Poison Plot Principal Again Granted Continuance

MRS. HAUPTRIEF GIVEN SECOND TRIAL REPRIEVE

HER HUSBAND, RACKED BY POISON SAYS HE WILL TRY TO SAVE HER

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Oct. 13.—Crippled for life by the effects of poison which his wife admits she purposely fed him, Wm. Hauptrief, a farmer, pale and wan and with a hospital pallor, still loves her, and will do all he can to save her life.

Soon to become a mother, Mrs. Annie Hauptrief, confessed poisoner of her first husband, and four children, was granted a second reprieve from trial here Monday. A crowd of curious people who had gathered to hear the woman's story were plainly disappointed when the second continuance was granted.

Hauptrief sat in a large chair in a corridor, crutches by his side, and was extremely nervous. He had refused to believe his wife had intentionally given him poison until he was notified by officials she had confessed.

"She did not want to kill me," he said. "There must be something wrong. She was always a good wife. I still love her and will do all I can to help her."

Mrs. Hauptrief a middle aged woman who calmly admitted her guilt to authorities and they refused to grant another interview, sits in her cell making plans for the expected baby. She has nothing to say to other prisoners and in a model prisoner, according to jail officials.

Her original confession, authorized and was that she killed the four children and her first husband, because they were in my way.

Attorneys defending her, have admitted they will advance a plea of insanity with hopes of saving the woman's life.

SHENANDOAH IS HELD UP FOR FAVORABLE WEATHER

NAVAL AIR STATION, SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 13.—The Shenandoah will not sail northward toward Camp Lewis, Washington, at dawn Thursday.

Following a conference between officers of the dirigible and the commandant at this base, it was decided late Monday night to await the weather report at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday before setting a time for the Shenandoah's departure.

Captain Thomas Cravens, commanding officer at this station, declared that he believed the navy dirigible would not leave her North Island mooring until Wednesday.

"We have forecasts of heavy weather threatening the coast," he said.

"If the morning reports show the situation cleared materially, the ship may proceed as scheduled. But it seems now as if the Shenandoah will be here until Wednesday."

All repairs to the ship, made necessary by the burning of a rear engine in landing during a stiff blow Friday night, have been completed and fuel and provisions are aboard ready for the 1,799 mile cruise to the mooring near Tacoma.

SHANGHAI BEING TRANSFERRED TO KIANGSU FORCES

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14.—Transfer of this city to the control of the Fukien and Kiangsu garrisons, who have besieged it for weeks has been accomplished safely along with a minimum looting outside this city.

Fukien and Kiangsu garrisons entered Shanghai in the afternoon when the defeated army of Gen. Li Yung Hsiang retired from before the city in fairly good order.

Chinese merchants here have arranged to pay the salary arrears of the defeated troops and to provide them with transportation to their homes. Foreign business interest here confidently anticipates a boom.

DAWES PLAN IS PUT IN FORCE

YOUNG OFFICIALLY HANDS TO GERMANY DEBTS OF ALLIED NATIONS

PARIS, Oct. 13.—With the official inauguration of the Dawes plan here Monday, one of the greatest financial operations in the history of the world was consummated when Owen D. Young, agent-general of reparations, handed to the trustees under the Dawes settlement the contracts representing the heaviest obligation a nation had ever assumed in modern times.

They were the bills to Germany, many in the matter of fact many which accompany an ordinary business transaction. Young presented the trustees with a single sheet of paper representing Germany's obligations of eleven billion gold marks in railroad debentures $2,750,000,000. Another sheet represented five billion gold marks in German government securities. Then there were the contracts for the $200,000,000 loan to Germany, papers representing liens on Germany's entire railroad system and mortgages on her whole industrial fabric.

These were presented without ceremony although members of the reparations commission made it plain they realized the solemnity and world importance of the transaction. One of the commissioners said it was the first time in the history that a great civilized nation had incurred such heavy obligations voluntarily.

After nine months of continuous labor, the final successful achievement of the Dawes committee now has been celebrated.

Germany has complied fully with all the conditions of the plan, the international loan has been signed and the reparations commission will officially notify the powers which signed the London agreement that the Dawes program is now in full operation.

"I think this marks the turning point of the postwar rehabilitation of Europe," Owen D. Young said at the conclusion of the day's work.

LAW BEING PREPARED FOR PROTECTION 'PETTERS'

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 13.—For the protection of "petters," a number of whom have been held up recently by highway men, when they parked their cars in isolated districts and robbed of valuables, the county commissioners are preparing a law prohibiting the parking of automobiles on certain roads and boulevards at night. Motorcycle officers have been ordered to bring such persons to the police station for questioning.

NAVY PLANNING EXPLORATION FLIGHT TO POLE

ACTION IS OUTGROWTH OF DEMONSTRATIONS OF GIANT DIRIGIBLES

By THOMAS L. STOKES. WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—As a result of the demonstration of the Shenandoah and the ZR-3 the navy is planning a flight to the north pole which will have for its purpose the exploration of the 2,000,000 square miles of ice covered waste north of Alaska, never seen by human eye.

The successful flight of the Shenandoah to the coast, with the performance of the ZR-3, has practically settled the polar trip which was called off last year. It is expected to be made next spring when conditions are most favorable.

Complete weather and atmospheric records for the trip already are compiled. This work was done last spring about the time when the world fliers were held up in Alaska, by Captain "Bob" Bartlett, veteran Arctic explorer, whose ship the cutter Bear, was ice-bound for 37 days. Bartlett accompanied Perry on his polar expedition and has since spent much time in the Far North.

Bartlett has outlined the course of the flight. It would follow the route across the country taken by the Shenandoah, across the coast to Alaska in the path of the world fliers. From Nome, Alaska, the dirigible and the accompanying ship would go to Point Barrow, the boat equipped with a mooring mast. The dirigible could then take a straight course across the ice, explored wilderness of ice, over the pole to Spitzbergen, a distance of 2,000 miles, where another mooring mast would be set up by a vessel coming from the other side. Or it could make the pole and return.

Bartlett sees this route as an ideal dirigible line from this country to Europe and on to Japan, much shorter than present steamship routes. He even expressed the belief that in time there would be a passenger tourist route across the North Pole.

NO DANGER YELLOW FEVER EPIDEMIC DOCTORS SAY

HOUSTON, Oct. 13.—Houston is in no danger of a yellow fever epidemic. This was the word passed out today as R. E. Tarbell, sanitary engineer of the United States Public Health Service, as he went to work to eliminate from the city the mosquito that carries the fever germ.

Eighty-eight persons are under close surveillance in a detention camp.

They lived in the vicinity of the rooming house where Fernando Perez, Mexican, died of the fever. Perez has been the only casualty. He was ill when he arrived here from New Orleans.

Ferguson Scores Attack Of Butte On Wife's Ability

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 13.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson, impeached executive, today replied to those who are saying that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, his wife and democratic nominee for governor, is not capable to be governor as Dr. George C. Butte, republican nominee.

"Butte," Ferguson declared, "has formed an alliance with a few disgruntled Ku Klux Klansmen. This is the only issue in the race. He offers no policy of government or platform except that of white supremacy and 100 per cent Americanism."

Ferguson declared that he was going to make a number of addresses on his wife's behalf. He was in Houston conferring with South Texas political lieutenants.

BELIEVE YOU CAN'T FAIL ONE OF FORD'S BUSINESS SLOGANS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Henry Ford has stated one of the principles on which he has built the greatest industrial success in history. Here it is the way Ford said it in connection with the announcement that he had withdrawn his bid for Muscle Shoals.

"You must never for a second let yourself think that you can fail. Our first principle is that failure is impossible. You may not get what you are trying to do right the first time, or the second time, or the tenth time, or that hundredth time, but if you shut out of your mind the possibility of being licked, then you are bound to succeed."

"We do not talk about things going wrong. Things do not go wrong when they are started with the right idea."

MUSCLE SHOALS BID WITHDRAWN

FORD NOW PLANS DEVELOPMENT OF POWER FROM KENTUCKY FIELDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Refusing to allow one of his gigantic industrial enterprises to remain a political football, Henry Ford has withdrawn his bid for Muscle Shoals.

Ford now plans to develop a vast amount of power, fuel and chemicals from his Kentucky coal fields, comprising about 100,000 acres in conjunction with the operations of his many other industrial holdings in his own way and outside of political meddling.

The announcement of Ford's withdrawal of the Muscle Shoals bid and of his new plans is contained in an interview with the multi-millionaire manufacturer published by Collier's Weekly. Ford promises also to develop the towns in the district where he expects to start his big enterprise.

"There is no reason why any coal mines should be dirty," he declares. "In the first place, the dirt of coal mines is valuable and in the second place you can't expect men to do their best except under clean living conditions."

The value of coal mine dirt conveys briefly the idea which Ford intends to work out with coal. He intends to utilize every product and by product of coal, just as the Chicago packers are supposed to convert even pig squeals into canned goods.

"We shall not burn any coal," he said. "It is too wasteful."

