ALIENISTS REPORT ON MURDERERS TROUBLE

By United News.
CHICAGO, Ill., June 21.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb sons of Millionaires and confessed slayers of 14 year old Robert Franks were victims of an "intellectual complex" which made them irresponsible for their crime, brilliant alienists who have been retained by the defense are ready to testify.

A complete volume, the result of exhaustive search and medical examination of the two "super-intellectuals" in the "prison laboratory," is being prepared.
It now runs more than 2,000,000 words and the doctors are at work cutting it down to a comprehensive analysis of the boys' case so that it can be used by defense attorneys in their attempt to establish Loeb and Leopold insane.
Dr. H. S. Hurlbert, and Dr. Kurt Mordock Bowman are the two psychanalysts making the tests.

Highly sensitive instruments used in the tests have been strewn about the medical ward of the county jail where the examinations were conducted.

Both boys were college graduates and were working at the University of Chicago for higher scholastic honors.

That the boys were utterly precocious and therefore unbalanced mentally will be the plea of the defense.

Attorneys for the prosecution meanwhile are preparing a counter case. They will use every means at their command to break down the insanity plea.

The trial is scheduled for August 4.

LONDON, June 21.—The British attempt to conquer Mount Everest, impregnable peak of the Himalaya is understood to have been abandoned following the tragic death of two of the climbers, Mallory and Irvin, who died near the summit.

WHEAT CROP, IS PASSING ALL EXPECTATION

By United Press.
HUTCHINSON, Kans., June 21.—Kansas farmers in the midst of wheat harvest declare the crop is passing all expectations. Warm weather during the week is causing the grain to ripen rapidly, has prevented anticipated heavy damage from bugs and flies. Cutting of wheat is now on in full force throughout the central section of the grain growing belt. Practically all farmers will be in the fields tomorrow working Sunday in their efforts to keep the grain from becoming overripe.
 Most of the crop so far cut has been bound, but with the heads growing riper, the headers will enter the field early next week.
 Reports from Liberal are that the crop will run 25 to 35 bushels per acre. In Atchison and Saline counties, it is running from 16 to 20 bushels. Last years yield was around ten bushels.
 Moderate rains as the wheat turned golden, have caused excellent filling out of heads.
 Labor agencies have supplied plenty of men to meet the demands. The average wage is around $4 per day with board and keep.
 Most farmers are planning to sell sufficient grain from the thrasher to liquidate immediate debts and store the remainder in expectation of higher prices.

Crop Greater Than Expected.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 21.—J. E. Hutchinson vice president in charge of the St. Louis San Francisco railroad has just made a tour of Kansas and Oklahoma and has received reports on the condition of the wheat crop of both states which are served by this road. He says the crop will be much greater than formerly estimated. This is due to heavier grain, Kansas as he believes will produce 12,000,000 bushels.

Dawson Annexes Championship Saturday

DEERFIELD, Ill., June 21.—Undaunted by a leg of five holes which George Dawson, of Illinois had piled up at the nineteenth hole Mode Holdsworth, of Michigan crashed through with sixteen holes of superb golf and annexed the western interscholastic championship at the Briarcliffe Golf Club here today by a score of 3 to 1.
 Dawson led by four holes at the ninth hole, but was held on even terms for the rest of the morning round. Starting the afternoon round he stretched the morning lead to five by capturing the nineteenth hole.
 Holdsworth found himself at this juncture and romped home a winner when he rapidly ate the five hole handicap and won three for good measure.

Coolidge - Butler Conference is Held Today

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 21.—President Coolidge and William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee tonight were in conference on board the Mayflower to smooth out party friction developed in the convention at Cleveland.
 Reaching Washington today with a formal statement praising the Coolidge-Dawes ticket, and declaring "we are ready to go forward with our campaign" Butler lost no time in getting in touch with his chief.
 He conferred with the president at the White House lunched with him and accompanied him on a week end trip on the Mayflower.
 Butler was silent regarding his position at Cleveland and the friction with C. Bascom Sloop, secretary to President Coolidge which is believed nearly to have resulted in Sloop's resignation.
 He did say, however, that he later would have a definite statement concerning the advisory committee to the national committee.
 Sloop declared this advisory committee will have the real management of the campaign.

 It was impossible to make connection with Abernathy and Littlefield, and as the cloud formed in the southwest it is believed that

EDITORS FAVOR LYNCH DAVIDSON AS INDICATED BY A STRAW VOTE.

"Straws show which way the wind is blowing and straw votes show which way the race is going." A straw vote taken Tuesday night aboard the special train of members of the Texas Press Association bound for the convention at Amarillo.

"Two straw votes voluntarily taken recently among business and professional men of Texas in both cases have given Lynch Davidson over twice as many votes as all of his opponents combined," said Mr. Thomas.

In the vote aboard the Texas Press Association special Tuesday night with approximately 125 passengers, 123 votes were cast with Lynch Davidson receiving 76. Other candidates received: Robertson 21, T. W. Davidson 13, Barton 2, Collins 7, and Mrs. Ferguson 1.

The other ballot referred to was made aboard the special train run by Dallas Chamber of Commerce to El Paso. The passengers aboard this train consisted of purchasers of tickets sold city-wide over Dallas. In this instance 117 votes were cast with the following results: Lynch Davidson 83, T. W. Davidson 8, Collins 6, Robertson 12 and Ferguson 8.

At the time the Dallas vote was taken Mr. Ferguson's name had not been contested and Mr. Barton had not started actively campaigning.

The total of the votes in the two trials where names appear in both cases follow: Lynch Davidson 159, T. W. Davidson 21, Collins 13, Robertson 33.

These two ballots constitute one of the strongest possible indications that Lynch Davidson's business platform is receiving the commendation of the people of Texas. The first ballot was taken among business men selected from every rank and group, and the second from the newspaper fraternity representing probably, more than any other group, the class of men whose business it is to know the needs of their state, and possessing the keenest judgment as to capable of giving the best results.

Mr. Davidson addressed a large audience yesterday afternoon. The attendance was much larger than any other candidate of this high office has been able to get out which is a pretty good indication that the people of this section of the country are in sympathy with Mr. Davidson's platform, and he will no doubt, receive a vote in this county that will be a credit to him. Mr. Davidson is devoting most of his time to the presentation of his policies, and his platform, and is letting other candidates who will, and who are inclined to do so, do the attacking of the opponents.

We note from the press reports of speeches by the various candidates that they are most all romping on Mr. Davidson, which is usually a pretty good indication that they are afraid of him in the race and recognize in him a very strong contender for the honors.

We are of the opinion that he will be an easy winner in the race, and we also believe that if elected, he will be one of the strongest governors the state has ever had.

The sap in some of our presidential timber is not all in the trunk.

People who celebrated Memorial Day by attending some sporting event probably forget that there wasn't any sport at Chateau Thierry or Vicksburg.

LITTLE THINGS OVERLOOKED.

What a blessing that we do not all see alike. Were it not so every man would think your wife just as handsome as his own. Then there would be no fun in love, courtship and matrimony. Truly it has been said that variety is the spice of life. In short, variety is what causes the wheels to go round, and makes life worth living. Take variety out of it and the earth would soon be weed-growth, and the people return to savagery. We talk about the earth growing older as the years go by. And so it is, according to the almanac, but the world is becoming newer. At least, there seems to be no end to new things, new phases of old things and old phases of new things. Of topics worth studying there is no end, at least not in sight. The why and the whereof of things is forever challenging us to discussion and the final outcome gives the mind a shunt from the present into the future. The average mortal spends a lot of time looking into space, speaking to the echoes and listening for whisperings from dark mystery-land, while the earth is filled with interesting, even thrilling events, to say nothing of the curious things, and startling conditions that confront us at every step. What a pity we are not taught to look downward to the interesting things of the earth on which we live, and not to sit and gaze into mysterious space through which an occasional meteor flits. The average individual, young or old, has only the merest inkling of the interesting things that surround him wherever he may be. Had children been taught to look for the curious, the beautiful, the good, in nature, men would be revering in the very heart of wonderland just now, for June-time is the life time of the year.

NEWSPAPER PROGRESS IN THE WEST.

Probably no other business shows greater progress in the West or the South Plains than does the newspapers of this section. In Lubbock in the Avalanche plant there is improvement going on all the while. About $15,000 worth of new equipment and improvements have been made within the past few months, and still more is to come a little later.

New presses have been purchased by a number of the weekly newspapers of this section, and we notice that the Lamesa Reporter has recently moved into their new brick and concrete building, where new equipment has been added. The Terry County Herald has also moved into a new building and has added a newspaper press and other new equipment. All of these numbers of new plants have been established, and there is scarcely one that has not made some marked improvements in their papers. The newspaper men of this section are a progressive bunch, they have a great deal of confidence in the future of this country, and are willing to invest their money in putting the newspapers of this section in the lead.

The pacifists are never able to pacify the war dogs.

Brevity may be the soul of wit, but so much of it has no soul.

THE SPIRIT OF THE WEST.

The spirit of the west is manifested very vividly in the rising of Lamesa out of the ashes. We are told that their rebuilding program is well under way and that within a very few months the building destroyed by fire will be replaced with as good or better buildings than the original buildings were.

This is the spirit that has built the West. The people out here do not know what the word quit means, and for that reason there is a continual advance in the development of the rural sections as well as the growth of the towns of this section.

Lamesa was hit a terrible jolt, and she suffered a severe loss, but she is not in the least discouraged, or is she willing to stop and say it is enough, but rather the people of that city, say we have confidence in the future of this country, and this city, and we are going to rebuild, and continue to build till we have made the city here that this is destined to be.

This spirit characterizes the entire west, and especially the South Plains and for that reason we are making wonderful progress, and the towns show a wonderful growth.

THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE.

We are often heard it said that a corporation has no soul. Strictly speaking, this is the case, but it has been proved on a good many occasions that officials in corporations quite often have not only souls, but vision to go with them. This is shown today in the conduct and expansion of our modern public utilities. No industries so large as electric light and gas companies have ever before attempted through cooperation to render the public such service as they are doing today. In many states we have the startling illustration of these companies utilizing each other's transmission lines and other facilities in order that service to the public may be uninterrupted. Instead of one company secretly rejoicing that the equipment of a neighboring company was crippled through a storm or unforeseen accident, we find two or more companies in such a case combining their resources to see that the customers get uninterrupted and continuous service. We see the managers of groups of these companies meeting in round table conferences, not to figure out a combination that may increase the price to consumers but to figure out ways and means to render a constantly increasing service. If there was ever romance in business, it is being expressed today in this new type of management which fully recognizes the duty it owes to the public under a system of public regulation which recognizes the value of certain natural monopolies and the necessity for allowing them to earn a fair rate of return.

GOOD PEOPLE NEED ENCOURAGEMENT.

The tendency of the times is too high flying, fast going, and deep diving. The preacher devotes eight years at least to college and seminary courses and then begins to preach by telling the people about the last things he studied, things which they could not comprehend without similar courses of study. If the preacher is earnest and diligent, and really desirous of reaching the people, and of rendering them real aid and assistance, he may, after eight years' preaching, reach their level. He does this by forgetting the second hand stuff learned at school. Art galleries, as a rule, are but curiosity shops to the average visitor, those whom they have been established to instruct and to improve in taste, and to develop a love for the beautiful. Instructors should be teachers in the sense of being leaders by way of the more direct and safe paths. Specialists in art, music and literature seem to abominate the term popular, and that in spite of the fact that it expresses the spirit and the taste of the populace—the people. The popular taste is for that which is good, the best within its reach. But when the good music, art and literature is placed out of its reach—beyond its conception—it takes to ragtime, to caricature, to the cheap novel and the yellow journal. Can you blame the populace for being unappreciative when its reasonable demands are not respected? There isn't anything too good for the good people. As for the bad you may think what you will. It is the good people who need to be helped and encouraged. Good people in these times are those who are desirous of better things, and doing what they can to help themselves, and others, to get more and better returns for the time, talent and energy expended.

CO. COMMITTEE CANNOT ASSESS STATE AFFAIRS

By United Press. WACO, Texas, June 21.—No county democratic executive committee has the right to levy an assessment on candidates for state office, in the opinion of Joe Hale, secretary of the state democratic executive committee.

In a statement made here tonight, Mr. Hale said: "In my opinion any county committee that refuses or fails to put on their official ballot the name of any candidate certified to them by the state chairman would invalidate the election in that county, insofar as the candidates for that particular office are concerned."

Secretary Hale's statement calls attention to an amendment to the statute governing the assessment of candidates, passed by the legislature, June 19, 1923, becoming effective 90 days later, which says: "All those who are candidates for state office to be voted by the qualified voters of the whole state shall pay to the chairman of the state executive committee one hundred ($100) and shall not be required to pay any other sum to any other person or committee to have their names placed on the ticket as such candidates."

M'ADOO TAKES THE DEFENSE

(Continued from page 1) hands of the leaders when the time comes. Senator Carter Glass, however, must be seriously considered now because much of the McAdoo strength is likely to turn to the diminutive Virginia statesman if McAdoo fails of nomination.

It is known that Bernard M. Thomas L. Chadbourne and others of the so-called Wilson wing of the party have long looked with favor upon Glass. In announcing the opening of Glass headquarters, John Stewart Bryan declared "the movement for Glass to break the deadlock is to be a serious, organized, tangible one."

Still another candidate to be placed before the convention in event of a deadlock appeared today in the person of David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture and treasurer respectively during the Wilson administration. The boom for Houston took a definite form when headquarters were opened up in his behalf at the hotel Sevilla and several tons of literature about him loosened through the press and delegation headquarters. Houston is said to have been the man Woodrow Wilson favored for the nomination this year.

