COTTON CLASSER SECOND CASUALTY IN PRISON SHAKE-UP

BROWN RETIRES AT SUGGESTION GOVERNOR NEFF FOLLOWING THE RESIGNATION OF WARDEN MILLER

By United News. HOUSTON, Sept. 10.—Following on the heels of the resignation of Warden W. M. Miller, of Huntsville state penitentiary, it became known tonight that S. E. Brown, prison cotton classer with offices here, had been discharged.

Brown's position was abolished at the suggestion of Gov. Pat M. Neff, it was said.

Dispatches from Austin stated that two prison administration boards had approved a new plan to have men from the state department of markets and warehouses do the classifying of prison cotton.

PETITION FILED "MA" FERGUSON WOULD PREVENT HER NAME BEING PLACED ON OFFICIAL BALLOT

By United News. AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 10.—A petition asking a temporary restraining order to keep the name of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson off the general election ballot as candidate for governor was filed in Travis county district court today by Chas. M. Dickson, San Antonio.

The application was directed against Mrs. Ferguson, her husband, former Gov. James E. Ferguson, the secretary of state and members of the election boards of every county. The petition asserts that Mrs. Ferguson is ineligible to hold office and cites the following reasons:

That she is the wife of former Gov. Jas. E. Ferguson, who was impeached and disqualified from holding office and whose name was excluded from the democratic primary ballot.

That an understanding existed between Mrs. Ferguson and her husband that if she is elected he will be the real governor and she just a figurehead.

That if she is elected half of her salary would go to Ferguson although he is restrained from receiving profit from a state office.

That Mrs. Ferguson is ineligible because she is a woman; that only a man is eligible to act as governor of Texas and commander-in-chief of its military forces.

BRITISH TROOPS CALLED TO QUELL INDIA RIOT

By United News. LONDON, Sept. 10.—Rioting has been resumed by Hindus and Mohammedans throughout the state of Hyderabad in India, and British troops have been called out to quell the disorders, according to a Central News Dispatch from Madras.

CHARGE AMARILLO MEN GAVE LIQUOR TO GIRLS

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 10.—Four local business men have been arrested here, charged with giving liquor to girls with whom they were joyriding Monday night.

MISSED SOME OF THE FELLOWS

The Junior Chamber of Commerce boys worked hard yesterday in getting the boys signed up to go on the trade trip, and in their rushing around they missed a few of the firms of the town, but this is no indication that they do not want you to join with them in making the trip. You are wanted, and will be glad to have you, and one of the boys on the soliciting committee said for the Avalanche editor to extend for them an invitation to come and take part in the trip. If you have a car that you can use, it will be appreciated but if you do not have a car then come along anyway. Be at the court house this morning at 7:00 o'clock, and be ready to go. The big parade will start soon after that time, and they will go over to Crosby and around by Post, Slaton, etc.

AMARILLO GETS NEXT DRUG MEET

CLYDE MAN NAMED HEAD ORGANIZATION; LOCAL MAN VICE PRES.

H. L. Hays, of Clyde, Texas, was elected president of the West Texas Retail Druggists' Association at the final session of the two days convention held here Wednesday morning at the Elk's hall.

E. L. Robertson, owner of the City Drug Store of Lubbock, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Akers, of Hamlin, was re-elected secretary.

Amarillo was chosen as the meeting place for the convention in 1925 which will be held on the second Tuesday in March.

Knox Pittard, prominent druggist of Austin, a friend of Good Smith and W. S. Sheppard of the Sheppard-Smith Drug Company of Lubbock, was one of the principle speakers at the morning session.

Other speakers on the program were: John Allen, Dallas; Floyd Mincy, San Antonio; C. A. Siland of Munday and others.

In the absence of A. H. Bredow of Port Worth, Harry Tyler, of Amarillo, talked in his place, on the subject "What Quick Express and Freight Service means to the Retailers."

The more than one hundred druggists who attended the convention, were well entertained by the local druggists who were given the close co-operation of the other business men of Lubbock in making the visitors feel at home and to impress them with the fact that Lubbock was pleased with the opportunity to entertain them.

The interest that was shown in all sessions of the convention proved that the druggists of West Texas are interested in better merchandising methods, better co-operation among themselves and better service to their customers, and that this meeting will be worth much to them in the future is not doubted.

FAULTY TASTE CAUSE LIQUOR CHARGE ACQUITTAL

By United News. HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 10.—Tom Greenwood owes his acquittal on liquor charges here today to the faulty taste of J. Dunn.

Dunn admitted on the stand that he didn't know whether he bought beer or near-beer at Greenwood's place. "All that I know is that it tasted pretty good," he said.

MOVE NOT ONE OF MILITARISM OFFICIALS SAY

GIANT PARADE AND FITTING SERVICES TO BE FEATURE PROGRAM

Is America prepared to defend herself in the face of another conflict such as she participated in in 1917-18.

This question will be answered Friday in every city of the country when the young men of the nation will arise to arms in the same manner as if their country faced another war, and this mobilization of troops will be a defense test the magnitude of which was never even attempted in any country.

Some had looked upon the Defense Day Mobilization orders as containing hints of militarism, propaganda for preparedness, or an attempt to demonstrate to other nations the viciousness of our armies, while others have taken another view of the matter, pointing to the unmeasurable losses in men, money and time that was a direct result of the unpreparedness of the time America entered the world war.

The cold facts incident to these losses of men, money and resources are history and such men as Gen. Pershing and others who are at the head of the defense test mobilization have decreed that such mistake shall not again be made by this nation as long as the generation that witnessed the results of that one unalterable mistake hold the reins of government.

Members of Allen Brothers Post American Legion who are wholeheartedly in sympathy with the defense test, ask that all local people who are not in accord with this method of preparedness visit the army headquarters here Friday and see for themselves what America's answer would be should another world conflict engage her energies and the powers of her soldiers, and to not heed this invitation would be unfair to the men who offered them.

MT. SHASTA GLACIER SENDS TORRENT TO LOWLANDS

By United News. MC CLOUD, Cal., Sept. 10.—The glacier on Mount Shasta, which for weeks sent a flood of mud and silt into the lowlands is now rumbling down the side of the mountain at a speed of about five miles an hour, sweeping trees and huge boulders before it.

The movement started about noon Wednesday and by evening great masses of ice had reached the forest belt and was uprooting hundreds of trees on the slope as it swept down.

For twenty miles the progress of the glacier can be seen and the roar of the movement can be heard throughout the countryside.

AUTO CARAVAN LEAVES TODAY

Everything is set for the automobile caravan to move out from the court house this morning at seven-thirty o'clock for Malou, Lorenzo, Halls, Crosbyton, Post City, Slaton, and Slaton and all indications are that this will be one of the most successful trades trips ever made.

The occupants of the more than sixty cars that have been secured to make the trip will carry the message of a bigger and better south plains fair to the hundreds of south plains people with whom they will come in contact during the day, and W. C. Rylander, one of the best soap box or mahogany hall orators to be found in the whole country, will mount the platform of such of the towns visited, and what he fails to say during those five minutes won't be worth relating anyhow, so there is no getting around the fact that the fair will be well advertised on this trip.

The committees that worked all day Tuesday and Wednesday getting citizens to carry their cars on this trip were very successful, and here's hoping that none of the fellows who promised to make the trip disappoint them this morning.

He at the court house promptly this morning at 7:30 o'clock and go on the trip.

The Lubbock uniformed band will be an attraction on this trip and everything is in shape for some perfectly good boosting to be done in the interest of the fair.

TRADE TRIPPERS BOOSTING FAIR TO MAKE LOOP ON EAST PLAINS

By United News. WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Because of disorders growing out of revolutionary disturbances, a detachment of 100 men has been landed at Caba, Honduras, from the cruiser Richmond. The men will remain on guard at the American consulate until conditions warrant withdrawal the navy department announced.

