NEFF DECLINES TO HEAD TEXAS U.

ELECTED PRES. STATE U. BY 7 TO 2 VOTE FRIDAY

OFFICE NOW BE OFFERED TO FORD, DEAN OF MINN. UNIVERSITY

By United News. AUSTIN, Texas, May 16.—Governor Pat Neff was Friday afternoon elected president of the University of Texas, but declined the honor.

The governor in Eastland was advised by wire of his election and he immediately wired back to Luther Stark, chairman of the board of regents, declining the presidency. In his telegram Governor Neff said:

"I deeply regret that the only light I have to guide my feet does not reveal at this time the path of duty with sufficient accuracy to enable me to see my way clear to accept the proffered position of trust and responsibility.

"The presidency of that institution carries with it the mightiest academic honors and furnishes a broad field for enduring service. It is indeed to me an inviting place in which to live and labor."

Immediately after Governor Neff's telegram declining the office was received by Chairman Stark, the board voted to offer the presidency to Dr. Guy Stanton Ford, dean of the University of Minnesota, it was learned. Dr. Ford has not sought the office but his acceptance is believed likely here.

When the board of Regents by a vote of 7 to 2 elected Governor Neff president, Regents Frank C. Jones and Sam P. Cochran of Dallas resigned declaring it was against the interest of the University of the state, and wrong in principle to "choose the governor, who had appointive power over the regents."

LOCAL BOOSTERS RETURN HOME FRIDAY

Tired but happy over their experiences during the three days' convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Brownwood, one hundred and fifty Lubbockites returned to their homes and places of business here Friday morning at eight thirty o'clock, on their special train.

Lubbock people are entirely carried away with the genuine hospitality shown them by the people of Brownwood. The three days' convention was a source of continuous entertainment more people from Lubbock having been in attendance at the program when Alvin Owsley, commander of the American Legion, Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the Texas Tech and Governor Pat Neff spoke Wednesday morning, than from any other one town represented at the convention. The spacious auditorium was not nearly filled to capacity, but had all the delegates turned out in as representative numbers as did those of Lubbock, its capacity would have been overtaxed.

It is hard to relate with cold type the eventfulness of the concluding program which was held at the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall Thursday night. The Mayor of Escoto and his brave following of the remaining eleven citizens of that magic city of the west were in attendance, and a pageant rivaling in comic resourcefulness the combined productions of all the comic writers and artists of the Sunday supplements was only presented by them. The Mayor of Escoto was none other than the "hired hand," of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram broadcasting station who is heard by radio by so many Texans and others capable of tuning in on that station. The pageant was rivaled for its class of entertainment only by the address delivered by Escoto's mayor in nominating that city as a candidate to entertain the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in 1925. This program was also attended by

Bootlegger "King" Tells Of Rum Ring

SAYS HE JOINED JESS SMITH FOR HIS PROTECTION

DREW PERMITS FOR LIQUOR WITHDRAWAL THROUGH SMITH, HE SAYS

By United News. WASHINGTON, May 16.—Coming from a cell in the Atlanta federal prison George Remus, "king of bootleggers" has explained to a senate committee how he piled up a small fortune in what has become one of the country's flourishing industries.

Remus was no piker. He did business on a large scale. One incident of that business was to secure protection. So he linked up with Jess Smith, confidant of former Attorney General Daugherty, and paid him altogether the modest sum of $250,000 or thereabouts, he told the Brookhart committee. This money he explained was to secure permits for withdrawals of liquor and to ward off prosecution.

Like the best bartenders of the good old days, Remus is a teetotaler, he said. But he was never a bartender. He was a lawyer and practiced law for 19 years in Chicago. When the Volstead act came along, he moved down to Cincinnati. There he built up his business which was stretched over several states before it finally was stopped and the "king" sent to Atlanta.

Remus was born in Germany and came to this country when he was four years old. He since has become typically American in appearance. He wore a swagger gray business suit when he testified before the Brookhart committee Friday with the warden of the prison, who came with him, watching from the side. He answered the questions deliberately, with an occasional flash from his keen, deep blue eyes. He is short and bald headed, except for a thick tuft of sandy brown hair about his ears.

Going down to Cincinnati after he gave up his law business, Remus bought a string of distilleries, seven altogether he testified, paying anywhere from $50,000 to $225,000 for them. The liquor was distributed, he said, ostensibly through a string of drug stores for medical purposes, but it really was retailed by bootleggers, who carried it far and wide. Altogether, Remus said, between 600,000 and 800,000 gallons of liquor were distributed, making it a mammoth business.

Remus declared that he met Jess Smith in 1921 in New York City. The demand for liquor was getting too great for the supply, and he met Smith to increase the supply. He and Smith came to an understanding, whereby Remus was to obtain permits for so much a case to be withdrawn from bonded warehouses, according to his story. "I knew he was close to Daugherty," Remus replied when asked about Smith's influence. Then, according to Remus, began the series of payments to Smith which the witness described, $20,000 at a hotel here, $30,000 at a

LORENZO WOMAN KILLED SELF FRIDAY

LORENZO, May 16.—The community was shocked this morning when before many of the people of the city were astir, the information was passed from house to house, and over the telephones that Mrs. Floyd Pearson had taken her own life at about 5:30 this morning.