DOES YOUR BOY GET HIS SHARE

BY PHEBE K. WARNER. It has been estimated by one of our Middle West cities that it costs $905 to send a boy or a girl through the public schools from the first day in the first year to the graduating platform in a city high school. Since there are so few rural high schools to calculate for we will use the city figures for the lesson. However, this computation is based on those schools that are divided into three stages, the elementary grades, the junior high and the senior high school which does not apply to many of our schools in Texas. But they will do to think about.

Have you ever estimated what it costs to feed and clothe a child from infancy to manhood or womanhood? You never have? Why? Oh, just because you recognize it as a human duty to feed and clothe him? Anybody, some folks make their children cost more than others. But often the very children that cost the most in cold cash to feed and clothe and rear are the children of parents who can least afford to be extravagant.

But look at these figures for a minute: $250 for six years in the elementary grades; $120 for the two years covering the junior or the seventh and eighth grades as they are classified in some of our States and $35 for the four years in high school. Now, the first question we asked ourselves when we saw those figures was this: How much does it cost to put a child through the public schools of Texas, when we allow only $13 or $15 per capita to the child?

Judge Walter Schenck of Graham, is visiting in Lubbock for a few days.

It must be awful to be a neighbor's child because they never will amount to anything.

Driving a wife or a horse too much may make them throw a shoe.

AT HOME.

The road seems long today, but at the end They wait to welcome me! There, when I've turned the bend, A smile I see, And none shall turn away in scornful pride—Only by strangers is man's best denied—

Others have laughed because my pace is slow, But when I reach the gate They shall run up as though they do not know That I am great; Strangers may jibe, but soon a little chap Shall shout with glee and struggle in my lap.

Shabby my garments now and sadly soiled, But what is dress? She knows it is for her that I have toiled, And her caress Will fall as softly on my cheek to-night As though I wore soft linen spotless white. Richer you are perhaps in gold and end fame, Proud men who pass; But when the night comes down, you cannot claim, Whate'er your class, A truer welcome from your own who wait, Than that which mine shall give me at my gate.

American World Fliers Rest At Rangoon, India

By United Press. RANGOON, India, June 21.—Resting after fatigue and hardships endured in the flight from Amoy, the American world flyers today laid plans for their next hop to Bassen on the way to Akiah. The monsoon which is a regular element of Indian weather at this time of the year has abated and are favorable both for the American and the British who are expected here shortly.

JITNEYS WILL CONTINUE TO OPERATE IN PARK MAGNOLIA

HOUSTON, June 21.—There will be jitney lines in Magnolia Park here for at least three months more, Mayor Fred A. Baldwin has announced. There has been considerable opposition to the jitney lines in Magnolia Park, and many people there have been trying to stop issuing licenses. The mayor said he didn't know what action would be taken on October 1, but that the jitneys were sure to continue until that date.

LOOT TAKEN AT REVIVAL MEETING AMOUNTED TO $300 OR MORE

PALESTINE, Texas, June 21.—While several hundred persons were in attendance at the night sermon in the First Baptist Church here, thieves busied themselves among the hundred automobiles parked outside the church and carted off loot valued at almost $300. Accessories of every description, including spot lights, motor meters, side-shields, driving rags, flower holders and even a specially constructed over-size steering wheel.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 21.—A panhandle train carrying members of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati baseball club to Cincinnati, crashed into a freight train four miles west of Carnegie late tonight. Several persons were said to be injured, although first reports failed to say whether they included the ball players. The train of ball players left Pittsburgh at 10:10 p. m. The freight train into which it crashed was number 304 eastbound from Columbus.

BUY A FARM!

A Message from Walter P. Chrysler—

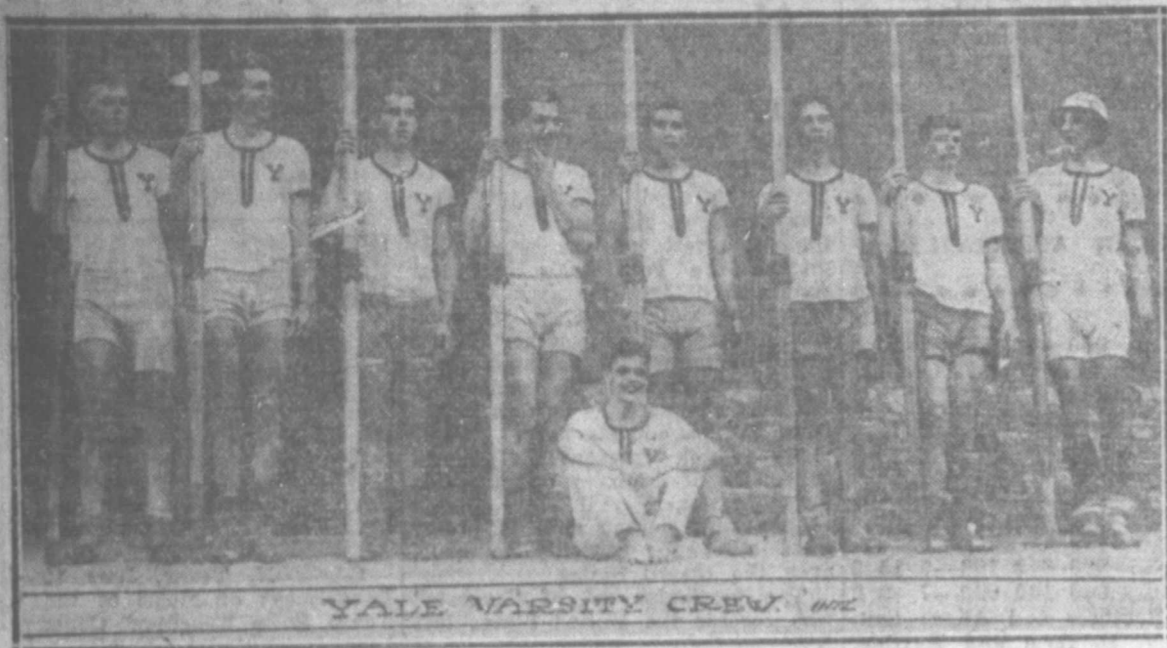

When I say the good Maxwell is the best four-cylinder car at anything like its price in America today, I am thinking of specific accomplishments of the last year. For instance, vibration subdued to the vanishing point; revolutionary riding and driving results; main bearings rarely if ever replaced; 18,000 miles from a set of tires, and so on. Maxwell of today is more than the good Maxwell—it has been developed to a plane of superiority far above and beyond the dead level of previous four-cylinder possibilities.

NOMINEE MUST BE ABLE TO STAND FOUR SQUARE ON THE PLATFORM THE DEMOCRATS ADOPT

By FRAZIER EDWARDS
HOTEL WALDORF, New York, June 21.—A smashing denunciation of corruption, graft and special privilege in government and a pledge to "clean house" will constitute the main plank in the democratic platform. Taking advantage of the oil scandal the Dougherty investigation and the veterans bureau graft, democratic chiefs tonight were rapidly hammering out a platform that will frame the issue on which they expect to win in November.

Despite the confusion, claims and counter claims of rival managers there is an abiding confidence among the delegates that 1924 is a "democratic year" they are out to win and there is a growing feeling that the democratic nominee must be fitted to stand four square on the main issue in the platform.

Upon this plank there is complete harmony among all factions of the party. It is, however, the only question upon which all can agree. There are prospects of a fight on virtually every other question which has ever a tinge of controversy in it.

With the continued open and bitter agitation of the Klan issue unless some means is found to put the quietus on this question even harmony-seeking leaders fear the resolutions committee, which drafts the platform will be converted into a "doneybrook fair" before the Klan plank can be ironed out to the satisfaction of the warring elements. George E. Brennan, democratic boss of Illinois and Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts declaring relentless warfare on the Klan issue have become more insistent for a plank to scold the Klan by name and declare for religious and civil liberty. Efforts to "make out" W. G. McArdle on the Klan issue still persist. McArdle has declined to be drawn into the controversy and continues to maintain that it is a question to be settled by the party committee.

The selection of Jim Hanes, of Missouri is too ill to attend the convention. Walsh of Massachusetts is prepared to carry on the fight against any declaration for entrance into the league of nations. The highly controversial wet and dry issue bids fair to be settled without more than a sham battle. The wet threaten to carry their fight to the floor of the convention but a highest estimate for a wet plank is 135 out of 1,995 delegates. Dries will be satisfied with straight out enforcement plank. W. J. Bryan, stormy veteran of democratic conventions since 1896 is on his way with a portfolio full of trouble according to reports. He is said to have prepared to battle against any suggestion of weakening on the dry law and is insistent on many of his old progressive ideas.

It has been suggested he may insist upon an expression against the teachings of the Darwin theory in the schools when the educational sociological plank is reached. Even the agricultural plank offers a battle ground, despite the inclination of all hands to carry favor with the farmers. Bernard M. Baruch, who has made a deep study of agricultural problems in the last three years is drafting a plank that will endorse the principle of the McNary-Haugben bill, which is designed to aid the farmers in disposing of surplus products abroad.

Democratic leader Garrett of the house opposed the measure from the start and his opposition is generally credited with the defeat of the bill. He is said to have stirred a number of powerful leaders

YOUNG LADY IS FOUND DYING NEAR ROAD

By United Press
PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 21.—Brutally beaten and believed to be dying, Veronica Schultz, pretty 17-year-old Plainfield girl was found unconscious in a clump of bushes beside a lonely road near here today.

The girl was revived and told police she had been beaten with a hammer by a man with whom she was motoring. The bloody machinists hammer was found near the scene of the attack.

Police said the girl told them the name of the assailant and gave a description of him. The description has been broadcast and police of all surrounding cities are watching for the man tonight.

The girl was found by three men passing along the road and taken to a hospital in New Brunswick where physicians worked with her more than an hour before she regained consciousness. Weakened by loss of blood, Miss Schultz told in a voice barely audible show she was returning from New Brunswick to Plainfield in a motor car late last night with the man she named.

"We stopped at a roadhouse" she said "and the man had several drinks. I took a drink too and after that I didn't remember very well."

"I am so tired," Physicians would not allow police to question her further after the name of the man had been learned. Police started to work immediately, however, and soon found the man named had not returned home last night and was not at the place where he has been employed today. His arrest within 24 hours was expected.

AVIATORS DIVE SEVENTY-FIVE FEET INTO LAKE MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, June 21.—Henry C. Clark and Ben Timp, Chicago aviators had a miraculous escape from death here today when their airplane plunged 75 feet and carried both to the bottom of Lake Michigan.

By desperate efforts Clark and Timp managed to fight their way through the tangle of wires and canvas to the surface. Clark and Timp were trying out a new plane when the rudder control threw the plane on its side and into a wing dip, and sent it crashing into a wing slip in the lake. The machine struck a shallow spot sinking 25 feet to the bottom.

When the men kicked themselves free from the plane, Clark, in the surface, Clark and Timp clung to it until rescued by a Lincoln Park tug.

U.S. MARINES MAY GUARD MAIL TRAINS

CHICAGO, June 20.—United States marines may be detailed to guard the mails again in a few days, it was disclosed Friday by postoffice authorities. Announcement that the government was considering placing marines on mail trains and at mail terminals again came shortly after the arrival in Chicago of Rush Simmons, chief postoffice inspector. He had been sent from Washington to take charge of the investigation of the recent $3,000,000 mail train robbery at Rondout, Illinois.

A federal grand jury returned indictments Friday against ten men charged with having participated in the Rondout robbery. James Murray, political beer runner, Joseph Willie and Will Newton, brothers, Carlos Fontana and Wiley McCamba in whose flat one of the Newtons was arrested, were indicted and held under bonds of $50,000 each.

Engine Builders Are Negotiating With Obregon

By United Press
LAREDO, Texas, June 21.—Samuel R. Vaucklain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works, passed through Laredo today en route to Mexico City for a week's conference with President Obregon within the last month. Vaucklain said he is negotiating an order for 2,000 cars of various types to be used in rehabilitating the Mexican Railroad and other lines under the control of the government.

Mexico recently placed an order with the Baldwin Works for 30 locomotives to be delivered in July and August this year. "Fifty modern locomotives, together with a proportionate number of cars, will put the railroads of Mexico in a position to handle the rapidly increasing business between that country and the United States," Vaucklain declared.

"Mexico is holding out her arms to American manufacturers. She wants to do business with American business houses, if only they will take the trouble to send representatives to Mexico after the orders. Commercial relations between Mexico and the United States have increased by leaps and bounds since the Obregon regime and if American business men would go to Mexico instead of to Europe, for their summer vacations, they could not only combine business with pleasure, but could build up business friendships that would be invaluable."

Accompanying Vaucklain were his daughter Ann, Major William A. Garrett, his personal representative, W. R. Bucklin, his attorney and Russell Hay, his private secretary. The party came direct from Washington in Vaucklain's private car.

QUIZZED ABOUT NEW YORK GIRL TELLS STORY OF ROBBERY

By United Press
CHICAGO, Ill., June 21.—Police seeking the $3,000,000 in the Rondout mail robbery of last week tonight were tenaciously quizzing a woman believed to know where the money is hidden.

But the woman, equally tenacious refuses to tell anything although the police are certain she knows.

Mrs. Lewis Newton, wife of one of ten men indicted by a federal grand jury for the robbery stood her ground against her questioners and repeated again and again that she knew nothing. Mrs. Newton, according to author ities received a telephone call from her husband shortly after the robbery in which she was ordered to Joliet, Ill. As it was near Joliet that police found a portion of the loot they are convinced that it was Mrs. Newton who rifled the stolen mail pouches and has hidden the main portion of the loot, where it is to be retrieved by the bandit hand at some later date.

