Leopold Blamed For Franks Murder By Loeb

NOT CAPABLE OF CRIME BY SELF IS BITTER WAIL

LOEB'S FULL CONFESSION MADE PUBLIC THROUGH STATES ATTORNEY

By EDWARD C. DERR
CHICAGO, Ill., June 7.—"I would not have been capable of killing Franks had it not been for the suggestion and stimulus of Leopold."

This was the statement of Richard Loeb, 19, millionaire's son, whose confession that he took part in the murder of Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy was made public today.

Loeb, whose tear-stained face trembled as he broke down and made the first confession of the crime, laid all the blame on his former college chum and comrade, Nathan Leopold, Jr.

Both boys held on indictments charging them with kidnapping and murdering young Franks are held without bail at the county jail. They will be arraigned Wednesday.

Young Girl Not Connected, Germain K. Reinhard, 18 year old sweetheart of Loeb, whose name was reported to have been connected with the state case against the two youths, "is in no way connected with our investigations" it was stated at the states attorneys office this evening.

Knowing that Miss Reinhard was a friend of Loeb, it was natural that we should question her regarding what she knew of his habits, an aide of states attorney Robert E. Crowe told the United Press.

It is true that her initials—G. K. R. appeared at the bottom of the letter written by Leopold and Loeb in which they demanded $10,000 of Robert Franks' father, but we have never and do not now suspect this girl of any knowledge of the crime.

Reports had been circulated that Crowe's staff was working upon a theory that Miss Reinhard had tipped the ransom letter for the

The eighth annual session of the Northwest Texas Epworth League will convene in Lubbock Monday and the convention will continue until Friday evening.

More than five hundred delegates are expected, and members of the local Epworth League have been making every effort to provide rooms for them. It is expected that this will be accomplished today, as the final effort in this connection will be made when all churches in the city will be visited during the preaching hours today by Leaguers who will ask that the congregations lend a hand in entertaining the delegates.

Prominent speakers will be in Lubbock for the convention among them being Dr. E. W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college. Dr. Horn is to appear on the program practically every day of the convention and there are other speakers who will have something of great importance to say to the delegates.

It has been estimated that the damages will run near a million dollars.

JAPS PROTEST SHOWING OF U. S. FILMS

By United Press
TOKIO, June 7.—Demonstrations condemning a series of movie theatres showing American films, broke out in Tokio during the past 48 hours.

Twenty hired Japanese trouble-makers intruded on a dinner dance of Americans at the Hotel Imperial, made violent anti-American speeches and distributed inflammatory pamphlets protesting against the American exclusion laws. The intruders carried swords and a few waved them about. There were some scuffles but no casualties, and no police interference. Some of the handbills passed by the Japanese hoodlums demanded the exclusion of all Americans from Japan.

The intrusion upon the hotel dance and the descent upon the theatre were said to be a part of a pre-arranged series of demonstrations designed to show dissatisfaction with the American immigration.

The American charge d'affaires who has been in charge of the embassy since the departure of Ambassador Woods this week, and several members of the embassy staff were present at the dance in the Hotel Imperial. When the ruffians entered and began their disturbance the dance was broken up, most of the guests leaving hurriedly.

DISMISSAL OF MAYFIELD CASE IS URGED

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The sub-committee of the senate selections committee which investigated the election of Senator Mayfield of Texas today, recommended to the full committee that the contest of George E. B. Paddy against the election be dismissed, and Mayfield be seated.

The full committee will not act on the report until the December session.

The sub-committee, consisting of Chairman Spencer Watson, Indiana, Neely, West Virginia and King Utah, voted unanimously to permit Mayfield to retain his seat.

In a formal statement of the sub-committee Spencer announced the evidence thus far adduced did not warrant the unseating of Mayfield.

"The committee," the statement said, "recognizes that the legal phase of the contest as well as the charges of intimidation of voters have not been fully covered but counsel has agreed to submit a digest of what they expect to prove in this connection and how they expect to prove it."

Pure Seed Planting Boosted, AUSTIN, Texas, June 7.—The state board enforcing the pure seed law after conclusion of a conference in Austin announced that the breeders of registered and certified seed have signed papers to plant a large area this year in pure seed for registration and certification.

Firemen and fire fighting apparatus from many nearby towns were called, and when the blaze was at its height, 250 firemen were battling to get it under control. Aided by the Santa Fe railroad, which ran a special train here from Slaton, apparatus and men from Slaton and Lubbock, reached here shortly before dark, and with high pressure pumps aided very materially in checking the conflagration, which had gained such headway that hopes of saving the buildings already burning was abandoned, and the entire force was sent on ahead of the flames in an attempt to check its headway.

MAN MAKES TWO ATTEMPTS AT OWN LIFE

By United Press

DALLAS, June 7.—Failing to kill himself by butting his head against a downtown building, a man believed to be G. W. Jones, of Dallas, dived head first from the sidewalk at City Hall to a basement below and is in a dying condition at Parkland hospital.

The man, knocked unconscious by a patrolman who attempted to arrest him while Jones dashed head first into a brick wall, was taken to city hall emergency hospital and his wounds dressed. He then walked out of the room to the sidewalk and dived into the basement, fracturing his skull.

COPIES OF BRIEF RAIL PETITION ISSUED SAT.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 7.—On the title page of the brief which has been filed with the interstate commerce commission in behalf of the application of the Waco, Beaumont Trinity and Sabine railroad company to extend its line from Livingston to Beaumont and thence to Port Arthur and West Port Arthur, appears the following excerpt of the 127th Plasm:

"Except the Lord build the house they labor in vain that build it" Copies of the brief were received Saturday by the Texas Railroad Commission before whom the hearing was held.

Particular attention is called in the brief to the intervention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce asking that the road be built as it will give a new and great cotton country a new outlet and a direct line to deep water.

HUNDREDS TO PAY TRIBUTE TO VETERAN NEWSPAPERMAN

EL RENO, Okla., June 7.—Hundreds of former colleagues and friends of Edgar Bronson will pay final tribute to the veteran Oklahoma newspaperman at his funeral services here tomorrow.

WEATHER
WEST TEXAS: Sunday part cloudy, probably thunder showers in panhandle, cooler; Monday generally fair.

The flames started in the rear of the yard of the Cicero Smith Co., presumably in a stack of cedar posts. It spread immediately to the lumber sheds, jumped across the street to the Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. sheds, both of which were soon in a mass of seething flames.

From here it spread to the Corner Drug Store on the south side of the square, and aided by a heavy wind from the southwest, jumped quickly to adjoining buildings, sweeping the entire block in its path, laying low a row of brick buildings some of them just recently completed and occupied, including the firms of Simpson-Bennett Motor Co., the Economy Store, The Tourist Cafe, Payne Grocery Co., H. G. Gray Saddle Shop, Bodzin Dry Goods Co., R. T. McDade Dry Goods Co., Rix Furniture Co., Caldwell Service Shop, Wilson Barber Shop, and the Boss Candy Kitchen.

These buildings, together with their contents, except for what few articles were carried out by hand, were entirely destroyed. Protected somewhat by the course of the wind, the Majestic Theatre, on the lot east of the Corner Drug Store was partially saved. The rear end, however, was gutted by the flames. The Corner Drug Store also was largely saved.

The flames were confined largely to the business district, but reached out and razed three residences in the vicinity of its path. Eleven business houses were completely destroyed, with property damage running into the thousands of dollars on other nearby houses.

According to a supposition advanced by the manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber company, tonight, the conflagration was started when someone carelessly flipped a burning cigarette stub into a pile of cedar posts at the rear of the yard.

At 1:30 tonight, flames were still raging in the devastated area, but were under control, and according to firemen in charge of the work, no further danger of spreading exists. The flames were brought under control about 11 o'clock, after a determined 7-hour fight by local and visiting firemen.

Telephone communication, both north and south, were severed soon after the flames gained good headway, according to the local telephone exchange, and the city was almost without communication with the outside world for several hours, only a few outlying points remaining intact.

Just Folks

THE PESSIMISTIC GOLFER

I believe in being cheerful, I'm opposed to being tearful,
And I think a laugh is better than a whine;
And I'd rather sing and whistle than go round a human thistle
With a lot of thorns protruding from my spine.
When mirth's kettle starts to bubble, I won't add a dash of trouble,
Or spoil it with some petty tale of woe;
But I cannot help complaining when I find it always raining
On the day when golfing I can go.
I won't carry on my sorrows thru a string of glad tomorrows,
And I won't unload my burdens in a room
Where the laughter gay is ringing, I won't interrupt the singing
To poison all the gladness with my gloom.

Though I've lost my hard earned dollar I'll not even make a "holler,"
You will never guess there's hatred in my veins;
But I'll say my joy is frozen when on Wednesdays, which I've chosen
For a round of golf, it regularly rains.
When good fellows meet together, I don't growl about the weather,
And I tell no hard luck stories, though I could;
There's no sense in vainly fretting at the sort of luck we're getting,
In the end we'll find the most of it is good.
To my trouble I will buckle and I'll meet it with a chuckle,
But I suffer doubt and pessimistic pains,
And I find my faith is shaken, when the one day I have taken
For a round of golf, it regularly rains.

ABATINI'S "SCARAMOUCHE" TO BE SEEN HERE ON SCREEN

"Scaramouche," a Rex Ingram production for Metro pictures corporation, adapted from Rafael Sabatini's novel of the same name, will come to the Lindsey Theatre for 2 days beginning Monday. This picture, a feature in ten reels, has played special engagements in the larger cities and comes to Lubbock acclaimed by critics as one of the masterpieces of filmdom.

Ingram, from all accounts, has surpassed his production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" with this picture.

