NATIONAL GUARDS INSPECTED AND FEDERALIZED AT A MEETING SAT.

SPECIAL ARMY OFFICIALS WERE PRESENT AT THE MEETING AND ADDRESSED THE ORGANIZATION EQUIPMENT WILL SOON BE SHIPPED HERE

The Local Officers Have Been Chosen and the Organization Will Get Down to Business as Soon as the Equipment Arrives and all Detail Work Completed Relative to Organization.

Saturday night at the court house the National Guard Battery of Field Artillery for Lubbock was inspected, passed on and federalized. The organization will be known as Battery C, 142nd Field Artillery, 36th Division, Texas National Guard.

As special visitors on this occasion we had: Major W. L. Culbertson, of the Regular Army, U. S. A., Inspector for the U. S. Federal Reserve, Major Claude A. Adams, of the Texas National Guard; Capt. S. M. Hankins, Texas National Guard, and Colonel Clark M. Mullican, of this city, who is deeply interested in the organization, but at the present is not connected with same.

Major Culbertson, in a torrent of eloquence, as is usual with men of his calibre impressed upon the boys the importance of the position held by them, and the influence of the traditions and inspirations of the great men of the South who have gone on before, upon the generation that is now to take up their noteworthy work. Among other things he said: "I am proud of the fact that I can say I come from a lineage of three generations of Texas National Guardsmen, and a greater heritage in experience and knowledge can come to no man. The National Guard is the second line of defense of our great nation, and any man should be proud of the fact that he is privileged to become a member of such an organization. From West Texas came the rich blooded men who first made themselves felt on the Western Front in the recent great war. Batteries G and H composed of men from Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview, and Clarendon, were the first to go against the pick of the German Military Machine, and were the first to turn back the hordes of Field Gray massed against them on the front. Greater and more honorable men cannot be found anywhere, and greater honor could not be bestowed upon me that the privilege of inspecting passing on for federalization a bunch of fellows that come from the same blood as those men who made for themselves such a record on that field." Major Culbertson was in command of this battery when they went over the top, and in his further remarks was profuse in his praise of the way these men proved themselves as soldiers. "You can have the best Battery in the State of Texas if you only want to, for, coming from the same blood as these other men, I know you have the stuff in you," he said.

Major Culbertson paid the highest tribute possible to our fellowtownsman, Clark M. Mullican, with whom he was associated on the front lines overseas. "No more true, and red-blooded and lovable character can be found than in your own citizen, Col. Mullican, with whom I came into contact frequently on the front."

Colonel Mullican in a very few words impressed upon the boys the importance of the step being taken by them, and the necessity of having themselves prepared for the defense of our great country should cause arise for same. He unfolded to them briefly the many different departments of the work that makes it both entertaining and instructive, concluding with, "no greater honor and privilege can be given a man than the privilege of membership in an organization of this kind, whereby he is prepared in every way for the defense of the great nation we represent. It is going to take work, we have the stuff for the best Battery in the State. Let's improve it and make ourselves felt." Mullican was the commanding Colonel over the 144th Infantry on the Meuse-Argonne, and was decorated with the French Croix De Guerre. He now holds a Colonel's commission in the Reserve Corps.

The meeting was entered into by all present in a very enthusiastic and praiseworthy manner, and all the boys have the spirit of going into this with all they have, and the determination to have the best Battery in the state. But, without the cooperation of the citizenship of the town their efforts will amount to naught. They are entitled to this cooperation and expect it.

We are advised by one of the local officers that some few men have held back from enlisting on account of the objections of their parents. While these boys are in the National service, and are entitled to all the privileges of any regularly enlisted men, they are not under such strict requirements and regulations. They are only required to drill an hour and a half four times a month, and are on the same pay as a man in the standing army. It is not only good physical exercise, but is an interesting and instructive course. The equipment will be shipped here and installed as soon as the final papers can be fixed up, and the Battery will be ready for work as a federalized unit. The local officers for the Battery are as follows: Capt. Ernest Conley, Commander; 1st Lieut. Elbert H. Boulbourn; 1st Lieut. Marty M. Mitchell and 2nd Lieut. Harold H. Griffith. These men are all home boys, and were officers in the regular service, enlisting as privates and going up from the ranks, and all have had overseas experience. These boys expect to build up here one of the finest organizations that can be found. Let's show them that we appreciate their efforts. They are certainly deserving of recognition and cooperation. Let's see that they get it.

J. B. RHEA REPORTED SERIOUSLY ILL IN SPARTA, TENN.

J. B. Rhea, father of Mrs. Ed Wilson, of this place, who returned to his home in Sparta, Tenn., a few weeks ago from a visit here with his children, is reported as being very seriously ill. He has been sick for some time, and in fact was out here for his health, and since returning home his condition has become very serious, and slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Rhea made many friends while here who will regret very much to hear of this, and who wish for him a speedy recovery and return to health.

Business Demands More Help at the Avalanche Office

Woody Wester was over from Ralls Saturday looking after business matters. He will be employed by the Avalanche as machine operator, on a night shift beginning Monday night. The Avalanche plant is possibly the busiest newspaper plant on the Plains. Our men have been putting in a lot of overtime, and still the work rolls into the job department. The Avalanche does not complain at having too much business, but simply gets out and employs more help to take care of the business. The people have found this out and always know that the Avalanche will take care of the business when it is sent us, and therefore the big business here, while other printers over the country are equalling hard times. Our motto: "Go after the business and deliver the goods when we get it." An optimist is a man who plants watermelons near the road.

This committee is going to enroll the county 100 percent. Mrs. Ballinger spent Friday in the Grammar School putting on an Easter program. Mrs. Frank Maddox will work Monday in the primary school.

This report shows some of the good work that is being done in the Lubbock Chapter of the Red Cross, and Miss Ellis is entitled to the thanks of all the people of Lubbock. It takes a trained secretary to put over the many problems that come up in this office. It is not every one who could have come here and with the money at our disposal, done the very efficient work that Miss Ellis has done for the people of Lubbock.

In appreciation of this work, the board of directors increased her salary a small amount, regretting very much that they did not have funds at their disposal to pay her what her services are really worth. Later on it is hoped that we will be able to pay Miss Ellis according to the work that she is doing.

Following is her address to the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, of the Seventh District, which held a meeting at the Methodist Church Saturday:

"In the words of Dr. Devine, one of our most eminent authorities on social service. Social welfare work embraces all efforts consciously and deliberately undertaken in any community for the improvement of living or working conditions. Whether public or private, whether organized or individual, whether embodied in some definite movement or still in the shape of separate personal action, we can readily recognize the underlying motives and the guiding spirit of social work. Some of its most characteristic exponents are in public office, working with the resources of the State or municipality. Others are in the churches and religious and fraternal orders. Still others are working in philanthropic institutions and in educational and civic bodies. Some are in business, others in journalism, others in private life. If they are working proportionately to their strength and vision for the promotion of the common welfare, the removal of social ills and the realization of a fuller, higher, and more complete life of the fellow man, then they are truly engaged in Social Service.

"Social Welfare Work had its origin in economics. Its earliest problems had to do primarily with the economic aspect of things, the giving of relief, organization of charities, protection of children, improvement of housing conditions, prevention of spread of infectious disease, and numerous other practical social problems were undertaken and advocated by people more or less familiar with economic ideas.

"Now, however, social work has come to be realized as fundamentally applied religion. Primarily, its concern is to seek and to save those who are perishing of privation and neglect. We who are strong are to be the burdens of the weak.

"Social workers are not Utopians with gaze fixed upon some poetic vision. However, we are rather concerned to see that our contemporaries, the men, women and children of our time are able to realize the standards to which we have already attained. Prof. Patten has said: 'It is the democratic bringing of all up to the level of the best and not the formation of a new character that should be the conscious aim of man.'

"Two fundamental principles underlie all attempts to help individuals who are in trouble—personal responsibility and opportunity. We are not to seek to take the control of the lives of others into our hands, but to treat those who are in trouble as persons. Give them again the chance they have missed, develop their sense of responsibility, and as a means of rehabilitation help them as neighbors out of their trouble.

"A writer once said that in order to have a generation of people who were strong mentally, morally, and physically, we should begin with their grandparents. Now is the time to begin on the grandparents of 1971. As taught for the morrow incense society becomes more unselfish, and begins to build for the interest of the coming generations. However, the future well being of the race often means the sacrifice of present pleasures. Carried out consistently, a policy of social betterment results in the development of certain obligations to childhood.

"The first claim which the child makes upon society is the right to proper care while a helpless babe so that he may retain the independence of life given to him at birth. He was not consulted about the desirability of coming into existence, and had no power to will or forbid this event. If the parents are delinquent in furnishing their children with this opportunity, it is the clear duty of the state to interfere in behalf of defrauded childhood. The duty of society to the child must be gradually extended, because neglect in reducing child mortality, a relatively greater loss and cost as civilization advances and becomes more complex. Society should determine what class of children should be allowed to come into existence, but once born, all normal children have the absolute right to be saved from all forms of preventable death.

"Next to the duty of preserving life, comes that of maintaining health. Nothing prevents future industrial and social efficiency so much as does the absence of health. Statistics show that 25 per cent of all children die before the age of 15, and 6-8 of this 25 per cent of mortality falls within the first five years of life. Furthermore, the mortality for the first month of life is eight times as heavy as for the remainder of the first year. Much progress has been made since 1900 in reducing child mortality. Each year the State Health Department conducts child welfare clinics for children of 12 years of age or younger. Here the child is given a physical examination, weighed and measured. The results of this examination are given the mother, on a card bearing the measurements and weights which the child should reach. The mother thus seeing wherein her child is below normal, is aroused to the necessity of action.

