TRUSTEES OF LUBBOCK COUNTY FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE IN LUBBOCK

EDITORIAL IN TUESDAY'S AVALANCHE PROMPTED THAT BODY TO DRAFT FAVORABLE RESOLUTION

NEED OF SCHOOLS IS REALIZED IN TEXAS

Cry for "More Room" From Ambitious Boys and Girls Over West Texas Is Challenge to the Lubbock Business Men to Establish Institution Here—"It Can Be Done, Let's Do It."

The editor of the Avalanche and M. M. Dupre have started something.

While Editor Dow made it known as we announced our intentions of saying something in this issue of the Avalanche about the Junior College here, that the Schoolman should receive the full benefits of any commendations whatsoever for starting the Junior College idea, the following letter involves both men, and the writer is of the opinion that inasmuch as some action is being taken, and that something worth while is the result of what has been said heretofore, and will place the credit of this work upon the aforementioned gentlemen.

The possibilities of establishing a Junior College here are great. The need is urgent. The location is logical. The school in question must be established to care for the overflow of pupils clamoring to enter educational institutions, and the bigness of Lubbock is challenged in their cry for "more room."

Lubbock must do the big thing. The following decision handed down at a meeting of the County Board of Trustees, which was presided over by County Superintendent of Schools, E. R. Haynes, is proof enough that the prime movers in educational work of Lubbock county are wanting something to be done, and it is altogether likely that Lubbock business men must meet the demand. Adequate educational facilities must be established here to meet the demands that are not being met in other educational centers of the State. Lubbock is becoming too prominent to miss an opportunity to place this city in a brighter light of public opinion. The business men of Lubbock of course have had the bluntness of abnormal growth to keep smooth, but withal they have prospered, and again comes more demands upon them, and again this demand is creating an opportunity for them.

Pardon us for repeating figures used by Mr. Dow in his recent editorial, but they are too important to be overlooked while this subject is being discussed, and they alone can reveal the vast opportunity that is placing itself in the hands of Lubbock people. Mr. Dow states:

"Mr. Dupre figures that taking as a basis the sixty-five freshmen that left Lubbock this year for colleges in various places, that we send away at least $40,000 a year for college expenses that could just as well be kept in Lubbock, and aside from that, if the school was established here that we would draw more than that many or possibly several times that many from other South Plains towns which would run the sum of money up into very large figures and the teachers could be secured at a very small cost taking into consideration the amount of money it takes to send children off to school."

These figures are too simple to be misunderstood. The number of people a junior college would bring to Lubbock its first year in operation would spend a great deal of money in Lubbock, and taking this matter as a cold business proposition, leaving to the winds any civic pride or community ambitions, Lubbock business men can easily see that any demands made upon them are not too great when compared with what will be brought to Lubbock as a result of their efforts.

If our readers will permit further emphasis upon what Mr. Dupre has said we will sun the whole proposition up in a quotation from him: "Folks this can be done. Let's do the big thing!"

Learning from an editorial in the Lubbock Avalanche that an effort is being made to establish a State Junior College in connection with the school system of the City of Lubbock and understanding that the Freshman classes of the State University, A. & M. College, and of the other State Educational Institutions are over crowded and believing that a State Junior College on the South Plains would receive some of this connection.

Therefore it is resolved: That we, the County Board of Trustees of Lubbock County highly endorse the establishing of said school in the town of Lubbock, and that we hereby place every assistance within our power to making it a first class junior college for the boys and girls of the South Plains.

ANTHRAX EPIDEMIC REPORTED IN NOLAN

Sweetwater, Oct. 5.—An epidemic of anthrax threatens the live stock industry of Nolan county and the adjacent territory at the present time. Fatalities to live stock have occurred at three points in the south part of the county, affecting a territory of approximately twenty miles in the vicinity of Dora, Trent and Bitter Creek.

On the Knox ranch, thirty head of cattle have succumbed to the disease; ten cows and six horses are dead at the Hale place and ten horses and some cattle are dead on the Bradberry ranch on Bitter Creek.

Many other cases are being investigated by Dr. O. Stephenson, veterinarian, and Dr. R. H. Harrison, assistant State Veterinarian, with the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission, who are here from Fort Worth. Places where stock have been affected have been placed under quarantine.

N. W. KILLEN, FLOYD CO. MAN DIED HERE FRIDAY

N. W. Killen, of Floyd County, was brought to a local sanitarium last week in an unconscious condition, having been struck in the back of the head by an axe, and died here Friday morning.

Mrs. Killen was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Burrus here while her husband was being cared for and was unable to make any statements as to why the killing had occurred, as her husband was an old man, and had not offended the tenant in any serious manner.

The following account of the affair was taken from the Floydada Hesperian:

"N. W. Killen of Allmon, aged about 60, was struck in the head with an axe Wednesday morning about sun-up and is now in a sanitarium in Lubbock, where he was still unconscious at eight o'clock this morning.

"A. B. Compton, a young man of 25, is being held at Floydada charged with assault to murder, his bond having been set by Justice J. C. Gaither at an examining trial yesterday morning at $2,500 to await the action of the grand jury now in session. It is alleged that Compton struck the blow.

"Compton is a tenant on the farm of Killen. He has a wife and three children. The Killen family live close by.

"Deputies Chas. Trowbridge and H. S. Bolin, Justice J. C. Gaither and County Attorney A. P. McKinney went to the scene of the trouble."

GROWING BIG PEACHES IN GAINES COUNTY

Seminole, Oct. 6.—Just to see how big a Gaines county peach grows ordinarily, Harry N. Stone, editor of the Seminole Sentinel, recently "embraced" one of the luscious nectarines with a tape-line. The figures showed one of them to be 10 1/2 inches in girth. They were presented to the editor by "Uncle" William Breckon, who has a clear vision of the day when Gaines county will become the premier fruit and agricultural sections of the "elbow" part of West Texas.

FAIR PREMIUMS READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

Announcement was made at the office of the Secretary of the Fair Association Saturday that all premiums would be ready for distribution Monday morning.

While most of the prize winners have called for their premiums, this is to serve as a notice to those who have not.

FRESHMEN HAVE OUTING ON THE CANYON FRIDAY

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Slagle chaperoned the members of the Freshmen class, Lubbock high school, on a hay ride, the destination of which was a few miles from the city limits, where the youngsters spent a most enjoyable time roasting weenies, and the writer is at loss as to what name would be most applicable to this entertainment, as it was an ideal hay ride, and a real weenie roast, two entertainments in one, which the alert fish enjoyed to the fullest extent.

The Freshmen showed lots of pep throughout the evening, and that usual interest that is shown in all their work was especially high on this occasion.

Prof. and Mrs. Slagle are especially interested in the young people of the school, and their efforts are largely responsible for the many class entertainments being so successful.

Our next income tax is due ten days before Christmas.

Local Red Cross Was On the Job At Recent Fair

So many matters came up through the three days of the South Plains Fair and the week following that a report of the activities of the Red Cross in connection with the fair was crowded out. But in order that honor may be given where honor is due the following report of the work of this organization, under the direction of its able secretary and thru the co-operation of its directorate and the local hospitals is given at this late date:

A spacious rest room was maintained in the agricultural building through the entire fair with more than 400 ladies taking advantage of the comfortable chairs, cool drinking water, and baby cribs to enjoy a few minutes rest for themselves and the small children. A member of the Red Cross chapter was on hand at all times to make the visitors feel welcome and assist them in caring for the young children. The baby cribs were filled at all hours of the day and this feature alone added a lot to the enjoyment of the fair on the part of many mothers with small children.

More than a dozen calls were made upon the First Aid booth during the fair. This department of the Red Cross was presided over by a nurse from one of the local hospitals at all hours of the day and until midnight each night and effectively treated a number of emergency cases. A broken arm, a broken nose, a mashed foot, half dozen minor cuts and bruises, two fainting women, and a sick child were just a few of the emergencies brought to this booth and taken care of.

Several of the lost children were cared for by the Red Cross until their parents could be found, notified or made search for them.

All wall decorations of the entire Red Cross booth were made by the Junior Red Cross and were very educational in character.

The work of this organization speaks for itself whenever an opportunity to serve is brought to its attention. Enough money is saved each month through the efficient direction of the problems of charity in Lubbock county to more than pay for the operating expenses of the organization. A recent story carried by the American Magazine gives one an insight to the crookedness practiced by beggars, charity solicitors, pencil sellers and others that make this territory every fall.

If the citizens of Lubbock would turn an absolutely deaf ear to all street solicitations of this kind and refer all charity cases direct to the Red Cross for their attention it would not be a month until a beggar would never be seen on the streets. The report is passed around among the begging fraternity as to which towns are EASY and which are organized to handle this work through the Red Cross.

Half of these professional beggars will cuss the Red Cross—for could you believe it—"that organization wants to know where they came from, who their nearest relatives are, what they do with the money that has been given them, how much property they own and other PERSONAL matters of that kind."

"It is going to be a mighty poor country when a man can't sit on the corner of a street and thru begging make $10 to $25 per day and any organization that keeps from being more profitable than honest work should be run out of the country."

That is the attitude of professional beggars. There are worthy needy in every town of this size that must be taken care of. There will always be. Also there are professional beggars that fleece the EASY towns.

The Red Cross local chapter is the organization who make it a business to determine who is worthy and who is not, and to constructively take care of the worthy cases and make it so uncomfortable for the unworthy that they will stay out of the town. Keep your eye on the work of the Red Cross and support it when you are called upon in the Annual Drive for funds.

POPULAR SUDAN COUPLE MARRIED HERE SUNDAY

Rev. D. C. Ross, Methodist minister, performed the marriage ceremony for Mr. Lewis B. McNeely and Miss Annie Beatrice Carruth, at the home of the bride's parents at Sudan Sunday.

Both young people are popular in that vicinity, and have a host of friends who wish for them well throughout the remainder of their lives.

