VOLUME XXIII, No. 37

LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY TEXAS, TUESDAY, JULY 4, 1922

PUBLISHED TWICE A WEEK

THE GIRL SCOUTS TO MEET AT THE METHODIST CHURCH NEXT WED.

INSTRUCTION BOOKS RECEIVED—MUCH WORK WILL BE STARTED INTO THAT WILL CREATE INTEREST

CURTIS A. KEEN WILL DIRECT DRILL WORK

Mothers Are Especially Invited to Attend in Order That They May Fully Appreciate the Advantages of the Organization—Basket Lunch Will Be Spread at Noon.

And still Lubbock goes forward! The development of the city is everywhere evident, and the various organizations are adding their lot to the great work. The newest organization in the city at this time is the Girl Scouts organization, headed by Mesdames Percy Spencer and Fred Boerner. Books of instruction, guides, etc., have been received and the work will progress more rapidly within the next few weeks, as the entire membership is highly elated over the work, and much enthusiasm is being shown by the members.

The first big meeting of the Scouts, where full arrangements have been made for an all day program, will be held at the Methodist Church, Wednesday. The girls are especially urged to have their mothers attend this meeting, as the program is arranged to make the day one of much entertainment for them.

The meeting opens at nine o'clock in the morning. The first number on the program will be the drill period, directed by Curtis A. Keen, of the Plains Agricultural Journal, whose training as an army officer equips him well for the execution of that work. The drill will last thirty minutes.

The Scouts will take basket lunch with them, which will be spread in the Church dining room at noon. At ten o'clock in the morning, Miss Marsh, county home demonstration agent, will give a demonstration on how to prepare and serve a meal, which will be interesting and instructive throughout.

While the Girl Scouts organization in Lubbock is new, and the possibilities of its work somewhat limited, owing to the fact that the plan on which the organization was founded is not in any way adapted to the plains country, we are confident that under the directions of Mesdames Spencer and Boerner, much good will be accomplished, and it is with regret that we learn of the tendency of some of the parents to discourage their daughters in the work. We believe there is not a girl in Lubbock who comes under the age limit, whose membership and activities in the Scouts organization will not help greatly.

Regardless of your attitude toward the work at this time we are in hopes that if you have a daughter within the Scouts age, you are sufficiently interested in the welfare of that daughter to make a thorough investigation of the Scouts work, and suggest that you attend the Wednesday program, which will acquaint you with what the organization stands for. Mesdames Spencer and Boerner would be glad to have you telephone them before the meeting, and make arrangements to attend whether your daughter is a member at this time or not.

Quality not quantity is being looked upon as the standard for membership in the organization, and Mrs. Boerner, in discussing the subject, declared that the intentions of the organization heads to have the most alert and capable members enrolled possible, which will make for efficiency in all scout work.

We heartily approve of the organization of Girl Scouts in Lubbock, and look with pride upon the possibilities of great achievements in character development.

GREEN MANURING ANCIENT MEANS OF IMPROVING SOIL

Green manuring—plowing under green crops—as a means of soil improvement, although it has been emphasized in recent years, can hardly be called a new discovery, says the United States Department of Agriculture. It is really one of the oldest methods. Crops for this purpose were used by the ancients, the Romans using lupines, which were sown in September and turned under in May for the benefit of the following crop.

In Germany the use of lupines began in the middle of the nineteenth century and has proved an important factor in the reclaiming of the sandy lands of parts of Prussia. In England legumes and other plants are commonly used; in India and Japan the farmers gather green plants of many kinds, sometimes even cutting twigs from the trees and carrying them to the rice fields.

In the United States the use of special green-manure crops is much more general in the South than in the North. Under irrigation they play an important part in orchard culture in the West, but are under dry-farming conditions.

Fred Hurlbut of Plainview, visited his brother, Clude Hurlbut, here Sunday. Mr. Hurlbut reports lots of rain at Plainview, and that business conditions were good.

Do your part to lift the whole race a notch in the scale of humanity; then your heaven will take care of itself.

MAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT IMPROVES

Clovis, N. M., June 29.—Funeral services for Arthur Paxton, the seven-year-old boy who met his death Sunday morning when the Ford racer he was in went in the ditch and threw him over the wind-shield, were held here yesterday.

The boy was the only child. The father, who is thirty years of age, was driving the car at the time of the accident. He stated that he was attempting to pass two boys on a horseback. Two blowouts on the right side of the car caused the racer to be pitched into the ditch, he thinks. The wind-shield was shattered and the father thinks the boy's body was thrown against it. Mr. Paxton is suffering from a broken arm. He received slight head wounds, but they have practically healed.

2000 ACRES OF WHEAT RUINED BY A STORM

Amarillo, June 29.—Windmills, granaries, outhouses and barns were torn to splinters and damage to growing crops resulted Tuesday afternoon from a severe storm, assuming proportions of a cyclone, that swept a section of the Panhandle about seven miles northeast of Pampa.

The storm was about five miles wide and moved northeastward. Heavy hail practically wiped out 2,000 acres of wheat about three and a half miles southeast of Pampa. Other damage from the hail and high wind was reported.

LORENZO WHEAT WILL RUN OVER 30 BUSHELS

Lorenzo, Texas, June 27.—Never before in this country's history have there been more promising crops for the time of the year. Wheat is ready to harvest and will yield from 30 to 40 bushels per acre. Feed crops are fine. Cotton is all worked out in splendid shape, there being 50,000 acres of it growing in the Lorenzo trade district. Stock water is plentiful. The farmers will appreciate another rain so they may plant stubble land.

LOWER PRICES FOR VARIOUS HIGHWAY MATERIALS IS SAID

A considerably lower level of prices for the various items entering into highway construction is reported by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. This conclusion is based on the following prices by successful bidders on Federal-aid roads during April and are averaged for the whole of the United States. Some of the figures cover a large volume of work well distributed over the country, while others are based either on small volumes or scattering reports.

The figures which cover the cost in place are as follows: Earth excavation, common, 33 cents a cubic yard; rock excavation, $1.26 a cubic yard; gravel, $1.44 a cubic yard; crushed stone, $3.42 a cubic yard; structural concrete of various classes ranges from $14 to $21.20 a cubic yard. For surfacing the following are the prices by the square yard: Gravel, 40 cents; surface-treated macadam, 50 cents; bituminous macadam, $1.06; bituminous concrete $1.97; plain cement concrete, $2.17; reinforced cement concrete, $2.54; and brick, $3.70. Recycled steel has cost $0.053 a pound and structural steel $0.059 a pound. Cement has been furnished to contractors by the following States at the prices given by the barrel: New York, $1.73; Wisconsin, $1.94; and Arkansas, $2.70.

MANUFACTURERS NOW USING APPLES TO THE LAST SEED

The thoroughness with which the apple is now worked over and utilized by some manufacturers makes it comparable with the packing-house pig that leaves only a futile squeal. The apple is not transformed into such a variety of products as the pig, but are useful, and when the last of the series has been made hardly a smell is left.

In many of the apple-using factories the apples are first pressed to produce cider, which may be sold as such or may be manufactured into vinegar. After thorough pressing the pomace is treated with hot water to remove the pectin, which, after purification, is sold in either liquid or solid form to manufacturers of jellies and similar products and to housewives. The much-wasted and squeezed residue is dried, ground, and sold as cattle feed.

Leroy A. Howard, formerly associated with A. B. Conley Jr. Store, has returned from Lebanon, Tenn. Mr. Howard has been attending school while away.

REMAINS OF DEAD BRAKEMAN SHIPPED SAT.

The remains of Jerry Redden, Santa Fe brakeman, who was killed at Roundup, a station eighteen miles northwest of Lubbock, in a fight with two hoboes, who the brakeman, assisted by Conductor Jim Vaughn, attempted to put off their train, were shipped to Paris, Tennessee, Saturday morning, accompanied by a Santa Fe representative, T. C. McCall of Slaton.

Decoquet has only two relatives so far as can be learned by railroad officials, who have been making a thorough search for anyone interested in the body, a sister of Paris, Tennessee, and a brother of Herrin, Illinois, the remains having been consigned to the sister.

Mr. Redden was about thirty years of age, and has many friends along the line, who were grieved to hear of the killing, which is paralleled only by the murder of Night Operator Craft in the depot here last year.

BODY OF WAR BRIDE DEAD 2 YEARS, BE SENT TO FRANCE

Dallas.—The dying request of a pretty French war bride that her body be returned to her native country for burial will be carried out shortly, after a delay of almost two years.

The body has been lying in the morgue of a local undertaking company awaiting the time when the bereaved husband might earn sufficient funds to return the body.

The French maiden married an American Army officer in 1918, shortly after Paris had been saved from the Germans. She accompanied her husband to Dallas and died shortly after coming here.

Dallas officials were advised Tuesday that the husband has made request for a permit to return the young woman's body to France.

NEWTON AND SCOTT OFF ON FISHING TRIP THURS.

Roche Newton and G. W. Scott left Thursday for Justiceburg, where they will spend several days fishing. Those fellows have been mighty busy the past several months and the trip is a greatly deserved one, they having been active in the development of their own business, alongside a lot of extra work which was done for civic improvement.

Roche is such an energetic fellow we are sure several plumbing jobs will be sold before his return, which will necessitate much more work, of which he is very willing and able to do.

VIOLATORS OF FEDERAL BIRD LAWS CONVICTED AND FINED

Among the convictions obtained by the United States Department of Agriculture during May for violation of the Migration-Bird Treaty Act were 1 in Illinois, involving the killing of a gull, fined $25 and cost; 1 in Virginia, involving the sale of a heron, fine $25; 2 in Kentucky, involving the hunting of ducks from a motor boat, fine $25 each and costs; 2 in Florida, involving the possession of ducks in close season, $25 each; 2 in Oregon, involving the hunting of ducks after sunset, fine $25 each; 1 in Oregon, involving the killing of a band-tailed pigeon, fine $25; 2 in Arkansas, involving the sale of ducks, $20 each; 1 in Florida, involving the killing of ducks in close season, fine $50; 1 in Virginia, involving the sale of ducks, fine $100; and 1 in Louisiana, involving the sale of ducks, fine $100.

Political Question Caused Verbal Combat to Be Waged at Kiwanis Club Luncheon at Cova Thursday

One of the most enthusiastically contested word battles that has ever been fought by local politicians took place at the Cova Hotel Thursday, when Judge E. L. Klett, for the socialists, and Mayor Percy Spencer, for the bolshheviks, filled the room with "hot-dog" oratory. Judge Klett consuming more than twenty minutes in an attempt to socialize the entire audience, while Percy Spencer got back at him with a few facts on the fundamentals of Bolshevism.

Two tickets had been made out, designating Socialist and Bolshhevik, with a list of officers to be elected on this occasion by the club.

"Kinch" Carter, nominee for president on the Socialist ticket, was asked to give a two-minute talk on the necessity of electing a Bolshhevik president, which he did in a very able manner, and when Clark Mullican, nominee for the president on the Bolshhevik ticket was called upon for a two-minute talk on the propriety of electing a Socialist, he made the response in his usual snappy way, but refused to electioneer one bit for Kinch Carter, declaring it his desire to see some kind of a Bolshhevik given the place to keep down the influence of the Socialists.

