BUSINESSMEN EXPERIENCE MOVING DAY AS BUILDINGS ARE COMPLETED

SUBSTANTIAL STRUCTURES ON BROADWAY ARE BEING OCCUPIED, CAUSING SHAKE-UP OF SEVERAL FIRMS

LUBBOCK IS EXPERIENCING GREAT GROWTH

Demands for Better Homes and Better Business Houses Are Being Met by Men who Will Profit by Their Abilities to Build— Lubbock Property Will Always be Valuable.

Moving day has dawned in Lubbock.

Broadway for the past several days has been the scene of greater activity than in other parts of the city perhaps, as the business men have been doing a little shake-up of locations that has resulted in some material changes indeed. The Hunt Grocery store is moved into a new brick building, farther west than their old location, which we understand is to be occupied by an exclusive shoe store, the new merchant coming from Abilene.

Stanton Rhea has moved his potato chip manufacturing business to the Lampro Grocery.

The large building on the north side of the street constructed by George W. Pickle for the Simmons Furniture and Undertaking business is nearing completion, and in all probability will be ready for occupancy next week.

Yes, Lubbock is a busy place. Our merchants have not looked upon the development of their various business as a thing to be accomplished within a few dozen years, but have gone about their work in a manner that was designed to accomplish the most good in the least possible time, and we are sure their efforts have met with success from the developments along business lines made here within the past few years.

Lubbock's growth is permanent. Our buildings are put on foundations that are so constructed that more stories can be added to the buildings without effecting the original structure, and we are sure that with the same progress that we have enjoyed within the past several years shown in the future, these same building spaces where the brick mason and carpenter are plying their trade in great haste, will be the scene of further activities on their part.

The time for an attitude of disinterest in civic improvements to exist in Lubbock is past.

People who realize that theirs is the opportunity to build, and to profit in building are far in the majority here. Our thousands of acres of undeveloped plain does in no wise indicate an unwillingness or awkwardness on the part of our people to accomplish the task of developing this country, as one will learn on becoming acquainted here, but is indicative of the magnitude of the problems that confront them, and what has been accomplished here within the past few months can give one an insight into their ability to do things.

Insofar as being in the hands of agriculturalists Lubbock county is indeed new.

Her people have been here a great deal less than a half century, very few of their coming here dating back as far as a quarter of a century ago, yet to become in contact with the country and know what has been accomplished in that length of time will certainly stimulate one's hope for her soon taking a place among the thoroughly developed sections of the country.

The things that have been done through the efforts of a few people look dim in comparison with what can be done by these same people and the hosts numbered with them in the work. Their efforts are no more feeble, and retarded by inadequate transportation and educational facilities.

The builder has come, paving the way of the settler and the citizen of many generations ahead. He has built upon the sound foundation of happy and contented homes, erecting educational institutions that shall be monumental to his memory long after the material buildings he has erected shall have gone. The people of tomorrow shall walk upon a developed plain, and wonder at the achievements of the builder of today, realizing that his task was a gigantic one, and that to accomplish it he had to employ every force at his command.

The unalting strings that have been clutched about the fair throat of progress are being released by the demand for more and better homes here, and the man who adds his efforts to meeting the demand is helping to eliminate the cords that retard his efforts. The large ranchlands are being brought beneath the scope of development, and before many years will be cut into smaller tracts for the homesteads of contented producers, whose every effort shall add wealth to the great West country.

Broadway has developed in a hurry, consequently Lubbock is made bigger.

Miss Grace Green, efficient stenographer for the Nobles Bros. Wholesale Grocery, is in a local sanitarium where she underwent an operation for appendicitis Monday. We are glad to report that she is getting along fine at this time, and will be able to be back at her post of duty within a few days.

Norfleet Helps to Arrest Thirty-Three Crooks in Denver

J. Frank Norfleet, of Hale Center, was motored over to Lubbock by Charley Smith, garage man of Littlefield Wednesday, who volunteered his services to the noted hunter just to hear him talk of his exciting ventures in the raid on 41 crooks whose capture he effected after forty-eight hours of nerve-racking experiences. Nerve-racking experiences do not indicate in any means that Norfleet's nerves were affected in the least, for he has proven to the whole United States that his nerves are of a different kind, but we mean in that statement that to the ordinary man the experiences would have been unbearable.

The writer was able to push through a crowd who had surrounded Norfleet on the street here shortly after his arrival in the city, and we are sure that from his account of the story tense moments had been experienced throughout the ordeal.

He would dart from one crowd here only in time to be surrounded again by his admirers, men who have known him for many years, eagerly clamoring for news of his experiences, and their persistent requests to "Aw, go on Frank, tell us about it," made his getting away from the streets before the story had been related several times, impossible.

The following extracts from the Dallas News gives the story in detail, as we were unable to get an accurate report from Mr. Norfleet on account of his being so overwhelmed by his many friends who were glad to greet him to Lubbock.

The Amarillo News story is as follows:

J. Frank Norfleet of Hale Center, former sheriff of Hale county, was in Amarillo yesterday after having gone through one of the most thrilling experiences in his life in Denver a few days ago. He was locked up with a band of crooks for three nights and two days and did not dare to sleep for fear his life would be taken.

A short time ago Mr. Norfleet left his home for Denver to see parties about trading his ranch. He stopped off in Colorado Springs on his way to Denver and while in the former place he learned that efforts were being made to get evidence on a gang of stock gamblers in Denver.

After disposing of his business in Denver, he went to Phillip Van Cise, district attorney, August 18, and learned of troubles that officers had in getting evidence on the crooks. In the meantime, Norfleet had hopes of finding Charles G. Harris, alias W. D. Spencer, the last of the gang that fled him out of $45,000 a few years ago and who has not yet been captured.

Norfleet has been noted all over the country for the manner in which he has captured thieves. He does not follow out the Pinkerton's rule, "according to Hoyles," it is said, but he gets results. District Attorney Van Cise told Norfleet that he wanted evidence that would obtain convictions and Norfleet volunteered his services.

Getting in with the gang, Norfleet went to their headquarters with the obvious intention of playing the game. He declared that he was from Ellis county and that he wanted to sell his farm. When he was with the crooks he talked only of cotton and holl weevil and like did not think that he was the famous Norfleet of the Panhandle.

Norfleet went to the headquarters of the crooked stock gamblers at a hotel. Entrance was through the lobby of a theater that was closed during the summer. Norfleet gambled and won $3,000, according to the house's records. This money was then used to purchase $100,000 worth of credit. Then, the gambling game continued and Norfleet was declared winner by $303,000. The $100,000 credit was deducted and Norfleet was supposed to have profits of more than $200,000.

But to get his winnings, and because he was unknown, Norfleet was expected to put up $50,000. In the meantime, he was going through the ruse of attempting to get the money. He was in a room with the men for several days waiting to get the money. For three nights and two days he stayed awake for fear that he would be killed or injured.

He threw cigarette tobacco in his eyes to keep awake; he talked with the other persons so that they would be worn out too in case he went to sleep. Norfleet also knew that he were to bring in the cash he would surely be killed by the gang. In his own way, Norfleet got word to the district attorney of the

$182.25 Realized From First Bale of Lubbock County Cotton Which Was Ginned Here Thursday Evening

W. H. Harris, farmer, whose home is fourteen miles southeast of Lubbock is about the luckiest farmer in Lubbock county, in that he gathered and sold the first bale of cotton to be brought to Lubbock this fall.

The cotton arrived at the Fuller Gin Tuesday evening at about four o'clock, and W. T. Raybon, the manager, set to work and before long his crew was all on hand, and the cotton ginned.

"I have never seen such good staple in early cotton," Mr. Fuller said, in talking about the bale. Mr. Harris brought in fifteen hundred and fifty pounds of seed cotton, which ginned out a five hundred and sixty pound bale, which the Weaver Bros. Cotton Company purchased at the fancy price of twenty-five cents per pound.

location and the time to make a raid. Not even the city police knew of the raid contemplated. Colorado State Rangers and County officers assisted in the raid and 33 men were under arrest before the city police knew anything was happening. In all 39 men were arrested, two of whom were released later. The men were caught with all kinds of stock gambling tickets and evidence. But Harris, alias Spencer, was not caught. Later, Norfleet found Harris' suitcase, gun and papers, but not the man. During the time he was in the gambling den he did not see Harris. One man while he was in jail pulled all the hair out over night so that the rogue's picture would not look natural in later years. Norfleet said that he saw the man all the time he was in the den and that he could not mistake him.

Although Norfleet did not say anything about his future intentions, friends believe that he will never rest until Harris is brought to justice. They say that Norfleet does not give up easily, as is evidenced by the manner in which he went from coast to coast and to Canada to get the Fort Worth crooks.

Norfleet arrived in Amarillo yesterday morning from Denver and said that he expected to close a deal for his ranch in Hale county. He will return to Denver later to be a witness in the trial of the men arrested.—Amarillo News.

ALTMAN AWARDED FOR GATHERING EARLY COTTON

Community sentiment in Lubbock county is too strong for any of our community leaders to be forgotten in their attempts to do something to prove the worth of this section. That fact was vividly brought home to us Thursday when a premium for a bale of cotton brought to the gin here by W. C. Altman, a farmer residing four miles north of Lubbock, Wednesday morning, after Mr. Harris, a farmer near Slaton, had gotten an award for the first bale of Lubbock county cotton ginned here this season.

Mr. Altman's cotton was ginned at the Fuller Gin Company, 1220 pounds of seed cotton having ginned out a 452 pound bale, which was sold for twenty-one cents per pound.

A purse of $18.50 was made up in a few minutes, plus one year's subscription to the Avalanche, to award Mr. Altman for his efforts in reaching the gin with the first bale of cotton gathered in the Lubbock community.

Mr. Altman is one of our most thrifty farmers, and we are glad that he was recognized by the merchants of this city.

PRESBYTERIAN MEETING IS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

The meeting is making very satisfactory progress. The congregations are increasing and some telling interest is being manifested. The Christian people are praying and working, and we believe that the Lord is going to give us a great blessing.

You have only a few more chances to be present at the Morning Bible Study. They have all been filled with spiritual thought and those who have attended have had many of their religious problems solved for them.

Dr. Burwell seems to be at his best in his evening messages. He is putting his very life into the delivery of these sermons. If you are unsaved, you should hear him. If you are spiritually hungry, you will be fed.

The Lord is speaking messages of eternal life through his servant. These services begin at 8 o'clock each evening.

The meeting closes Sunday night. We pray that you will take advantage of these opportunities while you may.

AVALANCHE COMPOSITOR VISITED IN COLORADO SUN

Jesse Holt, the efficient editor-compositor of the Avalanche, motored over to Colorado City, Texas, last Sunday to visit his sister, Mrs. O. B. Robinson. He returned Monday and is now at his regular place in the office. The trip was an enjoyable one, and he said the activity of the oil field adjacent to Colorado looks mighty good to him.

Mr. Holt made the trip by automobile, and found that part of the country, like this, in great need of rain.

A premium of $41.50 was awarded Mr. Harris for bringing the first bale of Lubbock county cotton to the gin, and the bale brought him the neat sum of $140.75, making a total of $182.25.

Cotton picking will not be in full swing for some time, but it is believed that a good deal will be opened within another two weeks as the hot weather is causing it to open mighty fast.

Lubbock businessmen and Lubbock county farmers are ready and eager for the opening of the season, as it will stimulate financial conditions greatly.

Mike Altman arrived in Lubbock Wednesday at eleven o'clock with a bale of cotton gathered from his farm four miles north of town, which he also had ginned at the Fuller Gin.

MAYFIELD'S LEAD IS 59,015 LATEST FIGURES DISCLOSE

Dallas, Aug. 29.—Additional returns from the Saturday primary indicate the nomination of S. M. N. Marrs for State Superintendent of Schools, Marrs having increased his lead to 14,781 over Ed R. Bentley. In this tabulation 525,000 votes had been counted, including returns from 217 counties, 64 of which were complete.