The tragedy occurred at the country home near Lorenzo, and the information that we gain most authentically is that the husband had gone with the hired hand, to the cow pens to do morning work leaving Mrs. Pearson in bed. They had not proceeded very far from the house when they heard an unusual noise, and returning they found Mrs. Pearson dead, with a bullet wound in the heart. A 22-20 pistol was found near her, and it is with this weapon that she is supposed to have inflicted the fatal wound.

U. S. FLYERS HOP OFF FROM ATTU

BREMERTON, Wash., May 16.—Heading out into the Pacific on the longest flight in their round the world undertaking the American army fliers hopped off Friday from the island of Attu.

The fliers waited until a storm early Friday morning subsided sufficiently to warrant their attempt and plunged off for 878 mile flight. The following message was picked up by the naval radio station here outlining their progress: "Planes on last lap of flight across Pacific today. They will head for Cape Kronatski. Expect to reach that position at 10:15. They will then fly along the peninsula to Paranusshuru. Expect to arrive at destination between 3 and 5 p. m."

From the island of Attu, the westernmost extremity of the long Alutian peninsula the fliers headed west where the first sight of land would be the lonely Cape Kronatski, on the eastern shore of the great Kametka peninsula of Asia. After sighting land the fliers were ready to take the route in a southerly direction to Paranusshuru at the southern end of the peninsula. The fliers were able to take off after being delayed since Monday by unusually stormy weather. Throughout the early part of the week winds of from 60 to 70 miles an hour prevailed at different times.

Today dawned with the rough weather still raging, but apparently conditions moderated until the flight was considered practical.

British Flier Delayed. CALCUTTA, May 16A. S. N. MacLaren, the British round-the-world flier will remain here four days while a new engine is being installed in his plane. MacLaren arrived Friday.

SNYDER WRECK VICTIM DIES

REX AWALT SUCCUMBS FOLLOWING BATTLE FOR HIS LIFE

Rex A. Awalt, of the First State Bank of Snyder, who was injured in an automobile accident three miles from Snyder late Thursday evening, and who was brought to a local sanitarium Friday morning died here Friday night about 8 o'clock.

The remains were prepared for burial by the Rix Undertaking company and were shipped to Post, the home of his parents last night. Interment will be made in the Post cemetery today, according to his father. Mr. Awalt, who is 24 years of age, was one of several members of a Snyder Sunday school class who were enroute to a picnic in the country for a short outing, and when the heavy truck in which they were making the trip was being driven over a steep hill he leaped to the ground to relieve the machine of his weight while the hill was being pulled, and just as he started to run to the top of the hill he collided with a touring car just as it made the turn around a short curve at the hilltop. The accident, according to eye witnesses was unpreventable inasmuch as neither Mr. Awalt nor the driver of the car saw one another until an instant before he was struck. His skull was crushed and his right leg broken near the hip.

BAPTISTS VOTE ADDITIONAL BUDGET

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16.—Immediately upon completion of the "75 million campaign" on December 30, the Southern Baptist church will launch a campaign to raise $7,500,000 for benevolent enterprises next year, the church convention decided here late Friday.

The $7,500,000 will be spent in missionary educational and benevolent enterprises throughout the south and will be supplemented by another $10,000,000 to be raised by the various state conventions for their own purposes.

A canvas for the support of the budget will be held in local churches from November 30 to December 7 and a commission to direct the raising and expenditure of this money will have its headquarters in Nashville, Tenn. The convention failed to reach the resolution introduced Friday which would settle the belief of the church in the fundamental principles of the bible. The committee on resolutions has two such articles, one of which will be chosen by the convention. It is expected one by Dr. Maiden, of Kansas City will be the one reported out. It does not include any clause requiring all employers of the convention and its state conventions to sign these articles.

LAST ESCAPED CONVICTS FROM OKLA. PRISON SURROUNDED

By United News. McALESTER, Okla., May 16.—Aa Yarber, the last of the nine convicts who escaped from the state penitentiary here Monday is surrounded by a posse near Hughes, Oklahoma, according to reports reaching here Friday night. Blackie Rayburn, companion of Yarber, was shot down late Friday afternoon by a posse after a chase through the Latimer county hills, where the pair have been sighted several times by the man hunters during the last two days. Rayburn was taken into custody after being seriously wounded during a running battle with the posse.

By United News. PARIS, May 16.—Lieutenant Pelletier d'Oisy, the French trans-Asiatic flier, wired from Indo-China that he will leave Hanoi for Canton Saturday morning. D'Oisy has finished the preliminary tests of a new motor which has been installed in his plane.

Congressman Convicted in Whiskey Case.

Congressman John W. Langley, of Kentucky, has been convicted in a federal court in Covington, Ky., on charges of conspiring to bring about the illegal transportation of whiskey.

CONGRESS BEING BESIEGED ON BONUS

By United News. WASHINGTON, May 16.—Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon congress from many quarters, both for and against the soldier bonus bill as the house prepares to take action Saturday on the measure to test the president's veto. The house is expected to pass the bill over Coolidge's disapproval and most of the pressure is being directed against the senate where bonus opponents hope enough votes may switch to kill the bill finally when it is taken up there next week.

Two open efforts to influence sentiment developed Friday: A telegram to member of the senate from Julius H. Barnes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, urging that the president be sustained; and announcement of a pilgrimage of ex-service men from ten states, members of the ex-service men's antibus league to the capitol.

On the other hand, congress is urged to pass the bill over the president's veto in a letter to each member from John Thomas Taylor vice chairman of the legislative committee of the American Legion who takes issue with "Coolidge's theory of patriotism."

