

THE LUBBOCK AVALANCHE

VOLUME XXIII. No. 29.

LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1922.

PUBLISHED TWICE A WEEK

LUBBOCK, IN THROES OF GIGANTIC BUILDING PROGRAM, IS GROWING

FOURTEEN BUSINESS HOUSES IN THE PAST SIXTY DAYS IS LOOKED UPON AS DAWN OF BUILDING ERA

TRADE TERRITORY MUST BE EXPANDED

Present Industries, While in Infancy, Have Added Enormous Wealth to the Plains and Small Farmers are Stressing Their Development Which is Proving Very Profitable.

That Lubbock is in no way associated with the "still dead" towns of the present day is seen from the fact that within the last sixty days, eleven brick, one stucco and two frame business houses have been put under construction, some of which are now completed, and housing thriving business enterprises, while others are barely started, but they will all be occupied by the time fall business picks up, and old Lubbock, the Hub City of the Plains, will hum with activity never dreamed of by the most optimistic citizens of the town, and the poor old boys who have been occupying all their time in calamity howling will be rocked to sleep by the vibration of these activities, possibly to wake up in a state of progressive consciousness that will remove their past indulgence in knocking.

A survey of the city limits will convince one that a real building boom is on, a campaign to make Lubbock the most beautiful residential city in Texas seems to prevail, for with these modern, substantially built business houses are going up a proportional number of residences, that are being finished in the most artistic manner possible, with shrouding of all kinds being added to the building site, and mid-spring, with its indications of the approach of summer has found the homes of Lubbock prepared for the growing season for all kinds of flowers, and a walk through our popular residential sections will convince one that the recently adopted slogan of one of the leading civic agencies to make Lubbock "The City Beautiful" is everywhere in evidence.

Substantial homes, beautiful yards, happy, progressive and prosperous people are leading characteristics of Lubbock, and unless one's heart is in tune with the spirit of the times he certainly cannot realize the beauty of Lubbock and the greatness of her people, but the psychological effect of coming in contact with optimism is always to make an optimist of one, and the fact that newcomers are at once, almost instantaneously "sold" on Lubbock is attributed to the fact that it is a most inviting place. Lubbock is standing anything but commendations of his home town, and after the newcomer has been here for a few days his body, soul and mind are so thoroughly enveloped with the gladness of being a citizen of Lubbock, he likewise becomes a town booster, and the endless chain of pleased citizens is reinforced with another substantial link.

The Avalanche is proud of the progress Lubbock is making as a town, and the recently launched campaign to expand and develop her trade territory is received with applause by everyone who knows the situation as it exists—Lubbock is a big town, and must have a big trade territory to carry out her ambitions. Our trade is now good, and increased developments within a few miles of the city limits are adding their lot to the growth of the town, but Lubbock merchants are not the kind that stop at an achievement, but make that one another step to reach a higher vantage point that success might ultimately be realized. Unless one is aware of the trade the newly developed industries are bringing to our people they cannot know how to be optimistic about the future of this city—but a close observer will notice the increased business the transportation agencies are enjoying in hauling Lubbock county products to foreign markets. The products that are now known to be profitably produced here, while a few years ago it was believed the marketing of these products, namely milk, butter and eggs, was only a little job for the industrious housewife. That things have changed can be seen from the fact that large loads of cream and eggs are sent through the local express company every day, and the bankers will testify to the fact that all the small farmers who are putting extra stress on producing and marketing these products are at the head of the list of big depositors, and some owners that have no fall notes coming due to worry about.

These things combine to make the present building program necessary, for on the Plains farmers, ranchmen and merchants co-operate to make just as big showing with their home towns as it is at all possible.

Come to Lubbock and be associated with the people who know how to build and be prosperous.

BUILDING ACTIVITY IN BROWNFIELD INCREASES

Brownfield, June 2.—Building activities in Brownfield, has begun. The American Legion Hall is finished. The new gin is about complete and machinery is being installed. Ground was broken Monday for a new brick store building on Main Street.

Yes, Sir, Here They Are At Home Again Hubbers Open Seventeen-Game Series Today—Nitros First For Four Games.

Well, boys, here they come again. The Hubbers return today, and open up a seventeen-game series here, Ranger being the first victim for four games. Our boys have certainly made a reputation for themselves on this last trip away from home, returning to us having held their percentage better than any other team in the West Texas League, holding the Eastern clubs in their own back yards for the heaviest end of all games played while away, showing that they are in there all the time with a well oiled Hub and with spokes that are not so easily jerked out of place.

"Sport" Woodrider, our own hometown "Babe," has certainly shown himself to be the invincible with that "Per" arm of his and his wonderful "Ironhead," having piled up seven victories with not a one lost.

John King, the "Pep Wagon," who not only is leading his own club in hitting, but tops them all in the West Texas League, leading the hitting column by a good majority, is still in there, but seems to be minus those "Blue Darters" that he clouted to the four corners of every lot in the circuit last season for many extra bases. But John says, "stay in there, I'll do it yet."

Little "Chimmy" Battle, the country lad, as he is sometimes called, is certainly covering that second sack—as if he was playing "keep" with the boys, and is going to keep 'em.

Around the circuit "Charlie-horse" seems to be sculling along, for when Sam Langford comes up he has been bothered with them. Fans at other places class him with "Man-o-War," as he usually clouts them over the pailings, having seven homers to his credit this season.

Then down around the busy corner, Earnie and Emmer seem to be having one wonderful time—reminds a fan of a brigade of fly swatters helping themselves to the prunes. Earnie has a slack wire when that would make Niagara Fall, when Emma is going after a not one. Then Sled comes from behind his cage charging the young ones. I tell you, folks, we will keep them going—and any time Sled gets that bunch of Gassers on his hip with Brown's home way of doing things, while Brooks is playing in ahead of him. Boys, I just tell you, "the gas will cease to flow," as we will have to get 'em "hipped."

Didn't know we had a "bumping post" on the club, did ye? Well, we have, and when these other clubs can't get it run by the "Umps," and each man simply takes a bump at it until—Gosh! Darn, they have finally got Bobb Speegle bumped out. Evidently, Bobby has them on his hip.

Bart Green gives the Grand Stand a thrill occasionally by his hitting, but it seems Bart hasn't had his mind on his business all the time. His mind has probably been back in the Hubbers' home town. Newlyweds usually have, you know. There's a reason.

Our twirlers have been going good, but remember, we have Joey Cantrell now that our fans haven't had the pleasure of seeing on the rubber mat. So, take about two hours off each day for the next seven or eight games, and we assure you that to see these Mound artists, consisting of "Swede" Swenson, Joey Cantrell, Sport Woodrider, Bart Green, and Alberts, all go so blooming good that you will absolutely see them take the "E" out of Eagles, the Buzz out of the Buzzers, and explode the "Gas" from the Gassers. Come out this afternoon and see the Nitros go under.

LUBBOCK TRADE TERRITORY HIT BY HEAVY RAIN AND HAIL THURS.

MANY ACRES OF GROWING CROPS DESTROYED—PLANTING WILL BE RESUMED BY INDUSTRIOUS FARMERS

FALL BUSINESS WILL NOT BE AFFECTED

Cotton and Feed Crops Have Plenty Time in Which to Make Abundant Yields, and Plenty Energy is All That is Necessary to Put the 1922 Crop into Condition That Existed Before Storms.

ALLEN TO BUILD SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLAR HOME

Further indications that our good townsman, A. W. Allen, of the Allen Filling Station, has been severely bitten by the building "bug" is emphasized in the fact that he has had Contractor Noey working on plans for a seven thousand dollar residence to be built somewhere in the north part of Lubbock, preferably Broadway.

The plans were completed last week and mailed to Mrs. Allen who is at her home in Wichita Falls, and as soon as it is learned what disposition she makes of the plans the work will begin on the structure.

Mrs. Allen will be heartily welcomed to Lubbock, and we are sure the leading people in Lubbock society will welcome the completion of the nice residence, which we learn she will occupy immediately after its completion.

WELL KNOWN LUBBOCK WOMAN DIED SUNDAY

Mrs. L. B. Phillips, for the past eight years a resident of Lubbock, passed away at her home here Sunday, June 4th.

Mrs. Phillips was born in Kentucky, April 8, 1869, coming to Lubbock in 1914, and for the past four years has been an invalid, the end of her life was not a surprise to her many friends, whose high regard for the invalid was stimulated by her buoyant spirit, she having remained cheerful to the end, a commendable characteristic that is more beautiful when possessed by an invalid.

The deceased leaves a daughter, Mrs. May Wilson, of Lubbock, four sons in different places in the States, and a host of friends and admirers to mourn her loss.

The Avalanche extends deepest sympathy to the bereaved ones.

KU KLUX KLANSMEN ENTER CHURCH AT SLATON SUNDAY

Sunday night during a cooperative meeting held in the Methodist Church at Slaton, by the Methodist and Baptist denominations at that place, eight Ku Klux Klan members, dressed in full uniforms, entered the church, and presented the Baptist pastor, who was preaching at that time, with a letter containing one hundred and ten dollars, with instructions that the money be equally divided between the two churches.

A copy of the letter was mailed the Avalanche Monday, and we reach our office too late for publication. It will appear in our next issue.

LOCKNEY DEALERS PAY LARGE SUMS OF MONEY FOR HOGS

Lockney, June 2.—Frank Dodson, member of the firm of Dodson & Teaver, is authority for the statement that during the month of April his firm paid out $43,000 for hogs marketed here. All the shipments made by Dodson & Teaver have been to California. Floyd county is now challenging any other county in the state to show a greater number of hogs marketed in 1922 than she will market. The challenge has been sent to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

LITTLEFIELD COUPLE DONATES PARK SITE TO COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duggan of Littlefield, have offered the Commissioners' Court a tract of twenty-four acres of land for a county park. This land has a large lake on it and is susceptible to being converted into a very beautiful park and playground. The tourist camp will be located in the park and the whole park highly improved by the County and Community Civic Clubs.

WEDDED BUT KEPT IT SECRET FOR A YEAR

Floydada, June 2.—Announcement was made in Floydada the past week of the wedding of Miss Lucille Wimberly of Floydada, to Joe Weddington of Terrell, on August 29, 1921. Miss Wimberly and Mr. Weddington were secretly married, and Miss Wimberly taught school in Floydada the past session. The announcement came as a surprise to the people of Floydada and of Terrell, where Miss Wimberly was well known.

