PRECINCT NUMBER FIVE IS THE LARGEST SINGLE VOTING PRECINCT IN LUBBOCK COUNTY

Lubbock County will have well over six thousand voters qualified for the general election, according to poll tax receipts issued, exemptions and others who paid their taxes elsewhere and who have been in the county long enough to participate both in the primary and general election.
Lubbock County now leads the entire Plains counties in the number of poll taxes paid. Fifty-five hundred and fifty-eight people paid their taxes this year in Lubbock County, which is practically five hundred more than Potter County, the nearest competitor on the Plains in number of qualified voters. There were ninety-three exemptions made in Lubbock County, giving, according to records a total of fifty-six hundred and fifty-one voters.

CONVENTION HAS MANY THINGS TO CONSIDER AND MAY GET IN WRANGLE OVER PLATFORM REPORT

By RAYMOND CLAPPER.
NEW YORK, June 29.—The democratic national convention will resemble Monday morning in a chastened mood to begin balloting on presidential candidates.
There is every indication that the big three—McAdoo, Smith and Underwood—will be deadlocked after a few hours and that the party leaders will get together on a compromise candidate.

morning session that many of the delegates did not know that the platform had been acted upon.
When Chairman Walsh put the question of adopting the platform as a whole to a vote, James W. Gerard called for a vote by states. A minute afterward, Franklin D. Roosevelt rose and moved an adjournment. During the confusion Walsh declared the platform accepted by a viva voce vote and the adjournment was put. Delegates were unable to hear what the chair was saying at all times, and several came to the press stand after adjournment to ask if the platform had been adopted. The fact that the platform swayed the League of Nations issue by proposing a national referendum on the question of American membership is another reason why some delegates may want a roll call by states.

CANDIDATES FOR DISTRICT JUDGE PRINCIPAL SPEAKERS AT IDALOU TRADESDAY PROGRAMS SATURDAY

More than three hundred voters of Lubbock county attended the speaking program at Idalou Saturday afternoon which was a feature of the Trades Day celebration sponsored by the Idalou Chamber of Commerce.

The speaking program was opened with an address to the candidates and the voters by Dr. Harkey, secretary of the Idalou Chamber of Commerce, and whose efforts are largely responsible for the large attendance that was enjoyed, he having devoted a great deal of time to advertising the meeting and arranging the program.

Dr. Harkey first introduced Judge Geo. R. Bean, of Lubbock, candidate for judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court.

Judge Bean complimented the citizenship of Idalou upon the progressiveness that was evidenced by the many new business houses that have been constructed during the past few months, and told of the changes that he has witnessed in that community since he came to Lubbock county 30 years ago. He pointed out that the townsite of Idalou was nothing more or less than a fenceless range when he first came to the county.

Judge Bean said he had not been in Lubbock county long until he was elected county judge, and that after holding that office for a period of 4 years he entered into the active practice of law and has been engaged in that profession for the past twenty years.

Judge Bean said that he had been successful in his business and did not need the office for which he is running, but that it is an office that many men could well afford to aspire to, and that he would like to be elected judge of this district.

Judge Bean said that he had long been a member of the Methodist church and had always been active in church work, and that his character and reputation insofar as he knew, was above reproach of any man.

Judge Bean spoke for a period of twenty minutes and at its conclusion Judge Clark M. Mullican was introduced and spoke for a like period of time.

Judge Mullican stated in introducing himself that this was the first and probably the last time that he would be permitted to address an audience in his behalf during the campaign. He said that when Governor Neff appointed him to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Spencer, a duty was placed upon his shoulders which he expected to discharge regardless of campaign or campaign issues. He said that Monday will begin a term of the District Court at Crosbyton extending over a period of three weeks and that his duties were such that he could not be out among and greeting the people or making speeches in behalf of his candidacy, and would necessarily have to depend upon the record that he has made as district judge to speak for him.

Judge Mullican then touched upon what is commonly called the Klan issue, stating that contrary to all reports he is neither a member of the Klan nor a member of the anti-Klan, but is running as an old fashioned democrat and strictly upon his own platform of law enforcement with justice to every person who comes within the walls of his courtroom. In this connection Judge Mullican stated that since he had been in office there had been no outside influence controlling his actions and that he did not propose to belong to any organization or to anything that might tend in any way to influence him in a fair and impartial exercise of his judicial duties, and for this reason he has persistently refused to align himself with any secret political organization, pro or anti.

Judge Mullican said he felt sure that his opponent was a man whose character and reputation is above reproach; that it is his understanding Judge Bean is not addicted to any of the ordinary habits of men, such as smoking, chewing, swearing, drinking and is not devoted to any of the ordinary sports that men engage in; that he himself could not say so much for his own habits but that his experience on the bench had convinced him that as a general thing, criminal cases are not tried in the courtroom with prayer, but that they are tried according to the law of the land as it is written in the statutes of the state of Texas.

Judge Mullican said "if you want your criminals tried in your courts with prayer book don't vote for me, for all my life I have been a censor, working, fighting man and it is only that sort of he-man that can entire criminal element of the district who do not believe in the enforcement of any law. He said he is sure there are many good men who are supporting Judge Bean, and that Judge Bean in all probability is entirely ignorant of the things that are going on behind his back in his name; that while Judge Bean is conducting his own

JACK M. RANDAL

Jack M. Randal, candidate for County Attorney, is becoming well known to the voters of the county as he is devoting a great deal of time to the campaign.

Randal was formerly a law partner of the late Percy Spencey and in helping to handle the growing business of that popular office has gained a great deal of experience that will be of value to him in performing the duties of county attorney if the voters of the county elect him to that place.

The law business was carried on under the name of Spencer & Randal, and subsequent to the death of Mr. Spencey the business has been continued by Attorney Randal.

Attorney Randal graduated from public and high schools in Texas, spent four years doing academic work in Baylor university and graduated in law from the University of Texas in 1922, since which time he has been actively engaged in practicing his profession.

Mr. Randal is a young man, alert and a strong believer in vigorous execution of the law, says he believes not only in prosecuting those who are ordinarily bent on criminal practices, but of all violators who appear as one class to him.

Judge Randal stated that he believes in prosecuting every case where the evidence would warrant a conviction, but that he does not believe in trying to convict a man of a penal offense and throw the state to unnecessary expense where evidence does not justify a conviction.

AMOS HOWARD

Amos Howard, candidate for County Clerk, is a young man whose strict attention to business has helped him to make good progress in his work, and he has a good record upon which to ask for the support of the voters of the county.

Mr. Howard has been a resident of Lubbock county six years, having come here to work with the Guarantee Abstract & Title Company which is owned by Chas. Adams immediately after being discharged from the army at the close of the world war. He was deputy county clerk under Sam T. Davis from 1920 until Mr. Davis resigned in the latter part of 1921, when he again took up work with the Guarantee Abstract & Title Company, and is still with that company.

Mr. Howard's experience in the clerk's office as deputy together with his work in the abstract business has given him an opportunity to be thoroughly familiar with all features of the work, and his qualifications are known to many of the voters of the county.

Mr. Howard is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, an active worker in the local Kiwanis Club, and has been regarded as one of the leading young businessmen of Lubbock for several years.

H. F. STUBBS

County Clerk Herbert F. Stubbs is in line with the other first-term candidates in asking for reelection for a second term, and his friends point to his service to the people of the county at good grounds to ask for their votes.

Mr. Stubbs was born in Lubbock county, graduated from the public and high schools of Lubbock and started his business career by completing work in one of the old established business colleges of the state at Tyler.

He was deputy county clerk under Sam T. Davis and Sam T. Davis for a period of five years immediately following which he spent two years in the army during the World War.

After being discharged from the army after the armistice was signed Mr. Stubbs returned to Lubbock and took up work with the Guarantee Abstract and Title Company managed by Chas. Adams.

Following the resignation from the clerks office of Sam T. Davis Mr. Stubbs was appointed by the Lubbock County Commissioners to fill the unexpired term, and after holding the office as appointed for one year, was elected by a large majority by the voters of the county in the July primary in 1922, and is now serving that term.

Efficiency has characterized Mr. Stubbs throughout his work in the office, and together with being an efficient officer, he has given ungrudgingly of his time to the civic problems of Lubbock and Lubbock county.

His service as secretary of the local Kiwanis Club for one year, was adjutant of the Allen Brothers Post of the American Legion for one year, and as a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce has served efficiently on the tourist park committee for more than a year. This is one of the most important committees in the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Stubbs' work with the other members has meant much to Lubbock.

ELLIS COUNTY HAS PICTURESQUE CO. CLUB

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, June 28.—Reorganization of the Ellis County Country Club, one of the most picturesque in Central Texas, recently declared insolvent after the club dam had broken inundating much of the property, will be attempted here Saturday. The club located about ten miles from the city has a beautiful clubhouse, golf course, boating pier and picnic grounds.

"In Some States The County Clerk Is Elected For Life"

To the Citizens of Lubbock County:

On account of the many duties of this office, experience and thorough understanding is required. This in order to render better service and more efficient service. This office keeps an account and check with all other county offices. The keeping and preserving of the records, files, and systems of this office cannot be learned within two or three years, to give the people the best of service.

This is one of the busiest times in the History of Lubbock County in the County Clerk's Office and speed and accuracy is required. There are more public roads being opened at this time than ever before and more public schools being built, requiring bond issues. And every bond issue requires a perfect transcript of all proceedings to be approved by the Attorney General at Austin. This being the case, a careful examination and record of every paper from the Petition through the election and order authorizing the issuance of bonds, together with certificates of indebtedness of school districts, boundaries, tax levies and assessments, etc must all be properly filed and recorded and a thorough knowledge of the proceedings, known from beginning to end.

I am now serving my first elective term, having served as county clerk since January 1, 1922, filling out one year of an unexpired term. I feel like I have given good service in the past and know I can give better service in the future.

According to the records of this office I have received $1800.00 less, within the past 2 years than the clerk preceding myself, for salary, a total saving to the county.

I believe in economical business administration, consistent with adequate support of schools, impartial enforcement of law in accordance with the Constitution, civic development which will inure to the benefit of the entire citizenship.

