Final Plans For Tech Celebration Reported Complete

PLAINVIEW BAND TO LEAD PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

ALL COMMITTEES REPORT THINGS IN READINESS FOR CELEBRATION

Plans that have been maturing for the last several weeks in connection with the Technological College celebration in Lubbock next Tuesday, November 14, were submitted to General Chairman H. T. Kimbro last night in practically a perfected form. It appears that no detail, no matter how insignificant such detail may be, has been overlooked and Lubbock may well expect one of the most thorough and capably organized entertainments of its history on Armistice Day possible.

Senator W. H. Boldege was present with the committee and offered valuable suggestions to them in rounding out some of the rough edges that have appeared in the way of the committee. Dr. P. W. Horn, President of the Texas Tech, was also present with the committee and introduced valuable ideas which will lead assistance very materially in the plans that have been suggested by the several committees.

The committee on parade headed by Harold Griffith reported that his plans were complete, except one or two details of a minor nature which can be worked out in simple time. A motion was made and unanimously adopted to place the Plainview Band at the head of the parade. It was thought that this courtesy was due the band representing Plainview in view of the fact that the home of Mr. E. A. Underwood, member of the Board of Regents of the Texas Technological College, was in Plainview. The reputation of the Plainview Band is an exceptionally good one and many members of the committee were enthusiastic in seeing this position in the parade given to Plainview.

J. H. Maxey, chairman on platform and seating arrangements reported that material was on the ground and that a large force of carpenters would be placed on the job this morning and complete the work by Monday noon. Seats for seven thousand have been arranged for. Ushers have been provided for to see that everyone is furnished a comfortable place near the platform as possible in order to hear the addresses of the speakers of the day and witness the laying of the cornerstone under the auspices of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas.

One of the very important features of the day's program will be the two dinners in the evening following the Tech celebration in the afternoon. Ex-service men will be cared for beginning at seven o'clock in the City Auditorium. A routing program of particular appeal to ex-service men has been arranged to accompany the dinner that has been arranged for them.

Ladies of the First Presbyterian, First Methodist and First Christian churches have joined together in arranging for five hundred plates for the distinguished guests who have accepted the invitation of the Board of Regents to be present in Lubbock on Armistice Day. The Presidents of the various Chamber of Commerce's over this section together with their wives will be present at this dinner. Editors of the various papers as well as representatives of the large dairies in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico together with their wives will be present for the dinner. Fifty two Fort Worth boosters who will arrive in Lubbock Tuesday morning in special pullmans will be in attendance upon the dinner from where "the West Begins".

A large number of the members of the State Senate and House of Representatives together with their wives will be in attendance. Prominent officials of the Masonic

ARMISTICE DAY IN LUBBOCK WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN IN MANY YEARS

Armistice Day in Lubbock will not be forgotten in many years in view of the crystallizing of forces at work towards making of the day an occasion of lasting vividness. One of the latest attractions to be added to the elaborate program to be staged here was the arrival of two "Standard" airplanes in Lubbock yesterday afternoon piloted by Lt. Jim Ingram and Ted Kinnaman. Lt. Ingram was accompanied in his plane by Mechanic Leonard Leurevald. These men are veterans of the World War and saw active service in France against the armies of the Central powers. They will remain through the Armistice Day event in Lubbock and contribute largely to the spectacular feature of the 11th of November.

Lt. Ted Kinnaman is a life-long friend of J. A. Curtis. A keen aviator, he and the two other active service together in France and Italy. Aerial photographs will be made of the enormous crowd, expected in Lubbock on Nov. 14th, and the two pilots will be assisted in this particular work by Lt. Kinnaman. It is fully anticipated that no less than ten thousand people will be assembled on the Tech grounds to witness the ceremonies attendant upon the cornerstone laying. Some three thousand cars will be parked on the Tech campus and it is considered that Lubbock is fortunate in having these pilots here to secure these photographs.

It is understood that the two aviators are interested in the rapid development of commercial aviation and will seek to interest Lubbock on commercial errands. Brockbridge, Abilene, and Sweetwater have already made a wise program for landing fields and it is an assured fact that Lubbock will measure up to any requirement along this line that may appear.

NEW TWO-STORY BRICK GOING UP IN LAMESA

LAMESA, Nov. 7.—George Hornback has started work on a two-story brick business house. The new structure is located on North Second street. The lower floor will be occupied by a garage and a planing mill, while the upper floor will be used for offices. Moran and Conklin are building a modern brick building on the corner of Main street and North First street. There are only four lots on the square that are not now supporting brick buildings. Plans are being formulated for buildings on at least two of these lots in the near future.

There are about thirty residences in various stages of construction at this time. New homes are being started every day. The demand for houses is still greater than the supply.

DEFENSE RESTS IN CANCEL SUIT

ONLY THREE WITNESSES CALLED IN DENIAL OF CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Coming with unexpected suddenness, the defense in the governments suit to break the KKK Naval Reserve leases held by E. L. Doherty's Pan-American Oil company rested its case shortly before 3:30 p. m. today.

Only three witnesses were called by the defense in support of its denial of charges that the leases involving oil properties said to be worth at least $100,000,000 were obtained by Doherty through fraud, involving a $100,000 loan to former secretary of the interior, Fall, that was never to be repaid.

The afternoon session of the trial yesterday before Federal Judge J. McCormick, was consumed by defense attorney Frank J. Hogan, who introduced into the records several letters and documents germane to the case.

Among the exhibits introduced, most of which unsuccessfully were protested against by prosecuting attorney Owen J. Roberts as immaterial were:

HUNDREDS BATTLE FOREST FIRES IN INDIANA

By United News. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7.—Forest fires which did tens of thousands of dollars of damage to timber lands in half a dozen counties of Indiana were checked Friday night after hundreds of farmers had battled all day to prevent their spread.

The fires, started by sparks from locomotives or by careless hunters, swept rapidly through the parched timberlands. Fresh winds added to the difficulties of the fire fighters, as sparks were whirled aloft from blazing woodlands, starting fires beyond the fighters' lines.

Farmers in Brown and Monroe counties, who battled the blazes there were aided by 200 students of the University of Indiana, who had been rushed in trucks to the threatened areas.

Hundreds of acres of valuable timber lands in the two counties were destroyed before the blaze was checked.

Rain stopped a fire in Cass county after 100 farmers had failed to get it under control.

Forest fires in Bartholomew county flared up again near Columbus during the day and fire fighters, exhausted after an all-night struggle, thought the flames had subsided, and had gone home.

Other woodland fires were reported from Kosciusko and Decatur counties, but there were said to be under control Friday night.

KLAN IS CONTESTED FOR USE CHURCH AUDITORIUM

By United News. FT. WORTH, Nov. 7.—After a day of argument that ended in district court officials of the KKK gave up their fight to hold the orders charity minister show in the Baptist church auditorium here Friday night. Left homeless when fire destroyed their new building here Thursday night, Klansmen quickly obtained the use of the church auditorium. But the Enterprise Club, a religious organization had a previous contract for use of the building and filed a petition in district court for an injunction to prevent the church from breaking its contract.

After testimony had been introduced both klan and church officials agreed to abide by the terms of the contract without requiring the klan to issue the injunction. The klan used another auditorium.

COOLIDGE SAYS BEYOND SCOPE OF SHORT TERM

OTHER PRESSING LAWS MAKE POSTPONEMENT NECESSARY, IS CLAIM

By THOMAS I. STOKES. WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Further tax reduction legislation will await the regular session of the new congress a year hence, it now appears. President Coolidge regards legislation as beyond the scope of the coming short session because of the press of other business, and has made no plans for a special session of the new congress after March 4.

