WOMEN MEET AT SLATON TODAY

COUNTY FEDERATION TO ELECT NEW OFFICERS FOR QUARTER

Lubbock county women were busy Thursday and Friday preparing for the convention of the County Federation of Women's clubs which will be held at Slaton today. The weather is favorable and those who remember the difficulties placed in the way of attendance at the meeting at Slaton last week are glad to find that we haven't the same windy roads and rainy weather today. The Women's clubs of Slaton are prepared to royally entertain the visitors from over the county and an unusual number of women are expected. This is the time for the election of officers and we understand several capable women have been mentioned for the presidency. DEMENTIA IS CAUSE OF YOUTH'S DEATH FATHER SAYS

By United News. TROUT RUN, Penn., Oct. 24.—Describing a gruesome dementia which led Henry Handy McHenry, a Yale graduate, to chain himself to a tree on a lonely mountain top until he died of starvation, E. H. McHenry, former president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad put an end to an investigation which followed the finding of the clothed skeleton of his son chained by the neck to a tree on the top of the green mountain. A murder theory was swept aside when the father of the dead man told the county coroner that his son's mind shattered in war service, had gradually developed the all-consuming desire to die chained to a tree somewhere in the wilderness, and that his son had taken his life in this manner despite the precautions of the family. After hearing the father's story, coroner Geo. L. Schneider pronounced death due to suicide. McHenry's body was removed from the mountain top Friday for shipment to Philadelphia for burial.

NEGRO TESTIMONY CAUSES SHUFFLE IN EXPENSE PROBE

BY THOMAS L. STOKES. WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—After rocking along rather placidly, the Borah campaign fund committee has run up against its first sensation, disclosed by a negro dentist of Richmond, Va., Dr. David A. Ferguson, who testified that he had received a certified check of $300 from the chairman of the republican state committee of Virginia, Joseph L. Crupper, after he had refused to support the republican national ticket. Prior to this first sensation of the investigation, counsel for Senator La Follette had announced Friday that they were in possession of startling circumstantial evidence in support of the "slush fund" charges, and the committee took the matter up in executive session after the investigation was concluded for the day. It has nothing to do with the Virginia case, but is said to have been brought by two men from Chicago, who came here with letters, telegrams and affidavits. Ferguson saying that he was treasurer of the "Lily Black" republican organization in Virginia testified that he had written to the chairman of the republican auxiliary committee here, John R. Hawkins, in October, telling Hawkins that he could not support President Coolidge because of the president's appointment of C. Bascom Sliemp as his secretary. I consider the appointment of Sliemp, the leader of the "Lily White" faction, a slap in the face of the negro race," Ferguson said. According to testimony of Ferguson and John R. Pollock, also of Richmond, and leader of the "Lily Black" faction of Virginia, the check was

STONE ASSAILS L'FOLLETTE ON COURT SYSTEM

SAYS WOULD MAKE ONE BRANCH SUPREME OVER OTHERS. By United News. DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 24.—Attorney General Stone in his first campaign speech for president criticized the proposal of Senator LaFollette for review of supreme court decisions by congress, declaring that "it is a complete departure from all the fundamental principles embodied in the constitution and its practical effect amounts to abolition of constitutional government in the United States."

In an address here Friday night Stone said that "the effect of this proposal would be to make one branch of the government, congress, supreme over each of the others."

"Overriding the announcement of the supreme court, congress may destroy, even to the last vestige, all the powers now residing on the judiciary and in the executive," he declared. "The constitutional authority, which enables the president to resist the enforcement of the legislative branch of the government on which the people of this country have repeatedly found relief with confidence becomes nothing."

Only one branch of the government would remain supreme; and that branch the one which is most dominated by political passions, responds most speedily to temporary and often fleeting changes in public opinion. "In carrying out its political program, the legislative body is always to do that—congress tends to encroach upon local self-government," Stone declared. "With such a provision incorporated into the constitution, the restraint upon this type of legislative tampering, where the central government at first republican and later imperial in form, drew to itself the actual regulation and control in minute detail of functions local government within the empire."