"Muscle Shoals," Ford continues, "is not a live issue with us any longer. More than two years ago we made the best bid we knew how to make. No definite action has been taken on it, a simple affair of business which should have been decided by any one within a week, has complicated political affairs. We are not in politics and we are in business. We do not intend to be drawn into politics."

"When the Ford business can't do what it wants in one way, Ford emphasizes, it finds another. Productive business cannot wait on politics," he said.

Now let them make us a bid on Muscle Shoals," he said. "They will not have to wait three years for an answer."

There is small promise now that the shoals will ever be a national asset, Ford declared, declaring that more than likely it will only be an expense.

The motor manufacturer pointed out many natural disadvantages which would have been encountered at the shoals and implied that his coal field enterprise looked much more promising.

Benefits for both the south and the northwest are promised under Ford's new undertaking.

"Our coal lands, and the power we can generate from them, are within easy reach of the south," he explained. "We can generate electrical power in these coal lands in any extent we may need, and at a cheaper rate than we could under our bid at Muscle Shoals."

"We shall be able to put coal into the northwest at a minimum cost."

NEW RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION PLAN OFFERED

WOULD GROUP ALL ROADS EAST OF MISSISSIPPI UNDER FOUR HEADS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A new plan for railroad consolidation has been thrown into the lap of the Interstate Commerce commission which is just about ready to put the finishing touches on one it has been building since 1920.

Under the plan as reported, all railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river would be grouped under four heads, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio, and the Nickel Plate. Under the consolidation system which the Interstate Commerce Commission has worked out, there are nine groups in all.

The New York Central, Samuel Rea, of the Pennsylvania, Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Van Swearingen Brothers, of the Nickel Plate, are the New England roads, under the reported plan, would constitute an independent system or be distributed among the four other systems.

Bridge lines would be provided between the New England group and the western systems, most likely through the Delaware and Hudson or the Lehigh, if it remained independent.

The plan it is understood also provides for the Reading and Central of New Jersey to be assigned to the Baltimore and Ohio, the New York Central to be granted trackage rights over Erie lines in Northern New Jersey and North eastern Pennsylvania. The Norfolk and western would go to the Pennsylvania and the Lackawanna and the Virginian to the Nickel Plate.

The Interstate Commerce Commission had expected to make public its final consolidation plan within a few weeks. The hearings closed some time ago. They were held in the Baltimore and Ohio building. Whether the plan will be reopened again to consider the new proposed grouping is not known. None of the commissioners would discuss the reported plan Monday.

TWO ARE WOUNDED IN ARGUMENT OVER CLUB FUNDS

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—"There are some things no man can stand," said R. F. Warren, former Wyoming cattleman, and manager of the Rocky Mountains Club, as he lay in a hospital, suffering from self-inflicted bullet wounds.

John Deskin, president of the Deskin Motor company and treasurer of the club, whom Warren shot during a conference in a down town law office Monday afternoon, when Deskin accused him of mismanagement of the funds and demanded his resignation, is in a critical condition he may not recover, it was stated Monday.

Deskin was reading a resolution before the board of directors demanding Warren's resignation and charging that the management and business of the Rocky Mountains Club had been conducted in an unprofitable manner when Warren spoke up. "That's a damnable lie," he shouted and whipped out a revolver shot Deskin, once in the head and twice through the body and then turned the gun upon himself.

MARIE PREVOST TO WED KENNETH HARLAN TUES.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 13.—The wedding of Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan will occur Tuesday, but even the principals in the matrimonial plan don't know much more than that.

Because of a busy schedule of work, the motion picture players will wear the wedding ceremony between scenes of productions in which they are appearing. Only a few personal friends will be present.

Precipitated Downfall of Labor Cabinet

PATRICK HASTINGS

Patrick Hastings, Attorney General of Great Britain, caused the overthrow of the Ramsay MacDonald Labor Ministry by quashing the proposition of Editor Campbell, of the Communist Workers' Weekly, who had been charged with inciting British soldiers to mutiny. Liberals in the House of Commons charged he acted under political pressure, and brought about a vote of censure for the Government. Hastings, explaining his withdrawal of the prosecution, declared the Communists wished to make a martyr of Campbell.

LAMB CO. CLUB WORK PROSPERS

SIX COMMUNITY CLUBS ORGANIZED IN PAST THREE MONTHS

SUDAN, Oct. 13.—Under the leadership of Miss Birdie Lee Burkhalter, Home Demonstration Agent for Lamb county, six community Home Demonstration Clubs have been organized in this county during the past three months, and four of those clubs already have commenced active operations in home canning, which includes vegetables, and fruits, of the many varieties grown throughout the county, and meat products, both fowl and beef.

Very enthusiastic receptions are accorded Miss Burkhalter on all her visits to these places where organizations exist, and it is hoped that through co-operation with these clubs already under way that other clubs can be brought into existence in the near future.

In fact, calls already are coming into headquarters here for assistance in the work of organization, and according to those in touch with the situation, and the membership of the different clubs, the value of the work along this line is hard to estimate.

One member of a club just recently organized has stored up for use more than 500 cans of fruits and vegetables, and many others have put up from 100 to 200 cans, brought out entirely, according to these women, by virtue of their membership in the organization.

In a recent exhibit sent from Lamb county by the Demonstration department to the Tri-State fair at Amarillo, two blue ribbons and two red ribbons were brought back and according to Miss Burkhalter, only a small exhibit was sent. At the South Plains Fair at Lubbock, where a large exhibit was sent, fourteen blue ribbons, five red ribbons and a white ribbon was won, giving evidence of the fact that women throughout the county are profiting by the work sponsored by the clubs.

According to Miss Burkhalter, 600 empty tin cans, sizes one and two, have been ordered particularly for use in the club work. These will supply containers for about seven bushels, which product will be stressed when these containers are received.

Notwithstanding the fact that the 19th amendment to the constitution places men and women on a footing of political equality, the Supreme Court of Idaho has ruled that women are not eligible to serve as jurors in that state. Most women will not protest against the decision.

200 MILES SOUTH WEST OF AZORES AT 1:10 TODAY

PLANS MADE TO RECEIVE SHIP AT LAKEHURST ON WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The ZR-3 is sailing into favorable weather conditions according to a message received from the U. S. S. Milwaukee at 1:10 Tuesday morning by the navy department.

The message which was sent at 11 o'clock eastern standard time Monday night was a special weather report broadcast to the ZR-3.

200 Miles From Azores. CHATHAM, Mass., Oct. 14.—(Tuesday): The Zeppelin ZR-3 was in direct communication with radio station WCC at 1:10 Tuesday morning, at that time official messages were being exchanged and the dirigible had not stated her exact position. A few minutes later the dirigible messaged that she was about two hundred miles southwest of the Azores.

Unless a moderate storm which was brewing along her route from the Azores to Bermuda had slowed up her flight, the ZR-3 at midnight was skimming above the Atlantic ocean at 56 miles an hour less than a thousand miles from Bermuda and approximately 1,500 miles from Lakehurst, N. J.

Station WCC at Chatham, Mass., picked up a message from the dirigible stating that she had passed over Flores Island in the Azores group at about 6:30 eastern standard time and was continuing her course at Bermuda using only three of her five motors. The speed of the ZR-3 with but three motors running is 56 miles an hour.

Naval and private radio stations listened for the call of the ZR-3 as midnight approached, but there was no further report from the big bag after the message picked up at Chatham which said slight trouble had been encountered and remedied and that all was well.

Far out in the Atlantic, midway between the Azores and Bermuda, the U. S. S. Milwaukee tossed restlessly at her job of patrolling the dirigible's route. The Milwaukee reported early Monday night that communication with the ZR-3 had been established and relayed one message from the zeppelin, placing her 130 miles west of Fayal at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. A radio station at Fayal Island, in the Azores group, got in touch with the dirigible as she sailed over head on her course to Bermuda. The zeppelin then was maintaining her speed despite a rising wind.

About four hours later the ZR-3 reported that she was passing over Flores on the western tip of the Azores group.

Beyond Flores there lay only a few scattered ships to break the monotony of heaving water far below, but as the giant craft sped toward the United States invisible arms of radio reached out to her from a thousand stations.

At Lakehurst they are ready to hear the new comer at any time, but she is not expected to poke her nose over the New Jersey horizon before Wednesday afternoon.

Over Half Way At Nightfall CHATHAM, Mass., Oct. 13.—Following into the gathering dusk of another Atlantic night, the Zeppelin ZR-3 has spanned more than half the distance between Friedrichshafen and the United States.

As wireless communication between the big flier and German stations faltered, and finally failed altogether, a relayed message from the ZR-3 was received at Station WCC here advising that the Zeppelin was cruising toward the Bermudas at a speed of 50 miles an hour with the Azores far behind.

Messages were exchanged directly between WCC and the ZR-3 during the night.

Senior High School P. T. A. Met Last Thursday

The Senior High Parent Teachers club held a very interesting session last Thursday. Mr. Dupre spoke very forcefully on the needs of the school and the necessity for co-operation between the teachers and parents. The report on the cafeteria recently installed was a very good one in as much as for the first three weeks it has paid running expenses and has about twenty-seven dollars in a fund for further improvement and expansion. The report was especially fine, as all food has been sold at a very small margin of profit.

