RESOLUTIONS OF APPRECIATION TO DR. MORROW FROM THE BAPTIST LAYMEN

At a called meeting of the Baptist Laymen the following resolutions were adopted in appreciation of the faithful service of Bro. Morrow in this capacity as pastor of the Church while serving as temporary pastor in Lubbock.

WHEREAS the Laymen of the First Baptist church have found in Brother Morrow a most sympathetic and earnest worker in our Laymen work, ever ready and willing to do service to others. The son was never too hot, the distance too great, or the hour too late for him to go to the meetings. Sometimes after conducting the morning service he would travel with us for forty miles or more to carry the gospel message to the destitute communities. Under his stirring words many souls were brought to Christ.

THEREFORE be it resolved that as he goes from us that we follow him with our prayers and heartfelt appreciation as serving him that we shall miss him and his good wife as they go from us to other fields of usefulness.

T. W. Sawyer,
G. A. Gunn,
Mrs. E. R. Haynes.

formation of the caravan. "We do not want to start out from here with less than 100 well filled cars," Mr. Dickinson stated, "and if the people of Lubbock do not feel interested in the trip to the extent that they will turn out almost en masse for the occasion, it can be looked upon as nothing but a bad move on the part of the business men, for this is one of the best drawing cards Lubbock has at the present time. Cities along the line are making preparations for reception of the caravan, and we cannot afford to disappoint them by turning out a caravan that will not be representative of the city."

Those who do not have cars, and wish to make the trip, are urged to not hold back on this account, for ample space will be provided for them with someone else. Phone the Chamber of Commerce today if you will make the trip, either in your car or with someone else.

BOARD FOR U. S. WATER AND AIR STRENGTH NAMED

ships will be investigated. This board is the outgrowth of the round-the-world airplane flight just being completed by the army. President Coolidge was so impressed with this feat that he has come to question seriously whether it does not forecast the passing of the big battleships as a fighting weapon. He asked Secretary to appoint a board to investigate the question and recommend a new policy to congress.

Coolidge opposes spending large sums to keep up a battleship fleet if that arm of the navy has been made obsolete by the development of aircraft. Already the proposal has precipitated a warm debate among army and navy officials. It is probable that the board's recommendations will be made the subject of an extensive investigation by congress at the coming session.

STATE RESTS IN WORD MURDER CASE

E. J. Ford and J. D. Ziegler, Specialist Will Testify.

Dr. John S. Turner, nervous and mental disease specialist of Dallas, arrived in Lubbock Tuesday and will testify in the case. He examined Word while here, several weeks ago and considerable interest will center about his testimony, that will perhaps be given today.

Following the examination of several witnesses, the state rested at 4:25 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the argument of attorneys offer the legality of the depositions offered by the defense consumed the remainder of the session.

The following witnesses were called by the state, after which the state rested its case.

Next being testified as follows: I have been a resident of Terry County for the past six and one half years. I was employed by Doctor Windham as his foreman during the month of April, 1924, and had been working for him for some time previous to that time, and had the authority to hire and fire hands working on the ranch, also to pay them off when discharged. I had known William Word for sixteen days on the 21st day of April, had first met him three miles northeast of the Windham ranch where he applied to me for work on the ranch. I employed him at that time and he worked for me for sixteen days when he quit work on the 21st day of April. I gave him a check for his services in the sum of $13.35 paid him about sunrise on the morning of the 21st and he then started walking towards Brownfield. I did not see him any more that day. I told him that morning that Dr. Windham was waiting there that day. After working all day of the 21st about twelve miles south of the ranch, I returned home about nine o'clock that night and saw Doctor Windham out close to his car about six hundred yards east of the ranch house. His car was on the road that he usually traveled in coming from Tahoka to the ranch. Dr. Windham was dead when I saw him by the car.

Mrs. Bert King Testified: I am the wife of Bert King. I remember that the wife of William Word left the Windham ranch on the 21st day of April. About twelve o'clock of the same day I received a telephone call from someone with reference to a check that Mr. King gave. That afternoon Mrs. Lowe and I went in a car to Brownfield and while on the way to Brownfield we passed William Word walking along the road coming south from Brownfield. After spending about three hours in Brownfield we returned along the same road and again saw Word walking towards the ranch and in Dr. Windham's pasture about two miles from the ranch house. I arrived at the ranch house shortly thereafter I called Mr. Jack Bryan over the telephone to come after some things I had purchased for him while in town. Mr. Bryan came over to the house and after he came I saw a car light out in the pasture that I took to be Dr. Windham's car, the car was not moving at the time and after it remained in the same place for perhaps fifteen minutes Mr. Bryan went out to the car.