"Scaramouche" is a story of the French Revolution. It tells the romance of Andre-Louis Moreau (Ramon Novarro) and Alice de Keradio (Alice Terry). Andre-Louis has been brought up as a ward of Aline's uncle. The Marquis de la Tour d'Azyr (Lewis Stone), a haughty aristocrat and man of fashion, killed Andre-Louis' friend Philippe, because of his revolutionary sentiments, and on the Marquis Andre-Louis has sworn eternal vengeance. To make matters worse the Marquis is courting Aline.

Andre's sedicious speeches cause him to be sought for the gallows, and in escaping from the pursuing gendarmes, he joins a strolling band of players and becomes Scaramouche, the clown. Bitterness against Aline leads him to an affair with the leading lady of the troupe, but he ends this when the girl accepts from the Marquis.

Skilled in fencing, Andre-Louis Moreau is persuaded to become substitute deputy in the National Assembly of France for a deputy who was killed in the series of duels brought by the aristocrats against the people's representatives. In a duel with La Tour d'Azyr, that is the culmination of his activities in the Assembly, Andre-Louis wounds the Marquis, and Andre's misunderstanding of Aline's actions after the duel, further widens the breach between them.

The fires of rebellion among the lower and middle classes of Paris are finally fanned into open revolt. The patriot Danton (George Siegmann) leads the mob to the Tuileries, where the monarchy is overthrown. The Marquis escapes from the massacre at the Tuileries and seeks shelter at the house where also is Aline, who has been unable to escape from the city. Andre-Louis comes to save her, and finds the Marquis there. The two men are on the point of killing each other when the revelations are made that disclose Andre's real identity.

The thirty principal characters in "Scaramouche" include, beside Ramon Novarro, Lewis Stone and Alice Terry, who were the triumvirate that appeared in Ingram's "Prisoner of Zenda," Lloyd Ingraham, Julia Swayne Gordon and Edith Allen.

Willis Goldbeck adapted the story to the screen, the photography was by John F. Seitz, Curt Rehfeld was production manager, and Grant Whytock editor. Costumes were designed by O'Kane Cornwell and Evamay Roth and executed by Van Horn.

NEGRO BAPTIST FIRE PASTOR WHO SHOWED FIGHT

HOUSTON, Texas, June 7.—When the three deacons of the Mount Carmel Baptist Church, negro organization, discharged Rev.

E. C. Cannon, their pastor, Rev. Cannon was fired outright and no monkey business about it and to exchange their stand, the deacons barricaded the church doors and refused the irate pastor admittance.

Undaunted Rev. Cannon gathered a few of his loyal flock and stormed the church doors, battering down all opposition including the three deacons, who with Spartan-like courage failed to hold their positions against the uneven multitude.

Police were called and Rev. Cannon advised to take his difficulties up with the district attorney.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—This city is a law abiding place and lawless conditions do not exist, as charged in telegrams sent by 100 persons to Texas senators at Washington and to Attorney General Stone. This was the substance of a report rendered by the county grand jury, denying the charges.

Minter, Miss Hampton and Mr. and Mrs. Mims, of the Mims Dry Goods Company of Abilene, will arrive in Lubbock Monday and will be guests of the Minter-Gamel Dry Goods Company while here. LODGE REMOVED FROM POWER IN CONVENTION

By ROBERT J. BENDER
CLEVELAND, Ohio., June 7.—Through action of the Massachusetts delegation en route to the convention Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will be definitely removed from the power he long has wielded at republican conventions, according to advance information received here tonight.

The Mass. delegation is said will elect Governor Cox as its chairman and will select congressman Fredk. H. Gillett, speaker of the house, as its representative on the convention resolutions committee.

If this is done as scheduled, Lodge, who has presided at conventions in the past, has delivered keynote speeches and many times has directed the framing of the G. O. P. platform will be completely submerged as an important factor in the party deliberations. It probably would forecast his eventual dethronement as the administration leader in the senate.

With the passing of Lodge, the republican party will have lost most of the faces that for many years have appeared in the forefront of the convention picture. Murray Crane and Boies Penrose are dead. Senator James Watson appears to be out of focus.

Will Assist Mellon in Treasury Post.

CHARLES S. DEWEY.
Charles S. Dewey, Chicago banker and former navy officer, has been nominated by President Coolidge to be Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, succeeding Gardner B. Winston, resigned.

Harry M. Daugherty is a casualty. Reed Smoot alone remains among the veterans on recent campaigns to figure still—but not as in bygone years.

In their places, Coolidge is grooming for power this year his personal friends, William M. Butler and Frank Stearns of Mass., his secretary C. Bascomb Slomp, of Virginia; Charles B. Warren, of Mich., Speaker Gillett and Frank Mondell, for the most part men outside the ranks of congress but all of them skilled in politics.

The president has been singularly partial to Warren, making his ambassador to Mexico, after he held a similar position at Tokio. Perhaps the climax of the presidents manifestation of confidence in the Michigan man was reached when he selected him as the white house choice for chairman of the resolutions committee which will draft the party platform—disposing of Lodge from a post he has already repeatedly held.

While the chairman must be elected by the members of the resolution committee, selecting one delegate from each state it is assumed that Warren will be named and he is now on his way to Cleveland.

Warren is a skilled parliamentarian having acted in that capacity at many republican conventions, and he may be expected to handle in the president's interests any difficulties that may arise during the work of writing the platform and putting it through the committee preliminary to submission to the committee proper.

In fact, the discussion among the leaders now, which centers almost entirely on who is to become the vice presidential nominee, Warren's name pops up regularly.

There is no doubt that Cleveland, and Ohio points for miles around are excited about the convention. But with the nomination of Coolidge certain and with the convention machinery entirely in the hands of his friends, the convention has suddenly taken on the aspects of one to nominate a vice president instead of a president. There is talk of nothing else but "who is to be the second man," on the ticket. Most of the talk is of Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, but different people are moving around among delegates and others showing press reports and in some instances letters quoting Lowden as saying he would not accept the honor.

U. S. AND MEXICO JOIN HANDS IN CELEBRATION

By United Press
NOGALES, Ariz., June 7.—The republic of Mexico and the United States joined hands across the border today.

to the Gulf of Mexico and at the friendly intercourse, crossing and recrossing the line at will, parading bedecked streets and joining a general welcome to President Obregon, of the southern republic, who arrived here before noon today for a three-days' visit.

Most of the celebration will be held across the boundary, in Nogales, Sonora. The parade, in which troops of the twenty-fifth United States infantry joined with Mexican soldiers crossed the line and proceeded down the main street of this city on the American side.

Governor George W. Hunt, of Arizona, arrived this morning. Colonel Woodson Hocker is president Coolidge's special representative for the occasion.

The presidential party is accompanied by the Marine band of Mexico and the famed De La Torre orchestra of Guadalajara, reputed to be the finest in all Mexico.

Yesterday the executive party was at Hermosillo, capital of Sonora.

Earlier in the week, President Obregon officiated at the opening to traffic on the Alamitos branch, Southern Pacific de Mexico from Navajora, which line was destroyed during revolutionary times.

The executive, during his trip, has also officiated at the opening of the new port of Yavaros, at the debouchment of the Mayo river in Arthur Austin, San Francisco; formal opening of the new railroad connecting Puerta Yavaros with the Southern Pacific at Mexico, at Navajora.

Leaving Nogales Monday, the party will go by train to Mazatlan, there embarking on the national cruiser, Mexico, for Manzanillo, from which port they will go by rail to Mexico City. The railroad equipment will return to the capital via Nogales and El Paso.

YOUNG SLAYERS NERVOUS AS FACE BAR

CHICAGO, Ill., June 7.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of 13-year old Robert Franks in shackles and before one of the most revolting offenses in the history of American criminal jurisprudence, the two young multimillionaires son appeared dejected. Leopold, looking haggard and worn, with heavy-lidded eyes, shifted about nervously. Loeb appeared to be even more affected than his companion. He frequently closed his eyes and shuddered.

States Attorney Robert E. Crowe announced that following the arraignment next Wednesday, he would ask that the trial date be fixed not later than July 15. This move, according to plans made by Darrow and his associates, will precipitate a fight for a change of venue. At the conference during which it was decided to try to have the trial removed from Cook county, possibly to some downstate section, there was talk of precedents set by attorneys for Will J. Davis, following the Iroquois Theatre fire, and the more recent action taken by counsel for Governor Len Small. The Davis case was taken from Chicago to Danville and the Small case from Springfield to Waukegan. It is understood that Danville, as a trial place, would be satisfactory to defense counsel. Learning of the intention of defense counsel to get a change of venue, Crowe sent out some of his assistants with photographers and had pictures taken of all scenes throughout the city connected with the murder of the Franks boy. He also was in conference late Friday on a move to circumvent a possible court fight for the slayers release on bail.

Although the grand jury recommended that Leopold and Loeb be held without bail, it is possible to effect their release, under the Illinois laws, Crowe said. He intends to fight such a move as he wants the two to stay in their cells until the time of the trial.

Crowe spent considerable time Friday going over the record of the three day grand jury session that resulted in the indictment of the two slayers. He made notes on the calculating confession of Leopold, which was read in part before the grand jury. In this confession, Leopold declared that the killing was simply an experiment, a test made to see what the reactions of a person committing murder might be.

One of the most astonishing portions of the confession relates that after killing Franks, the two men wrapped his body in a robe in the back of the automobile they had rented, started to drive to the culvert where the body was found, but became hungry on the way and stopped to buy sandwiches. With the body of their victim still warm the two were able to enjoy munching the sandwiches on the front seat of the car.

The confession made by Loeb was not read. Both confessions agreed on all important points save one, according to Crowe, Loeb and Leopold accused each other of having wielded the blow which felled Franks.

