

COOLIDGE'S DEFEY OF SENATE IN DAUGHERTY DEFENSE MAY LOSE HIM REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR PRES.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
(Copyright 1924, by UN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Beaten into a corner by the clamor from republican senators for his resignation, Attorney General Daugherty, with President Coolidge giving him silent support, has begun a savage fight to save his name from disgrace—a fight the like of which cannot be found in American politics.

It is a fight on which the immediate future of the republican party hangs. Coolidge, defying the clamor of the senate for Daugherty's head, now casts his lot with his maligned attorney general, ready to go down with him, if they lose.

What will result, no one can say. But unless Daugherty wins his fight, Coolidge is in danger of losing the republican nomination. This possibility has arisen for the first time since Coolidge was elevated to the White House.

The senate is on the war path. Senator Borah is preparing a speech attacking Daugherty and the president who defends him. A critical issue is now taking shape within the republican party.

Daugherty's letter—in his own defense stands as a unique document. It was delivered toward the end of a day filled with charges and whisperings against him. Senator Wheeler, Montana democrat, had said he received evidence indicating Daugherty had speculated in oil stock.

Senator Borah was ready to make a speech on the senate floor demanding Daugherty's resignation to save the party.

The letter was written to Senator Pepper, who had sent a personal note to Daugherty, suggesting that he should resign for the benefit of the party, not because of any wrong act, but because public opinion demanded it. Pepper had made this suggestion to President Coolidge Wednesday when he called at the White House with Senator Lodge, but Coolidge had refused to fire his cabinet officer.

To those who know the tragedy which has enveloped Daugherty during his latter years, the letter, filled with fight as it was, nevertheless contained a deep note of pathos.

It was Daugherty, more than any one man, who made Warren Harding president. When they came to Washington, Daugherty, next to Harding, was the most powerful man in the government. It was Daugherty to whom senators and congressmen came in hard to get his O. K. on their bills and their friends related to federal jobs. Six months ago Daugherty was the power behind the throne. Now there is none in Washington so weak that he cannot with impunity shoot his arrows at this lonely, tragic figure.

One can see by Daugherty's letter to Pepper, that even in the heat of indignation at the demand for his resignation, he is deeply touched by Pepper's complimentary reference to his official conduct. For since that Sunday night when he sat in Coolidge's study and listened to Senator Borah ask for his resignation, he has heard few kind words.

"Your complimentary reference to my administration of the department of justice is, at this time, most highly appreciated," Daugherty wrote to Pepper. "I note, with amazement, your suggestion that my interests are not to be decided on the basis of justice or injustice, even though my honor, reputation and all that I hold dear in the world are at stake."

"You have concluded that I am on the wrong side of an issue, without hearing, without evidence, and accepted as final the baseless, scandalous and defamatory charges of my political adversaries."

Daugherty declares that rather than quit under such an attack, he will make a speaking tour of the country, and lay his case before the public. "You imply that the public also has concluded that I am on the wrong side of an issue, without evidence, on ex-parte statements, and baseless charges of these same adversaries," Daugherty continued. "You must realize, as I do, that these charges made against me, made on the eve of a presidential election, are made with other motives than that of injuring me."

"My destruction is but the accomplishment of one phase of the program which will be immediately followed by other and more drastic demands by these same adversaries. My elimination, voluntarily or otherwise, will be a confession of the truth of all these baseless charges of our adversaries and will justify them in claiming that we have thereby admitted their truth, and such admission will accomplish the ultimate end and purpose most gratifying to such adversaries."

"I will never be a party to such a program. You say that my fate does not involve a question of justice or injustice. My dear senator, my personal interests sink into insignificance when compared with the magnitude of the issues now involved. Is the preservation of the orderly processes of the law, and the preservation of constitutional rights of no importance? Shall reputations be destroyed and public officials be driven from office by clamor, insinuation and falsehood? The criminal standing before the bar of justice has a right to trial by his peers."

"Am I to be denied a right granted to even the basest criminal? If I am on the wrong side of the issue to which you refer, and it has already been concluded against me by the senate, to which forum I have no access, without evidence of the truth or falsity of the charges against me, and if the public has likewise, as you claim, without evidence, concluded that I am on the wrong side of such issue, then nothing remains for me to do except to plead my cause before the bar of public opinion, and in order to do so accept some of the numerous invitations to make addresses throughout the country and present before that great tribunal all of the facts bearing upon these matters."

"That tribunal, my dear senator, by which we will all ultimately be tried, is the one before whose verdict we must all bow with respectful humility."

Senator Pepper declined to give out the note which drew this reply from Daugherty. He said that it was unusual that after he had told Coolidge that Daugherty should resign, he thought it only fair to inform the attorney general what he had told the president, and he seemed to be disturbed that Daugherty had made the letter public. The White House was silent. Coolidge had not seen Daugherty's letter in advance, it was learned.

Daugherty will win support by the very pluck of his single-handed fight against his own party colleagues in the senate. Whether it can save him in the end is a question that only the future can answer.

DEMONSTRATION OF YEAST BREAD GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL THURSDAY BY EXTENSION WORKER OF A. & M.