On Cross Examination, Mrs. King said: I spoke to the Defendant as I was going into Brownfield and he merely nodded his head. I don't think he recognized me. I had known the Defendant at that time for about sixteen days. He stayed at the ranch house and ate at the same table with the other hands. I prepared and served the food for them. I did not know of any particular food that Word was fond of, other than that he drank quite a lot of milk, but I didn't see that he was any more particular about that than anything else. However, on that last night that he spent there he did not eat anything at all, but carried his plate and cup of milk back into the kitchen as was the custom of all hands working there. I felt uneasy when I saw Word on the road that day as I could not understand why he was returning to the ranch.

Jack Bryan Testified: I live about three miles west of Dr. Windham's ranch in Terry County. On the 21st day of April Mrs. King called me over the telephone and I went to the Windham ranch, arriving there about seven or eight o'clock in the evening and talked to Mrs. King a while, about thirty minutes, and then I noticed some car lights out in the pasture. The car appeared to be standing still and I waited about forty minutes before starting an investigation. I then went out to the car and drove up by the side of the car, there was no one in the car and when I backed back my lights shown across Doctor's car and he was laying over there dead, about twenty feet from the car. I then went back to the ranch and telephoned the Sheriff what I had found and then Mr. Cunningham came up about that time and we went back to the car and I got out and felt of Doctor Windham to see if he was cold. He was dead at that time I felt of him and we later carried him to the house where our examination showed that he had received seven bullet wounds, one in the cheek, one in his forehead, and as well as we could make out he had two or three others. They were all small wounds, evidently made by a small bullet. While at his car that night I saw blood down in his car that looked like finger prints, blood in the bottom of his car. Doctor's hands were bloody also his face. He had a handkerchief in his back pocket that was also bloody, tending to show that he had wiped the blood off with the handkerchief and replaced it in his pocket. The lights were burning when I arrived at the car and I think the engine was running but I could not be positive, but when I backed away from the car, I could see the smoke coming from the engine and my car was running and I thought his car was running but would not swear to it. Earl Hill later drove the car to the house.

W. A. Bell, testified as follows: I am in the banking business at Brownfield and was on the 21st day of April of this year. On that day of the defendant, Word, came to the bank and presented a

GENERAL SAWYER DIED SUDDENLY IN MARION

By United News.
MARION, Ohio, Sept. 23.—General Charles B. Sawyer, close friend and physician to the late President Harding, died late Tuesday at the White Oaks farm, his sanitarium.
Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, his son, who was present with Mrs. Sawyer when his father died, gave heart disease as the cause of death. The elder Sawyer was 64 years old.
Mrs. Warren G. Harding, widow of the late president, was in the house, but not in the same room at the time, Sawyer complained that he was feeling badly. He was lying on a lounge when the end came suddenly. He threw up an arm before his face, and slumped over on his side while his son used every available form of first aid treatment without success.
Sawyer, who was 64 years old, was stricken as he talked to his wife, and his son, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, at his sanitarium, White Oak Farm near here.
He had just returned from calling on patients in the several outlying bungalows of the sanitarium. Suddenly he threw up an arm before his face and collapsed to the floor. His son gave every available form of first aid treatment but the general failed to revive.
Dr. Gen. Sawyer was with the late President Harding throughout his term at the white house and at his death in San Francisco. He was retained at the white house a short while by President Coolidge, but later returned to Marion to give his attention to the sanitarium and the Harding memorial association of which he was chief executive.

STATE RESTS IN WORD MURDER CASE

check for payment drawn on the First National Bank of Tahoka. I did not know the signatures on the check and didn't know the one presenting it and I asked him for an endorsement and he said he could not furnish one, that he knew no one in Brownfield. I told him that I knew Doctor Windham's signature but as this was by another party I would decline to cash it and he then suggested that I telephone to the ranch which I did and Mrs. King stated that she did not know William Word, so he at that time suggested that I tell Mrs. King that it was the crippled man that worked down there and she then stated it was O. K. that they owed him for work.
W. Y. Downing, testified: I am in the hardware and furniture business in Brownfield and was on the 21st day of April of this year. At about 12:30 on that date this defendant came to my store and I sold him a twenty-two target rifle and two boxes of ammunition, twenty-two long. The gun I sold him was a twenty-two Winchester pump and would hold about 13 of the long shells. I sold him the gun for twenty dollars, reducing the price one dollar because of his financial condition, as that was all of the money he had at that time. The gun that is shown me here is exactly the same kind of a gun that I sold him.
L. B. Brazelton, testified: I live ten miles southeast of Brownfield. I am a truck driver and drive the truck for the schools out there. I saw the defendant on the morning of the 21st of April while on my way to Brownfield. I picked up a peg leg man and let him ride to Brownfield with me.
Wesley Mathews, testified as follows: I live seven miles south of Brownfield and I lived at that place on the 21st day of April, this year. I could not say that I saw the defendant on that day, but I saw some one with a wooden leg in the truck with Mr. Brazelton. I saw him again as I went home from Brownfield that afternoon. I saw him about four miles south of Brownfield and he was going south towards Lamesa at the time. When I passed him that afternoon, I was within about sixty feet of him and he was the same man that was in the truck that morning. I could not say that he had a gun with him at the time, but he had something that he was carrying down by his leg, might have been a walking cane, but I know he had something carrying it in his hand. I thought he was walking pretty fast for a man in his condition.