Such a clinic is to be conducted in Lubbock in the near future. The services of a public health nurse are to be secured. When the child has attended the clinic three successive years, he is granted a certificate. We hope to conduct this clinic the second week of May. However, the exact dates and more detailed information will be given later. This work is under supervision of the Red Cross, and is financed by the 20th Century Club. This work may be done only through your cooperation and help in advertising it, and informing the mothers of the good to be derived therefrom. For the benefit of the future generations, will you do your part in furthering this work?

WHEAT CROP IN FLOYD THIRTY PER CENT NORMAL

The estimate of the early wheat acreage in the Lockney territory that promises good yields is placed at between 20 and 30 per cent of a normal crop. If it reached 30 per cent and the crop makes 20 to 30 bushels to the acre, it will bring the percentage in money derived up to about half of last year. The crop is at least 100 per cent estimated yield, a wheat will be harvested for 70 per cent less than last year.—Lockney Beacon.

Twentieth Century Entertained the Federated Clubs

On Saturday afternoon, April 8th the Twentieth Century Club was hostess to the County Federation, at a noon luncheon served at the Methodist church.

After the luncheon the ladies adjourned to the church auditorium, where the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Ed Schroeder, President of the County Federation, and the program arranged by the Twentieth Century, was given. The invocation was offered by Mrs. G. J. Wagner, after which Mrs. W. B. Spencer cordially welcomed the ladies of the county, on behalf of the Twentieth Century Club.

Miss Ellis read a paper on social welfare work, bringing out points worthy of note in this respect. Miss Kathleen Cole sang, in her petite and charming manner the patriotic song "Texas."

Mrs. Carl Goodman, of Abernathy, President of the Seventh District of Women's Federated Clubs, ably discussed the work necessary for the revival of the County Federation, emphasizing the importance of securing a Home Demonstration Agent, in order that a greater spirit of cooperation and union might be developed between the rural and the urban woman.

Mr. L. T. Martin spoke, recommending that committees be appointed, representative of all the rural districts comprising the County Federation territory, for the purpose of delegation, to interview the county commissioners, relative to securing a Home Demonstration Agent, for this county. This committee, in part, is as follows: Mrs. J. B. Bowles, Shallowater; Mrs. E. R. Davis, Acuff; Mrs. S. H. Adams and Mrs. W. P. Florence of Slaton.

A membership committee was appointed to stimulate the interest of the rural woman in the county Federation with a view to increasing the attendance at the May meeting. The Civic League extended an invitation to the County Federation to be their guests at the May meeting.

A motion was made that the County Federation apply for membership in the State Federation, which motion was passed by the county federation delegates. The meeting closed with the singing of "America."

DR. AND MRS. BENNETT ARE HERE FROM AUSTIN

Dr. T. J. Bennett of Austin, Texas, accompanied by his wife reached Lubbock Saturday morning. They came to see and to be with Mrs. H. C. Duering, wife of our new postmaster, who underwent a very serious operation at the Lubbock Sanitarium, Sunday morning. Mrs. Duering is a sister of Mrs. Bennett. Dr. Bennett is widely known over the state, and is President of the State Medical Association of Texas. He will preside at the annual state meeting in El Paso next month. Dr. Bennett was much surprised at the growth of Lubbock as he had not been here for over two years. He is very enthusiastic over this section of the state and says it is the best part of Texas. He spoke in the highest terms of the sanitarium facilities here. Dr. Bennett will return home in a day or two, but Mrs. Bennett will remain to be with her sister for some time.

CHURCH OF CHRIST HAD INTERESTING MEETING

Last week at the Church of Christ, located at the corner of Avenue N and Broadway, one of the most successful conventions of the kind ever attempted by the local church, was held, so we are advised by the Pastor.

The meeting in a true sense of the word was a course of Bible lectures, and was well attended by the congregation at both the day and night sessions. Such an interesting and profitable course was discussed as "The Importance of Studying and teaching the Bible," "Financing a congregation," "Ways and Means of doing Missionary Work," and many other subjects of equal importance. They were handled by some of the best speakers of the church, who were gathered here for the purpose of bringing about a closer cooperation between the different churches of the Plains.

Very interesting meetings were held, and great enthusiasm was shown by the local congregation. There is something cannibalistic about vanity; it feeds mostly upon itself.

A most interesting and entertaining luncheon was had at the Manhattan Parlor and Cafe Monday noon, by the Lubbock Country Club. It was an informal and open discussion meeting, and was entered into by all present with zest and vigor.

Many important matters came up for discussion, the most important of which was the coming invitational Spring Tournament to be held here on the 26th, 27th and 28th of April sponsored by the local club. Different committees have been appointed to cover the various work of a meet of this kind, such as entertainment, schedules, rules and regulations, and the many other things connected with such a meet. Good work is being done by these committees, and things are shaping up for one of the greatest Spring tournaments ever held.

By a report from the secretary of the organization, it is expected that more than one hundred visitors will be here to participate in this tournament. These men come from the different parts of the State, and are all men of high repute and social standing, and it is indeed an honor for our city to have the pleasure to entertain a meet of this kind. It is up to us as citizens of the town to see that they leave here with the right impression of the town. The plans for the meet are in competent hands, but they must have the cooperation of the citizenship as a whole if this is put over in the proper manner.

Plans are under way for the erection of a club house on the grounds, which will necessitate somewhat of a change in the present lay of the course. These changes will be thrashed out at a later date. A club house doing honor to any community or club, will, in the very near future be built. The park has lately been beautified by the planting of about eight hundred trees, in many shapes, some in rows, some in plots, and others in orchards, all of which are doing fine, not a one having been lost to date.

The interest of the local club, however is centered on the coming tournament, and plans are being made by them to make this one of the best tournaments ever held in the State. This has already been declared an annual affair, and if entered into the spirit it should be, can be made one of the most interesting events of the year. A golf tournament is different from other meets of like nature, in that it attracts men from the commercial world, men of many professions and business. These are the men upon whom falls the make or break of a town. If the right impression is made upon them, it is the make; if the wrong impression it is the opposite.

A banquet of the royal Lubbock Style, A La Dutch, will be given these visitors probably the first night of the tournament, which will more than likely be conducted on the same style of the recent Traveling Men's luncheon that was such a grand success. The particulars of this will be put out at a later date. Watch for this, and let's have a great meet. We can make these fellows leave here with the impression that we have the only town in West Texas, but it is up to us to do it. Let's go.

Big Produce Business Reported From Lorenzo

The poultry and produce business in Crosby county is becoming an exceptionally large one, and especially here in Lorenzo do we notice the growth of this industry. The Lorenzo Produce house, owned by Ernest Leverett, shipped over $2000 worth of poultry and eggs during the month of March. Other firms in town ship on an average of $1000 worth or more each month. This does not include the two cream stations which handle upwards of $500 worth of butter fat each month.

This business has grown from a mere nothing three years ago to a business now that is putting around $10000 worth of produce in the country and produce raiser each month in the year. It is a business not to be looked upon as a mere trifle or treated with indifference because it is desired to be, if not already, the greatest in this section. Lorenzo Interests.

Mrs. D. P. Warren returned Sunday from a three months' stay at Dallas, Fort Worth and Navasota, where she has been under care of specialists. We are glad to report her health much improved.

Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, Canyon Normal will be here for a game with the Longhorns. Everybody come out.

INTERESTING BATCH OF NEWS FROM MOODY COM.

The wind and sand are on a furlough, and Mr. Rainy Weather is supplying for them at this writing. We are never sure just what kind of an April-fool joke will be played on us. We had a splendid rain last night and the wind blew very hard, but fortunately no damage was done at Moody. But we learn that there was considerable damage done at Loveland, eight miles away. The house of Mr. Cannon, of that place, was blown away. The house and entire household goods were a complete loss. But none of the family were hurt since they were not at home. The court house, also, was damaged slightly. Messrs Cecil Gunn and Leonard Towe are around today, soliciting aid for Mr. Cannon's family. Beecher Swofford and Weldon Teague spent Monday night at John Swofford's. Rex Swofford spent Tuesday night with Juanita Teague.

Several parties have been buying feed of Mr. Bob Swofford the past week.

Bill Chism returned Thursday from a several day's trip to Lubbock and Slaton.

Mrs. Chism spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Bob Swofford.

Mrs. Lillie Swofford visited in the Murray home Monday. Annie Lou Thorp spent the latter part of the week with her sister, Mrs. Wesley Williams.

Mrs. Cecil Gunn left Friday for a visit with her parents near the Canyon school in Lubbock county.

C. R. and Weldon Teague transacted business in Lubbock Friday evening.

Mrs. Charlie Forgas left Tuesday for a stay with her sister, Mrs. Geo. Forgas, near Meadow, as she is not strong, she wanted to be near a doctor. We hope she will soon be feeling better and be back with us.

Miss Orce Gunn was in Lubbock Saturday.

Mrs. E. R. Teague and daughter, White and Juanita, visited Mrs. White Friday afternoon.

T. C. Mrs. Bob Swofford and daughter, Robbie, visited the family of John Swofford Friday night.

Edd Roberts went to Littlefield Friday and returned Sunday.

Mr. Nickell and son, Earl, made a business trip to Meadow Saturday.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Bob Swofford was honored by a visit from Messrs Fred Goodrich and Clyde Reasoner, of Loveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Murray and

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. W. White took dinner with the family of Mr. Mullins Sunday.

Mr. White has moved quite a lot of his stock of groceries into his new store. Although it is not completed yet, he also received a shipment of china ware and dry goods last week, which will be added to his stock of goods. Before installing his stock of goods he gave the young people an entertainment in the store. There were a number present from neighboring communities. Fruit cake and hot coffee were served to the crowd.

The Sunday school elected officers and teachers last Sunday. They are as follows: Supt., Mr. Gunn; Asst. Supt., Mr. Elliot; Secy. and Treasurer, Mrs. Gentry Murray; teacher of adult class, Prof. Teague; teacher of intermediate class, Mrs. Teague; primary teacher, Mrs. Bob Swofford. We were well pleased with our outgoing officers, but they each seemed to want a rest. We hope the Sunday School will continue to grow as fast in the coming quarter as it has in the past two quarters that Sunday school has been going at Moody. There were thirty-eight members present.