A yeast bread demonstration was conducted at the domestic science rooms of the Lubbock high school Thursday by Miss Edith M. Andrews, home economics specialist, extension service of the A. & M. college of Texas.

Miss Mabel Marsh, county home demonstration agent, made all arrangements for the demonstration, and despite the fact that she has been very ill with influenza during the past several days, attended the demonstration and assisted Miss Andrews in the work.

During the morning session, which began at 10:30 o'clock, Miss Andrews gave a splendid talk on the place of bread in a well balanced diet, giving in detail the different grades of flour, the composition of yeast, and other valuable information.

There were several of the community clubs of the county represented by members who made notes on all that was said by Miss Andrews, who in turn will give the data gathered during the demonstration to the many other members of their respective clubs.

Sherrod Brothers Hardware, Nislar Hardware company, and the Myrick Hardware company all donated the use of all the utensils that were needed, and a Super-Flex four-burner oil stove was donated for the day by Sherrod Brothers. Miss Price, home economics teacher in the school stated that this demonstration could not have been conducted so successfully but for the assistance given by the liberal hardware men.

Mrs. Price pointed out that the oil stove which is now the only cookstove that is available for use in the high school has been in service more than six years and cannot be depended upon, therefore they were obliged to use the stove which was so willingly given for the purpose.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Andrews reviewed briefly some of the important things discussed at the morning session and then gave demonstrations in making bread by both the short and long methods, using both pangs and Fleischman yeast. She also used both milk and water, and a combination of the two.

Among the varieties of breads made and baked during the demonstration are Parker House rolls, Swedish tea rings, A. H. club rolls, cinnamon rolls, red cake, cocoa bread, and white wheat bread.

In the afternoon seventy-five wagons, all of whom were supplied with note books and took down practically everything that was said by Mrs. Andrews.

The work Mrs. Andrews and other representatives of the college are doing in giving these demonstrations deserves much attention from every home keeper or school girl, and Miss Mabel Marsh, the county home demonstration agent deserves much credit for arousing so much interest in these demonstrations, as was evidenced by the large attendance Thursday.

Some idea of the hard work there is associated with these demonstrations might be gained from the knowledge that Mrs. Andrews started making preparations to lecture to the class early Wednesday afternoon, making some of the yeast bread which was given the final touches during the afternoon session Thursday. She not only lectured to those present on bread making, but made the bread while she lectured, showing exactly every process through which it went from the time the dough was taken from the vessels in which it was placed Wednesday afternoon until it had finally been taken from the oven.

Miss Marsh is delighted with the interest that was taken in the demonstration by the club women and girls of the county.

Among the out of town people here to attend the demonstration was Miss Carlisle, county home demonstration agent of Crosby county.

ATLANTIC CITY PREPARES FOR BIG EASTER CROWDS

By United Press
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 21.—The spring festival here will open April 20, Easter Sunday, and it will see a bigger crowd than ever on the board walk to witness the annual fashion parade.

"Although the 'Playground of America' is thronged with guests the entire year, many of those who sojourn to Florida for the winter return from southern skies with the advent of spring and preparations are being made to handle a monster crowd this year.

One of the big events to be held here early in the season will be a marble shooting tournament from June 1 to June 7. There will be sixty boy and girl champions from as many cities and the beach will constitute the stage for the games.

The play rimes will be on solid ground, similar to previous tournaments, and there will be a repetition of the entertainment for the youngsters.

The Beauty Pageant will be held the latter part of the summer season, and this year four days will be given over to the annual frolic instead of three, as formerly.

EARTHQUAKES IN JAPAN CAUSE CHANGES

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Although the great earthquake disaster of Japan, Sept. 1 of last year, was one of the greatest if not the greatest seismological disturbance in history, it was but a mere crackle in a process which is steadily going on in the earth's surface. It was but one of a long series of movements and processes which are now taking place and will transform completely the appearance of the surface of the globe in a short time, speaking in terms of the history of the world.

This opinion was expressed here by Dr. V. A. Jagger, director of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory and one of the foremost authorities in the world on movements of the earth's surface.

He has just returned to the United States after having made a detailed investigation of the causes and effects of the Japan disaster and is now in Washington making a report of his findings to the government. Upon the completion of his work here he will return to his post in Hawaii, watching the action of the volcanoes there, especially Kiluea, the largest and most active volcano in the Hawaiian islands.

"The Japan earthquake caused great changes in the surface of the earth in that vicinity," said Dr. Jagger. "The extent of the changes is yet unknown, but from the investigations already made it is evident that far greater changes took place than has been the case in similar disasters. Although the quakes centered about the cities of Tokyo and Yokohama, the level of the ground has been changed for hundreds of miles in all directions and investigations are going on now to determine their extent.

"The immediate site of Yokohama sank several feet, but the solid rock underneath rose from seven to eight feet and such was the case throughout the entire district affected. Yokohama sank because the land there is soft. Other areas along the east coast of Japan which have been filled sank, but underneath the strata formations rose.

"Such was the case along the entire east coast. This part of Japan has been rising for years and each quake of any consequence seems to stimulate the movement. Approximately speaking, the coast line is now several feet higher than it was a generation ago. The rumors that went out at the time of the disaster that this part of Japan was sinking into the sea are groundless. On the contrary, it is rising, as each earthquake proves.

