TWO KILLED AND 20 WOUNDED IN FACTIONAL WAR

RIOT FOLLOWED PARADE K. K. K.; POLICE UNABLE TO COPE WITH MOB

By United Press. LILLY, Pa., April 5.—Two men were shot to death and a score of others injured, some seriously, in a gun battle and street fight between townsmen and members of the Ku Klux Klan here tonight.

The klansmen, between 800 and 1,000 strong, arrived here on a special train from Johnstown, after making frequent stops en route to pick up members of the organization, according to police.

A crowd of more than 1,000 persons had gathered at the station to see the unusual sight.

Without warning a revolver shot was fired and a battle between the two factions started. It was reported.

The dead are: Phillip Conrad, 25, a laborer. Floyd Paula, 28, a miner.

Police were unable to cope with the situation and revolver battle raged until the klansmen fought their way to a waiting train and departed.

When the excitement subsided it was discovered that Conrad and Paula, two innocent bystanders had been shot and killed.

Authorities learned that some one had turned a hose on the klansmen as they marched to the station and this led to the firing of the first shot.

Many men on both sides were armed with revolvers and those who were unarmed hurled bricks and stones.

The two factions clashed on each other and many men, dropping to the ground were trampled under foot. During the fighting at close quarters, the railroad station was partly wrecked by flying brick and stone. During the height of the battle Clويد Paul, 25, was shot through the breast and instantly killed. Phillip Conrad, 25, was shot through the heart and died instantly.

Frank Boyce, 40, was shot in the left hip; Francis Anupukiez was shot in the stomach; Charles Daugherty was shot in the abdomen. Jerome Magee, 35, was shot in the left shoulder; Frank Misso, 26, was shot through the abdomen. Earl Bradley 19, was shot in the right shoulder and Ray Bradley 18, wounded in the left arm.

Many other persons were injured but it was impossible to obtain their names because of the excitement. The seriously injured were rushed to the hospitals at Altoona, and Johnstown while those not in a critical condition were taken to the offices of physicians and given first aid treatment.

The injured, some in a critical condition were rushed to the office of Dr. Geiser.

After being given first aid treatment by Dr. Geiser the more se-

DETERMINED TO SOLVE K. ST. MYSTERY

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Determined to bare the secrets of the "little green house on K street" the senate Daugherty probes next week will put on the stand a new "star witness" Howard Mannington, former tenant of the house.

Mannington, who was brought back from Europe to testify, by the good offices of the state department is due in the United States shortly and it is to be called to the stand as early as possible, committee members said.

Mannington will be questioned particularly about liquor deals. Chairman Brookhart said tonight. John Gerini, New York wholesale druggist, testified that Mannington was getting a $4 "cut" on each case of liquor withdrawn from the bond under permits secured through his political influence—and was splitting with Jesse Smith and an unnamed man.

"We will put Mannington on the stand just as soon as he hits town," said Brookhart. "We want to know all about the little green house and what he was doing there."

"I think that we will because we have plenty of evidence in black and white on Mr. Mannington that will give him a big surprise."

FRANCHISE LAW OF WHITE IS UPHELD

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 5.—Constitutionality of the white man's franchise law was upheld by federal Judge Duval West in a memorandum of opinion read in open court Saturday when a motion to dismiss the bill of complaint filed by Hurley C. Chandler, a Bexar county negro, whereby the negro sought to restrain the governor the attorney general of Texas and the chairman of the county democratic committee from interfering with his alleged right of franchise, was sustained.

The defendant's motion to dismiss attacked the bill of complaint on two grounds, the first that the court was without jurisdiction to enforce the remedy of injunction against the state and democratic officials because a purely political matter was involved, and on the further grounds that there was no violation in the white man's primary law of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

MANY STEERS SOLD FROM VICINITY OF EL PASO

EL PASO, April 4.—According to Lee Bell, inspector here for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, approximately 5,000 head of steers have been sold from adjacent territory for Kansas during the past month.

The sales aggregate $200,000 to $300,000, Mr. Bell stated.

Lubbock Takes First Place in Stock Judging at Canyon, Both in Team and Individual Score; Retained Kieser Cup

CANYON, April 5.—Lubbock took first place here today in the stock judging contest sponsored by the West Texas State Teacher's College, following their win Friday of the Poultry contest. Seventeen schools were represented in the contests, and more interest was taken than at any time in the previous history of such a meet.

The Lubbock team took a lead over Panhandle, closest rival by a majority of 54 points, with a total score of 1337. Panhandle registered a score of 1305. Others in their respective winning order were: Tahoka 1268; Kress 1258; Miami 1257; Tulsa 1245; Silverton and Canyon tied for sixth place with a total of 1239 each; Mulleshoe 1215; Littlefield 1204; L. Y. (a ranch school near the boundary) 1192.

Lubbock also took off first and third places in individual score. Hunt, of Lubbock, being high point man with a total of 479. O'Keefe, of Panhandle took a close second with 476. Will Hart, of Lubbock, closely contested with a total of 471. Love, of Canyon followed in fourth place with 454.

On Friday Lubbock won the Poultry contest, with Miami second, Canyon third, Mulleshoe fourth, and Littlefield fifth, with Will Hart, of Lubbock; Frank Kelly, of Miami; Roy Hunt, of Lubbock; Eugene Kessler, of Mulleshoe; and Orval Barroughs, of Lubbock, high men respectively. The grain judging contest went as follows: Farwell, first; Farwell District No. 10, second; Odham third; Lubbock fourth; and Rovina, fifth. Orden King, Farwell was high man in the grain contest, being followed respectively by L. Johnson, Farwell District No. 10, and Ike Walton, Odham.

RUM VESSELS ARE ORDERED SOLD AT AUCTION

HOUSTON, Texas, April 5.—Three rum running vessels captured at Galveston when liquor smugglers attempted to slip their contraband cargoes ashore were ordered sold at auction by Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson, Jr., here Saturday.

A fourth vessel, the British steamer Muriel E. Winters, is being held pending settlement of a controversy as to its ownership.

Nearly 16,000 quarts of confiscated liquor also will be sold under the hammer under orders of Judge Hutcheson. Only persons with permits from the government will be allowed to bid for the booze.

The boats to be sold are: Motor Boat E-301; Motor Boat E-837 and the launch Cherokee.

FIRE THREATENS THEATRE IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, WIS., April 5.—Although the building was filled with smoke and they had been told to leave in an orderly manner, several hundred persons of an audience of two thousand at the Palace Theatre here tonight refused to believe the place was on fire and would not leave until driven out by police.

As they left through the many exits that had been thrown open, firemen who answered two alarms came rushing in.

The fire started in the west wall from defective wiring and although there was not much of a blaze, a heavy stifling black smoke filled the building.

The management announced to the large audience waiting in the streets that the show would start soon as firemen had extinguished the flames and the smoke had been cleared from the building. No sooner had the firemen announced that the fire had been extinguished than the crowd was allowed to return to their seats and the show was resumed.

KU KLUX KLAN EMBLEM IS PLACED UPON GRAVE OF DEAD ACTOR

HOUSTON, Texas, April 5.—A Ku Klux Klan cross bearing the inscription of Dallas Klan No. 66 tonight rested upon the grave of Russ Forth, actor, who with his wife and four-year-old daughter, were burned to death here Tuesday.

As Rev. Windham read a prayer over the newly turned grave, the crowd opened and nine robed and hooded klansmen filed forward to place the Klan emblem upon the grave.

Members of Houston's theatrical colony who tonight must relive and amuse the pleasure-loving crowds through their heartaches, for a departed member, attended the funeral en masse.

STATE RESTS IN CASE OF GOV. McCRAY

IDNIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 5.—With the introduction of sensational testimony of two handwriting experts who said that in their opinion signatures on alleged forged notes were written by Governor Warren T. McCray, the state today rested its case in the trial of McCray on charges of larceny and embezzlement growing out of his use of $158,000 of the funds of the state board of agriculture.

Over the objection of defense attorneys Judge Chamberlin permitted introduction of the statement of the handwriting experts. Both testified in substance it was their opinion that the signatures on notes of half a dozen "cattle companies" organized by McCray had been written by McCray. They testified there had apparently been an effort on the part of persons signing the notes to disguise his normal handwriting.

The testimony coming at the conclusion of the state's case struck like a thunderbolt upon McCray's attorneys. They battled vainly to exclude the testimony from the records.

The notes on which the handwriting experts made their declaration were given to the state board of agriculture by McCray as collateral in connection with his use of the board's money. Men whose names appeared on some of these notes testified during the trial that they had never signed them, while other witnesses who had accepted notes from McCray said they had been unable to locate the companies the notes were purported to come from.

The conclusion of the state's testimony today paved the way for the defense attorneys to start in production of witnesses Monday. They will center their attack on the story of L. Newt Brown, star witness for the state who contends the board of agriculture money was given McCray for deposit in the discount and deposit bank at Kentland, Ind., of which McCray was at that time president.

DRY RAID MADE IN HIGH SOCIETY CIRCLE

WASHINGTON, April 5.—"Lone Wolf" liquor raiders, disguised as "singing clean-up" bootleggers in Washington by invading the heart of the fashionable residence section late today, and arresting Thomas Raynor, butler in the home of Mrs. William Hitt. They took Raynor, butler's livery and all to a police station, charging him with selling liquor.

The servants quarters at the Hitt home were thoroughly searched for contraband liquor.

The Hitt family is socially prominent in the capital and the raid created a stir in the fashionable Dupont Circle, New Hampshire avenue neighborhood.

The raid in which Raynor was captured was one of the last of a series which began at sunrise when a squad of police and dry agents started out under orders from District Commissioner Oyster "to give the bootleggers hell today."

A total of more than 125 arrests were made. Hundreds of gallons of liquor and several stills were seized.

MRS. J. L. SHOWELL DIED AT 3:40 THIS MORNING

Mrs. J. L. Showell, wife of J. L. Letcher Showell, Rector of the St. Pauls Episcopal Church, of this city died this morning at 3:40 o'clock, following an illness of four days.

Mrs. Showell went to bed the early part of the week with what was then thought to be only a light case of flu, but on Thursday pneumonia developed.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced this morning.

LUBBOCK WINS CLASS A EVENTS CO. TRACK MEET HELD AT SLATON SAT. SHALLOWATER CLASS B DIVISION

Special to the Avalanche.

SLATON, April 5.—While the Lubbock high school stock-judging team was taking first place at Canyon, the cinder path hounds were down here today wrestling victory from the local high school in track and field events, and although the two schools were the only ones that were entered in Class A, every event on the official roster was hotly contested.

Lubbock took a total of 87-1-2 points, while the local lads were counting 48-1-2. Christian, of Lubbock, was high point man for the day with a total of 19-1-2 points, taking first place in several entries. He was closely followed by Jackson, also of Lubbock, with 18-1-2 points.

In class B, schools, in which many more schools were entered, and points naturally more widely scattered, Shallowater took first with 41 points. Carlisle second with 30; Acuff third with 23; Idalou fourth with 19-1-2; and Estacado fifth with 9.

The spectacular part of class B competition was the one man track and field team of Idalou. Harrison, the only representative of Idalou at the meet, gathered a total of 19-1-2 points unassisted.

BRITISH CHAMPION DEFEATS BOBBY JONES

By United Press
EASTLAKE COUNTRY CLUB, ATLANTA, Ga., April 5.—Arthur Havers, British open champion, defeated Bobby Jones, American open golf champion 2 up and one to play in a 36 hole exhibition match here this afternoon.

Jones was 2 down at the end of the morning round, and held the hard driving accurate Havers in the first nine holes in the afternoon.

Coming in Bobby picked up one and cut the Britisher lead to one at the 34th hole, but lost the 35th, finishing 2 down with one hole unplayed.

Bartlett Wins Bell County Meet
By United Press

HUPMOBILE DISTRIBUTORS CONDUCTING CAMPAIGN

Hupmobile distributors and dealers are conducting an educational campaign among motorists the country over on the parts that enter a complete motor car.

They are demonstrating how important the highest grade parts are in contributing to proper performance, economy of operation, length of life, freedom from repair and the other essentials that go to make up lasting satisfaction.

They are demonstrating how it is impossible for a motor car to give satisfactory performance over long periods except when the best materials are used in dozens of vital points.

"Many of these parts," says O. C. Hutchinson, general sales manager of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation, "must be of heavier and better construction than seems necessary, in order to withstand unusual strains and provide the necessary factor of safety. The inside of a motor car is what determines the worth of the investment.

Ordinarily, when a man buys a car, he buys it more or less on faith. The parts that determine whether it is to be a good investment are hidden away in the chassis.

They never see daylight until trouble comes. "Because that is so, we are presenting in advance, what Hupmobile puts into its car. We want every man who puts money into an automobile to do so with his eyes open, so far as we can help to that end."

"So we are bringing the inside of our car out into the daylight, where every one can see it before buying. We feel that the prospective buyer is not exercising good judgment if he buys a car until he knows conclusively what enters into it."

"Most persons dislike mechanical details. But, how a motor car is engineered and built, and of what it is built, are both extremely important. And there is only one way you can find out—you must see for yourself, and compare this practice with that. The Hupmobile parts display gives the Hupmobile story at a glance. It is interesting and enlightening, and of vital importance to automobile buyers."

VERY FEW SENSATIONS FOUND BY MAJOR LEAGUES DESPITE FACT THAT MUCH MORE MATERIAL WAS ENTERED

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 5.—With but few exceptions the major league baseball clubs are on their way home from their southern training camps.

The Boston Red Sox have just departed from Florida, but the two Philadelphia clubs are home mingling in their annual pre-season city championship series.

The major league club owners spent more money and looked at more young ball players down south this spring than they have in years, but it seems certain that the real finds will be as scarce as ever.

The Boston Red Sox herald a find in Dudley Lee, a high priced young shortstop. The St. Louis Cardinals are boasting about Les-ter Bell. The Pittsburgh Pirates feel that they invested $50,000 well when they bought Glenn Wright, an American Association shortstop.

Connie Mack announced Strand and Simmons, two rookie outfielders and Max Biehop, Baltimore second baseman, as regulars when he first looked at them. They cost him a lot of money and he figured they were worth it.

Simmons, however, is reported to have developed a bad knee and the outfield is no place for a lame player.

The Reds have two minor league pitchers—Tom Sheehan and Jackie May, who have been assigned the roll of helping pitch the club to the National League pennant.

The Giants have in Dean, Baldwin, and Bradshaw, the prospect of a couple of pitchers that will be asked to help McGraw take the color out of the red menace.

The Yankees spent a lot of money for Carl Coombs, the Louisville outfielder who may have to spend a season on the bench and they picked up for nothing a sand lot pitcher, Gatson, who is regarded as a real find.

The Brooklyn Robins have Johnny Jones, a Pacific coast league shortstop, who may make the grade as a regular because most any kind of a ball player can make the Brooklyn team.

Travis Jackson, a 19 year old minor leaguer was called off the Giant bench in the hottest part of the pennant race last season when Dave Bancroft was taken ill and he delivered with such vehemence that McGraw gave him credit with having a major part in winning the pennant.

There are no places open now for a single rookie star to step in and be the means of winning a pennant, but several of those who are to be tried this spring may have a lot to do with upsetting some figures that have been prepared by the experts for the pennant races. The chances for fame are open principally with the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds.

If Heine Groh breaks down at third base for the Giants, Fred Lindstrom will get the chance that Jackson had last year and if Kelly goes bad at first base, Bill Terry, a particularly promising player, will get his opportunity.

Any of the young Giant pitchers have a chance to get into big money by filling the bill on the staff that McGraw has wanted filled for two years.

Young players owe the chances they were given at a big league shot this spring to the partial restoration of the draft among the leading circuits in the minor leagues.

With peace half way established between the majors and the minors, there will be more young players up and as a natural consequence there will be more jobs opened for them.

THE BLEDSOE COMMUNITY WILL SOON HAVE BRICK SCHOOL

Clyde Showalter, of the Bledsoe community, was here Saturday and reported that work on the $19,000 High School building for that community is progressing nicely and that all indications are that it will be completed in time for the closing exercises of the present term to be held in it.

Mr. Showalter is a teacher in the school there at this time, and reports that the students have made good grades this term.

He also reported that an entertainment of the young folks of that community was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bledsoe on Friday evening, and that a large crowd was present.

A fine community spirit is to be found at Bledsoe and the people of that community have done much good work in the development of Lubbock county.

J. E. WATSON ENTERS RACE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

We are authorized to place the name of J. E. Watson in the announcement column today as a candidate for the office of County Tax Collector, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July. He is a native born Texan having been born in McLennan Co. and was engaged in the furniture business in Waco for twelve years. He has been a resident of Lubbock since 1916, since which time he has engaged in farming on a rather large scale, and was also in the grocery business here for about two years being proprietor of the North Side Grocery, and is now a business man of this city. He will make a personal canvass of the county before the primaries but in the meantime he will appreciate your consideration of his candidacy, and asks investigation of his record as a citizen and his qualifications for the office.

NO OPPOSITION TO THE TRUSTEE TICKET; LIGHT VOTE.

There was absolutely no opposition to the ticket for School Trustee, and the entire old board was retained. There was a very light vote cast, in fact it was disgraceful the lack of interest that was shown in the election. However this can in a manner be excused, on account of the people realizing that there was no opposition to the men who were on the ticket and everyone was willing for them to continue to serve. We understand that only 51 votes were cast in the entire district with a scholastic population of 2700. The men who were retained on the board by the election yesterday were: W. B. Atkins, J. T. Hutchinson, C. E. Maedgen and C. M. Ballinger.

SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS HEAVY INCREASE

Rev. D. C. Ross, who has just completed taking the scholastic census of the Lubbock Independent School district announced Saturday that a partial check-up of the returns show that there are 2,700 scholars in the district at this time, and it is his opinion that the final checking of the records will show between 2800 and 3000 scholars.