On account of this busy time and the necessity of my being in the office in order to give better service, I am taking this method of asking for your sincere consideration of my solicitation. I will appreciate your support.

Jack M. Randal

Candidate for

COUNTY ATTORNEY

LUBBOCK COUNTY

The primary object of all law is to regulate. The purpose underlying the enactment of our criminal laws is to regulate the conduct of the individual and of the group such that the welfare of the people as a whole and of each individual will be best preserved. But the law is not satisfied by its enactment alone. It must be enforced. Laxity in law enforcement tends to defeat the very purpose for which it was made. In my race for County Attorney I announce and stand on but one principle and that is "strict law enforcement without regard to race, color, creed or standing." I do not believe in prosecuting a citizen where, under the law, I do not think there is sufficient evidence to convict; on the other hand, I do firmly believe in pressing a conviction to the utmost where there is sufficient evidence to justify it.

Your support will be sincerely appreciated, and, if I am elected, it will be my earnest endeavor to abide by the oath of office required of state officers, and, which reads in part as follows: "I (name) do solemnly swear that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as County Attorney, according to the best of my skill and ability, agreeable to the constitution and laws of the United States and of this state."

AMOS H. HOWARD

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY CLERK, LUBBOCK COUNTY.

Have lived on the Plains 17 years; Was deputy clerk of Lubbock County under Sam T. Davis until his resignation. Have been with the Guarantee Abstract & Title Co. (C. L. Adams) Five years. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

O. MC WHIRTER

County Attorney Owen McWhorter is asking the voters of Lubbock county to elect him on his record as their representative in prosecuting law violators that he made during the past eighteen months he has been in that office.

His election to the office by an overwhelming majority over his opponent during the last race attested a great deal of confidence the voters had in him, and now that he has a record to show for what he did in meeting their expectations that is something to be proud of he is standing on it in offering himself as a candidate for re-election.

There have been approximately twenty-eight hundred cases filed in the courts in which the county attorney practices since Lubbock county was organized, eight hundred of which were filed since he took that office, this showing the volume of business the courts has attended during this period.

The records of the attorney's office show that of the eight hundred cases filed in the courts in which he practices since he took the office, only three verdicts of not guilty were returned.

When reminded of the outstanding record Owen modestly replied that the efforts of the peace officers both county and city, and the law abiding citizens in helping him to gather information on the cases before taking them to trial was more than anything else responsible for the record.

He was pleased, and that many of those were made of guilty. But it is evident that the peace officers' responsibility and the duties are increasing as the county develops.

Attorney McWhorter, according to local peace officers, has been at all times backing them in the cases called to his attention, and law enforcement has been made easier by his attention to duty.

The county attorney's attitude toward law enforcement is that it is a job that if properly carried out, occupies the attention of all the peace officers, county officials and law abiding citizens, and that with a break in the ranks or the lack of proper cooperation, the efforts of the sheriff, the police, the county attorney and even the good citizens who are interested in law enforcement will result in only partly doing the job.

Mr. McWhorter was born in Lubbock county, got his early schooling in a rural school in Lubbock county, later attended the Lubbock high school from which he graduated, and just prior to being elected county attorney eighteen months ago, completed his law course in the University of Texas and passed the bar examination admitting him to practice in all the courts of the state.

P. O. BROCK

P. O. Brock, candidate for public weigher of Precinct No. 1, says he is making his race entirely on his own merits and not upon the demerits of any other candidate for that place.

Mr. Brock was for three years public weigher at Chilton, Texas, and is thoroughly experienced in that work and qualified to serve the voters of Lubbock county as their weigher if they see fit to elect him to that office.

Mr. Brock has been on the platform eight years, having spent seventeen years of that time in Lubbock, and is well known to most of the voters of the entire county. This is his first time to announce for a public office in Lubbock county.

J. S. SLOVER

J. S. Slover, candidate for County Treasurer is asking the voters of Lubbock county for a second term in that office, as he is now serving his first term in that capacity.

Mr. Slover has been a resident of Lubbock county twenty-three years, having served as commissioner of Precinct No. 1 eighteen years ago.

Mr. Slover was a member of the commissioners court of Lubbock county when that body passed up on the organization of Lynn county, and he recalls the squabble that arose over the organization of the county between the "masters" and cattlemen.

Having been in the grocery business in Lubbock five years, during which time he was identified with all progressive projects concerning the growth of Lubbock, Mr. Slover has a wide acquaintance throughout the county.

He built a number of homes in Lubbock several years ago when builders were needed most, all of which he sold on easy payment plans, and is proud of the fact that he has not been compelled to take one of them back.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Stewart, have as their guests, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Hughes, of Deaconoma. Mesdames Hughes and Stewart are sisters.

campaign personally upon a high plane, the criminal element that is backing him, whether with his consent or not, is waging a campaign of slander and defamation of character based upon scurrilous reports and lies—that they are injecting into this campaign, and intend to continue to inject into it, things they claim they hear said residing to the late misfortune that has come from his family life. Judge Mullican said that he has not himself uttered one word with reference to the matter and that until he does, nothing that is being said could possibly under any circumstances be based upon the truth or the facts.

Judge Mullican stated that he did not believe Judge Bean wanted the office, but that he is being run by a small clique of criminal lawyers who have not been able since he has been on the bench, to influence the court to any degree whatever, and that his opponent is being supported by the facts.

Judge Mullican stated that insofar as he had been able to ascertain, his opponent had never practiced criminal law and had never tried a criminal case, and that he would probably not know a bootlegger from a hijacker if he should meet him in the court room. He said that more than fifty per cent of the cases on the docket in this district were criminal cases, and that he wondered how his opponent would conduct himself in the courtroom when he had to face the cunning and strategy of the expert criminal lawyer in the trial of big criminal cases.

Judge Mullican said that no young District Judge in the state of Texas had been compelled to try as many big murder cases in so short a time as has been forced upon him during the short period he has been the judge of this court, and that he believes he has handled them with credit to himself and with honor to the laws of the state of Texas.

Judge Mullican stated that he had given all the best part of his life to a public service; that he has been in the military service of his country since he was fourteen years of age; that he was born a one hundred per cent American, had lived it throughout his life, and that when the time came he buckled on the six-shooter that Uncle Sam gave him and went to Europe and there proved his Americanism on the field of battle while those who are attacking him stayed at home and bought liberty bonds and waved the American flag while they held some fighting man's coat.

Judge Mullican said that although his opponent claimed that he is a self-made man and never had the advantage of schooling, he called his hearers attention to the fact that this is an age when the educated man is in the saddle and that more than ever before education in public affairs is the thing that counts; that he finished his preparatory work in a military school and entered Texas Christian University, and that when he had finished his work there, he entered the University of Texas, and is proud to say he has had every advantage of high school and university education.

Judge Mullican closed his speech by introducing J. K. Wester, who is running for representative from this district, and stated that although he knew Mr. Wester was opposed to him he desired the people to understand that there are big issues to be settled at the next session of the legislature, and regardless of all personalities in this campaign, he desired to say to the people that Mr. Wester is a man qualified in every way to handle the matters of state that might be entrusted to him and that regardless of the qualifications that the opponent of Mr. Wester might have, he wished them to investigate and to accord to Mr. Wester every consideration that a worthy candidate is entitled to at the hands of the people.

FORT WORTH, June 30.—Two youths were Sunday-toll of drowning tragedies in Texas, as reports here indicated this morning. J. C. Hawk, 14, drowned when his boat capsized on the club lake near Denton, and Frank Arcaas, 13, having passed beyond the deep, while swimming near O'Donnell.

Two Persons Lose Life At Bathing Beach

CHICAGO, June 30.—Two persons lost their lives at bathing beaches here and three others were injured Sunday when they disregarded warning signs, put up because heavy winds were lashing Lake Michigan and plunged into the water.

The high wind an aftermath of the storm, according to the weather bureau, piled up waves that drove Tony Kroot, 28, against the rocks and killed him. Stanley Kowalczyk, 26, drowned when a boat in which he was seated capsized. The waves and wind also washed the body of an unidentified man ashore. He apparently had been dead about a week. Most of the beaches were closed all day.

SON OF MURDERED WOMAN IS BEING HELD IN N. M.

EL PASO, June 29.—(UN)—Roy Dickson, 25, son of Mrs. J. A. Dickson, who was brutally murdered at Fort Bliss on the night of June 12, in the custody of police sergeant L. F. Matlack, has been taken to San Marcel, New Mexico, in order to verify a statement as to his whereabouts the night of the murder.

Colonel M. L. Crimmons, who is in charge of the investigation being held by the military authorities, held a conference with police authorities, who said there would be no further developments until the return of Dickson to El Paso.

Dickson was arrested for investigation with reference to deals about an automobile, and was given a severe grilling by police investigating the murder case. Dickson claimed an alibi, and refused food at first.

Public Weigher

PRECINCT NUMBER 1, LUBBOCK COUNTY

I am using this means to appeal to you for your consideration. I have been your neighbor for seven years. I hope I have also been your friend. It is my ambition to serve the public and if I am elected to the office I seek, I will, at all times, be found trying to give service. Having had 3 competent to give the public good service years experience as public weigher I feel that I am

I am not asking for the office on the demerits of my opponents. I am strictly running on my own merits as a man and NO issue. So, if you think I am worthy of your support, I will show you my appreciation by rendering you honest service.

Respectfully

P. O. BROCK
FOR PUBLIC WEIGHER,
PRECINCT NUMBER 1.

To the Voters

I am again asking the good people of Lubbock county to vote for me for the office of County Attorney, the duties of which I have endeavored to perform with strict adherence to the oath that I took when entering said office on January 1st, 1923.

It has been a pleasure to me to serve this great citizenship as a public servant, realizing that it takes sincere service or one's self to be of service to others. I hope I have been of service to the county of my birth, and my only promise to the people, if re-elected, is that I shall make a sincere effort to stand behind the law enforcement officers and endeavor to increase my efficiency as a county officer.

I know of no greater honor than that of prosecuting the violators of our penal code. If my short service in this capacity pleases the public, I shall greatly appreciate an expression from you to that effect on July 26th; thereby nominating me as the democratic candidate for County Attorney.