O. W. Jolly, who recently bought the shoe department of the W. B. Thorp store, returned Thursday from a business trip to Winters, his old home. He reports conditions very favorable in that territory, but brings back the report from there that he was really sorry for those people, inasmuch as lots of them haven't seen a good country, and don't know but what they have the best part of the world cornered down there.

Rev. E. H. J. Andrews and Mrs. Andrews went to Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, returning Thursday. While there they were the guests of Rev. John L. Showell and family. Mr. Showell is rector of the church at Lubbock—Plainview Herald.

Cleveland man and wife are on the same jury. We will let you know if they disagree.

Floyd County Swine Breeders At S. P. Fair

Floyd County swine made a big showing at the Plainview Swine Show at Plainview, and the South Plains Fair at Lubbock last week. Notable leaders in the Plainview Show were the Poland-China herd of C. D. Merrick of Lockney, and the Duroc Jersey herd of J. I. Hammonds of Floydada, both of which won heavily in their classes. Hammonds at Plainview showed in 15 out of a total of 17 classes in the Duroc Jersey division and his herd took 11 firsts, 3 seconds, 2 thirds and 3 fourth places, including first aged herd, first young herd, first get of sire, first produce of dam and first futurity litter. In addition to the Poland-China herd of C. D. Merrick of Lockney, and the Duroc Jersey herd of J. I. Hammonds of Floydada, both of which won heavily in their classes: Hammonds at Plainview showed in 15 out of a total of 17 classes in the Duroc Jersey division and his herd took 11 firsts, 3 seconds, 2 thirds and 3 fourth places, including first aged herd, first young herd, first get of sire, first produce of dam and first futurity litter. ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COM.

Bowie, Oct. 7.—More than 2200 bales of cotton have been receipted for here this season. The cotton crop of this section has been about gathered.

Merkel, Oct. 7.—Approximately 6,000 bales of cotton have been received at local cotton yards this season, which is slightly in excess of receipts at a corresponding day last year. Last year Merkel got about 10,000 bales, a number in excess of that expected this year. In 1919 Merkel marketed 23,000 bales and in 1920 about 16,000 bales.

Rising Star, Oct. 7.—The ponderous engine and generator for the electric light plant has arrived and are now being installed in a new brick house built for the purpose. The engine weighs about ten tons and the generator 5 tons. When put into operation in the next few weeks ample current and power will be procurable by citizens.

Comanche, Oct. 8.—The Young Men's Business League now has a membership of approximately 200 as the result of a drive which has been conducted among the business men. At a recent meeting a committee was named to perfect arrangements for the piping of natural gas into Comanche from the Sipe Springs and Rising Star gas fields.

Comanche, Oct. 8.—One of the largest real estate deals consummated in this county in some time was when A. L. Mills traded his farm and ranch near Newburg to Mrs. Hugh Ward of Pearsall for her ranch property near Pearsall, the consideration being $40,000, $15,000 of which was cash above the exchange price of the properties.

Sweetwater, Oct. 8.—More than sixty men were given employment a few days ago when the Sweetwater Oil Mills resumed operation with a long run ahead. The city's payroll was enhanced $2,000 a month. The Hamlin and Cisco plants of the concern, it was reported here, will not be operated this season. Cake is selling at around $40 a ton locally.

Ranger, Oct. 9.—Moving a railway station on two flat cars is the aim of the Jake Hamon railroad. The station building at Jake Hamon, a competitive town of wonderful prospects during the oil boom, is being loaded on the flat cars and moved piecemeal to Desdemona. The station designation at Jake Hamon will be preserved with a smaller building manned by one man. In the oil fields section the removal of a town's jail, city hall or depot is a matter of expense and little trouble, according to officials of the railroad who have witnessed mutations of town overnight.

Carbon, Oct. 9.—The foundation for the new Baptist church has been laid and work on the superstructure will start in a few days. Much of the work of construction is being done voluntarily by members of the local congregation.

Rotan, Oct. 9.—City officers of Rotan assisted officers from Hamlin in effecting the capture of a still and the arrest of a man who is held in connection with the illicit manufacture of intoxicants. Hamlin vigilance men lay awake most of a night watching the antics of the alleged bootlegger, who, growing suspicious at the approach of a car, went to his still, there to fall into the clutch of the Hamlin and Rotan officers.

Stamford, Oct. 9.—A parking space between curbs 140 feet long and 10 feet wide has brought J. R. Cargill owner of the home, approximately $100 this year. The space was allotted to the growing of onions and turnips.

Haskell, Oct. 7.—The Roberts Printing company of this city has purchased the Chillicothe Valley News at Chillicothe. They operate the Haskell Free Press here. J. W. and Grady Roberts have gone to Chillicothe to conduct the issuance of the paper.

Brady, Oct. 7.—Boosters of the McCulloch County Fair to be held here October 24 and 25, will make a tour of neighboring towns to stimulate interest in and attendance at the fair. Among the towns which will be visited on the two day jaunt which starts from here are Rochelle, Placid, Mercury, Fife, Waldrip, Pear Valley, Millersview, Stacy, Eden and Melvin.

Dublin, Oct. 7.—A total of 2432 bales of cotton has been ginned here, a figure expected to reach 4,000 before the season ends. Most of the cotton is being disposed of as quickly as ginned while the price remains good. Cotton seed has been bringing around $25 a ton.

Lockney, Oct. 8.—Airplanes are not the only motive instruments that can make nose dives. Henry Ford invented a four-wheeled juggernaut which did likewise recently. J. M. Waters, ranchman, in coasting down the caprock in his tin Lizzie, had the experience of taking a nose dive on terra firma, breaking an arm and leg. The steering gear became detached from the wheels.

McAdoo, Oct. 8.—The McAdoo gin which was recently near completion and burnt to the ground, will be rebuilt. The entire structure and machinery, save the engine, the latter not installed, were a total loss. The gin was built by McAdoo people who hauled the lumber and machinery to the spot.

Crowell, Oct. 7.—Poultry culture conducted by Foster Russell of Margaret, a small station near here, brought a gain of more than 500 per cent. Last spring Foster bought 25 White Leghorn baby chicks for $5. He recently sold 15 out of the 19 that he successfully raised. For each of the 15 he received $2. For $30 in all, making a profit of $25 on his poultry venture.

Dalhart, Oct. 7.—The Dalhart fire department has purchased a $5,000 fire truck. The pumper has a capacity of 350 gallons. The old truck will be retained for emergency fire.

Dalhart, Oct. 7.—Common laborers of Dalhart have formed a union and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. George W. Firror is president and R. A. Cummings secretary. A charter has been issued by the A. F. L.

Post, Oct. 7.—Contract for the new $82,000 Garza county courthouse is expected to be let in a short time. The structure will be three stories and fireproof. It will occupy the center of a two-block square and will be visible from the railroad and business section. The county voted bonds for the construction several weeks ago and they were sold at above par.

Portales, N. M., Oct. 8.—Two crops of broom corn last week sold for $1.90 and $2.00 a ton in the irrigated belt. This made a bigger yield per acre and brought from $50 to $75 per ton more than other crops.

Portales, Oct. 8.—On a plot of ground 18x40 feet, Rev. James J. Richards has gathered and sold $75 worth of strawberries. The patch was picked clean last Friday and Monday morning the reverend gentleman secured twelve quarts more. Rev. Mr. Richards says that the soil here needs nitrogen. He fertilized on the basis of 1,000 pounds of cotton-seed meal to the acre.

Portales, Oct. 8.—C. W. Isom has begun the construction of a brick business house on the lot adjoining the Model Grocery Company store. When completed Mr. Isom will install a dry goods stock.

Portales, Oct. 8.—Irrigated kaffir corn on the J. M. Bradley place is bringing him $80 an acre. His crop is producing 800 binds to the acre. He is selling it at 10 cents a bind. It weighs 32 pounds to the bind.

Ballinger, Oct. 7.—Bids on street paving in Ballinger will be received October 17. Plans and specifications prepared by Engineer James E. Pirie have been approved by the city commission.

The engineer's plans comprehend the placing of 33,282 square yards of paving on a section of Broadway, Seventh, Eighth, Hutchings Avenue and Santa Fe Boulevard. Detailed cost to each property owner sharing the aggregate expense of paving will be furnished in a short time, it was announced today.

Imperial Wizard Knights of K. K. K. Indicted for Fraud

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—E. Y. Clarke imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, was indicted by the United States grand jury here today on charges of using the mails to effect schemes to defraud. He was released on bond of $500.

The charges against Mr. Clarke, who yesterday announced his resignation as pro tem pore head of the Klan to become effective November 10, are based, according to the true bill rendered by the grand jury on alleged use of the mails in collecting money from certain members, subordinate officers and employees of the Ku Klux Klan on the pretense that such moneys would be used to pay premiums to surety companies furnishing bonds for these Klansmen.

MANY CATTLE TO BE PASTURED IN GAINES

Seminole, Oct. 6.—Herd & Cox recently purchased a lease on the immense pasture north of town, repaired the fences surrounding it and will pasture 1500 head of one and two-year-old steers for the Higginbotham Cattle Company of Lamesa, during the winter months. These cattle will be moved here from Dawson county in a few days.

at the luncheon at the community auditorium Thursday when about thirty-five girls of the Senior Class of the Lubbock High School were guests of the Kiwanians, who, leaving friend wife at home, recalled the yesterdays of a quarter century ago, and threw all worry to the winds for that noon hour, and joined in the school days spirit.

From the very beginning the High School orchestra made things in that part of the city hum, and the Kiwanians were made to know that their guests were up to the minute as entertainers of the first class.

George W. Foster, well known in Kiwanis circles as the "Man from Izard County, Arkansas," was on the program to tell of his old school days in the secluded sections of the Bear state, but owing to his lack of knowledge of what was going to happen on this occasion, took "to the woods" to escape the embarrassment of telling his experiences, and P. F. Brown, whose history dates back into medieval times, filled the bill with credit to himself and the club, and the guests were delighted with the splendid talk he made.