Always planned for the Cafeteria, each room in the building to contribute dishes so that a large variety of foods can be served.

Mrs. Frost's Kindergarten Have Halloween Party

A very delightful children's party was given last Friday evening when Mrs. H. L. Frost entertained the children of her kindergarten class with a Halloween party. The children were happily occupied during the week before in making lanterns, hats, owls, and other "wooly" things which make a Halloween party such fun. Folk games and songs occupied the evening, and many of the children had the pleasure of showing their parents their own hand work in the various favors.

At the beginning of the evening's fun black masks were given the children and fruit and candy animals were served as refreshments to Dorothy Frost, Evelyn Pickle, Emma Evelyn Stanton, Pauline Stafford, Caroline Spencer, Margaret Marshall, Edwin Weaver, Horace Vergin Kershner, David Weaver, John Marks Marshall, and Larry Frost.

TEXAS KU KLUX KLAN CLEANING OUT KANSAS BOOTLEGGERS

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 12.—A mysterious crusade against bootleggers here, has both liquor dealers and authorities puzzled.

Eighteen men have been arrested and evidence against sixty more filed as a result of the activities of two men believed to be Ku-Klux-Klan operatives from Texas. Klan officials here, however, deny that their organization has launched any liquor "cleanup" here.

Justin N. Baird, Wyandotte county attorney, is fighting an ouster suit in the Kansas supreme court as a result of charges filed by Attorney General Charles B. Griffith—that Baird for the past two years has been selling protection to bootleggers in the county and city. Baird was defeated in the August primaries when he ran against Griffith as the Klan candidate for the republican nomination for attorney general.

President Coolidge is now said to favor sending the dirigible Shenandoah on the proposed trip to the north pole, which he disapproved a few months ago.

PEOPLE DON'T ADMIRE ROUGH, PIMPLY SKIN

Before you can impress some one of the opposite sex enough to get them into the happy state of love with you, you certainly must keep your appearance pleasing and attractive. Pimples, blotchy, zemic skin seems ten times worse to strangers and new acquaintances. And even husbands, wives, parents and kin feel sorry for loved ones who suffer from such skin diseases.

The way to get rid of all these drawbacks to affection and devotion from dear ones is to use Black and White Ointment, and Soap, like thousands of people are doing. They are economically priced, in liberal packages. The five size Black and White Ointment, contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.

HONESTY IN GOV'T IS DEMANDED BY DAVIS AT LAFAYETTE

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Honesty and economy in government were demanded by John W. Davis, the democratic presidential candidate in a speech delivered here Monday.

Davis mentioned the case of Warren T. McCray, former governor of Indiana, and other incidents during the present republican state administration.

"We need to scrutinize carefully the character of our public officials and our candidates for office from highest to the lowest," he said. "We must demand honesty in every one of them."

In brief addresses early in the day at Lebanon and before the Negro Voters League in Indianapolis, Davis had appealed for complete equality regardless of race or creed.

The Ku-Klux-Klan, he said at Indianapolis, "has no place in American politics. I hoped that after my Seagirt, N. J. speech in which I denounced the Ku-Klux-Klan that Mr. Coolidge would take the same position and that the Klan issue would be forced out of politics. Mr. Coolidge, however, has not seen fit to take that position."

Davis criticized the indictment of Senator Wheeler as a "black and damning crime" perpetrated because Wheeler had become obnoxious to some of them in power.

MANY VISIT ANDERSON BROTHERS STORE HERE ON OPENING OF SALE

O'DONELL BOY RECEIVES RATTLE SNAKE BITE

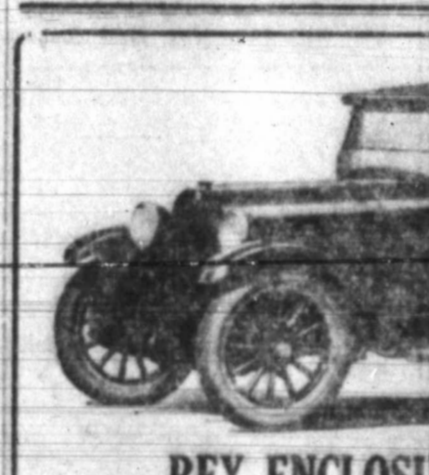

O'DONELL, Texas, Oct. 13.—The twelve-year-old son of Mr. O'Donell, a farmer who lives one mile and a half west of Mesquite school, was bitten on the foot by a large rattler Monday afternoon.

The leg was corded and the foot placed in a pan of coal oil and kept there until the arrival of a physician, who administered an antivenom. The boy was watching a pack of hounds chase a coyote and received no warning from the rattler until it struck. It is said the snake was about five and a half feet in length.

And an ensemble that will remind you of the Ziegfeld Follies.

Some few have criticized "Daughters of Today" as too sensational. It is our belief that the opinion of the great majority is the highest tribunal—that since never ending thousands—old and young—all classes—mothers with their sons—fathers with their daughters—have stood in line day after day to applaud and commend the moral without being shocked by the frankness of the portrayal of life today—then "DAUGHTERS OF TODAY" is a GREAT AND GOOD PICTURE.

SPECIAL TERM 72ND JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT CONVENED MONDAY MORNING; P. N. DALTON ELECTED SPECIAL JUDGE

A special eight weeks' term of the 72nd Judicial District Court convened here Monday morning at nine o'clock with District Attorney Elect Paris N. Dalton, of Crosbyton, presiding. Just before court convened a meeting of the Lubbock County Bar Association was held. The meeting was called to order by Senator W. H. Bledsoe of the law firm of Bledsoe & Phares, and immediately he asked that a chairman be nominated, this honor having gone to Hon. Geo. H. Bean of the law firm of Bean & Klett.

District Clerk Louis F. Moore, in conformity with the statutes regulating such meetings, acted clerk. The vote for Dalton was unanimous and Attorneys Bledsoe and Bishop were appointed to inform him of the election, and immediately carried out instructions from the chairman.

After expressing appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by the bar association, Judge Dalton started into the work of the term. Only three excuses were offered by the jurors summoned for the first week of the term, and as these were made because of sickness in the families of the applicants, all were granted by the judge who stated that in case of sickness only would, excusations be made.

The entire special term will be given over to the trial of civil cases that have been on the docket for a number of terms.

Boundary Case Compromised
The case of Frank Boles vs. J. W. Watson was the first case called Monday morning.

This case was tried three years ago when seven acres of land was involved.

Beard & Klett represented the plaintiff, while the defense is represented by Bledsoe & Phares.

When the case was first tried the verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant. The case was appealed to the court of civil appeals at Austin, which court ruled that the plaintiff was entitled to one twenty-first of one third of one acre of the land involved, and the case was again docketed for trial in district court.

The one-third of an acre of land over which the suit was held is estimated to be worth about ten dollars. One of the smallest amounts believed to be involved in the court here. When the first case was tried court costs amounted to $145, while the county paid for jury service alone in the trial of the case $144 making a total of $289 that has already been spent in the trial of the case, not including attorneys fees.

The case was disposed of when a compromise was affected shortly after noon Monday.

The case of MacMillan vs. Watson, also a boundary suit, was settled by compromise Monday afternoon following the settlement of the Boles-Watson suit.

Chicago All Agog For Visit Prince Of Wales Monday

By United News.
CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—All was excitement in Chicago Monday night as society girls plastered down their "boyish bob" society men turned down their hat brims and detectives hitched up their trousers of their hired dress girls, all in preparation for the gay moments that David Windsor, of Windsor-Curtis, was to devote to taking the social joys of the gold coast.

David Windsor, who is known at home as Albert Edward, prince of Wales had given Chicago a day of crowds, thrills, excursions, and alarms. He had arrived to entertain a cheering group at Lake Forest. His host, Louis Swift, had arranged a morning party in the visitor's honor. He had whirled from society's arms to the stock yards, winning the hearts of the cowboys there by riding a giddy horse which tried to show the prince all its stuff. When the youthful heir to the British throne kept the stood within proper bounds cowboy spectators let loose their wisest western cheers.

Earlier in the day the prince visited the top of the Wrigley tower, the shining white shaft of the tower, the long straight line of Michigan avenue was packed with a cheering crowd. As the prince descended from the tower the tumult broke from pushing excited crowd. The slim, shy young prince stared in amazement.

"My word, you Americans are enthusiastic and vigorous," he exclaimed to a member of his party. He is in excellent condition after his visit to Canada and his tour of Chicago was marked by the quick impulsive flashes of friendliness and interest that have won him friends throughout the world. Chicago youths who, from afar have envied his taste, in dress studied the prince's costume closely. They found him wearing a brown suit, hat cocked over one eye a bit, a brown suit, and a dark red scarf which shone vividly against his blue shirt and collar. After the tour of the stockyards the prince was taken to the University of Chicago. There had been high hopes that the moment would be auspicious to present the Prince with assorted speeches, but the speeches were delayed to the last moment. Six thousand students did war whoops as Albert Edward left to visit the park, and the Field Museum to hurry to the club and dash to "Rogers" before plunging into the evening's festivities.