"The heart of America long ago abandoned the theory of patriotism which the president champions," Taylor said. "The congress and the people have decided that the soldier alone shall not be discriminated against, to the further financial gain of a nation teeming with prosperity."

AMARILLO ENTERTAINS NEWSPAPER MEN ON JUNE 18 to 20

The famous band of the West Texas State Teachers' College will meet all special trains of delegations. Trips have been planned to the Palo Duro Canyon and other historic points in the Panhandle.

PEARLS STOLEN FROM JAILED WOMAN, IS BELIEF

By United News. LOS ANGELES, May 16.—While police still searched for her $20,000 strand of pearls, Mrs. August Rickenbacker, former Los Angeles society leader, was due to be returned to the county jail here after pleading not guilty to charges of fraud in Pasadena Friday. The valuable gems were believed stolen from her neck as she slept on a bunk in the jail here just before she was taken to Pasadena to face the charge of attempting to beat a $1,000 hotel bill.

M'NEAL PLACED IN DEATH ROW

COUNSEL TO FILE MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL SAT. IN ASSAULT CASE

By United News. BEAUMONT, Texas, May 16.—George W. McNeal, 31, world war veteran and father, was placed in "Death Row" at the county jail here Friday night following his conviction by a jury of criminal assault upon an 11 year old girl.

The jury recommended the death penalty. Counsel for McNeal indicated they would file a motion for a new trial Saturday and if this is denied, Mrs. Ida Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., mother of the convicted man has promised financial aid to take the case to the higher courts.

The conviction of McNeal came a month after he was arrested on the charge of assaulting the girl and marked the climax of one of the most sensational trials in the annals of Jefferson county courts. McNeal steadfastly maintained his innocence, even after the girl pointed an accusing finger at him following his arrest and had tearfully cried out "he is the man."

His defense was that he had taken several drinks of bootleg liquor with a friend and for two hours or more remembered nothing of his actions. His wife and child were present in the court room when the girl who was the states chief witness took the stand and told of being taken out into the country by McNeal and related the story of the attack.

McNeal did not flinch, however, and when it came his turn to testify he pleaded "loss of memory" saying he had never seen the girl in his life until after his arrest.

Feeling which ran high in the few days leading up to the trial reached its height when McNeal took the stand. Deputies had been scattered in the courtroom and were prepared to cope with any uprising. The small crowd waited until late Thursday night for the jury to return its verdict and left only when it was evident that no verdict would be forth coming for hours. Steps had been taken to combat violence should an early verdict be reached, the crowd being reported in such an angry mood.

McNeal took his conviction calmly. He refused to issue a statement to newspapermen and his counsel merely said they would ask for a new trial. Although in "death row" McNeal was placed in a separate cell apart from the "death cell" now occupied by Newt De Silva, and apparently was reconciled to the situation.

TWO INJURED IN CORSICANA BLAST

By United News. CORSICANA, May 16.—A blast which maimed one man, injured another and was so powerful that it under a boiler a thousand feet distant was extinguished occurred at the oil fields here late Thursday when a gauge valve on a compressed air line blew out. E. E. Mosher, 33, is in the hospital here where one of his legs was amputated because of his injuries. He was thrown several yards by the force of the blast. Berry Brown, another worker, has sand blown into practically every part of his body and is badly injured.

Timber was hurled through the air and the fires under distant boilers were extinguished by the force of the air.

MAN JUMPS 8 STORIES TO INSTANT DEATH FRI.

By United News. LOS ANGELES, May 16.—With a shriek that gladdened hundreds of eyes on his figure as he hurtled through space Vincent Novak, forty, hurriedly crowded here Friday as he was dashed to death after jumping eight stories. Striking the bumper of a passing automobile, Novak's left arm was torn from his body. He was dead when pedestrians picked him up.

THE EXCUSE

I told him that my child is sick,
And thought perhaps he hadn't heard;
He called me in to make a kick
Because some blunder had occurred.
"Did you do this?" he screamed at me,
I said I did, and told him why.
"That's no excuse at all!" said he,
"I said to sell, and you wrote buy."

It's funny how some men forget
All that life teaches, day by day.
They suffer pain and grief and yet
The memory of it fades away.

A LILAC BUSH

By Elizabeth A. Thomas.
If you stole the tint of a sunset sky
When rose to amethyst turned,
If you caught the gleam in mother-
of-pearl
While mauve and lavender burned,
If you pressed the hues from a thousand blooms
Of the royal fleur-de-lis,
Or held the emurpling shadows that lie
On a deepening twilight sea;
You never could fashion so fair a thing
As rises from earths gray tomb,
With the magical touch of spring's right hand—
A lilac bush in bloom.

HARD TO PICK THE WINNER OF DERBY

By United Press

LOUISVILLE, Ken., May 16.—
Most of the fast and fashionable select of the equine set in the United States will step out at Churchill Downs tomorrow and help make auspicious the fiftieth anniversary of the running of the famous Kentucky Derby, the oldest and finest classic of the American turf.

Some of the finest three-year olds in the world are in the field that will run a mile and a quarter for the $50,000 purse and for the entertainment of a crowd that is expected to run over 50,000.

History bears out the theory of the professional dopers that the Derby is a free-for-all always and that it is a poor spot for a favorite. There have been more long shots down the line of fifty derbies than there have been favorites across the line.