The position of the president was made clear at the white house Friday in answer to inquiries regarding both tax legislation and a special session. There have been suggestions that a special session be called to deal with further tax reduction and perhaps farm legislation.

Formulation of the program of the coming short session is in the hands of house and senate leaders, and they can include further tax legislation. But this is regarded as unlikely, because of the number of appropriations bills which must be passed as well as other necessary routine business to be handled during the three months.

Now that the president has indicated he would not ask tax legislation it is practically certain that congressional leaders won't bring it before congress.

The president has not closed the door on an extra session of the new congress. But it was stated emphatically at the white house Friday that he has made no plans for one, and the indication was rather strong that he does not think it wise.

Two leading administration senators who called at the white house Friday are opposed to an extra session. Senator Curtis, of Kansas, republican whip, and Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, who directed the republican senatorial committee during the campaign. Both said that the president had given no indication that he intended to call an extra session. Regarding the work of the senate in the short session, these leaders said that only the necessary appropriation and supply bills in their opinion would be passed. The president has not fixed a program for the short session of congress, it was said, at the white house. It was made known, however, that he is likely to recommend that congress give some attention to the farm legislation.

The president is for legislation aimed at preventing the recurrence of the agricultural distress of the last few years, it was said, and not for so-called farm relief legislation. He has consistently opposed the number of plans suggested which would require financial aid from the treasury.

In considering his recommendations along this line, the president will be aided by the special commission he has appointed to study agriculture. This commission is expected to be ready with a report to congress in December it was said at the white house.

The president may have something to say about taxes in his message in December, and may reiterate his view that surtaxes should be reduced. But this will be merely to record his views on this question and not for action at this time.

BANDIT SWIPES THE SUITCASE OF FORMER OUTLAW

OAKLAND, Nov. 7.—Emmett Dalton, only surviving member of the notorious Dalton gang Friday, reiterated his often stated theory that petty thievery is the bunk. Dalton had cause to do this, however. While he was using the telephone someone "pinched" his suitcase which he had placed just outside the booth.

COMMISSION TO DRAFT PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF

SUBMIT CONCLUSIONS TO NEXT CONGRESS FOR FINAL DECISION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Coolidge has announced the personnel of the special commission which he has appointed to study agricultural problems for recommendations of further farm relief measures to congress.

The members are: Robert B. Carey, Tareyhurst, Wyoming, former governor, Chairman; O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Chicago, Charles S. Barrett, chairman national board of farm organizations, Union City, Ga.; Louis J. Taber, master national grange, Columbus, Ohio; Ralph P. Merritt, president Sun Maid Raisin Growers, Fresno, Cal.; R. W. Thatch, director New York experimental station, Geneva, N. Y.; W. C. Coffey, dean of the college of agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul; and Fred H. Bixby, president American National Livestock association, Long Beach, California.

This commission will begin in the near future its study of agricultural problems and is expected to have a report ready for the short session of congress, according to word at the white house Friday. The president will use the report as a basis of study for recommendations he is expected to make.

Coolidge's aim in farm legislation is not for so-called farm relief but for measures that will prevent a recurrence of the distress of the last few years. He has consistently opposed any plan which called for financing by the government and is still of the same opinion; it was made known at the white house Friday.

Harmonious Body Is Comment CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The men appointed by President Coolidge to serve as members of the special commission to confer on a program of agricultural legislation for submission to congress are ones who can work harmoniously together, and should be able to develop a real plan, declared O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, when informed of his appointment to the commission.

"Agriculture is now at a disadvantage compared with industry in the United States," he said.

"The farmers' dollar is not yet back to the purchasing power of the dollar of other groups. The condition of agriculture is uneasy, but the results of the election show that agriculture has confidence in the administration and the plan for a survey of the whole agricultural situation and a report on remedial measures shows that confidence to be justified."

Commission Meets 27th. LONG BEACH, Cal. Nov. 7.—A Fred Bixby, president of the National Livestock Association and member of the present agricultural committee, stated that the new commission had received a new invitation from President Coolidge to meet at the white house Nov. 27, before leaving San Francisco Friday.

DAVID LAMAR

The petition of David Lamar, now usually known as "The Wolf of Wall Street," in which he asked a New York court to set aside the decree of divorce granted his wife, apparently ends his romance with Miss French, former "Follies" beauty, to whom he had been recently engaged. Lamar alleged that while he was a fugitive from justice in Mexico his wife secured the divorce without his knowledge, after he had turned over to her all his property, including a large sum in cash and a $10,000 home in Manhattan.

FINAL PLANS FOR TECH CELEBRATION COMPLETE

Grand Lodge of Texas will remain over in Lubbock following the connection laying to share in the hospitality of the occasion. Many prominent educators from the state who will arrive in Lubbock Monday and Tuesday will be in attendance upon the well appointed dinner that has been arranged for them. It is the special wish of the General Committee that all these distinguished guests be shown every possible courtesy and in order to fittingly care for this distinguished gathering the reception committee has been enlarged to include a special committee of ladies from Lubbock who will assist in seeing that the plans of the General Committee are carried out to a nicety. All invited guests will be looked after and Lubbock's committee will be in close attendance to see that no courtesy that may be shown will be overlooked. It is understood that there will be less than ten Lubbock people occupy seats at the table and those at the request of the Board of Regents of the Texas Tech. Needless to say if these seats are needed for visitors they will be graciously given over in order that Lubbock's reputation as a host may not have a blemish.

The dinner will be given in the new home of the Lubbock Auto Company on Avenue L at seven o'clock. The two blocks intervening between the public square and this location will be lighted brilliantly, and the current furnished free to the committee by the city. A special committee to distribute tickets to the visitors was appointed last night to see that no guest was overlooked. This committee consists of Neil Wright, C. E. Maedgen, and S. C. Arnett. Rev. Walter Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church has been asked to give the invocation. Mr. L. S. Harkey, local Scoutmaster, has offered the services of as many scouts as needed to check hats, cloaks, and overcoats of the visitors. The affair promises to be one of the most splendid occasions Lubbock has ever had.

Pearl Harbor, covering containers for 2,700,000 barrels of oil, despite the government's suit to break the Elk Hills leases stated: "and to stop work on it would cause irreparable loss and leave the navy with an uncompleted plant of no benefit whatever."

Another letter from Doheny to former secretary All dated September 6, 1922, of a personal nature, telling of a vacation the oil man had recently spent in Alaska from which he returned "full of ginger and determined to continue the work of development to which I have dedicated myself."

A report disclosing that, among other companies holding leases just outside the naval reserves in Elk Hills section, the Standard Oil company since 1921 obtained 12,374,386 barrels of oil. This, the defense maintains, proves that the underground basin holding the naval supply as well, was fast being drained.

The forenoon session of the trial was spent in final cross examination of Rear Admiral J. K. Robison, chief engineering officer of the navy department by attorney Roberts.

Robison told of the deal with the Doheny company for the second Pearl Harbor plant, payment for which came from royalty oil in the Elk Hills reserve.

The witness stated that when Doheny refused to consider royalties higher than a rate of from 12 1/2 to 35 percent, he, former secretary Doheny and secretary Fall and other officials "talked it over and decided to close."

MRS. FERGUSON NOW LEADS BY 32,634

Mrs. Ferguson is about to become a high-toned servant. "Pa" breaks into the news now and then only because he is the husband of "Ma" Ferguson, governor-elect of Texas, and he knows it. Although it was largely through his shrewdness and political ability that his wife was enabled to pile up such a large plurality over her republican opponent, Dr. George C. Butler, "Pa" is contented to let "Ma" have her place in the sun.