I am Your most humble servant,

Owen W. McWhorter

Candidate for Re-election

BUD JOHNSTON

"I am making the race for reelection to the office of Sheriff of Lubbock county solely upon my record since taking the office at the outset of this term, and if elected I will have only the best interests of the people to serve," declared Sheriff Bud Johnston when interviewed for a story for this special edition.

Sheriff Johnston said he realizes that the location of the Tech college in Lubbock places an added responsibility upon all peace officers as the moral reputation of Lubbock will have either good or bad influence on the college, and his suggestion in this matter might well be considered.

Law enforcement in the county is entirely in the hands of the peace officers and friends of Sheriff Johnston point to the number of arrests he has made as indicating his strict attention to duty.

Sheriff Johnston stated that Deputy Sheriffs U. L. George and Vernice Ford, both of whom have aided him greatly in carrying out the duties of that office, will be retained by him as long as they meet the requirements made by him as sheriff.

Deputy George has charge of office work and the prisoners in the county jail, while the other Deputy Sheriff Ford has a valuable aid to Sheriff Johnston and the two have worked together in some of the most tedious cases brought to their attention during the term.

"We have not only made a number of arrests but have kept them arrested, there not having been an escape made from the jail during my term," Sheriff Bud Johnston said.

I. F. HOLLAND

I. F. Holland, now serving the people of Lubbock county as tax collector, but who has had that office since June 25, 1923 by appointment by the Commissioners court of Lubbock County, to serve the unexpired term of S. C. Spikes deceased, is asking the voters to place him in that office for a full term.

Mr. Holland is well known in Lubbock county, both among the businessmen of the county and the farmers.

He worked with the Holand Abstract Company, then owned by R. A. Holland, but which is now known as the Wilson Abstract company, starting work with that company in January, 1918, when he first came to Lubbock county and remained with the company until October 1920.

For three seasons following that time he was bookkeeper and weigher for the Fuller-Gia Company, a place that gave him an opportunity to become well known to the farmers of the county who have not forgotten the many courtesies extended them for the efficiency with which he carried on his dealings with them.

Mr. Holland was deputy tax assessor with R. C. Burns in 1921-22, following which time he was bookkeeper for the Rix Furniture and undertaking company from December 16, 1922 to June 15, 1923, having resigned from the employment of that company to accept the appointment offered him by the commissioners court as tax collector.

The record of Mr. Holland has made as tax collector is well known to the voters of the county. He has shown every courtesy to those who have called at his office to transact business for the county, often returning to the office after work hours to offer such services to patrons as had been requested.

PARKS COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT ON ACTIVITIES

The following report has been made by the State Parks Committee for Lubbock county:

We, your committee, being duly appointed to view out the most suitable places in Lubbock county to recommend for a State's Park ground, W. K. Dickinson, Sr., M. M. Dupre, W. D. Crump, S. E. Skaggs and Mrs. Ed Conn, made a trip down the canyon beginning just a few miles east of Lubbock and ending down on the public road running from Slaton to Lorenzo, Mr. Skaggs, Mrs. Conn and M. M. Dupre rather favored the Buffalo Springs community in the canyon about 12 or 13 miles southeast of Lubbock. W. D. Crump, W. K. Dickinson, Sr., rather favored the canyon lying from the present county park grounds laying up the canyon so far as it might be advisable to purchase for parks. We learned from M. M. Dupre that the canyon known as the Buffalo Springs Community is not available but 400 acres or more is available from Mrs. Roy Dalton, laying on the canyon just north of the public road running from Slaton to Lorenzo and about 400 acres laying just south and east of the road going out of Lubbock on the south line of the town section, that now being owned or controlled by Caraway Bros. M. M. Dupre having to go to Austin last Friday asked that W. K. Dickinson, Sr., be appointed chairman of the committee and call them together at the County Park club house Saturday evening at four o'clock and W. K. Dickinson, Sr., suggested in getting together Mrs. W. L. Baugh, Mrs. W. H. Meador and Mr. E. T. Daniels, all of who were not present at the first meeting of the committee to view out the park grounds, and W. K. Dickinson, Sr., and W. D. Crump, being present at the first meeting when over their trip of the viewing of the different grounds and it was discussed by all present pro and con and all of the committee present were very much enthused with the park idea and the body agreed that they recommend the sites in the canyon which lay closest to Lubbock for the reason that the county and city would be called upon to furnish such grounds that they would lay nearest the most highways and would serve a greater number of people daily by being so situated, but at the proper time we will appoint proper person to go over carefully with any one whom the state might appoint and carefully show them all the sites that this committee viewed out.

It was thoroughly discussed by all the committee present at this meeting that referring to what Gov. Pat M. Neff said in his great speech at Brownwood in reference to educating the people along the line of purchasing and improving parks to take care of the present and rising generation and we pray that all people become more interested in the park idea and spirit and pick up and carry it forward at a very rapid rate until such time that we will have secured park places all along our public highways from one acre up that the traveling public may stop, pitch their tents and call home.

Now that the Good Roads spirit has grown to such proportions that the public are all anxious to travel by automobile rather than railroad, we are very anxious to offer the public places along our highways, at which they may stop, pitch their tent, and not be disturbed by any one more than to conform with such rules and regulations that would have to be set for the proper care of such properties.

Respectfully your committee,
W. K. Dickinson, Sr., E. T. Daniels,
Mrs. W. L. Baugh, Mrs. W. H. Meador and W. D. Crump.

RECOGNIZE NO ISSUE IN MY CANDIDACY OTHER THAN

PUBLIC SERVICE!

My appointment to the office of Tax Collector by your honorable Commissioner's Court in June, 1923, was made, I have every reason to presume, entirely on my acquaintance with the office and my ability to give to the public the kind of service they desire.

On the same qualifications only do I ask for your vote in the coming election, promising one and all the same courteous service as I have given in the past.

YOUR VOTE WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED!

I. F. Holland

Lubbock County Tax Collector by Appointment
Candidate for Election

Who Is Your Sheriff?

Your sheriff is your agent for law enforcement and upon him depends the public safety. Through his efforts law violators are brought to trial

The record that I have made since taking the office of Sheriff of Lubbock county is the only grounds on which I am asking for your vote.

You voted for me and elected me to this office on what you believed I could and would do, and now I am asking you to vote for me again because I believe I have fulfilled my obligations to the law abiding citizenship without partiality, and the number of arrests and convictions affected through this office is a part of my record as your officer.

My solicitation of your vote in the July Primary is made on my record and I will, if reelected, continue to serve the best interests of the law abiding citizens by protecting them through arrests of all law violators.

Not one Man Has Escaped From the Lubbock County Jail During My Term Of Office

To properly care for the office of Sheriff I will have to give it practically all of my time and, therefore, will be unable to see all voters personally. Nevertheless I believe you will realize that my duty is to the office first.

H. L. (Bud) JOHNSTON, Sheriff
Candidate for reelection in the July Primary

LOUIE F. MOORE HONOR SYSTEM FOUND GOOD FOR PRISONERS

"Moore service," as enjoyed by all patrons of the district clerk's office of Lubbock county, has become one of the valuable advantages extended these patrons by the clerk, Louie F. Moore.

Louie, as he is known in business circles and by all members of the official family of Lubbock county, went into that office in 1920 having been elected by the people to occupy the office after it was created.

Prior to that time he had served for four years as deputy county and district clerk under Sam T. Davis, who held that office. The office of District Clerk was not created until in 1920 because of the fact that the county prior to that time did not have the necessary 10,000 population. The time Louie has spent in handling the work of that office has fitted him well for the place and he is asking for re-election up on the record he has made in keeping up the work of that office.

Louie has been more than a county official. There is perhaps not another man in Lubbock who can claim such splendid service record in working for the civic development of Lubbock county as can be claimed by him. He was the second president of the South Plains Fair Association, was for one term president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been on many important committees for the chamber of commerce and was secretary of the Kiwanis Club for two terms, has been identified with the work of the Red Cross and in fact has been a valuable aid to all civic projects in Lubbock.

Despite the time he spent in doing civic work, Louie has been on the job at his office during all terms of court, and in fact, has not let any other business come between him and the efficient management of the affairs of the District Clerk's office.

The tree planting campaign, that was put on by the Junior Chamber of Commerce last year and which was successful from every viewpoint was engineered by him.

Louie is another of the candidates for reelection who is making the race for office upon the record he has made, and his friends declare that if the voters but will acquaint themselves with that record they will commend the work he has done and express their appreciation of his efforts by returning him to that office for another term.

JOHN L. RATLIFF

Judge John L. Ratliff of Lubbock is making a thorough canvass of the district in interest of his candidacy for District Attorney of the 72nd Judicial District and is well known to the many voters of the district.

Judge Ratliff was born at Gloria eight miles south of Paris, and before reaching young manhood he started into the study of law. He was admitted to the bar while very young, and was elected to county judge and ex-officio superintendent of schools of Delta in 1905, and being ambitious to re-enter the practice of law, he declined reelection at the end of his first term in that office.

Judge Ratliff has had a great deal of experience in handling both civil and criminal cases, and has worked in the prosecution of many cases. Since coming to Lubbock county Judge Ratliff has figured conspicuously in the defense of one of the most difficult cases that was tried here, and his work was observed by many of the voters of this section.

In 1910 Judge Ratliff was elected to the state senate in the 3rd Senatorial District, and in this office he introduced and fought for the passage of the bill that created the rural high schools in Texas. This bill was passed in the regular session of 1911, and is now considered one of the great acts of that body and perhaps more boys and girls in Texas than ever other educational advantage provided by earlier legislation.

Other sound legislation that has been passed through the efforts of Senator Ratliff during his term of office. He also declined reelection to that office at the expiration of his first term.

Judge Ratliff came to Lubbock county from Cooper, Delta County and has practiced law in the courts of this county and has a large following. He has been an active worker in the First Baptist church since young manhood, and has been an active civic worker, having been at one time president of the chamber of commerce at Cooper, and held many other places where his efforts were given without charge to the betterment of his community.