"Many theories as to the cause of the disaster have been brought forward since September last. The real cause is not known, because we do not yet know enough about seismic disturbances, but it is my opinion that it was volcanic."

PARENTS MUST PUNISH KIDS IF JUDGE DOES

By United Press
DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 21.—No more juvenile speeders will be fined in Dallas.

That announcement by Police Judge Crawford sounded like good news to the young speed fiends. But like every rose it had its thorn.

"I'll not punish another one of them," Judge Crawford said, "unless the parents fail to take the young offenders to the woodshed and administer punishment to them with whatever weapon they think is most effective—razor strap, paddle or switch."

Decision on this announcement was caused, Judge Crawford said by the large numbers of youthful speeders whose fines are paid time and again by indulgent parents.

Considering the number of violins of the Stradivarius brand it is plain that the maker did hold out for a five-hour day.

MANY GIFTS TO THE PANHANDLE SOCIETY

CANYON, Texas, Feb. 21.—The Panhandle Historical Society has had its museum enriched during the past week by many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell of Amarillo have given a rare and beautiful horsehair quilt, a woven ornament, probably made by Mexicans, a pair of antelope horns, and a very fine Indian hammer of stone, and several well shaped arrowheads.

Evetta Haley of Midland, Texas, gave the organization a book of experiences of a pioneer, written by Mr. Bedford of Benjamin, Texas, and has loaned a Mexican metate and some very fine Indian hatchets.

Judge L. Gough of Amarillo, presented the society a photograph of Van Stickle of Canadian, James E. Wright of Oklahoma, Gus Lee of Roswell and himself. Gus Lee, negro, was cook for the T. Anker outfit in 1882; the other three were cow-boys together on the same ranch at that time. Mr. Gough also presented a book "Thirty-one Years on the Plains and in the Mountains" by Capt. Wm. F. Dawson, and a document which shows how schools were financed on the Plains in the days when settlers were few.

Mr. G. A. F. Parker of Hereford, brought to the museum a huge bone found on the C. C. Slaughter ranch. It is not known what kind of prehistoric animal this belonged.

BABIES BORN IN HOSPITALS GIVEN BEADED NAMES

By United Press
DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 21.—There's no chance now of your baby being mixed up with someone else's if he is born in a hospital. A system adopted by Baylor hospital here makes this impossible.

As soon as the baby is born he is given a string of blue and white beads that are slipped around his neck and cannot come off unless the string is cut.

Each white bead is stamped with a letter and the name of the child's parents as spelled by the characters. When the child is taken to the nursery a piece of adhesive tape on which the parent's name is written is placed at the head of the bed.

LEAP YEAR WEDDINGS ARE BEHIND IN ELLIS COUNTY

By United Press
WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Feb. 21.—"Cocoon Bill" Robinson, county clerk of Ellis county, is worried over the ladies of this county.

Robinson reports that only forty seven marriage permits were issued during January of this Leap Year—the smallest since January, 1923.

Robinson believes either the men are in hiding or the girls are not overly diligent.

There were several of the community clubs of the county represented by members who made notes on all that was said by Miss Andrews, who in turn will give the data gathered during the demonstration to the many other members of their respective clubs.

G. W. Lemmen, of Ronesville, was a business visitor in Lubbock yesterday.

Geo. A. Lider, assistant engineer in the local highway department of files, returned yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Lider, who makes headquarters in Lubbock, has been in the counties east the past few days looking after matters pertaining to the highway program that is being inaugurated in this district which involves 53 counties, under the direction of R. W. Baker, district engineer, who also maintains offices in Lubbock.

Attorney H. C. Pipkin, of Amarillo, who has been attending to legal matters in district court, returned home yesterday.

A. G. Karr, of Brown county, spent several days in Lubbock and vicinity looking for a farm to rent, but was unable to locate one and returned to his home. He is well pleased with the Lubbock country and says he is going to come out here as soon as he can get a location.

MORE THAN 500 NAVAL MEN HAVE STRAYED AWAY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21.—Naval authorities are at a loss to explain the absence of approximately 500 sailors who became either stragglers or deserters when they absented themselves at the time of the sailing of the Pacific fleet for the Caribbean Sea.

Wholesale leaving-taking usually is forecast by expressions of discontent and by complaints, but neither of these was apparent while preparations were being made to depart.

The losses are highest at the training stations where boys are youngest, and lowest at the navy yards where most of the men are older skilled artisans.

It is noteworthy that the submarine service which is supposed to be the hardest naval service, stands next to the bottom in the number of deserters.

JUDGES NULLIFY DRY MEASURE ENFORCEMENT

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—With prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes telling a group of the faithful in an address here Monday that dry act violators would be prosecuted by Chicago judges raised the hopes of the thirsty with decisions nullifying important enforcement measures used in Chicago.

Chief Justice Caverly of the criminal court decided that the use of the John Doe search warrant in liquor cases was illegal and he ordered the use of such warrants discontinued.

Municipal Judge Henry M. Walker held that the city ordinance licensing soft drink parlors was illegal. Under this ordinance Mayor Dever has closed more than 2,000 such places.