Harris' vote was 244,928 against 201,487 for Bentley.

The late returns reduced the lead of Earle B. Mayfield over James E. Ferguson for United States Senator to 39,015, a slight reduction from Mayfield's majority on the Sunday tabulations.

The late count also shows that Ferguson carried Bell, his home county, by 20 votes, in complete returns. Previous reports had given Mayfield a lead of about 50 votes.

T. W. Davidson's lead over Col. Bill Mayfield, Jr., for Lieutenant Governor, now is 89,325. C. V. Terrell's lead over G. G. Garrett for State Treasurer is 61,402.

For Judge of the Third District Court of Civil Appeals at Austin, Baker has 34,189 and Blair 36,537, with three counties unreported.

YOAKUM COUNTY RANCH SOLD TO FT. WORTH MAN

H. D. Chipley, of the real estate firm of Chipley and Smith, sold the V. J. Jones ranch in Yoakum county, consisting of eight sections, to Dr. Greenwood of Fort Worth, the first of the week.

The ranch is one of the best bodies of land in West Texas, and we understand it will be kept intact.

HEALTH OF REV. J. B. COLE IS MUCH IMPROVED

The Avalanche received a letter from Rev. J. B. Cole, Thursday, at one time pastor of the Lubbock Baptist Church, and the Church at Crosbyton, who, on account of bad health, went to El Paso and is taking a rest from the strenuous efforts of a pastor, stating that he is getting along mighty well at this time, and that a noticeable change for the better is made in his general health.

Clippings from the El Paso papers gives an account of Rev. Cole's activities there, which we are glad to know he is able to carry on.

Rev. Cole has many friends in Lubbock and this section of West Texas who are deeply interested in him, and who are wishing for him a return to such good health that he will be able to carry on the work so dear to him.

Congress Would Pay Soldier Bonus With Foreign Debt

Washington, Aug. 29.—Without a record vote, the senate today approved the use of the interest on the foreign debt in financing the soldiers' bonus. Also it substituted the Smith-McNary $350,000,000 reclamation bill for the land settlement option in the house measure. Then it quit for the day with a final vote on the bonus measure at least one and perhaps two or three days distant.

The amendment authorizing the payment of the bonus charge with the interest on the eleven billion of dollars owed the United States by the allied nations was proposed by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina. He and Senator Reed, Missouri, and other members urged it as a means not only of meeting President Harding's requirement that the bill carry a means of financing, but also of silencing the talk about the cancellation of the foreign debt.

A roll call on the proposal was demanded at first, but this demand was withdrawn, presumably because of the apprehension of leaders that a quorum could not be obtained at the late hour.

Thirty-three senators, signifying their approval of the amendment, and one, Senator New, Republican, Indiana, his disapproval.

The Smith-McNary reclamation amendment was agreed to 43 to 26. Party lines disappeared on the roll call, 23 Republicans and 20 Democrats, supporting the amendment and 18 Republicans and 8 Democrats opposing it.

All of the senators from the far western states voted for the proposal and all of those from the New England states voted against it.

The Smith-McNary amendment would provide for the reclaiming of arid lands in the west through irrigation and swamp lands in the south and other sections by drainage, the work to be done under the direction of the secretary of the interior, through federal and state co-operation. Veterans of the world war, the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection would be given first opportunity to obtain home leases and in working on the various projects.

Opposition to the amendment was voiced by Senators McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bonus; Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin; and Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas. The charge was made that opponents of the bonus were supporting this proposition in the hope that it would furnish an added reason for the president to veto the bonus.

Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, who proposed the reclamation feature, told Senator McCumber that the bill would stand a better chance of executive approval with his amendment attached than it would without.

Senator Williams declared that the years given by the soldiers either at home or overseas were not years sacrificed, as he said had been claimed, but "years glorified and years sanctified." He said the men received the equal of a "university course," while in the army and those who returned home sound were much improved in body as well as in mind.

Senator La Follette told the senate his only objection of the measure was that it was too meagre in the provision it made for the service men.

The Wisconsin senator called attention that in the world war most of the men who served, "had no choice in the matter," and argued that "the principle of fair play" which led to the compensation of soldiers in previous wars applied with much greater force, to the veterans of the world war.

PROMINENT FARMER DROPS DEAD VERY SUDDENLY

Floydada, Aug. 29.—George L. Roy, a prominent farmer of the Lake community south of Floydada, fell dead Sunday with heart failure at the age of sixty-two years. Mr. Roy was busy about the barn feeding his stock when he fell dead. He had not been seriously ill for some time and was in apparent good health. He was born in Tennessee, coming to Texas at an early date. He moved to Floydada from Wolfe City, Texas, six years ago when he lived for a number of years. He is survived by his wife, J. E. and J. F. Roy of Floydada and Mrs. W. J. Rhoades of Floydada, who were present at the funeral. He was buried Monday afternoon in the Floydada cemetery. Rev. J. Pat Horton of the Baptist Church conducting the funeral services.

They know that Lubbock county land is superior in supplying plant life its requirements without an abundance of rain. They know that hot, dry summers have too often been experienced here, followed by abundant harvests, to give up the ghost and declare "It's all for naught" they go about their work realizing that if rain comes the crops will be helped, but though it should not come, and they were to have to harvest their crops after a dry summer, their efforts would be well repaid, and as a result they go about their work with unfaltering spirits, realizing that their's is the greatest country anywhere.

Lubbock county's genuineness has been tested, and found true.

The long days of drouth that have threatened the very existence of all crops have tried every faculty of our soil, making greater demands upon it perhaps than has ever been known, yet it stands beneath the singing sun giving source to the plant life dependent upon it to such degree that to hear a farmer on the streets declare that "Oh yes, it's awfully dry, but my crop is still growing" is not at all new, for the writer has heard that statement a half a dozen times within less than that number of days.

The prospector who comes here adds further proof of the genuineness of our soil, with the news that "We've had just as much rain as you have had, but our crops are not half so well along" showing that even with a few odds against us we are enjoying a few good features of our soil which are to be appreciated.

It has been forecasted here too much that the Plains crops would be ruined without rain, and though the rain failed to come and good crops were gathered, to scare our citizens into a panic with the passing of every rainless day.

They know that Lubbock county land is superior in supplying plant life its requirements without an abundance of rain. They know that hot, dry summers have too often been experienced here, followed by abundant harvests, to give up the ghost and declare "It's all for naught" they go about their work realizing that if rain comes the crops will be helped, but though it should not come, and they were to have to harvest their crops after a dry summer, their efforts would be well repaid, and as a result they go about their work with unfaltering spirits, realizing that their's is the greatest country anywhere.

A sample of the crop raised on his farm this year is displayed in the office of C. A. Pearce, agent for the laughter lands, which is good to look at. It is a stalk of cotton, on which is twenty-five well matured blooms, together with many forms and buds, and though the tap root is long, showing that the substance on which the stalk lives is gotten from far into the ground, the weed is as green as you please, and according to Mr. Pearce the entire crop looks as though that stalk was an average one.

We are glad that Lubbock county can stand dry weather.

It seems impossible at present to devise practical means of supplying the Plains with sufficient water other than the natural source, and that our soil is so constituted that its drouth resisting qualities are plainly seen, we are glad to boast of those qualities.

Anyone interested in the crop situation will realize that the drouth has struck a heavy blow at the very lives of our farmers, their source of income having been severely crippled by its long duration, yet anyone knowing Lubbock county farmers and their problems will certainly admit they are fortunate in a good many ways.

The drouth that is threatening the productivity of our farms is mighty bad indeed, but there's a bright side to the situation.

Let's be glad we are as fortunate as we are.

URGES GOVERNOR TO PROMISE AID FOR SCHOOLS

Austin, Texas, Aug. 26.—While in Austin today, State Senator W. R. Cousins of Beaumont, who has been remembered, saw the Governor and urged the executive to make a public statement saying that he will recommend to the Legislature that it make an appropriation out of the general revenue fund to supplement the available school fund to the end that the amount for the coming scholastic session shall be $14 per child.

"With that assurance publicly made by the Governor," declared Mr. Cousins, "school trustees could go ahead with employing teachers and fixing adequate salaries, compensation that will attract the best teachers. If that is not done the country schools are going to lose some of their best teachers."

Recently the State Board of Education made an appropriation of $10 per child and Senator Cousins wants the Legislature to add $4 for the coming session and then make adequate provision for the scholastic term of 1923-24. There are approximately 1,291,445 scholastics in Texas and to add $4 for each would mean that the Legislature next January would have to appropriate $5,165,880 for the coming session of 1922-23. There are sufficient funds to run the school until after the Legislature meets.

Mrs. Louie F. Moore motored over to Ralls, accompanied by friends of that city, Thursday.

THE KEY THAT UNLOCKS
THE DOOR OF LONG LIVING

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund, well-fed, but thin, spare men, who live on a slender diet. Be as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally eat too much of some article of food not suited to his constitution, causing indigestion or constipation and will need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to move his bowels and invigorate his stomach. When this is done, there is no reason why the average man should not live to a ripe old age.

Conscience is a still small voice because it doesn't talk enough.

Heavy Decline Is Shown in Internal Rev. Collectors

Washington, Aug. 27.—Internal revenue receipts of the two Texas districts for the fiscal year ending June, 1922, show a decrease of more than 30 per cent, compared with 1921, as reported in the Internal Revenue Bureau's preliminary statement, issued today. The collections from all sources for 1921 amounted to $78,226,274.13, compared with $52,347,675.73 for the fiscal year of 1922, or a decrease of $25,878,998.40.

Receipts in the Dallas district fell 43 per cent, or twice as much, as those of the Austin district. In 1921 the Dallas district collected $42,639,778.49, and in 1922 the collections amounted to $24,488,533.36, while in the Austin district for 1921 the receipts were $35,586,495.64, and in 1922, $27,859,142.37 or a decrease for the Austin district of 22 per cent.

Income and Profit Taxes
The country's total collections from all sources for the year amounted to $319,451,083, which was a decrease of $1,397,905,978.95 compared with the collections of 1921.

The income and profit taxes for the fiscal year of 1922, which included the third and fourth installments of 1920 taxes and the first two payments of the tax on 1921 income and profits, amounted to $2,087,946,243, a decrease of $1,140,191,429. The miscellaneous taxes fell off $257,714,548.

The income and profit taxes for the two Texas districts for 1922 amounted to $34,928,114.38, a decrease of 33 per cent, compared with 1921. The percentage decrease, compared with 1920 collections, which amounted to more than $76,000,000, was much greater for 1922. The miscellaneous taxes collected by the Texas districts during 1922 were $17,419,560, or about one-third of the total for the State.

"Soft" Drinks Not So Popular
The detailed statement of tax collections show a sharp falling off in nearly all the items. A notable increase in taxes is found, however, in the collections on cigarettes, which for 1922 exceeded the previous year by more than $15,000,000. Snuff and tobacco also show increases and the figures reveal that people have gone from cigars to cigarettes, accounting for the $6,893,000 decrease in taxes collected on the former. There was a loss of $37,000,000 on distilled spirits. Freight transportation is off nearly $55,000,000, passenger tax nearly $10,000,000 and express shipments $4,618,000.

Non-alcoholic beverages do not appear to be as popular as they were following prohibition, for the tax collections on them show a loss of more than $25,000,000.

Admissions to theaters, concerts, etc., show $16,356,895 less in 1922 than in 1921. Taxes on playing cards, capital stock transfers, telegraph and radio messages, sugar and cigarette holders, hunting garments and dues to clubs, show slight increases compared with the total.

TOBACCO USERS ARE THE BIGGEST TAXPAYERS

Washington, Aug. 28.—Tobacco users paid almost nine per cent of the $3,197,900,000 in internal revenue received by the Government in the fiscal year of 1922. Income and profit taxes accounted for 65 per cent of the total. From tobacco and its manufacturers the Government received $270,759,000, statistics published today show. This was an increase of $15,500,000 over the amount collected by the Government from that source in 1921.

