COMMANDER OF WORLD FLIGHT BELIEVED LOST

MANY VESSELS SCOURING SEAS FOR SIGHT OF MACHINE AND CREW

By United News.
CORDOVA, Alaska, May 1.—A score or more of vessels braved an icy gale raking the coast of the Alaskan peninsula Thursday night, searching for Major Frederick Martin, commander of the American round-the-world airplane flight, his companion and mechanic, Sergeant Harvey, and the flag plane "Seattle."

Major Martin hopped off from Chingnik shortly before noon Wednesday and headed through a snow-laden gale for Dutch Harbor, Unalaska, where his three flying subordinates and their planes await him.

The sweeping snow hid him from the straining eyes of the watchers he had left behind, the mighty exhaust of his plane was hushed by distance and the gale, and since that time nothing has been heard of the Seattle or her gallant crew.

Weather conditions were exceedingly unfavorable for the flight, but Martin, chaffing at the delay occasioned by repairs to his motor, braved the gale in a determined effort to take his plane through to Dutch Harbor.

When no report reached here of his having been sighted, the naval radio station broadcast a call to all vessels, fishing smacks, cannery cruisers and naval vessels in the vicinity to put to sea immediately and find him. The coast guard cutter Algonquin is in the vicinity of the Shumagin Islands, and has been notified that the plane is missing.

Besides the Algonquin, word has been received from the coast guard survey boat Pioneer and the coast guard cutter Haida and numerous gas boats that they are engaged in the search.

These vessels are covering the area along the Alaskan peninsula coast line from Chingnik to the Shumagin Islands, but so far have found no trace of the missing machine or its crew.

Lt. Bissell, advance officer of the round-the-world flight expedition, is aboard the Haida. This vessel, which has been stationed at Dutch Harbor, carries a full stock of repair parts and should it be the one to find the missing plane will be able to make immediate repairs, if they are necessary.

The cannery station at King Cove, in the vicinity of Stephovak Bay, one of the few settlements between Chingnik and Unimak Island, reported that the plane has not been sighted there. The coast line as far as the Shumagin Islands was ordered patrolled in the expectation that the plane might have landed in one of the numerous inlets.

The sea west of Cape Iktli is a

9 INDICTMENTS RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Nine indictments were returned by the Grand Jury which was called when the 72nd Judicial District Court convened Monday morning. These indictments were handed to the District Clerk for record Thursday afternoon.

The Grand Jury has been very active since first going into session and indications are that several other indictments will be returned before the end of the week.

VERDICT GIVES STATE RICH OIL LANDS

AUSTIN, May 1.—A verdict which means the bringing of a million dollars to the Texas permanent school fund was returned by District Judge George Calloun here Thursday in the state's suit against Encinal Garcia and numerous oil companies, by which the state recovers 600 acres, 500 acres in the heart of the Laredo oil field.

One well producing 7500 barrels of oil daily and several smaller wells are on the tract recovered and a margin of land is held by the state so that no matter what direction development of the filed takes, it will remain in state school land.

The attorney general was successful in its effort to have title to the six hundred acres declared vacant, the land being found to be excess in surveys patented by the state to individuals.

DAWSON COUNTY SCHOOLS GET STATE AID

LAMESA, Texas, May 1.—Of the twenty-four school districts Dawson county, seventeen received state aid. The State Department of Education allotted to these schools $5,300. After a survey was made by the Rural School Inspector and the phenomenal growth of these schools observed, the amount was raised to $7,245. Three schools in the county having been built and equipped since 1923 scholastic census were taken. These three schools sprang up in the new communities where there was not a scholastic twelve months ago. There is now about 200 pupils in the three communities.

Fireman Killed

HOUSTON, May 1.—John Denny fireman, was killed Thursday night when the fire pumper he was on collided with a street car at the north end of the main street here. The pumper was answering an alarm. Two other firemen were slightly injured.

MAN TAKES OWN LIFE AT SLATON

DRINKS VIAL CARBOLIC ACID IN REAR DRUG STORE THURSDAY

Special to the Avalanche.
SLATON, May 1.—John Blume, about 24 years of age, son of A. Blume, of St. Francis, a small community north of Amarillo, died here this afternoon a few minutes after he had been found in convulsions in the rear of a local drug store. Self-inflicted poison is given as the cause of his death, but no reason for the suicide had been ascertained at a late hour tonight.

Blume entered the drug store about 4 o'clock, according to the management of the place, and when approached by a clerk called for a box of cough drops, and upon being served, went into the rear of the building. A few minutes later, having become suspicious of the man's actions, one of the attendants of the store went to see about him and found him in convulsions, lying on the floor. Nearby lay an empty carbolic acid bottle, and another bottle of the same capacity that was partly empty.

Efforts to save the man's life proved futile and he died a few minutes later.

His bride of only three days formerly Miss Augusta Veer-camp of this city, a young girl who has hardly reached maturity, is broken-hearted. They were married last Tuesday, she says, and according to her statement she knows no cause for the action.

No clue of any kind as to the cause of the action was found in the man's belongings.

Blume was married at St. Joseph's Catholic church here Tuesday morning to Miss Veer-camp, who says that nothing has come between them in their three days of wedded life to cause such action.

WITNESS ADMITS WHEELER WAS "FRAMED"

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The senate "trial" of Senator Wheeler virtually closed late Tuesday after Blain Cone, a witness for the prosecution, admitted that he had been sent to Montana by the republican national committee to "get something on Wheeler."

Conan declared George B. Lockwood, secretary of the committee had employed him on March 7, and that he thereupon went to Montana where he procured affidavits that were presented to the grand jury that indicted the senator.

Conan denied, however, that he had paid witnesses for the affidavits. At the close of Conan's sensational testimony, Chairman Borah adjourned the committee subject to call, but said further hearings would be held, unless documents turned over by the republican national committee to the department of justice disclose further evidence bearing on the Wheeler indictment.

LEAGUE OF TEXAS MUNICIPALITIES AT PARIS

PARIS, Texas, May 1.—Various important problems of municipal administration will be discussed at the annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities here May 7-8.

Subjects which will be taken up by the delegates include public health and sanitation, public improvement and public work, and government and administration. Dallas and Houston's experiments in traffic control by use of clock signals will also be discussed.

Oil Drilling Increases

AUSTIN, Texas, May 1.—Oil well drilling started in April to a new record for Texas. During the month 780 wells were started, of which 384 were brought in as producers 229 wells abandoned, and 178 dry holes recorded.

FEDERAL PRISON DOOR CLOSES ON McCRAY

ATLANTA, Ga., May 1.—Arrayed in a suit of blue denim and resting for the first time from the strain of his court trials and his long journey from Indianapolis, Warren T. McCray, until Wednesday governor of Indiana, is now a prisoner in the Atlanta federal prison. For ten years the former governor has been condemned to be one of the 2,000 inmates of the government institution as penalty for his use of the mails to defraud.

McCray, worn and tired from the trip, and experiences of the few days preceding, nevertheless had a smile for newspaper men and photographers who greeted him at the station. He posed for several pictures on the train platform before ascending to the street level.

Having arrived so late, Deputy Marshal Wertz decided to have lunch at the station restaurant before going to the prison. The prisoner ate heartily of his last meal outside the bars and then started on the last lap of the trip.

