Appeals Court Affirms Goode and Ross Decisions

DEFENSE FILES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OF CASES

2 CONVICTED LAST YEAR FOR MURDER CATTLE INSPECTORS AT SEMINOLE

The decisions in the four cases of the State of Texas vs. Tom Ross and Milt Goode, charged jointly with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of W. D. Allison and H. L. Robertson, inspectors for the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, in the Gaines Hotel at Seminole on April 1, 1923, both of whom were convicted on the double charge in the district courts here and at Abilene last fall, were affirmed Wednesday by the Court of Criminal Appeals, according to advice received by Bledsoe & Pharr, local attorneys, who handled the case for the defense.

According to a statement last night by Senator Bledsoe, senior member of the law firm, a motion will be filed with the Criminal Appeals Court for a new hearing.

Following the conviction of Ross and Goode, defense attorneys immediately filed for a hearing before the court of criminal appeals at Austin, and in the decision handed down Wednesday, all four judgments were upheld by the higher court.

Ross was convicted here on June 28, 1923, for the murder of W. D. Allison, and was sentenced by Judge Mulligan to 25 years in prison. On July 7, a like verdict was returned against Milt Goode, for the same offense. His punishment was assessed at 24 years.

Second Case Transferred
On account of the wide publicity that had been given the case during process of the first trial, and the almost impossibility of securing a jury for the trial of the two, for the murder of H. L. Robertson, the case was transferred to Taylor county, and was called to docket in the September term of district court at Abilene. In this proceeding, both Goode and Ross were found guilty of the murder of Robertson. Goode's punishment in this case was set at 25 years and Ross was sentenced to 25 years, and by the laws of the state, the sentences are to be served concurrently, making Ross' term of imprisonment 60 years and Goode's 42.

Bledsoe & Pharr were unable to state just whether the confirmation of the trial court's decision covered all four of the cases, or not, as the telegram received by them read that the trial court's decision had been confirmed in the cases of Ross and Goode, which could be interpreted to mean all four of the cases, or only two of them. The former interpretation, however, is believed to be correct in that in all probability had the confirmation been confined to their cases for the killing of only one of the inspectors, it would have been made clearer.

Widespread Interest Shown
Widespread interest has been shown in the cases since the indictments of Ross and Goode, cattlemen, from all over the southwest having attended the trials.

Should the defense attorneys succeed in getting new hearings of the cases, they necessarily would have to be transferred from Lubbock or Taylor counties, due to the general knowledge of the cases existing among the citizenship of the two counties.

CONTINUANCE IN M'COY TRIAL TO DEC. 8 GRANTED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—Kid McCoy will not go to trial for the murder of Mrs. Teresa Mors until Dec. 8. Claims of the defense that funds were lacking resulted in a continuance being granted Tuesday by Judge Crab.

The trial had been scheduled to begin October 20. A report that W. G. Ross, shot by McCoy during a hold up at the Mors Attornee Show the morning after Mrs. Mors had been slain, was in a critical condition from his wound, brought the possibility of another murder charge being lodged against McCoy.

CAPTURE OF LIN TROOPS LIKELY

FORCES SURROUNDED AND SURRENDER EXPECTED MOMENTARILY

SHANGHAI, Oct. 8.—Government forces in the north have surrounded the troops of General Chang Tso Lin at Shan Hakiwan and are expected to capture the Manchurian warlord at any moment, according to a wireless dispatch from Mukden.

This development in China's internal warfare has shifted interest to the northern battle area, where Chang and the forces of the Peiking government have been waging a fight for supremacy.

Chang, already the supreme power in Manchuria, has been trying to extend his hold over all China. He has exercised almost complete sovereignty in Manchuria and last week closed an agreement with the Russian government whereby the Chinese eastern railroad was delivered to the latter.

In the south, meanwhile the Fukien and Kiangsu troops under General Chi Hsieh Yuan are fighting for control of the railroad line which runs between Hangchow and Shanghai. General Lu Yang Hsiang with the aid of reinforcements from Chekiang, is resisting the attack.

LABOR GOVT OF BRITAIN GIVEN ITS DEATH BLOW

M'DONALD TO ASK CALLING GENERAL ELECTION TO SETTLE MATTER

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald's labor government has fallen after less than a year in office and it is expected that Thursday he will ask King George to dissolve parliament in preparation for a general election.

MacDonald and his labor cabinet will not resign until after the nation has had an opportunity to state its judgment at the polls and then only if the vote is against him, MacDonald was the first labor government to hold office in England. Shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday night the members of the house of commons arose to vote on a liberal party proposal that a committee be appointed to investigate the action of Sir Patrick Hastings, the labor attorney general in discontinuing the prosecution of a communist editor who had been charged with sedition.

A few minutes earlier the house had refused to adopt a conservative party motion of censure against the government for the action of Sir Patrick. The liberals helped liberal defeat this motion but when the liberal proposal came to the conservative supporters it solidly and the vote against the government was 364 to 198. Technically MacDonald need not have sought a dissolution because the liberal proposal, put in the form of an amendment to the conservative motion merely provided for an investigation. The labor chief and members of his cabinet had announced, however, that dissolution would be demanded if the amendment were adopted. Immediately after the vote was announced the house adjourned.

Former Premier Stanley Baldwin, conservative leader, upset the plans of the laborites to play off one opposition party against the other. Baldwin who went out of office when MacDonald came in, announced that regardless of whether the liberals supported the conservative motion, his party would help turn the government out by voting for the liberal amendment. Following this statement the outcome of the division was certain and it was apparent that the government was going down as the milling members streamed into the two division lobbies.

Inquiry Amendment Passes.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—The house of commons Wednesday night passed the liberal amendment providing for an inquiry into the labor government's dismissal of charges against a communist editor.

The vote was 364 to 198. This constitutes a defeat of the labor government. Premier MacDonald had announced previously that if the motion was passed, the government "would go to the country."

This means the laborites will seek to dissolve parliament and call a general election.

The house of commons adjourned for the day, after the passage of the liberal amendment.

The conservative motion of censure, voted on previously, was defeated when the laborites joined with the laborites in the latter's amendment.

J. H. Thomas, Colonial Minister, declared the laborites would not accept the liberal amendment, adding vigorously: "We are going to the country."

This meant that the government would seek dissolution of parliament thus precipitating a general election, if the amendments were passed.

Premier MacDonald is now expected to ask King George Thursday to dissolve parliament.

Sergeant Put on Trial for Officer's Death

SERGEANT ROLAND POTHIER

Sergeant Roland Pothier, formerly of the 21st Engineers, is on trial in Tacoma, Wash., charged with the murder of Major Alexander Cronkite at Camp Lewis, Washington, on October 15, 1918. Major Cronkite was believed to have accidentally killed himself at target practice, but his relatives allege he was shot by Pothier at the instigation of Captain Robert Rosenbluth.

Powerful searchlights from the mooring beacon guided the path of the levathan of the air, dusk having already settled. After circling the mast the Shenandoah began its descent and simultaneously the crowd surged forward, anxious to congratulate the intrepid aviator.

"Everything was fine," declared Commander Zachary Landdowne in an interview with the United News. "The Shenandoah is a wonderful ship. We had no trouble at all in reaching here and do not expect any on the rest of the trip. I'm sure we will reach our destination without mishap."

The Shenandoah increased her speed after passing the Mississippi and arrived in Fort Worth seven hours ahead of schedule time. Officers of the great ship had looked for good time on the first lap of the schedule but the fine performance of the navy's pride exceeded by far their hopes on the voyage from Lakehurst, N. J., to Fort Worth, Texas. They declared.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, who is aboard the Shenandoah, was well pleased with the way the dirigible stood the first leg of the trip. "The Shenandoah is doing everything we expected. We have had smooth sailing and expect to conclude our journey 'ship-shape,'" he declared.

The dirigible is expected to resume its flight toward the Pacific coast via Sweetwater and El Paso, Texas, and Tucson, Arizona, about 8 a. m. Thursday, Commander Landdowne said, providing weather conditions permit.

Admiral Moffett and other officials aboard the craft were guests of the Chamber of Commerce here in a luncheon at the Texas Hotel in crossing the Mason-Dixon line for the first time, the Shenandoah pursued a course over South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and the northern edge of Louisiana during the day and into Texas early in the afternoon.

STRINGENT BAN LAID BY MEXICO

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 8.—Nothing can be shipped from the foot and mouth disease quarantine area near here, into Mexico, and no animals or animal products can be shipped from adjoining counties.

This ultimatum, laid down by Gomez Esparza, chief of the Mexican Bureau of animal husbandry, who is visiting here, was the chief development in the fight against the cattle plague today.

Gomez's other bans include: Merchandise from other sections of the state must be examined at the border.

Ships may return to Mexico from this port only after fumigation. Railroad passengers bound for Mexico must have their baggage fumigated at the border.

The rigid stand was taken because Mexico has but few fences on her cattle land and spread of the disease would be rapid if it once got a foothold it was explained.

