they will take on the local Longhorns of the West Texas League, and say they are no doubt going to put one over on the Longhorns. If you want to see a good game, come out and see this opening game of the season. Also it will give you an opportunity to see how the Longhorns are going to begin the season.

On Thursday evening a game will be played between this team and another class in the same Sunday School, which promises to be a good game.

Let's give these fellows our support, and develop them physically as well as spiritually and mentally.

COL. W. E. JOHNSON ENTERS RACE FOR JUSTICE OF PEACE

Col. W. E. Johnson, the auctioneer, informs us that he has been solicited by a number of people, and quoting his own words "by some pretty good men too," to become a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1, in this city, and he has yielded to their entreaties and has cast his hat into the ring, and is now a full fledged candidate for that office.

Col. Johnson has been in Lubbock about eight years. He is well known here, having been conspicuous in many auction sales and is a strong believer in law and order, and has had a lot of practical experience along that line, which will better fit him for the job. He says: "I am a Democrat, or I am nothing" and "if anybody is a better Democrat than I am, its just because he has more sense than I have." He is making the race subject to the action of the Democratic primaries, and will appreciate your vote and influence.

HOCKLEY CO. ORGANIZES SINGING CONVENTION

At a meeting of the singers of Hockley County held recently, they entered into the actual organization of the convention as a permanent body. B. E. Gunn, postmaster and teacher of Leland, was elected the president of that organization.

Mr. Gunn is a live wire, and Leland is indeed fortunate in having him in their community. He says that their first service will be held at Leland on the third Sunday in April, same being Easter Sunday, and he sends out the invitation to all those interested and very urgently requests that everybody come out and have a good, jolly time, for there will be a spread suitable to the occasion.

"I could not tell when Prihoda or when your phonograph was playing" says John C. Freund

Do you want to hear the phonograph which earned this remarkable tribute from the dean of American music?

Come into our store. Ask to hear the Official Laboratory Model. John C. Freund has devoted his life to the betterment of American music. He is Editor of Musical America and President of the Musical Alliance of America.

On October 16th, Mr. Freund attended Prihoda's New York recital. After the recital, the comparison test shown above was made. Mr. Freund (seated right) was one of the listeners. His colleagues were Victor S. Flechter, violin expert, and Arnold Volpe, well known violinist conductor. This letter to Mr. Edison is the result. Read it. Let the full import of Mr. Freund's words sink in. This miracle—which people refuse to believe until their ears convince them—is now attested by John C. Freund:—There is no difference between living music and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison.

And this means: The New Edison brings the greatest vocal and instrumental performances,—because, no other phonograph sustains the test of direct comparison with living artists.

Comparison proves it. Compare!

Why not have, in your home, a phonograph as perfect as that used in the Prihoda test? We have its exact counterpart. We guarantee it to be capable of the same perfect realism.