An accurate account of the votes proved the Bolshhevik ticket winners, and they immediately were ushered into the responsibility of their respective offices.

Those elected are as follows: Clark M. Mullican, president; W. C. Rylander, vice president; Louis F. Moore, secretary; L. C. Ellis, treasurer; G. V. Smith, district trustee; directors: Kinch Carter, Dr. J. T. Krueger, Geo. W. Foster, Raleigh Martin, R. B. Hutchinson, Smy-

SPECIAL SESSION DISTRICT COURT CALLED IN HOCKLEY

Judge W. R. Spencer and Gordon B. McGuire, district attorney, left Saturday morning for Leveland, the county site of Hockley county, for the purpose of calling a special session of District Court, to investigate the killing of Jerry Redden and assault on Conductor Vaughn, employees of the Santa Fe Railway, in the northeast part of Hockley county, last Thursday evening.

As the next term of District court, that is the regular term for Hockley county, will not convene until October, it was thought by the court, that the situation demanded immediate attention, hence the calling of the special session. Judge Spencer stated when the Grand Jury returned the indictments against the alleged defendants, J. Y. Madden and Will Madden, who were arrested shortly after the fracas and are now in the Lubbock county jail, the cases would be immediately transferred to Lubbock county, where the regular summer term of District court is now in session, and in all probability the cases will be set for trial the early part of this week.

DAWSON MAN SAYS PLAINS COUNTRY GREAT PRODUCER

G. T. Grice, one of Lubbock County's big farmer-dairymen, accompanied by C. P. Clarke, of Dawson, Navarro County, Texas, called on the Avalanche force Saturday, and Mr. Clarke gave a mighty interesting account of conditions in his country.

He is a pioneer of Dawson, but had many nice things to say about the plains section. "While we have a good country, and can raise a lot of fine crops, we admit the plains section is hard to beat, and don't want to make any comparisons of the two sections as producers," he said.

We appreciate our farmer friends bringing their visitors in to see us, and are always glad to extend to them a hearty welcome to make Lubbock county their home.

HURRICANE SERVICE READY TO FLASH PROMPT WARNINGS

"Be alert and ready to distribute warnings" is the gist of the instructions sent by the Weather Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture, to all its South Atlantic and Gulf coast stations in preparation for the hurricane season, which is about to begin. Although August, September and October are the critical times, hurricanes are a menace to shipping in these waters from June to November. The bureau expects every effort to prevent destruction to life and property at sea and ashore by broadcasting warnings of the approaching storm.

FORTY AMERICANS HELD BY BANDITS

Washington, June 27.—The forty American employees of the Cortez Oil Company near Tampico and destructible property valued at a quarter of a million dollars are being held by a rebel general until ransom of 15,000 pesos is paid, according to a message today from the American consul at Tampico, to the State Department.

The dispatch was dated yesterday, and said that the "rebel" General Gorazabe had seized the Company's property and was holding it with 240 well armed men. Prompt instructions were sent by the State Department to the Embassy in Mexico City and to the consul at Tampico to urge the Mexican authorities to take immediate action for the protection of American lives and property.

The consul reported that Gorazabe had demanded payment of the 15,000 pesos within forty-eight hours from yesterday morning when his forces seized the property. The message said also that there were no Mexican Federal troops in the vicinity.

TO TAKE FLOYDADA BAND TO CONVENTION

Floydada, June 29.—The delegation from Floydada to the F. F. F. Highway Convention at Las Vegas, New Mexico, July 4th and 5th will take the Floydada Band with it according to plans recently completed by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. Some ten cars of Floydada people will go to Las Vegas. The band has sixteen members exclusive of the leader and is getting in shape now with lots of pep stuff for the convention. The band is entered in the band contest at Las Vegas which the Cowboys' Reunion is putting on with eight hundred dollar cash prizes for the best band. The delegation will leave Monday morning.

WHAT THE AVERAGE MAN HAS IN THIS AGE

I am writing this in my living room of my home on a typewriter that weighs no more than a moderate-sized book.

Light is provided by a lamp in which burns two incandescent bulbs.

In an adjoining room is a telephone from which I can talk to any city on the continent.

On the wall is a thermostat which regulates the flow of gas in my furnace and keeps the room at an even temperature of seventy degrees.

Almost within arm's reach are several shelves of books filled with the most profound and beautifully expressed thoughts of the ages.

The floors of my home are cleaned with a suction sweeper, operated by electricity, while the clothes are put through an electric washer and ironed in an electrically driven mangle.

My children attend a school where they are given a better education than the sons of kings could command a century ago.

I enjoy all these things, and yet I am just an ordinary citizen with an ordinary income, living in an ordinary way. Tens of thousands have as much as I have and more.

And yet I kick and wonder what ails the world.

Were the good things of life ever so easily at thy command of the ordinary man as they are today? Don't we all do a lot of weeping that we haven't any right to do. And if we are not careful, isn't there a danger that we will upset the greatest civilization the world has ever known?—William Feather, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

CHIROPRACTOR WILL MAKE HOME AT PASADENA

Ralph Hardy, chiropractor, who established an office here some six months ago, sold the practice and office equipment to Dr. Jennie Rorabacker Saturday, and is making arrangements to leave for Pasadena, California, where he will resume his work.

Since coming to Lubbock Dr. Hardy has made many friends who regret very much to hear of his departure, but who are hopeful of his continued success in the profession.

He is a chiropractor of exceptional ability, and we are sure the people of Pasadena will be glad to have him make his home there.

While in Lubbock he carried on an aggressive advertising program, and he attributed the promptness with which he built up a practice here to a great extent to the efficient service received through this office, which we appreciate very much.

Do you know the art of putting on a rosy sunset? We know aged pilgrims longing to meet one with a touch like that.

Conforming with the rules for closing all business houses on national holidays, made by the Allen Brothers Post, American Legion, the people of Lubbock will be turned free to enjoy the celebration of today, the 4th of July.

Many various entertainments have been planned by the people of Lubbock and Lubbock county, conspicuous among which is the Hubber-Buzzer baseball games, which will be played at ten o'clock in the morning, and at three in the evening. The main one of town attractions to be an all-day barbecue and picnic at Becton, to which the people of the county are invited.

For the last few days preceding the Fourth everything has been mighty quiet, and so far as outside appearances was concerned one would not observe very much interest in this day among our people, but a little inquiry as to "Where are you going?" and right off the reel you will learn of a dozen entertainments which will be enjoyed by local people.

We are mighty glad to know that Lubbock will take off this day for the fun there is in being free, and the possibilities of enlivening one's disposition.

We are glad indeed to know that the employees of the various business enterprises will be relieved of duty long enough to participate in the entertainments of the day, many of whom have made arrangements to go fishing, motoring, hiking and engage in every other outdoor sport imaginable.

We are mighty glad to know that on this day the "buddies" of the American Legion will know that they have time to talk over old times, and no doubt the scene of many of them in conversation about the recent war will no doubt be a great factor in the entertainment of the day.

While no action has been made for a program to be rendered by the local post of the American Legion it is generally conceded that those fellows don't need an outline on which to arrange their plans. They just get together somehow, and the spirit of fellowship is so in evidence and so predominating that one is to be proud to know that the men of his community have something in common, which cements them in to a common ideal and a common conception of brotherliness. There is something somewhere among the lives of our ex-servicemen that combines them in a united mass for civic improvement and individual well-being which is readily observed by all with whom they come in contact.

Yes, the 4th is here, and the people of Lubbock are glad to welcome it, and will take an active part in its celebration. They realize the value of work, and the greater value of play, and are good sports, and true, every one of them, and the Avalanche is glad to know that the national holiday will mean much to them.

We Give Standard Willard Service on All Batteries

With our experience and equipment we have a notion that we could work out a pretty fair sort of battery service without much help.

But we also have an idea that it wouldn't measure up to the brand of service developed for our use by the Willard Storage Battery Company.

As Battery Headquarters we have the benefit of their years of experience, and of the definite national standards of service they have been able to develop as a result.

Come in! No matter what make of battery you happen to have it needs the sort of attention provided by the Willard Standard of Service.

Goats Sore at the Cartoonists; They Do Not Eat Tin Cans

San Angelo, June 29.—Cartoonists and humorists have made a sad, sad mistake in poking fun at the appetites of goats for ages past, says R. R. Martin, president of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas. Cartoonists and humorists know no more about goats than the goats know about the former, he said. For, be it known that goats do not eat tin cans, furniture, and cast off clothing at all. The Angoria aristocrat and his cousins of lesser magnitude are fussy about their eating and have epicurean tastes.

Yep, ask Martin or any other grower attending the sheep and goat raisers meeting and they will tell you that the tin can idea is a fake. The goatliest of goats says these ranchers, never ate a can, pair of pants, or billboard sign in their bleating lives. But they do eat fricassee of twigs, leaves and shrubs.

"How cartoonists and others got hold of the tin can stuff is amazing," chorused the defenders of the goats today. "For sheep raising was an ancient industry before Caesar ruled Rome."

Sheep find weeds a luxury. They prefer luscious looking weeds to the greenest grass. So there you have nature's law of compensation in West Texas. The goats won't eat what the sheep will. The cattle won't eat what the goats will. The sheep won't eat what the other two species want.

The present type of Ramboulets, DeLaines and Merinos are not the same kind of sheep the world had 100 years ago. He is a different animal, brought on by scientific development, just as the fathers of the plains were developed from the Longhorns.

What Luther Burbank did to the cactus and other plants the ranchers did to the sheep and goats. The sheep, far, far back in 1850, was little, whinkled, his fleece poor in quality. He had become extinct as the buffalo.

A STATEMENT FROM C. R. TEAGUE TO VOTERS

To the Voters of Hockley and Cochran Counties: I wish to state that I am in the race for County Judge of the above mentioned counties.

Since my school ran so late in the spring, and as I have been sick several days, I've been unable to meet all the voters up to the present time. So I take this method of announcing my candidacy to the public. I expect to meet all of the voters of these counties, personally, within the next few days.

I was born in North Carolina, and came to Montague County, Texas, at the age of seven, in the year of 1889. I was educated in the Bowie high school. Entered the West Texas State Normal School at Canyon, Texas, in 1913. Have had four years' work in this college.

For several years I've been engaged in teaching the law of the land, both state and national, and I feel sufficiently able to interpret the law on such points as will necessarily come up from time to time.

I have had twenty years experience in teaching and superintending schools. I've also completed courses in two different business colleges in the state, and I feel that these foregoing qualifications amply qualify me to creditably fill

I am asking for this office on my own merits alone, and I shall appreciate, to the fullest extent, your vote and influence.

The following are a few of the things I stand for as County Judge:

I am in favor of developing Hockley and Cochran counties by inducing good families to make their home here, and as far as possible, make the conditions easy for them to own and develop their own homes.

I am a firm believer in a high standard of education; therefore, I am in favor of building good durable school buildings where needed. I am in favor of the maximum limit on school tax, wherever it is necessary to do so in order to maintain good schools. As good schools bring desirable citizenship, I favor a County High School whereby we can educate our children at home instead of sending them off to some other High School and take the money out of the home counties.