Sarazen, recognized by some critics as last year's two-year old champion, was the favorite in the winter books at almost prohibitive prices, but since the start of the metropolitan season, Mrs. W. K.
Vanderbilt's prize youngster, has given away to St. James, the pride of the George D. Widener stable.

It was this St. James youngster that humbled and humiliated the great Zev on the opening day of the Jamaica season by beating the king of 1923 by five or six lengths and finishing with a laugh. St.
James had a very strong following during the winter and his victory over the big money winner of the Sinclair stable turned him into the big Derby favorite.

Many of the critics favor St.
James over Sarazen, because he is stronger and is figured to do better under 126 pounds than the frail Sarazen.

Black Gold, Mrs. R. H. Hoot's entry winner of the Louisiana Derby, has quite a following in the east and so have E. R. Bradley's Beau Butler, Walter Jefford's Dio-genes, Guy Bedwell's Senator Norris and the E. F. Simms filly, Happy Thoughts.

Western money, which found its confidence so greatly rewarded last year by In Memoriam, will go down house and lot on Wise Counsellor,
the boast of the Fred Burton stable.
Many eastern critics, reading of the form shown by Wise Counsellor in training figure that he and St.
James have the race between them.

The Ranococas stable, whose colors were flashed first under the wire
last year on the sensational Zev, will depend this year upon Mad
Play and Stanwix, Sam Hildreth, trainer for the stable, has been inviting all the attention to Stanwix, but it is understood that he has done most of his work with Mad Play and that he is figuring on making a killing in the race with the stable-mate of the illustrious 1923 winner.

Track conditions are so vital a factor in the race and there is so much attached to the breaks that it is hazardous to risk much on any youngster that goes to the barrier.

WORK TO BEGIN ON COCHRAN COURTHOUSE

R. T. Campbell, county judge of Cochran county, was here Friday looking after business and announced that material is being hauled to Morton for a temporary courthouse for Cochran county on which work is to begin in the near future.

The officers of Cochran county are very eager to get started into their work, and have some real tasks before them in that they are pioneering that county from a standpoint of developing and erecting a county governmental machine.

The construction of highways, opening community roads, building schools and helping in every possible way toward developing Cochran county is a job that requires the effort and skill of big men, an in the county judge and other officers who were elected for the county just recently the tax payers are sure they have builders of the first class.

The temporary courthouse will be used until a finer, more modern and commodious building of brick can be built.

"When the people of Cochran county build their permanent courthouse it will be built with a view of serving the people of the county for a number of years," the county judge declared.

Dr. Butler Refrained From Discussing Prohibition

NEW YORK, May 16—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, studiously refrained from a direct reference to prohibition in a speech before the national industrial board Thursday night, but made some pointed remarks on the subject of personal liberty.

There have been so many laws enacted which infringe on personal liberty that it is impossible to enforce them, he said.

Dr. Butler generally confined himself to his prepared address "The Relation of Government to Private Business Enterprise."

A TEST WELL WOULD BE A GOOD INVESTMENT.

The Avalanche has on several occasions, written regarding the drilling of a test well in this vicinity for a test of what we have, pure and simple, or at least spend enough money on a proposition to have a thorough geological test made for gas. Lubbock at this time is in need of gas for commercial and domestic uses just about as badly as any other one thing. Many times the matter of piping gas for more than a hundred miles has been discussed. This proposition has been gone into in a detailed way, and strings of figures have been made trying to estimate the cost of the same, and they have been reached, but they are staggering, and even then possibly uncertain, for gas fields have often proven that.

The Amarillo field seems at this time to be one that will go on and on and maybe an endless flow of gas will be received from it, and then again it might not hold on so long, but anyway a million, and a half of money is a staggering amount. It is a terrible pile for the ordinary man to think about, yet that is the minimum that has been placed for obtaining the much desired fuel.

We are sincere in the belief that there is just as good gas field here as there is around Amarillo, and possibly better, and investigation would probably be profitable. We would not encourage this as a money making venture, more than the possibility of developing something right in our own community that would mean much for the town. A good gas field opened within a reasonable distance from Lubbock would mean untold wealth to the community, and the city in particular. We would suggest that men who have large holdings here, who are interested in the development of the country, and whose interests would probably be strengthened and helped more by the bringing in of a gas field than any one else, and who are able to absolutely lose two or three thousand dollars on the deal should it fail, put up the money for this experiment, and if it makes good, then well and good, and if it proves of no avail, then you have lost no more, and possibly not as much as some of you men lost years ago in the oil fields when you were trying to get rich quick, and were not only not developing their home town, but taking good old hard earned money out of the banks and putting it in uncertain propositions, the majority of which proved to be nothing more than sink holes for gobbling up money.

A proposition of this kind would at least have the semblance of trying to help the old home town to obtain something that would be of untold benefit in years to come.

We would like to see an organized effort along this line. So that this development can go forward in a good way.

IS IT A WISE DEMAND?

The candidates of this country are being confronted with a demand this year that is working a very great hardship, and is forcing the candidates to do the very things that the Unions have been fighting for many years that of trading away from home. In Lubbock county the printing fraternity is unorganized, that is, they do not have a local union here. Many of the printers working in Lubbock are members of Unions elsewhere and their card is alive and in good standing, but for the fact that they have no local here, they are not permitted to use a union label on their job printing, yet the union members sneer and scoff at the candidate who hands them a card printed without the union label. We look upon this as an unjust demand, and believe that the unions are carrying their prejudices too far, and letting the principle of good reason be carried in their enthusiasm for union made products.