POINTS NATIONAL CAMPAIGNERS ARE SUMMARIZED

By RAYMOND CLAPPER. (Copyright, United News.) BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 24.—With barely a week of actual campaigning left, the three cornered presidential fight has settled down to this: First: John W. Davis is trying to hold the democratic vote as intact as possible. He is based on one hand by the LaFollette drive for the labor vote and on the other by the Coolidge appeal to the conservatives for an outright election. His real hope, observers believe is a deadlock in the house in which event he would be a likely choice. Second: President Coolidge is pursuing his quiet, dignified campaign of silence to the end, in his handful of campaign speeches, he has advanced no new issues, but has stuck to his common sense appeal and attacks the public ownership and supreme court limitation proposals advanced by LaFollette.

Kansas Jurymen Pray To Return Proper Verdict

By United News. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—Unable to arrive at a verdict in the case of Estil "Ace" Cockriel, 24, a printer, on trial for the murder of his wife a month ago, the twelve jurymen for divine guidance. Eight were in favor of hanging Cockriel, but the remaining four held out for life imprisonment. Hopefully deadlocked, they knelt in prayer in the jury room and Friday returned their verdict. It was life imprisonment.

FRENCH START HEAVY SHAKE-UP

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The greatest French diplomatic shake-up since the revolution dropped the powered embassies of the bourgeois from the French embassies and legations all over the world has been announced at the Quai De Orsay. Eighteen embassies or legations receive new chiefs under the order just promulgated and among the retiring diplomats is Jules Jusserand, the Ambassador to the United States whose long tenure of office has made him senior foreign representative there. Jusserand retires to make way for Georges Henri Emile Dasther, director of administrative affairs at the Quai De Orsay whose diplomatic experience covers a quarter of a century.

In London, the impeccable M. De Saint Aulaire gives way to M. De Fleurbaey. Rome, Madrid, Athens and Berne are some of the capitals effected by the shifts which extend east as far as Peking and west to Washington and Buenos Aires.

Premier Herriot's policies will be better effected by the new ministers, it has been announced. More changes are expected.

INCOME TAX RECORD IS THROWN OPEN TO PUBLIC

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Curiosity which once killed an unidentified pussy, now threatens to exterminate a few hundred government employes by working them to death. The peeping Toms and the village gossips had a field day Friday, when the traditional privacy of one's own private affairs was slaughtered to give them a holiday all their own. The word that the income tax payments of neighbors and nabobs had become an open book for the eyes of the world, brought them out like flies on a reeling summer's day. It also brought out bond salesmen, bill collectors, newspaper reporters, people contemplating matrimony and even persons to whom matrimony is already an accomplished fact. The original purpose of congress in throwing the records open is said to have been to allow others to report instances where the government has been cheated, but the first day of the grand rush failed to reveal any squealers. By noon at the New York customs house, the flood had become so inundating that the hurried clerks had begun to ask applicants to slave the names of persons whose tax accounts they wanted to see, and call back Saturday or Monday for the information. As angry capitalists denounced the law, the inquisitive stepped up to the counters and announced their demands with unblinking frankness. A romantic touch was injected into the prosaic old customs house when a lad called to look up the fortunes of his prospective father-in-law. Others wanted to know how their business competitors were making out; one man said he was thinking of buying a business and wanted to know if it was going as well as reported. Still others seemed to be just