I believe the County Judge of Hockley and Cochran counties should be, as the name implies, COUNTY JUDGE, and should try to serve the interests alike in all parts of the county.

I believe a County Judge ought to know, at least, the fundamental duties of the office which he seeks. Therefore, I believe that he should be familiar with schools and school work, as he must act as ex-officio county superintendent.

Respectfully,
C. R. TEAGUE.

PROGRESS MADE IN SECURING BETTER BUTTER FOR NAVY

For 20 years the United States Department of Agriculture has aided the Navy Department to secure a high quality of tinned butter, the kind best adapted for use on shipboard and in places far from the sources of supply. In recent years all this butter has been made from pasteurized sweet cream, which not only keeps exceptionally well in storage but stands up for long periods under adverse climatic conditions.

In studying the requirements of butter for this purpose special consideration has been given to the effect of cream acidity on keeping quality of butter, and to manufacturing methods producing firm body and waxy texture.

In the last few years practically all the butter obtained has scored 95 at the time of packing, and scores made 10 months after being held in cold storage have averaged only about 2 points lower. During 1921 seven creameries supplied 800,000 pounds of butter to the Navy; and the cost of supervision by men selected by the United States Department of Agriculture was only about one-third of a cent a pound. Scores made each year, beginning with 1911, show a slight but gradual improvement in quality.

GREAT SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS PLANNED FOR UNITED STATES

A system of highway that will serve the whole country and will be far superior to any other in the world is being mapped out by Federal and State engineers. It is estimated that the system will comprise 180,000 miles of road. The Federal highway act recently enacted specifically requires that all Federal aid be spent on a connected system of highways consisting of not more than 7 per cent of the road mileage in each State, and that this system shall consist of interstate or primary roads and inter-county or secondary roads.

Proposed systems have been received by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture from all but eight States. They are plotted on a large map of the United States and carefully examined as to coordination with the roads of adjacent States and service to all sections of the country. Where coordination is not satisfactory conferences are held with all interested State highway officials and routes adjusted.

Many States have already adjusted difficult problems with their neighbors. As an example the system sent in by Nebraska showed a big gap in an important road along the northern boundary. It was learned, however, that South Dakota would follow with a system that would fit like pictures on toy

Amarillo Musicians Struck at Meeting of Kiwanis Club There Wednesday—Spann on Warpath

A bunch of vicious, war-like Indians of the Amarillo section ran riot in one of the local hotels there Wednesday, an extra of the Amarillo Daily News announced, which was received here a few hours after publication.

Pat M. Neff, however, was not called upon to send Rangers to the terror-stricken section, and it is believed that if the secretary of the tribe, Spann, ever gets sober again complete quietness will be restored. Members of the local tribe are looking with anxiety upon the situation, and are hoping to receive news of improved conditions before many days, but as the writer, ex-secretary of the local tribe has had an eye-full of the Amarillo secretary he has considerable doubts as to whether there will ever be a return to normal conditions again, inasmuch as Spann seems thoroughly imbued with the spirit of his tribe, the Kiwanians, and as long as there is life in the frail body of that brave, we doubt if Amarillo will ever see a quiet day.

The account of the fracas as appeared in the extra edition of the News, is as follows:
"Musicians went on a strike at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club today noon and hats were smashed in another furor which took place at the luncheon at the Amarillo Hotel. Jimmy Farwell's orchestra went on strike in the middle of the program and created considerable hard feelings. J. D. Hancock, chairman of the reception committee, began maneuvering immediately for a plan to give a program that would not ruin the entire entertainment.

"Duke Davenport was a guest and showed his general dissatisfaction with things by smashing his own straw hat as well as straw hats of Dr. A. H. Lindsay, L. W. Patton, W. O. Allen and Mr. Hancock. Then he left the dining room in a huff."
"Ray Pittman was called upon to bring an orchestra either from Kansas City, Fort Worth, El Paso or even Vega. Well, Mr. Pittman immediately got results and in blew a negro orchestra.

"Charges of dirty work were made at the luncheon by Mr. Hancock, who alleged that F. M. Leforge, chairman of the attendance committee, and Sam B. Vaughn, chairman of the house committee, were instigators of the disorder, which unfortunately cost no lives."
"Mr. Hancock declared that Mr. Leforge and Mr. Vaughn were back of the dastardly crime to prevent the former's committee from winning the prize for staging the best program."

FISHING TRIP TO POST ENJOYED BY LOCAL PEOPLE

"An' it's fine to go fishin' in the good ole Summer time," just about expresses the sentiment of more than a few Lubbockites, who have already made their summer trips to lakes, rivers, and wherent in search of the finny tribe. According to Raleigh Martin, of the Martin & Wolcott Grocery, there is real sport attached to getting out in the great outdoors at this season.
Mr. and Mrs. Martin, grandson Billy, J. A. Phillips and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Young and children, Pastor J. T. Smith and wife, Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Branch of Tennessee, and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Haves, returned early Thursday morning from a two days outing to Post City, where they enjoyed fishing in the well known lake near that city.
Enough fish for two fine feeds were caught, and the pleasant coolness of the great outdoors made the trip a most wonderful rest and recreation period.
Mr. Martin is at home again at the store, working with a little more vim and vigor, feeling mighty glad to have taken such an enjoyable trip, and no doubt all other members of the party feel the same way about it.

ORDINANCE NO. 207

An Ordinance fixing the times within which taxes due the City of Lubbock for the years 1910 to 1920, inclusive, shall be paid to the City, prescribing penalties and interest if same are not paid by such fixed time; providing for returning of a delinquent list of such unpaid taxes, for publication thereof notice and such procedure after delinquency as aforesaid as is provided by the General Laws of the State of Texas for collection of delinquent taxes, and declaring an emergency account of same being long unpaid and the need of the City for the Revenue.
Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Lubbock, Texas:

Section 1. That all property subject to taxation within the City of Lubbock, Texas, for the years 1910 to 1920, inclusive, as shown by the supplemental roll approved June 8, 1922, shall have the taxes paid thereon by the owner, owners, or persons in charge before the 20th day of September, 1922, and all such taxes are due and payable as of this date. Whether such taxes be for one or more years.

Section 2. On all property and assessment of which any taxes due shall not have been paid before the said 20th day of September, 1922, there shall be added a penalty of ten per centum of the amount of such taxes, and interest from such date at six per centum per annum, payable when such taxes are paid, which shall be a lien on the property.

Section 3. Immediately after the 20th day of September, 1922 the City Secretary shall compile and return to the City Commission a true and complete list of all property delinquent for taxes within the City, showing interest and penalties accrued, with the name, or names, of the owners if he can ascertain the same.

Section 4. After the return of such delinquent list as provided in Section 3, the collection of such taxes, penalties and interest shall be governed by the laws of this State governing collection of delinquent taxes, which laws are hereby adopted.

Section 5. The fact that there is a large sum due the City which is imperatively needed to support it, creates an emergency and necessity that the rule requiring an ordinance to be read at two meetings before adoption be suspended, and this ordinance shall be effective on the date of its adoption, after publication for the time required by law and the charter.

Approved this 22nd day of June, 1922.

Importance of Shade in Poultry Yard

(By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College)

During the hot summer days, many growing chicks and mature fowls, in Texas, suffer greatly because of a serious lack of shade. Surely nobody that gives the question any thought can for a moment say that the fowls and chicks can do without shade. The farm flock if allowed free range is no doubt most fortunate, because they will hunt shade. Yarded chickens cannot do anything but suffer and pant and take the consequences. Even many farm flocks, have inadequate shade.

We can only say that the hens need plenty of shade, if they have not got it. Anything that will make shade will answer the purpose.

Sleepy Sickness

Many cases of the so-called "sleepy sickness" in growing chicks can be traced directly to a lack of shade. This disease, is at this moment taking a heavy toll among the chicks of all ages. A lack of shade reduces the vitality of the chicks so they cannot withstand the ravages of disease. If you are losing many chicks from this disease do not blame anyone but yourself. Get busy and provide shade.

Drop in Egg Yield

Among laying hens, the latter part of June and the beginning of July, the egg production gradually drops. Some times it drops alarmingly fast. Why the sudden drop at that time? The only answer, a lack of shade. Flock after flock may be seen crowding into a little inadequate shade, with drooping wings and open beak gasping for breath. Surely you must expect a decrease in the egg yield. Many people are inclined to disregard the fact until it is too late. Remember it is easier to keep them laying than to start them again.

Natural Shade

Natural shade of course is the very best. Fruit trees are desirable because they do exceptionally well around hen houses. We have found plum, pear, peach and pecan trees excellent. The plum tree is especially desirable. It is wise to select a variety of fruit trees that thrive in your section of the State. We have also found mulberry trees on account of their rapid growth very desirable. The dropping from the chicks will be of material benefit to the tree.

Castor beans and sunflowers also make excellent shade, and where everything else fails, these should be planted.

Remember any kind of natural shade will answer the purpose, provided it is not more than a 100 feet from the hen house, and much closer is better.

Artificial Shade

Many times it is necessary to provide artificial shade. This is especially true in West Texas. Where this is necessary it at once becomes an important task and should not be neglected or overlooked.

Houses may be blocked up from the ground about 15 to 18 inches. Chickens prefer the shade beneath a low place like that.

Brush arbors are ideal but should be built low to the ground.

A frame covered with burlap sacks sewed together makes desirable shade.

We are using the wooden shutters from our dwelling on frames about 15 inches above the ground, and find them excellent for the purpose.

Low and Swampy Places

Growing chicks prefer low and wet places during the summer. For this reason, locate the roosting coop close to these places on your farm; here they find more insect life and a greater abundance of green food.

Cool and Fresh Earth

Sometimes it is a good idea to pour several pails of water beneath trees or the object providing shade. Chickens like to dig and rest in cool, fresh dirt. The water also has a tendency to keep down fleas. They like to take a dust bath in this cool, wet and fresh dirt. This will also help keep down the lice.

Fresh Water

It ought not be necessary to mention this, but when we see how eagerly a flock of hens will drink a supply of clean, cool and fresh water about noon of some hot day, we can not help but call your attention to it. Too many farm flocks have no drinking water. Imagine yourself to have to go all day or may be several days without cool water to drink.

"Hundreds of Innocent Men in the Penitentiaries of America"-----Is the Opinion of John J. Oxford, Who Spent Seven Years in Exile

EDGAR CHURCH

DR. L. G. OXFORD WHO WAS A PARTNER WITH HIS SON...

JOHN J. OXFORD, WHO SPENT SEVEN YEARS IN EXILE.

MRS. MARY OXFORD TAKEN AT THE TIME HER HUSBAND FLED INTO EXILE.

Under an indictment of crime, branded as a fugitive from justice, and at last was exonerated and declared to be innocent by a court of justice, without trial. Copyright, 1922, by John J. Oxford. All Foreign Rights Reserved.

