PLATFORM COMMITTEE STILL DISAGREES

KLAN ISSUE TO COME TO THE FLOOR OF THE CONVENTION TODAY A LONG HOT FIGHT EXPECTED

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 27.—Now the preliminaries—some picturesque, some dull—are over, and stevedores are being rolled up for the real fight that will make this democratic convention historic.

While the platform committee was working on these questions, the convention sat through a long dreary day of oratory. There were some six hours of speeches—mostly of wearisome length, reciting in hackneyed phrases the wonders of the various candidates.

Both Smith and McAdoo were kept before the convention throughout the day by means of repeated speeches, interspersed through the roll call of states. None of the demonstrations approached the great Smith show of the day before.

After a good deal of high flown but evasive oratory, a small slightly gray-haired woman from Pennsylvania, cut through the gaseous muck with a speech in which she brought the question of Al Smith's Catholic religion before the convention.

FIRST ADMINISTRATION BUILDING AND THE PRESIDENTS HOUSE INCLUDED IN THE FIRST CONTRACT

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 27.—At a specially called meeting of the board of Regents, at which the entire membership participated, the contracts for the first unit of the Texas Technological College were let.

Another big event in the history of the Texas Technological College has been registered. The contract for the first unit of the institution was let yesterday in Fort Worth, when the board of regents met in the office of the President of the Board, Hon. Amon G. Carter, in an especially called session to receive bids for the erection of two buildings.

The contracts were let to Lubbock firms, or at least to firms that are at this time erecting buildings in the city. The president's home, which is to cost something over $20,000 will be erected by J. B. Maxey, local contractor, and the building will be located in the southeast corner of the Tech grounds, just a little east of the Elwood home on 19th street, and will be one of the most modern, and best built and perfect arranged homes in the city.

The administration building will be erected by Ramey Bros. of this city who are at present working on the Lubbock State bank building in the remodeling plans of that institution, which means that it will be in reliable hands, and the work will no doubt be pushed to a rapid completion.

Owing to the lateness of the hour when the information was received we have not been able to get in touch with the contractors to learn definitely when the actual construction will begin, but we are sure that no time will be lost in getting busy on the job.

The first appropriation is for $500,000, which will be used in making these first buildings, and while the amount of the contractors have been made public still it is expected that the bids come very near this amount, and will use up practically all of this appropriation.

According to the bill however, there will on the first of September be available another $350,000 of the state money to be used in the improvement of the school, when it is expected

At times many of the people have grown impatient, but when they stop to think of the greatness of the program there is no wonder that it has taken quite a bit of time to put the proposition over.

It was expected that on the Fourth of July Lubbock would be able to put on a corner stone laying celebration, but on account of unavoidable delays it will not be possible to pull this celebration on that date but a little later on, we will invite the people to come to Lubbock and celebrate another great event in the history of the school, that will possibly far exceed the celebration of the Tech location here last year, and will not be definitely decided, there will certainly be something doing in the very near future and date will be set abroad in good style at the proper time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Furnaux, of Dallas, arrived in Lubbock the first of the week and ate visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lee Duggan.

Life is a song and a jest, A task and a duty done, A babe at his mother's breast, A man with his battles won.

Life is a changing thing, As the future years unfold, With the joys and the griefs, they bring, So new and yet oh, so old.

BUILD A HOME!

The second crop of straw hats will be ripe soon.

UNCLE SAM ADOPTS TINY ISLAND IN THE PACIFIC

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 27.—Swains Island, a tiny coral atoll in the Pacific, seeks the protection of the American flag in order that the single family residing there may have a recognized government to sanction its marriages and probable wills.

Secretary of State Hughes has asked congress to recognize formally American sovereignty over the islet which passes for American, because its present owners are the descendants of an American citizen. For three-quarters of a century the bit of land has been occupied by a white family unmolested by the laws of any nation.

Great Britain once taxed them $85 but on second thought and without protest from this country, returned the tax with the statement England considered Swains Island American. The United States has been slow in formally declaring its ownership, but now, with the letter Secretary Hughes, congress will doubtless make the official gesture which will for all time make the dot on the map an American dot.

The island is not in any pacific group, being 200 miles from the Samoan Islands. It is just an isolated little upthrust of coral rising above the Pacific—the sort of island fiction writers date upon. Its principal product once was guano, because it was the only roosting place for hundreds of miles for sea birds. Later it exported copra.