E. Brown, testified: I live at Brownfield and am City Marshall of Brownfield. I went to the Windham ranch on the night of the 21st of April. I got there about nine o'clock that night and saw Doctor Windham out in his pasture by his car, he was dead at the time. I saw an examination of the body for wounds and he was wounded in several places. His hands and face were bloody. While at the car we examined the ground for tracks and found tracks scattered around on the east side of the car. We found a couple of empty shells there and some tracks there made by a pig leg. I was also present at the ranch at the time the defendant was arrested and was within about three feet of him at the time of his arrest. He was arrested at the hog pen and at the time he was arrested he came out with his hands up. He punched the gun up through the top of the hog pen and it fell out in front of me. I later saw the defendant at Brownfield and saw him eating sandwiches there. At the time I saw him come out of the pig pen at the ranch he was calm and didn't seem excited and was grinning.

George Tierman, testified: I saw the defendant at the Windham ranch at the time he was arrested and was with in about two feet of him at the time. He did not have a gun at the time as he had thrown it down before we got to him and he then came out of the pig pen with his hands up. This pig pen was built in three stalls and there were some hogs under there. There were probably seventy-five men there at the time of his arrest. There was a machine gun out there in the barn trained on the boiler house which was about thirty feet from the pig pen. The defendant was smiling at the time he was arrested. Different parties had been out around the various buildings previous to the time of the arrest of the defendant trying to locate him. Henry Reed was out southwest of the boiler house crawling around out there trying to locate him and we heard a shot that sounded like a target rifle and Reed came back with a hole in his hat and stated that this party had shot at him and that he thought he was in the engine house. A man by the name of Moore was also shot by this party.

Tom Preston, testified: I live about sixteen miles south of Brownfield. I had known Dr. Windham about twenty years prior to his death. I went to his ranch in Terry county on the night of his death, got there without nine o'clock that night and found his body within fifteen feet of the car when I got there. I later helped dress him and changed his clothing and washed him. When I found him he was lying on his back, flat of his back, just straightened out like a man would lay right flat on his back. I examined his car and found blood around the shift lever of the car. It was a Buick car and the most of the blood was around the shift lever and on the steering wheel and the blood had dropped down through the floor.

Earl Hill, testified: I live at Brownfield. On the 21st day of April I went to the Windham ranch about ten o'clock that night and saw Dr. Windham's body on the ground close to the car and his body was still warm when I got there also when we washed the body at the ranch house.

MORNING SIDE IS NOW SCENE OF MUCH BUILDING

H. P. Lehr and W. E. Bush have just announced a number of sales of lots in the Morning Side Addition where several new homes are now under construction.
F. E. Hook, who recently bought a building site in this restricted residential section, is now building a modern six-room home which is being erected at a total cost of four thousand dollars.
E. L. Hope, who recently established his home here, is building another four thousand dollar home and Arch Butler, of Oklahoma City, who will make his home here as soon as his Morning Side residence has been completed.

J. A. Jones and R. Lindsey, both of Rule, Texas, have recently purchased building sites in this addition and plan the erection of modern homes there soon.
Morning Side is one of the popular sections of Lubbock, and the work Messrs. Lehr and Bush have done in developing it has been worth much to all of Lubbock.

Lots in this addition were placed on the market March 17th, at which time an advertising campaign was carried out for a few weeks and many sales were made. Messrs. Lehr and Bush then kept busy in their regular work and for the ninety days have made very little effort to sell lots in this district but nevertheless have something like sixty-five to seventy per cent of them sold and are now starting a selling campaign that will dispose of all the lots in the addition within a short time.
Morning Side lots have sold themselves, the location with reference to the business district, coupled with the conveniences, such as lights, water, etc., that are offerred, are great inducements to the buyer," Mr. Bush said.

RIGGS REPRESENTS TEXAS LIFE HERE

The Texas Life Insurance Company the oldest old line insurance company in Texas, is represented in this district by K. L. Riggs, who has had an office of the company in Lubbock the past several months and which has enjoyed a good patronage since being established here.
Mr. Riggs is an experienced insurance man and is doing much to develop the company's business in this territory through staying on the job and attending strictly to business.
The Texas Life Insurance Company is a Lone Star institution with Texas at the head of it, and it is occupying a big place among the thriving businesses of this territory.