Crowe explained that the purpose of including 27 counts in the indictments was to make them "iron clad." Commenting on the presentation of the cases, to the grand jury Crowe said:

"This was the most complete case ever presented to a grand jury. The evidence undoubtedly constitutes a hanging case. And if justice is done these two slayers will go to the gallows."

Counsel for Leopold and Loeb learned for the first time Friday the nature of the charges Mrs. Louise Hohley mother of three children, makes in her suit for $100,000 damages against the two for an alleged attack.

According to this information, Mr. Hohley says the two got out of their car and pushed her in and then held an ether-soaked rag over her nose until she became unconscious. Then she charged, the boys drove her out of the city and later attacked her and threw her out of the car.

European Passage Cancelled. NEW YORK, June 6.—When the Cunard liner Mauretania pulls out for Europe next Wednesday a wealthy young Chicagoan will be absent from the passenger list. He is unavoidably detained. The Cunard line has received a telegram from Chicago cancelling the reservation for passage of Nathan Leopold, Jr., who recently automatically cancelled the European trip he had planned by confessing the murder of Robert Franks.

W. A. NABORS VISITED IN LUBBOCK

W. A. Nabors, who is serving out the unexpired term of the late Allison Mayfield on the railroad commission, spent part of Friday in Lubbock with friends and incidentally getting acquainted with the plains people. He also took some official notice of the rail needs of this fast developing section.

He left early Saturday for Plainview, Amarillo and other points in West Texas.

His belief is that he can better discharge his duties as railroad commissioner by a personal, first hand acquaintance of conditions throughout the state and has spent much of his time getting first hand knowledge of these conditions since going with the commission, March 1st, last year.

With the conclusion of his trip of ten days over West and north-west Texas, he will have practically covered the entire state, he stated while here.

STREET CAR TICKETS TELL TALES OF 70 YEARS' TRAFFIC

BERLIN (by mail to United Press) With a collection of 13,000 different tickets of street cars, motor and horse-buses from all countries, a Berlin doctor boasts of having the best set of these rarities in the world.

His collection, comprising eight albums, gives the most impressive picture imaginable of world street traffic.

This multitude of tickets is unique in its variety of colors, shape and size. The gayest colors are represented by those from Latin countries, and leading are those of Italian street cars, which are at least bi-colored. The duller colored tickets are those of Berlin street cars and buses.

The sizes are inclined to vary with the value of the country's money. Thus, the German and Polish tickets, issued during the time of inflation, are almost gigantic compared to their earlier counterparts.

In shape, every imaginable variety is represented. The majority are of oblong shape, but there are also round, square, hexagonal and octagonal shapes. The British have clung to the oblong shape throughout the decades of street car and bus traffic.

Political tales are told by the collection. The Warsaw street car tickets from before the war bear print in Russian and Polish. During the war and German occupation this was replaced by German and Polish, until it finally was replaced by Polish only after the war.

The collection covers a period of more than seventy years; that is to say, the entire period of organized street car traffic. It took the collector twenty-five years to bring together his eight albums and it is his greatest grief that he cannot also give a comprehensive picture of American tickets in his show, since over there, he says, you must pay your nickel and get nothing out of it.

What Ever You Do—

KEEP COOL!

No modern office can successfully operate during the summer months without an electric fan. Business executives know this and, therefore, every up-to-date office is equipped to keep its occupants cool. But—how about that man's wife? What kind of "office" equipment has she. Her Kitchen—her office—is the hottest place this side of Yuma Arizona, unless it is MODERNLY EQUIPPED! Electricity is at her command just as readily as the office! Men how is mother's and Wife's office these hot days?

"THOR" Washing Machines

FOR EVERY HOUSEWIFE

Two-thirds of the men take their cars to a Washing Station when they get dirty. Most women would like to find a way to keep from bending over that back-breaking enemy of mankind—the wash tub. We offer you the THOR WASHING MACHINE, men, if you want your wife to keep everything spic and span—and keep her health too! These hot days—where is your wife? Sitting in the cool breeze while the THOR works efficiently and economically. Or is the THOR sitting in our store while she suffers? On easy terms if you desire. Take a whole year if you desire.

Poor Way to Start Housekeeping

The bridegroom of this day and time has no reason to start his bride to washing over that hot tub. The THOR is the machine for the young bride just as it is favored by her mother.

REFRIGERATORS

Does the housewife realize that the health of the family depends largely on the refrigerator? It does. Refrigeration of food in the summer time is an absolute necessity for wholesomeness—for tastefulness! It is dangerous and wasteful to do without a refrigerator in the summer time. You won't save a penny in the World by so doing. But there are differences in refrigerators. Some are made to sell only—others are made to keep ice and to keep food. We insist on showing you our line of refrigerators whenever you get ready to buy and we promise you that it will pay you to see us.

Electric Stoves

Fans, Irons and Appliances

"MY FRIEND"

THE CORRECT WAY

With an electric stove—and we have them in all sizes and for sale at convenient terms—there is no reason for having a "Hot House" in the summer time. Electric Stoves and electric appliances belong in the modern home just as much as the Automobile belongs in the present day mode of transportation. If you have not figured with us on the purchase of an electric stove won't you come in this week and let us talk things over with you. We will be glad to show you just what we are trying to emphasize—"That it pays to keep cool—whatever you do!"

KATHLEEN DeLOACH WRITES ESSAY ON ORIGIN OF AMERICAN FLAG THAT IS GIVEN FIRST PLACE BY ELKS

The following essays on the "Origin and History of the American Flag," were selected as being the best three of all that were written by students in the schools on the county.

The contest originated and was carried out by members of the local Elks lodge, whose efforts in this connection were given wholly to the end that a better understanding of the history of the American flag and its significance might be brought to the minds of the school boys and girls of the county in a to be forgotten manner.

Essay No. 1, written by Kathleen DeLoach, of the Wilson school, was given first place by the three judges whose names have been with held. The school to which the recipient of a beautiful American flag, 9 by 12 feet in size, while she will receive $10. in gold as a reward for her efforts.

Essay No. 2 was written by Miss Winnie Altman, of the Carlisle school. Miss Altman will receive $5 in gold for her efforts in preparing this essay.

Celene Holland, also a student in Carlisle school, wrote the essay which was given third place and will receive $2.50 for his efforts. All of these prizes having been given by the local Elks lodge as a means of stimulating keener interest among the school children in the origin of the American flag and the historic events crowning its early existence.

The essays follow:

The Origin and History of the Flag

By Kathleen DeLoach

The first flag was made in the stormy days of the Revolutionary War. It was carried by the soldiers in the battle of Concord in 1775. Its motto was "Conquer or die."

The next was the "Pine Tree" flag which in the same year waved over the battle of Bunker Hill. It had a pine tree in the left-hand corner.

In January, 1776, the first flag of the United States was raised over the American camp at Cambridge, by Washington. In its blue field there were two crosses, one of Saint Andrew and the other of Saint George. There were thirteen stripes, seven red and six white ones, representing the thirteen colonies.

After the Declaration of Independence in 1776, the nation decided to make another flag which should contain thirteen red and white stripes and also thirteen white stars in the form of a circle. The stars were suggested to be five pointed.

In 1794 Congress ordered that a new stripe and also a star should be added to the flag when a new state was admitted to the Union. At this time Kentucky and Vermont were just recently admitted to the Union; therefore, there were fifteen stripes and fifteen stars in the flag. In 1818 Congress passed an Act saying that there should always be thirteen stripes, but that a star should be added when a new state came into the Union. We now have forty-eight stars representing our forty-eight states. The star was to be added on the Fourth of July after the admission of the state.

It is thought, though not surely known, that Mrs. Betsy Ross, who kept a little shop on 239 Arch Street in Philadelphia, helped design and made the flag. It was made of an old blue jacket, a white shirt and some stripes from a red petticoat of a soldier's wife, according to John Fiske.

Paul Jones was the first naval hero to make the "Star Spangled Banner" a device of glory. When the flag was presented to him, he said, "The flag and I are twins, and we can never be parted in life or death." Old Glory received her first salute from the French army in 1778, when he sailed an American ship into a French harbor.

The United States Flag not only stands for freedom, it also stands for love, truth, peace, courage, success, struggle and strife. It means that we are a great nation and intend to be as long as it can wave over us.

The Origin and History of the Flag

By Winnie Altman, Carlisle school.

The story of the national emblem of the American people begins with the stormy days of the Revolutionary War. During the first few months of the struggle several different local flags were carried by the soldiers. At the battle of Concord, in 1775, a standard was unfurled which bore, in Latin, the motto, "Conquer or Die." And at Bunker Hill, the same year the pine-tree flag of the New England Colonies inspired the American troops. On January 2, 1776, Washington raised over the American camp at Cambridge the first ensign of the United Colonies, known as the Grand Union Flag of 1776. On its blue field were combined the Crosses of Saint Andrew and Saint George, symbolizing the Union of Scotland and England. And it bore thirteen alternate red and white stripes. The Kings Colors on the field of blue showed that the colonies still acknowledged the sovereignty of Great Britain, and the stripes represented the thirteen colonies.

After the adoption of the Declaration of Independence of 1776, it was felt that a national emblem of union and independence should be chosen. And on June 14, 1777, it was decided that the flag of the thirteen United States shall be thirteen stripes, alternate white and red, and that the union be thirteen white stars on the blue field.

The flag was then adopted. It had a circle of thirteen stars on the blue field. The story has come down that Mrs. Betsy Ross, flag maker, made the first and suggested that the stars be five-pointed.