Haynes, addressing the citizens' conference on law enforcement, said that the non-observance of the prohibition law by rich and influential citizens of this country makes it easier for foreign born citizens to violate the law. Anything that assails the constitution is a menace to all we hold dear.

GOVERNMENT PLANS RUM RUNNING FLEET ON PACIFIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Feb. 21.—Plans of the United States government for the building of a rum chasing fleet on the Pacific coast were laid before ship builders of the bay district Tuesday by Captain J. E. Dorry, coast guard commander of the southern division.

Data on facilities available for the construction of the proposed fleet was gathered in the meeting.

Fifty motor cutters 70 feet long, 20 boats 36 feet long and 10 speed boats 36 feet long will form the proposed fleet.

When and Where to Plant Trees and Shrubbery on the Home Grounds

Every home should be tied to the earth by means of shrubbery, trees, flowers and grass. The house itself is only the background of the picture. To complete the painting and make the picture a real one, the proper planting of the ground is just as necessary as paint is to artists when putting it on canvas.

A home cannot be beautiful unless the grounds are improved with trees, shrubbery, flowers and grass. It matters not how expensive and elaborately the house is built, other things are necessary in order to make it a beautiful place.

Those who plant trees and shrubbery and beautify their home grounds are public benefactors, because such beauty cannot be hid from the public, but is open and free for anyone to view as often as they may wish. For that reason, persons who plant trees and shrubbery, and change the home from a bare unattractive place to one of beauty is in every sense of the word, a public benefactor.

Shrubbery Remakes Appearance of a Home

More and more of our people are realizing that the making of money is not the sole object in life. As important as it is, there is no use of one making it the sole object. Let it play its part, but don't let it crowd out all the other finer things of life, such as the appreciation of beauty. Beautiful home grounds is something that all of us may have, whether rich or poor, or have small or large grounds, because it does not take a large amount of money for enough trees and shrubbery to remake the appearance of the home.

Every person who improves his home grounds with trees, shrubbery, flowers and grass influences others to do likewise. There is something about it that is catching. When a neighbor sees his friend remake the appearance of his home by properly planting the grounds, it automatically creates a desire in his part to improve his own grounds. It is like the snowball that is started down the hill, the farther it goes the bigger it gets. Therefore let those who improve and plant the home grounds do the best job possible, not only for the sake of his own place but for the effect it will have on others doing this kind of work.

Plant Close to House Foundation

Shrubbery should be, as a general rule, planted up close to the foundation of the house, particularly in front and around the two sides. By planting it next to the foundation it has the effect of tying the house to the ground, giving the house the appearance of being a part of the picture, rather than something stuck on it.

Never plant shrubbery in straight lines. Put in a mass of clumps and in irregular shapes. Try to approach nature's method of planting as nearly as possible. Straight lines of shrubbery cannot best serve the purpose of beautifying the grounds and therefore should never be planted in this way.

Neither should individual specimens of shrubbery be planted about the grounds. Remember that it should always be in masses. Neither should it be planted in the middle of the grounds, but up next to the foundation of the building, near the border of the lawn, in the angles created by the walks and driveways, and near trees. These general principles should be kept in mind in locating shrubbery on the home grounds, because one can make the place appear rather odd by improperly locating shrubbery.

Leave Space in Front of House Open

As a general rule trees should not be planted directly in front of the house but to either side and in the rear. If the grounds are large, the trees should be planted in groups, rather than singly. Of course they should not be planted too close together, as sufficient room should be allowed for their complete development. Under no condition should the trees be planted in straight lines. This gives a stiff, unnatural effect that is not beautiful or pleasing to the eye.

The rose beds and flower beds have no place on the front lawn. Leave this space open, in order that a good view may be had from the front of the house. Also the front of the yard should be largely free from trees and shrubbery so as to give the grass every chance possible for developing a smooth lawn. Roses should be part of the planting on every home place, but they should be either to the side or to the rear, and never in front. This is true of other flowers, such as pansy beds, rows of peonies, dahlias, etc. This is the general principle with reference to location of flowers that should be kept in mind, because the appearance of the place can be very

Make a Start Now

By keeping these simple rules in mind, one can easily draw a scheme for the planting of the home grounds that will be effective and pleasing. Expert advice along this line may be secured from the State Agricultural Colleges, Experiment Stations and Nurseries. Make the start now by securing the advice needed and by drawing up the plans indicating where each tree, shrub, and flower bed will be located. Set them before spring opens up.

If the lawn has not already been made, break the ground, make it rich with stable manure, and commercial fertilizer and rake it over until it is smooth and in a fine seed bed condition. Then plant Bermuda grass roots which will give a good lawn during the summer. Next fall sow rye grass on top of the Bermuda and this will give green grass during the winter.

Before planting shrubbery, or trees, the grounds should be thoroughly broken and pulverized and enriched. This is especially important for the foundation plantings up next to the house. A good plan is to spade up 12 to 16 inches deep with a spading fork. When trees and shrubbery are set, mulch with a heavy coating of stable manure. This will both supply plant food and conserve moisture.

BRITISH STRIKE SETTLEMENT LOOMS

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Hope of possible settlement of the dockers strike comes in announcement that employers have decided to concede the two shilling daily increase in wages the workers are demanding, and offer to refer to arbitration the men's demands for revised methods of employment.