Watcott Blair, who knew the prince in London, entertained him for the evening. Blair arranged a dinner dance at the exclusive Saddle and Cycle club and it is said that the prince asked that guests all be under 30 years of age. Society is wondering whether this lets in the charming young matrons of the dangerous age but the question of birth certificates has not been raised.

The prince was scheduled to leave for Detroit, and awaiting his pilot, Henry Ford, at 12:30 a. m. today.

FORMAL CONSPIRACY CHARGES FILED ON SHIP CREW

By United News.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 13.—Formal charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act and the new Anglo-American prohibition treaty have been filed against the captain and crew of the British S. S. Quadra which was seized by a U. S. S. Coast Guard cutter off the coast here.

Captain Ford, commander of the vessel and his crew of 26 men were arrested Monday afternoon on federal warrants signed by Lt. Commander C. F. Howell, commander of the Shawnee, which seized the Quadra Sunday afternoon. The cargo of 12,000 cases of whiskey and champagne has been placed under federal guard while the captain and crew who were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Francis E. Krull, Monday afternoon were placed under bonds of $5,000 each.

Seizure of the Quadra constitutes the largest liquor seizure effected on the Pacific coast since the advent of prohibition and the first made under the new Anglo-American treaty which permits seizure of British vessels caught within one hour sailing distance from the American coast.

The Quadra is a twin-screw steel vessel and is owned by the Quadra Steamship Company, of Vancouver, B. C.

The liquor cargo was valued at $500,000.

One shot was fired across the bow of the launch C-55 which was transferring liquor from the side of the Quadra when the launch tried to escape from the cutter, according to Shawnee's reports. The C-55 was also seized.

A FINE DAY

Sunday was a fine day. It was a great day in Lubbock churches. Large congregations attended both morning and evening services, and there must have been more people worshiped in the churches Sunday than any other Sunday for many moons. The Sunday schools were well attended, and a number of additions to the churches were reported from the various organizations in the city. A stranger remarked that this must be a church going town, as there were more people at the church he was attending than seldom ever attended in his home town, and he was from a much larger place in point of population than Lubbock. This sounds good to the average citizen of Lubbock, as it is a pretty good indication that the people of Lubbock are of a higher class, and are interested in the better life, the clean, moral life, which it takes to make a good town. Our people should rally to this principle, and continue the thought of a clean town above everything else. Much is expected of Lubbock. We have taken under our care and protection one of the greatest educational institutions that has ever been given to any city to care for, and that is the Texas Technological college. While this institution is taken care of financially by the state of Texas, Lubbock alone will be responsible for the moral surroundings. Let it ever be said of Lubbock that it is a safe place for young people to come to finish their education. This can be done only by making it the uppermost thought of keeping the town clean of the objectionable things that so often entangle the lives of the young people. Let us set a high standard of morals in the city, and insist that they be carried out.

Let us cultivate a Christian spirit, that will take care of the student body. This can be done only by making our churches the attractive places that they should. We are expecting a thousand students the first year to enter the college. Possibly seventy-five per cent of that number will be from mother towns, away from the protection of their homes and the influence of the father and mother. New acquaintances must be formed, and they will be compelled to enter new homes, and we should see to it that there is a moral and social condition thrown about the town that will reflect credit to the community and not shame or disgrace.

AN APOLOGY

The editor of the Banner wishes to apologize to the readers for the scarcity of original reading matter in this issue. We are setting up a new linotype machine around in our new home and are trying to get the paper out while moving the remainder of our machinery. We'll tell you about our new machine next week and invite you to call on us and watch it perform.—The Ralls Banner.

It seldom is necessary for the newspapers to apologize to its readers for the scarcity of news, or the appearance of the paper, for the average newspaper whether daily, weekly or monthly gives more or as much for the money than most other businesses. The Ralls Banner is far above the average, and the editor need not have apologized for this paper last week. It was full of interesting, good news of Ralls, and we are confident the people of that community, and those generally interested in the Ralls country, enough to that the paper, would never have complained and the editor might have just as well used the space he was using to apologize with a good snappy news item.

The banner is one of the top-notch newspapers of the South Plains, and the editor of that paper takes a pride in publishing a newsy well printed sheet.

DO WE WANT PEOPLE TO COME TO LUBBOCK?

That may seem a peculiar question to ask, but when you get down to brass tacks and analyze it thoroughly, it is not near so freakish as you might think. This is the condition that confronts the city of Lubbock today. You say in what way. We are saying to the traveling men, that they must spend money wiring reservations in our hotels if you want to come to our city. This is the case, and the hotel men in Lubbock are not to blame for the condition. They are furnishing all the room that their buildings will afford, but that is not the end of the responsibility of the people of Lubbock. We are standing in the way of the real benefits of the town when we fail to provide sufficient room for the people who want to come, and to provide for more room to take care of the conventions and the committee meetings that should be held in Lubbock in place of other places.

Do we want the people to come to Lubbock; and make this headquarters or do we prefer to let them continue to work out from other places and hold their committee meetings and conventions at other places.

SUBJECTED THE PAVING TO A SEVERE WEIGHT TEST

That Canyon paving on the natural foundation will hold an ordinary weight has been thoroughly proved time and again when houses and other heavy objects have been moved over it, but when it comes to ninety tons weight on the paving—that is a test that not many pavements on natural or on concrete foundation have been subjected to.

Just to prove the theory of the natural foundation pavement would hold up anything run over it, Mayor C. N. Harrison gave authority for the Santa Fe to extend the service track over the pavement on Tenth street in order that sand and gravel might be unloaded to a more advantageous position at the new depot. The engineers didn't want to extend the track over the pavement, but asked permission to tear out the pavement. The mayor told them to run the track over the pavement, as this would do less damage than to tear up the brick. The first cars ran over the pavement on the service track weighed 90 tons, and the pavement stood the weight in first class condition.

Very few engineers are converted to the idea that the paving on natural foundation is a success, but they are gradually coming to this idea, after watching the many tests that have been made on Canyon's pavement.—Canyon News.

It will be well, indeed, if it proves that the natural foundation for paving is sufficient to carry traffic, without the tremendous cost of a cement foundation, as is the case with the most of the cities in this section of the country. The paving in Lubbock has all been put down on an expensive base, and while that is the sure way, and it is guaranteed to carry most any weight that could be put upon it, and if the natural foundation proves sufficient, it will be a wonderful saving to the people of this city and others.

This especially should be investigated in the matter of residential streets, where the traffic will never be heavy. We do not mean that the present contracts should be molested, but in the future these things might be taken into consideration, and save the people many thousands of dollars, and get bigger amount of paving too.

THE WOMAN VOTER

The republican claim upon the woman vote of the country because of that party's alleged superior services to woman suffrage and greater and prior recognition of woman's rights and work in government and party affairs is not supported by the evidence. It is just the other way.

All remember Woodrow Wilson's decisive influence in putting the suffrage amendment through Congress. Under republican administrations it never got through. Without his action the 19th amendment to the Constitution of the United States might still be pending in congress. The rank and file, the party leaders of both parties were always divided on the question. It was a democratic president who gave woman suffrage its first decisive victory, and democratic as well as republican states voted the amendment into the constitution.

Six years after democratic women were freely participating in their party councils, republican women were for the first time, and then reluctantly, given formal recognition in their national party organization.

Women are particularly interested in child labor legislation. The republican congresses prior to 1912 refused to pass such legislation. It was a democratic president, Woodrow Wilson, who personally and successfully urged the passage of the first child labor law through congress, and a democratic solicitor-general, John W. Davis, who defended its constitutionality before the supreme court. It was only through the aid of Democrats in congress that the present child labor constitutional amendment to the constitution was passed through congress and Arkansas, a rock-ribbed democratic state, the first to adopt it. A democratic house of which John W. Davis was a member passed the law creating the children's bureau. The bureau was maintained and encouraged under Wilson. Under Harding and Coolidge the appropriations for this bureau and also the women's bureau in the department of labor were cut, and further cuts are prophesied.

The republican campaign of the woman voter was late, reluctant, and unimportant.

CONSPIRACY OF THE PEOPLE

Republican national chairman Butler's charge that there is a bi-partisan plot hatching to defeat Mr. Coolidge and pitch the presidential election into congress is unquestioned evidence of the fears of Mr. Coolidge's backers.

Not so long ago Mr. Butler and his associates were so cock-sure of the election of Mr. Coolidge that it seemed wholly unnecessary to do more than preserve the forms of the campaign. Money seemed abundant. All the straws were blowing one way. Mr. Davis, the democratic nominee, was out of the running, a poor third, while what little opposition the republican leadership would face would be from that other republican faction headed by Senator La Follette.

But the situation is different now. Mr. Davis is showing tremendous strength. Republicans in droves are flocking to La Follette, and now in Mr. Butler's opinion, the two parties are in vile conspiracy to cheat the plutocrats of electing their prize candidate, Mr. Coolidge.