MORAL TRAINING IN THE SCHOOLS.

There is an extensive stir in the land concerning the lack of moral ideas amongst the growing generation. The absence of proper moral training, especially the debarment of the Bible and Christian teaching from the public schools, is blamed for the conditions. This diagnosis is unquestionably correct. A way to mend the situation is being sought. Collier's Weekly has started what it desires to make a national movement to have moral training given in the public schools. The signatures of many leading churchmen, Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish are given in approval of the scheme. Concerning the movement, this statement is made by its promoters:

"Because of our different beliefs, religious teaching has been barred from many of our public schools.

"This has resulted, quite unwisely and unnecessarily as it seems to us, in there being little or no moral training for our children in those schools.

"Concerning supernatural religion men differ and divide; but natural religion lives in every human being. It is evidenced in that moral guide which we call conscience, which may be crude or cultivated but which is the essence of every system of morals because it is a part of the mind of every man.

"No sane man will deny the necessity for all regardless of creed, to aid in the development of that fundamental force. An education solely in the material things of life is surely incomplete. The young mind must be impressed at the same time with the fundamentals of what constitutes right and wrong.

It is proposed that a code of morals be devised. This code is to be shaped after consultation with the different religious organizations of the country and must not be objectionable in any of its features to any religious cult.

For the public schools this may be and likely is a good move. Certainly something needs to be done and done quickly. The only criticism of it from the standpoint of Christian people is that the code is not likely to be vigorous enough. It would, in all probability exclude Jesus Christ from even so much as a reference. It is not certain that the name of God would be mentioned. The statement quoted above says: "Concerning supernatural religion men differ and divide; but natural religion lives in every human being." One would judge from this remark that "supernatural religion" is not to be honored with the privilege of supplying the code. Only "natural religion" is to be called into service. Well, there are many, many laws of nature which most emphatically insist upon right conduct, and there are youths growing up around us who do not know even so much as the moral code of natural religion. If those two murderous boys in Chicago had known and felt the restraints and ideals of even the natural code, they likely would not have committed that repulsive and unnatural crime. Great and wonderful nature speaks much of the language of God and teaches the terrors of violated law. But natural religion never has been able to meet the needs of man's spiritual nature nor to furnish impelling moral sanctions. A personal God back of all nature to whom all personalities are ultimately accountable has been found to be the only sufficient source of righteous motives.

The movement to improve the training of our youth in morals based upon a code formed out of natural religion should help along a little. If, however, the idea that this natural code is sufficient should be adopted, the cure would become a curse. Natural religion is a dim luminary, reflecting but meagerly the glory of God of supernatural religion. Protestant church people must not be content with having school children taught the very limited imperatives of a naturalistic moral code. The largest success of the movement now on foot would leave for the Church of Jesus Christ the same unbounded obligation and unmeasured task that it now has to teach the gospel to children. Repentance, forgiveness of sins, and the resurrection are doctrines essential to that holiness without which no man can see the Lord. It will not do to leave childhood beyond the borderland of revelation and without a knowledge of saving grace. Men of this generation are wise to provide against utter moral gloom; but "the children of light" are charged of heaven to hold forth Him who "brought life and immortality to light in the gospel." The Christian home and the Christian Church must add immensely to what natural religion can do for moral life. The language of complete moral training is: "Godliness is profitable to both for the life that now is and that which is to come."—Christian Advocate.

The United States we believe is fast coming to the realization that they are getting too far away from God. They have drifted especially since the world war into a state of carelessness and indifference in regard to church matters, and church attendances. It was noticed upon the return of the soldiers how that they were changed. That they were not church inclined when they returned so much as they were before going to the war, and as a nation it appears that we have been drifting along the lines of least resistance, and have drifted far away from the days of Christianity, church loving habits and customs, and have allowed the churches to lose much of their prestige in the community, and the leaders are aghast at the conditions.

It seems now, however, that we are waking up to some extent at least, and not only the church people and the church papers are holding out the warnings of becoming far removed from what should be the uppermost principal and power in the world, that of the Christian religion, but the secular magazines of the nation that make no pretenses at religion have stepped out boldly and declared that we must get back this religion if we are to succeed in the affairs of government, and hold our place as the leading nation carrying the religion of Jesus Christ as our standard.

The schools is the place where this should be taught, not from the denominational standpoint, but it should at least be read, for it is hard to get the youth of the land to attend the church services and the Sunday schools—while millions attend they get only twenty or thirty minutes instructions each week and millions do not get this. It is highly important that we have Christian men and women at the head of schools, and we are of the opinion that every teacher should be a Christian character rather than a giddy dancer or card player.