John J. Oxford's Own Story
"In a republican form of government like that of the United States the very liberty and freedom of its citizens creates a condition conducive to the potency and powerful effectiveness of public sentiment in dominating the courts of the country. The writer is constrained to believe that, in many instances, culprits have been freed by a favorable public sentiment, and sadder still (and worse by a thousand times) that innocent men have been railroaded to the penitentiary."
"However, this is no fault of the Government, nor our form of government, for the writer believes the American Government is the best on the face of the earth, and that it places every safeguard around its citizens. But that it is through a misapplication and perversion of THESE VERY LAWS, by a misguided, prejudiced public sentiment that this occurs."

I am an American by birth. In the fall of 1909 I induced my father, Dr. L. G. Oxford of Stephenville, Texas, to become a partner with me in establishing a colony of Americans in Old Mexico. At that time my home was at Plainview, Texas, which is a part of the Panhandle of western Texas.
Although only twenty-nine years of age, I had accumulated a small fortune in the lumber industry and other enterprises in the three years I had lived with the people of Plainview. I had acquired a reputation among them for honesty, sobriety and business ability. My past record from boyhood to this time, had been above reproach. These things, together with the prominence of our family name were the incentives that prompted me to attempt greater achievements.
The one object with me, as well as my father, was success, with good to all and injury to none. We organized the American Land and Investment Company, with Dallas, Texas, as headquarters. I became president, and my father, vice president. We issued a selling contract. After paying operating expenses, the funds were to be used in purchasing a large tract of land in the Republic of Mexico, upon which the Oxford Colony was to be founded.
In the beginning our success was phenomenal. Many people in the vicinity of Plainview and the Panhandle of Texas made investments with us, some of them as high as five thousand dollars. We purchased fifty-five thousand acres of land on the Umacinta River, in the State of Toluca, Mexico, and made the initial payment upon it.
Our success continued until the Revolution sprang up. From that time on our sales dwindled. With greater effort we made the payments on the land of the Oxford Colony as they came due. In 1910 the Revolution of Mexico grew to alarming proportions. Our friends contended that we could carry our proposition in the face of the Revolution. We had no choice in the matter. The amount of money involved had become too large. Our combined personal assets would not replace it. We would have gladly refunded every dollar to each one who had become identified with our undertaking, if the sacrifice of our private fortunes would have accomplished this. It would not.

At last, in February, 1911, listening to the clamorings of those who had made investments with us, we consented to an expedition of colonists to the property of the Oxford Colony, hoping again that this would give a new impetus to our sales and enable us to finance our proposition in the face of overwhelming odds against us. The colonists wrote back letters to their friends and relatives corroborating our claims about the property. This increased our sales for a short time, but for a short time only, for the Revolution increased in violence and enormity.
In a final desperate effort to save our name and honor, father and I sold everything that we possessed and applied the proceeds on the property; yet this did not make all the payments. It did gain an extension of time, in which we hoped to turn the tide that was carrying us on to financial ruin. We did not make another sale. We could get assistance from no source. The collapse came in August of that year. The property was foreclosed. All was a loss.
Public sentiment spread like wild fire. A few men created it. The southern people are highly honorable and would not knowingly commit a wrong, yet they are impulsive and temperamental and yield quickly to a wave of public sentiment.
When once aroused they are formidable. Every accusation that could be originated from the brains of those bent on my ruin and destruction was flaunted before an innocent public. The better class had no part in the origin of these falsehoods, but the poison thus propagated seized the public mind in Plainview and western Texas.
The one crime I had committed was FAILURE, under the crushing blows of the Revolution. But their money was gone! Their money! Their money! Their money! And it was gone with no chance to be recovered. When men lose their money they lose their reason.
Not one word was said against my father. We were partners, and in every case and in every instance we had acted together. If I was a criminal, he was a criminal. But it was not the satisfaction of the law, but a few designing men seeking revenge. Of course, I was glad that their wrath turned against me, and that my father was spared this.
I did not fear the law, for I had violated no law. But I did fear the PERVERSION of the law through this awful public sentiment.
In my younger manhood I had seen a man tried for the murder of his newly wedded wife. The woman was killed with a hammerless shotgun. It was supposed to be an accident. Public sentiment took flight in his favor. The most incriminating evidence was brought out in the trial against him. The public would not hear to anything but his innocence. While the evidence was being produced against him the women of the churches brought him flowers and fanned him in the courtroom. The judge, the jury, the whole court were influenced by this terrific public sentiment in his favor. This evidence produced by the prosecuting attorney, damaging though it was, fell like pitching straws before the wind. He was acquitted.

He sued for his insurance on the life of his wife, aggregating in all $30,000. Every policy was defeated by the insurance companies on the grounds that he had murdered his wife. Six months later the very people who cleared him would not speak to him.
I felt that if public sentiment would free a murderer who was as guilty as Cain, that it would, when unfavorable, convict an innocent man. I did not have one dollar with which to make a defense. To be railroaded to the penitentiary, with all of its stain and disgrace, which could never be eradicated—not even when these people saw the error of their way—was a thought horrible to my mind! With me there would be but one honorable end, if this should happen. I had sworn to my Creator that before I would enter the walls of the penitentiary and thus bring disgrace and infamy upon the heads of my children I would take my own life. No one would ever be able to point to their innocent heads and say their father had been sent to the penitentiary. I accepted—what was from my point of view—the only way open to me.
A Fugitive From Injustice
I received reports of contemplated criminal action against me. I knew not upon what grounds this was to be taken. I conferred with my father and Judge Oxford, my uncle. Both advised me to leave. I went home—now in the city of Dallas. My family consisted of a boy of seven, a girl of six and the baby boy, three years old. My very soul was crushed. We could not talk! The words would not come!
Next morning my little girl said: "Papa, where are you going? Why are you going away? Aren't you going to take us with you? When are you coming back?" I could not answer my child, and my frame shook from head to foot as I kissed them good-bye.
I borrowed fifty dollars and boarded the train for St. Louis. This was August 19, 1911. A terrible horror seized my mind as I realized that I was going into exile, and would be branded by the world as a fugitive from justice. I represented the whole of life—humanity, civilization! What was it all for? And my heart and mind sank to the very depths of hopeless despair.

At last a resolute will steered my mind. In St. Louis I changed my name to A. J. Shapard. I sought employment. All wanted references. I could not give them. After three weeks I gave up the hope of getting decent employment. In every case I soon found myself telling all kinds of falsehoods to prevent suspicion from arising and revealing my dilemma to others, and gladly sought an opportunity to get away from them. Finally I accepted a place in a box car handling lumber at $1.75 per day. With three weeks of this torture I quit and fled from the city.
Two days later I was standing on a high precipice that hung over the Missouri River, with my body wrapped and corded with a rope from my waist to my feet, hesitating between life and death. Thoughts of my wife and children prevented me from taking this leap into eternity. It was for their sake that I had planned it, thinking of my insurance policy for ten thousand dollars in their favor.
In one week more I was bobbing up and down on a handcar with a bunch of paddies, working on a section near Kansas City. Eight days of this and I landed in Omaha, Nebraska, with only money enough to pay my room and board for a week. Here I obtained a position, handling books. I handled the firm's funds. I was asked to secure a surety bond at the end of the first week. I gave up the position without making any explanation.
In desperation I entered the Union Pacific shops as a strike-breaker. I worked under cars as a car repairer. The two thousand men had come from everywhere to get the benefits of the strike. There were many criminals among them. On the inside, fifteen Burr's detectives were seeking them. Arrests were made every day. Fifteen days here, and I fled.
Sneaked Into a Barn
I had been gone three months. I had not been able to send one dollar to my wife and children. My heart was breaking over them. I had every reason to believe that I was being sought. This awful consciousness was ever with me. A sudden desire seized me to see my wife and children at any cost.
I returned to Texas, arriving in the dead hours of the night. I sneaked into the barn on the back lot of my father's home in Fort Worth. I feared to let the children know. They might tell that Papa had come back.
In the barn I waited for the break of day. Nine o'clock arrived. No one came near the barn save the children. They were playing twenty feet away. I wanted to go to them and take them in my arms. Through the cracks I watched their every movement. At last they vanished in front of the house. My wife, Mary, came to the back door and looked out and closed the door before she could call to her.
One hour later Mary came to the clothes line in the back yard. I called her. Frightened, she turned to go to the house. I called her name again. With difficulty I succeeded in making her understand who was in the barn. I opened the door, and she fell into my arms.
Shortly, Mary returned to the house to prepare my mother for the shock. I could hear my mother as she wept. Mary came back to the house. The three of us ascended to the second floor of the building—away from the eyes of my children and a safer refuge from the world. All day I watched the children from the window above.
That night, when the little fellows were sound asleep, I crept from hiding above down to the bed where lay the treasures of my heart. I stooped and kissed each one of them as the electric light revealed the purity and innocence of their faces while my wife and mother sobbed in silence. I left them and passed in the blackness of the night to return to "that other world" where kindness ceases to exist and familiar faces are unknown.
A Family in Exile
This time I went to Mississippi. I walked from Shreveport, La., to Jackson, and made by way of peddling liniment to the negroes. White people wouldn't buy it. I learned to make the liniment from a graduate of Yale, who had been a tramp for fifteen years.
At Jackson I learned of a man who wished a manager for a plantation. He would employ only a man with a family. I was to receive one hundred dollars per month, have the exclusive use of the mansion on the plantation and all provisions furnished.
Here I could have my family with me and be isolated from the world. I did not think they would look for me there. My heart leaped with gratitude.
Mary sold the last remnant of her furniture to get to Jackson. Most of it had been previously sold to supply her living expenses.
Strange, indeed, are the tricks of Fate! The very day that Mary arrived with the children the plantation that his son had decided to take charge of the plantation and that he would have to decline to give me the position.
Now I was in exile under a curse, with my wife and three children, two trunks and two dollars and fifty cents in my pocket. Mr. S. F. Leggett, four miles east of Jackson, gave me permission to enter a negro shanty. We accepted it. It contained one room and a shed, and stood four feet off the ground, on account of the overflow in the bottom. It was on the back side of the Leggett property with the other negro huts.
I constructed a bedstead out of a box, a mattress of hay and corn stalks, chairs of wooden blocks, a table of another box. This constituted our furniture. Mary cooked on the fireplace.