WOMAN WANTS TO BE FIRST GOV.
IN AMERICA

By United News.
HOUSTON, June 21.—Interpreting literally the rights and duties conferred upon women by the acquisition of the voting power, Mrs.
Miriam A. Ferguson wife of Governor James E. Ferguson, is running for governor of Texas.
Last week the special supreme court ruled that her husband was not eligible for the office because of impeachment for misfeasance
in office during his term as governor. Mrs. Ferguson has taken up the burden of "giving Jim" another chance as she puts it. "Jim and I aren't seeking revenge," she said recently in a campaign speech. "I want the voters of Texas to elect me the first woman governor in the United States so Jim and I will be able to remove the stigma of that terrible blotch against us. I frankly admit that my husband made mistakes during his term as governor of Texas, but we both had been content with his removal from office and I would have resigned ourselves to the situation.

But when it was decreed that he must forfeit the sacred right of a citizen to serve his fellows I determined to appeal to the voters
for vindication of our name.
And so "Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democrat," is listed among the regular candidates for the office of governor of Texas. Her candidacy has been approved by the executive committee of the Democratic party of Texas, headquarters have been opened and Jim Ferguson is campaigning as he never campaigned in his life before.

Mrs. Ferguson has made but one direct appeal for votes—a statement issued Wednesday to the women of Texas, a woman's appeal.
So far as I know my opponents are all nice men," she said and as they have all said that they believe unequal suffrage for women I hope they will not deny me the right to appeal to the voters for vindication of our family name. As they will not let my husband run,
I hope our friends all over Texas will see that I am forced to enter this contest.

"Mothers, I have a little bright-eyed grandson, Wednesday, to be than life itself. Some of these days he will grow up to be a man and maybe he might want to run for office and serve his country. If, when he does, somebody wants to point the finger of scorn at him and say "your grandfather was impeached by the senate of Texas," I want that grandson to be able grandfather the right to go to the
to say, "yes and as a rebuke to that impeachment, that denied people, my dear grandmother was elected governor by the people of Texas—the first woman governor in the world."

Mrs. Ferguson's campaign is causing serious thinking among the men who are also candidates for the governorship. Ex-Governor Ferguson is a shrewd and resourceful politician and as one staunch old Democrat put it, "Mrs. Ferguson is the best man running for the office today."

AL SMITH IS CON- FIDENT OF NOMINATION

By PERCY B. SCOTT
UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, WALDORF HOTEL, NEW YORK, June 21.—Complete confidence continues to prevail at the headquarters of Al Smith, while delegates were streaming in today to assure the New York executive of their support, word came that the lost collie dog which the governor presented to his mother shortly before her death recently had been found.

This interested the governor almost as much as the political news,
and his followers took it as an omen
of good fortune that is to follow their candidate.

Standing in his headquarters
with a ring of newspaper men around him, Smith voiced his confidence that he will be nominated.
"My real strength," he declared,
"is the fact that the rank and file of the people of this country want me nominated. Every delegate who has come to see me so far has told me that."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Smith's campaign manager will make the speech placing Smith in nomination before the convention, it was definitely decided this afternoon. And Roosevelt backed up the governor's statement as to his strength with the claim that Smith will have close to 200 votes on the first ballot.

Smith's boosters are claiming Rhode Island, Oklahoma, and Massachusetts after the first ballots are disposed of and Smith is busy constantly in conferences with various leaders. Former Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels and Governor Sweet, of Colorado, were among the callers today.

By United Press
CHICAGO, June 21.—Merger of five nationally known grain
marketing companies of Chicago with 5,000 farmers co-operative agencies of the country, appeared imminently today.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, the prime factor in the proposed consolidation issued a statement regarded as favorable in the plan.

The committee of the federation
as chairman was considering the feasibility of the merger. Under the plan the Armour Grain company
Rosenbaum Bros., Bartlett, Frazier and company, J. C. Shaffer and company and the Rosenbaum Grain Corporation could sell their machinery and assets to the farmer
organization.

The deal would involve some $25,000,000 it is estimated and would handle about 75 per cent of the entire output of the country's grain.

RADIO FAN HAS A CLUB OF HIS OWN IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, June 21.—Probably the most unique club in Texas is presided over by Rush Hall, Dallas high school student and radio fan.

Every Sunday afternoon, Hall with his station 5 R L calls the roll of club members in a dozen
Texas counties and the North Texas Radiogram club is in session. After sounding the call several times over his powerful set, Rush announces he's "present."

Only one member is allowed to "take the air" at a time. The members swap years adopt resolutions, and conduct parliamentary business over the radio.

Rush says the club isn't exclusive. All that is needed is a radio set, and any radio fan can be a member. The organization is growing rapidly.

At that, the La Folletteites were

FARM FEATURES FOR FARM FOLKS

BY PHEBE K. WAARNER

July 25 to August 2, is the date set for the 1924 Farmers' Short Course at Texas A. & M. College.

Every year the Texas A. & M. College tries to do one more thing through the Farmers' Short Course to build up all the people.

Two years ago the College invited the agricultural writers of Texas to attend the Farmers' Short Course for the purpose of studying the relation of the Texas press to the farm people of the State.

As a result of that two weeks school in the interests of the rural church, the A. & M. College is this year making a survey of the rural out-what ails the rural church and then doctor it in the most intelligent and Christ-like way.

How many of us know about it.

There is another thing going on in Texas this year. It is the School Survey. How many of the people are keeping up with that? How can we country folks keep up with all the big things that are going on in Texas?

What is the Texas press doing for the farm folk? Is the Texas press doing as much for the farmer and all his interests as the farmer and his family are doing for the Texas press?

What is the biggest and most essential business in Texas? It is Texas agriculture with all its varied commercial, economic, industrial, educational, social, spiritual and other human interests.

Is the press in any way responsible for the drift of youth from the country to the overcrowded city? Does the city daily give as much back to the farmer for his subscription that is helpful and inspirational to him as it gives back to its city subscriber?

Texas press in any way responsible for the restlessness and discontent on the Texas farm?

The farmers of Texas and their families produced last year more than one billion dollars of wealth for this state. They produced almost one-eleventh of all the agricultural wealth that was produced in the United States last year.

Who are the agricultural writers? They are everybody who sends a newspaper or a magazine out to the farm people. Every paper that goes regularly to the country people should carry to them something of special interest to them and their life work.

The A. & M. College will give $50 in prizes to the best Country Weekly newspapers that are exhibited at the A. & M. Press Exhibit.

It is a strange peculiarity of college athletics that they have favorite enemies against whom they seem able to fight far beyond the limitations of mere physical durability and strength and condition.

The A. & M. College invites every editor in Texas to send in one copy of his paper to A. D. Jackson, College Station, Texas, some time before July 15, 1924.

YALE TEAM WINS RACE OVER HARVARD

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 20. Straight down a lane of yachts, naval boats, excursion tugs and slovenly only harbor scows which made the air throb with wild whistle blasts, the slim needle of the Yale shell went darting under the railroad bridge Friday evening, more than two lengths ahead of the Harvard vessel, in the renewal of a college rivalry which has been going on since 1852.

As the blue-tipped sweeps of the Yale mariners snatched at the water for the final stroke that sent the prow of the boat across the line, Yale completed her second successive season under the coaching of the westerner, Ed Leader, without defeat.

It is a strange peculiarity of college athletics that they have favorite enemies against whom they seem able to fight far beyond the limitations of mere physical durability and strength and condition.

Now Yale's 1924 crew is regarded as the best the United States could find to send to the Olympic games and as Harvard has been beaten here and there in the preliminary schedule, there seemed to be some doubt that the 'varsity sailors would finish in the same day with Yale.

Two long trains of flat cars with circus seats secured to their desks and awning with canvas rattled down the banks of the Thames in pace with the graceful little divers that darted through the ruffled water and down the glittering pathway of the sunset.

This was Yale's fourth consecutive victory in the 'varsity race with Harvard, the big race of the Yale-Harvard season, and the second consecutive year that Yale has swept the river clean. Yale also won the freshman and junior varsity races in the morning.

Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

Recently in discussing old times, I was informed that the first school taught in Lubbock county was a subscription school, the tuition paid by various individuals, and many of the subscribers were old bachelors, who would agree to pay one dollar and fifty cents per month and the informer tells me that he remembers that E. C. Knight and Frank Bowles were subscribers to the school fund.

The first teacher was Miss Minnie Tubbs, and he school closed on Friday, July 24, 1891. The exercises began at noon and continued during the evening and consisted of recitations and readings. The entire class did exceptionally well.

At night a sumptuous supper was set and all present made themselves at home at the table. After supper the remainder of the program was carried to completion, interspersed with vocal and instrumental selections of music by Sylvia Hunt and Miss Grace Dockum, assisted by Messrs. Albert J. Clark and Attorney W. Connie Henderson.

I recall attending a teachers' institute held at Estacado, Texas, in April, 1897. The superintendent was Marcus Phillips. Among those attending from Lubbock were J. Winford Hunt and his sister, Miss Nora Claud Green and Miss Janie Mobley.

The writer recalls a report submitted by the critic which was read at the close of the session which read as follows:

About their mission here below,
As if they wanted folks to think
They were the biggest, longest link
In the chain connecting poor mankind
With heights of fame and wealth
of mind.

What is a teacher, anyway,
But something with which children
play?
A trustee's football to be kicked;
A hooby's tyrant to be licked;
A patron's servant—more than
paid;
A scape-goat, on whom blame is laid.

A sort of preacher-lookin' cuss,
Who's always 'round bother'n us;
A talkin' 'bout our children's good
And lectur'n on their mental food,
Insistin' that they need to be Educated more than we Ever had a chance to be.
Insistin' that they be at school,
And kickin' 'bout the tardy rule;
Declarin' regularity
At the school house every day,
A positive necessity.

They say that breakin' a broncho
Don't make a feller's thinker grow.
They say that knowin' how to spur
A mustang in his shoulder, sir,
Is not refinin' in the least—
Godd for neither man nor beast.

"Accomplished" is their battle cry;
"Educate yourself, or die."
They have the rail to tell you too, You've paid your school tax and
that you
Should take advantage of the chance

To send those urchins in knee
pants,
"And those big, old, ugly boys,
Where empty heads roar with their noise."

"Why should a greenhorn educate,
And with fool l'arnin' fill his plate?"
Why not leave him as he is?
The Lord know "ignorance is bliss."

It's downright mean, seems to be,
To monkey with his liberty.
And what has any girl to know

But how to flirt and catch a beau?
But how to cook and wash and
scrub,
And when she's married thump her
hub.

They say a nation's life depends
On her learned citizens.
This is nonsense, Simon pure,
And something that I can't endure.
But the big hobby of the phools,
Is uniform text-books in schools,
If kids now-days hev go so fine
They can't get sense like I got mine.

They ain't wuth wastin' money on
And are usefule dead and gone.
All these methods the call "new"
I don't think they'll sorter do.

I like the good old-fashioned way,
Like B-O how, and B-A bay,
I'll tell you what's the matter folks,
These teachers are just extra
spokes;

They ain't wuth killin' now-a-days,
Since they're too smart for good,
old ways.

Why, they've got no sympathy
When a child is sick and stays away
And cures his stomach-ache by
play,
And whoops his head-ache all away.

They seem to think that he can come
To school if he can play at home,
And they'd delight to hev a rule,
To make the parents visit school;
That's the brazen thing of all—
Pure and petrified old gail.

We've hired them and put them
there

To run the school and its but fair
That our troubles there should end
With the school, but they contend
That the children need to be encouraged by our presence, see
All the encouragement they need,
Is a rod applied with strength and speed.

Criticise them, yes, you bet,
I hope I'll find some more fault
yet."

To the partisan every ticket is
"ideal"—after nomination.

MANY FIGURE IN NEWEST LOVE SCANDAL

By United News.

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—With a new list of leading characters, most of them prominent men and women in theatrical and motion picture circles, another drama of alleged love affairs entanglements is scheduled for presentation in court here.

Ann Luther, who is a former wife of Ed Gallagher of the famous Gallagher-Sheaen combination is suing J. P. White for $100.00 damages, charging breach of contract. White has filed a counter complaint in which he seeks $16,000, naming that amount as money advanced to Miss Luther when she is said to have represented herself as a capable actress, of good reputation and good moral character.

According to Miss Luther's claims, White agreed to finance her career in motion pictures and has not fulfilled his contract. The case was called in court here Friday but was continued a week. In connection with White's counter suit, however, he claims that Miss Luther was of "bad reputation and moral character" and depositions filed Friday tell of numerous affairs in which she is asserted to have played a prominent part.

She has admitted that she has been named as correspondent in Evelyn Nesbit's suit for divorce against Jack Clifford, but a denial of charges that she had lived at his country place in the Adirondacks was entered.

NEWSBOY DISPLAYS INDIFFERENCE TO AN AWFUL PAIN

International News Service.

DALLAS, Texas, June 21.—Marvin Purtt, 9-year old newsboy in the "gamest kid in Dallas" so believes Policeman Clevie Woods who saw the youth undergo ten minutes of physical torture that would have brought cries of agony from the strongest of men under the same circumstances.

