LOCAL NEWS ITEMS FROM THE PLAINVIEW HERALD

James F. Stadler, aged 53, died at his home at corner of Ninth and Denver Streets, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Mr. Stadler has been a resident of Plainview for slightly over a year. Mrs. Stadler has been employed with Jacobs Brothers Company here. Two sons who live in Collin county, and two daughters and a brother were here to attend the funeral, which was held at the Baptist church at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Harlan J. Matthews officiating. Interment was made in the Plainview cemetery. Garner Brothers having charge of the arrangements. Tuberculosis was the cause of his death.

Judge and Mrs. H. C. Randolph have returned from Austin to spend six weeks or two months in Plainview. The judge is a member of a special commission of the supreme court, appointed last winter by the governor. Their son, Leslie, accompanied them to Plainview, but has returned to Austin, preparatory to going to Mexico City, to enter the University of Mexico for the summer.

The district court for Hale county will convene in Plainview on Monday morning, July 7. A heavy docket is in store for the court during the August term. A list of jurors and further information will be announced later.

Col. R. P. Smyth is superintending the installation this week of 2,225 feet of new sewer lines. The long line, 1,325 feet is being put in on West Tenth street, while 900 feet on the new sewer is going in on streets on the east side. While these lines will serve hundreds of people who have been anxious for sewer connections, the Colonel says there is now a demand for approximately 3,000 feet of sewer in addition to that now going in. However, the city is not in a position to install the extra lines just now, he said, though they will be put in at a later date.

The City Council at its regular meeting last night decided to install in the City Hall a jail, in which to house prisoners of the city. The room now being used by the public library, but soon to be vacated by the library in order to move to the room provided for it in the auditorium, will be used for the city as a calaboose. The City Secretary was authorized to get information as to the price for erecting the jail, which will contain two or three cells. Hitherto it has been necessary for the City Marshal, when he made an arrest to take his prisoner to the court house, and if he could not find the sheriff, he was compelled to either let his prisoner go or to sit up with him through the night.

Smith Douthitt was instantly killed early this morning on his farm about ten miles south of the city when he attempted to stop a runaway team and save the life of the small boy who was driving. The team was hitched to a go-devil, and when the horse which Mr. Douthitt was riding collided with them, they and the go-devil passed over his body. Douthitt was 35 years of age, and is survived by a wife and two children. The family had moved to the Plainview country about one year ago from Olney, Texas. He was a renter, living on the farm owned by Dr. E. Lee Dye and Ray C. Ayres.

Young Men of Methodist Church Are Eager to Increase Sunday School And Church Attendance—Working

Lubbock's young men are awakened to the need of church and Sunday School work, and the fact that it takes work to make their participation in the various departments of the church successful, doesn't indicate any unwillingness on their part to go forward, for an invitation committee, composed of the President, Secretary, and Charley Ferguson, of the Young Men's class to urge attendance by all young men in the city, has been functioning properly, as a result of which a letter was mailed to every young man in the Junior Chamber of Commerce here last week urging them to attend Sunday School.

The fact that the class is urging membership and attendance in any and all Sunday Schools makes the letter's publication a matter of interest to all church workers, and we are glad to reproduce it below:

Lubbock, July 21, 1922.
Dear Friend:
We are taking this means of inviting and urging you to line up with a live, progressive class of young men at the First Methodist church. The Young Men's Bible Class of that church extends to you a most cordial invitation, and we believe that you will find in this class an association and instruction that will be of great help and strength to you. Judge Campbell teaches the class and he is doing an excellent work in that capacity.

If you are already a member of some other class, this letter is to request that you increase your interest, be more prompt and regular in your attendance, do more for your class, and allow it to do more for you. The fellowship, the discussions, the spirit of prayer in these class meetings will mean much to you in meeting the problems which confront a young man of today.

If you are not a member of some Sunday School class, we urge you to line up with one, and we invite you to the Young Men's Bible Class. Hoping that you will at least give this matter fair consideration and that you may see your way clear to be with us, we remain,
Sincerely yours,
YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.

Fred Sims, Secretary.

STILL MAKE USE OF MAN-POWER IN CHINA

Life and labor are so cheap in China that men are still used for heavy work instead of machinery or beasts of burden, writes Robert Dollar in The Nation's Business. This was brought home to me very forcibly in the handling of the big timbers which I donated for the rebuilding of the famous Ling Ying temple near Hangchow. This temple was first built in 336 A. D. Marco Polo tells of visiting it. There are caves and shrines of all descriptions.

His Excellency Sheng Kung Pao, learning that Americans were planning to erect a college nearby for the education of Chinese boys, decided to rebuild the central hall of the temple in all its former greatness and splendor—in its day it was the most magnificent of all Chinese temples. For this purpose he ordered twenty-eight of the largest round timbers that could be found in America. I donated these timbers and sent them over on the deck of the M. S. Dollar. They ran in size as long as 125 feet, and 48 inches in diameter at the butt; they were perfectly straight and as fine pieces as ever left America.

At Shanghai the timbers were cut on a raft and taken up the Grand Canal to Hangchow. From there they were carried by coolies over the 5 miles to the site of the temple. Two hundred and fifty men, 125 to each side, handled these great logs. A bamboo pole for each two men was tied to the timber by a small rope, the poles angling slightly to permit the man on one side to carry on his right shoulder and his associate on the other side, on his left shoulder.

SMALL SALARIES SUFFICE IN THE SMALLER TOWNS

When the National Economic Research Bureau completed its investigation of salaries and incomes in the United States, it found that 88 out of every 100 men in this country have an income of less than $2,000 a year. Those who earn $10,000 a year are so rare as to be almost supreme—about one-tenth (as I remember the figures) of one per cent.

However, $2,000 a year isn't so bad as one doesn't live in a large city where he is compelled to pay a big rent for the luxury of living near many other people. In a small place, $2,000 a year may bring very reasonable comfort. But how many who earn $10,000 in a great city could earn even $2,000 in a village? Somehow, it appears that one must come nearer to delivering value in a small place than in a big one. Cities are centers of much useless activities. Think of all the liveried apartment house-door men, eyebrow-pluckers and wash-room bush boys in cities—to say nothing of high salaried publicity agents, assistant vice presidents and such. What chance would any of these have in a sensible little village or on a farm where everybody engages in actual definite business. Fred Kelly in 'The Nation's Business.'

KEEPING THE BEST CALVES FOR REPLACING OLD STOCK

While calves from low-producing cows are saved to maintain the herd on some farms, on other farms and in other sections, where higher-producing cattle are kept, calves from 300-pound cows are kept, because market is found for them as dairy stock. This is an economic waste which, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, the extension organization of Coos County, Oregon, is striving to eliminate.