M. M. Dupre, possibly the only Kiwanian in Lubbock whose wife couldn't be persuaded to stay at home, she being master of ceremonies at the professor's side of the table, called on several of the "kids" for stories of interest happening during school days, which Smylie C. Wilson started in his usual manner describing the incident of baptizing a country teacher and several ambitious students at one time by displacing a log in a newly constructed dam, which was humorous as a circus clown, and Smylie got by with it just fine.

"Hay" Davidson was called upon for an interesting story, and owing to the fact that he is considered one of the "longest" speakers in the club a lot of good ones were expected from him, but the presence of so many ladies seemed to have bluffed the old boy a bit, and just as he started to make his speech, Gerald Smith bothered the writer for another plate of chicken, and before we had completed the task of lifting the platter across the table, "Hay" had finished his oration, and we were unable to get the substance thereof.

A. W. McKee, who Mr. Dupre said had been unable to account for all the "lickin's" received the last year he was in school owing to the fact that the stick on which he made a notch for each one had been lost after the three hundred and eighty-sixth one had been applied, was called upon, but passed the buck to the later generations, and told a few jokes on his children, one of whom is now in C. I. A., but owing to the fact that A. W. didn't take the "whippings" received at school as a joke, the balance of the gang felt that his failure to relate personal incidents was absolutely permissible. "Easy" Morgan, historian, philosopher, lecturer and one of the most efficient comedians in the club, was compelled to relate a few things oc-curing in his early history, emphasis being made by Mr. Dupre that the origin of his reputation as a historian he given, which "Easy" accounted for by stating that in his childhood days he found himself such a miserable speller that all sorts of nicknames had been applied to him, and as a last resort he took up the study of things passed, which somewhat offset his inability to spell.

Easy is a good scout, and they failed to make much off of him, and no doubt the alert professor will make some other person his victim hereafter on such occasions.

County Superintendent of Schools E. R. Haynes made an interesting talk on the development of Lubbock county schools, and when he asked that those present who went to school here in 1917 when he was superintendent, arise, a large number of the guests were accounted for, and C. C. Pearson, Gerald V. Smith and a few other would-be youngsters whose last day in school dates back a few years after the Civil War tried to get into that classification, but owing to the fact that Prof. Haynes still has some regard for his reputation as a pedagogue in self defense had the boys to take their seats.

"Do we appreciate our school," was the subject on which Mr. Loe Lubbs, one of the Seniors, made an interesting talk, and assured the Kiwanians that each and every member of the class appreciated the opportunity to attend school in Lubbock, and were grateful to Lubbock businessmen for the progressiveness shown in taking such active steps to establish the splendid schools here. Her talk was a credit to the class and the school, and the Seniors are to be congratulated for having among them such a capable speaker.

The High School Orchestra was so successful in rendering the splendid numbers that a little girl, the daughter of one of the ladies who was serving the dinner, pleased the Kiwanians with aesthetic dancing.

Col. Mullican assured the Seniors that the meeting had been a source of much happiness for the Kiwanians, and extended them a hearty welcome to be guests of the club on another such occasion.

The ladies of the Christian church were congratulated for having served such a wonderful dinner.

LITTLEFIELD BOOMING AGAIN GARAGE MAN REPORTS

Chas. Smith of the Littlefield Garage, and L. M. Shipman, both of Littlefield, passed through Lubbock Friday enroute to Plainview.

They report everything in the Littlefield section on a boom, and declare that the prices made on the Littlefield lands are to have a great deal of influence in developing that section, as already new farmers are getting ready for another year's crop there, and it seems that the normal conditions enjoyed at the beginning of the development of that section several years ago are returning.

The fine school building, they claim, is having its effect upon prospectors who are glad to locate within reasonable distance from it, in order that their children may receive the benefits of the school.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon G. B. Crofford, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lubbock County, to be held at the Courthouse thereof, in the City of Lubbock, on the second Monday in December, 1922, the same being the 11th day of December, 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 10th day of November, 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 1505, wherein The Lubbock Investment Company, a corporation, is Plaintiff, and G. B. Crofford is defendant, said petition alleging as follows:

That Plaintiff is the owner in fee simple of Lots Nos. Thirteen (13), Fourteen (14), Fifteen (15), Sixteen (16), Seventeen (17), and Eighteen (18), Block No. Sixty-one (61), Overton addition to the Town of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas; that defendant unlawfully entered in possession November 1, 1921, and has since said date unlawfully withheld possession thereof, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $500.00; that the plaintiff conveyed said lots to defendant December 4, 1916, and that the defendant executed and delivered to plaintiff three (3) Vendor's Lien Notes for $50.00 each, which are secured by vendor's lien retained in said deed and in the notes; that defendant has failed and refused to pay the same, or any part thereof, although long past due; and that the plaintiff elected to rescind said sale and recover said lots, and prays judgment for the title and possession of said lots; for damages; for Writ of Possession; and that the original deed from plaintiff to defendant be rescinded and canceled; and for all such other and further relief, both at law and in equity, general and special, to which plaintiff may be entitled.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Louis F. Moore, clerk of the District Court of Lubbock County.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in the City of Lubbock, Texas, this 5th day of October, A. D. 1922.

(Seal) Louis F. Moore, Clerk District Court, Lubbock County, Texas. 65-4T

PICKLES

Mr. and Mrs. Consumer— Abe Martin Asks:

"Who remembers th' ole, dusty, open bin grocery where we used t' eat 15 cents worth o' dried peaches while we wuz buyin' a 10 cent can o' sardines?"

And the genial philosopher, while in reminiscent mood might have added: "And skimmed th' suds—including flies, gnats, an' crickets offen the surface o' the pickles with one hand while with th' other we wuz crusin' around th' barrel tryin' t' locate a 'crisp one.'"

It was meeting the requirements—demands, in fact—of the up-to-date grocer of today, for not only cleanliness in food but in the packing, and the container of prepared food that brought forth the Sanitary Enameled Tin—the highest peak of human intelligence as expressed in containers of prepared food. Thousands of years of commercial evolution from the pig skin bag, goat hide, etc., to the clean, glittering surface of the Sanitary Enameled Tin. Six billions of CANS of food packed in American factories in 1918—give the answer to the old idea of the tin can as a container.

Less than a dozen years ago the California Conserving Co. established in 1860, originated the idea of pickle packing. "sours", "sweets", "dills", etc., in Sanitary Enameled Tins.

Today, from one of the largest, cleanest, most modern food factories in all America the California Conserving Co.'s choicest pickles "sweets", "sours", "dills", etc., packed in Sanitary Enameled Tins, are being shipped practically all over the world. Not only well established wholesalers but to Government Agencies as well as U. S. Army and Navy hospital—highest court of food authority on earth—food using sections of U. S. Interior Department, etc.

Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other OLD HOMES OF AMERICAN food manufacture are buying immense quantities of C. H. B. Pickles in Sanitary Enameled Tins—Pickles made from cucumbers grown in the great vegetable fields—not scattered patches—of Alamada County, California.

1922 marks the last year of C. H. B. Pickle packing IN BARRELS. The Sanitary Enameled Tin, solidly packed, unquestioned quality, amazingly moderate in price "IS HERE TO STAY"—as a leading grocer of the west so well put it. When buying pickles.

DYKE CULLUM RETURNED FROM DALLAS THURSDAY

Dyke Cullum, of the Cullum Bros. Motor Company, returned Thursday from Dallas, and other points in the central part of the state, where he has been for several days on business.

The Cullum Brothers have recently opened up for business, with temporary headquarters at the Geo. W. Foster Auto-Company, having the district agency for the Studebaker Automobiles, and will carry a full line of parts and accessories for those cars.

Mr. Cullum has already caught the Lubbock spirit, and is one of the strongest boosters we have. They are both live, wide-awake business men, and we are glad to see them line up with a live town, and a good congenial people.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon A. C. Shelton and Mrs. A. C. Shelton, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lubbock County, to be held at the Courthouse thereof, in the City of Lubbock, on the second Monday in December, 1922, the same being the 11th day of December, 1922, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 10th day of November, 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 1506, wherein the Lubbock Investment Co., a corporation, is plaintiff, and A. C. Shelton and Mrs. A. C. Shelton are defendants, said petition alleging as follows:

That Plaintiff is the owner in fee simple of Lots Nos. Four (4), Five (5), and Six (6), Block No. Fifty-one (51), Overton addition to the Town of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas; that defendants unlawfully entered in possession November 1, 1921, and have since said date unlawfully withheld possession thereof, to Plaintiff's damage in the sum of $500.00; that the Plaintiff conveyed said lots to Defendants May 2, 1917, and that Defendants executed and delivered to Plaintiff two (2) Vendor's Lien Notes for $50.00 each, which are secured by vendor's lien retained in said deed and in the notes; that Defendants have failed and refused to pay the same, or any part thereof, although long past due; and that the Plaintiff elected to rescind said sale and recover said lots, and prays judgment for the title and possession of said lots; for damages; for Writ of Possession; and that the original deed from Plaintiff to Defendants be rescinded and canceled; and for all such other and further relief, both at law and in equity, general and special, to which Plaintiff may be entitled.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Louis F. Moore, Clerk of the District Court of Lubbock County.