"I'm just a high-toned servant, or rather, I will be when 'Ma' goes to Austin," Ferguson declared as late returns from Tuesday's election continued to swell his wife's plurality.

"Ma will be the boss, I am pretty certain I won't have a thing to say about how things are carried out. In fact, I don't want to trouble her. She has a right to a chance to make good and I'm not in favor of putting any obstacles in her way. My advice to her if she asks me for any will be the same as any other citizen."

"Pa" won't be just exactly a stranger in Austin, you know. He was governor of the state until his political opponents as he calls them, brought about his impeachment. Then "Ma" took up the battle. "Pa" helped her. The result, The Ferguson's are going back to Austin.

Meanwhile the governor-elect is busy receiving congratulations of her friends all over the state while recuperating from the effects of a severe cold.

"I guess Jim (her husband) will be just an intervening spectator" is the way "Ma" puts it.

She intends to travel under the name of "Governor" just as her male predecessors have, in the past. "You didn't call the other chief executive 'Mister Governor' did you?" she asks. "And you couldn't call me 'gozerness' you know, that wouldn't be just exactly proper."

Mrs. Ferguson hasn't made many plans for the administration of her office except that she will try to fulfill every campaign pledge which shouldn't be so hard inasmuch as they included only a reduction in the costs of state government and of driving the KKK out of state politics.

Bluebeard smiled as he opened the closet door and saw the bodies of his former wives hanging by their gory tresses. Then he snarled as he took a look at his next prospective victim.

MCDONALD MOVES FROM DOWNING PALACE

LONDON, Nov. 7.—England's experiment with a socialist government ended Friday when moderate sized moving van wheeled into the narrow alley known as Downing street and removed from No. 10 the few personal belongings that former Premier Ramsay MacDonald brought there with him just less than one year ago. The MacDonalds are going back to their little house in Hampstead with its bulgy bay window, trapped front garden and stained glass door.

Earlier Friday MacDonald had led his beaten cabinet into the royal presence at Buckingham Palace where the socialist ministers delivered to King George their seals of office which were distributed to the new conservative ministers. Baldwin will take over No. 10 on Monday but a fortnight probably will pass before all the Baldwin possessions are moved into the official residence. When the Baldwins entered No. 10 in 1923, following the resignation of Premier Bonar Law, they had hardly got settled before the socialist cabinet, MacDonald realized that he wouldn't be there long when he succeeded the Baldwins. This time, however the government seemed destined to endure for at least four years and if the premier can retain his hold on the party leadership his moving troubles are over for this long.

Isabel Macdonald supervised the packing of the family traps and fluttered among the porties as the boxes were carried into the street and sent away to Howitt Road in Hampstead where the MacDonalds occupy a modest little house which is exactly similar to those that stretch away from it in either direction. The sidewalks of Macdonald's house are above the sidewalks of the houses on either side of it. His neighbors are travelling salesmen, dignified

ALIENS FLOOD U. S. FROM CANADA IS DAVIS' CHARGE

Today we know that there are some 15,000 aliens waiting in the West Indies for an opportunity to enter this country illegally, he said. How many aliens cross our land borders daily without complying with the law is a matter of conjecture.

CATTLE, SWINE OR CHILDREN?

Millions of dollars are spent annually by state and national authorities in devising ways and means for bettering the conditions and surroundings of cattle and swine. Great schools and colleges are maintained at enormous expense to educate raisers along these lines. Big prizes are offered for the best specimens and state and county fairs are held annually at great expense, to which millions of people flock to spend much money to see these specimens and learn how to better the conditions and surroundings of their own stock.

Recently the Bureau of Education of the federal government issued a statement based on an examination it had made of 22,000,000 school children in this country. Of these, the statement pointed out, 1,000,000 had defective hearing, 5,000,000 defective eyesight, 1,000,000 active tuberculosis, 250,000 organic heart trouble and 4,000,000 were underfed.

Confronted by this serious condition, the American Child Health Association, working with other health associations of the country, has set out to bring an improvement in an attempt to promote the cause of the children's health throughout the nation.

Just a great number of people seem to think more of their livestock than of their children. Any way, they will hardly let one of the animals get away from their sight, and sure not away from the premises any great distance without looking after them, but the son or the daughter is allowed to ramble around over the country roads at night or down town on the streets, and there is no uneasiness manifested in that.

Night riding in automobiles is not calculated for the best interests of the morals and character of young people. Automobiles built for two should not be used for six, and when they are there is a possibility of them being too heavily loaded, and may not result in the good of the occupants.

We should certainly exercise ourselves more about them. We should see that they have shelter and proper food, and the proper clothing. Too often these things are responsible for many of the ailments of the younger generation. They are unhealthy because of improper dressing, which may cause them to contract sickness that, if it does not result in the permanent disablement of the person, is apt to retard their studies in schools and if they are improperly fed the same may result. If you have some fine cattle, horses, hogs or chickens you will see to it that they have the properly balanced rations, and that they are fed regularly, and in the proper quantities.

Put the boys and girls at least on a par with the hogs and give them at least as much attention, and we will have a better time, a better country, a higher grade of citizenship, and you will feel more proud of them every day they live.

The pastor of a Methodist church in Binghamton, N. Y., kicked up a real row when he asserted that "the average daily newspapers were not worth more than 15 minutes of any Christian reader's time." One newspaper offered to give the church $1,000 if the pastor would run the paper just one day. As a rule there are no better judges of newspapers than the publishers themselves—but they are not in business to promote "ideals."

It's hard to stick one's nose into a family row without putting a foot into it also.

TAKING OFF THE BRAKES IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Newspaper reports from the market centers, and the financial headquarters of the nation say that the brakes have been released on the world's finances as the results of the election have been learned. That will be gratifying news to the general public, and it is to be hoped that business circles will take on a steady gait and move on in a way that will put into circulation the coin of the realm, and open up the avenues of trade.

This should be even if there was no election on hand with the beautiful, salubrious fall weather on hand, we should be feeling tip top, and we should in this time of the year be in position to enjoy a good trade in business, and with the great amount of work in the country, every man should have all he can do and at good wages.

In Lubbock there is work for every man, and for the right kind of men there is nearly always a good job for them in a place of the type of Lubbock. True there are always a bunch of fellows loafing around that have regular parking places in the city, and while the automobile is prohibited from being parked there we find a half dozen fellows parked there discussing why the country went republican, why Mrs. Ferguson should be elected governor, and causing the city officials for not doing this and that and for doing that and this.

The newspapers say the brakes are off, then let's go. Let's get ready for the biggest celebration on November the 11th that has ever been staged in this city. We had a big one when the Tech was located here, and there is no reason why we should not have a bigger one this time.

The Tech College is something that the entire Southwest should be proud of, and Lubbock and the South Plains especially, as it is all happening right here in the very middle of the greatest country in the South.

Let's quit parking in the busy section of the city to discuss politics and things that we cannot decide or remedy by a six-months' discussion, and get interested in the progress of our country. Let's help build the city, and help to develop the millions of acres of land in this country that has never been touched by the plow.

The brakes are off. Let's go!

FIREARMS IN THE HOME

There was a pitiful story in the press dispatches from Fredericksburg, Va., recording the slaying of a 9-year-old boy in the darkness of his home by his father, who mistook him for a burglar.

The father had retired early and was awakened by the footsteps of the child on the stairs. Seizing his shotgun in his haphazard condition he literally blew off his son's head.

Hundreds of instances of killing and wounding members of families have occurred through the habit of keeping firearms in the home. Sometimes children discharge them through ignorance or carelessness, with disastrous results; sometimes they are fired accidentally while being handled by older persons and in other times are aimed deliberately at supposed intruders who prove to be members of the household, as in the case mentioned above.