Lutheran Leader Raps Syncopation Of Sacred Music

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Sacred music is sacred music, and church organs with fancy devices and syncopating movie orchestra attachments suggesting jazz, rhapsody of the jungle are something entirely different. Dr. J. F. Ohl, of Philadelphia has announced at the National Lutheran Council's headquarters here.

Placing a taboo on the syncopating of sacred songs in Lutheran churches, Ohl opposed the statement of Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal church, regarding the desirability of jazz refrains in religious rites.

Dr. Ohl is chairman of the committee on church music for his denomination. He issued this statement: "Bishop Hughes' argument that jazz music may not be vicious because pious old stewards and staid church trustees in their boyhood sang that sacrilegious song about Pharaoh's daughter on the bank, Little Moses in the pool" makes no appeal to Lutheran critics. He and his committee put up the bars on "yes we have no bananas."

"Children will just as readily learn the best music as the light stuff and will love it much more."

IDEAL WEATHER BRINGS SHIP IN AHEAD OF TIME

THOUSANDS MILL ON FIELD AS GIANT AIRSHIP IS ANCHORED TO MAST

By United News.
FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 8.—Slipping down from musky skies amid a welcoming din of whistles, bells, automobile horns and husky greetings from thousands of people, the U. S. N. dirigible Shenandoah gracefully circled the mooring post here Wednesday night and a few moments later, safely anchored, had completed the first leg of its 9,000 mile voyage to the Pacific coast.

Fully twenty minutes before the giant airship made its appearance from the eastward, whistles blew and bells tolled heralding its arrival. Curious thousands pressed against lines that had been drawn by national guardsmen and boy scouts at the field.

Powerful searchlights from the mooring beacon guided the path of the levathan of the air, dusk having already settled. After circling the mast the Shenandoah began its descent and simultaneously the crowd surged forward, anxious to congratulate the intrepid aviator.

"Everything was fine," declared Commander Zachary Landdowne in an interview with the United News. "The Shenandoah is a wonderful ship. We had no trouble at all in reaching here and do not expect any on the rest of the trip. I'm sure we will reach our destination without mishap."

Committee Co-operates With School Board in Removing fire hazard

In observation of "Fire Prevention week" a committee composed of Mr. Ed Twitty, the fire chief, Mr. R. H. Newton, the fire marshal, Mrs. S. W. Wilson of the school board, Mrs. M. C. Overton, Mrs. G. R. Bean, Mrs. M. C. Overton, Mrs. C. M. Ballenger, Mrs. W. H. Meador and Mrs. Percy Spencer, spent Wednesday afternoon visiting the four Lubbock schools in a joint inspection from the standpoint of fire hazards and fire prevention.

The Senior High School and the K. Carter school were found to be in almost perfect condition from every standpoint, being recently built and of concrete and fireproof materials throughout.

The Junior High school, being the oldest building in the city was naturally further from the high standard set by the school board than any other, but will be put in the best of condition as soon as fire escapes can be ordered and received. The members of the school board are vitally interested in removing all hazards from the schools and they surely have the co-operation of the fire department and all civic organizations of the city.

More escapes will also be provided for the Geo. M. Hunt school and all new escapes bought will probably be slides which enable the children to vacate a building much more rapidly than any other type of fire escape.

The committee was gratified to find both teachers and pupils observing fire prevention week in a most acceptable way. Fire prevention readers are being studied and the children in every school are writing themes on fire prevention and fire drills are being held daily in the schools. Demonstrations of drills were given Wednesday afternoon and the buildings were emptied in an incredibly short length of time.

The Junior High School with four hundred and fifty pupils, was emptied in sixty seconds, the Geo. M. Hunt with eight hundred pupils in eighty seconds, and the K. Carter building with five hundred and fifty in seventy seconds.

Fire inspection blanks will be distributed among the children Thursday by the Lubbock Fire Department and when filled out are to be returned to the Fire Chief by the teachers.

All parents are requested to co-operate with their children in removing fire hazards from the home and instruct their children in fire prevention week.

The committee expects to visit the Mexican and negro schools Thursday.

DAVIS FAILS TO RECLAIM NEW YORK FROM COOLIDGE AFTER THREE-DAY TRIP; ORGANIZATION LACKING, CLAPPER SAYS

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
BUFFALO, N. Y. Oct. 8.—John W. Davis has finished a three day speaking trip through New York state, but so far as an impartial observer can see he has failed to reclaim it from Coolidge. As was intimated in the writers Albany dispatch, it is not altogether the fault of Davis.

Davis has acquired a new punch on this trip, despite certain discouraging features. He has been invigorated physically by the strenuous workouts prescribed twice daily by Jim Cullen, trainer for the late Bill Brennan, heavyweight boxer, who was added to the Davis staff this week. There is a marked change in the platform vigor of Davis since Cullen started to work on him. He is tearing into Coolidge with hard blows. He feels more like a fighter. He has broken away from the erudite style which fell flat on the electric workers at Schenectady and is now throwing barbs of cruel humor at Coolidge.

Coolidge Policy Rapped
Coolidge's silence, the efforts of the administration to take credit for the Davies reparations plans after having disowned any responsibility for the undertaking prior to the Paris conference, the appointment of Secretary Slump and the difficulties between Coolidge and his own leaders in congress—all of this has been livened into sharp well aimed ammunition by Davis this week. He has paced his shots with skill, and should have by this time fairly well annihilated his opponent. But his opponent has not been annihilated. So far as this writer can judge, Coolidge is just as sure of New York state as he was before Davis made this trip.

One reason is the poor function of the local democratic organization where the most help is needed. Albany handled itself fairly well. Buffalo, under the capable thumb of Norman Mack, democrat national committeeman acquitted itself satisfactorily. But Davis, lacking fielding support at his other stops. At Rochester, the local organization was so neglectful that it left on the outside of the hall where Davis spoke. A huge LaFollette poster, placed there for the Senator's meeting last Monday night. Nobody had taken the trouble to remove it and out up a Davis sign in its place. There was nothing outside the hall to indicate Davis was to speak there.

Rochester Enthusiasm
But there was considerable enthusiasm in the Rochester meeting because the audience had been well primed by an excellent speech by Lt. Governor Lunn. At many of his stops Davis must take hold of the audience cold, aside from those kind of hand-cups. Davis also has to labor against the widely held belief that he cannot be elected. Democrats themselves—even national chairman Shaver and such wise heads as Geo. Brennan, Chicago boss, are saying that the election would go into congress if held today.

As they have been saying that for several weeks, the country can hardly be blamed for drawing the inference that even the democratic leaders have no hope of electing their candidate. One democrat of prominence told the writer this week that thousands of democrats in Wisconsin intend to vote for LaFollette in order to force the election into congress. So far as the election is concerned this kind of talk is defeatist talk for Davis. It works directly against him in the canvass. It probably has a great deal to do with the lack of interest in the Davis campaign.

But there is one fact that should be borne in mind. If the election goes into congress, the democratic nominee, Davis, will have a good chance. He is the only candidate upon whom the house can agree. A small group of republicans are likely to elect him there rather than face a senate contest in which Bryan might be chosen.

Incidentally the writer has not heard the name of Gov. Bryan mentioned in his three day trip across New York State.

It is forbidden subject among eastern democrats.

THE ROTARY WEEKLY LUNCHEON WELL ATTENDED

The Rotary club had a very interesting meeting yesterday. The attendance was exceptionally good, however, the number of guests present was not so large as on other occasions.

The program was in charge of J. N. Dow, who stated that it was a purely Rotary program, made by Rotarians and for Rotarians. Each member was requested to introduce his neighbor to the right, giving his full name, his Rotary name, and his occupation and home address. This part of the program proved beneficial in as much as the membership became better acquainted with his neighbor and Brother Rotarian.

A short talk on Fire Prevention was given by the chairman of the program, and report was made by

CHARLES McNEELY IS THE CHAMPION COTTON PICKER FOR AGE

Chas. McNeely, nine year old son of T. W. McNeely, of Lubbock, is believed to be the champion cotton picker of his age in this section.

Thursday the little fellow gathered 213 pounds of the fleecy staple, stacking up a record that other lads of his age will have to hustle to beat. That day the four McNeely brothers, ranging in age from nine to sixteen years, gathered 1060 pounds of cotton, which is a team record for boys of that age that is equally as hard to beat as is that of the youngest of the four.

Took a Friend's Advice

Houston, Texas.—"When I was comparatively a young woman I became afflicted with woman's trouble and got so I could hardly walk. I had a delicacy in submitting my case to the doctors. Finally a friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I did so, and before I had taken three bottles I was all right. Later on in life I became afflicted with a kind of poison in my blood; for this I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and gradually my blood became pure. I never again had anything like either of these afflictions."—Mrs. D. M. Wilson, 1521 Fulton St. All dealers.