Captain Turnbull, a British Subject, claimed to have discovered Swains island in 1856, with a generous gesture of sovereignty, he presented the island to one Eli Jennings, who always called himself an American citizen. Jennings took a Samoan wife, took actual possession of the island and raised a family. Since his death in 1878 the island has descended by will through successive generations of his family.

The peace and quiet of Swains Island seldom registered a mark on the history of the South Seas. In 1909, a zealous British commissioner levied the $85 tax on the island and quickly refunded it. There was some difficulty about an investigation since no nation assumed responsibility for the maintenance of law and order there. Eventually the versatile American navy made an investigation and pronounced the charges unfounded.

When the son of the original Jennings died, no court could be found to claim the place.

WILLIAMS S. HART IN "WILD BILL HICKOK" WILL DELIGHT FANS

Williams S. Hart in "Wild Bill Hickok" directed by Clifford S. Smith, is an announcement that will have familiar ring to the motion picture world. In the good old days, beginning in 1914, Clifford S. Smith directed this famous star in no less than forty-five pictures. Twenty-two of these were two-reelers and twenty-three were five-reel features. These were the Western productions that made Bill Hart world-famous as the king of Western heroes.

Few theatre-goers have forgotten "The Arvan." Many critics still refer to this picture as one of the best ever screened. What Western memories are awakened by "The Disciple," "Hat's Hinges" and "The Apostle of Vengeance?"

With the return of William S. Hart to the screen under contract to make nine specials for Paramount release, the star has formed a new organization, which however, is composed almost entirely of old Hat stand-lays. Entrusting the direction of his future productions to his successful co-worker of early days, he has again hit upon an ideal combination as Smith is ranked a leader in the making of Western pictures.

"Wild Bill Hickok" marks the director's debut for Paramount release. It will be shown at the Lindsay Theatre today. Ethel Grey Terry plays opposite Mr. Hart and heads an excellent supporting cast. The feature is said to be

HARVARD REPAIRING TOMB OF COUNT RUMFORD

BOSTON, Mass. (United Press)—The American Academy of Science and Harvard University are jointly putting in order the tomb of Count Rumford in Paris. In the Franco-German war this tomb was injured by a shell and the American Academy and the University had it repaired. Since that time the inscription has been effaced and again these institutions are restoring it.

Count Rumford, born in Woburn, Mass., in 1753, and apprenticed in a shop in Salem, rose to great heights in the diplomatic service of the British empire. He was knighted by George III, Harvard University and the American Academy of Science are indebted to Count Rumford not only for his contribution to scientific learning but for his foundation of the Rumford Medal of the American Society of Arts and Sciences, and for his establishment of the Rumford Professorship in Harvard University.

Edham KOLORED SHINGLES

WHEN YOU BUILD your home, you want it to be substantial, useful and beautiful. You want it to possess character—express picturesqueness, dignity, elegance, and, most important of all, simplicity or homeliness.

FREE BOOK

Send your name and address direct to the Edgumbe-Newham Co. Limited, Vancouver, B. C. They will gladly send you an interesting and instructive booklet, "The 50 Year Roof," FREE. It is illustrated with photographs of beautiful homes.

As a result of the pleasing lines of the British Columbia Red Cedar Shingle roof and side-walls have become a characteristic of modern architecture. No other material affords the home-builder the same permanency—the same pleasing exterior—at an equally moderate price. Certainly no other building material is so readily adaptable to any and all styles of architecture.

To enable the home-builder to retain the harmonious lines of the wooden shingle, yet secure lasting colors that blend with lawn, shrubs and flowers, the Edgumbe-Newham Co. Limited have produced the EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLE. The natural shingles are taken direct from the dry-kiln, which are operated in connection with their mill, to the staining vats. The shingles are still warm and thoroughly dry—the pores of the wood open and receptive to color pigments. Stain prepared from the strongest color pigments, pure linseed oil and "binders," suspended in creosote preservatives, is forced into the fibre of the wood, in the same manner that dye colors cloth. The EDHAM method of treating each shingle SEPARATELY and INDIVIDUALLY with color, ensures that each and every shingle is thoroughly saturated from tip to butt, coloring the wood in a manner that seems to embrace the grain, causing it to stand out, and ensuring colors that are rich and soft in tone. Compare the difference between the shingle that is "brushed," sprayed or dipped in the ordinary manner, with the EDHAM method of forcing the stain into the open pores of the wood. It is at once evident why the color shades of EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES will not wash out, rub off, or check and peel like ordinary stains and paints. It explains why they retain their beautiful coloring for 5 to 10 years, while the ordinary stained shingle requires rebrushing every year or two. It also explains why the "brushed" shingles decay first between the laps, where the brush fails to penetrate; why the EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLE is permeated from tip to butt—both to good bottom—with a stain containing a preservative oil that is poisonous to destructive insects, repellant to decay-producing fungi and impervious to water, heat or cold. EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES offer the home-builder a "50-Year R.F." and a side-wall that will last as long as the house. The first cost is moderate—the cost of upkeep practically nothing—the final cost, when measured over the years of service, less than the cost of any other building material. Regardless of the amount you are contemplating investing in your home, you can, by using EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES for roof and side-walls, have a larger, more substantial and beautiful home.

All EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES are manufactured from the famous stand of British Columbia Red Cedar, which, owing to soil, climatic and drainage conditions, is admittedly the finest in the world. EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES are permitted to use the registered trademark "EDG-GRAIN." The use of this trademark is only after a rigid independent association inspection, which orders a 100 per cent. Edgumbe-Newham Shingle that can't warp, cup or curl and is strictly clear.

THE PLATFORM COMMITTEE TRYING HARD TO AGREE.

A plank endorsing the League of Nations but leaving to the people the question of participation has been inserted into the platform by the committee which was still in session at a late hour Friday night. Finishing the league plank the committee turned to the issue of the Ku Klux Klan, still as troublesome a problem as ever and one which threatens to create furor when it is dragged to the floor of the convention Saturday.

The League plank was adopted by a large majority but Baker opposed it and indicated he would carry his fight for American adherence to the convention floor. After touching briefly on the Klan, the committee laid it aside to insert several more planks in the platform, bringing the total up to 43. These included clauses on child labor, deep waterways, flood control, fraudulent stocksales, private monopolies and aviation. Mean-time political levers were conferring in an effort to patch up a last minute compromise plank on the Klan plank and avert a party clash in the convention. Al Smith was said to have agreed to the anti Klan plank. Cordell Hull and Senator Pat Harrison were promoting the peace conferences. It was said the committee had not given up hope of getting together on one plank. The committee voted 31 to 16 for adoption of the league plank. Earlier it voted 36 to 16 for the referendum on the league. Explaining the substance of the league foreign relations plank, Chairman Cummings said: "It carries a statement on the necessity of peace, the importance of that problem to the world urges the complete outlawry of war and contains a recitation of what the democratic party has done to secure a working agreement to preserve peace. It mentions the league of nations with a historical statement of the league's functioning and the 54 nations that compromise it. The plank adds that the republican party has had no foreign policy since being in power. It reaffirms allegiance to the ideals of peace, the league of nations and the world court and concludes with the general idea that our country shall have a consistent foreign policy unencumbered by politics. To that end it advises that a referendum should be prepared, and submitted to the people on the question of joining the league."

As for the Klan plank, the majority of the committee favor a paragraph denouncing secret organizations in general and endorsing the constitutional declaration for religious liberty, but a minority is still urging the specific condemnation of the Klan. The debate on the subject in the resolutions committee was expected to be prolonged and bitter. It was not expected the committee could pass the plank before early Saturday morning. The league plank is understood to follow the lines of the proposal presented by Owen D. Young. It urges cooperation with the league and recognizes that body's role in promoting world peace but advises a national referendum to decide whether this country should participate. As the prospect grows nearer of a convention fight on the Klan, arising either from a minority report or from individual outbursts, apprehension increases over the effect it may have. Convention officers are taking precautions to keep order and it is understood extra police guards have been provided. Heads of state delegates which feel deeply on the Klan issue are taking measures to keep demonstrations within reasonable bounds. Much will depend on the action of the convention Saturday with regard to the Klan. If, for instance the convention should decline in the end to name the hooded order, Underwood by his own recent statement would not be available for the nomination. If, on the other hand, the convention should vote a specific denunciation, this would be regarded as a defeat for the McAdoo forces and their candidate would have trouble. Friends of David F. Houston, former secretary of the treasury, who has been placed in nomination as a candidate, have made public a statement of his Klan views recently prepared. He opposes masked organizations. "If any association of individuals has lawful and moral purposes it can prosecute them freely in the open" Houston said. "If it seeks to attain them under cover of masks, and to work in the dark, it at least lays itself and its members open to suspicion. No such body is needed in America. The interest of its members as well as the public, it should voluntarily disband. If any of its members commit any breach of the law, they should be quickly and sternly punished. Such associations should be condemned by an enlightened people."