SLAYERS CRINGE UNDER VERDICT

By United News. CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., the brilliant and pampered college youths who killed a 14 year old boy for "a thrill" will pay for their experiment with death—by living the rest of their lives behind the high walls of a penitentiary.

Elaborate plans for the get-away to Joliet prison were made in record time and the youthful slayers would have begun their term within a few hours after sentence was pronounced, had the papers been ready. At the request of States Attorney Crowe, the boys will not be removed to the prison until some time Thursday morning.

"I wish to check up on some of my papers," the State's Attorney explained. "There must be no possible loopholes."

Thursday morning the two slayers will be taken to Joliet prison to begin serving the term that only death will complete.

JUDGE AUGMENTS LIFE TERM BY 99-YEAR KIDNAPPING SENTENCE TO COUNTERACT PAROLE RULE

BY HAROLD ANDREWS

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., the brilliant and pampered college youths who killed a 14 year old boy for "a thrill" will pay for their experiment with death—by living the rest of their lives behind the high walls of a penitentiary.

FAIR FEATURES ARE IMPROVED

ROCKETS that glare and shells that burst, with everything else that goes to make up a spectacular fireworks display, aeroplane stunts that make the hair stand on end, a sham battle with all the thrills of the real thing, three football games, two showings of the "Paceman of the Magic Fleece," bands to furnish music day and night, and a number of other attractions, features and entertainments will be provided at the Panhandle South Plains Fair and Short Course in an effort to provide a dollar show for fifty cents.

In fact there will not be a dull minute from the time the fair gates open early on the morning of October 1st, until they close late Saturday night, October 4th. More free amusement and entertainment is being provided for this year's fair than ever before and in addition the exhibit departments are going to be bigger and better than ever before.

Already more counties and communities have signed up than ever before in the history of the fair and the livestock division will be so far ahead of the usual showing that there can be no comparison. Breeder's fine cattle, hogs and sheep from many sections of the state have already filed the entries. Individualism from all over the Panhandle and South Plains have also made entries in the various divisions, and the Poultry Show is attracting entries from not only Texas, but a number of adjoining states.

The premium list this year is virtually double that ever offered before, and those who have not received a catalogue and premium list should write for one at once.

Remember the dates, October 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and be there.

B. Y. P. U. SOCIAL

The members of the B. Y. P. U. and a number of invited guests met at the Baptist Church last Monday evening and from there motored to the Community Club Park to enjoy a watermelon feast. The anticipated "joy" of the feast was emphasized by the numerous number of melons furnished of both the red and yellow species.

As a prelude to the feast, however a number of new and interesting games were played which furnished the proper incentive to a healthy appetite. It was possibly due to the fact that there were a number of nice large slices of melon left after the feast that some of the members readily consented to furnish free demonstrations of the benefits derived from a facial massage and hair tonic of the luscious if somewhat sticky juice of melons.

Miss Pearl Woods as chairman of the social committee is to be congratulated on her unique methods of planning entertainments. I believe all who attended the feast could truthfully say that they enjoyed the evening disregarding conventional phrases and camouflage pretensions.

FIRE BREAKS OUT ANEW IN TAYLOR ROOMING HOUSE

Fire originating in the hulk of the two-story rooming house of Mrs. Hugh Taylor at 2199 Main which was partially destroyed by flames Monday night, took practically all that remained of the building shortly after midnight this morning, leaving only charred portions of the walls standing.

No explanation of the cause of the new outbreak was advanced, but it is supposed that the flames were not entirely out from the preceding blaze and fanned by a stiff wind from the south, broke into new fury.

Two houses immediately north across the street were in imminent danger, it appeared, on account of the direction of the wind, but these were saved from the flames by work of the owners together with the fire department.

CHINESE WAR MAY SOON SPREAD TO PEKING

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—Fighting in the Chinese civil war will soon spread to the Peking area, with the army of General Wu Pei Fu opposing the troops of Chang Tso Lin, according to reports at the headquarters of the Chekiang army here.

The war in the Shanghai region Wednesday was devoted merely to skirmishes, both sides resting and recovering from the terrific storm which broke up fighting on Tuesday. The foreign marines remain at their posts along the city's border. Their commanders were advised by a foreign military expert returning from a survey of the Kiang Su armies that the capture of Shanghai was inevitable within two weeks.

ROTARY CLUB HAS INTERESTING MEETING

The Lubbock Rotary Club in its Mid-Week luncheon yesterday had a very interesting program, inasmuch as the President and Secretary of the Club, Nell Wright and Lee Duggan, made an interesting report of their trip to the recent meeting of the President's and Secretaries of the Rotary Clubs in Texas.

President Wright spoke of the fine work that is being done by other clubs throughout the state, and emphasized the fact that the Lubbock Rotary, though they seemed to be very much alive and were carrying on in good shape, was far short in many ways of the ideal rotary club, and insisted that all of the committees be active and on the job in making the Lubbock Club one of the leaders of the State.

Lee Duggan, was enthusiastic over the things he saw and learned while away about Rotary, and too stressed the importance of the club here snapping up and really doing things.

L. S. Harkey, and Harry Blocker were received into the club, and were instructed in their duties by Tom Hutchinson.

A number of visitors were present, who were enjoyed, and would no doubt have made some good speeches had not President Wright and Secretary Duggan, taken advantage of their learning while away and poured it on the home bunch.

Jed Eix announced that the minstrel show would be pulled off in a few weeks now for the benefit of their students loan fund, and urged that every fellow be tuned up and tuned in for a big time, and make the entertainment worth the money that the people will pay to see it, and help swell the Students Loan fund which should be doubled every year.

FRANKS SLAYERS ARE GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

without sufficient thrills has suddenly become desirable. After all, living is in the now, and death holds uncertainties.

"And for the murder of Robert Franks I sentence you, Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., to the penitentiary for the rest of your natural life," Justice Caverly reads. Then follows a duplicate sentence for Loeb. When the ninety nine years are imposed on the kidnaping charge, the judge pauses. The decision has ended and Judge Caverly draws on his feet.

And the youthful slayers are the prisoners of the sheriff. The little door leading over the bridge of sight to the jail swallows them. They have begun payment.

On their way to their cells, the boys returned to him. "I don't see how we can do 99 years, and live at the same time," Loeb's grin returned to him in all its splendor and once in the bull pen he whooped: "Go out and order us a big meal. Get us two steaks—that thick." He indicated a three inch thickness with his hands.

Sheriff Hoffman talked with the youths for a few minutes and Loeb was heard to say: "We don't care when you take us to the penitentiary now. We are in from now on any way and it doesn't make any difference when you start."

The sheriff said he would lead the trip to Joliet and that an armored police caravan would whisk them away. A fleet of motorcycle policemen heavily armed will clear the way for the prison car, and the trip is expected to be made in fast time.

Caverly Disappointed

Judge Caverly had scarcely intimated a dozen lines of the decision to which the whole world listened when it seemed that the words took on the quality of echoes—echoes of other words that had been spoken a short while before by an old gray man with tears in his eyes.

Clarence Darrow, pleading for mercy—"I don't care, your honor," he said "whether the march of these children begins at the gallows or when the gates of Joliet close upon them. There is nothing but the night—and that is enough for any human to stare at."

Darrow had directed that the "children" plead guilty. He made a plea for them that was unlike anything ever before heard in a courtroom. "Do I need to argue to your honor that cruelty only makes cruelty; that hatred only makes hatred; that if there is any way to destroy, which perhaps there is not if there is any way to soften this human heart, which is hard enough at its best, if there is any way to kill, which is not through evil and hatred and cruelty. It is through charity and love and understanding."

This, the historic plea came back as Judge Caverly dropped his decision. It came back when he read:

"It would have been the task of least resistance to impose the extreme penalty of the law. In choosing imprisonment instead of death, the court is moved chiefly by the consideration of the age of the defendants, boys of 18 and 19 years. This determination appears to be in accordance with the progress of criminal law all over the world, and with the dictates of enlightened humanity."