The regular school trustee election was held Saturday. This was the first election to be held at Moody and we should not be surprised that Moody has the distinction of being the first school in the state to have an entire set of ladies to hold the election. Mrs. White acted as presiding officer, Mesdames Teague and Swofford as judges, and Mesdames Murray and King as clerks.

Moody and Ropes played a game Saturday. From the "Rah, Rahs" heard it must have been a very interesting game. But as the writer was unable to attend I am unable to give any details of the game.

A number of Moody people planned to attend the singing at Loveland Sunday, but the threatening weather prevented it.

HOW TO PREVENT AND CURE BOWEL TROUBLE IN CHICKS

(By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College)

Each year many thousands of baby chicks die from bowel trouble or diarrhoea. In fact there is no chick disease that takes as heavy a toll of the baby chicks each year. We have known of cases where poultry raisers were forced out of business because they did not know how to control it.

Many people confuse bowel trouble and white diarrhoea in baby chicks—bowel trouble is a very common disease, and easily prevented and cured, when handled properly; white diarrhoea—contagious form, is very hard to control because it spreads very rapidly. It is not very common, many supposed to be cases of white diarrhoea, are nothing more than bowel trouble.

Bowel trouble and common diarrhoea may be caused in many ways. It is wise to make plans of preventing this trouble, by removing the cause or causes, rather than depending on curative measures. For this reason we shall make special efforts to discuss the causes; rather than curative side. Baby chicks are too small and delicate to be subject to curative measures.

Chilling
Chilling baby chicks no doubt is one of the most common and frequent causes of bowel trouble. Baby chicks, have practically no protection against cold. The lungs, close to the back bone, have only the protection of a thin skin and down, which is, practically speaking, no protection. As soon as a chick gets cold it commences to huddle and crowd in an effort to get warm, by crawling under each other, to warm their little backs. We consider chilled chicks absolutely worthless, and would consider them expensive at any price. Baby chicks will spread out when warm enough. It is a safer plan to have it too warm than too cold, because in the case of being too warm they can move further away from the source of heat; but if they are cold, they can only crowd together and become chilled.

A little chick must have a temperature of 100 degrees the first few days to be comfortable. A temperature of 95 degrees and 80 degrees is sufficient to chill small chicks. For this reason heatless brooders have never been found satisfactory. A baby chick requires heat more than anything else the first few days. Baby chicks chilled today will show sign of bowel trouble the next day.

Make provisions to keep them from straying too far away from the hover, becoming lost and getting chilled. This is very important the first few days. They must also be protected at night to keep them from wandering away from the hover.

Permitting chicks to run outside on windy, cold and unpleasant days while small, is also a common cause of bowel trouble.

The first few days they must be watched very closely, to keep them from getting chilled.

Too Early Feeding
Thousands of small chicks are killed each year, by feeding too soon. It is very seldom indeed that baby chicks are killed by starving. We have observed each year, that thousands of cases of bowel trouble in baby chicks may be traced directly to feeding too soon.

The chick absorbs the entire work of the egg just before emerging from the shell, which is nature's provision to keep the chick alive until it is strong enough to go in search of food. We do not believe it wise to feed the chicks before they are 36 to 48 hours old; and sometimes it is best to wait until they are 60 hours old. Successful chick raisers do not feed them until by their actions the chicks show they are very, very hungry. Feeding too soon will surely cause bowel trouble.

Over-Heating
Over-heating the chicks, either in the incubator or in the brooder, also has a tendency to cause bowel trouble. This is especially true in hot and sultry weather. Over-heating in the incubators, especially after they are hatched, has a tendency to bake the yolks, resulting in bowel trouble.

Weak Breeding Stock

Weak breeding stock, has a tendency to produce weak chicks that have a great tendency to develop bowel trouble. Breeding stock that has a tendency to show diarrhoea should not be used for breeding purposes. Weak breeding stock will produce eggs, low in fertility and hatchability. A weak individual has a snake or crow headed appearance. That is saying that the head and beak are long, the eyes shrunken and listless, and face more or less pale and colorless. The body is narrow, the legs are set close together, the breast is undeveloped, and the bird as a whole presents a weakened appearance.

Crowding
Another one of the most common causes of bowel trouble is over crowding. This is responsible for many causes of bowel trouble. Over crowding; causes trampling and weakening of many chicks, which frequently develop into bowel trouble. Nearly all brooders are over rated about 50 per cent. Most brooding houses are large enough to accommodate the baby chicks but entirely too small when the chicks are four weeks old and require twice as much room. Farmers would not think of letting cabbage plants remain in the hot bed, and expect them to develop heads—yet they think it is perfectly all right to crowd baby chicks out under similar conditions and expect them to grow and develop into fine pullets and cockerels.

Preventive Methods
It is always best to prevent, rather than to endeavor to cure poultry diseases. The first thing to do is to remove the cause, and then to see to it that the same conditions do not arise again. Remember that the causes enumerated, if practiced persistently, sooner or later will surely lead to bowel trouble in the chicks.

Curative Measures
We have found that feeding bran has a tendency to cause looseness of the bowels; and that the feeding of wheat shorts or middlings, has a tendency to check the bowels. For this reason, if the chicks show loose bowels, it is a good idea to increase the wheat middlings and decrease the amounts of bran.

The feeding of sour milk is another wonderful remedy for bowel trouble, especially if sprinkled with black pepper slightly.

Charcoal, in hoppers, is another good bowel trouble corrective, and should be placed before the chicks all the time.

Feeding boiled rice has a tendency to cure bowel trouble, but must be fed sparingly and carefully.

Lack of grit also has a tendency to develop bowel trouble.

Feeding green food carefully will also help prevent bowel trouble, and must be fed carefully while the chicks are small but should be given all they want, when larger.

MR. McELROY'S MOTHER DIED IN IOWA THURSDAY

E. McElroy received the latter part of the week the very sad news of the death of his mother in Des Moines, Iowa, who died there Thursday morning at 10:05 o'clock.

This was quite a shock to Mr. McElroy, and although she had reached a ripe old age, she was still apparently in good health a month ago, when he was up there on a visit. On account of the distance Mr. McElroy was unable to make the trip back for the funeral.

We join with the many friends of the family in extending our deepest sympathies in this loss of a loved one.

Our most important job as a Battery Station is to tell you these things. It doesn't make a bit of difference what make your battery is. Here at Battery Headquarters we give every make exactly the same attention.

The United States Department of Agriculture Makes Its First Estimates of the 1922 Crops

Washington, April 7.—Winter wheat production this year was forecast at 69,667,000 bushels, by the Department of Agriculture in its first estimate of the season issued today and based on the April 1 condition, which was: Winter wheat 78.4 per cent of normal, rye 89.06 per cent.

The winter wheat forecast compared with 587,008,000 in 1920, and 578,575,000 the average of the preceding five years.

The rye forecasts compares with 57,918,000 bushels, produced last year, 60,490,000 in 1920, and 66,474,000, the average for the preceding five years.

Winter wheat condition on April 1 showed an increase of 2.4 points since December 1, last, compared with an average decline of 4.7 points in the last ten years between those dates. Winter wheat condition a year ago was 91.0 per cent of a normal, while the April 1 ten year average is 84.3.

The area sown to winter wheat last fall was 44,293,800 acres which was 1.2 per cent less than the revised area sown in the fall of 1920. The condition of December 1, last, was 76.0 per cent which was 14.0 per cent lower than the previous year and 13 per cent lower than the ten year average on that date.

In forecasting the production of winter wheat the Department of Agriculture based its estimate on the assumption of average abandonment of acreage and average influences on the crop from now until time of harvest.

Rye condition on December 1, last was 77.2 per cent of a normal while on April 1, last year it was 90.3 and the average condition for the last ten years on April 1 is 88.5.