THE GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

You have heard of the success of the South Plains Fair, and everybody who attended it realizes fully the greatness of it, and its wonderful growth over the previous fairs, but no one except the official board and a few who are close to the operations of the fair have the figures that prove the statements that have been made to be true, and even better than the reports would have indicated. We call your attention to the report of the secretary, if you have not already noticed it, which gives the figures in detail. You noticed that a new building had been erected on the grounds and all the others painted and the window glasses all repaired. Screens put on them, and all this at a considerable cost. Besides this an indebtedness from former fairs of possibly $3,000 all of which will be cleared up, and a small balance left in the treasury. The receipts were considerably better this year than last from most every source, and while the premium list was greater and all checks have been drawn for same, the fair will be on a fine financial footing for next year. This splendid report shows up after some folks said that the South Plains Fair could not be in 1922. In a year when the seasons have not been favorable to the growing crops, and the pessimist shouted it from the housetops that the crops were a failure and the guy back East took up the refrain, and added a few stanzas to it, and told the folks back there that things were in a deplorable condition out on the Plains and West Texas, and in all probability food would have to be shipped out here to take care of them. Fact of the business is the gate receipts this fall at the South Plains Fair totaled more than three thousand dollars over any previous year. The South Plains Fair has passed the most critical year in its history no doubt, and is in a thriving condition at this time. The Avalanche congratulates the management in being able to carry out a program so extensive and so complete and bring it through in such fine financial condition and still have such splendid showings on the fair grounds. The buildings are looking epic and span, and the new agricultural building is a wonderful improvement over what we have had.

TIE ON TO LUBBOCK

We understand that parties in Lubbock have practically closed lease contracts for half a dozen or more new brick business houses, which will begin construction by the end of this year. This will run the total cost of buildings up to a very large sum during the year, fast coming to a close. Probably Lubbock has the largest list of building activities of any town of its size in West Texas. There is, just at this time, a big lot of building going on, the amount of which will run up into big figures in personal property, saying nothing of the great number of public buildings now under construction and to be started within the next few weeks. We would say that Lubbock, is on a boom, but that is distasteful, and would not really state facts, for her wonderful growth is simply the natural result of the continual and consistent work of the people of this city, the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. Our growth is substantial, and will not fade away with the changing of the weather or an occasional dry year. You can safely tie on to Lubbock, "The Hub of the Plains." She is setting pretty in the very center of the best diversified farming section of the State of Texas, and there is no question but that she will ever remain the biggest and most important city in this section. Heed the invitation! Come to Lubbock!

The Happy Call is a new paper that made its appearance on our exchange table this week. J. O. Bradenbaugh is the editor, and it shows every sign of a splendid venture. The Avalanche wishes the owners of the new publication every success possible.

CARLISLE NEWS ITEMS OF THE PAST WEEK

Not having the Sunday School literature, everybody came out early Sunday afternoon and sang for several hours. Brother Tenneyson filled his regular appointment Saturday night and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jerden and small boys, were dinner guests in the E. E. Jones home, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pevehouse and baby Nona, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Casey, attended singing at Grovesville Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Royal Saunders and children, of Post City, spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sims. Misses Oeta Ray and Thelma Hinson, and Messrs. Reagan Coffey and Lester Sims, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Tubbs. Mr. Moore and children, spent Sunday in the Hembree home. Mrs. C. H. Jerden spent Wednesday with Mrs. W. B. Ray. Everybody reported a nice time at the fair. Mr. Prentiss Jerden spent Sunday with Mr. Russell Moon. Several attended church at Lubbock Sunday evening. Everyone enjoyed the sermons very much. Mrs. T. T. Tubbs and Miss Ted Sims, are visiting their sister, Mrs.

Royal Saunders of Post City. There will be singing and prayer meeting at the school house Saturday night. Everybody come. Mrs. W. B. Ray and two small children, left Thursday morning for Wood county, where they will attend the family reunion of Mrs. Ray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hargroves. Mrs. Hutchinson of Lubbock, was in the community Tuesday. "Woman in Car Paints" headline. Maybe a man gave her a seat. Some people are so exclusive they hate to ride on the street cars with strangers.

DEVELOPING A GREAT SECTION

Seventeen of the 22 counties that have agricultural exhibits at the Texas State Fair are in the Panhandle and West Texas. That means that only five counties from other sections of the State are represented. These are Harrison, Hill, Ellis, Johnson and Collin. Fifteen of the exhibits come from the Panhandle and the Plains. Whatever else this indicates, it certainly shows the enterprise of the Panhandle and the Plains people. They are developing a great section and they are willing to make the effort necessary to show the world what can be produced in their section. They are inviting new population. They want other people to come and help them produce more of these products. And they are going to get them. They are laying the foundation of a new civilization out where there is plenty of room to extend and develop. Star Telegram.

Listen you folks, down among the mosquitoes, dangle fever, boll weevils, chiggers, and many kindred pests, this is proof unquestioned of the conditions of the West. Just take a slant at this report. Note where the farm products are from, and you can guess about the real conditions of the West. No starvation facing the Plains people in the face. No stagnation of business where agricultural activities are like they are in the South Plains. The above merely shows that there is production on the farms of this country. Not only is this true, but thousands upon thousands of acres of new land is being subjected to the plow. Hundreds of new homes are dotting the once undeveloped South Plains. School buildings that are a credit to towns of several thousand population are placed here and there over the counties of the Plains, and there is greater activity in this great country than ever before. The eyes of the home-seeker is fastened upon this great country. They have watched with interest the developments and the reports of crops from year to year from this section, and they realize that this part of Texas is fast becoming the granary of the State, and also the best cotton growing part of Texas, and they are coming in greater numbers than ever before. The State Fair will see greater and more exhibits from the West every year, until the South Plains Fair finally brings about a total eclipse of the efforts of Dallas to have a State Fair when the big crowds will follow the big show and come to Lubbock instead.

OPENING PLAINS LAND TO FARMERS

The announcement this week of a seven thousand acre tract of fine farming land being subdivided and put on the market in a way that farmers can buy it and have money left for improvement purposes, is good news for the South Plains. This is the John Pettit Ranch, now owned by Spencer Brothers of Cisco, and they are going to in this way open the door to about fifty farmers, which will mean a great deal to the South Plains in the way of development. These gentlemen have been investigating conditions throughout the State, and they find that the cotton farmers of East Texas have fully decided that West Texas is the place to raise cotton, and for that reason they are confident that this proposition will not remain open very long. The farmers of the east who have had their crops repeatedly eaten up by boll weevil are going to move and they will grasp this opportunity as soon as offered them. This is the move that the Avalanche has been looking for, and we have for some time seen the need of cutting the large bodies of land into smaller tracts, thereby furnishing a large number of people with homes, who do not at this time enjoy such privileges. We hope this idea will continue to spread, and that thousands of acres of the rich lands of the South Plains will be opened for the farmer.

INSPECTOR SAYS LUBBOCK SCHOOLS BEST WORKING SCHOOLS IN THE STATE

Lubbock will probably have the hardest pull this year she ever will have with the schools, on account of the crowded condition of the school. The fine, new building will not be completed before the end of the present term, and the superintendent is having to scheme around a great deal in order to take care of the demands upon the Lubbock schools this term. The rolls show a heavy increase in the number at the beginning of the school term, and more are coming and it is expected that the enrollment will reach close to 2500 in the district before the close of the school term. Even with all this handicap the inspector of schools gave Lubbock credit for having the best working school she had visited on her rounds. This certainly speaks well for Lubbock and the management of the schools and is a matter that is worthy of consideration.

We note with pleasure that the idea of a Junior college in Lubbock is attracting a lot of favorable notice by the people of this city, and we feel sure that the only thing that is needed to put this over for next year is to get the proposition in presentable form, so that some definite steps can be taken toward the consummation of the transaction. There are no grounds whatever for any argument against it, because it is a plain example of saving more money than it will cost to maintain it, and at the same time give hundreds of high school graduates a chance to get at least a couple of years junior college education that they would never get if such a college was not established. It would mean a long step toward better education. Let's go after this junior college at Lubbock.

Phebe K. Warner's Column

Holding the People: What is the population of your county? How long since the first settler established the first home in your county? DID HE STAY? Did he rear a family? If so, how many descendants of that family are there living in your county at this time? Have you any idea or record of how many people have come to your county, established a home of some kind, stayed a few months or a few years, pulled up and left? Why did they leave? What do you suppose the population of your county would be now, if every man and woman who had moved to it and established a home, had stayed there; reared their children there; and lived their entire lives there?

But it's not the few or many who come and go that means the great loss to a county. Sometimes it is a gain to lose them. It all depends upon the kind of folks they are. But it is the influence of the unhappy, dissatisfied, homesick people who get up and leave before they have had time to learn to love the new country that hurts the country and holds back its progress. It is said that "we can not lose that which we have never had." But all sad words of tongue or pen the saddest are those that might have been. And one of the greatest losses to any new country are the fine people we might have had among us today—but for the influence of those who have left to our county during the past 25 years and never turn a furrow, never plant a tree, never pay a dollar to help build a church or school house or a town. Wouldn't it even read the home paper if somebody else paid for it. Just speculated and talked, and talked, gathered up their thousands of dollars and "baked back home" to spend it all in enjoying the luxury of their easy made money and inoculate every body they met with the poison of prejudice against the new country. We are glad they are gone. The pity is THEY ever came. But the harm they have done is irreparable by piling up false stumbling blocks in the way of their neighbors who really needed the homes they could have built for themselves in our new country.

Who are the happiest and best folk in your county? As a rule are they not those who came years ago and STAYED through thick and thin; through the good years and the bad ones; through the floods and the droughts?

If it were not for such people there would not be stability to our national or community life. But we need more of them in the new country.

Especially do we need to cultivate this spirit in the youth of our counties. There are only two ways to increase our population and this year the people of the Plains have decided on a "Million Population" as their slogan. The first method is by creation. The second by addition. The first is by birth; the second by immigration. The first means growth and development within your county. The second will depend upon the magnetism of your county and that magnetism is first and last within YOU. It won't make any difference how bright the sun shines or how much the rain falls, nor how fine the crops are, unless the newcomers learned to love the people they find here. It is absolutely up to us who are here to make good if we want others to come to our county and stay.

