Woman Reveals Mystery Of Husband's Death

HELD PRISONER RAILROAD WEST PRACTICALLY ASSURED

THREE WEEKS BY THREAT ON LIFE

MAN CONFESSED CRIME AND THREATENED HER LIFE WOMAN SAYS

LEAVENWORTH, Kans., Aug. 13.—Held prisoner in her own home for three weeks by threats of torture, and death from John W. Wright, a teamster, and ex-convict, after he had confessed to her that he had slain her husband, Mrs. Emma Jacobs, of Lawrence, Wednesday swore to a warrant for Wright's arrest.

The body of an unidentified man was found in a haystack near Linwood, Kansas, on July 16th. Earl Jacobs, the slain man, who also was a teamster, has been missing from home since July 13th, according to the widow.

Several days ago Mrs. Jacobs identified the body and told police the strange story which they withheld while they conducted a search for Wright which has proved fruitless.

According to the widow, Wright and her husband quarreled on Sunday night, July 13, and the next evening both went for a ride in Wright's car. That was the last she saw of her husband, Mrs. Jacobs said.

At 11 o'clock that night, Wright returned to the Jacobs home, told her that he had killed her husband and threatened her life if she informed police, Mrs. Jacobs told police.

"For three weeks, I was held a prisoner by him," she said. "I did not know whether to believe him or not. He would laugh and say 'Sure, I killed him' and add 'If you say anything about it, I'll do the same for you.'"

"We moved from place to place and one night he never came back. He had left behind a newspaper and in that I found an article telling of the finding of an unidentified man's body. Then I knew the worst was true."

Wright was convicted four years ago of shooting George Sharp, a farmer near Tonganoxie, Kansas, because of the farmers strenuous objections to the teamster courting his daughter, and served a term in prison. His home is in Linwood.

19 GIRLS RESCUED FROM BURNING BUILDING

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—Nineteen working girls trapped in windows and on fire escapes by flames in a downtown office building were rescued late today by firemen who scaled the walls with ladders.

Flames of undetermined origin so rapidly that many of the occupants were unable to reach the street after a late alarm.

Firemen smashed their way into the burning five-story building in fear that persons might have been overcome or burned, but a careful check revealed no casualties. Four firemen were bruised when a fire engine en route to the fire struck a heavy truck in the crowded street and overturned.

The flames were controlled after damage of about $25,000 was done to the D. C. Wax Office Equipment company and other occupants of the building.

KLAN TICKET RAWS DEFEAT KAN. PRIMARY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 13.—Almost complete returns from Tuesday's gubernatorial primary Wednesday night indicated that candidates backed by the Ku Klux Klan had been defeated.

Lee Castor, who was endorsed by the masked order, was 3,000 votes behind Tom J. Terral, anti klan candidate in returns from seventy-one counties.

The vote stood: Terral 15,000; Castor 12,000; Judge J. E. Martineau, 11,200; Jacob R. Wilson 9,600 and Jamp Williams 7,100.

ELECTROCUTION IS NO WORRY TO THIS CONDEMNED MAN

McALISTER, Okla., August 13.—Word that he would be electrocuted on September 5 for the murder of Frank Pitts, Ketchum, Okla., bank cashier, did not keep Richard Birkes, from finishing a game of solitaire in his cell at the state prison here Wednesday.

PRISONER ON PAROLE SOUGHT

DISAPPEARS AFTER LEADING COBBLERS LIFE FOR SIX MONTHS

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Aug. 13.—Detectives and police of Kansas and Missouri were making what appeared to be a fruitless search Wednesday night for "Bill" Latrasse, notorious train robber who is scheduled to return to the Kansas state prison by midnight Friday.

Latrasse is wanted here for questioning in a recent bank robbery. Last Christmas the fugitive was granted a 15 days parole to aid his mother here who was in financial difficulties. The reunion of mother and son was dramatic, and Latrasse immediately announced his intentions of leading a "straight life."

BODY UNIDENTIFIED GIRL IS FOUND UNDER BRIDGE

BEDFORD, Iowa, Aug. 13.—Her head crushed, as if by the blows of a club or iron pipe, the body of a girl about 25 years of age, was found under the highway bridge ten miles west of here by two boys Wednesday afternoon. It bore no identification marks.

The girl had evidently been dead about two days. A strange automobile driver who lacked money to buy gasoline at a local filling station yesterday morning is being sought by officials.

In exchange for the gasoline which he had no money to pay for the driver left a suit case containing girls clothing. He was nervous when he asked for the gasoline, fidgeting with his cap and pockets as he argued giving two stories to explain why he had no funds.

The car boys a Nebraska license. The girl was evidently a working girl her clothing and general appearance.

DEFENSE DEALT HARD BLOWS IN MURDER TRIAL

TWO ALIENISTS RIDICULE TESTIMONY DEFENSE WITNESSES

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 13.—Through two famous alienist states attorney Robert E. Crowe gave some sledge hammer blows Wednesday at the chair of defense evidence intended to prove that Nathan F. Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb were mentally diseased and therefore not responsible for the murder of Robert Franks.

Dr. Hugh Patrick, former president of the American Neurological Society and Dr. Archibald Church took the stand for the state and both alienists testified that they found the two youthful slayers of the Franks boy wholly normal and sane, except in their relation to the crime, in which respect, both doctors agreed, they exhibited all the traits of hardened criminals.

Both Dr. Patrick and Dr. Church ridiculed the conclusions of the defense alienists and the assumptions upon which they were founded. The witness said that they based their statements made by such eminent alienists as Dr. Henry Hubert, and Dr. Wm. White concerning the mental condition of the two intellects as "trivial and insufficient for any physician to use as a basis for judging mental or physical abnormalities."

The testimony of the two prosecution alienists was introduced during frequent clashes between Clarence S. Darrow, assistant states attorney Sharrar, and Crowe.

BANDITS OVERLOOK MUCH LOOT IN HURRY CALL

INDEPENDENCE, Miss., Aug. 13.—In their rush to escape with $1,000 in cash, four bandits who held up the First National Bank here Wednesday overlooked $10,000 in an open vault, officials of the institution announced.

The bandits entered in pairs, each apparently having a task to do, and lost no time in getting into action. One man held up Miss Ella B. Allen, assistant cashier, another forced three customers to lie down on the floor, the third bandit examined the rear of the room while the fourth went to the office of Bernard Zick, Jr., and forced him to come into the lobby and lie down.

STRANGLER CHILDREN TO DEATH ATTEMPTS HER OWN LIFE

LINDSEY Ontario, Aug. 13.—Mrs. George Manning who strangled her two children to death then slashed her own throat will recover physicians say. She choked the children by drawing a cord around their neck. It is believed that she is temporarily insane.