This figure as compared with 2,114 scholars shown in last year's census reflects the rapid growth of Lubbock, and proves the fact that this city is growing even faster than our most optimistic citizens realize.

These figures are gratifying indeed, and are still more encouraging to know that through the foresight of our school heads, the problem of meeting the demand placed upon our schools by this fast increasing population has been solved for some months to come.

The construction of the $130,000 high school building, the K. Carter school building and the thorough overhauling of the Junior High school building have proven necessary improvements that reflect well upon the judgement of the board of trustees and all Lubbock voters who made this gigantic building program possible.

PIGGLY WIGGLY STORE WAS FORMALLY OPENED SAT.

Sau and Emmett Darby and J. L. Noah, owners of the new Piggly Wiggly store in Lubbock, are to be congratulated upon the success of their formal opening Saturday.

Five hundred carnations were bought for the occasion and presented to the lady visitors, while the men were supplied with good cigars.

The place was as busy as a beehive all day and many goods were taken from the well filled counters.

The many who visited the store Saturday expressed themselves as being well pleased with the arrangement and were especially impressed with the modern refrigerator which is of large capacity and makes it possible for all eggs, meat, butter, etc., to be kept in the finest condition at all time. This will be appreciated by those who will trade at this store.

TOURISTS HAVE TROUBLE ON BORDER

A large number of tourists passing through this city en route east from California points, report that they were stopped at California-Arizona boundary by Arizona State agents of the department of agriculture who refused to allow them to enter Arizona without disposing of all dogs, cats, birds, fruits and food carried in their cars on account of the foot and mouth disease prevalent in California.

Many tourists are reported as returning to Los Angeles rather than part with their pets. In one case a tourist chartered a freight car, loaded his automobile, dogs and all into it under seal en route across Arizona for the east.

Another tourist attempted to go around Arizona by going through Mexico but road conditions prevented this arrangement and he was forced to return to Los Angeles.

Inspectors have been stationed on all highways at the Arizona-California line but their activities previously has been confined to examination of baggage for both ways.

Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

CHAPTER IV.

Many other old-timers reside in Lubbock that came to the county when it was first organized. Among them, C. W. Mallard, who has paid taxes to the tax collector for thirty-three years. He, for a number of years, has followed the occupation of a carpenter, and although he has not accumulated millions nor hundreds of thousands of dollars, he is highly respected by all who know him.

Charley Vaughn, who ranches and farms some ten miles northeast of Lubbock, was in the county when it was organized, coming from Kentucky.

Charley bought land early from the state on forty years time, establishing his residence thereon, which was a dugout, twelve by twelve feet, following the occupation of cowboy. Charley did much of the grubbing on the first farms placed in cultivation in the county.

Judge W. D. Crump was one of the organizers of the county, emigrating from Kentucky. The judge farmed, freighted and raised cattle and at one time owned a herd of registered Hereford cattle, but in recent years has sold them and retired. At present he is residing at Shallowater. The judge and his excellent wife, both are rival entertainers, and are hospitable to a degree of marked distinction. Many are the cowboys, cattlemen, capitalists, lawyers, prominent ministers, educators and lecturers that have shared the hospitality of his home. Each Christmas, for a score of years, the judge has entertained a group of his friends with a feast on the day celebrated by one hundred per cent Americans in memory of the birth of our Saviour.

Then, during the mid-winter months, he again entertains many other guests. The guests are varied on some occasions they are young people, other times, Confederates, other events, ministers. He is generous and progressive. When we were soliciting funds to pay the Santa Fe Ry. to build to Lubbock, I remember the judge, although then residing fifteen miles west of town, contributed $500 toward the bonus and later an additional sum.

The judge is enterprising and contributed liberally to the upbuilding of the county by subscribing cash and his moral support to the schools, churches and the development of the country.

He counts his friends by legions and is regarded by all who know him as a typical Kentucky gentleman of the old school, who is generous and chivalrous to a fault.

The frontiersmen of his type are fast passing away. The judge was born and reared on Dixie soil, and grew to manhood in his peace-loving, sunny Southland home, enjoying the boundless liberties, which Mother Nature had so generously blessed him, but when the tocsin of war sounded he laid aside his scythe, the plow share and domestic affairs, his family, friends and everything near and dear to him and loyal to the country that gave him birth and bade home and dear ones farewell and went forth to the fields of carnage.

Beneath the unsullied and immaculate standard of the Confederacy, he fought for the same cause for which Washington fought and Warren died.

For four long years he was a soldier in this war, which raged with fury, which caused the country to quake, reel and tremble on this "whirlpool" of destruction, and desolation crouched over the Southland in its most hideous form, and the wails of the orphan and widows were heard from inland to shore, each river became a vein of human gore and each pond a lake of tears. Long and faithful he struggled for the constitutional rights, dreading death not half so much as surrender. But there is a limit to all human power, the Southern soldiers, tired, hungry, and cold, barefooted, trudging onward leaving bloodstains on the frozen earth, following his noble chieftain, the knightly Lee, exhausted by forced marches and daily battles, sheathed the sword which had gleamed so often above the brow in the tragedy of battle, and his brave followers, in obedience to his leader's command, packed his blackened musket and buried his torn and blood-stained battle-flag, beneath the sands of time to be unfurled no more forever.

The Confederacy, for which he was fighting, which so long had been exalted on the pinions of hope, now reposes with ancient Greece and Troy in the cemetery of nations. But, listen! No nation ever rose so white and fair or fell so pure of crime. But, often in days past and gone, he has been taunted by the charge of defeat, but in the language of the immortal Jefferson Davis, he can say, "We were not defeated for we conquered success," and as the poet singing with the masses says: "The Yankees did not whip you judge,

No, let it never be said For you wore yourself out whipping them, Then stopped for want of bread." When the question is raised as to which was defeated, then let us gently pause and count the battles won by the North and those won by the South; count the number killed in the Southern army and the number killed in the Northern army, then we will agree with Bill Arp, when he said, "I killed as many of them as they did of me."

According to the pension rolls of the war between the states, you disabled and wounded more Federal soldiers than the Confederacy had in the field from first to last, and your work seems to continue in progress for the wound inflicted by Southern powder and Southern steel is contagious; and the husband transmits the malady to his wife and to his posterity, thus the Scriptures are finding their fulfillment in the fact that "The iniquities of the fathers are visited upon their children unto the third and fourth generations." But let us behold the Confederate soldier when this great drama is over. He turns his face homeward, inspired only by the thought, no question is ever settled until it is settled right. When you reached the home that you had left so prosperous and beautiful, what did you find? You found your house burned down, your fields laid in waste, your slaves set free. But what do you do? You, the dauntless hero, with an iron will? Do you face a victim to despondency? No not for one moment. But unaided and unpensioned by the Federal government, you rebuild your fences about your farm and convert the crimson battle ground into a golden field of waving grain. Thus, you, a Southern soldier, have proven yourself to be a man, and your fame and achievements are not only stamped indelibly in the annals of history, but will live in memory and tradition about the firesides of posterity, to the end of time. And the seeds, sown in your noble example, will sprinkle patriots through the years to come and perpetuate your having lived among a noble race of men. Our country is dotted with statues to your memory, cut in the hearts of a grateful people are erected monuments more enduring than those Monuments as lasting as the home of the stars and as everlasting as the hills, and it is fitting that your name and deeds, be entwined in the hearts of the people for the world's history affords no more brilliant galaxy than the heroes who are shrouded in Southern glory. But that great conflict is over, the din of the battle has died away and is only a dream, calumny is hushed in eternal silence, old feuds are buried into perpetual oblivion and the fair goddess of peace, which so long drifted at random, now hovers over our country in the tranquil plumage of her wings. Let us pray God that it may ever be thus, that in the future our great men—and our heroes may be found not assunder, but side by side, contending for a common interest as patriotically demonstrated in the World War, contending for common interest and self-protection and preservation. The North and South are growing closer each passing day, the bonds of fraternalism are becoming stronger. The men who lusted for each other's blood in 1865 fought beneath the same flag in 1898. From the dispersed and scattered ranks of your army come the unvanquished and invincible Joe Wheeler, to lead the charge at San Juan Hill. You have clasped hands over the mouldering bodies of our

FIGHTING TO KEEP EIGHT-HOUR DAY

GENEVA, April 5—Before the governing body of the International Labor Bureau, the French and German Governments, together with the French and German industrial classes, have joined hands in a fight against the eight-hour day.

With an equal solidarity the French and German laboring classes have joined hands to support the victory which they won when the eight-hour day convention was launched by the first international labor conference at Washington in 1920.

With the French and German laboring classes thus a solid unit against the solid unit of the French and German Governments and the French and German industrial classes, Europeans point out that this is the first time since the war that the French and Germans of about any class whatsoever have ever gotten together on any question whatsoever.

While the fight now being conducted by the French and Germans against the eight-hour law is only part of a campaign that has been launched in a number of the leading European industrial countries, the question of reparations, as a basis for the fight, has enabled the French and Germans to push the matter farther than has been done elsewhere.

Before the governing body of the International Labor Bureau the German Government and the German industrialists have taken the position that the only way in which Germany can pay her reparations is by increasing her production, and that one of the most effective means to this end will be to set aside temporarily the eight-hour day and go back to the nine and ten hour day.

Against this position, however, German and French laboring classes have united as solidly as have the opponents of the eight-hour day. The German labor representatives are bitterly opposed to the idea that the burden of reparations must fall on the German workman. And in this the French workman is supporting his German brother.

No emphasis was the defense put up by the French and German labor representatives that the governing body of the International Labor Bureau has decided to continue harder than ever the fight to have the eight-hour day convention ratified by all the leading nations of the world.

The victory has just been followed by a similar victory by the Swiss workmen by means of the Swiss referendum law.

The fight in other countries over the eight-hour law is expected to be pushed to a conclusion by the workmen. The favorable position by the new English Labor Cabinet on the eight-hour law has greatly strengthened the position of the supporters of the convention in all of the other countries.

SPECIAL SCHOOL SURVEY IS WORKING OUT GENERAL PLAN

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 5—Every Texas teacher will be asked this month to enlist as a member of the Texas State Teachers' Association, President G. O. Clough has begun a special drive to bring the 1924 enrollment to a high mark and committees have been appointed in all of the eighteen districts of the state to carry on the enrollment.

The Texas School Survey is demanding special attention of Texas teachers, and enrollment is being urged this year earlier than usual so that there will be a special fund available at once for helping to give the facts of the survey to the patrons of the schools. President Clough and Director George A. Works of the Survey Commission have pointed out that the search light is on all phases of the educational system, and that the promotion of the publication teachers must do their utmost in of the findings concerning the prevailing conditions in Texas schools.

Speakers will be invited from among the groups of civic leaders, and all clubs will be asked to help get representatives to speak in all sections of the state. President Clough will enlist speakers from among the teachers; Harry H. Rogers from among the Federated Educational Council members, and Dr. Works from among those who have assisted in making the survey. A corps of experts may be organized from which to supply speakers for special occasions, wherever there are gatherings of people who are interested in education.

EXPERT ON FINANCES NOW IN THE POOR HOUSE

EL PASO, Texas, April 5—A student of finance, studying for years in the best universities of Germany.

Now in a poor house, almost 80 years old.

Karl Engelsfrewed, born in Switzerland, went to Germany for schooling. For years he studied finance in the best universities.

Then he came to New York from Europe; from there he went to Mexico. He came here 43 years ago.

Odd jobs were all he could find, despite his knowledge of finance "under experts" as he still proudly says. Part of the time he could not make a living at all. Once a kind German woman took care of him for a while.

He drove transfer wagons and sometimes worked in a laundry. He never married. Now he sits in the county farm among men who cannot talk to him for he is almost deaf and who can understand little of his broken English. He sees only light and dark—one eye is completely blind. He wonders why the finance experts forgot to tell him how to make money.

ROLLER SKATE PARTIES ON THE PAVED ROADS

By United Press

TONGANOIE, Kas., April 5.—What is thought to be the latest word in afternoon and moonlight parties for the younger set is being planned by a local club here. The innovation is advertised as the latest way to spend the evening or the afternoon, "two inches above the pavement." A roller skating party.

With the completion of the hard surfaced road through here some time ago, children of the town have been using it for a skating rink and now come the older ones who want to skate but do not care to do it promiscuously. In order to allow both the young and the old to glide with equal dignity the roller skating party has been announced.

It is reported a local enthusiast is to organize a team of speed artists and challenge any city along the highway between Topeka and Kansas City, to a race on the rollers.

WAYSIDE OBSERVATIONS

RANDOM SHOTS AT THE WISE AND FOOLISH

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 5.—The Kansas City Street Railway Company has been in the hands of receivers for several years. I do not know anything about its business but a receiver usually carries with it the idea that the concern thus handled is in a bad way. I do not know what it takes in the way of patronage to constitute a profitable business. I use the yellow cars myself—not the yellow cabs—and I do not recall having, as Webster defines it, rested on the posterior extremity of my trunk for nearly a month. In justice to the street car system I feel that I should say the service generally is quite satisfactory. The only improvement I could suggest would be to remove all seats as they accommodate only about sixty of the 125 passengers on the average street car. Thus fully another hundred could easily be cared for by suspending a few more straps from the ceiling everybody could stand on an equality and on each other's feet.

While I still cling tenaciously to most of the customs of a lifetime in a country there are a few habits and courtesies that I have broken away from. For instance, I seldom respond to appeals from medics, of which there are always a plenty. Also, I have learned to sit in crowded street cars while young girls and youngish women stand in the aisles. If I am standing I still give the ladies about me opportunity to take a suddenly vacated seat. If seated I will give up my seat to an elderly woman or a mother and little child. For this I always receive a thank you and some times a weary smile. I do not now recall that a young woman ever thanked me for giving her a seat. Moreover, usually, they are younger than I and better able to stand.

Some time ago there was more or less agitation in Kansas City over the water plant and some random talk as to the sanitary condition of the water. At first I did not give serious thought to the matter but finally concluded it might be just as well to be on the safe side. So one day in a down town lunch room I asked the waitress if the water served was pure. "Oh yes, sir," she replied. "We fertilize all of it." Since then I have drunk with utter abandon.

The other morning a young woman parked herself in the space between the double tracks on Main street a little south of the center of business and congested traffic. Four street cars and 17 automobiles came to a dead stop awaiting her royal pleasure. Motormen and chauffeurs, business men and strap-hangers fumed and perspired. No, she wasn't a jaywalker from a country town. She was a thoroughly sophisticated young woman employed here in the city. Was she excited or disconcerted? Did she fume and perspire? She neither was nor did. She was as calm as a basket of chips and as complaisant as a movie actress securing a million dollar contract. When she got good and ready she moved on and business resumed. I was standing near the curbing the other day waiting for a street car. A man and little girl of six or eight years stood near a carriage drawn by two horses passed by. The little girl trembled with excitement. "Oh, daddy," she cried "What's the funny looking thing." And to think only a few years ago the fellow who had a carriage was the envy of all the neighbors for miles around.

EARLY AYS ON THE PLAINS

deathless dead, and Northern folk manifested their admiration for the Southern youths by the bestowal of profuse kisses upon our gallant Hobson.

This tribute to you, judge, aptly applies to many others, that have passed the age of three-score-year and ten, and I ask that those who read this feeble expression of admiration from the son of a Mississippi Confederate, who carried wounds received in the memorable battle of Gettysburg to his grave, with leniency and overlooking criticism.

When I say men, strong men, brave men, who on many occasions, have charged the breastworks of the Union without honor, now when the battle is over and grim death is near, with tears coursing down their cheeks as they bid farewell to that man who led them to so many victories.

Flash the sword of Lee. Far in front of the deadly fight High over the brave in the cause of right. It's stainless sheen, like a beacon light led us on to victory. Out of the scabbard where, full long, it slumbered peacefully, Roused from its rest by the battle song. Shielding the feeble, smiting the strong. Guarding the right, avenging the wrong. Gleaned the sword of Lee. Out of its scabbard! Never hand Would sword from stain so free. No purer sword led braver band Nor braver band for brighter land. No brighter land had cause so grand. Nor cause, a chief like Robert Lee. (To Be Continued)

PROTESTS AGAINST USING OF STEER BONES FOR MAH JONGG

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, April 5.—A protest against the use of Texas steers' bones to make Mah Jongg sets was the substance of a resolution adopted by the Y. M. S. Club, a local organization. The city recently offered for sale several carloads of bones which Mah Jongg manufacturers bid on. The resolution stated that as the history of the state was so closely related to the Texas steer it would be inappropriate to decorate the bones of the steers by making Mah Jongg characters out of them.

EUROPEAN HORDES ARE RUSHING TO THE ARGENTINE

BUENOS AIRES (By Mail to the United Press)—The law that has shut out large groups of immigrants from the United States has done Argentina a good turn by directing many thousands of desirable European settlers toward the River Platte.

The Argentine Republic, with a territory one-third the size of the United States, and with but 10,000,000 inhabitants, could easily accommodate 40,000,000 more in ease and plenty. The greatest need of the country today is more settlers of the right kind. So thoroughly has this need been recognized by Argentine statesmen that perhaps there is no more popular quotation in all Argentine political and economic history than the famous statement, "To govern is to increase the population," made by the greatest Argentine writer, J. B. Alberdi.

Despite the country's need, however, for a rapid increase in population, rigid control must be maintained over the class of people allowed to enter the country. Even though the republic can absorb an unlimited number of immigrants willing to settle down on the land and dedicate themselves to rural activities, yet any large influx of industrial workers, commercial employees, professional men and those accustomed to only such work as can be found in the large cities, seriously taxes the country's ability to absorb them, and as a result many of such immigrants find that their labor is a drug on the market.