Judge Caverly ended his decision as follows:

"Life imprisonment may not, at the moment, strike the public imagination as forcibly as would death by hanging, but to the offenders, particularly of the type they are, the prolonged suffering of years of confinement may well be the severest retribution and expiation."

Cautions Against Parole.

"This court feels it proper to add a final word concerning the effect of the parole law upon the punishment of these defendants. In the case of such atrocious crimes it is entirely within the discretion of the department of public welfare to permit to admit these defendants to parole."

"To such a policy, the court urges them strictly to adhere. If this course is preserved in the punishment of these defendants, it will both satisfy the ends of justice and safeguard the interests of society."

But despite the recommendation that the slayers never be paroled there has already begun the circulation of much speculative conjecture on the subject. Life imprisonment for the murder, was the decree; ninety nine years for the kidnaping for ransom.

How these sentences will run under the Illinois parole law is not easily reckoned, disagreeing attorneys say. States attorney Crowe thinks the slayers will be eligible for parole in 20 years; others say 30, 35 and 50 years.

Second Term Prevents Parole.

Under the present statute a man sentenced for life can be paroled for good behavior after 20 years, all of the lawyers agree. The sentence was pronounced by the judge's penitentiary for the kidnaping charge.

Ben Bechman, counsel for Loeb and Leopold, declared informally he believed the sentence for kidnaping would tend to keep the boys imprisoned for 50 years. Marshall, who assisted in the prosecution stated he was of the opinion that the boys would have to serve at least a third of the sentence on the kidnaping charge—33 years—before they could be paroled.

On the other hand a noted criminal lawyer said that under the graduated system, applying in the case of 99 year period imposed, the boys would be eligible for a parole after 50 years and nine months.

Jacob Franks Absent

Jacob Franks, the father of the slayer who attended every session of the trial without exception, was not in his accustomed place when the sentence was pronounced. But Nathan Leopold, Jr., and his son, Foreman, were there. Jacob M. Loeb, uncle of "Dickie" and Allen Loeb, his elder brother, came early.

When it was all over the relatives were piled for statements. The elder Leopold was unable to speak. Jacob Loeb, however, prepared a statement declaring that though the youths had been spared the extreme penalty, there is nothing in the future for their families but grief and sorrow, darkness and despair.

"Nathan Leopold, Jr., has been the special pride of his father. He justly believed that this boy was a genius, a most brilliant student and a loving son who honored him with his own name. He looked forward to the day when his son would make his mark in the world, and accomplish tasks for the benefit of humanity. Now, Mr. Leopold is crushed in spirit, and the few years that are before him are but emptiness."

"Albert Loeb, my brother, always interested himself in every forward movement for common welfare. His one hobby has been his wife and children. He considered Dick, his third boy, particularly talented. He was always a most affectionate and loving son; never known to be disobedient, but was thoughtful and considerate of his parents, and members of the family until this terrible tragedy overtook them. It is pitiful that on account of illness, at a time like this, the father and mother are unable to be at the side of their son. Again, I say what have these two families, whose names have stood for everything that is good, and respectable in the community to look forward to."

In the annals of Chicago crime, the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks stands without parallel. It is unique both for the weirdness and elaborateness of its planning, the apparent absence of motive, the prominence of all the families involved; the celebrity with which the perpetrators were apprehended and their confessions obtained, and finally, for the unusual amount of public interest that attended the hearing, not only in Chicago and throughout the United States, but all over the civilized world.

The Franks case, which probably has taken its place as the most famous murder in American history in coming to an official end with the sentence of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb to absolute imprisonment by Justice Caverly in Chicago.

A symposium of comment gathered by the United News from leading newspapers, prominent jurists, and others throughout the country, shows a very wide divergence of opinion as to whether or not the two young killers should have been hanged. For instance, three common pleas judges interviewed in Cleveland, Ohio, frowned on the verdict, and as many representatives of the public welfare news service jurists in New York upheld it. Again, Chicago judges generally agreed with Caverly, while several authorities on crime interviewed in Philadelphia criticized his decision. Similar differences were found in such newspapers as commented editorially:

Interest in the case has spread through the world and it was followed eagerly in many countries. One foreign newspaper at least, has commented editorially. The London Daily Herald, organ of the British labor movement, commenting at the sentence "from the workers point of view," regards the punishment as "suitable," declares the crime was due to "diseased imaginations" and concludes:

"If they are not insane, they certainly deserve the punishment. If they are insane, it is necessary that they be kept under restraint."

Other representative expressions of opinion follow:

The Sun, New York—"The sentence shakes the faith of the people in the blind equality of justice. They will not believe that any 'boy' man who committed the crime to which Loeb and Leopold pleaded guilty—or any crime approaching its diabolic brutality—would have escaped death in any state where capital punishment exists."

Dr. A. A. Brill, noted author and Psychiatrist, New York—"It was the only thing to do. They are sick, but incurable, and must never again be released."

Judge John F. Meluire, General Sessions, New York—"I think the defendants are not insane, but mental defectives to a high degree. The Herald Tribune, New York—"The sentence imposed upon Leopold and Loeb seem to the Herald

Tribune inadequate justice and we believe that most people will share our feeling.

Wm. Travers Jerome, Nemesis of Harry K. Thaw, New York—"I think Leopold and Loeb are sane and should have been executed as an deterrent to others from similar crimes."

R. B. Van Kleeft-Smith, President of the University of California, Los Angeles—"The sentence was justified by the findings of the case."

Acting District Attorney Burot Pitts, Los Angeles—"Justice Caverly's decision will do more to create disrespect for the law than any recent judicial opinion."

Los Angeles Times—"Clarence Darrow and the cause he has championed have jeopardized the institutions that all right thinking men cherish."

Superior Judge M. J. Roche, San Francisco—"It is a living death. I think it answers the demands of justice."

Rev. Father Diell, Chaplain of San Quentin Prison; I approve of the decision. That age-old maxim "an eye for an eye" is a blot on civilization."

The Bulletin, San Francisco: The social and political effects of Judge Caverly's verdict are gravely to be denounced. Beyond a question it will tend to lower confidence in our machinery of justice.

The Post, Kansas City—"That Loeb and Leopold should have been granted the privilege of continuing their existence, even though behind prison bars, constitutes a grave indictment in the minds of the people who will conjure up wholly different pictures of their fate had the culprits been other than the scions of wealthy families. x x x. In the face of Judge

Caverly's decision the death penalty never again should be inflicted in Illinois where these two wanton murderers escaped the fate so justly deserved.

Judge James H. Austin, Criminal Court, Kansas City: I do not see how Judge Caverly could have done anything else except order them hanged. It may be a harsh and cruel sentence, but the crime would justify hanging. If I had been sitting in the case, I would have sentenced ten slayers to death.

The Portland (Ore.) Journal—"Hanging is wrong." But if ever there was a crime that called for the extreme penalty of the law, it is the atrocity in which the little Franks boy went to doom. If there is a mitigating circumstance in this case, there are mitigating circumstances in every murder.

The Portland (Ore.) Telegram—"It is a matter for national regret that Judge John R. Caverly decided to mitigate the punishment of the two young college students who deliberately committed atrocious murder."

GET TOGETHER AND GO FORWARD

We hear it every day. Co-operation! We hear it but at the same time we seem to get further apart, and there is a tendency of the people to rebel as the burdens of the nation, the state, the county, the city and the precinct begin to pile up.

Lubbock is one of those towns that requires the greatest attention and careful planning, and a huge pile of money, and the people are almost staggering under the whirl of the industries that are being established here and the demands for improvements.

The people of Lubbock away back yonder in years passed and gone, said they could see away down the road into the future and could see a city, the metropolis of the west, where Lubbock then struggled along further away from the railroad than any other postoffice in the United States, but they did not see it all.