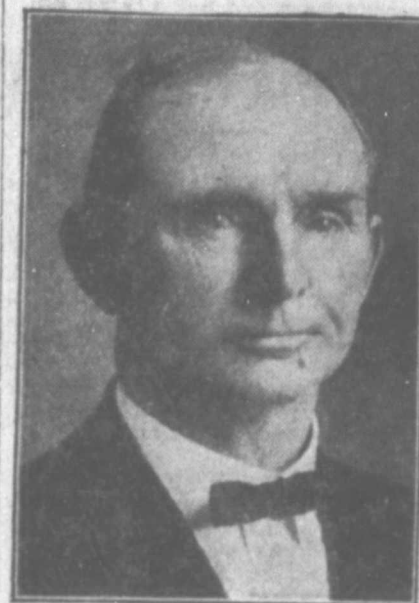

The lad was caught in a peculiar accident when a street car striking an automobile hurled the machine with such force that it crashed into a lamp post against which young Puett was leaning. The car pinned the boy to the steel post, parts the automobile penetrating his legs to the bone. For ten minutes Puett was forced to stand thus while police and pedestrians strove frantically to extricate him from the twisted mass of metal. The boy endured the pain without a whimper and occasionally directed the men as to the way to set about their task.

FIGHT ON TWO THIRD RULE DROPPED

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
United News Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, June 21.—McAdoo forces have dropped their fight against the two-thirds rule. This was the first important decision made after the arrival of Wm. G. McAdoo who has now taken personal charge of his campaign for the nomination.

The decision to drop the fight on the two-thirds rule was made at a formal conference of McAdoo leaders called by McAdoo himself at which he suggested the change in tactics.

Those attending this meeting included Judge David Ladd Rockwell, McAdoo's campaign manager, Samuel B. Amidon, of Kansas; Tom Love, of Texas; Jowett Shouse, of Kansas; Joseph Hunter Miller; Thomas L. Chadbourne; Bernard M. Baruch, and several others.

Several days ago, McAdoo leaders were spreading the word quietly that the two-thirds rule could be overturned and that they would have enough votes on the rules committee to do this.

The reaction was unfavorable, however, and led to reports that the McAdoo forces were trying to make their own rules. After weighing all angles of the problem it was decided to drop the agitation. The result is that the convention, in all probability, will require a two-thirds vote to nominate as it has in the past.

Some of the Texas delegates will make a fight on their own responsibility. They are under instructions to oppose the rule and the matter will be brought up by them.

Tom Love, Texas national committeeman and other McAdoo leaders, however, will take no active part in this fight.

While the decision to drop the two-thirds rule fight might seem at first admission to defeat by the McAdoo forces, the ultimate result is likely to be favorable.

"If we can get a majority, we will get the nomination anyway," one prominent McAdoo leader said. "There is no use stirring up a fight over the question. There are some delegates who are for McAdoo but do not favor abandonment of the two-thirds rule. We are confident that after a few ballots—certainly by the tenth ballot—we will have a majority and when we get a majority everybody will scramble on our wagon. The proper thing to do is to propose at this convention that the rule be abandoned at the next one."

The abandonment of the two-thirds fight was the only material development in convention news Thursday. There was much underground talk about the Klan issue, which promises to be a trouble spot. The difficulty arises out of the fact that in the south the Democratic party is made up of a preponderance of Baptists and Methodists, while in the north, many of the leaders are Roman Catholics. The Smith candidacy complicates the question still further. One report was circulated that high church officials privately looked with disfavor on Smith's candidacy, fearing that it would have a reaction upon the prestige of the Church. Whether this is true or not, there is a great deal of underground discussion of the religious and Klan issues and leaders are hoping that it can be prevented from flaring up on the convention floor.

This hardly seems possible, however, in view of the announcement by C. C. Carlin, Underwood manager that he will go on the floor of the convention and demand an anti-Klan plank unless the platform committee includes it in its draft.

George Brennan, Illinois leader, also has declared he will work for such a declaration. Brennan is the big question mark of the convention. He milled around the hotel lobbies Thursday chatting with everyone and picking up views. But whenever any one asked who he would support ultimately as the compromise candidate, a mysterious smile spread over his broad, round moon-like face. Brennan will vote his delegates for Smith on early ballots. He has dropped a hint that he might regard Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi as a compromise chance later. But there was nothing definite about this. Brennan is the keynote in the whole situation. His closest friends insist that he is keeping an open mind and is waiting for the situation to crystallize before picking the horse which will carry his big money.

Many candidate headquarters are being established in Peacock alley at the Waldorf. Smith, Cox and Underwood opened headquarters Thursday. John W. Davis headquarters will be opened Friday.

McAdoo will retain his suite covering the top floor of the Vanderbilt hotel nearby.

TEXAN CHARGED WITH HAVING TWO WIVES

By United News.
SAN ANTONIO, June 21.—Trained here from Memphis, Tenn., according to Mrs. Malitta Lee, who says the man is her husband, a man of about 50 years, was taken into custody here by police Friday. His name was given as James D. Jeffery, and with him was an attractive young woman said to be Mrs. Anne Jeffrey, 27, who also claimed the man as her husband. Police are trying to solve the alleged marital tangle.

Following the death of her first husband, R. A. Moody, a war veteran, at Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Lee claims she was wooed and wed in Miami, Fla., by J. E. Lee, on St. Valentine's Day, 1920. Lee and Jeffrey she insists, are the same person.

Later, while residing in Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Lee said she heard her spouse had taken another wife while away on a trip at Newark, N. J. Three years after the former's wedding to "Lee" in Rochester, N. Y., according to Mrs. Lee, she was told the woman she saw with her husband was his housekeeper.

Returning to their recent home in Memphis, the husband, Mrs. Lee asserted, told here he was going to Texas to start life anew. She says she gave him $25 to make the trip. After his departure for San Antonio she declared, she became suspicious when she found her trunk had been rifled, and pictures of her husband removed. She immediately left for San Antonio, where, she claims, she located her husband's trunk at the depot. Keeping vigil over it until it was removed to a hotel, she traced it and then called police. They located the couple, she insists, are her husband and Mrs. Jeffrey.

American Engineers In Session At Pasadena

By United Press.
PASADENA, June 21.—The engineers are in town to ponder the problems and enjoy the diversions of their fifty-fourth annual convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers, which opened here today and will end June 21.

About seven hundred delegates and guests from all parts of the country were present at Hotel Maryland this morning, when Franklin Thomas, president of the Los Angeles section, called the first session to order. Hiram W. Wadsworth, chairman of the Pasadena board of city directors, delivered the address of welcome.

President C. E. Grunsky of the Society responded to the greeting and then delivered his annual address. His speech, while it was addressed to a technical assembly, was universal in scope. It dealt with the engineer and his problems and his responsibility to the community and nation.

One of the notable programs of the convention will take place tomorrow. It will be devoted to the important Colorado River problem in a formal paper to be presented by Col. William Kelly, Engineer Corps, U. S. A., and chief engineer of the Federal Power Commission.

A discussion of that important issue will be opened by E. C. LaRue, hydraulic engineer of the United States Geological Survey. He will also show moving pictures made by him during his recent trip down the Colorado River.

The sanitary engineering division will hold its first session to hear a paper by Robert V. Orbison, city manager of South Pasadena. An important paper on sanitation of the Los Angeles metropolitan district will be read by Willis T. Knowlton, engineer of sewers for Los Angeles, to be followed by a discussion participated in by George T. Hammond of Brooklyn, N. Y.; C. G. Hyde, professor of sanitary engineering at the University of California, and W. W. Horner, chief engineer of sewer and paving, St. Louis.

Royal W. Sorenson, professor of electrical engineering, California institute of Technology, will present a paper before the Power Division on "Million-Volt Transformer in Relation to Power Transmission," and its discussion will be opened by Harold Michener, transmission engineer of the Southern California Edison Company.

The third simultaneous technical session for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, is that of the Highway Division, with George A. Damon, consulting engineer and city planner, reading a paper on "The Influence of the Automobile on Regional Transportation Planning," and the Irrigation Division.

Following these technical meetings, the engineers and their guests will visit the Thomas H. Ince Studio at Culver City. The guests will be entertained by motion picture stars and will view the process of making motion pictures.

On Friday, the steamer Avalon will take the delegates to Catalina Island, where luncheon will be served at the Saint Catherine Hotel. A buffet dinner after the return will be served at the California Yacht Club in Los Angeles Harbor.

The Tri-City Sewage Disposal plant and farm will be inspected Saturday morning and then will follow a trip to Hyperion, the site of the Los Angeles outfall sewer screening plant. An alternative program for Saturday is a trip to San Diego with luncheon at San Juan Capistrano. The United States Naval establishment at San Diego and the San Diego water supply system will be visited on Sunday.

International News Service.
AMARILLO, June 21.—When lightning struck and killed Wood L. Walker, 52, while plowing in his field five miles from here, it was disclosed that although the soles of his shoes were torn off with the force of the blow, the flesh was torn nowhere on his body.

He was hurled sixteen feet by the bolt. Three of the four horses of his team were also killed.

WILSON FARMING ON BIG SCALE THIS YEAR

J. C. Wilson, brother of J. A. Wilson of the Wilson & Stanton Land Company, was here Saturday from his farm home near Lovelland.

Mr. Wilson is cultivating 420 acres of new land on the K Ranch near Lovelland which was sold to farmers last spring by the Wilson & Stanton Company.

The job of cultivating such large acreage has been handled by Mr. Wilson with a great deal of success, he having used a tractor in planting and cultivating the crops.

There is a total acreage of more than 900 acres of cotton in the south end of the K Ranch, which, if prospects remain as good as to date, will produce a good yield of the fleecy staple this season. Mr. Wilson stated that a one-half inch rain was received at his place Friday night and that the fall was some heavier west of there, and that all field crops are looking mighty good at this time.

Cotton especially is doing well, and due to the fact that most of the land is new, weeds are scarce and there is all indications that a bumper crop will be gathered.

COMMON SENSE LACKING IN SLAYERS

BY H. H. ROBERTSON
 United News Staff Correspondent
 CHICAGO, June 20.—Have Nathan Leopold, and Richard Loeb, the confessed intellectual killers of 13 year old Robert Franks, common sense?

They have—but not as much as normal persons less interested in the erotic and bizarre might have, an unusual test made Wednesday by members of their highly paid medico-legal staff disclosed. Dr. Karl M. Bowman and H. S. Halbert conducted the test which was a scientific measurement of common sense. Loeb was put through the test during the morning and Leopold's test occupied the entire afternoon. Both youths again startled their questioners by some of their replies. Both of the young multi-millionaires' sons revealed their peculiar viewpoints, and their strange interest in abnormalities, including sex perversion.

Replying to questions concerning his taste in books Leopold mentioned glibly a long list of works of authors, some decadent, some unspeakably vile, some simply ordinary works of fiction. Leopold's fear of the gallows, for hanging is one reality with which this arrogant young student does not desire to experiment, evidently has overcome his reluctance to tell the physicians examining him the truth about himself. He was eager to cooperate with his doctors.

During his examination Leopold frequently smiled and for the first time since his arrest displayed a side of his complex nature that once caused his friends to indignantly deny that he had anything to do with the Franks case.

Answering questions about ornithology, this youth who calmly planned with Loeb to abduct and kill a young boy, the son of a neighbor, declared he believed it was wrong to mistreat birds or steal birds' eggs. He said he believed bird life should be conserved.

Loeb and Leopold both were questioned at length about their favorite foods, their clothes, their books, their tastes. Loeb revealed that his tastes were not as varied and puzzling as Leopold's and he conceded the physicians that he did not possess quite as much of a restless longing for continual excitement as his associate in crime.

During the day both boys were subjected to the tests to determine intelligence used in the United States army. One of these tests was designed to show whether the boys had any evidence of retarded mental development.

One interesting fact evidenced through the examination of Leopold was that life to him had become just a quest for new experiences. He regarded the majority of human beings as mere puppets in a great laboratory. He did not regard it as wrong to take human life for experimental purposes, and he said he thought human life no more valuable than the life of a dog, a cat, or a fish. All life he said, was on one plane and should be so regarded.

WHISKERS vs. BOBS IS FEDERAL PROBLEM

OMAHA, Neb., (United Press)—"His whiskers will be long enough to tangle up the propeller before I'll quit bobbing my hair!"

That was the ultimatum laid down by Mrs. Randolph G. Page to her whiskered airmail pilot husband. The strife over hair and whiskers started when Mrs. Page announced her intention to have her hair bobbed.

"Bob your hair and I'll let my whiskers grow," Page rejoined. Mrs. Page bobbed her hair.

Now an airmail pilot with heavy beard climbs into the cockpit of his plane each day to fly between here and Chicago.

"Maybe he'll change his mind when hot summer weather comes," said Mrs. Page as she started for the barber shop.

It is located in one of the islands in a sound and seedlings have been secured from California, Texas and Smyrna. Old fig trees have grown wild in that section for years. The members of the Junior Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed a delightful picnic at the county park Wednesday evening. Games were played and a lovely picnic lunch was served to twenty four guests. Miss Mary Hall served ice cream and at a late hour the party disbanded with each having spent a very pleasant evening.

MRS. WEAVER HOSTESS TO CLUB AT BREAKFAST

Mrs. A. V. Weaver entertained the Tuesday Bridge Club with a most delectable breakfast on Tuesday morning.

The beautiful Weaver home on Broadway with its spacious and elegant interior was lovely with tall gladiolas in profusion in the spacious living room and with the rainbow tints cast the floating shadows on the entire room. No less attractive was the dining room with the beautiful spring flowers with here and there a dainty rose nodding a welcome with its sweet perfume.

The breakfast was served from small tables artistically arranged and a basket of similar and spring flowers in the center, three courses were served. Iced cantaloupe first course, baked eggs in ramekins buttered toast, jelly and creamed wheat, hot biscuit and breakfast bacon, second course and ice cream the last, after which a number of rounds of bridge were played. Those present were: Mesdames Neil Wright, J. S. Johnson, M. L. Price, J. A. Rix, T. B. Duggan, H. W. Meador, W. O. Stevens, Claude Hurlbert, O. L. Staton, F. R. Friend and A. B. Conley.