No statistics are as yet available showing what percentage of the 284,000 immigrants which entered the country in 1923 was settled on the land and what percentage has gone to swell the already overcrowded proletariat ranks of the larger cities, despite the efforts of the Government agencies and private organizations interested in the proper distribution of these new settlers. It is safe to assume that barely 40 per cent have eventually found their way into rural occupations.

HEALTH WEEK WAS WELL OBSERVED BY LOCAL PEOPLE AND EDUCATION IN HEALTH RULES DIRECT RESULT

Dr. G. G. Castleberry, city health officer, assisted by the various clubs of the city accomplished much good in conducting educational programs at the schools and urging the application of simple health rules in the homes of the students.

It is hoped that the citizens of Lubbock will cooperate with the city health officer in all efforts to prevent the spread of disease here as well as they did in a recent small pox epidemic, which was confined to only a few homes due to the strict quarantine of the families among whom the disease broke out so willingly.

Castleberry is a speaker for the Kiwanis Club of Lubbock recently stated that while it is well indeed that we set aside our week in which everyone should take special notice of their health and check up on the defects of their bodies, that this should be done 365 days in the year. He pointed out that the prevention of disease is more sensible and even cheaper before one is sick than afterwards.

WOMEN RANK HIGH IN THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

GENEVA (By Mail to United Press)—Woman has already won her place in the sun—at least as far as the League of Nations is concerned.

The principle of equality with men in all positions in the League having been recognized in the covenant, woman has pushed her contribution to a practical application until she has succeeded in leading virtually every activity of the League.

To date, the only two of the League organizations which she has not yet succeeded in breaking into are the League Council and the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague. Her absence in these two bodies is well set off, however, by her exceptionally big numerical presence in the League Assembly in the League Secretariat in the International Labor Bureau and in all the various League commissions and international conferences.

Perhaps her greatest victory to date has been her inclusion in the various delegations that are sent by fifty-four States to the annual Assembly of the League in September.

To date, seven different delegations have sent women members in various capacities, all of whom have delivered addresses before the Assembly and participated in the work of the six commissions that handle all questions on the agenda before they are passed on to the Assembly for final disposition.

It is in the Secretariat of the League of Nations, however, that woman has gained her greatest recognition. Of the 350 employees in the Secretariat, representing some thirty different nations, nearly half are women. Their nationality covers all of the leading nations, including the United States and Japan. All of them speak from two to a half dozen languages.

Two have positions which correspond with heads of sections, or the highest ranking places in the Secretariat after Sir Eric Drummond, the General Secretary, and his three under-secretaries.

One of these two highest positions fall to an American girl, Miss Florence Wilson, formerly librarian of Natural Sciences at Columbia, and who later organized for Colonel House the famous library of the American delegation to the Paris Peace Conference. Miss Wilson has organized on the American plan the League Library, which already embraces 50,000 volumes, and which is destined to be the greatest international library in the world.

Besides more than 150 other women who are scattered throughout the Secretariat, women occupy important places in virtually all of the League's various commissions, save that for disarmament.

Mrs. Hamilton Wright, an American, is one of the League's experts on the Permanent Opium Commission. Miss Grace Abbott, also an American, serves on the League's White Slave Advisory Commission.

PREPARING FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL AT CANYON

CANYON, Texas, April 5.—Preparations for the Music Festival, which is to take place in Canyon April 17, 18 and 19, are going forward satisfactorily, according to Wallace R. Clark, head of the department of music. The chorus of about 70 voices is well balanced and is doing excellent work with the orchestra of 30 pieces. The soloists, Mrs. Helen Parsons Pierle, contralto; Miss Ada V. Clark, soprano, and J. J. Powell, tenor, are progressing splendidly with their work. The part of Elijah will be sung by Dean Harold Butler of Syracuse University, New York, an outstanding figure among American baritones of today.

Dean Butler and Mrs. Butler will appear in a joint vocal as the second number of the Festival, and the Thayer Orchestra will give a symphony program as the third offering.

COLOSSAL TASK TO REMOVE ILLITERACY FROM INDIA

The government of Punjab, India, is seriously attacking the colossal problem of illiteracy. Seventy thousand boys were added to the school enrollment in 1921-22 and 150,000 in 1922-23, but it is exceedingly difficult to keep them in school. Three-fifths of them drop out before entering the second class, and fewer than one-fourth continue to the fourth class. Even of those who remain long enough to be classed as literate many soon relapse after leaving school into the mass of illiterates about them.

A beginning has been made in adult education, and adult pupils who show competence and enthusiasm often attain literacy after six months tuition.

DISEASE MENACES BEEF SUPPLY OF WORLD

LONDON, April 5—England is engaged in a desperate war against a beef-cattle disease, upon the result of which, scientists say, hinges the future meat supply of the world.

The pure-bred herds of England are menaced by a severe epidemic of the "foot and mouth disease,"—athing as dreadful in the livestock world as tuberculosis is and yellow fever once was, to humanity.

Drastic measures—slaughter of contaminated herds—are being taken everywhere in the British Isles to prevent the spread of the disease.

But despite these measures, which have cost $15,000,000 to date, it is still spreading.

The seriousness of the menace in England is not merely the death of a certain number of cattle, Argentina, Australia and America still have enough herds to feed the world, for a while, if every animal in England died tomorrow.

But most of the English herds are "pure bred" stock, animals not intended for slaughter, but intended for breeding. The pure bred calves from these herds go to Argentina, to Australia, to America and Canada, and in those countries as well as in England their offspring continue to maintain the fine blooded strains that give good beef-steak to the tables of the world.

If the pure bred herds of England should be wiped out by "foot and mouth disease" the world would before very long, have only "scrub cattle"—in other words, tough steak.

"The beef cattle strains that represent generations of concentrated human skill and achievement in animal breeding and evolution may be lost unless this disease is stamped out," agricultural authorities here have declared.

Meanwhile, every day there is slaughter of fine bred animals because they have the disease and, therefore, are a menace to other animals.

FILIPPINOS SHOULD HAVE INDEPENDENCE SAYS JONES

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5—That the United States is under obligations to give the Filipinos independence just as soon as they show themselves capable of self-government, was the declaration of Congressman Marvin Jones, of Texas, in an address on the floor of the House of Representatives. Mr. Jones contended the question was not what was best for this country, but whether the Filipinos were in position to run their own government.

"There can be no doubt of their desire for independence," said Mr. Jones. "Two missions have come here urging Congress to grant absolute independence. I was a member of the Insular Affairs Committee when the first came. That was the first time in history a dependent people plead for independence without reciting a complaint, but simply asked for the recognition of a fundamental right. Even the Woods-Forbes report shows that the Filipinos desire independence. It says 'we find the people are happy, peaceful, and in the main, prosperous. We find everywhere the Christian Filipinos—90 per cent of the population—desire independence.'"

"The big question before the Congress is the plighted faith of the Government. More than a quarter of a century has elapsed since Old Glory was first raised in the Philippines. For 150 years that flag has been the symbol of liberty and not of conquest. Can we afford by any act to raise a question as to our utmost good faith.

"Years ago Governor General Taft said the Philippines would soon be ready for self-government. Mr. Roosevelt said substantially as much. Governor General Harrison said they were ready. President Wilson three years ago urged immediate independence. The hour for action has arrived.

"I do not know what discoveries or inventions the future may hold, but I do know that whatever triumph or glories await the peoples of the world, there can not come to any race of men, to any country, to any land or people anything to take the place of liberty."

SNAKESKIN THE NEWEST THING IN LONDON HATS

LONDON, April 5—Snakeskin hats are the latest things in spring fashions here.

Rattlesnake hides—with the rattles—were the favorites at an opening display of the newest millinery.

Leopard-skin trimmings competed closely with the reptilian creations. Aside from the zoological section of the hat stores the new styles seem to run to futuristic effects—big crimson rosettes splashed against bright yellow, and all sorts of smashing color contrasts.

An inviolate rule of hat construction this year appears to be that one side of the brim must never, never be allowed to know what the other side is doing.

MARRIED 64 YEARS

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (United Press)—Residents of the hamlet of South Ticonderoga recently gathered in honor of the sixty-fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Palmer, believed to be the longest married couple in the Adirondacks. Both of the aged couple are in excellent health.

STATE TREASURY ENRICHED BY THE INHERITANCE TAX

AUSTIN, Texas, April 5—History is vague as to the origin of the tax-dodger, but the passing generations have not slighted Texas with the dodging descendants.

Reports of the state comptroller's department show that up to March 1, Comptroller Lon A. Smith had started toward the treasury $78,494.60 under adjustments and payment of the inheritance tax.

He was dubious at disclosure of the amount and assigned a special auditor to check up with the result that $30,000 in additional taxes from this source of revenue poured into the treasury during the past few weeks.

The main cause of the delinquent payment of the inheritance tax appears to be the failure of the executors of estates to file inventories with the county judges and the comptroller, Smith said. As a result the notices of the taxes due fail to reach the local tax collector whose duty it is to collect inheritance taxes upon the certificate of the county judge of the amount due.

In nearly all the adjustments made by the special state auditor sent out by Smith, it was found that the federal inheritance tax had been promptly paid, as an auditor of the government appears to audit the estate of the deceased shortly after death.

The state law differs materially from that of the national statutes in that it requires sundry reports and orders to be made to both the executors and the county judge among which is the certificate of the amount to be paid to the tax collector.

Mr. Smith foresees a large increase in revenue to the state if the necessary appropriations for the payment of a salary to a special auditor are made.

DAVIDSON FILLS SPEAKING DATE BY AIRPLANE AT SWEETWATER.

SWEETWATER, Tex., April 4—The stinging winds of a roaring norther and the fact that he missed his train connections for Sweetwater at Fort Worth did not prevent Lyth Davidson, candidate for governor from filling his speaking date here.

Chartering an airplane and a pilot in Fort Worth at two o'clock in the afternoon, Davidson arrived here in time for his address eight hours later.

Commenting on his wild flight, Davidson said: "Altitude makes no difference to my sincere conviction that more business in government is crying need of West Texas. It's just proof that no matter which way you look at this state, from above or below, the answer is the same."

Thieves Take Much Loot

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., April 5—Between 18,000 and 20,000 cigarettes, a large quantity of tobacco and candy were stolen when thieves robbed four stores at Bardwell during the night. A confectionery, a hardware establishment and two grocery stores were ransacked. Sheriff Henry Forbes is investigating.

TO MAKE JELLY BEANS AND BACHES COME ACROSS

MEXIA, Texas, April 5—A mysterious perfumed letter sent to local authorities announces the organization of the Bistille Club, whose mission will be to "make all jelly beans, bachelors, and widowers 'come across' or crawl in a hole and pull it in after them."

Though no information has seeped out about the new club, it is rumored it is composed of elderly maidens, whose open season for matrimony rolls around only once in four years.

TEXAS TO SEE ACTIVITY R. R. BUILDING

AUSTIN, Texas, April 5.—Texas is now facing a renaissance in railway building according to the report of application for certificate of approval made public by the chairman of the State Railroad Commission, Clarence E. Gilmore. Gilmore asserted that the railway activity during the last few months as indicated by the applications for approval of Interstate Commerce Commission had greatly exceeded any total reached in a similar period of time since he first became a member of the commission more than six years ago.

Approximately 1,000 miles of additional railway, serving almost every section of the state will be constructed in the near future if the present applications for the certificates of necessity and convenience before the commission are approved, Gilmore pointed out.

The longest of the contemplated roads will be the Texas, Panhandle and Gulf lines, certificate filed for the construction of a 304 mile road from Tucumcari, N. M., to Fort Worth, Texas, the hearing was completed last November but the arrangements and reports are not yet complete. The project if completed will form a valuable link between Texas and New Mexico and will facilitate the shipping of a large number of cattle and different products of the Panhandle to the neighboring state.

The second longest project is the proposed 250 mile railway to be constructed by the San Antonio Southern Railway between Christline, Atascosa county, and Rio Grande City. The hearing on the road was completed last June and is still under consideration. The line would prove a valuable asset in the handling of South Texas products.

No date of hearing has as yet been set for the San Antonio and Mexican Railway, 170 mile extension of the San Antonio, Uvalde and Gulf, but the certificate has been filed with the commission. The road, as outlined in the application would extend from Three Rivers, Live Oak county, to Fowlerton, in LaSalle county, thence to Laredo, in Webb county, adding a valuable additional link to the border country.

Plans for another line to Laredo are also contained in the certificate filed by the Neaves Valley, Rio Grande and Gulf Railroad company. The firm plans construction of a 135 mile line from Beeville, Bee county to Laredo.

Closer rail connection, for East Texas is embodied in the certificate filed by the Waco, Beaumont, Trinity and Sabine Railway company. The hearing was held in February and the report filed. This road, which would be 114.6 miles in length, would extend from Livingston, Polk county, to Port Arthur, Jefferson county.

In discussing the railroad program, Chairman Gilmore gave a brief resume of the rail construction in Texas during the past few years.

When the commission was first organized in 1891 by Governor James Hogg, he said, the people thought it would greatly retard the growth of lines in Texas. In 1891 there were only 8,000 miles of railroad in the state while today there is something over 16,000. "Texas needs more railroads," he continued, "but this re-awakening of railroad construction shows that the lines will most assuredly be built and that later the service will be extended to almost every portion of Texas which already maintains the greatest mileage of any state in the Union."

DIRT FARMERS TO DISCUSS QUESTION

KANSAS CITY, Kans., April 5.—The dirt farmer will have his inning at the Middle Western waterways conference here next week. Testimony of the agriculturist, the man who actually goes "back to the soil," will take precedence over the views of nationally known business men, expressed at the meeting in Kansas City, April 10 and 11.

That announcement was made here by R. M. Johnston, secretary of the Mississippi Valley association. Mr. Johnston is assisting the waterways committee of the Chamber of Commerce in arranging the conference.

"We intend to have men here of the type of Benta Huckstra, Chesterfield, Mo.," explained Mr. Johnston. "A few months ago he had 156 acres of productive land. Now he has eight acres. The rest was washed away when the Missouri river cut its last new channel."

Governor Hyde of Missouri has promised to attend the meeting. The chief purpose of the meeting will be to boost the Newton bill, providing for the appropriation of $73,000,000 for the improvement of the Ohio, Mississippi and the Missouri rivers.

RAILROAD MAN DEFENDS RATES BY TEXAS ROADS

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 5.—Prosperity of America almost depends on high railroad rates, R. E. M. Cowie, of New York, president of the American Railway Express Company told the Fort Worth Traffic club in a recent address here.

He asserted the people of America should stop "jumping" the railroads because of high rates declaring industry would stagnate should the rates be lowered to the point sought by many.

MEMBER FIRST GRADUATION CLASS AT T. V. WILL LECTURE

AUSTIN, Texas, April 5.—J. H. Cobb, member of the first graduating class of the University of Texas, who resides in Juneau, Alaska, has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address of the Ex-Students' Association on Saturday, May 31, in Austin. Mr. Cobb comes back to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of his graduating class, of which Albert S. Burleson, former postmaster general, was also a member. Mr. Cobb served for a number of years as attorney general of Alaska.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

1. Sealed proposals, addressed to the Hon. Mayor and City Commission Lubbock, Texas, and marked "Proposals for Street Improvements" will be received at the office of J. R. Germany, City Secretary, City Hall up to 9 o'clock a. m. on April 10th, 1924 at which time said proposals will be publicly opened, read, and considered by the City Commission for the construction of certain storm sewers and appurtenances, and the paving of certain streets in the City of Lubbock, Texas.

2. Proposals shall be on: "A" Storm Sewer complete in place with all appurtenances connected thereto, except storm water inlets, as per bidding sheet, in all sizes from 12" to 72" inclusive, and concrete lined channel. "B" Pavement in place complete, excavation, curbing, Gutters, Headers, storm water inlets, etc., as per bidding sheet. Bidders may bid on either division "A" or "B" separately, or both divisions. Division "A" may be awarded by the city in two portions each of approximately equal cost, and as near as possible contiguous. The city may award the paving work in portions of not less than 50,000 square yards to any bidder of which not less than 20,000 sq. yds. shall be of any one type of pavement on which he may have submitted a bid, except a hot mix asphalt type, when the minimum amount awarded shall be not less than 50,000 sq. yds, but the total awards on both divisions shall not exceed that which the city can pay from the proceeds of its $325,000.00 bond issued for its share of the street improvements and expense incident thereto, unless more can be satisfactorily financed.

3. Bidders must submit with proposal "A" a certified check in the sum of $5,000.00 and with proposal "B" a certified check in the sum of $10,000.00 payable without recourse, to the Mayor of Lubbock, Texas as guaranty that bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided, within 10 days after notice of award to contract to him. The certified checks must be drawn on a bank doing business within the state of Texas and certified by an authorized official of the bank on which drawn. Proposals without certified checks will not be considered. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned within 15 days after receipt of bids.

The successful bidder must furnish bond to the amount of 50 per cent of the amount of the work awarded to him, of form as specified, from a reliable Surety Company approved by the Mayor and City Commission.

4. The City of Lubbock reserves the right to reject any or all bids to accept that bid or bids deemed most advantageous to the city and to waive informalities. All prices must be stated in both script and figures. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating prices the City reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding local conditions, their signature on the proposal will be deemed evidence of their having done so, and having thoroughly studied the plans and specifications governing the work.

Instructions to bidders proposal and contract forms, specifications and plans are on file at the office of J. R. Germany, City Secretary.

Court House, Lubbock, Texas, and at the office of Hawley & Roberts, 403 Cotton Exchange Building, Ft. Worth, Texas and the Court House at Lubbock, Texas. Lubbock, Texas, March 24, 1924. H. G. LOVE, Mayor Pro tem. MARTIN S. RUBY, City Mgr. J. R. GERMANY, City Sec. HAWLEY & ROBERTS, Consulting Engineers, Fort Worth, Lubbock.