HONOR SYSTEM FOUND GOOD FOR PRISONERS

By GEORGE D. TYSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

STATE PRISON FARM, RAIFORD, Fla., June 28.—Do criminals—so-called vicious ones, many of whom have been sentenced to terms of life imprisonment—have a conscience or a sense of honor? J. S. Blitch, superintendent of the prison farm here and a man who has dealt with law violators for many years, replies to this question with an emphatic "yes". And his answer was drawn from an experiment with the institution here lasting over a period of six years.

Scattered over 18,000 acres of rolling, flower-bedded land here are 441 of Florida's criminals, with nothing to prevent their wholesale escape except the barrier of their consciences and sense of honor. No grim walls keep them from the outside world; no armed guards with fingers on the trigger watch their every movement; no manacles and iron chains impede their movements.

They literally are free—free to come and go as they please over the 18,000 acres of land, with very few restrictions. Six days in each week they work. On the seventh, like the average man enjoying his freedom, they attend religious services and rest.

Most Are Life-Terms
Three-fourths of these prisoners are "life-terms," yet their consciences restrain them from attempting to shirk the debt which law has said they must pay for the protection of society. They are divided into squads of fifteen or twenty, some of them feeding the 600 head of hogs; some caring for more than 3,000 hens; others milking and feeding the 1,200 head of cattle, while the remainder work in the fields.

The groups are under the direction of a "foreman" who instructs them as to their work and sees that they do it. The "foremen" are prisoners themselves.

The use of the leather strap is practically a forgotten means of punishment. The prisoners are their own keepers.

Only eight names appear on the institution's payroll, and one of these is the superintendent. It is almost self-sustaining.

When a prisoner overrides the dictates of his conscience here and attempts to escape, he is usually trailed by members of the squad with which he was working.

Only seventeen prisoners have attempted to escape since January 1. Of this number eight were recaptured. The superintendent said that during the same period fifty-seven prisoners escaped from the Florida chain-gangs where guards were used.

On the farm is a dairy, a poultry plant, a vineyard, a sawmill, an engine, an ice and cold storage plant, a blacksmith shop, a tannery and a shoe factory, a grist and rice mill and a coopeage plant.

These are outstanding industries that occupy the time of those prisoners who do not work in the fields.

4,000 Acres Are Tilled
About 15,000 acres of the farm have been fenced, and 4,000 of these are under cultivation.

All state prisoners are sent here first before beginning any duty after being sentenced to serve a term of imprisonment for violation of Florida's laws.

Escaped Prisoners Recaptured
During 1923 only twelve men escaped from the farm and seven were recaptured.

The honor system was inaugurated here six years ago, when Superintendent Blitch took charge. Prior to that time the "gun and guard" rule was in vogue.

"The honor plan has worked out beyond our fondest expectations," he said.

The farm bears the appearance of a modern thriving little city. Dormitories for the prisoners are modern in every respect. A new cement hospital now is under construction.

Workers on the farm report for duty shortly after sunrise and labor until almost dark. At noon they are given one hour and a half for lunch. Each Saturday night they meet for one joint entertainment in the form of a picture show, a minstrel or vaudeville, or a general "get-together" social assembly.

"Prisoners here send and receive their mail without it being subject to censorship. Special times have been set aside for visitors who call regularly.

Many of the younger men spend their Sundays with sweethearts who come out to see them.

System Reforms Many
"Florida, through this honor system," said Superintendent Blitch, "is teaching her prisoners thrift, economy, respect for law, cleanliness and Godliness, thereby turning them back to society better men and women than they were when sentenced. And a large percentage of them have gone forth and now are respected citizens in their communities and are making good in every way.

"All of this is done—the farm operated, the prisoners handled—with only eight men on the payroll. It costs less to maintain prisoners in Florida than in any other state in the union.

"The system is good. Appeal to a man's honor, even though he be a prisoner, and you appeal to that thing—and often to that thing alone—which will make him a better man."

T. C. CALLEY

T. C. Calley, of Shallowater, is making the race for commissioner of precinct number four, Lubbock county, and is promising the voters of the county that he will, if elected, serve them to the very best of his ability.

Mr. Calley is well known to the voters of the Shallowater community as well as in several communities of the county, including Lubbock, and has a large following of friends.

STRONG SHOWING OIL AROUND PAMPA, TEX.

PAMPA, Texas, June 28—Strong showing of oil in the Wilcox Oil and Gas Company's Coombs and Worley No. 1, six miles south of here, is drawing the attention of Panhandle operators to northern Gray county. The Wilcox well struck an oil sand at 2,840 feet and reports from Pampa are that oil is standing 200 feet in the hole. If testing shows the strata is a good producer, this will be the most valuable development in the Panhandle in many months, as the well is located 25 miles east of the proven area in Carson county.

The Wilcox strike partially offset, however by abandonment of W. James Moore No. 1, in eastern Gray county, where drilling was suspended at 3,102 feet after entering granite. Even though unproductive, operators regard the Holmes test as highly important to the field because of an oil show at 2,800 and other conditions which lend promise to territory further west. The immediate future of the area involved, depends upon the Texas Company's No. 1 Saunders, which is having trouble with a crooked hole below 2,800 feet.

AMERICAN FLYERS ENTERTAINED AT DINNER

CALCUTTA, India, June 30.—The American round the world flyers were entertained at dinner by members of the local post of the American Legion Monday and later took their ships for a trial spin above the city.

Shallowater

Will appreciate your vote and influence for Commissioner of Precinct No. 4.

I will try to make the County a good official.

TO THE VOTERS

I wish to take this occasion to thank you one and all for the privilege of serving you as clerk of The District Court of Lubbock County.

Again I ask that you favor me with your support for re-election in the July Primary. It is my earnest desire to serve even better in the ensuing term than in the one just passing. Your consideration will be deeply appreciated.

LOUIE F. MOORE

"Yours for Moore Service"

The people of the 72nd Judicial District already know that Judge John L. Ratliff is in the race for the nomination for district attorney of the district.

He has seen many of the voters of the district, and presented to them his reasons for offering for the important place.

In this space we wish to offer some further facts concerning him and his life and character that he himself might not care to present.

In the first place Judge Ratliff is a good lawyer, and in his twenty years practice has handled some heavy criminal cases, and is fully and thoroughly prepared to take over the work of the office if the people should choose him.

As a lawyer he is strong for his client, whether that client is the State of Texas, or some private citizen, and never gives up a fight as long as there is a fighting chance. Yet as a prosecutor he would never descend to persecution.

Intellectually he is the equal of any man on the South Plains, is splendidly educated, possesses a strong incisive mind, is forceful and aggressive, and is a good speaker.

In the court room he is self-possessed and alert, his mind running strongly and steadily for the strong points in his own case, with a keen lookout for the weak ones in his opponents cause.

No number or array of eminent counsel on the opposing side could ever daunt or overawe him, or cause him to lose any thread of the cause he was battling for.

He has led a clean life, has never wasted any of his powers by any kind of dissipation, and is in his prime physically and mentally. He has always been the friend of all the evangelical churches, and for years has been a leader in the Baptist Church.

The twenty years of his professional life have been crammed full of valuable work and experience.

Before he was old enough to vote he was chairman of a prohibition club in his native county of Lamar.

Always since that time he has espoused that cause, and did yeoman service for it while a member of the Texas State Senate.

He is a strong believer in the enforcement of the liquor laws.

While yet young he was county judge and ex-officio county school superintendent of his old county, and the county never had a better officer. In his work as county school superintendent he awoke to some needs of the children attending the country schools.

When he went to the State Senate, fourteen years ago, he introduced and passed the Rural High School Bill which created all the country schools above grammar grade, created the board of county school trustees, and placed a good education within the reach of the boys and girls of the country. These splendid nine, and ten and eleven grade rural schools on the plains owe their existence to his efforts.

Outside of the work that has brought him his bread and butter he has had one deep abiding and outstanding interest, and that is his sympathy with and interest in boys and girls, both town and country, and has lost no opportunity in which he could be of constructive benefit to them, both mentally and spiritually.

We feel that the people of this judicial district want a man for district attorney who is capable and clean, and absolutely free from any connections or antecedents that would hamper him in his work, and who will prosecute criminals high and low alike, and who would be swayed by no other consideration than the public good.

Standing upon this conviction we most unreservedly and heartily recommend John L. Ratliff to you as that man.

Sincerely yours,

RATLIFF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

C. M. MULLICAN

The staunch friends of Col. Clark M. Mullican, judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court, are not only squarely behind him in his present race for election to that office, but succeed himself as appointee by Governor Pat M. Neff, but there is much heard about their announcing him as a candidate for Governor of the great state of Texas in 1928.

Judge Mullican is big enough for the governorship of Texas, but his disposition toward the race in 1928 has not been voiced and there is much speculation concerning his attitude toward the matter.

His candidacy for election to the office of judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court is receiving a wholesome support from friends of strict law enforcement throughout the district, his work since being appointed to that office to serve the unexpired term of Hon. W. R. Spencer, deceased, having gained for him additional popularity.

Col. Mullican's record as a civilian and as a war veteran is well known to the people of the 72nd Judicial District. He has figured conspicuously in every great achievement enjoyed by Lubbock since he made his home here, has worked on every red cross membership campaign in every big project attempted by the local Post American Legion and personally engineered the program for feeding the thousands who gathered here to celebrate the location of the Texas Technological College last year, his military experience having paid a part in this project that will not be easily forgotten by those marveled at the achievement.

In less than an hour a crowd estimated at more than thirty thousand people were fed steaming hot food, this achievement having been possible only through the engineering by Judge Mullican who gave much of his time, in helping to make the celebration the outstanding success it was. This and other tasks that were placed upon Judge Mullican by his friends here found him ready and willing, and at the completion of each task his popularity increased until it has been repeatedly remarked that no other man on the south plains has gained so much applause as has been given him.

This is Judge Mullican's first time to offer himself as a candidate for an office here, and the voters of the 72nd Judicial District are given an opportunity to commend his good works with something greater than mere words and to stamp their approval upon the service he has rendered both in private life and as judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court.

Some of the most important murder and civil cases that were ever tried in West Texas were heard in the court here with Judge Mullican on the bench. His decisions have been upheld in the higher courts of the state, showing that his studiousness and application to the strictest interpretation of the law in every decision favored justice in its noblest sense.