About 30 calves from the best stock in Coos County were saved last year by arrangements made with farm bureaus of other counties to take them two weeks old at $12 a head, crated and delivered at the express office. Arrangements were also made recently for a representative of the Klamath County extension organization to spend 30 days locating new-born calves of good stock and finding a dairyman to feed them for two weeks before shipment to farmers in his own county.

The reports also say that calves 2 weeks old are shipped safely as far as 500 miles, or for 36 hours' travel; day-old calves can rarely be shipped.

WITH LUBBOCK BUSINESS MEN

George Benson, of the Lubbock Auto Company, made a trip to Dallas last week, looking after the interest of his business. He visited the Ford factory there, and said that in spite of the fact that the company there is producing one hundred and fifty cars daily, the greatest output every known for that factory, it is unable to meet the demand for Fords in the Dallas branch territory.

Mr. Benson has been studying Ford production and Ford sales for some time, and is deeply interested in the work. He brought back with him a Fordson expert, Mr. E. P. Williamson, who will be permanently located here, and will begin within a few days giving demonstrations of that tractor and the farming implements which are manufactured especially for use with it.

A two-row lister is the latest addition to the series of implements manufactured especially for use with the Fordson, and Mr. Benson is sure it will be a winner on the plains.

The following Fords were sold by the Lubbock Auto Company from July 1st to 20th:
H. A. Davidson, 1-ton truck; Inman Grocery Company, light truck; John R. Potts, touring car; M. Olin, sedan; Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, coupe; J. D. Slaughter, coupe; Miss Mable Marsh, coupe; H. Habbinga of Abernathy, touring car; Martin & Wolcott, roadster.

The markets are in adjoining buildings, and Messrs. Sims will be under no difficulties in operating the two stands, as both are good market men, and have in their employ the most efficient workmen available.

Poor oils that can't stand the gaff—are too expensive to use. Any repairman will tell you so.

They cause the vast majority of all engine repairs. They are responsible for low gasoline mileage, weakened engine power, carbon troubles and quick depreciation.

You can save money and troubles by selecting a high quality oil of the right type and using it exclusively.

SUNOCO Motor Oil is made in six distinct types but only one quality—the highest. It eliminates carbon troubles, increases engine power and mileage, reduces repair costs and keeps up the resale value of a car.

Do this at once. Drive your car to the nearest SUNOCO dealer. Have him drain and clean the crankcase before refilling with SUNOCO. You will be repaid—many times over.

SQUAB RAISING

(By F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College)

Pigeons for the production of squabs, is a very profitable undertaking, but like poultry raising, the best results, demand careful attention to details. Squabs are also produced on a large number of general farms, here they are allowed to fly out, in which case they pick up the greatest part of their living.

There is a good demand for well finished squabs in the larger cities like Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, Houston, San Antonio and other big cities. Not only is there a very good demand, but the demand seems to be increasing. In the hotels of many of these cities, squabs are replacing wild game, like quail. We have found that where suitable markets are available, a gross profit of from $2.00 to $2.50 for each pair, over and above cost of feed, each year. In the case of breeding squabs and pigeons for breeding purposes and marketed as such, still greater net returns may be expected.

One of the greatest difficulties is the question of getting good breeding stock as a foundation, especially is this true since it is exceedingly hard to tell the sex and age of pigeons. Too, old stock should not be purchased, and only properly mated pairs are of any value as breeders. Deal with a reliable breeder.

Squab Varieties

There are many varieties of pigeons, but only a comparatively small number of these are kept for squab production. Some of the more popular varieties, for this purpose, are Runts, White Kings, Carneaux, Homers, Maltese, Mondaines, and Hungarians. The first three named are generally considered the most popular squab producers, altho, like in chickens, some people prefer some of the other varieties. Some few breeders make a practice of crossing the Runt and Homer. We do not recommend the general practice of cross breeding.

The Runt, is the largest variety of pigeons. For the very best results, good squab breeders, make a practice of confining every pair of breeders to individual pens. In this manner they will produce better and larger squabs and they will also produce more, and there will be no danger, at least, of other males breaking up a mating. There are seven varieties of Runts, namely White, Blue, Black, Yellow, Red, Silver and Dun. The White variety is the most popular.

The White King is also very popular pigeon, and certainly a beautiful pigeon. They are exceptionally well adapted as squab breeders because in the picking the white pin feathers do not show up as much as in colored varieties or breeds. They are considerably smaller than the Runt. They are very prolific breeders of good sized squabs. In weight they range from Old Cock 24 ounces, Young Cock 22 ounces, Old hen 22 ounces, to young hen 20 ounces.

The Carneaux is also very popular but unlike the White King it is bred in many colors, but the Red and Yellow are the most popular. They are good sized squab producers and also prolific. They are about the size of White Kings, some strains, just a little smaller.

The Homers are kept very extensively, both for the production of squabs, and for the production of exhibition pigeons. Some Homer fanciers, race their pigeons over considerable distances. They derive their name from the fact when released away from home they will fly back home. For this reason, do not allow purchased Homers their freedom, because if you do they will when released, return to the lofts they were raised in. They produce rather small squabs. This has been overcome by some breeders by practicing a selection for size all the time. The Blue and Blue Checked are the most popular varieties.

In selecting pigeons as squab producers, exercise great care, select for size, vigor and prolificacy. Birds that are supposed to have pinkish or light colored legs should be avoided when they have dark skins and legs. When purchasing pigeons it is desirable to buy mated pairs from 1 to 3 years old. Some buy young stock in the case it is necessary to mate them at the proper age. As squab producers, pigeons are most valuable between the ages of 2 and 6 years. In the larger varieties they are mated at an age from 8 to 9 months, in the smaller varieties about two months earlier. When from 7 to 10 days old all squabs intended for breeders and to be sold as such should be banded, so that they can always be distinguished

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS FROM TERRY COUNTY HERALD

Mrs. Stricklin and children left Sunday for Big Spring, to attend the bedside of her brother, Cleve Holden, who got his leg badly mangled in a big pump cogwheel near the Itan tank. He was pumping for one of the oil drill companies that are operating in that vicinity. The company is talking of sending him to Dallas to have skin grafted on his limb.

It is with much sadness that we chronicle the death of the 18-months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Umphress, which occurred last Saturday morning at about six o'clock. It had only been sick a few days. The little body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery Saturday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted at the grave by Rev. J. W. Baughman, assisted by Rev. Wheatley and C. B. Glasgow.