FIRE PREVENTION RATHER THAN FIRE EXTINGUISHING

We believe that the campaign for fire prevention which is being nationally carried on this week is one of the most important movements that has ever been inaugurated, and it will no doubt be the means of preventing many fires. Education against fires is the most important step. The number of fires and the extent of the fire losses depends largely upon the people. They can be using precautions against fires prevent many of them and we feel the importance to such an extent that we are devoting this space to the education of the people along this line, and the following suggestions from the bulletin issued by the fire-marshal might well be heeded.

More lives are lost by fire in dwellings, apartment houses, tenements, and hotels in the course of a year than in all the factory, school, theater, and similar holocausts in the average decade. About 60 per cent of all lives lost by fire are children. It would be difficult to design a more combustible type of structure than the average dwelling. The wooden shingle roof has been responsible for the great conflagrations; and its use should be avoided, and prohibited by law in congested districts.

Fires in the home are easier to prevent than to extinguish.

Practically every dwelling house fire is due to carelessness or neglect. Especial care should be taken in the home to prevent fires from starting, because when they do start there is seldom a man about to extinguish them. Where women and defenseless children are housed, every human consideration demands the utmost vigilance on the part of those responsible for their welfare.

The attic, cellar, basement, and all closets and outbuildings should be cleaned at least once every year, and all useless material and rubbish removed therefrom and burned. These unnecessary accumulations of oily rags, mops, dust cloths, in burlap, and in hay and straw. Store all remaining material neatly so that a clear passage may be had between or around boxes, cases, barrels, etc.

Metal waste baskets, only, should be used. In storing clothing, first remove all matches or other material from the pockets and then carefully fold and neatly place away. Do not hang clothes where they will be near hot chimneys. Do not go into closets with lighted matches or candles.

Care should be exercised in burning leaves, dead grass or rubbish. Keep these fires a safe distance from buildings, and never light them on windy days.

Use only safety matches, and make it impossible for children to get them. Always place burned matches in metal receptacles; never throw them on the floor or into waste baskets.

To smoke in garages, in bed, or around stables containing hay is deliberately to invite disaster. Never lay down a lighted cigar or cigarette, or throw away a lighted stub.

Illuminating oils should be kept in closed metal cans in a safe place, and lamps should never be filled except by daylight. Kerosene lamps should be kept clean and properly trimmed. If allowed to burn all night, select one that contains much more than enough oil. A dirty lamp containing only a little oil is unsafe. Lamps with broad bases are preferable. Care must be taken not to place them near inflammable material, under shelves, nor to set or leave lamps or lanterns in stables or other places where animals may upset them. Never allow little children to carry lamps, and never set lamps on table covers. Children may pull them over.

Electricity is a hidden hazard and extends throughout the wire system in a building. Be sure it is safely installed, and have the system carefully inspected and approved by a recognized electrical inspector. Many fires are due to defective electric wiring. Do not destroy the insulation on light, fan, heater or other electric wires by hanging them on hooks or nails. Immediately repair or replace any defective switches, sockets, etc. A fuse is the "safety valve" of an electric system, and should never be replaced by one of larger size, bridged with pennies, or any other material.

Before attaching electric irons, vacuum cleaners, cooking utensils or any other electrical device to your lighting circuits or sockets, consult an electrician as to the ability of your wiring to withstand this additional load. Electric wiring systems are designed to carry only a certain current, and if overloaded may cause fires. Numerous fires have been caused by leaving electric irons with the current on. Disconnect them immediately when through using.

Coal and kindling should preferably be kept within a brick or stone enclosure and not stored against frame partitions nor directly against walls of boilers or furnaces.

Never put kindling into the oven. Deposit all ashes in metal receptacles and remove from building at once. Barrels or boxes should not be used for storing or carrying ashes unless they are constructed entirely of metal.

Before starting fires in the autumn, thoroughly clean out furnace and flues thereto, also fireplaces. Carefully examine them and immediately repair or replace any defective part. Don't burn out chimneys and flues by making especially hot fire with paper, etc. Main chimneys should be cleaned from roof to cellar. All stovepipes where entering chimneys should be provided with metal collar and have a clearance of six inches from combustible material and be rigidly fixed in place. Replace any tile, crack or flimsy flues and chimneys with substantial brick chimneys. Long lengths of metal stovepipe are dangerous.

At least an eighteen-inch clearance is necessary between top and sides of furnace, breeching and flues from ceiling, partitions and other combustible material. Repair at once any broken plaster in ceiling or partition walls.

Do not have steam pipes in contact with wood-work or near inflammable materials, and do not permit rubbish to accumulate behind steam coils or radiators.

Gas stoves or other heaters should have a ventilating flue to carry off the burned gas fumes which are poisonous and the flame should be guarded with wire screen. Do not use portable rubber or similar tubing, but connect all gas stoves rigidly and securely with metal pipe. Examine valves and see that they are tight and do not leak.

Never permit a stove of any kind to be set up without stone, brick, concrete or metal protection underneath, or near a partition without a metal shield and air space.

Never run stovepipes through partitions, nor paste paper over flue holes.

All types of open fireplaces or stoves, especially where there are children, should be provided with substantial spark screens.

Don't throw waste paper on an open fire. Every period of extreme cold results in numerous fires due to faulty heating apparatus. Keep this in mind next winter. Watch your heater.

Keep hoods and pipes of kitchen range free from grease and line by cleaning with hot water and lye.

Do not hang clothes or bags near stoves, or on stovepipes or steam pipes.

Do not allow your family to jeopardize their lives by pouring kerosene onto the kitchen fire to start it or hurry it along.

Extreme care should be used with alcohol or kerosene stoves. Never leave kitchen with kerosene stove burning. They should always be filled in the daylight and away from any open flame.

Do not use patent cleaning fluids, polish or chemicals unless you know something about them. Many of these contain volatile oils of a hazardous character.

Do all gasoline cleaning in the open air, and caution the members of the family to refrain from using gasoline or like volatiles in the house. This material should not be kept in the house nor in glass bottles.

Beware of rags or cloths used in oiling floors or cleaning or polishing furniture. They may ignite spontaneously. Be sure and burn them after using. Leaving them about only a few hours may mean a fire.

One or more approved hand fire extinguishers should be placed in every home.

It is well to see that the garden hose may be attached to the kitchen faucet.

Never allow open lights or flames in a garage. When filling the tank run the auto outside, so that gasoline vapors will dissipate.

Do not keep gasoline inside of garage or dwelling. An approved underground storage tank is the safest method for keeping gasoline. The gasoline pump should be located outside the building.

A metal container should be located at a convenient place outside the garage for all waste and greasy rags. Burn these every week. Never use sawdust or shavings to absorb grease and oil. Scrub floor (if wooden) occasionally with hot water and lye.

The use of gasoline for cleaning parts of the automobile in the garage is a dangerous practice.

The garage should not be heated by means of stove or open fire of any kind, unless same is isolated in another room so that the gasoline vapors of garage cannot possibly get in to it. Gasoline vapor travels. Being heavier than air it seeks low levels. Ventilation should be so arranged as to take care of vapors collecting near the floor.

Keep an approved fire extinguisher and a pail of sand in garage. Water thrown on burning gasoline may merely serve to spread it.

Familiarize the family with the operation of the nearest fire alarm box. After operating a fire alarm, stay near it to direct the firemen to the fire. Every minute is significant.

Have the telephone number of the nearest fire station on a special card at your telephone.

Don't fail to notify the chief of the fire department of anything you may see that is dangerous or liable to cause fire.

Youthful murderers under sentence of death in various sections of the country are appealing for clemency, in view of the escape of Leopold and Loeb from the gallows. If capital punishment is ever justified it certainly should have been meted out to the fiendish slayers of Bobby Franks. Poor, ignorant criminals deserve some consideration when rich and highly educated ones are shown mercy. We should abolish capital punishment if there is no way whereby the law may be applied to rich and poor alike.

Some sections are now witnessing a three-cornered feud between prohibition officers, bootleggers and highjackers. The high-jacker holds up and robs the bootlegger and the enforcement officers are after both. Several innocent citizens have been shot recently by being mistaken for one of the other. All of them are entirely too handy with their pistols.

As the result of charges that permits were issued to Chicago congregations that do not exist, Treasury Department records revealed that taxes were paid on more than 1,300,000 gallons of sacramental wines for Illinois. New York with a much larger Jewish population, paid taxes on 500,000 gallons.

HALL-QUEST CASE IS UP BEFORE JUDGE

J. HARRY LEWIS AT CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 8.—When Mrs. Shirley Hall-Quest, wife of Dr. Edward Lawrence Hall-Quest now dean of the University of Pittsburgh, told her husband more than a year ago that she wished to leave him and live with a man she loved, he consented, agreed to shield her as much as possible and promised to protect and did protect the other man.

This story of one of the most remarkable triangles ever made known here was bared Tuesday when the professor obtained a divorce from Judge Harry A. Lewis in the superior court. His former wife had been living with the man she loved for more than a year at an undisclosed address in Evanston. Friends and neighbors of the two, the court records stated, they have been known as man and wife whereas according to the records they were joined only by the bonds of a "perfect passionate love."