There is an open conspiracy to defeat Coolidge. Millions of honest, liberal-thinking American women and men are a part of it. It is more than bi-partisan. It is tri-partisan, for included with the democrats and the La Follette radicals are the liberal republicans who cannot stomach the corrupt republican administration coming to a close and are enlisting with Mr. Davis to bring decency to Washington and restore America to her rightful place in the affairs of the world.

In a single year the circulation of books at the New York public library has fallen off 500,000. Well, there isn't much time to read between dances.

The latest word on progress of the "Keep Cool with Coolidge" campaign is Cap MacMillan's warning that great glaciers are moving south from the Arctic.

SUPT. ORPHANS HOME REPLIES TO RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY DIRECTORS

I have been asked by a number of citizens of our town, the cause of the action of the board in cancelling the appropriation that was allowed the present home. The way the resolution reads it seems to be of left the impression with some that I must have been to blame for it.

As the resolution states that no help will be given from the board for the support of the present home, and that they will not be responsible for any debt that W. T. Gregory may make, and I alone will have to rustle support for the twenty four homeless children that I have now under my care.

Now as the resolution leaves the impression that I am to blame for the whole affair, I am going to admit that I am, for the following reasons, dishonesty and graft. And I will continue to object to every unjust act. I am fighting for the protection of those little homeless children that I have under my care and for the people's money that they so willingly gave for their support.

First, that I, W. T. Gregory, am the father and founder of this home. I founded this institution September 25, 1923, with eleven dollars and five orphan children, no groceries and no furniture. But they have never missed a meal or slept on a pallet yet, nor they never will as long as I live. I and my family have worked for 13 months without pay for the life of this home and these little children. We never have received anything but what we eat and the clothes we got. I have stood against the wrong and fought for right and justice, and will continue to do so. Any man or set of men that would take a penny from those little, helpless, homeless children, I say the penitentiary is too good a place for such people.

And I say that I am to blame for the present trouble, because I stood for justice and fought injustice and graft with all the God given power that I had, and I will continue to do so. The following reasons will give the public an idea what has brought this trouble about.

The first objection I made was the paying of 25 per cent in cash for all unpaid pledges. That was paying for something that we might never get; that was not justice to the home, as well as a poor way of handling the people's money. Not only I, but any man or woman that have given to this home has a right to know how their money is being handled, and has a right to object to any such business.

The second objection was the paying of 10 per cent in cash for the renewal of pledges that I had already obtained. They gave a man ten per cent to take those pledges and get them renewed. They were renewed at face value and they were just as good before as they were after they were renewed. We lost the 10 per cent, and it was unjust.

Third objection, and this is the one that started all the trouble. A resolution was passed in a call meeting about the last of August, 1924, and I was not present at this meeting. This resolution called for every dollar that was given this home from any source whatsoever must go through the office. That part was all right. But in the same resolution it was so amended that thirty per cent of every dollar that went through the office would go to the solicitor. If any one should die and leave this home any amount of money the solicitor would get his thirty per cent; or if some one should willingly give the same a sum of money without the solicitor's forty per cent, they would get thirty per cent. Graft, I say so! And there was nothing in the resolution to prevent him from getting the thirty per cent.

Now this resolution is in the minute book of this institution, and I have witness as well, and I dare them to deny it. How do you like such graft? I am not the only man that have objected to this resolution. Mr. E. L. Robertson, Judge R. A. Baldwin, Judge B. P. Maddox, Rev. F. R. Piekens also object. Neither of us were at the meeting when the resolution was passed and adopted. I have fought the resolution ever since it was adopted, and told some of the directors that if it was not cancelled I would publish in the papers letting the people know just how the business was being handled. I understand by Bro. A. B. Ellis, the treasurer of this institution, that the resolution was cancelled in the call meeting of October the 7th, when they withdrew their support from the present home. I understand that the solicitor was put back to 25 per cent on the dollar and he pay his own expenses. I say that it is still graft. For there is no institution that I know of, paying 25 per cent on the dollar for campaigning service.

It is unreasonable for any campaigner to get that large percent. From now until January the first any campaigner can average not less than five hundred dollars per week campaigning. Why should this institution give 25 per cent on the dollar when other institutions give 10 and 15 per cent? The Salvation Army only gives $60.00 per week to their campaigners, and they must raise $500.00 per week in cash to get that. It is up to you, my dear people. But I am fighting graft and fighting for those little homeless children and the right expenditure of the people's money.

And, my dear people, this is not all. I have sworn affidavit and positive proof to other wrongs that have been dealt this home and the people, which I am putting before the grand jury for investigation; and deny any man to deny the above statements for I have positive proof and sworn affidavits, and Mr. A. B. Ellis, the secretary and treasurer of this institution holds the minute book all these proofs for which I am holding Mr. A. B. Ellis or his successor responsible for their safe keeping.

I want the public to understand that I have not persecuted anyone in regard to these wrongs. But I stand ready, and I am prepared to personate, and prove every statement that I have made is true, and more. Again I want the public to know that they have in the father and founder of this home a man that will stand by and protect the interest of those little homeless children, and the public against any wrong that might come up—none as it is in my power to do so. For E. W. T. Gregory, have not returned, neither do I expect to; nor will I be forced to, only by the laws of our country. So I guess I am to blame for the resolution that was passed by a part of the board on October the 7th.

And because the resolution forcing me to support those little homeless children of which I have 24, some of the oldest were afraid that they would get in destitute condition, I want to say this to all. Don't worry one second on that score, for they will never miss a meal or want for anything that they need, for they will be better cared for in the future than they have in the late past. For I am too well known all over West and East Texas, and the western part of Louisiana, for anything like that to happen. And for reference, I give my bank in Lubbock, Texas, and most any business house; and any bank or business house in Abilene, Texas, not excepting any lawyer or sheriff or police department, and any bank in Shreveport, La.; or Lake Charles, La.; or Port Arthur, Texas, as well as the business men. Mr. E. L. Robertson of Lubbock, Texas, holds letters from bankers and business men of all walks of life, referring to my reputation and character, as he was the chairman of an investigating committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Lubbock Texas, put out to investigate me when I first started this home, and I am sure that Mr. Robertson will let anyone see those letters for the asking.

But for the above mentioned trouble this home has lost some of the best directors that it ever had, or ever will have. Ask them why they quit!

Mr. E. L. Robertson has resigned; also Rev. F. R. Piekens. Mr. Mack J. Lewis has resigned his office as financial secretary and went back to his old job. Judge R. A. Baldwin told he was going to resign. Mr. A. B. Ellis, the secretary and treasurer has resigned. Those men have been with the institution since its birth and have stood by me through the trials for the success of this home, which kindness I never will forget. They are the men, with others, that have made it possible for this home to be 13 months old (the 25th of this month). Now, my dear people, I have given the reason that I am to blame for all this trouble, and I say that the guilty ones will have to resign and let this home alone, and make all wrong right, before I will quit fighting the injustice that has been dealt this home and the people.

I remain, as ever, yours for justice and the homeless child.
WESLEY T. GREGORY,
Father and Founder of the West Texas Children's Orphan Home.

BEST PLAYER QUESTION BRINGS ARGUMENT

RUN GETTER OF MOST VALUE FARRELL

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Regard- less of the official vote which de- cided the most valuable players in the major leagues, there will be plenty of material for argument dur- ing the winter season about the best players of the season.

One day during the summer, John A. Haysler, president of the Na- tional League, took occasion to ex- press the opinion that Rogers Horns- by, the St. Louis star, was a great- er ball player than the great Babe Ruth. The argument was taken up by the Ruth fans, and it is still a good subject for debate.

Some time later a New York base- ball writer, with the purpose of stir- ring up a bill with the National League, caused a civic uprising in St. Louis baseball when he wrote that Frankie Frisch, the Giant sec- ond baseman, was a better player than Hornsby.

The argument about the respective merits of Babe Ruth and Frankie Frisch has more angles and possibilities than the one about the two National League stars.

Hornsby was the champion batter for 1924 in the National League. He was first with the fine mark of .424, and established two new records. He batted for four points the year- end made by George Sizer in 1922 and broke the record he had held with Hans Wagner by winning the batting championship for five con- secutive seasons.

Ruth won his first American League batting championship with an average of .327. He was the champion home-run hitter of the season, with 45 to his credit, and he was the leading run-getter of the major leagues with 147.

Hornsby and Frisch were tied for run-getting in the National League with 121 each.

Hornsby hasn't the team with him that Ruth has, but it is recalled that the Babe carried the burden of keeping the Yankees in the pennant race almost alone during one-third of the 1924 pennant race. Without Ruth the Yankees, in the opinion of a number of good baseball men, might have as low a chance in the American League race as the St. Louis Cards did in the National League.

Avoiding any consideration of the monetary value Ruth's great draw- ing power has at the gates, it would seem that the Babe is a better ball player than Hornsby.

Hornsby hits more. It is true, but that doesn't mean everything. A player might be able to hit 500 of a season and wouldn't be any more valuable than a player who hit 300 but who drove in a run every time he got a hit.