Grandma Watts has at last been released from years of suffering, for on last Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock she peacefully took her flight to God who gave it, at the age of 80, had she lived until the 25th of this month. A Methodist preacher from Lamesa, an old friend of the family conducted the funeral services at the cemetery, and the body was consigned to its last resting place at 2:00 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Notice for bids has been posted at the local postoffice for bids to carry the mail to Lubbock, leaving here on Sunday morning at 9 a. m. and returning after all the noon-day trains have run in that city. Several of the car men are bidding on the job, including a few business and professional men. This will mean much to the business interest of our little city, as well as the convenience of the citizenship.

The contract calls for the service to begin on August 25th.

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

W. W. Ferguson of Becton, was in town Friday transacting business. He is one of Lubbock county's big farmers and we were glad to get his favorable report on farming conditions out in that neighborhood. Cotton is still growing, and can do without rain for some time without damage, and the feed crops are better than they have been at this time of the year for some time, he said.

You owe it to your friends, your neighbors and the world to let the gladness of sunshine radiate around your every day life.

George, Jr., the little son of Mr. and Mrs. George Benson, is able to be about again after having undergone a successful operation in a hospital several days ago. The tonsils were removed one day, and he was able to return home the following day, and through close attention his throat was soon healed, and at this time there is no danger of a return of the trouble with which he has been bothered.

THE COTTON OUTLOOK

The Wall Street Journal, commenting on the present cotton situation and the outlook, says:

"Bureau of the Census reports that in the 11 months between Aug. 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, there were 5,453,361 bales of lint cotton consumed in domestic mills and 6,017,128 more were exported. These figures lead to the conclusion that by the end of the crop year—July 31—there will be about 2,000,000 bales of American-grown lint cotton in the United States, compared with more than 6,000,000 last year. The surplus will barely meet demand until the first week in October when the new cotton ordinarily moves in volume.

"Last year's crop and holdover amounted to 14,511,025 bales of lint, of all grades and classes. Mill consumption and exports of lint, excluding linters, in the 11 months ending June 30, amounted to 11,273,120 bales. Thus the supply of American-grown cotton in the United States on July 1, should be 3,238,900 bales of lint. Consumption and exports have averaged a little more than a million bales a month. At the same rate through July, the surplus on the first of August when the new crop year begins, will approximate 2,200,000 bales. As 354,878 bales of foreign cotton have been imported, the supply of cotton of all kinds should be that much more.

"Cotton moves in August and September, but not in volume. Last year, the crop was early and picking stimulated by a price ranging around 20 cents. By the end of September, 1,750,000 bales had been brought into sight and in each of the two preceding seasons the average was 1,000,000. So, it is not until October that an adequate supply has usually come into sight. This year the movement may be slower because the co-operative marketing associations will control about one-third the crop. October is surely the earliest date on which consumers can expect an adequate supply of new cotton. By that date, the Aug. supply of old cotton should be exhausted and nothing left for the 1922-23 season except what is raised and picked this year. Perhaps never before has the cotton market faced such a situation."

"Our own view of the situation is not precisely the same as the Wall Street Journal's, for we do not think there will be such a scarcity of cotton during August to warrant its being designated as a 'cotton famine,' as the Wall Street Journal has repeatedly predicted. But there will be a certain and steady demand for every bale that comes into sight during the whole of the cotton year of 1922-23, and it is altogether probable that the Wall Street Journal's 'cotton famine' will arrive just about the time the 1922-23 crop season is coming to market. That means two things: First that cotton will command a good price throughout the coming cotton year; and second, that we shall have a sufficiently accurate idea of the probable situation ahead by next Spring to determine whether a maximum of acreage can be safely planted next year. The indications are that we can plant the face of the earth with cotton next Spring, but we shall know in plenty of time.—Star-Telegram.

If the Klans are so loyal to their home town, we do not see why they do not have their letter-heads printed by the local printers. The local paper has much to do with the growth and development of the country, and should have the support of the people who make up the population of the town. The Avalanche would like to get in touch with the fellow who places the order for printing and get a contract for furnishing the stationery for this section of the country at least. Come on fellows, be reasonable with us and let us have some of your printing work.

The presence of the Klans in Lubbock Sunday night has done one thing and that is to relieve the minds of a lot of people as to whether or not there was an organization of this order in Lubbock. They are right here fellows and you had better toe the line if you don't want to be visited by them, and taken to a cleaning. They have been indeed very orderly here, but they may just be waiting for somebody to start a rough house in order to show their strength.

Marvin Jones is in the district now for two weeks. Why not have him come down and look over Lubbock's postoffice facilities and let him know that we are in real need of a new building and larger facilities to handle the mail situation in Lubbock. Lubbock is the distributing point for a large territory, and there is an immense amount of mail distributed from this office, and we just simply need more room.

Church going is getting to be a habit with the people of Lubbock of late. There have been good attendance at the revival meeting at the Methodist church, and the Cumberland Presbyterian people just closed a very successful meeting Sunday night. Back to God and to the church should be the slogan of American people. The trouble with America today is that her people are living too far away from God.

Lubbock is attracting greater attention just now than any other town in the country. A very influential man who has been traveling over the State remarked a few days ago that Lubbock showed greater activity than any town that he had visited. It is just wonderful how rapidly Lubbock is growing, and how fast the Lubbock section is developing. Come to Lubbock.

With the letting of the contract for the new school building and with the extension work on the water and sewer plants here, there is going to be a lot doing in this city within the next year. Still the big building program of the business section of the town and the residential section is being worked out and extended. There is always something doing in Lubbock.

The Klans were in evidence Sunday night as will be seen by a report from the Cumberland church where a number of them made their appearance and gave out a letter and donated a few dollars to the pastor.

The election no doubt showed up a lot of surprises. We are satisfied that every candidate had it figured out that he would be the lead man and does not know how in the world it all happened, but it happened just the same, to some of them.

The fact that Lubbock City bonds were sold within a few days after they were voted shows that Lubbock's financial condition is very favorable.

Artillery Company Inspected Here And Approved by the Government; Equipment Is Now Being Received

Lubbock is now reaping her reward for the efforts put forth by local people to secure a battery of field artillery here, and that fact was thoroughly realized last week when about one hundred boxes of equipment was received by the battery commander, and work was started immediately unpacking and assembling the equipment in the various departments that the boys might be given their issue in the least time possible.