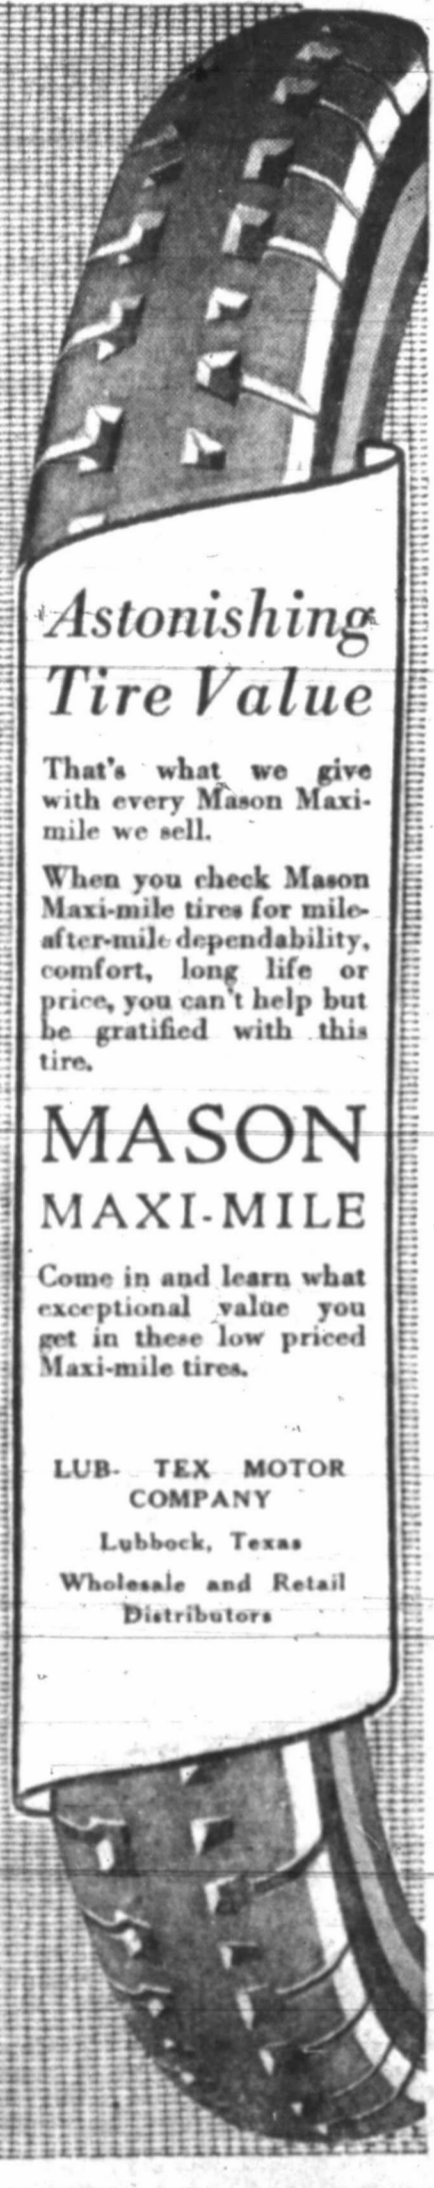

The condition of winter wheat on April 1 in the principal producing states was: Pennsylvania 92; Ohio 87; Indiana, 90; Illinois, 98; Missouri, 88; Nebraska, 80; Kansas, 65; Texas, 57; Oklahoma, 64; Colorado, 77; Washington, 85.

ADVERTISING SELLS CARS SAYS OVERLAND REP.

R. E. Slaughter, of the Overland Automobile Company, of Dallas, was here last week visiting the local agency. He said the strides made by Overland manufacturers is hard to cope with, and declares that the cars are becoming better, as the factory keeps making them. "We eliminate every weakness the minute it is discovered he said."

Mr. Slaughter has been with the Overland people the past seven years, and told an Avalanche representative that the advertising they have done, linking up with the superiority of Overland Automobiles, has made their sales better than was ever expected by the main office men. "Any automobile that will stand up to what they say it would do, like Overland has, merits the attention of the millions who read our advertisements," he said, and complimented the local dealer, N. F. Payne, on the efficiency with which he has handled the business of distributing cars in this section.

We are glad to claim Mr. Payne an Avalanche advertiser, and are glad to see his efforts meeting with success.

LOCAL BUSINESS HOUSE SEARCHED; WHISKY FOUND

Last Wednesday, our city officials were successful in locating in one of our local business houses a quantity of whiskey stored. From all accounts these men connected with this business had for sometime been peddling the stuff to their friends.

To the present only one has been placed under arrest, but another is under surveillance, and will possibly in the very near future be taken into custody.

It seems that these men had the stuff in the house in a large can of some kind, the officials became suspicious in some way, made an investigation, immediately swore out a search warrant, and proceeded to search the place, with the above results.

Name your farm, and have your letterheads, envelopes and rutter wrappers printed. The Avalanche job department will assist you in selecting a suitable name for your farm and do your printing in a neat and satisfactory manner.

COTTON MILLS WILL PRODUCE PROSPERITY

Says Editor J. D. Moyer, of the Honey Grove Citizen. Read what he has to say on the subject:

"One of the best movements that could be launched in this state would be a movement to build cotton mills and we hope to see the day come in the near future when such a move will be put on foot and realized," declares Editor J. D. Moyer of the Honey Grove Citizen. "There is no sense in practically the entire crop of from three to four million bales being sent out of the state and a good part of it to Europe to be manufactured. There should be sufficient cotton mills in Texas to manufacture every pound of yarn and every yard of cloth that is needed, and then if there is a surplus, let the other fellow have it, even then it would be the better part of the wisdom to ship the manufactured cotton than to ship the raw product."

GOLDIE POTTS INTERESTS PARENTS IN GOOD CHICKENS

Lubbock county people are profiting today because of the work done in the Girls' Clubs organized and fostered by Miss Milie M. Halsey, formerly Home Demonstration Agent of Lubbock county.

Goldie Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Potts was one of the first members of one of these Clubs and soon became an interested enthusiastic admirer of Rhode Island Red Chickens. The first year she received a trip to the Dallas fair where her fowls were shown and the past year won the model hen house for first prize given by local lumber companies.

The success Goldie made with her chickens has brought the attention of the parents to the possibilities offered in raising fine fowls and that accounts today for the 120 fine hens kept on the Potts' farm. This flock will be enlarged we are informed and the breeding will be continued for the betterment of the Potts' flock.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts will tell you that a Home Demonstration agent started something very much worth while in their home—something that will make a farm more prosperous—something if followed will make the Plains country more profitable.

"It pays to raise good chickens," is the slogan of the Potts family today.

Elmer Ireland, of Dimmitt, Texas, hardware man of that place, transacted business and visited in the city the latter part of the week.

Cliff Lindsey Has Purchased Interest In Texas Variety

The firm already has, what is considered one of the largest stocks and most beautifully arranged Variety Stores on the Plains, and they expect to carry a wholesale variety stock that will be a credit to Lubbock and the Plains country. Clifton C. Lindsey "better known as Cliff" needs no introduction to the people of Lubbock, as he has been raised among our midst, he has spent the greater part of his school days in Lubbock, and is a graduate of the Corpus Christi High School. Mr. Lindsey for the past six years has been general manager of the Lindsey Theaters. Gerald V. Smith is also a Lubbock "product," he and Clifton having spent part of their school days together in Lubbock some twelve years ago. Mr. Smith for the past several years has been operating a chain of Variety stores in West Texas, having recently sold all his interest and entered business at Lubbock, seeing the great future that Lubbock has for both the wholesale and retail business. Gerald V. Smith will be known as president and buyer for the firm, while Clifton C. Lindsey will be active vice president and general manager of the retail department. The wholesale department of the firm will be opened on or about July 1st, with the show rooms and stocks carried in the basement of the building the firm now occupies. Mr. Smith will leave the later part of April for the eastern markets to buy merchandise for the wholesale end of the business.

NEWS FROM THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS OF FRIDAY

A large number of the enterprising ladies of Tahoka have volunteered to plant trees around the court house yard to help beautify our little city, and work was begun on same Tuesday of this week. The public is asked to please not walk or hitch their horses between the curbing and side walk surrounding the court house, and to assist in every way possible to protect the growing plants. The candidates have been asked to make a free will contribution to the flower fund and some have already done so. We extend congratulations to the Tahoka ladies who have taken an active part in the work of beautifying the town.

A city election was held in Tahoka Tuesday of this week for the purpose of electing three aldermen, two of which their terms had expired; viz I. S. Doak and Frank H. Weaver, and one unexpired term, that of W. G. Tarrance who removed from the city. The names of I. S. Doak, Frank H. Weaver and M. G. Stewart, appeared on the ticket and the returns were as follows, as given out by the judge of the election, County Judge, J. W. Elliott: Doak, 85; Weaver, 84; Stewart, 84; Complimentary votes: Nevels, 1; John Stokes, 2; E. S. Davis, 3, and H. M. Larkin, 5.

Word comes from Brownfield that Roland Brown, formerly an employee of the Lynn County News is very low with pneumonia and little hopes are held for his recovery. His father is City Marshall of Brownfield, Superintendent M. M. Dupre, of the Lubbock city schools, accompanied by Prof. Hamilton, were visitors in Tahoka Friday. These gentlemen acted as judges in the debating and declamation contests held at the county meet.

Rev. E. M. Brunson, residing in the Midway community, was in town Monday, the first time for several weeks. Bro. Brunson recently happened to an accident which confined him to his bed as the result of a fall from a wagon load of hay while feeding cattle on his place. His back was injured and also suffered other bruises about the body. We are glad to report him as able to be about as usual.

Paul Calhoun happened to an accident that resulted in breaking several bones in his right foot when the member was accidentally caught in a gasoline engine at the grist mill of L. Davis late Wednesday evening. Paul is at the present time able to be about with the aid of a pair of crutches.

Workmen have been engaged the past ten days in erecting the new city water tower and tank on their property north of the public square. The city is making every modern improvement having recently finished a hand dug well, which with the other three wells in operation will insure Tahoka a bountiful supply of pure water. We are reliably informed that a 1000 candle power light will be placed at the top of the water tower upon its completion. This light will be seen for many miles in every direction from Tahoka. The city already has a light on the flag pole on top of the court house which can be seen a long distance.

The cruise of The Snail started from Memphis, Tenn., about nine months ago. Since that time it has traversed the southern states and along the Atlantic coast, through New England and West around the Great Lakes. MERKEL SCHOOL INSTALLS A RADIO RECEIVING SET Merkel, April 6.—Merkel is one of the few cities in the country which can boast of having a radio-telephone receiving set in its high school.

The set, recently installed by the senior class in science, is now receiving daily concerts from Dallas, Denver and Catalina. The unit is of the powerful regenerative, single circuit type. Purchase of a magnavox and two-step amplifier in the near future is contemplated.

A bulletin board is to be set up in the downtown section, where crop and market reports, received via radio, will be posted.

Senate Bill Provides For Twenty-Four Additional Federal Judges In the U. S. to Relieve Courts Conjestion

Washington, April 7.—The bill to provide over a score more of federal judges advocated as a measure to relieve congestion in the federal district courts and a political patronage "pork barrel" was passed late today by the Senate and sent to conference with the House.

Twenty-three more federal district judges distributed throughout the country and one more judge for the fourth circuit are provided by the Senate bill as against 22 district judges under the original bill passed by the House last December. The Northern Texas and Eastern Oklahoma districts each would get an additional judge.