M'COY HELD WORLD WELTERWEIGHT BELT DURING 1896-1897

Kid McCoy was welterweight champion of the world from 1896 to 1897. He won the title from Tommy Ryan, who had held it two years, and in turn was defeated by Billy Smith, who kept the championship until 1900.

Weight of an opponent never influenced McCoy in making matches and he gained the reputation of being one of the rings tricked fighters. After training with Tommy Ryan, a popular champion, McCoy then an unknown, challenged him to a bout. Ryan laughingly consented and held his opponent so lightly that he refused to train for the fight.

McCoy beat Ryan mercilessly, finally knocking him out in the 15th round.

During his pugilistic career and afterwards, he "followed the ponies" with little success. After becoming a poor drawing card at the fight clubs, McCoy drifted to Hollywood and has been seen in a number of motion picture productions.

Nine marriages have been entered into by McCoy. In each case a divorce followed shortly afterward. He was about to marry Mrs. Albert A. Mors, it was believed, when her sudden death resulted in his arrest.

MANY MORE BONUS CONTRACTS SIGNED AT MEETING HELD IN LEVELLAND WED.; SPECIAL COMMITTEES TO FINISH WORK

The first public meeting held in the interest of the campaign for raising the bonus for building the railroad west from Lubbock was held at Levelland and was attended by representatives of the local Chamber of Commerce, including the local railroad committee. The presidents of the three Lubbock banking institutions and others prominent in the affairs of this city and section were present.

There were also present at this meeting the owners or the owners representatives of nearly every large body of land in Hockley and Cochran counties. A considerable number of citizens came over from Cochran county to be present at the meeting and to lend their support.

The citizenship of Levelland and those portions of Hockley county which will be most vitally affected by the building of the railroad, were there and a good number of the bonus contracts were signed on the spot.

J. A. Wilson expressed himself as highly pleased with the results of the meeting and with the cooperation given by the Levelland and Lubbock Chambers of Commerce.

Curtis A. Keen, editor of the Plains Journal, was chairman of the meeting.

O. L. Slaton, president of the Lubbock State Bank, made a short address in which he stressed the need of the railroad and stated that if the people would now avail themselves of this opportunity to secure the road that it was quite possible that its construction would be begun within six months.

Mr. Slaton stated that the increase in population, incident to the building of this railroad would give an increased valuation to the land many times in excess of the amount of the bonus required.

He urged that no one hold back and refuse to sign his quota of the subscription, saying that to do so amounted to a moral theft from his fellow men who had paid their part to get the road.

Dr. E. J. Cook, physician and druggist of Levelland, who is chairman of the local Chamber of Commerce committee of that place stated that every man residing in Hockley county within the area affected by the proposed road would sign for his quota of the bonus required, and that a considerable number had already done so.

J. Wallace Baker, president of the Levelland Chamber of Commerce added eleven men to the list making up the remainder of the bonus due from Hockley county resident land owners be raised at once.

The committee as it now stands, is as follows: W. G. Lykes, Jno. Doyle, Dr. E. J. Cook, R. J. Cattlet, W. A. Cannon, G. H. Tubbs, T. W. Bowers, J. A. Stroud, C. E. Resnor, W. B. Taylor, Geo. P. Smith, A. K. Badgett, Byron Posey, J. A. Humphries, J. W. Baker, and Scoop Cosby.

This committee has divided into groups or teams and will make a thorough and complete canvass toward raising the bonus contracts.

DANGER LURKS IN ICE AROUND COAST IS REPORT

FLYERS TO HOP OFF FOR GREENLAND THURSDAY IF WEATHER PERMITS

By United News KEYKJAVIK, Iceland, August 13.—The icepacks around Amgmagsalik, on the east coast of Greenland, the next objective of the American flyer have again become dangerous, according to reports received by the Cruiser Richmond here from the Danish Supply ship, the Gertrude Rask.

As the wireless brought this discouraging news to the restless airmen, Wednesday, Lt. Lowell Smith, and 1st Lt. Eric Nelson, chief of the naval patrol immediately went into conference to decide whether plans for resuming the flight Thursday should be altered. Smith was determined to go on. If weather permits, therefore, Smith and his fellow pilot, Lt. Eric Nelson, will hop off Thursday morning on the next leg of their journey.

In view of the reports of a change for the worse off the Greenland coast, an uncertain goal awaits them.

The flyers will be guided in their plans for landing by the conditions conditions are sufficiently favorable to justify it. Lt. Smith plans to refuel at the Greenland port and continue the voyage. If the ice barriers forbid refueling, Smith hopes that he and Nelson can land at Amgmagsalik await good weather and then fly across the ice floes again to the point in the sea where the cruiser Raleigh will be stationed 60 miles off shore.

This accomplished the planes would refuel at sea from the Raleigh, whence they would proceed on the next leg of their voyage to Igivut at the southern tip of Greenland.

Lt. Nelson's plane was launched late Wednesday and is now floating in the harbor here, ready for the take-off. The cruiser Richmond arranged to sail Wednesday night, after an official reception which Premier Magnussen is giving the flyers and naval officers. The Richmond will take its position along the route to Greenland, ready to aid the airmen in case of mishap.

ANN LUTHER BREACH OF CONTRACT SUIT IS DISMISSED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—With Ann Luther's $100,000 breach of contract suit against Jack F. White dismissed summarily because of absence of a written contract, prosecution of White under the Mann act loomed as the next step in affairs of the two who admit they came to California in the same sleeping car compartment.

Miss Luther stumbled blindly out of Judge Valentine's court Wednesday when her action was abruptly ended. Tears rained down her face and her shoulders shook with sobs.

Friends of White rushed forward to congratulate him on his victory. White was pleased, but his joy was tempered by the knowledge that his relations with Miss Luther were to be examined by federal authorities, with the prospect of prosecution under the Mann act.

"I am not through with White yet," Miss Luther said in choked tones, after she had quieted somewhat. "I'll never let him rest until the world knows what sort of a man Jack White is."

She bore no animosity against Judge Valentine.

"I lost only on a technicality," she declared. "Judge Valentine is the cleanest, whitest man I have ever known."

The point on which the actress' suit was thrown out of court was raised by Paul Schenk, White's attorney as the last of a series of

PIMPLES AND BUMPS TAKE THE JOY OUT OF LIFE

Girls, and boys too, whose faces are broken out, rough, pimply and blotched, imagine all sorts of wierd things.