Our first glimpse at the khaki-clad locals was at the shop Thursday evening, when one of the printers and another one of the Guardsmen came in to let us have a once-over at them, and those fellows certainly looked good in soldier clothes. They are taking keen interest in the work, and the commander and officers are finding no difficulties whatever in getting all the work from them necessary to keep them in trim for training, at which they are becoming very efficient.

We are strong for the citizen soldiery, and are glad that the young men who desire to receive training in that work may stay right here at home, and be trained by men who know the work as well as any other group of men anywhere, and that the whole force are given a two weeks' extensive training course at the various cantonments once each year.

Lieutenants Bouillion, Mitchell and Griffith will entrain the last of this week with thirty or forty of the local soldiers for Fort Sill, Okla., where they will spend two weeks' extensive training. This trip will be a valuable one indeed, and we are glad to know that the boys have been so interested in the work, that they have requested their officers to give them a great deal of extra training this week, which will toughen them for the Fort Sill work, and will help them to make a good showing as soldiers of some knowledge of the work. Their officers are all ex-service men of exceptional service records, and are also enthusiastic about the work.

The Armory is the place of much interest at every drill period, and as the boys have used the street in front of this office as training grounds, we have had an opportunity to observe the alertness with which they go about the drill practice, and believe that in them the United States has a bunch of men who will be one hundred per cent efficient and effective at any time called upon, and the service they are now rendering is indeed commendable, and those men are being trained to take a leading place in the defense program of the country.

We believe that in bringing the service to the boys instead of sending the boys to the service, the government has devised a means of interesting the most alert youths in the country in the work, and in keeping them at home doesn't only help them to learn the lessons of citizenship both as a civilian and as a soldier, but in keeping them here, gives the younger boys an opportunity to follow their examples as soldiers and as men.

All Lubbock is proud of her soldiers, and will remain proud of them. They are the type of men which the country needs most, and are always alert to the needs of their government, their town and community.

Keep an eye on the activities of the Battery, and read what Col. Mullican has to say about what Lubbock will have to do to complete arrangements to have the artillery and horses brought here. Let's go.

SEWER AND WATER BONDS SOLD TO W. A. MYRICK

The $150,000 Sewer and Water Extension bonds, voted for the city of Lubbock July 18, were sold to W. A. Myrick of Dallas, par net, purchaser to pay printing costs, and attorney fees for approval of bonds.

This is indeed a favorable report to make on the sale of those bonds, and shows that the city of Lubbock is being looked upon as a sound investment by the financiers of the country. The bonds were sold immediately after the election, Mr. Myrick having made higher bid than any other purchasing agent.

DODGE BROTHERS COUPE

You will realize, the moment you see this coupe, how perfectly it fulfills a very real need.

It was designed and built by Dodge Brothers in response to that need—long-standing and often-expressed by people in all parts of the world.

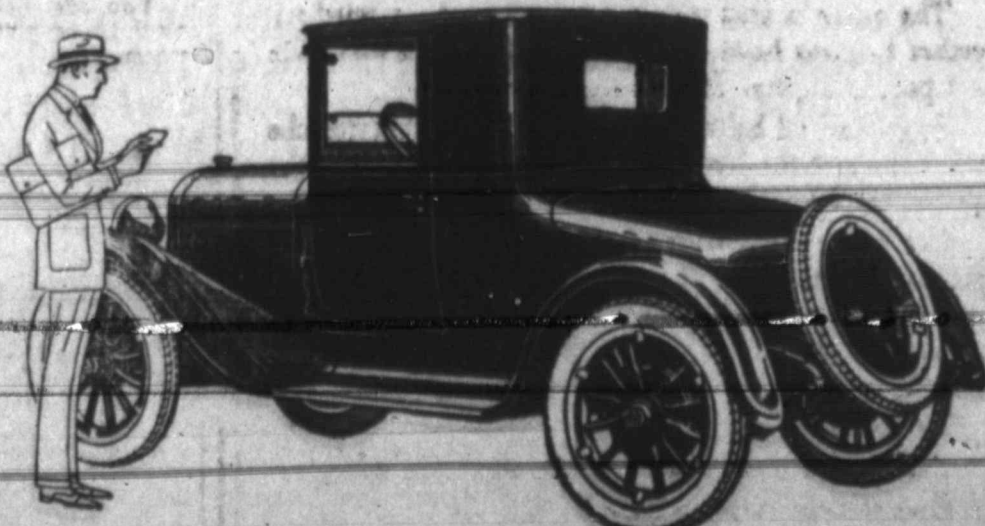

With Dodge Brothers chassis as a starting point, it only remained to create a coupe body which would unite the usual coupe refinements with greater lightness, hardihood and economy.

The world now knows how this was accomplished. An entirely new precedent in closed car construction was established. The body is built of steel.

Moreover, the deep comfortable seat is upholstered in genuine leather. The doors are exceptionally wide. The rear compartment will hold a small steamer trunk and other luggage. The enamel, baked on the steel at high temperature it readily restored, after hard usage, to its original lustre.

In every detail the car reflects the purpose of the builders—to make it a practical car of universal appeal.

WHAT OTHERS SAY AND HOW THEY SAY IT

HURRY Hurry is a chronic American disease, an evil habit that has fastened itself, cancer-like, on our life, and has sent its roots deep down into our vitals.

Hurry is not speed. It is not energy. It is not the opposite of slothfulness. It is not a means by which great ends are accomplished.

A study of the men of affairs, who have made, or are making, history, will demonstrate that hurry is not a characteristic of the man who is doing things worth while.

There are exceptions, of course, but almost invariably the man of affairs is deliberate. He accomplishes much, but he does it calmly, measuredly, and according to schedule.

His schedule is so planned, perhaps, that every moment of the working day is assigned, but there is sufficient time for each task when its time comes. He does not hurry. The hurrying man is one who, with immature plans, is trying to keep up with a poorly arranged schedule, and is always a little behind.

Hurry, because it involves lost motion, makes for inefficiency. Some men imagine that hurry is a virtue, that their feverish activities help to keep them in the limelight.

Such activities may impress some persons, but not those who read below the surface.

Among the most reprehensible of the hurry tribe are those to whom traffic rules are anathemas, and who are willing to take long chances to save 10 minutes on a trip to or from town.

It is this class that furnishes the daily menu of automobile casualties.

Perhaps the most effectual punishment for this type of individual would be to give the traffic officers authority to order every speeding car to the side of the road, and there padlock it for half an hour, or more, according to the gravity of the offense. Another class of the hurrier who, however, injures only himself, orders and eats his meals with a rush. One chef is quoted as saying that the curse of American cooking is the injunction, "Rush this order, please." Neither good preparation of food nor good digestion goes with such an order.