I looked for work. The poor negroes were starving. The boll weevils had devastated the country, leaving it barren. To obtain work of any description was impossible. Repeatedly I went to Jackson and returned with nothing. Day after day I walked twenty-five or thirty miles, attempting to sell liniment to the penniless negroes. Some times I returned with twenty-five or fifty cents—many times with nothing.
Our suffering increased. Day by day I saw the pale face of my wife become paler and the hollow cheeks of my children become more emaciated, as their bodies were attacked by the ravages of hunger.
We entered the old house in December of the fall of 1911. Here we existed three months on twenty dollars outside of the pittance from the liniment business. Mr. Leggett gave me twelve days' work at one dollar per day.
Our situation was growing hourly more perilous. To remain here loomed as certain starvation. To think of leaving my family with such surroundings seemed impossible. To take them with me was impossible. At last, in desperation, I left them, not knowing whether I would ever see them alive again or not. I rode freight trains to Birmingham, Ala. Here I obtained money from Jim Blankinship, my cousin, to get back to Jackson and to get my wife and children back to Texas. While in Mississippi I went under the assumed name of R. J. Langston.
As the Years Passed By
I rode freight trains. Jumped from city to city, trying always to grasp something tangible. Every attitude of life became a false one. All my experience and education counted for nothing, for I could get no opportunity to apply it. Every man's hand seemed to be against me, for the minute I sought to make known to him my qualifications for decent employment he asked me questions that I could not answer.
While they looked for me in the high places and fashionable hotels, I worked in the low ones. No wonder they did not find me, for most of the time I had to clean up before I could recognize myself in a mirror.
No one can realize the value of human ties until they are severed. To be thrust into an unknown existence, robbed of the last vestige of human relationship—home, loved ones, friends, name, reputation, liberty—all that life possesses, with your mouth closed by Fate—is a disaster in human life beyond the imagination. No man can conceive of its wretchedness who has not been face to face with the reality.
After two years of everlasting struggle to get things adjusted to the eternal order of things, I landed in the city of Billings, Montana, with six dollars in money. During this time, I sent every dollar not necessary to my existence to my wife and children.
In Billings I applied to Mr. H. E. Perkins, manager of the Chase Lumber Company, to drive a team. I told him nothing of my lumber experience. I had learned better. For one year I drove the team, unloaded cars, figured lumber bills—did everything on the yard.
In the spring of 1913 I gave up this position and entered the real estate business. I had no office. I did business in the streets. I was dubbed by my competitors as the "curbstone real estate man." In a few months I was broke.
Time went on. I managed to exist in the real estate business. One thing about it, I did not have to give anybody any references to follow it. I had never been in exile four years. Life had been one everlasting struggle to grasp something with which to rise. Every effort had been in vain. In all these years my mind had dwelt constantly upon the complex circumstances with which it was encompassed; on the injustice of the charges against me; the stigma on my name; the long, weary, lonesome hours; the longing for familiar faces; the torture of everlasting suspense; the desire for freedom and liberty; but above all the privilege to be with my wife and children and to contribute to their support and happiness.
There came a time when my morbid mind clung to nothing but the thing it abhorred. The one desire of life became to cherish the intolerable peace, where there was no peace; to be alone to revel in the strangely fascinating torture which my thoughts presented—every one of which brought a still greater pang; yet to be away from them was more intolerable!
Discovered
I was standing on Broadway in the city of Billings, in melancholy thought. From the passing throng to my back I heard a voice say: "Hello, Oxford, I thought that you were in South America." A confusion of emotions swept over me. I knew that I was discovered! I did not wish to turn to face the man. At last I turned and looked. I did not recognize the face before me. He said as he extended his hand: "I don't believe you know me. This is G. W. Chumbley. I knew you at Plainview, Texas, years ago."
My heart leaped to my throat. I was afraid that he would notice my agitation. Finally I replied: "You have changed a great deal. You do not look like yourself."
"It is probably my mustache. I did not have one then."
"Oh, that is what makes you seem so different," I managed to say. "I did not know whether he thought that I was guilty or innocent of the charges against me. I did not know what his attitude would be toward me.

Realizing my embarrassment, he said: "Oxford, you need not worry about me. I believe that you are innocent. I will stand by you. No one will ever know where you are through me."
He remained loyal to me through the years that followed. Every year he returned to Plainview to visit his father and mother, but never told anyone where I was. While there he learned that there were no indictments against me at Plainview; that only one indictment existed against me, and that was at Olton, Texas, in the adjoining county to Plainview. I had been informed and believed all these years, that two indictments existed against me at Plainview. But Plainview, too, had been loyal to me.
There is a Limit to Human Endurance
Years passed. I was still in Billings, walking the streets. My wife was teaching school on a peninsula. For five years she taught the village school at Olivia, Texas. All this weighed heavily on my mind. Through worry and grief, I sank to greater depths. Year by year I became possessed with a greater bitterness for all the world and everything in it, for to me there was no good; but above all a bitterness toward the men who had persecuted me until this had become a diabolical hatred endowed with fiendish proclivities.
At last my mind slipped and I became insane. This part of my experience is just as vivid and clear to my mind as any other part of it. Although in this condition just seven days, to my mind, my activity was great and exceedingly drastic. For months prior to this delirium my mind had brooded and planned daily returning to Texas to destroy the men who had destroyed my happiness. For lack of space, I cannot give a description of this terrible maelstrom of the brain. It suffices to say that I thought I was in Texas and had carried out in fiendish delight this awful purpose.
When I came to myself, I was still in Billings, and had known nothing of what I did there during this one week. The imaginary experience—a vivid reality to me—is fully depicted in my book, "SEVEN YEARS IN EXILE." The book will be published this fall; later it will be dramatized in moving pictures. It contains the entire account of my seven years' experience while in exile, and consists of thirty chapters amounting to a story of seventy-five thousand words.
Declared Innocent at Last
After my mental collapse, I realized that unless I made a great effort to get away from my thoughts and back to my normal self that I would become hopeless. I made the fight. I forced myself to go into society and never allowed myself to be alone. In three months I was normal.
At last success crowned my efforts in the real estate business. I had a well-equipped office in the Montana Power Building. I owned an automobile. I had a good bank credit with the American Bank and Trust Company. During 1917 I cleared ten thousand dollars in the land business. Living all these years with this people under an assumed name with an indictment of crime over my head, I had gained their love, respect and confidence. When I went into exile I took myself with me. I was not a criminal when I left; I could not be one away.
I was ready now to return to Texas and stand trial. I had money to defend myself and prove my innocence. I took the matter up with my uncle, B. H. Oxford, an attorney, and declared my willingness to return and stand trial. He imparted this information to the

G. W. CHUMBLEY WHO WAS LOYAL TO A FUGITIVE BELIEVED TO BE INNOCENT

District Court of Lamb County, Texas. They did not demand my return; instead issued the following decision:
The State of Texas vs. J. J. Oxford, No. 7.
Be it remembered that on this the 31st day of December, A. D. 1917, came on the motion and statement of the district attorney, in which he asks permission of the court to dismiss the above-numbered case.

IN MILADY'S REALM

BY MRS. CURTIS A. KEEN
Residence 1119 Fourteenth St.

A thought for to-day—
My heart
Whose wings beat all day long,
Whose throat will burst except it sings
Its high, ecstatic song.
My heart is like a white-capped wave
That leaps across the bay,
And dashes to its rest at last
In broken, silver spray.
But oftentimes my changing heart
Is like a still brown nest
Where little warm, soft baby things
May snuggle down to rest.

Merry Bidders.
The Merry Bidders Club was delightfully entertained some few evenings ago when Mesdames S. T. Davis and F. Brown were club hostesses, at Mrs. Brown's home.
The rooms were made attractive with bowl clusters of garden flowers, dainty in variety and color, and the afternoon was one of the most enjoyed, in the series of club affairs.
Mrs. Anna Faulk was winner of the high score in the interesting game of "42."
Delicious refreshments were served to the following guests: Mesdames Pearson, Louie Moore, Hattie O'Hair, W. C. Rylander, Myrick Sims, Rankin, Lon Mullican, F. Spikes, L. E. Hunt, Lemond, A. B. Ellis, Ballew, J. R. George, Carter, Pearson.

Circle Sixteen Club.
Mrs. A. B. Ellis was hostess at the regular club meeting of the Circle Sixteen Club, when she entertained on June 26th.
A dainty luncheon was served to a large number of guests and a delightful time spent by all.

Woman's Auxiliary of First Presbyterian Church.
The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church will meet in social hour at the home of Mrs. Snylle Wilson, with Mrs. R. B. Kimmell as assisting hostess, on Monday afternoon, July 10, at four o'clock. These informal gatherings of the church members and friends are a real factor in the building up and the accomplishment of worth while church work, and serve not only in this capacity but tend to unite the women in a way that nothing else can, and it is this spirit of union and good-fellowship that is found to permeate the workings of the successful church.

Mrs. T. J. Bennett Returns To Her Home in Austin.
Mrs. T. J. Bennett left Saturday morning for her home in Austin, Texas, after a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. H. C. Duerling, who is convalescing at the Lubbock Sanitarium.

Tom Thumb Wedding.
Weddings are always interesting—but of exceptional interest will be the one to take place next Friday evening, at the Civic Auditorium.

With all the romantic glamor of the ages, and with the charm and beauty that is in keeping with our rosiest dreams of that "castle in the air sweetheart," and with the regal grandeur fit for prince and princess, there will be staged one of the quaintest and attractive "Tom Thumb" weddings.

The entertainment which will be given on Friday evening, July 7, is under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association, who bring the program through an established theatrical organization, who send in a young lady several days in advance to train the children. The plan was decided upon by the Parent-Teachers Association with the view of making some much needed money for the Association, and the citizens of Lubbock should deem it a privilege to come out and hear the program on Friday evening.
More than fifty children will take part in the dear old love songs sung by the sweet voices of the children, who are well trained to do their part, and you will find more than recompense for your evening. As you pass down the street take time to look at the bills in the various windows, that tell you in detail of the program, and then right there decide to do your part and get a ticket for the performance, in this way assisting the Parent-Teachers Association in the good work they are doing.

Civic League Met Sat., July 1.
Considering the warmth of the day and the number of folks who are away on their vacations, the Civic League had a good attendance on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Abernathy, who spoke in behalf of the Woman's Democratic League, sounded a key-note when she said that it was high time that the women of Texas concerned themselves more about the privilege that had been given them, when they received the franchise, and that it behooved them as citizens to exercise that right in an efficient and thoughtful manner. The average woman is not well informed on the great political issues of the day and the reason for this is not that she does not have time to devote to a study of these various questions—but that she is only half-hearted in her interest in the things that should be of vital concern to her. Surely the day has passed when women sit quietly, looking on to and never taking part in the affairs upon which the happiness and welfare of her home community and nation depend upon. It is the duty of every woman to know the exact policy and platform of the different candidates and in this way render a service to her city and country in keeping with her position and dignity thru the proper use of the ballot.

W. E. Garnett Pays Tribute To Civic League.
In an interview with Mrs. Dr. Ballenger recently, Mr. W. E. Garnett, professor of Social Science at A. & M. College, who is making a tour of the state for the purpose of getting first hand information in order to compile a book on the civic organizations of Texas, commented thus:

"Your Civic League of Lubbock, which comprises the Church, Social and Study Clubs of the City, brings something more unique and helpful in nature than any club I have investigated. I came from the College to Lubbock to study this particular club as a result of information I had received from the Chamber of Commerce as to your organization and find it indeed a model club."
At a regular meeting of the League on Saturday afternoon the continuation of the gathering of the trash succeeding the clean-up campaign was discussed and captains urged to do their best in this matter.

The Parent-Teachers Club will present the Tom Thumb Wedding at the Auditorium next Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock, admission 25c and 50c. About sixty of our own little boys and girls will take part in the performance, and will give you an evening of rare entertainment and pleasure.