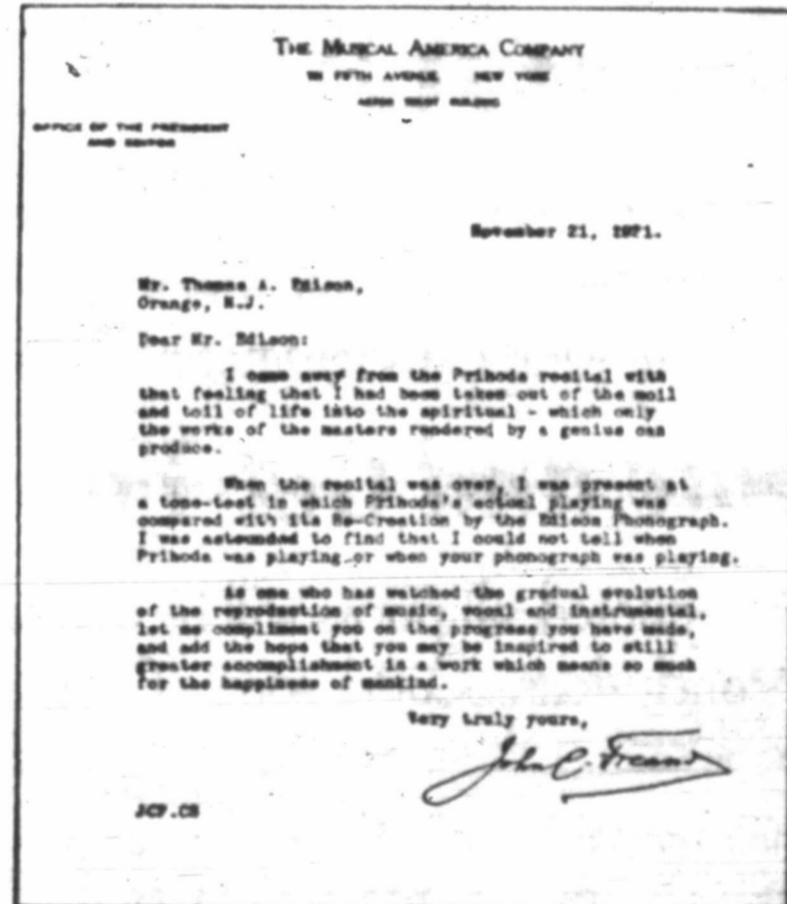

Despite the fact that this phonograph cost Mr. Edison three million dollars to develop, you can put it in your home for $ (fill in your own first payment.)

Yes, just take a spare bill or two, come in, and make your initial deposit. All we ask is that the amount be sufficient to indicate good faith. The balance you may budget any way you wish.

Why not come in this week?

METHODISTS WALLOPED GRAMMAR SCHOOL FRIDAY

In a three inning game played at the Elk diamond Friday evening the M. E. Sunday School team of young men walloped the Grammar school nine to the tune of seven to nothing. A game having been matched between the Methodists and the Lubbock club of the West Texas League the team needed a little practice and the youngsters of the grammar school delivered the goods in fine fashion, as they played a hard game, put the Methodists to task in several ways from a hard-to-find pitcher to alert fieldman who were found wide awake every time the old pill went into their territory.

The Methodist team has not been organized very long and several of the players were in bad shape for a game owing to the fact that they have not had very much practice. But all indications are that they will have a sure enough nine before the time to get down to serious work playing is here. The class in the Sunday School is also gaining attendance in a hurry since the baseball team and its organization has been under discussion. The whole idea is to get the young men interested in the work and it is pointed out that the baseball route is a good one to go for that accomplishment, and it is believed that once the young men get used to working and playing together the class attendance record will remain intact. They will be glad to match a game with any team in this vicinity, all communications for this matter should be sent to Bennet Slagle, captain of the team.

ONION INDUSTRY IN TEXAS IS ASSUMING GREATER PROPORTIONS THAN EVER BEFORE

There is great activity in the Texas onion fields these days in preparation for the rapidly approaching marketing season. The commercial acreage planted to Bermuda onions is estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture at 12,117 acres, and it is forecast that 11,522 acres will be harvested. This compares with 10,503 acres harvested in 1921.

As heretofore the Department of Agriculture will maintain a field station at Laredo to keep the growers and shippers informed of market conditions generally throughout the country. Carlot shipments, available supplies, prices, weather conditions, and the many factors that affect the marketing of onions will be reported to the growers daily. Financial success in producing and marketing Bermuda onions is possible only when the economic relation between the northern-grown winter storage crop and the perishable Bermuda crop is taken into consideration, say Federal marketing experts. The Texas crop is marketed in a period of two months, and the highest type of marketing efficiency is required. There may be a large carry-over of northern-grown storage onions; the markets for the Bermuda crop are a long distance from producing points with consequent high costs for transportation; bad weather may quickly impair the quality of the stock; the crop may be larger than the country can consume; and toward the end of the season there is competition from other early producing States.