The increase was almost wholly from taxes on cigarettes which totaled $150,128,000. Chewing and smoking tobacco taxes totaled $66,342,000 and large cigars $44,184,000, a decrease of $6,893,000 from 1921.

The automobile industry paid the Government $104,530,000 in the fiscal year 1922 though the manufacturers' excess tax was $11,116,000 less than collected in 1921.

The candy and chewing gum netted the Government in taxes $6,045,000. Last year from candy $13,593,000 was collected and from chewing gum $742,870. Non-alcoholic beverages showed a heavy tax decline, $33,489,000, having been spent compared with $58,676,000 last year.

For skin eruptions, rash, chafed skin, rickly heat, chigger bites and stings of poisonous insects, Ballard's Snow Liniment is an effective application. It heals quickly. Three sizes 50c, 60c, and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by City Drug Store.

Wirth, as saying to him a few days ago in Berlin:

"Unless the United States interests herself in European affairs within a very short time, all in Germany is lost and all in Central Europe as well."

Mr. Cox's statement follows: "The storm center of the economic world is Central Europe. Those who have visited Austria and Germany are of the opinion as to the state of things now and the tragic point to which both countries are drifting. Austria has reached a stage of almost complete dissolution."

"The nations of Europe are deadlocked on the reparations question. There seems to be no relief on this side of the Atlantic. The master key is held by the United States. No decision by England seems likely to be accepted by the French. The French government will not sanction an appeal from Germany which might approximate a readjustment of the figures now in the minds of the French statesmen, because that circumstance might be regarded by the public opinion of France as a surrender to Germany."

"There is no respite and every hour is fraught with danger. It is well to summarize the contentions of both France and Germany. "Since the end of the war France has sold approximately $10,000,000,000 worth of bonds to her own people upon the reparations by which she would have been reimbursed by Germany in compliance with the terms of the peace treaty. Germany says she lost a fourth of her grain lands and altogether one-tenth of her territory. She issued about $25,000,000,000 worth of bonds during the war and a deficit of $10,000,000,000 remains as a floating debt. The fiscal state of both countries without economic stabilization portends but one result."

France Protects Herself
"In the midst of this situation two false impressions obtain in Europe: First—that France is aggressively militaristic; and second—that Germany is making munitions and preparing for war. The military policy of France is based upon the desire to protect herself against invasion. With assurance on this point she will reduce her army."

"The government of Germany desires peace. The leaders are progressively democratic and the story of hidden arms, with the exception of unimportant sporadic community instances, is pure fiction. Germany has 20,000,000 more people than she can sustain except under high industrial stress. When the mark was 100 to 200 to the dollar there were certain trade advantages accruing to Germany but in the present circumstances the banks of Germany cannot finance the industries of that country in the purchase of raw products and foodstuffs."

"Unless relief is granted shops will soon be closed, millions will be out of employment and the winter will bring the threat if not the certainty of starvation. "With economic collapse the government will go down too. If Germany fails France is without reimbursement and cannot sustain the loss involved without serious consequences."

U. S. Must Help.
"Within the last week I had a long interview with Chancellor Wirth in Berlin. He summarized the situation by saying with deepest emotion:

"Unless the United States interests herself in European affairs within a very short time, all in Germany is lost, and all in Central Europe as well."

"Recognizing that this statement broke the fetter of diplomatic usage in France, authority to repeat in

Lumber that is uneven in thickness, that is cracked or half seasoned results in loss of carpenters time and proves an extravagance rather than an economy.

PUBLIC FUNCTIONS OF A NEWSPAPER

Perhaps it is the fault of the newspaper editor that the public does not yet seem to understand the function of a newspaper with any thoroughness, nor does it seem to be able to discriminate between news, which is what happens in the world, editorials, which express the opinion of the newspaper, and communications and signed articles, which express the opinions of their writers alone.

It is somewhat appalling, after a newspaper has laid its course in a political campaign or some other movement, with great care and taken every precaution to be fair to all concerned and to make its editorial policy clear and apart from the publication of the news, to find some readers who have not caught the spirit of the thing at all, and who apparently have not understood the plain English words which have been used.

Considering the heat of the recent primary campaign, it is perhaps surprising that there have been so few who misinterpreted the news and editorial policies of a newspaper, but for the benefit of those few, and the many who seem interested in the technique of newspaper editing, let us lay down the three main functions of a newspaper from the standpoint of its text, and aside from the features which are printed to amuse and instruct, but which do not relate to news events.

The newspaper should (1) print the news as it happens, accurately, clearly, concisely, without color or bias or editorial comment, and "play it up" on one standard—its news value; (2) print its comments, its opinions, courageously and independently on its editorial page or, when printed elsewhere, should, clearly mark such matter so it can be recognized as editorial matter; (3) open its columns to any proper, non-slandrous, non-libelous communications from reader whether in sympathy with the newspaper's policy or not, making reasonable rules as to length, originality of composition and other details but not drawing these as to exclude the opinions of its opponents.

There is a class of interpretative dispatches and news articles which, while not necessarily the opinion of the paper, are colored with the opinion of the correspondent or writer. These should be designated by putting the name of the writer or source of the news in a "by-line" over or a signature under the article.

Without the newspaper, real democracy in America would be well nigh impossible, for no candidate can reach more than a small fraction of the electorate except through the free news service of the press. In no other way can the people learn of the activities of their government or the great issues before the nation. It is important that the press remain free and independent, and that the people understand how to read it.—Ft. Worth Record.

The above statement is well presented, and many people do not take time to think about the newspaper's position on many things and falsely accuse them in many instances. The Record has said much in the above paragraphs that should have a tendency to put a lot of folks straight.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE WEST IS COMING RAPIDLY

The great expanse of broad prairie on the South Plains, and in that part that comprises the most fertile, and the best portion of the State for general diversified farming, is now on the verge of being cut up into small tracts, and placed on the market for sale to people who want homes. In fact, several large tracts are now being divided up and some have already been sold in this way, and to prove that the people of other sections of the State are wanting this land, one only has to note the record of sales made where the offerings have been placed at the disposal of the buyers. This land goes like "hot cakes" when it is placed on the market, and we heard of one party who reported that he would place several leagues of land on the market, who had more than two hundred inquiries regarding the land before it had been surveyed. He afterwards decided he would not place it on the market just at this time, but will, within a short while. This shows, however, that there is much interest being taken in this section of the country by homeseekers, and with the railroads criss-crossing the South Plains, and the good market places within easy reach of the farmer, there is no doubt that within the next ten years this will be the best agricultural section of the State. The fact that the land could not be bought before this time, has prevented many hundreds of people from coming to the South Plains. Rural development is all that is needed in this section of the State, and with the opening of these lands, this is sure to come. We are indeed glad to have lived to see this time come, and if something out of the ordinary does not befall us we expect to see this great Plains Country, thickly populated, and if we do we are sure to be looking upon the most productive portion of the Lone Star State. There will be more wealth and general prosperity here to the square acre than any other portion of the State. The real beginning of the developments in this section has just hove in sight.

PUTTING IT OVER THE LAW

The old saying that there is "more than one way of killing a dog" illustrates the proposition that the officers and the law get up against very often. Some time ago—a few years at least, the city officials passed an ordinance against carnivals coming to town, and in this way prevented them coming for a while, till some guy got on to a new scheme and gave the carnival a new name "rodeo," and it was not long till everything was a rodeo and the same character of performances and the same equipment is making the towns now as did before, but under a new name. Only this week Lubbock has with her a rodeo and though we have not been inside the show grounds, we are informed that a number of attractions have not been allowed to show here, but if they cannot be operated on account of not being within the law, then we contend that they should not be allowed to come to town at all. We cannot see that such attractions are really of any benefit to the community, but they do take a lot of money away from town that could be spent to much better advantage. True, people must have some kind of diversion, but by this we do not think it should necessarily be of a nature that has to be hedged about by the laws of the land. Good, clean sport is to be commended, and we have no special complaint at "bronc" riding when properly carried on and that alone, and possibly many other attractions are offered that are of no greater harm to the morals of the community, but taking the whole cheese together, we are of the opinion that such aggregations are of no benefit whatever to the community in any way, and should not be permitted to operate.

FARMERS WASTE MUCH MONEY

Little as the average farmer thinks about it, they are absolutely wasting thousands upon thousands of dollars every year, by the promiscuous neglect of their farm machinery. There is no class of people in the world that we know of who are so indifferent as the farmer regarding the protection of his machinery from the weather. A binder, wagon, threshing machine, plows, etc., cannot possibly do the same length of service where it is allowed to take the weather that it will if carefully housed, and taken care of. This being the case a new one to take its place has to be purchased, and possibly one machine if properly taken care of would last as long as three does the way they are usually treated. This cannot be figured other than waste, as the money required to purchase new machinery could either be placed in the bank, or used for improving the farm or the home. The average farmer will argue that it costs too much to build barns or sheds for the farm tools, wagons, auto, buggies, etc., but we believe that when business sense is applied to the proposition, that the fellow that builds the protection for his tools, horses and cows, will come out winner.

Jim Ferguson finally wiggled through the primary in his home county with a majority of seven votes. Jim seems to have lost out at home, among the people who know him best, just a little worse than where he is not so well known. Some people think that Jim is dead, but we are of the opinion that he will bob up again in the near future under a different guise. We are wondering just what it will be but Jim will no doubt offer himself again for some public office. Mark our prediction and watch your step or he is liable to trip you at some unsuspecting place and slide into office. The Prohibition question is not settled yet. Old King Corn is not dead, and he is liable to figure conspicuously in Texas in the future. When a man can get the solid support of the Anti-Prohibition people in Texas, and then work in a few side-lines he is a dangerous opponent, and is not to be thought of slightly in the final count. In the great State of Texas, Ferguson lost the fight by less than sixty thousand votes out of a total of over six hundred thousand.

The fair is not so very far off, and there will be a great many people attend. The attendance will in all probability eclipse the past record. The farmers should co-operate closely with the committee who has charge of gathering the specimens, and enable them to show creditable farm products. Lubbock county will not compete for the prizes in the county contests, but that is no reason why we should not have the best exhibit of any county showing here, and we believe we can.

The fact that the dry weather has shortened the crop in this section does not seem to have much effect on the people who are wanting to come to the Lubbock country to farm next year. They are here every day wanting farms to rent, and they find the conditions in the Lubbock section just a little better than further down in the State.

There is going to be a great demand for farms to rent in the Lubbock trade territory between now and the first of the year, as there is for rent houses in Lubbock now. People who possibly can should open up some more land and make it possible to provide farms for people who want to come here for the coming year.

There is a great scramble going on just now for houses in Lubbock. Numbers of people want to come here and send their children to school, but they are unable to get a house to live in. About fifty or seventy-five good residences would be a good investment in Lubbock, we believe.

WANTED—Position by a respectable colored lady in a home where I do not have to cook, sweep, wash or iron. Will consider a dollar a day. The above is a sample of the kind of NIGGERS Lubbock people have to put up with.

AMUSEMENT MANIA This is the amusement age. The craze for amusements foretells the doom of present day civilization. If you are a careful reader of history you will note the similarity between this age and the one which preceded the fall of Greece and Rome. We are marching toward the same precipice. The increased population of the world and the extra facilities afforded us make it possible for a quicker decline. The people seem to have forgotten all about life's more serious work and are engaged in a mad competition for pleasure. There are more people trying to commercialize this tendency or mania for amusement than ever before, and for financial considerations they are furnishing more kinds of amusements.

Properties are being shattered, principles are being abandoned, and characters sacrificed in the mad rush to reach the Beach of Frivolity and Pleasure. The amusement mania or pleasure insanity seems to have afflicted eighty-five per cent of the population. They are today spending millions and millions of dollars for a day of folly or a night of moral fatality. They do not seem to agree with anyone who is trying to cure them of this awful malady. They are not willing to co-operate with anyone who is trying to reform the amusements now being used for the destruction of society.