JACKIE COOGAN WILL FEED THOUSANDS

Much is said from time to time against movie actors, and many people rant ferociously about their work, and we will say in the beginning that there are many million of feet of picture films that should never be made, and many pictures should never be shown, so far as the morals of the community is concerned, but too, there are many columns of stuff goes into the newspapers that should not be, but the picture show and the newspaper is very close akin along this line. A picture show that appeals only to the one class of people would not last long for there are too many people in the world and of too many different kinds: of different types and of different temperaments, and therefore to please their customers they must have the different types of pictures, but none should be degrading, or unfit for anyone to see without influence for evil. The same with a newspaper. Some detest the dope from Europe, others want it. Some never look at the sport page while others want nothing else. Some feast upon society stuff while others never read a line of it. Some want to know what the editor has to say about it and a great lot of people think it silly. Others want the classified ad page and nothing else, so you can readily see that if the paper was all editorial, if it was all sport, if it was all society, or all foreign news what would become of the paper, but giving a variety of decent news makes the newspaper popular with the people.

Some have an idea there is no good in movie actors at all. This is a mistake. Many of them are good hearted, and kind hearted people and do much for suffering humanity, which is one great recommendation for any man or woman.

Jackie Coogan, is one of the youngest actors on the stage today, but is popular, and is making a great deal of money. He is using at least part of his talent and making use of his popularity in helping to feed thousands of mouths in the world. A news dispatch this morning says that the first of three "Jackie Coogan foodships" laden with materials collected by the youthful film star in his recent campaign across the United States, is expected here next week. Jackie himself will reach Athens about October first, and will personally supervise distribution in the Near East Relief orphanages. It is announced that the total value of merchandise collected during the Coogan crusade in America was $1,090,000, including flour, milk, corn, syrup, shoes, clothing and quinine.

THE MODERN RODEO

Among the most cruel, degrading dehumanizing performances enacted in public at the present day is the round-up or rodeo. It is a series of contests between dare-devil cattlemen or "cowpunchers" and fear-crazed, tormented animals. The round-up can no more be carried out without cruelty to animals than a bull-fight, nor can it be any more justified, as a means of civilized, public entertainment.

There are some sections, chiefly in the West, that continue to permit the discreditable scenes that make up the rodeo. During the coming autumn at certain notorious fairs and carnivals the rough-riding, reckless element from the plains will risk their necks before large crowds of morbid spectators at the expense of animal abuse and suffering. It is a mistaken idea, however, to think that all the events of the round-up are but a duplication of the cowboy's life on the ranch. There are now a lot of professional "rodeo rounders" ready to take the most desperate chances for the profits that are forthcoming. Of these Wild West orgies, one who has studied them from every angle says: "In the name of justice and clean American sport I urge all to protest against the round-ups and wild west shows as a degrading relic of barbarism that cannot in any way be said to represent the splendid West of Northwest of today."

Cruelly to torture, maul and maim terrified animals for the delectation of a morbid crowd is about the last word in debasing spectacles. To class as heroes the men who indulge a desire for notoriety in such acts is to cheapen true heroism while it encourages disregard for human life. Our debt to animals and our obligation to the youth of the nation forbid such wholesale and unnecessary abuse of these creatures below us in the name of amusement.

The Humane Societies should make every possible effort to rout the round-up. It is a growing evil inasmuch as its reproduction by moving picture films goes on with little restriction and without the united opposition of the humane public.

If the newspaper photographs mean anything, the greatest achievements of the world are performed by people who are not as dumb as they look.

ACTUAL FACTS OF PAVING PROGRAM INCLUDING STATUS LEGAL PROVISIONS

The following facts and history of the paving program in Lubbock is given that everyone, and especially the large mass of citizens who do not live on Broadway, where the width of the street is being protested, may know the present status of the situation.

It must be remembered that the paving laws govern absolutely, and that no step in the paving program can be taken that does not track the law exactly.

Legal Provisions. Keeping this in mind we find that the law provides first that bonds must be voted with which the city shall pay its part of all paving.

After the bonds are voted the law provides that the city commission shall employ engineers who shall draw up the necessary plans and specifications for the approval of the city commission.

The city commission and the contractor, alone, has authority to select the streets to be paved, to approve the plans and specifications and to determine the width of the streets.

After these things are done, the law provides that the commission shall advertise for bids, but not to protest the plans and specifications of the streets to be paved or their width.

After the protest period regarding assessments has elapsed it is then necessary for the individual or company who has been awarded the contract for paving, according to certain plans and specifications on certain streets or widths, to secure mechanics liens on each piece of abutting property to secure the owners assessed part of the paving cost.

After these mechanics liens are secured, or when the majority of the property owners have given liens, the contractor is given the right to proceed with the work.