The Avalanche has never opposed unions where there is a chapter working in the town, nor are we fighting them in this instance, but we are having to send to union printers out of the city of Lubbock, order after order of candidate cards just for the reason of this very unjust demand. The candidate of course, cannot afford to lose any more votes than possible, and they want to be as congenial as possible to every one, and friendly to the members of every legitimate organization, and we do not believe that the various unions of this town should refer to this regarding printed literature until there is an organization of the printers in the city.

The owners of the shops here are not to blame for it, nor are they fighting it. We employ union labor when we build houses. We employ union labor when we have plumbing, papering and painting, yet you drive the business away from our shop just because we do not have a union here and are not permitted to use the union label.

If this is right, we would like for some of these fellows who have been turning up their nose at the cards printed at the local shops would please tell us in what way. We believe it is absolutely unfair, and that it is not in accordance with the principles laid down in your own organization, of you really get down to the golden rule paragraph in your constitution.

THE MATTER WITH AMERICA.

It looks more and more as if this country is in need of a greater William Allen White to shock it out of its complacency and self-satisfaction with a frank, searching blistering "What's the Matter With the United States?" The revelations of corruption at Washington ought to have brought a general awakening of its kind, but many signs indicate that it has failed to do so, that a full half of the people have allowed politicians to persuade them that there is little or nothing to be concerned about, and that the investigations are mere partisan attacks, although the investigations were voted by a practically unanimous Senate. There is something seriously the matter with the United States, or it would not be true, as Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman of the Prudential Insurance Company shows, confirming previous estimates, that "on the basis of population murders were 25 times as frequent (in this country last year) as in England and Wales," and three times as frequent here as in Italy.

Why are there crimes of violence in such vast proportions in a country which boasts not only of progress in all lines but of an orderly and good-natured population? Is it because of our negroes and our foreign groups, which are looked upon as things apart? Undoubtedly these are factors contributing toward the lamentable results, but fail in the adequate punishment of crime, because our administration of justice is so largely influenced by politics, because under our relatively amateur and partisan system we appoint, not policemen and judges, but Democrats and Democrats, because we care more for party supremacy and party rewards than for an effective policy and an expert, independent and terror-inspiring judiciary? Again this is a part of it, but this is not all.

Perhaps the chief cause of our unenviable eminence in crime was suggested by the New York World, when discussing in a recent editorial our "burden of law enforcement which is beyond ordinary human power," it said: "We are not content, as the English are, to mobilize the police and courts against criminals. We are determined to mobilize them against sinners and non-conformers as well. We keep our police so busy and our courts so clogged in an attempt to make mankind perfect that we have neither time nor energy to concentrate on crime. Starting with an undermanned and not very efficient and highly political machinery of law enforcement, we turn that machinery to executing more laws than the legislatures of the rest of the world have ever contrived to enact. The result is that policemen who ought to be fighting crime are to be found enacting plays, watching labor unions issuing statements about Bolshevism, tasting liquor in restaurants and inspecting bathing suits."

In other words, obsessed by a mania for "uplift" and for gringing out laws to that end, we have virtually left crime to take care of itself. With such conditions we need not wonder at the steady increase in the number of private organizations attempting to "regulate" outside of the law.

THE PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.

By the terms of the bill agreed to by the Insular Affairs Committee of Congress it is proposed that after the elapsing of twenty years the President of the United States shall, without the formality of a plebiscite or of further action by the American Congress, proclaim the independence of the Philippine Commonwealth. It is also proposed that all powers vested in a Resident Commissioner as the representative of the government of the United States shall be exercised only by the president of the United States. Another wise provision proposed is that no officer of the American Army or Navy shall be eligible to appointment as Resident Commissioner. While the proposed bill does not offer that full measure of autonomy desired by the leaders of the Filipino people, it does, if it becomes a law, commit the United States irrevocably to a program which will, with the passage of a score of years, bring the realization desired.

There has been introduced in the Senate, however, under the sponsorship of Senator LaFollette, a bill providing for the immediate withdrawal of the United States from the Philippines. It may develop that a coalition of Democrats and LaFollette Republicans will compel even greater concessions by the Administration.

TAXES TO BE REDUCED.

The substitution, on the floor of the Senate, of the tax schedules favored by the Democrats and insurgent Republicans and Farm Bloc senators, for the rates approved by a majority of the Senate Finance Committee, is a direct blow at the Administration and an action clearly in opposition to the expressed will of hundreds of thousands of business people who have indicated a preference for the so-called Mellon plan.

On the other hand it must be admitted that regardless of personal or partisan interests, taxes are to be reduced on many millions of small incomes, but not materially reduced on incomes in excess of $100,000. The chief argument against the proposed tax law is that it reduces too much and is liable to create a deficiency in the treasury. The chief argument in favor of the bill is that the fundamental theory of taxation, that all men pay in proportion to their interests or benefits, has been strictly adhered to. The way seems paved now, with the attitude of the House of Representatives made unmistakably clear by the vote recorded several weeks ago, for the final passage, so far as congressional action is concerned, of the measure which no doubt will be agreed upon in conference.

MARKETS

VIGOROUS RALLY FEATURES IN TRADING

By EDWARD J. CONDLON (U. N. Financial Editor)

NEW YORK, May 16.—The hope that administration leaders will be able to rally enough votes in the senate to sustain the president's veto on the bonus bill, and the easy money market furnished the basis for a vigorous rally in stocks, though the scant half million turnover hardly smacks of wide public interest in the market.