The worst fault it leads to is using just anything which promises them relief from their condition, which oftener makes their trouble worse. Never put anything on your skin which has not been proven by the test of time and public opinion to be right. In this connection, the phenomenal success, which is called Black and White Ointment and the soap, too, offers sufferers from such skin diseases the one reliable and dependable means of relief and restoration of their skin to that clear smooth and lovely condition it was in their youth.

Black and White Ointment, and Soap, are economically priced, in liberal size packages. The 50c size of the ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the soap.

McCOY ADMITS MURDER OF LOS ANGELES WOMAN

McCoy entered. With savage directness, McCoy produced a revolver and ordered the men—against—the wall. Directing them to remove their clothing McCoy followed his command with threats of violence. Once, in a rage, he hurled a drinking glass at Stein. The missile crashed into the frame of an expensive picture hanging on the wall.

Six others entered the shop while McCoy was there. He robbed all of them of various amounts, and the first three were kept standing, minus their trousers and shoes, in rigid positions against a sidewalk.

The shooting came when Ross made a dash for the door. McCoy wounded him seriously and then loosed a barrage of shots that felled Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schapp, a couple from next door who had been called in by telephone because McCoy "wanted to get even with them" for meddling in his affairs with Mrs. Mors.

When McCoy's revolver was emptied, he ran into the street, hatless, but with the smoking gun still in his hand. He was arrested in the west-lake park section by patrolman Keator who knew of the murder earlier in the day and was on the lookout for the ex-prize fighter. The husband of the slain woman was not informed of the murder until mid-afternoon when his attorney visited him. He had not seen his former wife since their divorce suit and promptly accused McCoy as one who had consistently been working to disrupt his family, of the crime.

In the later afternoon, Mors was still in seclusion, with his attorney. He telephoned police that he would submit to arrest at any time they desired it.

After McCoy's arrest, he was taken to the apartment in which Mrs. Mors body had been found. He was sullen, and would not speak. Chief of Detectives George Home, and Captain of Detectives Herman Cline took charge of the investigation and locked McCoy in the county jail on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Captain Home stated that the case looked as if McCoy might have intended to commit suicide after wreaking vengeance upon persons he believed were enemies. The apartment in which Mrs. Mors was found was one, it is claimed, in which she and McCoy had been living together under the name of Shields since July 10.

At the time of Mrs. Mors' divorce action against her husband, it had been freely rumored that she was to become McCoy's tenth wife. McCoy was planning to enter the antique

FT. WORTH MAN MAY DIE OF INJURIES

PORT WORTH, Aug. 13.—While the police are searching for a strong armed bandit who attacked J. N. Niles, fifty-two and his woman companion, Mrs. E. M. Mitchell, the physicians express the belief that Niles might not recover from the wounds sustained, when he attempted to fight off the highwaymen. He was beaten with a wrench over the head and his skull fractured when the bandit jumped upon the running board of his car. He stripped the woman's hands of her rings and wrist watch and rifled the pockets of Niles.

Another shooting affray in which McCoy figured three weeks ago. When deputy sheriffs visited him in connection with the theft of an automobile of the same type owned by McCoy, the fighter greeted them with two shots fired through a door. McCoy convinced police that he had no connection with the theft of the automobile and told them he was justified in shooting when the officers attempted to enter his home without a warrant. McCoy came to Los Angeles to enter motion pictures. He has worked around the studios at various times becoming a colorful figure on the lot because of his frequent marriages and of his humorous way of treating references to his matrimonial adventures.

In support of McCoy's contention that Mrs. Mors committed suicide, police announced they had found a note signed "Norman Selby" in the apartment occupied by the couple. The message read:

"All my personal belongings go to my mother at 661 Mesa Drive."

The note is interpreted as showing that the pair might have chosen to die together and that the actor-pugilist had hesitated at carrying out his part in the agreement.

MARS AT NEAREST POINT TO EARTH EVER REACHED

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 13.—Mars visible far down in the southern skies from here at night, is as near to the earth as it ever comes. Only 34,000,000 miles separate the two planets, scientists declared at the Dominion Astro-Physical observatory at Little Spanish Mountain—the second largest observatory in the world.

Observers are watching the red planet for any signs of oxygen or water vapor in the atmosphere, although study of the planet here is greatly handicapped by the fact that it is only seen for about an hour on the low horizon.

Much better opportunity for observation exists at the observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, and Mount Wilson California.

FORMER BITTER ENEMIES IN WAR MEET IN PRIVATE SESSION FOR SETTLEMENT DIFFICULTIES; BOTH SIDES HOPEFUL

LONDON, Aug. 13.—In an effort to settle amicably what is now the most vexatious question in European politics, French, Belgian, and German delegates to the London conference have met privately for the first time to discuss the evacuation of the Ruhr.

These meetings among the former bitter world war enemies, one held in the morning and another late Wednesday afternoon, mutually determine the fate of the whole allied conference. The early meeting brought no agreement, but both sides hoped some form of settlement would materialize from the later session.

"I am going to the meeting feeling the greatest responsibility and with the greatest open mindedness," Chancellor Marx, head of the German delegation told newspapermen before discussions were resumed.

Marx stressed the gravity of the negotiations, but said he was hopeful that conference "as a whole," would succeed.

Premier MacDonald was present at the opening of the conference, but left after a half hour in order to permit a closed discussion of the Ruhr by the three parties directly concerned. Upon MacDonald's departure, the negotiators were left alone in one of the most dramatic settings of post-war Europe—former enemies in the greatest of wars, face to face at a conference table.

The morning session was confined largely to skirmishing on both sides, but in the afternoon serious talk began.

Premier Herriot of France explained the French viewpoint at great length saying that it is impossible for France to make all the concessions, and that the French people would not agree to immediate military evacuation of the Ruhr.

Having placed a full exposition of the French case before the German delegates Herriot asked that they give his words consideration and draw up an answer.

Chancellor Marx, of Germany replied to Herriot. He said the enactment of laws necessary to the effectuation of the Dawes plan would be impossible unless he could carry to the reichstag a promise of early evacuation of the Ruhr.

The German chancellor objected to many of the French claims for a commercial agreement between France and Germany and particularly opposed the French insistence that Germany pledge herself to admit French goods to the fatherland after the terms of the Versailles treaty which compel such treatment to expire. Marx promised to consider Herriot's statement and to give his reply Thursday. Both premiers declared that they would be driven from power if too great concessions were forced from either.

Following this meeting the delegates of the three powers concerned were serious and reticent. Some of them were alarmed, but it generally is recognized that an initial deadlock was almost inevitable.

Both factions have begun to acquaint Premier MacDonald and Ambassador Kellogg with the trend of things hoping that one of these gentlemen could offer a useful suggestion.