Miss Idalou Ellis Entertained 1920 Ex-Seniors.
On Saturday afternoon, July 1, Miss Idalou Ellis was hostess to the Ex-Senior girls of the Senior class of 1920. Upon the arrival of all of the guests, Kodak pictures were taken of the Ex-Senior girls of 1920, after which the game of progressive "42" was enjoyed for about two hours. At the close of the game, Miss Idalou, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Raymond George, served a delicious salad course consisting of bread and butter sandwiches, stuffed olives, potato chips, chicken salad on lettuce leaves, and iced tea.
During the afternoon, many times did the different members of that famous class refer back to the various pranks that they had either played on teachers or on each other, and to the many good times they had together as a class. Every minute of the afternoon was enjoyed and each one was indeed sorry when the hour for departure arrived. Out of the thirteen girls of this class ten were present: Misses Irene Lowrey, Irma Pryor, Floe Benson, Mary Dickinson, Blanche Bean, Charlie Jackson, Margaret Hensley, Margaret Dupre, Mrs. Elmer Conley, and the hostess, Miss Idalou Ellis; and Mrs. M. M. Dupre 2nd, and Mrs. Raymond George were outside guests.

RIX WILL PUSH PIANOS; EMPLOYS ANOTHER SALESMAN.
One well acquainted with Jed Rix, of the Rix Furniture and Undertaking Company, might think he has nothing to do but to help boost Lubbock, as so much of his time is spent in civic work, but such is not the case. He works for the other fellow a great deal, all right, but also spends a few minutes of the day thinking for Rix, and if one doesn't believe he thinks up some pretty good schemes for advancing the furniture business just hang around his place and see the loads of furniture that he sends out each day.
The piano business has been mighty good with Mr. Rix recently, and he took that as an indication that another salesman could help a great deal, and has employed L. J. Lane to do that work.
Mr. Lane is an able salesman, having proven that when employed by the company last year, and we are sure business will pick up in that line.

SCIENTIFIC JILTING.
Young ladies who are weary of any of their suitors and yet hesitate to hurt the youth's tender feelings, may get a helpful idea from the heroine of "Her Winning Way," which will open a one day run here Thursday, at the R. & R. Lindsey Theatre.
The heroine of this breezy comedy has one suitor too many, and to rid herself of his attentions with the minimum pain for him she lets herself be hypnotized in his presence (or pretends to) and then tells what she thinks of him. As it was her subconscious mind speaking for her, the young man couldn't very well be offended at her confession of her true feeling for him.
Mary Miles Minter, the star of "Her Winning Way," impersonates a breezy and resourceful newspaper girl in this photoplay, with Gaston Glass playing opposite her.
As the book reviewer on an up-to-date city daily who is sent to the apartment of a shy young novelist to get an interview, she has a role offering exceptional opportunities to her delicate comedy sense.
Whether she's demurely domestic as the maid, or dare-devilish as the reporter climbing along a coping to get to her victim's apartment, she wins your heart and your applause.

SECRET OF HAPPY MARRIAGE.
In the forthcoming issue of the Magazine section of July 7, is an article written by Kathleen Norris, entitled: "Secret of Happy Marriage." The writer is of the opinion that the average bride is bewildered with the glamour of her wedding day and expects an easy, joyful time all the rest of her life. "In fact," explains Mrs. Norris, "successful marriage lies in service and in motherhood, and in work, mixed with thoughtfulness and tenderness for the husband."

SHORT-STOP BRISCOE JOINS HUBBERS AGAIN.
Briscoe, the hefty short-stop who started the season with the Hubbers, but had the misfortune at the first of the season of breaking his leg in an exhibition game, has again joined the line-up of the Hubbers, and although the member is somewhat tender yet, it is fast rounding out into shape, for he has been working it out regularly in practice games.
Briscoe looked like a million in there the first of the season, and says he is now "rearin' to get back in."

PENNINGTON, NEW SOUTH-PAW, REPORTS TO HUBBERS.
Pennington, the new southpaw spoken of last week as having joined the Hubber staff, has reported for duty and is looking good, and although he hasn't yet made his appearance on the lineup, we are going to hear from him in a very short time.
He hails from Galveston way, and even though he hasn't made many appearances in professional ball, he is no doubt going to prove a valuable asset to the Hubber staff.

KING SOLD TO ABILENE; REPORTED THERE SUNDAY.
John King, the noted outfielder of the Hubbers, has been sold to the Abilene Eagles, so we are advised by the Hubber management. His first appearance with the Eagles was Sunday in the double bill against the Amarillo Gassers, where he showed his old line of stuff.
King has been with us all the season, having reported here at the first of the season, and holds a record that would be envied by any follower of the national sport.
It is stated that even though the management was prone to give him up, a good cash consideration was gotten by the transaction.
Negotiations have already been started for the purchase of another outfielder, and more than likely he will report within a very short time.

M. T. Council, D. C. PH. C., N. D. of Lubbock, Texas.
Is recognized as one of the leading professional men of this entire section and has an enviable reputation for proficiency and fair dealing.
Science has made great strides in the last few years and many of the old-fashioned ideas have been discarded for the new results of science.
Dr. Council has adequate training to practice his chosen profession most successfully. He is a graduate of six different schools, all degrees and is the only Chiropractor in Texas who is a graduate in both lines. He is a graduate of the National School of Electro-Therapeutics.
His practice has increased with such rapid strides that he is today considered one of the leading professional men of the West, and having had many years of experience, he is often consulted by men of his profession.
His practice and reputation as a healer has become so famous, that people go to his office weekly to consult him from all parts of the state and adjoining states. The great work he is doing, to relieve suffering humanity of every known disease is phenomenal.
Then again his patients come from the very best class of people—people of standing in the community in which they live.
Dr. Council keeps two to three assistants at all times and his lady assistant is a three year graduate of the National Chiropractic College of Chicago and has had eleven years experience as a Chiropractor, and holds a license from the Illinois State Medical board and the Mexico Chiropractic Board.—Slatonite, Slaton, Texas.

I have just returned from Chicago, where I have been taking special work on all drugless lines this spring and summer, I propose to back up my reputation as a drugless healer in the West and keep in the front ranks of all healing science.
I have competent lady help at all times. Phone 540, day or night. Dr. Council, Barrus Building.

CHIROPRACTOR BROUGHT INTO NATIONAL NOTICE.
Word has been received by Mutton T. Council, from the Chiropractors' Research Society of Chicago, that he has been awarded an honorary degree of "Master of Chiropractic" by that society, making the 12th such degree in the United States. This degree was conferred upon him in appreciation of a lecture he delivered to the graduating class of the National Chiropractic College of that city, during his recent post-graduate work there.
This makes the fourteenth degree held by Dr. Council in his profession. In his post graduate work during the past three months he completed the work in the eye, ear, nose and throat departments of the college, X-ray spinographic work, dissection, and was awarded degrees of D. C. and P. H. C. of the National Chiropractic College of Chicago.
Dr. Council is well known not only in Lubbock and the Plains section of the state, but throughout the Southwest as one of the leading chiropractors in his profession. His work this summer has brought him into national notice.

MAIL CONTRACT FROM SEAGRAVES TO SEMINOLE.
D. E. Bowser this week received an official notice from the Postoffice Department at Washington, stating that he had been awarded the contract to carry the mail between Seminole and Seagraves.
The contract calls for service to begin July 1, and is to be daily except Sunday.
The annual compensation to be $1,400.—Seminole Sentinel.

KING STILL LEADING HUBBER'S BATTING STRING.
John King still leads the Hubber nine in wielding the "Willow," as shown in a statement issued by the official scorer, Joe Kuykendall, yesterday. These averages include only the games played at home by the Hubbers, and do not include the averages of the pitching staff.
King heads the list with a batting average of .383, with Gober a close second hitting .365. The batting average of the team as a whole, not including the pitchers, is a little over .307.

NOTE: Abbreviations mean the following: AB, times at bat; R, Runs, H, Hits; AV, Average; PO, Putouts; A, Assists; E, Errors.

HUBBERS TAKE FIRST GAME OF 2ND HALF BY SLUGFEST

The Hubbers took a new grip on the national sport Thursday when they took the first game of the second half of the season from the Ranger Nitros, and gave them the hardest drubbing of the season in over a two-hour contest on the Nitros' lot. Hard slugging and runs seemed to be the main feature of the exhibition, the Hubbers getting nineteen hits off the delivery of Phillips, the noted Southpaw, while the Nitros succeeded in binging out fourteen off Green and Woodridge. Green was hurt in the first stanza after allowing two hits and three runs, and was replaced by Woodridge, who was in his usual form, sending seven of the Nitro sluggers to the bench with three hefty whiffs to their credit. King holds the hitting honors, getting five out of six, one of which was a three-sacker, with Brown a close second, getting four out of six, including a triple. Fast fielding of the Hubber long distance men robbed the Nitros of several hits, and played a great part in holding them down. The score:

HUBBERS DROP SECOND OF SERIES TO RANGER

In one of the most brilliant baseball exhibitions of the season, the Nitros, by a ninth inning rally, took the second of the series at Ranger Friday, 6 to 5. The Hubbers had a one run lead in the ninth, and seemingly had the breaks of the game, but by Dockery's triple in the ninth with two men on, the Nitros scored the winner, and hung up the victory.

Green and Cantrell allowed the Nitros fourteen hits during the fracas, while the Hubbers were getting eleven off the delivery of Zapalac. King and Brown each hung up two hits out of three trips, while Earnshaw followed close with three out of five. The score:

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL WALLEPS KIWANIS FRIDAY

Friday afternoon on the local park, the Kiwanis again got it "poured on 'em" by the local Methodist Sunday School aggregation by a 11 to 0 defeat in a seven inning contest.

Although the Kiwanis were a little outclassed on account of most of them being "Has Beens" in the national sport, and naturally would be a little stiff-jointed, they put up a hard fight for the contest, but couldn't handle the young talent that went up against them.

Amos Howard and Herb Stubbs, southpaw hurlers for the Kiwanis, showed lots of stuff, but were ineffective against the hard sluggers of the Sunday School nine, they being bingled around whenever desired. Editor Jimmie Dow, star outfielder for the Sunday School, even though he didn't get a trial in the outfield showed his baseball ability by fielding his position and hard slugging.

SEVENTH AND EIGHTH INNING RALLY BEATS NITROS SAT.

Morgan, the lengthy twirler secured from San Angelo recently, hurled the Hubbers to a 5 to 4 victory over the Ranger Nitros Saturday, holding them to eight hits and striking out eight.

The Hubbers were unable to score until the seventh, when they bunched hits off Pyle, counting two runs, then again in the eighth they came back for three runs, putting the game on ice, and chalking up their second victory out of three games against the Nitros.

Errors were partly accountable for the defeat of the Nitros, although the Hubbers were the heaviest hitters, getting ten off the delivery of Pyle, while Morgan was allowing eight.

HUBBERS "BUZZ" FOR DOUBLE-HEADER TODAY

Here we go, boys. The old Hubber aggregation has returned home for a series here of four games, consisting of a double bill today (Tuesday), the first game called at 10 a. m., and the second at 3:30 p. m. The Clovis Buzzers are here and they are here strong. Something is going to "Buzz" around.

"Smoky" Joe Cantrell and Sport Woodridge will probably be the moundmen for the locals, and there is a possibility of seeing the new "Southpaw" in action, depending on who works in Monday's game, as this paper goes to press.