Judge Mullican is the son of W. M. Mullican, prominent stockman and farmer of Lubbock county, who has been financially able to accord his son such educational opportunities as he desired, and since boyhood Judge Mullican has been a student, having graduated from public and high schools in Texas, attending the University Military school at Dallas from 1901 to 1905 where he held rank from sergeant to major code battalion. He was a student in Texas Christian University 1905 and 1906; University of Texas 1906-1908; 1911-1912 and his degrees are A. B., LL. B.

Judge Mullican's business life has not been confined entirely to the practice of law, as he has been identified with farming and the cattle business.

He was assistant District Attorney, Dallas county in 1913-1916. Judge Mullican has had a most varied career, his early military and literary training having fitted well into his services to his country during the war and to his professional career after he was discharged following the close of hostilities.

One of the many honors conferred upon Col. Mullican during the war is a citation for extraordinary heroism during the combat before St. Etienne on the 14th of October, 1918, by Marshal Petain, commander in chief of the French armies of the east. Other letters and citations which are a part of Col. Mullican's war record are instruments of which his friends are justly proud.

After coming to Lubbock at the close of the world war, Judge Mullican became the junior member of the law firm of Bledsoe & Mullican, one of the strongest legal firms in the state.

His appointment by Governor Neff to the 72nd Judicial District Judge's office was heartily approved by the members of the Lubbock County bar, and he has not disappointed them in wisely handling the duties of that important office.

HUB TOWN STROLLERS TO ENTERTAIN HERE TUESDAY EVENING

The Hub Town Strollers have made all necessary preparation for the greatest evening of entertainment ever offered by local talent in Lubbock, and they will appear Tuesday evening, July 1st, at the high school auditorium. An admission will be charged and all proceeds are to go for the support of the local orphanage.

FALL SINCLAIR AND DOHENY INDICTED

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the government were returned today by special Federal grand jury against Fall, Dohney, and Sinclair, as a result of the investigations in the leasing of the Teapot Dome. Fall is also charged with offering to give a bribe.

DANGER LURKS IN BEAUTY AIDS LIPSTICK POISON

CHICAGO, June 28.—Even a permanent waving machine or electric curling iron is deadly!

But, for that matter, hair dye and skeletons go well together and match pretty well with corsets and tans, cancer germs from chlorinated water and paraphenyldiamin in powder puffs, lead poisoning in lipsticks and even the carnish on baby's wooden soldiers. Human beings haven't much of a chance.

That's what members of the American Medical Association, who met in Chicago, told the wandering thousands who stood in awe-stricken wonder before exhibits demonstrating the fatality of modern living.

Poison from lead, carbolic acid, bicarbonate of mercury, arsenic, wood alcohol, or a nice little poison called paraphenyldiamin—all lurk in any cosmetic form from cream to henna dyes, Professor H. N. Cole, of Western Reserve University, told the doctors and anyone else who would listen. As a result the doctors adopted a resolution favoring a "pure rouge act."

Large, formidable machines, quite indescribable, were set up, and tests, equally inexplicable, were made to prove that the artificial mode of cultivating beauty was just another method of inviting disaster.

Curlers Deadly
For the lady who becomes entangled in an electric hair-curling iron that becomes short circuited, Willis MacLachlan, of the General Electric Company, of Toronto, Canada, offered the suggestion that since the electric shock results in paralysis of the lungs, the prone method of artificial respiration be employed in such cases. The first thing, MacLachlan went on to say, is to untangle the victim from the instrument. This can be effectively accomplished by using some non-conductive article like dry wood, or even newspaper, to push the person away. Next place the victim, face down, with one of her arms under her face, straddle her body, place both hands on the small of her back, fingers outward. Press in and out rhythmically. Sing some song like "Yes, We Have No Bananas," to keep in perfect cadence—or, if too excited to sing, count slowly. Continue for four hours if necessary. Don't stop under any consideration, even while the patient is being carried into an ambulance.

A. J. FUCHS

A. J. Fuchs, former citizen of Burnet county and a commissioner of that county at one time, but who for some time has been a citizen of Lubbock county, aspires to the office of commissioner of precinct number three.

Mr. Fuchs comes to the voters of Lubbock county highly recommended as an efficient and capable commissioner and if elected will doubtless prove thoroughly qualified to fill that office. Mr. Fuchs is advertised as "the man who will give you a square deal," and this promise will be kept true if he is elected his friends claim.

Five Other Buildings
The board authorized the college architects, Sanguinet, Stank & Hedrick, to draw plans for the following buildings: Stock judging, girls' dormitory, agricultural building, textile and engineering building and power plant. Plans for these buildings are to be completed within 60 days, when bids will be requested for the work.

From State Representative of Burnet and Williamson Counties:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have known A. J. Fuchs practically all of his life. I knew him as a studious faithful boy and I knew him as a man and citizen of the community in which we were both reared. I knew him as a public official when he was county commissioner of my precinct. He measured well to the standard of citizenship all along through life up to the time he moved from Marble Falls to the Plains country. Our community sustained a great loss when he sold his ranch and moved elsewhere.

He discharged his official duties faithfully and conscientiously during the time he served Burnet County as commissioner. So far as I know the people had no fault to find with his services as a public official.

I commend the services of Mr. Fuchs to the community where he resides. He is faithful, honest, honorable and conscientious.

"WHICH TAKEN at the FLOOD LEADS ON to FORTUNE and FAME"

The 72nd Judicial District has received, since the appointment of Clark Mullican, the services of a man who places patriotism to ideals and to the ideals of his country, who believes in justice—fair and impartial—to every man, woman and child, regardless of social or financial condition, high above and in a far greater degree than his own personal interest.

IT IS SELDOM A PEOPLE RECEIVE SUCH UNSELFISH SERVICE!

Clark M. Mullican on the District Judge's bench is a surety bond for every poor man, woman or child—a guarantee that they will never be persecuted by the Court of this District, that they shall receive at his hands simple justice—uncompromising justice—justice that comes from the Judge's hands and from the hands of the jury and not "lawyer's justice."

NOT EVERY PEOPLE CAN FEEL SO SECURE OF JUSTICE IN THEIR COURTS

We, as friends of, and believers in Clark M. Mullican, represent the opinion of no organization, lodge, club or association. PENALTIES

J. M. MARSHALL

J. M. Marshall, law partner with John R. McGee, pioneer attorney of Lubbock county, is making a thorough canvass of the 72nd Judicial District in interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Marshall came to Lubbock in 1922 at which time he bought his home here and moved his family here during to early part of 1923, coming from Nacogdoches.

Attorney Marshall has practiced law more than twelve years, first at Nacogdoches in the 2nd Judicial District, then in the 72nd Judicial District at Lubbock, having been admitted to the bar in 1911.

Judge Marshall stated in an interview with the writer that he has had a great deal of experience in assisting in prosecution, and that it is his opinion that ability and experience should be the main factors for feature in the candidate selected by the voters to fill that important office.

Judge Marshall attended law school in the University of Texas and has been a hard working student and an able attorney.

Judge Marshall stated that he intends to meet every voter in the district and present his claims to them personally.

DOUG. POUNDS.

Douglas Pounds, of the Acuff community and for the past several years a prominent Lubbock county farmer is making the race for Tax Assessor of Lubbock County.

Mr. Pounds has been an outstanding citizen of Lubbock County, has taken an active part in the progressive affairs of the Acuff community and has been largely responsible for the fact that that community is one of the leading centers of the county in that its school is one of the best rural schools in county, large community building has been erected for use in holding public meetings and the Community Club of Acuff has been one of the widely known civic clubs of the county.

Exhibits at the South Plains Fair each year are made by the people of Acuff and in all these matters Mr. Pounds is found a willing worker and his leadership has been appreciated by the people of that community.

Mr. Pounds is making an earnest effort to see all of the voters of the county in the interest of his campaign for Tax Assessor.

R. C. BURNS

R. C. Burns, pioneer plainsman and one of the early businessmen in Lubbock who had a very material part in the development of this section of the plains, is again asking the people of Lubbock county for their support for the office of Tax Assessor of Lubbock county, having served five terms.

Mr. Burns was commissioner of Precinct No. 2, Lubbock county, for ten years without an opponent. He served the best interests of the people of the county in such manner that as long as he was willing to hold that office they were glad to accord him that honor and after ten years at that work he declined reelection.

Mr. Burns played a material part in the settlement of this section of the plains in that he operated the first automobile passenger line on the plains, which he operated between Lubbock and Amarillo and plied between Lubbock and Plainview. Four regular service cars were kept on the go at regular schedules and two extra were kept in readiness for special trips.

Mr. Burns built the automobile roadway between Lubbock and Plainview over which his cars made their trip this road having been built at his own expense for his exclusive use. Eighteen sets of cars were bought by Mr. Burns during the four years the line was operated, and despite the fact that he enjoyed all the paragonage his cars could take care of, the venture was not a financial success but realizing its worth to Lubbock and the plains he continued it at a loss, spending more than ten thousand dollars more than he received in return. "I have the satisfaction of knowing that I brought a number of the best citizens we have to Lubbock," Mr. Burns said in commenting on the venture.

Mr. Burns was born in Nodaway county, Missouri, in 1867, and while still in his teens came to Texas, settling in the plains section where there was little to promise the settlers but the hardships that are common in all pioneering.

He herded cattle over what is now Lubbock County, long before the county was organized, and took an active part in all projects designed to attract his fellow men to this section and though it has been a long time since he started this work, he is still active, his office being about the first one that is visited by committees in soliciting funds for any progressive project here.

Mr. Burns long service as a county official coupled with his progressiveness and pride in Lubbock county, fits him well to continue in the office he now holds and his friends are working earnestly in his behalf in the campaign.

CANDIDATE FOR
TAX ASSESSOR, LUBBOCK COUNTY

Subject to Action of Democratic Primary in July

In as much as there seems to be quite an issue in the political world today other than the ones we have heretofore had to deal with,

I will state I am not now, never have been and have no intentions whatever of becoming a member of the Ku Klux Klan, or any similar organization, am making my race strictly on the Democratic ticket, hoping if elected to serve all the people in a fair and impartial manner, under no higher obligation than the one I take as an officer to do my duty.