As a rule the new-comer to a county has left a county or a State in a higher state of cultivation. Naturally he, and especially his wife and children, are going to miss the conveniences of the more developed State. But it is the home folks that they miss most. It is companionship and new friendships they need most in their new home. It is YOU they need to take the place of friends they have left. And it is entertainment and companionship that the children need to adjust them to their new surroundings.

There is where your good school will make a lasting impression upon their young lives. Here is where the Mother's Club will be a joy to the strange mothers, for mothers' hearts beat very much alike for no matter where they come from or where they go. One of the most important works to be done in our new counties at this time is holding the people through these trying days and months of a not altogether successful year. They had planned to do so many things this year. But they can not now. Go to them. You have been through it before. Point out your neighbors who have conquered in life's battle by staying with it. They may move this year and hit the bad year somewhere else next year. We're going to have a good year next year. Did you know that the strongest force for holding new folks in a county are the women of the county? Many an ambitious man has been forced to pull up and move just before the victory because his family was so unhappy. Because nobody paid any attention to them.

Get into your church and your community work. Make them feel you needed them. Let's all make a business this year of studying ways to hold our youth and new comers in our county.

AMERICAN LEGION

Regular Meeting Held Last Thursday Night.

Allen Bros. Post No. 148. The American Legion met last Thursday night at the Justice Court Room in regular session. Lots of enthusiasm was shown, and many matters of importance were disposed of.

Plans are now under way for the completion of an Armistice Day program on Nov. 11th, committees having been appointed for this work. However, Nov. 11th of this year falls on Saturday, and it is possible that the program will be arranged either for Friday, the tenth or Monday, the 13th, as it is deemed impracticable to ask our merchants to close their places of business on Saturday, and it is hoped that with the complete co-operation of our local merchants, a program worthy of the occasion may be rendered.

In the fall of 1918 when things were the hottest on the front, many great and generous promises were made for the safe delivery of the boys to their homes, but we feel that as normalcy begins to loom before our people, they have a tendency to somewhat forget their many promises made. Armistice Day, the day that closed the bloodiest and most reckless of all wars yet known to history, should be a day of celebration, not only for the American people, but to the entire world. Full particulars of the program as outlined by the local Legion will be announced later.

Few people, it seems, know the proper attitude to, and care for, the American Flag. We will be borne out in this statement by a little observation on your part on any holiday on which the flag is displayed. There are certain rules for the proper display of the colors. Did you ever notice a flag hanging in the corner, flopping against a brick wall, or even dragging on the ground? Never should a flag be allowed to remain out day after day. Take them in at night.

The education of the people to the proper use and display of the colors is being undertaken by the local Legion, and it is hoped that by the 11th of November, steps can have been taken for the proper display. A committee is now at work for securing flags, poles and holders, and if permitted, these flags will be furnished to the public at cost. More especially is this desired in the business district, where special care will be taken in posting the colors. With the hearty co-operation of the business men in this work, much can be accomplished. It is not the intention of the Legion to better themselves financially in this movement, but education of the general public to the proper display and respect to the colors is the only object in view. May we have your co-operation?

The Wortham Shows, which were to have been brought to Lubbock under the auspices of the Legion, in the history of the world, lies a potential service to humanity which none of you can even gauge. Representing as you do the veterans of all the great Nations allied together in the great war, you hold the confidence of your nation to a high degree. In a few years, we represent the generation now taking over the positions of consequence in your respective places, you will speak for your whole people.

The peace of the world can never again be endangered if this great organization can keep alive the spirit of comradeship and mutual support and sacrifices between us. Out of our understanding and faith in each other, born upon the field of battle, comes the assurance that hasty and unconsidered action will never break down the ties which hold us.

You are writing history, gentlemen, binding together a national alliance, founded not upon individual convenience or diplomatic advantage, but upon comradeship, cementing together even more firmly the closest bonds men can know, those formed fighting side by side against a common enemy.

No one of us can better serve our country than by upbuilding this great organization. With its development will come a new national confidence. The world can well watch with hope its plans and achievements.

AT THE CHURCHES

Church of Christ

Unusual in clearness and power was the sermon preached by Bro. Smith at the morning hour of worship. "The Christian Race" (Heb. 12:1) with Heb. 12:1-17 as scripture reading, was the subject heard by an attentive and appreciative audience.

A brief history of the Olympian games was given which Paul used as an illustration of the zeal, temperance, earnestness and endurance of every Christian in his race to win a crown.

In the Christian race one must first enter 2 Cor. 5:17; 1 Cor. 9:24; Phil. 3:13-14; 2 Tim. 2:4-5; Also hindrances must be put aside—Heb. 12:1; Acts 20:20; Luke 12:21; we must press forward, forgetting the past—Phil. 3:13.

Continuance or steadfastness is necessary to reach the goal—a good start does not insure success—Gal. 5:7; 1 Tim. 5:58.

We must not lose the world—1st Jno. 2:15-16; Jas. 1:27; Rom. 12:2. We must keep our bodies under this perhaps being the greatest hindering cause, so we must learn self control, Gal. 5:19-21. We must keep in mind the goal and by being faithful be able to say with Paul, "I, too, have fought a good fight, finished the course, hence there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love His appearing."

Bro. Hutchinson spoke at the evening hour on Exodus 20:5-6, Bro. Smith being at Carlisle. It was clearly shown how God, by His natural laws, visit the iniquity of the parents upon the children unto the third and fourth generations, also it was made plain how in the judgment each individual is responsible for his own sin—this latter by God's laws of grace.

Those who heard this sermon were made to feel all the more an appreciation of Bro. Hutchinson's worth as a teacher and leader among us. His was a strong plea for posterity—for a clean upright life in the young and also parents' responsibility in restraining influence. He denounced boldly modern vices and popular amusements that destroy spirituality. He even traced some practices among us to Jezebel.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank our friends, Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and Dr. Cravens, for their most kindly aid given to us during the death of our dear husband, father, and brother-in-law; also thank Bro. Ferguson for the good words he spoke and the prayer he prayed during the darkest hours to us; and also the floral offering by new made friends was wonderful. We will remember those who were so kind and sympathetic to us, and we assure all of our deepest gratitude.

It is rumored that a filling station will be built in the near future on the corner just west of the Reporter office. If they keep building around us we are going to be right in town. We are proud to announce that one of our girl graduates of last season has made a record for the Lamesa school. Miss Ione Reed, who graduated here last session has been awarded a scholarship in the Canyon State Normal on efficient work. Affiliation is a fine thing but to be able to stand the test on information is really the true test of scholarship.

Quaint Articles
Fair Last Week

Among the historic articles put on display in the Woman's Building at the recent South Plains Fair is a piece of poetry, clipped from a newspaper, pinned to a Confederate Bill, ten dollar denomination, which is the property of Mrs. L. H. Barkham, of Lubbock.

The clipping appears very old, and whether the ten dollar bill to which it is pinned is the one upon which the dying confederate wrote the poem is not ascertained. As there is no dating on the clipping, and it is inferred that this was written long after the date of the writing on the bill, we will print the whole thing which is self-explanatory:

There is an old Confederate poem that was supposed to be found upon the body of a dead soldier, written on the back of a Confederate bill, beginning somewhat like this: "Representing nothing on God's green earth, And naught in the waters beneath it," that I am very anxious to get hold of before it is forgotten altogether. Do you know it and where I can get it?—T. & T.

Here it is:

Representing nothing on God's earth now,
And naught in the waters below it,
As a pledge of a nation passed away,
Keep it, dear friend and show it.
Show it to those who will lend an ear
To the tale this trifle will tell—
Of Liberty born of a patriot's dream,
Of a storm-cradled nation that fell.

Too poor to possess the precious ones,
And too much of a stranger to borrow,
We issued today our "promise to pay,"
And hoped to redeem on the morrow.

The days rolled on, weeks became years,
But our coffers were empty still;
Coin was so scarce the treasury quaked
If a dollar fell into the till.

But the faith that was in us was strong indeed,
Though our poverty we well discerned,
And this little check represented the pay
That our suffering veterans earned.
They knew it had hardly a value in gold,
Yet as gold our soldiers received it;
It gazed in our eyes with a promise to pay,
And every true soldier believed it.

But our boys thought little of price or pay,
Or of bills that were overdue;
We knew it bought our bread today
'Twas the best our country could do.
Keep it, it tells all our history over,
From a birth of a dream to its last;
Modest and born of the angel Hope,
Like our hope of success, it passed.

A GOOD TWO REEL COMEDY

The success of the South Plains Fair thus far has been proven, and the following report from the secretary indicates glowing possibilities for the Association in the future, and the fact that this report is so favorable, we believe, is a compliment to every individual in any way participating in the fair.

Lubbock business men are of course responsible in a large degree for the fair being the success it was along entertainment lines, inasmuch as the monies necessary to procure the various entertainments had to be raised before the fair, and the exceeding liberality of the business men accounts for those necessary funds having been successfully raised.

Outside of the original funds, however, we wish to give the people of the entire South Plains credit for the success the fair was, as their participation proved their interest in the South Plains country and the institution designed to further her cause.

With renewed hopes, and unimagined possibilities near ahead, the people of Lubbock have started preparations to again be hosts to their neighbors of the Great South Plains country during another fair, and the Avalanche looks forward with enthusiasm to the coming of that gala season.

The following report from the secretary of the association will give one some reason to be optimistic as to the final outcome of the fair work:

It is with pleasure I am able to publish the following statement of money received and the disbursements to date of the South Plains Fair, for this year:

Receipts.
Subscription of stock	$3,321.00
paid in	430.00
Space for industrial booths	430.00
Advertising in Catalogues	271.00
From Concessions and
Carnival	1,169.31
Ticket Sales	7,400.20
	12,591.51
Disbursements.
Advertising	$ 533.80
Freight and Express	341.41
Labor and Night	1,179.49
Watchman	1,038.24
General Expense	2,833.00
Amusements, Acrobats, Fireworks, Rodeo, etc.	682.50
Prizes	2,500.00
Cash in Bank	3,473.66
	12,591.51

I find bills from the fairs of 1920 and 1921 amounting to about $3,000.00. Vouchers will be drawn for all outstanding indebtedness at once, thus putting the South Plains fair on its feet financially.