Whoever is living a hurried life is living a poorly planned, disordered, nervous, inefficient life, and is meanwhile rushing the undertaker!

THIS FRIGHTFUL WASTE OF TIME

About 1,250,000 persons are now idle because of strikes in railroad, coal mining and other industries. This voluntary cessation of work entails a loss of approximately 10,000,000 man hours of work each day and their families is not less than $6,000,000 a day and may reach $10,000,000 a day. It is a little easier, perhaps, to visualize the magnitude of this waste if it be said that the labor of 100 men working 300 days a year for 30 years would be required to offset the time now being lost in idleness every day.

In addition to all this, consider the loss of time and money and of production of those who have not voluntarily quit their employment. Every day that this strike condition exists more and more persons are engaged in secondary or allied industries are thrown out of work because their employment is dependent on the railroads or upon fuel furnished by the mines.

How long will it be before the forces of labor and capital find some way to avoid this vast, unnecessary waste—loss to production that never can be made up?—El Paso Herald.

Hurlbut Building $10,000 Home On West Broadway

And still Lubbock keeps growing. A contract was let to the local builder, E. L. Noey last week for the erection of a brick residence on Broadway for Claude Hurlbut, calling for the expenditure of ten thousand dollars.

The Hurlbut home will be on the block adjoining the George C. Wolf-farth property, on a one hundred and fifty feet front in the center of the block, the yard to be terraced, and beautified in keeping with the substantiality of the building.

The residence will be a one-story flat roof structure, with seven rooms and all modern conveniences, and when completed will be one of the most beautiful homes in Lubbock.

Mr. Hurlbut is a young man and has been in Lubbock some time during which time he has proven himself a progressive citizen, always looking to the development of his surroundings with a view of making Lubbock just a little better at every move.

He is a member and ex-officer of the local Kiwanis club, and seems to have the slogan, "We Build," down pretty well.

That double bill at Abilene Saturday showed up to be quite a "Jonah." Pep Hornsby, the Eagles' left fielder, suffered a broken leg in two places when he crashed into the fence after a fly ball. Abilene's star receiver, went out of the game in the second with a badly sprained ankle, and Benn—the Clovis second-sacker, broke a bone in his right leg when he slid home in the first contest. Quite a lamentable double header for both clubs.

Speaking of Clubs A club is a steam-heated institution, with chairs facing the street. The chairs are usually upholstered in red plush, and the occupants of the chairs are usually upholstered in stocks and bonds.

The first clubs were used by men in the stone age who were hunting wives. The earliest historic reference to club life in America was when the Indians started to club John Smith to death, and the chief's daughter interfered.

Nowadays clubs are frequented by men hiding from their wives rather than hunting them. Some club members are bachelors; the rest have wives in the country, at art lectures, or in Reno.

Clubs are well supplied with newspapers—which are used by the members both for reading and relaxing. If caught dozing, the paper affords a good alibi; it also gives a certain privacy.

Every good club used to have a bar. The reason they had a bar was because the members didn't care about rushing out with a tin bucket every time they became conscious of a thirst. As a rule they remained conscious of a thirst until they became unconscious.

Now that clubs no longer have bars they are not as popular as they were. As soon as a few more bootleggers are admitted to membership, however, their popularity will revive.

This car represents a new and important achievement in commercial transportation.

For the first time in motor car history, business men are enabled to buy a closed car, the body of which is built throughout of steel.

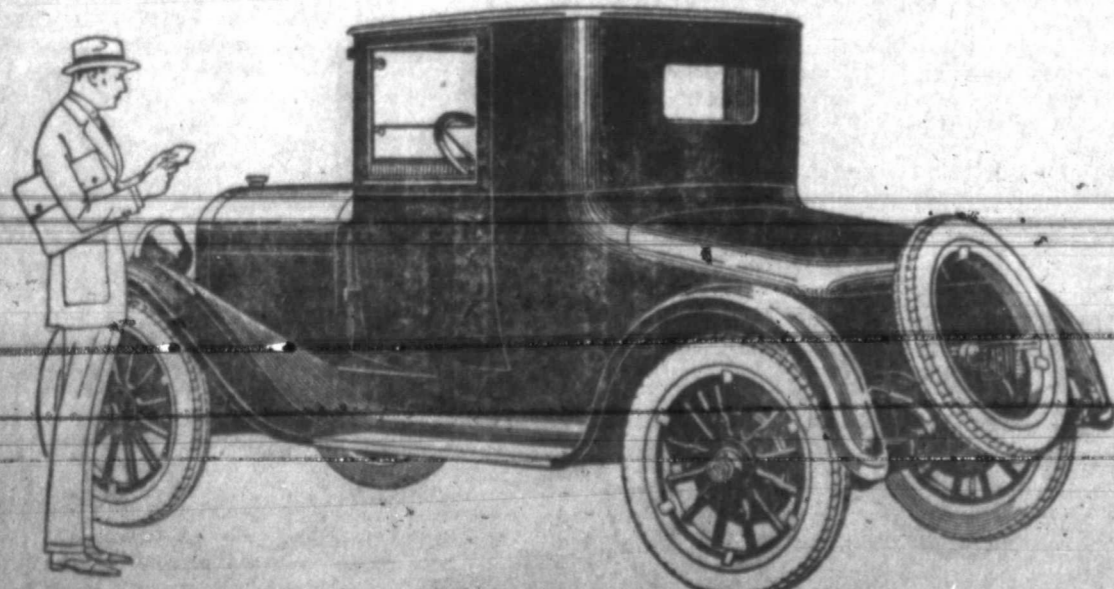

The advantages of this all-steel construction—reserved until now to open cars—are particularly marked in a coupe built to weather the wear and tear of hard commercial usage.

Immediately you will be impressed with the beauty and lightness of this coupe. Time will convince you of its unusual stamina. The doors snap neatly shut. Body squeaks are eliminated. Dodge Brothers enamel is baked on the surface of the steel—a permanent lustrous finish, impervious to wear.

The interior is roomy and thoughtfully equipped with every appointment necessary to the owner's comfort and all-weather protection.

Business houses that equip their salesmen with motor cars have been quick to recognize in this coupe a very unusual investment.

CONTEST INTERESTING PHASE OF YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

The young people's meetings held at the Methodist Church for one hour before the regular meeting hour, are creating more interest every day, and there is a constant growth in attendance.

Green and gold are the contesting colors, with Rev. Charles Ferguson, captain of the Golds, and Miss Blanche Brown, captain of the Greens, and the Greens have a decided lead over the Golds at this time.