The Hubbers have been playing in a little hard luck during the last two or three series on account of men being crippled, but they are now beginning to get back to the old routine, and it is expected that things will begin to pop. Skipper Allen is fast healing up that crushed thumb, and he expects to get back into that lineup today. "Emma" Gober is now beginning to get to the stage where he can get back in without fear of getting a bingle on a sore spot somewhere, and although John King is gone, Earnie is ready to step into the hole in the outfield, and it looks like the old Hubber boys are going to approach the "Air-tight" mark once more.

The old hard nine is here for only three days on this trip, playing Clovis here, after which they go to Amarillo for three on the 9th, 10th and 11th, returning home on the 12th and take on San Angelo for three, Stamford three, and Ranger three, respectively, closing on the 20th. They then leave home again for ten games, after which they return on July 31st, and play here steady through the 22nd of August, totaling twenty straight on the home lot before leaving for the close of the season away from home.

It is expected that the largest crowd of the season will witness the games on the Fourth, for it is a National Holiday, and the town will be closed all day. Come out to these games, both in the morning and afternoon, and come with your fighting clothes on, for we must take the big end of this series. You grandstand fans and "SIDELINE" rooters, get in there with the "OLD-TIME PEP" and don't forget to "stay" in there. Keep your heads up, even though you are playing a losing game, which, of course, we don't expect. But get the spirit and hold it.

The last game of this series will be played Wednesday, the 5th, but don't forget the time of the double bill on the 4th. The first game will be called at 10 o'clock A. M., and the second at 3:30 P. M. KUM OUT.

MUDDY FIELD LOSES LAST OF SERIES FOR HUBBERS

Sunday afternoon on the Nitros' lot the Hubbers dropped the last of the four game series to Ranger, 12 to 2. On account of a rain in the early afternoon, fielding was almost impossible, and errors galore were featured by both clubs. In fact, it was more a game of comies than of baseball.

Straw was spread on the diamond and set fire, it is said, in an attempt to dry off the field enough to enable the men to at least have enough solid base to keep themselves on their feet, but from all accounts of the affair it was one mud fight after another.

On account of the darkness caused by heavy clouds, and the balls being muddy and wet, the Hubbers were unable to locate the "Apple," and could not hit. This game makes an even week, the Hubbers having taken two out of the four.

ADVERTISING IN MANY WAYS ATTRACTS LARGE CROWDS

You, of course, never heard of anyone taking home a bill board to read what was printed thereon, but nevertheless there are more ways of advertising than one, and Ed Rowley, of the R. & R. Lindsey Theatre, is sure proving that there are more ways of attracting a large crowd than one.

His last advertising stunt is a miniature reproduction of the little red school house, which is placed in front of his show, with an invitation for the people to "kum" see the show. It is artistically built, and very attractive, the curiosity of it naturally attracts one's attention until they have read all about the picture it advertises.

Meantime, this sort of advertising is only secondary. Mr. Rowley uses newspaper advertising to get them to his show, then keeps them entertained with a splendid series of pictures of the very highest class.

Different Ways

"Oh," giggled the frivolous damsel to her beau, "you just ought to see my arms. Mama told me not to go bathing much, but I just would, and I got tanned away above the elbows."

"That's nothin'," put in her small brother, who was hanging around. "Mama told me not to go bathing, but I did, and I got tanned, too, but not on the arms."

Glad News

We are pleased to announce that we have at last discovered a barber who can brush our hair the way we wear it.

Another Mystery

"For a good while we have been reading some stuff in the papers called 'Revelations of a Wife,' but so far we have been unable to discover what she is trying to reveal.

This One Is Terrible

Since hooch containers come in the shape of books, many people are becoming staidious.

Finger Tips

A French doctor with plenty of time on his hands has been specializing in finger nails. He says you can determine the general condition of your health by your finger nails.

If there are white markings on them, your liver is out of working order, and if they are of a bluish tinge, your circulation is bad.

Having proved that the nails are connected with health, why not go a step farther and prove that they are connected with character?

Reading nails might be made as popular as reading palms. It would be a delightful parlor diversion, and quite as legitimate as palmistry as an excuse for handholding.

Here is our own little finger tipster:

If the nails are square, you are of a determined disposition with a tendency to stubbornness.

If the nails are a complete oval, you are of a wide-open disposition and generous to a fault. You will make many friends, and if your collar is as wide open as your disposition, you will be able to keep them.

If your nails are rough, your future will be filled with hard work—and the chances are that your past has been, also. But you will triumph in the end, just as all rough-workers do.

If your nails are slightly pointed, you are fastidious and averse to doing housework and bricklaying.

If the nails are extremely pointed, it looks very much as if your past has had a Chinese influence.

If there is a half moon at the base of the nail, you are of a romantic disposition and enjoy sitting in the park in the evening.

If the nail is highly polished, you have just paid fifty cents for a manicure.

Wistful Yearnings

Lots of husbands wish they were photographers so they could tell their wives to "keep still and look pleasant."

Step by Step

One step and then another,
And the longest walk is ended;
One stitch and then another,
And the longest rent is mended;
One brick upon another,
And the highest wall is made;
One flake upon another,
And the deepest snow is laid.

Then do not look disheartened
On the work you have to do
And say that such a task
You never can get through;
But just endeavor, day by day,
Another point to gain,
And soon the mountain which you feared
Will prove to be a plain.

A Tragedy

I like to watch the cornstalks shake
Their tassels in the breeze
And hear the gentle murmur
Of the wind among the leaves.

But ever comes the awful thought
Which brings the briny tears,
That soon the lovely cornstalks
Are doomed to lose their ears.

Going in the Movies

Every time a person does something out of the ordinary and attracts a moment's attention, you can expect the announcement that he or she is going in the movies.

PACKARD

The tremendous outpouring which greeted the new Packard Single-Six will go down as one of the most significant occurrences in fine car history.

It was probably the first time that such complete and instantaneous approval has been given to a car of the highest class.

It indicates, moreover, that those who desire the dignity and wealth of beauty so typical of Packard, fully recognize the masterful value now presented by Packard resourcefulness.

It would, indeed, be difficult to imagine how one who prizes all that is high and fine in a motor car, could see this latest Packard without giving it immediate and positive preference.

The Methodist Pastor Is Helping To Develop Texline—Has Been Instrumental in Organizing C. of C.

Rev. C. E. Lynn of Texline, is in Lubbock, having come here to be with his son, Winfred, who, on account of heart trouble, was unable to live in the high altitude there. Rev. Lynn is still going about his work in a live, energetic manner, and has certainly accomplished a lot for that community since going there.

Through his efforts, and the close co-operation of other energetic people of that city, a Chamber of Commerce, known as the Texline Luncheon Club, has been organized and affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is to play a conspicuous part in the development of that section of the plains, and Rev. Lynn was enthusiastic when he told an Avalanche reporter that "while we are not exactly in West Texas, we feel that we are a part of this great country, and are proud to be affiliated with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce."

He was elected secretary-treasurer of the Luncheon Club, which has as its objective the development of that section. They have made plans to colonize an eighty thousand acre ranch, cut it up into small farms, which will make it more valuable and more productive of wealth.

That the people of Texline have something with which to draw the very best citizens from everywhere to that community can be seen thru a survey of the many institutions built there recently.

They are just completing a one hundred thousand dollar school building, the F. W. & D. Hotel is being furnished at this time, the total amount of money spent on its construction and furnishing being one hundred thousand dollars. A water and power plant which cost the people of that city seventy-five thousand dollars has been completed and outside of these improvements, a two hundred and seventy-five thousand dollar building program is launched, which, according to Rev. Lynn, will place Texline in class with the leading towns of West Texas.

He is pastor of the Methodist church at that place, and realizes that civic development goes hand in hand with moral development, and is working to the end that Texline may be the biggest as well as the best city in that section.

We heartily congratulate the people of Texline for having secured the services of Rev. Lynn, he having been associated with the Avalanche several months prior to his going to that place, our intimate association with him at that time proved to us his genuineness, and we are sure that the people of Texline will soon learn as we did that anything left to his care will be put over in grand style.

He is a builder, a preacher, a man. The highest conception of one's character such description might convey, will enable one to appreciate him only in part as compared with a complete understanding of his characteristics, and we deem it a privilege of exceptional merit to have been granted association with him, to the extent that we feel we have known one of West Texas' leading citizens, and are appreciative of the great work he is doing for her advancement.

In discussing conditions in Lubbock, Rev. Lynn spoke our sentiments when he said, "I am afraid it is impossible for the people of Lubbock to appreciate the splendor of their home town, and the goodness of its institutions. I am afraid that they are not mindful of the exceptional advantages they enjoy here, which should make us set us and take notice of our attitude toward our home town, its people, our friends and the things that are built here for our convenience.

We are thoroughly sold on Lubbock, and are in hopes anyone who enjoys the advantages of this city, and are yet unmindful of the advantages offered here, will get in conversation with Rev. Lynn and learn of the things here of which we should be very appreciative.

CLAUENE NEWS OF THE PAST WEEK

Clauene farmers are very busy killing weeds. Crops are as fine as could be, but a little more rain would be appreciated, especially as some of the late feed is needing it.

Mr. Elliott made a trip to Lubbock Monday, returning home Tuesday. He went after his household goods, which had just arrived. Mr. Elliott has been here since December, but his furniture has been delayed on the road and they have been "batching." The grit and determination to "hold on" of the Clauene new-comers is wonderful.

Mrs. Nickell had as her guests Monday the following parties: Mesdames, J. L. Thorp, Leonard Thorp, Williams and children.

Mrs. Hoyle Evans of Ropesville, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Swofford last Wednesday. Her sister, Robbie Swofford returned with her to spend a few days.

Mrs. J. L. Thorp spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Teague.

Bill Murray and wife, and Mesdames Palmer, King and Patterson, were Lubbock visitors Tuesday. They attended the ball game between Lubbock and Amarillo, and also the picture show, both afternoon and night.

Mesdames King and Gentry Murray, took dinner with Mrs. John Swofford Thursday. Mrs. Swofford had prepared a dinner, honoring Mrs. King's birthday.

Mrs. Gentry Murray received quite a shock one day last week when she accidentally fell from the running board of a car. She was picked up in rather a dazed condition and was found to be bruised very badly, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Messrs. Dick Shafer and Charlie Miles of Jericho, have been visiting their brothers-in-law, Bill and Gentry Murray. They are well pleased with this country and say they are

C. P. Guess, of Planters and Merchants Mill Addressed Large Number of Farmers Here Last Saturday P. M.

"Concrete roads that would give an outlet and inlet to every productive section in Texas, electric lights in well painted and substantial homes, all the modern conveniences of the average city dweller, could be enjoyed by the farmers of Texas if they received the profits made on Texas cotton." This was the declaration of C. P. Guess, expert textile mill man, and representative lecturer for the Planters and Merchants Mills, with headquarters office at San Antonio, in an address to more than a half thousand farmers on the courthouse lawn Saturday afternoon.

He spoke to the farmers in interest of the farmers, and declared it his intention to see to it that the farmers of Texas are given an opportunity to keep a few dollars of the profits made on Texas cotton, in Texas.

Mr. Guess has some mighty interesting facts and figures on the profits to be made in that work, and this understanding, linked with his willingness to subsidiate his every statement, a clean-cut delivery and oratorical abilities of unquestionable strength and force, Mr. Guess pleased his proposition before his hearers in a most convincing and forceful manner.