FIVE TONS OF COFFEE A WEEK FOR CONVENTION

Five tons of coffee, enough to make 360,000 cups, are being drunk by the delegates, alternates, and visitors attending the Democratic National Convention here this week. Whether the tremendous stock of the beverage will be exhausted by the thousands who flock to Madison Square Garden depends largely upon the duration of the convention.

The concessionaires have laid in their edibles on the basis of a deadlock in choosing the presidential candidate that will hold the delegates in this city for two weeks. On that mode of reasoning, they have also laid in fifty barrels of lobsters and enough "hot dogs" to supply 32,000 every day. Coffee, "hot dogs" and sea food are chiefly in demand at the numerous counters which have been placed in convenient places in the garden.

According to holders of the eating concessions, the middle western delegates are calling for sea food—lobsters and clams while the unanimous choice of all for a beverage seems to be coffee, with iced tea, because of the weather, proving exceedingly popular.

THE FARM-LABOR PARTY

Senator LaFollette exhibited commendable political foresight and wisdom when he urged his friends to ignore the National Farmer-Labor party convention at St. Paul and as a result but few farmer delegates were present—nearly all of these withdrew before the convention was over. The proceedings were controlled by a radical group, generally designated as Communists, who held the theory of government it not so much toward a gradual change as it is a radical change of systems that would mean destruction.

The convention nominated a labor leader, Duncan Macdonald of Illinois, for president, and William Buck of Washington for vice-president. The executive committee was empowered to effect a coalition with the Conference for Political Action to be held in Cleveland July 4th, for the support of Senator LaFollette, if possible but it is probably the delegation may not be admitted for that purpose or any other.

This is the third national Farmer-Labor party that has been organized in the United States in the last four years. The first one, formed in 1920 went through the campaign with Parley P. Christensen as its candidate for President and polled a vote much smaller than the Socialist party.

That party was reorganized after the election but continued to dwindle until in 1922 it was elected to attempt another convention to form a new party. At that convention the Communists were in the majority and under their auspices the Federated Farmer-Labor party was formed. Immediately all of the farmers and industrial workers who were not Communists severed their connection with the new party. That was the situation when the present convention was called.

The managers of the movement frankly admit that it will cut but little figure in the result of the national election, and it is hardly worthy of more than a passing notice.

THE PROPER USE OF THE FLAG.

We were made glad a few days ago, when we read in the newspapers that the effort to make the proper use of the United States flag part of the teaching program of the schools. It is indeed a disgrace to the nation to be present at some of the flag demonstrations and see how really disloyal a lot of folks are to the flag, yet they cannot be blamed, for they do not know any better. They do not intend to be, but to a person who is familiar with the proper use of the flag, and the way the people are supposed to do in respect to the flag, it makes a fellow feel like taking a swipe at some folks, and wake them up to a sense of respect for the stars and stripes.

Not long since, we were standing in a large crowd of people and the flag was being raised to the top of the pole, and the band was playing and all of that and a large number of the people in the crowd were paying no attention to it whatever.

Some of those more familiar with flag ethics were giving the matter their attention, but a very large percent of the adults were not. It was for the lack of instruction and we believe that the children of America should be taught every day in school the proper use of the flag, and the meaning of every thing that is done in reverence to Old Glory.

We have known flags in this town to be hoisted to the top of the pole on a large building, and there remain till beaten into threads by the wind. This should not be, and we are glad that the proper use of the flag will be taught to all American children in Texas.

THE MONEY VALUE OF A HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION TO A FARMER

Many parents living in rural communities are doubtless debating whether they should send the boys and girls who completed the courses in the small district schools last spring to high schools this fall. One question they probably ask is: "Will it pay in dollars and cents?"

The United States Department of Agriculture and the various State Agricultural colleges have made a number of investigations of the differences between incomes of educated and uneducated farmers. All of these studies show that in the majority of cases the better trained farmers receive the better incomes. The results show in the following studies are typical of these investigations:

The department of agriculture reports a survey of three representative areas in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, which shows that tenant farmers with a high school education receive an average annual income of $526 a year more than the men with only a common school education. A college education will add to this average $453 a year making the income of college graduates $979 more a year than the labor earnings of the men with only a common school education.

Cornell University has estimated that a high school education is worth as much to a farmer as $6,000 worth of bonds bearing five per cent interest, and that a college education is worth twice that amount.