Miss Pearl Twist and Ed B. Syrett, representing the Pecos & Reynolds paint company, arrived in Lubbock Thursday morning, and immediately set to work making arrangements for the Demostration given at that store from Thursday afternoon until Saturday evening.

A big majority of the folks are engaged more or less all the time in explaining things.

The entire section of the Lubbock trade territory, together with other big crop producing sections of West Texas, was visited by heavy rain and hail last week, Thursday and Sunday nights being the time in which most damage was done.

The Thursday's hail and rain storm swept away thousands of acres of growing crops in sections, while farms only a few hundred yds. from the hail zone were only partially harmed by the flooding down pour of rain.

Beginning in the Muleshoe country and drifting in about a ten mile trip to the Post sections, crops were swept out in its wake, but thanks to the unmatchable soil and climate of this great country, it is not too late to plant cotton that will yield from one-half to a bale of cotton per acre, and two feed crops can be made on the same land before the fateful visit of Jack Frost to the Plains, a characteristic that is one of the great ingredients that makes the great South Plains depended upon as a winner in every circumstance.

Through the courtesy of "Tel" Phillips, manager of the Lubbock office of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, we were given reports from Post, Slaton, Brownfield, Littlefield, and Tahoka, the same conditions prevailing in those sections that are in Lubbock county—some crops unharmed by either hail or rain, and other literally beaten into the ground or washed away.

The Tahoka country, as we understand, was not hurt by the Thursday night storm, as only a heavy rain with little wind, visited that section, while the Sunday night storm was very destructive, beating down growing crops, and washing the land that was planted, but on which no crops were growing.

Brownfield was an exception, as no hail fell in that territory, considerable damage was done by the heavy rain Sunday night.

The Slaton community was missed by the hail, and crops are in good shape in spite of the heavy rains.

The Grassland community, near Post City, where it is reported that crops were practically all laid by and growing, was the scene of the heaviest storm of the season, downpours of hail and rain literally destroyed every foot of field in that section, according to reports.

Lubbock county was hit in spots. The Lindsey ranch, ten miles west, where a large crop was planted, was washed by the heavy rains, and nothing but mud was left along in growth or up to the level to show for the work that had been done by the energetic farmers on the ranch.

Four hundred acres of cotton, corn, sudan and other crops that had been planted early, the cotton having as many as six leaves, and the corn and sudan at a height of about twelve inches, on the John P. Lewis farm in the Woodrow Community, was hauled and washed out, Mr. Lewis having been wired of the conditions, has instructed that the place be replanted to about the same crops, and seed was rushed to the place, the work of replanting to begin as soon as the ground is dry enough to be worked.

While many thousands of acres were destroyed by these storms, the Plains section will suffer very little on account of the loss, so far as fall business is concerned, as all the farmers are able to replant in a short time, and they as individuals are losing only the time required for replanting and the initial cost of the seed.

Lubbock county is coming to the front, and we would not want anyone to think that our people can get back by any small thing, as the loss of a few hundred acres of planted crops, as there are no calamity howlers here, and these men are going back to their fields as soon as the ground is dry enough and plant what bids fair to be the biggest crop in the history of farming on the Plains.

Miss Iona Smith, of Conley's Dry Goods Store, left last week for San Angelo, where she will spend a two weeks vacation. Miss Smith is a sturdy worker, always looking out for the better interests of the customers of that business, and the rest is a well deserved one.

E. G. Abbott, of Abilene, was in Lubbock last week to visit his twin brother, Ed C. Abbott, of the Lone Star Stage Line. The Abbott brothers are live wires, and we are glad to note that the resident of Abilene seems favorably impressed with conditions in Lubbock.

New York had 91 murders in 93 days; the other two days, no doubt, being holidays.—Newspaper Enterprise Association.

How she can love—
How she can hate—
How she can kiss—
How she can dance—
Take a chance!—
See her flashing eyes—
Dios Mio! How they flash

—With all the fire of Spain, created by Jacinto Benavente, greatest of Spanish dramatists, and glowing from the screen as an epic of emotion.

—For the smile of Senorita, for the bliss of her kiss, men fight on the shores of Spain.—An emotional Epic!

—Not of Don nor of Spanish Grandees—but of primitive peasants to whom love is life.

—Normal Talmadge as you have never seen her before, in a play that glitters with the Fire of Spain.

—Eyes that flash both love and hate—

—Lips inviting and then scoffing—

—Smiles entrancing and then alarming—

BUFFALO HERDS INCREASING ON FEDERAL GAME PRESERVES

Forty-six new buffalo calves are reported on three of the four game preserves maintained by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture for the special protection of buffalo. On the National Bison Range, in Montana, there are 417 buffalo, including 28 calves born this spring. Fifteen calves are reported at the Wind Cave preserve, in South Dakota, and 3 at Niobrara, Nebr.

The department has been very fortunate in maintaining the herds established at these three points and at Sullys Hill, N. Dak. There are relatively few large buffalo herds now scattered over the country, and the Biological Survey has made a special effort to provide suitable ranges and protection for what threatened a few years ago to become an extinct species of native American animal.

per cent, and stressed the fact that there is plenty of money to be loaned at this figure.

Mr. Young is a live wire and a peep at the amount of money he has put into circulation in Lubbock county, will convince one of his ability to hustle.

Opinions Will Differ

The idea of holding written examinations for prospective brides and prospective bridegrooms may have its advantages, though we are unable to understand on what subjects they would be examined, and for that matter just who would be competent to pass on the case.

At any rate, such examinations would reveal how far apart the sexes are on some of the vital questions. It would soon come to a point of calling off the examinations or calling off the weddings.

As a matter of fact, the thing has been given a trial, and here are the results:

Question: Name the marriage vows
Her answer—To love, honor and obey.

His answer—To love, honor, obey, rake and scrape, fetch and carry, hand over your salary every Saturday, never stay out later than eight o'clock, foot all the bills, button up her dresses in the back, never complain, and provide a home for mother-in-law.

Question: What is the ideal husband?
Her answer—There ain't no such animal.

His answer—The first husband of a widow who has remarried.

Question: How long is a honeymoon?
Her answer—Not at all.

His answer—Until the first of the month, when the bills start coming in.

Question: How far can a husband be trusted?
Her answer—A distance which is too small to be visible to the naked eye.

His answer—Owing to the fact that no wife has tried the experiment, the answer is unknown.

1. Don't believe all you hear, especially when it is about yourself.
2. If you must knock, knock the knockers.

3. The man who practices safety first usually comes out on top.
5. The trials of life would not be so bad if we could render our own verdicts.

6. Go ahead by using the head you have.
7. People who stand around with their hands in their pockets seldom have anything else in them.

8. Many a self-made man is not proud of his maker.
9. A man can prove he has horse sense by not making an ass of himself.

10. Folks say a lot of things besides their prayers.
11. Don't borrow trouble with the idea that you are to return it with interest.

12. If people used half as much energy trying to get into Heaven as they do trying to break into society, the world would be in much better shape for judgment day.

Not His Fault
Five men stood on the street one day
When a flapper passed along that way
Four of them stared; the other declined—
He couldn't stare, he was totally blind.

Treat 'Em Rough
"Ethel," he whispered, "will you marry me?"
"I don't know, Charlie," she replied coyly.

"Well, when you find out," he said, rising, "send me word, will you? I shall be at Mable Hicks' until ten o'clock, and if I don't hear from you by then I am going to ask her."
She made up her mind at once.

A Defense of Man
Man was made out of dirt. He is naturally dirty.
Woman was made out of a rib, which is the crookedest part of man. And there you are.

Raise Your Own
If you're looking for an added source of income, you might take up the suggestion of one of our perfectly natural naturalists and acquire a private ostrich for domestic use.

You can never tell when your wife is going to demand a feather fan, or some such trifle, and if you have an ostrich on the premises you can gratify her slightest wish, like running out to the strawberry bed in the yard and getting some berries for breakfast.

A well-bred, leggy, plume-bearing ostrich can be purchased at from $300 to $500, including war tax.

The value of one-year's crop of feathers is from $35 to $100, which ought to be enough to satisfy any woman, but which probably won't, because no woman is ever satisfied with anything.

Ostriches may be parked in the cellar, back yard or garage. If left in the garage, do not leave gasoline exposed, as the ostrich is rather careless when thirsty. Also he might eat all your tools.

Remember, in plucking the bird, that the ostrich's kick is one of the most powerful things in the world now that the supply of hard liquor has dwindled.

Ostriches have been known to reach the age of fifty, but their keepers usually die young.

Her Desire
"Did you hear that Maud is to marry again?"
"What? After three husbands who went crazy, run away or got in the poorhouse?"
"Sure. You see, she's hoping for a safe and sane fourth."

Let Us Remember
How can it matter what comes now, Winter, and summer, and day and night;
Sorrow may tangle the paths we seek;
Let us remember we held delight.

Let us remember that once we two listened and quivered and heard the call
Of the nesting bird, and the budding seed—
We have had happiness. That is all.

The Usual Case
"How do you and your wife get along so nicely, Joe?"
"I always let her think she is having her own way."
"But how do you manage to deduce her?"
"I don't."

A Hint From Paris
Paris milliners have pretty nearly exhausted the animal kingdom—including mere man—in their search for novelties in style.

Now as a last resort they have descended upon the owl. The last word in Paris creations is the owl teque, which is worn jauntily, with perhaps a hoot on the side.

Doubtless the new hat will be seen quite a good deal on the owl cars and at the owl resorts, of which nearly every town has one. However, it will hardly be popular with the old maids, as it might have the effect of making them appear more owlish.

The reason the milliners have hit upon the owl hat is because the owl is hard to get. That's what makes it the rage. The more difficult it is to get a thing, the more desirable it becomes.

It's the same way in this country with booze, as perhaps you've noticed already.

As a result of the vogue, the market price of owls has jumped from $2 for a live one to $200 for a dead one. Which would seem to prove that the owl, like some people, become more valuable in this world by passing on to the next.

APPORTIONMENT TO SCHOOLS INCREASED

Austin, Texas, May 29.—State Treasurer C. V. Terrell announced today that there was sufficient money in the Treasury to the credit of the available school fund to make an apportionment of $1.50 per capita or a total of $1,946,986. Mr. Terrell will advise the State Board of Education Tuesday that the money is ready and the board will immediately order it remitted to the various schools. School heads believed that only $1 would be available this month and the $1.50 allowance will be a most agreeable surprise. There is yet $3.50 per capita to be paid on the apportionment for the current year. It will be reduced to $2 when Tuesday's action is taken.