Should the deadlocks become fixed and serious doubt appear of eventual Franco-German agreement, it is probable that American pressure would be brought to bear upon the recalcitrant conference.

THE DEMOCRATS FIGHTING CHANCE FOR ELECTION OF PRESIDENT IN NOVEMBER.

While the prognosticators of political destinies are rather inclined to place their best dollars on President Coolidge as winner in the November election still they have to admit that the Democratic nominee, John Davis also has a mighty good fighting chance.

With a solid, safe strength of at least 157 electoral votes, John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee has "a fighting chance" for the presidency.

This is the careful decision of "dope" gathered by unbiased political authorities on the rule of percentages favoring each of the three leading candidates in the race.

Considering that the electoral strength of President Coolidge and Davis are about equal at this point in the race, it is figured that Davis needs something more than the ordinary law of averages to swing 110 more electoral votes which would be necessary to insure his advent to the White House.

Just now all the dope will give Davis is the solid south and West Virginia for a certainty.

He is conceded, however, the best chance to carry Colorado, Maryland, Missouri and New Jersey although these states can in no manner be considered safely his. They are classed in the doubtful column.

Fourteen states which are securely conceded to Davis include: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

With Mr. Coolidge in safe possession of the New England states, LaFollette entrenched in at least 5 states of the northwest and himself with only the south, Davis is looking to the 16 states classed among the doubtful for the strength necessary for election.

But the situation is considered far from promising in some of these doubtful states. With Ohio leaning toward Mr. Coolidge, Nebraska, Iowa and Washington threatened by LaFollette, and a complicated situation to face in New York, the history of politics concedes him nothing more than a "fighting chance."

His chief hope lies in New York state with 45 electoral votes—enough to make up for losing a dozen states like New Mexico and Arizona. If he can swing New York along with Colorado, Maryland, Missouri and New Jersey, his chances of getting the few remaining votes, of course, will be materially increased.

Fighting for him in New York will be Governor Al Smith, whose personal prestige is considered high because he, as a Democrat, won the governorship while Harding, as a Republican, carried the state in the same election by more than 1,000,000 votes.

If he carries New York, Davis will at least be able to throw the contest into the House of Representatives, although this development is not now considered in his favor because of the balance of power wielded there by LaFollette progressives, who even might prefer Coolidge to Davis.

Maryland is nominally a Democratic state, although it went Republican for Harding in 1920. His managers claim it. Colorado has a strong Democratic governor and one Democrat in the senate, but LaFollette is advertised by politicians here as having made strong inroads there which might unbalance the Democratic ticket.

Even in Nebraska—which Governor Charles W. Bryan, the Davis running mate could ordinarily walk away—the LaFollette boogey is foreseen by those who fear the power of Senator Norris, a dominant figure in Republican circles of the state who has acted as a LaFollette leader in legislative matters in congress.

LUBBOCK LEADS.

By Phebe K. Warner

As usual, Lubbock is displaying its progressiveness. Almost before the cornerstone of the first building of the new Texas Tech College had been laid, a committee of Lubbock citizens had gone out into their canyons and selected a state park site for the happiness of all the people who might pass that way, but especially for the pleasure and recreation of the students of the Texas Tech College.

Now, what do you think of that? Don't you think the Texas Tech folks are starting out right? What could be a greater asset to every one of our great state schools and also our church colleges and universities in Texas than a beautiful state park near enough to the college site to be used every week by the students a state park that every student in the college nearby would take a personal interest in its care and beauty because it really belonged to him and he belonged to it. Wouldn't it be a great place to teach birdology and zoology, biology and botany, and civics? Why not have a state park linked up with every state school as a demonstration field for all kinds of civic movements and let the students do a lot of the work to beautify and develop those parks? Don't you believe it would make more useful citizens of every one of them, boys and girls alike, to have such an opportunity to be of some service to their state while the state was educating them? And don't you believe every student would go back to his home community or his home town or out to some little rural community and see park sites right there to develop for the health and pleasure of the children and the people of that particular community?

If there is anything that all the people of Texas need more than anything else it is to get out of doors more; get out under the shade trees; get out and paddle in the creek; get out with the birds and the trees and the wild flowers and wild animals and live a few hours every week in God's great park, the outdoor world. And, strange as this may sound to you city folks, nobody needs this quiet so bad as country folks. You city folks have more access to beautiful parks than country folks. Country folks work in the country until they are tired and weary and often disgusted with the country. They seldom take time to go to some beautiful place just to rest. There is no place fixed up in the country for country folks to rest. All parks are in the cities. "Ain't that funny?" There is no place in the country where children can go and play and swing and enjoy all kinds of amusements. There is no shelter there if it storms; no water to wade in; no swimming pool. But there is scarcely a school district in all this broad land that does not have somewhere in it a beautiful park site large enough for the rest and recreation of all the people in that community. And if every college student in Texas was being trained to recognize such place and such opportunities it would not be long until every citizen of Texas would be within a few miles and a few minutes of some common, comfortable meeting places where all the people could go regardless of their creed and get acquainted. There is no telling how such a plan would raise the social and moral as well as the mental and spiritual standards of our country. One reason our young folks of today spend so much time and money just riding around is because there is no particular place for them to stop. So if they do stop they stop along the road somewhere and then all the idle tongues begin to wag. If the same amount of time and talking were used to make fit places for our young folks to go, most of them would be there instead of sidetracked along the road. When you were young, it took all afternoon or evening to get anywhere, and often the old buggy horse knew all the roads so well he did not need any guiding. The boys and girls are not much wiser today than they were in your day. But times have changed and as parents a lot of us have failed to keep up with the temptations of this new day.

We would like to see a beautiful state park within the reach of every college student in Texas. We are proud that Lubbock has set the style. No one thing will add more to the attractiveness of the new college than the Texas Tech State Park, or whatever it may be called. And before another week rolls round the West Texas State Teachers' College at Canyon will have a state park site located somewhere in the Palo Duro Canyon. Watch and see if this prophecy does not come true. And what would lead more patrons and taxpayers to visit the college of our State and see them in action than a state park nearby? Certainly if you had a child even thinking of going to any of these colleges and you could camp nearby you would take a day off to visit it on your way across the country. You'd do it, wouldn't you? How many of you have ever seen the college you risk your child's character and education in? Can you think of anything that would add more to the life of our Texas colleges than for each and every one of them to have a beautiful state park within a few miles of the campus? What is there near your college that would make a first-class state park?—Star Telegram.