In one of her letters to her husband, written after she left him, Mrs. Hall-Quest wrote:

"It is my hope that my life and his together may eventually be sanctioned by social laws."

During the proceeding John A. Massen, attorney for the professor, deleted from the records the name of the other man. In addition the professor made every possible effort to keep the proceedings from becoming public.

It was in 1923, when Professor Hall-Quest was at Columbia University, New York, that his wife met the other man, he told Judge Lewis. He had married Miss Shirley Ivy Knox in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1908.

The professor's home was in Cincinnati at the time Mrs. Hall-Quest fell in love with the other man, he added. Soon afterwards, she left him and came to Chicago to pursue her romance.

Elmer J. Bauer, described as a friend of the family, followed the professor on the stand, and told of visiting Mrs. Hall-Quest's wife and the other man in their apartment at Evanston. They were registered as man and wife, and lived together openly as such he testified.

Excerpts from letters which Mrs. Hall-Quest wrote her husband as setting her right to live a life of "perfect love" were read into the record and then withdrawn after the professor's request. So careful was the professor to protect his rival for his wife's affections that he even had telegrams of cities the two had visited taken from the record.

A portion of one of her letters, written shortly after Mrs. Hall-Quest left her husband read:

"I wanted to show you, if possible, that my going away with you was necessary not because it meant a consummation of the passionate love that I have for you, but because it offered, as we saw it, the only way for an upbuilding made necessary by years of a tearing down process. That public scandal must be avoided for your sake I can quite realize—but I can and must take all the blame that attaches to our decision to live together—and therefore no secrecy was contemplated when we left for Chicago together."

Massen, Dr. Hall-Quest's attorney said: "Mr. Hall-Quest did a noble thing in giving up his wife. It is terrible to the public eye and a more terrible thing that his wife, who, after all, cannot be blamed greatly for following the dictates of her heart, should now be buried in calumny."

Good Lighting Important
Many a city has learned that good street lighting is a practical method of preventing motor-car accidents. Poor illumination has been the cause of many automobile accidents.

Loose gravel that may be found in many spots of near every highway is a source of danger to motorists. Where a heavy car or truck may roll forward on a straight line in light or medium stretches of gravel, the lighter weight car which is not built to hug the road, is almost certain to skid.

WHEN THE BABY WAKES

When the baby wakes from sleeping There is laughter in her eyes And no hint of last night's weeping; Earth has heard no sweeter cries Than her gurgling and her cooing As she greets another day; Age may wake to cares-passing, But the baby wakes to play.	Life is good, and well I know it! Or my babe would wake to sigh. In some diurnal way she'd show it As the days go slipping by; When the morning sun comes shining She'd not clap her hands that way But, like us, would start repining At the burdens of the day.
When the baby wakes from slumber There is sunshine on her cheeks There are smiles, too swift to number It is music when she speaks, And the way she shouts her gladness Driven all thought of grief away; Age must sometimes wake to sadness But a baby-wakes to play.	When the baby wakes, there's never Any sudden thought of woe; Last night's tears have dried forever. Here's a face with joy aglow! Here's the day you called tomorrow. You can almost hear her say! Age may sometimes wake to sorrow, But a baby wakes to play.

If the above parties will call at the circulation desk we will gladly give each of them the amount due on their guess. The guess made by the first seven was 35,090 each, and the second guess was 31,949.

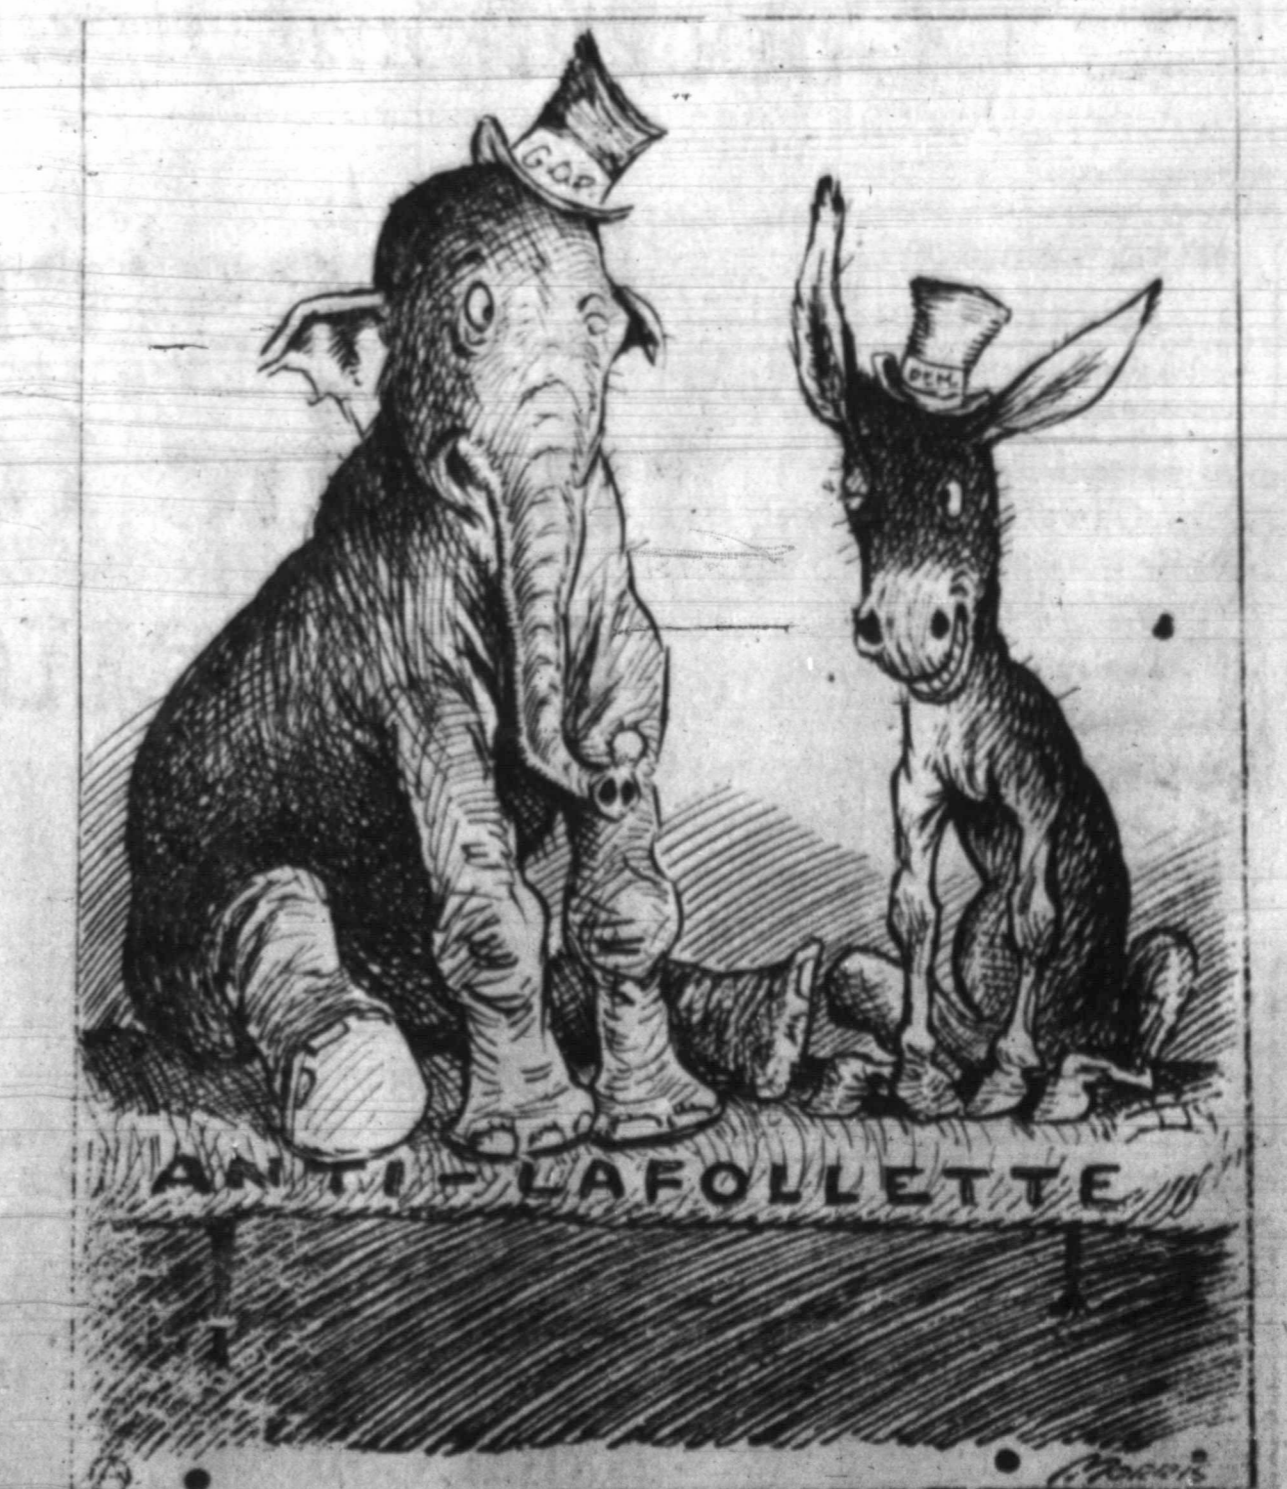

Anyone, or all, of the above seven parties are entitled to the amount due them, either in cash or a one month subscription to the Morning Avalanche. The amount due each of the seven is $3; The price of the Daily Avalanche is 60c and 75c respectively. Take your choice. Please let us know your wishes in this matter. The second prize is $2.00 in cash, or four months subscription to the Daily Avalanche.