The fact of the matter is the bear crowd found little encouragement in the weekly reserve bank statement with its highest ration in six years, and less in the trade reviews as the important changes in the business situation had been pretty generally aired earlier in the week.

The active industrials including Baldwin American Can and Colorado fuel and iron rebounded from Thursday lows so that the net advance for the industrial group was nearly double that of the railroad issues.

The business reviews for the week call attention to the late starts that most crops are having and the general retarding of products of the soil as a result of unseasonable weather. This is naturally enough reflected in both wholesale and retail buying.

The textile industry is a bit more cheerful than it was a week ago, though buying has not increased to any extent. This cheerfulness is based on shortening of the lines of available stocks in wholesalers and jobbers hands which will mean that the rush to buy cannot be stayed off indefinitely. That cotton consumption showed a decrease in April for the third consecutive month was the logical outcome of the difficulties that have overtaken the textile industry. Even wool carpets have been forced lower, as well as cotton clothes as evidenced by the Alexander Smith and Sons $5,000,000 rug auction here this week where declines running 5 to 18 per cent from the previous schedule were chalked up.

The bond market is receiving considerable impetus from the easy tone that is ruling in the money market. So hard pressed are some banks to find employment for their funds that some institutions are urging large customers with a million or more of surplus capital cash to put it into high grade bonds rather than into their vaults.

This plethora of funds brought about the keen demand for seasoned railroad bonds such as Atchison, Union Pacific and New York Central.

Liberty bonds have been taken by banks in large quantities so that new highs for the year have been registered in most of the active issues. Friday morning a new high for the 3 1-2's for 1924 was recorded.

The principal source of worry to those interested in the constructive side of the market is the outlook for the steel. The placing of the industry on a 65 per cent basis of operations as against nearly 90 per cent for March. Incidentally a cut in the price of lead did not aid sentiment in the metal situation generally. Politics and trade remain the big influences at present, and certainly the former presents a more jumbled picture than at any time in recent years.

AMATEURS LOST DRILL WORK FRIDAY

Friday was "Africa Day" in Lubbock, for upon reaching the ball park yesterday afternoon for their daily workout, the local amateurs were met at the gate, as they drifted in one by one by a "long, yellow gal" who demanded 25c before she would let the gate swing ajar. Upon reaching the inside it was discovered that the lot was a veritable line of black folk who had paid their money to witness a clash between Amarrillo and Lubbock high schools in the realm of the national pastime.

Skipper Allen, all suited out for an afternoon of hard drill, leisurely strolled over to the end of the grandstand without a word, but with a look on his face implying "Well, who'd a thunk it," propped himself against the railing, and prepared for a few minutes of "entertainment." He soon despaired, however, and left the premises.

Anyway, the locals were forced to abandon any hope of a few minutes warming-up exercises, when at the end of the third inning of the dusky tribe affair the score stood 14 to 11. No one probably knows how the final count read, for the young "bucks" were slapping the pill to all corners of the lot mercilessly.

But, barring accident, the local lads expect to take a short snappy workout this afternoon at the park, the last opportunity they will have before the exhibition with Tahoka Sunday afternoon.

They are still on the debit side of the cash book as far as actual condition is concerned, but have been working fairly steady each afternoon during the week, and are in ordinary trim for the event. The astute of the skipper during the week indicate a probable shift in the line-up, especially on the infield, but what this will be probably will not be known until the batteries are announced Sunday afternoon.

In all likelihood Terry will begin the ceremony on the mound for the locals. He announces himself in fairly good condition, and when he is right, he is hard to beat.

OLSON HERE TO WRESTLE FOR THE LEGION

Chas Olson, Canadian middle-weight wrestler and challenger for the Texas-Southwestern title, arrived in Lubbock Friday from Colorado, Texas where he met and defeated Dick Peterson of that place in two straight falls. The first one coming at the end of thirty minutes with a hammer lock; the second at the end of ten minutes with a short arm scissors.

Olson made a great hit in Colorado both in handling himself in the ring and his manly conduct on the outside and in coming to Lubbock for another match here brings the best wishes of the fans of that city.

Olson's next match here is expected to be held next Friday, May 23rd, and while the opponent is yet unnamed there are two or three possibilities who are beginning to loom up as favorable contenders for the place Olson now holds in his weight among the great wrestlers of the country.

This bout will be put on by the local post of the American Legion and a great deal of interest is being shown in it. Olson is remembered for his work here with Kala Pasha, when the two wrestled to a draw in a match also sponsored by the American Legion.

The Texas and Southwestern title match will probably be wrestled here about July 4th by Olson and Kala Pasha, the championship cup now being held by the latter to be awarded the winner in this match.

Much interest is being shown in wrestling by local fans and the American Legion is doing everything within its power to bring the sport to the front in this section and is meeting with some success in these efforts.

Olson is one of the clever wrestlers of his weight, and any time he is pitted against a man who can in any way keep him busy the spectators will witness some real wrestling.

"Clean wrestling or no wrestling in Lubbock" is the substance of the program being sponsored by the local American Legion.

GIANTS AGAIN TAKE TOP IN NATIONAL

By United News.
Once again the New York Giants are perched on the National League pinnacle. After a two-days absence from their accustomed position in first place, the Giants regained the top berth when they defeated the Cubs in Chicago, while the Reds, erstwhile occupants of position No. 1, tumbled back into second place with their defeat by the Braves in Cincinnati.