The New York Times is responsible for the statement that Madison Square Garden is now holding the greatest dark horse show in its history.

A man loses nothing—but gains much by joining as closely as he can its doctrines. All denominations are striving for the eternal truth and while some may be better than others, any one of them is better than nothing.

SALE AT CONLEY STORE IS WELL ADVERTISED

Paul Johnson, of the A. B. Conley, Jr., store, made an automobile trip to Idalou, Lorenzo, Ralls and Crosbyton Friday distributing literature advertising the July Clearance Sale that begins at that store Saturday morning, June 28th.

Mr. Johnson carried a quantity of large circulars which were printed by the Avalanche Publishing Company and planned to post them in every conspicuous place to be found on the entire trip. The sale is one of the biggest ones that store has attempted in some time and prices have been reduced on all merchandise.

Mr. Johnson will have circulars distributed in many homes along the route, and this being only one feature of the extensive advertising campaign being carried out in interest of the sale, it will be one of the big events of the season.

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE ACTIVE IN REFORESTATION

The forestry extension department of the Pennsylvania State College will plant about 34 new demonstration areas this year, according to present plans. The work of reforestation or improving timberlands has already been carried out in half the counties of the State. At 33 points on well-traveled public highways the college has established demonstration areas, so that the public may become acquainted with the results and possibilities of reforestation work.

WILLIAMS S. HART IN "WILD BILL HICKOK" WILL DELIGHT FANS

Williams S. Hart in "Wild Bill Hickok" directed by Clifford S. Smith, is an announcement that will have familiar ring to the motion picture world. In the good old days, beginning in 1914, Clifford S. Smith directed this famous star in no less than forty-five pictures. Twenty-two of these were two-reelers and twenty-three were five-reel features. These were Western productions that made Bill Hart world-famous as the king of Western heroes.
Few theatre-goers have forgotten "The Arvan." Many critics still refer to this picture as one of the best ever screened. What Western memories are awakened by "The Disciple," "Hell's Hinges" and "The Apostle of Vegetables."
With the return of William S. Hart to the screen under contract to make nine specials for Paramount release, the star has formed a new organization, which however, is composed almost entirely of old Hart stand-bys. Entrusting the direction of his future productions to his successful co-worker of early days, he has again hit upon an ideal combination as Smith is ranked a leader in the making of Western pictures.

"Wild Bill Hickok" marks the director's debut for Paramount release. It will be shown at the Lindsey Theatre today. Ethel Grey Terry plays opposite Mr. Hart and heads an excellent supporting cast. The feature is said to be

BOSTON, Mass. (United Press)—The American Academy of Science and Harvard University are jointly putting in order the tomb of Count Rumford in Paris. In the Franco-German war this tomb was injured by a shell and the American Academy and the University had it repaired. Since that time the inscription has been effaced and again these institutions are restoring it.
Count Rumford, born in Woburn, Mass., in 1753, and apprenticed in a shop in Salem, rose to great heights in the diplomatic service of the British empire. He was knighted by George III. Harvard University and the American Academy of Science are indebted to Count Rumford not only for his contribution to scientific learning but for his foundation of the Rumford Medal of the American Society of Arts and Sciences, and for his establishment of the Rumford Professorship in Harvard University.

Edham KOLORED SHINGLES

WHEN YOU BUILD your home, you want it to be substantial, useful and beautiful. You want it to possess character—express picturesqueness, dignity, elegance, and, most important of all, simplicity or homeliness.

FREE BOOK

Send your name and address direct to the Edgcombe-Newham Co. Limited, Vancouver, B. C. They will gladly send you an interesting and instructive booklet, "The 50 Year Roof." FREE. It is illustrated with photographs of beautiful homes.