Five guesses ran all the way from 5,000 to 50,000,000,000, which proves conclusively that the average person is a poor guesser at the number of people present on any special occasion. There were 518 registered their guesses and 873 out-of-county visitors sent out copies of our special seventy-six page Industrial Edition, six of which went to Brazil, three to China and eight to South America. The other copies went to the various states in the union. Just figure out what this publicity means to Lubbock and the South Plains and let us have your idea of same.

GIANTS BEAT WALTER JOHNSON SECOND TIME DURING SERIES

VETERAN "WAR-HORSE" GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT FIGHTING IN WHAT MAY PROVE HIS LAST APPEARANCE IN BIG SHOW

BY WILLIAM SLAVENS McNUTT
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Walter Johnson had his second chance to deliver in a world series and lost. That is the real story of the contest at the Polo Grounds on Wednesday. The score of the game was 6 to 2. The mood of the game was tragedy.

Johnson looked bad from the beginning. The non-chalant perfection and easy powerful action that marked his delivery for so many years was not at his command. The steam of the younger, stronger time when he made them swing blind and forced umpires to guess at just where the ball crossed the plate was missing.

Johnson Wednesday at the polo grounds was just a tired, worried old man trying far too hard to do what he will never be able to do again. Johnson loses opportunity to win the crown that his genius as a pitcher has earned and as he finally got his opportunity fate jammed upon his brow a crucial crown of thorns. Floundering there on the pitchers mound in that second try for a win against the Giants he was one of the most pitiful figures ever seen in a world series game.

The tragedy began in the second half of the third inning. Jackson first up for New York hit one to Miller playing third in place of the injured Peckinpaugh. Miller juggled the ball and Jackson was safe.

Be it said in passing that Miller is both a tragedy and a joke. He has to play third base for Washington because there's no one else to do it. He does the job about as gracefully and efficiently as an elephant trying to imitate bird millmen dancing on the tight wire.

At best he's a fair minor leaguer. At worst, he is what one sees at third for the Senators in this series. To return from the subject of the pathetic Miller to the tail of the tragic ball game, Jackson went to third when Bentley singled after Gowdy had struck out. Then Lindstrom came to bat. He poked a slow roller to the pestered Miller. Jackson scored with the first run. The inning ended without further damage.

Miller Pitted In Effort
In the first of the fourth, Washington made it look as if the affair might be a ball game when Judge singled to right. Bluge got him to second with a sacrifice. Ruel rounded out, advancing Judge to third on the play, and poor Miller at last managed to get a hit over first, scoring Judge. The hit seemed to drive Miller quite mad. It was a long single at best, but he rounded first, and headed for second with his head down and his neck bowed. Atrocious tried to stop him, but he might as well have attempted to derail a ten car express train by putting a pin on the track. Miller, of course, was out a mile, but he seemed to feel better for having had his run.

In the Giants fourth, after Kelly had struck out, and Terry had tripled to right, Wilson hit one to Johnson, who caught Terry off third. Ultimately he was obliged to toss the ball to Miller who took after Terry with all the desperate ferocity of a Kentucky mountaineer feudist on the rampage. Then he caught Mr. Terry, as he did, he rammied the ball into the Giant first baseman's spine with enough force to drive home a railroad spike in hard oak. For putting Terry out he convulsed the crowd by putting Johnson encouragingly on the shoulder. Following this episode, Jackson flied to Harris and the fourth inning was in the book.

Fifth Fatal To Senators
Then the ghastly fifth. Three Washington men went out in order and Gowdy first up for the Giants singled to right. Then Bentley caught one of Johnson's fast ones on the tip of his heavy bat and sent it into the right field bleachers for a homer, scoring Gowdy ahead of him. That was enough. Goslin hit a homer in the eighth with none on, bringing the score to 2 and 3, but Washington could not get another man around. Bentley was yanked in this frame when he began to waver and McQuillan was good enough to retire the side.

Then came the second half of the eighth, and real tragedy for poor Johnson. Kelly singled to left, Terry walked, Wilson bunted to Johnson, and the big man, one of the best fielding pitchers in his league, juggled the ball and all was safe. Three on, none out, and Johnson expressing pathetic weariness in his every movement. Jackson flied to left and Kelly

Old admirers of the once great Walter Johnson were weeping in the stands.

A fight started when a red necked rooter began to yell "take him out." An umpire who called balls and strikes for the big fellow on his debut in the majors 18 years ago wiped the tears from his eyes and offered to lick any collection of men mean enough to razz the deposed old king in his bitter hour of humiliation and defeat.

Frisch passed out, Bluge to Harris, ending the agony, and Johnson walked from a ball field for perhaps the last time, his head hanging and his huge shoulders drooping wearily.

Nine Giants and eighteen years had licked him and licked him badly. Washington did nothing in their half of the ninth and the day was over when Harris flied to Wilson for the third out. The series stands 3 to 2 with Washington again dirty in the ditch and the Giants sitting pretty within good stepping distance of the top of the world.

LITTLEFIELD GRIDSTERS TO MEET WESTERNERS IN PRACTICE GAME AT FAIR GROUND PARK FRI. AFTERNOON

The coaching staff of the Westerners have arranged to play the Littlefield High School team on the local gridiron tomorrow afternoon. This will be more of a practice game and the outcome of the game will not effect the percentage of either team, as the Littlefield school is of the B class teams and the Lubbock High School is of the A class teams.

"Mule" Davis, head coach of the Westerners, says that the new material will be used in the game. However, the same line up that was used in the game against Floydada will start tomorrow's game. "Mule" says that there is lots of good material that will be tried out in this game.

The game will not be a walk-over by any means, declares "Mule" Davis. "These Littlefield boys are coming down to give the Westerners all that they have in store. They might as well expect to see a game that will be well worth their time."

The game will begin at four o'clock at the Fair Park grounds. Admission for this game will be fifty cents. On hand and give the Lubbock Westerners the support that they so justly deserve.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Look for Goose Goslin to shatter the world's record today in making his third of the classic with a slap against the upper right field stand railing, he tied Babe Ruth's mark. The Goose has his eyes on the ball. He's hitting 'em on the outside, on the inside and through the groove, right now. He's hitting curves as well as the fast balls.

Washington is again in the hole one down to the Giants. We were in a similar hole on Tuesday and we went out and batted up a tie. Look for some more of that kind of a fight tomorrow. Don't blame Walter Johnson for our 6-2 set back of today. These Giants hit fast ball pitching. They will hit most any brand of speed deliveries

Lawrence, Kans., Oct. 8.—De-feated in their opening game for the first time in the school's thirty years of football history, the Kansas University eleven is hard at work this week preparing for their first Missouri Valley Conference game of the season from Amts.

The Iowa Argos showed last Saturday against Wisconsin a daring attack that held the Big Ten eleven to a 3 to 0 score until the final quarter. In addition to polishing up the defense, the Hayhawk coach faces a big task this week in building up an offensive. Against the Oklahoma Argos last Saturday the university eleven was helpless in attempting to score.

One thing the war did: A lot of tightwads could cover it over by calling themselves thrifty.

Senators on the Run Gowdy Says with a Lament for Johnson

BY HANK GOWDY
Catcher for the N. Y. Giants
(Copyright, 1924, by United News)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—By this time Thursday night the Giants will be the champions of the world series once more. We've got the advantage now, three games to two, what's more, we've got the Washington club on the run. We outtraced them in Wednesday's game to win, six to two, and we beat the best pitcher they have—one of the best pitchers in the world for that matter, Walter Johnson.

It was too bad that Walter could not win. Of course, we are fighting for our living and our future in these games and the winner's share of the pool is mighty sweet. But all of us on the Giants bench are sorry to have to beat such a fine figure in the game as Walter Johnson, just at the end of his career. The crowd was with Walter and had I been among the crowd, instead of playing on the field, I'd have been for him, too.

This world series is going to the club with the best substitutes and that's ours. When Heinie Groh got his leg hurt and had to leave third base we had Freddie Lindstrom to drop into the place where the fast traffic goes, and he has handled the job on the field and at bat with the confidence and skill of an old star. When Roger Peckinpaugh, the Senator's shortstop pulled a tendon and had to quit, the Senators switched Bluge over to short, leaving third base to Ralph Miller, a big husky fellow, who is built for ranging and reaching in the outfield and not for stooping at third base.