Law Tracked. In Lubbock the law has been tracked on all of these points—the bonds were voted, engineers were employed who drew up plans and specifications for paving certain streets certain widths, these plans and specifications, streets to be paved and their widths, were approved by the city commission, and in addition by an advisory committee.

JIM JOHNSON

Jim Johnson wasn't much to see,
No swell aristocrat was he,
No stylish clothes he wore;
He never owned a pair of spats,
He had no use for high silk hats
Or butlers at his door;
A suit some one might give to him
Was plenty good enough for Jim.

Jim Johnson was no learned man,
His grammar never smoothly ran,
His "did" was always "done,"
You'd say "I saw," he'd say "I seen."
I think you gather what I mean,
He was no polished son.
He fished and hunted all year through
And made his living by it, too.

The power divine that shapes our ends
In curious ways provides us friends
And so it was with Jim;
Each summer to his village came,
Great men of wealth and worldly fame.

To hunt and fish with him,
And they would sit the whole night through
To hear him tell them what he knew.

Jim knew the stars, the birds, the trees,
The habits of the honey bees,
And all of nature's lore;
He knew a thousand secrets hid
From men who always say "I did."
And here is something more:
These polished sons of life rejoiced
To hear the stories that he voiced.

They loved him, underneath the rough
Exterior and his manner gruff
They saw the soul of him.
Nature had taught him all he knew
And spite of flaws which critics view,
Had made a man of Jim.
The man who knows what you don't know,
Always has something to bestow.

MARKETS

SPECIALTY STOCKS RAMPAGE TO NEW SEASON HIGHS

By EDWARD J. CONDLON,
NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—There was no grousing in the upward movement of both railroad and industrial stocks during the Tuesday session. Selling was readily absorbed and traders identified with the bear side of the market during the last few days preceded with extreme caution. A full quota of new highs was scored by stocks of the specialty class, several of them new highs for all time.

The session was replete with features, not only in the stock market but in the commodity markets notably cotton and in money. Business looked this week by the American Woolen company since the opening of its spring lines on Monday with reductions averaging ten percent has served to call attention to the possibilities of retail trade.

The government report on the condition of the cotton crop as of Sept. 14, which was issued at noon Tuesday was one of the most important of the year and incidentally one of the most surprising.

The condition of 55.4 and the indicated yield of 12,566,000 bales exclusive of lint, took the trade completely by surprise. The average success of seventy-four members of the New York cotton exchange was 56.5 per cent of normal and the indicated yield running up toward 13,000,000 bales. The bureau report hardly been flashed before October cotton shot up $10 a bale as the yield of the crop was covered. Nothing but trading limited the futures from slipping the $10 level.

The grain markets closed substantially higher with the exception of wheat which was held by Rye showed unusual strength and corn sold off early on news of favorable weather in most sections of the belt with quite offset early reports of frost damage.

One of the most interesting phases of the money market was revealed in an estimate of brokers loans outstanding made by Dow Jones and company, financial agency, showing an expansion of $65,000,000 in the last two weeks bringing the total up to approximately $1,400,000,000 which represents loans against stock exchange collateral.

Chicago Grain.
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Wheat influential commission houses, steady absorbing of offerings and shorts forcing to bid up prices to cover. The buying throughout was more important than the selling although there was considerable hedging done, some claiming that there was more than on any previous day since the spring wheat movement started. Weather generally fair and favorable. The reverse may be said of conditions abroad and a bad storm reported to be raging in France. Wheat acts better than it has for some time and looks like it would work higher.

Corb.—There was constant liquidation until December dropped to 102 which was the previous low made August 25. Considerable resistance developed at that point and a rally was begun helping materially by the strength in wheat. Favorable weather was reported all over the corn belt and of change of importance is indicated for several days. Short receipts were said country offerings of all corn to arrive were much more liberal than for a long time.

Former Sheriff of Terry County Is Witness Here
George Tieran, prominent citizen of Lynn county, and who was sheriff of Terry county from the time of its organization to seven years ago, is an interested spectator and state's witness at the trial of Will (Pre-Leg) Word, alleged murderer of Dr. S. H. Windham who was shot to death with a .32 caliber rifle within a few hundred yards of his ranch one southwest of Brownfield late in the afternoon of April 22.

Mr. Tieran assisted in the arrest of Word, and is a valuable witness in the case.

121,000 bales since the 1st of the month. The fact that the rot in the south is still being held, and its forecasts point to a declining instead of ascending scale as the trade generally expected was the real uplifting influence. The government report appears to have definitely gotten away from predictions of 13,000,000 bales another influence was the fact that ginnings for the 16 days under most favorable weather conditions totalled only 704,000 bales compared with 2,093,000 for 25 days in September last year.