BOTH NOMINEES FOR GOVERNOR CLAIM VICTORY CERTAIN, RAIN MAY AFFECT FERGUSON'S VOTE

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 24.—The weather man may decide whether Texas shall give the nation its first woman governor. Now that the political mill is working overtime, trained observers are admitting its grist is presenting the most perplexing problem, as far as state candidates are concerned, that the Lone Star state has ever entertained. Not since the days of the civil war have democrats even consented to recognize the presence of the GOP or any other political party for that matter in the state. Nomination by the democrats is tantamount to election. With these facts as a background it is easy to understand the shock, Dr. George Butte, republican gubernatorial nominee gave the people when he announced he expected to win the election by more than 50,000 votes over his democratic opponent, Mrs. Misiam Ferguson, wife of former Governor James Ferguson. And for the first time since the carpet-baggers, the democrats are warring a campaign between the primaries and the election, a task which heretofore had been considered unessential. Dr. Butte, former professor at law at the state University is well known and popular throughout the state. His appeal is to "rid the state of the Ferguson rule" directing his attacks against Ferguson who was impeached in office for alleged misfeasance of funds. His statements are based upon the assumption that Ferguson will be the next governor in the event of Mrs. Ferguson's election although the latter has made repeated denials to this charge. Republican campaign headquarters are claiming most of the large cities for Butte, and admit that his strength in the "grass root" sections is small. Butte has made an extensive campaign to all small towns in behalf of his wife's candidacy. If it rains on election day, and the farmers are unable to get to the polls, observers say Mrs. Ferguson's chances of election will be greatly reduced.

Another issue is the K. K. K. Mrs. Ferguson was nominated by the democrats over Judge Felix Robertson, of this city, who was backed by the Klan. She has a strong anti-klan plank in her platform. Dr. Butte has ignored the Klan issue altogether. It is predicted that Butte, besides receiving the republican Klan vote also will draw a heavy poll of democrats who are members of the order and issued to Ferguson.

Mrs. Ferguson has the support of leading democrat chieftains in the state, many of whom have taken the stump in her behalf. Making the race to clear her husband's name of the stigma attached through his impeachment, Mrs. Ferguson is expected to receive a large part of the women vote. On the few times that she has taken the stump her appeal has been largely to the women while her husband carries the brunt of the burden to the men. As the campaign nears the end, Ferguson, one of the shrewdest politicians in the state, predicts victory for his wife by 200,000 votes. His only reason for breaking a 50-year old precedent by making a last minute campaign, he says, is to pile up such a large majority that the republicans will be buried forever and ever.

Meanwhile, stalwart Texans are taking an interest in state politics for the first time in years.

Judge in Kansas Says He Will Get The Speed Demons

By United News. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—Municipal Judge H. S. Roberts will drop his official dignity for a few moments Saturday in an attempt to blast the speeder's time-worn excuse—"My old bus won't go that fast." James Pope walked the alibi into Judge Roberts' court Thursday and even offered his car to the judge if he could get more than 15 miles an hour out of it. The arresting officers said Pope's bus was rattling along at thirty-five. "I don't want the car," said Judge Roberts, "but I'll take it out tomorrow and I'll fine you $1 for every mile more than 15 I can get out of it." Now Pope is wondering if he didn't speak out of his turn.

THE OLD AXIOM, LIKE PECAN CROP TO BE FATHER, LIKE SON, IS TRUE ABOUT ONE-THIRD NORMAL

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—"Like father, like son" is true when applied to Malcom MacDonald, 22-year-old son of Premier MacDonald of Great Britain, who is touring the middle west with two colleagues as members of the University of Oxford's debating team. Last Friday night the English collegians were defeated here by little Westminster College from Fulton, Mo. Last night they met the University, Kansas debaters at Lawrence.

As to be expected from the son of Britain's first Laborite premier, the young MacDonald is an enthusiastic supporter of Senator Robert M. La Follette, progressive candidate for president. He likes the progressive platform and believes that a three party system in America will help bring issues, rather than politicians, to the front in our national campaigns.

CURFEW AGAIN RINGS IN KANSAS CITY

Curfew rings again in Kansas City, Kansas.

Curfew here really never did ring. The curfew of Greater Kansas City for 30 years has been a huge steam whistle on top of the packing plant of Armour & Co. here. For three decades it blew every night at 9:00 o'clock, except for several weeks during the 1903 flood when the plant was under water. Several weeks ago the curfew was discontinued because the city had grown so only a small portion of it was able to hear the whistle. But habits die hard.

C. D. Barnely, commissioner of water and light, decided the town must have a curfew, so he instructed engineers at the municipal water and light plant to fix the curfew. Increased steam pressure will be provided so that both Kansas City can hear it.