This contest is on to create interest in the meetings, and there is ample room for more workers to join hands with one or the other of the sides and really accomplish something for the church.

Scoutmaster W. A. Bowen Gives An Interesting Account of the Scout Trip to Lake Near Post City

We are glad to print below an interesting account of the Boy Scouts' camping trip, kindly furnished us by Rev. W. A. Bowen:

According to promise, the writer left early last Monday morning with a large number of the boys for a three days' camp at the lake near Post City. Before leaving we had all the requests and admonitions that are only natural, and to be expected, from anxious, loving mothers, but all of which we, of course, promptly forgot. Doubtless the mothers will disagree with me when I say that most mothers just don't understand boys. They underestimate the boy's ability to care for himself. This is due, in part, to the fact that when mother is present she does everything for the boy, as she does for her husband, consequently she comes to feel that he just can't get along by himself. They also forget that there must be a kind of special providence that watches over boys. Let the mothers lose whatever confidence they may have had in the Scoutmaster's ability to care for the boys, we will not say anything in particular about our activities, except that we had a glorious good time, no accidents, and all the boys were returned, somewhat blistered and tired, but more able to take care of themselves than before.

We are frank to say that, in our several years' experience in boys' work we have never had a finer, more obedient, congenial set of boys together. There was no quarreling, no snobbery, no cliques. A few of the younger boys were there for their first trip, and hardly knew how to adjust themselves in the beginning, but this soon disappeared. It is a fine thing for a boy to discover his proper relation to the crowd and how to fit himself into that relation, and how to enter into the spirit of the crowd. It helps to get him out of his baby ways which ought to be done, once he has reached the neighborhood stage. Only one boy, who had seven hundred wives, could answer, intelligently, all the questions submitted to a scoutmaster on a camping trip. New situations call forth many questions, often repeated. Multiply the ordinary number of questions by ten, then by the number of boys present, and you will be somewhere in the right neighborhood. It seems that we answered questions in our sleep.

In a camp of eight or ten days we have found it more satisfactory and economical for each boy to pay a certain amount of money and let the Scoutmaster and his committee buy the provisions and hire a cook to prepare it, but for a short stay each boy is allowed to provide his own lunch and do his own cooking. Unless you have been on such a trip you can have no idea just how few of the little necessities, conventionalities, and sanitary measures of the dining-room and home are really necessary.

The boys are indebted to the Lubbock Rotary Club, who bore the greater part of the expense of the trip; to Mr. Sensabaugh, who was untiring in his effort to make every provision necessary for the pleasure of the occasion; to the Texas Utilities Company for their donation of six hundred pounds of ice; to the mothers who came the last day and served a splendid dinner, with cake and cream in abundance; to Mr. Tomlinson and wife, who have charge of the lake and grounds. These good people showed us many courtesies, and did all they could to see that our stay was a pleasant and happy one.

Of late we are finding it impossible to meet with the boys, with any degree of regularity, so we are installing Mr. O. F. Sensabaugh, our Express Agent, as Scoutmaster. He is one of the best qualified men in Lubbock for this work, and of late has borne most of the responsibility, and has given a great deal of time to it. We are happy to have him take charge of the work and let us take the place of assistant, rendering such service as may be in our power to render.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Liming, of San Antonio, passed through Lubbock Saturday enroute home from a visit with relatives at Wichita, Kansas, and were accompanied home by Mrs. Liming's mother, Mrs. L. H. Shelton of Lubbock, and sister, Mrs. H. B. Taylor of San Antonio. Mrs. Taylor will go from San Angelo to her home, and Mrs. Shelton will return to Lubbock within another month.

HAS NEW SPORT! JACK HOLT DEEP SEA DIVER NOW

Star of "The Man Unconquerable" Finds Diving Really Fascinating. Jack Holt is now a deep sea diving enthusiast! This new thrilling sport was added to the Paramount star's polo and other outdoor diversions during the filming of "The Man Unconquerable," in which he stars at the R. & R. Lindsey theatre next Wednesday.

The locale of the story is the South Sea Island pearl fisheries and Jack plays the role of a New York owner who goes to the islands to investigate his interests and finds no end of graft, greed and conspiracy, which he has to overcome by taking the law into his own hands. When the company went to a Southern California beach location to take some of the pearl diving scenes, Mr. Holt found that a number of copper helmets and rubber diving suits had been taken along for the divers. Although the star was not required in any senses, to descend into the water, the adventure of the thing fascinated him and he donned one of the suits and helmets and descended to the bottom of the ocean. Thereafter, every day during the stay on location, he made the descent into the depths and became quite enthusiastic over the novelty and adventure of the experience. Sylvia Breamer is his leading woman.

A. V. WEAVER TO BUY COTTON AT CORPUS CHRISTI

A. V. Weaver and family left last week for Corpus Christi, where Mr. Weaver will enter the cotton market, and will remain there until the crop is picked in that section. The trip will not be a business one, altogether, as they expect to spend some time fishing along the streams of that section, and we are in hopes that they will have an ideal vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Norwood returned to their home here last week, after having spent some time along the southern coast. They were heartily welcomed on their return.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ACTIVITIES AND NEWS ITEMS BY L. T. MARTIN, Secretary

A Resolution Whereas, the people of the United States of America, their moral and physical welfare are at this time seriously threatened by a dominance of the transportation facilities and fuel supply by a small percentage of the population through the medium of strikes to enforce their demands;

And, Whereas, properly constituted authority acting under sanction of the Government of the United States has been ignored in the adjudication of these demands;

And, Whereas, many overt acts have been committed directly attributable to the attempted enforcement of these demands in which life and property of the people of the United States have been sacrificed; And, Whereas, the said people as a whole are the bearers of the burdens arising from these conditions; Now, therefore, be it resolved by this organization that we deplore the conditions that have arisen whereby the laws of constitutional government have been disregarded to the detriment of the people of the United States of America;

That we accord to every worker the right to cease labor as he may see fit;

That we accord to every worker his contractual right of laboring in all legitimate occupations without fear of molestation to himself, his family, or his property;

That we not only accord to any individual or class of individuals the right to interfere with the production of legitimate labor or with the transportation or distribution thereof;

And be it further resolved that this organization stand squarely behind the decisions of the Labor Board of the United States of America affecting these matters and that we call upon all commercial organizations to do likewise, and to make their own Government, the United States.

And be it resolved that this organization urges that immediate steps be taken by all properly constituted, local, state, and national authorities to insure a complete protection for every man in Texas in his right to work without interference of bodily attack; that when in spite of protection attacks are made, the offenders be searched out vigorously and dealt with as called for by law, and that public announcement be made in all communities that these precautions have been taken and that lawlessness will be drastically suppressed.