Baseball games are won by runs, and the most valuable batters are those who knock in runs. The Babe is the greatest run-getter in the ma- jor leagues, even if it is true, near- haps, to the large number of home runs that he gets.

Ruth started as a catcher. He turned to pitching, and was the best left-handed pitcher of his day. He then played first base, and was a good first baseman. He then tried the outfield and he is one of the best in the business. There is no reason to doubt that he could play the other positions as well as he did. Although he might not be a wizard, the real value of any player is hard to reckon with. The only way to rate his valuation is to watch the team when it is without the services of a real star. Fans who have watch- ed the New York Yankees in the last four years know what the team would be without Ruth.

Frank Frisch is regarded as one of the most valuable players in the National League, but when he was injured and had to leave the lineup in the most critical part of the pen- nant race, the Giants won with the regular first baseman on second base and with an 18-year-old rookie on third base.

Perhaps there are other teams that could lose a star player and keep on going. The Cleveland Indians did it in 1923 and won a pennant with a college boy playing shortstop. The Giants did it in 1922. Some other teams may do it next year. But the loss of a star pitcher is harder to take.

Miller Huggins says the New York Yankees lost the American League pennant because Sam Jones fell way off his 1923 form.

The Brooklyn Robins finished almost within a nose behind the Giants in the National League pennant race. Where would the Robins have been if Dazzy Vance wasn't around to win 28 games?

Where would the Washington Sena- tors have been if Walter Johnson hadn't been able to win 25 games?

But teams might have finished in the second division.

Johnson was voted the most valu- able player in the American League and he didn't get the prize because he is a nose follower. He deserved the honor and won it on merits.

The slowness of Kiki Cuddeback, a prom- ising player in the all-important part of the fight for the loss of Pitts- burgh's chance to win the National League pennant.

Cuddeback was hit in the Brooklyn series and the team looked like a sure winner, but Cuddeback's slow- ness was not a very serious draw- back and he couldn't get his fall- ing act working.

Stewart Has Photos Made of The New Athletic Stadium

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 13.—"Defec- tive" Stewart, facilities football coach at the University of Texas re- cently assumed a new role. He did not invite all the sport scribes into his office for a gab fest, but he did something almost as startling. He turned movie director and directed the taking of motion pictures of his 1924 football squad in the new Texas Memorial Stadium field.

The stunt was pulled so that ac- tion might be had in a set of moving pictures that were being made of the construction work going on in the new stadium. Someone suggested that the best possible action pic- ture be made of the 1924 Lomax team. Stewart was approached on the matter and was enthusiastic in his endorsement of the idea. In fact, he well did take to it that he in- sisted on his men putting on some real fight in their practice scrimmage runs, punts, etc., in spite of the fact that he had an important game on the day following.

When the cameras were pointed ready, Stewart took his place on the sidelines and barked signals and orders at his men in a fashion that might have made Thomas face him- self nervous.

Slaton Defeats Plainview High Friday 50 to 0

The Slaton Tigers easily defeated the Plainview Bulldogs last Friday in a one sided game, to a score of 50 to 0. Plainview failed to make a first down during the entire game.

The Slaton Tigers with their power- ful line and backfield were able to rip the Plainview line at any time.

The Slaton Tigers have played four games this season thus far and have been victorious in all of them. They have a perfect percentage so far.

Their next game will be played with the Tulsa Hornets. This game promises to be one of the very best that Slaton has scheduled for the season. The Tulsa team was defeated last Friday by the Canyon Eagles giving them all the more reason to fight harder for their percentage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Bucky Harris, youthful manager of the world champion Senators has be- come a bond salesman.

Harris has signed a contract with a large investment house here to sell bonds and securities during the winter.

"I have had several flattering business of- fers, but picked the banking profes- sion because it holds such great opportunities for the future. I'm going to work just as hard as a banker as I did to land Washing- ton on top in the American league, and to beat the Giants in the world series."

Harris will begin his new duties following a short hunting trip.

CHAMP MATCHES ARE NEAR IMPOSSIBLE SAYS PROMOTER

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Let's shake, boys, our black hair, put on something nice and loose, and have a bit of a cry with Frank Flounroy, the matchmaker of the biggest prize fight club in the world, who makes his living stir- ring up trouble, and who is just waiting along because trouble is not self-starting.

There was a day about three years ago when a match-maker, particularly the one at Madison Square Garden which is Flounroy's riot theatre, made a couple of telephone calls to arrange a championship fight and Then there's Dempsey. He mentioned the name, Mr. Flounroy lowered his voice as though pro- nouncing the name of a deity. It seems out the day before yester- day's fight that Dempsey was tel- ling us that he'd be a fighting champion. He took the Willard match for $25,000 or so. Before that you could hire him to lick a friend for $1,000 or in dull weeks for $100. Then he got into the money and the last time he was last winter waiting for the open air season. When the open air season arrived, they discovered they couldn't draw enough custom- ers to fill a horse car so they didn't fight.

"We might get up a quarrel be- tween Fayo and Jack Renault and George Godfrey, the colored man, this winter, but they'll all think about twice as much of their drawing money as the customers do. I never thought I'd have so much trouble starting a little trouble."

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION THAT HAS HELD UP CONSTRUCTION OF PHONE WORKS FOR LEVELLAND DISSOLVED DISTRICT COURT

L. H. Plains, of Brownfield, president of the South Plains Telephone Company, with exchanges at Brownfield, Meadow, Ropes, and Scraggaves, was here Monday to attend district court.

Being represented by the law firm of Bell & Klein, Mr. Plains went into court here Monday and succeeded in having the temporary restraining order dissolving him from constructing a line of the South Plains Telephone Company into Levelland, Hockley county, dissolved.

The injunction which was made effective on October 1st, or about that time, held up the construction work on the line into Levelland, but owing to the fact that the company is chartered under the laws of the state of Texas, Acting Special Judge Parks N. Dalton rendered the decision favoring the company after all papers in the case together with important testimony had been presented.

Levelland is now assured of having a first class telephone exchange installed within a few weeks, as the building for the company is about completed and the line has been built all the way from Brownfield to within four miles of Levelland. But for the injunction that delayed the work the company's lines and exchange would have all been completed and ready for use, Mr. Plains said.

ZR-3 MAKE GOOD TIME ENROUTE TO UNITED STATES

the early hours of Monday but with dawn these failed and the steamer Sierra Ventura of North German Lloyd line acted as a relay station for the airship.

At Station WCC it was expected that direct communication would be resumed soon after nightfall in the United States.

The latest message from Dr. H. H. Ekenner, director of the Zeppelin company who is in charge of the ZR-3 on her flight to America, said that communication with WCC had been satisfactory. All was well aboard the dirigible as she left the Azores in her wake and continued on her southwesterly course for the Bermudas, 1600 miles away.

The ZR-3 has been in the air for 40 hours, and her speed has fluctuated from 50 miles to 113 miles an hour, with the latter speed being attained with the aid of a strong following wind.

Some difficulty in replying to the distinct messages of the ZR-3 during the pre-dawn hours of Monday resulted from conditions aboard the craft, WCC officials said. Roaring motors prevented clear reception on the dirigible. The dirigible's wireless station is working on a wave length of 1,612 meters. It's call signal is NEMR.

Milwaukee Takes Position
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The United States Steamer Milwaukee, chief vessel of the squadron patrolling the route of the dirigible ZR-3, reported early Monday night by radio to the Navy Department that she had taken a position on the route of the dirigible half way between Bermuda and the Azores.

The ZR-3 should get in communication with the Milwaukee within a few hours, unless she is forced from her route or delayed by storms, it was said, by navy department officials.

Oct. 13.—The ZR-3 probably will fly over Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and intermediate points in making the last leg of her trip from Bermuda to Lakehurst, N. J., according to a message received here from the dirigible Monday night.

Trained Crew To Anchor Ship.
LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 13.—When the huge airship at the Lakehurst naval air station leaves Wednesday in a shrieking greeting to the dirigible ZR-3 some 350 members of a trained ground crew of men will leap to the planes in the landing field prepared to pull the giant ship to earth and into her hangar.

Meanwhile thousands of civilians pushing against the lines established about the field by the marine guards will scan the sky for their first glimpse of the silver craft. Every detail of the landing has been mapped out in advance by Lt. Commander Maurice R. Pearce in charge of the field. Only bad weather or an accident can interfere.

Squads of marines will be strung along the roads leading to the field and about the big enclosure. Hydrogen gas, with which the ZR-3 is inflated is highly inflammable and no chances are to be taken with the safety either of the monster bag or the spectators.

Not even when the ZR-3 is in her hangar will the crowd be permitted to inspect her. When the dangerous hydrogen is pumped out however, which will require about 24 hours, a general inspection may be permitted.

At the warning siren, the 350 sailors, who ordinarily handle the Shenandoah on the ground will line up in a "V" formation in the center of which ever landing field is utilized. Lt. H. V. Wiley will command the ground crew.

As the Zeppelin nears the field her great engines will be slowed down and she will drift over the "V" formation and then gently nose down. The ground men will seize the drag lines released from above and will "walk" the dirigible to a position where the control car can be brought down upon a "cradle," especially constructed for this purpose. The ZR-3 will then be put to bed in her hangar.