A corrected calculation shows there are 1,297,991 enumerated school children in the State of Texas on which basis the State Board of Education made an apportionment of $1.50 per capita, for a grand total of $1,946,986. When the $1.50 is apportioned Tuesday there will have been paid a total of $14,277,961 on this session's whole amount, leaving $2,595,982 yet to be paid.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC MAKING IMPROVEMENTS ON ROADBED

Del Rio, June 3.—The Southern Pacific railway track from Del Rio to Sanderson, a distance of 137 miles, is to be completely reballasted, according to a statement by Roadmaster J. M. Corley to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Crushed stone is to be used. When completed the Southern Pacific will have the finest ballasted roadbed in the state. The remainder of the road in West Texas is said to be ballasted with slag from an El Paso smelter. It so closely resembles coal that frequently the railway officials receive protests from charitably inclined persons who think the line is using coal for ballasting when poor widows are wanting fuel in winter. Two large rock crushers are to be installed at the company's quarry at Langtry immediately, it was stated.

PLAINVIEW TO HAVE CITY MAIL DELIVERY SEPT. 1

Plainview, Texas, June 1.—Plainview will have free city mail delivery beginning September 4. Postmaster Will Stockton has been notified by the United States Postal Department to this effect. Two carriers will be employed at first and more will be added later.

Mr. Stockton and the Plainview commercial organizations have been working for the new mail service for several years and the entire city is celebrating the successful outcome. Large postal receipts, the crowded condition of the local post-office and plenty of sidewalks were the factors which influenced the granting of free mail delivery for Plainview.

The order from the Postmaster General also provides for improved facilities at the Plainview postoffice.

MUST HAVE HELP

Farmers in the flood districts must have help to get more planting seeds, the Dallas News observes in the following editorial:

"From the staff dispatch to The News it seems that there will be no free seed from Washington for the flooded districts of Texas. The committee in charge of the matter felt that it would not be a good policy to begin the governmental distribution of seed. In that decision many will feel bound to concur, although they cannot escape sentiments of real sympathy for those who have lost their crops in the overflows. The constant encroachment upon the independence of the States through the surrender by the States to the paternalistic functionings of the National Government has harmed many prominent men. But the place to wage the war of opposition against the encroachment is with the sentiment within the several States and not at Washington. States have come to run after Washington in the effort to surrender duties. Yet there can be no State rights without the full acknowledgment and the full performance of State duties.

"Now that the probability of assistance from Washington is made remote through the action of committees to whom the matter was referred, perhaps Texas will do what she should have done in the first place and take steps to relieve promptly and generously the distress of farmers whose lands have been invaded by flood waters. Considerable time has already been lost—time which is precious with the advance of the growing season. In another such emergency, should it arise, it is to be hoped that the first impulse will be to self-reliance and the relief of our people by their neighbors and fellow-Texans. An appeal to that quarter has never been turned down where it was properly and seasonably made in a worthy cause. Surely this is a worthy cause."

Fire Chief Clinton, of Abilene, who held the responsible position of Chief of Police, and Fire Chief for thirty-seven years, died suddenly last Wednesday evening. Chief Clinton was probably the best known fire chief and chief of police in Texas, and has a host of friends throughout the State who will learn of his death with much regret.

The Avalanche started a fuss last week, by our city editor making the mistake of stating that Judge Lockhart was from Lamesa instead of Tahoka. The News jumped on us with both feet because of this misstatement, just the same as though he does not make 'em every issue that is printed, and now the Lamesa Reporter is taking a shot at the News for refusing the Judge the pleasure of being from Lamesa, if only for a few minutes even. Now boys, we do not want to cause any friction between you. The editor knew that Judge Lockhart lived at Tahoka, boosted Tahoka, helps to build Tahoka, and all that, but you know that the Avalanche has grown to that proportion that the editor cannot read every line that goes into it before it is printed, and new men coming on the job of news writing causes these kind of errors, and they are not made with any ill intentions, but are merely innocent mistakes. However, cut out the quibbling over the judge and keep on building new brick business houses like you both are doing. The Judge will take care of himself at any time and under any conditions. Keep building.

The Lamesa Reporter is rather inclined to make light of the statement in the Avalanche that four new brick buildings were under construction in Lubbock. That was true at the time, but Brother Smith, you must remember that that report was made two weeks ago. Since that time contracts have been let for four or five more business buildings, and within that length of time there is no telling how many will be contracted. We are glad to know that Lamesa is building, however, and we admire the way the Reporter editor is keeping in touch with the building activities of his town, but he must remember that Lubbock is not just an ordinary city, that her population is over six thousand people, and all are boosters with the exception of possibly a half a dozen, and we believe that they will be converted soon. A dozen big firms are contemplating coming to Lubbock soon that will require fifty foot front buildings, and our people will build these buildings for them any time they will put their names on the dotted line of a lease contract. For further information see the editor of the Avalanche. We do not charge a cent for the information we give, and we venture we can put you in touch with a fellow in thirty minutes that will put up a brick building any size and shape you want. Your move next, Mr. Business Man who wants to come to Lubbock!

The grand stand and several thousand dollars worth of automobiles and grand stand equipment was destroyed by fire at Wichita Falls last Friday, during the progress of a very exciting game of baseball between the local league team and Shreveport. The fire is said to have been started from a cigarette, which ignited a cushion. Three men were injured in the excitement to get out of the way of the fire. Cigarettes are not only killing thousands of boys and destroying the womanhood of the country, but as a side swipe, destroys several million dollars worth of property in the United States every year.

It takes Uncle Sam a long time to get around to matters, even of much importance. This week the announcement was made that Free City Delivery would be given Plainview on September 1st. Plainview commenced work on this proposition about four years ago, and just now getting the proposition in announceable shape. Lubbock began about two years ago definite arrangements for this service, and much work has already been done on it, but we may be several months from it yet. We should keep closely in after those fellows at Washington and make 'em come across. Lubbock is entitled to this service, and we want it. Somebody, we hope will speed Washington up a bit.

ROTARY NOTES

By L. T. Martin

One of the most interesting programs the Rotarians have had at their weekly luncheons was held at the Manhattan Parlors on Wednesday, May 31, when they had as their club guests, Mr. Wenner, the noted lecturer on boys work, who is now making a tour of the Chautauqua circuit, giving his very interesting lecture, "A Square Deal For Jack." All those who heard Mr. Wenner give his lecture on the Chautauqua platform here will appreciate the good work he is doing. The club also had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Laurant, Mr. Laurant being the famous magician who gave one of the most interesting programs for the closing number of the Chautauqua that we had this year. He gave a demonstration of his skill in the magic art at the luncheon, and all those present are yet wondering how he did the trick. Mr. Laurant was one of the charter members of the original Rotary club organized in Chicago a number of years ago.

Mr. W. H. Grim, superintendent of the Chautauqua was also a club guest and made an extemporaneous talk which was enjoyed by all present. Mr. Grim endeared himself to the people of Lubbock by the manner in which he conducted the Chautauqua this year, and had no trouble whatever in getting the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to sign up a new contract for the Chautauqua next year.

Mr. Nunn, editor of the Amarillo Daily News, Charles W. Roberts, Seagraves, Texas, candidate for state representative from this district, and Mr. Tom Haynie made extemporaneous talks complimenting the club on the good program and the excellent luncheon and expressing their pleasure in having the opportunity to be with us.

C. L. Griffin, the new song leader, is making good and we can anticipate some nice peppy music from this on.

Mr. W. O. Stevens for the Kiwanis club announced that they would entertain the Rotary club Thursday, June 8, at the Robinson Bldg. at 12:05 prompt. This will be in payment of the debt incurred May 24 when they lost the ball game to the Rotarians. He said every member of the Kiwanis club will be delighted to have the Rotarians as their guests. The Rotarians are anticipating the time of their lives at this luncheon, and know that the Kiwanians will measure up to their expectations. Thank you, Bill, we will all be there.

There were a number of lady guests, and Mrs. W. H. Meador responded when called upon by the toastmaster, saying that the ladies had enjoyed the luncheon and program very much, but made the statement that they had to beg their husbands for an invitation.

POULTRY IS FINE FOR ALL OF WEST TEXAS FARMS—FARMERS MAKE GOOD MONEY ON POULTRY

West Texas is an ideal country for the poultry industry. It should be, and is fast becoming, one of the main crops. Drouth does not affect the poultry industry. You have an ideal climate, produce your own feed and have plenty of range. Because of your wonderful range turkeys should be raised in herds and a herder employed to care for them. This alone will yield the country thousands of dollars. You have some railroads already, and others in sight that insure quick transportation to market. The Fort Worth and Denver railroad saw the splendid possibilities of the poultry industry in this section of the state when they "stood at attention" and granted practically every request and suggestion of its agricultural agent when he organized and featured the special poultry demonstration campaign last January and February. This was one of the most systematically conducted agricultural campaigns ever promoted in this State. The fact that a railroad company spent several hundred dollars on a poultry campaign is sufficient evidence that the poultry industry has passed its infancy and is worthy of the attention of the best business brains of the country.

All up and down the Fort Worth and Denver-Wichita Valley line, bankers were ready with various propositions to promote the poultry industry. Just last year in the city of Plainview, the Hub of the Plains, there was shipped out $600,000.00 worth of poultry. This was $100,000.00 more than the aggregate of the wheat crop.

If I understand the work of the Chamber of Commerce it is not only to promote the various business interests of the city, but its responsibility reaches to the boundaries of the country in which the city is located. In agricultural states such as ours the success of the business man depends altogether upon both the yield and marketing of the farm crops. Since it has been proved that poultry is a cash crop, ranks with other crops you cannot do a greater work for your city and county, and one that will yield as great a per cent of gain for the amount of money invested than to encourage and promote campaigns that will stimulate the industry.

A successful poultry winning campaign is composed of links. Each link represents a seasonal campaign. Since a chain is no stronger than its weakest link each link should be systematically planned and efficiently promoted. The links of campaigns might be a "swat the rooster" campaign, "infertile eggs," "culling" campaign, a "more and better poultry" campaign, "community and county egg poultry show." Perhaps an appropriate motto would be "Say it With Poultry."