I understand that Miller is a good outfielder, and it seems a shame that he has to play third base and take

WIFE OF CONVICTED TRAIN ROBBER WINS PLEA FOR OPERATION ON HEAD OF HUSBAND; MAY SAVE HIM FROM NOOZE

By United News.
LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 8.—A woman's faith in the true character of her convicted husband may send him to his death soon or return him to society.

And in his cell in the segregation ward of the federal prison here, Roy Gardner, train robber extraordinary who operated on the Pacific coast, anxiously awaits the outcome of a medical examination which his wife won for him after a long struggle with government officials in Washington. The daring bandit, who three times broke away from his McNeils Island prison on pugnet sword gained him nation wide notoriety, has steadfastly maintained since his conviction in 1920 at Phoenix, Arizona, that he was suffering from brain pressure as the result of an injury in his youth and this forced him to rob.

The fight to secure permission for an operation began almost simultaneously with his arrival here to begin his 25-year sentence.

Dr. A. F. Yohe, prison physician, and two other surgeons finally were ordered to make the examination and they reported that Gardner did not need an operation to "cure" him of his desire to steal. Coincident with report came threats by Gardner that he would "blow the joint" any time he had the opportunity. Knowing and respecting the outlaws ability to break jail and prisons alike, authorities placed him in the segregation ward, and for the last four years he has had but one hour of "liberty" each day.

Mrs. Dolly Gardner, the convict's pretty wife, however, was undaunted and returned to San Francisco where she began new plans to gain her husband's release. She went to Phoenix, and secured a physician from one of the regions who tried Gardner that they received him of unsound mind and recommended the medical examination. Armed with these "x-rays plates" and other testimonials she recently went to Washington, presented them to government officials, and Washington Dr. Yohe received instructions to conduct another examination.

Told by Washington surgeons that an operation of this nature was a very serious one, Mrs. Gardner said: "I would rather take that chance of holding him than to have him the way he is now. Roy was not a criminal at heart, when I married him and I do not believe he is now."

"He wants the operation. If he has no better afterwards, I want him kept in prison. He would be better off there than running around robbing myl trains."

Gardner broke into big league banditry on April 26, 1920, when he staged a lone daylight hold up of a mail truck at San Diego, Cal., obtaining $67,000. Always alone, he operated up and down the Pacific coast, plundering at will and, it was said, never firing a single shot in any of his numerous hold ups. He is said to be the only man who ever escaped from McNeils Island prison.

MARKETS

HEAVY SALES DRIVES COTTON TO CLOSE OVER $7 OFF

By EDWARD J. CONLON. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Traders in the stock market have apparently adopted the attitude that they will not take a decided stand in the market until something happens. And this week very little has happened to shape the course of the market. Wednesday's session saw a turnover of a half-billion shares, with the average of the leading railroad stocks about steady and those of the industrial registered declines of about a quarter of a point. The great feature of the day, however, was in the cotton market. The government's estimate of the condition of the crop as of Oct. 1 as 53.6 per cent of normal with an indicated yield of 12,493,000 bales, came as a distinct surprise. The grade had been discounting a yield of about 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 bales. Consequently the flashing of the bureau's figures was the signal for a general selling which precipitated an immediate break of $3 a bale. LINDSTROM, "THE YOUNG SWEDE" COMES INTO GLORY AS WALTER JOHNSON, THE "VETERAN SWEDE" SEES PROBABLE END

By WESTBROOK PEGLER. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Have you heard the one about the two Swedes at the ball game?

Well, it seems that a couple of Swedes met on the Polo Grounds in a world series game of ball Wednesday afternoon and the big Swede, whose name wasn't Oley, but Walter Johnson, said to the little Swede, "Well, ay tank ay ban strike you out five times today."

"What and bazzory," said the little Swede, whose name was not Oley, but Freddie Lindstrom, "shure, an' I'll be knocking you out of the Major leagues today, so I will, Wurra, Wurra!"

Now you may say "Wurra, Wurra" says "Wnjat and Bazzory," or "Wurra! Wurra!" You've got the story of the two Swedes mixed up with the one about the two Irishmen.

However, that's the story. The little Swede did say "Wnjat and Bazzory" and "Wurra, Wurra," in a natural Chicago Irish brogue, which is thick and mushy and suggestive of a mouthful of tapioca pudding, and he came by it honestly, for Freddie Lindstrom, the 18-year-old baseman of the Giants is an alumnus of Loyola Academy, Rogers Park, Chicago, and a classmate of the Sweeney's and Peerey's, the Hogan's and the Groves's, the Hanlon's and the Scanlon's and the Dams's.

Picked Up At Loyola. Just what insane prank of prodence and the hone for higher learning a Swede by the name of Lindstrom ever landed among the Irish at Loyola you may find out for yourself if you like. Any way, that's where he first evidenced the catching claws of the best young third baseman in the major league and it's where Jake Weimer, the old Giant pitcher, who is baseball coach of the Loyola Irish, started him on a wide detour from his original destination, which was the plumbing business.

Weimer wired John McGraw: "Have discovered miraculous infielder; age 17; makes Henie Groh look like a halstead street car; get him quickest."

McGraw's ten word reply was "Go get with coarse laughter." "Har, har, har, har, har, har, har, har, har, har, har, har," said John McGraw.

Weimer however, was in a frantic condition of mind and at last, McGraw, to save the cost of answering Jake's telegrams, asked Dick Kinsella, the democratic politician and baseball man to run McGraw to Loyola from his home at Springfield, Ill., and see what, if anything, could be done to quiet old John. The Kinsella seemed to catch it from Weimer. The message was breaking McGraw at night, at night of the night, and breaking his repose. So John gave in and sent a contract to be signed by Freddie Lindstrom.

After watching the gangling kid at practice, McGraw decided he might make some use of him in the future and sent him to Toledo for a year's experience in the American association. This year he took Lindstrom to Sarasota with the Giants, and when Henie Groh's ancient tendons began to fray around the ankle late in the season, McGraw sent the little Swede to third base for the series with Pittsburgh club, on which the pennant depended.

Johnson, through the infield, for the first of four hits which he was to record before the end of the day. It was Johnson's first pitched ball of the game, too. In the third inning, the little Swede outfooted a slow infield grounder, which sent Jackson home from third with a run. In the fifth, the kid fouled out to Ruel, the Washington catcher. In the 7th, he raised a single center-but was shot down at the plate in a dash to make good a double steal which had been ordered by John McGraw from the bench. Lindstrom was the last man but one to face the big Swede in the major leagues. That was in the eighth inning, when he singled to left field, sending Gowdy home from 3rd, with the Giants sixth and final score, Frank Frisch the last of the Giants to hit against Johnson forced Lindstrom out at second, retiring the side.

Goose Down Fighting. Inasmuch as this was the big Swede's last inning in the game that first blinked at his fast ball 18 years ago, the gods of sport might have let him end his career by striking out the boy who was mewing and gurgling in the cradle when he was a rookie. But the gods have to be practical some times. They have been fingering songs of tragedy on their concertinas all afternoon.

Stanley Harris, the manager of the Washington Club, who was a boy of ten when the big Swede became a big league leader, wore a lane in the sod of the infield rotting in to put the big Swede on the back from time to time. But when Johnson weakened in the eighth, Stanley clamped his teeth on his chewing gum, yanked his cap over his eyes and idly chivvied the thing. He might have called in Fred Marberry the relief pitcher to tighten the defense, but the kid was too fine to do it. He let Walter Johnson stay in there, take his hammering, and go down fighting.

This, then is the one about the two Swedes, the little one who came up to glory, and the big one who went down and out.

And so the game of life goes on, each day somewhere, the gods of time rubs out—and writes anew.

SPORTS (Continued from Page 5) the responsibility for such a job. He isn't his business at all. It's about the same as though McGraw should send me in to pitch.

No Excuse For Pimples and Bumps on the Face

The boy or girl who is always conscious of their pimply, blotchy, inflamed or rough skin, and really drawing more attention to it when they keep making excuses for not looking good, don't get any sympathy because folks now know that it is not necessary to keep putting up with this sort of thing. Since Black and White Ointment and Black and White Soap were introduced in this country thousands of people who had been troubled with pimples, blotches, dark rough skin, full of bumps, for years are now happy because they find it gets rid of them so quickly.

LONDON TIMES CONGRATULATES THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY ON HAVING THE LORD BYRON WORKS IN THEIR SCHOOL

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 9.—Through the publication in the literary supplement of the London Times on August 28, 1924, of an account of the exhibition of manuscripts and first editions of Lord Byron at the University of Texas, in celebration of the centenary of the poet's death, worldwide attention on the part of bibliographers and book collectors has been attracted to that institution more especially to the famous Wrenn Library which contains the larger portion of the books that formed a part of the exhibition.