John Fiske, says that the first American flag with the stars and stripes, that was ever floated to the breeze was one "hastily extemporized out of a white skirt and an old blue jacket, and some stripes of red cloth from the petticoat of a soldier's wife."

Paul Jones was the first to ever make the star spangled banner a symbol of glory.

The flag was placed in command of a Ranger, on the same day was adopted by Congress. He sailed to Plymouth, N. H., on the Fourth of July following, to raise the flag on his ship. As the naval committee presented the banner to him he said, "That flag and I are twins, born the same hour. We cannot be parted in life or death."

In February 1778, his flag received from the French fleet the first salute given to the stars and stripes by a foreign nation, and in the following April the Ranger met, and conquered the British man-of-war Drake, the flag floated for the first time in naval battle.

In 1794 Congress ordered that after May 1, 1795 the flag should bear fifteen stripes. And that there should be fifteen stars on the blue field. This was done so that Vermont and Kentucky, which had been recently added to the Union, might be represented. But in 1818 Congress passed an Act providing for the addition of one star to the flag whenever a new state should be admitted to the Union, and decreeing that henceforth the number of horizontal stripes should be but thirteen. It was decided that each star should be added on the Fourth of July following the admission of the state. At that time the character of the flag was fixed once for all, and stars have been added from time to time until the number is now forty-eight. The thirteen red and white stripes, the two outer ones red—symbolizing the original states that won American Independence.

What the flag stands for: In the years that have passed since the United States adopted the Stars and Stripes as its emblem, the flag has become to the American people a symbol of national growth, power and influence, of union and liberty. What the flag stands for in the hearts of the people has been admirably expressed by Henry Holcomb Bennett.

The very colors of the flag have a language which was officially recognized by our fathers. White is for purity, red for valor, blue for justice; and altogether, bunting stripes, stars, and colors blazing in the sky, make the flag of our country to be cherished by all our hearts, to be upheld by all our hands.

The Origin and History of the Flag

By Celene Holland, Carlisle school.

The flag is used in many ways as the distinguishing mark of things, such as armies and fleets or departments of governments and parties. The word Flag comes from Anglo-Saxon Slogan. It means to float or fly in the wind." It has the same meaning in German, Dutch, Danish, and English. The typical form of a flag is an oblong piece of light material of some color fastened to a staff.

In the early dawn of civilization man felt the need of something to distinguish one tribe from another, and they used marks or figures of some kind. The Egyptians, Hebrews and Romans carried national symbols that were made of metal or stone with figures of some kind worked on them, and fastened to a pole. Some flags were made of straw fastened to a pole.

The story of the American flag begins with the days of the American Revolution. The need of a flag was bad, but flags of some kind were carried by the soldiers. They carried the pine-tree flag, flags with mottoes written on them. Washington carried a flag known as the Grand Union Flag of 1776. After the war people felt the need of a national emblem of independence and union. Congress adopted a resolution that the flag of the Thirteen United States should be thirteen red and white stripes and thirteen white stars on a blue field. The thirteen stripes representing the thirteen states in the Revolution and the stars representing the states in the Union.

Mrs. Betsy Ross made the first flag with stars and stripes, and she suggested that the stars be five-pointed. John Fiske, the historian, said that the first flag with stars and stripes that ever floated was made out of a white shirt and

LOVELY GOWNS, AT LOW COST, CAN BE MADE AT HOME

By HEDDA HOYT (Fashion Editor of the UP) NEW YORK, June 7. (UP)—Mary, Mary quite contrary, How does your Summer wardrobe go? "Silken mulls, chiffons, tulle. And five little gingham hung in a row!" If a late spring means a warm summer, we will see the summer girl arrayed in sheer summery frocks this year. Shops are showing numerous frocks of voile, linen cotton crepe and gingham at present, in prediction of warm weather. Piece goods counters are lined with women purchasing cotton materials for home dressmaking. Among the fascinating ready-made wash frocks there are none lovelier than the hand-hemstitched voiles, which, though simple, are lovely enough to be worn for almost any occasion. Powder blue is one of the new colors which is particularly lovely in voile. Yellow is likewise a good voile color and pink, of course, is always popular. Most of the ready-made voile frocks are simple chemise types, unbelted and worn with a narrow sash at a low waistline. Skirts are usually hemstitched in wide border effect and some of the most costly models are embroidered as well as hemstitched. The upper portion of the voile frock is generally simple and with very little hemstitching. Sleeves are short, extending just over the shoulder. One can purchase such frocks in almost any shop for ten or twelve dollars.

The Home-Dressmaker The home-dressmaker has a wide selection of voiles for her selection. There are skirt lengths of hemstitched voile, as well as the entire dress lengths of hemstitching. Shops are doing everything possible to encourage the home-dressmaker and one can buy semi-frocks which only require the sewing of the side seams in the piece goods departments. Last week one of the largest department stores in New York displayed a counter of semi-made frocks of colors with skirt borders printed in contrasting color scheme in floral designs. Necklines were outlined in colored designs which corresponded with the skirt bodies. These frocks, or rather semi-frocks, were featured at $5 each, which is very little higher than the cost of the material which is sold by the yard. There were various sizes with blue, marking at the sides to show the amateur where the seams should be joined together. Sewing the side seams, turning the hem and finishing the neck and sleeves complete the gown which would doubtless be sold in the ready-made department of the same shop for fifteen or twenty dollars. A Gown for $3.00 Printed silk mulls are also lovely for summer wear, as they look silky and do not crush easily and do for semi-dressy occasions. This material can be purchased in almost any color and design for around 75 cents a yard, making the entire frock cost $3.00, if made at home. Summer wash silk is another good fabric for warm months. Wash gingham are particularly good looking and were worn last winter at the resorts by some of the smartly gowned women. Nothing looks cooler or more crisp than gingham, although the cotton gingham is liable to be far from cool. Though silk wash gingham is somewhat higher in price than cotton gingham of the better variety, it pays to buy it as a silk gingham frock can be worn for occasions where the cotton frock would be deemed out of place. Cotton gingham is distinctly a morning material. For summer evening wear, chiffons and tulle will undoubtedly be the materials most popular. Young women are already wearing them at the dancing places. The preference for all white is strong. The white gown which is typical of the mode is made of white chiffon in straight chemise line with the below-the-knee flounce, the flounce being bordered in a narrow band of iridescent beads or studded throughout with tiny pearls or rhinestones. The all-over headed frock of white is also with us in spite of its previous popularity. These heavily beaded models still adhere to the low, elastic waistband.

COLOR SCHEME IS PROBLEM THIS YEAR (Continued From Page 4) color which is unbecoming and in some cases where the hair has a brownish tone and the eyes are brown, this shade is very lovely. The drab-haired person wears pastels better than other colors. Pink, rose and Nile green generally tend to bring out the color of the hair and complexion. Dark colors are generally good, including black, brown, navy and dark green. White

POSTAL BILL IS VETOED BY PRES. COOLIDGE

International News Service WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Coolidge today vetoed the postal pay bill which provided for an increase of the pay of all postal employees. He wrote a lengthy message to congress explaining his action in the matter. His objections were based largely on the ground that it would increase the postal expenses too much. President Coolidge stated that the bill would increase salaries of about three hundred thousand postal employees an average of $200 each which would involve an expenditure of about $60,000,000. The eleventh hour supporters of the postal bill are working hard and almost frantically to get the measure before the Senate and the house this afternoon, believing that the President's veto can be overridden.

Along with the falling off in union membership there has been also a general decrease in the number of unions and trade federations.

Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

The meeting of Jack Alley of Tahoma on the streets of Lubbock a few days ago, brings to my mind many events, that occurred twenty six years ago. Jack in referring to the many changes which have come swiftly, in the past few years, said that he remembered on one occasion, when the wedding bells rang merrily, the moon shone resplendent in the starry heavens and all the spirits of night wove their charms into a web of mystery and enchantment and the breeze told each other of life's happiness. He says "J. J. do you remember Wednesday evening September 28th, of 1898." I replied I certainly do. I remember the court house was filled with people which consisted of practically all of the people in Lubbock and adjoining counties.

On this night at 8:10 o'clock Miss Nora Hunt played the wedding march and a moment later the bride and groom and their attendants were ushered in from a side room and swept in a stately march up the main aisle to the front and turning to the right and left faced the audience. Dr. R. O. Lewis and Miss Blanche Ramsey led the march and were followed by Jas. Garrott and Miss Beesie Lang. Mr. Claude Green and Miss Maggie Bullion, Mr. Chas. Boston and Miss Maggie Ghoson, Mr. Lee Perry and Miss Eula Reed and Mr. J. F. Roley and Miss Ada Shackelford. The bride and groom to be came last and as we turned facing the audience Judge P. F. Brown stepped directly in front of us and began the simple ceremony. It was carried out in the Judge's usual clever and impressive style, and amid a death-like silence he pronounced myself, J. J. Dillard and Ada Shackelford man and wife.

The couple immediately marched down the aisle and turned again, reforming and facing the front, where S. H. Graham and J. D. Caldwell had stationed themselves with cameras preparatory to taking a flash-light picture of the group. I remember the powder refused to flash and consequently the undertaking was a "flash." Again the march began and the couples filed out slowly and repaired immediately to the residence of the Dillard's where everybody was invited to participate in the supper, ball and social. In the dining room long tables heavily laden with cake and fruits, lemonade, hot coffee and tea, were served, making a delightful repast for all.

Under the able management of Mrs. J. D. Caldwell and other ladies the crowd was handled admirably and everyone given a fair chance to regale himself.

Meanwhile the lovers of the dance were tripping the light fantastic in the parlor.