A "Swat the Rooster" campaign, an "Infertile Egg" campaign at the present season would mean a saving of thousands of dollars to West Texas. This should be followed by a strenuous culling campaign in the fall. Weed out the "star boarders" and keep only the producers for the breeding pen next year. Culling campaigns in the various states have done more to interest people in standard bred poultry than any other one thing. It is a winner every time.

A "More and Better Poultry" campaign should be launched in January and February. A plan to furnish standard-bred eggs to everyone interested should be operated. The climax both financially and educationally will be the county and community fairs which include exhibits of both eggs and poultry. That is where we learn what is a good or bad product. Sales are made and interest stimulated for next year's poultry crop.

But some one or more organizations must assume the responsibility of starting the work. Why not that one be you?

Do you want to make more money in West Texas? Well, the hen, better housed, better fed, better culled and bred, is the surest, quickest and most economical short cut.

MR. BEATY IS MAKING A BUSINESS OF FARMING

C. B. Beaty was in town Saturday from his hog ranch and farm in the Monroe community, and expressed himself highly elated over prospects for a bumper crop in his community.

Mr. Beaty, however, is not looking on the farming business alone for money making, but has his place stocked with thoroughbred Poland China hogs of the most famous type, which he is breeding at an enormous cost, but realizes that thoroughbreds pay in the long run.

"The man who tries to even make a living on the Plains without getting down to the fundamentals of farming at a profit is absolutely using poor judgment, for though a living can be made with little effort, there is no more work to making a real business of the work, and doing something worth while," he said, pointing out the fact that the farmer who buys his meats and other products that can be easily and without cost, raised on his own place, is losing just that much money every year.

Mr. Beaty has White Leghorn hens, thoroughbreds too, on his place that are yielding a splendid dividend on the original investment every day, besides paying for every moment of time spent working with them. The fact that he does not have a lot more thoroughbred cattle on his place is a big question to him, and this is about the way he looked at it: "The only thing I am after to complete my farming to, what I consider a paying basis, is to trade off a few mixed-bred cattle, and get a solid herd of Jerseys, which I expect to accomplish within the next few months."

A two hundred dollar bear was added to his herd of hogs recently, and still he expects to keep shipping in fine ones until he has the largest herd in the country.

The fact that Mr. Beaty is looking after the hogs, cattle and chickens does not indicate in any way that he is not after the farming side of the proposition on a big scale, for with a tractor, and he has a head of fine mules, he has broken one hundred acres of soil this year which is now in a fine state of cultivation, besides two hundred and fifty acres of old land that is also put into many different crops, as another method Mr. Beaty is employing in his attempts to make farming a business on the Plains.

MEN BUSY ON R & R LINDSEY THEATER

Carpenters, decorators, painters, plumbers and electricians, as well as a host of helpers were kept busy all day Saturday and Monday in the final rush to complete the furnishing and redecoration of the R & R Lindsey Theater.

The opening night, Monday, and Tuesday the R & R management have brought to Lubbock one of the greatest motion picture programs ever seen in West Texas. "Beyond the Rocks" in which Gloria Swanson and Rudolph Valentino play the leading parts is the feature attraction with which special musical selections will be given.

One of the largest crowds ever in attendance at a show in Lubbock is anticipated by the R & R management.

Several Years Ago When Texas Had A Freakish Land Law Some Interesting Things Happened—Land Rush of 1904

All of the newly acquired citizens of this part of Texas, have heard many stories of the antagonism between the cattlemen of the early day and the men who came here with the intention of farming. In many of the stories told, the encounters between the two opposing interests ended in blood she but there is a tale of contest which was spirited and exciting but friendly. It occurred when the school land in Borden County was put on the market and is reported from the Borden Citizen of date, March 17, 1904. The writer says:

During the first ten days of this month, Gail was the scene of a friendly yet very exciting conflict between the Red and Blue Ribbons. It is perhaps unnecessary for us to state what causes the "Red Ribbons" and "Blue Ribbons" espoused but for the benefit of those who never saw a Texas "land rush" we will go into details as to the respective sentiments of the contending forces.

The "Reds" are known in all parts of West Texas as the actual settlers and the "Blues" are stockmen and their cowboys.

Hence, since the present infamous land laws of Texas went into effect, it is always the strongest side that wins—"might makes right." In other words you must have more help than the other fellow can get if you want to take up school land in West Texas. But to proceed:

Notwithstanding the fact that every one was searched by the officers and all pocket knives, etc., were taken away from them before they were allowed to enter the scene of strife as participants, it was not a bloodless war wholly, for many and rough with the scratches and tumbles; yet good order prevailed, and with the exception of a few personal differences, the kindest feelings were promoted and sustained throughout the contest.

Five sections of land came on the market on the 4th instant and three on the 11th. Settlements had already been made on the land and settlers had been holding the clerk's door for two or three months. The cattlemen were none the less determined on filing their applications, so a great struggle was freely predicted—in fact was inevitable.

On February 29 a large number of cow punchers arrived in town from various parts of the country. They took in the situation at once, donned the ribbon and finding the enemy very weak they concluded to take advantage of the situation. Big Bob Odum, Commander-in-chief of the Blue army held a short council with his chiefs, and it was decided to make the attack at once. No sooner resolved when they filed into the Courthouse yard and into the hall. The struggle was short. About ten minutes later they tossed the last Red ribbon man out of the hall and then there went up a yell from the Blues, a yell that would have stamped an army of Apaches. But this move was probably made too soon. It gave time for reaction and reaction came. The Red Ribbon boys picked themselves up out of the dust and catching their ponies rode hard and long, recruiting their forces. On the evening of the 2nd, the Reds were ready and charged the fort. After twenty minutes of yelling and pulling exultant shouts and the waving or Red Ribbons told the Reds had retaken the hall. The Blues did not make any effort to retake the hall, but leaving the Reds to file without any opposition they departed fully resolved to return with sufficient force to insure the filing of their applications for the land that should come in on the market on the 11th. It is estimated that 225 men participated in the pull just described.

While preparations were being made for the "pull" on the 11th excitement was running high. The Blues hired and brought over a great many men from Abilene, Colorado and Big Spring, besides a large number which they picked up in Borden, Garza and other counties north. The Reds made a pretty thorough canvass of the country and on the evening of the 9th numbered 225 men, representing ten or twelve counties. On the morning of the 9th however, the Reds had only about 125 men while the Blues claimed 175. At ten a. m. on the 9th, these forces clashed. There was geying, and gnashing of teeth for a short time, after which there was a blue ribbon demonstration. But this demonstration was not to last long. The Reds were continually coming in, and every detachment served to decrease the faith of the late victorious army. The Reds were more than 200 strong, when on the afternoon of the 9th, Red Rogers, the commander, lined them up for action.

The enemy had about one-third of its force stationed in the hall of the court house and the remainder just outside the hall doors.

The attacking army was composed of three divisions, also. The first two divisions were to engage those who guarded the entrance. The reserve force, composed of the third division, was to keep the breast works (composed only of two heaps of struggling humanity) and take the fort. Events transpired as per arrangements and everything went on schedule time. The Red Ribbon Reserves charged the hall at the opportune moment and the climax of the struggle was soon reached. Outside the main body of each army was crouching, riling and tumbling. A few, less fond of such active sport compromised with members of the opposing army, and thus paired, they locked arms and retreated to what they considered a more respectable distance where they watched with interest as the battle raged. In the hall the Red Ribbon Reserves and the Blue Giants were fiercely struggling for supremacy. For a few moments none of the results of this conflict were visible to the outsiders, but very soon the Blues were outnumbered, broken up and demoralized and the Reds began to put them out. Apparently no mode has been prescribed for this feature of the fight, much to the annoyance and discomfort of the Blues, who were now being pulled out, snaked out, rolled out, backed out, pushed out, tossed out and turned out. Neither was there any precaution exercised as to what particular portion of the enemy's anatomy should first collide with terra firma. The Blues were ousted in just fifteen minutes, and though they were completely defeated it was made possible only through the fact that they were outnumbered. They conducted themselves well and bore their defeat manfully, even heroically and won the applause and admiration, not only of the spectators, but of their opponents as well. Withall they have no obvious cause to regret their endeavor.

And with such well laid plans as characterizes his activities in church work laid out before us we believe he certainly will.

The conference in question is that of the Northwest Texas Epworth League which convenes in Clarendon June 6th, and adjourns the 11th. Hailey will be there with several cars well loaded with league boosters, who are going to pull every string possible to bring the 1923 conference to Lubbock.

Hailey didn't just make up his mind to go over there to try to bring the conference to Lubbock, but also put the idea into the minds of many Lubbock people, businessmen, civic agencies and organizations who are going to get on the rope and pull with him. Red Rix, of the Rix Furniture Company, has been the most enthusiastic co-worker with Hailey thus far, and they are certainly some team. Rix will not be able to go to Clarendon because of pressing business at home, but nevertheless will be on the job throughout the meeting pushing on the end of the ropes from his office in about three different methods, which are designed to bring results.

The Rotary and Kiwanis clubs are again showing their metal, and proving it the best made, with the efforts they are placing back of this work.

The Avalanche, in the meantime, is not going to be asleep about this matter, and the delegates Clarendon will certainly be aware of the fact. Plains for our participation in the little show were made early in the game.

While L. T. Martin, of the Chamber of Commerce has been a busy man, owing to the fact that most of the responsibilities of the Chautauques were thrown upon him, it is rumored that his office will be heard from in Clarendon, and we take it that these rumors are about right.

The 1923 conference will be attended by about one thousand or fifteen hundred people. Get behind Hailey and help Lubbock win.

Scholastic Increase Indicates Our Very Rapid Development

The scholastic census is about as good a guide as to the development of the country as can be found, and from the figures furnished us by the County Superintendent, Lubbock county is going forward at a rapid pace, not only in the towns, but in the rural communities. Last year at this time 3878 children were enumerated, while this year we find that 4605 were counted—an increase over last year of 828.