STREET JUSTICE WEDDING WAS THE OUTSTANDING SOCIAL EVENT OF THE WEEK; RELATIVES ATTEND

The marriage of Arley Minton Justice and Miss Lucille Street took place Saturday morning at nine-thirty o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Street, 1416 Avenue L.

Tail baskets of white Peonies and rose pink gladiolas against a background of ferns formed an altar. Preceding the ceremony Miss Edith Carter sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Huff at the piano and Miss Meador on the violin, who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Mrs. DeLoach Martin, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, she wore a powder blue georgette with cream lace trimmings and carried an arm bouquet of rose pink gladiolas, she was followed by Misses Mildred and Laura Street, sisters of the bride. Maid of honor, Miss Mildred Street wore apricot georgette trimmed in cream hand made lace and carried pink gladiolas. Miss Laura Street wore orchid georgette over pink and carried pink gladiolas. Pretty little Miss Robert Elizabeth Littlepage scattered rose petals in the path of the bride. She wore a pink accordion pleated georgette with tulle and flower trimmings.

The bride entered with her father and was met at the altar by the groom who was attended by his father, W. C. Hartt, as best man.

The bride was lovely in flesh georgette with silver lace trimmings. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

An impressive ring ceremony was read by Dr. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church. The flower Song was softly played throughout the ceremony.

A most elaborately decorated wedding cake was cut in the dining room and individual ices were served to relatives and friends.

The bride is a very accomplished young lady and a graduate from the State University and has taught in Marshall for the past three years.

Mr. Justice is the only son of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Hartt. He is a very successful young business man and is manager of the Triangle Motor Company of Marshall.

$100 For a Complete Summer Outfit

BY HEDDA HOYT

Fashion Editor of the United Press (Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, N. Y., June 21.—Where one woman spends one hundred dollars on one gown there are hundreds of other women who cannot afford to spend more than one hundred dollars on their entire wardrobe.

To be well dressed on a limited amount one must have taste and discrimination developed to the nth degree. The following wardrobe for summer should be adequate for all occasions and should come within the hundred-dollar limit.

The first requisite for the average woman is the tailored suit. Those who have delayed the purchasing of the suit until the June sales will find a wide selection at reduced prices to choose from. Practically all of the suits displayed in the earlier part of the season are selling at half price. Thus the $50 suit becomes the $25 suit and a garment which can be worn on cool days throughout the summer and be carried over for fall use.

The Flannel Suit
Lately introduced are the flannel, tweed and knitted suits which are meant for sportswear and these are selling very cheaply. At one shop I found silk and wool knit mixture selling for $5 a suit. This had the fashionable boyish jaquette and plain skirt attached to an elastic belt.

The knit suit has one bad feature and that is its sagging or bulging in the rear of the skirt. By reversing the front in the back and then reversing the skirt now and then, this fault of sagging is partially done away with. The flannel suit is as chic as it is durable. These are selling around $15 in many shops. Dark colors, such as navy blues, browns and dark mixtures are suggested for the woman with limited means. Colorful trimmings and accessories may be added to give the color spirit desired.

This suit solves the dress question for occasions such as business morning wear, semi-sports wear, resort wear, etc.

The one-piece dress is the next essential to every woman's wardrobe. There is no better material than crepe de chene or silk crepe for such a frock. Aspin suggests subdued colors, aided by colorful trimmings if one desires them. Black or navy crepe de chene is perhaps the most durable frock material that is ever popular and never out of style. One can purchase such a frock at a sale or at some of the shops which make a specialty of inexpensive ready-made garments for $15 or $20.

The Dinner Gown
Most women have occasion to need a dinner gown. The woman of limited means will find it cheaper to have an expensive model copied by her dressmaker than to buy a good looking one in the shops.

For the woman who sews, there is a model displayed by one of the higher priced shops which is easily made and which will meet with the requirements of various occasions. This frock is made of black and tan georgette. The entire upper portion of the frock, which is made in simple, slip-on type, is of black georgette, which extends just below the knees. Here an accordion-pleated flounce of tan georgette is joined to form the present vogue for the flaring hemline. This flounce has a border of tan marabou outlining it, which gives an extremely soft and pretty hemline. There is a wide sash of black satin in ribbon placed about the low waistline which lies in a huge bow

ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPROACHING MARRIAGE OF MISS GAMMILL TO MR. LEE RAGLAND IS MADE AT PARTY

At a six-thirty tea party Thursday evening, June 19th, given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton A. Gammill, 1406 Avenue N., the approaching marriage of the former's sister, Miss Carter Gammill, to Mr. Lee Ragland was announced to her intimate friends and relatives. The ceremony will take place Thursday evening, July 3rd, at eight o'clock at the home of the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gammill, 874 Avenue Q.

The living room was artistically arrayed for this particular occasion with ribbons in colors of the rainbow extending out from the walls and joined together in the center of the room by a large white wedding bell was suspended. Roses and sweet peas in large baskets and vases adorned the room.

The old-fashioned game "conversion" was played and many jolly sentences and verses were passed, when the announcement was whispered and was made known to all by Mrs. Clayton A. Gammill, as the engagement of the young couple was already known.

The hostess had arranged a little surprise for the bride-elect, when a number was given to each of the twelve guests, each was to seek their fortune. From instructions of the hostess, Miss Gammill found her fortune in the wedding bell which was the best wishes for her future happiness and happiness of all present and a host of lovely presents.

Ices of pink and white individual cakes, with a miniature white wedding bell on each, was served by the hostess.

most of the all-white wraps being used as collars and cuffs and in some cases about the hems of the garments. With the white wrap or suit we find the white shoe and white hosiery again coming to the fore. White felt hats of the cloche shape are generally worn with the white outfit.

Quite the most stunning white wrap that I have seen this season is made of white duvetyne, in long slender lines. The wide sleeves are of the same material, but are embroidered heavily in black floss. Bording the hem and the cuffs are wide bands of white fox fur and a two-skinned white fox neck-piece fastens about the throat of the garment. The lovely coat is fashioned for sports wear, although one might well imagine it being worn as an evening wrap over a light summer gown.

Red for Sports
The red sports outfit also has its followers, especially among the younger set. Suits of red run the entire range of shades from soft rose and coral to the most fiery tones imaginable and they are invariably worn with hats of matching shades. While most of these sports suits are made of flannel, there are some which choose silk alpaca or silk broadcloth as their fabric. The suit of flannel is almost as pleated frock I have seen this season need cost the home dress-maker but six or eight dollars. This was a rose and black figured silk mulle with a pleated apron effect in front. Three rows of wide black lace were inserted in the apron before pleating and produced a very striking effect. Neckline and tiny sleeves were piped in black.

The slender woman will want to include at least one voile frock in her summer wardrobe for wear on the very warm days. These sell as low as $5 and they launder well and can be worn on occasions where the gingham frock is decidedly out of place.

Sweaters and Skirts
The summer girl needs two sweaters and two white skirts. Very good looking sweaters are selling for $2 in many shops and white skirts can be quickly and easily made at home, if one wishes to save on their cost. In a sweater and white skirt one is prepared for almost any resort occasion.

I should say that every woman needs three pairs of shoes and three hats, a pair of walking shoes for suit and every day wear, a pair of soft kid shoes for dress wear and a pair of light colored kid shoes for evening wear, which can later be bronzed for day wear. There are numerous good shops in New York where shoes sell for $6 a pair.

As for hats, one needs a small, ribbon-trimmed cloche felt or straw for suit wear. Since hats are constantly verging towards simplicity, if straw, such a hat is also worn with a dressy afternoon gown. An untrimmed light tan straw hat can be purchased for $2 on the hat counters and a subdued colored straw will go with any color scheme. A band of ribbon is all that is required for trimming. For a dressy hat, what can be prettier than a wide brimmed affair of horsehair straw, simply trimmed with one huge flower? Such a hat sells in the untrimmed department for $4 or $5 and a flower trim is not an expensive accessory.

When used for an outing, its simply flannel!

Flannel is undoubtedly the most popular material for sports wear this season. It's use as a sports material has completely upset the manufacturers, who figured on a summer of knit apparel, sweaters, tweeds and the like.

At the Belmont Park race track almost every woman wore flannel of some description. There are flannel sports suits and long, slender-fitting flannel coats in every color imaginable. Undoubtedly white is the smartest of the season. Long, white flannel coats, which were so popular at Palm Beach last winter, are still being worn by the fashionables. White ermine or imitation ermine adorns

FASHION DECREES THE WAISTLINE

BY HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, June 21.—
"It's an ill wind that blows no one good."

At least this is so understood. But when Fashion Winds blow Changing short skirts to low There are words we would say if we could!

But consider the poor fashion writer When skirts grow a little bit tighter

She hops to her keys Like a monk on trapez Changing styles pay her fees The poor blighter!

The straight bodice sheath dress which blew in early this year has blown out again, for fashions are as changeable as the winds. The newest gowns that are shown in the smart shops all show some sort of fullness below the knees and many of them show some semblance of a low waistline. The tube-like, sheath gown proved to be unbecoming to most figures. Instead of concealing curves, it tended to reveal them. In other words, women have proven to themselves that they need waistline, which brings us to the question of "what is a waistline?"

One would naturally infer that a waist-line is the equator line between the underarms and the hips, but, alas, this is not the case! A waist-line may be placed at the hips, at the bending point of the body, at the underarms or at the knees. It is Dame Fashion who settles the location of the waist-line, not the anatomist.

Return to Waist Line
We began the season with no waistline whatsoever, with unbroken straight lines from neck to hem and having found this sausage-like silhouette unsatisfactory, we return to the waist-line that placed at the hip. The new waist-line may be just a seam which suggests the joining point of blouse and skirt, a huge flat bow placed low on one hip, or a narrow string belt.

Combined with a low waist-line we have fullness introduced into the skirt which takes us away from the strictly tube silhouette. Skirt fullness is achieved by means of circular side panels, puffed over and skirt, a huge flatheadtunic a slender foundation, a full tunic front effect, inverted pleats which are left open from the knees to hem and other decorative means.

The Parisian silhouette of the moment is tight-fitting lines to a point below the knees, with a flaring hem-line. Following this mode, three-quarter length coats are introduced replacing full-length ones. These are worn over frocks which have hem-fullness, the fullness jutting out beneath the three-quarter length coat. Some of the more dressy frocks and three-piece suits have coats of five-eighths length, that is, the coats extend within four or five inches from the bottom of the frock. Even evening wraps in Paris seldom extend the full length of the frock this season.

Fashion Changes
Vying with the vivid toned evening frocks which have previously been described in fashion articles, comes the chiffon frock of pale tan or flesh shade. Several of the musical comedy shows on Broadway are featuring these flesh-toned frocks with remarkable success. Lady Diana Manners started the vogue by wearing this lovely pinkish-tan shade in "The Miracle" and it was extremely picturesque with her blond coloring. The leading specialty dancer in "Lollipop" dances in tan tulle which verges on a smoke shade. For the blond and light brown-haired person this color will be found extremely flattering.

The battous neckline which is popular for evening wear is being cut much lower in back than in front. Sometimes the chiffon frock is cut extremely high in front and dips half way to the normal waist-line in the rear.

Sweaters of Tuxedo and slip-on variety are being worn only by young girls in their teens this season.

son, the older women preferring sports attire of more fastidious lines. Home-spun suits, made on mannish lines and worn with the hip-length cotton blouse, are popular with the matrons. Gingham ties in plaid or checked designs are worn with the mannish turn-down collar which accompany the cotton sports blouse. Scarfs of homespun are worn beneath three-quarter length topcoats in muffler effect.

The Middy blouse has probably passed beyond recall, but all of the new hip-length blouses reflect the once-popular middy style.

Simpler footgear comes into vogue as summer advances. Plain pumps and slippers with buckle trims are replacing the many-strapped affairs of previous seasons.

White cotton chamousette gloves with eyelet embroidery and colored stitchery will be worn with the summery frocks in preference to the white silk glove. These have petal cuffs, ruffled cuffs and plain gauntlet cuffs and are conspicuous by their embroidery or trim.

A FLANNEL SEASON

popular as the long flannel coat for sports wear. Powder blue, red, amber and white are colors which predominate. Lines of the sport suit are so simple that the home-seamstress might easily copy the originals shown in the fashionable shop windows.

Flannel of every description and color is being sold very cheaply in all the department stores this season and the flannel suit comes within the means of everyone.

The home-dressmaker finds that flannel sets well to the figure and for this reason a flannel garment looks well-tailored, whether it is so or not. There are any number of patterns which one can obtain for the suit or the long coat which are bound to turn out well in such a soft material as flannel. Odd bits of fur can be used on collar and cuffs, although the majority of suits use the separate neckpiece of fur, or the colorful silk scarf. Long coats, however, are generally collared in fur.

COLLEGE MEN TO SPEAK AT LOCAL CHURCH SUN.

The First Christian Church will have in its pulpit Sunday two distinguished visitors, in the personalities of Dr. Randolph Clark and Rev. Joseph Keevil, who come in interest of Randolph College, Cisco, Texas. Dr. Clark is one of the oldest in point of service and one of the greatest educators of the South. He and his now deceased brother Addison, founded Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas. Because of Mr. Clark's unprecedented service rendered in the realm of higher education and because of his sterling character as a Christian statesman, the college at Cisco has honored him by swearing his name. This alone will establish confidence in the minds of the people concerning this institution of learning.

Mr. Keevil has recently been called as Chancellor of Randolph College and comes to his work out of the pastorate of a great church. He is a highly educated and cultured gentleman and will give great strength and prestige to the college.