Charley Boston, the champion violinist, was leading as usual, and the guitar and banjo joined in. Selection after selection was played now a waltz, now a polka, then a schottische and number after number was artistically executed by dainty ladies and handsome knights of the tassel and rowel, and the hours wore on the moon climbed the starry way to his zenith and "The bright stars up in heaven, Twinkled softly to the chime Of the fiddles wailing music, And the dancers rhythmic time." Brilliant watch fires brightly burning.

When the morning hours were small Broke up Lubbock last wedding slowly fading as the day-break ball.

From the windows the music floated out to those on the croquet grounds with ravishing sweetness. Around the house was a vast throng of guests promenading over the grounds, laughing and joking. Just as we were leaving the musicians suddenly took up that great Western breakdown "Trouble Among the Dogies." The title is not very euphonic but the air is strange mixture of dashing vigor and languor, the mirthful pathetic and sublime, now soft and sweet moving along with stately grace of a river, now leaping and rippling like a fountain in the sunlight, now a strain as sweetly solemn and as full of melancholic sighing of a night wind among tombstones, now a few measures of wild, weird inspiring melody that sends the blood tingling through your veins and puts the devil in your heels and makes your cheeks flush and your eyes flash.

It is a melody that has incubated in the brain of some parties and musical genius lost to the world in broad sombrero, jingling spurs and wild occupation of the cow boy for out on the then plains of West Texas or among the sand deserts of New Mexico, and parts of it have come to him on the trail when the boys were riding and singing and "so-hoing" as they urged the lagging steers along the dusty way, and parts of it have flashed into his mind at midnight when great black storm clouds were rumbling overhead and the howling thunder jarred the earth, and the air was heavy with the torrent of rain, when lightning played a tattoo on the horn and ears and painted with fire the hot breath of the stampeding herd hoarsely pounding and bawling upon the heels of his fleeing horse whose every leap over the uncertain ground in the utter note blinding glare and perdition darkness might have thrilled into his soul when an autumn moon bathed the tovary prairies with its still, white light and he lay on his back looking up at the stars in the sky and wondering if ever a cow-boy would go to the sweet-by and bye when the breath of the wild flowers was in his nostrils and the herd's lazy browsing and reaching came dreamily into his reflections and in a lonely line camp he has connected and executed the strains upon his fiddle and sent them warbling out upon the night wind that fanned his flickering camp-fire to mingle with the hoof of the owl and the howl of the lobo.

The listeners outside crowded around the house gazing through the figures and the prompter leaped to his feet and unbelted his calls by knocking the back step in his corner. It reminded us of Burn's "Tam O' Shanter" where "As Tamie gazed amazed and curious of the mirth and fun grew fast and furious. The piper loud and louder blew; the dancers quick and quicker flew.

In another room a party of non-dancers held a sociable in whispers—sitting close and looking unutterably things into the eyes that spoke again.

Out in the moonlight the croquet grounds attracted a generous share of young people.

"But pleasures are like poppies spread
You grasp the flower, its bloom is shed;
Or like the snow falls on the river,
A moment white, then melts forever."

EFFORT MADE TO RID N. Y. OF "SLICKERS"

By United News.
NEW YORK, June 6.—While not wishing to insult the intelligence of the delegates to the democratic national convention or even that of the alternates, the New York police are engaged in a drive to rid New York of its slingers so the visitors won't have to walk back home barefoot.

A special pamphlet, according to the present plans will tell the delegates how to avoid crooks. They will be told to beware of all strangers, especially if the strangers claim acquaintance with some prominent personage in the delegates home town. Railroads and ferries are checking up on all suspicious characters who, if still considered suspicious after being examined, will be ordered to leave town.

During the convention 850 detectives of the headquarters staff will fatch the hotels and every one found in the lobbies who seems to have no business there will be asked to leave. Cabarets will also come in for plenty of inspection.

CABINET RESIGNS AFTER ELECTION RESULTS

International News Service.
TOKYO, June 7.—The Japanese cabinet, headed by Premier Kiyoura resigned today. They have been in power since January 7th. Two reasons were assigned for their resignation, one being the defeat of Kiyoura's political group in the recent election and the enactment of the Japanese expulsion law by the American congress. This act was severely criticized for its conciliatory course which it had followed, since the enactment of the measure.

LEADERS ANGRY OVER RUMORED COERCION

By RAYMOND CLAPPER (U. N. Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Coolidge and administration leaders here are somewhat indignant over reports from Cleveland that the white house is trying to force Frank O. Lowden on the ticket as the vice-presidential candidate.

The situation as regards Lowden is unchanged from what it was Thursday, when this writer, during a conversation with an exceptionally well-informed source, was told that sentiment among republican leaders rapidly is shifting toward Lowden and that the former Illinois governor has not told Coolidge leaders he would refuse the nomination if it is offered him.

The problem of the convention managers is going to resolve itself into one of how to keep the delegates entertained. They will have no work to do. The only function the convention has now is an inspirational one.

COLLEGE WINS IN PRACTICE GAME WITH KIWANIS

The newly organized baseball team of the local Kiwanis Club went down in defeat in the first practice game at the Merrill Park Friday afternoon at hands of the team of the Lubbock Business College, the score standing at seven to ten.

The Kiwanians made some very practical discoveries during the course of the game, one instance being in that I. F. Holland and L. M. Brooks proved to be the possessors of a few little mound tricks that make them hard to find, and it was also learned that when it comes to sucking them, Herb Stubbs is some catcher.

Norton Baker proved to be o. k. on second base and it has been hinted that he will retain this position permanently.

George Brewer, T. E. Buckner, Rev. Jack M. Lewis and other members of the club who are being depended upon to strengthen the team that is to meet the crack team of the Plainview Kiwanis Club in the near future failed to show up for practice, and some hint that they will be reprimanded for this negligence was made by the managers of the team.

The business college team is made up of some mighty fast players, and the Kiwanians felt a bit cheery when they were able to keep the score from being entirely one-sided, and additional games will be played between the nines during the coming week.

METHODIST PREPARE FOR REVIVAL MEETING TO BE HELD HERE JUNE 15TH FOR A PERIOD OF TWO WEEKS

The Methodist church has completed all preliminary arrangements for a two week's revival meeting which will begin Sunday morning June 15th, Rev. R. B. Freeman, one of the general evangelists of the Methodist church and his party will arrive in Lubbock on Saturday, June 14, and be ready to lead in the evangelistic campaign.

The party will consist of Rev. Freeman, the evangelist, who is well known in this section of the state as a very strong and safe and sane evangelist; Mr. R. C. Eddins a choir director and social leader of wide experience; Mrs. A. W. Freeman pianist; a relative of the evangelist, who is a specialist with children and in young people's work. Quite a gifted speaker, Mr. R. C. Eddins traveled two years with Dr. Henry W. Stough the great congregational evangelist who is known as the Billy Sunday of the North and East.

The church is certainly fortunate in being able to secure such talent for this evangelistic campaign. Evangelist Freeman has held meetings from coast to coast, and has just closed a great meeting in Wisconsin.

SMALL POX SCARE IS FALSELY GIVEN THE TRAVELERS

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Richardson, of Shreveport, La., passed through Lubbock Friday enroute to California where they will spend the summer. They intended visiting her cousin, Mrs. Raleigh Martin, of Lubbock, but were told while enroute here that Lubbock was in the grip of a small pox epidemic and that the town might be quar-antined at any time, therefore they did not stop here as contemplated, but wrote Mrs. Martin that they will visit here enroute home sometime in September.

The report that Lubbock is threatened by a small pox quarantine is entirely false, due to the fact that the epidemic has been confined to a few cases and is entirely in the hands of physicians at this time. Some danger, however, was thought some time ago.

Such reports are designed to be hurtful to Lubbock and local people should see that they are discouraged at every opportunity.

COOLIDGE SAYS SOUND IDEALS NEEDED

By United News.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Coolidge delivered an attack on radical and revolutionary political elements in a speech here Friday night declaring that the "only assurance against their machinations is to be found in the inculcation among the people of sound ideals of government."

Though the president did not make any reference to any movements in this country, his address, at the national oratorical contest, was regarded as a veiled assault on the insurgent activities in congress and their followers throughout the country as well as on more pronounced radical activities. The president presided at the contest at which seven republicans from various sections of the country competed for the national prizes.

"The world has always contained a dangerously large proportion of people who believed that the way of congress was by way of destruction" Coolidge declared. "They are commonly in minority, but a distressingly active and determined minority. They would begin the reconstruction of human affairs by tearing down everything that had thus far been erected. It seems as if well nigh every generation in modern times is destined to try some of these experiments in reorganization by the process of utter diorganization."

"The eagerness of the extremists, the revolutionists, is unquenchable. The only assurance against their machinations is to be found in the inculcation among the people of sound ideals of government. If we, in our generation, shall succeed in establishing among those who are to come after us the full conception of the obligation to reasonableness and to moderation, the next generation may find reason to thank him for making its way of life easier than ours has been. That, I take it is the greatest collective wish of humanity in every generation as it looks to the generations that are to follow."

"There is no greater obligation upon the community than that of properly educating its youth," Coolidge said, "of training its future citizens for the duties which in their time they must assume."

The seven young orators selected in competition with hundreds of others in their sections, spoke on the constitution. Their studies preparatory to their appearance here will have impressed them as it has all of us," the president declared. "with the fact that men and women everywhere are giving an impressive measure of attention in the relation of people to their governments."

Those who competed for the national prizes were:

Don Tyler, Los Angeles; John M. Dallam, 11, Philadelphia; Jack Turner, Birmingham, Ala.; Geo. Chumos, Topeka, Kan.; Elester Hunt, Louisville, Ky.; Vail Barnes, New Brighton, N. Y. and Ruth Newburn, Washington, D. C.