In the above expenditures a new building 60x100 feet was built to handle the agricultural exhibits. This building is well built and is a credit to our fair grounds.

The old buildings were overhauled and remodeled. New glass put in the windows for protection in the future.

The buildings were painted at considerable expense, which greatly added to the attractiveness of the fair. Flag poles were placed on buildings.

The waterworks system was overhauled and extended and all piping put in ground deeper to prevent freezing. The electric light system was overhauled and extended.

A great deal of the work on the improvements was donated by the carpenters and painters. Some subscribing for stock and paying for it in work. This goes to show that this is no one man's fair but a fair in which the whole people of the South Plains are taking an interest. The carpenters and painters, electricians and all others are to be commended for their donations in stock and work in co-operating in making this year's fair a success.

It was a pleasure to work with E. L. Klett, president, who was on the job at all times working shoulder-to-shoulder with all the lieutenants, helping here and there getting donations, driving bargains to keep expenses down, and in fact doing everything a president should do to put the fair over in a big way.

The directors responded to committee meetings whenever called and with their council and advice helped the officers in their work. The committee on stock subscription did good work and especially should the committee of which Mr. O. L. Slaton was chairman, deserve special mention as they obtained about $3,200.00 in subscriptions in one day toward new buildings.

There is yet small amounts to be collected outside of the stock subscriptions and possibly small bills will bob up. This statement is given for publication so the people at large can see what it takes to put a big fair over and how your money was spent.

Respectfully submitted,
L. T. Martin,
Secretary of South Plains Fair Association.

HOW TO BUILD A POULTRY HOUSE

(By F. W. Kazmejer, Poultry Husbandman, A. & M. College)

There are a few people that still are under the impression that chickens do not require houses. That is the same thing as saying that they do not need protection from the rains, winds and colds. How a human being can live under such an impression is sometimes hard to understand. The fact is many chickens in Texas are without houses. They manage to roost in trees, in barns and other places where they are welcomed. They are chased out of many of these places if they are caught roosting there by the owner. How a right thinking man can practice these things is very hard to understand. Nevertheless it is the plain truth. We do not propose to argue the question, because there is nothing to argue. The man or woman who thinks chickens do not need a house should save him or herself by selling out the chickens and keeping some other kind of stock.

Poultry of all ages requires some kind of a protection. It need not be elaborate or expensive. All it should provide is comfort. A very successful poultryman once made the statement that in order to make hens lay, make them feel happy, contented and congenial. At the time we could not keep our mind from wandering back to the many flocks roosting in trees, or worse roosting a filthy and stuffy coops, alive with all kinds of vermin. Surely in such a place the fowls could not feel contented.

In building a poultry house let us remember that we are building it to provide comfort for the hens day and night as well as summer and winter. We must not lose sight of the attendant, who takes care of the fowls. For this reason we recommend building the house high enough so the necessary work may be done anywhere inside without bumping the head.

Size.
The size of the hen house should receive first consideration. For all general purposes we have found it necessary to allow not less than three square feet of floor space per fowl. For a flock of 100 hens the house should provide at least three hundred square feet of floor space. This will take a house 20 by 15 feet. The shape of the house is also important. At the present time the general style of houses is a house longer than it is wide. A common structure is houses from 12 to 20 feet wide and as long as necessary. We have found however that a long and narrow house is not the best type. A long and narrow house is also more subject to outside changes of the weather. In other words the narrow house is not as comfortable as the wide house. We have found the wide house to be cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter. In the wide house the fowls can get away from the open front more than in the narrow houses. We have found the square houses, something as follows very satisfactory: 15 by 15; 20 by 20; and 25 by 25. At the present time we have two houses each 25 feet square that are giving entire satisfaction. We like them very much.

Location.
The poultry houses must be conveniently located. They should not be too close and not too far from the rest of the farm buildings. They should be close to the feed house so as to reduce the labor item in feeding them. Too close to the barn will cause the hens to remain in the barn and other outbuildings too much. The hen house must be located on a well drained spot. A knoll is a good place. The foundation should be built on the knoll, so as to insure good water drainage in all four directions. This is very important for the health of the fowls. In selecting the place porous soil should be given preference. Sandy or gravelly soil is better than light clay or black loam. If possible locate the hen house near several good sized trees. The shade is an important item.

Foundations and Floors.
At the present time, when all building material is expensive, it is a great mistake to build anything on a poor foundation. We come to believe that all permanent buildings should be located on a concrete foundation. This will save the building many more years, and will add to the value of the structure. We believe it a great mistake to build any kind of a structure on the ground. The foundation may be built out of 1 part cement, 3 parts sand and 5 parts gravel. If small stones are handy they may be used, mixed in with the concrete mixture. The floor may be natural soil, cement or wood. We believe the cement floor the best. We do not like wood or board floors, because they provide harboring places for rats, and soon rot, especially the kind of lumber you can buy now a days. The earth floors are good, but more or less unsanitary and hard to keep clean. If the top layer of five to six inches is removed and renewed each year, the results are quite satisfactory. The foundation and floor should be located at least six inches above the highest point to insure good drainage.

Walls of the House.
The walls of the house should be built out of good material, so that the pleasure of the attendant they may be opened or closed with ease. To make this possible we construct the south side more or less open, covered with inch mesh poultry netting. The opening is best located close to the floor, so that the rain will not beat in too far. The north, east and west ends should be equipped with windows and shutters hinged at the top to swing out and up. The shutters should be of large dimensions so they may be opened wide in hot weather and thus keeping the house comfortable in hot weather. These shutters are located on all the three sides or ends mentioned. In the winter they are closed down as near airtight as possible. In the summer drafts are not injurious but in the late fall and winter they are sure to cause colds and roup. The windows should be located on all three sides, namely the north, east and west, to insure light from all sides. We do not use windows in the south side because the open front takes care of that. Windows add materially to the comfort of the hens in unpleasant weather.

Roof.
The roof of the poultry house first of all must be well built, so it will keep the house dry. This is very important, because a damp hen house is a 100 per cent failure as a hen

PLAINVIEW'S FIRST GIN IS TURNING OUT THE COTTON

About 170 bales of cotton have been ginned in Plainview to date. 20 bales came in yesterday morning. From all over the county the fleecy staple is pouring into the Plainview gin.

Farmers are making haste to get their cotton out for fear that a rain will come bringing a drop in the grade of the cotton, and ruining much of the younger forms on the stalks.

Capt. Winfield Holbrook of the Plainview Gin Company says that the quality of the cotton raised this year is gratifyingly high. While the staple is necessarily a little short, the cotton is of good color and there is very little foreign material.

Cotton has been selling the past few days at around 18.50 cents up to 19 cents. The adverse situation in Europe, with reference to the war, has caused a slight depression in the cotton market.

Seed has been selling at $28.00 per ton. Many of the farmers, however, are taking the best of their seed home with them so as to have it for planting purposes next year.

The Gin Company, Mr. Holbrook said, is not expecting any boluses until the first of November. On account of the high price this year, he thinks that farmers will do well to gather all the forms that are not opened after the first frost. The first frost usually noticed here is in the latter part of October or the first of November.—Plainview Herald.

Lubbock Laundry Enters Third Year First of October

It's a pretty husky "Two-Year-Old!"

We are speaking of the Lubbock Laundry under the management of L. M. McKinney. For two years ago the first of October, Mr. McKinney took charge of the plant and through tireless energy and ceaseless planning has assembled one of the most complete laundry plants in West Texas.

Few people every stop to think of the many things that go to make it possible for them to send their clothes one day and get them back the next—or the second day afterwards, depending upon the kind of service required. It takes expensive machinery, specially trained workers, close personal attention and direction, and much forethought and planning.

The Lubbock Laundry works 23 regular employees, representing 22 families who live in Lubbock, with a weekly payroll of more than $600. The plant is equipped with the most modern machinery available, much of which has been added within the last two years. The Borronite Water Softening plant is the latest thing in laundry machinery and saves the patrons of the Lubbock Laundry many thousands of dollars in wear and tear on their clothing each year.

The plant is large enough to handle every piece of clothing in the city of Lubbock in three days. It cares not only for Lubbock through its five different kinds of local service but receives baskets from each town in the Plains section from one to three times per week. Hardly a train comes in or goes out of the city that does not carry a Lubbock Laundry Basket—not only building a big industry in the city but also advertising Lubbock as the "Hub of the Plains" in another essential industry.

The detailed operation of a laundry can only be appreciated through being inspected personally. The more than 25 operations that are necessary in handling every piece of clothing sent to the laundry—the care that is taken to prevent coloring, tearing, scorching or any other of the thousand things that might happen between your home and its return trip, all of this requires organization, study and business management. These things Mr. McKinney has put into the Lubbock Laundry and Lubbock appreciates his efforts. We wish him continued success on his birthday.

To The Avalanche:
Note in the Dallas News, 26th instant issue in big print: "Peddy says he will not bow to the dictates of the Imperial Atlanta Wizard."

The News has got it wrong. Judging alone by Mr. Peddy's acts, he says in plain English: "I do not bow to the dictates—mandates—of the Democratic party."

0-6 Calves Won 3rd Premium at the Fat Stock Show at St. Joe

The agricultural and live-stock industry possibilities of the plains country are fastly receiving recognition from other parts of the country. One of the most prominent showings of South Plains livestock being made at St. Joseph, Mo., last week when five hundred calves from the O-6 ranch, twenty miles southeast of Lubbock, owned by O. L. Slaton and Bud Johnson, took third premium at the Fat Stock Show held there.