ENGLISH WORDS BREAK INTO FRENCH LEXICON

PARIS (Unitel Press)—The lowly bookmaker has at last been honored. He has found friends among the learned lexicons of the French Academy, and the English word "bookmaker" has been formally introduced into the French language.

The lexicons of the academy are compiling a new and exhaustive dictionary, the first volume of which will shortly be ready for the printer. Other English sporting terms which will be included are boy-scout, bridge, camping, challenge, chronometer, club (with reference to golf) court (with reference to tennis), cricket and champion.

But bookmaker caused more heated discussion among the eminent professors than he ever did at any race track and his triumph has just been announced with the completion of the letter B after years of work.

There is general criticism against the introduction of English words on the ground that this tends to favor "the language of Shakespeare and Lloyd George."

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR

$1045

Mark This Example of what Studebaker alone can do

STUDEBAKER is the world's largest maker of quality cars. Our assets are $90,000,000. We have 50,000,000 in model plants. Our sales have almost tripled in three years, because of our matchless values. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Motors. This is done in no other car at our prices. Then we use more Timken bearings in this car than are used in any competitive car within $1,500 of our price. And Timken bearings take up wear as no other bearings do.

Why this price?

This Light-Six Touring car is priced at $1,045. Built under ordinary conditions such a car would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

Come and see, before you buy a car, the reasons for this success. See this Light-Six Touring Car, for instance.

Built of the finest steels. Of the very same steels we use in the costliest of our cars. On some we pay makers 15% premium to get just the quality specified.

Built under an engineering department which costs us $500,000 yearly.

Each car subjected in the building to 32,000 separate inspections.

Same steels, same workmanship as in the costliest Studebaker models.

Two great features

There are many features in this Light-Six found in no rival car. But we want to mention two in particular.

The motor is perfectly balanced. That means long life and freedom from vibration.

The reason is this: We machine all surfaces of our crankshafts and connecting rods by 61 operations. Just as was done in Liberty Airplane

How It Excels

Steels are identical with the steels in the costliest car we make.

More Timken bearings than in any competitive car within $1,500 of its price.

Genuine leather cushions, 10 inches deep. Curled hair filling.

"ON TO BROWNWOOD" IS BECOMING LOCAL SLOGAN

SPECIAL TRAIN TO CONVENTION BEING PLANNED

THREE WAYS OF MAKING TRIP CONSIDERED BY LOCAL COMMITTEE

"On To Brownwood," the slogan adopted by the directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in a rousing meeting Friday afternoon, is fast becoming the motto of every progressive and live wire citizen of this thriving metropolis, which has run away with everything in sight and which intends to keep her lead.

The Junior Chamber was asked by the directors of the Senior chamber to be responsible for seeing that Lubbock was adequately represented at the sixth Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which will be held in Brownwood on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 13, 14 and 15, the Juniors with their characteristic enthusiasm have already started the ball to rolling.

There are three ways our folks can attend this convention—by auto, in a special Pullman or on a special train, and the latter way is the one that is highly favored by the both Chambers of Commerce.

It is understood that the camping facilities will be very inadequate for this occasion when 30,000 or 40,000 visitors will be in the city, and that the business section will be roped off to prevent autos from using the streets.

Cost Approximately $25. The railroad and Pullman fare for either the special Pullmans or special train will not be over $25 per person, which will cover all expenses, with the exception of the necessary eats.

Special Pullmans, if that is the way selected to make the trip, will leave Lubbock at 11:30 a. m., on Monday May 12, and will return to Lubbock at 6:53 a. m., Friday morning, May 16.

A special train will not leave Lubbock until Monday evening, May 12, thus saving considerable time to all those going from here.

Every Convenience Offered. Those going on pullmans will find every convenience when they reach Brownwood and during their stay there. A pullman city will be built, every pullman being provided with electric lights, telephones, hot and cold water, sanitary conveniences, etc. These Pullmans will be parked within four blocks of the new auditorium where all meetings of the convention will be held.

Lubbock's boosters are going to take advantage of the opportunity presented by the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Brownwood on May 13, 14 and 15, to advertise Lubbock and the Texas Tech as they have never been advertised before.

There will be between thirty and forty thousand visitors in attendance at this convention, thousands of them from sections outside of West Texas and committees from both the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce are planning to tell every one of them all they want to know about the subject most of them are deeply interested in—the great Texas Tech which will open its doors in September 1925, and about Lubbock, the "Hub of the Plains."

Dr. Horn, president of the Tech is to be one of the principal speakers on the program at Brownwood, and we can't do less than give him the support of one of the biggest representative delegations, at the convention. We owe it to him, to the Tech, to Lubbock and to ourselves.

Every business, firm and institution in Lubbock will be expected to be represented by at least one individual, preferably the owner, proprietor or manager. And every additional loyal citizen is urged to come on along and help put Lubbock and the Tech across in a big way.

And don't forget—the ladies are going too. Special entertainment features are being arranged at Brownwood for the ladies, and the committee in charge is going to make a special drive to get as many of the Lubbock ladies to attend as well.

In other words this is an occasion when Lubbock can show to the outside world, and especially to all of West Texas, for whom the Tech is built, what the real "Lubbock Spirit" is, and that is what is going to be done, with the loyal support of our splendid citizenship.

The above picture is a drawing of the first of the several buildings that will be erected by the state of Texas, which will make up the group of buildings that will compose the plant of the new technological college to be erected in Lubbock, work will begin at an early date. In our issue of last Sunday we gave a story of the meeting of the board of regents of that school, at which time the report and recommendations of the President, P. W. Horn, was received, and the board unanimously voted to carry out his suggestions, and the plans of the architects were received and approved. The photographic sketch shown above is of the new administration building of the Texas Technological College, showing the front view of the building and the second floor plan, together with a general plan, showing the layout of the school as agreed on by the architects, President Horn and the Board of Directors at a meeting Friday, March 28.

At this meeting the plans suggested by President Horn and the architects were approved by the Board of Directors and the general plan of the school, which is to be organized in four departments:—

- (a) A college of liberal arts.
- (b) A college of household economics.
- (c) A college of agriculture.
- (d) A college of engineering, one of the important sub-divisions of which should be a department of textile engineering.

The month of September 1925 is adopted as the date on which to open the doors to students.

During the first year of the college, the enrollment is to be limited to freshmen and sophomore students, that the junior year be added in September, 1926 and the senior year in September 1927.

That every effort be made to organize a school on such a basis to develop democratic ideas.

That the idea of self-support for students be fostered and recognized in the very organization of the college.

That no Greek letter fraternities be permitted.

This together with the adoption of the plans covering the administration building and the president's residence was the result of Friday's meeting.

In addition, the following buildings have been made provision for:—

- (1) First unit of women's dormitory.
- (2) First unit of men's dormitory.
- (3) First unit of agricultural building.
- (4) First unit of textile building.
- (5) Necessary units of heating plant, etc.

The architects are instructed to get up the drawings and figure plans covering these buildings. In addition, it will probably take sixty days to finish the completed plans for the administration building and the president's residence.

The building program as outlined above will cost about $1,000,000.00.

Scott May, under whose direction the M & L Filling Station was opened for business Saturday morning at the corner of Main and Avenue L, devised a very clever scheme in making a visit to the station profitable to automobile owners.

as with each sale of five gallons of gasoline, one half gallon of good Texas Company lubricating oil was given free.

This feature of the opening proved to be a very good drawing card and the employees of the company were kept on the hop all day and late into the night.

ADOBE WALLS HEROES TO BE HONORED BY MONUMENT

(Paducah Post)
Some time during last year this paper published the story of the battle of Adobe Walls, which was fought between pioneers of the Great Panhandle of Texas, and the Indians, in which the pioneers were massacred—save two or three. The story is too long to reprint just now, but we take it for granted that most of our readers remember it.
At last the spot where those 28 valorous men and one intrepid woman fought so gallantly to make the Panhandle a safe place for civilization is to be marked.
When the Adobe Walls celebration is held June 27, a concrete monument about 20 feet high will be unveiled to mark the place of the famous Adobe Walls fight.
The big picnic and barbecue will be held on the Turkey track ranch about 10 miles from Plemone on the site of the white men's fight with the Indians.
Every person in the Panhandle who wishes to have a part in this belated honor to the heroes of the bloody battle, is offered an opportunity to contribute any amount from 50 cents up, to the monument fund. This paper has been designated by the general chairman of the publicity committee, to receive subscriptions. People who wish to have a part in honoring the Adobe Walls heroes are asked to bring or mail their checks or money to this office. A list of donors to the Adobe Walls monument fund will be published.

Mrs. Billy Dixon, widow of the famous Indian scout, Billy Dixon, of Miami, Mrs. W. T. Coble, of Amarillo and the Turkey Track ranch on which the Adobe Walls battle was fought, Mayor F. P. Ried of Pampa and Judge Thomas, F. Turner of Amarillo, president of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, compose the financial committee.

Concrete slabs are to be placed at the corners of the five-acre tract given to the Panhandle-Plains Historical association by Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Coble. Concrete markers will also be placed on the site of the buildings which stood in the old stockade, and head stones will be placed on the graves of the victims of the Indian massacre, buried there.

The picnic and barbecue to be given in June is the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Adobe Walls fight. It is expected that several thousand people will be gathered on the Turkey Track ranch from all sections of the Panhandle and dancing, music, speaking and other events are planned.

Chairman F. P. Reid and Mrs. Dixon will be mainly in charge of raising funds in the North Plains. They have already started work, as it is planned to have the monument and marking slabs placed before the picnic is given.

AMARILLO MAN PLEASED WITH PLAINS TALENT

The following quotation of Emil F. Myers, head of the Amarillo School of Music, was taken from the Amarillo Daily Globe. Mr. Myers was one of the judges in the recent Spring Music Festival held here:
"The talent exhibited by the players in the music contest at Lubbock was good. I certainly do wish to commend the South Plains for having some real musical talent."

There's Something Different About This Picture

Using as a basis the scientific discoveries of a celebrated European doctor, who through gland treatment met with considerable success in restoring vitality to those well along in life, Gertrude Atherton, the celebrated novelist, wrote "Black Oxen," one of the recent best sellers.

With a theme that is decidedly out of the ordinary—rejuvenation as exemplified in a woman of 60, who has her youth and beauty restored to such an extent that she could pass as 30, possessing the charm of youth but retaining the brilliance of mind and wisdom acquired during a generation in a European court, and picturing a romance between her and a man many years her junior, "Black Oxen" proves to be one of the most interesting of recent productions.

"Black Oxen" is a picture that will appeal to both men and women, and especially interest the latter because of its theme. Even if the basic idea does not convince you, it furnishes the basis for an exceedingly interesting and intriguing picture that will please most people enthusiastically.

COL. MULLICAN TO ADDRESS S. S. CLASS

District Judge, Clark M. Mullican, will address the members of the Victory Class of the Baptist Sunday School this morning promptly at 9:30 o'clock, at the Lyric Theatre, using as his subject "Law Enforcement."

There were 194 present at the class meeting last Sunday and it is predicted that more than 200 will be present this morning.

Judge John L. Ratliff is teacher of the class and Sam Henry is president. It is believed by those working in the class that it will soon become one of the largest men's classes on the Plains. A special committee of the class members makes a round of the city each Sunday morning, between 8:30 and 9:00 o'clock, inviting all traveling men and visitors at the hotels to meet with them, and the number of visitors has been greatly increased by this method.

BRILLIANT DRAMA COMES TO THE R. & R.

Revealing the effect of the widely discussed rejuvenation, upon romance and alive with brilliant drama and rare beauty of dress and settings, Frank Lloyd's screen version of "Black Oxen," a First National Picture begins showing at the R. & R. Monday.

"Black Oxen" from the pen of Gertrude Atherton, because of its originality and modern atmosphere has been the best selling novel of 1923, and Mr. Lloyd is said to have given it an elaborate picturization replete with surprising incidents, and enhanced by the visualization of characters superbly described in the novel, "but demanding real life to obtain proper appreciation."

A majority of the scenes of the film play are laid in New York's social sphere, with flashes of the Austrian court brought into the theme for reference. More than 5,000 people appear in the action of the play, as audiences in three different theatre scenes, in an elaborate cafe sequence and in direct support of the principals.

Miss Griffith makes twenty-two complete changes of wardrobe during the action of the play, reviewers state, and her gowns, which cover a period of more than 30 years in fashions, are said to be unusually attractive.

GOVERNMENT ASKED TO HELP FIGHT FOREST FIRES

By United Press.

MADISON, Wis., April 5.—A program for intensive research as to means of controlling forest fires has been announced by a committee of Federal administrative and research foresters, meeting in connection with the Forest Products Laboratory here.

The committee report stresses paramount importance of co-operation of weather forecasters in determining "fire weather conditions," and aiding in control of fires by designating areas to which the fire is most likely to spread.

Methods have been devised, ac-ording to the committee, of accurately designating areas where greatest care must be taken to prevent fires. The report also recommends study of lightning storms, held responsible for a large majority of fires.

Over 17,000,000 worth of timber is destroyed by fires annually, it is estimated.

Principal points in the foresters' program follow:

1. A special effort should be made to put to practical use all available statistics on fires, placing emphasis on nature, extent and appraisal of fire damages.
2. Weather bureaus in Washington, D. C., Chicago, Denver and San Francisco will be requested to furnish a special weather report to forest officials in the regions covered by each bureau. This data will be studied to determine areas in which fires are likely to occur.
3. An appropriation will be requested for assigning meteorologists to the forest service and weather bureau to assist in fire hazard studies. It is recommended that observation of lightning storms be undertaken in Western districts.
4. Investigations are recommended to determine inflammability of forest growths, with study of actual fires with reference to such points, as rate of spread, general behavior and control.

5. Supervision of cutting in timber areas with relation to fire hazards.

DALLAS CLUBS OFFER PRIZES FOR ORATORY

DALLAS, Texas, April 5.—Various luncheon clubs in Dallas are offering prizes for winning orators in Dallas high school contests. Prizes are offered by the Kiwanis, Lions, and Vivitan Clubs and the Dallas Wholesale Credit Men's Association, one for each high school. The Dallas Times Herald has offered a prize of $50 for the winner in the city elimination contest and $100 for the winner in the district elimination contest. The winner in the city contest will compete in a district one April 28. The winner in the district one will compete in the state one to be held at Southern Methodist University, May 7. First, second and third prizes aggregating $500 are offered by Lynch Davidson of Houston for the successful competitors in the state contest.

The contest in Texas are sponsored by the American Legion. The Wichita Falls legion has appropriated $50 for a prize for the winner in the Wichita Falls district.

FASHIONABLE SHOP TO BE OPENED ON BROADWAY

Joe George and E. L. Meredith, well known local men, have just ordered equipment for a modern six chair barbershop and a beauty parlor, which will be located in the Bryan building being built on West Broadway by J. H. Bryan.

The barbershop will face the street, while the beauty parlor will be located in the rear of the building with an entrance on the Ave.

The most expensive and elaborate furnishings on the market will be bought and this valuable asset to Lubbock will be in operation by the 15th of May, according to Mr. Meredith.

TEACH YOUR GIRLS HOUSEWORK AT HOME, SAYS WOMAN EXPERT

OMAHA, Neb., April 5.—Teaching girls household arts in schools is a waste of time and money, if parents refuse to "back up" the teachers, Mrs. A. H. Reeve, Philadelphia, president of the National Congress of Parent-Teachers' Associations said here.

"What sense is there in teaching a girl household arts if all it amounts to is that she shall learn to cook on a dainty gas range," Mrs. Reeve said, "or wash clothes

"NORFLEET" TELLS TRUE STORY OF THRILLING COAST-TO-COAST PURSUIT OF ARCH-SWINDLERS

By A. STUART WHITTEN

NORFLEET: White Publishing Co., Fort Worth, Texas; 16 mo. $2.
From her inexhaustible treasure house, Texas has brought forth another sparkling gem.
English literature has been enriched by a most gripping, startling compilation of thrills, laughter and pathos, held together by a thread of stupendous human endeavor, tempered by tolerance and compassion. A wonderful story is the book, "NORFLEET," coming as it does in the form of a true narrative of the four year man hunt of J. Frank Norfleet, Texas ranchman, trustful child of nature, and his reaction to the first sting of human treachery.

The book is dedicated to Mrs. Norfleet.
"The wife, who when the crucial moment came, said to her husband: 'Go and get those miserable crooks. I will manage the ranch and keep you in expense money. Bring them in ALIVE; any man can kill, but in the part of a brave man to capture the criminals and let the courts avenge his wrongs.' Her unselfish devotion made this book possible."
It has been said that whenever a man is seen playing an important role on the stage of life, there is always a woman concealed somewhere in the wings.
The editor's preface and publisher's foreword serve admirably to stimulate the reader's interest and arouse his curiosity.
The plot of this true account is as perfectly constructed as any work of a master fiction writer. The story is told in a clear, straightforward, simple, poetic style. Great truths are expressed in the most casual, subtle manner, frequently scintillating with humor.

No book has been published in recent years which will appeal to such a wide range of readers.
The cowboy on the range will "Whoop 'er up" in vicarious enjoyment of the success of a member of his clan.

for a period of minutes each day, or learn to sew properly—if it ends in the school.
"I am a parent, not a teacher, I want to say to parents and taxpayers that no educational system is going to be a success if school is the only part of it."
Give school girls part of the regular household work, was the plea of Mrs. Reeve.
"Education, like Gaul, is divided into three parts," said Mrs. Reeve—"the home, community and school. Too many mothers say 'I'd rather do the work than have my daughter messing around.' That's what education will mean—just messing around—unless mothers help teachers in making the most of their girls' schooling."
Don't stop co-operation with the teachers when routine school work has been finished, Mrs. Reeve admonished.
"If schools teach swimming take the children to the lakes with you in the summer," Mrs. Reeve advised. "Go with your children to football, basketball, and other school games."