On his arrival there, McCray got out of the cab and walked straight into the prison. There was no dramatic moment when he took a last look at the outside world.

KNUTSON FOUND NOT GUILTY OF CHARGE

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Representative Harold Knutson, of Minnesota, was acquitted of a statutory charge after the Arlington county, Virginia, jury had been out a little more than an hour. Three ballots were taken before an agreement was reached.

The case against Knutson having collapsed, the charge against LeRoy M. Hull indicted with the congressman for serious crime immediately was "guilty" proessed by Judge Samuel G. Brent, and the youth was freed.

After undergoing the terrific tension of a trial where his entire future hung in the balance, Knutson became wildly jubilant as the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty." He rushed over to the jurors and wrung their hands and then turned to his friends who had supported him during the trying period to thank them for their aid.

Thursday, the second day of the trial, was marked by bitter tilts between counsel for Knutson and the states attorney. Feeling of the spectators ran high, and following testimony by Representative Fish, of New York, in which he declared his faith in Knutson, the crowd broke into wild cheers and Judge Brent threatened to clear the room unless they subsided.

MEMORIAL DAY IN FOREIGN BATTLEFIELDS

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Memorial exercises overseas will be held in completed cemeteries for the first time on May 30. Major General W. H. Hart, Quartermaster General, was informed today.

Reports from the American committee of officers working at the six cemeteries in France, the one in England and the one in Belgium, state that although work has been greatly retarded by a heavy winter, most of the work has been completed and everything will be in readiness by the end of May.

These cemeteries, located at Brookwood; England; Flanders Field, Belgium; St. Mihiel; Meuse-Arragonne; Belou Wood, Surrennes, the Somme and at Osie-Aisna France now hold 30,409.

NEW PLANE ENROUTE TO BRITISH FLYER

LONDON, May 1.—A new airplane engine is enroute to A. S. N. MacLaren British round the world aviator, who is held up near Karachi India, according to a Central News Dispatch from Boulogne.

The message reports that the engine has arrived there from England and is being rushed by rail to Marseilles, whence it will be taken by special ship to Bombay and transferred to Karachi.

SOUTH RECOVERING TERRIBLE TOLL TAKEN BY STORM

ATLANTA, May 2.—The south Thursday night was in the midst of a rescue and repair job that will cost her nearly $10,000,000.

After nearly a hundred dead are buried and invalids restored, the south must repair the damage to property occasioned by the cyclonic storm which raged through six states Tuesday night, Wednesday and part of Wednesday night.

The death toll had reached 99 at the latest count and injured, including those who suffered loss of limbs, as well as the slightly hurt, will number more than 500.

FOUR KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF GAS TANK

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1.—Four men were killed and ten injured Thursday when a 4,000 gallon tank filled with oil and gas exploded at the Interstate Refinery, Inc., plant here.

Fire followed the explosion and the bodies of the four men had been burned almost to cinders before they could be taken out of the plant.

Norman P. Smith, 30, superintendent of the plant, was among the first to die.

Three of the men who lost their lives apparently were rendered unconscious by the force of the explosion and perished where they had been working.

C. W. Hudson, 30 was thrown 200 feet near a wire fence which he apparently was attempting to climb over when death overtook him.

The body of A. Anderson, 23, lay within 25 feet of the tank close by that of the superintendent. Identification of the bodies was made by rings and other jewelry. The body of an unidentified negro was also found in the ruins.

Only four of the ten injured suffered dangerous burns. Most of them, their clothing aflame, were able to make their way to the outside where they were given first aid.

Scenes surrounding the plant had all the aspects of a giant catastrophe. Bodies of the injured lay strewn on the ground awaiting ambulances. Mothers and children assembled quickly calling frantically for word of loved ones whose fate was unknown.

TWO MAKE BOND ON CHARGE OF ARSON

HOUSTON, Texas, May 1.—Evelyn Patterson and Jack Warren were released on bond here late Tuesday after being indicted for conspiracy to commit arson in connection with the Webster Avenue fire which claimed the lives of Mrs. Ethel Patterson Raab and W. E. Flagler, on the morning of April 22.

Mrs. Ethel Raab, 22 years old, sister of Miss Patterson and W. E. Flagler, aged collector, were burned to death in the Webster avenue fire. Warren was arrested on charges of double murder and arson.

Miss Patterson, after telling one story, reversed herself and became Warren's accuser.

Warren, in turn, in a sensational statement, accused Miss Patterson of being a party to a plot to burn the house to collect an insurance policy of $7,000, issued against the furnishings in it.

The grand jury made no report as far as can be learned as to the double murder charge against Warren. This is taken to mean that it will continue its probe into this angle of the case.

LAMESA PLANS FOR BROWNWOOD TRIP

LAMESA, Texas, May 1.—Plans are being made by the Lamesa delegation to run a special train to Brownwood. Tickets for more than two Pullmans have been sold and it is thought that by May 1st a train will be made up. Several hundred people are going from Lamesa by automobile.

BILL IS PASSED AS AGREED ON IN CONFERENCE

HOUSE EXPECTED TO ACT ON MEASURES FRIDAY; REED RAPS BILL

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Without a record vote the senate late Thursday adopted the soldier bonus insurance bill as agreed to by the house and senate conferees. After the house acts, probably Friday, the measure will go to the president.

Before the vote was taken, Senators Underwood, of Alabama and Reed, of Missouri, criticized the measure. The conferees made the provisions of the measure effective March 1, next, and struck out a senate amendment which would prevent the charging of compound interest on loans made on bonus insurance policies.

A slight flurry arose when the report of the conferees was presented. An effort by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, republican whip, to have it approved by the few senators who were present aroused objection and a roll call was ordered.

Senator Underwood, of Alabama, who voted against the bill, declared that he wanted to express his objection to the conference report because he opposed the legislation. Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, author of the amendment to prevent compound interest being charged on loans when the soldier was in arrears on his payments, protested against this concession on the part of the senate conferees but said he would vote for the report.

Senator Reed, Missouri, who favored a cash option in the bill, characterized the measure as a "breach of faith to the soldiers," and said it would bring little benefit.

"I think the soldiers are being put off with little less than a subterfuge and a fraud," he declared.

INSPECTOR RAPS CALIFORNIA CATTLEMEN

EL PASO, Texas, May 1.—The California committee seeking relaxation of the foot and mouth embargo by adjoining states met with slight encouragement from cattlemen here, in their plea for free movement of products of the soil from the golden state.

Lee Bell, inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association said that California was "getting what is coming to her." The state had contended for tariff free cattle and hides from South America and other countries, "not wanting to pay us what our fat cattle and hides are worth" for its beef supply and to operate tanneries, Mr. Bell said.

"It is alleged that hoof and mouth disease was brought to California in steamship garbage. However, we are of the opinion that it was brought there in imported cattle and hides from some South American country, possibly Argentine. The disease was brought to this country by cattle from the Argentine, in the Chicago show of 1914."

The California committee pointed out that a total of 159,000 carloads of fresh fruits and vegetables, with freight and refrigeration charges of $105,000,000 and a delivered value of $255,000,000 in addition to 560,000 tons of dried fruits, raisins, nuts, beans and canned fruits was threatened.