Lubbock is now a sure shot for a city of a hundred thousand people, and we might just as well begin planning for a burg of that size. We have the natural foundation for the city, all laid out on good broad streets, and we should not make the mistake of narrowing them down to where they will not serve the purpose that they are intended.

We cannot accomplish the things that we started out to do if we tie things up in court procedures, but we can surely come to some understanding and agreement and remove all hindering causes and go ahead. Just at this time we consider that Broadway is the most important street to pave, but it should be paved full width, or if not completely paved it should by all means be paved on each side with a parked center.

This school is scheduled to open for students September, 1925, and it looks from the way they are moving along that this will be possible and practical. Between now and then—much earlier—November 11th, the corner stone laying is scheduled, and there is going forward now arrangements for the big celebration that will be staged in honor of that great event.

The boys of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are calling on the business firms of the city today for their signatures on the fide trip, and they are meeting with very gratifying results. It is little or no trouble to sign your name to the list, but say fellows it is a different job to get ready and go. But this should be your intention when you sign up, to go strong and put it over in grand shape.

The folks all around us look upon us as the leading wholesale and retail market of the Southwest and we should certainly live up to their expectations. If you have a car that you can spare, use it and if you don't have a car, arrange to go along and make the very best representative of the town that you can.

THE REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN MAINE

Naturally the republicans are elated over the republican victory in Maine, especially as they had been prepared for a narrow escape, if not an actual defeat. It turns out that Brewer, the republican candidate for governor, has defeated Pattangall by about 35,000, a good comfortable margin, which is perfectly satisfactory in the Coolidge household.

Political situations have a baffling way of changing overnight and no statement is good except for the current moment. But right now the question is whether La Follette can force the contest into congress, if not, as the situation stands now, Coolidge would win.

THE ZONING SYSTEM IS ONE OF THE NEEDS OF OUR CITY

Lubbock needs many things. She is just entering into the class of big cities, and the changing of clothes, and the making of a new dress is no little job, but there is one thing that is badly needed in connection with the building program of our city, and that is the zoning system, whereby the city authorities have a right to say where certain classes of business shall be located, and where there shall be nothing but residences and where there shall be stores or factories or shops located.

There is evidences of the need of such a system in Lubbock now, and it will be worse as the town settles up. If there is any way that this situation can be handled legitimately it certainly should have the attention of the people of this city, if we are to head off any embarrassing conditions which will surely arise in the near future.

People should have pride enough in the looks of the town not to build undesirable structures or enter into business where their establishment would in any way interfere with the health and general conditions of the neighborhood, but there are people who will never give it a thought other than for their own convenience and we will face bad conditions.

The boys of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are calling on the business firms of the city today for their signatures on the fide trip, and they are meeting with very gratifying results. It is little or no trouble to sign your name to the list, but say fellows it is a different job to get ready and go.

PUBLIC OPINION

WHAT I WOULD DO IN THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

I am proud and proud to say, that Mrs. Ferguson, the democrat nominee in the republican gubernatorial race, is a pure, good, noble woman, and in her acts she has been actuated by a noble motive, the power of one law had placed a stain upon her husband. She came out openly and appealed to the people at the ballot box to help remove this stain.

There was a time in the olden Populist days when the farmers of Kansas were advised to raise more hell and less corn, recalls the Jamestown, Kas., Optimist. The advice might profitably be revisited at the present time, and be made to read, he thinks, "Drink less corn and raise less hell."

At republican headquarters Paulen's friends grinned widely and said the candidate was "talking all comers."

FIRPO GIVEN SLIGHT ODDS FOR WIN OVER WILLS TO-NITE

NEW YORK ESTABLISHMENT GOES SIX TO FIVE ON WILD BULL ON STRENGTH OF TERRIFIC PUNCHES AND STAMINA

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Owing to some errors of management, two great international events of the 1924 summer have been set for this evening. On the one hand, the fight between Harry Wills, and Luis Angel Firpo, the furious Argentine, whose eye brows grow down to his whiskers.

There is no question that the Anglo-American polo tournament at Westbury would draw a large attendance from the city. The American Swagler set if the opening match did not come in the same week with the fight. The lads up on the avenue are very fond of horses and may be seen tossing dice for them at Diamond Dan O'Tourke's place almost any evening. But, on the other hand, they do not cherish bulls, wild or domestic, and any time there is a prospect of seeing a bull take a beating, they will be there.

The other big international event which is certain to suffer in the matter of attendance owing to the counter-attraction of the wild bull's battle, is the semi-final round of the world championship Oyster eating tournament at Patsy Murphy's Oyster and Chowder Cove on South Street.

It seems most unfortunate that after such a dull summer in the sport line, the lads should be confronted with this situation and compelled to ignore two great events in order to take on a greater one. However, that is the state of affairs, and Tex Richard is able to report that thanks to the ballyhoo of Cannon Wm. S. Chase and other helpful publicity agents, the reserved seat sale for Thursday night wild bull baiting at Boyles Thirty Acres is advancing toward a sell out.

One of the Wall street gambling houses reported Tuesday afternoon that the betting price on the fight was 10 to 8 on Firpo to win. This seemed to be a fair gauge of the opinions expressed over the tea cups around town. It is worthy of note, also, that few people had much to say nor any very strong opinions, either, until the reform agencies began to promote the financial success of the fight by opposing it. The author of these dispatches has seen Firpo and Wills fight several times and has never yet seen Harry Wills in a mood of rage or even fighting enthusiasm. On the other hand, Large Bill Brennan, since deceased, in a facetious moment, plucked a tuft of hair from Luis' chest or the neck of his shirt and raising his glove to his lip, indignantly blew the fur into Luis' face, where as Luis Angel went bounding across the boards of the ring and banged Large Bill so hard on the skull that he knocked this native Irishman into the Jewish hospital.

On another night, before Luis Angel ever had his picture in the papers, Sailor Maxsted, then a fairly experienced fighter, jarred Firpo to his knees with a wild slam, thereby arousing him to uncontrollable anger. Firpo beat the sailor down immediately and Maxsted said afterwards that there was no way to fight Luis Angel.

"If you sock him hard, he gets mad and knocks you cockeyed," said the sailor.

"If you sock him easy he knocks you cockeyed any way."

On still another night, Jack Dempsey after tumbling Firpo all over the ring in the polo grounds as a baggageman tumbles a trunk, stepped back to count the house and found himself outside the ring gazing upward at his own toes.

Wills has a friendly nature. Wills has brittle knuckles and has been hitting punches so long to save his hands that nobody has seen him let go a real punch since the night he knocked out Fred Fulton four years ago. Luis likes to hug his opponent's body with his left arm and versed in the tricks of the craft, might wrap up his arms for a little while.

Wills has a hard left stab which he intends to stick in Firpo's face to confuse and hurt and discourage him. Jess Willard had a much harder straight left than Wills. He stuck it into Firpo's nose, too, almost snapped his neck with it. Firpo stepped back, shuddered, lowered his head and tore in, catching his right hand so hard to the body that Willard quit.

Wills has a long, lean body that looks as though it would soon be stove in by Luis' slams if the ribs. In fifteen rounds with Bartley Madden, who hits with less force than an effeminate butterfly, Harry Wills was afraid to drop his own guard and walk in, punching for a knockout.

This is one opinion of the wild bull and the brown panther, as they are called. It is not recommended for betting purposes. The best way for an outsider to make money on a fight is to put his money in the bank.

The hard driven Giants gained a small bit of ground and a few inches Wednesday in their respective races for the pennant of the National and American leagues. In the National league the Giants who led the Brooklyn Dodgers perpetrated a compound wallop on the Boston Braves while the Dodgers were winning their single game from the Phillies in Brooklyn. In the American league, the Senators split a double header with the Athletics in Philadelphia whereas the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox were drowned out by rain in Boston.