If statistics were available it is safe to say that for every life saved by having a weapon at hand in the home, a dozen are sacrificed in the ways just mentioned. Keeping firearms about the house is a dangerous practice.

Firearms have caused more accidental deaths or rash killings than they have ever furnished protection for the owners. Cleaning old guns and accidentally discharging them in the face of some friend or killing some member of the family is one of the pastimes of the American people. Leaving them around the house where the children can get hold of them and pull one of the "didn't know it was loaded" stunts is another favorite drama of the United States. "Mistaken identity" is another and "rage" and a sixshooter is another reason why firearms should not be around the house. A quick tempered man and a loaded gun is a combination that should never be allowed around the home, for sooner or later there will be a clash, a crash, and a funeral.

THE FIRE ALARMS

In all probability the fire alarms that have been sounded on an average of once a day for the past week would not have been had the proper precautions been taken in regard to the building of fires, and the erection of the stove. This is not always the case, and we are not saying that any of the fires were through carelessness on the part of the residents of these places, but a little more precaution would doubtless be very beneficial, and the loss by fire might be reduced to the minimum to say the least of it.

Nearly everyone in the city at this time are erecting their heaters or firing up the furnace, and fire should not be put in either until a thorough investigation of the flues has been made. If you are not able or cannot get an experienced person to do this go over all of them carefully and see that there are no defects. Sometimes the old flue that served last winter and several winters previous might have just been in the act of burning through when you quit using it last spring, and the first fire may break through it and cause a conflagration that will be disastrous to you and to the community in which you live, for some times many are injured by a fire that starts many blocks away. Watch the results for a while after starting a fire in the stove or furnace for the first time.

During the past three years 31 motor car manufacturers have dropped out of the race, leaving 351 at the beginning of the present year.

For every 100 tons of steel manufactured in a year, 41 tons wear out by use and by rust. The rest is more durable—such as rails, bridges and machinery that last for years.

LUBBOCK MERCHANTS BE ASKED TO REMAIN OPEN UNTIL NOON NOV. 11TH

In a meeting of the General Committees at work on the Tech celebration in Lubbock, November 11th, a motion was passed and unanimously approved that the stores of Lubbock be requested to remain open on Armistice Day until twelve o'clock noon. It was deemed essential in view of the fact that hundreds of people are expected to come to Lubbock to attend the Tech celebration, and it is felt that the merchants of Lubbock should be prepared to meet the needs of the thousands of people who will be in the city on that day. NINE CRIMINAL FELONY AND TWENTY-TWO CIVIL CASES TRIED IN SHORT TERM 72ND JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT OF DAWSON CO.

District Judge Clark M. McMillan and Court Reporter Franklin D. Brown were in Lubbock Thursday following their work in the thirty-two term of the Dawson County District Court at Lamesa. The docket of both criminal and civil cases in this county is appalling and the court officials went every effort to relieve the situation. As a result of their work nine criminal felony cases were disposed of, among which were one in which T. C. Clark, Texas state senator, was tried for rape, three liquor cases and others. Convictions were returned in three liquor cases as follows: Henry Willmon, convicted and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary; E. C. Clark, convicted and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary; Elvin Tuckness, convicted and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

Clay Warren, charged with assault with intent to harm, was found guilty and sentenced to ninety days in the county jail and to pay a five hundred dollar fine. Son Foreman, accused, charged with murder in connection with the killing of another man, was found guilty and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

Clayton Smith, charged with assault with intent to harm, was found guilty and sentenced to ninety days in the county jail and to pay a five hundred dollar fine. Son Foreman, accused, charged with murder in connection with the killing of another man, was found guilty and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

Frank Anderson, charged with assault with intent to harm, was found guilty and sentenced to ninety days in the county jail and to pay a five hundred dollar fine. Son Foreman, accused, charged with murder in connection with the killing of another man, was found guilty and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

His brother, sixteen years old, charged with violation of the liquor law, was found guilty and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary. His brother, sixteen years old, charged with violation of the liquor law, was found guilty and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

Twenty-two civil cases were disposed of during the short term which coupled with the work of the district court, stands out as a notable achievement of the court officials. The docket of both criminal and civil cases in this county is appalling and the court officials went every effort to relieve the situation.

Giant Dirigibles May Make Trip Over Country Together

The dirigibles Los Angeles and Shenandoah may take the air together within the next three weeks, giving Americans their first glimpse of two ships in flight at the same time. This belief is expressed by officials here following a report from Philadelphia that 3,000,000 cubic feet of helium gas—sufficient to inflate the Los Angeles, the former dirigible, and arrive there from Fort Worth, Texas, the work of transferring the gas from its containers to the dirigible will probably be completed within two weeks, officials think, and the first test flight will be made about a week later.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Madeline Whitaker, of Moberly, Mo., appearing before a federal grand jury in connection with the case of Dr. Frank Hurd, charged with violating the Mann act, accused the physician of drugging her and of taking her with him on trips through Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Mrs. Whitaker said she had accused her publicly and when she accompanied him to a restaurant, he often demanded that she get up and at least look like a lady.

CISCO BAPTIST CHURCH AND PARSONAGE BURN

CISCO, Texas, Nov. 7.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Baptist church and parsonage here, which disintegrated the building, a frame structure erected more than thirty years ago, was on fire from bottom to top. Estimated loss is $20,000. A brick building several blocks away caught fire from sparks and was damaged.

NEW UNIFORM HAT DESIGNED FOR C. I. A.

DENTON, Texas, Nov. 7.—A new uniform hat of midnight blue felt has been designed for students at the college of Industrial Arts. The first appearances of the new millinery have met with much favor. The hat has a roll brim front with a narrow straight brim in the back, and is especially designed for wear on the part of the bobbed hair girls. A hat more becoming to those students with long hair will be designed at a later date, college authorities assert.

15-YEAR-OLD BOY FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

REALLESTER, Okla., Nov. 7.—Presidential hearing on a charge of murder against Hobson Bass, 15-year-old junior high school boy, is being held in Justice Court here. Bass is accused of stabbing Le Flore Evans, a classmate, to death with a knife following a quarrel at the school building.

According to a report compiled from 1,000 American cities and towns the total construction in the first eight months of this year was $3,429,000,000. This is an increase of 10 per cent over last year, and surpasses all other records. The aggregate for the whole year will probably reach $5,000,000,000.

IF HE PULLS WITH THE REST

I don't care if his best days are over, Or whether he's just done his best, I need him in all of my travels— The horse that can pull with the rest. This a horse may be stout and more steady, I don't like his kind for my own, Unless he can pull with the others, On the load he can't pull alone. A horse that can pull well in harness, Just say old time that he's asked, Is the kind that I'd pick from the others. To put to the most steady task.

There are men in this world that are like them, Who feel that they're doing their best, If they only knew how much better They work when they pull with the rest. And that is the reason you'll find that A man who climbs steady and slow Has gained all his knowledge and power Because he first learned when to go.

Don't envy the man who's above you For the place he has given his best, But try all your might and you'll reach him, By learning to pull with the rest. There are plenty of steps for the climb, But sturdier surest and best Are the steps that you take when you're trying And learning to pull with the rest.

UNIFORMS IN SCHOOL NOT PRACTICAL SAYS MAYOR

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—"It would be just as appropriate for the city to prescribe the dress of the citizens as for the Board of Education to force all public school pupils to wear uniforms," Mayor Baylock said in discussing the proposed three-reform under consideration by the board.