Lubbock County is settling up about as fast as any county on the Plains, if not faster. One reason for this is we have one of the best agricultural counties in this section of the state. It is adapted to diversified farming, which is a big item in its favor, and our farmers have proven this beyond a doubt in past years. Another reason is our splendid schools in the rural sections of the county. Lubbock county probably has better school buildings, and more money to run them than any other county on the Plains, so far as the rural schools are concerned. Mostly nine month schools make this an attractive feature in the location of people who have families, and a number of them of school age. Then still another reason is that Lubbock is "the Hub of the Plains," has better railroad facilities than any other town in the South Plains, which offers better inducement for the farmer who is diversified, and needs good roads facilities. Then the Lubbock country as well as the city of Lubbock itself, is made up of progressive folks—oh, there are a few grouches, tightwads, and moss-backs here, but they are hopelessly in the minority, and are living an unbearable life, and will finally ease out, and go to places where there is not so much progressiveness. It is too lively here for drones, and while new ones may come along that rest easy little sympathies here, and cannot remain long in such a beehive of growth and development such a "swarm" of budding and development. Lubbock and the trade territory sets the pace for this section, and people far and near know about this place, if you don't believe it, next time you go away from here, ask a few folks about Lubbock, and see how many of them will have something very complimentary to say about this town. They know more about us than many of you think.

BAPTIST ENCAMPMENT WILL OPEN AUGUST 2

The Panhandle Baptist Assembly will hold their annual encampment, beginning August 2, and lasting through August 11. According to Rev. Fronberger the grounds will be in excellent condition for the assembly. The official program will be made out for the occasion and will be ready for publication in a short time. Mr. Fronberger states that the Baptist churches of 48 counties will be represented in the assembly.

The Panhandle Baptist Assembly has secured a section of land 20 miles southeast of Canyon where they will hold their annual encampment. They have engaged teams and men and are building a road down into the Canyons. It will connect with the highway leading into the city of Canyon.

About 250 lots have already been sold to churches and individuals and about as many more are for sale. These lots are being sold very rapidly and it is believed that in a short while all the available lots will be sold.

According to Rev. Fronberger there will be few houses this summer as the time is short. The people will use tents but by next year many houses will be seen on the grounds. It is planned to use a large tent for the meetings of the assembly this year. Plans have already been completed for a new $10,000 tabernacle for the 1923 meeting.

Mrs. M. A. Wilson is here visiting her son and daughter, R. I. Wilson, and Miss Rose Wilson. She will spend the summer months in Lubbock and expressed herself as well pleased with the country.

CHIEF CLINTON DIED AT ABILENE MARKING AN END TO A LONG AND FAMOUS CAREER AS CHIEF

(Frank Grimes, Abilene Reporter)
John J. Clinton, 74, for over thirty seven years chief of the police and fire departments of Abilene, noted Indian fighter, scout and Confederate soldier, died at eleven o'clock Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Armstrong, North Sixth and Osage streets.

He had been seriously ill for several days, following his return from Mineral Wells, where he stayed a few days for his health. His condition grew worse while he was at Mineral Wells, and he was brought back here. For the last four or five days his condition had been very grave, and for many hours preceding his death he was unconscious.

Chief Clinton had been in poor health for the last three or four years, following the death of his beloved wife, "Mother" Clinton. He clung bravely on, however, and was on active duty almost to the last. His indomitable spirit kept him going when his body was tired out, and finally he sank gradually into the slumber from which there is no waking on this earth.

A Varied Career.
One hesitates to take up the task of writing the history of the life of John J. Clinton. His career presented so many different angles, was so replete with thrilling incidents, that the writer is puzzled just where to begin.

Chief Clinton never talked of his personal history to but a few of his more intimate friends. He preferred rather to relate incidents of his frontier days. It was known, however, that he was born in Dublin, Ireland, on Aug. 12, 1848, while his parents were on a visit to that historic city. The family came to America while young Clinton was seven years old, and settled in Wisconsin, where his boyhood was spent. At fifteen, the lad was sent to St. John's Military Academy at Little Rock, Ark. The war between the states was then in full swing, and the excitement was too much for the lads in the academy. Shortly after his arrival there, young Clinton enlisted with a company of cadets in the Confederate cavalry. Not one was over 18 years old, but they saw some of the bloodiest fighting of the great conflict. Such battles as Dalton and Resaca gave the boys their first real taste of war.

Clinton was in the battle of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, which was fought after Lee surrendered. He was captured there by the Union soldiers. He loved best to tell his experience following his capture. The Union commander noticed the bare-foot, half-starved, ragged boy petting the commander's horse. This commander was Colonel A. L. Lockwood, after the war a respected citizen of San Antonio and steadfast friend of Clinton. The boy was offered a job caring for the colonel's horse, and readily accepted. About three days later, as he rode the beautiful naimal down the creek for water, the youthful Confederate felt the call for freedom, and headed the horse toward Texas. He rode for days end-on finally arriving at Shreveport. At that place he staked the colonel's horse out on the grass and lay down to sleep. When he awoke next morning, the horse was gone. However, it was only a momentary worry for the resourceful Clinton. He noticed a train load of government mules on a side track, promptly took charge of one, and struck out again for Texas. At Brenham a crowd of "drunks" noticing Clinton's Yankee uniform (it had been given to him by his captors) threatened to shoot him at once. However, they took charge of his mule, and the boy "hot-footed" it to San Antonio, a long journey indeed.

Meets His Colonel.
Arriving at San Antonio, young Clinton sought work. He was directed to the office of a U. S. Army official. The minute he stepped in the door, the officer in charge wheeled about and faced him. It was Colonel Lockwood.

"Where's my horse, young man?" he roared.
Young Clinton explained the situation so well, that Colonel Lockwood gave him a job immediately.
Thus at eighteen, the former Confederate found himself employed by the United States as a scout, with a territory as broad as the Plains. He remembered many incidents of his scouting days, and loved to tell of crossing through the country where Abilene now stands in 1867. There were no trees in sight then, and the country was fairly working alive with game. He recalled that the confederate were as tame as domestic cattle, never having seen a human being before. It was while a scout that he first met Buffalo Bill, and Colonel Cody never brought his circus to Abilene without hunting up Chief Clinton for a chat over old times.

It was while a scout for the government that most of Chief Clinton's Indian fights took place. He participated in the fight at the Water Hole, where he was wounded in the shoulder, and the little band of heroic men were saved only by the intervention of a thunderstorm. Chief Clinton always saw the operation of Divine Providence in that intervention. He saw it again at the famous Adobe Walls fight, when a cracking beam in one of the buildings woke up most of the men assembled there just in time to meet the onslaught of the Indians. He was in the Lone Tree Crossing fight. The Water Hole battle took place on his twentieth birthday, Aug. 12, 1868, near where Van Horn now stands. The Adobe Walls fight occurred in 1874 in what is now Hutchinson county, in the Panhandle.

Knew Many Indians.
Chief Clinton knew many Indians, and his store of Indian tales was inexhaustible. He delighted to tell how the Indian took the civilizing influences of the White Man, and he found a world of humor in the red-man's reactions to civilized life. After his scouting days were over, young Clinton drifted into Dodge City, Kansas, when that was a tough place indeed. He had not been there long before he got a place on the police force, and also as chief of the fire department. He became city marshal in a short time, and helped instill the terror of the law in the hearts of many a desperate character there.

One night the toughs framed up to get the marshal. The latter was playing pool and as the night was hot he had laid aside his white coat, his uniform as fire chief. A disturbance broke loose outside, and the young marshal started out to see what it was about.

"Give me your coat, I'll stop that," said one of his assistants. Donning the marshal's coat, the young man went outside, where his body was promptly riddled by a fusillade of shots intended for Clinton.

Next morning, the chief related, he got up early and took a shotgun down to a tank to kill some ducks for dinner, while his wife was preparing breakfast. On his way back to the house he stopped at the post-office and was leaning over inserting the key in the lock when someone yelled:

"Look out, marshal!"
Clinton, with shotgun in hand, whirled instantly just in time to look down the muzzle of a six-shooter. The shotgun and the pistol spoke with one voice, and the young marshal's assailant crumpled up, stone dead.

"I got the man who killed my friend," the chief remarked, grimly. He found it necessary a few times in defense of his own life and in upholding the law, to shoot, but he never spoke of any of those affairs with out regret. He was absolutely fearless, and many are the tales that are told of his coolness in the face of danger.

From Dodge City young Clinton came to Texas. He landed in Abilene the latter part of 1884 and was at once given a job on the police force. A short time thereafter he was made city marshal, or chief of police, by appointment, and late in 1885 he was regularly elected to that place, a position he filled continuously until the time of his death. He was the oldest chief of police and fire chief in the country, in point of age and years of service, so far as known.

Loved Abilene.
The history of John J. Clinton in Abilene is the history of the city that grew into a modern city. He watched the city grow from one of tents to one of modern buildings and he was as proud of it as a man could be.

"Abilene never was a bad place," he loved to say. "The boys would get a little wild in the early days, but they were just full of life and out for a good time."
He saw the city change from a frontier town, where circus day meant scores of arrests, into a modern city where circus day passed without a single disturbance of any kind.

One of his chief delights was to stand on the corner of South First and Chestnut streets to watch the years change cars. It was a practice he religiously observed for thirty-seven consecutive years, and he permitted nothing to keep him away from the spot as the old year gave place to the new.

He was a man with a keen sense of humor. He never told smutty yarns, but delighted to relate comical actions and reactions of the old days. He was an entertaining talker, when he would talk at all. Now and then he would talk freely to one person and sometimes two or three, but if there were more than four in the crowd, he was silent.

One custom the chief never allowed anything to break. That was his practice of attending funerals. No matter who the person was or had been, one person at least would be at the funeral, and that person was Chief Clinton.

He never made a display of his generosity, but it is safe to say that no citizen of Abilene ever gave more to charity in a quiet unassuming way than John J. Clinton.

The Sorghum Growers of Texas Are Organizing to Handle Their Crop In a More Systematic Manner

"The farmers of the State of Texas are not organizing to fight any class or business, but they do propose to attend to their own business and at the same time be in a position to see that no other class or business unjustly interfere with them," George H. Alford of Dallas, secretary-manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, told the meeting of grain sorghum growers at their first meeting in the City Hall Friday afternoon.

Mr. Alford stated that the indications are that the Texas Grain Sorghums Association will be completed within sixty days, and that from the spirit being shown by the growers of kaffir, milo, feterita and other grain sorghums in their co-operative work, the cotton and wheat growers' associations are going to be forced to set a very fast pace to keep it from passing them in remunerative results to their members.

E. K. Moterspaw, treasurer of the farm bureau told the farmers that they had organized the first great national organization that was able to finance its every undertaking and to conduct its affairs in a strictly business manner. He said that they had secured these results because they had employed the best expert talent in every phase of their work.