EDITOR'S NOTE—We have noticed that Lubbock seems to be talked of a great deal more away from here than it is in Lubbock. We have noticed that the people away from Lubbock are more enthused and show more concern about the Tech college away from here than we do at home. This is not because we do not appreciate the college, nor is it because we are accustomed to it, and are therefore not the least bit excited over the conditions, but we should really awake to the importance of the existence of the college here and the many things that will be necessary in making Lubbock the school center that it is going to be, and we should all get busy on the matter of securing the park, and make it one of the vital things that we are to think about in the coming months of the next year.

The murder of Mrs. Evans in Mexico, may have been due to money-seeking bandits, as claimed, but the affair is complicated by the fact that her estate has long been besieged owing to conflict as to the real ownership of her property, a subject of acrimonious controversy between the Mexican and British governments which resulted in the breaking off of diplomatic relations by Great Britain. The United States is more or less concerned not merely through the Monroe doctrine or its modern interpretation, but because British interests have been placed in the hands of the American embassy at the Mexican capital.

Prof. Charles C. Shaw of New York university predicts the coming of "a laughterless age," a "somber and scientific period when the jokes and comicities of the present day will be preserved as curiosities in the dusty toms of museums," because "men will know too much to laugh." Already, according to this authority, "men no longer laugh at the things they used to." This may be true of some tired old men, but it is not true of the young. We rest assured that youth, however learned, will be gay and laughter-loving as long as the race is found on the planet.

British Columbia is enforcing a minimum wage law for women. The minimum wages range from $12.75 to $15.50 a week, but the average wage paid for experienced help is $13.14.

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

By W. M. Pevhouse.

The general public has awakened to the fact that it is necessary to have our school system improved, and no greater step has been taken in this country. Texas is making great strides in an educational way. The cities are under efficient City superintendents, and if the Rural Schools have as their Superintendents, men and ladies who have spent their prime of life and years in these Rural schools, there is no reason why the county schools can not be made more efficient. Take for illustration, Lubbock and Slaton. With Messrs Dupre and Sone respectively, Lubbock and Slaton have school systems that are the envy and pride of the South Plains. All over the country, children are transferred to these schools for High School purposes. These men know the City School curriculum. They have made a life study of this kind of school. Perhaps neither has taught a country school for twenty or thirty years. Well, it stands to reason that a man of their age who had been connected with the Rural life, and had taught consecutively for fifteen years, would be more in touch with the Rural needs, and consequently would be more in sympathy with the country school. I say this for several reasons.

Chief among which may be the great desire I have to see Rural children get a square deal. If our school system needed remodeling, Texas rural schools need it. We need a system when a boy or girl finishes eight grades, or graduates, the other school, or college will be willing to admit that pupil to advanced work. At present this is not the case. Now, our rural boys and girls make good at A. & M. Judging contests, as Carlisle, Acuff, Posey, Canyon, Hardy, etc. pupils are positive proof. Then why not raise the standards of our rural school, so these children may have something to show for their Obedience to the school? Why wait until it is too late? The Estacado School Board met Monday night and it was voted unanimously to put on the eleventh grade there this year. They have ten pupils who are asking for it. That is the spirit. These men want to build that school into a complete affiliation, and listen to this prophecy, Estacado will send boys and girls right here to the Tech before your door will compete favorably with the pupils from town schools. Carlisle will send them. Obedience will send them. Why wait to put our rural schools on a higher basis, when the demand is before our very doors?

Touching again on the work of the County Superintendent, many men and ladies, fathers and mothers do not realize that the County Superintendent in connection with whatever over a city school like Lubbock or Slaton, but on the contrary, his work is confined solely to the little places, and the rural schools. Many hard things have been said about the present County Superintendent in connection with this subject. That he does not use his influence to uphold the City school. That he works unceasingly for the country school. Correct. I would not be true to my calling, I would not be fair to my bondsmen, I would not be loyal to the cause and the profession, if it were otherwise. As stated before, I have no jurisdiction over Lubbock's city schools. It would be an imposition for me to attempt to instruct some city teachers how to do something. I would be an impostor to attempt to get the county board to dispose of their present city superintendent or principal. Then on the other hand, is it fair for a City Superintendent to attempt to usurp authority over the County Superintendent's office? Is it just that the rural people may not have their own choice in this matter, without the interference of a city superintendent, using all his influence to thwart the will of a people who have signified their desires? The rural people have troubles all their own. We have out here in this land the one great difficulty of getting our cotton picked. The city does not have that obstacle to meet. Of course the city school superintendent has other difficulties and burdens and I should think that he would have his hands full if he attended to his own business well, and let the county man who is with him in charge. We never mean to be unkind to anyone, but ever there is a ranking feeling in one's heart when he feels that he is being unjustly criticised, and demeaned.

With all due regard for the other fellow's desires and opinions, I think the calling of a teacher for a life's work is one not to be despised. We have out yonder in our rural schools, many men and women who have been a number of years in the service. Who can say that they have not wrought as great service in the country as the city acquaintance has in town? These schools must be taught in the open land as well as in the congested centers. All praise to the rural teacher, and to the farmer who know their business and know how to attend to it. The same applies to the city teacher and the business man, and we know full well that Lubbock county and Lubbock town, as well as Idalou and Slaton, hold many, many, of each respectively, even if there are some occasionally who try to run the other fellow's machine—sometimes, or more often than that.

The truth of the thing is that we must all work together for the uplift and growth of all concerned. The teacher and the patron of the city and country, must put their shoulders together for a greater country, and greater cities. In union there is strength, in dissension and division, there is weakness.

me in my efforts to make my charge grow unceasingly. I assure you that I shall help you in any way possible. "With malice toward none, and with charity for all," I am heart and soul for Lubbock county schools that are under my jurisdiction, that I may improve upon them and make them better tomorrow than they are today.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

WHERE ACCIDENTS OCCUR.

Most accidents occur at street intersections. Approximately 68 per cent of traffic in Eastern cities turns from one street into another inside or to the left of the corner of the intersection, showing that traffic will follow the lines of least resistance despite all regulations. At street intersections a short-hand turn, which can be made without reducing speed, is a course of east resistance, but gets on the wrong side of the two streets and unexpectedly intersects all other traffic and pedestrians at an acute and dangerous angle.

Street intersection accidents can be greatly curtailed by correctly placed obstructions which make the proper course the only convenient one, and the one of least resistance. Then, the regulations and the driving inclination are in harmony. These obstructions must be signalized; for both signals and obstructions must be used to get the best results.

CHICAGO YOUTH ENTERS FINALS OF TENNIS MEET

By United News
CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—George Lott, Jr., of Chicago, entered the final round of both singles and doubles in the national junior tennis championships Wednesday, defeating A. F. McCallum, of Cincinnati easily enough in the morning, but finding Neal Sullivan, of Philadelphia, a harder proposition in the afternoon.
 It was McCallum who surprised the gallery by eliminating Allen Harrington, of San Diego, in an earlier session. Lott employed his twisting service that broke sharply in the backhand with great effect. Sullivan after trailing at 1-5 in the first set, annexed two games by skillful lobbing but failed to get a single point in the ninth games.