The first game between the Giants and Braves on the Boston pastore resulted in one of the largest scores of the season, 22 and 1 for the Giants. Scores of 20 or so were very common in 1922 and 1923 when the league ball was stuffed with jumping beans and kangaroo nerves, but this year with the old ball, there have been many 1 to 0 and 2 to 1 contests. The Giants won the second 3 to 0.

The Washington club was beaten 2 to 1 in the first contest. The statement won the second, however 4 to 5.

There were three other collisions in the major leagues but none of them had any real bearing on the permanent business. The Cincinnati Reds beat the St. Louis Browns 4 to 3. The American circuit, the White Sox beat the Tigers 12 to 8.

In the National Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 3 to 1 and Cincinnati beat Chicago 6 to 3.

The Giants now lead the Dodgers by one full game. The Senators are one-half game ahead of the Yanks.

DOUBLE WIN BOOSTS GIANTS; SENATORS LOSE SLIGHTLY

By United News.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The ballyhoo for Luis Angel Firpo's fight with Harry Wills Thursday night climbed to a screaming crescendo as the opponents of the show ran in widening circles all over the state of New Jersey Wednesday afternoon trying to have Luis Angel arrested for something. It didn't matter whether he was arrested for beating his horse or his wife, of which he has neither as long as he could be arrested.

At a late hour no warrants had been reported issued but returns from some of the mountain country were still missing and there was a chance that some justice of the peace and constable to entertain a charge of violating the curfew law. All this activity was promoter, as the publicity drew a greatly noted by Tex Richard, the long line of customers to trade with his horse on his wife, of which he has neither as long as he could be arrested.

Once during the afternoon's gesture of the ominous flutter of a newspaper, a sound vaguely suggesting social and business session in the gym at Madison Square Garden some feud in human form flamed a sheaf of oil stock just behind Luis Angel Firpo's back and he bolted from the place with the very expensive lawyerly Elyne Bushel, of Broadway, clinging to his coat tails and yelling "Whoa, Wild Bill; So Boss! It took the very expensive Mr. Bushel two hours to reassure Luis and bring him back.

When they came back, the expensive Mr. Bushel explained that Luis Angel "merely" went out to do a little shopping. Luis Angel then inserted himself into his enormous over-all tights, manufactured by the firm that makes the tents for the circus and went through his last exercises.

Later, Mayor Hague of New Jersey City, who recently laughed off the protests of five reformer organizations operating in his town had a discussion with Richard, the expensive Mr. Bushel, and Frank Country, one of Richard's business operatives, in a secret chamber of the garden. Their deliberations were about as public as an execution of the Black Hand Society and naturally, the boys in the alley could only guess at what was being "arranged". Being versatile guessers and not generally averse to fixing matters before a fight themselves, the lads guessed many things, all of a suspicious nature.

Through his last exercises, Luis Angel's boys in the alley usually preceded by number of rumors it will serve the purposes of the convenience to set down the leading rumors in tabloid form. These are that:

1. Firpo won't be allowed to win. Wills won't be allowed to win.
2. There are many reasons to support each rumor, each reason being about as authentic as the rumor to which it pertains but no more so.
3. Patsy Haley, the most prominent referee in New York visited the garden to see Firpo in action before forming his opinion.
4. "From what I see of him and from what I know about Wills, I should say Harry will knock him for some new night dresses and sustain flight records," Mr. Haley said.
5. After his last training exercises Firpo went back to the cheerless loveless little apartment in which he is stopping and heaved a sigh of that blew all the wash off the line next door. Harry Wills remained around his home in the coal scuttle section of New York some times called the Harlem Black belt. He had shown all the observers at his camp that he was in magnificent shape and was taking life easy until the ring time. He and Luis Angel will meet for the first time when they weigh in at Joe Jannettes gym in Hoboken Thursday afternoon.

FIGHT OPPONENTS FAIL ATTEMPT AT FIRPO ARREST

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Unusual importance is attached to the negro vote this year because of its unsettled nature. In previous presidential campaigns, this vote has been checked off as solidly republican. Republican campaign managers, knowing it was safely hitched, never bothered much about it. Democratic managers, also knowing it was safely hitched to the opposition, turned to more fruitful fields.

But the situation is considerably different this year. The wave of political unrest has coursed through large sections of the negro population and in view of the fact that this element is numerically strong enough to affect the result in a number of important states, Indiana for instance, it becomes an important quality in the campaign.

A remarkable demonstration of the power of the negro vote came last spring when negro politicians forced the republican national committee to kill the plan for cutting down southern representation at republican national conventions. When the national committee was told that this proposed reduction which had been ordered by the 1920 convention would drive off offended negroes to the democratic party, the committee promptly ignored the mandate of the national convention and killed the plan which had been prepared and which was slated for adoption.

Negroes claim that they were responsible for the re-election of Senator Lodge by a small margin in 1922. Some attributed the election of Senator Bayard, democrat, of Delaware in the same year to negroes who jumped the republican party.

GREAT IMPORTANCE IS ATTACHED TO NEGRO VOTE

CONVICT REFUSED LEAVE TO ATTEND FUNERAL

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 10.—Real tragedy crept behind the walls of the state prison here Wednesday.

On Monday, the little daughter of James Seward, a "lifer" was run down and killed by an automobile in St. Louis. Word was sent the father and Warden J. S. Crawford volunteered to send a guard with Seward to attend the funeral Wednesday.

Governor Hyde, however, refused to permit the convict to leave the prison. Wednesday afternoon, at the hour his little girl was being buried, Seward knelt in prayer on the floor of the machine shop where he was employed.

mad and knocks you cockeyed" said the sailor.

"If you sock him easy he knocks you cockeyed any way."

On still another night, Jack Dempsey after tumbling Firpo all over the ring in the polo grounds as a baggageman tumbles a trunk, stepped back to count the house and found himself outside the ring gazing upward at his own toes.

Wills has a friendly nature. Wills has brittle knuckles and has been hitting punches so long to save his hands that nobody has seen him let go a real punch since the night he knocked out Fred Fulton four years ago. Luis likes to hug his opponent's body with his left arm and versed in the tricks of the craft, might wrap up his arms for a little while.

Wills has a hard left stab which he intends to stick in Firpo's face to confuse and hurt and discourage him. Jess Willard had a much harder straight left than Wills. He stuck it into Firpo's nose, too, almost snapped his neck with it. Firpo stepped back, shuddered, lowered his head and tore in, catching his right hand so hard to the body that Willard quit.

Wills has a long, lean body that looks as though it would soon be stove in by Luis' slams if the ribs. In fifteen rounds with Bartley Madden, who hits with less force than an effeminate butterfly, Harry Wills was afraid to drop his own guard and walk in, punching for a knockout.

This is one opinion of the wild bull and the brown panther, as they are called. It is not recommended for betting purposes. The best way for an outsider to make money on a fight is to put his money in the bank.

By United News.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The ballyhoo for Luis Angel Firpo's fight with Harry Wills Thursday night climbed to a screaming crescendo as the opponents of the show ran in widening circles all over the state of New Jersey Wednesday afternoon trying to have Luis Angel arrested for something. It didn't matter whether he was arrested for beating his horse or his wife, of which he has neither as long as he could be arrested.

At a late hour no warrants had been reported issued but returns from some of the mountain country were still missing and there was a chance that some justice of the peace and constable to entertain a charge of violating the curfew law. All this activity was promoter, as the publicity drew a greatly noted by Tex Richard, the long line of customers to trade with his horse on his wife, of which he has neither as long as he could be arrested.

Once during the afternoon's gesture of the ominous flutter of a newspaper, a sound vaguely suggesting social and business session in the gym at Madison Square Garden some feud in human form flamed a sheaf of oil stock just behind Luis Angel Firpo's back and he bolted from the place with the very expensive lawyerly Elyne Bushel, of Broadway, clinging to his coat tails and yelling "Whoa, Wild Bill; So Boss! It took the very expensive Mr. Bushel two hours to reassure Luis and bring him back.