PROPOSES NEW ROUTE FOR WESTERN FLYERS

By United Press
ARCADIA, Calif., June 20.—An air route between Ross Field here and Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., just 20 miles from St. Louis, with regularly timed trips, would be a feasible project, according to Dr. Ford Ashman Carpenter, head of the meteorological and aeronautic department of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who recently returned from a trip to the east under orders of the war department.

Dr. Carpenter says he believes it would be feasible to fly from the Scott Field Balloon and Airship for re-fueling in the air and at Fort Worth, Texas, to reconmission the helium in the lighter-than-air ships that would be used on the route.

Fort Worth is headquarters for the production of helium, the non-inflammable gas, which would mean a big saving in the transportation of the gas to the home ports of the ships.

Further steps in the establishment of such a route as proposed by Dr. Carpenter are forthcoming he believes.

HIGH COST OF MEETING KING

LONDON, June 20.—The cost of a being presented at Court has soared this season to stiffer prices than were ever known before.

The proud papa of a society bud who is scheduled to blossom at a court ball can count himself lucky if he gets off for as little as $5,000. Its a cinch the bills will not be under that, and they may be anywhere above it, clear on to the bright blue sky as a limit.

The biggest part of the bill, of course, is the court dress. The white-plumage fan, the feathers, the train, the veil, the gloves, the flowers, everything must accord with the rigid specifications provided by the Lord Chamberlain.

Before the Court season commences the British, American and other debutantes and matrons who are to be presented to the King and Queen spend many weeks at dress-makers and hair-dressers.

GENERAL UNREST SEETHING IN MEXICO

By United News.
MEXICO CITY, June 21.—With the Mexican presidential elections only a fortnight away, rumors of political and industrial unrest have again become current.

A general strike is threatened among the workers in the oil fields near Tampico and Vera Cruz, where employees of the Mexican Eagle company, a British oil company, have refused to accept the proposals of the Mexican Federation of Labor for a settlement of their wage demands.

The ferection of labor is supporting E. Plutarico Calles for the presidency, a fact which has injected politics into the industrial situation. Rumors of a split among the labor and socialist groups which have been supporting Calles, have been accompanied by suggestions of trouble within the next few days.

Conservatives are clamoring for the disarmament of the agrarian elements who it is charged, may attempt to prevent the holding of fair elections.

So far, President Obregon has the situation well under control and as long as he controls the election machinery Mexicans may be able to elect their new president peaceably.

Features----

1. The oven alone is worth the price of the stove. It is lined on all sides with an inch block of asbestos, which is cemented at corners with heat resisting cement. Therefore, being closely built to hold the heat, saves about 25 per cent of the current bill.
2. The oven is lined with Ingot Iron, which is as near rust proof as human skill can make it. However, any oven will eventually rust out. When this does, it can be re-lined with small cost. The lining can be taken out by removing four screws.
3. The switch is absolutely "Fool Proof." Turn it any way you like. Being more convenient, saves some more on your bill.
4. Stronger built, having cast top and frame, therefore the life of this stove is longer.

Good old summer time is here again. Everybody is getting hot and sweaty. Everybody is longing for a few days of rest and recreation. They just want to get away from the grind of duties and get out doors with the birds and jackrabbits and trees and be free for a little while. Everybody wants to do just as he pleases for a few days. Do you realize if we could all do just as we please for a few days every year we would all be better citizens? Freedom never hurt anybody. It is when folks are cooped up too closely that they get dangerous. It's confinement that wrecks men's minds and bodies and sometimes even their souls. It is being cooped up in an office, or a shop, or a store, or a hot kitchen, or even on your own farm where you are forced to do every hour what somebody tells you to do—or you may be your own boss, few folks are for most free men are slaves to their business, that causes most of our troubles.

The main trouble with our government is we have too much government. If we had a little less and used that amount a little more we would be better nation. The most of us have no desire to do anybody any harm for our freedom. Why, even the lower animals seldom ever bother anybody so long as no one oversteps their rights to live. That is why shut-in folks fell compelled to get away from everybody at times and have a rest from people. That is why they long for the mountains and canyons and the woods and the seashore. That is what a vacation means to most folks, to get away from everything and everybody that bothers you and get off in the woods, or the mountains and sit down for a few quiet hours on a big rock beside a pool of cool water, under the shade of some friendly old tree that won't say a word but "Peace" to your soul and get acquainted with yourself. Most of us are not half as mean as we think we are or as folks sometimes think we are. But we are just worried to death until we do not know what kind of folks we might until the Indians discovered it one long ago time.

Then a few more hours drive will bring you to the Switzerland of Texas, the Davis Mountains, where you may camp a mile up in the sky and sleep like those old logs through the cool nights. And there nestled among the hills, surrounded by towering peaks, you will find Alpine, a beautiful little city, with a good school, good churches, a first class hotel, beautiful homes, friendly folks and a live Chamber of Commerce. And sitting high up on the side of one of the approaching mountains is Sul Ross College. And over in the mountains 27 miles is Fort Davis and on toward El Paso a few miles is Marfa, another beautiful city of homes and the army fort and everything interesting to enjoy. And if you look around you will find the Baptist Encampment grounds and over in the mountains you may strike the Cow Boys' Camp-meeting if you happen to get there in the real religious time of year. And coming back you may take another route and visit the State Park sites around San Antonio and on up to Bosque County where a beautiful park of several hundred acres will some day be made ready for use by all the people. Or you may come back through the pecan groves of the San Saba district. But all the while you will be seeing Texas. Her great industries, her wonderful scenery, her educational advantages and her great variety of products. And you will come back not only a rested man but a bigger and better man and a more patriotic man, producer of your whole State.

All right! Suppose you live anywhere in Northwest Texas and you want to spend a few days in the solitude of mountain peaks but you also want to see all you can of your State as you come and go. All you have to do is crank up your jitney, load in the family and hit the Colorado-to-Gulf Highway down along the Denver railroad, go to Wichita Falls and down the Wichita Valley line to Abilene. What will you see? Fields of waving grain and thousands of acres of cotton, towns like Amarillo, Clarendon, Memphis, Childress, Quanah, Vernon and most of them have fine tourist camps and then if you take the Valley route you hit Munday and the beautiful breaks and the canyons and the ranches all along the line to Abilene. Here you may visit the future A'hens of Texas for truly Abilene will some day be a great educational center. Then take your choice but if you are out to see Texas don't forget to locate at Buffalo Gap and the dam at Cisco that may soon be State Park sites and on to Brownwood where you think you are coming to the Back Mountains but you are not. It is just the beautiful hills of Central Texas. And on to San Angelo. How many of us fully appreciate the importance of San Angelo to the nation? More of our winter clothes grow right around San Angelo than anywhere else in America. You have passed through the cattleman's world and entered the sheep and goat man's world. And then if you are headed for the Alps of Texas you will have another day's drive down the Orient, or rather up the Orient, for all day long you are gradually climbing toward the Davis Mountains and if you have no tire trouble, along about night you will drive into one of the most beautiful alfalfa fields of thousands of acres and then you are at Fort Stockton. And when you get to Fort Stockton be sure and hunt up the president or secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and tell him you want to see those springs that you have heard so much about but never did believe a word of it. And they will pilot you about two blocks away from the main street of their town where millions and millions of gallons of the purest water pours forth from the rocks every day. No, you won't believe it either until you see it and plunge into it and take a dip from the waters of the lower regions. It is worth any day's drive over the plains of Texas to see that beautiful valley planned by our Creator and hid away from the whole world

GRAIN MERGER NEWS!

CHICAGO, June 20.—Five of the biggest grain firms in the United States have presented a tentative plan to leading farm organizations proposing an amalgamation between these companies and 5,000 cooperative elevator concerns owned by farmers.

The American Farm Bureau Federation is one of the farm organizations which has the plan under consideration. The executive committee of the federation, which was in session here recently for four days, discussed the plan, but arrived at no decision, officials said.

According to farm federation agents the companies affected by the proposed merger are: The Armours Grain company, Rosenbaum Grain corporation, Bartlett, Frazier and company, Rosen-

Officials of the organizations have been under consideration several months and representatives of the various societies have been making a study of the proposed consolidation. Some farm organization officials it is known have said they regarded the plan as cloaking a scheme to drive independent cooperative grain organizations out of business.

THE FARMERS INSTITUTE WILL BE IN LUBBOCK ON TUESDAY, JUNE 24TH ALL FARMERS ARE URGED TO COME

We here invite every farmer in Lubbock county to attend a farmers institute to be held in Lubbock at 10 o'clock a. m., on the 24th of June. There are some peculiar conditions existing that are not favorable to the farmers of the county and we think by having a meeting of the farmers much good can be accomplished by such a meeting.

Therefore, we take the liberty to call such meeting with the hope that those who have lived in the county for many years can give their experiences and encouragement to those who have not been here so long.

We will have some good talks from some of the business men of the town also from some of the bankers. We want all to join in an effort for the encouragement and betterment of all.

Now to the farmers we want to say just try to take this day off—come to the meeting and give your experience.

When banker, doctor, merchant, or any other organization of men set a time to meet and discuss their problems most all attend the meetings, but we as farmers do not, as a rule, take the time for any such meetings.

Now let's all attend this meeting. In a multitude of counsel, there is wisdom.

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

It is surprising how few people pay enough attention to affairs of government to be able to vote intelligently. Even the greater number of those who attended political conventions and howl themselves hoarse do not know what it is all about or just why they get so excited, and not one in twenty of them have any real part in the shaping of platforms or in the nomination of candidates, though they may think they do. A few shrewd politicians lead the masses around as though they owned them, and those who are led do not know enough about what is going on to be aware of the fact that they are merely the dupes of the leaders. It is deplorable that people know so little of government, for really there is no democracy where the voters are too unformed to cast an intelligent ballot.

This ignorance of government is not confined to the masses. It permeates legislative bodies. The average law-maker knows little or nothing of law. He merely does the bidding of those better informed. Often he thinks he knows enough to act, but he does not know enough to realize that he is just a tool of wiser heads.

Legislation is a science, to know which requires years of study and experience, but strange to say, many think they understand it, just as almost every person thinks he knows how to write. This country will be better governed when it has fewer legislators in both national and state governments and when men are elected for their ability as lawmakers rather than for their popularity.

After all, it may be a good thing for Texas that there are so many candidates for governor going up and down the state offering to relieve the people of most of their burdens for $4,000 a year and they will be tried at one time of their separate cases. Along with all the change and tried one at a time. At the rate the state has won the efficiency in state government round, and the county attorney declares he is going to back the voters who made the arrests of the negroes by seeing that each and every one of them is given such punishment as he can enforce through the justice court. Meantime, Attorney Bishop states that he is not satisfied with the disposition that has been made of the case and contemplates appealing it to the county court.

KID SULLIVAN WRESTS TITLE FROM DUNDEE

By United News.
NEW YORK, June 20.—Kid Sullivan, of Brooklyn, won the junior lightweight championship from Johnny Dundee, Friday night when the judges awarded him the decision at the end of their 10-round bout in Henderson bowl, Brooklyn. Dundee retains his featherweight title, however. He weighed in at 129 and Sullivan at 129 1/4.

client officers is utterly helpless. He has somewhat more influence than any other officers in the state, but is powerless to do anything worth while without the help of others. To soon comes to realize this after he gets into office. Generally, during his first term he conscientiously endeavors to bring about the improvements he talks about during his campaign, but after that he sees the futility of his efforts and finds that the state can get along as well when he is in foreign lands as when he is in his office. He may be just as eager as ever to serve the state, but he has learned that after all he is but a small part of the big thing we call government.

In a sermon recently, I heard the statement that it is of no avail to be a good fellow unless one is good for something. There is a lot of truth in that little statement. Just to be good without a definite, active kind of goodness is about equivalent to being good for nothing. For goodness to amount to anything it must prove itself worth something to somebody; it must serve a useful purpose. It is doubtful if there is such a thing as negative, idle goodness. That suggests the question as to what use you are making of any goodness that you assume. You must be good for something or else you are not good at all.

It follows from the foregoing statement that the best person is the one who is best for something, the one who uses his good traits to the best purpose and in a way to render the best service. You can idle away goodness until it is worth nothing to you or to any one else, or you can exercise it in a way to make yourself a blessing to every one about you.

PARACHUTE DIVE GREAT THRILL TO MACREADY

By United Press
DAYTON, O., June 21.—Lieut. John A. MacReady, the army's "ace" peace time flyer whose miraculous parachute jump from an aeroplane has been recounted at McCook field as the most thrilling adventure ever experienced by an officer of the army air service, told the United News he received the greatest thrill of his life during the first two seconds before the parachute opened.

"I did not have time to think about my fate," MacReady said. "I was too busy wondering what to do next. The two seconds before the parachute opened seemed like hours. I knew the earth was rushing up at me from the darkness, but it was too dark to tell how far away the ground was and I was shooting through the air like a comet. It gave me a thrill all right—the greatest thrill I ever had—but don't want any more of the kind."

MacReady, whose non-stop flight across the continent with Lt. Kelly, won him fame as a pilot, now has the distinction of being the first pilot to leap from an airplane at night. He was returning to McCook field from Columbus in an airship sailing 5,000 feet above the Dayton business district when suddenly the motor stopped.

"I thought at first the gasoline was running low and I turned on the reverse but there was no response," the pilot said. The lights of Dayton were twinkling in the darkness below and I knew the only glide, so I turned the plane around and headed for the outskirts.

"Of course I saw the folly of trying to jump while still over the city. I did not want the plane when it fell without me to hit anybody. As soon as the lights of the city were behind me, I thought I was about 1,800 feet up. I threw one leg over the side of the cockpit almost immediately as I let go of the stick, my plane went in to a nose dive and I thought I was doomed."