Frank Roy hillips of the West Texas State Normal's agricultural department, J. W. Jennings, agricultural agent of Lubbock county; James A. Bush, of Kress; J. S. Jordon, of McLean; E. L. Palmer, Porter Underwood, Rev. Mr. Perkins, of Amarillo; Dr. H. O. Loyd, of Yega, and other addressed the meeting on special subjects.

The following members of the organization committee of the Texas Grain Sorghums Association were announced at the meeting: E. L. Palmer, John R. McDaniels, D. P. McCallib, of Amarillo; H. B. Bates of Hale Center; George Franke, J. S. Jordon and Mr. Howard, of McLean; A. J. Embree, of Belton; George H. Alford of Dallas; E. H. McCracken of Pampa; Mr. Hall of Kress, and Mr. Williams of Amarillo.

D. P. McCallib, of Amarillo, Panhandle-Plains supervisor of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, acted as chairman of the meeting.

The representation at the meeting was cut down greatly on account of the rains over the northwest part of the state making the roads impassable for farmers to either come to Amarillo in automobiles or to reach the trains running into the city.

Mr. McCallib, who will become director of organization for the grain sorghums association, announced that the contracts of the association will be ready for distribution by the latter part of next week.

E. L. Palmer was elected chairman of the organization committee, John R. McDaniels was elected vice chairman and D. P. McCallib was elected secretary.

The organization committee will meet again Saturday afternoon, June 10, at 1 o'clock to arrange for employment of a number of organizers to be added to the present force.

F. F. Mays, well known Lubbock man, is home again after having spent several weeks in the Rio Grande Valley. Mr. Mays says Lubbock looks mighty good to him, and it is needless to add he received a hearty welcome on his return to Lubbock.

LUBBOCK BOY GRADUATES FROM CLARENDON COLLEGE

Mr. Roger Hearne of Lubbock, was among the graduates at Clarendon College this commencement. Mr. Hearne spent two years in school here. He established a reputation for being a good orator. He represented the College in three oratorical contests and made a most creditable showing. His oration on the "West" was one of the most thrilling narratives ever delivered from the College platform. His many college friends wish Roger the fullest success in life.

The above news item was sent us from the Clarendon College office, which is certainly appreciated, and received with pleasure.

It does us good to know that the people of Lubbock are giving their children an opportunity to become well educated, worthy men and women. It does our heart good to know that these young people are grasping every opportunity with the courage, strength, enthusiasm and confidence that only enlightened youth can know. It does Lubbock good to know that the various institutions of learning her people excel, and that the young men and women are leaving these institutions ready to meet life's most entangled problems.

While it has not been the good fortune of the writer to know Mr. Roger Hearne personally, we know the spirit that prompted him to reach the final goal successfully at the close of the term, and we know that characteristic that makes winners of these young men in all fields of endeavor, and appreciate their willingness to cope with every proposition that comes up, as has been demonstrated to us through associations with the young men of our local high school.

We will welcome with enthusiasm and applause Mr. Hearne's arrival in Lubbock.

LEVELAND TO HAVE ROUTE NEXT MONTH

Dr. Deering, of the Lubbock Post-office, announces that the Star Route to Leveland will be opened July 1st, and that bids for carriers are now being accepted, bidding to close the twentieth of this month.

It was thought several weeks ago that the plans for giving those people along the route a carrier had been completed, but through some technical error in the Headquarters office, over which the local men had no control, the bidding had to be done again.

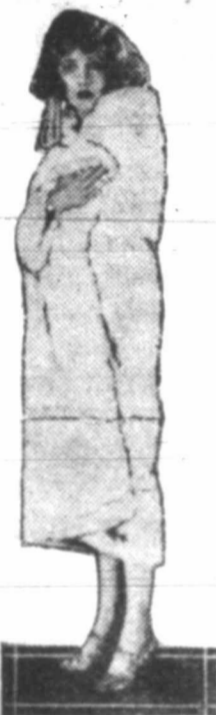

This route will be a great addition to the local postoffice, and a great assistance to the people of Leveland as they have been taking time about coming in after the mail.

Mrs. J. A. Bain, of Lawton, Oklahoma, and daughter, Mrs. R. C. Levy, of Wichita Falls, are here to be at the bedside of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Gerald V. Smith, who is at the Lubbock Sanitarium.

BUSINESS HOUSE CHANGED HANDS LAST WEEK

A deal was made last week whereby W. M. Crawford, of the Red Cross Pharmacy, became owner of the brick building on Broadway, occupied by the Geo. W. Foster Auto Company, owned by T. E. Duggan, of the Temple Trust Company.

The building in question is located in the heart of the business district of that street, and Mr. Crawford is certainly using good business judgment in buying that property at this time.

Geo. W. Foster will remain in the building, having a long time lease.

Messrs. Goodrich and Stahnsacker of Lubbock, are having a nice five room residence constructed on their lots south of the Lubbock high school. The Mexico Debt Being Discussed By N. Y. Bankers

New York, May 2.—Determined to reach an agreement if possible, but privately admitting that they were skeptical over the outcome, bankers headed by Thomas Lamont of J. P. Morgan and company, were called into conference today with Adolfo de la Huerta, Mexican secretary of the treasury, in an attempt to settle the long standing problem of the $700,000,000 Mexican debt on which no interest has been paid since 1914. While the conference is ostensibly a purely banking one, it also is regarded as having at least one indirect bearing on the question of export oil taxes. The political significance of the meeting is another phase. Senor de la Huerta already has been made the target of political attacks at home because of his activities in connection with the conference, and it is considered natural that he should have domestic politics in mind when the discussions are under way. It is generally believed in the financial district that a satisfactory solution of the debt problem would pave the way for the recognition of Mexico by the United States government.

The opening session was held behind closed doors. Newspaper men were excluded from not only the floor itself, but from the building which houses the New York State Chamber of Commerce, in whose rooms the conferences are being held.

PIONEER WOMAN OF FLOYDADA IS DEAD

Floydada, June 2.—Mrs. R. C. Andrews, pioneer citizen of Floydada and Floyd county, died Monday night at 10 o'clock at her home in Floydada at the age of eighty-five. Mrs. Andrews, with her husband, Dr. R. C. Andrews who died in 1917, were among the first citizens of Floydada and Dr. Andrews has been called "The Founder of Floydada," as it was largely through his efforts that a town was started where Floydada now stands. Mrs. Andrews came to the Plains and settled here thirty-one years ago.

Mrs. Andrews was born in Kentucky in 1837. Sixty-five years ago with her husband and family she moved to Texas and settled in Grayson county, then a pioneer settlement upon the extreme frontier of Texas. They lived in Grayson county for many years during which time the hardships of the Civil War and the following reconstruction days were endured. Later, they lived in Lamar county, and then thirty one years ago braving the dangers of what was then thought to be part of the "Great American Desert," they came to Floyd county and have lived here since. At that time families were very scarce on the Plains. The only means of transportation for hundreds of miles was the weekly or semi-monthly wagon lines which brought all of the necessary supplies for human subsistence from points two hundred miles distant.

LUBBOCK FARMER BITTEN BY RATTLER LAST WEEK

G. E. Martin, prominent Lubbock county farmer, residing eight miles northeast of Lubbock, received a dangerous rattlesnake bite last week, while plowing in his field.

The plow having torn into the den in which the reptile was concealed, it made a rush to get away, and Mr. Martin saw it go under a large clod in the plowed ground, made for the spot, as soon as his team was stopped, and while reaching down to get something from the ground with which to kill it, put his hand on the reptile, which had made its way back toward where his team was standing without his knowing about it, and the thumb of his left hand was ripped open by its poisonous fangs.

He was rushed to a local sanitarium, and under the care of a specialist, was soon out of danger. It is thought he will be able to resume his work within a few days.

TEXLINE BOY MEETS ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Clayton, N. M., May 30.—Preston Rogers, aged 18, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rogers, prominent family of Texline, Texas, was accidentally shot and instantly killed in the City Garage here Sunday evening at six o'clock.

Young Rogers and a party of friends had driven over from Texline, and reached Clayton in a hard rain. The young ladies of the party were left at a local hotel, and the young men went to a garage to put mud chains on their car. As Rogers stooped over a 32-calibre automatic pistol dropped from his pocket and was discharged on the concrete floor. The bullet entered his nose and came out at the top of his head. Death was instantaneous.

Rogers is a recent graduate of the Texline High school and popular shortstop on the Texline ball team. His father is a prosperous stockman, and large property owner of Texline.

J. J. Sharp was here Saturday from his fine farm seven miles east of town and said everything looked mighty good to him, even if the heavy rain Wednesday night did wash too much soil over about fif-

Agricultural Experiment Stations Are Handicapped In Their Work, Account of Their Insufficient Appropriations

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, A. & M. College, is receiving many requests from farmers for publications of its findings which the Station is unable to supply, according to an announcement by Dr. B. Youngblood, the Director who issues the following explanation: "Unfortunately, recent legislatures have not recognized the value Experiment Station bulletins for the farmers nor the demand of the farmers for the information they contain. Notwithstanding, the demand from farmers for this information is increasing the appropriations for publications have been actually reduced from amounts that were already too small. The appropriation for these publications is, for this year and next, only $5,000 per annum.

Under the present business policy of the State, the funds appropriated for printing these bulletins are expended through the Board of Control. The Experiment Station conducts the research, determines the facts, and submits bulletin manuscripts for publication. The printing contracts, etc., are handled by the Board of Control. Under this arrangement, the average bulletin costs about 2c a copy. Books from private publishing concerns of no greater volume or value sell for many times this figure. Owing to the franking privilege granted to experiment stations by the Federal Government through which station publications are mailed without postage expense and the nominal cost of the publication, as mentioned herein, the people are enabled to receive experiment station information at a very insignificant outlay in public funds, with the editions.

tion publications, if the necessary $25,000 could be appropriated for the purpose as against one fifth of that sum under the present inadequate appropriation. It is not extravagant to suggest that if the 480,000 farmers of Texas could receive all of the information developed at their Experiment Station which is maintained largely by tax money, they could benefit more in one season than the whole enterprise would cost in a lifetime. It should be noted, however, that fewer than 50,000 farmers have opportunity to use these bulletins.