While the O-6 calves were in good shape and made a good showing for the plains country they were not fitted for show, but were placed in the Fat Stock Show at St. Joseph by the local ranchmen's representatives, who saw at once that the calves were good ones, and entered them.

The continued drought of course has had ill effect upon range conditions throughout the plains country, and it is regrettable indeed that the ranchmen have suffered some losses in weight of the herds, but it is still pleasing to know that in spite of this great handicap plains cattle are among the top notchers, and the calves entered at the St. Joseph show no doubt served their purpose in advertising the genuineness of the plains country for cattle raising.

The fact that those calves won third premium at the St. Joseph show without any extra preparations is a dim indication of what could have been accomplished thru more intensive preparation, and no doubt the next time the O-6 ranch is represented at such exposition an even greater account of the fine herds kept there will be made.

MORE FARMLANDS PUT ON MARKET IN LUBBOCK CO.

Seven thousand and fifty acres of ranchlands in Lubbock County were placed on the market last week by the owners, Spencer Brothers of Cisco, Texas, through the local real estate agency, Green & Holt. W. E. Spencer is in Lubbock looking after the land deals, and has been exceedingly liberal in making terms on which most anyone with sufficient ambition to make an attempt to buy a home may meet the requirements, and at the same time enjoy the use of the property.

In placing this land on the market Messrs. Spencer have done a great work for Lubbock County, and there are but few people acquainted with conditions here but who will accept the news of this deal with enthusiasm. Every farmer brought here will be a great addition to Lubbock County, and from all indications that land will sell in a hurry, as Green & Holt have employed the use of much printing ink in announcing the opening of that body of land, and as they are efficient realtors, their success is assured.

TEACHERS EXAMINATIONS TAKEN HERE SATURDAY

The office of the County Superintendent of Schools, E. R. Haynes, was very busy Saturday as examinations for certificates to teach school were taken by the following: Miss Hattie Rosenbusch, Lubbock, second grade. Miss Myra Hines, Lubbock, second grade. Miss Lona Bradford, Idalou, first grade. Miss Chessie Lou Ray, Ralls, permanent primary.

The man who claims he took cold baths all last winter may have to do it this winter.

LOUISIANA MAN IS WELL PLEASED WITH LUBBOCK CO.

D. Roads, of Manny, La., was here last week prospecting, and reported to local real estate men that as soon as desirable locations can be found here several farmers from that section, including himself and a son, would move to the plains.

Mr. Roads is one of the big agriculturalists of Louisiana, and has associated with him others of equal financial standing, and it is gratifying to note that they are interested in the plains country.

The possibilities of the plains at once attract the tourist or prospector, and we are glad to know that such men as Mr. Roads are among those taking interest in Lubbock county.

The process of developing the plains country is altogether a matter of bringing to the lands here agriculturalists of energy and ability, as the natural resources will make it possible for them to make the work profitable, and we are delighted to know that our real estate men are on the lookout for every opportunity to land a good one here.

Little or much may be said of the real estate dealers, but the writer looks upon them as effective agencies for the development of the great plains country, and we are in hopes they will enjoy success in their work here.

7,050 acres of fine Cotton Land For Sale in the Northwest Part of Lubbock County

Above land is located in the Northwest corner of Lubbock county, bordering and lying north of the main line of the Santa Fe Railroad, five miles northwest of the town of Shallowater and one mile east of Roundup station, both on the Santa Fe main line, and ten miles west of Abernathy on Amarillo branch of the Santa Fe. This land is practically level, dark red, sandy, cat-claw land. Very fine wheat, cotton, corn and other row crop land, and is in the famous shallow water belt. One school a mile from northeast corner of this tract, (Pettit School), another two miles from southeast corner (Hardy School). 5 miles to Shallowater schools. State highway on south line, public roads leading to all parts of the ranch. An open road will be left around each section of this tract.

WE ARE OFFERING THIS LAND ON THE FOLLOWING BASIS:

$35.00 per acre, this price to include a good, substantial three-wire fence enclosing each tract, on the following terms:—You build and pay for improvements as cash payment. After necessary improvements are made you make a loan with one of the Joint Stock Land Banks or Federal Land Bank, running from one to thirty-three years at 5 1-2 or 6 percent interest, and pay balance to Spencer Brothers as second lien notes, running from one to ten years at 8 percent interest.

We feel sure that these terms will meet any demands and that it is a wonderful chance for every man to own his own home.

There are Many Reasons Accounting for So Many People From All Over the Great South Plains Coming to Lubbock to Trade

"What makes this town so popular? I have to be at the station my first time to see half as many people pass through Lubbock as get off here," is a statement an Avalanche reporter heard at the Santa Fe Depot Friday by an out of town man who was passing through our city, the statement being prompted by the fact that when the 1.45 train from toward Slaton arrived in the city enroute to Plainview the coaches were emptied at Lubbock, and the only passengers to grace that train were those who boarded it in Lubbock, the porter, and train crew. We could not answer the fellows question because of his apparent eagerness to have it put into a half dozen words, but we assure our readers that there is a genuine reason for so many people coming to our city to trade.

First, Lubbock is centrally located, and has splendid railroad facilities; Second: Lubbock, being the hub of the plains, is the ideal of so many about over the Great South Plains that they are always being our city, and about the first place they take their friends who visit them to show them what is on the plains is Lubbock, and on aing in the city they find that spirit of friendliness, congeniality and personal consideration in all our businessmen that makes them like to come back, and it is very often the case that when they are away from the plains and are asked where they are from that the high ideal they have for Lubbock prompts them to tell their location, adding that their "trading point is Lubbock" where-upon the fellow with whom they are talking immediately recognizes some feature of their home, and is usually so interested in the city as to ask such questions as are common to a place of the importance of Lubbock giving the plainsman an opportunity to further the boosting spirit so well known here.

Third: Lubbock businessmen are awake to the bigness of the possibilities of making a real town here, and from the fact that their trade territory is exceptionally large, and the number of purchasers so great, that immediate turnover of stocks enables them to sell goods just a little cheaper than the other fellows can, naturally has its tendency to draw large numbers of people to our city.

Fourth, sixth, seventh and on to a half hundred reasons could be given for the popularity of Lubbock, but after all the greatest of these is the fact that Lubbock is Lubbock, "The Hub of the Plains."

McELROY HAD NOTICEABLE WORK DONE ON LYRIC

Noticeable improvements have been made in the appearance of the Lyric Theatre, which has had its effect upon helping to add to the beauty of Lubbock, and the manager and owner, E. McElroy, is to be congratulated for his willingness to help Lubbock a little ahead in appearance.

It is pleasing to note the many improvements that have been made about over the city, which prove that the businessmen of Lubbock are awake to every opportunity to advance the well-being of the town.

Mildred Hagler of Clovis, New Mexico, passed through Lubbock Thursday enroute to Dallas to attend the State Fair.

Judge Lane Says Plains Climate Is A Health Builder

J. B. Lane of Slaton, lawyer, was here Friday transacting business. The experiences Mr. Lane has had since coming to Lubbock county a little more than a year ago are good to hear, and the Avalanche is grateful to him for a visit made to our office while in Lubbock.

He has some of the best booster talk for Lubbock county we have heard, and it is interesting to know that he is a plains booster from the old school. Judge Lane, for a long time a citizen of Delta County, Texas, had suffered with failing health for several years, and learning of the invigorating climate of the great South Plains, decided to come "west" and see if the magic formula which might return his health to him is enveloped in the atmosphere of the South Plains country, and to his pleasure more than had been hoped for or expected has been found, and his physical condition at this time is a billboard of glaring possibilities, of the healthfulness of the plains, and we are glad to know that Judge Lane has decided that if the plains country would make him well it would keep him well, and he is here "for keeps."

The progressiveness of the people of the plains as compared with the atmosphere created by peoples of other climates is contrasted indeed, and the writer, after close observation and much consideration of the matter, has attributed the superior pep and energy of our people to the superior invigorating properties of the climate of the great South Plains, and has through conversation with others, learned that this is also the consensus of opinion among those who have given any thought to the matter.

No country is one whit ahead of its people, and anyone believing that the great developments realized on the plains country during the past quarter of a century are wholly attributed to the original resources of the soil have another guess coming, for the alertness of the people is more than anything else responsible for what has been accomplished.

More Equipment Added to Popular Grocery Store

A. G. Hunt, of Hunt's Grocery, has added a very attractive and effective meat cutting machine to the equipment in his store which is making serving the many customers of that progressive firm a great deal more convenient insofar as meat orders are concerned.

The new machine is a Dayton Safety Slicer, and works on the same principle as other cutters, only instead of the meat being put thru the machine from one way, a piston arrangement which moves the platform upon which the meat is fixed pushes it into contact with the cutter, the speed with which the meat is run thru the cutter and the revolutions of the disc knife being accurately engineered, makes the cut product very neat, and no doubt its installation will go a long way in helping to please the customers who trade with the genial Hunt.

Staying up with the times is a noticeable characteristic of Lubbock businessmen, and in buying the expensive but efficient machine Mr. Hunt is displaying that characteristic. When all is done and said the fellow who gets the most out of this life is the one who put the most in it, as we have long since been told, and it is gratifying to note that the businessmen of Lubbock are always a little more generous in purchasing facilities for better serving their customers than merchants elsewhere.

It takes equipment, business judgment, personality and go-get-it-ness to make a town go, and the businessmen of Lubbock have a double portion of these essentials.

H. M. Cowan and mother, Mrs. A. V. Cowan, left Thursday for Itasca, Texas, where they will spend several weeks visiting relatives and old friends. Mr. Cowan was compelled to come to the plains several years ago on account of failing health, and we are glad to know that he has regained strength constantly and reports that as soon as he is in Lubbock again after this trip, he will secure permanent employment, and feels that he will be able to stand work of any character.

Charlie Read was in this city from Hillsboro the first of the week, enroute to Lubbock, where he will spend the winter in the interest of his firm.—Hall County Herald.