The committee left here Thursday for Austin, Texas, and Fort Worth, Texas to confer with state officials.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy tonight and Friday probably showers north portion; warmer tonight north portion.

THE HARD PROBLEM
I know it's hard to do, but then Don't give up in weak despair. Stick to it, boy, and try again. And master every problem there. The easy task to naught amounts, 'Tis doing something hard that counts.
The weaklings always turn aside When difficulties bar their way, From trial they would run and hide, "I can't," the cowards always say. So when you're troubled play the man, Stick to your task and say, "I can."
Would I could make you understand The easy task no glory brings; They only conquer and command Who have the grit for sterner things.
The problem's hard to do, my son, But don't forget, it can be done.

Characters One Meets at Cranberry Corners "On the Banks of the Wabash"

MARY CARR, who plays Anne Bixler—To motion picture fans, Mary Carr needs no introduction. Since her spectacular success in "Over the Hill" she has been given the title of "mother of film mothers" and holds this role without dispute. As Anne Bixler, Mary Carr has unusual opportunities to display her fine ability in the finest "mother" role ever given her.

BURR McINTOSH, who plays Cap Hammond—Few actors command the high regard that Burr McIntosh holds for the quality of his work. A favorite of both the stage and screen and an idol of two generations, he continues to enjoy great popularity. He is ideally cast as "Cap" Hammond, the retired stern-wheeler operator, who rises to a great emergency and proves the hero of the hour.

JAMES MORRISON, who plays David—As juvenile lead in "The Man Next Door," by Emerson Hough, author of "The Covered Wagon," Mr. Morrison attracted so much attention for his skilled acting that J. Stuart Blackton summoned him from the Pacific Coast to play the part of David, son of "Cap" Hammond, who invents a radio power control and whose love affair is a dominating theme in the film.

LUMSDEN HARE, who plays Paul Bixler—England's distinguished actor is Lumsden Hare, who has one of the important parts in this unusual production. On the stage, Mr. Hare served for twenty years as the leading man to Ethel Barrymore, Maude Adams, Billie Burke and Gertrude Elliott. On the screen he has been received with even greater enthusiasm. Mr. Hare plays Paul Bixler, an artist, who despairing his work, disappears only to return a success.

MARY MACLAREN, who plays Ivonne—Al Jolson followers will recall Miss MacLaren as the beautiful blonde who appeared with him in "Passing Show" and "Dancing Around." She left the stage to go into pictures, having appeared prominently in "Idle Wives," "Unpainted Woman" and other films. As Ivonne, Miss MacLaren plays the part of a modern siren, who for a time threatens to wreck David's heart and keep him from the girl he really loves.

MADGE EVANS, who plays Lisbeth—No prettier juvenile actress could have been selected for this important role than Madge Evans. Miss Evans, who has won wide recognition of her ability, is vivid as a small-town girl, standing ready to sacrifice her love so that others might be happy.

GEORGE NEVILLE, who plays "Sash" Brown—As the sheriff in "Way Down East," George Neville was the exemplification of the small town character in which portrayal he has moulded his reputation. Since then he has appeared in many D. W. Griffith productions in similar roles. In "On the Banks of the Wabash" he finds the best opportunity to display his talents as "Sash" Brown, town bootlegger, who figures importantly in the progress of the story.

MARCIA HARRIS, who plays Tilda Spiffen—Typical of the small-town type is Marcia Harris, whose most noted screen performances were in "Poor Little Rich Girl," "Day Dreams" and "Putting One Over." As Tilda Spiffen, Miss Harris portrays a spinster, whose unrequited love threatens three tragedies.

ED ROSEMAN, who plays Westley Spiffen—To a son of Indiana falls one of the most important roles in "On the Banks of the Wabash," that of Westley Spiffen, a crooked real estate operator, whose scheming nearly ruins the entire town. Ed Roseman, who plays that part, was born on Terre Haute, Ind., near where the story of the photoplay is laid. On the screen Mr. Roseman played in support of Mary Pickford and Robert Warwick.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

W. M. PEEVEHOUSE

On Saturday, May 3, 1924, the County Board of Education of Lubbock County, will meet in regular quarterly session at the office of the county superintendent. This board has jurisdiction over the schools and school districts over Lubbock county, except Lubbock and Slaton. And within one year, or two, it will pass the 500 mark and thus go out from under county control and class into the city control. Few people realize that the county superintendent and the County Board of Education have jurisdiction over only the rural schools and such of the small towns as have less than 500 scholastics. When a school passes the 500 mark it automatically assumes control of its affairs, provided, of course that it is an independent district, and in almost every instance a district is obliged to vote independence long before it reaches 500. Then, we see that the county board and the county superintendent have what might be called, only rural schools to attend. So much, therefore, should we elect men on the county board who know the rural schools and who live in one of them. At present, we have five men on the board, which is the entire membership, who are all "quest to goodness" farmers and stockmen of the open country, where these schools exist. The newly elected member of the board, from precinct number three, is Douglas Pounds, of Acuff. From an unbiased viewpoint, and with all due consideration to all who may read this thought, I think no wiser choice could have been made for this particular office, than Mr. Pounds. He is a far-seeing school man, who put everything else secondary to his boy's education. He says it is business first and play next. The president requested me to notify Mr. Pounds to be present May 3, 1924, at 2 p. m. The re-elected members of the board are: W. O. Sheeley and Bob Crump, of the box at large and precinct number four, respectively. J. H. Burroughs and T. J. Richardson hold over. Any one having any matters to come before this board should be at the superintendent's office on above date.

It is our intention to straighten out the Sinking Fund account, by apportioning to each district its portion according to the auditing, plus the prorated part of the accrued interest. Hereafter, we must insist that each district keep a separate account in sinking funds according to the requirement of the law. It is strictly a violation of the statutes to neglect this or to use any portion of this specified amount of tax in the local taxation for school purposes, except for interest on the bonds, sinking funds, or cost of assessing and collecting. Only one district in the county had a sinking fund deposited last year, Canyon. The schools are behind with these funds, anywhere from $25 to $625. Of course, we are all likely to forget sometimes, and all that is necessary is to be reminded. Our people mean well. A great majority of our trustees did not know but what these funds were going in correctly. But the thing we want to impress on the minds of the taxpayers, is that we want them to know where their money is going. Anyone wishing to know how much money is spent in any particular district can get complete information at the superintendent's office Mondays and Saturdays. We are here to serve you.

The Union bond election April 26, for a $10,000 building was carried by a two to one vote it is understood. Soon those people will boast as nice a school house as anybody.

We understand that Prof. J. H. Roles and wife, of the New Hope school have been employed as principal and grade teachers of the Woodrow school for another year. Mr. and Mrs. Roles were at Shallowater for the two years previous to New Hope this session. We are glad that they decided to locate in our county instead of going to Levelland.

Supt. E. J. Hood, of Estacado, has been employed as superintendent of Ropes school, for another twelve months. Mr. Hood is a new man in the county, but he is here to stay and his reputation as a school man has already been established.

Prof. H. G. Robinson, of the Carlisle school has been tendered the principalship for another term.