The Honorable William H. Hays deserves the unstinted praise and support of all Christian people in his efforts to clean the filthy screens and wash out the cesspools of moving picture studios.

Every virtue-loving woman in the land ought to come to his support and demand the closing of every theatre which exhibits any picture with an immoral subject or false coloring. If you are not willing to support men who are trying to cure the populace of their mad amusement insanity then you should prepare the funeral cortege for the wrecked bodies of your sons and daughters. Help us to treat your malady, reform your amusements, and direct the people in the road of sanity and moral development.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

When you hear a feller grumble at the hill he has to climb, an' later, see him crumble in despair,—you wouldn't err in judgement, if you bet yer bottom dime, that he has built the cross he had to bear. This thing we call humanity, is full of human freaks, with fitful an' imaginative brains. There's very few that's brave enough to scale the highest peaks,—that knows enough to come in, when it rains! With blessin's all around us, we embrace the things that curse. We pander to the vicious appetite. We undertake the very thing that's sure to leave us worse, an' s'het our eyes to everything that's right.

Then—is it any wonder, that we flounder in the sea, and swaller bitter waters, tempest-tossed? Too often we imagine that our trouble has to be, when we only need the rudder that we lost! We'll find it smoother sailin' if we banish every dread, and cure the imperfections of our own.—The trouble's nearly allers in our little ivory head,—and trouble's hard to manage—in a lone!

For Uncle John.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1922. AUTOCASTER

Since we are all out helping to make the world better why not do it in half the time? If we put the time spent in kicking into correcting, gee, what a hole we could knock in the things we don't like! Most people who don't kick say "what's the use?" because they think they are powerless, so they waste their time grumbling. That's not it. There's no use kicking because there never can be an end to the cause for kicking. As soon as one thing's cured another bobs up. When we're shaking by wireless there'll be a kick because the static shakes the razor. Meantime suppose we all butt in an' better things, and meantime also smile.

Rev. J. F. Baker, pastor of the local church, was on the program to deliver the opening sermon, and his people went with him to attend the services. Those leaving Thursday to attend the Presbytery are: Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Baker and children, Mr. E. P. Earhart, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Peek, Mr. G. T. Davis, Mr. R. L. Senator Capper Says The Profiteers Owe Soldiers Big Debt

Washington, Aug. 29.—The McNary land reclamation amendment to the soldiers' bonus bill was approved today by the senate, 43 to 26.

All party and even sectional lines disappeared on the roll call except that all senators from the far west voted for the amendment.

Announcing his support of the bonus as nothing more than a square deal for the boys who did the fighting, Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, told the senate that "war profiteers and peace profiteers owe a bonus to the soldiers."

"There is no better guarantee against militarism than to require the men who profit out of war to pay for it," he said. "Those who remained at home made enough here in the United States to enable us to pay many times over the debt we owe to the men who fought our battles. Wall street wants to pay it with a sales tax which would be paid largely by the farmers, the laboring people and others in the form of a tax on food and clothing and other necessities."

"Profiteering during the war produced one American millionaire for every three American soldiers killed in France. I would like to see the government recover the hundreds of dollars stolen from the treasury by the crooks and grafters who profiteered off the government in war contracts, and then use that money to pay the soldiers' bonus."

"There's another way we can raise the money. Let's go after the billions that the foreign governments owe us, collect the interest promptly and pay it to our soldiers. There is no use disguising the fact that our international bankers want us to wipe out this foreign debt. It

Buildings Should Have a Better Fire Escape System

Texas has a law requiring so-called standard fire escapes on all public buildings, and on all buildings above two stories high which are used for school purposes or in which persons are permitted to sleep. Usually these fire escapes are of iron structure placed on the outside of the building.

Now comes the National Fire Protection Association and says that the ordinary outside fire escape is not adequate. A sub-committee of which Miss Lloyd Marshall of New York City is chairman says of them: "It is true that they have saved many lives, chiefly, we believe, through 'good fortune,' but again and again such 'escapes' have been blocked by smoke and flames bursting from windows on lower floors."

Needless alarm is unreasonable, but the people should be alarmed if facts are as claimed by the National Fire Protection Association, which says on the authority of a report made by the national committee for chamber of commerce co-operation with the public safety and the American City Bureau that more than 37 percent of school buildings are fire traps.

Precautionary measures must be provided before the fire starts. There may never be occasion to use them, in which even the people are to be congratulated, there may be urgent call for them, and the public suffers if they are lacking. The outside fire escape creates, it is claimed, a false sense of security. They are criticized as involving "severe life hazards," where children or sick persons must rely on them for safety.

Enclosed interior stairways or smoke-proof towers, either exterior or interior, are much better, and the additional cost should not be considered where human life is concerned, according to the president of the National Fire Protection Association. He suggests that in some buildings the horizontal exits through a division wall would prove the simplest and most efficient method of safe egress, and that all rooms in such buildings where fires are liable to start should be protected by sprinklers and provided with hand extinguishers or fire pails.

Every individual should see that his home is properly safeguarded against fire. Every community should insist upon all possible precautionary measures for its schools, hospitals, factories, workshops, hotels, office and other public buildings in which people gather. It is well to turn on the spotlight occasionally, heed proper warnings and check up the "safety first" steps that have been taken.

O. L. Dickinson, Tom Hale and T. W. Gauntlett, of Afton, Dickens county, were here Wednesday on a prospecting tour of the plains. They believe everything in the section very dry, but that crops are standing the drought very well, and if a good rain is received soon, will make very good yields. They are highly pleased with the plains, and will no doubt locate somewhere near Lubbock.

Most of all of us think we were born Time seems to wear rubber heels, it slips by so easily.

ABERNATHY NEWS FROM THE REVIEW

Lee Crow, who has been in Mineral Wells for the past three weeks under the treatment of a doctor and taking the baths, returned Monday looking much better. He says he is glad to get back to the plains where he can enjoy the cool nights and prairie breeze of this country.

John Crow purchased last week the home formerly occupied by A. M. Medlin and will move into it as soon as he can get possession. Dr. Henry, of the Crow Drug Store, now occupies the home.

G. W. Goodwin brought to the Review office Saturday two stalks of cotton, one of which was growing in one of the outside rows which had 20 well matured bolls, the other stalk that was growing further in the field with only four or five small bolls. This one was where the plants were thick in the hill. Mr. Goodwin says this goes to prove in his mind that it is not best to leave cotton too thick in the rows. He has about twenty acres, ten of which he thinks will make a third of a bale while the other will hardly make anything worth while.

R. M. Hardesty and wife, and two younger boys, returned from Dallas Saturday, where they had been for the past two weeks sojourning in that city. While there Mr. Hardesty purchased a large stock of fall and winter goods for his store here.

Mrs. W. A. Richter and two babies, returned the last of the week from Lubbock, where they have been on a few days visit with relatives and friends, while Mr. Richter was doing court duty in Plainview.

Monday, about noon the fire alarm was turned in which caused quite an excitement in Abernathy and nearly the entire population of the town turned out to try and save the home of W. S. Matyowsky, living just outside of the town limits. By the hard work of the fighters they were successful in saving his residence, but the wash house and the store room, which was but a few feet north, was completely destroyed, together with its contents. It is supposed the fire caught from a hot iron being too close to a can of gasoline which was in the room, as the family had been washing and ironing in the forenoon. Everything in the building was a total loss as there was no insurance. Mr. Matyowsky also lost some valuable papers which was in a trunk that was stored in the building. The loss, as we understand, is between a thousand and twelve hundred dollars.

Abernathy Saturday evening 18 cars of sheep from his ranch east of town to pastures in Colorado, where they will be put on grass and fattened out for the market.

Miss Lucille Heggens was delightfully surprised Monday by the gathering of a few of her young friends at her home one mile south of Abernathy to surprise her on her 8th birthday. The little lady was the recipient of many nice presents from her friends, who were Edna and Lois McKinzy, Ella B. and Alice Adkinson, Ivilla and Dorothy Settle, Lillie Marie Fuchs, Ruth and Woodrow Gilbert and Mahlan Goebble. Games were played of various kinds and just before time for the party to break up, they were invited into the dining room, where they were served with refreshments which added to the pleasure of the guests.

The weather for the last week has been unusually hot for the time of the year and Old Sol has stuck to his job pretty close during the past week. To prove himself capable of doing things, he boosted the mercury up to 105 last Thursday and Friday.

The City Cafe, formerly owned and operated by Stambaugh and O'Neal, has been bought by Mr. Campbell, who took charge of same the first of the week. Mr. Campbell recently sold his interest in the City Garage, but thought so much of Abernathy that he decided to remain in the town and embark in business again.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Rippey entertained a few friends at 6 o'clock luncheon Saturday evening. Fish was served that was caught out of Mr. Rippey's tank, with all the side dishes that go with the fish, to make up a tempting dish, after which cake and ice cream, watermelons, and many other delicacies to make it a delicious luncheon were served. C. W. Thomas and son, Richard, of Gainesville, Texas, were in Abernathy Saturday, looking over this section with a view of locating. Mr. Thomas is an uncle of Rev. J. T. Howell.

Rev. T. J. McKoin of Blackwell, Texas, began a Pentecostal revival at the Tabernacle last Thursday night which is drawing large crowds at each service. The meeting will last until Thursday and probably throughout the week. Rev. McKoin is a very able preacher, preaching strictly from the Bible, proving by that book every statement he makes in his sermons. He will probably organize a church here during this meeting as there are quite a few belonging to this persuasion.

C. G. Goodman returned Tuesday morning from a two weeks' business trip to the Wichita Falls section of the country. While there he disposed of his oil holdings in that section, at prices, he says, very satisfactory, and reports the country dry and crops short, in fact he found it so far south as he went on the Denver road. Very little is doing in oil developments around Wichita, but further activity in this line is expected to open up more brisk later in the fall.

Miss Ruth Rippey and Misses Helena and Mary Evans, returned home Friday from Canyon, where they had been attending the Summer Normal in that city. They are at home for a few days visiting, and to make preparations for the beginning of the school year. Miss Mary Evans will take her old place back in the high school at Amarillo, and Miss Helena will teach again at Bowie, Texas. Miss Rippey has accepted a place in the Abernathy school, beginning here September 11.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bucks were host and hostess to a few invited guests Sunday noon, at a delightful noon lunch at their home near town. The dinner was delightfully served by the hostess, who is famous for her entertainments, and those that are fortunate to be invited to her entertainments, all know there is something good waiting for them.

The office building of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, has been sold to H. T. Kimbry of Lubbock, and was moved this week on the lots just north of the City Cafe. We understand that it has been rented by Jack Miller, who will open a barber shop and tailoring, pressing and cleaning parlor in the very near future.

The small pasture of H. M. Hardesty caught on fire last Saturday, supposed to have been set on fire by a passing freight train. The fire burned over considerable portion of the pasture before it was extinguished by parties from town, who went out as soon as it was discovered and succeeded in putting it out.

T. B. Stone has thoroughly overhauled his gin recently, by putting in new machinery and making other improvements, and says he is now ready for the cotton season to open.

Rev. J. T. Howell is holding a meeting at the county line school house this week. Mr. and Mrs. Frits Fuchs entertained a few friends at their country home Saturday evening. Miss Ann Maxey and sister, Miss Gladys, sisters of Mrs. Roger Dinson of Plainview, were in Abernathy Tuesday arranging for board during the school term. These young ladies will have charge of the music and expression classes during this term. They will give an entertainment with music and reading some time the last of next week, the date of which will be announced in the next issue of the Review.

R. E. Riesinger has purchased four lots just south of Dutch Crow's on which he expects to, in the near future, build a nice up-to-date home.

Miss Wilma Harrell was taken to the West Texas Sanitarium Monday, where she underwent an operation, Tuesday. At this time it is reported that she is doing very well.