When they came back, the expensive Mr. Bushel explained that Luis Angel "merely" went out to do a little shopping. Luis Angel then inserted himself into his enormous over-all tights, manufactured by the firm that makes the tents for the circus and went through his last exercises.

Later, Mayor Hague of New Jersey City, who recently laughed off the protests of five reformer organizations operating in his town had a discussion with Richard, the expensive Mr. Bushel, and Frank Country, one of Richard's business operatives, in a secret chamber of the garden. Their deliberations were about as public as an execution of the Black Hand Society and naturally, the boys in the alley could only guess at what was being "arranged". Being versatile guessers and not generally averse to fixing matters before a fight themselves, the lads guessed many things, all of a suspicious nature.

Through his last exercises, Luis Angel's boys in the alley usually preceded by number of rumors it will serve the purposes of the convenience to set down the leading rumors in tabloid form. These are that:

1. Firpo won't be allowed to win. Wills won't be allowed to win.
2. There are many reasons to support each rumor, each reason being about as authentic as the rumor to which it pertains but no more so.
3. Patsy Haley, the most prominent referee in New York visited the garden to see Firpo in action before forming his opinion.
4. "From what I see of him and from what I know about Wills, I should say Harry will knock him for some new night dresses and sustain flight records," Mr. Haley said.
5. After his last training exercises Firpo went back to the cheerless loveless little apartment in which he is stopping and heaved a sigh of that blew all the wash off the line next door. Harry Wills remained around his home in the coal scuttle section of New York some times called the Harlem Black belt. He had shown all the observers at his camp that he was in magnificent shape and was taking life easy until the ring time. He and Luis Angel will meet for the first time when they weigh in at Joe Jannettes gym in Hoboken Thursday afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The route of the American round the world flyers has been changed, so that they will turn southward by way of Texas, and Arizona points to southern California, and then turn northward to Seattle instead of flying over the western route as planned, the army air service announced Wednesday.

After leaving St. Joseph, Mo., the flyers will proceed to Muskogee, Oklahoma, Dallas, Texas, El Paso, Texas, Tucson, Ariz., San Diego, California, Los Angeles, California, San Francisco, Eugene, Ore., and then to Seattle. Originally the scheduled route led from St. Joseph to Omaha, Neb., and thence westward by way of North Platte, Neb., Cheyenne, Wyo., Rock Springs, Wyo., Salt Lake City, Utah, Selduro, Utah, Reno, Nev., Sacramento, Cal., then to Seattle.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The route of the American round the world flyers has been changed, so that they will turn southward by way of Texas, and Arizona points to southern California, and then turn northward to Seattle instead of flying over the western route as planned, the army air service announced Wednesday.

After leaving St. Joseph, Mo., the flyers will proceed to Muskogee, Oklahoma, Dallas, Texas, El Paso, Texas, Tucson, Ariz., San Diego, California, Los Angeles, California, San Francisco, Eugene, Ore., and then to Seattle. GREAT SERMON ON BAPTISM IS GIVEN HERE

Tuesday night was another great service in the Church of Christ meetings.

The singing was great, and Evangelist Dunn preached one of his best discourses of the meeting upon the subject of Baptism.

There was rapid attention through out the service. The preacher quoted almost every passage in the Bible bearing upon the action of Baptism and gave much history which has to do with the word Baptism.

The Church continues to invite friends and neighbors to come also strangers and visitors.

One feature of the meetings is that people have attended from almost every town in the plains country.

Many preachers of the Church of Christ have visited the meetings.

TOSSED MONEY TO DECIDE BUILDING CONTRACT

By International News Service.

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 9.—A half dollar tossed to the air and caught by "heads" won the job for a goodly number of dollars for the Port Arthur Building Material company and lost an equal sum for a competitor.

The two concerns were bidding to supply the city commission with cement, sand and gravel. The bids were identical.

Mayor Logan of Port Arthur looked at the bids. He suggested flipping a quarter. A newspaper reporter went him one better by producing a half. "Hizzoner" selected heads. The silver spun in the air and fell on the table. It was "tails." The mayor had lost.

CONFINED TO BED

Birmingham Lady Took Cardui for Relief of Change of Life Troubles and Says It Helped Her "So Much."

Birmingham, Ala.—"I first took Cardui for that tired, worn-out feeling that comes from being dreadfully run-down," says Mrs. Catherine E. Smith, of 2106 Stout Street. "Twenty-five years ago, I was suffering from womanly weakness.

I read of Cardui in an almanac, and thought I would try it. I got a bottle and it helped me from the first. After that, during the whole of my married life, I took Cardui when I needed it.

"About four years ago, change of life came on me. I grew weaker and weaker, and was confined to my bed, where I lay on my back for days. I was told that only a severe operation could do me any good, and this depressed me very much, for I dreaded such an ordeal.

"I remembered how Cardui had helped me for female trouble in the past and I had read of how it had helped other women during change of life, so one night I told my husband to go to the drug store and get me a bottle. I began taking it at once. From the first dose I could feel myself getting stronger. I continued to take Cardui until I was entirely through this very trying period of a woman's life."

DISCOVERY OF NEW RECORD CHRIST'S LIFE REPORTED

By United News.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The reported discovery by Martino Fusco of a new record of the life and martyrdom of Christ has created a lively commotion among the British church, but skepticism dominates the criticism. It is generally agreed that if genuine, they will be of tremendous importance to Christian bibliographers but the churchmen want to be shown.

Canon Charles, of Westminster Abbey, prominent publicist and widely known as a translator of religious works, pointed out that the four gospels of the Bible could easily stand supplementing.

"There may quite readily be genuine individual documents of this sort discovered," he said, "but I cannot see how a huge mass of writings like this can have escaped general knowledge all these years.

"If, however, these documents should by some miracle prove authentic, then they will be of immense importance."

The gospels are really only an attempt to record some of the Savior's doings, the canon said. He pointed out that St. Luke, for instance, had no direct communication with Christ and must have gathered whatever he knew from other evidence.

"The present form of St. Matthew is not original," he explained. "It was originally in semitic and was subsequently enlarged by a Greek writer who added immensely to its contents.

"Mark also is anecdotal. He does not say a word about the Lord until his infancy; and then there is nothing about the infancy itself."

Canon Charles said that known works by authorities contained no evidence substantiating the existence outside the New Testament of any such histories as Martino Fusco's alleged find.

Frequent attempts have been made to write accounts of our Lord, but they are ludicrous in the extreme," he concluded. "It will be astonishing if there is the slightest element of truth in this claim."

FINDS SONS AFTER 26 YEARS IN CALIFORNIA

International News Service.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 10.—Verification has been received here of the report that C. B. Baquet, 74, has found his son in Oakland, California, as a bell hop after a search of 26 years.

Baquet, former Houston rancher and at present a contractor in Oakland, dropped into an Oakland hotel and recognized his son as the man who carried his traps to his room and then accepted a generous tip.

SHENANDOAH IS COMING TO TEXAS IN OCTOBER

A dispatch from Washington says the Shenandoah will be in Fort Worth about Oct. 2 or 3.

Although the schedule has not been definitely arranged, Lieutenant Patterson, aide to Admiral Moffett, said that it is the intention of the bureau to send the Shenandoah from Lake Hurst as near Oct. 1, if not on that day, as conditions will permit.

The length of her stay in Fort Worth has not been definitely decided, but it will necessarily be short. But the citizens of the city will have two chances to see the giant dirigible, for she will return to the East coast by the Fort Worth helium plant.

After she has completed her duties with the Pacific fleet she will be brought back to the East to participate in the Schneider cup races at Baltimore Oct. 24 and 25. Her stop at Fort Worth on return will be brief, for when she goes West.