He declared that cotton is the greatest plant in existence, and that the people of Texas have something of which to be proud in this State's annual production. He drove home the fact that Texas is realizing less from the growth of this great product than many states in the North, where its growth and cultivation is not known.

"The fact that Texas produces one-fourth of the cotton produced in the United States, and manufactures only one percent of the cotton products manufactured in the United States, stands out as bold emphasis that something is lacking somewhere, and it is up to us to correct that thing." He said by figuring the land on which cotton is grown at a valuation of one hundred dollars per acre, keeping an accurate and exact account of the cost of labor, teams, and incidental farm expenses for a series of five years, the Texas farmer will average making no more than five percent on his investment.

Mr. Guess understands the cotton business in Texas from planting time to buying time, and declared it his intention to correct the present condition of letting Texas farmers produce more wealth than any other people in the States, yet realizing the use of less money. Using a powder puff of exceedingly light weight, and declaring that bales of cotton manufactured into that article, and sold on the markets of the United States would return more profit than any men in his hearing has ever made in the cotton-growing business, Mr. Guess illustrated the theory upon which his talk was based.

The Mill at New Braunfels is nearing completion, and according to Mr. Guess, is equipped with the very latest type of machinery obtainable, and will enable the people of Texas to market their products at home, on a home market, to home people, and keep the profits at home.

Mill Number 2, is to be placed somewhere on the Plains, which location was selected after much consideration and deliberation by the directors of the Company. The strongest argument put up by those favoring the plains, being the fact that owing to ideal climatic conditions, superior soil, and far removal from ravages of boll weevil, and similar insects, this will someday become the leading cotton producing section of the state, and these features combine to make this the practical location for such mills.

E. T. Daniels, ginner and banker of Idalou, and M. Culbertson, vice president and cashier of the Slaton State Bank, are directors in the company.

Plains To Be Made Leader In Seed Wheat

The wheat growing section of the West is what Hamlin Palmer, acting secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, sees the Panhandle as.

Mr. Palmer yesterday sent out letters to commercial club secretaries and directors of the Panhandle-Plains Chambers of Commerce notifying them of the organization of the Southwest Wheat Improvement Association, of which E. R. Humphrey, general manager of the Great West Mill, is a director. Mr. Palmer's letter in part follows:

"I am handing you herewith an announcement of the Southwest Wheat Improvement Association which you will observe is organized for the encouragement of better farming to the end that wheat growing in the Southwest shall produce the maximum yield per acre and be of such quality as to command the highest prices in the markets of the world. You will also note that this is an organization of commercial and business interest co-operating with agricultural organizations.

M. Bainer, who is well known to the agricultural interests of the Panhandle, being formerly agricultural agent of the Santa Fe in this section is managing this campaign. He has stated to the writer that the farmers in the Panhandle belt already have good ideas as to seed wheat selection and he believes that on account of the superior quality of Panhandle wheat, with a little more care and organized efforts, the Panhandle may be made the seed wheat growing section of the West. "The Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce has pledged its support to this movement."

81 CENTS

A lb. for COTTON

DO YOU KNOW?

That the PLANTERS AND MERCHANTS MILLS are building the first cotton mill in Texas to make Gingham at NEW BRAUNFELS, TEXAS?

That with cotton mills paying 20 cents a pound for cotton, gingham cloth sells at least 12-1-2 cents a yard at the mill?

That one pound of cotton makes 6 1-2 yards of gingham cloth?

That cotton when made into gingham sells at the mill for over 81 cents per pound?

That cotton manufacturers have made greater profits than cotton planters?

WHY NOT SHARE IN THESE PROFITS?

That many cotton mills have paid for themselves the first few years of operation?

That only 1 percent of the cotton grown in Texas is manufactured here?

That more cotton mills in Texas means better prices for cotton?

That the textile industry is one of the oldest and most reliable industries paying regular dividends?

That there are Texas cotton mills earning today as much or more than in 1920?

That there are single mills in the North as large as all the mills in Texas combined?

YOU KNOW

You don't send your cotton North to have it ginned, then why send it North to be made into cloth?

That it is costly to ship your cotton North and to foreign countries to have it manufactured into cloth and then buy it back in the "SOUTH" by the yard?

You are well pleased if your farm or business pays you 10 to 15 percent each year. Many cotton mills pay larger returns.

WE ARE OFFERING YOU THE FIRST OPPORTUNITY TO INVEST IN A COTTON MILL.

30 Bushels Per Acre Not Bad For Spring Wheat Near Lubbock

This is a season of exceptional conditions, at least the Avalanche is getting accounts of many exceptional crops, plants, etc., which mark progress on possibilities of extraordinary merit.

Now comes J. I. McDonald, of the Caldwell community, who visited the Avalanche force Saturday to renew his subscription to the paper, and announced that he had forty acres of fine spring wheat, which looks mighty good to him, and all his neighbors join him in the opinion that he will harvest thirty bushels of fine grain from each acre.

Spring wheat in this section is a little exceptional, but we have not made up our minds as yet that it can not be made profitable, and Mr. McDonald substantiates the belief that it can be raised both economically and profitably.

The crop is ripening at this time, and before the middle of July we are sure things will be humming on that farm, and while we are not a believer Mr. McDonald will be, we believe Mr. McDonald will be able to put the stubble land in sudan, or other hay crop, and gather a fine cutting before the visit of old man Jack Frost.

Stay with the wheat raising in this section Mr. McDonald. We are for you.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ewert and Miss Cecile Black, took supper with Mr. and Mrs. D. Pounds, Sunday evening.

The singing was a decided success Sunday afternoon. We were proud to have so many present and we invite everyone back again.

Mr. Harewood had a bad accident last week with a run-away team. They were Earl Davis' mules, and they ran over the fence with him and cut one of the mules very much. He was very fortunate to escape uninjured.

"Hundreds of Innocent Men in the Penitentiaries of America"—Is the Opinion of John J. Oxford, who spent Seven Years in Exile

and styled case, and the court having heard the said motion and the said statement, is of the opinion that the said motion should be sustained; and it is therefore ordered, adjudged and decreed by the court that the said cause be and the same is hereby dismissed and the said J. J. Oxford is hereby released from any further liability under said indictment and accuse and may go hence without day.

The State of Texas, County of Lamb.
I, L. L. French, clerk of the District Court in and for said county and state, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of the original order of the District Court as appears from the original as recorded in the minutes of the District Court, Vol. 1, page 82.

Given under my hand and the seal of the District Court of Lamb County, Texas, this, the 12th day of January, A. D. 1918.

(Seal) L. L. FRENCH, Clerk, Dist. Court, Lamb County, Texas.

When I returned to Texas, the dear, sweet-faced children that had lingered in my memory all these years were gone. They had ceased to exist; they had become other creatures. I had received pictures of them as they grew, but pictures, reason, nor nothing else could remove the memory of them as they were when I left them—the only way I had been able to think of them during the long, weary years of my exile. This shipwreck of life had brought me back to my own only to realize the irretrievable loss. I had to get acquainted with my own children.

My one object now in life is to cry out against injustice. I shall devote the remainder of my life to this one purpose. I cannot believe that I am the only man who has suffered innocently through legal processes. I believe there are hundreds of them now behind the bars of the penitentiaries who were railroaded there, to whose innocent protestations no man listens.

I do not wish to be misunderstood. I seek no legislation to be placed upon the statute books. I believe the American laws are ample and just. But, in literature, I shall flay the evil of MISAPPLICATION of law. From the lecture platform I shall denounce with all the power of my being the PERVERSION of law. I shall urge DISPENSATION of law, to the end that the majesty of the law may be upheld and the guilty only punished. I shall warn young men against the pitfalls of a raging public sentiment, which is a legalized form of mob law, that may hurl them to an unseen destiny.

The hand of Fate thrust forth its mighty grasp,
A helpless victim to make,
Writing in pain beyond expression

past
The soul of a man to wake!
Who art thou, oh, relentless Fate!
That thou dost gloat o'er agony,
Severing ties of love or hate,
In merciless, wicked destiny?
How could I, thee offend
Who did not wrong from begin to end?
Oh, relentless Fate! must thou tell
Why I was dropped to the depths of hell?

AT THE CHURCHES

Methodist
Sunday School attendance fell down to the low tide of four hundred and seventy one, owing to the fact that so many of the members are taking their summer vacations, but the usual amount of collection was received, and good lessons reported from various departments.

Rev. Ferguson preached a very impressive sermon at the morning hour to a large congregation, and was assisted in the sacrament service by Rev. Lynn, pastor of the Methodist church at Texline, who was at one time a resident of Lubbock and has many friends here.

Charley Ferguson, the pastor's son, preached Sunday night, his hearers being especially impressed with his abilities as a minister, and are glad to have him in the church here. He has taken an active part in the various departments, having made a talk to the young men's class in the morning, which was enthusiastically received, and will do a great deal of good in the development of that class.

Arrangements are being made for the opening of the revival meeting which will be opened Sunday morning, a tabernacle is to be built on the lots adjoining the church, that the night services may be held in the open air, and that the large crowds which are expected may be amply provided for. Much work has been done for the success of this meeting, and as Rev. Albert C. Fisher, general evangelist of the Methodist Church, and one of the really big preachers of the South, will do the preaching, we are sure the meeting will be interesting throughout.

Baptist
Sunday School was about the same as usual, with a good crowd, and interest shown in all departments, but like a good many other church services, there was plenty room for more workers, and we would like for our people to become more enthusiastic about the work.

It is quite one thing to be enthusiastic in the class room, and another to be interested throughout the week in the welfare of the Sunday School, and we are of the opinion that if everyone would take at least a minor interest in developing the membership, work on it every day in the week, the school would be bigger, better and more interesting. The morning church service was well attended. Rev. Bowen having spoken on the subj. "The One Flock and the One Shepherd" in his usual capable, forceful manner, eight professions being made at the close of his sermon.

The evening congregation was considerably reduced because of the rain, but a fine sermon was delivered, the pastor using as his text, "Peace."

First Presbyterian Church
Sunday was a great day for the church. Sunday School attendance was large and every one interested and enthusiastic. The house was crowded for the eleven o'clock services and after the services eight people united with the church. The communion was held at this service. The congregation was not so large for the evening hour but a fine service was held. Three more identified themselves with the church. Dr. Frank E. Fincher, evangelist of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church was present with us Sunday and preached at both services. The sermons were timely and enjoyed by all present.

Cumberland Presbyterian
Sunday School services were exceptionally good, and the membership was enthusiastic in its work. Ninety-eight were present, thirty-two absent, thirty-three daily bible readers, with collection totaling four dollars and ninety-six cents.

Morning church services were especially well conducted, the opening prayer was led by Bro. D. P. Peck. Text was found in Exodus 19:26. There was a goodly number of children present, and we were glad to see so many new faces, and good attention was given by all. Bro. Baker delivered a most impressive sermon, asking both Christian and sinner to be on the alert to assist in every way with the revival meeting that begins July 9, at 11 a. m., and the doors stand open to all. Come.

The rain played havoc with the evening service attendance, as there were only a very few present.