The Giants victory over Chicago score of 16 to 12—the highest number of runs scored in a single game this season—gave New York a one-game and a half lead over Cincinnati which lost to Boston on their home lot 8 to 3.

The Giants-Cubs match in which a swelling total of 34 hits were registered, 21 by New York and 13 by Chicago, apparently disproved the theory that the ball this year was "dead" in comparison with the prosperous season of 1923 in which an amazing number of hits were made in the two leagues. However, this year's baseball statistics show a general toning down in the run scoring category of the game.

Many games have been won and lost by close scores this season. In Pittsburgh, the Pirates were nosed out in a 10th inning match with the Phillies 4 to 3.

A home run by Max Flack in the eleventh inning broke up a 5 to 5 deadlock between the Dodgers and Cardinals in St. Louis and gave the latter a 6 to 5 victory.

In the American League, rain dissolved half of the days program. The one half game lead separating the Yankees from the Browns was kept indoors by rain. Tris Speaker's Indians and Stanley Harris' Senators, also postponed their game because of rain in Washington.

The Tigers and Athletics and the White Sox and Red Sox were not affected by the weather. The former match was captured by Detroit by the score of 3 to 1 in Philadelphia. Joe Hauser, first baseman for Philadelphia, produced the only run made by the losers when he knocked his sixth homer of the season in the sixth inning.

The White Sox-Red Sox game

turned into a 12 inning battle and was finally won by Boston by a score of 4 to 3.

TWENTY ENTRIES BOOST GREAT DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Twenty eager three-year-old horses of the great young class that scrambled for the prize in 1923, will be mingling and prancing to the barrier at Churchill Downs Saturday afternoon to bolt for the finest honor that an American horse may win, the Golden Anniversary Derby of old Kentucky. Zev, Morvich, Old Rosebud, name of the distinguished horse that have won the Kentucky derby but you will not name one who ever won a golden jubilee or a golden bowl for his owner, or a set of 14 karat spurs for his jockey.

This race Saturday will be the annual hike of the best American three-year-olds over the storied Blue Grass course. It seemed as though the wraiths of goated colons and crinoline belles, long since laid away to eternal dreams of the age of Kentucky chivalry, were aboard on the shaded walks and pillared verandas of Louisville this night. The early summer winds gently stirred the leaves and made them murmur secrets of long ago. There was phantom fragrance of romance and mint.

But the derby crowd of 1924 milled about the hotel lobbies and the drug store corners, making a loud buzz of talk about Mr. Mutt, and Black Gold, about Mad Play and Transmute. Certainly there were stealing whispers beneath the old trees this night but they were given their last tests Friday. On Saturday morning they will all take their "pipe opening" hikes over the loam-footing of the course, just to bend their tendons and muscles and blow the cobwebs of sleep from their eyes.

Mr. Mutt, owned by Bud Fisher, made the fastest dash Friday, covering five furlongs in .59 4-5 seconds.

onds as the amateur clockers caught him from their positions along the rail. Abe Gordon trainer for the millionaire artist, who has also trained Nellie Morse to win the $54,000 preakness at Pimlico early this week, grinned a grin that parted his face and met at the back of his neck, when Mr. Mutt pulled up, scarcely breathing, after his run.

A BIT OF HISTORY

When the Coyotes Howled on "Lone Prairies"

Established in 1910, fourteen years ago, Lubbock was then a very small village with less than 2,000 people; surrounded by great ranches, stocked with the far-famed long horned cattle. When the day's work was done and night crept upon the great Staked Plains, you could hear the yelp of the coyotes from the doors of Lubbock homes.

It was then the children came to Martin's bakery for their bread. It was Martin's Bakery that was known as the leading bakery of these "great open spaces".

Now its the "Chug" of Traffic and Big Industries

To-day you find Lubbock a hustling City of many thousands and the "chug, chug" of heavy traffic and the "bang, bang, bang" of modern industries have chased the coyote into further western climes. You find the ranches turning into many, many prosperous farm homes—the coyote's yell is heard no more.

Aged in Leadership--Young in Ambition

Now you find the children, and the grown-ups many of whom are now married since first they depended upon Martin's Bakery, still coming here for their loaf of bread. The only difference is the improved loaf of bread, the increased number, now baked daily by the thousands instead of hundreds.

ASK YOUR GROCER

In conclusion you will be asked to believe that any business which survives and grows steadily as a leader for a period of time outlined above must have merits beyond question.

LOCAL MEN TO ERECT BRICK BUSINESS HOUSE

W. E. Humphries and J. L. Davis, well known local men who came to Lubbock several months ago from Sulphur Springs have just let a contract for the erection of a substantial brick business house on 13th street between Avenues H and L.
The building will be 50 by 100 feet and arrangement has been made for a private alley at the rear, making it a most desirable location in that it can be arranged for the convenient handling of most any line of merchandise and the 13th street front has valuable advantages not to be overlooked.
R. Q. Pierce, local real estate man who sold the lots to Humphreys and Davis several weeks ago, stated Friday morning that plans for occupying the building have not been completed as yet, but that they would probably be announced before the construction work is completed.

Lesson for May 18

ISAIAH AND THE ASSYRIAN CRISIS.