The ginning returns do not point up anything like the yield indicated by today's forecast and if a per cent be deducted from this average the amount which the bureau admits has occurred in its forecasts of 1499 pounds per acre indicates a crop of about 12,200,000 bales. We believe today's government estimate marks the turning point in the market for the better though we may have occasional reactions before prices go higher.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—A smaller crop estimate from the bureau than expected and smaller ginning returns than looked for brought on quick covering movements and prices climbed 195 points in a few minutes. Values reacted about 70 points after the first bulge, but the decline met with good buying and the market rallied again in the late afternoon. When the best prices of the day were made. ALL DOLLED UP AND NOTHING TO DO BUT ENTERTAIN A LARGE AUDIENCE WILL BE PLIGHT LOCAL ROTARIANS FRI. AND SAT.

Final plans for the Rotary Minstrel to be given by members of the local Rotary Club at the High School Auditorium on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week have been completed and all indications are that a record attendance will be enjoyed.

The entertainments are given by members of the Rotary Club for the benefit of the club's Student Loan Fund, which is loaned to students in the community wishing to attend high school or even the higher institutions of learning.

Members of the club have worked hard and faithfully preparing to present to the public one of the most entertaining programs ever witnessed here, and to miss one of these programs is to miss the best part of the season's entertainment features.

If you have not seen Dr. J. T. Hutchinson in his "glad rags" Nell Wright doing an old Mississippi ragtime skit, or Jed Rex doing the hula hula you've never had such fun as will be offered Friday and Saturday evenings. The fellows will be dolled up in southern negro attire, and while the doctor is not expert in pronouncing the negro dialect, he has a pretty good idea of how to make the r's sound out, and with continued practice will be enabled to play this act well. Besides is necessary for Rex, however, as he is quite talented in impersonations and can apply his talent to this field as well as to any other.

Fellow members in the club declare that Wright is entirely alright in his choice in the big party, but it wouldn't be a bad idea for the fellow who wants to make a complete check-up on the entire aggregation to buy a ticket today and cinch a front seat.

All remember the Rotarians big entertainments last year, that the talk of the town for weeks after it had been witnessed, and as several prominent members in the club have promised that this program will eclipse that one, it won't do to miss it.

Whether the players will be presented by the Rotarians play their parts well or not is not so much of a consideration as the fact that they are playing for a good cause and every five cent piece collected will go to help some deserving boy or girl go to school.

Of course there are several of the Rotarians. Sam T. Davis, for instance, who ought to be sent to school a few years longer, but the club has turned all attention to these fellows aside and is looking after the boys and girls of this community and in order to do this with them it's nothing but right that we should all turn our attention aside from our separate duties for a few hours and attend one or both of these programs and regardless of how slim the chances may be, to be in the front row with the most of the community whenever possible.

Seriously, there has never been a better program presented to a Lubbock audience than will be offered by the Rotarians and due to the fact that some of the best talent in the nation of the country is represented by the membership they are enabled to give us a program the cost of which cannot be over any other group of citizens here.

The Rotarians are in earnest about the school situation and in order to prove their sincerity are actually furnishing money to encourage deserving boys and girls to attend realising that in building with their better character and more enlightened minds, they are building a foundation upon which the future of our community may rest secure and free from the influence of which the wheels of progress may gain momentum.

Attend the Rotary Minstrel Friday and Saturday evening. The Rotarians will appreciate your support.

PIONEER COUPLE ENJOY FAMILY REUNION HERE

Several months ago Mrs. J. W. White began a correspondence with her brothers and sisters in widely scattered parts of Texas and Oklahoma in regards to a family reunion to be held at her home in the north western part of Lynn county, Texas.

Each member of the family agreed to come at the appointed time and the eldest sister, Mrs. John T. Biffle, of Gainesville, Texas, set the date, Sept. 11, 1924.

The week previous to this date all members of the White family began preparations for this notable occasion.

On Sept. 9th the guests began to arrive and by twilight Sept. 10th all were at the White farm except the sister who set the date. She was not permitted to be present because of a broken arm and serious illness in her family.

Early Thursday morning, September 11, the Lynn county members of the family began to come in, all with well-filled baskets to help make this event a great success so far as satisfying appetites were concerned.

Dinner was served in two dining rooms to sixty persons. All of these were relatives except J. K. Milwee, of Lynn county, an old time friend of Mr. and Mrs. White and a cowboy acquaintance of other members of the family.

The afternoon was spent in games, kodaking, swimming and conversations of days of long ago. Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Cobb invited all to accompany them home. Eleven cars carried the happy crowd to the Cobb home where the Cobb sisters, Mrs. A. C. Aycox and Miss Virginia Cobb had spent the day with their sister, Miss Jammie Cole, who was ill.

Some time after the stars had lighted the great canopy of heaven together began to consider the possibility of a night's rest.

Some remained with Mrs. Cobb and the others returned with Mrs. White.