"I might even have poor girl a headscarf, but that's not what I'm talking about," he said. "I think such a measure would stretch the municipal power of government too far for the public good."

WOULD PAY BOYS TO KEEP QUIET WHEN BEFORE COURT

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—Everything probably would have been fine for the girl if the boy had kept still, but he talked. The couple were arraigned before Judge P. D. Crawford charged with mooning in the city park. The boy drew a ten dollar fine without comment and the judge hissed at the girl. The girl was tearful and pretty. Then her escort spilled the well known names.

"Liquor always has that effect upon her," he asserted. "Every time she gets a drink or two she starts crying and cries until she sobers up." The testimony was confirmed by Judge Crawford from other sources, and the maid also drew a ticket for $10.

HALL COUNTY GIN BURNS AT PALESKA

MEMPHIS, Texas, Nov. 7.—The gin at Paleska was destroyed by fire about 2 a. m., November 4th. Sixteen bales of seed cotton which were stored in the cotton house and seventy five tons of cotton seed in the seed house were consumed. The gin has been crowded and working nights and had closed down about three hours prior to the fire. This was considered to be the best gin in Hall county having cost $52,000 at the time it was built, however, it was built when cost of building material and gin machinery were at the peak. The gin could not be replaced at present time for less than $20,000.

The burning of the gin is a great loss as all eighteen gins in Hall county are crowded to the limit, all working at night, attempting to keep up with the cotton ginning of this section.

TIGERS BEAT FLOYDADA FOR DISTRICT BELT

RICE OWLS LACK PUNCH AND LOSE TO AUSTIN COLLEGE FRIDAY 6 TO 2

BLOCKED PUNT WINNER FOR TIGERS

FLOYDADA, Nov. 8.—Blocking a whirlwind punt after the local boys had been forced into an attempt to kick to safety during the last two minutes of play, the Slaton Tigers recovered the pigskin behind the goal line, and wrested victory from defeat, taking the championship of class B high school football in this district. The score was 13 to 6. Luna blocked the punt, and Preston, Tiger left end, fell on the ball for the winning touchdown. Try for extra point was successful.

The whirlwind drew blood in the first quarter when they shoved a touchdown over the Tiger's goal line. Green, Floydada left half, carried the ball over, but the kick for extra point failed. The first quarter ended with Floydada leading 5 to 0.

The second quarter went generally with both clubs playing mostly on the defensive for the greater part of the time. In the third quarter the Tigers opened up a heavy offensive battle, and drove over a touchdown. Preston plunged through with the ball, tying the count, but extra point failed.

Battling furiously through the greater part of the last quarter, the Tigers roared and plunged, driving the Whirlwinds back to within ten yards of their goal line, but here the ball went over. Driven to defensive play, and play for time, for in the meantime, a coin had been flipped for the winner if the contest should finish in a tie count, and Floydada had won the flip.

With the exception of the timely blocking of Preston, Luna and Kendrick, Slaton's half, mostly proved the individual stars of the victory for the local boys, played a sensational game.

Married Football Star Father of Three.

It has just been revealed that Homer Hazel, star fullback on the Rutgers College team of New Brunswick, N. J., is twenty-nine years old, married, and the father of three children. He was an end on Walter Camp's All-American team last year. Hazel, whose home is in Marshall, Mich., played on Rutgers in 1914 and then married Miss Marguerite Lorenz, distant relative of Dr. Lorenz. He went to work for the Flint Foundry Co., and worked his way up to manager. There was talk of making him president, and he returned to Rutgers to complete his education before assuming higher duties.

LUIS FIRPO MEETS WEINERT IN 12-ROUND BOUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The merry jangle of the North American shakel and the soothing rustle of Uncle Sam's greenback currency still afford Luis Angel Firpo, a charming musical instrument.

The South American heavyweight champion, whose latest wrangle with an American reformer has been smoothed over, plans to add another enormous stack of money to his already heavily laden pocketbook before returning to his native land.

Firpo's next opportunity to smelt something like more than a handful of coin will come next Wednesday night when he meets Charlie Weinert, an early victim, in a 12-round bout in Newark. Weinert apparently has forgotten that his meeting with Firpo ended in a distressing knock-out for himself. He is now leading the South American opponent who so degraded during the last year that he will have little difficulty in returning the sleep potion.

Both men are now training diligently in their respective camps in Jersey City. Firpo, in an effort to return to the warm embraces of the American fight public, is taking his workouts very seriously.

A victory over Weinert will assure Firpo another chance to fatten his purse, for Tex Rickard already is looking forward to a big Firpo bout in Madison Square Garden. Rickard plans to have his once powerful individual drawing card meet George Godfrey, a colored light-heavyweight in New York and then the winner matched with Quintin Romero Rojas, the Chilean, for another metropolitan bloodshed.

Both men are now training diligently in their respective camps in Jersey City. Firpo, in an effort to return to the warm embraces of the American fight public, is taking his workouts very seriously.

AGGIES WIN FIRST CONFERENCE TILT IN TWO SEASONS BY DEFEATING T. C. U. HORNED FROGS AT COLLEGE STATION

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 7.—For the first time in two seasons, A. & M. College of Texas here today won a conference football victory by defeating Texas Christian University 28 to 0. The Christians were on the defensive for three quarters, and their offense in the fourth lacked the necessary punch to score. Fay Wilson made the first touchdown after a series of three-backs. Dancy scored for the second. The next two came as a result of two blocked punts. Waugh and Kish scored the touchdowns.

Dancy kicked all four goals. Berry flashed a 35 yard run for a fifth touchdown but an off-side penalty brought the ball back.

FIRST "BIG THREE" GAME; OTHERS LIGHT

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—That well known calm that is supposed to precede a storm can be applied with a few exceptions to tomorrow's football schedule. On most of the college gridirons of the major loop the calm was invited to prepare for the most severe storm of the season that is forecast for Saturday week.

Wise schedule makers and good managers have made it a custom to get opponents that should not make it too hard for their charges on the Saturday preceding the most important games of the season and with the exception of such teams as Notre Dame, Penn State, Syracuse and Pittsburgh the custom is a fixed rule. Compared to the hurricane that swept across the gridirons all over the country last Saturday, tomorrow's schedule presents hardly more than a breeze. There are hardly more than a half dozen out-and-out hard games on the schedule.

The opening of the "Big Three" games furnishes trimmings for the rest and Notre Dame's break into "Big Ten" territory is the most interesting event of the week.

Princeton goes to Cambridge for the first game of the "Big Three" with Harvard, a battle that offers the best possibilities of any contest on the eastern card. The "Big Three" certainly has no monopoly on good football and, to the contrary, it may be said that more of real football is seen in the two eastern conferences. But it is certain that no other section of the country knows more about hard fighting among themselves than Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

All of the stars of the Yale eleven who can be spared will be in the south on Saturday night, and will pounce upon them in the last two games on their schedule. Yale has scheduled Maryland again for the "breather," regardless of the fact that Maryland all but beat Yale last year when the best players of the Eli team were out scouting.

Pennsylvania, getting ready for the annual battle with Penn State next week, plays Georgetown. There is nothing about the Georgetown team to suggest a set-up, but Penn might have picked a harder opponent if the road ahead was less rocky.

Pittsburgh, with the hard Washington and Jefferson game looming just ahead, plays Geneva at Pittsburgh and should have little trouble in winning, even with some players away scouting the Washington and Jefferson team against Waynesburg at Washington.

Cornell, always careful, arranged a game with Susquehanna, to save the varsity for the next game with Dartmouth. Dartmouth, using preparation also, plays Boston University at Hanover. After playing Yale, Harvard and Brown in a row, Dartmouth is entitled to a rest.