While in Austin accepting a collection of space and is devoted largely to a review of the rare books and manuscripts which form a notable feature of the collection that was exhibited. It has caused a noticeable increase in the large number of requests received from foreign countries for "Descriptive Catalogue" of the exhibit compiled by Professors R. H. Griffith and H. M. Jones, of the University faculty. The introduction to the article, which expresses wonderment that such a collection of Byron books and manuscripts should be found in Texas reads:

"It is reasonably certain that Byron never heard of Texas, and that Texas never heard of Byron, in his lifetime at least. Then, as now, there was a good deal of Texas, which is over twice as large as the British Isles, with a length of about 3000 miles and a breadth of 750 miles. A century ago there were fewer than 5,000 persons dwelling within the borders of what is now the State of Texas, mostly Indians, with a few Mexicans and American settlers. To what extent Texas has made good in the interval between 1824 and 1924 is seen by the fact that today its population is 5,000,000, while this year there were 4.50 students registered in the University of Texas and in residence up to the present vacation.

"And now, overlooking bygone ignorance and neglect, Texas has done great honor to itself and to Byron by celebrating the centenary of the poet's death. It was celebrated in the famous Wrenn Library of the University of Texas, at Austin, and took the form of an exhibition of manuscripts and first editions of Lord Byron which could hardly be bettered anywhere else in the United States, except perhaps in New York with the aid of Mr. J. P. Morgan's unique collection. Not content with an exhibition, which only lasted a fortnight, April 19 to 30, the University has caused to be printed "A Descriptive Catalogue" of the exhibits, and this has been compiled with exhaustive care and knowledge by Professors R. H. Griffith and H. M. Jones, who both lectured on the exhibition. Byron during the period of the exhibition. A mere hurried glance through the catalogue, a monument of bibliographical accuracy and exhaustiveness, will show that it is one of great value for permanent reference. What is, in a sense, still more remarkable, is that the exhibition was almost exclusively made up from Texas itself. The larger portion of it was in the possession of the University of Texas, but a score of the books were from the library of Mrs. W. H. Stark, of Orange, to whom and by her son, Mrs. H. J. Latcher Stark, much of the success of the exhibition and the printing of the fine catalogue is due."

APPLICANTS FOR EMPLOYMENT OVER-RUN BUREAU

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 9.—Applicants for work have completely overrun the student employment bureau of the University of Texas Y. M. C. A., 214 students having filed application for work. It is impossible at this time to compile figures showing the number of students who have been placed in various positions, but the per cent is fairly large, it is stated.

The work is of four general classes—positions requiring skill and experience, such as bookkeeping, carpentering, office and store clerks; work which pays a student's board, such as table waiting and choreman; work which furnishes a student a room, such as janitor, furnace or yard tender; spare time jobs for students who must earn a small part of their way through school, such as newspaper carrier, errand boy, or gardener.

HALLQUEST TESTIFIES IN PASSIONATE LOVE CASE

By HAROLD ANDREWS
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Shirley Iva Knox Hall-Quest, the woman whose "pure and passionate love" for another man compelled her to renounce the shelter and responsibility accruing to her position as the wife of a college professor, will be a fugitive from the curiosity of the world until the other man has been divorced from his own wife.

A few hours after it became public that the "other man" was Professor William Hart of Evanston, Ill., it also developed that he has a wife living in Cincinnati, Ohio, who has filed suit for divorce against him. It is reported the case will be heard Monday.

Professor Andrew Lawrence Hall-Quest slipped quietly into Chicago Tuesday and divorced Mrs. Hall-Quest who has been living with Hart in Evanston for more than a year. He made every precaution to prevent the public from learning what formed one of the most romantic triangles in the history of Chicago's divorce courts.

He was unsuccessful, however, when the lights of publicity began to heat upon the perfect lovers in their snug little apartment, they packed their trunks and fled. They left a few hours after the signing of the divorce decree. Professor Hall-Quest went back to his classes at the University of Pittsburgh, crushed by the turn of events.

Mrs. Hall-Quest is reported to be at the present writing. Through she made no attempt to conceal her elopement with Hart from her husband, the divorce she had asked for seemed to have been a strain, according to neighbors who saw her Tuesday. The divorce court had transformed her romantic and consuming lover into common property. By nature Mrs. Hall-Quest is quiet and retiring, her acquaintances said Wednesday. In dress and manner and speech she reflects cultured taste. Her appearance they described as charming. Her eyes, large and dark are her most striking feature.

Hart is general manager of the Hart-Bauer Brokerage Company. The divorce decree Tuesday went by default, Mrs. Hall-Quest not appearing. Professor Hall-Quest testified that he was married August 26, 1908 and that no children had been born of the marriage.

"My wife left me in October, 1923," he told the judge. "She eloped with another man. She wrote me several letters in which she confessed her love for this other man and refused to come back to me."

Bauer, Hart's partner, identified the letters as written by Mrs. Hall-Quest whom he said he knew very well. He said Mrs. Hall-Quest and the other man were living in Evanston as man and wife.

Professor Hall-Quest was formerly a member of the faculty of Columbia and the University of Cincinnati. He is now director of extension work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Professor Hall-Quest introduced a number of letters from his wife into the testimony. One of them read:

"The immediate future holds two possibilities—a temporary separation which would accomplish nothing—a continuation of our life together—realizing that if a complaint is lodged, it will mean leaving Chicago and trying to begin some other place."

"I shall therefore return to Chicago tomorrow and shall continue my life of the past three months."

"I hope it may soon end for all our sakes. Yours, Shirley."

LOCAL MAN BUYS A BUSINESS HOUSE ON AVENUE H.

J. K. Blackard, of Snyder, has just sold the brick building on Avenue H adjoining the Wilson Abstract Building on the north to Dr. R. J. Hall.

The consideration was practically all cash, and "the deal" proves Dr. Hall's continued confidence in Lubbock and her future development.

E. D. O'Day, owner and manager of the Labor Temple Barber Shop, has a five year lease on the building which remains intact.

The building is divided by a partition, one half being occupied by the barber shop while the other half is occupied by the Eagle Cafe.

The building was completed this year and like practically all brick building property here, is considered very valuable and a good investment was doubtless made by the purchaser.

An easier word to take the place of "chauffeur" is being sought, but none of the names ordinarily used by pedestrians would do in polite society.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY MAN IS LAW INSTRUCTOR

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 9.—Joseph G. Maytin, from Stanford University is an instructor in international law and government at the University of Texas this year. Mr. Maytin was born in Russia of German parentage in the city of Kiev, which is situated in southern Russia in the present Ukraine. Ancestors of Mr. Maytin went to Russia from Germany more than 250 years ago, at the request of the czar, to organize the Russian forests; however, his father did not follow the occupation of his ancestors but became a member of the diplomatic service. While Joseph Maytin was still young the family moved to Manchuria, China, where the father was an official in the diplomatic service of Russia and where he is now engaged in foreign trade.

Mr. Maytin graduated from the Russian Diplomatic College at Vladivostok. This is about the equivalent of taking the Bachelor or Arts degree in this country. Mr. Maytin said: Then he was ordered to a Russian military academy by the czar, but not sympathizing with the czar in his form of government, he came to the United States, landing in this country in 1916. Mr. Maytin said: "I have no sympathy with the present government in Russia and I was a teacher of American government and citizenship long before becoming an American citizen."

In 1917, under the Kerensky régime, this is about the equivalent of taking the Bachelor or Arts degree in this country. Mr. Maytin said: Then he was ordered to a Russian military academy by the czar, but not sympathizing with the czar in his form of government, he came to the United States, landing in this country in 1916. Mr. Maytin said: "I have no sympathy with the present government in Russia and I was a teacher of American government and citizenship long before becoming an American citizen."

MAN MUST ACCOMPANY WOMAN ON CHARGES

DALLAS, Oct. 9.—No longer will the woman alone pay in Dallas. The double standard of justice received a knockout here recently in Corporation Court when Judge P. D. Crawford issued an edict that in the future vice raiders must "find the man."

Judge Crawford, in setting a precedent for American vice control declared "that it was not right to drag a woman out of a room and bring her into court bowed in shame to face the cynical smiles of men."

Dallas police must bring the man along or the woman will be discharged, the judge declared in conclusion.

TRAFFIC RULES CHANGED TOO OFTEN FOR WOMAN

By United Press.

"None, madam," the speed-chaser replied. "I just wanted to give you a copy of the new traffic pamphlet."

CANDY DAY

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11TH

Candy Day is popularly called "The Sweetest Day" because next Saturday, October 11th, it will spread so much sweetness and happiness for everyone. Remember how good a stick of peppermint or hunk of molasses taffy tasted when you were a kid? Science tells us that candy should be part of our daily food, because sugar is the leading "fuel demanded by our bodies. Sugar strengthens and stimulates activity. Did you know that the expedition which climber Mr. Everest last year to an altitude of 27,000 feet lived mainly on Lemon drops, peppermint candies and chocolates? G. L. Mallory, one of the climbers stated in his recent lectures that "Eating candy was one of the ways we conserved our energy."