The next morning the brothers and sisters visited for the first time together the graves of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Brown in the Lubbock Cemetery.

At Lubbock, Mrs. John Stanford and R. W. Brown departed for their homes and others left each day until Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Brown broke the last tie of the first reunion of this good family.

Mrs. White had not seen some members of her family for more than thirty years.

Those present were Mrs. White's sisters, Mrs. J. H. Cobb, Wilson, Texas; Mrs. Emily Tibbitt, Alameda, Texas; Mrs. John Stanford, Chickasha, Oklahoma; two brothers R. W. (Bob) Brown a pioneer cowboy of West Texas and New Mexico, now located on a ranch near Romeo, Hartley county, Texas, and T. M. (Tom) Brown of Jacksboro, Texas.

Others present were: J. H. Cobb, Lion Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Dulton Triplett and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tibbitt and family, Mrs. G. Caldwell, Edgar Trice, Fern and Ande Mae Aycox, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nettles and family, Mr. and Mrs. Toke Murrey and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Estes and son, Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Thomas and son, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Cronch, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace White, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert White and son, Alva and Elzie White, Fred White, wife and baby, of Middlewater, Texas, were not present because of illness.

We feel that we must congratulate Mr. and Mrs. White because of this happy occasion and as this feeble write-up goes to press we pray God will impress every member of this family to prepare for a greater reunion beyond the Great Divide.

SECOND BIENNIAL MEETING OF KLAN IS OPENED

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—The second biennial convocation of the Ku Klux Klan swung into action here Tuesday with more than 3,000 members of the legislative body and their families in the city for the three days session.

One half of the spacious convention hall has been decorated with the American flag and other patriotic emblems and this space will be used for the meeting. On the platform at the rear are the pictures of President Coolidge, Thomas Jefferson and George Washington. A large picture of H. W. Evans, Atlanta, Ga., imperial wizard, occupied a conspicuous position on the platform.

Observers saw in the selection of Kansas City as the meeting place a desire by Klan leaders to feel the pulse of the Southwest where the hooded order has suffered recent reverses. The air of mystery and secrecy surrounding the session has not lifted but it was pointed out Tuesday, that any or all of these recent upsets easily warrants the attention of the Klan.

1. The factional strife in Klan circles in Oklahoma, which made it possible for former Governor J. C. Walton, arch-enemy of the hooded order, to defeat the Klan candidate in the democratic senatorial race.

2. The victory of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson over the masked orders choice for the democratic nomination in Texas.

3. Agitation in Kansas to prevent the Klan from doing business in the state and a recent order by district judge preventing masked parades of any kind in any part of the state.

4. The active campaign of Wm. A. White, nationally known editor seeking election as governor of Kansas on an independent ticket. White charges that Ben S. Paulsen the republican nominee, is friendly to the Klan and opposition to the order is the chief issue in the editors' campaign.

5. Bitter denunciation of the Klan by name in the democratic state platforms of Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Arkansas.

6. The Seagirt speech of John W. Davis in which he denounced the Klan and challenged president Coolidge to do likewise. This is the first large gathering of the executive body since the democratic convention.

7. The recent primaries in Colorado where the republican ticket backed by the Klan was victorious and which democratic leaders claim will materially strengthen the chances of both Davis and Bryan in the state.

Dr. H. W. Evans has given out several interviews but through official spokesmen, newspaper men were told "that only business of the Klan" would be discussed. The further questions were ignored.

Evans will speak Wednesday at "The Klan of yesterday and today."

"SUPPRESSED DESIRES" WILL BE PRESENTED HERE FRIDAY

Suppressed Desires, the two act skit that was so ably presented here a few months ago, will again be presented as the closing act of the Rotary Club's Minstrel. This little play has been pronounced by able critics as one in a class seldom attempted by "home talent." It's cast was very ably selected by Mrs. Jas. H. Goodman, and was considered by the public to have handled this very difficult playlet in a very creditable manner. The only change in the cast for next Friday and Saturday will be Mrs. S. J. Wells will take the part interrupted by Vernon Brown in the previous presentation. Mrs. William D. Green and Harold Griffith taking the other parts.

SLATON BAPTISTS TO BUILD MORE CLASS ROOMS

LEGION POSTPONES MEETING ACCOUNT SCOUT PROGRAM

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the local post of the American Legion, which was scheduled for tonight at the Justice court room has been postponed, Adjutant H. D. Woods, of the organization, said last night.

This step was deemed proper on account of the fact that a program is being held in the city tonight under the auspices of the local Boy Scouts organization, which works hand in hand with the Legion.

Cotton Seed Meal

is the most concentrated and richest food known, has about six times the nutritive value of corn and more than four times that of wheat bran, while it's cost is only slightly more than that of either; and for cattle, horses or hogs will reduce your feed bill and give better results.