No official air escort will be sent out to welcome the dirigible from Mitchell field, but individual pilots there have been given permission to go out to greet her. The aviators are under instruction to approach no nearer than 1000 feet.

DAY OF PILL BOX IS SWIFTLY PASSING DOCTORS SAY

By United News. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13—The blase east may have listened listening to Dr. Emil Cote, amiable little Frenchman exponent of the "day by day" health theory and then shyly tossed him a bunch of raspberries, but out in the southwest the folk think he had a pretty good deal.

Leading physicians of the southwest gathered here in annual clinical conference made this quite plain, Monday as they emphasized the fact that the day of the pill box, the medical thermometer, and saw and hammer surgery is passing swiftly.

Heading this great galaxy of stars will be found the world's greatest riding clown, "Orrin" Davenport, and the Riding Davenports, the premier act of the circus world.

Big feature acts, paraded from the four corners of the globe, exactly as they played in the big cities last winter on the first metropolitan tour ever played by a circus, are what make the Hagenbeck-Wallace a real circus in every way.

AFTER 18 YEARS PEACE COUNTY SEAT QUESTION ARISES

MONTGOMERY CITY, Mo., Oct. 14—After a cessation of hostilities for eighteen years, the 60-year county seat war between Danville and this city has been revived and will be decided in the November 4th election.

The fight has gone through the ballot, legislature and higher and lower courts of Missouri, since before the Civil War. The fight was precipitated back in the '60s when the North Missouri railroad now called the Wabash, passed up Danville and went through here.

ed the Wabash, passed up Danville and went through here. The rivalry was intensified when Bill Anderson, Civil War "bushwhacker" swooped down on Danville, killed several citizens, and shot up the town generally.

The Missouri law requires two-thirds of the voters approve removal of a county seat. This makes it difficult for this city with even its railroad to take the county seat away from Danville.

JUDGE SAYS WATER IS LESS EXPENSIVE THAN LIQUOR

DALLAS, Oct. 14—"Drink a hot cup of water and then take a walk. The result will be more healthful and less expensive," Judge Atwell told Ernest Barrett, after fining him $50 in federal court here upon a liquor charge.

Barrett told the judge he kept a small amount of liquor in his home and "took a drink every morning before going to work."

SIX GIRLS IN CHARGE OF PRACTICE COTTAGE IN HOME ECONOMICS

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 14.—Announcement is made of the names of six girls, all candidates for the bachelor of science degree in home economics, who are carrying on the work and management of the Practice Cottage of the University of Texas this fall.

With the beginning of each term a new group of girls enters the Practice Cottage, where under the supervision of Miss Eloise Barry, instructor in home economics, they plan and prepare the meals, do the marketing, and all other household duties in the eight-room house maintained by the University for the department of home economics.

This fall the girls who are putting into practice in the cottage what they have learned in their other courses in home economics are the following:

Misses Ruth Bell and Mary Goldman of Austin; Inez Alford and Mildred Haekett, of San Antonio; Elizabeth Tucker, of Neaogoches, and Mildred Wiesen, of Lockhart.

Duties of the Practice Cottage are divided equally among the girls so that each carries her turn in the various tasks alternating each week as cook, upstairs maid, downstairs maid, waitress, assistant cook, and hostess. The hostess superintends the marketing and special problems arising in the household management. To spend one term of three months in the Practice Cottage is a prerequisite for the bachelor of science degree in home economics, and the girls continue their studies in other subjects while carrying on their tasks in home management.

COUNTY COURT TO DECIDE CUSTODY OF TWIN CHILDREN

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 13.—Custody of Mary and Martha Tanner, 6-year-old twins alleged to have been kidnapped from their home in Los Angeles six weeks ago by their father, Dr. Tanner, will be contested in the county court Tuesday.

Tanner was arrested Saturday after the arrival of Mrs. Tanner armed with a warrant. Mrs. Tanner charges her husband with insanity. County officers say they see no sign of insanity in Tanner.

In the meantime the little girls are in the custody of the Salvation Army Rescue Home. The girls insist on remaining with their father, according to the officers.

EVAN HARRIES IS TO PRESENT PLAY HERE

A rehearsal will begin this evening for "The Old Bachelor," a stage classic to be presented here during the last of this month by Evan Harries, of New York City, who has spent twenty-five years on the stage.

The play will be presented under the auspices of the Lubbock High School Athletic Association.

Eight high school students and two local business men will compose the cast of characters, all of whom will be thoroughly drilled in their respective parts by Mr. Harries.

The play will doubtless be one of the best ever presented by local talent inasmuch as a great deal of time will be spent in rehearsing the program and in rehearsals.

Road Demonstration Is Given by the Ford Company Expert

J. W. Atwood, representing the Ford Motor Company, and Laddie Rankin, of the Lubbock Auto Company, local Ford dealers, conducted a demonstration in the use of the Wehr, one man power grader, used for roadwork with Fordson power.

Tuesday afternoon on 17th street between Avenues T and W.

The county judge and commissioners of Yoakum county, Commissioners A. J. Dow and Thomas, of Gaines county and Carl Shiton, Seagraves banker, were among the out-of-town men here to attend the demonstration. They are interested in the purchase of roadbuilding machinery, and were interested in all features of the demonstration, which was made in such manner as to prove the adaptability of the Fordson to road work when used with Wehr grader.

OLD CAMP LOGAN POST OFFICE, TO BE RAZED

HOUSTON, Oct. 14.—If buildings are being razed to provide buildings at the city's zoo.

Hundreds of thousands of letters were doled out to soldiers at Camp Logan—letters that said "Of course you'll come back," and others that breathed of deeper romance. Workmen found hundreds of names scrawled on partitions. There was a newspaper clipping of President Wilson's 14 points, pasted on the wall. But memories of the postoffice at Camp Logan will live longest in the memories of Texas soldiers scattered to all sections of the state.

Slides Prepared To Show Growth Of Wild Flowers

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 14.—In the interest of the conservation of Texas wild flowers, the visual instruction division of the University of Texas extension bureau, has prepared a set of slides for use by schools and other groups throughout the State.

The pictures have been selected as representing the wild flowers that are fast becoming extinct, and lecture to accompany the slides has been prepared by Mrs. Charles Joe Moore, acting head of the division.

Among the flowers mentioned as rapidly disappearing are the evening primrose, the bluebell, the briar, the wild flax, and the bluebonnet. The slides also show the red sage, erythrina, blue sage, columbine, dog flower, clematis, rain lilies, Indian's blanket, yucca, and certain trees and shrubs.

NEW KIND OF GRAFT IS COVERING ALL OF KANSAS STATE NOW PARSONS, Kans., Oct. 12.—Southern Kansas police are warning business men against a new kind of petty graft.

The reported swindler enters a business house, posing as a deputy state fire marshal. He asks to examine the fire preventive apparatus, invariably he finds something defective and takes it along with him to be fixed. But he never returns. There is a good market for scrap metal for fire extinguishers, according to police.

GERMAN LOAN TAKES SPOTLIGHT ON EXCHANGE

By EDWARD J. CONLON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Tuesday was German loan day. Interest in other matters financially was dwarfed by comparison. But the instant success of the loan was ignored insofar as stock prices were concerned. Speculative traders and money investors appeared anxious to claim profits wherever they existed, and new lows on the movement were forced in many of the leading industrial and railroad issues. In fact, the leading industrial shares suffered the most severe decline in nearly six weeks.

Coming as it did after a three day respite so far as the majority of traders were concerned, the session opened with an accumulation of 30,000,000 shares which tried the market's power of absorption to capacity. The turnover topped a million shares by a considerable margin, while business in bonds aggregated more than $10,000,000 for the listed issues, which dealings in the new German seven comprised about two and one quarter millions.

The closing of the subscription books of the $10,000,000 issue which represented the American section of the international loan to Germany, 48 days after the lists were formerly opened bore out predictions that the strong nation-wide syndicate back of the issue would experience little difficulty in placing the issues.

Foreign exchange was inclined to move higher from the opening under the leadership of sterling, which opened nearly a cent above the previous close. The pound and the franc reached new highs on the movement. The rally in grains was a feature of the commodity market. Unfavorable weather in Canada and Argentina played an important part, though at one time wheat sagged Canadian visible amounting in the on the reported increase in the 6,969,000 bushels. Cotton, on the other hand, broke five dollars a bale on heavy liquidation and new short selling as a result of the more favorable weather news. The census bureau's report on the cotton consumption by American mills during September, which was expected to be 435,212 bales against 357,155 for August and 485,665 for September last year.

New Orleans Cotton. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—Short sellers had another good day as a result of good weather over the holiday, prospects of several days more of good weather, easier livestock, diminution of danger from the disturbance in the gulf, weakness in stocks and increase in hedging operations. The bullish showing made by the census report on consumption and successful flotation of the German loan restricted selling for a time but it increased in volume as the day lengthened and became quite heavy in the afternoon. At the lowest active position sold 40 points under Saturdays finals.