W. C. Grimm and Ed Griffin, trustees at Acuff were in Saturday discussing school matters.

J. D. Tomlinson, of the board at Liberty, was a caller Saturday.

J. W. Bush, re-elected member of the board at Carlisle, came in and took the oath of office for the new two-year period.

D. M. Moore and E. W. Williamson, trustees at Eastern, in the southwest corner of Lubbock county, were in looking into the finances of their district. Those people have a new school building just in use and they are proud of it. They will soon be heard from as the community is rapidly filling.

F. T. Green and W. D. Sealy, of Barton district, were in trying to close up the sale of their bonds.

Before another term of school opens, we hope to see several new brick and some additions completed. Then we shall have enough room to start with. By January 1st, we may again hear the cry, "CROWDED."

COSTLY TOWN BUILT TO BE DESTROYED BY FLOOD

Destruction of a whole town by a torrential river forms one of the striking sequences in "On the Banks of the Wabash," a J. Stuart Blackton production, which will be seen at the Lyric Theatre today! This is one of the most costly sets ever erected for the sole purpose of destroying it during the taking of the scenes.

The building of the village and furnishing of the houses cost a tremendous sum, according to those in charge of the production for Vitagraph. The town of Crabberry Corners, built for the picture, was an exact replica of a town in Indiana and was constructed in Manhasset Bay, Long Island, where the flood scenes were taken.

J. Stuart Blackton, who produced the picture, took advantage of the tide in filming the remarkable flood scenes in "On the Banks of the Wabash." The town was built while the tide was low. The flood scenes were taken as the water rapidly rose eight feet when the tide came in.

"On the Banks of the Wabash," is based upon the immortal song of the same name by Paul Dresser. Its cast of all star players includes Mary Carr, James Morrison, Burr McIntosh, Madge Evans, Lindsley Hare and Mary MacLaren.

Chamber of Commerce Band for the benefit of the club members and their parents. This lasted for one hour. During the Band Concert the club members lined up single file and paraded around the square carrying banners with the name of each community club represented. The following clubs were represented with banners: Beat 'Em All Club, Do or Bust Club, The O. K. Club, Tip Top Club, Do It Today Club, The Best Yet Club, Live Wire Club, Busy Bee Club, Jolly Workers and the Willing Workers Club.

Immediately following the concert the club members assembled in the district court room where they listened to lectures on how to recognize and select the proper types of grain sorghum. These lectures were delivered by D. F. Eaton, county agent of Lubbock county, and C. T. Watson, county agent of Dawson county. A lecture on dairy cows and how to judge them was delivered by county agent A. L. Robertson of Tahoka. Sheep judging was explained by Mr. Stark, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Tahoka schools. After these lectures the boys were all numbered and divided up into five groups. They began the judging work which lasted until five o'clock.

After the placings were made the boys again gathered in the district court room where they gave lessons on their placings. Several boys made perfect scores on their placings and a few gave good reasons for their placings. Before the day was over the club members gathered on the court house steps and had their pictures made.

Arrangements were made to hold a similar contest in Tahoka on Saturday, May 24th. There will be present at this contest boys and girls from Lubbock, Dawson and Lynn counties.

AVOIDING MISTAKES

In the building of towns, like everything else, many mistakes are made. Mistakes are most always costly, especially in town building, and especially when a town grows to the point of really amounting to something. Some towns can move along pretty good for a number of years, if there is not much growth, in fact, some of them can go indefinitely without any necessity for restrictions, and not much need for any regulations concerning buildings. But, in the building of a city like Lubbock is sure to become, there is a great necessity for laying some definite plans for the erection of buildings, and restricting certain lines to certain parts of the town. If this is not done, to begin with, the necessity arises for changes, it makes it very expensive, and disagreeable.

For many months the growth of Lubbock has been very rapid. There have been a large number of new homes built, most of them nice, neat, buildings, but they are badly scattered, which leaves, what is thought to be a necessity for business houses in the residential section of the town. Most of these business houses are neat little buildings, and not at all offensive, and are not to say one bit in the way, just at this time, as there is plenty of room. Later on however, when the town fills in, these stores may be badly in the way, but may also be very hard to get moved, and under the present rule they have just as much right legally to build a garage, blacksmith shop or any other kind of business next door to you as anyone has to put up a twenty-thousand dollar residence, yet you would certainly not enjoy either of these as neighbors in the residential section of the town.

A prominent visitor to our city a few days ago spoke of this and advised that Lubbock take steps to place restrictions on as much of the residential section as could well be done, to avoid this trouble and expense. Some really large cities of the state have had much trouble along this line, and there is a move on foot not to have a law passed authorizing cities to enforce a restricted law, which would eliminate the possibility of any trouble of this kind.

The Dallas News touching on the proposition says that: "Edward M. Bassett brought a world of hope and encouragement to Texans who are seeking to build cities instead of merely suffering them to happen. Mr. Bassett is confident that it is possible to draft a law which will enable Dallas or any other Texas city to order the manner of its growth so that it may be even and steady, without the succession of entrenched and vested mistakes which are little noted now, but which will plague posterity."

It is a message well said and at a timely hour. The future of Texas makes provision now of priceless value. The sums which can be saved by planning will repay the effort of planning a hundred and a thousand fold. Hitherto we have had to depend upon correcting errors and oversights of former years. It has been a costly business which property owners have had to bear. The prevention of these sins against the future growth of Dallas are as much a benefit to Dallas as the protection of our health or the guarding of our possessions through the blue-coated servants of the law.

The message has not gone unheeded or unheard. Already there is an organization afoot with the object of interesting all municipalities of the State in the passage of a statute such as experience in other States has found to be necessary and sufficient in authority for cities to protect themselves against misuse of private property to the public detriment.

Texas is now having a signal demonstration of how property values may be depressed by the invasion of a neighborhood of character by an institution of a different character. Home owners whose property is surrounded by unrestricted realty, have been crowded out at a loss by cuckoo newcomers who make the former residential uses of the community out of place. The fact that this sort of thing is going on in all the rapidly growing cities leaves them with no protection, except through deed restrictions which may themselves prove impractical at some future date. At great cost the people are learning that a man may not do with his own as he will—when he wills to spoil his neighbor's opportunity of a fair and free enjoyment of his adjoining land. It is not a new principle. But the complete application of it is needed more imperatively; that is all.

Railroads are vehemently asserting that the "farmers pay the freight only one way." He certainly has to pay the freight on his own wheat to Liverpool, because he has to sell it there for what the foreign farmers will take for their after paying the freight. Then he has to pay freight on the goods which he buys and which must be carried to him. The farmer pays all right for nobody is handing it to the railroads and they are not in business for the glory.

LEST WE WERE MISTAKEN.

Rather than be mistaken in the matter, we are giving the customer the benefit of any misinformation that might have been turned loose from this department. This subscriber writes us thusly:

"Some time ago an article appeared in your paper stating that a very large percentage of persons of Texas were 'Engineers'; evidently this term included machinists, and many others, but in order that this may not be misinterpreted and reflect on the engineering profession, I am enclosing you the letters that I have received, trusting that you will make such use of them as will correct such impression."

The letter, referred to which is from the criminal record clerk at Huntsville, says in part:

"Replying to yours of the 27th instant, inquiring as to whom we classified as 'Engineers' in our last annual report, and referring to an item that appeared in the 'Lubbock Avalanche' wish to advise you that our classification in the report was as follows: 'Civil Engineers' 2, this appeared in the Cs, then you came on down the line to the Ms you find 'Machinists and Engineers' 46, so I can see no occasion for the confusion of the two entirely separately classes of engineers. Under 'Machinists and Engineers' are included steam, locomotive, electrical and gas engine operators."