Mrs. Ola Legg and Gene, returned Monday from Dublin, where they have been for the past two weeks visiting Mrs. Legg's father, and friends, in that part of the state.

Drouth Situation Very Critical in N. M. Mountains

Prof. L. A. Cooper and family, returned last week from an extended trip into New Mexico on a sight-seeing tour. They spent two or three weeks in the White mountains west of Roswell, where they enjoyed camp life and the cool climate which that part of the state is famous for. Mr. Cooper says the entire country which they traveled through was dry and in most places the crops are a complete failure. He also stated that in the mountains west of Roswell, the country had had no rain for more than twelve months and that the stock men were cutting brush for their stock to get something to live on; and even with the grazing on the brush is not enough to sustain life and many were dying purely from starvation, and if rain don't come soon to start the grass, the winter will take toll of thousands of head of cattle in that district.

The fruit crop, all but peaches, have done well and the yield has been abundant and the fruit growers are getting a fairly good price for all they have to sell.

Mr. Cooper will leave in two or three days to attend the institute at Canyon, which begins there Monday to be in session for four days, after which he will be on hand for the opening of the Abernathy school Monday, September 11. He expects the teachers to begin to arrive next week ready for the school on the opening day.—Abernathy Review.

W. L. Fomby of Afton, was here Wednesday on business. He said the crops in this immediate section are much better than farther east, and that the fine farm lands of Lubbock county looked mighty good to him.

Plains Farmers Can Make Good Money By Raising Sudan

The plains are the natural home of Sudan grass. It is raised extensively for the seed and pasture. All over the state the seed is in good demand. Planters of this row crop usually realize a good profit from this crop and is raised in some quantity by most every farmer in this country.

From present indications the opening price on Sudan grass seed will be around what it was last year, or possibly 25c to 50c per hundred higher. The crop in Texas, of course, will be quite short, but there is an enormous Kansas acreage under contract, and if the crop is anywhere normal at all, it will more than offset the shortage in Texas, and there is plenty of seed to go around. Of course, there is still a matter of weather, and it depends upon how the situation will develop the next few weeks. If the hot weather continues we may look for a greatly reduced crop. However, from present indications we can bank on at least seventy-five per cent yield, with prospects of improvements with more moisture.

If the farmers in this county must sell their seed as soon as threshed, as he usually does, he has not lost anything by having it contracted, and if the farmer who does not have his seed contracted and cannot hold it for an indefinite time he might as well sell as threshed for we cannot look for a very much advance in price until after the Northern crop is disposed of.—Abernathy Review.

A. AND M. MEN TO HAVE BANQUET SOON

RALLS ENGLISH TEACHER HAS AN ENVIABLE WAR RECORD

J. M. Rankin, English teacher in the Ralls Schools, who is well known in West Texas as a teacher and coach in athletics, was in Lubbock Tuesday on business.

Mr. Rankin is a very capable instructor, and has a war record more varied and sensational perhaps than any other man in this section to return from France able to be about. He is enthusiastic about the football team of the coming season, and declares that without mishap he is going to have a winning team, and challenges all teams to compete with his in superiority contests.

The Ralls school is fortunate to have in it such an energetic young man as is Mr. Rankin and we are sure the coming term will be a success.

A Trip to Bailey County Reveals The Development of One of the Best Agricultural Portions of the Plains

The editor of this paper accompanied J. E. Alexander, of the Texas Land Exchange to Bailey county last Tuesday. Mr. Alexander's firm has a large tract of land which they are selling in labor, and the offerings are being taken rapidly. Several large tracts of land will be placed on the market this fall, and that part of the country is going to settle up rapidly. Within half a mile of the south mile of the tract that the Texas Land Exchange is selling a postoffice has been established and will be in operation as soon as bids can be received by the government. There is also a school house in that community and a nine month term of school will be taught there, with some twenty pupils enrolled.

The land in that section of the country is rich and the soil deep and it will some day, and that not in the far distant future become the dwelling place of hundreds and hundreds of farmers. It is in the shallow water belt, and there is an abundance of good cool water, and being located within fifteen to twenty miles of the main line of the Santa Fe, is going to make a very desirable place to live, as it will be close to market, and a good shipping point will be near by.

We passed through the thriving little city of Sudan, which is located on the railroad near the west line of Lamb County. This place shows considerable signs of activity in its buildings being erected as well as other improvements going on. We also noted as we passed through Littlefield that there was quite a bit of building, and some other improvements that looked good for the future growth of that city, which is one of the most important in that county.

One very noticeable thing about Lamb county was the splendid highway that is built entirely through the county. Some fine work was done on the roads when the grading was done and it is certainly a credit to the county and the people who made the road. Hockley county has a piece of very bad road on this stretch, but we noticed grade stakes had been placed all along the road, and we presume that the commissioners are preparing to grade the road through Hockley which when connected with the Lubbock and Lamb county grade will provide a good highway, and will mean a great deal for the people who traverse the road from Lubbock to Sudan and other places in that section, and will bring many people from that section to trade in Lubbock. We noted quite a bit of evidence of growth at Shallowater too, and in fact all of the towns along showed a good growth during the past few months. A new gin was being completed at Sudan, and there will be quite a lot of cotton ginned there this year even if no rain comes before gathering time. It is probably the first year that cotton has been raised in that immediate community to any noticeable extent. Some recent rains, though local in their nature added considerable to the productivity of the crops, and in many of the fields the feed stuff was pretty and green, still growing, and did not seem to be hurting for moisture.

MILK PROVES BETTER THAN MASH FOR EGG PRODUCTION

Contrary to common recommendations on poultry feeding, no dry mash is required for maximum egg production when sour skim milk, semi-solid buttermilk or plain buttermilk is fed as a source of animal protein, according to results of experiments being conducted for the second year at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

The results are said to have an outstanding value for cornbelt farmers, many of whom have skim milk and buttermilk available, together with an ample supply of grain. The results also indicate that satisfactory results in egg production can be obtained through the use of three feeds including oats or wheat, corn, semi-solid buttermilk or sour skim milk, according to J. Holmes Martin, in charge of poultry work at the station.

Results obtained during the first eight months of the experiment this year are in line with those obtained in a similar experiment last year and show that pullets which received a feed of grain and sour skim milk produced 111 eggs each during the eight months. This average was one more than that made by each pullet in another pen, the birds of which were fed grain and semi-solid buttermilk. Another pen of pullets that were fed the same grain ration, sour skim milk and a dry mash that did not contain animal protein ranked third in egg production, each of these birds having averaged 99 eggs during the eight months.

A pen consisting of the same number of birds that were fed a commonly recommended ration of grain and a dry mash that contained animal protein produced 97 eggs each, while birds in a fifth pen that received grain, semi-solid buttermilk and a wash that did not contain animal protein produced 93 eggs each.

The same number of pullets in another pen that were fed grain and a mash that did not contain animal protein produced only 29 eggs each during the eight months, this result being considered as striking evidence of the value of animal protein in the ration of the laying hen.

Six pens of 20 White Wyandotte pullets each, of the same age and housed under the same identical conditions were used in the experiment. All pens were given a grain ration consisting of 70 pounds of cracked corn and 30 pounds of whole oats. The mash fed to three of the pens consisted of 20 pounds each of bran, shorts, corn meal and ground oats, while one of the pens received 20 pounds of meat scrap added to this mixture.

In addition to leading in egg production, the 20 pullets that received grain and sour skim milk as their feed also produced each dozen eggs with the lowest cost of feed, this cost being 9.1 cents. The pen that received grain, milk and mash without animal protein, was second in feed cost, these hens having produced each dozen eggs at a feed cost of 11.4 cents. The feed costs for the other pens ranged upward gradually, being highest for the pen that received only grain and wash without animal protein. It took 27.7 cents worth of feed to produce a dozen eggs in this pen. The costs were figured at the current prices for feed.

With semi-solid buttermilk selling at four cents a pound—a common price—the farmer could afford to pay seven cents a gallon for sour skim milk, according to the experimental results. In the two leading egg producing pens, the hens of which each averaged practically the same number of eggs the results show that five pounds of sour skim milk was equal to one pound of semi-solid buttermilk.

The following table in a brief way shows the performance of the pullets in the different pens:

Pen 1. Ration—Grain, mash 20 per cent meat scrap; average production 97 eggs; cost per dozen 12.5 cents.

Pen 2. Ration—Grain, mash (no meat scrap), Skim milk; 99 eggs; 11.4 cents.

Pen 3. Ration—Grain, skim milk; 111 eggs; 9.1 cents.

Pen 4. Ration—Grain, semi-solid buttermilk, mash (no meat scrap); 93 eggs; 17.8 cents.

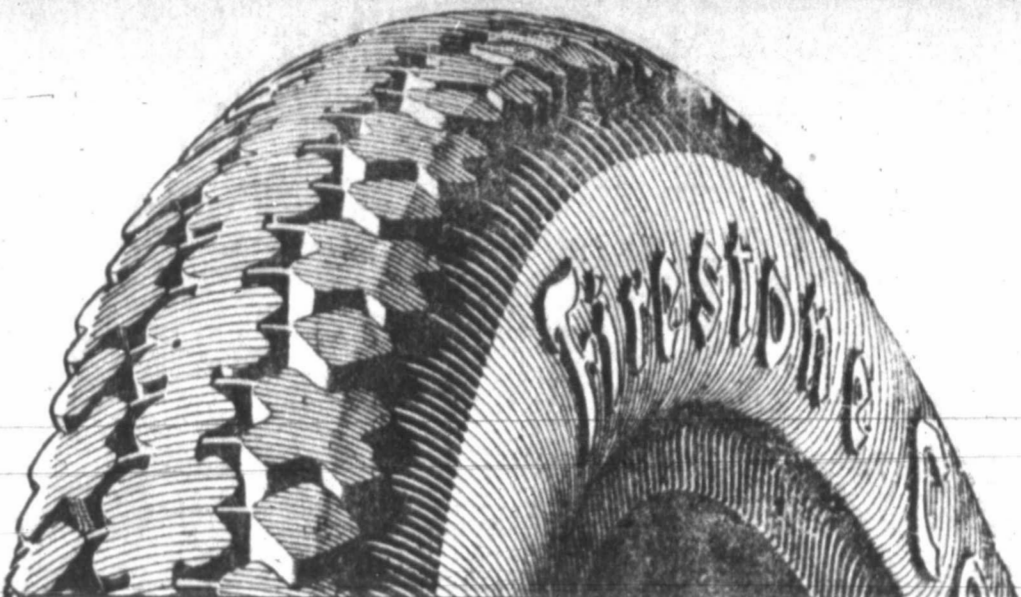

Pen 5. Ration—Grain, semi-solid buttermilk; 110 eggs; 12.9 cents.

Pen 6. Ration—Grain, mash (no meat scrap); 29 eggs; 27.7 cents.

A Triumph for Value

In the past two months Firestone has built and marketed more tires than in any similar period in its history.

This steadily increasing public preference is proof of the recognition by car owners of the greater values offered by Firestone. It is a tribute to Firestone men—all stockholders in the company—all actuated by the operating principle of Most Miles per Dollar.

The high average performance of Firestone Cords is without equal in the annals of tire making and is reflected by the general tendency to specify Firestone for hard service. Taxicab and bus lines, buying tires by the mile, are universally equipping with Firestone Cords.

There are many reasons for the high quality of Firestone tires but chief among the special manufacturing processes are double gum-dipping, thus eliminating internal friction by insulating each cord strand, and air-bag cure, insuring a well-balanced and perfectly shaped product.

Don't speculate in tires—you will find the right combination of price and quality in Firestone. Come in and let us tell you about the service these Cords are giving other car-owners whom you know.

LUBBOCK'S FINANCES HAVE BEEN ABLY HANDLED

A meeting of the Mayor and City Commission held at the courthouse Tuesday night of last week was a most important one, and revealed many things the city of Lubbock has accomplished within the past few years.