The results of years of study of the scientific production and marketing of onions is available to the growers, and producers and shippers are unanimous in stating that the department's service has been of great value to them. Federal market reporters located in large consuming markets, such as St. Louis, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Chicago, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, report daily to the Laredo office local market conditions, such as supply, demand, and prices. The Department also has cooperative arrangements with the various railroads whereby the shippers are informed of daily carlot shipments of onions everywhere in the United States.

For marketing purposes the Texas onion-producing section is divided into three districts: the Laredo district, consisting of Webb County; the upper counties, comprising Dimmit, Frio, La Salle, and Zavalla Counties; and the Gulf Coast district, embracing the territory contiguous to the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico and the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railroads. The upper counties usually furnish fully 50 per cent of the shipments, the remaining districts 25 per cent each. Shipments are made to every State in the Union east of the Rocky Mountains, the principal markets being New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, and Massachusetts. New York alone has taken in the past as much as 20 per cent of the entire carlot movement. Laredo is the shipping center for approximately one-third of the onions from the entire section, and headquarters of practically all buyers

Kiwanis Club Had a Very Enthusiastic Meeting Last Thursday With Luncheon At Manhattan Parlor

Did you ever see a fellow try to be funny when really that is the only way he ever was? Well, that's what we all saw at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Manhattan yesterday when J. B. Caldwell took charge of the program. He tried to explain that it is because he acts funny that makes everybody laugh when they see him, and made an out of it, for the whole bunch knew the straight of it, and anyway he went ahead with the program, and that meeting is recorded in the minds of the members as about the liveliest thing that has been pulled off in Lubbock since the Stag party for our visiting nomadic salesmen.

Robert Sowder made a great long speech on something about the four powers' pact, but owing to the fact that Louie Moore was near the writer and kept saying something about the whole world running on a one-boss schedule, we were unable to get the meaning of his speech, and finally he quit through sympathy for the visitors for whom he did not have so much ill feeling as the regular membership. He is a spellbinder from the old blue-back series, and when it comes to comedy he is right there. Rylander, head of the program committee had planned this meeting to be a comical one and Robert certainly met all specifications in "building" that speech.

H. A. Davidson had a long drawn out philosophical subject too deep for the writer to comprehend, but finally closed by saying something about it pays to advertise, and told a few things on Purine chicken chow that made us all set up and take notice. He won first place as salesman at the Traveling Men's lunch, and if he ever got off that subject we were unable to find him during that time.

C. E. Maedgen made a lengthy talk on the financial conditions of the country, and the relative high standing of a Kiwanian with other citizens, as a banker looks at things. He is a good business man and displayed extraordinary ability as a judge of character on this occasion.

Claude Huribut made an interesting spell-binder's account of what the "Tumble N" pool out in the country club section would add to the leisure resorts of this section, and announced that the opening day the pool would be turned over to Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs for a joint meeting. Huribut is a typical Kiwanian and is from the old school when it comes to after-dinner speaking.

E. A. Morgan said it was his opinion that the Lubbock Longhorns were going to make a lot of local fans become interested in the great American game from the start, and proved to his hearers that if he had not forgotten a few notes he would have displayed oratorical talent beyond expectations of even his nearest friends.

L. T. Martin closed the speech-making period with an apology for having believed Fred Boerner the best looking man in the bunch, then made some important announcements. He is a Rotarian tooth and toenail and we are sure glad to have his kind visitors to our luncheons.

Edgar Inman, Luther E. Meredith and Mesdames Rylander and Trinkle, accompanied by Mrs. Ed Robinson, furnished the musical numbers, which were appreciated and enjoyed by all present.

Prof. Dupre, superintendent of the Lubbock schools, thanked the Kiwanis Club for its co-operation in raising necessary funds to send the stock judging team to Fort Worth, where they won state championship.

Cheer up! April showers will say it with flowers.
Some folks can make everything except ends meet.

A BIG DAY FOR CALDWELL SCHOOL

On the 17th, Friday, the Teachers and Patrons were expecting the State Supervisor and in order to show their progressive school spirit, the entire community set out to make a success as is their usual custom.