The dockers are now discussing the offer. The increase conceded amounts to 43 cents.

Prices are gradually rising, but the government's anti-profitier threats have prevented sensational increases. Leaders of London truckmen are now threatening to pull out all their 45,000 men, of whom 14,000 are already on strike.

Premier MacDonald announced in the house of commons Wednesday that negotiations for supplying the country with essential foods were near completion, and reiterated his declaration that the government would not permit profiteers to reap harvests by boosting prices on the strength of the dock strike.

He declared if present negotiations for maintaining the food supply failed the government itself would take steps necessary to insure supplies, adding that he hoped the house of commons would enact legislation permitting the government to deal with the situation if the strike continued.

The docks were lifeless Wednesday, and the situation was complicated by the fact that 15,000 stevedoers, meeting here, voted strike resolutions.

Several thousand London bus men in the northeast section of the city also struck during the day, because of local grievances.

Pickets of the dockers' union were at the docks and meat markets and forcibly prevented the removal of chilled beef from cold storage warehouses.

The government's court of inquiry into the strike opened with Holman Gregory presiding. Sir Norman Hill presented the employers viewpoint, while Edwin Bevin, secretary of the dock workers union spoke for the strikers, exhorting the employers for callous treatment of the men. After reviewing the case the inquiry was adjourned until Thursday.

The liner Olympic sailed from Southampton Wednesday with out cargo, after sixty clerks had worked all night loading 3,000 bags of mail. The ship carried 1200 passengers.

EXPECTS ONE BABY; GETS THIRTY-ONE

Harry Perry, cameraman for Tom Forman during the making of "The Virginian," the feature now at the R. & R. Theatre, arrived at the Schulberg studios wearing the worried look that young men usually wear when they know that the stork is hovering about their home. An attentive nurse had assured him that she would telephone the moment the Perry heir arrived.

It was that day set for the filming of the whimsical scene in which the Virginian, in the person of Kenneth Harlan, mixes the infants at a neighborhood dance. Sam Nelson, assistant to Forman, had industriously telephoned every likely youngster in Los Angeles. They were beginning to pour into the studio gates when Perry, setting up his camera, was interrupted by a girl employee.

"They've arrived!" exclaimed the girl. "The babies are wonderful!" "They! Is there more than one?" stammered Perry, his mind only on his own domestic problem. "More than one? Why, there are thirty-one of them!"

The expectant father staggered back against a timber. "—and there is one of the shiniest little, picadinnies among them!"

CANYON PREPARING FOR STOCK JUDGING CONTEST

CANYON, Texas, Feb. 21.—Professor O. D. Dinwiddie, superintendent of the stock judging contest which is to be held here April 4th and 5th, spent Saturday in conference with Professor Phillips, going over the plans for the contest.

It was decided that prizes would be given the high team in stock judging, the high team in plant production, and the high team in judging poultry. Additional individual prizes may be given.

In speaking of the contest, Professor Dinwiddie expressed the belief that there would be more teams present at this contest than any that has ever been held in West Texas.

PLANT A TREE!

LOCAL BUILDER SAYS TREES VALUABLE

Mr. Noey has been in the building business a number of years, but says that regardless of how well a home might be built, its general appearance can be made much better by planting trees, lawns and flowers about it.

"Of course the trees don't add so much to a place the first year or two, but enough of the right kind of trees planted about a home will enhance its value more than a little when they have been given five or six years growth.

Mr. Noey has built a number of homes in Lubbock and will probably build many more, and his idea of the value of trees and lawns might be well practiced by anyone.

CONTRACT LET FOR BRICK BUILDING ON AVENUE J

J. H. Hankins announced Thursday that he had just let the contract for the erection of two brick buildings on Avenue J just across the alley from the Lub-Tex Motor Company on the lots where the Salvation Army Hall is located.

Jerry Ciemons, local contractor, was the successful bidder for the job and will start actual construction work within a few days.

Mr. Hankins said he was not ready to announce who would occupy the buildings, or what kind of businesses would be located there-in, but that he had already received a number of applications from parties wanting them, and that he would not make a contract with anyone for a while yet.

Mr. Hankins has done a great deal of building in Lubbock which reflects his confidence in the future of the city.

KIWANIS EDUCATION AND EXPANSION WERE THE KEYNOTES OF ADDRESS MADE BY JUDGE MULLICAN THUR.

Lubbock Kiwanians met for their first luncheon in the armory, recently arranged for as the permanent meeting place for both this and the Rotary Club.

Due to the fact that it could not be arranged to have some delegation of church ladies to serve the luncheon, this job was left to the house committee composed of R. Q. Pierce, R. J. Wilson and George W. Foster.

These gentlemen got on the job early in the week, and had all arrangements made for the luncheon and Thursday morning started actual work of getting the food prepared.

Raleigh Martin, noted for the quality of "Martin's Best" coffee, was called upon to serve the Kiwanians with the beverage, and filled the bill in his usual efficient manner. A large container was kept on the electric stove where it was kept hot until the last cup had been poured from it, and from the expressions made by the Kiwanians Mr. Martin was made to know that his efforts were appreciated.

Messrs. Pierce and Wilson kept busy throughout the portion of the luncheon hour that anyone was eating, seeing to it that everything they wished for was provided them, with the result that they too heard compliments paid their culinary abilities.