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 36, 37.
GOLDEN TEXT—"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."—Ps. 46:1.
PRIMARY TOPIC—How God Answered Their Letter.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Isaiah and the Assyrian Crisis.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Isaiah's Faith Saved a City.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Isaiah's Service to His Country.

I. The King of Assyria Invades Judah (Isa. 36).
1. Rabshakeh Meets a Deputation From Judah (vv. 1-21). Rabshakeh was a representative of Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, whose mission was to induce Judah to surrender. In order to accomplish this he—
(1) Tried to bully them into submission (vv. 4-9). He taunted them with their weakness and told them that Egypt was a broken reed that would not only fail of support but even pierce the hand that reached out to it. He challenged them by offering 2,000 horses, if they could furnish riders for them. If they could not furnish this small number it would be futile for them to attempt to withstand the great Assyrian army.
(2) He asserted that it was useless for them to put their trust in God (v. 10). He even declared that the Lord had sent him to destroy Judah.
(3) He tried to create a panic among the people (vv. 13-21). Fearing a panic among the people the deputation of the Jews urged Rabshakeh not to speak in the Jews' language. Taking up the suggestion he spoke loudly in the Jews' language, warning them against trusting in Hezekiah.
(4) He promised them plenty in another land similar to their own (vv. 16, 17). He urged them to make agreement with him and upon his return from Egypt he would take them to a land of plenty, but the people were loyal to Hezekiah, for they knew that the cruel Assyrians could not be trusted.

2. The Deputation Reports to Hezekiah (v. 22). They rent their garments doubtless in fear and dismay over their perilous condition, for the crisis long before predicted by Isaiah had now come upon them.

II. Hezekiah's Behavior (Isa. 37: 1-35).

1. Resorted to the House of the Lord (v. 1). This is a sure resort of God's people in time of distress (Ps. 73:16, 17; 77:13). This action was prompted by faith, for God had promised that those who in time of distress resorted to His house would be heard by Him (II Chron. 7:15, 16).

2. Sent Isaiah (vv. 2-7). The logical and natural thing for the king to do under such circumstances was to send for God's prophet. The prophet sent back words of encouragement to Hezekiah, assuring him that God would bring deliverance.

3. Hezekiah's Prayer (vv. 14-20). Rabshakeh, who seems to have withdrawn from Jerusalem for a little while, now returns from Sennacherib with a letter warning Hezekiah against trusting God for deliverance, assuring him that he would be deceived for no god was able to stand against the Assyrian army. He spread the letter before the Lord and prayed.
(1) He recognized God's throne, making it the ground of his plea (v. 16).
(2) He recognized the peril which threatened the people (vv. 17-19). Sennacherib had indeed laid waste the surrounding nations, but that ruin resulted because the gods of the nations were not real.
(3) He asked for deliverance (v. 20). He desired that deliverance would come in such a way as to vindicate and honor the Lord.
(4) Isaiah's Message to Hezekiah (vv. 21-35).

(1) That Sennacherib's sin was blasphemy against the Holy One of Israel (vv. 21-23).
(2) That Sennacherib had forgotten that he was an instrument in God's hand (vv. 24-28).
(3) Judgment upon Sennacherib was imminent (vv. 29-35). Deliverance would soon come and that through the agency of the Lord of hosts.

III. Destruction of the Assyrian Army (vv. 36-38).

The angel of the Lord went forth and smote in the camp of the Assyrians 185,000 men, so Sennacherib was turned back by the way he came. He did not enter Jerusalem and after this defeat he went back to Nineveh to live and while there worshipping in the house of his god he was assassinated.

Giving Thanks
Giving thanks for what we have is a good preventive against wishing about what we have not.

TECH SITE SOIL FORMATION TESTED

W. C. Fleet, of the architect firm of Sanguinetti-Statts & Hedrick, who is here looking after the firm's interest in the city hall now under construction, is making a number of tests at the site of the Texas Technological College to determine the formation of the soil for a depth of fourteen feet.

The information gathered in these tests will be used by the architects in determining the cost of the foundations for the buildings to be erected on the ground.

These tests will be completed in the near future, and reports of the findings will be sent to the headquarters office of the company.

hotel in Cincinnati, and numerous others at various places. Remus said he always made these payments in person, usually in $1,000 bills.

Smith told him, the witness said that he might be prosecuted, but that he would never go to the prison. Then came the indictment and conviction of Remus and several others. Smith assured him that the decision would be reversed when it was carried to the higher courts because of his influence with Daugherty, Remus said. This assurance came when Remus "coughed up" $20,000 more at a hotel here, the witness went on.

"When the matter was taken to the supreme court by a writ of certiorari he said there would be a pardon issued," Remus stated.

But Smith committed without ever making his promise good. Remus indignantly denied charges that he was being given special consideration at the federal prison.

a large number of the Lubbock delegates.

Following the balloting which resulted in Mineral Wells being chosen unanimously as the convention city in 1925, a little while ago was presented to a member of the Mineral Wells delegation. The motion to make the vote unanimous for Mineral Wells was made by Col. E. O. Thompson of Amarillo after the vote cast by Fort Worth had been withdrawn making a second balloting unnecessary.

Despite the all day grind, yelling, boosting, speaking and in every conceivable legitimate manner attracting the attention of the throngs to the desirability of holding the next convention at Mineral Wells, the delegation from that city showed a great deal of pep after the final session had been held at the auditorium by staging a street parade in which all of them participated, led by their Junior Rotary Band, designated the "Biggest Little Band in the World."