Syracuse, just out of the Pittsburgh game and with Colgate waiting, plays West Virginia Wesleyan at Syracuse.

game is what the cast calls a fancy game, it is not the only good game on the western schedule.

Chicago and Illinois meet in an important battle in Chicago. Ohio State meets Indiana at Bloomington. The next two games, South Bend, Mich. meets Northwestern at Ann Arbor and Minnesota meets Iowa State at Minneapolis.

Oklahoma plays Missouri at Norman in the big game of the Missouri Valley conference, while Kansas is meeting Drake at Des Moines, Neb. The meeting between South Bend next week with Notre Dame, takes the day off.

The Nebraska-Notre Dame game has such promise for action that it should be staged in Tex Rickard's Arroyo City arena where it would have the real atmosphere.

Southern California and Stanford offer the feature game on the Pacific coast when California is playing Washington in another good game.

Mandell Wins Over Jack Bernstein in Brilliant Battle

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill. lightweight, earned a right to meet Benny Leonard for the world's championship when he was awarded a 12-round decision here Friday night from Jack Bernstein, former junior lightweight champion.

It was one of the fastest fights ever seen in New York and it had a crowd of more than 7,000 on its feet for the entire duration of the fight. Mandell was leading by a mile until the fifth round when he came out of a clinch with the head streamer and out of a cut over his eye. After the round, Referee Patsy Haley went to Mandell's corner, and asked him if he had been fouled.

Mandell then voiced the sportive words: "I cut myself when I brought my head down on him."

Mandell really won the fight in the 11th and 12th rounds when he charged into Bernstein like a maniac. The handsome boy from Illinois showed the finest boxing and the greatest heart that has been seen in the garden for years.

HARVARD FAVORED FOR WIN OVER PRINCETON

BY ROBERT D. DUSK
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Up in Boston the scene of the outstanding football game on Saturday they have a tradition that the best way to beat Princeton is for the Harvard fans to bet heavily on the home team. Although this system has worked out disastrously many times in the past, being a tradition, it must be abided by for Harvard without her traditions, would not be Harvard.

This year, the crimson pennant wavers have outside themselves and the odds that Harvard will win the first big three game of the season stands at 2 to 1. Even at these odds, there is little Nassau money in sight.

their own classical battle. The Army expected some good practice against Florida while the sailors have bright prospects of spoiling their record by winning over Vermont.

Of interest mainly to New Yorkers is the game between Columbia and New York Universities. Boston college will play an intercollegiate game with Marquette University at Boston. Penna. is the favorite over Carnegie and Pittsburgh is favored over Geneva. Neither Dartmouth nor Cornell have much to fear from Boston University and Susquehanna respectively.

STIMULUS WINS OVER CANDY KID BY LATE SPURT

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., Nov. 7.—The name of Stimulus owned by Marshall Field, might have warned the bettors who gambled on the rich Pimlico turfity the big event of the season here Friday afternoon.

At any rate it was Stimulus with Thurber up, who forged through to a victory worth about $50,000 to his owner, in the last seconds of the race after Candy Kid had set the pace from the start.

William Zeigler's Star Lore, was second and Candy Kid was third. The winners time was 1:39 4-5.

This was the fourth straight victory for Stimulus, including his win of the junior championship at Emory City. He sold $20.80 on a $2 ticket. Star Lore, mutual field horse, paid $20.20 to place and Candy Kid $5.10 to show.

Kansas Is Urged As Successor To Cabinet Vacancy

TOPEKA, Kansas, Nov. 7.—With the possibility of new faces in President Coolidge's cabinet comes the report of attempts being made by Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, to place J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture as successor to the late secretary of agriculture Wallace.

Senator Arthur Capper, also came forward Friday with unqualified support in urging the appointment of the Kansan for the post. Governor Jonathan M. Davis and Governor-elect Ben S. Paulen also have been called upon by Mohler's friends to make recommendations to the president.

Leaders of farm and business organizations throughout the state were assembling Friday night for the one purpose of getting behind the state agriculture secretary, and will do all in their power to bring about the appointment it was announced here.

FUMBLE GIVES OWLS THEIR ONLY COUNT

HOUSTON, Nov. 7.—Lacking the punch of former games which brought them well to the top of the conference ladder, Rice Institute this afternoon fell a six to two victim to the smashing and passing attacks of Austin College. Three thousand spectators, including a delegation of Austin College students, saw the Rangers take the measure of the fast traveling Owls.

Frequent fumbles cost both teams opportunities to score and accounted for the only points that the Owls were able to score against the North Texans.

It was a combination of fumbling and poor punting which lost the Owls the game in the first period. After twice attempting place kicks, the Owls took the ball on their own five-yard line. Alf Wilford, half back, fumbled and then Alfred Kangaroo, quarter, swept around right end for a first down, and then passed to Smith for a touchdown. The kick for goal was missed.

Rice garnered its two points in the closing moments of the third period when Rollins, Austin center, rolled the ball back to Alfred who fell on the oval on his own goal line. It costed a touchback and two points for Rice.

Both teams uncoiled several aerial attacks which went for long gains in mid-air but were broken up as they neared the goal line.

The score:
Austin 6-0-0-0

Threat to Shoot First Man Entering Home Frustrated

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Brandishing an automatic pistol in her trembling fingers, a gray haired woman stood in the threshold of her little drug store here Friday, and threatened to kill the first man who attempted to cross it.

Twenty corpulent, square-toed policeman and five deputy balliffs stood on the sidewalk and scratched their heads.

In the end, however, the police outmaneuvered the angry woman and captured her.

The modern Barbara Frietchi was Mrs. Mary P. O'Connor, 65, who conducts her flat as a home for old women, and the trouble started when the landlord tried to have her evicted for not paying the rent.

COOLIDGE NOW BE AT MERCY OF BORAH PROGRESSIVES INSTEAD OF LA FOLLETTE AS IN PRESENT CONGRESS, CLAPPER SAYS

By Raymond Clapper
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—From a study of the personnel of the new congress, it appears that the balance of power has shifted from La Follette to Senator Borah and a group of mild progressives. The group includes Clapper of Kansas, Johnson of California, Clegg of Michigan, Howell of Nebraska, McNary of Oregon, Norbeck and McMaster of South Dakota, and several others.

President Coolidge will be at the mercy of the "Borah" rather than of the La Follette group in the present congress. These mild progressives are all of republican leaning in good party standing. They flood with the administration rather than of the La Follette group in the campaign, though some of them gave the insurgent leader assistance on various roll calls in the last session.

Congress has a clear working majority of about 20 in the house and should have little trouble here. In the senate, his problem will be to hold the mild progressives in line. As long as he can do this, La Follette will have little strength.

Of this group which has suddenly come in a power, Borah is a loyal leader. His prestige, always great and now still greater, will be a marked asset to Senator Lodge fail to recover from his grave illness.

Lodge is chairman of the foreign relations committee and under the seniority custom, Borah would succeed to his powerful post.

It is hardly likely, however, that Borah will inherit the leadership of the senate when Lodge lays it down.

That post involves a type of activity and a degree of regularity which would be irksome to a man of Borah's independence.

Curtis, of Kansas, is more likely to be the real administration leader, though some one else may get the title.

Borah is also in line for the chairmanship of the judiciary committee through the death of Brandegee. He is interested in a measure to require two-thirds decision by the supreme court on questions of constitutionality. But he would probably be chairman of the senate committee despite his interest in the judicial question. The power of the mild progressives will not only be felt when the critical roll calls him on the floor but it will be felt in the powerful committee work which is the real work of law making is done.