President Smylie C. Wilson presided over the meeting and introduced District Judge Clark M. Mulligan, who had just returned from a district Trustees Conference at Dallas, where he gained much information concerning the organization and duties of a Kiwanis club.

Judge Mulligan read a message from the District Governor, in whose district are included all the clubs in both Texas and Oklahoma, touching upon the work of the clubs and of the individual members, giving in detail the instructions he was given while at the conference at Dallas. Judge Mulligan brought every member present into closer relation with the ideals and principles of Kiwanis and taught them a few lessons in membership responsibilities that will have far-reaching effect on their work.

Judge Mulligan touched upon the work the Kiwanis clubs of Texas and Oklahoma have been called to do in behalf of the underprivileged boys and girls of the community, and made an appeal to the members of the local club to get into this phase of the work with earnestness.

It is far cheaper and more than man to spend time and money training the youths of this community in good citizenship than it is to send them away to the penitentiary to protect society from them. Judge Mulligan said in substance. He pointed out that the Kiwanians are not asked to take up the responsibility of caring for the boys and girls whose parents are keeping them in school, and urged them to let the Boy Scout members continue in their work under the present management, but appealed that something be done at once in caring for the boys and girls who have no parents, who do not belong to the boys or girls scouts, who are not students in the Sunday schools under proper guardianship, and who are learning nothing more nor less than the lessons of the streets, associating only with those characters whose influence is more harmful than beneficial, which association will finally terminate in converting them into the very most dangerous sort of criminals. He said that the members of the county and district court are worried over many such boys and girls in Lubbock and need the combined efforts of such body of men as the Kiwanians to take hold of the situation with unselfish and energetic hands.

Judge Mulligan stated that Kiwanis expansion and education were high marks in the discussions of the speakers at the conference, and that from the inspirations gained at that meeting he hoped to gain some headway in expanding Kiwanis in this immediate territory. He suggested that as District Trustee it will be his duty to look into the matter of placing clubs at Lamesa, Crosbyton, Slaton and other large places over the South Plains, which he will do with the assistance of a committee appointed by the president of the club. At the conclusion of Judge Mulligan's address, Judge P. E. Brown spoke for a few minutes on the headway gained by the committee which had volunteered to aid him in helping the underprivileged children of this community, and that he was surprised at the progress made in that work and wished to express his gratefulness to the Kiwanians who had so willingly contributed their efforts in this worthy work.

Resolutions of respect for Percy

Spencer, deceased, were read, and unanimously adopted by the membership and will be spread upon the minutes of the Kiwanis Club.

There were several guests present and President Wilson expressed much regret in not having time to hear from them.

TOO RACY FOR FACULTY BRINGS CENSORSHIP

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 21—"My Gentleman's Handicap," appearing in the Campus Weekly of the State College, has caused the faculty to establish a censorship board which will oversee future issues of the weekly before they gain circulation.

The article classified 33 well-known college girls according to how they acted "on dates" after the style of newspaper racehorse stories.

The girls were classified by such paragraphs: "Runs well in fast company," "has changed hands too often," "worth a long shot when all else fails," "shows flashes of form" and "breaks slowly, but has good form."

MANY DEER IN THE FORESTS OF THE NORTHWEST

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21—After noting hollow logs for bears counting deer tracks, and enumerating cougar cries, forest rangers of the northwest have compiled a census of animals in the national forest of Oregon and Washington.

Inasmuch as the census was not a house to house canvass, the rangers admit it is only an approximation, because maybe some ranger counted the same deer's track twice. The census shows that deer predominated there being approximately 50,000 in the Oregon forests and 25,000 in the Washington forests.

There are about 8,000 black and brown bears in Oregon and 7,000 in Washington forest reserves. Washington has 8,000 elk and Oregon 3,000.

These figures are for about 17,000,000 acres of forest land in the two states, and were compiled by 135 rangers, each making a report for his respective district.

Number of animals killed each hunting season, number of bounties paid, and verbal reports of mountaineers as to the number of the game seen all figured in the estimates.

Other animals listed included

Coyotes, Oregon, 25,000; Washington 9,000; wolves, Oregon, 150; Washington, 90; bobcats, Oregon, 13,000; Washington 4,000; Oregon fur-bearing animals include: 6,000 badgers, 8,000 beavers, 3,500 foxes, 11,000 mink, 1,000 marten, 6,500 muskrats, 400 otter, 90 lynx. Washington's fur-bearers include: 7,000 beavers, 600 badgers, 900 foxes, 1,000 lynx, 8,000 mink, 9,000 muskrats, 800 marten and 200 otter.

HOLLYWOOD ATTORNEY GUILTY OF EXTORTION

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 20—Herman L. Roth, Hollywood attorney, was found guilty late Wednesday of extorting money from Arthur Sawyer, attorney for Barbara La Marr, film star.

In closing arguments the defense claimed the charge was a "frame up," while the prosecution declared

Roth had attempted to extort $20,000 from Miss La Marr.

It required but eight minutes for the jury to arrive at a verdict.

Roth is expected to file arguments for a new trial Monday, which time was fixed for the sentence.