Earthwave Won't Come Again in 8,800 Years; It's on Now

By C. T. HALLINAN
(UP Staff Correspondent)
GLASGOW, June 7.—That a large and disturbing wave is moving around within our earth is the view advanced by Ludovic McClellan Mann in a paper read here before the Royal Philosophical Society.

This wave, which rears up continents and sinks oceans if fortunately, not capricious or frisky. It is satisfied to move around the earth once in 8,800 years, from east to west, obliquely to the plane of the earth's ecliptic.

But it upsets the earth's axis and wobbles the poles and plays sad havoc according to Mann, with old astronomical calculations.

That's the part about it that pleases Mann. He has been studying the astronomical errors of Ptolemy & Co. for twenty years. He feels that now he has them figured out.

Fortunately, this disturbing motion is slowing down. Broadly speaking, it is nearly extinct. In about 400,000 years the flighty earth will be as solid as Gibraltar.

And even the climate will show improvement in the direction of sobriety and regularity and forecastability.

"This internal motion, by causing the earth's crust to pulsate, would account for those raised continents in non-earthquake regions, for those sunken continents, those submerged forests, and for the rise and fall of coral reefs and islands."

Once the velocity, direction and amplitude of this profound and gigantic disturbance are appreciated, they throw light upon many of those periods in the experience of the race which have been hitherto shrouded in mystery.

Mann submitted a chart showing that the American continent is four thousand years older than Europe.

Many geologists have suggested that it was older than Europe, but Mann thinks that the theory of the internal wave settles the question of how much older. The long axis of the American continent as well as the axis of the Atlantic depression lie, to a hair's breadth, athwart the direction of this internal wave and, indeed, can only be explained by it.

Mann said that the theory, when applied to the mysterious ancient monuments at Stonehenge, England, got surprising confirmation.

"Stonehenge is an ancient calendar," he said, "it registers astronomical events occurring in a period of twelve definite Saros, the Saros being that period of time easily calculable in which the Sun, Moon and Nodes recur in the same relative positions."

WALKING IS BEST FOR HEALTH SAYS HERBERT WELSH

By United News.
PHILADELPHIA, Penn., June 7.—Walking is the best and cheapest preserver of youth and sometimes will become a universal cure for the world's ills, in the opinion of Herbert Welsh, 72-year old artist and publicist.

Monkey glands, psychological antidotes, cosmetics and numerous other so-called aids to youth, rank far behind walking, Welsh believes. Welsh is the son of John Welsh, American ambassador to England during the Hayes administration. He is president of the Indian Rights Association which he founded in 1882, and has devoted many years of his life to the welfare of the American Indian. Short, erect, with a wavy, gray mustache, Welsh's general appearance is that of a much younger person.

Dressed in a khaki colored hiking costume, with a 23-pound pack across his back, Welsh recently set forth from his Germantown, Pa., home for his ninth annual 430-mile hike to his summer residence at Lake Sunapee, New Hampshire. He expects to reach it within a month.

Just prior to his departure, Welsh imparted the following words of advice to a hustling and bustling generation:

"In this day of the motor-car," he said, "people are forgetting what their legs are for, if they would realize what a wonderful exercise walking is, there would be more happiness in the world and a better state of health."

"It is the best medicine for rheumatism and it doesn't cost much. I've been walking for a long time. Today my physical condition surpasses by far that of my youth."

"If women would do more walking, cosmetics would go to the rubbish pile. There is nothing like hiking to bring the bloom of health to your cheek. Besides, women, as a rule, become too fat after a time, and walks would do them good."

"There will come a time when everybody will walk, when there will be more leg power and less gasoline fumes on the country roads. I'm looking forward to the time when there will be a long trail across the country through the woods, made especially to satisfy the universal demand for hiking facilities. For that reason, among others, it is essential that our forests be protected from exploitation."

"I like to think of the peculiar virtues of qualities of character which a long walking journey calls for, and indeed insensibly cultivates. They are hope, patience, and a certain smiling acceptance of what the day may bring."

"Once out in the open you soon realize that the failings of Congress, the oil and prohibition scandals don't signify the end of everything. With nature all about you you come to the conclusion that the world is not such a bad place after all."

COMMISSIONER VISITING KANSAS CITY BLUES

By United News.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 6.—Judge Kenshaw Mountain Landis and his hat came to town Friday and the czar of baseball immediately hid him out to the golf links. "I'm as dry of news as the Sahara is of water," Landis told newspaper men who questioned him about everything but the League of Nations.

What am I doing here? Well, I came to see a baseball game and the Blues' new ball park.

On the links the former judge loosened up a bit and gave his partners in a foursome a few pointers on how to chalk up a low score.

"We're using too effeminate language, that's what makes our game so rotten," he declared. "We have to cuss either the ball or the clubs if we expect to have a low score."

There is no record on the final score.

DALLAS—Jack Lockett, blind business agent of the Dallas Painters union left today for New York city on a tandem bicycle accompanied by his 14 year old son Chester Lockett will visit a famous specialist in the East in the hope of having his eyesight restored. The son will steer the bicycle.

Several years ago, a similar trip was made by the two to Mage Brothers clinic in Rochester, Minn.

PRESIDENT DECORATES 'UNKNOWN'S' TOMB.

After delivering his Decoration Day address over the graves of a soldier dead in the Arlington, Va., National Cemetery, President Woodrow Wilson moved to the tomb of America's "Unknown Hero" of the World War, and placed a reverent wreath there. Secretary of War Weeks is at the left and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur at the right.

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

This is certainly a "jazz" age through which the world is passing. Jazz music is merely the reflection of the average state of mind of the people. Most people who keep right up with the times are jazzing their way through life almost as madly as the Marathon dancers of a year or two ago danced until they fell to the floor. But like that craze, the jazz craze will soon pass and many think they see evidence of its passing now. It is noticeable that at all public functions, except perhaps the dance, the people are demanding a better class of music than pleased them a few years ago.

Bobbed hair bandits are becoming so common in the cities that the average man is beginning to regard himself as helpless in the presence of any female with short hair, for he never knows when a gun will be flashed from beneath the blouse with a demand for "your money or your life." It is axiomatic that when women become depraved they sink lower in depravity and become more reckless than men. Burglary and robbery, as well as loss of self-respect, may be expected to follow smoking, drinking and profanity on the part of women, as surely as night follows the day. Not all the women who smoke, drink and curse will become bandits, but enough will do so to bring women from the pedestal which they have always occupied.

It is very hard to watch the political game at close range without becoming disgusted, unless one has lost his sense of disgust. At times one is made to wonder if there is a vestige of political honesty left among the people, even a shadow of political decency. Politics is on a huge jazz along with everything else, but the day of reckoning is surely coming and the world will swing back to normalcy. Those who are most optimistic are hoping that the day may not be too long delayed.

Occasionally politics or political fear results in some relief to the helpless taxpayers. The student of governmental affairs knows full well that there would have been no hope for a reduction in income taxes, but for the fear of both the political parties that defeat would follow inaction in tax matters. Fortunately both parties became scared at the same thing at the same time and tax reductions followed. However, most of the readers of this column are not affected much one way or the other by income taxes, and they have been little concerned by income tax discussions.

Possibly it may have been worth it, but the average citizen is left to wonder just what benefit he received from the shooting of about half million dollars worth of ammunition at Fort Sill the other day for the entertainment of army men, members of the National Editorial Association and other visitors. Just why such extravagant "maneuvers" should be given in times of peace is somewhat of a puzzle to the citizen who does not make a study of war. Perhaps it impressed the rest of the world with our resources in war and with our extravagance in peace.

Yoakum, down in the "Turkey Trot" section of the state, is boasting of a young turkey with four legs and sixteen claws, probably a creation due to too much trotting. But it would be more interesting to hear of a breed of turkeys with four breasts. Having made that bright (?) suggestion, I will follow wit with the statement that the turkey and chicken business, has lately proven to be one of the most important vocations in Texas and is annually bringing more clear money to those who seriously devote their time to it. Not many years ago, only women, children and invalids gave their time to raising poultry. Turkey trots and poultry shows, aided by the regularity of the cash returns, have given us greater respect for the business.

A Detroit wife has brought suit against her husband for divorce because he stays around home and sleeps too much, and it appears that she has just cause for complaint. Many wives have obtained divorces because their husbands stayed away from home too much and slept too little, but as between the two kinds the perpetual hanger around and sleeper is the worst nuisance. Laziness is among the worst and most inexcusable faults. No self-respecting woman wants to associate constantly with a regular loafer.

CHURCH OF CHRIST BUILDING WILL NOW BE COMPLETED AND MODERN FEATURES PROVIDED FOR IN PLANS

The Church of Christ of Lubbock will within a short time be one of the large, beautiful churches of the city, the contract for its completion having been recently awarded contractor L. D. Harrison, of Plainview.

Peter & Haynes, local architects were employed to furnish plans for the structure, and the Acme Brick Company will supply the brick.

When completed the church will represent a total investment of about sixty thousand dollars.

The building has been used in its present uncompleted form for some time, and it was stated by a member of the finance committee Saturday that it will be about thirty days before actual construction work starts, due to the fact that much time will be required for assembling materials, etc.

B. Sherrod, of Sherrod Brothers Hardware Company, is chairman of the building committee, while Raleigh Martin is chairman of the finance committee.

T. M. Caraney, pastor of the church is one of the able ministers of Texas, and his efforts in Lubbock have been crowned with success and he will be enabled to lead his congregation into even a wider field of Christian activity when the new edifice has been completed, making it possible for every department of the Church to be comfortably housed.