The fact that the sinking fund and interest amounts necessary to retire the $150,000 bonds recently voted here, and assurance of having $15,000 to spend on street improvements next year, will be provided for without increasing the tax rate, shows that Lubbock's finances have been ably handled.

Mayor Percy Spencer very liberally emphasized the fact that the present commission has not accomplished this work altogether, but that the former commission, in retiring other debts, had paved the way to a great extent to make this achievement possible.

With fifteen thousand dollars to be spent on street improvements another year, and the streets already in better shape at this time in a good many places than they have been in several months, it looks as though Lubbock will be kept in fine shape another year.

MEXICO MAY PASS PROHIBITION LAW

Mexico City, Aug. 28.—The possibility of Mexico being made bone dry is again being seriously discussed here. It is announced that several deputies will propose a "dry bill" as soon as Congress begins its sessions.

General P. Elias Calles, chief of cabinet and Secretary of the Interior, and Minister De La Huerta are avowed advocates of such legislation.

The belief prevails that a dry law modeled after the Volstead law in the United States will be introduced although it is not believed the measure will be enacted.

GASOLINE ENGINES NEEDED TO SUPPLY STOCK WATER

J. A. Burrus was here Monday and Tuesday from the Burrus ranch fifty miles southwest of Lubbock, visiting his brother, C. H. Burrus, at his home at 1216 10th Street.

Mr. Burrus reports everything in that section mighty dry, and that the stockmen are experiencing difficulty in supplying their herds with water. Scarcity of wind has made running gasoline engine pumps, necessary on almost all the ranches, Mr. Burrus reports.

ROTARY NOTES

By L. T. Martin

To be a Rotarian first of all you must be a good citizen. Your country comes first and then your state and city. Unselfish service, is the corner stone of Rotary and basis of business success. The object of the Rotary meeting Wednesday was to help make the South Plains Fair a success. This fair is the fair of the South Plains country and if all hands will join the officers and directors of the Fair Association and do his part toward making the Fair the state fair of West Texas, which can be done by co-operation. The program committee of which Roscoe Wilson was chairman, was certainly to be complimented upon the program they put over at Wednesday's luncheon. Each Rotarian was requested to bring and bring some farmer as his guest. Woody Bowen pronounced the invocation. Jed Rix made an introductory talk welcoming the guests to the Rotary club telling them how the Rotary club appreciated their presence, and by their presence was making better feeling between the town man and the farmer, after which Secretary Earl Hunt introduced the guests. A message was read from Walter Myrick, saying to count him in. Walter's heart is always in Lubbock and with the Rotary Club no matter where he might be on Rotary day. O. F. Sensabaugh, Boy Scout Master extended an invitation to the Rotarians and their wives to attend a barbecue on Friday evening, September 15th, at 6:30 p. m.

Butterflake Martin, chairman of the attendance committee called for reports from the different chairmen. Most of them reported a 100 per cent presence. Those who were not present were out of the city. The meeting was then turned over to Roscoe Wilson as chairman of the entertainment committee who made a brief statement as to the object of this meeting. The first fair being started in a small building in 1913. He then introduced A. B. Spencer of Crosbyton, and President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who responded to the subject of "The benefits of the Fair." He said that the Dallas News and the Dallas Fair were two of the primary forces which made the city of Dallas. There is no reason why the South Plains Fair should not make Lubbock. He said that Crosbyton would be represented with a good exhibit at the fair. E. L. Klett was then called upon to respond to the subject, "The Fair." His talk was very interesting and if the different communities will get in behind President Klett there is no reason why that the agricultural exhibit should not be one of the best that we have ever had at the fair. This is an agricultural country and one of the best agricultural sections in the State of Texas. The possibilities from agricultural exhibits for the South Plains Fair are great and the best way to promote interest is at institutes called Fairs. It is the best way to educate people by showing them what can be done in an agricultural way. The farmer depends upon the merchants and the merchants depend upon the farmers. There is no better way of showing this great industry of agricultural and live stock than by exhibiting at the Fair. Some are greatly discouraged on account of the dry weather but the officers of the Fair association are not discouraged and feel that the exhibit that they will make this year will show a great possibility of what this country can do even in dry weather. Geo. W. Neill, of Brownfield, was then called upon to respond to the subject "Terry County, the Prize Winner." Brownfield has always been an exhibitor at the South Plains Fair and generally goes home with first prize for agricultural exhibits. His talk was not only interesting but was very interesting from a humorous standpoint. He said that he did not know what Rotary stood for until he was at the fair. It is a go-round and round, but not necessarily a rounder. Said that Terry County was coming up with their usual good exhibit this year and would show at the South Plains Fair. He said that they would have an exhibit worthy of being seen and that he was going to do all in his power to make the South Plains Fair a success. He said he was going to invite all of the "suffering public from below," to come up to Lubbock to attend the South Plains Fair and enjoy themselves. Geo. Briggs was then called upon to respond to the subject, "It takes exhibits to make a fair." Mr. Briggs emphasized the fact that we should have full exhibits in all departments of the fair. The prospects are now from the reports received from the different counties and communities that we will have the largest exhibit that we have ever had at the South Plains Fair. Special attractions have been arranged for by way of entertainment. Clark's Greater Shows will have an attraction from a carnival standpoint, with merry-go-round, ferris wheel and other things for the children, and good clean shows. An aeroplane will be at the fair, doing all kinds of acrobatic stunts, such as loop the loop, barrel rolls, tail spins and parachute jumper will jump from the aeroplane each day of the Fair. This aeroplane will also take up passengers at a nominal fee. Provision has been made for eating stands and drink stands, ice cream, etc. Literature was distributed by the Mistletoe Creamery, in regard to diversified farming, the cow, the pig and the hen. President Rix in a few well chosen words thanked the ladies of the Baptist church for the excellent luncheon served. A departure was made for eating at the hotels and cafes by the luncheon being held at the auditorium. All seemed to enjoy the change as the club was off by itself, no interruption whatever from outsiders. The luncheon next week will be held at the auditorium and possibly for the next few weeks to come. Following is a list of the guests: L. O. Burford, guest of H. D. Phillips; M. L. SCHRAUB HOLDS SWATTERS TO 4 HITS; LUBBOCK WINS

Schraub was a little too much for the Sweetwater Swatters Monday, holding them to four hits, and but for Seiser's steal of the fourth sack in the fifth stanza, would have scored a shutout.

Errors were frequent, and were largely responsible for the lead gained by the locals. Gober led the swatting, getting two singles and a triple out of four. The score:

HUBBERS MAKE IT THREE STRAIGHT FROM SWATTERS

Frierson was ineffective against the Hubbers Tuesday, they hitting him whenever they liked, gathering twenty hits and eighteen runs, besides playing errorless ball behind Wooldridge, who held the visitors to six scattered hits, by which they got three runs. This made a clean sweep of the series from the Swatters.

Wooldridge tightened up in the pinches, and was never in danger of a rally on the part of the visitors.

HUBBERS TAKE FIRST GAME FROM GASSERS

Edgar held the Gassers to seven hits Wednesday, which were well scattered, and the Hubbers took the first of the three game series 3 to 1. The visitors chalked up their first and only count in the fifth on a single, a sacrifice and a double.

Errorless ball was shown from both sections, and although the visitors outbatted the locals, they were well scattered, and with the exception of the fifth no two hits were gotten in the same inning. The locals took the lead, counting one in the second on a walk and two singles, and again in the sixth on two singles and a triple, two more were chased across, gaining a lead which the visitors could not overcome.

York hit for a triple and a single out of three, and Brown hit two singles out of two. The score:

RAY'S OF SUNSHINE

Spirit Medium—Do you hear those raps? That's your dead husband.
Aunt Caroline—Naw, it's not, neethaw! Ise done tole you onct they don't use "wraps" where dat niggah went.

A wise man is like a pin—his head prevents him from "going too far."

I was getting a shave yesterday, and I told the barber that his razor was dull—and he said he would have another one at 4:30 "sharp!"

School Mistress—Ikey, what wrong did the brother of Joseph commit when they sold their brother?

Ikey—They sold him too cheap!

He told the maid that he loved her. The color left her cheeks—
But on the shoulder of his coat
It "stuck for several weeks!"

Is life worth living? (It depends a great deal on the "liver.")

The lightning bug is brilliant,
But he hasn't any mind—
For he blunders thru the darkness
With his headlight on behind!

"Are you and Charley coming to my party together?"
"Yes—if we don't come 'apart."

My brother—they named him "Bill" because he was born on the first of the month.

A certain editor recently received some poetic effusions daintily tied up with pink ribbon, and entitled, "I Wonder If He'll Miss Me."
After reading them and recovering sufficiently from a severe attack of nervous prostration, the editor returned the verses with the following little note:

the "King's business" realizes that it is no part of the King's business for him to tell his neighbor how he should do his part of the work. The King's business is the business which gives a cup of cold water to the thirsty, which pours the balm of comfort into wounded hearts, which gives unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness.

Josh Billings once said, "It is easy enough to attend to our neighbor's business, but our own sometimes bothers us." Which is very true. We are prone to say, "If I were in his place, I would do so and so," when the fact of the matter is we might do much worse than he whom we are adversely criticizing. It should not be forgotten that in such criticism we are not only meddling with the affairs of another, but are guilty of the double offense of meddling and casting reflections upon the one criticised.—DeWitt McMurray 33 degree Hon.

GREAT PROBLEMS CONFRONT THE SCHOOL OF TOMORROW

According to reports brought to our attention by schoolmen of wide experience, who are in a position to know something about the hazards to conducting a school at this time, we learn that the problem of securing instructors in mathematics in bobbing up as one of the most conspicuous hazards in that profession.

According to a school man of more than a quarter century of continual service we learn that these are very few of the university and college graduates who are being employed to teach the various subjects, who are capable of handling a class in mathematics, and it was called to our attention by others that the average high school graduate is finding mathematical problems to be beyond his grasp, and these facts should certainly make some one get down to thinking on this matter and, if possible, offer a solution to this gigantic problem.

Time is not far past when everybody in the country before getting half across the teen line could solve the most perplexing problems by the rules outlined in the text books, and becoming a mathematical wizard at twenty years of age in those times was not unusual, yet, from reports coming to us, it is hard to find instructors who can teach mathematics in the high schools of today.

Something is wrong somewhere, and parents, teachers and pupils should work together in getting the mathematical capacities of the young generation expanded to some degree equal that of the generation of a few years past.

TO THE VOTERS OF LUBBOCK COUNTY

I wish to express to each of you who supported me in my recent race for County Judge my sincere regards and appreciation for your untiring efforts in both words and deeds, and though I failed to be elected, I feel that it was no fault of yours and I have just as warm a place in my heart for you as though I had been elected, and I trust that as time passes and we learn to know each other better that it will only deepen our friendship, and that you will never have cause to regret what you did for me, and to those who did not see best to support me, I feel that it was not on account of any personal feeling you had towards me, but on account of friendship for my opponent, or other good reasons-which you were entitled to as citizens of this commonwealth, and which, I cheerfully grant, you did your duty, and I sincerely trust that we shall learn to know each other better and that our acquaintance shall ripen into friendship, and it shall be my constant effort and greatest desire to make a good and true citizen of this county as is possible for me to do.

"THE CLEAN STORE"

What are you doing to make the local Post more active in helping to accomplish the things laid down in the 1922 calendar by National Headquarters?

This question will no doubt find a good many of the local Legionnaires somewhat at disadvantage to find answer, yet the question should be met squarely.

We hear a great deal about the things National Headquarters is able to do because of the finances backing the men at the job from ex-service men who are earnest in their desire to see the Legion go, yet they think that their part in the big show is such an inconspicuous one that acting is unnecessary, and on that very point they are failing to do the thing that will add most to this great organization.