ATONEMENT IS PARAMOUNT SAYS SLAYER OF FOUR IN CONFESSING PLAN TO DROWN GIRL SWEETHEART

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 21.—Under the hallucination that he has to atone for the sin of blaspheming the Holy Ghost by fire and water, Frank McDowell, held for the slaying of his mother, father and two sisters, in an interview Thursday said he had accomplished the first stages of atonement and planned to fulfill the third by drowning Mary Birdsey, whom he knew as a child in Forsyth, Ga.

It was in 1917, when Frank was ten or eleven years old, according to his confession, that he was donning a "clean shirt." Several buttons were missing. Angered, Frank said, he swore at the Holy Ghost, an act he had been taught was an unpardonable sin.

Miss Birdsey was at the house in Forsyth at the time, and Frank had planned to remove her as the last obstacle in the way of atonement.

Frank's vindication was to come in the creation by him of a race of supermen, of which he, the supreme superman, was to have been president.

According to his own admission, Frank believed himself to be the first man of such a race, the only hindrance being that he existed by birth—the perfect superman being created scientifically.

The 18 year old boy appears abnormal to alienists. He is aware that he is abnormal and said that his life had been torn between doubt and belief in the divinity.

On the anniversary of his original sin, Frank declared, the desire to expiate himself makes itself felt with irresistible pressure. It was on February 19, the date of this anniversary, that he burned to death his two sisters and on the same date one year later shot and killed his sleeping parents.

February 19, 1923, was to have been the drawing of Miss Birdsey, whom Frank has not seen in six years, but who, he says, is his ideal. Frank is admittedly an infidel. In his cell Thursday he told interviewers that to him the thoughts of a divinity were beyond conception, a supreme being, yes; he declared a God above all, but not a deity.

Fear, said a race of supermen will soon be created, each superman the product of scientific birth, which shall be accomplished in the very near future.

The youth showed not the slightest sign of sorrow for his dead sisters and parents. His personal appearance is paramount in his mind.

Whether or not his hair is combed straight holds first place in Frank's mind.

Frank probably will not have to pay for his sardonic "atonements" with his life. The Florida law stipulates that no insane person be put to death.

If he is adjudged insane, and placed in the asylum provided by the state of Florida, Frank's escape may easily be effected, as no guards are provided to guard the criminally insane.

However, if turned loose in Florida, Frank will be held for the Georgia authorities, in which state his first double murder was committed.

OFFICERS LOCAL C. OF C. ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEET

Hon. R. M. Chitwood, of Sweetwater, who as a member of the state legislature pushed the bill creating the Texas Technological college through the lower house.

Mr. Chitwood was fittingly introduced by Hon. E. L. Kleit of Lubbock, who spoke briefly of the splendid citizenship of Sweetwater and the spirit of friendliness that exists between the people of that city and the people of the South Plains, pointing out the speaker and the work he had done in behalf of the better interests of West Texas as being representative of that splendid citizenship.

The Board of City Development Plan of Financing the Chamber of Commerce, was the subject assigned Mr. Chitwood, who explained the plan in every detail, pointing out its advantageous features, and warning his hearers against some of the things that might occur under a board of city development plan that would prove fatal to the success of an aggressive development program.

Mr. Chitwood pointed out that the board of city development plan would throw the responsibility of financing the organization upon the shoulders of all citizens of Lubbock alike, making it possible for the officials to receive financial aid from the non-resident property owners, the big companies operating in the city, etc.

Mr. Chitwood is an entertainer of the first class, and while his talk was instructive throughout, he carried with his instructiveness a bit of appreciated humor that kept the audience thrilled throughout the several minutes he spoke. His address was closed with an appeal to the citizenship of Lubbock to not become so deeply involved in the material development of this great section as to overlook the development of those things that tend to make Lubbock a city.

When the speaker referred to his long acquaintance with Hon. W. H. Shadon of Lubbock and of their association at Austin as representatives of the people of this section of the state much applause was heard.

President Stevens called attention to the number of out of town dignitaries present, expressing delight at the opportunity to extend a hearty welcome to Maury Hopkins of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, Job Russell of the Plainview Board of City Development and others in the audience, then called upon Mr. Boswell to tell how the board of city development plan had worked in Plainview.

Secretary Boswell is one of the well known executives of West Texas and the members of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce were delighted to get first-hand information from him concerning the board of city development plan and its many favorable features.

Secretary Boswell spoke for some time, giving an accurate account of the manner in which the plan was followed in Plainview, declaring it to be, in his opinion, the most effective way of financing the organization yet devised.

Mr. Boswell, too, made a strong appeal to the people of Lubbock to maintain that spirit of friendliness that makes a town a good home, stating that it is too often the tendency for a fast growing town to grow away from those things that hold the citizenship in friendly relationship.

Mr. Boswell's suggestions and explanations concerning the board of city development plan were so well received that in all probability this plan will be invoked in Lubbock before many months.

Ernest Albright, of Abilene, representing the state highway department, and R. E. Fry, former mayor of Floydada and now a member of the directorate of the chamber of commerce of that city, were among the audience.

It was a great meeting from every viewpoint, and one which will have far-reaching effects on the future development of Lubbock.