"If you will call on one of your representatives to the legislature you may be able to borrow his copy of our last annual report, which was mailed to him about the middle of the present month, and by referring to 'Occupations, Trades and Professions' on page 63, you will get the information desired."

The Avalanche is far from wanting to do tradesmen or profession any injustice, and while we do not remember having an article in the paper regarding this, and have not been able to find it in our files, we do not know just what we are apologizing for, but we have given you the portions of both letters that you may be able to determine the grievance that this subscriber had.

In all probability the report referred to all kinds of engineers and in that case the statement might have been correct for taking collectively there is a very large number of engineers, and some of them might break into the penitentiary, while all that we have ever known were far from any danger of going there.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The photograph of Hugo Stines printed in American newspapers tends to confirm the accounts indicating that he represented Big Business in its most ruthless and predatory form.

Hiram Johnson must now be dreaming of third party leadership. Otherwise he would hardly be ready to go as far as to say publicly that "crooks dominate the Republican party."

The longest cable dispatch ever sent carried the 40,000 words of the Dawes report, which covered five pages of the New York Times. As the committee charged nothing for it, the report was not the most expensive, though by far the longest, of dispatches.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican is convinced that Mr. Coolidge "can not get too far away in the public mind from the crooks and near-crooks that happen to infest his party." To stop investigating them would prevent rather than forward such desired progress on the part of the executive.

After capturing the democratic heart and then winning the republicans by a master stroke, Henry Ford secured a vote giving him Muscle Shoals for a hundred years. Waking up rather late, Senator Norris wants to undo the transaction or modify its terms.

From time out of mind the criminal classes have been instinctively opposed to investigations. Strange to say, a similar state of mind has recently been noticeable among respectable and even distinguished persons.

The mix-up at Washington includes the crossing of party lines in the search for authorities. Again President Coolidge, a republican, has quoted President Cleveland, a democrat, and in reply Senator Walsh, a democrat, dictated the opinion of Senator Edmunds, a republican.

If all the Daugherty men in the Department of Justice had gone out with their chief, there would be more point in the efforts to stop the investigation. For example, there is still Burns who has admitted that under advice from Daugherty he sent three men out to sleuth on the trail of Senator Wheeler to see if anything against him could be picked up.

Senator Watson merely whets the public appetite for more when, arguing against further investigation, he says there would simply be no end to the prohibition unit—dragging all the gossip and scandal out and having a saturnalia of vituperation and aspersion unequalled hitherto in the political annals of America. This is one particular lid that must be kept tight down, he seems to think otherwise the bad smells will be intolerable.

According to official announcement this country is 135 billion dollars richer than it was before the war, and individually each American is worth $2,918, an increase from 1912 of $1,950. Similar figures for eight leading nations convey the impression that the world's greatest increase in wealth was made largely during the most destructive war on record. There is nothing burdensome about our wealth, however, except perhaps in the smaller circles wherein so much of it is concentrated. One reason why most of us fail to realize how very rich we are is to be found in the fact the dollar of 1912 now has a purchasing power but little over 60 cents.

GENERAL TREND OF STOCKS IS UPWARD

By EDWARD J. CONDLON

(United News Financial Editor.)
NEW YORK, May 1.—The general uplift of stock prices was, of course, attributed to the reduction in the rediscount rate of the local reserve bank. In addition, the belief is held in some quarters here that the federal reserve bank of Philadelphia will announce a cut in its rates in the near future.

New high ground on the rally for such industries as Baldwin, General Electric, Steel, American Can and Standard Oil of California, naturally leads to the conclusion that bears are no longer as sure of their ground as they were at the start of the week.

Much of the upward throughout the session was due to short covering especially after the stand made by the bear crowd in the late forenoon failed to materialize.

Aside from the stronger opening of the stock market, the first tangible evidence of the constructive movement under way was as a result of the lowered bank rate. When liberty bonds shot up to new highs for the year during the first half hour of business, Banks and corporations with surplus funds were only too willing to participate in the market with net yields on the liberties running from 3.48 to about 4.30 per cent. The 3 1/2s touched par, but dropped back at the close.

Cheap call money as was evidenced in Thursday's market will ultimately mean a gradual shift of money into investment channels. The lower bank rate lays the foundation work for business expansion which manufacturing and rail traffic take a definite turn for the better.

Total stock sales ran more than 100,000 shares ahead of the previous day, though it was evident from the amount of wire business coming this way that the public was not yet fully convinced and was playing cautiously.

SECURITY OF FORD TO DISCUSS OFFER FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

By United News.
WASHINGTON, May 1.—One of the most important stages of the senate's inquiry into the Muscle Shoals project will be reached Friday when E. G. Liebold, secretary to Henry Ford will appear to discuss his chief's offer.

Acceptance of the Ford offer was urged by Major E. B. Stahlman, Nashville publisher. He charged the Tennessee manufacturers association is spending money in propaganda hostile to the Ford proposal through Dan McGugin, counsel for the association.

"You can get more good from Muscle Shoals operated by Ford than any other way," Stahlman said. "If Ford wants to help the farmers, why can't we let him volunteer to run Muscle Shoals under government operation?" Norris asked.

"That wouldn't work well because there would be too much politics in such a plan."
W. J. Cummings, of Nashville, formerly a New York banker, said the south would be helped by bringing Ford down.

"We want Ford to come down and teach us how to get the greatest efficiency out of our enterprises," he said.

GRAND OINTMENT MAKES PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES GO

Ever since the introduction in this country of the wonderful Black and White Ointment, and Soap, skin specialists say that such troubles as pimples, blotches, bumps, rash, tetter, eczema, "breaking out," etc., are becoming fewer every year. Wide distribution of Black and White Ointment, and Soap, has made it possible for millions of people to get the benefit of this wonderful quick effect in clearing disfigured skin and making it smooth and good to look at. Dealers everywhere say they are selling faster than anything of a similar nature they have ever handled, and they attribute this popularity to the low prices at which they are sold, as well as their dependability. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.

LOCAL AMATEUR BALL CLUB TAKES FIRST WORKOUT TODAY; WILL GO TO TAHOKA SUNDAY FOR GAME

Although the past few days have not been what would be considered ideal to bring about the proper manipulation of the more or less stiff and sore joints of a baseball hound, local lovers of the national pastime have been seized by the "bug" have felt the itch of the palm for the feel of the horsehide, the grating of the foot for the turf, and have answered the call of Spring for the first workout. Under the leadership of Sled Allen, former skipper of the pennant winning Hubbers, this ball nine will begin its work this afternoon at the Merrill park, and will journey to Tahoka Sunday for the first game of the season.

This nine, although yet in its infancy, having never taken a workout, is composed of some of the fastest ball players between the Rio Grande and Red Rivers. And the beauty part of this aggregation is that they are all home boys, making their living in and around Lubbock at different occupations, and they are all entering this squad purely from love of the sport, and will receive no remuneration whatsoever for their services in a financial way.