Peace officers, all over the land, will read this book to see which of their number have been found wanting.
A touch of pathos is injected as the reader catches an occasional glimpse of the woman out on the prairie ranch, performing the chores managing the business, after giving her consent for her husband to devote his time to running down crooks, later, like the Spartan mother of old, sending her only son to assist in the undertaking.
The reader is taken from coast to coast, "from Canada's icy mountains to Cuba's coral strand."
Sometimes in the story it seems Norfleet is but a modern Don Quixote, foolishly charging windmills, so thoroughly has the collusion of the crooked obliterated the trail.
Again, the reader is swept along with the old "Trail Hounds'" enthusiasm when, circling the track he picks up, not only to his quarry, but enables him to "free" the interfering human hounds, as well.
The red blooded youth will enjoy the thrills, while the philosopher will find much food for thought in the climax of the story and the publisher's "Conclusion."
"Just my gun and me," Norfleet lamented, when double-crossed at St. Augustine, Florida, in the early days of his chase. "Just the newspaper men and women of America together with a few honest peace officers have enabled me to win," is what he says today.

What & When to do it
By A. Leda

Dear Miss Flo—Is it proper for a lady to take her escort's arm when walking with him in the daytime? When walking with two ladies should a gentleman walk between them or on the sidewalk nearest the curb? Should a gentleman take the lady's arm when crossing a street? Thank you.
C. F.

A lady should not take a gentleman's arm when walking with him in the daytime unless she is infirm or elderly. It is only after dark that she does so, and then she merely places her hand within the curve of his elbow. (2) When walking with two ladies the gentleman always walks nearest the curb. If it is in the evening, he offers his arm to the elder lady. (3) It is never correct for the gentleman to take the lady's arm. If he thinks she needs assistance, he should offer his arm.

Dear Miss Flo—When it is necessary to remove a bone or seed from the fingers, should it be done with the fingers or a fork? Thank you. E. G.
A bone or seed should be removed from the mouth with a spoon or fork—never with the fingers.

Dear Miss Flo—Should dry cake be eaten with the fingers or with a fork? (2) Is it proper to shake hands with a gentleman when taking leave? (3) Should lump sugar be taken with the coffee spoon or fingers when there are no tongs? Thank you. A. F.

Cake should be eaten with a fork. (2) It is proper to shake hands with a gentleman if you care to do so. But if the meeting has been a very casual one, it is not usually done. A hostess in her own home always extends her hand to all of her guests as they leave. (3) Lump sugar should be taken with the fingers when there are no tongs.

Custard—By using warm milk in mixing a custard it will prevent the water from settling in the bottom of the baking dishes.
String Beans—To improve the flavor of string beans add a bag of chopped parsley.
Cakes—Before icing your cakes, sprinkle a little flour over them. This will prevent the icing from running off.
Recipe Book—By covering your recipe book with white oilcloth you will be able to keep the cover from becoming sticky if touched by fingers soiled with cooking. The oilcloth can easily be washed when it becomes stained.
Cakes—Add a teaspoonful of glycerine to the ingredients when baking a cake. This makes the cake light and feathery.
Salt—In damp weather when salt will not come out of the shaker, put a few grains of rice with the salt. The rice will absorb the moisture.
Fat is at the right heat for frying when it gives off a light smoke and has stopped bubbling. Throw in a small piece of bread. If it turns brown at once the fat is ready.

Stove Polish—Mix a teaspoonful of powdered alum with ordinary stove polish. It gives the stove a fine luster with half the work.
Chapping—To prevent the hands from chapping while hanging out the clothes in cold weather, rub the hands thoroughly with cornstarch.
Broom—When purchasing a new broom press it to the floor. If it is a good broom the straw remains firm. If the straws spread out and bend do not purchase it.
Mirrors—Use soap suds in washing specks from the surface of mirrors. Then rub the glass thoroughly with a soft pad made of crushed newspapers to give a high polish.
Suet—If suet is put in the oven to melt a little before shopping, it will be more easily shopped and waste is prevented.
Stove Brushes—Stove polishing brushes should be washed occasionally in warm, soapy water, to which a small amount of soda has been added.

CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCE AT SAN MARCOS APRIL 9-12
AUSTIN, April 5.—Miss Louise Kipp, instructor and lecturer in the home economics department of the University of Texas, will attend the Child Health Conference at San Marcos, April 9-12. Miss Kipp will act as conference instructor, and will attend similar meetings in San Antonio and Lubbock in May.
The Child Health Conference is primarily an educational measure for children from six months to six years old, and is held through the co-operation of clubs, schools, and various civic organizations. The services of a general physician, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, a dentist, and nurse are secured to furnish free of charge examination of children and helpful suggestions to mothers in correcting and preventing defects and habits that contribute to sickly children. In the examination of the children, all defects found by the doctors are recorded and made known to the mother. Co-workers then explain various subjects to the mothers desiring information on nutrition of young children, proper weight, prevention of disease, and general means of building up strong healthy children.

Such conferences are said to be especially beneficial in enabling the health standard of a child to be kept up from year to year through the annual meetings.

GIRLS PAY SCHOOL EXPENSES BY CLIPPING

AUSTIN, Texas, April 5.—Reading and clipping approximately 550 Texas newspapers is the means of ten young women students of the University of Texas have found to earn their expenses while attending school. The Student's Clipping Bureau is operated entirely by students, under the direction of the University Office of Publicity. Every daily and weekly newspaper published in the state is received by the Bureau, and the students read and clip them for numerous subscribers, including state departments civic and commercial organizations, fairs, chambers of commerce, trade magazines, candidates for office, and prominent individuals. The clippings are clipped, labelled, and mailed out by the studios.
Closing business establishments in order that all in the community may attend the graduating exercises is the unusual custom by which Pasadena (Calif.) honors its high school graduates. More than 25,000 persons saw the pageant, following which the members of the class of 1923 received their diplomas in the great "rose bowl."

SUITS FOR EASTER

By HEDDÁ HOYT
Fashion Editor for United Press
(Written for United Press)

Susie shops from shop to shop To seek a suit to suit her— A suit to suit her silhouette And a suit to suit her suitor.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Concerning the types of suits which are favored for Easter and spring wear columns could be written. There are as many varieties of silhouettes and fabrics as their Heinz pickles. Boyish suits, with either double-breasted or single-breasted jackets, are the most popular types for the woman whose figure is slender.

These come in plain colors, such as dark blues, browns, fawns, black and henna, and in pin-stripes, plaids and checks. Plain dark blues are perhaps a trifle smarter than other shades and mixtures as they lend themselves better to the accessories which belong to this year's tailleur.
In every case the suit must be soft of line and texture. If it is to be smart. While its lines are manish, its texture and lines should be soft enough to take away the too masculine effect. The suit of this season reflects the "dandy" rather than the tomboy, and it is the accessories which make or mar its smartness.
A dark blue double-breasted suit, worn with a white tuckered shir-waist an Eaton collar and a red or black bow-tie, is youthful enough for the little miss in her teens. The same suit worn with a more fastidious neck-trimming, a small fur-piece and a little white gardenia boutonniere becomes a smart tailleur for the young matron.

For Plump Figures
Plump figures will find that pin-striped materials are more slenderizing than plain ones. Single-breasted jackets are likewise more suitable for rounded figures. Those with the on-button Tuxedo closing and cut-away effect are particularly becoming to the more mature figure.

Besides the regular staple colors one sees suits or artichoke green, dull rose, orangeish henna, brick red, zinc, etc. These are sometimes piped with black or metal braid and have a more dressy effect than those of mannish colorings. There are many black satin suits which, though cut on mannish lines, assume a semi-dressy appearance. Buttons are being used in abundance on the more dressy type of suits. Buttons of silver, crystal, jet, cut-steel, carved ivory and colored bone are all being stressed.
Suit skirts are slender in effect and are short enough to make walking comfortable. Plain pumps or buckle-trimmed shoes are more desirable for the tailored mode than strapped and cut-out affairs. Shoes that come well up on the instep, with elastic side gorges, are also popular with the tailleur.

Accessories for the Suit
The suit demands some sort of a neck-piece. Sometimes it is the capeback of the jacket which gives the desired finished effect to the suit; again it is a scarf of vivid colors, a self-toned scarf lined in color, or a small animal fur-piece. Scarfs are just a bit smarter this season than fur pieces. Large skins, such as fox, are seldom seen, as anything that tends to detract from the trimness of the suit is taboo.
Both short two-button gloves and gauntlets are sponsored for suit wear. White collar and cuff sets are often used on dark suits, matched by white buttonnieres and white gloves of two-button length. Where tufts are not used on the jacket, gauntlets with embroidered or appliqued cuff effects are effective. White, fawn and light champagne are the most desired glove shades for spring.
Flat envelope-shaped purses with hand-straps, come in colored kid, moire and taffets, and they are in

WIND DAMAGED CENTER SCHOOL BUILDING; A BRICK STRUCTURE MAY BE BUILT FOR NEXT TERM

"Tis an ill wind that blows nobody good," and while a number of plainmen are wondering what good in the world could come of such windstorms as have been experienced here this spring, the old adage has proven true again.

During a recent heavy windstorm the beams which supported one side of the Center school building were snapped in two as though they were no stronger than matchsticks, and due to the fact that some agitation had already been heard by progressive patrons desiring to build a new brick structure, it now is the consensus of opinion among the voters of that school district that money spent repairing the present building would be wasted, and they are in favor of voting bonds for the erection of a twelve or fourteen thousand dollar school.

The Center school is being taught by experienced teachers who deserve a great deal better facilities for carrying on their work than can be supplied in the present quarters, and as the enrollment is past the ninety mark with a regular daily attendance of more than eighty students who are studying ten grades, the two teachers are at great disadvantage. It is expected that the daily attendance will be more than one hundred during next term, and it seems imperative that the building situation be solved at once.

We wouldn't be misunderstood as saying that the patrons of the Center school community have been negligent of their responsibilities of taking care of the increasing enrollment, for such is not the case. We were told that the teachers are given the very closest cooperation of the patrons, and that all the handicaps under which they are working is caused only by an unexpected increase in the scholastic population which was the result of so many new families moving to the community. One progressive citizen of that community declared Friday that there is no better spirit of unity and cooperation to be found in any community in the county, and he expressed the opinion that if the board of trustees see fit to order the election for voting bonds to build a new school that it will go over as nearly one hundred per cent as possible in any community.

The Center community is composed of folks who do things and under the aggressive leadership of the present principal of their school they will be on the top list of those who are accomplishing things that are worth while for Lubbock county and West Texas.

As an evidence of that eagerness to boost the south plains several farmers of the Center community are already beginning to prepare exhibits for the Panhandle & South Plains Fair that will be held in Lubbock in October.

BEAUMONT OFFICERS RELEASED ON BOND

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 5.—Bonds of $1,000 and $2,000 have been posted by Justices of the Peace H. H. TEXAS PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW SCHOOL WORK

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 5—That the Texas School Survey which is now in progress must be thoroughly and plainly reported to the people was the demand of President F. M. Bralley, of the College of Industrial Arts, in an address made Friday morning before the fourth annual educational conference of the University of Texas. He spoke on "Putting the Findings Before the Public." The opening meeting was devoted entirely to the survey, with President Bralley, President G. O. Clough of the Texas State Teachers' Association, and Professor H. H. J. Fling of Commerce as the speakers. President P. W. Horn of Lubbock presided. President Bralley made a plea that the facts about school conditions in Texas be given to the people in an attractive manner, "so framed as to enable the people to form definite conclusions, to make recommendations upon their own initiative, and to rise to the demands of society for the more efficient educational system." He insisted that the school system should be presented as a whole, so that there might be a clear picture in the minds of all of the schools as a unit. He further emphasized that the survey must set forth the facts as they are; in clear and simple language.

The value of pictures, good printing, photographs, and attractive arrangements of materials, the numbering of paragraphs, and such matters were stressed by the speaker as being essential to making the reports sufficiently attractive to get the attention demanded. He asked, also, that a corps of newspaper men, professional men of other walks, college administrators, leaders in men and women's clubs be requested to read the report before it is printed to see that it meets the demands of strength, simplicity and clearness.

President Clough spoke on "How to Apply the Results of the Survey in Local School Campaigns," in which he emphasized the need for the application of the findings of the commission in local school problems. He advocated a clear analysis of local schools and the presenting of the facts, good and bad alike, to the local patrons. This, he believes would arouse the people to a keener interest in remedying defects of the system.

He outlined a plan of operation, including the formation of a corps of speakers in every district to present the facts to the people; the establishment of a special committee within each faculty to make a study of how to apply the findings to the system; and the free use of the newspapers as mediums of reaching those who could not be brought to gatherings of teachers and patrons.

Examples of school legislation based on educational surveys in other states were pointed out in the address of Professor Fling. He gave a resume of the laws passed to remedy the schools of the twenty-six states which have made extensive surveys in the last few years.

DISOWN FAWNS TOUCHED BY THE HANDS OF MAN

By United News.

ANCORAGE, Alaska, — Despite the fact that it is rapidly becoming a domesticated animal, may be herded like cattle and is used to contact with man, the reindeer will disown any fawn which has been handled by man, says William T. Loop, superintendent of Alaska school, medical reindeer service of the department of the interior.

"The first I learned of this was when, up near Point Barrow, we had a reindeer cow, which fawned in the corral. So tickled were myself and wife over the new arrival that we fondled it and petted the fawn lavishly. When we told the Eskimo herder of it, he asked if we had put our hands on it. Being answered in the affirmative, the herder told me the mother would disown the calf. We put it to a test, but she refused to allow it to nurse or come near her. We handled it for a time, but it succumbed." "During the fawning season the Eskimos provide themselves with long reindeer hock gloves, that are deodorized, with which to handle the fawns, if the herd is moving and the baby reindeer are weak. The fawn is laid upon a fresh reindeer skin in the sled and never touched with the naked hand.

ADMIT RESERVATION INDIANS TO CITIZENSHIP

WASHINGTON, (United Press) —The door of citizenship would be opened to nearly a quarter million Indians under the Snyder bill, which has been reported favorably out of the house committee on Indian affairs.

The bill was introduced in the house by Chairman H. P. Snyder, of the Committee on Indian Affairs. If the measure becomes a law the Secretary of the Interior will be empowered to grant "citizenship certificates" to Indians now living, according to old customs, on reservations. Heretofore Indians who were members of tribes which had not adopted the civilized mode of living were precluded from becoming American citizens.

Two-thirds of the entire Indian population of the United States now enjoy the rights of citizenship and should the Snyder measure be passed by congress, the entire population will be admitted to citizenship.

MANY DIGNITARIES ATTEND CORNERSTONE LAYING

By United News.

DALLAS, Texas, April 5—Four Methodist bishops, a score of church dignitaries and a large crowd of theological students attended the cornerstone laying of Kirby Hall, the new theological building of S. M. U. Friday afternoon.

Dr. Paul Kern, dean of theology at the University delivered the cornerstone address, speaking on "The Ideals of a School."

Other faculty members, principally of the theological department, also were on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Harper Kirby, donors of the building, made short talks, taking "The debt I owe" as a subject. Kirby, a wealthy business man credited God for his prosperity.

As a man letteth his wife labor so is he!

Did you ever know a man who was so tender hearted that he couldn't stand to see his wife build the morning fires? The only way he could endure such tragedy was to pull the cover up over his head so that he would not be able to see his wife.

If men were housekeepers

If Lubbock men were doing the housework, cooking, sweeping, washing dishes and clothes, etc., the electric light plants now in operation in Lubbock would be running to full capacity every hour! But men of Lubbock don't have to do those things because their wives, mothers or sisters do that for them. Many men don't dare witness the hardships their wives suffer in keeping the house spotlessly clean, food deliciously prepared and clothes washed clean and ironed regularly. They just won't stand to see their wives suffer these hardships—and they are hardships to a large extent—because it IS NOT NECESSARY FOR MODERN HOMES TO be occupied by HUMAN SLAVES!

The Electrical servant never tires

The electric current is the servant of modern homes. It is the cheapest and by far the best servant money can buy and human skill can find. Every room in your home should have more than one source of tapping this "faithful servant." The man who is really doing his part toward making his home life a pleasant experience is surely taking advantage of the many reliable and moderately priced electrical servants obtainable in Lubbock.

FAMOUS ARGENTINE RACE TO STUDEBAKER FOR THIRD TIME

BUENOS AIRES, April 5.—Pushing ahead of a field of twenty-five American and European contestants, a Studebaker Special-Six won, for the third consecutive year, the spectacular Gran Premio of Argentine, South America's foremost racing event.

Sr. Mariano da la Fuente drove the Studebaker to victory over a course twice the distance of former years and along roads in so hazardous condition that only thirteen of the twenty-five entries finished the complete distance.

Distance Was Doubled De la Fuente has driven in a number of previous Gran Premios, but this was his first year behind the wheel of a Studebaker. In the 1922 race he was beaten out of first place by a Special-Six and last year again finished unsuccessfully. So he concluded that this year he would east his lot with Studebaker.

Third and fourth prizes went to Gianinni and Ferreyra respectively, both of whom also drove Studebaker Special-Sixes, making a total of three places won by Studebaker in this year's race.

Studebaker's winning time was 24 hours and 45 minutes over a treacherous course of 1,520 kilometers (about 950 miles). The race last year was 750 kilometers (465 miles). The racers started from here and made their way to Rosario thence to Cordoba, and returned by the same route to Buenos Aires.