There were some fair sized rallies but they seemed to be due mainly to shorts cashing their profits and values slipped again, as soon as this lot up. Consumption in Sept. was 77,500 bales larger than in Aug. above supplies increased over a million and stocks held by mills is 28,000 less than the end of August.

The good weather of the past ten days appears to have revived talk of a large crop and is stimulating bearish operations. At the same time it is discouraging buying even of the part of those who believe the crop is being over estimated. Sentiment is mostly bearish and a further decline appears probable before the swing movement runs its course.

Spot News. DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 14.—Basis easing slightly and now irregular. Bid $5. some offering around 75 off Dec. N. Y. Differences 50 and 75 up better demand high grades and staples. Less demand for middling. General demand rather quiet. L. O. B. men still best buyers though some indication from the present about getting by them is about past.

Chicago Grain. CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Wheat: Trade quiet to down after the early rush but market regained a good portion of its early advance. Changes at Winnipeg were watched closely. Weather over Canadian territory was much favorable and Canadian visible increased 2,033,000 bushels for the week. Winnipeg, however was not affected. U. S. visible increased 1,474,000 bushels for the week. Receipts for the 3 days here estimated 725 cars. They met with a good demand and the cash basis relatively unchanged to only half lower.

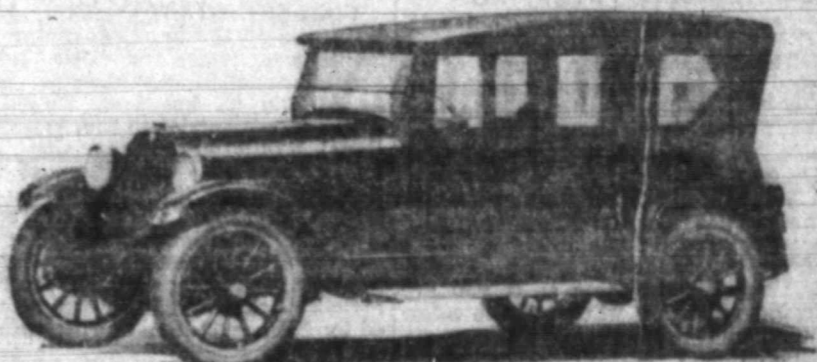

Corn: Trade comparatively light with undertone strong. Buizes ran into liquidation, one local who is going to Edrogo, disposed of his holdings, but the dips met with new buying, particularly the December, which sold up closer to the May cash basis steady to one half lower. Visible increased 666,000 bushels. Weather more favorable.

Oats: Mixed trade with locals trying to start a hull market while cash and eastern interests took advantage of bulge to hedge and reduce holdings.

L'FOLLETTE OFFERS SEVEN MEANS OF FARM RELIEF

U.S. Called News.
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—Seven progressive proposals for relief and agriculture were placed before a campaign audience here Monday night by Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate. Opening his crusade in the farmer west, he promised that a progressive administration would provide:

1. "Emergency legislation embodying the principals of agricultural equality which underlies both the McNary-Haugen, and Norris-Sinclair bills," with amendments that "would make it certain that the farmer shall be the real beneficiary of the legislation."
2. "Genuine farm representation in the cabinet and on the federal reserve board, farm loan board, tariff board, interstate commerce commission and other governmental bodies."
3. "Repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law and immediate reductions to approximate pre-war levels on agricultural products, including livestock, and upon materials and implements required by the American farmer."
4. "Revision of the federal reserve system, so as to remove its control from the hands of private monopoly."
5. "Reductions in the price of fertilizer by the governmental development of the Muscle Shoals project and similar water power resources now under the control of the federal government."
6. "Immediate downward revision of the present excessive manufacturers tariff schedules which place an unwarranted burden at least three billion dollars upon the American people."
7. "Sweeping investigation within the department of agriculture and other executive departments to locate and remove every employe who swears his position to the influence of the packers, the railroads and other privileged groups."

La Follette devoted his entire speech to tracing the history of American agriculture from its earliest days up to what he called "the great conspiracy of the federal reserve board which deflated currency and ruined the farmers."

He charged that the action of the federal reserve board caused farm indebtedness now totalling fourteen billion dollars.

"There are few political crimes for they are political crimes that arouse me as does the neglect, if not the direct participation of this government of ours in the destruction of the farmer," he said.

"The farmer has been neglected by both parties."

After his speech La Follette was scheduled to leave for St. Louis arriving there at 7:55 a. m. tomorrow.

"MANHANDLED" STARRING GLORIA SWANSON, HERE

Three cheers and a couple of tigers. Gloria Swanson is coming to town! No, dear reader, not in person, but in her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled." Its due at the Lindsey Theatre today.

Listen, folks, we have some inside information on this production and are going to let you in on it. Some of you have a look of intense concentration on your faces as if you are trying to recall, where in the name of common sense you heard the name "Manhandled" before. Stop worrying about it and we'll tell you. It's dollars to doughnuts you saw it in the Saturday Evening Post, because that's where this Arthur Stringer story first saw the light of day. Frank Tuttle adapted it for the screen and Allan Dwan produced it.

Shhhhhh! Don't breathe a word of this—it's supposed to a-b-a-b-e-by confidential. We found out that in the picture Gloria does an imitation of Charlie Chaplin! Holy mackerel—we're so gosh darn anxious to see the picture we are itching all over.

Cardinal Mundelein To Install Kelly as Bishop of Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 14.—Oklahoma will welcome a prince of the church for the first time in its history here tomorrow when Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, and one of America's four cardinals, comes here to install the Right Rev. Francis C. Kelley as bishop of Oklahoma. The service of installation will be held in the cathedral church of St. Joseph here tomorrow morning and will be attended by Catholics from nearly a score of states.

Chicago churchmen, live long friends and admirers of the new bishop by reason of his long residence there as head of the Catholic Church Extension society, have contributed $27,300 in money, an automobile and hundreds of other gifts as a farewell to the new prelate. The largest cash gift of $20,000 came from the board of governors of the extension society and priests of the Diocese of Chicago. The priests of the Diocese of Detroit in which Bishop Kelley served early in his career donated $1200. The automobile was the gift of clerics of the Diocese of Oklahoma. The bishops of the south and west are providing the furnishings for the bishop's home here, are furnishing his private chapel and giving him four sets of episcopal vestments. The Catholic hierarchy of Mexico is sending Bishop Kelley a pectoral cross and ring, 200 years old, and Archbishop Orozco also sent him a ring. The bishop of Alaska donated 82 ermine skins to make a festival cape.

Bishop Kelley and a party of several hundred friends, is scheduled to leave Chicago this morning on a special train.

NOTED NOVELIST TO LEAD GIRL SCOUT BUDGET APPEAL

Mary Roberts Rhinehart, well-known novelist, will lead 500,000 Girl Scouts of America in their nationwide building and budget appeal for $601,028 to be launched soon, it was announced today by Mrs. Herbert Hoover, president of the organization.

"I am convinced that the Girl Scout movement is the answer to the problem of the 'teen aged girl,'" said Mrs. Rhinehart in accepting the National Committee chairmanship.

"It provides the all-around preparation vital to the great responsibilities that come to her a few years hence. I have been a Girl Scout many years, and my belief in the movement is unquestioned."

"The National Council Girl Scouts are about to realize a dream several years old—that some day there might be a building owned by and dedicated to American Girlhood."

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, honorary president of the GSA Scouts, Mrs. William H. Taft, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Sr., Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. T. J. Preston, honorary vice-presidents, are among those sponsoring the campaign.

"Buy a brick for American Girlhood" will be the slogan. Each brick will cost ten dollars, and there will be 50,130 for sale. New York City has challenged the rest of the country on a two to one basis, agreeing to sell two bricks to every one sold elsewhere.

HUGHES SAYS SLUMP FOLLOW ELECTION IN CONGRESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 13.—Business depression would follow if the election were thrown into congress, Secretary Hughes declared in an address here Monday night. Hughes raised the question of Coolidge or no election and made a bitter attack on Senator LaFollette, whose purpose he declared was not to elect himself, but to control the election and to elect Mr. Bryan.

He also hurled several shots at John W. Davis in his second campaign address, particularly regarding the League of Nations and declared that all indications pointed to the "breakdown" of the democratic campaign, which he blamed largely on the selection of Charles W. Bryan as running mate for Davis.

Because of this alleged "breakdown," Hughes said that the "issue is not between Coolidge and the democratic candidate but that the issue is President Coolidge or no election."

The Secretary of state declared that if the election were thrown into congress "confidence would be destroyed overnight," after the results had become known.

"Enterprise would halt, new undertakings would be abandoned, orders would be cancelled," Hughes said. "Throughout the country there would follow contraction and depression. We should be threatened with a serious fall in value, an immediate effort to cover outstanding risks and the conditions which create confusion and panic."

"The campaign Senator LaFollette is making, is not to elect himself, but to control the election and to elect Mr. Bryan," Hughes said. "Dominating the situation LaFollette would expect to dominate the administration."

Hughes characterized the selection of Bryan for his running mate as "an act which shook the confidence of the country in Mr. Davis as a political leader."