The Senate vote of final passage was 44 to 21, with party lines broken. Eight Democrats, Senators Ashurst, Arizona; Fletcher, Florida; Hitchcock, Nebraska; Myers, Montana; Pomeroy, Ohio; Trammell, Florida; Walsh, Massachusetts; and Walsh, Montana, voted with 36 Republicans for the bill.

The opposition included eight Republicans and thirteen Democrats, the Republicans being Senators Borah, Idaho; Capper, Kansas; France, Maryland; Ladd, North Dakota; La Follette, Wisconsin; McNary, Oregon; Norris, Nebraska; and Townsend, Michigan. The democratic opponents were Senators Broussard, Louisiana; Caraway, Arkansas; Dial, South Carolina; Harris, Georgia; Harrison, Mississippi; Kendrick, Wyoming; King, Utah; Overman, North Carolina; Sheppard, Texas; Shields, Tennessee; Stanley, Kentucky; Underwood, Alabama, and Williams, Mississippi.

"Pork Barrel" Alleged

The "pork barrel" and "log rolling" charges made openly on the floor by democratic opponents of the bill and denied by its supporters were followed by some open maneuvers and kaleidoscopic vote changing during the dozen roll calls on amendments today. The bill finally contained provisions for four more district judges than recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee. These included one each for New Jersey, New Mexico, the Western Missouri district and the Southern Florida district.

The bill provides for an annual fall conference of senior circuit judges at Washington, with the chief justice and attorney of the United States to make a comprehensive survey of judicial business of the country and make bench assignments to provide also for assignment by the chief justice of judges to districts where there is congestion or where the public interest in general requires such assignment.

In adding four judges to the bill's total, the Senate voted down numerous amendments for other judges and to reduce the number authorized.

Potash Industry Attracting Much Attention in U. S.

Approximately $30,000,000 is said to have been invested in the potash industry and plants established in many parts of the United States since 1914. But when German potash became available again and at prices far below the prices for which the American concerns could sell their product and live, the American plants shut down. The only American potash being turned out now is the by-products obtained in the manufacture of other materials.

In the Fordney tariff bill potash is carried in the free list, but with an important proviso. This proviso fixes a duty on potash for the next five years, on a sliding scale. The first year the duty is two and one-half cents per pound actual potash imported. The second year the duty is two cents a pound; the third year, one and one-half cents; the fourth year, one cent, and the fifth year, one-half cent.

The American producers insist that if they are given this amount of protection during the coming five years they will be able to meet on even terms thereafter, without duty, the German and French producers of potash. The French now possess the potash mine of Alsace, formerly owned by the Germans.

The belief prevails that the Senate will retain in the measure a provision similar to that in the House bill giving protection to the American potash industry.

The whole problem seems to be one of the disposition of the American farmers, and whether they are willing for the next five years to pay more for the potash needed for fertilizer than they would pay if there were no duty on potash, in order that there may be built up an American source of supply that will make this country independent in the future of the German and French monopolies.

He is county vice-president of the route for Howard County and was one of the original boosters of the route. The missionary work Mr. Johnson will do along the route, while marking it is expected to prove a big asset to the route.

POST MAN ARRESTED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

Friday afternoon of last week a man by the name of F. E. Seale, purported to be from Post, Texas, gave a check to one of our local merchants in payment of a small bill. He was returned some change. The management immediately became suspicious of the check and the character giving same, and reported to the local officials—their suspicions. Upon investigation, it was found that the check was no good, also that this was not the first one given by this same person.

He was immediately traced down, placed under arrest, and admitted everything. He now rests in jail.

TENDENCY OF MODERN GIRLS TO CAUSE DOWNFALL OF U. S., NORRIS TELLS NEW YORKERS

New York, April 1.—"Every greater war has been traced to the depravity of women and they never were as bad as they are today," says J. Frank Norris, Texas revivalist, who is conducting services at Calvary Baptist Church. The cause of the next war struts up Fifth Avenue today and her sister out on Main Street apes her. The flapper will bring about this country's downfall just as surely as Delilah did Samson's. Our statesmen are scrapping the battleships, they ought to be slapping the flappers. "When a woman shows her knees you can see her finish and that of the nation as well," Rev. Mr. Norris said. "Girls think more of their eyelashes and nude hose than they do of decency. Home life is broken up, respect for law goes with it; wholesale iniquity follows, then—war. "We cursed the Kaiser for starting the last war, but we pet the cause of the next. "If I had my way, every girl under age would be in bed by 9 o'clock. "The modern girl is one hundred times worse than the girl of the last century and the country girl is just as bad as her city cousin. "Once upon a time country girls were pure, but gasoline spoiled that. We have closed up our red-light districts and put them on rubber tires. "Women who smoke are indecent. The spark from a woman's cigarette is going to touch off a conflagration that will destroy this country within fifty years. "Jezebel was the worst woman in the world. She was the first queen of the shifters! The last thing she did before she died was to paint her face, and then the dogs ate her." Scratch pads for sale at this office.

AT THE CHURCHES

Cumberland Presbyterian Church
A real enthusiastic Sunday School with 95 present, 17 absent, $8.78 collection, a good spirit shown by both young and old. There was no morning service. The time was given to the Gracie Roll department and a splendid program was rendered by the little pupils, there was a goodly number of babies present, and a white carnation was given to the parents or relatives of all infants that have been taken into God's care. A real good and interesting Endeavor with many present.
Night Service: Subject: "God's Loving Chastisement."
Many new faces were there and we were glad to see so many of you parents there, and the undivided attention given by all.

Evangelist Coming
Rev. L. L. Hamric, our friend of boyhood days and a prominent Evangelist who is traveling all the time is coming by and will stop over at Lubbock and preach for us at the Church of the Nazarene, Tuesday night, April 11th, 1922.
He is a good man and a fine preacher and we cordially solicit your presence Tuesday night to hear him. The service will begin promptly at 8:15. All are invited.
Yours in His, all for Jesus:
W. B. Pinson, pastor.

Methodist Church
The services at the Methodist church were well attended Sunday. Beginning with the Sunday school and ending with the preaching service at the evening hour. There were 463 present at the Sunday school, and a large congregation listened to an earnest appeal from the pastor for a revival of the spirituality of the church membership, and a general awakening of the church at this place. At the evening service, even a larger number were present and a strong impression of a revival nature was delivered. Dr. Ferguson is one of the most forcible preachers on the Plains, and his unique manner of presenting his messages is entertaining and makes church going to the Methodist church an event looked forward to with interest.
Beginning last Sunday, the Methodist Sunday school at this place entered a contest with the Methodist Sunday school at Plainview, which will continue for sixty days or longer, on points of attendance and collection, and some other features that will likely be brought into the contest later on.
Sunday the Lubbock Sunday school led in everything, but we are confident that this will spur Plainview up a bit, and they will make a strong effort to overcome our lead next Sunday. It is up to the Lubbock Methodist to get every fellow at Sunday School next Sunday and get them there on time. Punctuality certainly will count.

Baptist Church
It was a good day at the Baptist church according to the report from the pastor. 359 were present at Sunday School, and the offering was $12.58. Good congregations attended the morning and evening sermons, delivered by the pastor.

Church of Christ
After a week of good things from visiting ministers, Bro. Smith gave to the audience Sunday morning one of his most soul stirring sermons. As a result every heart was touched and four came in answer to the invitation to place their membership and two sisters to renew their covenant with the Lord.
Bro. Smith encourages acts of this kind, the courage required to confess a lack of duty performed gives added strength to all who are striving to make their calling election sure.
The Sunday School showed an attendance of 187. At the evening service, Bro. Ribble spoke on conditions that always accompany God's promises and threatenings. This being the second Sunday night of the month, Bro. Smith preached at Carlysle.

WIZARD OF MAZIC COMING
DAVIS THE GREAT MAGICIAN
Davis, popularly known as the "Master Magician," is to unloose his bag of tricks before local people here on the evening of Wednesday, April 12th, at Lindsey Theater. Davis is the exception disproving the rule that there is nothing new in magic. There is more new stuff in the Davis program than the usual whole evening given by the ordinary magician. What Davis does is wizardry, and his manner of doing it is in artistry of the highest type. There is one strange thing after another, and fun all the time. You'll laugh at his wit and humor, as well as his wonderful magical feats. You'll want to watch him closely, for when you think he has finished a feat of magic—and it would be the end with the average magician—he is just getting to the interesting part; in fact, nearly all his tricks have three points to them instead of one.
Davis performs twice as many feats as the average magician. There is no delay with useless "patter" and his talk is as interesting as what he does. With a splendid stage setting; lots of paraphernalia, and an excellent assistant, the entertainment runs smoothly and without waits. You will say he is the cleverest magician you have ever seen, and you will enjoy his program from beginning to end. There is not a dull moment.
This is the last number of the Lyceum Course put on by the local American Legion.

In His Defense

"Daughter," called the father from his position at the top of the stairs at midnight, "doesn't that young man know how to say good night?"

"Does he?" echoed the young lady in the darkened hall below. "Well I should say he does."

Our National Platform

Constitutional government—Our belief is that the Constitution as adopted in 1789 or whenever it was is a pretty nifty piece of work, but that it has been amended at least once too often. (If you don't understand, send stamped, self-addressed, sealed envelope for details.)

Taxation—We believe taxation without representation is making all work and no play, and that an income tax without misrepresentation is impossible.

Banking and Currency—We believe in the circulation of more money which is easier said than done.

Immigration—This country should be open to desirable citizens, especially those coming from a wet country who are willing to smuggle in a quart or two on a 50-50 basis.

Postal Service—We hold that all letters dropped in a letter box should be delivered, and all letters dropped in a sewer should be lost. We believe that all purchasers of stamps should pay cash, and that all borrowers of stamps should be shot.

Foreign Relations—If they are anything like our wife's, we are opposed to them.

Optical Delusion.