I will also state I am not making the race on any demerits of my opponent, for the fact that he has served this county as Assessor for the past ten years with credit to himself and honor to the county shows there would be no demerits of his to run on, but on my nineteen years of citizenship here among the people. I hope to make as good an assessor as Mr. Burns, and also believe if the office is a good thing it should be passed around. I am expecting to see as many of the voters personally as possible, but I wish to assure each individual voter whether I see you or not, I certainly will appreciate due consideration when you go to the polls.

EARLY DAYS on the PLAINS

By R. C. (Rowley) Burns

In 1883, in Garza County, north of Post, six or eight miles, we had a general roundup of about five thousand cattle. There were about seventy-five cowboys representing the various ranches of about a hundred mile radius. We had just gotten started to separating, or cutting the cattle, when about one hundred buffaloes were seen coming at full speed and straight to the roundup. The boys quit the cattle and gave chase to the buffaloes. The firing of pistols and the buffaloes running into the roundup stampeded the cattle. Every man was either trying to shoot or rope a buffalo.

Late in the evening, when the boys got back to the chuck wagons, the writer and another cowpuncher went to all of the camps and took an inventory of the amount of buffaloes killed, which totaled a hundred and fifty killed and wounded, out of about one hundred to start with.

The information revealed later showed eight killed and three roped.

The writers horse became crazed from the excitement and fell in a ditch, so I got knocked out early in the chase.

The next day we rounded up the same cattle and found some of them ten miles from where they stampeded the day before.

I have been a resident of this County for the past thirty-six years, and have seen its fertile acres transformed from a cattle range into the most productive farms in the southwest. And I am proud to state that I have contributed both time and money to the upbuilding of every enterprise that would help this part of the country come into its own.

My record as your servant in the office of Tax Assessor is an open book. I have tried to fulfill every obligation to your satisfaction, and if elected will continue to give service that will satisfy.

I am asking careful consideration of my claims at the hands of the men and women voters in the Democratic primaries at the election to be held July 26th, 1924, and assure you that your support and influence will be fully appreciated.

R. C. [ROWLEY] BURNS

Candidate for Tax Assessor
Lubbock County, Texas

T. M. Marshall

OF LUBBOCK

For District Attorney

I am a native Texan, reared on a farm in Nacogdoches county, attended the law school at the University of Texas, and have practiced law for twelve years with no other occupation.

I am a Democrat, and have fought, at all times, for the principles of Democracy. I believe that straightforward, honest methods and purposes will win in the long run.

Ambition to serve the public and society in the courts of our country, helping to enforce the criminal laws, prompts me to announce for district attorney, which office affords a great opportunity for service. There is a great work to be done, and I want to engage in this work. The opportunity is the greatest I have ever been for real law enforcement. It is respect of the law that makes government possible. A rigid enforcement of the law is the best means of securing proper respect for the law.

We have the strongest and the best government on earth today. The strength of our government lies chiefly in the love we have for our free institutions, the protection we receive from the government, the confidence we have in our officials, and in the fact that in this country all men of all classes stand equal before the law. It is therefore, important that we stand by our government and our laws, if our government shall endure.

I regret that anything but qualifications and fitness for office should enter into the selection of officers, but the Ku Klux Klan is an issue in our politics now. I have no disposition to dodge the issue, for I believe that no question is ever settled until it is settled right. I am not a Klansman. I am opposed to all secret organizations which by violence or threats attempt to make laws, enforce laws, or function as a governing body, because they are not in harmony with the American system of government, and would destroy the very foundation of all law and order.

While the people have a right to know how each candidate for office stands on any question, I shall, if elected be a servant to all the people alike without distinction as to class or clan. The business of law enforcement is one of the biggest things for us to think about and we should not forget our duty to our country and to society.

Should I be elected district attorney, I would stand for a strict enforcement of all laws, a square deal to every person with special privileges to none.

GOOD HEALTH HABITS.

Teaching public school children good health habits is rapidly becoming one of the most important parts of the work of elementary school teachers. Evidenced of the increased interest in the health of the school child is contained in the reports of the health work of 1,643 teachers in elementary schools in all parts of the country, who competed in the American Child Health Association scholarship contest, awards for which are just announced.

Reports show that progressive teachers introduce important health lessons into the teaching of almost every subject. There is also repeated evidence to show that the health habits formed through school work are being appreciated by parents, especially in poorer districts where home conditions are unsanitary.

Awards were made to teachers in more than fifty cities. The scholarship of $500 will enable the winning teachers to purchase special courses at certain accredited universities. A fund of $25,000 for these scholarships was provided by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to aid in the development of better health instruction methods. This was increased when the contests were not limited to fifty cities as originally contemplated.

Prominent educators on the committee of award described the work of the competing teachers as of a very high order. Several expressed the belief that the contests had brought to light the best methods of school health instruction existing in the country today.

The committee included Dr. Thomas Wood, of Teachers College, Columbia; Dr. J. W. Withers, dean of New York University; Dr. John Sundwall, of the University of Michigan; Professor Clair E. Turner, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Professor Flora Rose of Cornell.

The majority of the winning teachers are in charge of class rooms in elementary grades. In addition a few home economics and physical education teachers and school principals won awards. Two of the winning teachers are colored women, whose work was judged by the same standards as were applied to the white teachers.

Preliminary selections from among the competing teachers in each of the cities in the contest, were made by local committees composed of a representative group of prominent men and women. Miss Sally Lucas Jean, director of the health education division of the American Child Health Association, stated that the work of these local committees was highly significant. Their reports prove that many American cities are awakening to the paramount importance of the school as a means of improving public health.

she said "The work these schools are doing today will not bring its full reward until the next generation, when the children become parents themselves. In fitting these children for their struggle in life, there is nothing that the school can teach that is as important as proper health habits. It is totally unimportant whether children know how many bones they have in their bodies but it is vitally important that they should want to eat the right sort of breakfast to form the number of strong bones that they should have."

Critics of the reports of the 1,643 teachers, who competed, commented upon the great variety of devices for teaching children the value of milk as a food, the need of sleeping with windows open, the importance of cleanliness and care of the teeth. Not all the comments are favorable. One authority stated that the use of these devices was being carried to an extent which served to confuse children more than instruct them. Many teachers were successful in winning awards largely because of the accuracy in gauging what their children could understand, and in keeping the work simple and practical.

Another feature, which continued heavily, was the manner in which health instruction was tied up to other studies. One teacher had her students find out all they could about how people lived in this country between 1830 and 1860. Another developed the fact that improper housing, lack of right kind of food and insufficient clothing were the cause of the large number of deaths among the Pilgrims soon after landing on American shores.

Geography was tied up to health by studies of how people live in various parts of the world and what they eat. Health subjects were used extensively in free hand drawing and English composition classes.

Careful records of the weight and height of each child, with information concerning his teeth, etc., were an essential part of the performance of each winner. The teacher also reported on her own health habits.

RESPECT THE FLAG.

In just a few more days the Fourth of July will be here, and every house in Lubbock should display an American flag in honor of the occasion of independence which is one of the greatest blessings that any nation can enjoy. Mr. Alvin

M. Owsley, in a short talk on the flag, how to display it and how to respect it, says, says respect it. Take off your hat, some body may titter, it is just naturally in the blood of some to deride all expression of noble sentiment. You may blaspheme in the streets and stagger drunken in public places, and the bystanders will not pay much attention to you but if you should get down on your knees and pray to Almighty God or if you should stand bareheaded while a company of soldiers marched by with flags to the breeze, some people will think you are showing off.

But don't you mind! When Old Glory comes along, salute, and let them think what they please! When you hear the band play "The Star-Spangled Banner" while you are in a restaurant or hotel dining room, get up, even if you rise alone, stand there, and don't be ashamed of it, either!

For of all the signs and symbols since the world began there is none other so full of meaning as the flag of this country. That piece of red and blue bunting means five thousand years of struggle upward. It is the full-grown flower of ages of fighting for liberty. It is the century of human hope in bloom.

Your flag stands for humanity, for an equal opportunity to all the sons of men. Of course, we haven't arrived yet at that goal—there are many injustices yet among us, many senseless and cruel customs of the past still clinging to us—but the only hope of righting the wrongs of men lies in the feeling produced in our bosoms by the sight of that flag.

Other flags mean a glorious past; this flag a glorious future. It is not so much the flag of our fathers as it is the flag of our children, and our children's children yet unborn. It is the flag of tomorrow. It is the signal of the "Good Time Coming." It is not the flag of your king—it is the flag of yourself and of all your neighbors.

Don't be ashamed when your throat chokes and the tears come as you see it flying from the masts of our ships on all the seas or floating from every flagstaff of the Republic. You will never have a worthier emotion. Reverence it as you would reverence the signature of the Deity.

Listen, son! The band is playing the national anthem—"The Star-Spangled Banner." They have let loose Old Glory yonder. Stand up!—and others will stand with you.

"ECONOMY IS IMPERATIVE"

Thus spoke President Coolidge Monday night in opening the meeting of the business organization of the government and warning the heads of the several government departments to husband public funds in order to prevent excessive taxation.

The president declared he would not permit increases in expenditures that threaten further tax reduction or that contemplate such an unthinkable thing as an increase in taxes.

"I am for economy," Coolidge said. "After that I am more economy. There is a most urgent necessity for those charged with the responsibility of government administration to realize that the people of our country cannot maintain their own standards, they cannot compete against the lower standards of the rest of the world unless we are free from excessive taxation. Economy is worthy of our highest endeavor. While our immediate need is for tax reform as distinguished from tax reduction we must continue this campaign for economy so as to make possible further tax reduction."

Estimating that a surplus of $25,000,000 would exist at the end of the fiscal year beginning July 1, Coolidge declared that the expenditure program of $3,083,000,000 must be reduced by $83,000,000 which would result in a surplus of $18,000,000.

Informing the department heads that he would not transmit a budget to congress that exceeded $1,800,000,000 the president explained that this was in furtherance of his program for "progressive reduction in the cost of government."

Coolidge admonished officials who advocated before committees of congress the original estimates they submitted to the budget director. He said the estimates he sent to congress were "the only lawful estimates" and charged that bureau officials who do not give his estimates support were not fulfilling the obligations of their office.