Adopted this 21st day of July, A. D. 1922, at Lubbock, Texas, by LUBBOCK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Walter Posey, President. L. T. Martin, Sec'y-Manager.

HUBBERS SHIFT LINEUP; RELEASE-BROOKS & BRISCOE

Some radical changes have been made in the Hubber line-up since the last series at home. Briscoe has been released, and by a deal closed Thursday between Ranger and Lubbock, we now have one of the best shortstops in the West Texas League in the person of Jimmy Flagg, former manager of the Ranger Club. He was released by the Nitros and signed by the Hubbers, and in like manner Brooks was released by the locals and signed by Ranger. Flagg reported to the Hubbers Friday in the opening game with the San Angelo Bronchos. Outside of being one of the best shortstops in the league, he is hitting up around the top, and is going to be a valuable asset to the club. We were advised by Skipper Al-lea Thursday night before he left here that Jack York, who was with the club last year at Ballenger, and played the first half of the season in the T. & N. O. League, was to join them at San Angelo Friday in the opening game. He will work around the initial sack; Speegle will in all probability be sent to the outer rim, and Earnie will be pulled in to second. York will bring a "Southpaw" pitcher with him, but it is unknown at this time who he is, or where he hails from. But he comes with the highest recommendations as a pitcher.

These changes are going to strengthen the club to an unlimited degree, and believe me, fellows, things are sure looking up, and these old Hubber boys are going to make themselves felt during the balance of this second half. Although we are playing in fourth place now, we are not so far behind the leading club, so here we go for that second half. Stay in there fans—it can be done and we are going to do it. FIGHT.

HUBBERS TAKE LAST OF SERIES AT HOME

Woodriddle was again wild in Thursday's game, and allowed Ranger four runs in the first two innings, but tightened up and shut them out for the rest of the fracas, the Hubbers chasing the winning run in the tenth, taking the contest 5 to 4.

Although Ranger was outthit, they seemed to have the edge on the game, and not until the eighth were the locals able to tie the count. Then in the tenth with the bases full and one out, Speegle laid one down and scored the winning run. Both Woodriddle and Roberts were hit hard, but they were kept well scattered, angford and Brown for the locals, shared equally in the hitting honors, getting three out of four, while Craig for the visitors equaled their record. The score:

Score by innings: Lubbock 1-0 11 010 010 1-5 15 1; Ranger 2-02 000 000 0-4 12 1

TEN INNING GAME HALTED BY DARKNESS AT ANGELO

Darkness halted the opening game of the Hubbers against the San Angelo Bronchos in the tenth Friday, with the score standing 5 to 5. Four runs were gotten off Sparks, the new Southpaw, in the second, and he was sent to the showers in the third when another was counted, being relieved by Cantrell, who held the Bronchos scoreless thru the balance of the contest.

Cokee was jerked from the mound in the seventh after the tying run had been chased. The Hubbers could not produce the winning run in the tenth after loading the bases. Errors were frequent. The score:

Score by innings table for the game at Angelo.

Summary: Runs, York, Brown, Robison, Scoggins, Moore; errors, Scoggins, Speegle, Flagg 2; sacrifice hits, Earnshaw, Greer, Claiborne 2; double plays, Claiborne to Scoggins; struck out, by Moore 7, by Morgan 2; bases on balls, off Morgan 0, off Moore 2; stolen bases, Speegle; time of game 1:42. Umpires, Cokee and Cantrell.

Swede Swenson, the pitcher-catcher of the Hubbers, received a very painful injury in Thursday's game while receiving for Woodriddle against Ranger. A foul tip caught the first and second fingers of his right hand, turning back the nail and a portion of the flesh on the second finger, and removing a part of the nail from the first.

At this time it is thought that it will only be a few days until Swede will again be in shape to resume his active duties unless complications set in, but the accident is regrettable inasmuch as Swede not only is a winning twirler, but is a receiver behind the plate, that is hard to beat.

Jackson is making GOOD WITH STAMFORD. It will be remembered by the local fans that last week Gilbert Jackson, son of our townsman, G. Jackson, manager of the Long-Bell Lumber Company of this place, signed with the Stamford Colonels. "Jack" is making himself a reputation in baseball with this club, not only in his fielding, but in hitting. In a game against Sweetwater recently when the Stamford club got only six hits off Fleharty, Jack sent out a triple and a single out of three times up, and worked aright around the second sack.

Jack played last year with Clarendon College, and was largely responsible for many wins of that institution. In a true sense of the word he is yet just a "kid," but by the start he is getting in the world of baseball, he is going to be hard to beat. The old saying, "You can't keep a good man down," will probably apply in his case. Stay in there, Jack.

WALTER WORD QUILTS SWEETWATER STAFF. Sweetwater, July 22.—Walter Word, probably the most popular ball player that ever wore a local uniform, was granted his unconditional release (at his own request) Wednesday and departed Thursday morning for his home in Higgins, Texas. Fans over the entire circuit and every individual ball player in the league will regret to learn of Word's decision to retire from baseball for the 1922 season, for it is seriously doubted that if anywhere in organized baseball, and the game is played throughout the whole United States, there was a more popular performer than that sterling right-hander, consistent hitter and polished gentleman.

The many local friends of the Rev. George S. Wyatt, former pastor of the First Methodist church here, were grieved to hear of his death in Amarillo last Sunday. Rev. Farm Population of Texas Biggest of Any Other State

Washington, July 17.—Texas leads all states in the actual number of its farm population, the department of commerce announced today. The Texas farm population numbers 2,277,773, or 48.4 per cent of the total population of the state.

Not all of Texas' farmers live on farms. There are 935 persons listed as farmers living in Texas towns of about 25,000; 1,288 living in towns of between 10,000 and 25,000 population, and 9,818 living in towns of between 2,500 and 10,000. The actual number of persons living on farms is 2,265,734.

Of adjoining states to Texas the farm population is as follows:

Arkansas, 1,147,049, or 65.5 per cent of its total population; Louisiana, 786,050, or 43.7 of its total; Oklahoma, 1,017,327, or 50.2 per cent of its total; New Mexico, 161,446, or 44.8 per cent of its total.

The farm population of the entire United States is 31,614,269, or 29.9 per cent of the total population of the country. Of this number, 31,358,640 were enumerated in rural territory, and 255,629 on farms located within the limits of cities and other incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more.

It was explained by the department that it defines a farm to include any fruit or market garden, poultry yard, dairy or apiary which either yielded $250 worth of products or required for its operation the continuous services of at least one person.