The Gran Premio is held annually under the auspices of the Argentine Automobile Club. The hard service to which the cars are subjected in this grind is greater than many months of ordinary driving.

So gruelling was the race this year that nearly half the entries were compelled to drop out, due to mechanical difficulties brought about by the road conditions over which the race was run. The famous Gran Premio is more than a test for speed. South American motorists consider it a final contest for gauging motor car endurance.

Wins for Third Time The fact that a Studebaker, for the third time, won this speed-flight against some of the most expensive European and American makes was commended on by the judges. In 1922 the race was won by Antonio Ovides in a Studebaker. William T. Burke's Special-Six was the first car over the line last year. The Studebaker's victory here comes on the heels of similar achievements in South Africa, the Syrian coast, Australia and Florida.

PEOPLE OF 1924 DON'T KNOW BIBLE, PASTOR SAYS

OMAHA, Neb. (United Press)—"People nowadays know a pitifully small amount of Scripture," Rev. John L. Barton, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, said. "Not one minister in Omaha would dare challenge his congregation to quote 16 Biblical passages. A few know the 23rd psalm and most know the Lord's prayer, but beyond that their knowledge is very limited."

Modern methods of Sunday school teaching were scored by Rev. Barton. "I asked a small boy what his Sunday school teacher talked about," he said. The boy replied "Andy Gump." The text, I found out, was "And he walked with God and he talked with God."

DON'T BE KING IF YOU WANT TO LIVE LONG!

LONDON (United Press)—The longest-lived men in the world, according to a table compiled by English scientists, are the speakers of the English House of Commons. Their average is 80 years. Lord Chancellors come next, averaging 79.6.

French kings compose the shortest-lived class, averaging 47 years during the time when France had kings. English kings have averaged 57 years.

Comped with the average life of 62 years for "ordinary" men, it is shown that "distinguished" men average 68.4 years, and "very eminent" 69.1.

Among the "contemplative" group, scientists live longest, averaging 74.47 years and saints are the lowest, 59.2.

Musicians average 59.5 years and poets die comparatively young, as it were, at 59.4, while prose writers are able to struggle along to the ripe old average of 61 years.

The moral is obvious that it doesn't deserve reputation—but don't be a king of France if you can possibly avoid it.

POLICE JOIN SECRET SERVICE IN SEARCH FOR MISSING PAYMASTER

By United News. LOS ANGELES, April 5.—Deputy Sheriff and police officers were co-operating with secret service men and United States marshals here Friday night in the search for Lieutenant Ervine Brown, paymaster, who is charged with absconding with $120,000 of navy funds. The body of a man who committed suicide at Venice Friday was found to be not that of Brown as was at first believed.

Mrs. Daisy Brown, wife of the accused man, declared that her husband is not responsible—that he is demented. She is staying at her mother-in-law's little cottage at Azusa, near here, taking care of the three children although she was near a nervous breakdown.

USE OF ELECTRICITY IN TEXAS DOUBLES IN 5 YRS.

A report just issued by the United States Census office shows that during the five years from 1917 to 1922 the number of central station electric light plants in Texas increased from 254 to 290, or 14 per cent. In the same time the capacity of such plants increased 98 per cent, and the number of customers increased 72 per cent. This showing indicates the rapid growth of the communities served and reflects to some extent the movement to serve more than one community from a single plant with the object of arriving at greater economies of operation. Expenses operation for these plants increased 129 per cent in the period under consideration which was 20 per cent more than the increase in output. The cost of service to consumers, however, did not increase. Greater efficiency in operation presumably made up the difference of twenty per cent increase in the cost of producing the service.

METHODIST AT UNIVERSITY RAISE MISSION FUND

AUSTIN, Texas, April 5.—Methodist students at the University of Texas will begin the annual Daniel Fund Drive this week, according to Edwin P. Ruehrer, student pastor of the University Methodist church. The fund is used for missionary purposes in Brazil and has steadily increased from $750 in 1914 to $8,000 today.

"This is the largest missionary work done at any University in the country," said Terrell Sledge, of Kyle, one of the active Methodist students. "Yale speaks of her 'Yale in China' and Harvard of her 'Harvard in Pekin', but this work is even larger. We could speak of our 'Texas in Brazil'." The drive is in charge of Miss Mary E. Decherd, adjunct professor of pure mathematics in the University. The workers are divided into 13 teams of ten members each. Each team has a captain. There are 1450 Methodist students in the University.

The Eyes

Sight is one of God's greatest gifts to man—by the aid of it we walk, act and have our very being. We observe the passing show—the beautiful things—the doning of nature in its coat of green in the springtime—sunshine and flowers of summer—golden harvest and multicolored leaves of Fall and snows of Majestic Winter. This great blessing is often sadly unappreciated through neglect of the eyes.

More Than 600 Years Ago

Spectacles were invented and a monument was erected to the memory of the inventor. For two hundred years reading glasses only were used, then minus lenses were made and used to correct nearsightedness. More recently, in the nineteenth century, cylindrical lenses were produced, and are used to correct an optical error known as astigmatism.

So now, instead of having lenses for reading purposes only, we have many different kinds of lenses specially ground to order from prescriptions by skilled refractionists of the eye, muscle-strain, crossed eyes in children, in fact, lenses that correct practically every error of refraction of the human eye.

Benjamin Franklin first conceived the idea of bi-focal, or double vision glasses and put them into use by having an optician cut his reading and distance lenses into halves horizontally and fitting them into one frame, that is, two halves of the distance lenses in the top and two halves of the reading lenses in the lower part of his spectacle frame. This construction produced prismatic action, but led to the manufacture of the unsightly split bi-focal, then came the grooved bi-focal and the cemented bi-focal, and later on the fused bi-focal and now we have several different kinds of ground in one piece bi-focals, some of which have no lenses of demarcation and are practically invisible.

In the United States alone, there are upwards of fifty optical schools and colleges, one hundred optical manufacturers, one hundred and sixty optical manufacturers and importers, three hundred jobbers and prescription houses, and twenty thousand optometrists (op-tom-e-trists): In Texas seven hundred or more, practicing optometrists.

Every state in the union now have laws recognizing and regulating the practice of op-tom-e-try. Minnesota was the first state to pass such a law, and Texas was the last state to do so. This law defines the practice of optometry, establishes a state board of examiners, prescribes standards of education and qualifications, specifying lawful and ethical procedure in the practice of this profession, and provides penalties for the violations of same.

Vision is so highly important that it enters into our daily avocations and is the means or agency through which the major portion of our education and knowledge comes; and knowledge in conjunction with good vision is the foundation of all the sciences, arts and inventions of man.

The science of optics, optometry and the application of same by optometrists skilled and experienced in perfection of the eye are public benefactors; your friends and servants, and aside from a few quacks and charlatans, as in other professions, are men of honor and integrity, doing a great work for humanity at a nominal fee in the conservation of eyesight and aiding vision.

We claim not only to be one of the best refractionists in Texas, but in the entire southwest.

By throwing $200,000 on the market in a lump sum, buying an equivalent sum in francs, Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, is said to have greatly aided in stabilizing the French franc, and to have made 1,500,000 francs to be applied to the purchase of an American Legation in Paris. Will Hays, czar of the movies, was summoned to appear before a Senatorial investigating committee to be asked concerning an alleged gift of 75,000 shares of Sinclair Consolidated by Harry F. Sinclair to make up a deficit in the Republican campaign funds. Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defense and head of the Irish Free State Army, has resigned following a mutiny of officers. This is the building Mr. Herrick has purchased, for a sum said to be approximately $300,000. The building, situated at No. 3 Avenue d'Orléans, in one of the most aristocratic sections of Paris, is said to have cost originally $2,500,000. It is luxuriously appointed.

PLAN TO LIMIT FUNDS BEING DRAFTED

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(Copyright, 1924, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The evils of large campaign contributions are widely recognized and admitted, especially since the scandal investigations threw new light on the problem, but the question of correcting these by legislation provokes wide differences of opinion. Legislation is now being drafted and at least one measure will be introduced shortly by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee. This will be followed by other bills and the whole subject will figure prominently in the coming campaign and will lead to serious consideration of regulatory action in the next session of congress. McKellar's bill will seek to:

1. Limit expenses of presidential candidates.
2. Limit individual contributions to $500 each.
3. Limit the amount which political parties may borrow from banks.
4. Prohibit contributors from accepting offices.
5. Prohibit office-holders from contributing to party funds.

The problem is approaching from a different angle by W. J. Bryan, who is advocating a law which would finance campaigns out of the public treasury.

Theodore Roosevelt urged such a measure in his message to congress in December, 1907. Bryan would allow each party ten cents per voter.

This experiment was tried in Colorado 15 years ago when a law was passed allowing each party 25 cents per voter to be divided equally between the state and county organizations. But the measure was declared unconstitutional before it could be given a real test. Several attempts have been made to deal with the problem by congress but all have been notoriously ineffective.

Contributions by corporations were prohibited by federal law in 1907 but the active heads of corporations continue to make huge gifts in their own names.

Congress acted to limit the expenditures of its own members in 1911 by fixing $10,000 as the maximum for senators and $5,000 for members of the house. But this law was so drawn that it does not cover personal expenditures, printing and distribution of material. In fact, large expenditures can be made legally despite the apparent restrictions.

Both parties are equally flag-

MINISTER ASKS PREMIER TO DEBATE VIRTUE OF SOCIALISM

By United News.

LONDON, April 5.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald has been challenged to defend Socialism against Christianity.

The Rev. W. W. Lucas of Christ Church vicarage issued the challenge to the Premier.

The challenge was based upon MacDonald's recent speech at a Free Church convention, in which he declared Socialism is based on the Gospels and that Christianity needs a great conception of social reconstruction by the way of evolutionary socialism.

Lucas announced his readiness to defend in public debate his contentions, representing, presumably, the Conformist Church, that:

"The teachings of socialism are contrary to the teachings of the Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles," and

"The great characteristic of Christianity is not its binding humanism."

MacDonald declared the exact opposite. He asserted, in effect, that if Christianity hasn't humanism it hasn't anything today, conventional Christianity hasn't much humanism.

"Now is a good opportunity to reason the matter out," said Lucas. "The contention made by Mr. MacDonald has often been put forward. Let it publicly be disputed."

Because it might be "bad form" to challenge the Premier point-blank, Lucas formulated his deft in a request that MacDonald "appoint a representative" to debate the issue. This is construed as a demand that MacDonald himself defend his views.

SYNDICATE LANDS COMMITTEE REPORTS

Panhandle Herald:

The report of the three commissioners, Frank Tatum of Dalhart, William Balfour of Vega, and R. S. Dodd of Alpine, appointed by the Travis county district court to select from the Capitol Syndicate lands the 59,782 acres recovered to the state as excess lands, have filed their report with the court at Austin. The report shows the selection of 32,021 acres in the southern part of Fort Worth & Denver railroad track at the town of Channing. Another tract consisting of 25,850 acres is located in the northern part of Dallam county. The two tracts comprising a total acreage of 57,871 1/2 acres as compared to the judgment for 59,782 acres. This discrepancy in acreage is due to the court's order commanding the commission to find a general average value of all the Syndicate lands and select the acreage in accordance with the general average value. It was stipulated in the judgment that in the event the selected lands contained improvements, the value of such improvements must be deducted from the acreage by using the valuation method. It was found by the commission that the improvement valuations on the lands selected would equal in value the number of acres deducted from the judgment.

In compliance with the court's instruction that the commission find the general average value of the entire Syndicate lands, the average value was fixed at $10 per acre, and in order to select the acreage recovered found it necessary to make the selection in two separate tracts, and it is said that the greater part of the land is classed as agricultural.

Before the land designated in the report can be delivered to the state the Travis county district court at Austin must set a date to hear counsel representing both the state and the Capitol Syndicate company as to their approval of the report, it being the prerogative of either side to object to the report, and if such objection, if there be any, should meet with the approval of the court, then the commission would be required to make a further report. But if the report is agreeable to both sides, then the court will deliver the lands incorporated in the report to the state.

As soon as the lands are delivered to the state, Land Commissioner J. T. Robinson will have the lands surveyed in such size tracts as in his judgment will get the best results in placing the lands on the market to be purchased by the highest bidders. After the lands are surveyed, classified and advertised 90 days prior to the date of sale, any person may send to the land commissioner a sealed bid for any certain tract or tracts up to a limit of 5,120 acres, the law limiting any one person to the purchase of that number of acres.

In advertising for these bids the land commissioner will fix a minimum price on each tract and the highest bid above that price will be awarded the land. One-fortieth of the bid must be cash and the remaining thirty-nine-fortieths will be payable in 40 years with 5 per cent annual interest.

As has been stated in these columns heretofore, the Herald editor is hopeful that the land will not be ready to come on the market before the next legislature meets, so that the law may be so amended as to limit the acreage of the agricultural land to 320 acres to any one purchaser, instead of eight sections as now permitted by law. But in a series of letters from the land commissioner, he points out that the law requires him to place all marketable school lands on the market on the first days of January, May and September of each year. Therefore, if the court delivers to the state the Syndicate lands in time to have the surveys and classifications made 90 days prior to the first day of next September, he must place the land on the market at that time.

Before these lands are advertised for sale, however, the land commissioner will make a close study and inspection of the lands so as to classify them as either agricultural or grazing lands, after which the land will be advertised in such size tracts as will be sufficient for one person to make a home. In other words, if the commissioner believes that a tract of 160 or 320 acres of the agricultural land is sufficient for one person he will advertise it to be sold in such size tracts, thus giving the person of limited means an opportunity to bid on a small tract. The Herald is pleased that the commissioner will avail himself of that provision of law which makes it his duty to classify the lands and advertise the sale in such units as will get the best results, and thus make it possible for the entire 57,871 acres to be purchased by people who really need and want it for homes instead of falling into the hands of a few purchasers to be held for speculation.

BRAZIL'S DAMAGE GREAT FROM STORMS

RIO DE JANEIRO (By Mail to United Press)—Brazil's rainy season, extending from late December to middle of March, has been one of the most disastrous in the history of the republic.

Besides heavy damage suffered by coffee planters, fruit growers, and the populations of the large cities due to shortage of food supplies through traffic interruption, more than a score of deaths have been reported and hundreds of families were made homeless when their dwellings were wrecked by flooded streams.

Owing to the swelling of the River Parahyba, the city of Campos situated 160 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro, and the Parahyba's valley, was flooded.

Receipts of coffee at the seaports were cut to almost nothing, owing to interruption of railway traffic between the coffee plantations and the seaboard.

UNIQUE PENSION PLAN OPENS IN ARGENTINE

BEUNOS AIRES, April 5.—President Alvear, of Argentina, today officially abolished work for everybody who has toiled twenty five years.

Everyone in the country, citizen or foreigner, who has a quarter century of work in any capacity and for anyone, including himself, to his credit is entitled to a pension on which he can live the rest of his life.

The president today signed a decree making the new pensions law effective April 1.

On that date everyone who has labored 25 years may immediately be drawing full salary without working. Those with years yet to serve must pay five per cent of their salary into a national pension fund from which the rewards to the elder workers are paid. Employers must augment the general fund by contributing another five per cent of their payrolls.

In the event of the death of a pensioner, his wife or mother is entitled to the full pension until her death or re-marriage.

It is estimated that 500,000 persons will contribute during the first month, a number of which will be greatly increased thereafter.

Minors and domestics are exempted from payments, but are entitled to count the time of their employment towards later benefits.

Salaries are to continue during sickness or other disability.

Employers and many workers' organizations vainly sought to stave off the law on the ground that it is a political measure, carelessly planned, which cannot work, and cannot be made effective for several years anyhow.

They charged the plan would provide a huge fund over which there would be insufficient control of safeguards. They succeeded in delaying enforcement of the law for two months.

In the city of Lubbock are in urgent need of improvement by excavating, grading, draining filling and paving the same, including concrete curb and gutter; and WHEREAS, the City Commission of Lubbock deems it necessary to improve said streets; Therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF LUBBOCK That Hawley & Roberts, heretofore appointed engineers for the City of Lubbock to design and superintend said improvements for the said city of Lubbock, be and are hereby directed to at once prepare plans and specifications for said improvements, and file the same with the City Commission.

That said improvements shall be of one or more of the following materials:

Types of Pavement:
Vertical Fibre Brick, Uvalde Rock Asphalt, Rock Asphalt, Amiesite, Warrenite-Bitullithic or Willite on either concrete, Road Gravel, Waterbound Macadam, or Asphaltic Concrete Type Foundations; Reinforced Concrete and Plain Concrete

That said plans and specifications shall set out fully the different materials and the different classes of work upon which bids will be received. That the cost, including plans and specifications of said improvements shall be paid as follows:

(a) The City of Lubbock shall pay one-fourth of the total cost of said improvements exclusive of curbs and the portion of improvements under or between the rails and tracks of steam railroads and two feet on the outside thereof.

(b) After deducting the amount provided for in Section (a), property owners abutting on said street shall pay three-fourth of the remaining cost of such improvements except curbs which shall be paid for wholly by the property owners. The proportion of said cost payable by the property owners shall be paid in six payments the first within 30 days of acceptance; the balance in 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 years from date of acceptance of work by the city, together with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the date of acceptance, providing that said assessments may be paid before maturity, with accrued interest to the date of payment. That said proportion payable by said property owners shall be assessed against their abutting property and against the owners of the same in accordance with the terms of Chapter 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas of 1911, in accordance with what is commonly known as the Front Foot Rule or Play as the frontage of the property of each owner on each particular street is to the whole frontage of property to be improved on said particular street, providing that should the application of this rule in the opinion of the City Commission be unjust or unequal in any particular case it shall be the duty of the City Commission to apportion and assess such costs in such manner and proportions as it shall deem just and equitable, considering the special benefits in enhanced value to be received by such property and the owner thereof, so as to produce a substantial equality of benefits to and burdens imposed upon each property and its owner; and providing that no assessment shall be made until after the notice and hearing to property owners provided by the terms of Chapter 11, Title 22, Revised Statutes of Texas, of 1911, and the Charter and ordinance of the city of Lubbock, and further providing that no assessment shall be made against any property or its owner in excess of the benefits in enhanced value accruing to such property owner by reason of said improvements. That portion of the costs payable by the City of Lubbock shall be payable on Monthly estimates to be made during the process of the work, and the final estimate upon the completion and acceptance thereof.