So from every standpoint—health, sentiment and delicious goodness—candy has come to be highly favored with everyone. These progressive candy dealers in Lubbock are showing their appreciation of the public's patronage by offering these delicious candies in honor of Candy Day—The Sweetest Day.

KIWANIANS EVIDENCE FORESIGHT AND INTEREST IN FUTURE PROBLEMS OF LUBBOCK AT REGULAR LUNCHEON THURSDAY

An eagerness to look into the future problems of the city with a view of meeting them with proper solutions, was evidenced by the local Kiwanis Club Thursday when a program concerning the fair that was held last week and the one to be held in 1925 was rendered.

C. E. Maedgen, president of the Security State Bank & Trust Company, and who since 1917 has been active in fair work, made a report of the fair work, pointing out the improvements that had been made from year to year, especially pointing out the improvements noted in the recent fair as compared to the fair of the previous year.

He commended all exhibitors for their liberal support in making the fair the success it was. Mr. Maedgen expressed much disappointment at the unfortunate circumstances surrounding the presentation of the President of King Cotton, and declared that this present should be represented in the near future under circumstances that would be favorable to it and in order that it might serve its purpose, both as an entertainment feature and to depict the development of the cotton industry in the south.

Mr. Maedgen closed his talk by stating that the Kiwanis club could enter into no more laudable work than that of encouraging farmers throughout this section to adopt one variety of cotton, being careful to select the variety that would make best yields here. He pointed out that a uniformity in planting would insure a uniform market for all. His suggestion will doubtless be acted upon in the future.

Chas. H. Goodman then spoke of the necessity of encouraging cooperation of all counties of this section of the state, and pointed out ways of encouraging them to exhibit at the fair. This talk was instructive, and as Mr. Goodman was very active during the four days of the fair having had charge of all athletic events, his experience in the work gave room for first hand knowledge of the real situation, which he used to good advantage in making his talk.

"How to Have a Dustless Fair without Rain" was the subject assigned Claud B. Hurlbut. He suggested that oil could be used to good advantage in putting the grounds in such condition as to make the fair-grounds dustless even despite heavy winds.

Mr. Hurlbut pointed out the advantages to be gained through paving the street running alongside the fair grounds.

A. W. McKee, chairman of Group eight, had charge of the program and was instrumental in making the entire program a money one, and one that was enjoyed by all.

B. F. Bennett, of Plainview, an official in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was a guest, and made brief remarks to the membership of the club, commending them upon the progressiveness shown in the development of Lubbock. He declared that Lubbock has the most efficient Chamber of Commerce executive in the state in the person of Manager

A. E. Davis, whom he referred to as "Cyclone" Davis. Some of the fellows interpreted the "Cyclone" as meaning a great deal of wind, while others interpreted it as being able to cover a great deal of territory in little time. At any rate, Lubbock has a chamber of commerce man who makes a visitor's remarks appreciated by the Kiwanians.

The members of the club were disappointed to learn that Kiwanian Shelby Robbins, a charter member and one of the most active and popular workers in Kiwanis, will leave Lubbock soon. Mr. Robbins expressed appreciation for the good fellowship he had known among the Kiwanians, and assured them that in all their future undertakings they will have his best wishes. President Wilson addressed Mr. Robbins in behalf of the club, expressing the regret of all members at his departure from the city.

Mr. Fardue, of Waco, who came to Lubbock two weeks ago and is now manager of the Meiba Grill, was a guest of Louie F. Moore and made a short talk, in which he declared Lubbock has the friendliest businessmen to be found anywhere.

LUBBOCK COLLEGE STUDENT INJURED IN BALL GAME

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dow are in receipt of a letter from the Westworth College officials that their son Melvin, who is attending college there, sustained injuries yesterday while playing football. In the game he received a broken collar bone, but is still able to pursue his studies and is keeping well up with his work. He has been in the institution one month, and reports from the college indicate that he is making fine progress and his friends will be glad to know that the accident will not interfere with his school work.

MULKEY IS ELATED BY CHRYSLER ENDURANCE

George Mulkey, local Chrysler dealer, is elated over the prominent place achieved by a Chrysler in California.

Shattering all previous endurance records, a stock Chrysler Six phaeton covered 1000 miles in 1007 minutes elapsed time at Fresno, California, Sept. 17th. Deducting the time consumed for necessary stops, such as for gasoline, oil, tire changes and food for the driver, the net running time was 878 minutes, 10.8 seconds, and average speed of 68.331 miles an hour.

The distance, 92 miles longer than the New York Central Railroad's route from New York to Chicago, was made in 5 hours and 21 minutes less running time than the famous Twentieth Century Limited's scheduled time between America's two largest cities. It was made in an hour and 20 minutes less time than the famous train has ever completed its shorter run.

Certification of the Chrysler used for this amazing demonstration as a strictly stock car was made by Los Angeles Times, which recently offered a trophy for such a feat, and which the Chrysler won. The time was clocked and certified by three associated members of the American Automobile Association.

The car was driven by Ralph De Palma, noted automobile race driver. It was the second record-breaking feat he has hung up with Chrysler stock cars within three months. On July 16, driving another stock Chrysler, De Palma tore up Mount Wilson, near Los Angeles, in 2 minutes, 48.85 seconds, breaking the former two car record by more than two minutes, and the non-stop record as well.

This latest test which rolled two Indianapolis races into one, was made on the Fresno race track. Traffic conditions naturally prevent such a test on highways. But Chrysler enthusiasts, who saw the grueling run, point out that a race track is no better than any ordinary highway and in spots the Fresno track is actually not as good.

Endurance in high speed work was the real test. And the combination of 1000 miles in 1007 minutes, an average of 68.331 miles an hour is a speed that tells a story of amazing endurance.

There is proof positive of this in the fact that this car of De Palma's with the identical motor, pistons, connecting rods, oiling system and gear ratio built into every Chrysler, average 68 miles an hour for 1000 miles, and came out of the test as though it had simply done a normal day's work.

could not stand a thousand miles at 68 miles an hour. An engine with anything but a perfect oiling system would be wrecked long before it traveled a thousand miles with throttle wide open. A car with anything but a perfect cooling system could not possibly keep cool at its top-most effort for more than 12 hours, and that on a day when the temperature reached 109 degrees.

De Palma recently bought for his personal use a Chrysler phaeton—the same model car that he drove to this and the Mt. Wilson record. It and his Miller Special racing car are his two automobile pets.

Culberson County Jail Vacant For Past Six Months

EL PASO, Oct. 8.—Culberson county jail is vacant and no crime has been committed in its borders in the last six months and Sheriff C. N. Cummins has nothing to do but walk around and amuse himself (and draw his pay).

This unusual state of affairs was revealed when Judge W. D. Howe, of the 34th district court, and Assistant District Attorney M. V. Ward and Roy Jackson returned from Van Horn, where the session of court was scheduled. Judge Howe convened court, empaneled the grand jury and as there was no business for the court or grand jury, discharged the inquisitorial body and adjourned court without trying a case.

Sheriff Cummins said there had not been a prisoner in the jail in the past six months and is very proud of the record.

To Establish Fish And Oyster Store In Weaver Bldg.

A. V. Weaver, owner of the building at the corner of 13th and I which for the past two years has been occupied by the Star Mercantile Company, stated Thursday that W. H. McFarland, of Floydada, had rented a portion of the building where he will establish an up-to-date fish and oyster market.

This building, being located in a very favorable position, with reference to retail trade, is offering ideal opportunities for such businesses, and with the remodeling work which will be completed within a few weeks tending to its neat appearance, it is aiding in making that section of the city more popular for retail businesses.

Mr. Weaver stated Thursday that contractor Clements who is remodeling the first floor of the building will not cease work until this has been made one of the most attractive store buildings in the city.

Five thousand dollars will be spent in remodeling the first floor of the building. Mr. Weaver stated that the Elks Hall, which is located on the second floor, will not be changed in the present program.

VICTIMS OF WRECK ALL ITALIANS, REPORT SAYS

It had been previously believed that several Americans might have been numbered among the casualties.

Man Given 9 Days to Brush Up Etiquette Or Lose His Wife

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8.—John H. Popp, has been allowed nine days to brush up a bit on table etiquette and to devise a way of keeping awake in church or lose his wife.

For twenty-eight years John had fairly crammed food down his throat said Mrs. Rose Popp who had her husband arrested Tuesday for non-support. And during all these years she has tried to teach him better manners. Mrs. Popp told Municipal Judge M. J. Kilroy.

Suddenly tiring of what he termed her "persistent nagging" Popp left home, took his meals in restaurants and slept in a hotel instead of in church.

"When I get home from work, I'm hungry, I eat. That's all I have to say," he explained to the court. Judge Kilroy continued the case until October 15, to give the couple an opportunity for reconciliation, which Mrs. Popp says is impossible unless her husband changes his table manners.

PLANS

The successful construction of a building requires plans that indicate precisely each step to be taken in its erection.

A successful life also requires planning.

And he acts wisely when he selects this Institution as aid to a successful and happy life.