In the agricultural committee, the administration will have to deal with two important groups, either of which, by an alliance with the democrats could control the committee. La Follette has on this committee, chairman, Norris and Ladd. The mild progressives have Clapper, McNary and Norbeck, with the probability of getting Schall of Minnesota in place of Moses Johnson who was defeated Harrell of Oklahoma, is rather friendly to this group. The white house has only three votes that will play pitched under all circumstances—Keves of New Hampshire, Gooding, of Idaho, and McKinley of Illinois.

Unless Lodge recovers, there will be two republican vacancies on the foreign relations committee the second having been created by the recent death of Brandegee of Connecticut. Borah Hiram W. Johnson and Moses are the only remnants of the old irreconcilable group that will be left here, but their influence will be so great in the republican caucus that they probably will succeed in filling the vacancies with friendly senators.

One of the first developments in the new congress will be the recognition of the senate interstate commerce commission which with the aid of La Follette votes was placed under the chairmanship of a democrat, Smith of South Carolina, at the last session. Cummins probably will be restored as chairman.

It is probable that an attempt will be made to describe La Follette of his republican designation and his important committee assignment as a result of his candidacy in the presidential campaign. La Follette is next in line for the chairmanship of the finance committee and is second also on the interstate commerce committee. If the republicans could succeed in classing him as an independent, he would lose these seniority rights and go to the foot of the committee list. Whether such an attempt could succeed is a question that cannot be answered at this time.

La Follette will continue to hold his balance of power group in the session of congress beginning in December. The membership is the same as that of the last session. La Follette will be able to exert an influence in the shaping of the appropriation bills. But there will be the general legislation aside from the supply of bills so that his opportunities will be restricted. Coolidge is opposed to re-opening the tax question until the new congress comes in.

BAVARIAN HEADS TRY TO RESTORE MONARCHY

BY ERIC KEYSER
BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Hot heads among the Bavarian monarchists are again rousing the ghost of the Wittelsbach dynasty in an effort to restore Ruprecht, Prince royal of the ancient empire, to the position of his ancestors held in Bavaria from the time of the first Duke in 907 A. D., to the fall of the Hohenzollerns and their dependent kings in 1918.

It is rumored that the monarchist clique hopes to force Ruprecht to seize power before the election next month. They realize that republicanism is gaining in Germany here and that the kingless system of government will gain supporters at the polls.

Several monarchist groups among Ruprecht's supporters believe their leader would be wise to leave his crown for a decade or so during which time the republicanism movement would be at its dabbles revealed.

Some concern at the reports from Bavaria is evident at the Wilhelmstrasse that broad street where Germany's foreign business is transacted and where many of the other government departments are located. Government leaders are prepared to act with energy if a Bavarian monarchy coup advances beyond the stage of mere rumor and character Marx and to sum minister Siresemann are keeping themselves fully informed regarding the monarchist party in the great south German state.

Although the imminent elections undoubtedly will bring a further reversal for those Germans who hope to restore the pompous circumstance of royalty, the most enlightened of the monarchists are willing to abide by the nature of the Bavaria state.

A monarchist coup at this time would find not only the monarchists and communists willing to fight to defeat it but the fascists as well. These latter want a united Germany and they know that Bavaria is not ready to go back to the old order.

The hoped-for reunion of Germany and Austria could not take place in Ruprecht seized power in Bavaria.

With these local forces to combat as well as opposition from the rest of Germany it is unlikely that Ruprecht will follow the advice of his impatient followers, but his refusal to act at this time would mean merely that he thinks the time has not come—not that it will not come.

In a fit of insanity Frank Lester of Salt Lake City threw vitrol on the heads of his brothers, all being seriously injured.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR JOE PENNEY H L D FRIDAY

Funeral services for Joe Styles Penney, pioneer of Lubbock and leader of the public-spirited youth who has been associated with the Long number company, here, were conducted at the family home on 4th and Avenue K Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Rev. Andrews, pastor of the Episcopal church at Plainview, had charge of the services, and was assisted by Rev. Jack M. Lewis of the First Presbyterian church, which were attended by many friends of the family who knew and loved the deceased, for in fact he was a man who enjoyed the friendship of others and to others was a friend.

The beautiful and large floral offering, said by many to be one of the largest ever witnessed here, attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends.

At four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Penney suffered an attack of paralysis, and at four o'clock on the following morning died at a local sanitarium following a coughing spell. The suddenness of his death was a shock to his many friends throughout this section, and relatives living out of the state were unable to reach here in time for the funeral.

P. E. Penney, of Radium Springs, and Ernest Penney, of Morton, brothers of the deceased, and Mrs. Donk, his niece, together with members of her family, were the town relatives in attendance. Interment was made in the Lubbock cemetery, in which the remains were followed by a large number of friends.

In addition to the pall bearers named in yesterday's paper, the following honorary pall bearers were used in the funeral arrangements: Wade White, C. D. Swift, H. B. Peebles, Ralph Mendenhall, W. B. Atkins, A. W. May, G. Jackson, L. H. McLary, F. E. Neveux, W. R. Anthony, J. W. Neeves, R. E. Shelton, E. O. Smith.

Among the many friends who have because of the death of Mr. Penney and whose hearts are filled with sympathy for his wife in her great sorrow are the following: friends and relatives who came from a distance to be here at the funeral: Mrs. N. E. Watson, of Houston; Mrs. Tithman Jones, of Post; Miss Francis E. Huck, of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Peck, of Post; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fowl, of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Robinson of Post; Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Penney of Morton, Mr. and

CARNIVAL OF CRIME BREAKS OUT IN ANNUAL FETE

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—While the police department was throwing out its chest in honest pride because the criminal center apparently would not stage its annual fall carnival of crime this year, the event, making up for its isolated debut, started off Wednesday with a murder, several slayings and a long string of petty crimes.

In the spotlight was the passing of Angelo Barbas, the olive-complexioned murderer of "King" George Chankaskas. Barbas, who shot the former head of the Chicago Greek Colony more than a year ago but kept out of prison because of the cleverness of his lawyers, was made the recipient of eleven balls of lead as he stood in the doorway of his cafe.

Over at Halsted police station they said "the king faction is sorry because Angelo isn't doing time." Simultaneously with the arrival of Angelo's body at the morgue, the police pushed 36 Greeks into jail cells. "If we don't, there'll be a dozen other shootings before sundown" it was explained.

Three warehouse watchmen and a workman who made the mistake of walking by the building at the time were made the victims of a slugging party early Wednesday. Despite the fact that slugging bandits had loaded two automobiles with thousands of dollars worth of merchandise, they lingered in the building long enough to beat the three men so severely two of them are near death.

Stephen Sabienki, a 17-year-old "boy bandit" was doing his stuff at a garage safe when discovered by three policemen. A battle ensued that two of them are near death.

honors. He's in a hospital.

Jacob Vix, who caused the arrest of several Halloween celebrants, went down to work to discover that the entrance to his furniture store had been reduced to splinters with a bomb.

To round off the initial day of the carnival, the police reported a record number of hold-ups, pickpocket parties, and burglaries.

DISCONTINUANCE VATICAN REPRESENTATION PLANNED

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Voting overwhelming confidence in the financial program of Premier Herriot's socialist government, the French chamber of deputies has approved the government's plan to discontinue diplomatic representation at the Vatican.

Herriot's budget omitted an appropriation for the maintenance of an envoy to the court of the Pope. A vote on the issue Friday favored Herriot 323 to 117.

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—Nearly one thousand shade trees planted by members of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce over long stretches along the Dallas-Fort Worth pike during the last two years, will now be moved. County Judge Arch Allen told the organization.