"Curfew shall ring tonight,"

EX-GOVERNOR IS AGAINST KU KLUX AND HIM

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 24.—Former Governor W. P. Hobby, now president of the Houston Post-Dispatch, is against the Ku Klux Klan and against James E. Ferguson and will vote against Mrs. Ferguson in the November general election. He declares in a formal statement sent to the newspapers of Texas.

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 24.—The Texas pecan crop will be about one-third normal this year, according to a condition report made by H. H. Schuster, federal agricultural statistician. Late rains have improved the crop in some sections while in others drought and insect damage have practically caused complete ruin.

A good crop is reported in most sections of Mexico which is expected to reduce the high holiday prices.

TO GET DRUNK IS BECOMING LESS SMART

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—It is becoming less "smart" in America to get drunk.

The joke about one's favorite bootlegger already is passé.

These optimistic words about the American prohibition venture, came from Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States Attorney General, a recent visitor here. She is the first woman to hold such an office in the history of the nation.

The "good opportunism" of the American people is the reason for the increase in prohibition sentiment, according to Mrs. Willebrandt. She asserts that if the 18th amendment were to be submitted today by a overwhelming majority of the people it would pass by an overwhelming majority.

"The prohibition law is becoming to be regarded by public officials in even 'wet' communities in the same light as other laws," stated Mrs. Willebrandt. "Bootlegging is losing social prestige rapidly and is slowly eroding more and more to the underworld."

"The woman bootlegger, of course is a problem, but she usually is of the underworld. Even monetary gains are not going to induce respectable women to charge the social hazard of becoming a bootlegger."

"Even in the South, women are being made to comply for liquor law violations and I am that it is so. I believe most women also are glad. It is not that men are less gallant but that they have a saner conception of gallantry."

The previous record was held last year with an attendance of 205,780, Mr. Stratton said.

It was noticeable throughout the day that the throngs of visitors were constantly changing, those who left Fair Park after having made the rounds being replaced with new arrivals so that the grounds were crowded all day.

One pretty cutie inquired as to her fiancé's 1923 income indicating that if it was less than a certain amount, the marriage might be called off.

Confusion among collectors of internal revenue over the broad market was mingled with that of newspapers many of which were still not certain Friday night whether it was lawful to print the tax figures.

The internal revenue collectors at St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and other cities refused to give figures, for publication, declaring they were acting on instructions from Washington. Still other collectors kept the figures secret from everybody.

The department of justice decided that newspapers published the figures at their own risk, the treasury department pointed to section 3167 of the revised statutes and Attorney General Stone said he was in doubt regarding the legality of publication.

Meanwhile, government officials expect the rush will really begin when the method of figuring out an income tax is generally understood.

INTIMATE DETAILS INTERIOR DEPT BEING PROBED

By H. O. THOMPSON.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24—Intimate details concerning routine workings of the department of the interior during the period in which E. L. Doheny's oil companies were awarded leases in the Elk Hills naval reserves have taken attention of the court now hearing the government's suit to cancel the contracts.

Edward C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior under Albert B. Fall, took the witness stand in Judge McCormick's court late Friday afternoon to begin testimony which is expected to extend into next week, which revolves directly about the actual awarding to Doheny of oil leases in California, and construction contracts at Pearl Harbor.

Finney was in Washington during the entire period in which deals now under fire, were consummated. At times, while secretary Fall was absent at his New Mexico ranch or on official business, Finney was in virtual control of the department.

Questioned by Owen J. Roberts, government attorney Finney identified documents which passed through his hands and told of correspondence regarding the drilling of 22 offset wells in the Kern county reserves and of orders which he had received from assistant secretary of the navy, Roosevelt relative to the construction of fuel storage facilities at Pearl Harbor.

On Dec. 9, 1921, Roosevelt wrote to him asking that a storage plant for 1,500,000 barrels of oil be built at the Hawaiian base, Finney said he replied the next day, asking for authority, which Roosevelt said would be forthcoming the witness declared.

Before Finney's testimony was begun Oscar Sutro, an attorney for the Standard Oil company appeared as a witness. Sutro appeared ahead of his legal task because of limited time in this city and told of contracts for Pearl Harbor work which has been sent him for perusal on January 27, 1922.