BOY SCOUTS SAVE LIFE OF DROWNING COMPANION

Lamesa, July 18.—Will Creighton of this place, while on a visit to Abilene last week, went swimming with two other boys, one of whom sank. Young Creighton attempted to bring him to the surface but the drowning boy clinched him so tightly that they both went down. Remembering his Scout lesson Creighton kicked the boy loose and called for help. The two boys brought the apparently drowned boy to the surface, and again remembering his Scout lessons for resuscitating drowned persons, the boys set to work, using the body of one in the place of a barrel or log, they were able to restore the apparently drowned boy to life.

The unexpected death was indeed a shock to his many friends and relatives.

Birthday Party

Edward Simmons entertained a few of his little friends on Tuesday afternoon, celebrating his sixth birthday.

They met at his home at 3:30 and from there went to see Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid," afterwards going to Martin's, where they were regaled with ice cream. This did not end the pleasure of the afternoon but another hour or so was spent in playing on the courthouse lawn, where they were again served cream.

Those enjoying this occasion were J. L. Stimpson, Jr., Harold Dow, Howard Martin, John Bill Spencer, Frank Duncan, Gaston Shaw, Jr., Buster and Jack Moxley, W. C. Barnett, Jr., and E. C. Simmons, Jr.

Kid Party

Mrs. Gaston Shaw entertained Wednesday afternoon with a "Kid" party, in honor of Misses Louise and Ruth McKee and their guest, Miss Mary Nan Meberg of Plainview. As the guests arrived punch was served by little Misses May Tom Simmons, Lorraine Richards and Frances McKee. The little girls, ages from six to ten (apparently), were quite charming in really short dresses and socks. Long curls and big hairbows were also in evidence. The afternoon was spent in playing games suitable to their years, such as Farmer in the Dell, Needle's Eye, etc.

Ice cream cones were served on the lawn.

Those present were Misses Irene Lowrey, Blanche Bean, Blanche Bacon, Charlie Jackson, Margaret and Pearl Henstey, Eppie Edsall, Sylvia Wilson, Bertie Lee Groce, Cecil Sims, Eunice Hutson, Grace Watkins, Evelyn Reid, Vivian Powell, Floy Pryor, Margaret Dupre, Mrs. M. PILOT THOMPSON AGAIN VISITS THE CITY OF LUBBOCK

"And then they say that it is dangerous to fly"—might be the way to sum-up the record established by Pilot Thompson who spent several days in Lubbock this week with his passenger plane. Pilot Thompson when he was discharged from the Air Service after the war bought standard parts of wings, wires, struts, motors, etc., from the government and built a plane of his own at a very reasonable cost. He started out to fly for his own pleasure—just like you would buy a fivver and drive around over the country. His friends began to ask him to take them for trial flights—and gradually he grew into the passenger carrying business.

In the past three years he has flown more than 300,000 miles and has carried more than 15,000 passengers. His flights have ranged from 8 minutes to six hours and from five miles to 500 miles. Some of his cross country records stand out as exceptional. He has flown in all sorts and kinds of weather, in daylight and dark, alone and with as many as four passengers and has never had a serious accident.

Of course he has blown out a few tires, scratched the fabric a time or two, split a propeller now and then but nothing of serious nature. He is his own mechanic, makes his own adjustments and repairs and is always ready to go.

His plane has never been in a hanger more than thirty days during the whole three years. It has taken rain, the winds, ice, snow and what not else.—Now and then he has recovered the wings, put in new wires, new parts and tuned it up—ready to go again.

Ex-Pilot Keen who has taken a number of flights with Thompson all over West Texas, declares that he is one of the safest, most conservative pilots he ever flew with. "He has given me some mighty nice, smooth stunts, but he does not do stunt flying with passengers. He knows his plane, takes care of it himself and can be depended upon. He has covered every town from San Angelo to Denver from one to a dozen times and is well known in each of them. We always like to see him 'drop in to see us.' If you have never had a flight it certainly is worth the money. And as for safety, why, a flivver on a Lubbock street is a lot rougher and twice as dangerous. It will surprise you—how simple and easy it all is—and how secure it feels while you are in the air. As for getting dizzy—it makes no difference whether you can stand on a chair or not without falling—you can fly just as high as they go without ever having the slightest sensation of dizziness. If there was ever a country made to be flown over it is the plains country. Ten years from today there will be more planes in Lubbock county than there are high priced automobiles now. If a man has $4,000 to put into a motor vehicle he will use wisdom in buying a $3,000 plane and a Ford, Overland or Dodge car. They are fast enough for the short distances around town and within ten miles of town—your plane is a lot faster and safer and less expensive to operate on the long runs.

"You can fly safely and comfortably in almost any kind of weather that you can drive a car in—and chug holes don't bother you—and the dust never gets in your eyes."

But then you know Keen's failing when he gets to talking about anything he believes in. But his argument is backed up by several other pilots over West Texas who keep in touch with the development of the flying game.

$22,000 WRAP WORN BY SEENA OWEN IN "PAY BACK"

A chinchilla wrap that cost $22,000 is used in "Pay Back," a Paramount picture, created by Cosmopolitan Productions that will be presented at the R. and R. Lindsey beginning Thursday next. The wrap is worn by Seena Owens, who has the leading role in the picture, having been made especially for the production by a New York furrier.

Frank Borzage, who directed "Back Pay," was much concerned over the safety of the garment and had it locked up in a safety deposit vault each night after work was completed for the day.

Playing opposite Miss Owens are Matt Moore, J. Barney Sherry, Ethel Duray and Charles Craig. "Back pay" tells the story of a country girl who tires of life in a small town and goes to New York where she forsakes the straight and narrow path. Eventually, after a long draught at the cup of pleasure, she finds true repose and contentment in the simpler things.

The story was written by Fannie Hurst and the scenario is the work of Frances Marion.

NEW WELL AT COLORADO IS PROMISING GREAT THINGS

Colorado, July 15.—The Underwriters Producing & Refining Company's T. & P. No. 2, section 33, township 1 north, block 28, T. & P. survey, encountered the sand Thursday at 2,910 feet. The sand was penetrated to a depth of 11 feet before shutting down. The hole is standing 2,000 feet in oil, according to company officials. The well is an offset to the company's Morrison No. 2, which is pumping 300 barrels daily. Much acreage has been sold during the past two days. Several were awaiting the outcome of the well before purchasing certain leases.

in the days before dependable fire insurance, neighbors used to "chip in" to help a victim of fire get started again.