I looked out the window
And thought
I saw
That famous statue,
"The Winged Victory,"
But looking again
I discovered
It was simply
The blonde peach
Across the street
Drying her hair
This windy afternoon.

In No Hurry.

Porter—Dis am yo' station, mum.
Shall I brush you off?
Old Lady—No, thank you. Just wait until the train stops and I'll get off by myself.

News of the Day

Two doctors, a minister and an undertaker were recently nominated at Oliver, Mich. Speaking of political rings, it looks like that combination is an ideal one for business as well as politics.

A Kansas merchant distributed 500 rolling pins among women customers. There are a lot of ways this can be construed.

The cashier of a Grand Rapids bank slugged a would-be bandit with a bag of nickels and prevented a robbery of the bank. This teaches us to always have a bag of nickels handy.

An Ohio man who has been officially dead for a number of years returned to his wife the other day. Ah, well, into each life some sorrow must come.

"A string of pearls was her only adornment," says a society news item. We should like to have been among those present.

How to Dress Properly

In the courtroom, wear an innocent expression.

At a poker game, have a big wad in each pocket.

At a church fair, wear Yale locks on your purse.

At a wedding, wear a mask to conceal your look of pity for the groom.

At church, smoked glasses will prevent people discovering you are asleep.

At a political convention, wear a pair of brass knucks.

At a dinner party, wear a hungry look.

Financially Speaking

Pokes—A girl no longer marries a man for better or worse.

Jabbs—Indeed!

Pokes—Fact; she marries him now for more or less.

Teaching Her a Lesson

"Did you wish to see something?" inquired the vampish salesgirl as the spectacled young man approached the bargain counter.

"Sure," he answered breezily.

"God gave me eyesight, and I propose to use it. What can you show me?"

"I can show you the way out if you get too fresh," she retorted.

"Don't alarm yourself," he cautioned.

"I have a wife wandering around this store somewhere, and I guess that lets me out so far as you are concerned. Now that we understand each other, let's talk business. Are these handkerchiefs any good?"

"Certainly," she answered. "I use them myself."

"The fact that you use them constitutes a good recommendation, I suppose?"

"Certainly."

"And these shirtwaists?"

"I wear them, too."

"That's good. And these cotton stockings?"

Utter silence.

Single Equipment

He (indignantly)—You married me for my money.

She (sweetly)—Well, dear, what else had you?

Happiness—A Recipe

To make it, take a half, dim lit;

A pair of stairs where two may sit;

Of music soft, a bar or so;

Two spoons of—just two spoons,

you know;

Or one squeezed hand instead will do;

A waist—the size to be embraced;

And two ripe lips, rose red—to taste;

And if the lips are soft and sweet,
You'll find your happiness complete.

If you've seen the Saturday Evening Post of April 1 you have read about the better way of laundering curtains that modern plants have developed.

Wouldn't you like to have your curtains laundered that way this Spring?

You can, if you'll just bundle them up and send them to us—it affords us pleasure to announce that we are one of the modern plants giving the service which The Saturday Evening Post tells about.

Your curtains, sent to us, will be gently laundered in rainsoft water and fleecy suds of pure soap, finished exactly to measure on our special curtain dryer—the one of which The Saturday Evening Post speaks—and returned to you daintily clean, shapely, and as fine to look upon as when they were new.

Send us your curtains now, and we will have them back for you when you want them. Just use the phone.

STRONG GAS PRESSURE IN WELL NEAR POST

Post, Texas, April 7.—The Woodward Oil Company of Post struck a strong pressure of gas in their Boren well No. 1 at Justiceburg, at 950 feet.

The pressure blew the bit nearly out of the hole. Gas is still flowing over the top of the derrick from a lime formation. The whole country is delighted over the prospects.

Mrs. T. W. Patterson has returned from Fort Worth and Dallas, and while there she attended the funeral of her mother, Mrs. S. C. Shaw who was a resident of the city of Dallas for seventy-eight years. Mrs. Shaw joined the Methodist church at the age of seven years. Mrs. Patterson was the widow of the late Mr. R. L. Patterson, who is a brother of Mr. T. W. Patterson, agent for the Magnolia Oil Company of Lubbock.

Rev. J. E. Oden, from Plains, Texas, was in town the latter part of the week, having come in to accompany a man from that place to a sanitarium here. Conditions are good in his section, he says.

ROTARY NOTES

By L. T. Martin

The Rotary Club met at the Manhattan Parlors Wednesday with a large attendance. The meeting was called to order by President Walter Myrick who suggested, that as the month of April is the month in which all Rotary Clubs usually elect their new officers for the ensuing year and as this club has not had an election of new officers since its organization, a year ago, and as Mr. Keen wishes to resign his position as secretary of the club, that a committee be appointed to nominate all new officers, have them make a report at the next meeting, and when officers are elected, install them at once in office instead of waiting until the first of June as is usually done. This method of procedure was approved by the club, and the following nominating committee was appointed: Acy May, chairman; C. L. Ballenger, and Benjie Hilburn.

L. T. Martin, delegate to the Rotary Convention at Mineral Wells, was called upon for his report of the Convention, and made a short talk which covered the high places in his full report which appeared in the Avalanche of Tuesday 4th.

Dr. Yeuell, who has been giving a series of lectures at the Methodist church each night this week, next addressed the club as follows: "I did not come down here to make a speech. I came down as a guest of you, well I don't know whether I am permitted to say gentleman or not—I shall just say a good friend of mine. I suppose most of you think that a man should always be ready to make a speech. But I am sure you will agree with me when I say that it is harder to make a speech after a good dinner like this one was, than after a poor dinner and these dinners are usually poor instead of good.

In my travels over the country it is often my pleasure to attend dinners given by the different clubs and organizations, and it is not often I get as good a dinner as this one.

"I was in Mineral Wells a little while ago, and I found during my stay there that those people were all doing practically the same things that you people are doing here—trying to develop a group of people in their city and community and so build up and improve their city that people would be attracted to it and want to make their homes there. I was delighted to find that they were preparing a large electric sign, 'welcome', which they intended to place where it would be the first thing the traveler would see as he entered the town. It reminded me of the first time I was ever in Denver. When you step off the train in Denver, the first thing you see is the word 'welcome' emblazoned in large electric letters. One is immediately influenced by that sign, and it gives you a friendly feeling towards that town at once. A city is using good business sense and good tourist sense when it makes everybody that comes to town feel welcome.

"This town has a good slogan. You can not have a good town or a good business without an appropriate and suitable slogan. A business will draw trade by reason of its slogan. This reminds me of a story of a restaurant that had for its slogan a painting of a man that appeared to have been stuck in the vitals with a butcher-knife. Of course it was a very bloody, disagreeable picture to look upon, and did not cause one to feel very much like eating in a place where one had to look upon a picture of that kind. But the proprietor of that restaurant was a very wise man. He lived in a community where the people were always asking for credit, so he had an artist paint this picture, and write an inscription below it, which read: 'This is what becomes of the man who asks for credit in this place.'

"Slogans have a great meaning. There never was a slogan more true and still, at the same time, more false than, 'He kept us out of war.' We all know he should not have kept us out of war, but because no mother wanted her boy to go to war, and the boy himself did not want to go, it gained instead favor and became known and used throughout the nation.

"A slogan is a good thing and a necessary thing. It means something everywhere. Bands are almost the same as slogans. Sometimes a town loses concentration when it builds, and when it loses concentration, it loses energy, and when it loses energy, it loses will. It takes all the factors to make a small club that it does for a large one, but too many members make it susceptible to too many outside influences that are not in sympathy with the organization. I would not be sorry about Amarillo taking your slogan. Go on and work with your slogan, and think it is still the best, for if you do not think so, it will not be. Every person in a town must have the feeling that his town is the greatest thing in the entire section. Help build this town up, and if other towns want to emulate yours and run off with your slogan, that is all right. It is still your town anyway.

"Speaking of slogans reminds me of an old-fashioned western town where shooting and fighting were a favorite diversion determined to settle down and become a sober and respectable town. So they built nice houses, schools, churches, etc., in short, everything that goes with a model little town. But one day one of the citizens said: 'Now that we have a town, we ought to have a cemetery.' Some of the other men present objected to this, because as they said, nobody in that town died naturally, and those that didn't die naturally did not need to be buried anyway, so why have a cemetery?

After much discussion, it was finally decided to have a cemetery, so a committee of three was appointed to select a plot for the cemetery, divide it into cemetery lots, plant trees and flowers, etc., and at last had a beautiful little cemetery which was a credit to their town. While the three were standing at the gate admiring the results of their work, one of them, looking up at the arch over the gateway suggested that they should have some sort of a motto to greet the public at the entrance. After some discussion, the word 'welcome' was suggested, but the other two did not seem to like that so it was not considered. The next man suggested that, 'All Ye Who Enter Here Can Never Get Out' would be a very suitable motto for their cemetery, but that was also objected to. Finally, the third man who had not yet proposed a motto—an Irishman, of course, when asked what his motto would be suggested for his motto: 'We Have Come To Stay.'

"When you find Amarillo copying your slogan, you ought to be so proud that you would rise and sing: 'Praise God from whom all blessings flow.'

Rev. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church responded to an invitation to address the club said:

"I do not like to make a speech after such an interesting address from Dr. Yeuell. I feel that personally I own the Rotary Club two slight apologies. I would much prefer to keep in the background, but seen very seldom, and say very little, and for that reason I am offering an apology for coming today. A short talk was made by Mr. Peyton Randolph of Plainview. Announcement was made of a Ladies Night to be held at the Elk's hall Thursday night, April 13, the Senior class from the high school furnishing the casts.