The crowd began to gather by 10 o'clock and it was announced that a short program would be rendered by the school, the house was filled to the fullest capacity. Some coming from neighboring schools, and from the way the student body held the attention, showed that they had been in the care of able instructors, each number was greatly enjoyed by all. Prof. Dyess and wife aided in the program by furnishing the music, which was also relished and put the folks in frame of mind to appreciate the outing at 11 o'clock. How Judge Brown of Lubbock was called on for a talk, and readily responded. His subject (Education). He spoke an hour and his message was masterful, it was a benediction to all. He never lost sight of the things that go to make an educated boy or girl. The compliments he paid the teachers, trustees and patrons will always be cherished. The encouragement he gave will be lasting.

The next part of the well arranged program was dinner, the ladies had prepared the nicest of oaks consisting of too many things to begin trying to mention, besides the men had barbecued the fatted calf provided, loaf bread, pickles and black coffee. Upon the long table the above eats were spread and to say it was fine is only making an effort to describe the affair. At 1 o'clock everybody repaired to the building and were entertained by young Mr. Matheny and sister, with a song, with Gladys Shaw at the organ, the Mr. Bowman of Austin, gave a most interesting talk on education. He was loud in saying that the schools of Lubbock compared favorably with other schools of the State, though the Lubbock schools are many years younger. He gave us an example of Optimism and Caldwell enters into a vow to always be optimistic, as it has been their custom. Judge Haynes was called and in his easy way gave more food for thought, and his talk was appreciated. Next was a basket ball game played by Grovesville and Caldwell, which was witnessed by a large crowd, the game stood, girls 9 to 14 in favor of Caldwell; boys, 8 to 12 in favor of Caldwell. Next feature was a ball game between Monroe and out-siders playing for Caldwell. Game stood 2 to 3 in favor of Caldwell. Last but not least supper was announced, the feast was again spread and everyone again partaking to their liking, and plenty carried back to the homes to feed the crowd at another meal. To complete the day and to give honor to the ball players of Caldwell, Mr. J. I. McDonald and wife gave a conversation party, which was attended by babies from 7 months old to old gray haired men and women.

This ended the day's program, everyone going away saying hurrah for Caldwell and her citizenship. The only disappointment in the above named program was caused by the following named gentlemen, who were invited and placed on the program for educational talks: Col. Agnes Jennings, Jas L. Dow, W. C. Rylander, Rev. C. N. Ferguson, of Lubbock; Hon. R. A. Baldwin, of Slaton; Rev Howell of Abernathy, who were not present. Their presence was greatly desired, yet it was a pronounced success and if you don't believe it, ask W. T. Mc-Neeley of Lubbock, Texas.—Guest.

AT THE CHURCHES

Church of Christ

The Sunday School showed a falling off in attendance, only 149 were present. There is much interest in the study however, and good lessons are reported. Practically all remained for the sermon.

Bro. Smith read 1 Thos. 5: 1-10 with the 8th verse as a text. But let us, who are of the day be sober putting on the breast-plate of faith and love; for an helmet, the hope of salvation. The last 3 words serving as subject for discussion. We are saved by hope, Rom 8: 24.

Hope purifies 1 Jno. 3: 3. 'Tis the pure in heart who shall see God. Jno. 3: 2, tells us Behold now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is, Heb. 6: 19, which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, hold sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that within the veil. Hope is the anchor of the soul, but as the anchor is worthless so is the hope worthless without a foundation, Jer 3: 23. Truly in vain is salvation hoped for from the hills and from the multitude of mountains; truly in the Lord our God is the salvation of Israel. The foundation of hope is fact, Heb. 11: 1. The foundation of faith is the word of gospel, 1 Cor. 15: 48. Acts 15: 7, Rom. 10: 17. Millions have a hope that is vain and cannot give a stronger foundation than dreams or feelings. Sanctify the Lord God in your hearts and be ready to give an answer for the hope of salvation that is within you. Forgiveness takes place in God's mind—the hope that is not vain is founded on faith or God's word which shall not pass away. Faith foundation of hope. The word, the foundation of faith, Christ the foundation of the word, Heb. 1: 1, 2, and God the foundation of Christ, Jno. 12: 49.