Back up your local post with genuine interest in its every activity and you will strengthen one of the links in the great chain of posts about over the States upon which the Headquarters office depends for moral and financial backing.

The following editorial from the American Legion Weekly proves beyond any doubt that the ex-service men's problems are being looked after by the publishers of that magazine, who are unafraid to hurl defiance at those who would have us believe that the ex-service man's needs have been squarely met:

Elementary Arithmetic

When the hospitalization plan of the Government for the care of the ex-service men shall have been completed as now contemplated—and which is being hurried to early completion—it will represent in all the departments a total expenditure of approximately $800,000,000.—From a statement by Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer published in the Congressional Record of July 27, 1922.

Caught in the act of holding up the completion of urgently-needed new hospitals for service men, General Sawyer continues to wriggle in an effort at self-justification. The quotation above is only one example of the many statements he has made in his floundering effort to convince the people of this country that the mental hospitals he is holding up are not needed and that he, General Sawyer, the taxpayers' friend, is preventing the Government from indulging in foolish sentiment and wasteful prodigality toward the disabled service man.

General Sawyer states vaguely that the hospitalization plan of the Government will represent in all departments a total expenditure of approximately $800,000,000. To show how much reliance may be placed in these figures, there is given below the actual record of hospital construction appropriations by Congress since the Armistice, in figures supplied by the United States Veterans Bureau on August 3, 1922:

GRAND TOTAL—$53,823,275.03

The above tables prove that since the ending of a war which cost the United States approximately forty billion dollars, our Government has appropriated exactly $53,823,275.03 for hospital construction, little more than the cost of a first class battleship. The Government which spent billions unspendingly to win the war has grudgingly doled out dollars to provide hospital facilities for only two thirds of the disabled service men requiring hospital care and treatment. As the result of that parsimonious policy, only 18,319 service-men patients were able to find accommodations in government hospitals at the moment General Sawyer was making his defense in

KANSAS CITY MARKET

Kansas City Stock Yards, August 28, 1922—Cooler weather stimulated demand for hogs and prices rose 10 to 15 cents, taking the market 35 to 40 cents above last week's low spot. Sheep and lambs were steady, with top $13.25. Cattle and calf receipts were liberal and prices showed a weaker tone. Medium classes of steers declined the most, and best stockers and feeders were steady.

Today's Receipts
Receipts today were 26,000 cattle, 6,000 hogs and 6,000 sheep, compared with 25,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs and 4,000 sheep a week ago, and 18,500 cattle, 6,200 hogs and 12,725 sheep a year ago.

Beef Steers
Though cattle receipts were liberal they were not excessive, but with two roads short on cars for outgoing shipments trade was slow in starting. At the outset sharp lower bids were placed but finally the general decline on medium classes was placed at 15 to 25 cents, and the best and commonest kinds were quoted steady to 15 cents lower. Offerings of fed steers were smaller than on preceding Monday's and the supply of wintered summer grazed classes was small. The big per cent of the offerings came from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, and Missouri. Cows and heifers were 10 to 15 cents lower. Calves were steady to 50 cents lower, with the top price $10.50.

Stockers and Feeders
Trade in the better classes of stock and feeding cattle was active at steady prices. Plain-to-fairly good kinds were weak to lower and in slow demand.

Hogs
Hog prices rose 10 to 15 cents under an active demand. Both shippers and packers were in the competition. Cooler weather, which was favorable for handling hogs caused the increased outlet. The top price was $9.25 and the bulk of offerings sold at $8.75 to $9.15, or 35 to 40 cents below the low point last week. Pigs were steady at $8 to $8.50.

Sheep and Lambs
Steady prices prevailed in the sheep division. Trade was active and native lambs sold up to $13 and Western lambs up to $13.25. Fat sheep and feeding lambs were in limited supply.

Horses and Mules
Receipts of horses and mules show a further increase over preceding Mondays, and trade ruled fairly active at steady prices.

Capt. Lynn and Wife, of Fort Worth, Are Spending Their Lives in Work for Homeless Orphans—Are Given Homes

Capt. J. T. Lynn, of the Lynn Orphan Work, of Fort Worth, passed through Lubbock Wednesday.

Captain Lynn is known all over Texas and in other states as the "man with a baby and basket," as he and his good wife are spending their lives working in the interest of unfortunate homeless babies.

Captain Lynn takes babies from two to five days and older from anywhere in the state and places them in good christian homes where there are possibilities of their receiving genuine christian educations. It is no uncommon scene at the places where he stays to see him doing the washing for the little fellows entrusted to his care, this part of the work he does because he has handled babies so long, and understands their requirements so well that entrusting them to the care of others is practically unthinkable to him. "I don't mind taking a little tot two days old and carrying it across the state to a good home, for I have made so many trips that caring for them is my greatest pleasure," he told the Avalanche force Wednesday morning while discussing his work.

The Lynn Orphan Work is supported absolutely upon the free will offerings of the friends of the couple and those acquainted with the great work they are doing.

A card on which is printed the photograph of twenty-five babies, that Captain Lynn and wife have placed in good homes making their little lives comfortable, and in a good many instances possible, are living examples of the good work the couple have done within the past nine years that they have devoted entirely to that great work.

Anyone wishing to adopt an infant orphan, should write to the Lynn Orphan Work, Captain J. T. Lynn and wife, Managers, Box 185, Fort Worth, Texas, giving reference from your pastor or other good reference stating how you are financially prepared to give the child the advantages necessary to gaining a place in the world equal to that of other children.

Such good people as the Captain and wife are to be appreciated and we are sure that under his care the babies of the state who need help are given the advantages of a good home.

These good workers don't quit helping those who need help who are orphans, but to parents who do not understand the many troubles that hinder the growth and happiness of their babies, they offer kindly advice and assistance in every manner possible.

The following inscription is printed on Captain Lynn's card: "We are supported by free will donations; no offering too small to thank you for kindly."

Why not help this good couple who are spending their lives in helping those incapable of helping themselves?

Lorenzo gins are ready for the busy season that is before them. The Farmers Union Gin and the Fuller Gin both fired up Tuesday of this week and gave their machinery a good testing. Mr. Dodson, manager of the Simmons gin, says he will be ready for a test-out the latter part of this week. We do not know when the Setzler Gin will be in running order but only a very few days at the most. These four gins are going after the business this fall and are going to be able to take care of all the cotton that Lorenzo is entitled to, and there is no need for farmers in this territory to take their cotton to neighboring towns to have it ginned, as they will be able to get ginned and better service at the old home town this time.

Arrangements are now being made with the managers of the Crosby County Fair for the Lorenzo Chamber of Commerce Band to furnish music for the Crosby County Fair this fall. As to whether any deal will be closed or not we are unable to say at this time, but in all probability there will be in the near future at which time announcement will be made.

The business manager of the band will take the proposition up with Mr. Romaine, one of the business managers of the fair and he will be invited over to hear the band play and decide by that whether or not he can use the band.

Lorenzo's band has only been organized a short time but by the time the county fair opens the band will have a repertoire of some 35 or 50 pieces and will be amply able to fill a two days engagement.

The first bale of the season was brought to Lorenzo Tuesday of this week which makes it several days earlier than the first bale last year which was received on Wednesday, September 8th.

The cotton was raised by Mr. Henry Kirksey on his farm in the Robertson community and was ginned at the Farmers Union Gin, by J. F. Proctor. The bale weighed 450 pounds. It was bought by W. P. Fullingim for 24 cents a pound. The business men of Lorenzo, as usual offered the owner a nice premium amounting to $30, which made the bale net its owner $128. The season is now on and quite a number of farmers around are picking cotton and several more bales are expected before the end of the week.

The Christian revival, conducted by Elder Bassell Baxter of Abilene, closed with the evening services at the tabernacle last Sunday. An unusual good meeting was had and a deep interest was manifested. Bro. Baxter is an able and well informed preacher and his efforts accomplished much in the short time that he was in our community.

Quite a number of conversions were made and several additions to the church also reported. Baptismal services were held two or three times during the course of the meeting.

The annual school catalogue announcing the opening of the Lorenzo Public Schools is now off the press and patrons who did not receive their copy should apply to the Superintendent, Mr. Leverett at once. This is another one of the progressive moves of our school board and faculty and the catalogue is a big means to fostering interest in the school work. Lorenzo is the only school on the south plains that issues an annual catalogue.

NEW FORD CAR STOLEN AT O'DONNELL TUESDAY NIGHT

A brand new 1923 model Ford car was stolen from a prominent O'Donnell man Tuesday night.

No particulars of the case have been learned, more than a description of the car telephoned to Sheriff Holcomb, who is working on the case.

Sheriff Holcomb says the number of cards received at his office daily telling of stolen automobiles is exceptional, indicating great activity on the part of automobile thieves.

Mrs. A. C. Costin, of Lamesa, Texas, who has been in a local sanitarium for the past three weeks, is able to be moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. R. Pickens of this city, where she will stay for a few weeks before returning to her home.

CARD OF THANKS

As it is impossible for us to express our thanks otherwise than this, we are glad to take this opportunity to express our thanks and appreciation to the people of Lubbock for the kindness and service rendered in so many ways during the late illness of our wife and mother, and for the many beautiful flowers sent. And especially do we want to thank the doctors and nurses of the Lubbock Sanitarium for their every service rendered. We feel that the very best attention possible was given and through their skill doctoring and nursing our loved one was brought safely through her serious operation and is now able to sit up. We think Lubbock is fortunate in having such fine institutions as its local sanitariums.

All Christian churches of the district are expected to send representatives and members of the Christian Church living in the Panhandle in the communities where there are no Christian churches are urged to come. One of the special

Briggs Says Farm Exhibits Are Not Hurt by Drouth

Geo. W. Briggs, prime mover in getting the Agricultural exhibits together for the Panhandle & South Plains Fair Association, says there is no need for anyone worrying about the drouth that has threatened crops, hurting the fair materially. "There are scores of people who don't realize how well crops have done, and just what fine specimens we have to exhibit," he said, declaring that that department of the fair will in every manner outstrip the last fall's event.

"We started this thing with the determination to get up the best fair in all the country, and are going to end the little show with that determination materialized," he said, declaring that the close co-operation farmers are giving him is enabling him to go forward with the work in a manner that will make a showing at the fair.

"There are very few people here who know that crops are as good as they are, and that being so, we want to do it to entertain them with a genuine surprise. That fair will be just as new to some of our people, and farmers are not exempt from the bunch, as it will be to people from other sections. Why man, it's humanly impossible for anyone to realize how well some of our crops have done," he said, expressing the opinion that inasmuch as a good many smaller fairs over West Texas have been called off on account of the drouth, more attention will be centered around the Lubbock fair, with more exhibitors interested in trying to win the attractive prizes.

CARD OF THANKS

To the citizens of Lubbock county: The illness of my brother prevented the expression of my gratitude in Tuesday's issue.

Words fail to express the thanks of my heart to those who voted for me and so untiringly and continuously worked for my election. I realize that many of my old-time friends who, along with me, have so constantly contended for the enforcement of law, for the improvement of our educational conditions and worked so assiduously for the development of our beloved county for more than thirty years, as well as a host of friends of more recent years have done these best for me without saying a word to me.

I also feel kindly toward those who voted against me and worked against me. They are to be commended for their courage and zeal in contending for what they believed to be for the best interests of our people. I feel that they were not really against me but for my opponent and certain principles involved.

It affords me much pleasure to feel that by re-election you endorse our financial policy and that you appreciate our efforts in conducting the county's affairs in general during the most trying and critical two years we have ever experienced.

It shall be my utmost endeavor to treat every part of our county alike and fairly.

I shall assume the duties and responsibilities for the next two years confident that the citizenship of Lubbock county is standing with me in every laudable and lawful undertaking.

With malice toward none but charity for all I am your public servant and your loyal, consistent, patriotic people.

Yours to serve,
53-1 P. F. BROWN.