RAIN BREAKS INTO PLANS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

and lost 6-3. Lott won the second 6-1.
 By United News
NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Some of the players in the Women's national tennis championship show at the westside club, Forest Hills, L. I. probably will have to play two matches Wednesday in order that the tournament may reach its final round Saturday. All matches were postponed Tuesday because of the rain which made the grass courts too slippery for good footwork even after the downpour had quit.
 Helen Wills, the champion, was to have played Mrs. Edwin Falk, and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup was to have met Miss Mary Case in the most prominent of Tuesday's events.
 If the rain continues the tournament may lose some of its charm as well as a large sum in gate receipts for it is very difficult to keep a large field of players on the ground. Some of them have travelled long distances, and may not want to spend extra days in attendance. Furthermore, if the championship match is not played on Saturday, the attendance is certain to be cut down.

Hoover Committee Offers Plan To Stabilize Employment and Lower Costs in Building Industry

The old belief that winter is a bad time to build seems to be giving way in the face of newer construction methods. One large construction company in New York City, carrying on year round operations, has figured out that in ten years it has lost an average of only fourteen days each winter because of weather conditions. Weather conditions vary from year to year, but in a ten-year period the average number of days in which the temperature fell below freezing any time during the working hours in New York was only 62 per year. The cold winter of 1919-1920 had 82 such days, but the following winter there were only 38.

The above figures are given in a report issued by the Committee on Seasonal Operation in the Construction Industry, appointed by Secretary Hoover of the Department of Commerce as a result of the President's Conference on Unemployment, formed in 1921 to stimulate employment, to eliminate waste and to reduce costs.

The committee decided that idle time, amounting on an average to about 25 per cent among all the building workers of the country, represents waste and direct losses to the construction industries, the workers and the public, and that such losses as are due to seasonal ups and downs in the construction industries are undoubtedly preventable.

In support of its thesis that custom not climate is mainly responsible for these fluctuations, the committee points out that seasonal unemployment in construction is not confined to the states where the climate is severe, but affects cities in the South and on the Pacific Coast in much the same way that it affects those on the Canadian border.

"The art of construction has advanced to such a point that the effect of bad weather on building operations has been greatly reduced," the report states. "There is today much less manual labor on the job than formerly, and a greater proportion of the work is done in factories by power machinery, which is less affected by the elements than hand labor. Steel and concrete construction, with certain safeguards, can go forward at low temperatures. Methods of winter construction developed by leading contractors should now be greatly extended. Winter work is being done in some cases more cheaply than summer work."

The committee includes in its membership John W. Blodgett, president of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, and John Donlin, president of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, together with prominent representatives of contracting firms, banking interests, real estate associations, architects, engineers and others.

RING SEEKS CONTROL ONTARIO POWER RESOURCES

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Negotiations now under way in this city, are said to indicate that the United States electric ring is reaching out for control of northern Ontario's power resources and may soon have this great and wealthy district entirely in its grasp.

The immediate transaction now being consummated is a consolidation of existing private power companies whereby the Northern Canada Power Company has given an option on its properties to E. R. Wood, of the Dominion Securities, and the partly completed Hollinger Development on the Abitibi river is involved in the merger. American capitalists are reported as having been seeking to bring about a gigantic merger that would take in practically all the power resources and power developments of Ontario's gold and silver mining country and the pulp manufacturing districts in the same area.

Samuel Insull, of Chicago, president of the Commonwealth Edison company, of Chicago, one of the largest private electrical companies of the United States is mentioned as among those who will finance the consolidation. Insull is associated with electrical interests serving some four hundred American cities.

AMARILLO WILL SEND DELEGATION TO AMERICAN LEGION CONVENTION BROWNWOOD; ASK FOR NEXT MEET

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 13.—When Amarillo Legionnaires go to Brownwood next week, they will carry a full pack of reasons why the next state convention of the American Legion should be held in this city.

Aside from the attractive climatic conditions and ample entertainment facilities it is pointed out that Hanson Post of Amarillo is among the outstanding units in the State, both as to maintaining membership and in achievements in behalf of the ex-servicemen, and the Panhandle district as a whole maintains a high standard of activities. This record it is felt here, entitles this section to the honor of entertaining a convention. This is particularly true since no official recognition of this section has ever been given by the state organization.

Weather that insures physical comfort, ample hotel facilities, side trips to distinctive scenic attractions and splendid convention accommodations also will be stressed. Amarillo's $315,000 auditorium, erected as a memorial to World War veterans has spacious assembly rooms, committee rooms and club rooms. All business could be transacted in this one building.

Eight delegates and probably a dozen visitors will carry Amarillo's message to the Brownwood convention.

OLD BUILDING IS LINED WITH HONEY

LONGVIEW, Aug. 13.—Invading a vacant house near here, a swarm of bees formed three long sheets of honey on the wall in one room, three or four feet long. S. M. Carter, wild bee hunter who is said to have found more honey than any other man in East Texas, discovered the hoard.

Carter also recently discovered a colonial column twenty feet high as big around as a barrel, full of honey left there five years ago by wild bees. He has made a profound study of the habits of wild bees, and has incidentally discovered many queer formations.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 14.—All of that part of the George W. Brackensridge tract of land belonging to the University of Texas lying to the north of the street which runs to the dam across the Colorado river, west of Austin, has been leased by the board of regents for a period of 25 years for use as a municipal golf course. A nominal rental of $60 a year is to be paid for the land. It is stated that when this golf course is finished it will be equal to any in the state. The land which is now covered with a heavy growth of shrubs will be cleared and beautified.

Prizes Offered By Club For Sacred Singing

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 13.—In an attempt to draw the youth of the day from the evil influence of "jazz" music, the Sacred Harp Singers of Texas have been enlisting the aid of the citizenry of the state. M. D. Barcliff, vice-president of the organization, announced that $100 in prizes will be offered annually to the boy or girl under sixteen leading the best lesson during the encampment of the association. The next state convention will be held July next, at Hubbard Mill country.

Twelve branches of science will be represented in the 1925 Asiatic Expedition conducted by Roy Chapman Andrews. It is believed that the life of the Nestorian Christians, who went east from Persia, may be further uncovered.