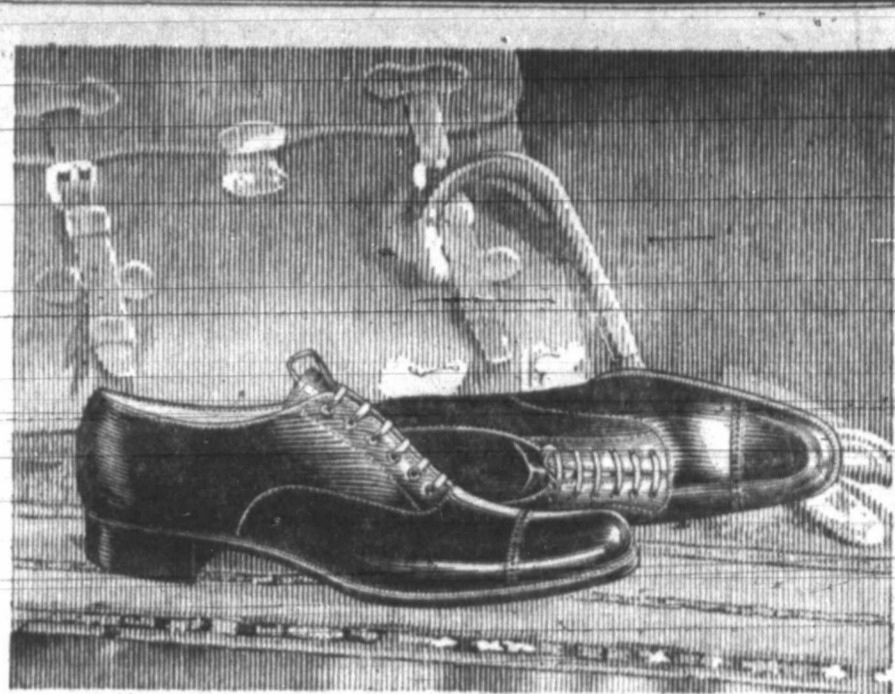

Hope comforts one in death.

From the 1st Chapter of 2 Peter, Brother Julien took his text: "After Baptism What?" for last Sunday morning's address at the First Christian Church. Most forcibly the attention of the congregation was called to the fact that man's adherence to what is termed, "first principles," faith, repentance, confession and baptism, will not save him. These things are necessary for man's pardon for his past sins. But, in the words of Peter, in his second letter, to faith, or courage, must be added virtue, and to this knowledge, and to knowledge, temperance, and to temperance, patience and to this godliness, and last and greatest, charity, or love; it is the essence of God.

Brother Julien stated that it takes a courageous man to be a Bible Christian. He has ever been, and will always be, in the minority. But Jesus said: "The world hated me and it will also hate you; the world misunderstand me and it will also misunderstand you." "When the Church of God" said Bro. Julien, "is in the world bearing witness for Christ, she is a glorious sight; but when the world gets into the church look out. The church is reaching a critical place in her existence when she becomes popular with the world".

Dr. Gates, pastor of the Coleman, Texas, church, filled the pulpit at the evening service, and after reading the record of Saul of Tarsus conversion from the 4th Chap. of Acts, he then read the 5, 6 and 7 verses of Paul's 2 Epistle to the Corinthians, taking his text from the 7th verse: "We have this Treasure in Earthen Vessels." By this statement, explained Dr. Gates, Paul meant that to mankind is given the privilege of preaching Christ Jesus, our Lord—of telling the old, old story of Jesus and His love. And he stated that so far as he was able to learn from the blessed Book, this special privilege given us by God is not even given to angels, nor to the Holy Spirit, nor even to Jesus Christ, His Beloved Son. In detail, Bro. Gates related the three great conversions, recorded in the