W. S. HODGES STORE WILL BE READY FOR BUSINESS

W. S. Hodges, one of the big mercantile dealers of this section, is getting things in his new store, in the old Cadillac Garage Building, in shape in a hurry to open for business, and we are sure that when all arrangements are complete, he will have one of the most complete mercantile stores of the Plains.

Mr. Hodges told an Avalanche reporter that he had ordered the most up-to-date meat market equipments on the market to be installed, and will conduct his market in a manner that will appeal to his customers.

He will handle a general line of goods, not including dry goods; implements, leather goods, and groceries to be the main line, with the stock complete in every department.

We are glad to welcome Mr. Hodges to Lubbock, and are in hopes he will get into the harness and assist with the development of this section.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NUMBER ONE

The election is over and I am thankful for your support. I shall do my best to make you a good weigher. To those who voted against me I hold no malice—so come on and let us do business as of old. You all look a like to me. You will find me in the future as in the past, on the job.

Yours respectfully,
54-1p C. T. JACKSON.

CLUB WORK IN LUBBOCK COUNTY IS TAKING IMPORTANT PLACE IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNITIES

Organization is the keynote to achieving great things in community work, and certainly Lubbock county has her share of organization that are designed to accomplish great things for the ruralist.

Interest in club work is growing among the ladies of the county, and we are glad to know that the Ladies Co-operative League, of which Mrs. Edd Schroeder is president, is growing in number and interest at every meeting, and the ladies have found the organization of real worth to them.

Under the directions of Home Demonstration Agent, Mable Marsh, the ladies have been making extensive experiments and work in food preservation. They have just recently completed a comprehensive study of dress form making, and are at this time working on food preservation as a matter of necessary economy in conducting the home on a higher plane.

Those ladies organized what was known as the Mothers' and Daughters' Club some weeks ago, and deciding on "The Ladies Co-operative League" as a suitable title for the organization, have adopted it as a permanent one.

There is also a Club at Shallowater, a meeting of which was held last week with twenty-four members present. Three dress forms were made, after which a social hour was spent.

There is special significance about these meetings, in that the ladies are working together for mutual benefit, and at the same time enjoying the association with one another in a manner that would be impossible without an organization of some kind. It is quite difficult for the ladies to visit very much throughout these busy weeks, and in being able to see all their neighbors at one meeting where most of the time is spent in friendly exchange of ideas they are greatly helped.

There is also community interest problems discussed at these meetings, the most important matter to be brought before the Shallowater ladies was that of having a community booth at the South Plains Fair, which the ladies pledged their support in helping to make a success, and Miss Katie Bell Crump was appointed superintendent of the booth.

A few weeks ago a Club was organized at Posey with five charter members, and just to show with what rapidity these clubs come into prominence in the community a meeting was held Thursday, August 24, and twenty members answered the roll call, they having made application for membership shortly after the first meeting.

Miss Marsh will meet with the

The interest shown in these organizations by the ladies proves their interest in community welfare. They are willing to spend a great deal of time learning the very best methods of conducting their affairs in a manner that will accomplish something for them that will help in bettering the community. They realize that the undeveloped state in which their communities are now in challenges their efforts to bring about many needed improvements, and are not shirking that responsibility.

The ladies of Lubbock county are working for the betterment of their respective communities, and the subsequent betterment of Lubbock county. Their efforts are being appreciated.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH
 The Very Next Dose of this Treacherous Drug may Start Trouble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury, quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. 11-18

MAY HAVE COTTON IMMUNE TO WEEVIL

Lake, Miss., Aug. 27.—Cotton believed to be immune against boll weevil is being produced in this section by William Rush, a planter. Two years ago, according to Rush, he discovered a cotton stalk with red or rather maroon colored leaves, boll and stock. He replanted seed from this stalk and this strange variety was perfectly reproduced. This year considerable seed of the red variety were planted. While old cotton planted all around the new cotton is suffering serious damage from weevil it is claimed that the red variety appears to be immune.

J. K. Wester to Serve His 39th Year As School Instructor

J. K. Wester, who has made Lubbock his home for the summer, left Monday for Ralls, to make preliminary preparations to start the school term there Monday, September 4th. Going to Ralls Monday and getting into the work necessary to make the get-away of the school successful was not new to Mr. Wester, nor will the long, tiresome days of nerve-racking attempts to instill into the minds of his students the principles he upholds, and the rules laid down in the text books be new to him. Thirty-eight years continual service as a teacher has rubbed the new off going to school with him, but nevertheless he is just as enthusiastic and interested in the work as when holding down a one-teacher position was about the biggest job offered young teachers.

Mr. Wester has many friends in Lubbock who appreciate the aggressiveness of his efforts, and the Ralls school will continue to grow in importance as a seat of learning. This makes his sixth year as superintendent of that school, and it is good to know that in carrying on the work he has the close co-operation of everyone patronizing the school.

Plainview, Texas, Aug. 28.—All requirements for free city mail delivery in Plainview have been met and the new service will be inaugurated September 1. Postal inspectors found 100 per cent of the houses in Plainview numbered and about 95 per cent of them with boxes. Eighty-five per cent in each case is sufficient to secure the service after requirements have been met.

Two carriers will be employed at first, although it is expected that another will be added soon. Sidewalks are being built in outlying sections of the city to secure the free delivery and when the service is extended another carrier will be needed.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an un-healthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or digest the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. "Pleasant to take" 60c per bottle.

It is better to try to do too much than to try to do too little.

EAST TEXAS ROAD IS GRANTED A CHARTER

Austin, Aug. 28.—The Marshall, Elysian Fields and Southwestern Railway Company, capitalized at $50,000, was chartered today by the Secretary of State. Charter for the line was rejected last week on the grounds that it provided for operation of motor vehicles. The road as chartered today will operate a steam line.

The new road includes eighteen miles of the former Marshall and East Texas Railroad extending from Marshall to Elysian Fields. Marshall is designated as headquarters. Officers of the new company named in the charter are H. Turney, Marshall, president; J. B. Furr, Elysian Fields, vice president, and W. L. Berry, Marshall, secretary-treasurer.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value. Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

IN MILADY'S REALM

BY MRS. CURTIS A. KEEN Residence 1119 Fourteenth St. Phone No. 431

A thought for today is not worth vindicating. —Robertson.
The costliest service human hands can render Comes without cost—is never bought or sold;
It flows from human hearts, by love made tender,
And moves about the purchase power of gold.
On the same path where selfish greed is stalking,
Rating its virtue at a market price,
These saintly feet unselfishly are walking,
To comfort pain and heal the wounds of vice."
—Rev. J. N. Tarbox.
Make but few explanations—the character than cannot defend itself

It is the little rift within the lute, That by and by will make the music mute,
And ever widening, slowly silence all. —Tennyson.
St. Paul's Episcopal Church Picnic
The Church and Sunday School picnic of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, was held at the Tumble N Pool picnic grounds on Wednesday evening. From every point of view it was a decided success and if the children who were present enjoyed it all to the fullest extent, the grown-ups would have to be included as the children, too, as everyone entered ed into it with a really whole-hearted spirit and helped to make the day a success. From the list of good things to eat, fried chicken, salads, hot rolls, pickles, olives, cake and cream one could well imagine that they were ordering from an exclusive hotel menu. But there was one good reason to feel that this was not the case and that was the rare and genuine appetite that one can only enjoy in the great outdoors and it was this relish that the many good things were enjoyed, on Wednesday evening. Apart from the good things to eat their is ever the bigger pleasure in picnic outings of that wonderful good fellowship and the joy of just being together, and in this respect the Episcopal picnic was one hundred per cent perfect.

The Rev. Showell and Mrs. Showell were conspicuous in the party for their friendly spirit and enjoyment of the evening. In every way it was a delightfully planned affair, and the wish of everyone present was that they would have picnics more often.
Marvin Brown Celebrates His Fifth Birthday
Mrs. Marvin Brown entertained a crowd of youngsters on Wednesday afternoon, August 30, in honor of little Marvin Brown's fifth birthday. The happy crowd was Billie, Georgia and Evelyn Barkham, Chas. and Ella Mae Williams, Arnold Claire, Paul and Johnny and Lilly Katherine.
Games were in order out on the grass until the children were tired, and then they were gathered into the dining room and served a delicious lunch of cream, cake, candy and fruit. They all declared a delightful time on leaving Marvin with a bright and smiling face, the proud possessor of many little nice presents they had brought him.
Mrs. T. Q. Scott of Waco, and her two grand-daughters, the Misses Scott, are on their way home after touring California and Colorado. While in Lubbock they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Scott.
Miss Mary Scott Entertains With Forty-Two
Miss Mary Scott entertained with a delightful forty-two party on Wednesday evening in compliment to her two cousins, Miss McNamara and Miss Dell Scott. The Scott home on 1509 Avenue K, was made attractive in bowl clusters of garden flowers. During the course of the evening Miss Mary Scott was assisted by her mother, Mrs. G. W. Scott. After the games delicious refreshments were served to the following guests: Misses McNamara and Dell Scott, Glensy Honey, and Messrs. Cliff Know, Clarence Phillips, Glen Hunt and Carlisle Tubbs.
Auction Bridge Club
The Auction Bridge Club will meet with Mrs. Clark Smith on Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty, at the Lubbock Inn. The ladies are asked to bear in mind the change of time.
Afternoon Bridge
If Bridge parties are a rare occurrence in Lubbock society, these days we find the social calendar of Austin marks an item of interest to us all.
Mrs. A. V. Weaver of Lubbock, Texas, who is spending the summer here, entertained with a lovely afternoon bridge party yesterday at her home. The rooms were prettily decorated with an attractive arrangement of zinnias, ferns and bougainvillea.
At the conclusion of a series of bridge games, Mrs. W. E. Pope was awarded high score prize, Mrs. Lulu Peck the "booby," and Mrs. Bennett of Austin, who was the honor guest of the afternoon, received the guest prize. Punch was served throughout the afternoon.
The guests were: Mrs. B. H. Passmore, Mrs. Lulu Peck, Mrs. Wayne Robertson of Lawton, Okla.; Mrs. Lovell of Lawton, Okla.; Mrs. Passmore of Laredo; Mrs. Cecil Heath, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. C. G. Sanford, Mrs. J. M. Roundtree, Mrs. Murphy, of Lawton, Okla.; Mrs. W. E. Pope, Mrs. Bennett of Austin, Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. A. H. Conn, Mrs. H. H. Elliott, Mrs. Barrow, and among those calling after the bridge games were Mrs. M. H. Williams and Mrs. Fernburg.
The hostess served dainty refreshments of ice cream, cake and candy.
Lindsy Theatre Children's Matinee
The children are reminded of the morning matinee at the R. & R. Lindsy Theatre on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. Mr. Rowley and the Twenty-first Century Club are doing all they can to make the morning children's lectures attractive and lest some of the tiny tots and some of the mothers are forgetting about the time and day, we want to remind you all of the lecture coming next Saturday morning at ten o'clock.
The attendance has been very good, but not so good as the first of the series, and we feel that there are boys and girls who if they knew about these morning pictures would be on hand. Let's show Mr. Rowley that the boys and girls of Lubbock do appreciate his interest and efforts in giving us these pictures.
Everyone remembers "Polyanna," that wonderful book. This picture will prove to every boy and girl that there is "always something to be glad about." Come and see it Saturday morning.
TO THE VOTERS
I am taking this means of expressing in a small way the heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the nice vote given me in the run-off primary last Saturday.
While I do not expect to make the best commissioner Lubbock County has ever had, yet I have a sincere desire to be instrumental in helping to solve the most important and vital question before our people today—the question of better roads.
I realize thoroughly that in your giving me the support you did in the run-off that I am naturally expected to carry on the work with the best interest of all at heart, and I wish you to know that you are assured of that service.
The Commissioner's job is one of great scope, and your close co-operation is necessary to my seeing to it that I am doing the most good.
Thanking you again and again, I am, yours truly,
54-1 Marvin T. Warlick.