"I trust that neither the chief executive nor the appropriations committee of congress again will have occasion to call your attention to this I propose to protect the integrity of my budget."

Coolidge warned against the carelessness in dealing with public property or the expenditure of public funds and declared that such a condition is characteristic of an "undeveloped or a decadent civilization."

MAUGHAN'S FEAST.

A new and notable cross-continent airplane record has been made. On June 23 Lieutenant Maughan flew from New York or Long Island, to San Francisco between dawn and dusk. The actual time and distance would seem to be uncertainly known, for one account reports 2,670 miles in 21 hours and 48 minutes, while another reports 2,850 in 18 and a half hours at the average speed of 156.20 miles an hour. Whatever the exact figures, the achievement was unquestionable marvelous. Who would have believed it possible twenty years, ten years, even one year ago? Who would have predicted that by July, 1924, San Francisco could be reached by letter from New York in about 34 hours?

It has been well said that Lieutenant Maughan is himself as wonderful a machine as the special Curtis plane which he piloted. From dawn to dusk his brain was ever alert, the tension of his nervous forces could never be relaxed, not for a moment could he yield to fatigue as he sped over mountain and plain, although the roar of his motor beat incessantly upon his ear drums. How could any man endure such a strain? No wonder that Maughan, after leaving himself to such effort and keeping an inflexibly determined grip and watch upon himself as well as upon his work thru the long hours from dawn to dusk, was at first unable to speak when he landed at his journey's end and knew that glory had been won. If there have been doubts, the country is convinced now that the Army Air Service is developing the art and producing wonderful birdmen.

WIFE AX VICTIM ARRIVED HERE SUNDAY

Mrs. C. L. Tarter, wife of the ax victim who was found in an unconscious condition in a tent in the southeast part of town Saturday morning, arrived in Lubbock Sunday morning to be at the bedside of her husband. Mrs. Tarter is very grieved over the condition of her husband.

Mr. Tarter is resting as well as could be expected considering the seriousness of his wounds, and while his condition today has not been as encouraging as Saturday afternoon, there is some hopes of his recovery. Mr. Tarter was sufficiently conscious Saturday afternoon to make statements to County Attorney Owen McWhorter and Deputy Sheriff U. L. George, the substance of which the officers refused to make known declaring that publicity would make it difficult to secure a jury for the trial of the alleged assailant.

Imperial Wizard's Home Damaged By Fire

DALLAS, June 30—Investigation is under way today of a fire that inflicted damage of more than $20,000 at the home of Dr. Hurman Evans, imperial wizard, Ku Klux Klan. Evans who maintained a home here, is at present attending the New York convention. Fire broke out in the home here late Sunday and destroyed the upper portion of the building.

RAIN FELL OVER LITTLEFIELD SECTION

LITTLEFIELD, June 30—Nearly one-half of an inch of rain was received here Sunday night, and crop prospects were nearer better in the history of Lamb county at this time of the year.

Littlefield is on the verge of one of the most active areas of development ever known, according to local citizens who know something of the number of new farms that are being cultivated this year, as all soil crops are looking mighty good and bumper yields will be enjoyed.

WOMAN FLEEING TO DRUG STORE EXCITES CROWD

Seemed Much Distressed Over Condition At Her Home— Officer Investigates

"Oh, it's all right now, or soon will be," answered the excited little woman to the inquiry of the officer who had followed her in the mad dash to the drug store and pushed his way through the crowd that had gathered.

"You see, my husband brought home a microscope and it was very interesting until we put a fly under it. But when I saw that fly's feet and realized it had been dragging that filth over our dishes and food, and oh, most shocking of all, on my baby's face, I just couldn't endure the thought."

"So I ran over here to get some Fly-Flu quick. I am not going to let any more filthy flies stay in my house."

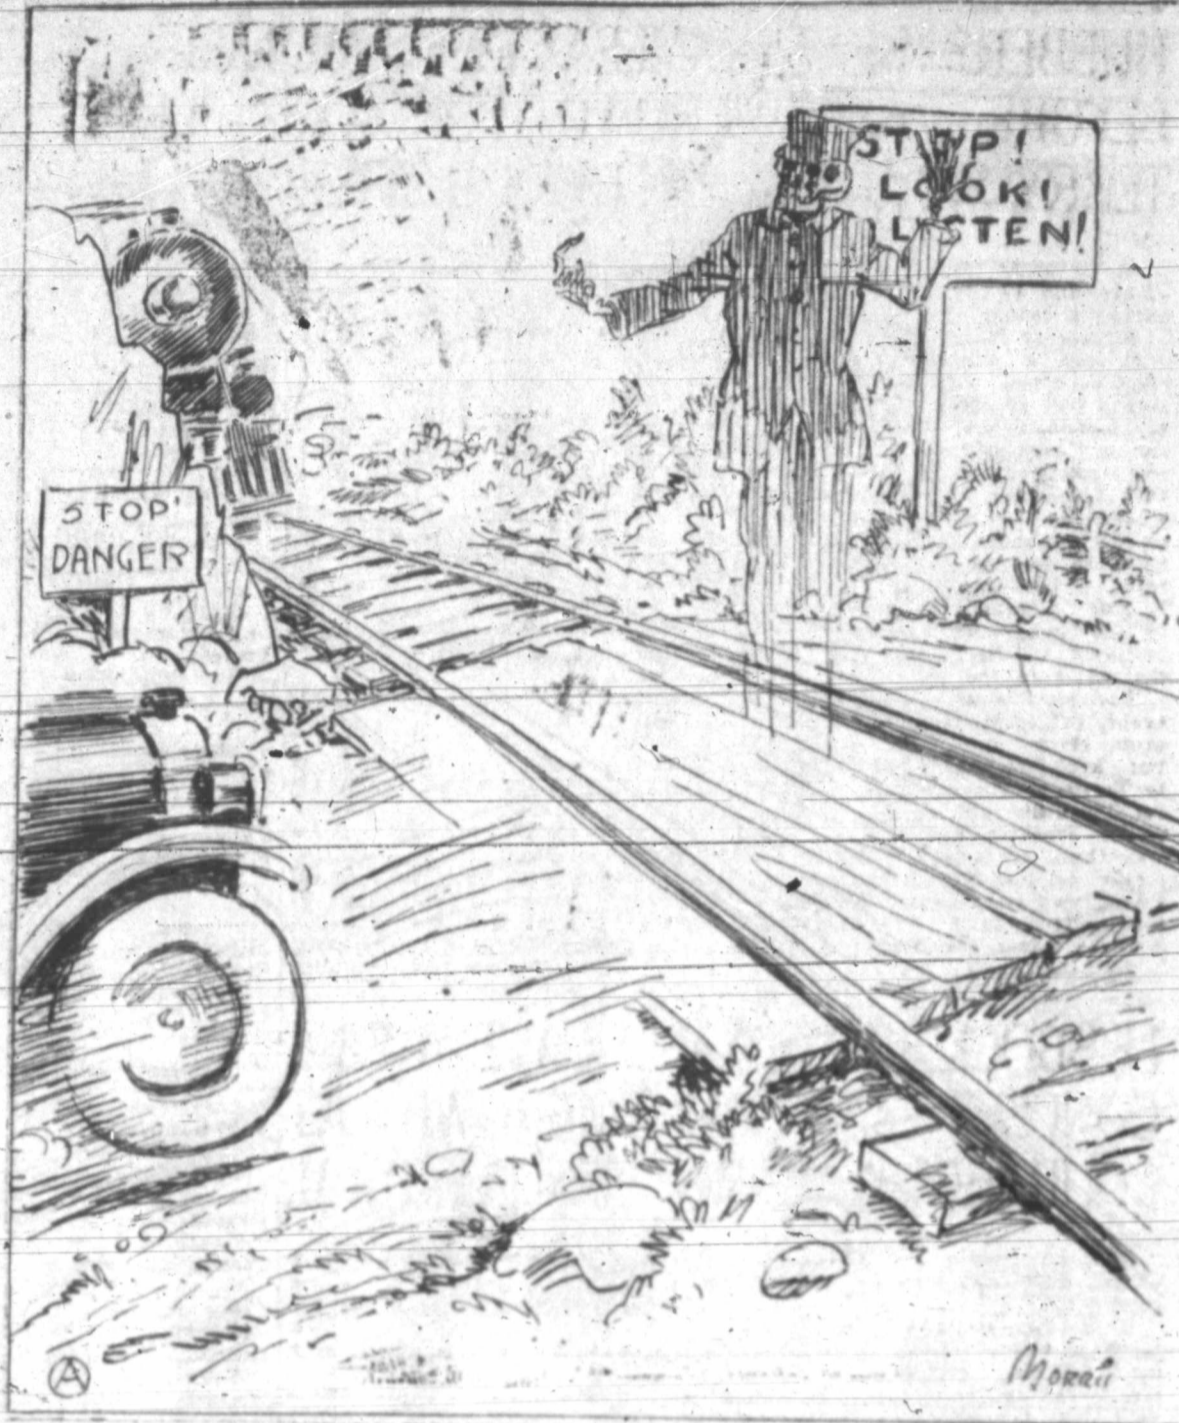

"You've got sense," replied the officer. "There's never a fly, roach, mosquito, or any other insect pest that lives around our house, since we began keeping Fly-Flu on hand."

"Fly-Flu is deadly destructive to every flying, crawling insect or bug. Substitutes can't and won't do the work and are often dangerous to use. Besides being an instant destroyer of all insect life, Fly-Flu is a deodorant—it sweetens everything it touches, but is odorless, stainless and perfectly harmless to humans and plants."

Large bottle of Fly-Flu 50c with handy sprayer free, at drug, grocery and other retail stores. Insist on genuine Fly-Flu.

THE GRADE CROSSING against the force of churchmen favoring ratification of the pact to unify the two branches.

Bishop Warren Candler of Atlanta is heading the faction bitterly opposing joining hands with the Northern branch on the grounds that the Southern branch will not benefit and that articles of separation have been violated for years by the Northern church. Younger bishops and churchmen however, favor the merger and will oppose any attempt to delay or defeat the question.