As a result the pleasing lines of the British Columbia Red Cedar Shingle roof and shingles have become a characteristic of modern architecture. No other material affords the home-builder the same permanency—the same pleasing exterior—at so equally moderate price. Certainly no other building material is so readily adaptable to any and all styles of architecture.
To enable the home-builder to retain the harmonious lines of the wooden shingle, yet secure lasting colors that blend with lawn, shrubs and flowers, the Edgcombe-Newham Co. Limited have produced the EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLE. The natural shingles are chosen direct from the dry-kilns, which are operated in connection with their mill, to the coloring rate. The shingles are still warm and thoroughly dry—the pores of the wood open and receptive to color pigments. Stain preparator from the strongest color pigments, pre-oxidized oil and "binders," suspended in cross-grain preservatives, is forced into the fibre of the wood, in the same manner that dye colors cloth. The EDHAM method of treating each shingle SEPARATELY and INDIVIDUALLY with color ensures that each and every shingle is thoroughly saturated from tip to butt, coloring the wood in a manner that causes the grain, causing it to stand out, and ensuring colors that are rich and soft in tone. Compare the difference between the shingle that is "brushed," sprayed or dipped in the ordinary manner, with the EDHAM method of forcing the stain into the open pores of the wood. It is so much evident why the color shades of EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES will not wash out, rub off, or check and peel like ordinary stains and paints. It explains why they retain their beautiful coloring for 8 to 10 years, while the ordinary stained shingle requires re-staining every year or two. It also explains why the "brushed" shingle decays first between the laps, where the brush fails to function; why the EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLE is permeated from tip to butt—both to good bottom—with a stain containing a first latex—resistant to destructive insects, repellent to decay-producing fungi and impervious to water, heat or cold. EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES offer the home-builder a "50-Year R.P." and a side-wall that will last as long as the house. The first coat is good—practically the cost of upkeep over the years you are contemplating investing in your home—can be by using EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES for roof and side-walls, have a larger, more substantial and beautiful home.

All EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES are manufactured from the famous steel of British Columbia Red Cedar, which, owing to soil, climatic and drainage conditions, is admittedly the finest in the world. EDHAM KOLORED SHINGLES are permitted to use the registered trademark "EDG-GRAIN." The use of this trade-mark is only after a rigid independent association inspection, which orders a 100 per cent. Edg-grain Shingle that can't warp, cup or curl and is strictly clear.

MARS TO BE CLOSER TO EARTH THAN IN A CENTURY

WASHINGTON, June 27—If you are thinking of taking a shot at Mars now is the time to do it. Mars will be nearer the earth this summer than it has been in more than a century, says a bulletin from the American Nature Association. It will be nearest on August 22, for it will be less than thirty-five million miles away and it will be brighter than the planet Jupiter.

The namesake of the god of war may be coming a little closer than usual to "listen in" on the political battle, inasmuch as a lot of the battling will be done by radio. In July almost due south we find Scorpio, the Scorpion, his long tail trailing down to the southern horizon and his heart marked by the fiery Antares, which is one of the giant stars of the heavens four hundred million miles in diameter and distant from us 250 light years. Antares is called "Rival of Mars" because when Mars is most distant from the earth it very much resembles this star.

There are two planets beautifully in view, Saturn near Spica in Virgo in the southwest and Jupiter near Antares in Scorpio on the southeast the brightest object in view. Venus, will be too close to the sun to be seen.

The brightest star north of the equator is Vega. You can recognize it by the two little stars close to it which form a little triangle with Vega. If you draw a line from Vega to Corona you will find at the point where this line crosses the western side of the four-sided figure that outlines the body of Hercules, a faint hazy patch of light visible without a telescope. Yet the distance between the nearest neighboring stars in this cluster is over a trillion miles. This cluster is so far away that its light takes something like thirty thousand years to travel to the earth at the rate of 185,000 miles a second.

Almost overhead during the early evening hours of July may be seen a perfect little semi-circle of six stars known as the Corona Borealis the Northern Crown. The brightest of these, the jewel in the crown, is a star of the second magnitude known as Gemma of Alphacca. This little group of stars lies between the huge constellations of Bootes on the west and Hercules on the east.

TRUTH STRONGER THAN FICTION AGAIN IN THIS CASE

(Written for United Press) NEW YORK (United Press)—The ancient platitude that truth is stranger than fiction is illustrated so vividly, sometimes, that we wonder more fiction writers don't give up fancy for fact. On second thought, however—they do—judging from the constant output of Histories of This and That and The Other.

Seldom has the superiority of fact over fancy been so revealed in its romantic values as in Rupert Hughes' "The Golden Ladder," just published by Harper & Brothers. "The Golden Ladder" is really a narration of the life story of a woman whose name stirs the imagination of even the most casual student of American history—Madame Jumel.

Every New York child, as well as every out-of-town visitor of any age, has been filled with more misinformation concerning this woman than would seem possible considering the comparative nearness of her times. Now the tangled events in this mysterious woman's life have been straightened out and woven into a history far more exciting and thrilling than any of the historic legends about her. When tourists visit the beautiful and imposing Jumel Mansion, now preserved by The Daughters of the American Revolution as Washington's Headquarters, it is the spirit of Madame Jumel and not the Father of His Country which haunts the place. To one and all of these as well as to every lover of historic romance I would say: Don't fail to read "The Golden Ladder."