Three or four of them are former members of the Hubbers, including Sylvan Sanders, "Jack" Jackson, Chas. Shepard and Sled Allen. One or two of the others at one time or another tried out for a position on the Hubber squad, but for different reasons failed to make the grade. Others of them have just finished a season with the Lubbock high school Westerners, where they made not only a reputation for themselves, but for their school. By way of comment, it might be said, that had the Westerners had a little more time to grind themselves into more of a machine as did some of their hardest opponents, things would have looked different again at the end of the high school season.

Harry Hunter, Chas. Shepard, Wayne Gaither, and Alick Hensley, compose the contemplated infield of the proposed amateur club, with Jack Cate being a hard opponent for one of the positions. Hunter, coach of the high school Westerners, has played ball in many different parts of the country, both college and semi-pro. Shepard needs no introduction, as his work around the keystone corner with the last year's Hubbers, where he was one of the most dependable on the squad, speaks for itself. Gaither is a youngster who has been playing ball in West Texas for several years—in fact, almost since he was large enough to throw a ball across the diamond, and would probably now be in some form of professional ball, had he the inclination to do so, for he is one of the fastest youngsters to ever appear before local fans. Hensley, who this year finished his last season with the Westerners, is another lad, who if he desires in the future, will make most anybody's ball club. He works around the hot corner, is extra fast on his feet, and is one of the surest and heaviest hitters in the younger class. Cate also, is destined for the ball world if he desires to take advantage of it. His form in the short field is equal to an old hand, and his stick work is hard to beat.

Skipper Allen, although he says he wouldn't catch a full game for lots of money, will do a good part of the receiving work. He will be assisted by Ernest Karr, another local youngster who is one of the best amateur utility men ever to grace a bench. His stick work also is going to make some outfielder hustle.

In the garden positions come Jackson, Cate, and Jones. Jackson hustled the left garden with the Hubbers, and robbed many a man of what would ordinarily have gone for safe hits, and in this light took many a "guessing" from opposing hitters. Cate, mentioned above for infield utility probably will stomp the center lot for the time being. Frank Jones, local automobile dealer, will take what is left in the garden, and although he has never appeared locally, he has the reputation of being one of the hustling outfielders in amateur baseball.

Three men are now figured to carry the bulk of the mound duty, including Lewis Hunter, Sylvan Sanders, and Martin Hunter, a brother of the coach, is a Simmons College product, at which place he won many ball games for Alma Mater. Little is known of the work of Martin, who is with the Agtall people here, but, like Jones, he has been bounding the ball diamond from youth, and will make somebody hustle to win a ball game over him. Sanders, only southpaw on the club, is an absolutely local product, and will carry his part with any of them when he is in condition. He was with the Hubbers the latter half of the season last year.

This afternoon at the Merrill Park, this club will exhibit to local fans their first workout of the season, beginning about 4 o'clock.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS HERE TODAY

Promptly at one o'clock today the Lubbock Lawn Tennis Club will open its annual tournament. Doubles will be played the first day and singles on Saturday. Drawing for singles play will be held Friday afternoon. All those wishing to play should turn their names in to Otis Feltz some time today.

Matches for first day will be as follows: Williams and Stahl vs. Slaton boys; Dow and Scott vs. Mowery and Marr; Clark and Kimbro vs. Felty and McCrummins; Sterns and Price vs. Prewitt and Burgess.

Local tennis men have been working hard in preparation for this tournament. All of the players are in good condition, which will insure some tennis of the very highest class. James Prewitt and Hubert Burgess both left handers are showing some real class. No doubt they will be in the final play. Paul Clark and Kenneth Kimbro are also playing a steady game. These two lads have both played in the state university and will furnish some real competition. McCrummins and Felty, holders of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce cup, will also be contenders.

Scott and Dow, both high school lads are going to be hard to defeat. There is also Mowery and Marr, both tennis players of the first class. Stahl and Williams, both local lads are expected to display some brilliant tennis and will likely be in the final rounds.

JOHNSON STOPS WINNING OF YANKEES

A heated tie for first place in the American League remained unbroken, Thursday when the Yankees and Tigers both lost their games. With an unshaken streak of eight consecutive victories, Miller Huggins, world champion Yanks were beaten in an almost evenly contested match in Washington by a score of 3 to 2. Walter Johnson applied the brakes to the Yanks winning spurt. Manager Huggins used pitchers Waite Hoyt, Sam Jones and Bob Shawkey in a vain effort to avoid the catastrophe.

Cobbs Tigers were nosed out in another bitterly fought match with the Browns in St. Louis. The score was 8 to 7. A rare feature of baseball occurred when all of the St. Louis outfielders—"Dolly" Jacobson, Ken Williams and Johnny Tobin, each contributed a home run to the teams roster. The Athletics tumbled out of third place when they were beaten in their home lot by the second division Boston Red Sox 5 to 1. The White Sox inserted themselves in the Athletics place by finishing on the long end of the game with the Cleveland Indians.

In the National League, the Giants after a spell of idleness, due to unfavorable weather, scored their tenth victory of the season when they defeated the Braves in Boston by the extravagant score of 9 to 1. Dean wearing a $50,000 prize tag, was on the mound for the Giants. It was his second win in three starts as a major league performer.

Jack Hendricks Reds embarked on a slump in Chicago where they were beaten by the Cubs 8 to 1. The defeat sent Cincinnati sprawling to third place and elevated Chicago to second.

The Pirates won from the Cards in Pittsburgh 8 to 6, while in Brooklyn the Dodgers won in second straight victory from the tail-end Phillies 10 to 4.

RICHARDS WITHDRAWS HIS RESIGNATION FROM DAVIS CUP TEAM

NEW YORK, May 1.—Vincent Richards, of the famous literary doubles team of Richards and Tilden, professional authors and amateur athletes, Thursday withdrew his resignation from the American Davis cup team and offered a suggestion which has the sound of an acceptable compromise.

Richards proposes that the amateur rules committee of the lawn tennis association should think over its players-writers rule and bend an ear to outcries of an indignant public. Richards believes the public will be greatly exercised about the attempt of the rules committee to subtract his writing from the sum of American literature and implies that the committee will not have the audacity to maintain this attitude when public opinion becomes fully inflamed.

In the throes of literary composition the young author seems to have committed a literary foot fault as the big sentence of his essay on the subject, the sentences in which he suggests a compromise, shows grammatical lopsidedness as follows:

"If at present or any time in the future through public opinion and the success of every game depends upon public opinion, shows that a change is desirable, the majority of members of the association can always modify or revoke any unpopular or undesirable rule."

The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association gave out Richards' composition, which was in the form of a letter to George W. Wightman, president of the association. It is apparent on this out-giving that Richards leads, almost falls in fact, toward the rugged style of writing and depends on vigor, rather than technique for his effects.

Referring to his discussions of matter with Wightman and other tennis officials since he offered his resignation from the Davis cup and Olympic tennis teams Richards writes:

"H (Holcolm Ward of the rules committee) has assured me that I am eligible and that no action will be taken concerning my amateur standing under the play-writer interpretation during 1924 and with the further assurance from all tennis officials present that if any time after January 1, 1925, any question shall arise regarding my amateur standing because of my profession as a newspaper writer, I would be given an opportunity to be present and be heard at any conference when my standing as an amateur was being discussed."

For that reason, Richards says, and because he wishes to help the game of tennis, he reconsidered his resignation and withdrew it.