Your Utilities Company Must Keep Abreast of Modern Progress

In these times of achievements in progress far ahead of our anticipation the Texas Utilities Company feels keenly its obligation of leadership in a city and section whose growth is unparalleled. We must ever keep our minds directed to development of our plant, our service and our products. We must try to anticipate future requirements and make our investments greatly in excess of present needs.

We are determined to maintain our leadership in our service by keeping fully abreast of present needs. We must build ahead and this we are doing and in this program we must flatter the territory which we serve, because we are building much greater facilities than the present requirements demand.

ICE—LIGHT—POWER

Sunday School Lesson

By REV. F. B. STEWART, D.D., Dean of the Lubbock Bible Institute, Lubbock, Texas.

Lesson for November 9

THE FEEDING OF THE FIVE THOUSAND
MATTHEW 14:13-21

In the previous chapter, Jesus showed Himself to be the source of life. He here proves Himself to be the sustainer of life.

Jesus' Compassion for the Multitude (v. 13-14). The sight of the crowd always incited the Lord's sympathy. He knew that they were as shepherdless sheep (Mark 6:34). They were going forth with no one to care for them. Besides, they were ignorant, so much so that they had no appreciation of Him. Added to this, was their awful physical hunger. This condition roused the Saviour's pity. This is true of the multitude today. The crowd surges about us daily as shepherdless sheep. There is no one to care for them. Then, too, they are ignorant. Sin has so thoroughly blinded them that they are not conscious of their lost condition. Down deep in their hearts is a hunger for truth and God. The millions of souls are hungering for Christ, though ignorant of their real needs.

II. The Lord's Conference With the Disciples Touching the People's Need (v. 15-20). This was not done for His benefit, for He knew what He would do (v. 6). He is equal to any occasion. His object in this conference may be summed up as follows:

1. To teach them their sense of obligation to the multitude. Men are slow to recognize their obligation to the great shepherdless multitude. We need to be taught the wonderful truth that God has made man His partner in the salvation of the world. We are workers together with God (1 Cor. 3:9). It is a most solemn obligation to cooperate with Him in saving the millions who are groping in darkness.

2. To teach them their true helplessness in the face of such a great need. The twelve and Jesus were working in the presence of five thousand hungry men, women and children. Well might Andrew exclaim, "What art thou among so many? We have only bread and water, but the increase cometh chiefly from God."

3. To teach them that their strength is from the Lord. The apostles were ready to leave that place in the early morning of supply. Without Him we can do nothing (John 15:5). We can no more carry on the work ourselves than the branch can bear fruit without the vine. The branch supplies the life and strength for the production of fruit. Philip's worth while is of no use in the face of such need. The Lord Jesus has all power.

III. The Lord's Method of Accomplishing His Work (v. 19-21). We observe here the orderliness of Christ's work. He pauses to give thanks for their scanty supply, teaching us that we should always bring our abilities and gifts to God, that He might bless them to His use.

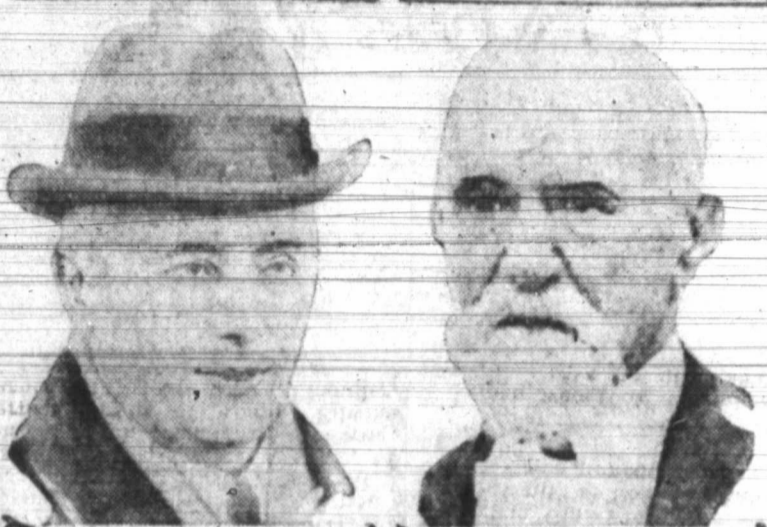

1. The Lord's part was to bless and break the loaves, sea, even to create the added supply. This part the disciples could not perform. The Lord Jesus began the work. The same kind of bread was provided for all, rich and poor, young and old, women and children.

2. The disciples' part was to distribute that which He had blessed and consecrated. This is true of the missionary today. His part is to take from the hands of the Lord that which He has blessed and consecrated, and distribute it among the starving multitudes. We are not responsible for the supply; but we are responsible for its distribution to all those who are hungering and perishing for the bread of life.

3. The people's part was to sit down and eat. They had no part in the provision, neither its distribution; but only to take from the hands of the disciples and eat. This is an illustration of the part obedience plays in our salvation. "When all had eaten to the full, much was left," illustrating the superabundance of Christ's salvation.

IV. The Effect (v. 14). The people recognized Him at once as the Prophet who should come. They believed Him for His works sake.

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS SPOTLIGHT

MRS. JEAN NASH & MRS. CAROLINE NUTTING
DELIVER M. MAETERLINCK & CORNELIUS COVE

Mrs. Caroline Nutting, wife of William Wassour Nutting, noted New York yachtsman, expressed confidence that the scout cruiser Trenton, which left Brooklyn for the Arctic, would find her husband and his companions, who attempted to cross the Atlantic in a tiny boat, and who were last heard from in Greenland. Mme. Jean Nash, called as the best dressed woman in Paris, said on a visit to New York that it was not hard to be chic if women would keep to straight lines and simple colors. Former United States Senator Corneliu's Cove, 102, intimate friend of Abraham Lincoln, and who practiced law until he was 100, is dead at his home in Los Angeles, Cal. Maurice Maeterlinck, who announced last year he had quit writing because he would not "debase himself by writing the stuff modern editors want," has a new hobby in Paris. Everywhere he goes he carries with him an instrument for measuring blood pressure, and whenever he meets a friend he insists on taking his blood pressure.

UNIVERSITY GIRLS' POPULAR SPORT IS SWIMMING

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 7.—Swimming is popular as a sport among the University of Texas girls throughout the year, and great progress has been made in fancy swimming, and diving since the formation of the Turtle Club, a competitive organization of University girls. Events are held regularly, and old members must continue to perform the required feats to hold their membership, or be replaced by new girls.

On November 1st, the Turtle Club will hold its annual election, the first of its kind to be held by the girls at the University. Miss Olga Anderson, instructor in physical training for women, has general charge of the exhibition, and is being assisted by Miss Florence Currier and Ellen Torrey, instructors in physical training, as well as by the officers of the Turtle Club. It is hoped to make the swimming exhibition a semi-annual affair, to be given during the fall and winter terms of school.

The following girls became members of the Turtle Club at the try-out, held this fall: Sara Giesecke, of Austin; Helen Sander, of Dallas; Jean Holland, of Fort Davis; Ruth Alexander, of Dallas; Jenn Hammond, Hawatha Crossin, of Waco; Ruth Mentor, of Taylor; Frances Graham, of Austin; Fay Sappington, of Galveston; Violet Schafer, of San Antonio; Helen Schaefer, of Austin; Rosalie Wilcox, of Austin; Sara Penn, of Austin; Eva Rogers, of Austin; Evelyn Absher, of Austin; Sarah Whaley, of Cleburne; Bernice Erwin, of Austin; Edwin Barnes, of Austin; Clara Chandler, of Austin; Elizabeth Eldridge, of San Antonio; Dorothy Yates, of Rosenberg.