"The money necessary to carry on agricultural research in Texas in an adequate manner and to supply the people with the information resulting from such research promptly and in convenient, understandable form, is so small compared with the value of the work that it means to be about time for the farmers to request their legislators to give the matter attention.

"Since August 1920, the Station has published seven circulars and nineteen bulletins, each on an important subject and presenting new information which the farmers actually need to know. These publications were printed in limited editions because there was not enough money to pay for large editions and the effort has been made to distribute the copies printed during the period now are out of print and in the same time twenty-four other publications were exhausted. During the past year-and-a-half thirty-eight publications were issued and in the same time thirty-four were exhausted. This means that valuable information less than two years old on thirty-four important farm subjects cannot now be supplied the farmers who need the information and these vain help the wheat considerably. It is beginning to head out, and harvest is not far away.

The grain men are wide apart as to the amount of wheat to be harvested in Hale county this year. Ray C. Ayers, of Ayers-DeLoach, thinks it will be 500,000 bushels, or about one-third that of last year. L. F. Cobb does not think it will be anywhere so large as one-third. However, there is going to be considerable wheat harvested, and this will run from nothing to thirty-five bushels to the acre. Those who got their wheat in right and at the proper time will make good yields, and those who did not will make nothing. There will likely be considerable spring wheat, if the showers continue.—Plainview News.

We believe that the lands of Hockley and Cochran counties should and can be put under cultivation within a very short time if a railroad was extended West from Lubbock at least to the State line:

$365 IN PRIZES FOR BEST RHYMES

A new contest is just being started which will interest everyone who reads this paper. Anyone can enter this Contest—anyone can win! All it is necessary to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back).

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

27 CASH PRIZES

For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50, and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 23 prizes of $5 each for the next 23 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand. Here's a 4-line rhyme as an example:

Biscuits, muffins, pie or cake,
With Dr. Price's Powder bake.
The Price's Co., guarantee
No alum in the cans to be.

As Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder sells for only 25 cents a 12 oz. can, some rhymes could play up the great economy of this pure and wholesome baking powder.

All rhymes must be received by July 1, 1922. Only words appearing on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) may be used. These words may be used as often as desired, but no other words will be allowed. If you haven't a can of Dr. Price's, you can see one free at almost any grocery. It is not a requirement that you purchase a can in order to be eligible in this Contest.

Anyone may enter the Contest, but only one rhyme from each person will be considered. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Write plainly on only one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to give your name and address. Send your rhyme before July 1st to Price Baking Powder Factory, 3003 Independence Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Mexican Outbreak Is Feared at Nuevo Laredo

San Antonio, June 1.—Confirmation of reports that United States troops were placed on the international bridge at Laredo Wednesday night following reports of a rumored impending attack by rebel forces on Nuevo Laredo was given here today by military authorities at headquarters of the Eighth Corps area. The guard was strengthened, they said, after hearing reports of rebel bands in the vicinity of Nuevo Laredo.

The action was taken upon the initiative of the Fort McIntosh officers and a report of the action was sent here.

Reports from the border today were that trouble is still expected and that several revolutionary generals who have been living in the United States as refugees are gathering at points along the border.

Unconfirmed reports that the garrison at Saltillo had revolted were also received. Col. Luis Maltoz who fled from Matamoros several days ago has sacked the towns of Reynosa and Meir and took over both garrisons to his side, reports say.

Rev. Lewis, pastor of the Lubbock Presbyterian church, left Friday for Somerville, Texas, where he will perform a wedding ceremony for friends of the days when he first started in his work. He will be away from Lubbock about ten days, and it is needless to say his congregation are impatiently waiting the expiration of that time.

Raising this money at this rate reminds us of a joke someone told on a waiter in a busy town. After the customer had waited forty minutes for a glass of ice water with which to drench down the dinner he had just eaten, noticing the slow movements of the waiter, called out: "Hey, sonny, why don't you go down to the beach and see the turtles whiz by."

The speed we are making on this list is not in keeping with Lubbock's way of doing things. Let's go.

DOES THE NAME KEEP THE PRAIRIE DOGS OFF TABLES?

The writer is the owner of a very attractive young prairie dog, which was captured last week when the young animal became excited at the approach of the automobile in which we were riding, and ran away from its home, making its capture only a matter of a little running.

The dog is just as cute a pet as anyone could desire, but is proving very hard to tame, owing to the fact that it is a little more than half grown.

While we have created no appetite for the dog meat, we have noticed the habits of this one enough to believe they eat everything a squirrel does, and had the originator of their names christened them "Prairie Squirrels" other than "Prairie Dogs" the demand for their meat for food would far exceed the annual growth, and they would be more scarce than fox squirrels are at this time.

Does the name make a difference?

277,000 POUNDS OF WOOL ARE SOLD

San Angelo, Texas, May 27.—Two hundred and seventy-seven thousand pounds of long, twelve-month wool and 125,000 pounds of short, eight-month fall wool was sold here early in the week by the Wool Growers' Central Storage Company for seventy-seven sheepmen in Tom Green, Sutton, Schleicher, Crockett, Sterling, Pecos and Irion Counties.

Because bidders at the sale, the first in Texas this season, are still buying wool in this section, the company would not make public the prices, but said they were much higher than last year. It is generally understood that prices were double or more than last year's averages of 18c to 20c a pound for long wool and 22c a pound for the short fleeces.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING, SAYS J. T. JOHNSON

John T. Johnson of the Western Windmill Company, has returned from a trip to the Fairbanks-Morse plant at Beloit, Wisconsin. He reports conditions rapidly improving generally throughout the portion of the North that he visited and especially at the big engine works. The plant was nearly shut down during the winter but is now employing 2,500 men. The Gray iron foundry, said to be one of the largest in the world, is now operating at one-third of its capacity and the officials of the company are optimistic of improving conditions, both locally and in export trade. In the corn-belt of Illinois, the corn was barely showing, while in Kansas it was up several inches, rain and cold weather holding it back, Mr. Johnson said.—Sweetwater Reporter.

While there he will visit with his mother and sister.

IT'S OVER! —AND IT AIN'T

We have just closed one of our most successful sales. The bankrupt stock has been satisfactorily cleaned out. And while we are taking this means of telling the people of the South Plains how thankful we are for their liberal patronage during our extra effort, we also want to tell you about one of the big things this bankrupt sale learned us and the result it will have on our sales policy hereafter.

We have been thoroughly convinced that enough volume of business can be secured by keeping the prices down as low as possible to really create a sensation in the mercantile business in Lubbock. We learned that people know values. As a result we are now publishing our pledge to the people of the South Plains.

"WE'RE AFTER VOLUME BUSINESS"
And our prices will be strictly in accord with this idea. We promise to you that with one of the largest, newest and most complete stocks of Dry Goods ever assembled in West Texas to select from, you can come here, compare our price and be satisfied that The Leader is the cheapest place to buy good, high quality, standard merchandise at all times.

THE SALE IS OFF BUT THE PRICES ARE ON!

New goods will be sold to you at astonishingly low margins of profit. Our various departments are being filled as fast as shipments can be made. Come to the Leader and let us show you that the Big Bankrupt Sale taught us something that will bring about one of the biggest changes in merchandising ever made in West Texas.

MITCHELL COUNTY OIL ACTIVITY IS INCREASING

Colorado, Texas, May 29.—All hotels and rooming houses here are turning guests away. The influx of oil operators, scouts and brokers during the last week is the largest since the discovery of oil west of town.

The Petroleum Operators' Association and Spaulding's Zilpa Morrison No. 1 is drilling at 2,316 feet. The cap rock is expected to be found in less than fifty feet more of drilling. The well is about one mile west of the Morrison No. 2, which has been producing since February. The Western Petroleum Company's Esta-Brennan No. 1 is setting 12 1-2 inch casing at 550 feet.

The Underwriter's Producing and Refining Company's T. & F. No. 2 is setting ten-inch casing at 500 feet. The Arkansas Natural Gas Company and Texas Company, the Gulf and other of the major companies and independents have scouts watching the drilling activities in Mitchell County.

Now that it is proposed to appoint a government commission to investigate the coal strike, its chances for long duration are bright.—Wall Street Journal.

JIM T. DOUGLASS WITH BRIGGS & DENMAN AGENCY

Jim T. Douglass, formerly of the Penland Cigar Company, but more recently of the Arkansas Cigar Company, of Little Rock, Arkansas, is back at Lubbock again, better "sold" on the Plains than ever before, and declares it his intention to remain in the opinion that there is no place so attractive as Lubbock.

He is now with the Briggs &

Denman Insurance Agency doing general insurance work, at which job we are sure he will "make good" as he has done on all occasions where energy and gray matter are in demand.

Miss Maude Waldrop, of the Lubbock Telephone Exchange, is in a local sanitarium, where she underwent an operation Thursday of last week. Her many friends are anxious for her absolute recovery to be announced.

HUBBERS SWATTED BY SWATTERS FRIDAY

The Sweetwater Swatters beat out the Hubbers at Sweetwater Friday in a closely contested affair, 9 to 4, lowering the percentage of the Hubbers to within one game of dropping to third place in the percentage column. Fleharty for the home team was right and the Hubbers could not get to his delivery, he allowing only five hits. Swenson's wildness and the five errors stacked up against them, which were costly, coupled with the airtight pitching of Fleharty, were responsible for the heavy lead gained by the swatters in the early innings, which could not be overcome. Swenson was relieved in the fourth by Green, who stopped the slaughter. Allen, hitting two out of four trips up featured for the Hubbers. The score:

Swatters there Saturday 4 to 0. It was a pitchers battle from beginning to end, but the excellent pitching of Woodriddle could not be met by the Swatters, he allowing only three hits, while eight were gotten off Richburg, and again they were shut out. The contest ran for nine innings with neither team able to scratch a run, but in the tenth by two hits and three costly errors on the part of the Swatters, the Hubbers scored four. Sled Allen singled and reached second when Bupp dropped a throw on an attempted sacrifice. Speegle whiffed, Gober hit to right, Shaw fumbling Frierson's throw, scoring Allen. Earnshaw, hitting for King, rolled to Pipkin, who erred trying to force Woodriddle at the plate, both Woodriddle and Gober scoring. Earnshaw then scored on a fielders choice. The hitting of Allen was costly to the Swatters, he getting three out of four trips.

HUBBERS SHUT OUT SWATTERS SATURDAY

In one of the fastest and most exciting games of the season, the Hubbers shut out the Sweetwater Swatters Saturday.