Richards' resignation was considered by the Davis cup committee and was accepted.

CARPENTIER WINS BOUT ON PROTESTED KNOCKOUT

VIENNA, AUSTRIA, May 1.—George Carpentier, nonchalant, knocked out another heavyweight Arthur Townley, in the second round of their bout here Thursday afternoon. But Townley still hopes to win the fight on two claims of foul, which will be weighed by a jury of sportsmen in a movie theatre when the testimony of the slow pictures will be considered. Townley claims first that Carpentier struck him while he was still down and trying to regain his feet after the knockdown. He also insists that he was counted out during eight seconds instead of ten when he went to the canvas for the last time.

The small Vienna crowd, not very familiar with boxing or the horizontal inclinations of British heavyweights had expected a much better and longer show for the money and there was wild indignation when the referee a Frenchman named Bernstein proclaimed Carpentier the winner after less than six minutes of action.

Terry Waldron, prominent business man of Rogers, Arkansas, arrived in Lubbock recently and has purchased lots on 10th street where he will erect a modern home in the near future.

Rev. J. T. Howell, W. F. Davis, Mr. Lee and Mr. Wyatt, all of Tahoka, were in Lubbock Thursday morning, going to Idalou to attend district conference.

Senator W. H. Bledsoe returned to his office here Thursday morning after having argued the Cochran county election injunction in the court of civil appeals at Amarillo Wednesday.

LUBBOCK CITIZENS MUST SIGN UP FOR SPECIAL TRAIN TO BROWNWOOD BEFORE THE END OF THIS WEEK

"On to Brownwood."
The end of this week will see the last name signed to the dotted line and the last twenty-five dollar check received by the Chamber of Commerce for accommodation on the special Pullman train that will be used to take the Lubbock delegates to the convention city where they will participate in what has been declared, will be the greatest meeting of its kind to be held in the South this year.

There is no getting around the fact that Lubbock must be well represented. The eyes of all West Texas will be upon the convention city for the three days, and it is up to Lubbock to be in their range every day and every hour of the convention; not so much to be conspicuous, but to eliminate the conspicuousness of the absence of a large delegation from Lubbock.

Lubbock is not going to the convention with the view of taking away any of the honors that will be given West Texas towns there. Her proud citizens will not have an attitude of "Look What Lubbock Has Done" about them, nor will they detract from the popularity of any other city whose delegates will be at the convention.

Lubbock will attend and enjoy the convention. Her business men will mix and mingle with the business men from all other cities in West Texas, and will be entertained by the Brownwood citizens, and anyone who can make arrangements to attend the convention will make a grave mistake if they fail to make the trip.

The conveniences of the "Pullman City" will equal those of the most substantial home, while the entertainment features will rival anything ever attempted by the citizenship of any town. Brownwood is prepared to entertain the convention. Her entire citizenship is working overtime making ready for the biggest convention ever entertained within the walls of the city, and in this task she is receiving the heartiest co-operation of a host of citizens of adjacent cities and towns, all of which will combine to make the convention better from every viewpoint.

Let us all adopt the slogan voiced by the Kiwanians when they were asked at the conclusion of Thursday's luncheon whether or not they wanted to hold the regular weekly meeting during the week of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, as they said "Let's All Go to Brownwood."

Let us demonstrate to you our new model electric Singer. Balcony of Texas Furniture Company Singer Sewing Machine Company. Phone 97. 127-11.

MANY LABOR AGENCIES TO BE ESTABLISHED

By United Press
AMARILLO, Texas, May 1.—Free employment agencies will be established in many cities of the state this year to facilitate the handling of laborers for the wheat growing section, according to State Labor Commissioner Joseph S. Meyers. The commissioner has established headquarters here.

Heretofore much delay and trouble was occasioned in getting laborers during the harvesting season. Now local officers of the organization are busy collecting data to act as a guide for the placing of the labor supply on hand.

ORPHANS' WORK ATTRACTING LADIES

The officers of West Texas Children's Orphans Home are pleased with the interest shown by the ladies of our city. An advisory committee composed of one lady from each church in Lubbock has been selected. These ladies have very kindly consented to serve and offer their assistance in any way that will be of interest to the home.

It is not the intention of the officers of the home to obligate the churches in any way, but it is their desire to serve the public to the greatest extent possible, and in this way, they can reach a greater number of people.

For the benefit of the public we wish to mention the names of the ladies composing the advisory committee and their church affiliations: Mrs. J. A. Rix, Episcopal Church; Mrs. S. H. Stewart, First Methodist Church; Mrs. W. C. Bryan, First Baptist Church; Mrs. Paul Barrier, First Christian Church; Mrs. J. M. Lewis, First Presbyterian Church; Mrs. M. W. Dickinson, Cumberland Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Jno. W. Agnew, Seventh Day Adventist Church; Mrs. W. T. Boone, Church of the Nazarene; Mrs. C. J. Leland, Christian Science Society.

HAMLIN IS MAKING BIG PREPARATIONS FOR CONVENTION

BROWNWOOD, Texas, May 1.—"Hamlin is coming to the convention strong and most of the delegates will come via automobile, prepared to camp, while there. Everybody is enthusiastic over the meeting." This is the cheering message that came to Chairman P. A. Glanville of the central committee for entertainment for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. Further information was given that Miss Rozette Brand would represent Hamlin as duchess. Hamlin is an ambitious and thriving city located at the junction of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and Orient railways, and is the terminal of the Abilene and Southern, and is one of the three largest towns in Jones county. This county is the largest cotton producing county in all West Texas, and while it has been regarded as rather slow on the question of good roads the last year has seen a new day in this regard. The people of the central portion of the county have already voted a big bond issue for permanent improvements, and in the western section of the county, including Hamlin, Anson, and Leudors will follow this example. All of Jones county will be represented at the annual convention, but from present indications Hamlin will have one of the most enthusiastic delegations that will come from afar.

The camping idea it has decided upon will insure entertainment without trouble, and will afford an outing that will be very pleasant.

DIST. GOVERNOR TRADE TRIPPERS TO BE HERE MAY 5TH POWELL SPOKE TO KIWANIS

James L. Powell, governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis Clubs, international, was a guest of the local Kiwanians at their regular weekly luncheon Thursday. The entire program hour was given over to the visitor who was introduced by club president S. C. Wilson.

District Governor Powell is an able speaker and his visit to Lubbock and appearance on the program was thoroughly enjoyed by the Kiwanians.

He gave a history of the organization of Kiwanis nine years ago how it was designed to take a part in community, civic, national and international relationships, and how its influence may be expected to reach into all communities of the United States fostering and retaining the golden rule as applied to relationships between men.

Mr. Powell is a forceful speaker, whose influence in spreading Kiwanis fellowship and Kiwanis influence throughout the district of which he is governor, and which comprises two of the leading states of the union, will result in great good.

At the conclusion of Mr. Powell's address Mr. Wilson made several important announcements, and after getting a number of the Kiwanians to volunteer to place their cars at the service of the delegates of the Seventh District Texas Women's Federated Clubs convention to be held here next week, concluded the program.

COOLIDGE HOLDS TIGHT GRIP ON PARTY

By United News.
WASHINGTON, May 1.—One of the wonders of the hour is the ease with which President Coolidge in his silent, unobtrusive way, has closed his grip tightly around the republican organization to a degree which has amazed the old time politicians of the party.