(c) All that portion of said improvements lying between or under the rails and tracks of Steam railroads, and two feet on the outside thereof shall be wholly paid for by said steam railroads in the manner and at the times specified herein for abutting property owners.

The fact that it is necessary that the plans and specifications be represented and approval and that the preliminaries to the assessment be made against the property be had in the urgent need for street improvement while the weather is permissible, creates an emergency and public necessity that the Rule of the Charter requiring an ordinance to be submitted at two several meetings before passage be and hereby is suspended and this ordinance enacted at the meeting of its introduction.

ENGLAND IS TO INSTALL WIRELESS IN WEST INDIES

By United Press

LONDON, April 5.—The eagerness of the British government to link-up the empire by wireless is shown by the announcement that a big contract has recently been given to the Radio Communication Co. here, for the erection and equipment of a chain of seven high-powered wireless stations on the islands of St. Kitts, Antigua, Dominica, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, Brenda and Barbados the crescent-shaped archipelago, which flanks the Caribbean.

Private enterprises will, it is stated, be confined strictly to the equipment and initial testing, as the stations are to be operated by the Pacific Cable Board which, at present, controls the All-Britain cable from Bamfield, British Columbia to Australia and New Zealand via Suava, Fiji, and Norfolk Island, under joint supervision of the Imperial government and the governments of Australia and New Zealand.

The contract is to cost just over $300,000, which will be shared by the colonies concerned, the Canadian government and the Imperial government.

The stations have been found necessary owing to the continual interruption of the local submarine cables due to the rocky nature of the ocean bed.

In view of the fact that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of the French cable system in the West Indies by an American Company, the new wireless scheme is regarded as being of considerable importance in safeguarding imperial communications from control by foreign monopolies.

GIRL CRIMINAL SAYS HER BODY HAS TWO SOULS

BERLIN, (By Mail to the United Press)—Margarete Mosel, now doing a nine months' sentence for fraud, blames her plight to the fact that she "has two souls."

This woman known here as a sort of Jekyll and Hyde, told the court that her "left soul" is inhabited with beautiful thoughts, whereas her "right soul" is the soul of a criminal.

Fraulein Mosel, known to her friends as lecturer and author, tricked firms and the head of a Catholic sanatorium into purchases of foodstuffs, the sale of which Fraulein Mosel claimed was permitted by the Food Ministry.

These fake sales netted her large amounts, but the supplies never materialized.

"At the moment of my birth," she said, "two persons died. One was a harmless nun and the other a criminal. The souls transmigrated into my body and these souls have been fighting constantly, one against the other, for the upper hand in my life."

COTTONSEED MEAL and HULLS

There is no question but that cottonseed meal grows in popularity as its intrinsic value becomes known. There is no foodstuff known that will place the same amount of fat on cattle within so short a time as cottonseed meal combined with cottonseed hulls, and this fact is recognized wherever this feed is used. When fed to dairy cows, its use increases the quantity of milk, improves the color, and the cream therefrom makes richer and better butter.

More Evidence of Potash in Western Texas

Depth of Beds Struck and Percentages of Potash Found

The discovery of fairly rich potash salts in drill cuttings taken from two new wells in southwestern Reagan County, Texas, just announced by the Department of Interior, has revived interest in the search for potash in western Texas. These two wells, which lie close together, are known as the San Rita wells No. 2 and 3. San Rita well No. 1, a report on which has already been made, is in section 2, block 2, Reagan county; well No. 2 is 800 feet west of No. 1, and No. 3 is 800 feet north of No. 2.

Chemical tests made by the United States Geological Survey of cuttings from these wells show that the drill penetrated beds containing potash at depths between 1,181 and 1,687 feet. Beds that are possibly relatively thin or of low grade were found at depths between 1,181 and 1,210 feet. Thicker or richer deposits were found somewhere between depths of 1,275 and 1,325 feet. Considerable percentages of potash were found in cuttings taken between 1,393 and 1,445 feet, and as much as 31.2 per cent was found in material brought up from depths between 1,480 and 1,560 feet. Indications of potash were found in beds lying between depths of 1,620 and 1,687 feet.

Deposits Penetrated by Three Wells Drilled Close Together

Cuttings from the Santa Rita well No. 3 brought up in the hauler from depths of 1,305 to 1,325 feet contained 9.75 per cent of potash, equivalent to 14.17 per cent of potash in the soluble salts, and cuttings from both wells taken between 1,275 and 1,305 feet contained a small percentage of potash, from which it may be inferred that a thin layer lies above a thicker layer somewhere between 1,275 and 1,305 feet. If the deposits in the entire interval between 1,305 and 1,325 feet are actually so rich as the analysis indicate the beds thus discovered should be of great commercial value.

The cuttings representing the interval between 1,346 and 1,355 feet in well No. 3 contained 7.90 per cent of potash, equivalent to 9.10 per cent of the soluble salts. Smaller percentages in cuttings obtained at the two next lower balling points may in part represent material derived from beds penetrated by the drill at higher points in the well.

In the Santa Rita well No. 2 cuttings bailed from a depth of 1,405 to 1,415 feet yielded 9.27 per cent of potash, equivalent to 11.45 per cent of the soluble salts. Here also, small percentages of potash, contained in material derived perhaps from levels higher in the well, were found in the two succeeding bailings. All the levels at which the cuttings unusually rich in potash were obtained lie within depths of about 1,400 feet, and therefore within mining reach of the surface.

The logs of wells Nos. 2 and 3 confirm the results of assays made in April 1923, of salts from well No. 1. All three show rich salts near the 1,300 foot level, in a zone that may be as much as 100 feet thick. Although the potash seems to be concentrated in largest quantity somewhere in this zone, it may occur here in seams no more than a few inches thick. Zones of somewhat leaner salts seem to exist at depths of about 1,200 feet, 1,400 feet, and 1,550 feet, and more thorough examination with the core drill may reveal layers of workable thickness near one of these levels.

Rich potash salts have been taken from wells drilled at other points in western Texas, but no logs of wells drilled close together that penetrated potash-bearing deposits have heretofore been available.

Core Drilling Needed

Cuttings taken from a well drilled by an ordinary churn drill are not wholly reliable for several reasons—the more soluble salts may be leached out by the water used in drilling; loose material from higher levels may fall to the bottom of the well; and the incomplete cleaning of the well may permit part of the cuttings left from one balling to mix with cuttings taken farther down. For these reasons the real thickness and richness of the different layers of potash in this region of Texas can be determined only by core drilling, but it is already evident that the United States has here potash reserves of commercial value within practicable reach from the surface. An examination of cores should be made to determine how rich the deposits are and how far they can be made available with profit for the use of the farmer and fruit grower in at least the central part of the United States.

COLLEGE CO-EDS VOICE FLAG ALLEGIANCE

By United Press.

Valparaiso, Ind., April 5.—While the embattled students of Valparaiso University waited for the pacific group at Northwestern to accept their challenge for a debate on war duty, every male student was pledged for "front line" service in the next war in the infantry, artillery, marine corps or tanks.

Fifty three men vowed to become fliers in the army aviation service whenever hostilities impend.

In support of this warlike showing, Valparaiso co-eds, led by Margaret Amelon, El Paso, Texas, who was recently voted the most popular girl on the campus, condemned pacifism on behalf of the softer sex. "To women all war is horrible. It maimes and kills our brothers, husbands, and sweethearts," said Miss Amelon. "None hate war so as women. But at no time is a woman so proud of manhood as when he puts on his uniform and goes to the defense of his country. At no time is he so contemptible as when he shows a yellow streak.

"The women of Valparaiso hate war and will fight it until their country gets into war again and then I for one, want to help by being a nurse."

Valparaiso's debaters led by their captain, Perry H. Murphy, declared themselves opposed to all war but were among those pledged for combat service. The challenge sent to the Northwestern asked three pacifists to debate the following proposition: "Resolved—that willingness to fight in defense of one's country is a patriotic duty with which pacifism is incompatible."

In amplification of the challenge, Captain Murphy said that "the fight Valparaiso students have a contempt for student bodies sick with pacifism and want an opportunity to tell them about it."

DUEL WITH SUBMARINES STOPPED CHALLENGER

PARIS (United Press)—Richard Harding Davis' American who, in Mexico, answered a ridiculous challenge to a duel by choosing snowballs as weapons in July, has been outdone by the editor of the London "Outlook" much to the confusion of an Egyptian gentleman named Shalaby Bey.

The editor accepted Shalaby's challenge and using his prerogative of chivalry, selected as weapons submarines—equipped with 12-inch guns.

The challenger objected to the editor's reference to the Egyptians as "hysterical children who are playing at self-government," and sent him a card for a duel.

DRASTIC STEPS TO ERADICATE WHITE SLAVERY

By United Press.

GENEVA, April 5.—Under the presidency of Colonel William Snow, director of the American bureau of social hygiene, a commission of international experts met here today for the purpose of drawing up the program for an immediate international investigation as to the present status of the white slave traffic.

The investigation will be conducted in the leading countries not only of Europe, but of two Americas and Asia.

The investigation will be the first serious effort to establish whether or not since the war the international white slave traffic, which was evidently well-organized and flourishing before the war, has since been resumed.

During the four years of the war the travel restrictions brought the white slave traffic to an end. Although it is generally presumed that since then it has been revived, various Leaguers are not at all convinced of this fact.

The entire expenses of the investigation, although being carried on under the auspices and direction of the League of Nations, will be met by the American Bureau of Social Hygiene, which has appropriated $75,000 to this purpose.

Both this contribution as well as the decision of the Council of the League of Nations to undertake the investigation were the direct results of Miss Grace Abbott of the Women's and Child's Labor Bureau of the Department of Labor and who represents the United States of the League's White Slavery Advisory Commission.

Miss Abbott was one of the first to express doubts whether the real organized international white slave traffic has been resumed since the war.

According to present plans investigations will first be made in those European and Asiatic countries and cities where white slaves are usually recruited; then in those ports from which they are usually embarked, and finally in the leading ports of North and South America.

The commission which met today is composed of Colonel Snow of America as president, S. W. Harris of England, Princess Christian Giustinai Bandini, Isidore Maus of Belgium and Alfred de Meuron of Switzerland.

The commission expects to complete its program within a week, when it will be submitted to the League's White Slavery Advisory Commission, which convenes on April 7.

LABEL LIZARD EGGS, DEMANDS BRITISH HEN

LONDON, April 5.—No British gentleman or lady either, should have to eat lizard eggs in ignorance.

If one chooses lizard eggs for breakfast, that is all well and good—but on should have a fair chance of knowing the family tree of one's eggs.

That's the big idea in the "Merchandise Marks bill" pending in the Commons. It would require eggs and other imported foodstuffs to carry labels showing the country of origin. During debate on the bill assertions were made that quantities of lizard eggs were imported to England from China and sold and eaten as hen's eggs.

A proponent of the bill presented a pitiful picture of "one poor, little Yorkshire hen struggling day after day to compete with a lizard thousands of miles away in China."

The bill was passed to a second reading, the little brown hen in Yorkshire clucked encouragingly to the little red rooster, and lizard-egg stock began to sag.

Canada imports about three-fifths of a pound of tea per month for every unit of her population.

BENNETT NEW COTTON

Lubbock, Texas, March 25, 1924.

The H. T. Kimbro Grain Company, Lubbock, Texas.

Gentlemen—I see your advertisement of the BENNETT NEW COTTON SEED. Please reserve me some seed.

In 1915, which was not a good cotton year, I planted 17 acres in BENNETT NEW COTTON, and gathered 12 bales, each weighing more than 500 pounds, while other varieties of cotton made one-third of a bale to the acre. I believe this is the best cotton for this country.

(Signed) S. S. RUSH.

Lubbock, Texas, March 20, 1924.

The H. T. Kimbro Grain Company, Lubbock, Texas.

Gentlemen—Please reserve me 50 bushels of the BENNETT NEW COTTON SEED. In 1913 I planted 65 acres of the BENNETT NEW COTTON. I had gathered only 20 bales when my crop was hit by a hail storm. It seemed useless to try to pick any more, but I gathered a total of 56 bales from the 65 acres. Yours truly, (Signed) JOE HERZET.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

W. M. PEVEHOUSE

If a fellow should come in some time about now and take a look at some of the census reports that the census trustees are turning in, he would think that all the children from somewhere were coming to this land. When one little district increases its scholastic enumeration by one half, you may know that there is surely something going on somewhere. Well, that is just what is happening.

If we take the Union, No. 3, seven miles west of Slaton under consideration for a moment, we shall see just where we are headed for and just how fast we are traveling. In 1922, Union had 67. In 1923, she had 80. Now in 1924, Union has 115. By that you see Union has almost doubled in two years. No wonder that the towns in this part of the country are growing by leaps and bounds. There is nothing on earth to hold a town down when the surrounding country is filling with an agricultural population. This influx of people is of the very best type. We are getting the cream of the milk of human life in this skimming. We sometimes think that God has sifted the population of the nation and given the best to the Plains. At any rate, in the sifting process, we do not get the leavings. All who know anything of the nature of the Plains people are aware of this fact, then of how much more importance is this enormous growth. How much more do we appreciate these people who have come to us and have signified by their willingness to work and brave the storms, that they have cast their lot with us for better or worse. Of just that material do we need more folks. And then, God is sifting a kingdom to place teachers at our command to teach the children of these new folks as well as of the old residents. Just this week a letter came from Washington from a man—a real man, 6 feet, 6 inches, weighs 197 pounds, seven years experience, and is just now graduating from the National University at Washington. This man said he wanted me to place him in a school in Lubbock county. He never asked how many months the session would be. He never mentioned the salary he would receive. He said only that he wanted a reasonable place. He said many vacancies existed where he lived but he was headed for Lubbock. He is O. L. Smith, 225 E. Capital St. That is the kind of teacher we are looking for. Yesterday I wrote to him that we would do our very best to make room for him.

Today Prof. Milton Greer and his sister, Miss Grace, from Henderson county arrived and stated that they wanted positions in Lubbock county's rural schools. They come well recommended. They are Henderson products, and are proud of their home, but they are guilty of the same thing that you and I are, viz. of leaving the old home and hunting a new land. As Horace Greely said, "Go West, young man, and grow up with the country." Mr. Greer said he wanted to locate before he returned to Henderson next week.

Speaking again of our initial subject, that of increase in pupils. In 1922, Acuff had 91 scholastics. In 1923 she had 110. In 1924 she has 170. Almost doubled again in this increase of two years.

If we look at Woodrow in 1922, we see 92. In 1923 we see 129. In 1924 we see 147.

Those three named schools are obliged to build more room. Acuff will build two more rooms. Woodrow will build two, while Union will erect a new four room $10,000 structure, if present plans materialize.

Then there is the Canyon Independent School, 6 miles east of Lubbock. A petition was drawn in my office yesterday to double the tax rate in their community. The land is valued there at $25 per acre on a 50c tax. The plan is to lower the valuation and raise the rate and thus pay less into the State Treasury and more into the school treasury in better proportion. At present we pay more into Austin than we get back in scholastic remuneration, while six counties in the east get as high as $3 back for every $1 paid. Then eighteen counties get $2 to $3 for every $1 paid in. More than half of the counties get considerable more back than they pay in while a few get less. We are one of the minority. What is the trouble? Well, some folks say we have our land valued too high by the commissioners' court. If you are interested, ask the commissioners about it. As proof, you might say to them that Hale county, our sister on the north has a flat valuation in common districts of $6 per acre while we have $12. County Line No 20 is half in Hale and half in Lubbock. The trustees there say that the school tax on a section in Lubbock county is just double the tax on one in Hale, though only a wire fence separates the two. Thus the man in Hale schools schools his child at the expense of his Lubbock county neighbor.

Now that is not the worst of it. Because of this $6 valuation, Hale county's school funds show up short. Then up comes the inspector from Austin and allows them $12,000 aid as the committee figures it out down at the Capitol City, while Lubbock county is allowed only $3,000. Is that fair? Well, what are you going to do about it? They pay on half the value and get four times the State Aid. Thus the man who helps himself, is obliged to root hog or die. I spoke to a man from Hale county yesterday who has a boy in the local hospital, and he said they got a nice sum of State Aid and their two is only 75c.

while every common school in Lubbock county has a dollar tax and we are told that we need no aid. I am strictly opposed to this State Aid proposition, the way it is carried on. If we are to help educate the people of the east just because the folks down there say we are rich out here, then why not make the folks in Amarillo and San Antonio, and the oil fields, who are richer than we, help you and me educate ours. I could preach on this for an hour and then not be through, because I am opposed strictly to the way the things is carried on.

Down at Wolfarth school, the trustees believe in the principle that when you know you have a good thing, why say so. L. L. Nixon has taught them a good school. The board has re-employed him already three weeks ago. Miss Lucy Dee Owan, the intermediate teacher was also retained. Mrs. Ana Casey, who taught four years, at Carlisle has been employed as primary. Thus these people are fortified against the influx of teachers looking for positions. Wolfarth is a coming little town. Beautiful location. Don't forget the Association at Shallowater, April 12th. Teachers wanting places and boards, needing teachers should come and get acquainted. I have long been of the belief that if more folks would get out and get known to each other, we would all get better results all around.