At that time, Sutro, he advised against the contracts as illegal leases and told Assistant Secretary Finney his opinion two months later. He also wrote secretary Fall the witness said, telling him that if some other company in addition to the Standard had been involved, the contracts might have been valid.

Attorneys did not dwell upon the significance of Sutro's testimony. The morning session of Friday's hearing was consumed entirely in the reading by Owen J. Roberts of the government's legal staff, of excerpts from files of the senate investigating committee, which probed the oil transactions last January. The testimony of Doheny, given through attorney Gavin McNab, was stressed particularly.

Roberts reiterated his proposal that President Coolidge create a competent commission to examine the leases and contracts and brought out Doheny's proposal in exact to the utmost his influence with the Pan-American companies to procure such modification as the commission deemed fair, or if that proved impossible to obtain an relinquishment of the contracts by his companies.

Doheny's $100,000 loan to Fall, "made as one man to another," was referred to again in the testimony as was Doheny's statement that this amount of money "was a bagatelle, the same to me as $25 or $30 to the ordinary individual."

ALL EYES IN EAST TURN TO BIG THREE BATTLES SCHEDULED TODAY; NOTRE DAME AND PRINCETON PROMISES BIG THRILL

By ROBERT D. LUSK. NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Football interest in the east is centered upon what is going to happen in the big three Saturday. Each of the aristocratic schools of the tripartite are entertaining dangerous company this week and the results of the contest will be considerably bearing upon what may be expected when members of the exclusive little conference clash among themselves.

Princeton will be host to Notre-Dame and Harvard will entertain Brown and Yale. The three games, however, the Notre-Dame-Princeton game is by far the greatest draw. It is the feature of the season and the Navy, last week and the westerners defeat of the Army indicates that the game will be a thrilling, but one-sided. If Brown can overcome the powerful backfield which Notre-Dame brings with him they will become rather disconcerting spectators to Cambridge and New Haven.

and they will be of the greatest importance in deciding the "Big Ten" conference where the teams are so evenly divided in strength this year. Ohio State plays Chicago at Columbus. Minnesota plays Iowa at Iowa City. Michigan plays Wisconsin at Ann Arbor. Illinois, just out of the Michigan game and getting ready for Iowa next Saturday, has a real schedule with DePaul.

Evidence that Yale would be unable to fill the void in the Catholic line, is good news to Princeton for the line line the Tigers strength and Notre-Dame's weakness.

Alabama and Georgia Tech will meet in the first of the important games that are to decide the southern championship and Georgia and Vanderbilt will meet in another important battle.

Georgia Tech is caught in a tight place for an important game as Tech had a hard game with Penn State last Saturday and has to play Notre-Dame next week.

The Brown-Yale game is a little classic at New Haven. Yale is two to one favorite over the Providence team this year. It is a tradition that Yale runs the line but has been serious against Brown and at this tradition holds true. Saturday, it is likely that the big three teams will win by a couple of touchdowns.

It is becoming evident, if it has not been shown convincingly enough, that football is reaching a position of equality in every one of the five major sections.

Inter-sectional football has done much to develop the class of football and to increase interest in a great game. As long as football receipts are devoted to the maintenance of the great universities, all the big universities it should be an embarrassment to point out that the same inter-sectional games have produced such good money winners that none of them are to be expected in the future and that the quality as well as the quantity of the games will be increased.

FOOTBALL SEASON IS AT HALF-WAY MARK

CANYON, Texas, Oct. 24.—The stage is all set for the greatest gathering of students ever known to the West Texas State Teachers' College and for the greatest grid classic of the history of the Panhandle which is to be staged on Buffalo Park grounds, Saturday, October 25. On this day the Simmons College Cowboys invade Canyon with an excitement as their coaches, the Cowboys ride the Buffaloes in their own corral in the question of vital importance being discussed on the campus and on the streets and everywhere else that people come together. The Cowboys think they can win; the Buffaloes say if they can they will take their best off to the greatest bunch of Cowboys ever assembled in the Panhandle. The Buffaloes are not confident of a victory far from it but they are confident that if the Cowboys leave Canyon with a win they will win by the dearest one they ever won.