The developments Tuesday served to emphasize the completeness with which Coolidge now dominates the republican landscape.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Coolidge's only opponent for the nomination, announced that physical difficulties had compelled him to abandon his Indiana speaking tour and that his plans for his campaign after the Indiana primaries, one week hence, are unformed. This was taken to forecast an abandonment of the fight which has for weeks been regarded as futile by all except possibly Johnson himself.

Incidentally, it was indicated that the president attaches little importance to the keynote functions of the temporary chairman. Burton was chosen, not only because the president held him in high regard but because he lives in Cleveland and is in a position to extend the word of welcome to the delegates and because he comes from the state of Warren Harding.

ATTORNEY CALLS MILLIONAIRE "DEAD BEAT"

NEW YORK, May 1.—W. E. D. Stokes, the rich and elderly hair-trigger litigant, whose endless rows in court have been chronicled for years, was denounced as a "dead beat" recently by a bitterly disappointed lawyer, who took part in the millionaire's furious campaign against Mrs. Stokes in the expectation of receiving $100,000.

Daniel Nugent, disillusioned and angry, asked judgement for $61,000 which he claims is still due and unpaid and, in an outburst of regret exclaimed "I wish to God I had never seen him."

It was only another incident to Stokes, however, who has heard himself denounced far more capably and in greater detail many times before, especially by counsel for his wife, whom he once accused of infidelity with his own son by a former marriage.

Nugent said Stokes made his

RUSSIAN PEASANTS SEE END OF THE WORLD

By United Press.
MOSCOW, Russia.—The Russian peasant, especially of the Volga region, has a hunch that the world is coming to an end quick. In some places they are refusing to till the soil or sow the land. "What's the use? We are all going to the devil anyway!"

However, the local rumors differ on how the end is coming. Some declared that there will be an earthquake and that fire out of the earth will destroy the world. The other ones insist on the flood theory.

KANSAN FOUND GUILTY WIFE MURDER

By United-News

MOUND CITY, Kan., May 1.—J. Ellison Scott, former prosperous merchant of Lacygene, Kansas, now practically penniless after a long and expensive court battle, Thursday was found guilty of second degree murder in connection with the death of his wife.

Notice of an appeal to the supreme court and application for a stay of sentence was filed immediately by Scott's attorneys. The jury was given the case late Wednesday.

The maximum penalty for second degree murder in the state is 25 years in prison.

Bond for Scott was fixed at $20,000 for his appeal from the jury's decision.

He was unable to make bond and was remanded to jail. Scott, who maintained a stoical attitude throughout his first trial, which ended in a deadlock jury, surprised the large crowd of farmers who had driven for miles around to attend the trial with his apparent disregard of his predicament in his latest ordeal.

He heard witnesses tell of his affectionate regard for his pretty 19 year old niece, Arleen, a school teacher who became implicated in the crime when she was accused of being an accomplice of Scott, without the least of emotion.

Occasionally, he drummed his fingers nervously on his counsel's table. He smiled at the verbal battles of the state's attorneys and his own lawyers.

However, as the case was being prepared for the jury, he appeared fidgety and often glanced about the room as if in search of friends. He heard a scathing denunciation of his friendship with his niece from assistant Attorney General Smith, with a wry smile on his face.

The verdict came to him as a great surprise. His jaw sagged and his face blanched for a moment. But this was all. Scott walked back to jail with a firm step. Neither he nor his attorneys would comment on the decision other than to say the appeal would be filed.

maze of islands, jutting capes, inlets and bays, and it may be several days before every cove is visited. The "Seattle" is equipped with Very Pistols for signaling at night and as both men are armed they should be able to attract attention of any ships come near them.

The character of this latest adventure of the flight commander, whose connected exploits since he and his companions left Seattle read like a romance, was only a matter of conjecture here Thursday night. His motor was working perfectly when he left Chingnik, and should have given him no trouble. The snow would have compelled the plane to fly low so that the fliers could follow the shore line to their destination, and the force of the gale might have retarded the plane so that the flight could not be continued at a low altitude it was believed. Forced to land and seek shelter in an inlet, the fliers might have been unable to get their plane aloft again.

Opinions that the gallant flight commander and his mechanic might perhaps have met disaster were scattered along the radio watch today. Martin has come through every adventure with the flying color, displaying a tenacity of purpose which sustains the possibility that he has met with serious accident.

Search Proves Futile

BREMERTON, Wash., May 2.—Friday—The naval radio station here, after being in communication with the Cordova, Alaska station reported at 10:30 p. m. Thursday night that no word had been received regarding Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the air plane Seattle, who with his mechanic, Sergeant Harding, was missing since he left Chingnik at noon Wednesday, bound for Dutch Harbor.

United States Revenue cutters and all fishing and cannery vessels in the adjacent waters are continuing their search for the commander of the American round-the-world flight expedition.

LOCAL CHURCH OF CHRIST TO FINISH BUILDING BY AID OF LOAN

A loan of $20,000 which was placed with a local insurance representative has been approved for the Church of Christ of Lubbock, and it will now be possible for the church to be completed in the very near future.

This building is one of the churches in Lubbock which was started some time ago, the basement was completed and used for the church and Sunday school services, until the congregation has grown to such numbers as to make an immediate enlargement of the building imperative.

This church is located on Broadway and the grounds have been given such attention as was necessary to keep the place in keeping with the beautiful homes of that section of the city from a standpoint of appearance, as nearly as possible, and now with the completion of the church to be effected in the near future it will lend substantially to the appearance of that vicinity.

Lubbock citizens are to be congratulated upon the work they have done in building nice homes, large and well furnished schools and beautiful churches, and the pastor of the Church of Christ as well as all members of the board of managers and others of the congregation deserve the hearty commendation of everyone on this progressive move.

PROGRESS BEING MADE IN DISTRICT COURT CIRCLES

Some progress is being made in disposing of the cases in the 72nd Judicial District Court which convened Monday morning.

Practically all day Thursday was spent in disposing of smaller cases, taking judgment by default, and making such headway as was possible under existing conditions.

The grand jury is having a very busy week, but it was anticipated at the county attorney's office yesterday that they will not have the usual number of cases to investigate. Liquor cases will probably head the list as usual, and it is believed that several bills will be reported today, due to the fact that the district attorney has already prepared several indictments to which the name of the foreman of the grand jury will be affixed.

SMALL POX EPIDEMIC IS THREATENING LUBBOCK

Lubbock is threatened with an epidemic of small pox which already has made such headway as to cause the city health doctor and other physicians to urge that every precaution be taken to help bring the epidemic within control.

Two cases were reported Thursday morning and before night this number had been increased to nearly a half dozen.

Vaccination is said to be the only sure preventative, and only the closest co-operation of the citizens with the city health officer can result in an immediate checking of the epidemic, which if allowed to spread will ultimately cause a closing of the city schools for a while.

The first cases of small pox were handled so well, and the quarantine rules were adhered to so strictly that local people had begun to think that the epidemic was entirely abolished, and the developments of Thursday have caused no little uneasiness on the part of observers.

School children and in fact, everyone whose work takes them into contact with crowds of people are urged to be vaccinated at once.