Every modern facility is provided for in the plans for the new church, and when completed it will stand a substantial and lasting monument to the faithfulness of each and every member of the congregation and the other citizens of Lubbock, who will contribute in any measure to its construction.

MANY ATTENDING SINGING AND MUSIC CLASS

J. E. Hamilton, of Jacksonville, Texas, leader of one of the well known Vaughn quartets, and who started a singing class at the Canyon school last Sunday, now has a class of one hundred members, all of whom are taking keen interest in their work, and are making good progress.

Mr. Hamilton is an accomplished musician and singer and his efforts will count for much in improving the ability of the singers of that community.

Another singing school which was started at the First Presbyterian church here last Sunday also has a large attendance, and the teacher, L. D. Huffstutter, of Midlothian, is proving himself capable of leading the work. He is rendering the community an appreciated service, and is receiving the hearty cooperation of a large number of the members of the church where the school is being conducted.

ROOMS NEEDED FOR LEAGUE DELEGATES

With the Northwest Texas Epworth League convention to convene here Monday morning, the members of the local Epworth league have only today in which to call upon the citizens of Lubbock for one hundred more homes than have been secured as yet, and the success of Lubbock's entertainment of the visitors depends entirely upon the answer that will be made to this final call.

Letters received by local officers of the conference indicate that the attendance will be greater than was first expected, and due to the fact that the situation is one that must be met squarely and in a manner that each and every delegate to the convention will be glad to be entertained here, every home in Lubbock, where one or more delegates can be care for, should be thrown open to them.

A proclamation which appears in another place in this issue and which was issued by the mayor of Lubbock, calls upon the citizens to cooperate in this matter, and it will in all probability have a great deal of weight in convincing the citizenship of the value and necessity of taking advantage of this opportunity to establish Lubbock as a city capable of entertaining a convention of this size. We now have the convention, and it is ours. Whether or not its delegates are entertained in a manner that will reflect creditably upon Lubbock rests entirely with the citizenship, and while a great deal of optimism has been expressed by those in charge of securing the rooms, and despite the fact that they have the assistance of many home owners in this matter, the situation is at a point where immediate steps to take care of the delegates are necessary.

Every church in the city will be visited by Leaguers during the preaching services today, and cards will be passed to all members of the congregation asking their assistance in entertaining the delegates and the proper blanks have been prepared for them to make their answers and return the cards to the pastor or members of the committee.

A plea will be made with them to accept some of the responsibility of making the convention a success from every angle, and it is believed that the proper spirit will prevail in Lubbock throughout the coming week and that every arrangement for the comfort and happiness of the delegates will be made.

JUDGERS PRACTICE FOR CONTESTS AT COLLEGE STATION

County Agent David F. Eaton and a number of club boys of the county, went to farms near Slaton Saturday afternoon where he instructed the boys in judging hogs and dairy cattle.

This practice work is being carried on to prepare the boys for the various contests in judging that will be held at College Station during the Farmers Short Course which will be conducted by A. & M. College, and agent Eaton hopes to have them prepared to meet any and all opponents in the contest.

Mr. Eaton was accompanied on the trip by Harry Bennett, Davis Pounds, Ansel Grimes, I. J. Thornton, Porter McDougal, John Burroughs and Carl McIntyre.

WOMAN'S AIM MAY BE GOOD, BUT MISDIRECTED

DALLAS, Texas, June 7.—There's one Dallas woman whose aim may be described as poor. When a man looked in at the window of her home she became so badly frightened she fired a volley of revolver shots—out the opposite window.

Miners' Wives Run Stills While Men Are at Work

By United Press

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 7.—Women are the unwilling, but most numerous violators of the prohibition laws in this section of the anthracite coal region, according to welfare agencies, who have started a drive to aid the wives of foreign-born workers who are compelled by their husbands to operate stills while the men are in the mines.

Testimony which came to light in police court caused the welfare workers to start an investigation which shows that hundreds of women are unwilling accomplices of their "men" in making moonshine, but are afraid to inform the police or even testify when they are arrested.

Most of the smaller stills in homes here, according to the welfare workers, are among the class of people where the wife and mother have been raised to obey unquestioningly.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Company recently issued orders that tenants who operate stills in company houses will be summarily ejected and other coal companies are waging campaigns to wipe out the numerous illicit moonshine stills.

According to Captain Clark, commanding the state police here, there are more stills in operation in the anthracite region than any other section of the country. Exploding stills have caused a dozen deaths within the past year and deaths from poison whiskey have mounted alarmingly, the coroner reports.

In one raid by the state police, a six-year-old boy was found operating a still and several cases have come before the juvenile court of intoxicated children.

Mrs. Willie Thomas, underwent an operation at a local sanitarium Friday.

SUNS RAYS TO BE HARNESSSED AND UTILIZED TO PRESERVE FOOD STUFFS

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 7.—Two Canadian railroad companies have notified Dr. N. F. Hazeldine, of Los Angeles, who perfected a solar vitalizing process about a year ago, that further experiments in food preservation and seed vitalization have proven successful. Representatives of the two railroads also informed Dr. Hazeldine that grain, vitalized by the new process, yielding 100 per cent more than unvitalized grain. The process does away with cooking, the adding of sugar chemicals and vacuumizing.

The inventor asserts that this process will revolutionize the food preserving industry, and offers exhibits to prove his assertion. The apparatus used in the process is simple: A box with wire trays to hold food commodities, over the top of which repose a sheet of opaque glass with half-inch prisms, used to deflect the sun's rays, concentrates the beams, which vitalize and preserve.

The beams preserve the vegetables and fruits by crystallizing the sugar contents, thereby making spoilage and fermentation impossible, Hazeldine explained. The heat rays penetrate and explode the atomic cells, allowing the light rays to enter and conclude the preserving process.

Retain Natural Flavor
A jar of strawberries and dozens of other fruits and vegetables vitalized two years ago, prove as sweet and natural as at the time they were picked from the plants.

"Solar vitalizing is a process for preserving all kinds of fruits by the simple application of solar light," Dr. Hazeldine explains. "Any dimension glass box, similar to the one I have constructed, will serve the purpose."

"It is well known that solar light is a potent preservative. Our process utilizes the solar rays by passing them through lens glass, which focuses them upon the food product being treated, resulting in the destruction of active germs of fermentation and putrefaction. Solar vitalizing also eliminates the use of fumigation, sterilizing, pasteurizing and all cooking in process of preserving of food products. Hence there is great saving in time, equipment and other things.

"Products Chemically Pure."
Furthermore, this process uses no chemicals, preservatives, nor adds sugars, and the product is, therefore, chemically pure and true to odor, color and taste. Foods processed in this way will keep indefinitely.

"Solar vitalizing of walnut oil, olive oil, coconut oil, butter, lard, and all other animal and vegetable fats are rendered immune from rancidity by this process. Dairy products can be kept fresh much longer than by pasteurizing. Eggs can be kept fresh for at least one month."

No germ life or parasites can live more than twenty minutes in the vitalizing plant, Dr. Hazeldine maintains. Water processed in this fashion is unusually sweet, but develops a strange gas that is neither hydrogen nor oxygen, and which will burn the cork out of a bottle. Dr. Hazeldine makes no attempts to explain his strange phenomena.

PET SNAKE WAKES MAN WHEN NEARBY HOUSE CATCHES FIRE

By United News.
CHEADLE, England, June 6.—A four foot pet grass snake, in saving a neighboring house from destruction by fire, has given the usual dog, cat and parrot heroes something to shoot at even if it has not hung up a record for fire-discoveries by the lower animals. The snake in infancy slept at the foot of its owners bed, but the latter was never able to accustom himself to the snake's habit of crawling under the cover when cold, so for months it had been locked out each time.

Then a neighboring house caught fire. The snake, which evidently had been prowling about the garden, became alarmed, it crawled up the ivy to the bedroom window of its owner and knowing the best way to arouse him, crawled into the bed.

The owner was aroused by the repeated knocking of the snake's cold head against his cheek. Startled he jumped up and saw the glare of the flames through the window.

When the owner had dressed, the snake made for the stairs, and seemed to be trying to lead the way to the fire. Its owner, fearing it might be trampled on, locked it up while he went to alarm the occupants of the burning house.

WOMAN ATTACKS AMERICAN HOME LIFE

By United News.
LOS ANGELES, June 6.—Calling upon women of America to help remedy the divorce situation as it exists today, Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson took the convention floor of the General Federation of Women's Clubs Friday to enter a vigorous arraignment of the domestic life of the nation. Statistics prove that for every seven marriages there is one di-orce she declared. "It is up to the women of the United States to remedy this intolerable situation."

Mrs. Patterson serves in the division of home economics. She stated that if the navy can keep a sailor on 64 cents a day, there is no reason why women cannot maintain their homes for less than the amount they are spending. "The average women earning $2,000 yearly" she said, "spends more for dress than the wife of a man with an income of $10,000 yearly."

When asked what should be a living wage she said "it depends on the locality. In Ohio, it is $1,725 for a family of five persons." She was asked if the wife should seek outside employment. "I am glad to see them do so" she replied.

JAPAN IS NOT INTERESTED IN PHILIPPINES

By FRANK H. HEDGES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, (by Mail to United Press)—Gathering together the numerous charges that have been made recently in England and the United States concerning Japan's aggressive intentions, especially as directed against the possessions of the two great Anglo-Saxon powers, Viscount Shimpel Goto outlined to the United Press what he believes to be his nation's true intentions.

Although not a member of the Government at present, Viscount Goto has thrice held cabinet portfolios and is the most influential leader of the liberal wing of political thought in this empire.

"There is no justification for the allegation that the United States and Great Britain are co-operating against Japan," he told the United Press, "because there is no reason why they should do so. Japan has no aggressive designs, is preparing for no offensive war. But she can not dispense with her plans for national defense.