For here is the seemingly incredible story of a woman born in the gutter who lived in the lowest of life's dregs, mistress of the known and the unknown, mother of an illegitimate child, and whose ambition lifted her to the throne room of royalty. Her coach was an Emperor's and she died in the imperial bed which had once been Napoleon's.

Her story we should say her history, for Rupert Hughes has made almost a documentary narration of the events through which she passed has for its background the exciting period between the Revolution and the Rebellion. It is not, however, limited to America but traverses the high seas and includes France during the Terror. The affairs of this ambitious girl from the gutter, mistress of Stephen Jumel, who tricked him into marriage, and who, it is said, assisted, in the full sense of the word, at his death, offer romance and drama which rival the wildest imagination. Her marriage at the age of sixty to Aaron Burr, aged 79, her divorce, charging him with infidelity, were neither climaxes nor anti-climaxes in the astounding happenings of her life.

In reading the story of this attractive unprincipled American woman one is impressed with the conscientious study and research of the writer.

SENATORS WATCH TIGERS ADVANCE

Unable to raise a bat to defend their position because of rain had bogged the ballyard in the capitol, the Washington Senators watched the Detroit Tigers make a slight advance toward the much contested title of the American League Friday. The Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians by the scantiest of margins 1 to 0. Earl Whitehill, of the Tigers, pitched shut-out ball, allowing 7 hits, Shaute and Smith, of the Indians, gave only six hits.

The Yanks who had dropped way down to fourth place managed to get back into third by whipping the Red Sox in Boston, both portions of a double header, 12 to 7 and 10 to 5. Boston dropped to fourth.

In Chicago the Browns lost to the White Sox, 9 to 3.

Bothe games in the eastern section of the National League were cancelled because of rain. The Braves were to have played the Giants at the Polo grounds and the Dodgers were in Philadelphia for a game with the Phillies.

The Pirates whittled away some of its structure of the Cubs high 0 in Pittsburgh. The Cubs still hold second place, however.

In St. Louis, the Cincinnati Reds took the first game of a double header from the Cards 3 to 2, and the second 5 to 2. These results made no great difference in the standings of the Reds and the Cards. The Reds did not elave 5th place and the Cards did not drop any lower because there is nowhere for them to drop from their present position.

EDDINGTON IS DEFEATED BY MISS WILLS AT GOLF

WIMBLEDON, June 27 (UN)—Helen Wills, and Suzanne Lenglen advanced closer to a crucial match for the women's championship of the world when Miss Wills, the holder of the American title, defeated Miss Eddington in straight sets 6-2, 6-2 Friday and Mlle Lenglen won from Mrs. George Wightman of the United States 6-0, 6-0, 6-0. The French champions record in this tournament has been amazing, for she has not lost a single game in eliminating three formidable tournament players from the big competition.

Vincent Richards, who is making a strong fight for the Wimbledon mens singles champion, continued on his way by eliminating D. M. Greig, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5. R. N. Williams, of America, won from A. N. W. Dudley, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

In doubles matches, Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Marion Jessup eliminated the British pair, Mrs. Satterthwaite and Miss Harvey, 9-7, 12-10.

Francis Hunter and Miss Lillian Schuman, Americans, won a mixed doubles match from V. Burr and Miss Holcroft 10-8, and 6-3. Vincent Richards and Mrs. Jessup conquered G. Watson and Mrs. Dransfield 6-4, 6-3. Williams and Miss Wightman defeated Roupell and Mrs. Weston 6-0, 6-3. S. Condon and Mrs. Franklin I. Malloy won from G. Leembruggen and Mrs. Stebbing, 6-3, 6-0.

In the men's doubles, Norman Brookes, the old Australian star, partnered with Fischer of the United States, defeated F. Y. See and Von Brun 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

THIS CLASS OF WORKERS KEEP PLENTY COOL

FORT WORTH, June 27.—Believe it or not, some workers here go outside to get warm during these torrid days.

These warmth seekers are ice-makers, working with ice-making machines, huge blocks of ice, and a temperature as low as 9 degrees. Thousands of tons of ice are stored at some plants. When the workers go into the storage rooms, they wear heavy coats and wrap burlap around their feet.

Down in the engine rooms, though the temperature outlinbs the ones on the street.