"Then scrambling up the trailing edge of the wings, I reached back and made one more effort to jerk the stick and bring the ship out of the nose dive, but I was too late. Everything was pitch dark below and I had no idea how near down I was."

"All I had to do was to release the support to which I was clinging. A rush of wind swept me off my feet. I could not see the plane anymore. I don't know whether it fell faster than I did or not. I know I was free of the plane then and I know I must have been falling terribly fast, but from all I could see or feel it seemed more like I was standing still in space. Then I pulled the ring of the parachute which was strapped to my back and the parachute opened with a jolt."

"Just a few seconds later I heard a terrific explosion below and the whole country side was lighted up. I knew that the plane had struck ground and had exploded. The light gave me an idea of my altitude. I must have been up about 1,200 feet."

The plane landed in a pasture and burst into flames. A gathering of country folk called out into the night by the blast of the gasoline tank when the plane struck poked frantically in the flaming wreck, certain that the pilot had fallen with the ship. Just as the last embers died away MacReady and his rescuers pushed through the crowd and announced the pilot was safe.

"Oh, yes," MacReady told them jokingly. "I thought it would be better to get out and walk in. I stepped off up there about 1,800 feet back."

Local Post Office In Need Of New Home Soon

According to statements made by Assistant Postmaster Adkins Saturday morning, no bids have yet been received by Inspector O. E. Smith, of McKinney, on a building for the Lubbock postoffice.

Bids were advertised for to be received at McKinney not later than July 5th, and it was hoped that before that time a suitable location for the office would be offered, and some disappointment has been expressed in that the lease expires on the present building in November.

The postoffice is just one of the many institutions of Lubbock that is finding the housing situation hard to overcome. The fact that many buildings have been constructed here during past months and the further fact that there are now several under construction would lead one to believe that it would not be a hard matter to find most any desired location here in post haste, but the fellow who wants to locate a building soon finds that the builders are not meeting the demands of substantial brick structures by any means.

NEW MYSTERIES UNCOVERED IN PROBE

By H. H. ROBERTSON
(UN Staff Correspondent)
CHICAGO, June 21.—Pilgrims on esoteric by-paths of mental and physical activity, Nathan F. Leopold, Jr. and Richard Loeb even developed into the occult during their quest for new sensations.

A weird story of their experiments with the psychic, their attempt to communicate with the dead, their practice of hypnotism and mesmerism their quickly cultivated interest in various forms of mysticism—for a time carefully concealed by a few of their most intimate friends—has been dragged to light by investigators and the full details placed in the possession of states attorney Robert E. Crowe.

These two 19-year-old intellectuals, who calmly and loquaciously confessed abducting and murdering 13-year-old Robert Franks, "to see how he would react" turned to ghosts, trances, states of hypnotism and the practice of mystic rites in an effort to find success from the mundane affairs of a drab world, they naively told their friends. Brilliant enough to make enviable records in post-graduate courses at the University of Chicago, the two youths prodded themselves into a state of such.

Leopold and Loeb became leaders of a cult of their own making detectives discovered. They actually held seances and the police declared that several of these seances took place in a fraternity house where awe-stricken youths listened to the two exponents of mystery decant on communion with the dead, thought transference, mind-reading, the traveling of the human soul through space and the whole hodge-podge of exponential mysticism.

The authorities were told by youths who are sons of millionaires, that during at least two of these seances, Leopold hypnotized Loeb and that the latter remained in a trance on one of the occasions for more than two hours. During this time, detectives were informed, Loeb in a voice totally unlike his natural one, describing scenes supposed to be taking place many miles away. Half amused—half frightened, none of these student, who were present at these two particular nocturnal wanderings in the fourth dimension attempted to check up on the descriptions. But some of the boys were so impressed at the display of mental and psychic power that they became devoted followers of the two young intellectuals and took up the study of mysticism.

Leopold was interested in works dealing with the supposed ability of oracular wine makers to compel their real selves to leave the physical body and travel over space. He frequently assured some of his friends that such a transfer to subliminal self was entirely possible and confessed that he had experimented with the idea, with dillettante like the strange teachings

FARMERS QUIT WHEAT POOL BY SCORES

International News Service.
HUTCHINSON, Kas., June 21.—When growers in Kansas are quitting the wheat pool by scores, according to R. E. Lawrence, secretary of the Farmers' cooperative Mr. Lawrence forwarded to the Kansas Wheat Marketing association this week, in one installment 49 cancellations, and the day before a bunch of others, all from farmers cancelling their contracts in the pool.

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

In their state convention at Austin, the Texas Retail Druggists Association devoted much time to a discussion of liquor selling by druggists in violation of law. It is generally agreed that but few druggists who sell liquors on prescription disregard the law, but enough do so to bring the drug trade into bad repute. It seems to be up to the druggists themselves to require a strict observance of the liquor laws of the country on the part of all druggists. Unless indiscriminate selling of alcoholic beverages in drug stores is stopped even though they be sold on the regular prescription plan, the drug trade is bound to suffer. A saloon operating as a drug store can do irretrievable harm to the legitimate drug trade.

The position taken by the Texas druggists was in marked contrast with that of the physicians in the meeting at the same time of the American Medical Association in Chicago. That association passed a resolution deploring the interference of the government with the right of physicians to the unrestricted use of alcoholic liquors in their practice. At this distance it looks like the doctors at Chicago want to become monopolizers of the liquor trade and to have the privilege of saying, for a fee, who shall and who shall not drink intoxicants. With the doctors' license mill running overtime and every doctor prescribing liquors without restriction, the country would soon be in a pretty fix indeed. In a recent advertisement in a Texas paper of a physical endurance course for women the statement was made that vulgarity and profanity would not be tolerated in the class. Just what is the world coming to when any kind of a teacher feels that he should make an announcement of that kind? There was a time when men were occasionally punished for using vulgar, obscene and profane language in public places, but except in a few places that law is now regarded as obsolete.

That is a reminder that Brownwood is receiving much newspaper criticism for permitting its citizens and guests to violate certain laws during the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and despite the great amount of publicity received, Brownwood is left to doubt whether that meeting was an asset or a liability to the town. Ordinarily Brownwood is a law-abiding little city, and if it winked at law-breaking it was done through courtesy to its guests—a mistaken idea that is too common to cities entertaining conventions. It was unfair to the West Texas Chamber for if that organization gets a reputation for holding an annual orgy of dissipation and lawlessness it will soon die.

Most people to whom I have talked on the subject say that they have grown tired of "jazz" music, and some go so far as to say that they will not go to entertainments if they know the music is to be of that kind. These people are not musical highbrows either; they are just plain people with simple tastes who have been over-fed on the noisy, discordant, senseless airs that have characterized our music of the past few years. They know little about Wagner or Beethoven or Schubert and are not especially anxious to return to the music of the old masters, but they do want something better than modern "rag time jazz."

One evidence of the musical reaction already under way is the growing popularity of singing conventions and community singing, where the songs of twenty or fifty years ago are the most popular, and at which thousands of human voices are blended in the well-known old time melodies. It is not at all unusual for four or five thousand people to gather in one county and spend two or three days in such song-fests, and these gatherings become reunions of those who delight in the association of those of like tastes. "Jazz" is frowned in both song and conduct at such reunions. These gatherings give hope for the early return of sanity in American music.

Public Utilities Have Heavy Capital Investment

The telephone company has nothing to sell but service. It cannot make more money than enough to pay its operating expenses, keep its plant in good condition and pay the wages of the money it invests.

The amount of investment in a telephone company is high compared with its revenues. Five dollars of capital must be put permanently into the average telephone property for every dollar of gross annual income.

The telephone company turns its capital once in five years. Every other business in the community turns its capital from two to ten times a year.

WOMEN PREPARE FOR DEMOCRAT CONVENTION

BY MAXINE DAVIES
Copyrighted 1924 By the United News
NEW YORK, June 21.—The hand that rocks the cradle is slated to guide the destinies of the Democratic party at the convention here next week.

In analysis of the list of women delegates to the gathering of the class produces the information that the great majority of the fairer delegates and alternatives are housewives first, and the proud possessors of business or positions afterward.

Consequently it is expected that orderly, house wifely methods will obtain when the business of the convention gets under way. But the outside vocations and avocations of the debatable politicians range from bank directorships to members in the K. K. K. By and large the analysis indicates that a superior element of American womanhood will be represented.

Among their numbers will be the head of a state insurance department, the secretary of a farm association, women merchants, lawyers and farmers, numbers of school teachers, several members of state legislatures, women writers and women members of every sort of club including bridge and music clubs.

If opponents of the Ku Klux Klan had any hope of a solidly massed feminine group fighting the report, emanating from authoritative sources that at least four of the lady delegates were full fledged members of the hooded order.

It is apparent that the women will stand together on certain outstanding issues. The women's press

DENTON WOMAN HAS MANY RELICS

DENTON, June 21.—Quaint old pieces of crockery more than 100 years old, bits of jewelry worn by women of past generations, books, letters, and other relics of bygone days are owned by Mrs. O. P. Taylor of Denton. Mrs. Taylor is 90 years old. Unique among the collection are the delicately wrought breastpins worn by Mrs. Taylor's grandmother and made entirely of human hair, except for the metal holder and the bit of glass which frames the tiny braids taken from the heads of grandmother's children. An old platter, yellow with age, carries illustrations of the fairy tale, "The Prince and the Pauper" in deft colors that have never faded. The platter has deep furrows down the middle and a bowl at one end into which gravy drips. College diplomas, granted in 1822 and inscribed in Latin script, daguerotypes, and letters nearly a century old are in the collection.

Many negro character witnesses were used in trying to prove that he was weak, sickly and easily frightened.

WOMEN FAIL IN SMOKE SCREEN POLITICS

BY MAXINE DAVIS
(Copyright 1924, by United News)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Practical politicians gathered for the decorative convention here are turning corners in hotel halls and looking into open doors of hotel rooms with fear and trembling.

They are afraid of seeing women chewing big black cigars.

When they observe this fearful sight, they will know the dread time has come when women actually are a part of the inner wheels of the political machine.

Women it is apparent, must add to the smoke screen of a party convener to indicate that they are an essential part of it. The republicans women fighting doggedly from the outside were obviously unnecessary to the G. O. P. convention.

And they moved about the hotel lobbies in Cleveland bathed in their aroma of violet and jasmine and mixed perfumes. Tobacco had no part in their equipment.

That the democratic women are partly inside the organization is superficially suggested by the fact that they go everywhere peering through their own clouds of blue cigarette smoke.

When a woman leader can chew a cheeroot in the course of conversation she can be called into the back room conferences that actually nominate the candidate. Until she does sit in at these rites, women will lack real power.

Thus far, it is not apparent that women have obtained any of the outstanding honors of the convention. It is not now expected that women will make any nominating speeches, although they will make seconding speeches.

Mrs. Benton McQuillan, beautiful wife of the governor of Tennessee committee woman and delegate at large, probably will second the nomination of McAdoo.

Izetta Jewell Brown, one of the most striking handsome figures who will be present at the convention, will second the nomination of John W. Davis. Mrs. Brown was formerly a Washington, D. C., stock actress, and is the wife of a congressman.

Harriet May Wills will second the nomination of Gov. Al Smith, it is said.

Other convention officers of any importance have not yet been granted the women although all of them have not yet been placed.

LOCAL BUSINESSMEN PAY VISIT TO AVALANCHE PRINT SHOP

H. E. and S. L. Miller, of the Miller Grocery Company which is located at the corner of 13th and Ave. E. visited at the Avalanche office Friday evening and took advantage of the opportunity to look through the printing office of the Avalanche Publishing Company.

They were both surprised at the amount of expensive machinery that is used by the company, and commended the management very highly upon the confidence it has shown in the future of the Avalanche publications by going to the expense of buying this machinery.

The big news press especially appealed to them, and they now understand why it is possible for the Avalanche and the Lubbock Daily News to be put out on time, as the pressman explained to them that the new machine is capable of printing from 5,500 to 6,000 copies of an eight-page paper per hour, folded and ready for the readers.

Anyone wishing to look through the printing department of the Avalanche may do so at any time thru the day or night, and are assured of receiving every courtesy at the hands of the members of the Avalanche family.

The visit of Miller brothers is especially appreciated for they are real boosters for the Avalanche and have been since locating here several months ago.

Other business men especially are invited to inspect the printing plant of the Avalanche.

Specie Of Fly Helps Exterminate The Grasshoppers

By United Press

BROWNWOOD, Texas, June 21.—Farmers of Brown county have found a valuable ally in their fight on the grasshopper.

Their unheralded aide is a species of fly that suddenly appeared and makes its special duty that of attacking "hoppers". The fly deposits an egg in the joint that connects the "hopper's" head of the body. The "hopper" is stupefied, and the egg soon hatches a larva which devours the grasshopper.

It is said the flies are present by the millions and one farmer reported that his land was thickly strewn with grasshoppers which had been attacked by the flies.

ATTORNEY IS FINED FOR IMPROPER USE OF TELEPHONE

International News Service

HOUSTON, June 21.—J. L. Bailey, nationally known Houston attorney, after blowing out two fuses on the telephone and melting several technical parts of the equipment with an alleged string of high pressure oaths, was fined $10 in corporation court here charged with using abusive language over the telephone.

According to the testimony, Bailey became angered at police headquarters when they refused to release one of his clients at his request and settled down for about 30 minutes of one-sided conversation during which time the police department learned with a startling definiteness where it stood with the Bailey law firm.