Only ratification of the Southern church remains to complete the reunion. The Northern church ratified the merger plan at the conference in Springfield, Mass., this spring.

HUBBERS BEAT LAMESA IN GAME BEFORE LARGE CROWD SUNDAY; TERRY WINS THE PITCHERS BATTLE

In a game filled with thrills, freaks and errors, the local squad came out leader by a score of 8 to 5 Sunday at Merrill Park.

It was a pitcher's battle from start to finish with Terry pitching steady ball all the way, while Hunter, Lamesa's ace, was airtight till the last part of the 7th, when after striking the first two men out that faced him in that inning, he weakened and Gaither next man up for Lubbock smacked the ball squarely on the nose, starting a rally which ended in hits and 5 runs, putting Lubbock one run to the good.

The local squad seemed considerably off in fielding, making numerous errors in the first 5 innings but kept shouting encouragement to Terry to stay in there and wait for the rally they had in reserve.

The freshest part of the game was the fresh home runs, two by the locals and one by the visitors, that netted two runs each, and each of them hitting in the ball park and bounding over the fence.

LUBBOCK'S NEW BAND GAVE A FINE CONCERT TO LARGE CROWD AT COURTHOUSE LAWN SUNDAY P. M.

Lubbock people are now aware of the fact that they have a real band.

R. Borden, manager of the band, together with R. Brown, well known local musician, organized the band five weeks ago and after rehearsing only four times, they appeared in concert at five o'clock Sunday afternoon on the courthouse lawn and pleased many Lubbock people with the high class music they are enabled, through the long experience of each of the musicians, to render.

This is perhaps the first band in the country to appear publicly after only four rehearsals, and local people are convinced by this fact that the band, which is made up of twenty-three pieces, has an experienced and trained musician for each part.

The loyal support given the band by the members has enabled Mr. Borden, the manager, to develop one of the best bands in the country here and it is to say the least one of which all Lubbock might well be proud.

The band men have mapped out a wonderful program for the summer and intend to give the people of Lubbock a musical treat.

With a little more time and another rehearsal or two the local band can compete with the best band in the state without making a bad showing, and the manager, Mr. Borden, deserves much credit for the work he has done in this connection and the business men of Lubbock will in all probability be glad to remunerate Mr. Borden for the efforts he has put forth in this work. Up to this time the band manager has not called upon the business men for anything as he wanted to give them a band and let them know that a real organization can be perfected here.

AIR MAIL SERVICE FROM COAST TO COAST WILL START AT DAWN TUESDAY MORNING ENROUTE EAST

By WILLIAM J. McEVROY (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, June 30.—At dawn tomorrow, an airplane, laden with mail, will hop up from the earth beside San Francisco Bay, to wing its way toward the sunrise. Four hours later, a similar burden flyer will skim down a field on Long Island, rise to hover over Manhattan for a moment and fling itself headlong into the west.

Thus will be inaugurated the first through, trans-continental, coast-to-coast, continuous air mail service, for which the Post Office Department has been printing and pointing for years.

Every day from tomorrow on, at 6 a. m., at San Francisco and 30 a. m. at New York, the air mail planes will take the air bearing the burden of communications destined from one coast to another. The air mail definitely is on.

Will Fly By Night Night will hold no terrors for the air mail flyers, just as the pony express of years ago stopped not a bit for Indians, fires or floods. Night flying will be a considerable part of the new service for the schedule calls for 32 hours and 5 minutes of continuous flying on the eastbound mail, and 34 hours and 45 minutes on the westward trip.

Gigantic beacons of hundreds of millions of candlepower casting their beams 100 to 150 miles have been installed at the principal night flight points while "safety zones" near to the twilight zone stations have been studded with smaller beacons.

These are to guide flyers who may find darkness avertailing their distance from the brilliantly lighted stations and need some guide to lead them to the landing field.

The departure hours at each end of the flight have been carefully chosen to meet the conditions of fog. The planes will start at 6 o'clock at San Francisco, because later in the morning, usually about 10, a thick blanket of fog drops down on the bay. The situation at New York is usually the contrary; the fog lies heavily over everything in the early morning, until dispelled by the warmth of the sun.

Into Three Zones The 2,000 mile span of the continent has been divided into three zones for the daily flight—New York to Chicago, Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyo., and Cheyenne to San Francisco.

Special air mail postage has been arranged for the service and stamps in denominations of 8, 10 and 24 cents have been printed and distributed to all post offices along the route as well as the principal cities adjacent to the "air pathway."

An 8-cent stamp will carry an ounce letter anywhere within one of these zones, while it will require a 16-cent stamp to carry such a letter into the second zone, and a 24-cent stamp into the third zone.

Letters originated at, or destined to, points off the air route will not require additional postage. Air mail postage will be honored for travel by train as well as by air.

To expedite the gathering of mail, special boxes are being installed in the larger cities along the route.

No attempts will be made by post office "aces" to set speed records in dispatching mail across the continent.

Will Be Safety First "Safety of the pilots and safe handling of the mails," Postmaster General New said, "will be the prime requisite."

Bids for new planes with slower landing devices in order to protect the flyers and prevent mishaps have been received by the department and a contract for a fleet of new "birds" soon will be made.

With these planes it is hoped to cut the flying time to 24 hours.

The lighting system along the route has been kept in perfect maintenance and delay will be occasioned in reconditioning the system. The night route from Chicago to Cheyenne is lighted with automatic acetylene lights every three miles, while at every 25 miles an emergency landing field is located.

The department anticipates some delays in starting because of fog "clouds" and mechanical failures, but Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general, is confident that operations will be carried on efficiently and with regularity.

"Our record of 95 per cent perfect, achieved over the past two years," Henderson said, "will make a high record for the new service to shoot at."

Mr. One Eyed Connolly, who is proposed for the position of postmaster general has qualifications which make him pre-eminent. He has made a personal study of all the towns and railroad systems in the United States and has memorized all the timetables both of freight and passenger trains. He spent a season in Hollywood and is qualified to step right into the movie business as soon as he has drawn a few weeks pay in Washington.

Furthermore when Mr. Connolly was a mere boy he learned to read with only one eye and that one eye was put out by a clinker from the very inferior coal burned by the B. & O.

The remaining eye never did learn to read therefore if the cauliflower party is triumphant in November, the mail will be in the office of postmaster general a man who will not pursue the nations post cards.

The most objectionable plank in the democratic platform, the one that caused the cauliflower party to break away was the one which threatens to improve conditions at the Virgin Islands. The cauliflower party has adopted a plan reading:

"We promise not to improve anybody's condition unless they try to improve ours. The cauliflower party will never become the aggressor in any important and we are especially opposed to picking on little guys and improving their condition."

Regarding the Latin-American nations, the cauliflower party is again at variance with the democratic platform. "We view with alarm the invasion of our fair country by a lot of palookas from South America," says the platform. These countries have sent up a lot of bums who could not beat an egg with a paddle wheel off the Robert E. Lee, but they are taking the bread out of the mouths of American palookas.

Exception was taken also to the democratic plank for the improvement of the roads in Hawaii. At the request of this writer who was a member of the resolutions committee of the new party, this plank was changed to read "We pledge ourselves to pave Walton Avenue between 70th and 167th street, Bronx, New York City which has been in a terrible condition for a long time and recently fractured two springs of a filver belonging to one of our citizens to say nothing of dislocations and contusions suffered by the citizens a-foresaid."

Mr. Tex Richard is proposed as secretary of war on the ground that there must be war, it would be better to entrust it to a man who can make it pay.

Mr. Rickard got more publicity and profit out of the Dempsey-Carson fight which went less than 12 minutes than Great Britain and France got of the great war which went four years," says the cauliflower party.

Nicky Arinstein is proposed as secretary of the treasury, as a man who could keep the vaults overflowing with the simple assistance of a cold deck.

Official reports of foodstuffs in cold storage on the first of June shows 424,000 barrels and 944,000 boxes of apples, nearly double the amount of a year ago. Of orange, dry butter there were 23,328,000 pounds double that of a year ago; cheese 27,148,000 pounds, 10,000,000 pounds more than last year. Eggs show a reduction from last year's figures of about a million cases, while the stock of lard increased 44,000,000 pounds. This, too, in face of the fact that exports have generally increased. In any event, the nation is in no immediate danger of going to bed hungry—but the "law of supply and demand" seems to be largely on ice.

TULIA YOUTH MAY DIE OF BURNS

CANYON, Texas, June 30.—Ruey Cantrell, of Tulia, is in a critical condition here today. His automobile was wrecked and Johnson's filling station is in blackened ruins as a result of an attempt by Cantrell striking a match to inspect his gas tank.

The explosion resulted in the fire which involved a loss of more than a thousand dollars and inflicted burns on the person of Cantrell that may yet prove fatal.

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

A salesman who travels in both Arkansas and Eastern Texas told the writer recently that there is a noticeable difference between farm conditions in the two states—that Arkansas look far more progressive and that the farmers are making more money, are living better and are seemingly much better contented. When asked for a reason for it, he said that it was because they nearly starved to death from 1914 to 1917 in Arkansas growing cotton and that they now produce everything they need for a living, so far as it can be done, on their farms. The result is that they do not get into debt for these things, and their cotton money is almost clear profit.

Exclusive cotton farming not only is poor business for the farmer but it results in the farmer and his help being idle about half of the year, while he and all his family work themselves nearly to death the rest of the time. The only way to succeed in any business, and farming is a business, is to do it steadily, every day, with time off occasionally, of course, for vacations. No one can succeed by working half the time and idling the rest of the year. The manufacturer who would work his plant half the time and let everything go to waste except his chief product, would soon be bankrupt. His success depends on full time operation, on keeping his expenses at the minimum, and on the elimination of waste. The farmer himself needs to learn that he should apply the same principles to his business.

In those sections where only one crop is grown business is good while the crop is being marketed extra and often incompetent help has to be hired the profits of the busy season. Rents and overhead expenses go on without interruption even though business may stop.

The only successful way to farm to manufacture goods, to merchandise, to do anything is to arrange for a steady output of labor and effort and a steady increase. It is easier to do this on the farm than anywhere else, and yet it is less