WATER SUPPLY AT COURT HOUSE TO BE INCREASED
Water connections are being made with larger pipes into the courthouse which when completed will provide sufficient water for ordinary use in all parts of the courthouse lawn.

The Bermuda grass which last year thoroughly matted the premises is making slow growth due to the lack of water, and county officials are in hopes that the water connections will be made in time that this asset to the general appearance of the square can be preserved.

Special care has been given the trees on the square which have not suffered for lack of water.

MARS TO BE CLOSER TO EARTH THAN IN A CENTURY

By United Press
WASHINGTON, June 27—If you are thinking of taking a shot at Mars now is the time to do it. Mars will be nearer the earth this summer than it has been in more than a century, says a bulletin from the American Nature Association. It will be nearest on August 22, for it will be less than thirty-five million miles away and it will be brighter than the planet Jupiter.

The namesake of the god of war may be coming a little closer than usual to "listen in" on the political battle, inasmuch as a lot of the battling will be done by radio. In July almost due south we find Scorpio, the Scorpion, his long tail trailing down to the southern horizon and his heart marked by the fiery Antares, which is one of the giant stars of the heavens four hundred million miles in diameter and distant from us 250 light years. Antares is called "Rival of Mars" because when Mars is most distant from the earth it very much resembles this star.

There are two planets beautifully in view, Saturn near Spica in Virgo in the southwest and Jupiter near Antares in Scorpio on the southeast the brightest object in view. Venus will be too close to the sun to be seen.

The brightest star north of the equator is Vega. You can recognize it by the two little stars close to it which form a little triangle with Vega. If you draw a line from Vega to Corona you will find at the point where this line crosses the western side of the four-sided figure that outlines the body of Hercules, a faint hazy patch of light visible without a telescope. Yet the distance between the nearest neighboring stars in this cluster is over a trillion miles. This cluster is so far away that its light takes something like thirty thousand years to travel to the earth at the rate of 185,000 miles a second.

Almost overhead during the early evening hours of July may be seen a perfect little semi-circle of six stars known as the Corona Borealis the Northern Crown. The brightest of these, the "jewel in the crown," is a star of the second magnitude known as Gamma of Alpha. This little group of stars lies between the huge constellations of Bootes on the west and cradles on the east.

TRUTH STRONGER THAN FICTION AGAIN IN THIS CASE

(Written for United Press)
NEW YORK (United Press)—The ancient platitudes that truth is stranger than fiction is illustrated so vividly, sometimes, that we wonder more fiction writers don't give up fancy for fact. On second thought, however—they do—judging from the constant output of Histories of This and That and The Other.

Seldom has the superiority of fact over fancy been so revealed in its romantic values as in Rupert Hughes' "The Golden Ladder," just published by Harper & Brothers. "The Golden Ladder" is really a narration of the life story of a woman whose name sits the imagination of even the most casual student of American history—Madame Jumel.

Every New York child, as well as every out-of-town visitor of any age, has been filled with more misinformation concerning this woman than would seem possible considering the comparative nearness of her times. Now the tangled events in this mysterious woman's life have been straightened out and woven into a history far more exciting and thrilling than any of the historic legends about her. When tourists visit the beautiful and imposing Jumel Mansion, now preserved by The Daughters of the American Revolution as Washington's Headquarters, it is the spirit of Madame Jumel and not the Father of His Country which haunts the place. To one and all of these as well as to every lover of historic romance I would say: Don't fail to read "The Golden Ladder."

For here is the seemingly incredible story of a woman born in the gutter who lived in the lowest of life's degrees, mistress of the known and the unknown, mother of an illegitimate child, and whose ambition lifted her to the throne room of royalty. Her coach was an Emperor's and she died in the imperial bed which had once been Napoleon's.

Her story we should say her history, for Rupert Hughes has had almost a documentary narration of the events through which she passed has for its background the exciting period between the Revolution and the Rebellion. It is not, however, limited to America but traverses the high seas and includes France during the Terror. The affairs of this ambitious girl from the gutter, mistress of Steppen Jumel, who tricked him into marriage, and who, it is said, assisted, in the full sense of the word, at his death, offer romance and drama which rival the wildest imagination. Her marriage at the age of sixty to Aaron Burr, aged 79, her divorce, charging him with infidelity, were neither climaxes nor anti-climaxes in the astounding happenings of her life.

In reading the story of this attractive unprincipled American woman one is impressed with the conscientious study and research of the writer.