The Schneider cup races, an annual Navy plane speed classic, was won last year at Cowles, England, by the United States, and Navy planes in recent tests at Baltimore exceeded the speed record made at the English meet.

It is possible the Shenandoah will leave the Lake Hurst moorings on the morning of Oct. 1. That would put her in Fort Worth in the afternoon of Oct. 2 if ordinary speed should be maintained.

DRILLING FOR POTASH IN THE MIDLAND VICINITY

MIDLAND, Texas, Sept. 10.—Drilling exclusively for potash will start within about a week on the Jax M. Cowden ranch south of here.

S. F. Johnson, manager of the Texas Development well, is unloading core drill machinery to drill ten yards from a present test for oil.

Mr. Johnson says the standard rig, which penetrated a total of eighty feet of potash veins in commercial quantities, was not a true test, as the "drillings" were filled with inferior droppings from above. He says that although two of these veins showed to be richer by far than any ever found in America and as rich as most of the German mines, a core test will show the strata even richer than has been claimed.

His plan is to diamond drill on various parts of his 10,000-acre lease, to get the extent of the beds, then sink a vertical shaft and drift on the veins in mining the precious mineral.

"In times of confusion," it is a good policy to read the United States Constitution.

FINED $100.00 AND COSTS FOR GETTING FRESH

By United News.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Being fresh with a prospective customer cost Joseph Alder, taxicab driver $100 and costs in police court here Monday.

"I'm no information bureau," he snapped out when Arthur G. Olson, asked him at what depot he could get a certain train. Then he drew a revolver to ward off a threatened bust on the nose.

Justice Eberhardt fined him the $100 for carrying a concealed weapon.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN DEBT TREATY MODEST AFFAIR

LONDON, Sept. 9.—From the standpoint of Russia's creditors—taking them by and large—the new Anglo-Russian Treaty is a very modest affair.

It provides for settlement of only a fraction of Russia's foreign indebtedness.

A birdseye view of those debts would show them divided something like this:

Of the Russian Pre-War Government debt, France holds 80 per cent; Great Britain 14 per cent.

Of Russian industrial securities held abroad and now repudiated by the Soviet Government, France holds 32 per cent, Great Britain 25 per cent, Germany 16 per cent, Belgium 15 per cent, U. S. A., 6 per cent.

Of Russia's war loans abroad, Great Britain holds 70 per cent, U. S. A., 7 per cent and France 19 per cent.

Russia Hopes to Borrow

What Russia hopes to do under the new treaty is to borrow in the London money market enough to start up her stagnant industries again and with the surplus—probably modest—she will (a) compound with the owners of the old Russian bonds paying just enough to galvanize the bonds into life again (b) pay something to the English holders of Russian securities that represented honest-to-goodness business enterprises in Russia but she flatly refuses to pay a cent for properties which were bankrupt or indifferently managed etcetera (c) take up the question of war loans independently, each issue on its merits, based on the theory that much of the money left England at all, likewise the supplies purchased with the loans.

EXPECT RECORD DISPLAY AT MITCHELL COUNTY FAIR

COLORADO, Texas, Sept. 10.—With arrangements complete for several West Texas counties to display agricultural booths at the third annual Mitchell County Fair here Sept. 25, 26, and 27, indications promise keen competition in this department of the show.

PEP MEETING TO BOOST TRADE TRIP HELD

A spirited meeting of the membership of the junior chamber of commerce was held at the Busy Bee Cafe Wednesday morning at seven o'clock.

The "old guards" headed by president Byron C. Dickinson were at their accustomed places in the cafe at seven o'clock, while less energetic members of the club straggled in a few minutes late, but all who got there before seven thirty o'clock had an opportunity to hear plans for today's trade trip discussed pro and con.

The committees that have been appointed have all been functioning properly, though several members appointed in the committees fell down a bit, their work was carried on by those who were on the job doing double-time, and all indications are that when the automobile caravan leaves the courthouse at seven thirty o'clock this morning for a trip to Idalou, Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton, Post City, Southland and Slaton, Lubbock will be better represented than on any previous trade trip.

The proposition of getting all who make the trip to wear the white hats which have been stocked

MORE BIBLE READERS NOW THAN EVER BEFORE

DALLAS, Sept. 10.—Irrespective of frequent assertions that modern reading is rapidly inclining toward "trashy literature" and "sex novels" Dr. L. L. McLaughlin, secretary of the American Bible Society of New York on a visit here produced statistics to show that more bibles and religious works have been published during the past year than during any previous year in the history of the organization.

He declared that he had found unusual interest and stimulated Bible reading throughout the country.

VETERINARIES HERE TO SUPERINTEND VACCINATION

SEMINOLE, Sept. 10.—Dr. Smotherman, of Fort Worth, State Veterinarian and Dr. J. G. Porter, of Lubbock, United States Livestock Inspector, were here the first of the week and assisted in the vaccination of the cattle on M. S. Doss' ranch east of town.

Mr. Doss had lost between 30 and 40 head of grown cows from anthrax, a disease among livestock most prevalent in South Texas. We understand that the entire herd has been vaccinated and that it is hoped will check the spread and thus future losses from this disease will be stopped.

NEGRO HARDSHELL BAPTISTS BUILDING COLLEGE

MEXIA, Texas, Sept. 10.—Construction is rapidly progressing on the Negro Primitive Baptist Institute for the Southwest near here on the Broadnax farm, as the result of the generosity of Wilbur Thomas, former negro farmer who was suddenly enriched by the discovery of oil on his property.

There is some question as to whether the school should ultimately be named after its founder, Thomas, or designated as at present.

MARKETS

STOCKS SUFFER IN REACTION AFTER DEMONSTRATION

BY EDWARD J. CONDLON
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—On the heels of the bullion demonstration on Tuesday inspired by political news, the mid-week session of the stock market saw the outcropping of reactionary tendencies again. The break in Union Bag and Paper following the news of the passing of the quarterly dividend unsettled the industrial section of the list while the rails suffered from uncertainty when St. Paul preferred hit a record low despite assurances from President Bryan that re-organization of the roads finances is not contemplated. Even the surprising increase in the unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corporation for August failed to prevent steel common from closing lower, much less prevent the active selling of other industrials. The spread between the extremes of the day for steel amounted to 2 points. The increase of 102,505 tons in the time when only a small increase in the total tonnage for the month was looked for. Reports from mill centers indicate a rain in steel production though the out-turn of pig iron is lagging far behind. If the railroad shares had harkened to the latest car loading figures for steel, speculative support faded before the steady increase in hedge selling. The weekly weather report indicated more deterioration now that cooler weather had set in, following some eight weeks of warm temperatures, but the general situation over the belt was not so unfavorable as private reports had related a weakness in Liverpool for the decline.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—Liberal cattle receipts again Wednesday held for $11.00, held in the hold over kept the market steady to weak. The demand was active with many country buyers in the yards. Light receipts of hogs stipulated demand from both packers and shippers and prices were generally from 5 to 10c higher.

NEW FANGLED WORDS NO WORRY TO THIS WOMAN

By Ethel Frank.
POPEKA, Sept. 10.—You can't fool Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, 63, of Atchison, Kansas, on these "new fangled" words. She was awarded first prize in the "old folks" spelling contest at the Kansas free fair Wednesday. Forty-six persons more than 50 years old took part. America is still the melting pot—but now its gold.

SHIPWRECKED CREW PICKED UP FROM LIFE RAFT.

CREW OF SAMUEL W. HATHAWAY, WFL.

No words could tell the story of the six shipwrecked members of the crew of the four-masted schooner Samuel W. Hathaway with the vivid eloquence of this photograph, taken 350 miles out in the Atlantic, by one of the boat's crew of the liner Southern Cross, the rescue ship. The picture was snapped as the men staggered to their feet on the tiny, flimsy raft that had been their home for five days after a typhoon sunk their vessel off Cape Hatteras. A moment later they collapsed. They had eaten raw fish and were constantly menaced by sharks. Three other men who occupied another raft are believed to have perished. Their own raft was the roof of the cabin of the schooner.