MARKETS

MARKET TENDENCY UPWARD DESPITE PROFIT TAKING

By EDWARD J. CONDLON (United News Financial Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The stock market firmed up in the mid-week session dispelling any doubts which may have existed over the ability of prices to hold after the declines of Tuesday. On Wednesday, the tendency was upward from the start and in the light of this performance the losses on Tuesday hardly foretold a general and far-reaching decline. However, profit taking which broke out in the last half hour or so of trading reduced gains to a small margin with the rail averages falling lower.

It would not require a practiced eye to discern that buyers at the moment are far more discriminating than they were a week or two ago. Not only are they doubtful issues being shunned, but some of the recent favorites are being scrutinized in relation to present earnings, and dividend prospects. Incidentally the street is looking forward with considerable interest to the directors meeting of a quartette of rail and industrial companies.

On Tuesday, directors of Southern Pacific and Union Pacific met. Today the board of Standard Oil of New Jersey meets and next Monday the Kennecott Copper directors gather for action on the dividend. The Iron Age and the Iron Trade Review in outlining the present status of the steel industry, this week point out that sales and operations show an upward trend, with production averaging about 50 per cent of capacity. Higher prices for pig iron are considered imminent in recent years, was more than a substantial advance over last week when composite prices were the lowest in 28 months. According to estimates the subsidiaries of the steel corporations are operating this week at the rate of 58 per cent against 55 per cent last week, and forty early in July.

The 75,000 Baltimore and Ohio bond issue was sold readily enough Wednesday on a 5.10 per cent basis to the investor. In fact the bankers intimated that this issue which is the biggest piece of rail financing in recent years, was more than twice subscribed.

Unless all signs fail, we shall now see several other offerings of railroad issues, starting Thursday with $5,000,000 Rock Island notes. The cotton market closed sharply lower. Early in the session news of beneficial rains in central and west Texas, caused a break of $6 a bale. Beneficial showers are forecast for Thursday in Oklahoma and Arkansas. The fractional loss in wheat prices was due primarily to weather conditions over the belt. Corn, however, bettered its position, the distant deliveries going to record high.

love with Al Lewis, young stock broker.
It was on this Lewis episode that White's lawyers founded their claim that Miss Luther was "a very naughty girl," and that she would not be a proper person to feature in pictures.
The actress answered this allegation by introducing witnesses who testified that her character was good and that she was a player of good box office attraction.
A Whites witness of whom he said he had 38 ready to testify, had not been called.

She divorced him in Paris because he would not live in France. Catherine Campbell, of Columbus, O., twice winner of the Atlantic City, N. WOMEN LEADERS UNDER LAFOLLETTE STANDARD IN "SOAP BOX" CAMPAIGN TO ATTRACT FEMALE VOTE TO PARTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Women leaders of the La Follette movement are planning an old-fashioned "soap box" campaign to attract the female vote to the independent standard. This will be given special emphasis in the south, where few women now take part in politics.

A vigorous campaign of this sort was decided upon at an early meeting here Tuesday of representatives of the woman's division of the conference for progressive political action. Fifteen women, organization leaders in several states were present.

The "old soap box" speech making which was a feature of the long fight by the women for suffrage will be employed in the large cities of the country. Several new campaign stunts will be used—neighborhood back yard parties, where local leaders will use their persuasive conversation over a cup of tea and other neighborhood gatherings.

There will also be a house to house canvass in the cities and smaller towns throughout the country. Ambitions plans are being made for the campaign throughout the central sections it was announced Tuesday that the purchase of 100 small, second hand automobiles, suitable for rough work, which will be used by speakers who campaign the country for him, is being considered.

A start has been made already in the south. Headquarters have been opened in New Orleans by Mrs. Heber Stowers. An initial fund of $5,000 for the campaign in Louisiana has been contributed by philanthropist who went to the La Follette convention in Cleveland and was impressed with the new movement.

This individual who remains anonymous has offered to contribute to campaigns in the adjoining states of Texas and Mississippi, it was said, being convinced that many women will be attracted to the independent standard if there are stirred up to go to the polls.

The women's division will cooperate with the men through the national state and county organizations. They will work at the four regional headquarters in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and the southern center as yet undesignated and with the state and local organizations.

After the session on Tuesday, the women leaders made a pilgrimage in the afternoon to the home of Senator La Follette where the candidates and his wife greeted them.

Farmers Congress Are To Meet in Amarillo, Texas

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 14.—Business and professional men in all lines have organizations through which they work together to overcome obstacles and solve their problems. Why should not the farmer have, also?

It is to form just such an organization that the Farmer's Congress has been called to meet here on next Thursday, August 21. The object is not to "sell" the farmer to any particular scheme of operation. It is rather to give him an organization which may work on any problems that may arise. The question of whether such an organization is worth while will be discussed and settled by farmers in attendance.

Every farmer in the Plains region is invited. Every community is asked to send at least one representative.

Aside from the question of forming a permanent organization without dues or salaried officers, this congress will be an instructive day. Congressman Marvin Jones, Walton Peters, President Bizell of Texas A. & M. College and President J. A. Hill of Canyon college are among the speakers. Their wide knowledge of agricultural conditions and prospects make this meeting really a farm chautauqua.

The congress is sponsored by the Amarillo board of city development, the Texas Wheat Growers Association, purely with the object of improving farm conditions and forwarding the growth of this region.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Munson, formerly of this City, but for the past year or so residing in Quanah, in company with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Simpson will return to Quanah today. They will be accompanied also by Mrs. W. H. D. Burnes, of this City, who will spend some time visiting in Quanah.

PRINCE RUPERT PLAN RECEPTION FOR WORLD FLIER

By United News. PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Aug. 13.—Prince Rupert today was preparing to honor Major Stuart MacLaren for his gallant attempt to fly around the world.

This city, far up the coast of North America, knows the relentlessness of the Arctic elements, and the fact that Major MacLaren failed to accomplish a feat which as yet has never been done, will not temper the genuineness of his reception in the least.

Major MacLaren is due here Saturday on the steamer Thriepval, which is bringing the British fliers and their wrecked plane.

The city will be decorated in holiday attire, while a reception dinner and dance is planned to welcome Major MacLaren and his companions when they reach His Majesty's soil for the first time since the British plane was wrecked far out off the Alentian peninsula.

The people of Prince Rupert who themselves, pioneered to build a city on one of the empire's far flung coasts, will extend the hearty welcome of the northland to their venturesome countrymen.

The hardy fishermen from Newfoundland and Nova Scotia who are the largest group of the population here, will man their sturdy little vessels and put to sea to greet the ship long before she enters Tuck's Inlet, while overhead will circle the airplanes that have supplanted the dog teams and pack horses in the transportation of supplies to prospectors far in the trackless interior.