Gompers Wants To Know About War Conscription

By United Press

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Organized labor wants to be "shown" about the proposed universal conscription of wealth and man-power in time of war.

Not throwing cold water on the scheme which has as its aim the elimination of profiteering, slackering, and other abuses of the late war, it nevertheless wants to hear more of how it is expected to work before getting behind it.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor today said:

"In theory universal conscription in time of war is correct. It is right that the government should take wealth as well as men.

"But I am unwilling at this time to be dogmatic one way or the other. I realize that not every theory can be applied in this world of human fallibility."

Gompers said that it appealed to him as a problem for the most profound study, not one on which hasty judgment, based on altruistic desire, should be formed and set down.

Profiteering in War

"Surely we must be spared all profiteering in the next war—if there is a next war," Gompers said. "We must be spared the hideousness of individuals preying upon other individuals, or upon the government."

"I should like to be certain that universal conscription will accomplish this and that it will not be a means of destroying our economic life and ruining our standards of life and work after the war.

"We must find a cure for such crimes as were committed in the World War, but in doing that we must be certain that we do not prepare for ourselves a worse evil.

"Universal conscription might dampen the ardor for war. But even that is not sure. We do not go stalking about the world seeking war and it is quite probable that our resentment against wrong, or our resistance against attack, would be as filled with ardor in the one case as in the other.

"I think the great spontaneous outburst of resentment against the sinking of the Lusitania was in no way increased by any expectation of personal gain. Profiteering came as a development, largely. It did not get us into the war.

What Does Wealth Mean?

"Advocates of conscription leave many loose ends in their arguments. First, I have not yet seen a satisfactory definition of wealth. Does it mean factories and raw materials and railroads? Or does it mean all wealth? Does it mean the 1,000 savings bank account of the wage earner? Does it mean all credit? There must be a definition of wealth.

"And what of the after-war period? What guarantees can there be of restoration of standards when the soldier-standard is removed? For the duration of the war, we should completely abolish democracy, down to the last vestige. We should substitute the most complete and absolute autocracy. Could democracy and our present system of private ownership be destroyed and then replaced? Or would autocracy survive with all of its powers and ramifications? These are things to think about."

Gompers suggested that a commission, composed of men from all walks of life, representing all forms of human effort, give study to this question.

EXCITEMENT IS RAMPANT IN NEW YORK

By United News

NEW YORK, June 21.—Jaded New York is as excited as a small boy on Christmas eve or the night before the Fourth.

Presidential booms are springing up on all sides. Presidential boomers are opening offices everywhere. Newspapers splash columns of controversy. Platforms, issues straight dope and dark horses are thick in hotel lobbies. Press agents write frankly while office forces struggle to mail hales of propaganda. Main street on the subway rocks with all the uproar and confusion of the democratic national convention.

Colorado headquarters will open at the hotel Pennsylvania Saturday. Three members of the Mississippi delegations are already registered at the same hotel. Six delegations are expected to arrive at the Imperial hotel Saturday, Alabama, Arkansas, West Virginia, District of Columbia, North Dakota, and South Dakota. Ninety New Yorkers will open their show at the Commodore.

Some real excitement is promised when Iowa arrives. The party of 100 is said to be coming on a special train due here Saturday and Broadway thrills to the news that they are going to stage a street parade on arrival. The Iowans led by State Chairman E. J. Feuling, of New Hampton, Iowa, will stop at the Commodore.

These courses will be given at the West Texas State Teachers' College which will co-operate with the local association and Mrs. Marrs to make the session successful. There will be lectures each day at 9:30 o'clock and conferences in the afternoon.

Arrangements are being made for several educational demonstrations and social events for the visitors.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Prefer

for Economical Transportation

- Chevrolet is modern in appearance. All models are of stream-line design, and fine, durable finish. Closed modes have genuine Fisher Bodies.
- Chevrolet is modern in construction. It has standard sliding gear transmission, Remy electrical equipment, modern cooling system, suction fuel feed with tank at rear, demountable rims, safe steering mechanism—in fact all essential engineering improvements found in the highest priced cars.
- Chevrolet is fully equipped as sold. We quote prices on complete cars only. Chevrolet is all there, ready for use as soon as you put on your license plates. Compare the fully equipped Chevrolet with other cars, plus their missing equipment, and satisfy yourself which costs least.
- Chevrolet transportation averages less cost per mile than that of any other car at any price. This cost includes the list price of car, insurance, operation, maintenance, annual depreciation and interest on your investment. Why pay more per mile for lower quality?
- Chevrolet has the most powerful motor of any low priced car. Its supremacy for hill climbing and hard going is well known. Where there are most hills there are most Chevrolets. Why drive a slow car and hold up the line when it costs less to be a leader?
- Chevrolet yields solid comfort in riding. This is due to its long wheel base, correct body suspension on extra strong and resilient vanadium steel springs, well-sprung and padded upholstery, deep seats with ample leg room, and correctly inclined backs. The double ventilating windshield and cool motor make driving a pleasure instead of a discomfort.
- Chevrolet service costs are low because so few hours per year are needed in service stations. Chevrolets are built to stay together, and do not require you to be always near a service station. When adjustments or repairs are needed the Chevrolet Flat Rate System keeps the cost down to the minimum.
- Chevrolet is a quality car. You are proud to tell of your ownership of a Chevrolet. Your Chevrolet tells the world that you appreciate modern quality and are a good judge of value.
- Chevrolet is built for safety. It steers firmly and easily and the steering gear will not lock itself. If holds to the road even at high speed on gravel. Its braking power is ample. It is easy to handle and accelerates so quickly it enables you to get out of a bad position promptly. It is one of the few cars granted Class A rating by insurance underwriters.
- Chevrolet is easy to buy and easy to trade. In buying a home, you always consider what you could get for it if you ever wanted to move. Be sure the car you buy has a good trade-in value, so that when the time arrives to get a new one, you can make a good deal. Chevrolet's trade-in value is high because of the big demand for this well-built, long-lived automobile.

BRYAN SOUNDS DEMOCRATIC WAR CRY

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., June 21.—William Jennings Bryan, who is expected to be a member of the Democratic convention platform committee, gave utterance to a liberal war cry, Wednesday which will sound again next week as the common and his followers struggle to point the party gathering in the direction in which they believe it should go.

So liberal will be the Democratic platform, Bryan believes, that it will render the candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette unnecessary. Barring unexpected developments in the international situation, Bryan said, the 1924 presidential election will hinge upon economic issues.

Not the least of the economic issues, according to Bryan, will be the tax measure which he described as a Democratic measure worthy of praise because it provides great relief than would have been achieved by the enactment of the Mellon plan.

Injecting a bit of criticism into his platform predictions Bryan said that the Republican policy of collecting large campaign contributions any paying them back with special privileges or immunity from punishment had been brought to light with the oil exposures and created an acute reaction in the nature of a popular demand for information about campaign contributions, their source and purpose.

The condition of the farmer is deplorable, Bryan said, "the worst in a quarter of a century, and is going to have an important bearing on the campaign." The unit rule and the two-thirds rule, under which Democratic conventions have operated heretofore are not agreeable to the commoner. Under them, he said, the four big states, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio, with just more than one-third of the delegates are enabled to control the convention.

Declaring that the Republican party had connived in profligate, Bryan declared that the Democratic platform would deal effectively with the problem.

WORLD WAR HERO ON PALESTINE FARM

NEW YORK, (United Press)—First efforts to introduce pedigreed stock raising into Palestine will be made by Abraham Krotoshinsky, a hero of the Lost Battalion, through the generosity of Samuel M. Kaplan, New York, who is presenting him with two bull calves and one heifer—all thoroughbred Jerseys—raised on Kaplan's farm in Westchester county. The cattle will be in charge of an experienced man who will assist Krotoshinsky in establishing the stock farm.

BACK DOOR OF U. S. IS HARD TO GUARD

EL PASO, June 21.—Nightly through the "back door" of the United States, aliens and liquor smugglers attempt to cross the Rio Grande. With 900 miles of sand dunes, shrubbery and mountains to patrol, it is no easy task to prevent their entrance, says George J. Harris, federal director for the district.

1300 aliens have been turned back in the last ten months, and now that the Japanese are to be excluded also, officials anticipate more difficulties than ever.

El Paso formerly was the center of the Chinese immigration difficulties. There were two schools in Juarez which coached Chinese in answering the questions government agents might ask. Hundreds of their pupils stole into the United States. Mounted river guards patrol the border, and occasionally one is killed in a skirmish with smugglers.

"It's too big a job for the few men we have," Harris said. "Fortunately relief is in sight. The Hudspeth appropriation bill provides money for additional inspectors, and we expect it to help the situation greatly."

RICE STUDENTS WINDOW CLEANERS ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

HOUSTON, June 21.—The Student Window Cleaners Association, an organization of Rice Institute boys, has been "chartered" here. Association headquarters will be at Rice this summer, and several members have contracted to devote their full time to window cleaning until school opens in the fall. The S. W. C. A. has secured the contract to clean the windows of the Cotton Exchange once a month. The agency will function all year round, using part time workers during school season.

T. C. U. CLOSES A SUCCESSFUL SESSION

FORT WORTH, June 21.—An increase in enrollment of 25 per cent, the receiving of the $4,000,000 Mary Couts Burnett gift, and a remarkably successful record in its year of babyhood in the Southwestern Athletic Conference made the past year the most outstanding in the history of Texas Christian University.

The Christmas-time announcement that the entire fortune of Mrs. Couts Burnett had been deeded in time to the university and that she was bestowing an immediate gift of a $150,000 library building was probably the most momentous occasion in the life of the school.

"Mrs. Burnett's beneficence has placed the future of the university on a foundation as firm and broad as the Burnett acres. T. C. U.'s place as one of the colleges of nation is assured" was the optimism of President Edward McShane Waites as to what the gift meant to the school.

While the enrollment increase of the past year was the largest, both in number and percentage, that has come to T. C. U., the administration is preparing for a larger increase next year. The growth made possible by the Burnett gift is expected to bring many students to the university next year.

Dr. Waites' statement as to what the administration is preparing for next year is "I venture to prophecy last year that our enrollment for the year 1923-24 would exceed the 1,000 mark and it did. T. C. U. next year will increase its enrollment 40 per cent and surpass the 1400 mark."

The library provided for by Mrs. Burnett is now being erected and will be ready for the next session. It is named the Mary Couts Burnett library in honor of the donor.

In their first year of competition in the Southwestern Conference, T. C. U.'s Horned Frogs made the remarkable record of third in football, and second in both baseball and basketball. In track they lost only one meet. Next year will be the banner athletic year for T. C. U. as the Frogs will have veteran teams in every sport.

The addition of the Bachelor of Education degree to the degrees already offered was announced in the current catalogue. It is a professional degree in teaching and has the advantage of T. C. U.'s membership in the Southern Association of Colleges to place it in academic rank with the A. B. degree from any university in the country.

WOMAN WANTS TO BE FIRST GOV. IN AMERICA

HOUSTON, June 21.—Interpreting literally the rights and duties conferred upon women by the acquisition of the voting power, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson wife of Governor James E. Ferguson, is running for governor of Texas.

Last week the special supreme court ruled that her husband was not eligible for the office because of impeachment for misfeasance in office during his term as governor. Mrs. Ferguson has taken up the burden of "giving Jim" another chance as she puts it. "Jim and I aren't seeking revenge," she said recently in a campaign speech. "I want the first woman governor in the United States so Jim and I will be able to remove the stigma of that terrible blotch against us. I frankly admit that my husband made mistakes during his term as governor of Texas, but we both know he meant no wrong and that he was always faithful to the people."

"If those who differed with him had been content with his removal from office he and I would have resigned ourselves to the situation. But when it was decreed that he must forfeit the sacred right of a citizen to serve his fellows I determined to appeal to the voters for vindication of our name."

And so "Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democrat," is listed among the regular candidates for the office of governor of Texas. Her candidacy has been approved by the executive committee of the Democratic party of Texas, headquarters have been opened and Jim Ferguson is campaigning as he never campaigned in his life before.

Mrs. Ferguson has made but one direct appeal for votes—a statement issued Wednesday to the women of Texas, a woman's appeal.

So far as I know my opponents are all nice men," she said and as they have all said that they believe unequal suffrage for women I hope they will not deny me the right to appeal to the voters for vindication of our family name. As they will not let my husband run, I hope our friends all over Texas will see that I am forced to enter this contest.

"Mothers, I have a little bright-eyed grandson that I love dearer than life itself. Some of these days he will grow up to be a man and maybe he might want to run for office and serve his country. If, when he does, somebody wants to point the finger of scorn at him and say "your grandfather was impeached by the senate of Texas," I want that grandson to be able grandfather the right to go to the lo say, "yes and as a rebuke to that impeachment, that denied people, my dear grandmother was elected governor by the people of Texas—the first woman governor in the world."

Mrs. Ferguson's campaign is causing serious thinking among the men who are also candidates for the governorship. Ex-Governor Ferguson is a shrewd and resourceful politician and as one staunch old Democrat put it, "Mrs. Ferguson is the best man running for the office today."

RADIO FAN HAS A CLUB OF HIS OWN IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, June 21.Probably the most unique club in Texas is presided over by Rush Hall, Dallas high school student and radio fan.

Every Sunday afternoon, Hall with his station 5 R L calls the roll of club members in a dozen Texas counties and the North Texas Radiogram club is in session. After sounding the call several times over his powerful set, Rush announces he's "present."

Only one member is allowed to "take the air" at a time. The members swap yarns adopt resolutions, and conduct parliamentary business over the radio.

Rush says the clubs isn't exclusive. All that is needed is a radio set, and any radio fan can be a member. The organization is growing rapidly.