LUBBOCK WILL BE ASTIR THROUGHOUT FRIDAY

Lubbock was rightfully given the title of "The City of Zest" by Jamie Heron, noted Scotch poet and humorist, who described the hub city with these words in a poem read to the druggists in their meeting here Tuesday evening. Heron knows a busy town when he sees it, and his descriptive words are entirely true.

Friday will perhaps be the busiest day in Lubbock this week, while today will see the least activity as at seven thirty o'clock this morning a representative from every business house in Lubbock will leave to make the trade trip east, while tomorrow these distinct programs will be carried out here.

At noon the local Kiwanis luncheon, which was pushed one day ahead of the regular schedule, will be held at the Armory building.

All day long members of Battery C, 131st Field Artillery, which will be recruited to full wartime strength, will participate in a mammoth defense test program assisted by members of Allen Brothers Post of the American Legion.

Tents will be pitched on the courthouse lawn where the battymen and legionnaires will have headquarters, and at the legion tent a committee will work all day supplying the necessary compensation blanks to applicants and assisting them to make their compensation claim.

One of the best services that will be afforded ex-service men on this date, and efficiency in handling the papers is to be assured as Hubert L. Allen, who is head of the committee to do this work will be assisted by Attorney Homer L. Pharr, of the law firm of Bledsoe & Pharr who has made a thorough study of the Adjusted Compensation regulations and can give expert advice to the ex-service men. Despite the fact that this official legal talent and the assistance of others who are efficient in this work will be given the ex-service men, no charge whatever will be made for this service and due to the fact that all members of the committee take ex-service men and their buddies will feel free to ask any assistance of them desired. Don't be backward in asking this committee to help you with your adjusted compensation blanks. They have worked on this job through so be able to help solve most any of the problems that might be worrying the ex-soldier and will be glad for an opportunity to lend him a helping hand.

In the afternoon the Defense Day program will be held at the community auditorium, and at six o'clock in the evening more than sixty attorneys of the 72nd Judicial District will meet with District Judge Clark M. Mullican at the district court room for a thorough discussion of what steps to take to affect a division of the 72nd Judicial District in order to have another court created in the district that will make it possible for the many cases of the district to be disposed of more promptly than is possible under the present congested condition of both the civil and criminal dockets.

At eight o'clock these attorneys will meet together with their wives at the basement of the First Baptist Church building for their annual banquet, which is a feature looked forward to by them from year to year. An elaborate program has been planned by the program and arrangements committee composed of Attorneys John L. Ratliff, Homer L. Pharr and Richard L. Douglas.

Yes, indeed, Jamie Heron is right. Lubbock fits the description he gave when he called her "The City of Zest."

BOND IS GRANTED TO A CHILDRESS WOMAN

CHILDRESS, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Clara Maddox, 27, of Decatur, wife of H. R. Maddox, deputy city marshal, surrendered to officers yesterday following the fatal shooting of Mrs. Anna Belle Barker of Elk City, Oklahoma, yesterday while the latter was seated in an automobile with Mrs. Maddox.

Mrs. Maddox was released on $2,000 bond, furnished by friends in Decatur.

Maddox was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant charging violation of the Mann act, sworn out by the county attorney here.

Mrs. Maddox said she came to Childress having been told that her husband was in the company of Mrs. Barker, a divorcee. Before going to Amarillo, she obtained pictures of Mrs. Barker at Elk City, she told authorities, in order to recognize her as she had never seen the woman. She said she came to Childress only with the intention of warning Mrs. Barker.

The body of Mrs. Barker will be sent to Elk City where a sister lives, for burial.

EYEBALL PIERCED BY GLASS BUT SIGHTY IS UNHURT

SHERMAN, Texas, Sept. 10.—Although her eyeball was pierced with a jagged piece of broken glass, the sight of little Margaret Bledsoe of near Bells, daughter of Mrs. Jim Bledsoe, will probably be recovered according to physicians.

The girl fell face downward on a broken bottle. Before a doctor was summoned, the piece of glass protruded from her eye ball to such an extent the eye could not close. The physician carefully removed the glass and subsequent operations were performed to return her to health.

12,787,000 BALES IS COTTON CROP FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Cotton has passed through August with less deterioration than in that month last year and less than the average August of the last 10 years, resulting in a forecast today by the department of Agriculture of 12,787,000 equivalent 500-pound bales for this season's crop. That is 169,000 bales less than forecast from the condition of the crop in the middle of August and 2,658,000 bales more than produced last year.

The condition of the crop Sept 1 was 59.3 per cent of normal, indicating an acre yield of 151.5 pounds. The Aug. 15 report this year placed the condition at 64.9 indicating an acre yield of 153.5 pounds, and a crop of 12,956,000 bales at that time. Production was 10,128,478 bales last year, when the nearest comparable date.

Estimates by States The condition of the crop Sept 1 and the forecast of production based thereon (in thousands of bales) in some states follow:

- Louisiana—47 and 371. Texas—55 and 1,254. Arkansas—68 and 1,100. Missouri—70 and 222. Oklahoma—70 and 1,280. Ginnings totaled 1,142,600 running bales to Sept. 1 last year. Round bales included in this year's ginnings totaled 36,761 compared with 52,575 last year. Ginnings to Sept. 1 this year in some states follow:

- Louisiana, 57,573. Texas, 620,842. Oklahoma, 3,329.

In a summary of conditions the department said:

"The outstanding fact with regard to cotton for the latter half of August is dry weather in many regions prolonged to a severe drought. This condition has spoiled the earlier possibility of a bumper crop in Georgia. It has apparently stopped plant growth and fruiting in Alabama and caused deterioration in Mississippi. Northwest Louisiana has had practically no rain since June 2, and the plants are short and have stopped growing.

Part of Texas Dry There has been continued lack of rain in Central and Eastern Texas, although there have been beneficial rains in the northwest portion. The temperatures in that state have been high in East and Central Texas, and stands are poor and the number of bolls that were safe on Sept. 1 was below average.

"Extremely dry weather is reported from the entire cotton area of Tennessee and some damage is apparent, but not great. The southeastern and southern parts of Oklahoma are suffering with drought but in the state as a whole enough squares and bolls remain to produce a good crop. Throughout most of the cotton belt growing conditions have been such as to cause smaller plants and bolls than usual and premature opening of bolls, although the season is regarded as somewhat late.

"Damage by boll weevil has so far been light throughout the entire cotton belt of South Texas. In North Carolina little of the poison that was bought has been used. A little local damage is reported from South Carolina and further damage is possible to the middle of September. The crop is too far advanced in Georgia for any serious loss from the weevil. Little damage, or practically none, is reported from Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, except the southern part of Oklahoma and Tennessee. The boll weevil had cold, unfavorable weather, a late crop and hot and dry if not prolonged drought conditions, during much of the summer."

Terrill's Estimate on Texas Lower Austin, Sept. 10.—Texas cotton crop this season will be only 80,000 bales less than that of last year, according to estimates published by George B. Terrill, Commissioner of Agriculture. The crop will total around 4,125,000 bales, Terrill said. This is about 150,000 bales below the federal estimates.

Terrill believes the splendid condition of cotton in the northwest counties will increase the production above his estimate. Reports from 200 counties show about 16,000,000 acres in cotton this year. A price of 25 cents a pound to the farmer is the lowest cotton can go this year without losing money for the producer, the report said.

LYNN COUNTY FAIR WILL OPEN SEPT 25

TAHOKA, Sept. 10.—The Lynn County Fair will be held in Tahoka Sept. 26 and 27, the gates to be opened on the evening of Sept. 25 at 7 p. m.

The fair association is making all efforts for this to be the biggest fair ever held in Lynn County, and with the crops that are raised in the county this year the exhibits will be much better than ever.