MAH JONGG CRAZE HITS ENGLAND, TOO; DEBATE ITS AGE

By United Press.

LONDON, April 5.—England is all excited over the age of mah-jongg. The ancient and undecided American question about the antiquity of Ann-isn't in the running any more.

The mah-jongg rage is as virulent here as it is in the United States. And here, as everywhere else, there is passionate debate over the question: "How much do the Chinese themselves play the game, and have they been playing it for many centuries, or is it a new trick they have slipped over on the Occident in order to stimulate the manufacturing industries of Shanghai?"

So far as the London tongs are concerned if you want to be in the fashion you must belong to one of two schools:

1. Those who know mah-jongg was invented during the last few generations; who can produce Chinamen to swear to it, and who will bet real money they're right.
2. Those who know mah-jongg was old at least two thousand years ago; who can also produce Chinamen to swear to the fact and who, if necessary, will swear they were there at the time. And this crowd will bet, too.

A Modern Plant for Cleaning

Now that you can positively rely upon the Lubbock Tailoring Company to clean your silk dresses perfectly and without injury, you get an idea of the real meaning of a Modern Cleaning Plant. Silk, the most delicate of fabrics, cannot be cleaned in any ordinary manner without being ruined. When we seek your cleaning business—and especially ask you to send your silk dresses to our plant, we do so without a particle of doubt in our minds as to the entire satisfaction that will be yours when our wagon returns them to you. Yes, we have cleaned thousands of Silk Dresses—some of the most expensive in the west, and those who have tried our service in this department will tell you enthusiastically of the service we perform.

Easter is just a few days ahead of us. Are you going to pay out a big sum of money for silk dresses because some of those you now have are soiled? Or are you going to be sensible, economical, and send those soiled ones to use for cleaning—and wear, too, the nicest for the Easter parade?

DON'T FORGET ABOUT OUR CURTAIN CLEANING DEPT.

Spring cleaning is now getting under way. Sandstorms have come and gone. Everything should be brightened for the spring months and least of all in time and expense to you is the cleaning of your curtains if you send them to our plant.

WE WILL NOT STRETCH THE OUT OF SHAPE
 THERE WILL BE NO RAVELLED EDGES
 WE POSITIVELY CLEAN THE WITHOUT INJURY

Taking into consideration the completeness of our cleaning establishment, we believe that you can see that today Lubbock is being served in this line in a far superior way in which many cities only enjoy. We appreciate your business and your interest in our endeavor to make our plant worthy of your growing patronage.

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

I am fortunate in having a sleeping porch that is almost out of doors among the treetops. Dozens of birds—mimic birds, red birds, all kinds of birds—room in the trees close by, almost within touch. Evidently these residents of the trees think that spring has come, for while they sing their early morning songs all the minter through, there is a distinct note of jubilation apparent in their notes these days. They sing as if they were fairly running over with joy and gladness at the return of spring, and they begin each morning before the peep of day. Each bird apparently is trying to sing more lustily and in sweeter notes than his neighbor, and each has its own song. Despite these variant notes and keys there is no discord or inharmony in these bird songs, and the music is as sweet as if it came from some celestial choir. I have come to listen for the song of a favorite bird and to separate it from all the rest just as one distinguishes a voice in a choir from the other voices even though it blends in perfectly with all the others.

Joseph Pulitzer kept a pipe organ in his music room near his bedroom, and employed an expert organist to play the organ every morning in order that he might be awakened by the sound of the music. I have always thought that Pulitzer was a better man for starting the day under the influence of the beautiful strains of the organ, and I know he was if he tried to stune his own spirit to his melodies. Pulitzer's music was a luxury that none but a man of great wealth could afford. It is my good fortune to have this bird orchestra without cost, the birds seem to get even more pleasure out of the entertainment than they furnish me, and I am sure they awaken me each day just as cheerfully as they would a Morgan or a Rockefeller. I do not even have to use a radio set to get this regular service and do not have to consider the static conditions. Truly we have pleasures all about us, if we but open our hearts to receive them.

Many counties in Texas are erecting hospitals at public expense. The churches everywhere are turning their attention more to the care of the sick. Soon Texas will be or should be pretty well supplied with hospital facilities easily accessible to people of both the cities and the country. There is a feeling, though, that hospital fees and charges are too high for people of moderate means. The rich need but give but little attention to the cost of hospital service, for whatever the charges, they can afford to pay them. The extremely poor, if not too proud to accept a gratuity, are exempt from any charges. Many, thought, prefer to suffer rather than accept a charity. The family of moderate income is often too poor to pay large medical and hospital fees and consequently is not privileged to have hospital attention and service. If the public is to be taxed to build and sustain hospitals, and if the churches are doing the same thing as a proper work of religion, the fees should be such that the largest number of people may be able to avail themselves of hospital service. Of course private hospitals may charge whatever fees the business will stand, but public institutional hospitals should not be operated for profit.

A San Angelo news report tells of an actress who came there to see her sick four-year old boy, arranged for his funeral, kissed him good-bye, and went to join her company and fill her engagement. There was something in the news report of commendation for the actress' action in tearing herself away from her dying boy in response to her business obligation. I am old-fashioned enough to feel that her highest duty was to the suffering child. Perhaps she could have done nothing to alleviate his pain or to stay death, but it is a strange conception of motherhood that would separate any mother from her own child at such a time, even though to stay with him might mean the sacrifice of a life work.

The Grapeland Messenger carries these words under the masthead: "An ad in the Messenger is worth two on the fence." That may have been all right in years gone by, but in this day of rapid transit by auto and train, an ad in a newspaper is worth twenty on the fence or on a bill board. People passing swiftly along a road get but a fleeting glimpse of the road signs, and as half of them are firms long out of business, a sign has to be fresh, attractive and expensive to get much notice as the mile-posts along the way.

BANISHED FOR 400 YEARS

PARIS (United Press)—Elizabeth Dubois won't come to France again for a very long time. She has been banished for 400 years. Elizabeth has been convicted many times for theft, attacks on government agents and other crimes. Various tribunals passed sentence on her, and many stipulated banishment for periods of years. She finally made her way back and was arrested here. She was banished for 20 years more, which, added to the other sentences, total 400 years. Elizabeth is now 44 years old.

SEVEN YEARS A FUGITIVE RETURNS AND CONFESSES

KANSAS CITY, April 5.—Nine years brooding over a murder he had committed brought Nick Yarnevich, Russian, back to the scene of his crime, with two pleadings; one that he was the man guilty of slaying to death George Wince Streko, in 1915, and the other that he be sent to prison for life.

"I never want to get out again," he told the judge. "Put me there for keeps." Yarnevich's confession tells of how he followed his victim here from Omaha, Neb., before he could muster the courage to murder him. Then one night he followed his victim out a saloon, overtook him and slashed his throat, nearly severing Streko's head. Yarnevich was arrested following the crime but was released. He left Kansas City soon after and has wandered over the country, trying to forget, he says. A few weeks ago in Portland, Ore., he told everything to the police, who notified authorities and he was brought back.

He has been assigned counsel who will determine what disposal he will make of the case.

MEMBERSHIP OF CHURCHES ON INCREASE

By CHAS. M. SHELDON (Editor of the Christian Herald.)

NEW YORK, April 5.—The last American church census compiled by Dr. H. K. Carroll for the Christian Herald, brings the total membership of all churches up to 45,457,366, and an increase of 680,000 for 1923.

One reason of this gain may be found in the new interest shown all over the country in religious education. Churches of all denominations in every part of the United States are putting up special buildings for Bible school use. Large and modern equipment goes into these buildings. They are planned with care and furnished with attention to community life. The interest shown by all the denominations in this form of church activity has resulted in a large accession to church communion from the young life in the parishes. And this fact itself is one of the most significant factors in the history of church progress so far as membership is concerned. When the churches begin to educate and evangelize their own youth there is certainly of growth in church membership. This awakening to the value of religious education may mark a departure on the part of ministers from too much preaching to a good deal more teaching. The suggestion is being made by several of the church leaders that a morning service that revolves about the needs of the children might yield much greater results than a regular preaching service for older people from which children are excluded, or at least where they are seldom found in any numbers. The same suggestion is also made for an evening meeting of younger life for the express purpose of training it for future religious service.

In any case, the church figures of expansion are interesting facts and in a large degree explained by the newly awakened thought in the church of the value of the young.

PARACHUTE THAT WORKS NEAR GROUND

PARIS (United Press)—A new parachute has been invented by Maurice Blanquier and satisfactorily tested by Aviator Peullot. It is guaranteed to open after a fall of 30 feet.

Peullot climbed to the ceiling of the Winter Palace, 60 feet above the floor, and jumped with the parachute. If it had failed, he would have been killed, but after a drop of half the distance, the parachute snapped open and Peullot gently came to the floor.

Parachutes now used by the French aviation service cannot be trusted to open in less than a drop of 1,000 feet, and it is felt that this new type will lessen the mortality from aviation accidents near the ground.

THE MARK OF QUALITY

Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords

It is already an accepted fact that the Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord is one of the big things accomplished in tire building.

The public and the automotive industry have registered overwhelming approval.

We are familiar with the facts about the Balloon Gum-Dipped Cord; how it has so materially bettered riding comfort, safety and car conservation, without sacrificing mileage or increasing fuel consumption. Ask us to explain why the special Firestone gum-dipping process is essential to successful balloon tire construction. We will tell you how the thin sidewall is made stronger and more flexible by impregnating every fibre of the cords with special rubber compound. With Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords the difficulties and hazards of rough roads disappear. For these great air-cushions easily absorb obstacles and roll smoothly over depressions.

The broad, pliable treads cling to the slipperiest road surfaces, giving far better braking control. Skidding or slipping is almost impossible. Traction is made far more effective.

See us for complete information regarding the application of these wonderful tires to your car.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT

FIVE DAYS FREE TRIAL

We will equip your car with Firestone Balloon Cords and Gabriel Snubbers. If after 5 days you are not highly pleased we will remove them without cost. This offer applies to Snubbers or Tires alone, if desired.

Gabriel Snubbers bring physical luxury and mechanical economy in such marked degree that today more than 2,000,000 cars are Gabriel equipped.

Gabriels smooth out rough roads. They make driving and riding easier. They save the car from the damaging jars and jolts. They prevent many body squeaks and rattles. They save motor and frame from stress.

Thirty leading manufacturers regularly equip one or more of their models with Gabriels. Thirty-one others drill holes in the frames of their cars so that installation is quick, easy and inexpensive.

With such overwhelming trade and public endorsement as this, why should you deny yourself the comfort and economy which Gabriel Snubbers bring?

WASHINGTON, April 5—New sensational disclosures uncovered before the Daugherty investigating committee Friday have caused the senate committee to abandon its previous intention of bringing the hearings to a close.

Even more important disclosures threatened to grow out of evidence of aircraft frauds placed in the committee's hands by Secretary of War Weeks on condition it will be held as confidential.

Important disclosures were: 1.—Wm. J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation, declared he had been "called off" an investigation of a dope ring in the Atlanta federal prison by Heber Votaw, brother in law of the late President Harding.

2.—Chief investigator of the committee, Senator Wheeler, introduced a photostat copy of a letter purporting to be from Charles Vincentini, Baltimore bootlegger to E. H. Mortimer, setting forth an agreement whereby Mortimer was to get a parole for $50,000.

3.—J. E. Dyer, of Oklahoma, former warden of the Atlanta penitentiary, testified a huge drug-ring had been operating in the prison that he had been powerless to stop it because former Attorney General Daugherty and Heber H. Votaw, superintendent of federal prisons had refused to aid him.

4.—Daniel E. Smith, formerly butler for Howard Mannington said that whisky, gin and other liquors had been delivered to his masters house in twenty case lots under guard of a man "with a badge and a gun" and that Harry M. Daugherty, Harry F. Sinclair, Will Orr, and Mr. Christian "were frequent visitors to the house."

5.—In executive session, the committee decided to go to Washington Court house, Ohio, to inspect the books of the Midland National bank of which Mal Daugherty, the former attorney general's brother, is president to ascertain how much money Jesse Smith, Daugherty's friend, really had on deposit here.

Burns testified that he had been prevented from taking up the Atlanta Drug ring by "higher ups" between the dope traffic coming after the Dyer sensational disclosures of the ring furnished the sensation of the day.

Declaring one of his agents told him Votaw brother in law of the late President Harding, had ordered investigation of the dope ring stopped, Burns said he appealed to his superiors in the department of justice to no avail.

He told the committee that if he had been permitted to push the inquiry he would have caught those behind the ring and placed them in the penitentiary. Dyer told the committee Votaw opposed stamping out the drug ring because of the unfavorable publicity attendant on it. Dyer declared Daugherty had not opposed investigation, said he was so lukewarm that when Votaw put his foot down, he made no efforts to see the inquiry pushed.

In the midst of testimony on the drug ring, Dyer suddenly broached the pardon question and said a "dope peddler named Dyer" of Buffalo had paid $5,000 for a parole which he never got. Cross questioned by Paul Howland, counsel for Daugherty, Dyer admitted pardon was only rumor and he never had been able to run down the case. Asked whether he was prevented from continuing the drug ring investigation, by Votaw Burns said:

"Well, this is the situation. The investigation was started down there by Votaw and he was the man responsible for it. When he ordered it stopped I did not go to him again."

"Don't you think if you were given a free hand, Wheeler asked "that you could have got the men in that ring who were supplying the narcotics?"

"I think so," Burns answered. Burns said "that since then" the department of justice was not to his knowledge doing anything to stop the drug traffic in federal prisons.

Wheeler then shifted to Mexican border matters. After denying he had ever heard that American oil men financed Mexican revolutions Burns admitted that there had been a seizure of a truck of arms from a Los Angeles concern. These later were "turned loose" after Daugherty conferred with the president.

LORD BYRON COLLAR POPULAR IN LONDON

LONDON, Eng., April 5.—The "romantic" Lord Byron collar and the "demure" Peter Pan collar are fighting it out for supremacy among the ladies ever since the centenary year of the famous poet.

There is nothing in the least masculine about the new Byron collar fashion, except its origin. Exquisitely fine sheer linen, handkerchief lawn, filmy organdy, delicate georgette and gossamer chiffon in snow white are the dainty fabrics in which the dressmaker is reproducing the flowing lines and droop of the Byronic collar.

These collars, which can be bought separately, are worn with simple morning frocks or dark colored rep smart tailored coats of walking costumes, and fashionable afternoon frocks of satin and crepe.

RESIGNATION OF OFFICIALS IS QUESTIONED

By United News.

WASHINGTON D. C., April 5.—A veiled attack on President Coolidge for permitting the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Denby and requesting the resignation of Daugherty while those two officials were under fire is contained in the latest issue of the National Republican, official organ of the republican national committee.

Remarking significantly that it is "not the organ of any candidacy presidential or otherwise," the Republican declares it has some firm convictions about the principles involved in the fate of the two cabinet officers.

"It is a source of much regret to the National Republican," the editorial says "that the courage which has been shown in the ranks of the republican party in the face of the recent and present attacks upon the republican administration has been and is confined almost exclusively to the individuals almost directly attacked. The source of regret is that these attacks which are meant to discredit the entire republican administration and which are intended to wreck the republican party itself, have had to be repelled by a small but grimly determined company of individual republicans instead of by the full strength of a party leadership and membership unified by party loyalty.

"People generally have been surprised to see panic prevalent in the ranks of those whose duty as republican leaders has been to stand up and fight. Above all else, the people admire courage in leadership."

MYSTERIOUS NOTE LEAVES EVIDENCE OF SUICIDE OF JUAREZ MAN

By United News.

JUAREZ, Mexico, April 5.—This is William Grote. My wife has a policy for $4,000. You forward my body to her and you will be paid for everything. Send body to 6023 Charlotte Street, Kansas City, Missouri.

The above was the contents of a letter addressed to "Doctor" found under the pillow of George Fallon, or William Grote, a resident of Juarez, who was found dead in his room late Thursday.

Officers announced it a suicide. Fallon or Grote has been in ill health and has been under treatment of Dr. B. F. Clutter, to whom it is believed the letter was addressed.

The remains were removed to El Paso and will be held pending advices from Kansas City.

SWISS ADOPT COMPULSORY CHILD SICKNESS INSURANCE

By United News.

GENEVA, April 5.—The Swiss Canton of Vaud, of which Lausanne is the capital, has just completed an extended experiment of compulsory child sickness insurance.

The success of the system to date has been such a not only to insure its permanent adoption in the Canton, but its extension to other Cantons of the confederation.

Under the system adopted compulsory sickness insurance is obligatory on all children, regardless of nationality, attending the primary schools of the Canton.

The insurance is carried out thru the medium of a Cantonal Children's Sick Fund, which is worked and controlled under the guarantee of the State and the funds distributed amongst the various municipalities of the Canton.

The benefits include payment for medical attention and drugs in cases of illness and accident during 360 days out of a period of 540 consecutive days.

The extent to which such attendance is necessary amongst school children is indicated by the statistics of the past year, which showed that amongst 50,000 school children, 35,853 cases of illness were notified and treated.

The conclusions of the school physicians for the past year are that this compulsory child sickness insurance constitutes one of the State's best weapons for fighting tuberculosis.

CLEBURNE FANS WILL HAVE SUNDAY BALL

CLEBURNE, Texas, April 5.—When Mayor D. Frank Howell decreed that Sunday baseball was taboo in Cleburne there were no idle tears shed, but the situation was met with an irrevocable remedy. His colleague members of the city commission moved the ball park beyond the city limits, the legal department upheld their action and Sunday baseball goes on. Mayor Howell remains bitter in his opposition to Sabbath sports, but concedes defeat. The rest of the city commission are fans.