The following visitors were present: Reverend Jack Lewis, pastor of the Presbyterian church; Judge Peyton Randolph of Plainview, the guests of Neil Wright; Miss Ione Braudt, Dr. Yeuell and Miss Mary E. Hughes, guests of L. T. Martin; W. H. Bledsoe, guest of S. E. Cone; Percy Spencer, (mayor-elect), W. S. Posey, R. E. Overstreet guests of Chris Harwell; Mrs. L. C. Montgomery, and Jack Northington, the guests of B. C. Montgomery; Claude McDaniel, guest of R. H. (Butter-chairman for the day, and we will have to hand it to him for having a very peppy meeting. The first week in May is to be designated 'Postal Improvement Week' according to an announcement by the Post Office Department. Efforts will be made during the week, to get all of the 350,000 postal employees throughout the country 'on their toes' in the interest of better service for the public. Newspapers and the motion picture industry will be asked to cooperate in the campaign.

PARENTS AS EDUCATORS

Nature for Children

Mystery and Surprise: A tied package or a locked room or a shut drawer has an attraction for a child because it contains something unknown and stimulating to his curiosity. Any mystery fascinates him and most of all the mysteries of life itself. Fortunately he is surrounded by miracles that he can watch, for life is everywhere abundant. The mystery of a plant, with roots and leaves and blossoms sealed within a tidy box called a seed or folded in a tightly wrapped brown parcel called a bulb; or the secret that the cocoon holds, from the remarkable creature that spun itself inside to the same creature, wonderfully transformed, that will make its way out; or the egg under the patient breast of old biddy, from which the new biddy breaks its way into a larger world than the locked shell, are matters such as the questioning mind can pry into with no harm to its own healthy growth. To see a life developing is an experience stimulating to knowledge and imagination alike, and one which is easily within reach of any child. For a country child can gather seeds from the fields and sow them, or transplant bulbs to a wildflower garden of his own; while a city child can discover the curious habits of a sprouting bean or find out what beautiful green member of the lily family is hidden within an onion bulb; joy to be had with a garden no bigger than a handful of dirt in a vegetable can.

Interest and Companionship: The faithful care of a pet, whether it be a plant that was once a seed, a caterpillar that will one day be a butterfly, or a chicken that loses its fluffy down and sprouts funny feathers that look like tiny paint-brushes, will awaken an interest in the thing watched and tended, which will grow into a sense of companionship in its presence. Many an otherwise lonely hour is eased in some such simple way. If we grown-ups are prone to overlook the importance of such a possession, the child's own estimation of its value comes home to us with startling illumination now and then, as was illustrated by the small boy who took his treasures to a dearly loved neighbor whose husband had recently died. 'Aunt,' he said earnestly, 'I've brought you my tadpoles 'cause I thought you'd be lonesome.'

Responsibility: The interest in one life, intimately watched, naturally reaches out to other live things not so near. The bird in the bush, the whistling way of some wing in the air, the hoppy tracks of a rabbit in the snow, the friendly squirrel in the park,—become matters for sympathetic attention, a feeling that, if rightly guided, develops into a proper sense of responsibility for decent treatment of bird and beast

INSURANCE RATE IN LUBBOCK WILL PROBABLY BE REDUCED

J. D. Carter and J. A. Adams, of Austin, representing the State Fire Insurance Commission have been in Lubbock since Friday re-rating the fire insurance of the city.

The splendid condition Lubbock is in at this time will no doubt save our businessmen a good portion of their original prices on policies, as the number of fire-proof buildings and non-hazardous districts will certainly push the rates down a few points.

Lubbock is building with an eye on the future, and every man who constructs a building in this city does so with the interest of his fellow builder at heart, which has made for more prudent construction in every line.

The wisdom in fighting the fire demon early in the game seems to be thoroughly imbedded into the minds of our people, and another favorable characteristic evident in Lubbock.

When it comes to really doing things that counts we have one of the best towns anywhere.

An optimist may be a man who laughs at misfortune never having had any himself.

President Harding Stresses Protection Of the American Forests When He Proclaims April 22nd Arbor Day

The protection and perpetuation of American forests as vital to continued industrial welfare and national strength are stressed by President Harding in his proclamation, issued a few days ago, designating April 22 as a golden anniversary of Arbor day. He urged united thought and action for the preservation "of our common heritages by planning such educational and instructive exercises as shall bring before the people the disastrous effects of the present waste by forest fires and the need of individual and collective efforts to conserve the forests and increase our tree growth for ornament and use."

This year is the fiftieth anniversary of the first Arbor day, observed in Nebraska, April 10, 1872. The Nebraska legislature later changed the date to April 22. It is also the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of the father of Arbor day, J. Sterling Morton, who was also editor of the first newspaper in Nebraska, appointed secretary of the territory by President James Buchanan; secretary of agriculture in the cabinet of President Grover Cleveland, and named by President McKinley one of the commissioners for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The birthday of Mr. Morton is to be celebrated along with Arbor day in many of the schools throughout the country, although in some of the states Arbor day is observed earlier in the year.

Tree planting has swept the country this year, according to reports. Where conditions were suitable, many trees were planted last fall, and many more are being set out this spring in every state from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Canadian line to the Gulf of Mexico. In many instances they have been made memorials, as along the Tacoma-Seattle high line highway, where one thousand American elms have been dedicated to the World war soldier dead of Washington state. In Pennsylvania the Pennsylvania State college is arranging to plant in trees a giant letter "S" on the shoulder of Nittany mountains, which will be observed from the campus. It is the duty of every citizen to plant a tree. If it can not be planted on one's own land, it may be planted elsewhere. Every encouragement must be given to tree planting, and it should not be forgotten that small beginnings often lead to big results.

Farmers Suffer Account of Not Having Leadership

Dallas, Texas, April 5.—"I have been in Farm Organization Work for 35 years," said Charles S. Barrett, President of the National Farmers Union. "I have crossed the Rockies 103 times, and there is one thing that I have found to be as rare as hens teeth—as rare as radium—and that is real leaders among the farmers. John Orr, President of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation is one of these real leaders—he is a leader in every way—an executive and a real man." Mr. Barrett visited the headquarters of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association for the purpose of getting all possible information in connection with setting up of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Association, which has just finished its sign-up with about 240,000 bales. Mr. Barrett was President of the Organization Committee in Georgia. He was intensely interested in the work which has been done in Texas by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

During the month of April we will send you the Avalanche and Dallas Farm News, both, twice-a-week for a year for $2.65.

Tahoka Showing Quite a Growth In Residence Section

Tahoka is undergoing a building campaign. Work has already begun on several new dwellings in the city and more are to be erected right soon. The contract has been let by Messrs. G. W. Small and J. B. Howell for the erection of a first class drive-in filling station on the lots across the street south of the Howell Garage, which space has been occupied by the Stucco building belonging to W. H. Sanders and used as a tailor shop. The drive-in station will be modern in every respect, the dimensions of which will be 34 feet frontage by 44 feet in length. This building will be built of stucco on the outside and plastered on the inside with steel frame and concrete floor containing a driveway for two cars in width; a display room for Texas products handled by the firm; a ladies rest room, and a room for storage. Tahoka, is indeed fortunate in securing this up-to-date business concern, which will be a credit to any city or town. Messrs. Small and Howell are among the really progressive type of men who believe in doing things on a large scale and the News is glad to claim them as citizens of our city.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES

Meat Rolls—Part 1—One cup of chopped cooked meat, one-quarter cup bread crumbs, salt to taste, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, stock to moisten, one tablespoon of chopped parsley.

Part 2—One cup flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, five tablespoons fat, one-quarter cup water, one-half teaspoon baking powder.

Mix meat with bread crumbs and seasonings and add stock to moisten. Shape in small rolls.

Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Rub in fat and mix to a stiff dough with the water. Roll out very thin on a floured board and cut in strips. Wrap each strip around a roll of meat and bake in a hot oven until well browned. Serve with tomato, brown or mushroom sauce.

FOR SUNDAY EVENING LUNCH

Tuna Fish With Spaghetti—Drain a small can of tuna fish, turn into sauce pan and fry in a little olive oil. Add half a can of tomatoes, a bit of green pepper, finely chopped and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Let this cool thoroughly. Add to this a half-pound of cooked spaghetti, mix thoroughly with the tuna fish, heat piping hot and serve.

Macaroni Cheese Custard—Scald two and one-half cups milk, and one tablespoon butter, one cup of chopped cheese, one-half teaspoon paprika and one teaspoon salt and gradually add to two slightly beaten eggs, stirring eggs constantly.

Put three cups well-cooked macaroni in a greased baking dish, pour the milk mixture over the macaroni, set in a pan of hot water and bake slowly until firm in the center.

SUGGESTIONS

Furniture Polish—To one quart of lukewarm water add one tablespoon of vinegar and one tablespoon of olive oil. Wash small space with soft cloth and polish with dry one. Vinegar cuts film and dirt; oil softens and polishes.

Before putting raisins or other sticky substance through the food chopper squeeze a few drops of lemon juice in the chopper. The fruit will not stick to the chopper.

Revival of American export trade through "judicial" investment of American capital in the Orient is advocated by F. B. Eldridge, chief of the Far Eastern division of the

The Orient, he says, has been dependent on European capital for years, but has been without any source of capital since the armistice, due to the demoralization of European finance.

HOW TO HAVE A BEAUTIFUL SKIN

Sometimes you see a girl whose face draws men's eyes like a magnet, and try to discover the reason for her charm. Is it eyes, or hair, the way she dresses, or the things she says or does?

All this is overlooking the one all-compelling beauty all men admire—the irresistible charm of the fresh, clear, smooth complexion which makes even plain features attractive.

There is no need to be envious for you can easily have such a complexion yourself. The secret was known to Cleopatra thousands of years ago. It is daily cleansing.