UNIQUE SCHOOL PLAN FOUND IN OHIO
BY DR. P. W. HOEN

When the speaker referred to his long acquaintance with Hon. W. H. Shadon of Lubbock and of their association at Austin as representatives of the people of this section of the state much applause was heard.

President Stevens called attention to the number of out of town dignitaries present, expressing delight at the opportunity to extend a hearty welcome to Maury Hopkins of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, Job Russell of the Plainview Board of City Development and others in the audience, then called upon Mr. Boswell to tell how the board of city development plan had worked in Plainview.

Secretary Boswell is one of the well known executives of West Texas and the members of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce were delighted to get first-hand information from him concerning the board of city development plan and its many favorable features.

Secretary Boswell spoke for some

ing spirits in the establishment of the Moraine Park high school of Dayton. This is a private institution but is considered one of the outstanding high schools of America.

There were those who were greatly surprised when Mr. Morgan gave up his work as a successful engineer and took up the presidency of this small and somewhat obscure college in an Ohio village. Whatever his motive, it is safe to surmise that he did not take the work for the salary involved.

The first thing he did was to secure and expend about half a million dollars for putting into the old buildings such conveniences as sewerage, sanitary toilets and steam heat. The endowment of the institution is said to be not over $100,000. There is an annual deficit of about $60,000 in maintenance. This deficit is made up by business men who are interested in the success of Mr. Morgan's experiment.

Although Yellow Springs is a village of less than a thousand inhabitants, it is nevertheless close to X²M. Springfield and Dayton. It is within a few miles of a large number of great industries. In these industries the young men and women of Antioch college are placed in pairs for alternating periods of eleven weeks.

There are four of the 45 members of the faculty whose duty it is to find jobs for these boys and girls and see that they fit properly into the jobs. The matter of self support for the students is considered as of distinctly secondary importance. The matter of learning from the job and of connecting it with the instruction is considered of chief importance.

What has been going on at Antioch since the bureau of standards began work for using a by-pass for the American Petroleum company gives a slightly different view. This was a question asked by a grinning youth when the bureau of standards began work for using a by-pass for the American Petroleum company gives a slightly different view. This was a question asked by a grinning youth of the University of Cincinnati originated this scheme in his engineering department and that several other engineering institutions have to a greater or less extent tried the same cooperative experiment. The chief contribution of Antioch consists in the fact that it is applying this system to work in the college of liberal arts as well as to work in technical subjects.

Not all the students of Antioch are on the cooperative basis but about 90 percent of them are. The other 10 percent attend school for the full time just as they would in the conventional colleges.

The first president of Antioch College was Horace Mann, in 1853. He came from Massachusetts and announced that Antioch was to be "the Harvard of the West." However, his ideals were wrecked and it was denominational questions that wrecked them. It seems that the fundamentalists were active in 1863 and Horace Mann was a moderate. At any rate, Horace Mann was heartbroken but nevertheless left some impression upon the institution which he founded.

For a long time, Antioch survived as a small country college. For several years its president was Mr. Fess, now United States senator from Ohio. It was not, however, until 1921 that Antioch took on new life. It was not until that time that Arthur E. Morgan came to the presidency.

Morgan was not a teacher but a civil engineer. He was head of the Dayton-Morgan Engineering Company of Dayton, Ohio, which had among its other tasks, that of removing the city of Dayton from a danger of destruction by flood.

When the bureau of standards began work for using a by-pass for the American Petroleum company gives a slightly different view. This was a question asked by a grinning youth in one of the physics classes at Antioch the day I visited there. "I did not know there was such a difference," responded the professor.

"Well, there is," answered the youth. "I found that out when I was working in the laboratory for the petroleum company."

This is quoted simply as an illustration of the Antioch spirit. The students not unfrequently know things the faculty does not know, because they have observed these things while working on the job. It simply shows the Antioch spirit.

No wonder President Morgan has practically all young men in his faculty. The older men could hardly understand what he was trying to do.

If anyone thinks that Antioch is a freak institution and that its president is only a spotlighter, he had better think again. Watch Antioch; you will hear, still more of it in the future than you have in the past.

VERDICT FAVORING DEFENDENTS RETURNED IN LAND COMMISSION SUIT

In the case of J. E. Shelton et al vs. G. W. Lemmon et al, which went to trial in district court yesterday morning, the jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the defendants, G. W. Lemmon and T. B. Duggan.

The plaintiffs in the suit, real estate men of Brownfield, were suing a commission against the defendants for the sale of the Hall county school land in Colville county some two years ago, contending they were instrumental in the commission.

Section of the law, however, the jury deliberated only a short time and returned a verdict in favor of the defendants to the effect that they were not obligated to the plaintiffs for the commission sought.

Honesty---

is the Most Profitable Policy

George Washington, Father of our Country, was born February 22nd, 1732 and died in 1799.

George Washington's Birthday February 22nd.

IT WAS HE WHO SAID---

"HONESTY is the BEST POLICY"

In the conduct of our business we strive to reflect the high ideals of business integrity. We believe that it pays us to be honest—with our customers and with ourselves.

We prefer to handle honest-made merchandise because we believe it pays.

The ideals that inspire everyone to noble achievements are worth sacrificing for; yet in the long run each sacrifice brings us profitable returns.