SWEETWATER AGAIN BLANKED BY HUBBERS

The Hubbers again shut out the Sweetwater Swatters at Abilene, the game being transferred there.

for Sunday's game, by 3 to 0. Cantrell for the Hubbers, allowed only eight hits, scattering about one to the inning, which made them ineffective. Several times he allowed men on second and third with only one down, but tightened up to such an extent in these pitches that they were unable to score. The game was snappy from beginning to end, and although Word threw good baseball, he was loose in the pitches, and allowed his hits to be bunched. The hitting of King and Allen featured for the pole artists of the Hubbers. The score:

JOHN KING, KING OF SWATS OF WEST TEXAS LEAGUE

John King, the "Pop Wagon" of the Hubbers is leading the West Texas League hitting artists by a large majority of points, Anbeier, of Amarillo, being the closest man with 418, King holding his own at 455, as shown by a report recently sent out by the League statistician. King has toed the platter on 110 occasions, scoring 34 runs and binged out an even 50 safeties.

Forty huskies of the League are hitting above the .300 average, among others being Woodriddle, hitting .381, Gober .323, and Langford .311, all being of the Hubber staff.

HUBBERS BLOWN UP BY NITROS

The Hubbers lost the third of the three-game series at Ranger Thursday, 5 to 3. Green was pounded from the mound in the second, replaced by Woodriddle, who allowed only one run further, although he allowed them four free passes, but whiffed out three. Only four hits were gotten off Roberts, two of which go to Woodriddle, he pounding out two out of four trips up. The game was called in the last of the seventh so the Hubbers could catch the train to Sweetwater, where they opened Friday. The score:

AMARILLO SANDSTORM HAS BLOWN OVER FOR THE YEAR

Friday, Paris High took the last of the three game series from the Golden Sandstorms of Amarillo Friday by 5 to 2. Paris took the first game of the series, Amarillo the second, and Paris nosed out in the third, taking the State championship, these two teams being the last combatants for the title. In Friday's game, Paris scored one each in the first and third, but Amarillo came back in the fifth and tied the count. Then again in the eighth, Paris came back for three runs, which the Sandies were unable to match.

IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO PLANT

The JONES ACALA

Probably 90 percent of the cotton from which our seed grew was planted after the first week in June last year. Read what our growers say:

"I was through gathering four months from the day I started planting."—J. K. Green, Paducah, Texas.

"I finished planting the JONES ACALA June 18th. November 20th I had gathered my crop of 43 bales off 85 acres, with practically no rain."—W. T. Fonville, Paducah, Texas.

"It is the EARLIEST and GREATEST DROUTH-RESISTER I ever saw."—L. E. White, Paducah, Texas.

December and January cotton is now worth above 20 cents. You can make no mistake this time in planting a late crop of the Jones Acala. Price $2.00 per bushel.

D. D. McLarry was here Saturday, from his home eight miles northwest of Lubbock. He looked about as happy as it is possible for a human being to do, and explained it all by answering our question about how the rain and hail struck him, with "Plenty of rain and no hail."

POSITION WANTED

State University Graduate in Business Training, bookkeeping, insurance, filing, wants part-time job. Experienced office worker. For interview, address P., care Avalanche.

Red Walker was on the streets again Saturday from his fine farm eight miles northeast of town. He is a live wire, possessing that optimistic appearance that characterizes our people, and is taking an active part in the development of Lubbock county as a leading farming section.

We desire to thank all who so generously assisted us in the late illness of our father.
The Lowrey Family

J. C. Turner was here Saturday from his fine place in the northeast corner of Lubbock county. After noticing he was getting around like a sixteen year old boy, we ventured to learn the reason, and found that he had been missed by the hail Thursday night, and his crop looks fine and dandy. "If a good growing crop at this time of the year won't enlighten one nothing will," he exclaimed.

IN MILADY'S REALM

BY MRS. CURTIS A. KEEN

Residence 1119 Fourteenth St.

A thought for today: "Be not amazed at life. 'Tis still the mode of God with His elect. Their hopes exactly to fulfill. In times and ways they least expect." —Dean Atford

The silent sympathy of love, to me is dearer than great praise. —Whittier.

Twentieth Century Business Meet
A call meeting of the Twentieth Century Club was held on Saturday afternoon at two thirty o'clock at the Court House. The primary purpose of the meeting was the discussion of the Children's Moving Picture Day as outlined by Mr. Rowley of the R & R theater. The plan has been formulated whereby the children under five will be admitted free, and those children only. The Twentieth Century have a committee appointed of two ladies to attend each picture and their judgment as to the type of pictures shown at this time will govern the children's series. Mr. Rowley stated that the plan was not a financial one as far as he was concerned, but a means thru which the children might have the best in pictures that they can understand and enjoy—and be given the same opportunities that the city children have by the censorship of moving pictures which results in pictures of the right kind that train the child's mind in the right way.

City Federation Holds Regular Meet
Through an oversight the announcement of the Civic League meeting was omitted in the last issue, which fact we regret, but in spite of this a good attendance was reported at the regular meeting at the courthouse on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

A good deal of business was transacted and plans made for future work the continuance of the clean-up campaign. Mayor Spencer addressed the meeting and urged the captains of the Clean-up Campaign to continue their good work, at the same time pledging his support and co-operation in the work.

Lubbock has done a great deal so far in the Campaign, but it behooves each one of us to bear in mind that we want Lubbock to be a clean city, not for a few short weeks but all the year around.

It was decided that a playground director should not be engaged this season, on account of so many demands being made on the various clubs and organizations financially. The City Federation meet regularly the first Saturday in each month and the work of the federation is being felt in various fields of civic development.

Mrs. Neil Wright Entertains
On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Neil Wright entertained with a delightful bridge party, in compliment to Mrs. Lynn Mullins, of Temple, who is her guest.

Twenty-four guests enjoyed a pleasant afternoon: Mesdames Weaver, Rix, Wilson, Posey, Meador, Johnson, Beal, Oliver, Griffin, Martin, Vickers, Earnest Conley, Elmer Conley, Claud Hurlbut, O. L. Slaton, Mrs. Bennett of Austin, Deanna Friend, Duggan, Miss Delia Wilkinson, Miss Mary Meador, Mrs. J. T. Krueger, Mrs. Klett.

After the game a delicious salad course, followed by an ice course was served, with dainty little favors of tissue umbrellas topping the ice. The guests dispersed about five thirty.

Mrs. Sam Cooper will be hostess to the auction Bridge Club tomorrow afternoon.

1916 Needle Club
The 1916 Needle Club will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Delia Wilkinson's with Mrs. Friend as joint hostess.

Methodist Church
The Sunday School attendance was a little below the high mark reached the previous Sunday, but such interest was shown, and it looks like the efforts of the Superintendent and pastor are making to put the attendance mark above the eight hundred mark will meet with success before long.

Morning services were well attended, and Rev. Ferguson preached another great sermon. The Revival meeting to be held by this church beginning the ninth of July is being given much thought and consideration of the pastor and his congregation, and every meeting is held with the view of strengthening the sentiment of the congregation that the meeting will be a great religious success from the very beginning.

Prayer meeting attendance has increased considerably within the past three weeks by concerted efforts of the pastor, Sunday School leaders, and other church men, a very attractive and appealing pledge card having been presented the entire church membership, which is designed to make them more thoughtful of their duties in that work.

Baptist Church
Sunday School members seem to have been absorbed by the spirit of June, as there were evidently more off to take a vacation than attendants, as the usual number was missed a little.

The congregation was pleased to know that Rev. W. A. Bowen was able to fill his pulpit at the morning hour, as a result a large crowd assembled to hear his sermon, "Why Paul Forsook Everything for Christ" the text being taken from 1 Timothy, 1:18.

No services were held at the evening hour on account of the rain.

Church of Christ
Attendance and interest at Sunday School fine. In Brother Smith's absence, who has been holding a meeting at Amarillo, Brother P. F. Brown spoke to us at the morning hour, and brother Herbert Hooker at the evening hour.

The attendance and interest in all these services is very encouraging.

Cumberland Presbyterian Church
Morning services were well attended Sunday, with a very interesting sermon by Rev. J. F. Baker. The report of the Sunday School is very favorable, a little figuring will show their attendance very high. The report is as follows: 95 present, 29 absent, 12 daily bible readers.

The people of our church have been working consistently and earnestly throughout the past year, and

Say Mr. Cotton Farmer---

We want you to know that we are writing HAIL INSURANCE and that we represent a company that makes the lowest rates, and puts its policies in full effect earlier than any company operating on the Plains. Our rate is $12 cash and $14 note (without interest) for each $100 insurance. Two-thirds of loss paid up to June 16th and in full force from June 16th to Oct 1st. As to our service and fairness in adjustments; J. M. Marcey, C. E. Bradshaw and T. L. Morris who were insured in our company had hail June 2nd and adjustment made June 3. 100 percent loss, 100 percent adjustments, ASK THEM. If you want insurance attend to it at once as delay might mean your loss. Better be safe than sorry.

DO YOU KNOW?

That the PLANTERS AND MERCHANTS MILLS are building the first cotton mill in Texas to make Gingham, AT NEW BRAUNFELS, TEXAS?

That with cotton mills paying 20 cents a pound for cotton, gingham cloth sells for at least 12 1-2 cents a yard at the mill?

That one pound of cotton makes 6 1-2 yards of gingham cloth? That cotton when made into gingham sells at the mill for over 81 cents per pound?

That cotton manufacturers have made greater profits than cotton planters?

WHY NOT SHARE IN THESE PROFITS? That many cotton mills have paid for themselves the first few years of operation?

That only 1 per cent of the cotton grown in Texas is manufactured here?

That more cotton mills in Texas means better prices for cotton? That the Textile industry is one of the oldest and most reliable industries paying regular dividends?

That there are Texas cotton mills earning today as much or more than in 1920?

That there are single mills in the North as large as all the mills in Texas combined?

YOU KNOW—

You don't send your cotton North to have it ginned, then why send it North to be made into cloth?

That it is costly to ship your cotton North and to foreign countries to have it manufactured into cloth and then buy it back in the "SOUTH" by the yard?

You are well pleased if you farm or business pays you 10 to 15 percent each year. Many cotton mills pay larger returns.

WE ARE OFFERING YOU THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY TO INVEST IN A COTTON MILL.