GROVESVILLE SCHOOL IS CLOSED FOR ONE MONTH

F. A. Martin, teacher of the Grovesville school, was here Saturday and Sunday visiting homefolks. He reports that the Grovesville school has been closed down for one month, in order that the pupils may help gather the cotton crop.

It is gratifying to know that though the schools are closed down in the fall here, the terms are continued in the spring to give the children benefit of the full school period, which is not practiced in other sections of the country.

The fact that our farmers need their children for a few weeks in the fall does not mean that they are going to rob them of their schooling altogether as in the spring months when farming is a matter of teams and implements, the children's services are not so much in demand, and at that time schools are kept going, and the fact that statistics prove that each day spent in American schools is worth something like eight dollars to the pupil does not mean that the cotton crop here will be the cause of a great loss for the children.

It sometimes seems as if the war grifters must have got out a sweeping injunction against the Department of Justice.—Ohio State Journal.

Traveling Salesman Has a Large Sunday School Class Despite the Fact He Is On the Road Almost Continuously

The real measure of a man is the measure of service he renders. A commercial traveler's responsibility increases as his power of perception increases, and a great many traveling salesmen, by the very nature of their calling are splendid leaders. They have the faculty of dealing with other men, using them, directing them and inspiring them. There are approximately 600,000 commercial travelers in the United States who, in the performance of their duties, come in daily contact with all classes of people. What a wonderful opportunity for service and how great the possibilities of accomplishing that which is good for their fellow man, if this great army of salesmen would take advantage of it. Nashville has always boasted of the high personnel of her traveling salesmen, and justly so, because they measure up to the best that can be found anywhere. Many of these travelers, in addition to being successful salesmen, are doing much good along civic and religious lines. Among the most active in this class is H. L. Brantley, popular representative for the Fletcher & Wilson Coffee Co.

Mr. Brantley has been on the road for more than fifteen years and enjoys a large business in the territory he covers. He is known and esteemed by every man, woman and child in the towns he visits and his regular trips are looked forward to with real pleasure by his friends and customers, and he never fails to supply them with a goodly quantity of "University Club" Coffee and other items before he leaves for the next town.

Mr. Brantley is superintendent of the Judson Memorial Baptist Sunday School, and when he is not selling coffee and peanut butter he is planning his program for the following Sunday. He usually gets in from the road on Friday night and puts in most of his time on Saturday afternoon in making house-to-house visits in the Waverly Place community, looking after the sick of the Sunday school and seeking new members. The enrollment of this Sunday school has doubled since Mr. Brantley first assumed charge as superintendent a little over one year ago. The attendance last Sunday was 285. Today is annual picnic day at Judson Sunday school and Mr. Brantley is confidently expecting an attendance of 400 at this morning's service. At this writing, the indications are that he won't be disappointed.

Under Mr. Brantley's able leadership the growth of the Sunday school has been so rapid that it became necessary to provide more room to take care of the largely increasing number of pupils, and to this end a Sunday school annex is now being erected in the rear of the main auditorium of the church. The first unit is three stories high, and when completed this fall it will be one of the most complete and modern Sunday school buildings in the city. Later on a second unit will be added to the one now being built, which will take care of the growth that is sure to follow during the next year or so. The main auditorium of the church is also being altered and enlarged and when finished the seating capacity will be doubled.

Mr. Brantley is receiving the hearty co-operation of a corps of capable officers and teachers and all are working in perfect harmony in an effort to bring the children and the adults into a closer touch with God through the teachings of His word in the Sunday school. Rev. Clarence F. Clark, pastor of the church, is also enthusiastically co-operating with Mr. Brantley in his efforts to make Judson Sunday school a still greater power for good in the Waverly Place section.

The cost of the first unit of the Sunday school annex will be about $15,000 and this amount has been provided for by voluntary contributions of the church members.

Mr. Brantley is a married man and his good wife also takes a leading part in Sunday school and church work. They have six interesting children—three boys and three girls all of whom bid fair to follow in their parents' footsteps. Thus it may be seen what great service one traveling man is rendering to his God and to his fellow man. The world would be a better place to live if there were more like him.—Nashville Banner.

Juniors Enjoy "Weenie" Roast.

The Juniors started their year's round of good times last Friday night when they enjoyed an honest to goodness weenie roast. The boys furnished the rolls, wienies, pickles, and marshmallows. The boys not only furnished the eats but they went a step farther and cooked the wienies and toasted the marshmallows. The crowd went to a truck and in cars and the going and coming was enjoyed as much as the feed. They sang school songs, gave several yells and did a lot of yelling in general. On the way back the truck that was pulling the wagon got too hot so one of the cars undertook to pull the wagon and that is when the fun started. For everytime the car stopped everyone on the wagon had to get off and help push in order to get started again, then they had to jump on in a hurry to keep from getting left. The girls declare the boys are fine cooks and that they didn't care how soon they displayed their cooking ability again. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Slagle chaperoned the bunch. The entire bunch voted to have some sort of entertainment every week and why not because it is the good times school pupils remember and not what subjects they dislike most or what teacher they loved the best.

Mrs. W. A. Terrell's father, Mr. T. M. Allen, and her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Presley from Greenville, have moved to Lubbock to make their home; also Mr. Scott from Ladonia, and Mr. Marvin Connon from Greenville have moved here. All of these are real boosters for Lubbock and the South Plains and we welcome them to our city.

Parent-Teachers Club.

The Parent-Teachers Club maintained a stand at the fair. Through co-operation and assistance of the members and their friends the club was able to clear $130, which will be used for the benefit of the school. We want to thank every one who helped us in any way and we especially want to thank the Higginbotham and Bartlett Lumber Company for the lumber used, the manual training department for erecting the stand, the Simpson Electric Co. for the wiring and lights, Mr. W. A. Terrell for furnishing an oil stove, the Vaughn Dairy for supplying the cream, Martin's Bakery for supplying the bread, and the following grocery stores for donating sugar, coffee, lemons, etc.: Miller's Grocery, Baldrige Grocery, Martin and Wolcott, Judd and Ford, North Side Grocery, Hodges, Palace Grocery and Darby and Wileford. We also want to thank the ladies for the food they donated and the ladies who helped to serve. It was through the loyal support of each one who had a part in helping us that made it possible for the Club to clear the amount that we did and we are sincerely grateful to all of you.

"PAY DAY" BRINGS CHAPLIN BACK AS TOILER WHO OBJECTS TO TOIL

There is only one complaint to make about "Pay Day," the latest Charles Chaplin picture at the R. & R. Lindsey Theatre. Its two reels should be ten.

There is only one Chaplin. Anyone doubting it need only see "Pay Day." The distinctiveness of art is something that can be acquired neither by study or work. It is a matter of ability and instinct; and Chaplin is the one person who can blend the fine art of pantomime with a serious mien that makes the whole impersonation irresistibly funny. Don't ask what "Pay Day" is all about. It hasn't a plot like "The Kid." It isn't supposed to; but it's just as funny. Even a sphinx would break into a coy giggle if he could see Charles hanging on to a long chain of sausages, nonchalantly reading his Evening Gazette under the impression that he is swinging along on a crowded street car. It's Chaplin's picture. He wrote the story. He directed the making of it and he stars in it. Apparently it would seem that when you've said Chaplin you've said all that needs to be said about a Chaplin comedy. It is more of a truism in this case than ever because in addition to Charles, brother Sydney is in the cast, too. But the players also include Edna Purdiss and Mack Swain, who are splendid foils for the star's stunts. The comedy brings the inevitable reflection that "Pay Day" comes only too infrequently.

Prof. Becker has written a history of our independence. One man calls it an ancient history.

"Women Will Speak"—headline. This however is not news.

LYRIC THEATRE CLOSED UNTIL WEDNESDAY NIGHT

E. McElroy, manager of the Lyric Theatre, this week has a full crew of men on the inside of the theater giving the walls and ceiling of the building the complete once over in the way of a fresh coat of paint. Also quite a bit of rearrangement is being done on the inside. An orchestra pit is being constructed, which we understand will be occupied regularly in the future by an experienced orchestra.

The entire building inside and out is being rearranged and repainted and it is going to be one of as well finished theaters as can be found in this part of the country.

The theatre is closed for the present in order that the workmen may have entire charge of the building and no delay will be experienced in the completion of the work.

Wednesday night will see the reopening of the Lyric, and a great picture has been secured for this occasion. An ad covering this picture will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Such is the spirit of Lubbock and the South Plains. Always in the lead with improvements.

LONG CO. GETS ELECTRICAL CONTRACT ON NEW SCHOOL

The Long Electric Company of this city, has recently signed up a contract for the electrical work and fixtures on the new high school building now under construction on the west part of the city.

They were figuring against electrical supply companies from all parts of the state, and some from other states. The total contract reaches to about $3500.00. Strictly new and up-to-date fixtures and supplies will be installed throughout the structure, including many ornamental features.

The Long Electric Company has recently opened up here for business and just the past week or two have gotten into a building sufficient to their needs, and the popular display of their goods. They carry one of the most modern stocks of electrical equipment in West Texas, and are alive, not only to their needs, but are already lined up with the booster squad of Lubbock and the South Plains, being high in their praise of the hospitality and congeniality of the great South Plains people.

CULLUM BROS. RECEIVES SHIPMENT OF NEW CARS

Dyke Cullum, of the Cullum Bros. Motor Company, who recently opened up a Studebaker distribution agency here, advises us that the first shipment of the new Studebakers has been received, and things are looking up for a great future for the car in this territory.

The Studebaker people make three different types of motors, the Light Six, the Big Six and the Special Six, either of which are good in this country.

They have a territory here that extends from the Oklahoma boundary on the north to the T. & P. on the south, and west to the New Mexico boundary, and they expect to make Lubbock central distribution headquarters for the entire territory. They are now in temporary headquarters and expect within the very near future to have a building with ample display rooms.