"A little exercise of common sense will disclose the absurdity of the charge that Japan's attention is being directed toward British possessions in the Pacific. If Japan had any such ambition, the world war offered her the opportunity of realizing it. While Europe was engrossed in the war, Japan could easily have accomplished anything which she sought to do. Instead of availing herself of this unexcelled opportunity, she adhered consistently to the cause of the allies and to the spirit underlying the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. What she did not seek to do when the circumstances were so propitious she certainly will not attempt now—when there is no longer the remotest possibility for success.

"The attempt to connect the question of Philippine independence with Japan's ambitions is just as ridiculous. Anyone who knows even a part of the situation must be conscious of the futility of such a scheme. Japan might possibly seize the Philippines, but it would be manifestly impossible for her to hold the islands. Japan is not interested in the Philippines nor in what goes on there. Their independence is none of our business.

"As regards a further reduction of armaments, I am in favor of it, provided the motive comes from an honest love of peace. There is no reason why Japan should oppose it, but I feel that it will be very difficult to carry it out because of the intertwining conflict of interests of various of the powers. The military and naval authorities will have something to say on this subject.

"The recent dispatches from Moscow (United Press messages) alleging that Japan has designs on Chinese Eastern Railway may be attributed to the publicist uttering them and need worry nobody.

"Physically, the Japanese can emigrate anywhere, but they are unwilling to leave their beautiful home for any great length of time. They become homesick and desire to return to Japan."

DETECTIVES CALLED—FOUND MAN TAKING SHOWER BATH

SAN ANTONIO.—Patrolman M. L. Kelly heard strange hammering sounds issuing from the basement of a clothing store here at 3 p. m. Notifying headquarters, a squad of detectives were sent to help make the arrest. Entering the basement, they found a man calmly taking a Turkish bath in a room connected with an adjacent bath house.

WOMAN'S WORK LAUDED BY TEXAN

By MRS. FLORENCE C. FLOORE,
(Treasurer G. F. W. C. Cleburn, Texas).

Written for the UNITED NEWS
LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 7.—
"If I had no other reason for believing in the United States, the fact that this country has produced an organization like the General Federation of Women's Clubs would give me confidence in it."—words similar to these were spoken by President Coolidge last January at the white house to the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Because thinking men and women believe in the ideals of this organization as well as because its two and a half million membership and its well organized machinery reaching into all parts of the United States, and into many foreign countries, this General Federation has power and can become a mighty force.

"What is the special need to increase the power and make the achievements of the organization measure up with its opportunities?"

If this question were put to the members of the General Federation the answers would probably be as numerous as the endeavors embraced in their United slogan, to "forward all movements for the betterments of life."

"A greater interest in fine arts," one would say. Another "in American citizenship" or "international relations" or "applied education" or "public welfare" or legislation, and so-forth.

The need that has been impressed on me as treasurer of the General Federation is a realization by the women generally that it takes money to put over "movements for life betterment" just as it takes money to build cities, railroads, navies, and so-forth. That we have not fully realized this may be because partial economic independence is a recent thing with us or because we have been accustomed to handle money in small quantities. That men know this better than women is evidenced by the larger dues which they pay to their clubs.

Having for two years handled funds of the General Federation, I would say to the women of this and other organizations:

We want to make concrete our high ideals and noble purposes; let us profit by the wisdom of men and put more money into our work.

TOPOGRAPHICAL TEXAS SURVEY BEING MADE

International News Service.
AUSTIN, Texas, June 7.—Work on all topographical survey maps is rapidly being completed with the aid of airplane photography, according to United States geological survey officials directing the work in Texas.

The survey is being carried on and maps of territory in every section of Texas are being made for the purpose of determining the suitability of the streams of Texas for flood control, irrigation and city water supply projects.

The survey in the vicinity of San Angelo, Cotulla, Mineral Wells, Fort Worth and Brownwood are virtually completed and the field work on the Wiley, Brazos and Waco districts is nearing completion, the authorities state.

Other sites now being sketched and worked upon include Graham, Southeast of Brownwood, Colorado river near Austin, San Angelo river, Blanco river, Guadalupe river and along the Nasota district.

Airplanes are now being used exclusively in the map making work necessary. Approximately one-half of the air photos have been taken and at present Captain C. E. Griffin, pilot and Lieut. A. Lynch, photographer, are at work on mapping the Guadalupe river.

The amount saved the state by the use of airplanes is estimated at approximately $1,000 per sheet and when it is considered over 100 sheets are needed in the work; the sum saves surpasses $100,000 on the entire project.

In Cotulla Captain Griffin and Lieut. Lynch mapped out in forty minutes an entire section of the country which showed concisely every stream and valley in the district. It would have taken four months to accomplish this task under the old survey methods in what was performed by the flyers in less than an hour.

The plane flies at an altitude of 1,000 feet the camera attached to the lower fuselage or frame work of the plane, separate lenses project from the box, on at an angle of sixty degrees to the right, one at an angle of sixty degrees to the left and the other perpendicular to the ground under observation. A single shutter takes the three pictures simultaneously in such order that each join where the other lines passes out of range making a continuous map.

PLANS ARE BEING COMPLETED FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT OF ALL THE TRAVELERS IN THIS TERRITORY HERE

Plans for the entertainment of every traveling man who makes this territory are being made by the committee from the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A Dutch lunch and smoker will be staged by the organization at the community auditorium Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, which will be attended by about seven hundred and fifty, half of which number will be travelers.

The travelers will be guests of the business men of the city at the meeting, each business man to buy two tickets at one dollar each, the extra ticket to be given to a traveling man.

This is an annual event and was originated and has been carried out on two other occasions for the sole purpose of giving all the business men of the city an opportunity to become acquainted with all the traveling men making this territory.

It was reported at the office of one of the committeemen that cards have been received from travelers who declare they will attend the meeting, and these show that there is a great deal of interest on their part. This is a most desired situation and is appreciated by the business men of Lubbock.

The travelers making this territory are the best boosters to be found anywhere. They have had opportunities to feel the pulse of West Texas through the ability of the merchants of this territory to handle their wares they offer for sale, and it goes without exception that they look upon this as the best territory in the southwest, and the advantage for Lubbock is in the fact that they don't mind telling their friends in other parts of the state of the merits of Lubbock and the Plains country.

GERMAN TEXTILE INDUSTRY BIG BUSINESS

BERLIN (by mail to United Press)—The German textile industry is doing a good business—not even textile manufacturers deny that. Accordingly, business must be excellent.

In a country where manufacturers have been whining continuously about bad business in the face of apparent prosperity, this could not be interpreted otherwise.

The textile business is confined however, exclusively to the home market. Export business, except in a few specialties, has ceased to exist owing to prices higher than those in the world market.

At present the textile industry seems to be in a position to forfeit export business. The reports of German chambers of commerce and other organizations state that all mills are working at top speed and probably will continue so for some time.

The production is readily absorbed. The stabilization of the market made for increased consumption.

by the masses. The stock of the retailer was speedily exhausted.

This and the upward tendency of prices of raw materials induced retailers to give orders. They accumulated to such an extent that the textile concerns became masters of the situation.

Thereafter they dictated prices. What the retailers wanted to avoid when giving their orders, namely, high prices, they now have. Their other conditions matched with prices. The mode of payment of the retailer to the manufacturer in the textile industry is perhaps the strictest ever applied.

Thus far the retailers demands for alleviation have been of no avail. Their only hope is that the shattered in a crisis necessarily following the slackening of business. At present, with every loom running at top speed, this is a vain hope.

In the occupied zone cheap English goods of high quality are successfully competing with the German goods.

These English fabrics "have done no harm to German industry in the unoccupied territory," the owners declare in one of their reports, "omitting, however, to state that not much is permitted to be shipped into the country owing to the import regulations.

The textile industry itself, even without export trade, is sitting in clover. For the country, however, the situation involves grave danger. It makes not only the trade balance more unfavorable, but also helps to jeopardize the stability of the mark.

The industry depends on imports for most of its raw materials that must be paid in foreign currency.

ELECTRICIAN ESCAPES DEATH BY QUICK ACTION

COLORADO, Texas, June 7.—E. M. Anman, electrician at Weimar, owes his life to a rope and the droit thinking of R. K. Kusey, his companion. While on a switchboard, he came in accidental contact with a live wire, knocking him to the ground wrapping in the sparkling coils. Kusey threw a rope about Anman's shoulders and dragged him from the writhing collection of highly charged wires after Anman had sustained severe burns but avoided death by a few seconds.

Big Reduction in the Prices of Laundry

The South Plains Laundry wishes to announce to all their customers a reduction of twenty per cent on Family work beginning Monday June 9th. Price on Family flat work will be eight cents per pound instead of the usual ten cent charge. The same price will be made for "Rough Dry" work (which is equal to approximately thirty five cents per dozen on the average Family bundle).

We have just recently installed more modern machinery and will be in shape to give our customers better service at a reduced price. Our work is guaranteed to please or no charge will be made for same.

We use soft water from our twenty five hundred dollar water softener, which insures your clothes against lime rot. Lime is more injurious to fabric than most anything and in our water softening process the lime is removed before it gets to your clothes.

The conditions in our plant are sanitary and when you put your head on the pillow at night your linen smells sweet and clean because it is washed and dried inside our building and does not hang on the line to catch the dirt in the air. The weather does not affect our service for the reason that we do not have to wait for a suitable day to hang your work out. All is handled on the inside of our plant.

We are now in a position to give one day service to our patrons when demanded of us.

Send us a trial bundle you will find it a saving and will be pleased with the work. Our phone is still 305.