COOLIDGE FAMILY HONOR GUESTS AT PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, and young John Coolidge will be guests of honor at the notification of the president Thursday night.

They will occupy the south box of memorial continental hall where the ceremonies are to be held, together, probably, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stearns, personal friends of the white house family.

Complete details of the notification proceedings, together with the program were announced Monday night by the republican national committee. They provide for systematic handling of the crowd which is expected to jam the auditorium and overflow into the streets where radio amplifiers are being set.

Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, the congressional minister who has been the Coolidge spiritual adviser throughout his Washington residence and who officiated at the burial of the president's young son, will make the invocation.

Music by the marine band will follow and then Chairman Wm. Butler, of the republican national committee who is to preside will introduce former Representative Frank McNeil, permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention.

Following McNeil's formal notification of his nomination, at Cleveland, President Coolidge will deliver his acceptance speech.

Facilities for broadcasting of the president's speech have been installed. Officials of the local tel-

Beckman Gives Karnak Credit For His Health

"I attribute my present good health entirely to Karnak," states Joseph W. Beckman, 1705 40th st. Galveston, Texas, in telling how this medicine restored him after everything else failed.

"I had about as bad a case of stomach trouble and nervous breakdown as one could have," he continued. "My stomach seemed to tie up in knots and the worst kind of cramping pains would shoot all over my body. My legs would play out completely. I could not stand up, and I was so weak and nervous I could hardly sit at the table and eat a meal.

"But Karnak has brought me health after everything else failed. I now eat, sleep and feel as fine as anybody in Galveston and am gaining weight and strength every day. There is nothing good enough I can say for Karnak."

Karnak is sold in Lubbock by City Drug Store.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—A Dry Armada of thirty boats with a combined man power of two thousand is being mobilized here today for coast guard, for actual warfare against rum fleets. Under the new terms they can board any ship within an hour sailing time of the coast. The fleet consist of twenty destroyers, two mine sweepers and three hundred fast boats. All are heavily armed, and will shoot to sink.

OLD SETTLERS AT STAMFORD ON AUG. 14TH

By United Press. STAMFORD, Aug. 13.—Old settler's party is scheduled here for August 14, the entertainment being furnished by R. L. Penick, pioneer merchant, at his country place on Lake Penick, three miles south of Luaders. Invitations have been mailed to 140 persons who have lived in this county more than forty years.

A dinner of exclusively home grown products will be the feature of the day—barbecued beef, mutton, fish, country ham, and all that goes with such dishes to make a real feast.

Each guest will be presented with a photograph of the gathering. Conveyance will be furnished for those unable to provide their own.

Wanted A Marriage License For a Sweet Girl

ORANGE, Aug. 13.—A fan 28 years old appeared at the county clerk's office here and asked for a marriage license "for the sweetest girl in the world" (of course). Aside from that appellation, he couldn't think of her name.

"How long have you known the lady?" the clerk asked.

"Seven months," was the reply. "Here it is, all written-out." But the clerk couldn't make out the handwriting, so the lady was called on the telephone. Luckily, the man knew her telephone number, and the girl remembered her own name.

Confidences, Muriel—"Don't you like a man who always flatters you?" Madge—"No, but I hate one who never does."

SYNTHETIC LUMBER THE LATEST INVENTION

By United Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Synthetic lumber is the latest discovery, according to E. S. Dahlberg, a manufacturer, who addressed a gathering of business men here. He said: "This artificial lumber is made from bagasse, the crushed fibre of sugar-cane once destroyed as useless. Sugar-cane fibre from the annual crop in the United States and Cuba is sufficient to manufacture 50,000,000 feet of lumber every day.

"Synthetic lumber has advantages over natural wood. It has one-third the weight of pine. This means cheap freight costs and ease in handling. It has the insulating value of cork. This means cooler homes in summer and warmer homes in winter. It is a sound-deadener, absorbing one-third of all the sound waves that strike against it."

IMMIGRATION LAW BRING NEW ERA JAP SAYS

By United News. WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 13.—The new American immigration law has brought the United States and Japan to the threshold of a new era—the Pacific era—Yasuke Tarumi, one of the leaders of the younger men in Japan politics, told the Institute of politics here Tuesday night.

"The immigration act marks an epoch in the development of the Japanese policy and in the changing psychology of the Japanese people," he explained.

"The contention of Mr. Hanhara that the bill has had and will continue to have grave consequences not only in Japan, but throughout the rest of the world is, in my opinion, the exact truth.

"But this statement does not constitute a threat," he added. "It does not mean that any intelligent person in Japan would dream of going to war with the United States over the immigration act.

"It does mean, however, that the act marks an epoch in Japanese national development." Tarumi called attention to the many ways in which American influence has been felt in his country and then predicted that in ten or 20 years—with the arrival of what he termed—the Pacific era—Japan would be one of the great nations of the world.

Prevention of war, the young Japanese declared, is the greatest problem now confronting the world. Two or three more wars like the last, he said, would destroy the remaining fabric of organized society. He expressed the opinion that history will record the quest of a way to permanent peace as the greatest achievement of president Wilson.

WHITE BOYS AND COLORED PULL RACE RIOT

By United Press. ORANGE, Aug. 13.—A youthful race riot took place here when a band of colored boys, ages ranging from 10 to 13, ran amuck with a band of white boys, fewer in number but valiant in spirit.

It was a fierce but bloodless contest until "Uncle Ben Stephenson, city officer, undertook to quell the riot.

The colored army immediately deployed and took to stones, cans, and any other ground implements of warfare handy, directing their fire on "Uncle Ben." "Uncle Ben" is a bit weakened by age, but he summoned his old time fire and charged. His wasn't fast enough, but the white boys rallied to his support and made the charge a triumphant affair.

Police officers arrived about that time, and six of the colored combatants were made prisoners of war, lodged in the jail for the night. The trouble is supposed to have started over disputed territory in a swimming pool.

MAN CONFESSES TO MURDER YOUNG RADER GIRL

By United News. ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 13.—Emil Zupke, 23, a farm hand, confessed Tuesday night that he had murdered Miss Cora Raber, pretty young girl, whose half nude body was found in a clump of bushes.

Under the grilling of Sheriff Bridgeman, Zupke admitted that he had strangled the girl to death, so that she would be left free to court another girl. The condition of the girl's body showed that she was about to become a mother.

The sheriff learned Saturday that the Raber girl recently swore out a warrant for Zupke, which information caused his arrest. The girl had requested that his arrest be delayed for a few days until she made a final appeal to him to marry her. She left home last Wednesday night to meet Zupke and that was the last her parents saw of her alive.

The man who says that he would not take $1,000 for his dog is not saying it to the assessor this year.