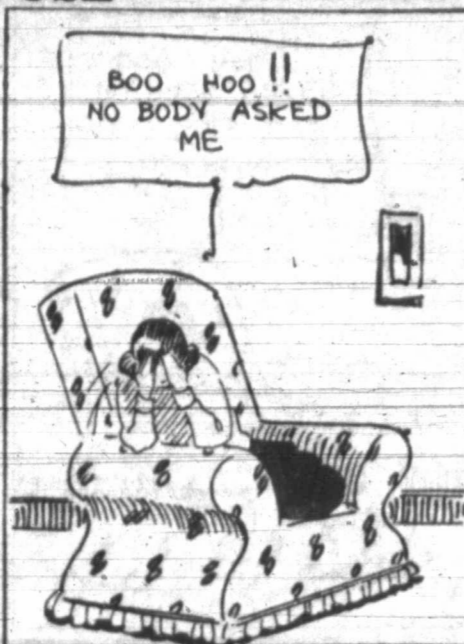

Cleopatra used Palm and Olive oils for this purpose. Today these same beautifying oils are combined in the mild, lotion-like cleanser—Palmolive Soap. It produces a profuse creamy lather which penetrates every pore and removes every trace of dirt, cream powder and rouge.

Massage the lather thoroughly into your skin, then rinse. Apply a touch of cold cream and if your skin is very dry, rub in a little before washing. This treatment will make your skin fresh as a rose.

VOTE FRIDAY ON BILL ADDING U. S. JUDGES

Washington, April 6.—An agreement was made yesterday by the Senate to vote finally Friday on the bill to create a score more of Federal judges.

ORIENT RAILROAD MUST CEASE OPERATIONS JULY FIRST THIS YEAR IF NOT FINANCED BEFORE THAT TIME

Sweetwater, Texas, April 6.—No-lan County and its neighbors north and south are becoming concerned over the possible fate of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad that is skating along on thin ice under a ninety-day stay of execution made possible by a $250,000 balance of the Government extension of credit amounting to $2,500,000 on July 1, 1920. Albert De Bernardi, railroad man with a story book record of achievement, loaned the Orient by the Missouri Pacific to be general manager, recently has completed a tour of the properties of the railroad from the terminus at Wichita, Kan., to the Texas terminus at Alpine. In his visits to the Texas towns in this section Mr. De Bernardi told business men that hopes of a further stay of execution are false unless the two Government agencies to which appeals have been made respond favorably. There are no other horns of the dilemma according to the railroad general manager and cash "on the barrel head" will be necessary to the operation of the railroad.

The situation confronted by the Orient is just this, according to Mr. De Bernardi. As of April 1, there remains in the treasury $250,000 of the $2,500,000 borrowed from the Government through the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission on July 1, 1920. In January of this year the road operated at a loss of $100,000. There was an increase in revenue in February when the loss declined to $58,000 and a further decrease in March, though the figures have not yet been published. July 1 is the outside date given by the management to spend the last dollar of the Government grant.

Two Things Asked
Talk of some other railroad taking over the property is considered lightly in this section. The citizens generally believe that the only prospect of saving the situation and keeping the Orient trains moving is the acceptance by both of the governmental agencies of the pleas that are to be heard. The Railway Labor Board will hold a hearing in permission to lower the wage rate 25 per cent. The Interstate Commerce Commission will hold a hearing in Washington on May 15 on the plea of the railroad for an adjustment in the amounts received by the Orient in joint hauls. Complaint is made by the railroad that they are being deprived of revenues by the arbitrary action of connecting railroads in demanding more than a proportionate share of the revenues earned jointly. It is set out that under the provisions of the Esch-Cumming transportation act the Interstate Commerce Commission has the authority to give the weak essential railroads even more than a fair proportion of the returns. Twice the Interstate Commerce Commission has made announcement that the Orient is providing an essential carrier service.

There is precedent for the plea to institute a lower wage scale as the Missouri & North Arkansas line running 165 miles through a fertile valley in Northern Arkansas was restored to operation about a year ago after it had suspended when the money gave out. When that railroad made its plea, according to the Orient officials, the matter was blocked by the lack of sympathy of the citizens along the line and the unwillingness of employes to accept the reduction below the specified rates for labor that applied as well to the most opulent railroad system in the country as to the weakest lines. Accordingly the concession was denied the railroad and the road suspended operation. Subsequently the citizens and the employes on their own motion appealed for a reconsideration of the matter and when the Labor Board acted favorably the line was put in operation again.

FATHER OF WELL KNOWN LOCAL MAN DIES IN COLO.

O. V. Bagwell, a well known local man, the latter part of the week received a message containing the very sad news of the death of his father, H. A. Bagwell, which occurred at his home in Romeo, Colorado.

Mr. Bagwell had been in bad health for some time, and although his death was not a complete surprise to his son here, it was quite a shock, and very sad news.

Our deepest sympathies go out to this family in this sad hour.

Mrs. Raymond George came in the last of the week from the ranch for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ellis, of this place. Mrs. George says that they have had lots of rain in that territory, and the range conditions are improving rapidly.

The First Easter Bonnet

(A Fairy Story for all).

With society reduced to its lowest ebb during the Lenten season, our thoughts naturally drift to the out doors and things of Nature. The lure of spring is in the air, the plum blossoms mingling with the soft tint of the peach and apple blossoms, the touches of vivid green popping from out the earth, and the gentle April showers all remind us that spring has come.

Already we have visions of dancing children around the May poles, May Queens and the parade of the Easter festivities, which are in store for us, and lest we forget the new Easter bonnet—let me tell you how the first one ever happened and who wore it—(it's a fairy story, and if you are not interested in fairy stories, read it to a tiny tot and see if they don't enjoy it.)

Once upon a time, long, long ago, when all the animals lived together in friendly fashion in the sunshine and shadow forest, little Lady Bunny Rabbit didn't have long ears. No, she didn't. Her ears were about the size of Miss Pussy Kitty—little short ones, only Lady Bunny Rabbits ears didn't stick up in the air like Miss Pussy Kitty's—they flopped over closer to her head just like Mr. Bow wow's ears. Of course with ears like that Lady Bunny Rabbit couldn't hear very well, and if she couldn't hear very well she often made silly answers to her animal friends when they were talking to her.

One day it happened to be the Saturday before Easter. Sunday, little Bunny Rabbit was munching crisp leaves in front of her yard and along came Miss Pussy Kitty. "Good morning little Lady Bunny Rabbit," she called, "How are you this morning?"

"No, thank you, not yet," little Lady Bunny Rabbit replied. Miss Pussy Kitty stopped and started at her. "I asked you how you are this morning, she repeated distinctly. And I said: 'No, thank you, not yet, little Lady Bunny Rabbit, said with dignity. 'I haven't finished my breakfast yet.'"

Miss Pussy Kitty walked up to little Miss Lady Bunny Rabbit and lifted the flap of one ear up. "I asked you how you were this morning," she shouted.

"Oh!" little Lady Bunny Rabbit smiled foolishly, "I thought you said, 'Won't you go walking?' I am fine thank you. Miss Pussy Kitty walked on waving her tail in the air. Soon along came Mr. Bow wow, and saw Miss Bunny Rabbit munching her leaves, happily. "Hello!" said Mr. Bow wow. "What are you eating?" "Fine, thank you," said little Lady Bunny Rabbit, quickly. "How are you feeling?" "I didn't ask you how you were feeling, I asked what were you eating?" said Mr. Bow Wow. "Fine thank you," little Lady Bunny Rabbit said again. Mr. Bow Wow tossed his head and looked at her, and then lifted up one of the flaps of her ears and barked at her in a loud voice: "What's that you're eating?" "Oh!" said Bunny Rabbit. "Excuse me, I thought you said how do you feel." "Hump!" said Mr. Bow Wow, and then walked off.

In a few minutes along came Miss Reindeer and stopped to chat with Miss Lady Bunny Rabbit. "Good morning," Miss Reindeer said, "Going to the circus?" "Lettuce leaves," answered little Lady Rabbit sweetly.

Miss Reindeer looked at Bunny Rabbit with pity in her soft brown eyes, then she said louder: "No, no, dearie, I didn't ask you what you were eating, I asked you if you were going to the circus today?" "Little Lady Rabbit listened so hard, and said: "Going to whip us? Who? and what for?"

Then Miss Reindeer lifted up the flaps of her tiny wee ears and said: "Going to the circus today?" "I am so sorry, but my ears are so tiny I didn't hear what you said at first," said Bunny Rabbit, as Miss Reindeer hurried on her way.

"Oh! me, O, my! I wish my ears were just ten times as big and stood straight up in the air," sighed Bunny Rabbit.

CARD OF APPRECIATION FROM J. W. ROSS & FAMILY

With my heart overflowing with gratitude, I want my friends and the public to know that my son is now practically well. On March 9th, he was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium in a very critical condition with appendicitis. His appendix had already ruptured. When he was taken back to his room, he was so weak that it looked as if he could not live but a few minutes. But for the efforts of Dr. Krueger, my boy would not be alive today. He kept working with him, and injected some medicine directly into his veins, and my boy began to improve. Owing to his weakened condition he developed pneumonia, but Dr. Krueger's skill has overcome that, and my boy will soon be home again, entirely well. I want all my friends and the public to know what a great place the Lubbock Sanitarium is, and what wonderful work the doctors and nurses are doing there. Since my son has been sick, a little twelve year old girl was brought to the sanitarium with a very bad case of appendicitis. She had been treated by some rubbing doctors till she was nearly dead, but her life has been saved just like my son's life was saved. This little girl is just one of many, I have seen in the sanitarium. I will never cease to be thankful that Lubbock has such a place as the Lubbock Sanitarium.

A mass meeting has been called for Friday night, April 14, at the court house, to discuss the water works and sewer bond proposition. It is to be an open meeting, everybody being urged to come and ask any questions they wish, which will be answered by men who have posted themselves on the various features of the proposition and know what they are talking about. A representative of the State Board of Health will be present, also a member of the Board of Engineers. Be on hand and get the facts and figures and all other information covering this important question which you will have to pass on at the election on April 18. The
